Dear Sir:

Terrribly sorry to bother you with this pokey question, but how long should it take for one to receive reprints, after publishing an article in Science? The article was:

Crabtree, D. E. and E. L. Davis
"Experiments in the Manufacture of Wooden Implements With Tools of Flaked Stone". 1968,
Vol. 159, p. 426. January 26.

I filled out an order for 200 copies, to be split between us, at the time I proofed the galley.

We are getting a brisk business in orders for reprints, so would like to know when we may expect them?

Thanks for your attention and, again, apologies.

Sincerely,

Emma Lou Davis
Curator of Archaeology
