Mr. Donald E. Crabtree
Museum
Idaho State University
Pocatello, Idaho

Dear Mr. Crabtree:

I am compiling a book of readings in archaeology for the introductory level and would like to use excerpts from two of your articles in it. The excerpts, from vol. 10, no. 1, Journal of the Idaho State University Museum, discuss the material used for flaked tools and the quarrying of the material. Both subjects are not often covered in articles on flaked tools, but are quite interesting to the beginning student. The exact lines-pages to be used are stated on the enclosed form.

I must obtain permission to use the excerpts from you and the publisher. I will write to the editor of the Journal soon. Would you please sign the enclosed forms, if use of the excerpts is allright with you?

Sincerely,

Ernestene Green
Assistant Professor
