Dear Dick:

Just got back from The University Medical Center in Salt Lake where Evelyn has been taking additional treatments, the lung cancer treatment was highly successful, but she now has it in the bone of both shoulders and arms, she was treated with a series of radiation and is now undergoing a series of Chemotherapy which reduces the marrow in the bones and aids in the control of the cancer. It has been a terrible shock to both of us that the cancer cells had entered the blood stream, we can only hope that this series of treatments every three weeks will be as successful as the initial treatment. I must tell you how wonderful Junius and Peggy have been during the past trying months, I just cannot seem to get the courage to call Junius to tell him of the sad news.

We are so glad to have you back to the states after your rewarding trip to Austrailia, it must have been so exciting and particularly the island find of the burial canoes. Your exhibit of stone working was superb and am only sorry that you couldent have been there. For Evelyn and I could not have had a more gratifying experience, allof the Museum staff were simply wonderful and particularly Junius, we will never again be accepted more cordually.

I do hope that before you remove the panels that you would photograph them, I would like to show Dr. Swanson what a superb job you did with a limited amount of material of material. Should Clifford Evans like the display it is certainly all right With me, however a personal appearance would be unlikely. I too hope that we
