Dear Dick and Betsy:

It has been some time since I have heard from you, and I certainly hope your appointment to Brown University was both successful and satisfying. I have just lost track of your latest endeavors. They are always exciting to me and hopefully you will have a visit to the States where it will be convenient for you to come by Kimberly for a visit.

I haven't heard from Junius for many months. I made a call some time ago and they said he was in South America, but other than that I haven't heard a word.

Your location at Rhode Island should put you into a geographical position far better than where you are located now.

I am still continuing on with my experiments and have recently received four beautiful specimens of Grand-Pressigny flint in the form of beautiful cores. To replicate them will indeed be a challenge.

The last I heard from you was the work you and Pat McCoy were doing on the adz quarries. I will look forward to seeing the report in print.

Will look forward to hearing from you.

Your friend,

Don Crabtree, D. Sc.
