Saturday morning

Dear Alon,

Thanks, thanks, thanks!

Things are beginning to jell. I'm finishing up primary data (just describing) and working on photography. The lab here at the school is helping considerably but I'm pretty slow with matters like depth-of-field and depth-of-focus. I've made so many poor pictures, it's discouraging. When I have some better pictures I'd like to send them (a few that is) to you for your comments.

Your letter helped - in fact it virtually cleared - the muddy waters I've been sloshing thru to figure out Hopewellian technology. Again, thanks. It's great to be on the other side, even if getting there is still a long way.

Gratefully,
Barbara (Darkness)
