Dear Hiroaki:

Thank you so much for your very fine letter about your stay at the flintknapping school. A copy was made and sent to National Science Foundation in Washington.

Your stay in Idaho was entirely too brief and I am sorry that we did not have more time to show you some of our beautiful country. Marie Wormington said that she was delighted with your visit and knew your professor very well.

I also want to thank your father for his letters and consideration. He is a very kind man to take the time to write to us. I really value the tie clip, the publications and the lovely figure your Mother made and also the Japanese archaeological specimens. All of these treasures will long remind Evelyn and me of your visit here in Idaho.

Guy is now at Washington State University at Pullman, Wash. where he will be teaching part time. He will also study for his Phd. He writes that they are in the process of setting up a lithic lab which we badly need in this country.

I do hope that you will be able to pay us another visit soon.

Yours friends,

Don and Evelyn

P.S. Break a few rocks for me when you can.
