

COLORADO STATE COLLEGE

GREELEY, COLORADO 80631

school of arts and sciences department of anthropology-sociology

Route 1, Box 10A
Kersey, Colorado 80644
July 24, 1968

Mr. Don Crabtree
Route 1
Kimberly, Idaho 83341

Dear Don:

Finally, the notes I took when you were in camp last month are organized, typed and run off, and I am sending a copy of them along to you. Are there any comments you would like to add or subtract, or corrections that you are aware of? If so, I would appreciate it if you would pass them along. The opportunity to sit in on these discussions, as well as watch you working the next afternoon, was most appreciated, and I learned a good deal. I'm now working in the lab, going over the Jurgens surface and site material for the detailed analysis, and I find that I see many more things in the artifacts that I could have before listening to you. Hopefully, the quality of my work on the tools will reflect your good influence.

I did get some $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours of tape recordings that afternoon when you were working with Richard Warren and Jack Putnam, and hope to edit and write out some of that commentary in early September when I get settled in Pullman but before school begins again. When I do so, I shall send a copy along to you; it will not be highly interesting since I'm sure you've gone over the same material many times, but you might like to have a copy for the record.

I am looking forward to hearing your discussions at the Great Basin Anthropological Conference in Pocatello next month; I have so much to learn! By the way, I did ask Ray Wood to send along a sample of Knife River Flint to you, which should come soon if it hasn't already arrived. I only wish I knew enough to do some work with it myself, and perhaps I shall in time.

Sincerely,

Ruthann Knudson
Ruthann Knudson