Dear Don and Evelyn:

Enclosed is a copy of the bibliography for my Dallas paper; sorry I didn't have it in the beginning. If you have any specific comments about that paper, I would appreciate it if you would send them along---it is difficult to write a historical review of a field and area when you only have a decade of perspective. I am going to try to get the paper cleaned up a bit and submitted to Plains Anthropologist this summer, ~~in~~ I think.

What is your schedule for the summer? I am going to be tied pretty closely to Moscow for most of the time, since I have a heavy work commitment and responsibilities as department head for the summer. I don't want to do much more with the book until I get some definite word on the NSF funding, but if you are going to be around, I would like to come down and spend a few days with you in early to mid August, working on the biographical paper and just talking in general. How would that fit your timing? I must be in north Idaho for a few days in mid-July, working on that quarry project, and of course will be in Vancouver during the last week in August, plus my parents will be out sometime during July or August. Other than that (?) my time is fairly open. If you are going to be committed in August, or buried up in the mountains, might you be at home in mid-September? I will be driving east about then, I think, to work on the Red Smoke site for a couple weeks, and perhaps I could see you on my way east (mid to late September) or west (mid November). Anyway, at your convenience. Glad to see you looking so good in Dallas!

Chao,

Lithman
