

Irene Junk

Route 1 Box 267

Hansen, ID. 83334

• Magic
• Magic
• Magic
• Magic

Dan Crabtree

Route 1

Kimberly, ID. 83341

- Magic is galvanizing attention when you walk into a room.
- Magic is learning what's best for you, then letting it show.
- Magic is smiling a lot and truly feeling your happiness.
- Magic is surprising yourself with an extravagant emotion—like falling in love.
- Magic is being naïve about something.
- Magic is being idealistic about anything.
- Magic is spending money on flowers when you can't afford to.
- Magic is behaving gracefully under pressure.
- Magic is transferring thoughts into meaningful gestures.
- Magic is changing your mind when you know someone else is right.
- Magic is wearing red on a rainy day.
- Magic is risking all for love.
- Magic is letting go with extreme grace.
- Magic is engineering a "chance" meeting.
- Magic is appreciating a sunset without mumbling, "Cliché."
- Magic is being rich and not looking it.
- Magic is being poor and looking rich.
- Magic is being confident and looking confident.
- Magic is doing anything you usually do at night during the day—and vice versa.
- Magic is giving away something you treasure.
- Magic is receiving something you really like.
- Magic is ignoring reality without being irresponsible.
- Magic is knowing when to say, "Goodbye."
- Magic is knowing when to say, "Hello."
- Magic is being becomingly modest.
- Magic is being both ambitious and tender.
- Magic is understanding that the fleeting moment is all.
- Magic is being extreme in either direction.
- Magic is agreeing with Oscar Wilde that one of life's compensations is yellow satin.
- Magic is space and time acknowledged by the heart.
- Magic is the telegram that says, "I'm sorry."
- Magic always needs to be helped along.

Have a magic new year, Dew!
 Irene Luit