Dear Dr. Misra:

I was glad to hear that you received the publications from the Idaho State University Museum of Natural History and also thank you for the invitation to attend the 10th Annual Congress in New Delhi. It should be a most exciting experience knowing that my friend Jacques Tixier will be attending and, too, I have much interest in his find of fossil man in North Africa ("Quatar").

Unfortunately because of recent hospitalization and convalescence and funds, I will not be able to attend. Perhaps one day we will be able to meet personally.

I am still excited about the microblades and cores from India. It is a unique way of preparation and I do hope that you will be able to show Dr. Tixier some of examples and particularly the preparation of the platform areas. I would like to have his opinion.

Thank you again for the most interesting specimens.

With personal regards,

Don E. Crabtree, Research Associate
Prehistoric Technology
