

Dear Dr Crabtree:

We are very grateful for the beautiful flint knives and arrow head. The edges cut very well indeed.

I have asked my editor, Dennis Flanagan, to write you soliciting an article on flint-working. I don't recall that Scientific American has ever covered your work. His is the decision, but my guess is that he will find the topic as exciting as I do. IF he does ask, I urge you to consider favorably writing a piece for us.

With best regards,

Philip Morrison
Philip Morrison

Room 6-308

MIT Cambridge MA 02139

February 14, 1971

I have temporarily mislaid your Kimberley address, so I am writing via the Museum again.

Ce. 7. 2. 135