Mr. Donald Crabtree
Twin Falls, Idaho

Dear Mr. Crabtree:

In a recent lecture to the Kansas Anthropological Association one of our state archeologists, John Reynolds, mentioned that you are the dean of modern-day flint-knappers. He said that he thought you had made some films on lithic technology. Are these available for viewing by KAA members? If you could let me know whom to contact for procedure, rental fees, etc., I would be most grateful.

A mutual friend, Adel Richens, sent us a clipping from their newspaper quite some time back which showed your picture and the flintknapping article. However, it does not give an address. I am hoping she will forward this for us.

Thank you for your help. I am secretary for our local, Mud Creek Chapter of Kansas Anthropological Association and would like to arrange a program or two about you.

Respectfully,

Cleta M.
