Dear Paul:

We are so sorry that we missed talking to you when we were in Arizona. Sorry, too, that we did not have time to stop over, but had to get to Marie's dig at Kersey and meet a specific date, as Junius Bird was flying out from New York and I just had to get there on time.

Am enclosing the slide of you and Spot. We thought it was so good and got two shots and wanted you to have one. Hope the heat has not been too much for him this year. It was certainly hot when we were in Tucson.

Marie is really finding some fine material at Kersey and they had hardly started the dig when we were there. She is finding Scottsbluff and Eden points - fine ones - in association with bison. Should turn out to be a real good site.

Just received a book from Bordes which I know you will be wanting a copy of. It is "The Old Stone Age" by Francois Bordes, World University Library, McGraw-Hill Book Co., New York, Toronto. In English, and the price is $2.45. Due to the trouble in France, he has not said for sure yet if he will accept the offer from Tucson next year. We do hope so and, if possible, that we can all get together for a lithic technology conference.

Please give our best to Mark and the students and remember if and when you can get to Idaho we would love to have you as our guest.

Sincerely,

Don E. Crabtree
