

Dear Dick -

This is my surprise, & this letter, it's the only chance I'll have to say good-bye before you leave. I certainly wish you the very best of luck, Dick, on your trip home. Be sure to write to me the minute you get home. Will you? I probably won't wake up when you and "Doc" are stirring around, but consider this message the best bundle of good-byes that I can think of to give you. Which probably isn't very good. I still can't understand how you knew my birthday before you wrote to Dad. But maybe you'll tell me sometime, huh? I hope that picture of me comes out all bright, Dick, so you can remember me.
Good Bye
(Remember I'm pulling for you)
