Mr. Richard Dodson,

Kirksville, Missouri.

Dear Mr. Dodson:

Thank you for your highly interesting letter, with its valuable comment. Such letters, containing advice, criticism and compliments, have helped us in no small way in our work to make of ASTOUNDING STORIES the most eminent magazine of its kind -- a magazine really worthy of the science-fiction audience, which has, we feel, been severely mistreated in the recent past.

I can only hope that our future efforts will please you more and more, and that, with your assistance, we will be able to introduce the magazine to an even wider field of readers -- and so assure its continued success and improvement.

Thanks once more. I trust that we will hear regularly of your opinions in the future.

Sincerely,

Demmond Hall

Associate Editor.
