versity of Idaho, and dated nine-

Greetings

UNIVERSITY life in its complexity and richness has need of a permanent record. Many of its associations and experiences are graven forever on our memories. But in days to come we shall want more than these unaided recollections; something to remind us who ran the organizations, who played on the teams, and what everybody looked like when we were all young together. Hence the inestimable value of a book like this—complete, pictorial, altogether beautiful. Interesting and entertaining now, it will become ever more precious as the years go by. Through it we of the University bid humbly for immortality.

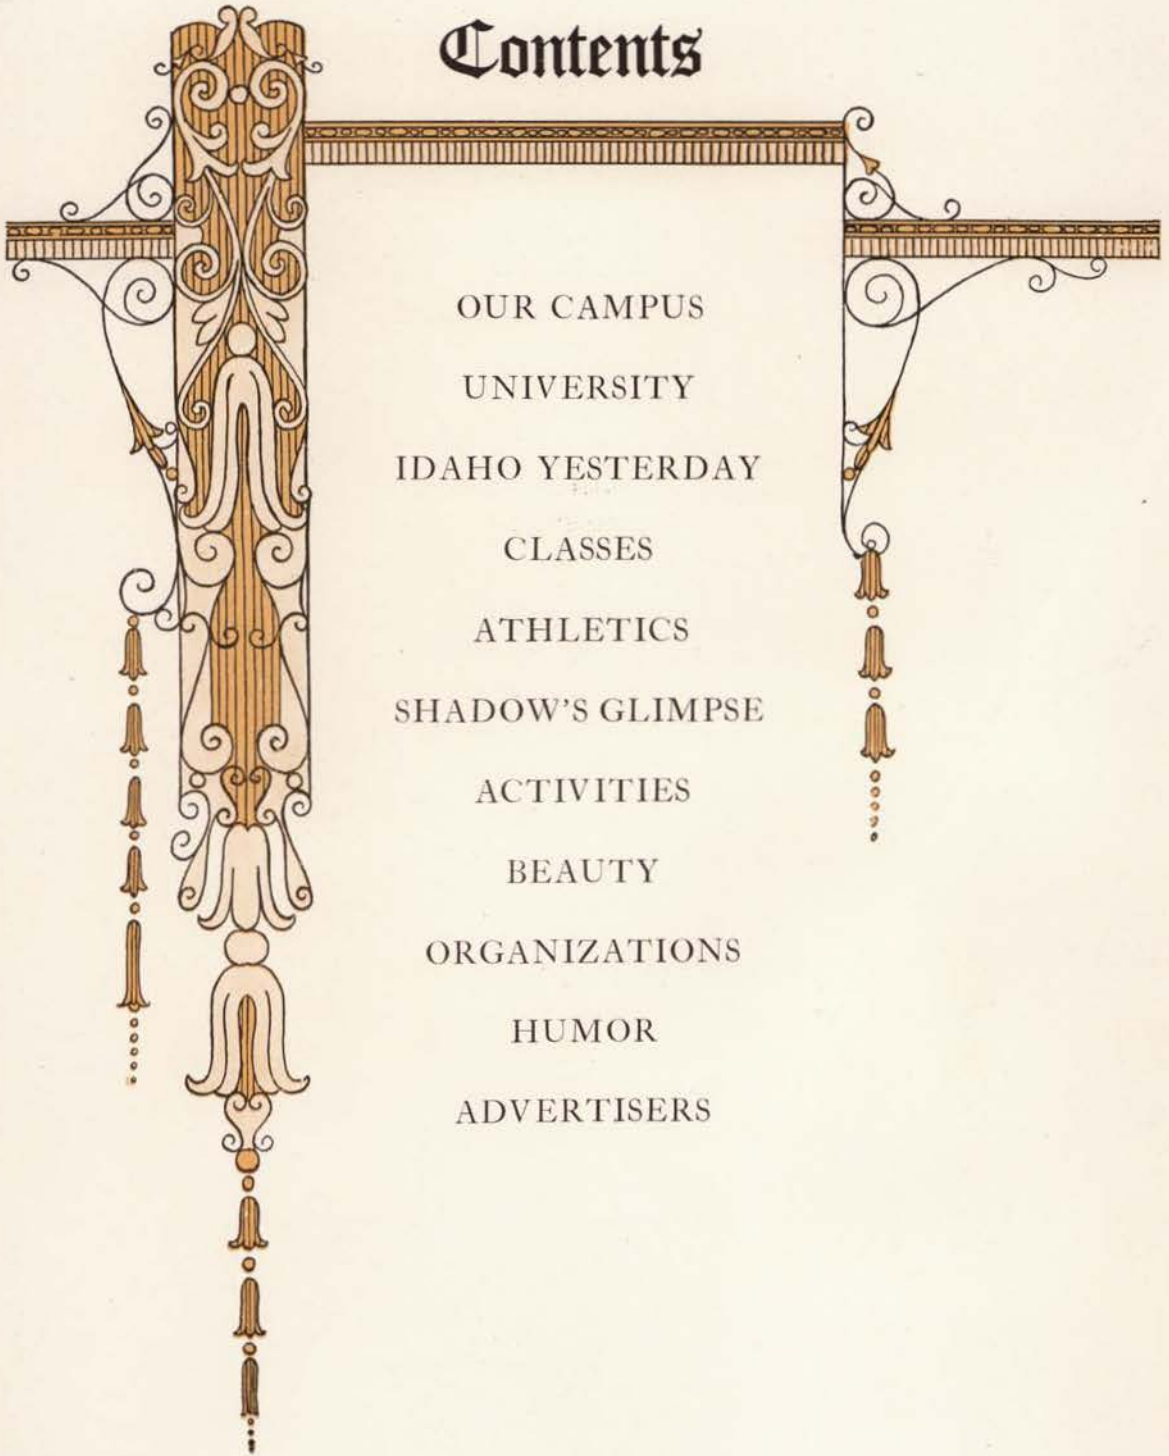

A. H. Upham

President.

THE UNIVERSITY has an administrator of great ability to accept the challenge which it presents. He has risen to meet the demands of Idaho's greatest institution; he has served in guiding its policies in such a manner as to build up a university which holds a worthy place as an institution for training the progressive mind.

for he is worthy of great honor

Foreword

THE satisfaction of accomplishment is not our reward, but the joy of service to Idaho is our compensation for the efforts to produce this volume. ¶ We could say the same thing that is said in almost every foreword, because—we have tried to record another year of your life here; and just the same as always, we have tried to edit a volume that brings joys for the present, and pleasant memories of the past for the time that is to come. ¶ But what is more, we have tried to make this book just our Idaho; yours and mine; everything that is here, nothing that is off our campus; for this is our book; and we are Idaho now and shall be for all time.

THE EDITOR

HERE is no cause to grind, and wait 'till age brings fame; there is no cause to work at naught but your own game. To watch the world move on, and with it you go too, to live and play, watch humans play, that comes to seldom few. A master in your art to be, and yet that counts but small, with the many things that come with life to the man who harbors all.

University Administration

THE business of the University of Idaho is to a large extent handled by Mr. L. F. Parsons, executive secretary to the president; Mr. F. Stanton, Bursar; Miss Ella Olesen, Registrar; Mr. E. F. Mason, University Editor, and Miss Belle Sweet, Librarian. Mrs. Blomquist acts as assistant dean of women.

Mr. L. F. Parsons, executive secretary, acts as comptroller for the university. He estimates the needs of the institution and the way in which these needs are to be met. He makes up a budget which he presents to the president, who gives it to the Board of Education to be passed on. Mr. Parsons coordinates the requirements of different departments and then outlines a program as to how the money is to be spent. This includes not only the money from the state, but also federal money. Mr. Parsons is executive secretary to the president.

Mr. Stanton, Bursar, must properly account for and report upon the receipts connected with university operation and maintenance. He collects all fees and deposits from students at time of registration, and all board and room accounts from residents of dormitories. He vouchers all claims against the university, and orders all supplies and equipment purchased for the university, upon presentation of a properly authorized requisition. He also handles accounts for all trust funds.

Miss Ella Olesen, University Registrar, is responsible for scholastic records of class enrollment, attendance, credits, matriculation of new students, and keeping detailed records in connection with all of these things. Miss Olesen is secretary of the Academic Council, which is the executive committee of the faculty.

Mr. Edward Mason, the University Editor, has charge of the publication work. Publicity includes the newspaper publicity, and direct mail advertising correspondence with prospective students. This work also includes the editing of the Catalog of the University of Idaho. Mr. Mason is secretary of the faculty and has charge of instructional work in journalism.

MISS BELLE SWEET, as University Librarian, is directly responsible for the efficient management of the library, which consists of approximately 87,000 volumes, including state and government documents, beside several hundred pamphlets. It receives regularly 390 American and foreign periodicals, both general and technical.

Mrs. Louise Blomquist, as assistant dean of women, occupies the office of the dean of women part time, in addition to looking after Forney Hall with its 110 girls. She acts as assistant to Miss French in all the problems arising in the office of the dean of women, and during any absence of Dean French, Mrs. Blomquist assumes full responsibility for the activities of the students. She also works with the students whenever possible as advisor.

University Women

Permeal J. French, M. A., Dean

MISS PERMEAL J. FRENCH came to the University of Idaho in the year of 1908 to accept the appointment as first Dean of Women. Although she came with the intention of staying for one year, Miss French has been at the university continuously since that time with the exception of a one-year leave of absence in 1920-21. Born in Idaho City, Idaho, partially educated in the Gem State schools, first woman to hold a state superintendent of public instruction position, summarizes the history to the present of a true native of Idaho and a vital figure in state educational work today.

Through her years of service at the university Dean French has maintained a set of student regulations that have only been changed when better cooperation resulted from such alterations. One of the dean's first official acts was to make it compulsory for out-of-town women to live on the campus. This requirement necessitated the building of women's residences to satisfy the demands of accommodation, and today it is a ruling that practically every university in the United States is either working toward or is maintaining.

Dean French has always been an advocate of woman's self-government, and in 1920 she urged them to compile a set of feasible regulations. The girls worked on the project only to decide that the rules which the dean had put in force were the best and needed no changes.

DEAN Permeal J. French was born in Idaho City, Idaho. Miss French received her rudimentary education in public schools of Idaho and further enlightenment at the College of Notre Dame, San Francisco. She holds the M. A. degree from the University of Idaho and George Washington University. Miss French was appointed Dean of Women in 1908.

Daleth Teth Gimel, or the Associated Town Women, was organized in 1922 under the direction of Dean French. It now includes more than 100 women living in Moscow and the members of the association adhere to the same regulations that direct the living policies of the women on the campus. This year a chapter of Daleth Teth Gimel was installed at Pullman. These two chapters are the only ones of their kind in the United States and are desirable in that they organize those girls who do not live in groups on the campuses.

Besides her activities as Dean of Women, Miss French has in several ways been instrumental in determining the character of the university. She is directly responsible for several of Idaho's traditions. In 1910 Dean French started the Bury-the-Hatchet dance, a function to bring peace between the warring sophomore and the freshman classes. The same year she promoted the first campus day program, which remains as a tradition with few alterations. Another year Miss French started the custom of singing Christmas carols around a lighted tree on the campus.

University Faculty

J. Glover Eldridge, Ph. D., Dean

THE University of Idaho in the first eleven years of its existence had no deans. The president and the faculty considered in detail all matters pertaining to students at the weekly faculty meetings. In the absence of the president an executive committee was instructed to take charge. In April, 1903, the Board of Regents abolished the Executive committee and created a dean of the university faculty and appointed to it the present incumbent, Professor J. G. Eldridge, of the department of modern languages. His duties at that time involved the chairmanship of certain important committees, particularly the committee on admissions and courses, a work which was later divided among three committees. Two years later, the position of registrar was left vacant and his duties were temporarily transferred to the dean's office

In 1920 Dr. A. H. Upham came to the University of Idaho to accept the presidency of the institution. He organized committees on scholarship, courses of study, and the granting of degrees, and it became Doctor Eldridge's duties as dean of the faculty to act as chairman at these meetings. In 1925 the committees were merged into an Academic Council, with Dr. Upham as the chairman and Dean Eldridge the vice chairman. In case of the absence of the president, Doctor Eldridge takes charge, and makes the reports to faculty members concerning the business transacted.

In the latter part of January, 1927,

Dean Eldridge left the University of Idaho on a leave of absence to tour Europe, and to do some graduate studying at the University of Paris. Dean and Mrs. Eldridge spent several days at the home of his former French pastor at Mornac Breuilet, France, whom he met during the World War in 1918. This visit was made while they were en route to Naples, Italy. While in the French city, Dean Eldridge gave a lecture to his friend's parishioners. It was after their tour through Italy and Southern France, that Dean Eldridge entered as a student in the University of Paris for a two months' post-graduate course. At the end of this term, Dean Eldridge intends to make an extensive tour through Germany and then he and Mrs. Eldridge will be ready to return to America. Letters to faculty members say they are enjoying the trip. The Doctor and Mrs. Eldridge will return to the University this September, in time for Doctor Eldridge to continue his work as the Dean of the Faculty, and the head of the Department of Modern Languages.

College of Letters and Science

M. F. Angell, Ph. D., Dean

THE College of Letters and Science has shown marked development under the direction of Dean M. F. Angell. In the past two years the college has maintained a somewhat increased and more uniform requirement of scholarship in all its departments and with this there has been a fair increase in enrollment. The formation of Phi Beta Kappa, which is not open to students of vocations, is a definite indication of the high rating of this school. The College of Letters and Science has the only non-professional curriculum in the university. This school is the nucleus of the university. It was the first department formed in the university and out of it others have grown. Although the recent establishment of the School of Business Administration as a separate department decreased the enrollment in the College of Letters and Science about 300 students, there are now 655 enrolled compared with 987 two years ago.

The Dean makes consultation with students, one of the most important parts of the teaching work. Especially is this true in the sophomore and freshman years. All students feel free to go to Dean Angell and consult with him regarding any difficulty that they may have.

Besides Dean Angell's capacity as Dean of the College of Letters and Science he is chairman of the faculty athletic committee which gave us our present coach, secretary of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Conference, and is directly responsible for the development of the department of physics of which he has been professor since 1913. Assisting Dean Angell as professors in the college are: Dr. J. E. Wodsedalek, professor of Zoology and Entomology; C. W. Chenoweth, professor of Philosophy; E. O. Bangs, professor of Music; David MacMillan, director of Physical Education; J. G. Eldridge, professor of Modern Languages; Colonel E. R. Chrisman, head of the Military Department; Eugene Taylor, professor of Mathematics; Miss Katherine Jensen, professor of Home Economics; F. C. Church, professor of History; G. M. Miller, professor of English; H. L. Axtell, professor of Classical Languages; C. L. von Ende, professor of Chemistry; F. W. Gail, professor of Botany; David C. Lange, professor of Architecture, and Charles Erb, director of Athletics.

Doctor Angell was recently appointed dean of the Southern Branch of the University of Idaho, at Pocatello, in the absence of Dean Retherford, who has taken a one-year leave of absence.

College of Agriculture

E. J. Iddings, M. S., Dean

IT IS the function of the College of Agriculture to train its students to cope with rural problems as they exist in all its phases. The college offers facilities and instruction that will prepare the student for scientific farming, research work, extension work, and survey. It works toward progression in efficient production, larger net returns, and better living.

The College of Agriculture and Agricultural Experiment Station operates on 612 acres of deeded and leased land, and consists of eleven permanent buildings. In addition the university owns or leases for purposes of agricultural experiments 750 acres located at five other points in the state. The college maintains laboratories for agricultural chemistry, agricultural engineering, agronomy, animal husbandry, bacteriology, dairy husbandry, horticulture, plant pathology and poultry.

The College of Agriculture was created in 1908, with E. E. Elliot appointed first dean. He was followed by Dean W. L. Carlyle, who carried on the work of the college until it was taken over by Dean Iddings, in 1915. The institution has shown consistent development since its creation, and the extension work which it promotes has been greatly beneficial to the state. The college has produced stock that has taken prizes at the Pacific International Livestock Shows held at Portland each year, and agriculture students usually make an excellent showing as stock judges at the contests. The college is in possession of many large silver loving cups which were awarded to the institution for the showing the prize winning live stock has made in the exhibitions.

E. J. IDDINGS, Dean of the College of Agriculture, was born March 22, 1879, at Peru, Indiana. He studied at Butler College (1899-1901), received his B. S. (Agr.) degree at the Colorado Agricultural College in 1907, and received the M. S. degree in 1922. He was appointed dean at Idaho in 1915.

The School of Practical Agriculture, an organization within the College of Agriculture, is maintained for the purpose of providing practical agricultural training for men who lack the necessary preparation, or the time, for the regular courses in Agriculture.

The instruction within the school is made as practical as possible and deals primarily with up-to-date farm practices in the various phases of agriculture. Graduates of the course should be qualified to become successful farmers, managers of livestock, or other agricultural enterprises. Assisting the dean in his work are: H. E. Lattig, M. S.; F. W. Atkeson, B. S.; C. W. Hickman, B. S.; H. W. Hulbert, M. S.; C. W. Hungerford, Ph. D.; M. R. Lewis, C. E.; R. E. Neidig, M. S.; R. T. Parkhurst, B. S.; C. C. Vincent, M. S. (Agr.); F. E. Whitehead, M. S. These professors head their respective departments.

College of Law

Robert M. Davis, A. B., J. D., Dean

THE College of Law at the University of Idaho was organized in 1909 under the leadership of Professor J. F. MacLane, who was then chairman of the faculty. In 1911 Professor MacLane left the university to become a district judge, and he was replaced by O. E. McCutcheon, who at that time was a member of the University Board of Regents. Dean McCutcheon remained at the University of Idaho until 1913. He was followed by Dean George D. Ayers (1913-1917), acting Dean J. J. Gill (1917-1918), Dean O. P. Cockerill (1918-1923), and Dean Robert McNair Davis, in 1923.

The purpose of the present administration in the College of Law has been to improve the standards of legal education at the university and to cooperate with the commissioners of the Idaho Bar in bringing about higher requirements for admission into the legal profession. Students entering the law school are required to have a more thorough pre-legal training than has previously been customary.

The high scholastic standard actuates the students to work with greater perseverance and earnestness toward their objective.

Progress is manifest in that graduate students are forging to the front in the legal profession and are holding important official positions in Idaho and elsewhere.

With the cooperation of the law faculty it is the function of the dean to formulate policies of professional education for the state and to cooperate with the bar associations, the Association of American Law Schools, and bar examiners in making possible adequate preparation for service at the bar and on the bench. Dean Davis advocates service as the ultimate motive of the embryo lawyer. He encourages students to study law for the vast amount of good that can be done from an ethical standpoint and not from any mercenary gain that might be had.

Assisting Dean Davis in the instruction of jurisprudence are: J. J. Gill, LL. B.; S. A. Harris, A. B., J. D.; F. L. Mechem, Ph. B., LL. B. Professor Mechem, who has only been at Idaho for one year, replaced M. H. Merrill, formerly a professor in the law department, who is now teaching in the University of Nebraska law school. The members of the teaching staff do not practice law, but give all their time to instruction and research in the department. This provision which limits the scope of activity for the professors enables them to give more time to interviews with law students.

DEAN Robert McNair Davis of the Idaho College of Law was born in 1882, Kansas City, Missouri. He received his education in higher institutions of learning at Harvard University, Harvard Law School, and the University of Chicago. Dean Davis was appointed head of the law college at Idaho in the year of 1923.

College of Engineering

Ivan C. Crawford, C. E., Dean

THE University of Idaho College of Engineering was made a separate institution in 1911. Charles N. Little, its first dean, headed the college until 1923, when it came under the present incumbent, Dean Ivan C. Crawford. It now has four distinct departments fully equipped to give the students every advantage in learning the profession.

In civil engineering, there is a full equipment of field instruments with well-appointed drafting rooms, a complete cement testing laboratory and a 200,000-pound universal Olsen testing machine. A road-material laboratory equipped for testing both bituminous and non-bituminous materials has been provided and is available for the instruction of students and for the service of highway officials throughout the state in making tests needed in the course of road construction.

The electrical engineering laboratory is equipped to demonstrate the action of various types of generators, motors, converters, transformers, and other electrical apparatus by using commercial machines of convenient size. In addition to the photometric and radio laboratories, an electrical standardization laboratory is maintained.

The mechanical laboratory is equipped for experimental work on steam, gas and oil engines; on gas producer, air compressor, feed pump and heater, and injectors; on automobile motors, carburetors, ignition and starting apparatus. The chemical engineering laboratories are not segregated from those of the Department of Chemistry. However, with the new Science Hall, the Chemistry Department has all necessary equipment.

The Idaho Engineer, a semi-annual magazine, published the first time, May, 1924; by the students of the College of Engineering, has grown to have a thousand circulation. The magazine prints articles by Idaho graduates in the field of engineering, by national authorities, and reviews the engineering projects of the Northwest. Through its columns, students report research work done in the college and items that may be of interest to alumni.

Professors in the College of Engineering are: Carl Leopold von Ende, Ph. D.; J. H. Johnson, E. E.; H. F. Gauss, M. E.; J. A. Kostalek, Ph. D.; A. P. Ludberg, C. E.; F. W. Candee, M. S.; C. L. Farrar, B. S. (E. E.). Instructors are: J. L. Hemmert, B. S. (C. E.); N. P. Bailey, B. S. (M. E.); I. N. Carter, B. S. (C. E.), and A. H. Knudson, B. S. (M. E.). Harry Frazier is the shop foreman.

IVAN C. CRAWFORD, Dean of the College of Engineering, was born June 2, 1886, in Leadville, Colorado. He received his elementary education in schools of Leadville. He completed work for a B. S. (C. E.) in the University of Colorado (1912) and a C. E. degree in 1915. He was appointed Dean of Engineering at Idaho in 1923.

School of Forestry

Francis G. Miller, M. F., Dean

THE School of Forestry was established in August, 1917, with F. G. Miller appointed first dean. Prior to that, the university had a Department of Forestry which had been a part of the institution since 1907.

The heavy forest and lumber camps that are short distances from the University of Idaho, give the students exceptional advantages to do research work and get the practical experiences of foresters and lumbermen. Some of the largest sawmills and logging camps in the United States may be reached from the university. The school sends students out at all seasons of the year to study the mills, logging camps, virgin and cut-over forests, and other conditions involved in the study of forestry. As the faculty maintain, the best laboratory is the forest, and as much time should be spent there as is necessary for acquiring a thorough and practical knowledge of details. Statistics show that Idaho ranks fourth among the states of the union in the wealth of her forests.

The forestry problems of Idaho are complex and important. Economic operation, conservation, and reforestation are vital questions in the final solution of which, the United States government and the state, including its educational system, and the lumber industry are supposed to cooperate. The function of the School of Forestry is to assist in the solution of these problems by affording facilities for instruction in forestry, and by encouraging the scientific management of forest resources. The success of the school depends on the magnitude of the field, its scientific bearing and standard, and the relationship which it maintains with the public schools, the lumber industry, and the agencies of the state and national governments. By maintaining the Arboretum, a tract of land comprising approximately eighteen acres, the school affords the students sound, practical work in studying silviculture and dendrology. The School of Forestry also has a section of land about six miles from Moscow, which is maintained as a demonstration forest.

Dean Miller has been persistent in his efforts to develop the School of Forestry, and is largely responsible for its present reputation and high national standing. Assisting the dean in his department are: Ernest E. Hubert, Ph. D.; Clarence W. Watson, M. F.; Harry I. Nettleton, B. S. (For.); E. G. Wiesehuegel, B. S. (For.). Professor Wiesehuegel was added to the staff this fall.

FRANCIS GARNER MILLER was born June 2, 1866, in Lawarck, Illinois. He was educated in institutions of higher learning at the University of Iowa, Iowa State College, and Yale University, where he received his Master of Forestry degree. He was appointed Dean of the School of Forestry at Idaho in 1917.

School of Mines

Francis A. Thomson, E. M., Dean

THE Idaho School of Mines, with F. A. Thomson as its dean, is the only one in the Northwest showing a steady and consistent growth. Beginning with the spring of 1925 a marked stimulus has been noted in the mining industry of Idaho due to significant discoveries in the south-central part of the state. There has also been a marked improvement in the mining industry throughout the west as a whole. These facts have had an interesting effect upon the attendance at the School of Mines, in that public interest has been renewed in the mineral industry throughout the state and has led a larger number of young men to enroll in the school.

The conspicuous success of the graduates of the university, trained in mining and metallurgy, is becoming more and more evident. From Alaska to Mexico and from Eastern Canada to New Caledonia, the university mining alumni are to be found filling executive positions in the mineral industry.

The state-wide work of the School of Mines in its cooperative relations with the State Bureau of Mines and Geology, with the United States Bureau of Mines, is expanding and is met with increasing recognition both within and without the boundaries of Idaho. The work of the School of Mines is carried on in an atmosphere of applied and practical research because of its state connection. Various papers and reports have been written and published by the members of the School of Mines and cooperating staffs, based upon their researches. Members of the staff have also frequently addressed various public bodies of a professional or commercial character and have discussed topics of interest and importance in their various fields. At the present time we have at Idaho far more students enrolled in the School of Mines than the University of Washington, notwithstanding the fact that the University of Washington has a total enrollment of over three times as many students as at the University of

F. A. THOMSON, D. Sc., E. M., was born in 1879, Greenwich, England. He received his higher education at Columbia College, New Westminster, B. C., and at the Colorado School of Mines, Golden, Colorado. He was appointed Dean of the School of Mines at the University of Idaho in 1917.

Idaho. Such a condition is partially due to the personnel of the Idaho school faculty, and to the location of Moscow, which is situated in the heart of the most diversely productive mineral region of the world. Within a radius of 300 miles has been produced mineral worth more than $2,000,000,000, most of it in the last 25 years.

Besides Dean Thompson, the faculty consists of: E. W. Ellis, assistant professor of Mining and Metallurgy; F. B. Laney, professor of Geology; V. R. D. Kirkham, assistant professor of Geology.

School of Education

J. Franklin Messenger, Ph. D., Dean

THE organization of the School of Education as an independent unit of the University of Idaho was authorized by the Board of Regents in June, 1920. With Doctor Messenger as its dean, the school shows rapid and consistent growth. In 1920 there were twenty-three students including three graduate students in the School of Education. The number of graduating students was increased to seventy-nine in 1926, and eight students were conferred Masters' degrees in that year.

Another source that gives evidence of the rapid growth and development in the School of Education is in the great increase of Idaho students teaching in the elementary and high schools of the state. Statistics show that approximately five hundred per cent more students are teaching in the state than were in 1920. In addition to this, at one time three of the highest state offices concerned with educational work in Idaho, were held by graduates of the School of Education at the University of Idaho. They included the Commissioner of Education, the Idaho State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the State High School Inspector, and one of the elementary school supervisors of the state. It is obvious that the graduates from the university have gone quickly into influential positions in educational work in the state, and there are considerably more students teaching in Washington, Oregon and California, than there are in Idaho.

Dean Messenger is enthusiastic with his efforts to continue the growth and standing of the school. The fact that he is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a member of the American Psychological Association, and a member of the National Association of College Teachers of Education, in itself indicates Dean Messenger's national standing as a progressive educator. His work at the University of Idaho has already brought results.

The services of the school are at the disposal of teachers who wish to improve themselves while in service.

Assisting the dean in the work of the school, which consists in training high school teachers, principals, superintendents and supervisors, are: Philip Soulen, M. A., Professor of School Administration; J. Wesley Barton, Ph. D., Professor of Psychology; Ralph D. Russell, Ph. D., Professor of Secondary Education; Herbert E. Lattig, M. S. (Ed.), Professor of Agricultural Education; Bernice McCoy, M. S. (Ed.), Assistant Professor of Education; Howard Easley, M. A., Assistant Professor of Psychology.

J. FRANKLIN MESSENGER, Ph. D., was born, 1872, in Iowa. He worked for his B. A. degree at the University of Kansas, his M. A. degree at Harvard, and his Ph. D. at Columbia. He came from the University of Vermont in 1920 to accept a position at Idaho as Dean of the School of Education.

School of Business

Harrison C. Dale, A. M., Dean

THE School of Business Administration was organized at the University of Idaho, and H. C. Dale was appointed as its first dean. The organizing of the school is resultant of a gradual and consistent growth in the enrollment of classes, and the addition of new courses that make up the curriculum for a business department. The catalog for the years 1894-1895 was the first to list any instruction in political science and economics.

With the coming of President MacLean to the university in 1901, continuous instruction was offered by the president in the field of political science, which included one or two courses in economics. The major emphasis, however, was laid on government. Following President MacLean's resignation in 1913, an associate professor of economics was appointed who gave the department a distinctly "economic" slant. A year later, it was called for the first time the Department of Economics and Political Science.

In 1915-1916 plans creating a separate Department of Business Administration were announced, and the following year under a professor of commerce, courses in advertising, retail store management, auditing, statistics, etc., were offered.

In 1917-1918 the separate department of commerce was consolidated with the Department of Economics and Political Science. In 1922, on recommendation of the president of the university, there was announced the creation of a curriculum in business with five majors organized within the college of Letters and Science, including among its required subjects, courses offered by the faculties of the other schools and colleges as well.

The objective of the dean and his associates is to make the School of Business at the University of Idaho the outstanding institution in the entire intermountain territory for the study of its business problems, and to promote the training of men so they may be capable of

HARRISON C. DALE, A. M., was born March 7, 1885, in Massachusetts. He was educated at Harvard University and after instructing at universities in Utah, Washington and Wyoming, he came to Idaho in 1920. He was made dean of the Idaho School of Business in 1925. In 1907-08, Dean Dale did research work abroad.

solving these problems of production and finance, labor, distribution, including national and international transportation, and others of such a nature.

Graduate School

J. E. Wodsedalek, Ph. D., Dean

THE aim of the Graduate School is to encourage and promote research and graduate work of a high character. While the graduate students are expected to assume the initiative and responsibility, the purpose of this school is to provide them with the methods for independent study and discipline for original research, with the ultimate objective that they may contribute to the advancement of knowledge.

Though graduate study at the University of Idaho dates back almost to the beginning of the institution, noteworthy progress in this advanced phase of work has only been manifest in recent years. A great encouragement for the advancement of graduate work is the result of organizing the school in 1925 with Doctor Wodsedalek as its dean. In 1921 there were only fifteen graduate students registered in the university, and there were only two Masters' degrees conferred.

The dean has general supervision of the entire field of graduate work in the university. The nine weeks' summer graduate session is also under his direction.

For the promotion of graduate study and research, the Graduate School awards a number of fellowships with annual stipends of five hundred dollars, and teaching fellowships with stipends of seven hundred and fifty dollars; also a number of scholarships are awarded annually with stipends of three hundred and fifty dollars.

Besides his capacity as Dean of the Graduate School, Dr. Wodsedalek is head of the Department of Zoology, one of the largest science departments in the university. He is chairman of the Graduate Council, chairman of the University Research Committee, and director of the Pre-Medical and Pre-Nursing Curricula.

Dr. Wodsedalek is directly responsible for the development of the Graduate School, and he is largely responsible for a chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity, at Idaho. He is a devoted scientific investigator, and his extensive publications have made him one of the most widely known educators in the state. He is appointed by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, as a committee of one in connection with the freedom of teaching, science, and research, in the state of Idaho.

Late this year a Graduate Club was organized through encouragement of Doctor Wodsedalek for promotion of interests and activities of the graduate students—individually and as a group, and to advertise the purpose and growth of the school.

J. E. WODSEDALEK was born August 5, 1884, in Kewaunee, Wisconsin. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and from that institution he received his Ph. D. degree. Doctor Wodsedalek was appointed Dean of the Graduate School of the University of Idaho in 1925, the year of its origin.

Associated Student Body

University of Idaho

AN ORGANIZED body for the promotion of collegiate and inter-collegiate activities, the Associated Students of the University of Idaho is now an entity that is composed of approximately 2000 students. Every person enrolled in the university who has paid the regular association dues is a member. The entity is responsible for the character and attractiveness of the university. Through the efforts of its members, functions are started, continued, and are made traditional. The body fosters and encourages athletics, debate, music and publications. It has expression through its executive agencies, the graduate manager, the president of the student body and other members of the executive board.

Consistent growth in the enrollment of the university and the development of characteristics through the process of time have made the institution desirable and distinctive. The association boasts of a decidedly democratic spirit that has grown with the university; student greets student with a "hello" whether the meeting individuals are acquainted. This custom may be traced back to the time when only a few well-acquainted students constituted the associated group, and only a few students worked toward the objectives which to an extent can now be realized.

The student body association for the 1926-27 school year has carried on its activities with such success as is expected with the aid of increased numbers and the guidance of precedent. A laudable spirit has been manifest in supporting all association activities.

ENTHUSIASM reached its peak in the fall when the association was preparing for the annual W. S. C.-Idaho grid contest. A week prior to the game, peppy demonstrations commenced and continued up to the time scheduled for the ancient rivals to meet in combat. Powerful spotlights placed on the Administration tower and on the bleachers served the two-fold purpose of furnishing light for night workouts and preventing marauding W. S. C. students from defiling the campus. By the aid of this lighting, Freshmen guarded the campus at night from possible invasion; large groups of students went from house to house singing their praises of the Gem state. The night before the contest, the annual pajama parade was held.

Everyone interested in the University of Idaho is eagerly looking forward to the construction of the proposed Memorial Building, which is expected to be started this year. The Alumni Association, the American Legion and the students of the university have contributed to the fund to build the gymnasium that Idaho needs. At the time of this publication definite information concerning the structure of the building was not obtainable.

The Executive Board of the A. S. U. I.

THE Executive Board of the A. S. U. I. was organized in 1924, when Talbot Jennings was president of the student body. The constitution incorporating an Executive Board was accepted by the student body and passed by the Board of Regents March first.

The Executive Board has charge of all departments of the A. S. U. I. It examines the accounts and reports of all officers of the association, makes temporary appointments to fill all vacancies occurring in the offices of the association, and has complete control over all A. S. U. I. property. The executive board exercises powers over all A. S. U. I. organizations, including publications; it passes rules and regulations for the general welfare of the student body, bringing all questions before the students when it is deemed advisable. The executive board passes on all student body, class and organized functions which are held on the campus. It regulates the soliciting of advertising, appoints student managers, levies all student assessments, approves all expenditures from the fund created by student assessments as provided for in the by-laws of the A. S. U. I. constitution, and grants all athletic letters, and all other insignia within its jurisdiction.

The Executive Board consists of the three officers of the A. S. U. I. association; the president, who acts as the chairman of the board, vice president, and secretary; also six members who are elected—two men members and one woman member from the incoming Senior class, and two men members and one woman member from the incoming Junior class. A member of the university faculty appointed by the president of the university from recommendations of the executive board, and a resident alumnus appointed by the president of the University of Idaho Alumni Association from recommendations submitted by executive board, are ex-officio members without vote.

AT THE present time the Executive Board consists of Harry Baughman, president; George Austin, vice president; Anna McGonigle, secretary; Beardslee Merrill and Frank Click, Junior men, and Alice Ross as Junior woman. Arthur Emerson and Edson Morris are senior men, and Josephine Keane is senior woman. Dean Crawford is serving his third year as faculty advisor. Because of his broad-minded outlook on student problems, his intense interest in everything concerning the university, and his cooperative spirit he is a vital member of the board. This is also Mr. Baughman's third year on the board, having served one year as junior man, one as senior man, and the third year as president of the A. S. U. I. The alumni are interested in the actions of the board and represented by Harold Cornelison.

The Graduate Manager of the A. S. U. I.

THE graduate manager is an alumnus of the University of Idaho, appointed by the president of the university in consultation with the executive board, and is the business head of the A. S. U. I., in that he has charge of all property and funds of the association. The graduate manager has general control of athletics, publications, debate, music, dramatics and inter-collegiate competition in stock judging, the six major departments of the student body, subject to the general supervision of the Executive Board of the Associated Students.

George E. Horton, graduated from the University of Idaho in 1906, commenced his activities as graduate manager in the fall of 1925. Besides his duties as general manager of the A. S. U. I., Mr. Horton is secretary-treasurer of the Alumni Association, and the Memorial Building Association. Prior to 1925, he instructed for two years at the university engineering shops, and taught one year in the mechanical department during the last war. In 1900 George Horton was captain of the football team that defeated the Universities of Washington and Spokane for the Northwest championship. "Cap" is also a baseball and track man of the university. He was a member of the committee which drafted the first constitution for the A. S. U. I., and was a member of the first committee to make athletic awards. In 1905 he was under-graduate football manager and brought the University of Washington to Moscow for a game which resulted in a championship victory. To bring a football team from such a distance as Seattle in the days when Idaho had hardly enough players to make two squads was considered a major business promotion. After he had graduated, Mr. Horton was alumni representative on the executive board for two years.

These activities scarcely summarize the manager's history in regard to his career with the university. His work and interests have distinguished him as one of the most aggressive and popular of Idaho Alumni; the pseudonym "Cap" has followed him through the years since he was captain of the football team in 1900, and he is known and called by that name in the university today.

GEORGE HORTON

BESIDES having charge of and accounting for all A. S. U. I. property and funds, the graduate manager supervises the expenditure of all class funds which are deposited in the student treasury. The graduate manager is assisted by student managers of the departments and organizations. Working in cooperation with the student managers, the graduate supervisor has a better chance to know the needs and conditions of the departments, and the assisting managers have ample opportunity to keep well posted on the financial standing of the association. At the beginning of each semester, the graduate manager and his assistants compile an A. S. U. I. budget to submit to the executive board for its approval. The graduate manager is responsible to the executive board for the proper expenditure of the approved budget for each department.

Idaho Yesterday

The past may be compared to a shrine in the coigne of some sea cliff, whither the white birds of recollection come to roost and rest a while and fly away again into the darkness. But the shrine is never deserted. For away up from the horizon's line other white birds come wheeling and circling to take the place of those that have left and are leaving.

—MR. GEORGE MOORE.

Idaho Yesterday

By Smith Miller and Grace Jain

IDAHO of yesterday was a vastly different place from the Idaho of today. It is hard to realize from what lowly beginnings our University has sprung. A look between the covers of our early annuals will carry us back to the Idaho of not so long ago, and reveal to us the life and times of Idaho of Yesterday.

October 3, 1892, was the formal opening date of the University of Idaho. The first Board of Regents had appointed James H. Forney of Moscow provisional president of the University. In connection with the secretary of the Board he was commissioned to formulate a "curriculum for the studies of the ensuing term, and to secure professors for the chairs of learning." The presidency of the University was accepted on August 6, 1892, by F. B. Gault of Tacoma, Washington, who occupied the position for the ensuing six years.

WHEN the doors were opened only one-third of the Administration Building was finished. The rest of it was still in construction, and wet plaster was everywhere. The campus was no more than a field with a fence around it. The fence had to be negotiated by a stile, over which ran a strand of barbed wire. Someone—usually a girl, for ankles were hidden in those days—invariably got mixed up with the wire, and eight o'clocks had to be postponed until the fair victim was disentangled. As the "Reminiscences" of the first GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS have it, "I still have visions of an old road—there was no sidewalk then; no gravelled path that wound in sinuous curves across a grass sown campus—only a wagon road which had been used by the contractors for hauling the materials essential to the construction of the building. The dust in this road was ankle deep and through this waded eager boys and girls in search of an education."

SEVENTEEEN young scholars appeared the first morning. There was no furniture for two weeks, so they registered on the architect's table. Then President Gault lined them up in the hall, since there was nothing to sit on, and gave them the first University address. Among other things he remarked that not many universities gave students such standing the first day. Then they adjourned, to meet again two weeks later.

WHEN classes were finally taken up the administration discovered that of the thirty-two students then registered only a few were qualified to enter university courses. This led to the establishment of a preparatory department, which was much larger than the regular university. There were first year preps, second year preps and third year preps; at the bottom of the educational ladder were the sub-preps. In fact, the University was furnishing fourth grade education to some of its students. The preps continued until 1913. They were a large group, and felt their responsibility. They boasted of their achievements, as did all the regular classes. Class rivalry was keen—class pride was strong. Everything was class.

There were no electives in the scientific and English courses in those days. Students in the so-called "classical course" revelled in five hours of electives in four years of their college course. But the burdens of an education were lightened by the very informal modes of obtaining it. An early annual says, "Many rules now in force in the University were unnecessary at that time. The life of the student was a free and happy one. To see a student chasing another around the room and the teacher after both was not unusual." An example of this "free and happy life" was the joke played on President Gault by the biology class. The biology class—which, by the way, consisted of three members—had been presented with a skeleton as an aid to its studies. At that time there was only one telephone in the building. It was in a booth in the hall, and was used by students and faculty alike. Not even the president had a private phone, so he had to make frequent trips to the booth. One morning the biology class brought its skeleton out and put it in the booth. President Gault walked down the hall and opened the door. He peered within, and noticed the rather skinny figure draped over the telephone. "I beg your pardon," he murmured, and withdrew. A few minutes later he came out again. The figure was still there, in the same position. The third time this happened the president smelled a rat, or perhaps it was the odor generally associated with skeletons. At any rate he investigated, and found that the occupant had ceased long ago to care anything about the phone service.

The Old "Ad" Building

Moscow, 1883

The University enrollment was more than a hundred by the end of the first year. Students from southern Idaho began to come in, most of them after the first day of registration. Railroad connections were rather uncertain, and many were the modes of travel adopted to reach Moscow. As late as 1896 students came up from south Idaho on pack horses, camping along the way.

IT WAS undoubtedly during this first year that the "Hello" spirit started. Everybody knew everybody else, and naturally everyone said "Hello." As the University grew, of course, it became impossible to know every student, but the custom persisted. Today it is a fine indication of the democracy that is so characteristic of Idaho.

The first student organization, the Amphictyon Society, appeared on the campus November 18, 1892. At first only for men, it soon became co-educational, but in 1903-1904 withdrew membership privileges to women. Their reason was not to discourage the unfair sex, but, as the club members so painstakingly put it, to "encourage the young ladies to form societies of their own, so that by constant interchange of ideas among themselves they might receive mental, moral and spiritual benefit." The aims of the Amphictyon were primarily literary. It produced plays, literature and music. Since there was no graduating class the first year, and consequently no graduation, the Amphictyon gave the closing exercises in the spring of 1893.

"The Websterian Literary Society," says an old annual, "was organized in the fall of 1893 as a boys' debating club. For two years debating was the main feature, but the programs gradually took on more of the nature of a literary society. A lively time took place the second year over the admission of girls as members. The adherents to the girls' cause finally won, and on the following year the co-eds were admitted to the full privileges of the society." Debating was by far the most important University activity; in fact, it was almost the only activity—it was a regulation. During the first few years every student was required to give two orations a year from the rostrum on assembly days. The custom must have been a fearful one, for " 'T was a pitiful, as well as a ludicrous sight, to watch each poor victim tremble up the aisle, bow to the faculty which sat in a rigid line behind him, and then tremble through an oration, before the eyes of his fellow students. One poor individual, whose memory failed him, upon reaching for his manuscript in his hip pocket, pulled forth a dog chain and retired in confusion."

THE Websterian Society was directly responsible for the founding of the Argonaut. In 1898 the Society appointed a committee to present the plan for a college paper before the Associated Students. The A. S. U. I., however, feared to undertake what they thought would be a great financial risk, and the Websterian Society itself refused to take the responsibility for the publication of a paper. So a member of the committee which presented the plan to the students took it upon himself to write, edit, publish and sell the paper for that year. The student body agreed, if the paper paid for itself, to undertake its publication the second year.

The first issue of the paper appeared in December, 1898, under the title of The Argonaut, the Searcher of the Golden Fleece. It came out monthly, in the form of a magazine, for the remainder of that school year. Then came the reckoning. Mr. Guy Wolfe, who was business manager as well as being editor, had secured enough subscriptions to make the paper itself a paying proposition, but he discovered, to his subsequent sorrow, that not all the subscriptions were paying propositions. On the books, therefore, the Argonaut was free from debt, but in reality the editor was in the hole. He borrowed enough money from his father to pay the bills incurred by publication and spent the next summer working out his indebtedness. But the Argonaut had made good, and from then on became an organ of the Associated Students.

THERE were many bright spots to lighten the gloom of a student's life. One of the most prominent was an honorable society known as the Terrible Four. Its requirements were not very strict, at least for those days. "Whenever a student would get into trouble" (serious trouble—ordinary mischief didn't count) "and come safely out he was elected an 'onery' member of the Terrible Four." They sent, each month, a lengthy article signed in blood to the president, telling how the institution should be run. Membership increased from four to seven, and then the society died a natural death, its members graduating one by one.

The Tin Can Brigade, or Company Q, was an offspring of the Terrible Four. Every evening the stalwart soldiers of the Company paraded through the town, singing and playing accompaniments on their buckets and tin cans.

When the Spanish-American War broke out in the fall of 1898, Lieutenant—now

"The Searcher of the Golden Fleece"

ter—it was just a holiday. Early in the morning, before classes took up, they barricaded the street—there was only one way to get to the campus then—took the girls' lunch boxes away from them, and told them that there would be no recitations that day. Some of the young ladies were peeved, and the faculty, when they heard about it, objected heatedly, but a holiday it was. Chrisman Day was observed for several years after that, although Colonel Chrisman himself did not return permanently until many years later. It was about this time that the Senior Sneak—the annual free-for-all pilgrimage of the graduating class—began, but there is probably no connection between the two traditions.

ONE result of the Spanish-American War was the establishment of the Old Guard. Thirty-nine Idaho students enlisted and went to the front. Thirty-seven of them returned; two had died in the service of their country. It is in their honor that Memorial Day is held, and it was to their memory that the statue on the campus was erected. The thirty-seven returned soldiers paraded every year as the Old Guard, until they had all graduated. Then the custom was continued as an annual drill and review by the cadet battalion. The Old Guard has now degenerated into a burlesque parade which takes place every year in the afternoon of Campus Day.

The First Book of the Vandals

Colonel—Chrisman, in charge of the military post at the University, was ordered to the front. Lieutenant Chrisman was the most popular man on the campus. He was idolized by students and faculty alike. The news of his going to war naturally increased the devotion of the University for him. The night before he left a very sumptuous and very wet banquet was held in his honor. Earlier in the day a figure of Spain in effigy had been raised, and this figure, with highest military dishonors, was burned as part of the farewell celebration. The next day, when the lieutenant left, was the first Chrisman Day. Some of the boys got together and decided that in honor of the occasion there should be a holiday. They didn't ask the faculty's permission, and there wasn't any argument about the mat-

IN 1903 the first GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS appeared. It was established as a Junior Class tradition, and was published by the Juniors from 1903 to 1924, with the exception of 1905, when there was no annual, and 1920, when the A. S. U. I. sponsored its publication. The GEM is now an organ of the student body, published by the A. S. U. I.

The first Book of the Vandals summed up the history of the University for the first ten years of its life. By the time of the book's appearance the University was firmly established, and Idaho spirit was strongly inculcated in the minds of all the students. The GEM was a natural expression of the desire of the student body for a record of its history and achievements. It gives a wonderfully clear impression of University life at that time. The Idaho yell, boldly printed on the title page of the book, was

Rah! Rah! Rah!—Rah! Rah! Rah!
Idaho! Idaho!—Boom! Ba! Bah!

THE Idaho colors, says a foot-note, were yellow and white, "emblematical of the gold and silver mined so extensively in the state." The University was a lively institution—there can be no doubt about that. There were organizations and societies galore. There was a Mandolin Club; Mandolin Clubbing seemed to be the favorite indoor sport at that time. There was even a University Quartet, which consisted of three faculty members and one student. Dean J. G. Eldridge, the only member of the faculty at that time who is here today, was a member of the quartet. Student life hasn't changed much, as peeps into this first annual show. Every now and then someone would have to "walk the carpet"—they still do. Girls wore "I" sweaters then—they still do. Boys and girls lost their hearts on the landings when they were supposed to be perusing their lessons—twenty-five years later, with a new building, new stairways, and new landings, they still do.

A football team was organized in 1894. The first game was with Washington State College, then Washington Agricultural College. A pep rally held before this game was the first of the annual bonfires and pep rallies held before the W. S. C. game. "Gub" Mix, one of the members of this first team, says, "We didn't know a lot about football in '94, but we'd heard what a devil of a game it was, so we got busy organizing a team . . . Guy Wolfe, Ed Smith and I were subs. I was about fourteen then, and a prep to boot, but in those days they needed subs for football. I'm not sure that all the players attended college, but that was all right in '94. We had no eligibility rules; anyone who didn't care what his face looked like afterwards was eligible.

"The Rivals"

The Morning After

"YES, that was in January, '94. Sure, I know it was the wrong time of the year for football, but we knew Pullman had a team—yes, I know you call 'em W. S. C. nowadays, and that's right, too, but I prefer to call 'em Pullman—and we wanted a game quick with Pullman. We got it, too, in the spring of '94, in Moscow down on a mud flat where the Madison Lumber Company now stands . . .

"Football suits! No, we didn't have any football suits. We wore baseball pants and an old shirt; no nose-guards, no shin-guards, no padding. You see, the idea we had was that padding kept you from hurting the other fellow. We figured the best way to save yourself from getting banged up was to knock out your opponent, so we stripped for action. We played old style, mass formation, center rush, three downs to make five yards. The halves dropped back, the quarter took the ball and passed it to the full-back. The halves grabbed the full-back, one on each side, the quarter hooked him by the belt, the ends came around behind and pushed and everybody took a running jump through center. Idaho won that game, won its first game of football and its first game with Pullman, 10 to 0."

Another game that year, with Lewiston, was lost by a score of 8 to 6. The day was rainy, the players were wet, the field was soggy, and the ball was slick. Gub Mix, the "fastidious quarterback," had a little difficulty in holding on to the ball. Between plays he picked the slippery oval up and wiped it on the grass, instead of on the spectators' clothing. Lewiston claimed that the ball was in play, and charged. Idaho, bewildered by the sudden attack, and highly offended at such an unjust accusation, lost the ball, and Lewiston made a touchdown.

It was this same Gub Mix whose education cost the state so much money. Gub, who received a B. S. in Agriculture in 1901, constituted the first graduating class of the Agricultural College. He had been in the University as a prep and a regular student for seven years, and was the first and only graduate that the Ag College had produced in ten years' time. The Morrill fund, by which the Ag College was maintained, began in 1890 with $15,000 and increased $1,000 per year. Since the fund had produced so far only one graduate, some rather caustic comment was reorganized to exclude preparatory students, who formed an association of their own.

The first setback in the career of the University came early in 1906. On Friday, March 30, at 2 o'clock in the morning, fire was discovered in the Administration Building. The janitor who slept in the building was awakened by the smoke and immediately gave the alarm. Campus and town turned out together to try to check the fire. By the prompt action of Francis Jenkins, Bursar, all the records were saved, but practically everything else was destroyed. The library was completely demolished. Nothing remained of the building itself but the walls, which were soon blown down to clear the site for the new building.

Idaho's educational system had received a crushing blow. Students and faculty were bewildered and hopeless. President MacLean, with his untiring energy and unflinching optimism, set to work to reorganize the University. Classes were held in the halls, in the gymnasium, and wherever there was a vacant room. Things were soon running smoothly again, and Idaho spirit once more overcame seeming insurmountable difficulties.

On October 11, 1911, the Seniors proposed a set of campus rules which were passed on by the Assembly. The regulations included saluting the president, uncovering of the head in singing "Alma Mater," freshman numeral painting and wearing of the green cap. There were no rules as yet to govern the annual freshman-sophomore scrap. This tradition must have started with the beginning of school, as an imitation of other schools which were doing the same thing. Accidents were frequent and serious, since any offense was within the laws of the game, there being no laws. In the fall of 1914 a particularly rough hazing aroused much unfavorable comment throughout the state. From that time on both classes were watched rather closely, while the faculty cast around for some means to regulate the affair. In 1915 Dean E. M. Hulme drew up a set of regulations governing all hostilities between the two classes. The scrap had formerly taken place on the 17th of March, but the date was now changed to the first Saturday after registration in the fall. According to the Hulme plan, teams are picked from each class to engage in wrestling, boxing, a tug o' war, and other sportsmanlike contests. This does away with all the old promiscuous hazing, while still allowing for the posting of the edicts and the general mix-up some night early in the fall. A fitting end to class hostilities is the Bury-the-Hatchet Dance, originated in 1910 by Dean French. It was originally an under-classman event, but now an all-college dance is held the same night for the benefit of the juniors and seniors.

Dean French—Founder of Many of the Beautiful Idaho Traditions

THE freshmen don the green cap at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the day of the Hulme Fight. If they win the fight they are allowed to remove it at the beginning of the Thanksgiving vacation; if not, they wear it until Christmas. The cap ap-arose over the fact that it took $250,000 to educate Gub Mix.

The University seems to have been the subject of political quarrels since the founding of the institution. The question of dividing the University has often arisen in the legislature. In 1899, to forestall any harmful legislation, it was decided to present a play before the legislators. Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, the head of the Public Speaking Department, who is now the president of Mills College, set to work to produce two plays. "She Stoops to Conquer" and "The Rivals" were chosen. In the fall of 1899 the troupes traveled to Boise. They played in several towns on the way there and back, always to packed houses. In Boise the plays were overwhelmingly successful, and University stock went up a hundred per cent. The cut shown on page 47 is a photograph of the cast in "The Rivals." Among the members of the cast are Mrs. Reinhardt, Honorable Burton L. French, Mr. B. W. Oppenheim, Honorable William E. Lee, and Mr. Homer David.

THE first Freshman Glee, given in 1905, was the last of the class dances to become a tradition. The Senior Ball must have existed from the very first year. The Junior Prom appeared in 1902, and the first Sophomore Frolic was in 1904. The Athletic Ball started in 1908—the Military Ball in 1905. If one judges from contemporary accounts, the orchestras at all these early dances were always excellent, the decorations lavish, and the refreshments superb. "Needless to say," boasts one write-up, "the punch bowl was the center of attraction."

During the second semester of the year 1903-04 the Associated Students of the University of Idaho was formed. The Athletic Board, Debate Council and Argonaut Staff, all of which had been independent organizations, were now included in the general head of the Associated Students. The Athletic Association had consisted only of track and baseball. The football adherents had refused to join, since football was making money and the Association wasn't. But the Associated Students included all branches of activity. At first only students representing the University in an intercollegiate contest were members of the Associated Students. The present plan of having every student a member was adopted in the fall of 1904-05. On March 30, 1910, the A. S. U. I.

Rincolwider Homely, Hysterical, Hollow-headed Hercules Smith will open the ball by singing, "My Face May Not Be Pretty But I Nose It."

Glaucous, Glastly, Gaunt Griffin will next read a selection from "The House of Mirth."

Rotten-y Exceedingly Small will jolly up the assembled multitude by reciting the touching tale "How I Wasn't Elected Class President" or "Unappreciated Greatness."

For fear of frightening children Asinus Longus Edmundson will not be exhibited. However, by request he will be permitted to Bray a few selections from behind the curtain.

MENAGERIE

The greatest collection of hand-made perovics products of physical phenomena ever imported by a perverted management.

PONDEROSO Captured on the Hags Brank Plains of Proussia while in the act of sizzing the jaguar vein of a sheep. Imported by his Freshman management at a total cost of 23 cents. Shipped place-mal out of the jungles on a train of fat-cars.

Thoughtless 1909ers are prohibited from feeding salted peanuts to Piazarus Olfidomance Oagus for fear of causing a bad Case of Sillitakke.

Dinky Doves, will furnish up the frills of a highland fling on his left leg—He uses his right leg because he is Scotch only on his father's side.

Lieutenant Hay-Hay Herville will put Sillitakke through a series of military evolutions for the enlightenment of the vulgar population.

Dippy Dipped and Dopy Doodle will positively appear in their harmonious Menagerie rhapsody.

"I'm a Baseball Fitcher—Chase Me Girls."

By Special Request of the Ladies'

Polly Perkins will exhibit his following act: He will be distributed among the fair progeny, while Langwishing Leonard, Wallowing Wadsworth and Babbling Bobb will imitate their othermost reports.

"Milking the Frogs While the Hoo Foo Bird Sings, Marguerite."

Terms of Admission

Spectators will be passed on their shoes—all passes to be passed at close of entertainment. If not satisfied with your passes they can be taken to the management.

The Fight Is On!

pears again on St. Patrick's Day and is worn until Campus Day, when it is burned with last rites.

The green cap was worn at least as early as 1911, since in that year campus rules provided for its being worn by freshmen. It is the distinguishing mark for freshmen men. Juniors wear cords. Senior men carry canes and go bareheaded. Senior women sport swagger sticks. Sophomores wear any damn thing they can get their hands on.

THE first Campus Day was held in May, 1910. Dean French was the initiator of this tradition. The main event was the May Fete, with the winding of the Maypole. The custom of improving the campus in the morning and having the May Festival in the afternoon was begun in 1914.

On April 10, 1911, ex-President Roosevelt visited the University of Idaho. As a memorial to his visit he planted a tree—a Colorado blue spruce—on the campus just across the driveway from the Administration Building. The spruce forms the south angle of a triangle of three trees, all of which were planted by chief executives of the United States.

In 1912 Idaho's battle cry, "Idaho Fights," was first heard on the campus. The slogan was originated by John G. "Pink" Griffith, then Idaho football coach.

The first Song and Stunt Fest was held in the spring of 1915. The Fest consists of a stunt and a song given by each class, the best song and the best stunt receiving a prize. The Fest is an excellent opportunity for the development of any latent local talent.

President Roosevelt on the Wheat Sacks

The war year of 1918 was a slim year for Idaho. A training camp had been established in town and nearly all the men were in training. Several Idaho students had already gone to France; more were going as the year progressed. Idaho's record in the world struggle for democracy is something to be proud of. About 1500 Idaho men, alumni and students, enlisted. Nearly forty of them made the supreme sacrifice. An article in the 1920 GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS, written by President Lindley, gives testimony to Idaho's valor: "A young American soldier was found dead on a battlefield in France. Near him lay the bodies of four German soldiers. By the side of the American was a knife driven deeply into the ground—token of his victory in the unequal combat. The only mark of identification found on the American was a ring bearing the seal of the University of Idaho."

The Presidents' Trees

IN MARCH, 1923, under the supervision of the English Club, the Blue Bucket magazine was founded. The purpose of the publication was to complete the cycle of student activities at the university—athletics, dramatics, debate, music, and a college magazine. The name was chosen, "not for its alliterative qualities, but because it possesses both historic and symbolic significance. The blue bucket was the blue wooden bucket that swung beneath the covered wagons, drawn by slow-moving oxen, that made their way across the gray sagebrush plains of the Snake River on the old Oregon Trail. In 1845 a party of emigrants reported that somewhere between the crossing of the Snake and the John Day River they had seen gold nuggets in quantity enough to fill one of their blue buckets. This statement gave rise to a curious legend of the lost Blue Bucket diggings, a phantom mine that occasions persistent but futile search to this day in Idaho, Nevada and Oregon. The Blue Bucket has never been found, nor is it likely to be, although the search for it will go on until the last sough has crossed the Divide." But the spirit of seeking, the spirit that made the Blue Bucket mine all the more alluring because it was lost has been reincarnated today. The Blue Bucket expresses that constant search for the nuggets of life and literature, that constant pursuit of the unattainable, that constant urge, as Kipling phrased it, of "Something hidden. Go and find it.

*Go and look behind the ranges,
Something lost behind the ranges—*

Lost and waiting for you. Go!"

"The Light on the Mountains," the first Idaho pageant, was given at Commencement, 1923. It portrayed in drama, song and dance the history of the state from the Indian occupation to the present.

"E-dah-ho, the Light Upon the Mountains"

Singing of Christmas carols is one of Idaho's most beautiful traditions. The students gather around the Christmas tree on the campus and sing old hymns of praise.

The fall of 1926 saw the retirement of one of the most familiar figures on the Idaho campus. John Almqvist was the oldest employe of the U. He had served for nearly 28 years as greenhouse manager, gardener, and then, for almost two decades, as general caretaker of the campus.

The presentation of the Harvard Trophy cup for the best display of sportsmanship in the annual football contest between Idaho and W. S. C. is a comparatively new tradition. Idaho has won the cup every time that it has been awarded. Another custom hardly old enough to be a tradition is Homecoming Day. One iron-clad custom rigidly enforced by the "I" Club is that no dates are allowed at any athletic contest in which Idaho participates. This tradition, needless to say, is exceptionally well observed. The "I" bench, under the trees on the campus, is used only by seniors. The planting of the ivy by each graduating class expresses the desire of Idaho students leaving the University for a memorial to them and their achievements.

"John"

THUS through the years Idaho has changed and grown. It has met the most severe tests successfully; it has become a permanent, powerful influence on the student life in the state. And since all worthy things must depend upon their foundation, let us give due appreciation to the Idaho of Yesterday.

When winter comes the choice few lie in orderly array, each with his allotted place within the world. A mellowness encroaches, which makes the charm but double. Perfection is approached by but a few.

Junior

With ranks decimated, the enduring ones cling to the boughs till Autumn. The fullness of their term upon the tree brings symmetry and that attractive and provocative color so suggestive of their hidden qualities yet to be revealed. A few have lost their lustre and conceal an internal devouring pest. They will drop before the harvest comes.

Sophomore

By summertime the homely little greenlings, surviving many less hardy fellows, are beset by dry rot, parasites, and diseases. Basking in the hot summer sun they are the cynosure of all eyes. A faint blush dawns upon their cheeks. They gradually take form, but are yet valueless.

Seemingly, nothing short of a miracle could transform to their proper culmination, the insignificant, gnarled, blobs which appear on the boughs of the apple tree in spring. As a matter of fact, heavy frosts, storms, and the various exigencies of nature conspire to insure that but few of these green and valueless embryos mature into colorful fruits destined to grace life's festive board . . . Green, formless, colic-provoking, they are but a crude caricature of what they may become.

COACH

Charles Freeman Erb

IDAHO was indeed fortunate last spring in securing for the position of head football coach Charles Freeman Erb, who was quarterback of the three first and greatest of Andy Smith's "California Wonder Teams." Coach Erb, already known on the campus as "Charlie," is not only highly respected by the men training under him, but also admired by the student body.

Coming from the University of Nevada, where his teams have met with great success, "Charlie" made his debut at Idaho as a coast conference coach last fall under several handicaps. Erb was not named as coach until after spring practice. Thus he lost the advantage of looking over his men two or three weeks in the spring, and grounding them in his particular idea of fundamentals. He had to start on September 15 at the beginning, while all the other mentors were taking up where spring practice had left off. Faced with a tough road schedule and a dearth of experienced lettermen Erb set to work; before long he was able to present his opponents with a wonderfully well coached fighting machine, whose power, aggressiveness and high spirit astonished the football critics all along the coast. With these handicaps overcome, great things are expected in Idaho football next year.

The 1926 Football Season

WITH the opening game but two weeks off Coach Erb issued the call for the first football practice on September 15 and was greeted with turnout of approximately fifty candidates for the various positions. The loss of nine lettermen from the 1925 Vandals through graduation had left great gaps in the Varsity forward wall and backfield. The return of Gartin, Diehl, Walmsley, Duff, Jacoby, Owings, Canine and Edelblute, together with some likely material from the 1925 Freshman squad, however, improved the outlook greatly. The advent of a new coach, who used an entirely different style of play than his predecessor, naturally made progress slow at first. The development of a good punter was Erb's first problem. The California style of play, the so-called percentage system as taught by the late Andy Smith, called for a kicker who could send his punts far and high. Captain Sody Owings and Frank Powers were eventually selected to do the brunt of this work.

On the line the coach was confronted with another problem. This was not lack of material, for there was plenty of that, but rather the placing of the right men in the various berths. The linemen all showed sufficient ability to be given first-string positions and selection was difficult.

With eight fast driving backs on hand the same difficulty arose in the selection of a first-string backfield.

However, by displaying an enthusiastic spirit and assimilating plenty of hard work Charlie and his Vandals were ready for the opening game with the Montana State Bobcats. The 0 to 0 score indicated a strong defense, but need of more attention to offensive play.

In the Montana game, one week later, however, the Erbmen displayed a terrific attack, rolling up 382 yards from scrimmage notwithstanding a loss of 210 yards through penalties. This overwhelming victory had its price, though, for the Vandals had to face Washington the following week with six of their heaviest regulars on the bench, disabled from injuries. Despite this almost hopeless handicap they held the Husky to a lone touchdown for three-quarters of the game.

And so on through the tough schedule the Vandals fought as Idaho men have ever fought.

It is with deep regret that we see three men of the class of 1927, who have willingly given their very all on the football field for their alma mater, leave the university. Captain Tom Owings, Weston Bliss and James Gartin have played their last game for Idaho. May their unselfish efforts for their alma mater be an example for Idaho men of the future.

Letters were awarded to Leonard Beall, Charles Diehl, Troy Moore, Carl Hutchinson, Con Dewey, James Gartin, Maurice Brimhall, John Bauer, Lyle Stark, George Hjort, Bud Bliss, Frank Powers, Darwin Burgher, Tom Owings, Glen Jacoby, M. S. Perrins and Hugh Hughes.

CAPTAIN OWINGS

OWINGS GAINS ON A FAKE PASS

MONTANA STATE 0—IDAHO 0

THE Vandals opened the 1926 season on McLean field against Montana State College. This first test of the comparatively green Idaho squad, under a new coach and the far-famed California style of play, was awaited with great interest. On paper the two teams were of apparently equal strength, and the outcome was quite satisfactory.

Due to the rainsoaked, muddy field neither team was able to score, though the Vandals held the offensive throughout the greater portion of the game. Following Idaho's kickoff to Glynn of the Bobcats to start the game an intensive punting duel consumed the remainder of the first quarter.

The second quarter was all Idaho. Burgher made the first down of the game for the Vandals on an off-tackle slant. Idaho gained two more first downs in rapid succession, advancing the ball to the Montana six-yard line, where the Bobcat defense stiffened and held for downs. Play in the third quarter was mostly in Montana territory with Idaho fumbles and penalties nullifying the advantage gained by the blocking of several Montana punts. Neither goal was threatened during the final period and Montana held the ball in midfield at the final gun. Gardner and Glynn starred for the Bobcats, while Duff, Jacoby, Burgher and Captain Owings were the most consistent ground gainers for Idaho.

JACOBY HUTCHINSON

IN THE GRIZZLIES' LAIR

MONTANA 12—IDAHO 27

UNCORKING for the first time their powerful offensive, the Idaho Vandals trimmed Wild Bill Kelly and his Montana Grizzlies at Missoula in Idaho's first Conference game of the season. The score of 27 to 12 does not begin to indicate the superiority of the Erbmen in this decisive victory. Idaho rolled up 382 yards in line-smashes and wide end-runs and made twenty first downs, while the Grizzlies gained but 141 yards on straight football, adding 80 more on five successful passes, and made yardage on but six occasions. On the other hand, the Vandals drew a total of 210 yards in penalties, thus nullifying their deceptive attack.

Burgher kicked off for Idaho to start the game, and Kelly ran the ball back 24 yards. The first period saw the ball in midfield mostly, and neither goal line was threatened. Burgher tore off yardage through the line and around the wings with apparent ease until he was severely injured and taken from the game near the end of the period.

Following a profitable exchange of punts at the start of the second quarter the Vandals began the march. With Captain Owings ripping off from five to ten yards at a clip, the Erbmen backed Montana to her two-yard line, from where Sody plunged through for the first touchdown. Powers converted the goal, giving Idaho a seven-point lead. The Erbmens received the kickoff at the beginning of the second half, and without once losing the ball, forced their way to another touchdown. Owings carried the ball over by an 18-yard run through center. Powers converted once more, making it 14 to 0. Idaho's third counter came as a result of a criss-cross play at the start of the last quarter, Perrins placing the ball on Montana's 15-yard line, from where Hughes and Owings crashed the line, with Sody going over for a third time.

Receiving the kickoff, Kelly immediately completed two long passes, and on the third play ran 21 yards to score the Grizzlies' first touchdown. Score now 20 to 6 in Idaho's favor. A second Montana drive was halted when Perrins intercepted a 34-yard pass, and the Vandals unleashed a counter-drive which ended when Perrins dashed 35 yards to a touchdown on an end run. Powers made it 27 points by converting the goal. Davis, Montana fullback, contributed the final thrill of the day by intercepting an Idaho pass and running 77 yards before being downed by Perrins. On the next play Davis scored from the 6-inch line, making the final score—Idaho, 27; Montana, 12.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON 26—IDAHO 0

WITH four first-string men out of the game from injuries received in the Montana battle the Vandals dropped a fierce struggle to last year's Conference champions on the Huskies' home field. For three quarters the Erbmens held the veteran Washington eleven to a lone touchdown, the staunch Idaho line withstanding the merciless pounding of the heavy Washington backs like a granite block. The terrific onslaughts told, however, on the Vandal forward wall, and in the final period the Huskies managed to batter their way across the goal line for three touchdowns, making a total of 26 points for the game. The Vandals were on the defensive throughout the greater portion of the game, forcing Washington to fight for every inch of yardage gained. Erb's fast, running attack was hampered by two factors, the sloppy mud field and the missing regulars from the line-up.

The first Washington score came late in the first period. After a lengthy punting duel, interspersed with line jabs and runs, following Powers' kickoff to the Washington 20-yard line, the Husky attack got under way. Tesreau began it with a race around left end for 19 yards to place the ball in midfield. After two plunges had netted the Huskies six yards, Patton found a hole at left tackle and fought his way to the Idaho 27-yard line, shaking off three tacklers before he was downed. He then got away for 20 yards around right end, putting the ball on the Vandal 7-yard mark, from whence he carried it over for a touchdown on the second play. A successful try-for-point made it 7 for Washington.

The ball see-sawed back and forth during the second and third periods with neither team showing any spectacular play. The condition of the field prevented flashy open running, and the opposing backs were forced to hit the line for most of their gains. Washington attempted a field goal from the 35-yard line late in the third quarter, but the kick was wide and the ball went to Idaho on her own 20-yard mark.

Two passes from Tesreau to Guttormsen and plunges by Charleston and Patton brought Washington a touchdown at the start of the last quarter. Patton started a drive which resulted in a third score by a brilliant dash inside right end for 28 yards to the Idaho 10-yard line. Here Idaho held momentarily, but on the fourth down Charleston carried the ball over. A long forward pass netted the Huskies their last score, and the timer's gun ended the game soon after.

The Idaho team was given great praise by the Washington critics for its valiant defensive play. Brimhall and Con Dewey were towers of strength on the line, smashing through and stopping the Washington backs before they could get started, until Dewey, bruised and battered, was led from the field just before the final gun.

COLLEGE OF IDAHO 0—
IDAHO 30

RETURNING home from the Seattle mud, the Vandals took their spite out on the College of Idaho gridders, who had come to Moscow with the express purpose of trimming their big brothers. In a spectacular, though one-sided battle, the Erbmen trounced the Coyotes 30 to 0 on the home field. The fact that five regulars were still absent from the line-up made little difference to the fighting varsity, as they shoved across four touchdowns and a field goal against the stubborn resistance of the Coyotes. Captain Owings carried the ball over twice, and Jacoby equaled his feat. Whereupon Sody obliged his supporters by thumping the ball between the uprights from the 20-yard line for a perfect place kick in the last quarter.

The Vandals received the opening kickoff, fumbled on the first play, and Lowell, the Caldwell star, scooped up the ball and ran it back to Idaho's 32-yard line. Idaho intercepted the next pass, and the march was on. Perrins, Jacoby and Owings carried the ball in a succession of line jabs, spinners and an occasional sweep around end to the Coyote 15-yard marker, from where Jacoby skirted left end for the first touchdown. Owings converted goal, and the score stood 7 to 0 for Idaho.

The Varsity scored again in the second quarter when Owings climaxed a second march down the field with a 12-yard dash over the goal. Upon receiving the kickoff following this Idaho once more advanced the length of the field, and Owings again planted the ball between the uprights. Jacoby added a fourth touchdown at the start of the final period on a criss-cross.

The Coyotes threatened in the third quarter when a penalty put the ball on Idaho's 6-yard line, but they were unable to shove it across in four downs, the ball going to Idaho on her own 1-yard line.

Perrins was the outstanding ground gainer for the Vandals, with Owings, Jacoby and Edelblute adding to the yardage gained. Dilly proved the best bet for the Coyotes, for Lowell seemed unable to get started.

OREGON AGGIES 3—IDAHO 0

IN ONE of the most desperate struggles Portland has ever seen the Oregon Aggies nosed out Idaho on Multnomah Field by the slim margin of one field goal. Doped by experts to be snowed under by at least 18 points, the Vandals out-fought, out-smarted and out-gamed the highly-touted Orange machine for three periods, only to lose on a tough break in the last quarter, when Maples, the flashy Aggie back, intercepted one of Powers' long passes on his own 35-yard line, and raced to Idaho's 13 before he was finally downed. Here all the power of the O. A. C. attack, backed by a desperate endeavor to save the prestige of an undefeated eleven, could not avail for a touch-down through the dogged defense of the Vandals. Three times the mighty Aggie backs flung themselves against the Vandal forward wall, and three times the Erbmen turned them back. On the fourth down, with the ball square in front of the goal posts, Schulmerich, the Aggies' full, thumped a place kick between the bars from the 17-yard line, giving O. A. C. three points and the only score of the game.

The turning point of the game was the injury to Red Jacoby five minutes before the final gun. Up to that point the play had been continually in O. A. C.'s territory with the Vandals carrying the fight to the Aggies at every turn. Burgher kicked off to the Orange 15-yard mark to start the game, and the Aggies returned eight yards. After failing in an attempted forward pass, the Aggies punted and Idaho secured the ball on her own 45-yard line. Following Coach Erb's orders to "take the play from O. A. C.," the Vandals started right in. Sody Owings made a yard off tackle, Powers added another through the other side of the line, and then Owings sneaked through center for 13, placing the ball on O. A. C.'s 38-yard line. Jacoby dove over right tackle for two yards, following another three-yard gain over center by Sody Owings. Here a short pass, Powers to Jacoby, netted three yards, and Owings again plunged through tackle for four and a first down on the Aggie 26-yard mark. The Orange defense stiffened at this point, smearing a buck and a criss-cross, and spilling two attempted passes to take the ball on downs on their own 25-yard line.

Here the Aggies began what was probably their most sustained offensive during the game. Two Idaho penalties for offside play together with a short end run and a buck over center by Maple brought the ball to O. A. C.'s 43-yard line. Following another Idaho offside penalty Maple hit center for 15 yards, shaking off three tacklers on the play. A pass, Maple to Jarvis, netted the Aggies 13 yards more, but Schulmerich fumbled on an attempted cross-buck, and Idaho recovered on her own 34-yard marker. Jacoby leaped high in the air to spear a 15-yard pass from Powers, taking the ball from three Aggies who were covering the pass. The defensive work of both teams was now air tight, and both resorted to punting for the remainder of the first quarter with Powers' spirals keeping the ball in Aggie territory.

The Vandals opened the second period with another terrific drive, which threatened to carry the ball over the Orange goal. Taking the ball on O. A. C.'s 45-yard line the Erbmen carried the pigskin to the 9-yard mark by a succession of bucks, short end runs and spinners with Owings and Jacoby smashing the Aggie line for consistent gains. On fourth down Owings dropped back for a place-kick, but it was blocked by Balcom, Aggie center, who raced to the 36-yard line before he was brought down. O. A. C.'s ball. The fleet Maple again got away for a 20-yard run, but on the next play Bliss intercepted an Aggie pass and Idaho started in again from the O. A. C. 40-yard line. A criss-cross, Burgher to Jacoby, netted 6 yards, and Burgher added seven more on a skirt around right end. A 15-yard penalty nullified these gains, and an exchange of punts ended the quarter.

BAUER

During the third period the Erbmen continued to pound the big Orange line, driving the farmers deep into their own sector, only to be forced to punt as the Aggie defense stiffened under the shadow of the goal. Plunges by Owings, an occasional fake reverse, and a 16-yard pass from Powers to Diehl, kept the Orangemen with their backs to the wall throughout the period. The final quarter saw the Vandals in a desperate drive for a touchdown, but their fighting offense ended when Red Jacoby was carried off the field unconscious. Maple intercepting Powers' pass, and his beautiful run of 52 yards, paved the way for the Aggie score.

WASHINGTON STATE 6— IDAHO 0

A CROWD of nearly ten thousand persons braved flurries of rain and sleet on the annual Homecoming Day and saw Butch Meeker execute two perfectly timed place kicks to give the Cougars their first victory over Idaho on the gridiron in four years. The twenty-eighth annual classic was preceded by a twelve-hour rain, with the result that the center of the playing field was a vast pool, the outer edges of which were an oozing mass, thus preventing either team from opening up. Despite a week of intensive practice, following the Aggie battle, Coach Charlie Erb's men were unable to display the powerful, running attack with which they had humbled, if not defeated, the mighty Orange squad the week previous. The weather together with the sloppy condition of the field called for the old, slow, cautious brand of play, forcing the Vandals to discard the host of California reverses, fake reverses, spinners and the rest of the dazzling, versatile offensive which they had saved for the Cougar pack, in spite of the pleadings of the wildly partisan crowd.

The inclement weather, however, did not in the least dampen the high feeling and intense rivalry of the opposing rooters, who sat at opposite sides of the field. Some two thousand Cougar cohorts packed a section of the stands, doing their best in support of the "Crimson and Gray," while from all around them and from across the submerged garden of mud came the yells and cheers of the Vandal throng. The familiar cries of "Wash State" and "Go Get 'Em Vandals" ricocheted back and forth over the pond, clashing in mid-air to fall, and slowly sink beneath the troubled surface of the lake in which the rival gridders were splashing about in attempts to corral the floating pigskin. The game was a glorious climax to a week of intense school spirit and concentrated enthusiasm. All the week the campus and town had been agog over the impending clash, and pep and noise was being dispensed at every turn. The halls and classrooms became scenes of pep rallies and song-fests, and with the arrival in ever-increasing numbers of old grads and visitors the old spirit was fanned to a white heat. The class reunions, together with the Pajama Serpentine and the big rally at the giant Frosh bonfire, held the fever at a high pitch until game time.

Washington State elected to receive the kick-off, and the battle was on. The first Cougar score came within three minutes of the opening of the game. Washington State gained 20 yards when Meeker and Powers exchanged punts, and an off-tackle buck placed the ball on Idaho's 30-yard line. Here the Vandal forward wall tightened, and the Cougar could advance no further. Meeker dropped back, kicked the mud from his talented toe, and placed the ball between the bars to give the Cougars three points. Following the second kick-off the play surged up and down the field. Both teams resorted to punting on second or third down, as it was practically impossible to make appreciable headway on line plunges in the mud. Koenig, now doing most of the kicking for Washington State, was outdistancing both Owings and Powers, who seemed unable to average 30 yards on their punts throughout the game. Thus gaining nearly 10 yards at each exchange the Cougars, by interspersing an occasional jab over center with Meeker's short end runs, secured the ball on the Idaho 30-yard line, and once more the stocky quarter executed a perfect place kick from that distance. The first quarter ended, as did the half, with the scoreboard showing six to nothing in favor of Washington State.

STARK

The Erbmen came out for the second half attired in bright blue and white jerseys, it being impossible to distinguish the players on the opposing teams at the end of the first half due to the coating of mud on every man. Rainy day tactics were again resumed by the rival quarterbacks and thrills were few in number. Meeker attempted a pair of place-kicks but the first was wide, and the second was blocked by the Vandal line. In a last minute attempt to score Idaho executed a brilliant triple pass which sent Perrins down the field for 25 yards, but the gun sounded before the Vandals could get within scoring distance. The work of Gartin, Bliss, Hjort and Stark on the line was outstanding, and Jacoby led the team with skill, despite the fact that his vast repertory of dry field plays was of little use.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 28— IDAHO 6

A BLISTERING California sun proved the undoing of Idaho's gridders in the game against Southern California at Los Angeles. Being accustomed to the rain and cold of the north, the Erbmens wilted under the intense heat on which, on the other hand, the Trojan crew seemed to thrive, as is evidenced by their rolling up 28 points in the 60 minutes of play. Several times during the game it was necessary for the Vandals to call time out to cool off. On one of these occasions Coach Erb called his men to the sidelines and stuffed ice down their backs in an effort to relieve them.

Southern California scored first early in the first quarter after an exchange of fumbles in midfield had started them on a march down the field.

In the second period the Trojans, well-drilled in the art of breaking up a forward passing attack, intercepted a Vandal pass near the center of the field and began a second drive for a touchdown. Elliot, the Trojan quarter, by a succession of sweeping end runs, carried the ball the length of the field and over the line for Southern California's second score.

The third Trojan counter came at the beginning of the second half, when they recovered an Idaho fumble on the Vandal 7-yard line. Elliot again carried the ball over, and kicked his third straight goal, bringing the score to 21-0 for Southern California.

A long pass, Elliot to Badgro, the Trojans' All-Coast end, gave U. S. C. her fourth and last touchdown. Elliot again made a perfect kick for goal, completing Southern California's total of 28 points.

Idaho's only successful drive for a touchdown came in the last period. With their tongues hanging out from the heat, the Erbmens opened up for a last courageous attempt to score, which proved successful when Captain Owings knocked down a long pass and raced 45 yards for a touchdown.

Burgher, 195-pound Vandal half, won fame for himself by heaving long, accurate passes to all corners of the field. His efforts went for naught, however, as the Trojans kept the receiving ends covered most of the time.

CREIGHTON 0—IDAHO 12

CARRYING deep in their hearts the bitter memory of a 34 to 19 defeat received by the 1925 eleven, the Vandals took sweet revenge on the Creighton University Bluejays at Omaha, Nebraska, on Thanksgiving Day. Undaunted by their defeat at the hands of Southern California just five days previous, the Erbmenn completely outplayed and out-maneuvered the Hilltoppers to make away with a well-earned 12 to 0 victory.

In this final game of the 1926 grid season the Vandal eleven, profiting by mistakes made in past games, displayed everything that makes for a smooth-running, well-coordinated attack: Speed and weight on the line, drive and power in the backfield, and fight, sheer and undiluted, running through every unit to make of the team a fearsome mangling machine, the peer of any to appear at the Blue stadium this season, according to an Omaha sports editor.

Deception was the main characteristic of the Vandal attack. Pulling one criss-cross after another, in which quarterback Jacoby and the "lightning" Perrins figured prominently, the Erbmenn rolled up 335 yards from scrimmage to Creighton's 69, and amassed 17 first downs to the Bluejays' seven.

The Vandals were not long in opening up. Idaho kicked off to the Hilltoppers, smeared their two line plays for a net two-yard loss and forced them to punt on third down. The Vandals put the ball in play deep in their own territory, and then came the Tornado!

Jacoby hit left guard for 8 yards, and Sody Owings made it first and ten through center. After two line-jabs had netted 5 yards, Jacoby, receiving the ball on a criss-cross play, cut through the very center of the line behind perfect interference for 20 yards. In three successive attempts Red again made first down, the ball now lying on Creighton's 30-yard line. A slight error in technique drew a 15-yard loss at this juncture, but Jacoby made it back on another reverse. The Blue defense tightened and took the ball on downs on their own 25-yard line, but not for long. Two line assaults gained but five yards, and the Blue kicker dropped back to punt. As the ball was snapped the Vandal forward wall swept down upon him like a tidal wave, hurrying the kick, and the ball sliced out of bounds on Creighton's 25-yard line.

The referee hurried the pigskin back onto the field, and in two snappy plays the Erbmen carried it over. Perrins slipped through left tackle for 12 yards on a criss-cross and on the next play Jacoby flanked left end on another reverse to slide over the goal. The try-for-point failed.

Idaho's second touchdown came in the first few moments of the second quarter as a result of a fierce drive in the waning minutes of the first period. Starting on Idaho's 27-yard mark Perrins made six yards on an off-tackle slant, and came back for five more through guard for first down. Again Sammy carried the ball, this time tearing off seven yards through the same hole. Owings then horned in and added 15 yards on a fake reverse. He then passed to Perrins for a six-yard gain, and the latter obligingly made it first and ten on Creighton's 18-yard string by another criss-cross. Perrins hit his old friend, the right tackle, again, this time going 9 yards, and Owings, crashing over center, made the fourth successive first down, on the Blue's 4-yard line. The quarter ended as Owings drove through center for 2. On the first play in the second quarter Sody carried the ball to within one foot of the line, and went over on the next assault.

Idaho played a watchful waiting game from then on, Walmsley and Jacoby snaring two Blue passes to culminate their two short marches down the field.

Freshman Football

THE 1926 Baby Vandals were without a doubt one of the strongest Freshman football teams in Idaho history, and should be excellent material for Coach Charlie Erb's varsity next fall. Under the coaching of "Syb" Kleffner, star Idaho halfback for three seasons, the yearlings won four out of six games, and rolled up a total of 128 points against 34 for their opponents.

The Frosh opened their season by swamping the fast Lewis and Clark high school team, Spokane, 34 to 12.

The following week the Babes suffered defeat at the hands of Ellensburg Normal at Ellensburg, a blocked Idaho punt resulting in a touchdown for the teachers. The score was 7 to 0.

The yearlings avenged themselves in their next encounter at the expense of Spokane University, the final gun showing a score of 45 to 0, with the Frosh still going strong.

The Cheney Normal lads fell next before the onslaughts of Kleffner's scrapping first-year men. Displaying the most diversified attack of the year, the Babes ran around, through and under the Cheney boys to a 19-0 decision.

The big upset of the season was a 9 to 7 defeat handed the Babes by the W. S. C. Rooks at Pullman during Homecoming week-end. The Frosh played rings around W. S. C. the first half, and led 7-0 at half time. The Cougar Rooks came back strong in the last half to put over a touchdown in the last few minutes, which with two points on a safety, won the contest.

The Yearlings wound up their season with a 23 to 6 win over Montana University Freshmen at Moscow.

Numeral sweaters were awarded to Kinney, Christiansen, Barrett, Carney, Burg, Diehl, Kirkpatrick, Riley, Junno, Sumpter, Tatum, Christians, Frahm, Hult, Munden, Niemans, Jensen, Norby, Price, Frazier, Nelson and Kirshisnek.

Basketball

"This game is played with a grete rounde balle and is much more seemly and frendly. Skille and precision, rather than brawne, are necessarie for to overthrowe one's adversaries. The objecte, needless to saye, is to picke the balle in the cayge."

Idaho Basketball

THE Vandals entered upon their sixth season of Pacific Coast Conference basketball under the leadership of Coach Dave MacMillan, who in his seven years at Idaho has never had one of his teams finish below third place in the race for the championship flag. Under "Mac's" style of play Idaho has won the championship twice, won second place twice, and in 1925 finished third. This system of play, now known as the "Idaho system," is a man-to-man game—five-man offense and five-man defense, with a short, hard passing game. It is now used in practically all the high schools of Idaho, and has lately been introduced in several colleges of the west. The Vandals' defense is adaptable to any attack their opponents may display, because each man is ready for anything his opponent may try.

Twenty-five men answered the initial call for basketball on November 22, and this number was later reinforced by several basketball men on the football squad who turned out at the end of the grid season. With seven lettermen back in suits and some promising material from the 1925 Freshman team, prospects for a winning team were rosy. For the forward positions MacMillan had Jacoby, Miles and Nedros from last season, and O'Brien, Estes and Collins from the Frosh quintet. Center was contested for by "Lief" Erickson, veteran pivot man, and Burgher, who starred at forward on the 1925 Babes. Guard material was plentiful, both in quality and quantity. With Green, 1924 letterman, Dawald, Canine and Lamphere from last season, and Judevine from the Freshmen all in suits the fight for positions was hot.

The Macmen split a double header with the Montana State Bobcats to open the 1926-27 season just before the Christmas holidays. During the vacation period MacMillan took ten men on one of the longest pre-season barnstorming trips in Vandal history. Leaving Moscow on December 22, the team went to Spokane, thence across to Seattle and down the coast to Los Angeles, from where they doubled home by way of Reno, Nevada, and Pocatello. Playing nightly and traveling most of each day from town to town, the Vandals won twelve out of sixteen games. No college team was able to defeat them, nor did the Macmen lose a game by more than four points.

With great confidence in themselves as a result of the successful tour the Vandals returned home to open the conference season on January 14 against the University of Montana. Defeating the Grizzlies with ease Idaho battled through the long schedule and losing but three games, ended in a tie with Washington for second place in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference.

Sweaters were awarded at the end of the season to Miles, Nedros and Jacoby, forwards; Erickson and Burgher, centers, and Greene, Canine and Dawald, guards.

The Pacific Coast Conference

SEASON OF 1926-27

THE Pacific Coast conference was again divided into two divisions for the basketball season of 1926-27. In the Southern division, which was composed of the University of California, Stanford University and the University of Southern California, the Golden Bears were the favorites to win the division title. The Northern half of the Conference was made up of the Universities of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, Washington State College and the Oregon Aggies. A three-game series between the winners of the division titles was played to determine the Coast conference championship.

Pre-season dope showed a difference of opinion as to the probable Northern title winner. The University of Oregon "Webfooters," last year's victors, were considered the best bet. Coach Rinehart at Eugene had three lettermen around which to mold his team. Okerberg, rangy tip-off man, and Gunther and Westergren, all-coast forward and guard respectively, formed a nucleus for another championship quintet. Idaho was picked by many coaches and sports writers as the team to beat. With seven lettermen back the Vandals were sure to have a strong team, and with MacMillan at their helm, the rival contenders knew what to expect. The Washington Huskies were considered the dark horse of the race. They had a well-balanced squad, and with Schuss and Snider at the forward berths they were feared by everyone.

The season opened on January 14 and proved to be one of the closest and most exciting in history. In the Southern half, California ran true to form and defeated its rivals with apparent ease. "Nibs" Price had a well-coached, speedy five, and California finished her schedule on top of the heap. The Southern California Trojans were runners-up, with Stanford resting gently but firmly in the cellar.

Oregon started out strong in the Northern division, defeating both O. A. C. and Idaho at Eugene. The Webfooters met a stumbling block, however, when they faced Idaho on the Vandals' home floor. In a fast, overtime game Mac's crew set the Lemon-Yellow basketekers back one notch, 36-35. Oregon came through safely on the remainder of her road trip, doubling the score on the only dangerous rival left, the University of Washington at Seattle, 50-25. The next week Idaho practically eliminated Washington at Moscow by the score of 24-23, giving Oregon the flag. The Vandals were already out of the race, due to early season defeats by both Oregon and the Huskies, and an unexpected upset by W. S. C. The final upset came in the last week of play when Washington, after being absolutely eliminated by losing to O. A. C., turned around and beat Oregon the next night.

The title series was played at Eugene, California defeating the Webfooters in two straight games, giving the Bears their fourth consecutive championship.

CAPTAIN MILES

Idaho's Season

THE Vandals got away to a good start on the conference race by trimming the Montana Grizzlies on the home floor, January 14, 45-19. Accurate shots from the middle of the floor by Miles and Nedros, and "sleepers" under the basket by "Red" Jacoby and Canine, proved too much for the invaders. Canine was high-point man of the game, and his clever floor work was of the best. Erickson and Burgher experienced little difficulty in getting the tip-off from the Grizzly center. Idaho showed up well in her first conference game, and promised to be a real contender for the flag.

MacMillan and his crew left Moscow on January 17 for an eight-day tour of the camps of their opponents. Stopping off at Walla Walla the Vandals ran into some unexpected opposition by the Whitman Missionaries and dropped a non-conference game, 26-21. Whitman led at the half, 18-8, but the Vandals caught up in the second period and led for a few minutes by a single point. The Missionaries found the basket again and after that were never headed. Erickson made the mistake of discussing current problems with Bobby Morris, the referee, and was banished from the game.

The following night the Macmen lost a tough battle to Washington at Seattle by the score of 38-23. Snider and Schuss were a little too accurate from the center of the floor when they found they could not penetrate Idaho's defense. Canine was again high-point man with 10 points, with Miles right behind him with 8.

In a furious game at Corvallis January 21, Idaho came from behind in the last three minutes to defeat the Oregon Aggies, 29-28. It was anybody's game from the beginning, until Erickson cinched it for Idaho with a free throw in the last minute. Johnny Miles led the scorers with 9 points.

Oregon displayed championship form to beat the Vandals the next night at Eugene in the final game on Idaho's tour. Okerberg and Westergren starred for the Webfooters in the crucial battle which ended 39-24 for Oregon.

Captain Miles was once again the high-point man for Idaho, having 10 counters to 7 for Greene.

In one of the most furiously fought encounters ever witnessed on the Idaho floor the Vandals turned the tables on Oregon three nights later in Moscow to nose them out, 36-35, in an overtime game. The hitherto unbeaten Webfooters were given the shock of their lives when the Vandals, keyed up to the highest pitch, ran up a lead of 11-2 in the first few moments while some 2000 fans went wild. Oregon soon recovered from its trance, however, and with a pair of long shots and several free throws tied the score. Another free shot put Oregon in the lead, but the Vandals again forged ahead, and the half ended 17-16 Idaho.

Miles added to Idaho's lead at the start of the second half, but Oregon tied the score again at 20-all with two deadly long shots by Milligan. The Webfooters then kept from a four to six point lead until the last few minutes. Burgher went in for Erickson, who was out on fouls, and held Okerberg to a lone basket. In furious rally Miles, Canine and Greene made baskets while Oregon secured but one, cutting down the Webfoot lead to 34-32. One minute and a half before the gun Canine dribbled through the Oregon defense for the goal that tied the score.

Canine came through with a basket at the beginning of the five-minute over-time period, while Oregon made one point on a free throw. The visitors threw caution to the winds, shooting from all over the floor in a desperate attempt to regain the lead, while the noise and clamor from the balcony deafened the players themselves. The welcome gun caught the score at 36-35 Idaho, and the crowd went mad.

Miles, Greene and Canine each made four goals for Idaho, and Okerberg led for Oregon with 12 points.

The Macmen were in a slump as the result of the Oregon battle when they met W. S. C. four days after and lost a hard-fought game, 26-23, putting Idaho out of the race. The Vandals were off on their shooting, ragged in floorwork, and generally tired out, and while they led at half time, the Pullman squad outplayed them in the second half to take the game.

The following week the Gonzaga Bulldogs went down before the rejuvenated Vandals, 23-

19, in a rough, closely contested battle. Idaho played a steady, consistent game, handling the ball well, and forged ahead in the final minutes to victory. Miles made nine points to take high honors.

The Washington Huskies were the next on Idaho's guest list, and the Vandals sent that bunch on their way smarting under a 24-23 defeat. Determined to regain the prestige lost in their defeat at the hands of Washington in Seattle, Mac's crew put on a fight second only to the Oregon battle. The Huskies scored 8 points before Idaho found the basket, but the Vandal cagemen came back with 10 when they got started. Washington again took the lead and the half ended, 16-10, in their favor. Baskets by Miles, Burgher and Canine put Idaho out in front when play was resumed, but the Huskies tied it up at 20-all just before the end. A goal and a free throw gave them a three-point lead, but the Vandals came back with a like performance to knot the count, and won the game when Burgher dropped a free throw through the hoop. The floorwork and leadership of Captain Miles was a feature of the evening.

The Oregon Aggies, playing the so-called percentage style of game as taught by Coach Hager, were the next to invade the campus. Having trimmed the Aggies once before the Macmen were out to repeat their victory, and the game proved to be a fight from start to finish. O. A. C. started the scoring by annexing 3 points before the Vandals found the basket. A free throw by Burgher and a field goal by Greene tied the score and Greene dropped in another to give Idaho a slim lead. The Aggies tied it up with another basket. Each team scored two more goals and the half ended, 9-9.

The second half was a continuation of the first. Twice Idaho converted two foul tries, and each time the Aggies tied it up with a basket. Burgher here made a short shot for two points, and Spath, Aggie guard, tied the score for the last time, making eight times in all. The Vandals began to beat the Orangemen at their own game. Idaho took the ball on the tip-off, dropped back, and at the right moment shot long passes to a man under the basket, or broke through on a fast dribble for a score. It was a case of out-foxing the Aggies, and baskets by Jacoby, Canine and Burgher brought Idaho's total to 24. The game ended, 24-17, giving Burgher high-point honors with 8 points, closely followed by Canine with six. The clever floor work with which Idaho out-smarted the Aggies bore the earmarks of the wily MacMillan.

The Macmen met Montana in a return conference game on the Grizzlies' home floor on February 18. With Eddie Nedros going wild and scoring 21 points the Vandals could not help but take the game, 44-29. Eddie looped them in from all corners, one right after another, and at the half had made 15 of Idaho's 22 points. Kain, Montana center, who had been second high point man in the Northwest, was held to a lone field goal by Erickson and Burgher. The Idaho assault was working to perfection with Miles and Jacoby feeding the ball to Nedros, who tossed them in as fast as he received them.

The last Coast Conference game on the Vandal schedule was against W. S. C. at Pullman on February 22, on which night Mac's crew took sweet revenge on the Cougars for the loss of the first game at Moscow. In beating them, 21-15, Idaho jumped into an early lead of 11-4, and then began a waiting game. Greene and Jacoby stood out in the center of the floor and tossed the ball back and forth between them for minutes at a time, trying to get the Cougars to come out after it while the other Idaho men circled under the basket. The Cougar fans went wild in their pleas to the home boys to "get that ball," and their razzing of the visiting Vandals for making monkeys out of the home team. Early in the second half W. S. C. rallied to take a one-point lead at 13-12, but Idaho immediately abandoned their stalling game and launched a terrific attack that earned them the 21-15 decision. The battle was rough in spots, and it took both Bobby Morris and Ray Coleman to handle the officiating. Burgher was high-point man for Idaho, and Ned-ros missed but one shot at the hoop during the game.

Two non-conference games completed Idaho's basketball season for 1926-1927. On February 24, Idaho entertained Whitman in a return game in the university gym and evened the score with the Missionaries for the year. The Macmen rallied in the last half to win the last game on the home floor, 27-23. Whitman led at the half by 13-12, and the count was tied in the second period at 15-all, and again at 17. Long shots by the Whitman forwards were offset by accurate passing and floorwork of the Vandals. When Idaho had secured a four-point lead near the end they began a scientific stall, so scientific in fact that Whitman was drawn out too far and the Vandals added several points by long passes.

Jacoby was the high-point man this time, and with Miles played a spectacular game throughout.

The final contest of the year was a rough and tumble battle with the Gonzaga Bulldogs in Spokane on February 25. The Vandals trimmed the pride of Spokane, but it was a rough battle throughout with personals being called on players at about every move. Gonzaga scored a pair of goals to start the game, but the Macmen passed them with a rush and at the half were leading, 18-12. Idaho led through the last period with the Bulldogs close at their heels, and a brace of long ones near the end tied the count at 33-all. Baskets by Erickson and Nedros put Idaho out in front once again and the final count was 39-33 Idaho. Miles, Nedros and Jacoby were the main cogs in the Vandal attack in this climax to a successful basketball season.

When the whistle blows for the first game next year John Miles, Ed Nedros and Ralph Erickson will be absent at roll call, the trio having played their last game for Idaho against Gonzaga on February 25.

THE FRESHMAN SQUAD

Freshman Basketball

SEVENTY enthusiastic rooks answered the first call for the yearling basket squad, and indications pointed to a splendid season for the first-year men. The turnout was cut to a playing squad of twelve men before the first game, and this number was carried through the season by Coaches MacMillan and Mix.

Displaying an offensive passing system that baffled their opponents the Babes swept through one of the most successful Freshman seasons in recent years. But two games on the long schedule were dropped by the yearlings, who walked away from their opponents in almost every game. The high lights of the year were the two defeats administered to the Cougar kittens from across the state line, 33-18 and 27-21. The Lewiston high quintet slipped one over on the Vandal babes in an early season game, winning by two points, but in a return battle just before Lewiston entered the state tournament the Idaho yearlings tromped on the Banana belt players, 50-15.

Some excellent prospects for Mac's varsity were uncovered on the Freshman team, and several of them will undoubtedly fill in nicely with the Vandals next winter. Numeral sweaters were won by MacMillan, Stowell, Thornhill, R. Drummond, Christians, Munden, Neimans, Utt, Barrett, H. Drummond and St. Clair. Frank MacMillan was high-point man on the squad with a total of 90 points for the season.

THE STATE INTERSCHOLASTIC CHAMPIONS

The State Interscholastic Tournament

THE Idaho Interscholastic Basketball Tournament was held at the university March 10-12, with the champions of the seven districts and Moscow High competing for the title. Coach Rich Fox's Pocatello squad were easily the favorites before the meet, and the speedy Gate City boys ran true to form, defeating Moscow in the final game for the state championship, 15-11. Moscow was the surprise of the week, winning its way into the finals by trimming the Boise quintet in the semi-finals, 15-13. Sandpoint gave the champions a real battle in the semi-finals, holding Pocatello to 22-17 in the hardest fought game of the tournament. The fight was practically even until Demers, Sandpoint's rangy center and backbone of her defense, was removed on personals in the third quarter, giving Pocatello a decided advantage.

The Vandal basketball team picked the All-State Teams from the personnel of the players in the tournament. The first team chosen was: Nelson, Moscow, and Shurtliff, Pocatello, forwards; Gross, Pocatello, center, and Demers, Sandpoint, and Hall, Pocatello, guards. A second team picked gave Lee, Lewiston, and Swift, Salmon City, forward berths; Woody, Moscow, and Eaton, Boise, guards, and Wakeman, Boise, the center position.

Coach Charlie Erb, Vandal mentor, made the presentation of awards immediately following the final game. Pocatello received a large loving cup indicative of the championship, while a smaller cup for the runners-up title went to Moscow. Sandpoint, by displaying clean, hard fighting throughout the meet, earned the Sportsmanship trophy. The following members of the champion Pocatello team received gold basketballs: Shurtliff, Hall, Gross, Paulson, Ahlstrom, Barrett, Thomas and Cushing.

START OF THE QUARTER MILE

Track Season of 1926

THE appointment of George Philbrook of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club of Portland as Vandal track mentor marked the official opening of the season of 1926. Mr. Philbrook, a former Notre Dame football and track star, coached both sports successfully at the Multnomah Club, and came to Idaho highly recommended as a coach and developer of track men. Due to an abundance of inexperienced but very promising material, "Phil" worked with his men, developing them slowly, with a view to the next season. The Vandal cinder men engaged in three dual meets and one quadrangular meet during the season, besides having a team entered in the Coast Relay Carnival at Seattle. Philbrook did not enter a team in the Coast Conference meet, preferring to rest his men for the final W. S. C. dual meet.

Eight men received varsity "I's" for track: Thompson, Wagner, Gehrke, Huefner, Mitchell, Cleaver, Mathews and Pickett.

WHITMAN-IDAHO DUAL MEET

THE Idaho tracksters won their initial meet of the 1926 track season by defeating the Whitman Missionaries at Walla Walla on April 19. Taking every first place except the pole vault, which event was conceded to Whitman, the Vandals scored 96 points to 35 for the Missionaries.

The day was rainy and cold, with the result that slow time was recorded in the various speed events. In fact, there were no exceptionally good marks made. This being the first meet of the season, it was not expected that any records would be shattered, and considering the adverse weather conditions, the intermittent wind and showers throughout the day, the Vandal squad performed satisfactorily.

Clayton Pickett, Idaho's lanky weight man, was high point man of the meet with firsts in the javelin, shotput and discus, and a tie for first place with Wagner, Briscoe and Kyle in the high jump. Cleaver and Mooney won first and second places for Idaho in the mile run, and Mathews came in first in the two-mile event.

In the sprints Perrins took first in both the 100 and the 220-yard dashes, with Jay Thompson at his heels to finish second in each event. With perfect form Mitchell took the high hurdles in the fast time of 16:4-10 seconds, just 3-10ths of a second above the Idaho record. Wagner leaped 21 feet, 8½ inches to annex first place in the broad jump.

IDAHO'S cinderpath team finished in third place in a meet with Montana, Gonzaga and Washington State College at Spokane on April 24, 1926. The green Vandal squad scored $30\frac{1}{4}$ points for third place to $70\frac{3}{4}$ for Montana, 57 for the Cougars and 4 for Gonzaga. Russell Sweet, the Grizzlies' sprint star, was high point man and the sensation of the meet by scoring decisive victories in the dashes. Pickett took the only two first places won by Idaho in the discus and javelin, and tied with Gillette, Montana distance runner, for second high honors with ten points.

Perrins, Vandal ace, after "freezing" in his holes for a six-foot handicap at the start of the 100-yard dash, made a courageous finish for third place. The Idaho sprinter also took a fourth in the 220. Jack Mitchell came in third in both the high and low hurdles, with Thompson right behind him in the low sticks.

In the discus throw Pickett made a heave of 133 feet 8 inches, and threw the javelin 170 feet 8 inches. John Wagner injured a leg muscle on his first trial in the broad jump, but managed to win second place below Sweet.

Art Mathews ran a beautiful race against Devine of W. S. C., national champion two-miler, finishing second, and Cleaver ran a close second to Gillette in the mile. Idaho did not enter a team in the relay.

MONTANA-IDAHO DUAL MEET

IN A blast of wind, rain and sleet the University of Montana track team sped to the 89-41 victory over the Vandal tracksters at Missoula on May 13, 1926.

Both squads were minus the services of their star sprinters. "Cowboy" Sweet, on Montana, and Idaho's flash, Sammy Perrins, were unable to compete because of severely injured leg muscles.

First places in the discus and the high jump went to Pickett, the Vandals' star performer, who also placed second in the javelin throw. Pickett was second high point man of the meet, scoring a total of 16 points to 19 for Coyle, the Grizzlies' substitute sprinter.

Idaho's one other first place was won when John Wagner leaped 21 feet 10½ inches to take the broad jump.

In the mile run Cleaver of Idaho finished second to Gillette, who covered the distance in the fast time of 4:26 4-5.

Mitchell in the high hurdles failed to get set after several breaks, and was hopelessly "frozen" in his holes at the final gun. Later in an exhibition race he defeated Spaulding, the Montana winner, by five yards.

WASHINGTON STATE-IDAHO DUAL MEET

IN THE only varsity meet held on McLean Field the Washington State College track men defeated Idaho on May 22, 1926, by the score of 75 to 56. A new university record was made in the discus throw in this meet. Clayton Pickett hurled the plate a distance of 137 feet 5 inches, shattering his own record of 132 feet 4 inches made in 1925. Pickett carried off high point honors of the day with two first places, the discus and the javelin, and second in both the shot-put and the high jump, for a total of 16 tallies. The Cougars scored first in ten events, and kept well ahead of Idaho's cinder men.

Sam Perrins came with one-tenth of a second of equaling the university record for the hundred-yard dash, breaking the tape at 9:9-10 to defeat Jacobs, the veteran Washington State sprinter. This is but one-tenth of a second above the mark made in 1909 by "Monty" Montgomery, and equaled in 1914 by Sam Morrison.

Idaho cinched the broad jump when Wagner and Thompson tied for first at 21 feet 8 inches. Kyle cleared the bar at 5 feet 8¾ inches to take the high jump, in which event Pickett placed second.

The mile run was clocked at 4:26 8-10 with Williams of W. S. C. first, and Cleaver and Mathews second and third. Johnny Devine took the two-mile run, 9:56 3-10, with Mathews second.

The relay was forfeited to Washington State.

WASHINGTON RELAY CARNIVAL

AT THE University of Washington Relay Carnival held in Seattle on May 1, 1926, Idaho was represented by a four-mile relay team and one entry in the one hundred-yard dash. Perrins, Vandal sprinter, was entered in the latter event and the relay team consisted of Mathews, Mooney, Gehrke and Cleaver.

The most thrilling event of the day was the four-mile relay which was won by the Oregon Aggie entry. The University of Washington and O. A. C. teams battled neck and neck throughout the race. Completing the last lap, Clayton of the Oregon Aggies staggered against the tape, winning by six inches from Ramsey of Washington. Cleaver, the fourth runner of the Idaho team, finished in third place.

In the sprints, which were slowed up considerably by a strong breeze, Russell Sweet of Montana easily outdistanced his rivals. Perrins placed fifth in the hundred-yard dash.

The runners of the University of Montana amassed enough points in the different events to handily win the meet.

CROSS COUNTRY SQUAD

CROSS COUNTRY

FIFTEEN candidates answered Coach Philbrook's call for cross-country runners in September. The return of two men from the 1925 team formed a nucleus around which the track mentor built his squad of five runners. Daily workouts and later strenuous practice put the squad in shape for the first meet of the season.

In the coast conference meet held October 23 at Seattle the Vandal team placed third. Cleaver took second in the race, after fighting it out with Gillette of Montana for first place. Mathews came in fifth.

The annual Washington State-Idaho cross-country meet was held at Pullman on November 12. Though Cleaver of Idaho won the race, and Mathews took third place, Washington State nosed out the Vandals by the score of 30-24 by copping the rest of the places.

Letters for cross-country were awarded to Don Cleaver and Art Mathews, the only two to qualify for the varsity "I" in that sport. This was the first year on the team for the other three men: Raymond Chisholm, Carl Aschenbrenner and Willard Klinger.

DISTRICT TITLE SERIES

- May 31—Idaho versus Washington State at Moscow.
June 1—Washington State versus Idaho at Pullman.

GONZAGA 2—IDAHO 7

WITH the stellar Erickson on the mound the Vandals experienced little difficulty in defeating Gonzaga University in the first game of the season. "Lief" allowed Gonzaga but five scattered hits, and struck out thirteen men. Idaho rallied in the eighth inning to break away from a 2-2 tie and put the game on ice 7-2.

GONZAGA 6—IDAHO 16

In the second game of the series the Vandals clouted two Gonzaga pitchers for a total of fifteen hits. Field, Idaho twirler, allowed ten blows, but managed to keep them well scattered. Three home runs were hit by the home club, Lansdon, Cameron and Nye each getting one.

WHITMAN 4—IDAHO 3

The Missionaries drew first blood in the two-game series at Walla Walla by taking a ten-inning battle. The Vandals outhit Whitman, but the Missionaries were more successful in placing their hits. Erickson, on the mound for Idaho, was in great form, striking out nineteen men, but weak support by his team mates cost him the game.

COACH MacMILLAN

WHITMAN 6— IDAHO 9

The Vandals were out for revenge the following day, and evened up the series by taking the second game 9-6.

Gene Stockdale got off to a wobbly start as a varsity pitcher, allowing five Missionaries to cross the plate in the first inning. He mastered his control thereafter, and allowed one run in eight innings.

WASHINGTON STATE 3—IDAHO 4

Erickson trimmed the Cougar in his own lair, and the Vandals came home on the long end of a 4-3 score.

The first of the ninth found the rivals in a deadlock at 3-3, but Baird in this inning scored what proved to be Idaho's winning run. Washington State came within an ace of tying it up again in their half of the inning. Exley crashed a two-bagger, and on the next pitch stole third. Carl Murray saved the day for the Vandals by retiring him with the old, time-worn hidden-ball trick, much to the disgust of the wildly partisan Cougar crowd.

WASHINGTON STATE 11—IDAHO 1

The Cougars were out for blood the next day at Moscow, and acquired eleven gallons of it in the nine innings of play. Washington State pounded two Vandal hurlers for a total of thirteen bingles, while Mac's crew assisted them by turning in fourteen errors for the day. The Cougars drove Field, the first Idaho twirler to face them, to the showers in five innings. Stockdale, who replaced him at the start of the sixth, made an impressive beginning, but his infield support cracked and two Cougars scored on five Idaho errors. Exley, the Cougar's heavy artilleryman, clouted two home runs.

GONZAGA 6—IDAHO 7

The Bulldog and the Vandal battled neck and neck for nine frames, with Idaho emerging on the long end of a 7-6 score for the game. Three times during the encounter Gonzaga enjoyed two run leads. The Vandals knotted the count at six all in the last half of the eighth inning, and Pat Hower-ton scored the deciding tally in the last of the ninth.

The great Erickson was in brilliant form, allowing but seven hits, fanning fourteen and walking none.

GONZAGA 12—IDAHO 1

A sudden alacrity for bone-head base running cost Idaho the second game in Spokane. The Vandals outhit Gonzaga, but Lehrbas was the only one to reach home plate. Gonzaga scored first and continually. Stockdale was on the mound for Idaho.

MONTANA 2—IDAHO 11

The Vandals journeyed to Missoula for a two-game series with the Montana Grizzlies, and came away with two big victory notches on their war clubs. Brilliant hurling by the pitching staff and heavy slugging were responsible for Idaho's twin victories.

Two errors by Vandal gardeners were all that kept "Friday" Field from twirling a shut-out game in the first contest. Cameron led the attack on the Montana box men with two three-baggers and a single. Pat Howerton, veteran Idaho backstop, was injured in the encounter.

MONTANA 4—IDAHO 7

Idaho got the jump on the Grizzlies in the first inning of the second game by scoring twice, and were never headed. Erickson held Montana scoreless for the first seven frames. The Grizzlies staged a four-run rally at "Lief's" expense in the last half of the eighth, but the Vandal twirler again subdued them in the ninth. "Erick" allowed only six blows, and struck out thirteen men. He practically won his own game by pounding out timely hits to bring home team mates on the paths.

MONTANA 3—IDAHO 7

MONTANA 1—IDAHO 3

The Vandals took another brace of games from the scrappy Grizzlies the following week at Moscow.

WASHINGTON STATE 4—IDAHO 7

Backing Erickson's masterful pitching with good support, and connecting for eight hits the Vandals defeated W. S. C. 7-4. Smaulding laced a three-bagger in the third, and Cameron followed with a homer. Idaho scored four more in the fifth and one in the sixth. Erickson whiffed sixteen batters.

WASHINGTON STATE 11—IDAHO 5

The Cougars made 15 hits off Field and Stockdale to sew up the contest. Idaho scored first in the second inning, but the Cougars soon passed them.

STOCKDALE

COLLEGE OF IDAHO 2—IDAHO 3

Idaho defeated the Coyotes in a close game played at Moscow. The Caldwell aggregation scored twice in the first canto, but Erickson baffled them for the remaining eight innings. Baird crashed a double in the fourth with the bases full, scoring three runs.

WHITMAN 3—IDAHO 1

Erickson held the Missionaries hitless in the first of a two-game series on the home field, but Idaho's errors permitted three Whitman batters to cross the plate. Sammy Perrins knocked a home run, giving the Vandals their lone score.

WHITMAN 6—IDAHO 5

The final encounter on the Vandals' regular schedule was a curious combination of tight pinches, errors and sensational plays. Whitman scored one run in the first of the tenth inning to win the decision. Stockdale, Idaho twirler, hit a home run.

District Title Series

Washington State and Idaho were tied for first in the district at the end of the schedule, and a three-game series was arranged to decide who should meet the Washington Huskies for Northwest honors.

WASHINGTON STATE 10—IDAHO 8

The first game of the play-off series was nip and tuck until the first of the eighth inning. In this frame a hit, a walk together with four Idaho errors, allowed three Cougars to romp across the plate.

Erickson pitching for Idaho struck out twelve, but was touched up for eleven hits.

WASHINGTON STATE 17—IDAHO 8

Scoring eight runs in the first inning W. S. C. walked off with the second game and the district title at Pullman. Idaho errors accounted for several of the runs. Stockdale and Field pitched for Idaho.

Freshman Baseball

IDAHO'S yearling baseball squad enjoyed a rather short but fairly successful season. The Babes were scheduled for only four encounters, and won two out of the four. Some very promising varsity material was uncovered in the Frosh games, and several of the Rooks will undoubtedly make strong bids for varsity berths this season. Cheyne on short, Sheehan at first base, Marshall in the outer garden and Lawrence and Grabbner on the mound were outstanding in their work.

The yearlings dropped a fast game to Lewis and Clark high school of Spokane by the score of 6 to 1. The prep school lads had been playing together for a season or two, and proved to be a well balanced squad. In a return game the high school tossers again emerged victorious.

The Babes won from the strong Cheney Normal team at Cheney 10-5, but dropped two encounters with the W. S. C. Freshmen 12-8 and 9-7, due mainly to errors.

Eleven men were awarded the 1929 numeral sweater for their work on the squad, namely: Ficke, catcher; Sheehan, first base; Welo, second base; Cheyne, short; Marshall, right field; Rawlings, third base; Bobby, center; O'Brien, left field, and Lawrence, Grabbner and Linsay, pitchers.

THE year 1926-1927 was one of growth and progress for The Argonaut. It was made into a seven-column paper at the start of the second semester, where formerly was printed on a page six columns wide. It became more active in the Pacific Intercollegiate Press Association, composed of 13 member papers covering the entire Pacific coast college newspaper field. It also joined the Intercollegiate Press Association, "the Associated Press of the college field." With these last two features The Argonaut found itself able to present to its readers nation-wide college news in addition to campus happenings. Gold pin awards were given staff members for the first time this year.

The paper received a certificate of "Distinguished Rating" from the National College Press Congress at its December meeting. The Congress is sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, and is aimed to create and maintain a higher professional standard among college newspapers.

A chronological history of the paper, from the year it was founded until it ceases publication, was started this spring by the editor. All former editors now living will be asked to detail the events in the life of the paper during their respective incumbencies, these to be formed into a running history of the paper. The history will be kept on file by the university.

Dramatic Resume

DRAMATICS is a major department of the A. S. U. I. and as such is closely connected to the student body, its governing board, and its policies. It has worked itself into the life of the student body and made a place for itself there. The absence of dramatics now would leave an empty space that could not be filled by any other activity. It has become a part of the life of the university just as athletics and music have.

Dramatics has passed through a long struggle in gaining the position it has. It first began to attract attention by means of its Little Theater Plays. Last year this department gave three major plays besides several one-act plays. This year it has given four groups of the one-act plays, the Pep Band Show, Twelfth Night, and the Pageant.

Professor John H. Cushman is head of the department and during his eight years here has placed dramatics where it is. It is his touch that individualizes the work here and sets it off from the amateur work so common to other schools of this size. His work continues throughout the year, as dramatic work is carried on during the summer school. This is a distinction which no other activity has at present, and is worthy of mention.

The other members of the teaching and coaching staff are: Talbot Jennings, Cameron King and Marie Gauger. They are all Idaho graduates and were prominent in this type of work while in school. Sidney McClellan is dramatic manager for the A. S. U. I. and has shown himself to be a very capable manager. He is a former actor, having completed two years of advanced work in dramatics. Dorothy Darling and Ann Donston are property managers and their work, although not often thought of by the public, is invaluable. R. R. Patchen is stage manager.

The Dramatic Department has combined with the Music Department in putting on the Pep Band Show, which is one of the bright lights of the year. While the entire show is under the direction of Mr. Cushman and the Dramatic Department, it is composed of plays, skits, songs and dances, which make a pleasing variety of acting and music. The one-act plays have come into their own this year and more is said of them elsewhere in this section.

The true merit and greatness of this division of student activities is shown in the type of work it has attempted, and successfully completed. In staging Shakespearean drama, such as "Romeo and Juliet" and "Twelfth Night," dramatics at Idaho has shown its ability to do the "best."

Maying

SPRING festivals are as old as civilization, yet ever as new as the buds of each spring. The ancient Romans held a spring festival each year in honor of Flora, the goddess of flowers. The people of medieval and Tudor England held a great public holiday on May first, and old and young of all classes went Maying. Thus it is in keeping with custom and tradition that we have a May festival at Idaho. This is an annual affair, which has evolved from our original Campus Day, and is one of our dearest and most popular traditions.

The program was presented on the afternoon of Campus Day, which was May thirteenth, and was indeed a gala affair. It started with a few selections by the orchestra, which was followed by the Silver Lance Tappings.

Then came the Processional and the Crowning of the May Queen. It was a great sight to see the procession winding its way down the hill and onto the campus. With all the pomp and impressiveness of old-time Maying festivals, Miss Mirth McArthur was crowned Queen of the May by Miss Gwendolyn Moser, maid of honor, and Miss Alice Harding acted as page.

This was followed by the pledging of Mortar Board and then the Pageant, "Maying." This was entirely an Idaho production, having been written by Josephine Johnson, Millie M. Minger and Helen Stanton. Miss Elsie Jacobson, head of the department of physical education for women, directed the staging of it. The various committees in charge were: Dancing, Miss Cowan of the physical education department; business manager, Marguerite Finch; advertising, Frances Anderson; music, Helen Casebolt; costuming, Corrine Chapman; scenery, Marie Gibson, and properties, Lois Taylor.

The pageant was divided into five episodes, each one representing a period in the development of the festival custom. The first was "The Coming of Spring—the Time for Maying." The leading part in this episode was the Frost Elves Dance. The second was "Maying in Merry England," in which the Village Festival and the Children's Dance were the main attractions. The third, "Puritanism in England," featured the Dance of Provocation. The fourth was "The Last of the Restoration Period in England, 1661," and the last was "America Borrows England's Maying Customs." This included the Weaving Dance and the Tumblers, in which a dozen modern women athletes performed an excellent tumbling act. The last part of the performance was the Recessional of the May Queen and the entire group.

Stuntfest--1926

THE A. S. U. I. presented the Twelfth Annual Song and Stunt Fest in the University Auditorium on May 14 and 15, 1926. Tom Madden was general chairman, Verne Johnson stage director and Wayne Hertzka stage manager. The chairmen for the various classes were: Blaine Stubblefield, Senior stunt; Helen Wood, Senior song; Kneeland Parker, Junior stunt; John R. Taylor, Junior song; Avery Peterson, sophomore stunt; Beulah Brown, Sophomore song; Estelle Pickrell, Freshman stunt, and Paul Kitto, Freshman song.

The Senior stunt, "Kioty's Last Stand," a one-act play by Blaine Stubblefield, won the prize and fifteen dollars. The scene of the play was Chow Chamber in the Woods ranch house at Wild Cow, Idaho. The cast included: Verne Johnson as Kioty; Marie Hogenson as Mazy Woods, Kioty's home town sweetheart; Clarence Olsen as Jack Pine Woods, her father; Editha Barton as his wife; Hosea Evans as Buckskin Stringg, the hired man and romeo of Salmon Bar, who is in love with Mazy, and Ruth Montgomery, as the Meanest Woman at Idaho. The plot revolves around Kioty's return to the old home and marrying his old sweetheart, while his campus girl-friend, who had followed him there, had to be content with marrying Buckskin Stringg. It was a very clever play and closed Kioty's career on our campus with a grand finale.

The Junior stunt was the "Epidemic Council" of the University of Idaho in session. Each member of the faculty was impersonated by a Junior. Several members arrived late, and among them were Dean Messenger, alias Bill Calloway, riding his bicycle. Sergeant Nagel substituted for Colonel Chrisman in the person of Eddie Peterson. Mary Kelly, as Dean French, told of the sneak date exits at the Kappa Gamma and Alpha Chi Omega Sorority houses, and of the accumulation of bottles back of the Phi Delta Theta house and between the Kappa Sigma and Sigma Nu houses.

The Sophomores presented "For I'm to Be Queen of the May, Mother!" This was a burlesque of the May Festival. A four-piece band officiated while four male "Sylphs" danced around a human May pole. The dance was in honor of the May Queen, who was the dainty Wilfred Walmsley.

The Freshman stunt consisted of a vaudeville skit which ranked high for pure entertainment value. Several modern numbers were well played by the eight-piece Freshman Jazz Orchestra.

Each class had its own chorus for the songs, which were all good. The Freshman song, "All Hail to Idaho," was written by Claire Gale and sung by Paul Kitto with the Freshman chorus. The Sophomore song was entitled "Idaho Memories." The Senior song, "For Love of Thee, Our Idaho," was written by Helen Wood, Wallace Brown and Mandell Wein. The Juniors won the Song Fest with their "Victory Song," written by John Taylor.

The Victory Song

The Juniors' Winning Song

*Idaho, we sing your praises
Cheering on our fighting team.
Fighting on, for fame and glory
Lighted by thy golden beam.
Idaho, your gold and silver
Shines forth upon the field.
Hearts and bonds are pledged to thee,
To fight for victory.*

“Homespun”

THE curtain presented “Homespun” as the annual Commencement play. It was a romantic three-act comedy of Revolutionary days written by Talbot Jennings and presented in the University Auditorium on the evening of June fifth. According to Mr. Jennings this play was written, first, as a costume play with a romantic flavor suitable to Commencement, and second, to commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of the American Revolution. The costumes and settings were exceptionally good and this, with excellent acting, made it one of the best plays of the year.

The cast included the best of student talent in dramatics. Bert Stone played the male lead and displayed some fine acting as a fitting close to his long and excellent career in college dramatics. Many others appeared for the last time in dramatics at Idaho. They were Marie Gauer as Patience Wynne, Mandell Wein as Tabitha Wedmore, Hester Yost as Rosemary Lavington, Harold Salisbury as Simon Musket, Everett Erickson as Joe Pierce, and Verne Caldwell as Darby. Tabitha Wedmore and Simon Musket were comedy parts and were well played by Mandell Wein and Harold Salisbury, who have done such excellent work in comedy.

Beulah Brown, who had already made a name for herself in one-act plays, took her first lead as Janet Hazel. Marie Johnson, one of the best comedians in school, did some fine acting as Mrs. Sarah Loomis. Beardslee Merrill, as Miles Hazel, took one of the major parts in the play and displayed marks of a real actor.

The scene was in the kitchen of the Hazel home on the road between Concord and Lexington, in the spring of 1775. The first act takes place on the afternoon of the first day of February, the second act the eighteenth day of April, and the third act the next day.

The play was directed by Professor John H. Cushman, head of the Dramatic Department. Stage managers were Dorothy Darling and Wayne Hertzka. Sidney McClellan represented the A. S. U. I. as business manager of dramatics. The play was well attended and added materially to Commencement week.

Pep Band Show

THE A. S. U. I. presented "Plus Fours" as the Annual Pep Band Show in the University Auditorium on November 18 and 19. The show consisted of original music, skits, farces, dances, pantomime, Pep Band Concert, and a banjo twosome. The plus four effect was carried out throughout the show.

The burden of the show fell on a comedian foursome composed of Marie Johnson, Don Warner, Jean Collette and Tom Aston. There were four one-act plays, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," "The First Mirror," and the two burlesques, "The Phantom of the Auditorium" and "The Smell of the Yukon." "Star Magic," the feature waltz written by Professor Nyvall, was sung by Rachel Jenks and Maurice Morley, with a dance interval by Ruth Greene. The Plus Fours Chorus took a prominent part, and many clever dance features were given in the program.

Much of the Pep Band Show's success can be attributed to Professor Nyvall, who had charge of all the music, and Professor Cushman, who directed the show. Books and lyrics were in charge of Talbot Jennings and Ada Burke, with Miss Maude Barnett and Miss Jennie Johnson in charge of the singing. Stage managers were Dorothy Darling, Ann Donston and R. R. Patchen, and Sidney McClellan, dramatic manager. Miss Lillian Wirt directed the dancing.

“Twelfth Night”

THE A. S. U. I. presented Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" as a major production of the dramatic department. The play was presented on the campus three times and out of town once. Its first presentation was April 20, as one of the bright lights of Junior Week. It was again presented here April 27 and 28, and the following night in Lewiston.

"Twelfth Night" is one of Shakespeare's best known comedies. Its plot revolves around the complications which two twins get into. Viola, the girl twin, goes to Duke Orsino's court and acts as his page. She falls in love with the Duke, but of course cannot express her love. She even has to help the Duke to woo Olivia, who in turn falls in love with Viola. At this time Sebastian, the boy twin, appears and is mistaken for Viola by Olivia, who presses her love and they are secretly married. Olivia sees Viola with the Duke and thinks it to be her husband. The Duke becomes angry at this apparent treachery of his page, but just then Sebastian appears, all is made clear, and the Duke marries Viola.

The play was modernized to a certain extent in diction, but the costumes and settings were truly Shakespearean. The settings were all very good and with the brilliant costumes, made the play very colorful. Professor John H. Cushman, head of the dramatic department, directed the play. Dorothy Darling and Ann Donston were property managers, and R. R. Patchen, stage manager.

The cast was: Viola, Beulah Brown; Sebastian, Robert Brown; a sea captain, Burdette Belknap; Orsino, Duke of Illyria, Cameron King; Curio, his gentleman, Dean Newhouse; Sir Toby Belch, John Taylor; Marie, Alene Honeywell; Sir Andrew Ague-Cheek, Robert St. Clair; Feste, Olivia's jester, Maitland Hubbard; Olivia, a rich noblewoman, Lois Russell; Malvolia, her steward, Beardslee Merrill; Antonio, a friend to Sebastian, Arthur Ensign, and a priest, Burdette Belknap.

One-Act Plays

THE one-act plays presented by the dramatic department this year are not at all new to the Idaho campus. Year before last this department staged what was called the Little Theater Plays. These were presented to rather small audiences in the University Hut. They were very clever plays and those who attended them enjoyed them very much. Last year the work was confined more to major productions, there being three, aside from the Pep Band Show. There were several groups of one-act plays throughout the year, but they did not attract much attention. Four groups were presented during the year.

The first group was given Thursday and Friday, October 22 and 23. This group was composed of three plays and the same casts played both nights. The first play was "Goldilocks," which portrayed the life of a little hunchback girl in the slums of London. The cast was: Jessie Musser, Jean Collette, Louise Lamielle and John Taylor. "In the Darkness" was the second. This was the story of a husband slowly going blind without his wife's finding it out until almost the end of the play, when he is almost totally blind. In the cast were: Lois Russell, Mac Hardwick, Max Newhouse, Beryl Smith and Arthur Ensign. The last of this group was "Happiness," the story of a little Brooklyn shop girl who helps two of the idle rich to find real happiness. The cast for this play was: Beardslee Merrill, Burdette Belknap, Violet Spurgeon and Beulah Brown.

The next group came on Thursday and Friday,

December 9 and 10. Stanley Houghton's "The Fifth Commandment" was the first of this group. It was the story of a girl's sacrifice for a selfish mother. The following cast played both nights: Lois Russell, Beulah Brown, Dean Newhouse and John Taylor. The second was "Followers," by Harold Brighthouse, and suggested by Mrs. Gaskell's famous stories of Cranford village. The cast was: Thursday, Miriam Howerton, Lillian Woodworth, Estelle Pickrel and Beardslee Merrill; Friday, Germaine Gimble, Violet Spurgeon, Irene Auger and Mac Hardwick. "The Bell Tolls Three" was the third. It was a play based on Chaucer's Pardoner's Tale, in which three men set out to seek and slay death. On Thursday the cast was: Arthur Ensign, Burdette Belknap, Max Newhouse and George McDonald; Friday, Arthur Ensign, Robert Brown, Robert St. Clair and Dan McGrath. The last was "Her Tongue," by Henry Arthur Jones, in which a talkative young lady talks herself out of a shy young bachelor. The cast was the same on both nights with the exception of the lead, which Bernice Kendall took one night and Marie Johnson the other. The rest of the cast included: Eldora Davis, Rex Brainard, A. Darias Davis and Maitland Hubbard.

On Thursday and Friday evenings, January 20 and 21, the third group was presented. "Make-shifts," the first play, was concerned in the rivalry of two sisters for an eligible bachelor, but who are forced to consider much less romantic suitors when he announces his engagement to some other girl. The Thursday cast was: Lola Gamble, Louise Lamielle, Ryle Lewis and Claire Gale, with Germaine Gimble, Helen Kerr, Carl Platt and Burdette Belknap on Friday. The second was "Such a Charming Young Man," which has to do with the love story of a young man-about-town who tells impossible tales which turn out to be true. The cast for this play was the same on both nights: Robert Brown, Estelle Pickrel, Eldora Davis, Robert St. Clair, Violet Spurgeon, Arthur Ensign, James Dunn and Frank Egbers. The outstanding play of all the one-act plays presented this year was the third of this group, "Gary Owen." This was a colorful, quite emotional play revolving around Custer's last fight. The settings and costumes were very effective and the acting was well done. This play was written by one of the English instructors, who has contributed much to this department in the way of creative writing. One cast was used on both nights in this: Beulah Brown, Lillian Woodworth, Beardslee Merrill, Mac Hardwick, Henry Walker and John Taylor. The last of this group was "Postal Orders," a comedy in which a young man succeeds in keeping his sweetheart from sending a telegram accepting a rival suitor. On Thursday, Jeane Collette, Lucile Eaton, Thelma Smith, Miriam Howerton and Smith Miller played it, and on Friday Bernice Suppiger, Jessie Musser, Bernice Kendall, Louise McKinney and Maitland Hubbard completed the cast.

The last of the groups of one-act plays presented this year was Thursday and Friday, March 17 and 18. "Apartments to Let" was the first one, in which two young ladies succeed in renting their apartment by a method bordering on blackmail. Two casts were used in this play: Eldora Davis, Germaine Gimble, Violet Spurgeon and Smith Miller doing it on Thursday and Flo Matthewson, Miriam Howerton, Louise McKinney and Burdette Belknap on Friday. A spook play, "Q," taken from Stephen Leacock's "Nonsense Novels," was the second of the group. It was a hilarious takeoff on alleged spirit manifestations and was played both nights by Dean Newhouse, Wayne Snook, Ryle Lewis and Louise Lamielle. The third play was "The World Made Flesh," the only serious play of the evening. This was a play of medieval times in which two players of miracles become the parts they played, and the word was made flesh, the play ending in tragedy. The same cast performed in this play both nights. It was: Frank Egbers, Arthur Ensign, James Dunn and Carl Platt, with Maitland Hubbard, Robert St. Clair and Burdette Belknap in minor parts. The last was "Fisherman's Luck," a takeoff on a church bazaar. This play required a large cast: Estelle Pickrel, Irene Auger, Thelma Smith, Dan McGrath, Lillian Woodworth, Pauline Brown, Claire Gale and Henry Walker, which played both nights. Altogether, the one-act plays have been very successful and enjoyed by the students.

Events Thru the Year

THE traditional Bury the Hatchet dance marked the final settlement of the Freshman-Sophomore feud with the result that said Freshmen looked forward with a vengeance to the next Bury the Hatchet dance, when it would be their turn to smile sardonically at green head pieces.

The Ag. Bawl, October 9, was splendid with huge bales of hay, pumpkins, cider, and doughnuts, hilariously original costumes, and all the fun that goes with that sort of thing.

The Foresters' Ball, October 13, the Bench and Bar Dance, November 11, and the Engineer's Ball, December 11, were welcomed bright spots before the holidays, each suggesting in programs and decorations the respective professions.

Once again the Co-Ed Prom proved that it is possible to have a really good time without the presence of men, although the discovery of a few bold ones in the midst of all that bevy of artistically costumed feminine beauty added considerably to the excitement of the evening.

An enthusiastic mob of Idaho students flocked to the Gymnasium for a most informal dance after the W. S. C. Rally on November 5.

Preceding the Christmas holidays our husky young athletes with their feminine rooters cast aside all athletic feats and attended the I Club Informal, December 18.

All the secret sorrows of the fair sex were made known when the co-eds took advantage of the Spinster's

Hop, which was given by the Spurs on January 15.

Phi Chi Theta and Alpha Kappa Psi, the business honoraries, laid business aside on the evening of March 19, when they celebrated their annual Bizad Dance.

The Phi Delta Thetas, Beta Thetas Pis and Sigma Chis are close friends and enjoyed each others' company now as in the beginning, as was obvious by the good time they had at the annual Miami Triad Dance, which was given on April 8.

The Sophomore Frolic and the Freshman Glee were marked with the usual gayety and are looked back upon as enjoyable times belonging essentially to memory books and to that good old college atmosphere.

The joyous spirit of spring was clearly shown at the Campus Day Dance.

Every one forgot the coming examinations and entered into the fun with the greatest enthusiasm.

One of the prettiest and peppiest dances of the school year was the Junior Cabaret, April 23. It was quite different from most of the university dances and added spirit to the occasion.

Group dances were held at the different houses throughout the year. From the pledge dances to the formals each dance was carried out characteristic of the event to be celebrated.

The Junior Mixers scattered through the year were anticipated with a great deal of pleasure by the class as a means of getting together and furthering that organized Idaho spirit.

Music

Music is the only art that actually lives. Her elements, vibration, palpitation, are the elements of life itself. Wherever life is, she is also, stealthy, inaudible, unrecognized, yet mighty.

IGNACE JAN PADEREWSKI.

Orchestra

THE University Orchestra has become an indispensable part of the music department of the university. It has played at every University Assembly and has always taken a very prominent part in the Vesper Services. These are programs presented on Sunday afternoons in the Auditorium by music students and are quite well attended. Several of the Vespers consisted of programs by the Glee Club and Orchestra.

One of the most important was given in the University Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, December 19. The Auditorium was packed by students and townspeople, showing their interest in these programs. The Orchestra first played "The Peer Gynt Suite" by Greig. This suite is made up of three selections: "Morning," "Ase's Death" and "Anitra's Dance."

The Peer Gynt Suite is music written by Greig for Ibsen's play of the same name. "Morning" represents daybreak in Egypt when Peer watches the first rays of dawn strike the pyramids. The melody is simple and fresh, suggestive of dawn. "Ase's Death" is a funeral march and "Anitra's Dance" represents Anitra dancing before the Bedouin chief. The music is light and graceful, and true to the character of the Egyptian dance.

They also played: "March Militaire," by Schubert; "Largo" (New World Symphony), by Dvorak, and "The Prelude to Act Three" (Lohengrin), by Wagner. In Dvorak's Largo the composer has attempted to suggest the mood in the story of Hiawatha's wooing, as told by Longfellow. The horn sings the chief theme to the soft accompaniment of the string choir. The "Prelude to Act Three" of Lohengrin is played before the curtain rises on the wedding scene and leads directly to the well known Wedding March. It is the tone picture of the splendors of a wedding scene.

The members of the Orchestra are as follows: First violins, Pauline Baker, Christine Kryger, Rich Whitman, Marcella Kraemer, Helen Gould and Janet Hawkins; second violins, Ruth Newhouse, Dorothy Neely, Charles Selle and Artylee Hollada; viola, Lambert Cannon; cello, Paul Dumvill; basses, Niel Jones and Lucile Glinderman; clarinets, Orville Howe and James Hawkins; trumpets, Maurice Nelson, Herbert Wunderlich and A. Kryger; saxophones, Donald Goudzward; trombone, Aldon Tall; tympani, Charles Terhune, and piano, Dorothy Whitenack.

Mr. Claus is the director of the Orchestra, and also directs the string quartet, which is composed of: First violin, Carl Claus; second violin, Pauline Baker; viola, Lambert Cannon, and cello, Rich Whitman.

Glee Club

Oral Luke, Thomas Ashby, Dean Donaldson, Dan Shamberger, Carl Platt, Norman Luvaas, Carl Remington, Roland Swanson, Stewart Maxey, Rex Brainard, Clifton Sample, Marton Rosell, Clifford Couchman, James Allen, Florence Oberg, Lucile Ramstedt, Mrs. Russell, Ruth Johnston, Rachel Jenks, Edna Richards, Katie Easter, Mrs. Nettleton, Virginia Harding, Alice Ross, Vivian Beardmore, Beryl Rogers, Orlo Bangs, Dorothy Sims, Dorothy Frederickson, Ruth Greene, Josephine Throckmorton.

THE University Glee Club is one of the most prominent parts of the music department. It has grown to be very popular. E. Orlo Bangs is the director of the Glee Club and is largely responsible for its popularity.

At a special assembly this year they presented a very delightful program consisting of: "The Soldier's Chorus" from Faust, by Gounod; "The Echo Song," by Orlando di Lasso; "John Peel," by Andrews; "I'll Never Turn Back No More," by Detti, and "The Poor Mourner's Got a Home at Last," by Ditton. Solo parts in "The Echo Song" were sung by Alice Ross, soprano; Norman Luvaas, bass; Oral Luke, tenor, and Josephine Throckmorton and Georgia Bell, altos.

At the Vesper Service preceding the Christmas vacation the Glee Club, assisted by the Orchestra, presented the program. The Glee Club sang: "The First Noel" from the Old English; "Silent Night," by Hayden, and "Glory to God in the Highest," by Pergolesi.

This year the club presented the comic opera, "Iolanthe," in which Dorothy Sims took the lead, assisted by Norman Luvaas, Alice Ross, Maurice Morley, James Allen, Oral Luke, Leah Timm, Florence Oberg and the Glee Club Chorus.

Bernice Kendall, Elizabeth Haller and John Forrest are also members of the club, but do not appear in the picture.

Pep Band

Nyvall

Beebe

Atwood

PLAYING under administration recognition for its first season, the Pep Band has developed into one of the best known musical organizations in the Northwest. It has won honors as a standard concert group from the stage and has made itself known the length and breadth of the Pacific Coast through its appearance before the microphone for broadcasting, and strictly as a pep band at athletic contests.

The band was under the faculty direction of David Nyvall Jr., and under the student direction of Eugene Beebe. The efforts of these men, supplemented by the great musical talent and whole-hearted cooperation of the members, has given the band an impetus, which, if directed right, will carry it far in musical circles. Already some of the greatest authorities on the coast have complimented the university on the organization. The business and financial phases of the organization were carried out successfully by Paul Atwood, player-manager.

As a pep organization the band went to Seattle, where it supported the Vandals in their game against the University of Washington, and also went to Portland, where Idaho met Oregon Agriculture College. It appeared at practically every athletic contest at home in addition to playing, by invitation, at several brilliant functions. As a concert organization, it toured south Idaho, part of north Idaho, and played a full-program concert in the University Auditorium.

The band sponsored the first college dance to be held in the magnificent new ball room of the Moscow B. P. O. E. on April 2. In cooperation with the department of dramatics the annual "Pep Band Show" was given.

As a result of this year's playing, the band has developed from a student-directed, pep-dispensing organization, to one which is one of the best known groups of the Idaho campus. Its extreme versatility, combined with the willingness of the participants to work hard, is making it a band whose fame should be nation-wide in a few years.

Military

Jeune at its best, it has been said that the aim of military training is perfection of a machine for warfare. I would say rather that it is for the prevention of that terrible destructive process—the up-building of the young American as a capable citizen.

MAJOR RANDALL ESSINGTON.

R. O. T. C.

THE Military Department of the University of Idaho has, since its establishment, taken its place on an equal footing with the other departments of the university. This is evidenced by the academic credit allowed for courses of this department.

Congress, through the National Defense Act as amended by the Act of June 4, 1920, has provided for the establishment of Reserve Officers' Training Corps in all land grant colleges, universities and educational institutions receiving financial aid from the federal government. This helps in the establishment of an economical and democratic policy thoroughly consistent with our national traditions. It provides for the development in time of peace of an army that can be used in the event of a national emergency.

This training is conducted in accordance with standard courses of theoretical instruction as prescribed by the War Department. It has for its object education of the student to become an officer of the army in time of emergency, in time of peace to affiliate with the National Guard or Organized Reserves and thus assist in their development. This training also aims to instill within the student greater patriotism and a deeper sense of obligation to his country. The course of instruction is progressive and is so arranged and presented as to render the student completing it an efficient army officer. Upon graduation he may elect to be commissioned in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the army. The Military Department has experienced a sound and steady growth. The basic course which consists of the first two years is compulsory for male students of the freshman and sophomore classes.

Last year the University of Idaho was designated as a distinguished college in instruction of Military Science and Tactics as the result of a special inspection of selected educational institutions maintaining Reserve Officers' Training Corps. This inspection is made annually by the War Department. Idaho received an honor given to comparatively few schools and is one of six in the entire west sharing this honor. Too much cannot be said of the steadfast devotion of Colonel Chrisman, who is largely responsible for the success attained.

Each man in the advanced course is given an opportunity to attend a Military Training camp for a six weeks' period starting June 15. Cadet students from this institution attend either Camp Lewis or Fort George Wright, Washington. Here the men are especially trained in all phases of military. Much attention is given to scouting, patrolling, marksmanship and practical problems of tactics. Additional instruction at camp consists of the practical application and theory of the rifle, automatic rifle, machine gun, howitzer weapons, tactics, field exercises, field engineering, musketry, bayonet, interior economy, and practical demonstration by troops of all arms form the regular army.

DAIRY PRODUCTS JUDGING TEAM

This year Idaho faced the keenest competition in years in the Portland Judging contest, but "came through" with an enviable record. In competition with teams from the Universities of the west and Canada, Idaho placed fourth. The Idaho team was first in placing and scoring cheese, and brought home a beautiful cup. Lynn Hempleman of Idaho was first in the contest in judging cheese and was awarded an individual medal. Crawford Nibler was third in the entire contest.

Much credit is due Professor Bendixon for coaching and turning out consistently successful teams.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY JUDGING TEAM

The live stock judging team representing the University of Idaho at the Pacific International Live Stock Show, Portland, Oregon, in competition with the University of California, Oregon Agriculture College, Washington State College, and Montana State, took second place. Out of the twenty-five contestants, the five Idaho men placed among the first ten. Neil Derrick was high-point man for Idaho and third in the contest. There was only a difference of 24 points between the winning California score and Idaho's.

Our stock judging teams have been consistent contenders for first place each year. They have won five firsts, six seconds and two thirds in the fourteen years of competition.

Much credit is due Professor C. W. Hickman, head of the Animal Husbandry Department, for the success of the teams. He has been coach of the Idaho teams since the inauguration of the contest in 1912.

Women's Athletics

Woman's greatest shortcoming is her lack of sportsmanship, a condition perpetuated by the age of chivalry. This, of course, is a thing learned chiefly in sports. When she learns this—as she is readily doing—she will have no peer.

—HELEN WILLS.

Co-ed Physical Education

ALTHOUGH the Physical Education Department for Women is one of the newer departments at the university it has shown rapid advancement. There were practically no sports for women at Idaho before 1920. At this time there are ten major sports in which women may participate. Miss Lillian Wirt, who is head of the department, has done much to further interest in girls' athletics. Miss Wirt did her undergraduate work and received her first degree at the University of Nebraska. Her Master's Degree was received from Columbia University.

The Women's Athletic Association was organized in 1922 and it is through this organ that a great deal has been done to further interest in women's athletics. Irene Murray Watson, who was head of the department at that time, was very helpful in the starting of this organization and getting it affiliated with the national association. It is the purpose of W. A. A. to foster true sportsmanship, to further interest in athletics by providing wholesome recreational activities and to encourage a feeling of good fellowship among the women of this university.

In carrying out the program of inter-class sports, emphasis is placed on the phase of athletics which will be carried over into after college life. The growing number of sports which are sponsored by W. A. A. gives opportunity for participation to a large number of Idaho women. Rifle is the only inter-collegiate activity on the program. The other sports are played in inter-class tournaments. This is done in order to conform with the platform of the Women's Division of National Amateur Athletic Federation which does not favor inter-collegiate contests. Horse shoe, horseback riding and winter sports have been added to basketball, hiking, volleyball, baseball, swimming, rifle and tennis this past year. One hundred points are given for place on a first team and fifty points for place on a second class team. Entrance to W. A. A. requires one hundred points and this is considered one of the major activities in school. This year the number of points necessary to earn the "I" sweater was lowered from one thousand to eight hundred by a vote of the student body.

W. A. A. has a concession for all university games and members do their share in selling food to the athletic fans who attend the games. The funds obtained in this way are used to send delegates to conventions and to contribute to a fund for building a W. A. A. lodge on Moscow Mountain. A district convention was held in 1926 at Pullman, Washington, and this year the delegates were sent to Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.

Volleyball

THE large turnout for volleyball in November showed the popularity of this fall sport. Since the girls do not have access to a field for hockey or soccer football, volleyball is the major sport for the fall season. Seventy-five girls reported for practices and there was much keen competition for places on teams. Practices were held at Lewis Court two days each week. One hundred points are given for membership on a first team, and fifty points for place on a second team. Twenty-five extra points are given to members of the team winning the tournament. In order to be eligible for teams it is necessary to attend seventy-five per cent of the practices. After the class teams were chosen the tournament was played off in round robin style.

The Juniors won the championship with first place in the tournament. Second place was taken by the Freshmen and third place by the Sophomores. In the second team tournament Sophomores received first place, Freshmen second place and Juniors third place. Members of the champion team were Eleanor Beamer, captain, Avis Bowdish, Therma Lincoln, Mildred Williams, Virginia Alley and Edith Huston.

This year more attention was given to the technique of handling the ball and team work. Thus a keener interest was developed in the game as being worthy of being classed as a major sport.

The first post-seasonal banquet was held after the close of the volleyball season. Mildred Gilbertson, who was sport manager for volleyball, was chairman of the affair and working with her were: Dorothy Peairs, Eleanor Beamer, Maryvina Goldsmith and LaReta Beeson. Each class gave a stunt and the Freshman stunt was judged as being the best. The affair was considered a success and it was decided to make these banquets a custom after the close of the season for each sport.

Basketball

BASKETBALL has, perhaps, the largest turnout of any sport. Practices begin in November as soon as volleyball season is over. A tournament similar to the volleyball tournament was held after the class teams were chosen. Twelve practices were scheduled before the teams were chosen. In addition to the eight full teams, which consisted of a first and second team for each class, an extra second was chosen for the Freshmen.

Class representatives were appointed to assist Miss Wirt and Thelma Smith, basketball manager, in selecting members for class teams. These representatives were: Katherine Nelson, Senior; Barbara Rugg, Junior; Margie Green, Sophomore, and Marcella Kraemer, Freshman.

Both first and second Freshman teams were champions in the two tournaments, which were played in February. The final game between the Freshmen and Sophomores was a closely fought one and ended in a score of 16-19 in favor of the Freshmen. Second place was won by the Juniors, third place by the Sophomores and fourth place went to the Seniors. Members of the champion team were: Jessie Little, captain, Marcella Kraemer, LaReta Beeson, Bernice Parish, Edith Bradshaw and Dorothy Neal.

In the second team tournament, second place was gained by Sophomores, third place by Freshmen A team and fourth place by Juniors. Members of the champion team of the second team tournament were: Margaret Barry, Rhoda Evans, Jennie Wood, Annette Blodgett, Leona Diederichsen and Vera Harding.

Idaho placed fifteenth in the World Free Throw Tournament. This is the first year that part has been taken in this affair, in which teams from all parts of the world compete. Sixty shots are allowed and the five highest scores are sent to headquarters in Charleston, S. C. Those scoring highest and making up the team were: LaReta Beeson, Margie Green, Barbara Rugg, Virginia Peck and Thelma Smith.

Rifle

RIFLE is the only inter-collegiate sport at Idaho. Fifty girls reported for tryouts when the season began in November. From this number fifteen girls were chosen to make up the team. The season for rifle continues until the inter-collegiate match, conducted by the Dot and Circle national organization, is fired the latter part of March.

Great improvement is shown in the scores made this year over those of former years. Practices are held twice a week in Lewis Court, where there is a fifty-foot range. A United States army gallery rifle of .22 calibre is used. Much credit is due to Captain Crenshaw and Major Fuller of the Military Department for any efficiency of the team.

Eleven matches were fired during the season and of those eleven, seven were won by Idaho. The results of these matches is shown in the table below:

	Opponents	Idaho
University of Montana	469	471
University of Cincinnati	1915	1861
Carnegie Technical School	498	496
University of Delaware	482	492
University of South Dakota	485	492
University of Washington	500	487
University of California	1846	1875
University of Kansas	1981	1875
University of Wichita	1815	1875
Purdue University	484	494
Oregon Agriculture College	487	494

The inter-collegiate match which is conducted by the Dot and Circle, national rifle organization at Chicago, was fired the last week in March. The squad which represented the school in most of the matches are as follows: Mary Huff, Josephine Keane, Gertrude Gould, Alta Tupper, Marylou Craven, Elva Reid, LaReta Beeson, Helen Gould, Lillian Woodworth, Elizabeth Curtis, Avis Bowdish, Helen Kerr and Ila Peairs.

Baseball

THE first call for baseball was made the last part of March by Katherine Nelson, the baseball sport manager. Only four teams are chosen in this sport, one for each class. The tournament is played off in the same manner that other sport tournaments are played.

The 1927 tournament had not been played at the printing of this book. In the 1926 contest the Freshman girls defeated the Sophomores with a score of 7-12. Members of this team were: Dorothy Manning, manager, Norma Geddes, Geneva Handy, Margie Green, Marion White, Afton Marinelli, Marie Kinney, Florence Brashear, Eva Hibbeln, Zola Geddes, Bess Clare and Irene Simon.

In spite of the disadvantage of a rolling diamond there is much interest in this outdoor sport which is started just when the first nice days of spring are appearing. A twelve-inch indoor baseball is used in spite of the fact that some of the co-ed athletes aspire to use a hard ball.

The tournament games in baseball attract more spectators than any other sport. The games are played on a field which is on the campus and much interest is evidenced by the student spectators.

Tennis

TENNIS is one of the most popular spring sports at Idaho. There are six courts which were repaired and improved a great deal this spring. As soon as the weather permits the courts are filled all day with lovers of this sport.

Until this year tennis was an inter-scholastic sport. Regular scheduled games were played with Whitman College and Washington State College. This plan has been discontinued in order to conform with the platform of the Women's Division of National Amateur Athletics Federation. The Seniors had the champion class team in 1926. The team was composed of Dorothy Manning, Alegra Eckles and Hazel Mary Roe. Rose Preuss, Georgia Newport and Hazel Mary Roe represented Idaho in the games played with Whitman.

Supervision of this sport is under the direction of Helen Taylor, sport manager. Noon instruction hours in tennis were offered and followed up by supervision of play, thus enabling those who knew nothing of the game to learn it. The supervision of playing was done by those registered in the course in management of women's athletics. Class teams of four each were picked from the number which turned out for practices.

The 1927 tournament had not been played off at the printing of this book. The plan of the tournament, however, is simple elimination for both singles and doubles. W. A. A. will institute for the first time next year, both fall and spring tennis tournaments. The fall tournament is free for all and will be followed up by a latter tournament to be carried through from fall to spring season. This will facilitate the choosing of class teams for the inter-class tournament in the spring. Points are given for membership on tennis teams on the same plan as in other sports.

Hiking

HIKING is an all-year-round sport in the W. A. A. program. Fifty points may be earned each semester for hiking sixty miles. One hundred points may be made during the season to apply in earning a sweater. The only rules governing hikes is that they cover a minimum distance of three miles. Encouragement is given to independent groups organizing and conducting their hikes. Reporting such mileage is entirely on the honor system.

The hiking leader, Elva Reid, has conducted several hikes this year. These hikes are usually followed by a picnic. A very enjoyable hike in the form of a treasure hunt was carried out last fall.

Quite an original plan is being used here at Idaho. A map showing desirable routes for hiking has been constructed by the hiking manager and hangs near the W. A. A. bulletin board. Reports on hikes are given by number or name of the route taken.

Twenty-two girls completed the required sixty miles and earned fifty points during the first semester. They are Thelma Smith, Beatrice Stalker, Lois Larkham, Dorothy Hall, Eva Hibbeln, Florence McConnell, Eleanor Beamer, Genevieve Budrow, LaReta Beeson, Eila Waldrop, Fae Bauscher, Cleo Miller, Alta Tupper, Ruth White, Virginia Alley, Margaret Becker, Doris Fauch, Dorothy Perkins, Laura Calhoun, Helen Gould, Helen Heimsoth and Lillian Hejtmanek.

Moscow and vicinity offers very desirable routes for hiking. A trip to Moscow Mountain or Genessee Ridge makes a fine day's outing. Another favorite hike is from here to the state line between Washington and Idaho, which is three miles.

Other Sports

SWIMMING

THE first co-ed swimming meet for Idaho was held here in 1926 with thirty-five girls taking part. This year a new plan for the swimming meet has been organized. Individual entries are made rather than class teams as was the previous plan, except in the case of class relay teams. These teams are chosen after the tryouts are held. It is permissible for a girl to enter any three events aside from the class relay and to try for W. A. A. points. The events which are open for entrance are form swimming; elementary back, side, single over arm and breast strokes; form in running front, swan, front jack and back diving; crawl, backracing, medley and class relay races.

Swimming classes and demonstrations are held at the natatorium, which was leased by the university a short time ago.

RIDING

Horseback riding, one of the newest sports at Idaho, is an activity of early fall and spring seasons. Fifty points are given for twelve hours of riding of not more than three hours at one time. This being the first year that this sport has been on the W. A. A. program it is not as fully developed as it will be in the future. Horses are rented from a private owner at a reasonable rate.

DANCING DEMONSTRATION

A dancing demonstration was given under the auspices of W. A. A. the twenty-fifth of March, for the purpose of raising money for the convention fund. Over one hundred girls took part in this program. These girls were members of dancing and gymnasium classes. Folk dances were directed by Miss Florence Richardson, and natural, national, character, clog and athletic dances were directed by Miss Lillian Wirt.

The program consisted of twenty-seven different dances grouped under studies in natural dancing, character and national dances, a gypsy episode, and local talent at a barn dance. It is the custom for W. A. A. to give such a demonstration every three years. Barbara Rugg was general chairman, and assisting her were six other chairmen: Maryvina Goldsmith, Eleanor Beamer, Louise Wilson, Anne Donston, Germaine Gimble and Helen Taylor. Ten points are given for taking part in such a demonstration and also for participation in any pageant or festival given by the university.

WINTER SPORTS

The winter sports consist of coasting, skiing, tobogganing and skating. Fifteen hours, with a maximum of three hours credit at a time, are required for fifty points. Because of the uncertainty of the winter season at Moscow the credit hours required are comparatively few.

Every opportunity is eagerly seized by those interested in making points in this way, to take advantage of the winter weather and of every snow or good freeze. The hills about the city make ideal conditions for indulging in these winter sports. The infirmary is conveniently near and no serious results have come to beginners in the art of skiing.

HORSESHOE

Horseshoe is one of the late spring sports and is in charge of Sport Manager Norma Geddes. Late this spring a call will be made for all those interested in entering the official W. A. A. Horseshoe tournament. The tournament will be established of official scores rather than an elimination match. Those obtaining excellent scores will receive twenty-five points, good scores fifteen points and average scores ten points.

This sport encourages leisure time participation in the game by furnishing each house group on the campus with a set of horseshoes so that members may practice any time.

“I” Girls

THERE are but four girls on the campus who have earned the right to wear the official girls' "I" sweater. These are Katherine Nelson, Louise Wilson, Ruth White and Evangeline Bennett Sorenson. Evangeline Sorenson won her sweater in 1925 and was sent to California to the national W. A. A. convention. These girls have been active in all the sports and have earned the "I" through long and faithful effort. They are all seniors and it is hoped that there will be more awards made before the end of the year so that their presence on the campus will be an incentive to other girl athletes to work for an "I."

PI SIGMA RHO

Mary McClintock Upham Scholarship Cup

THROUGH the generosity of Mrs. Elizabeth Kidder Lindley and Mrs. Mary McClintock Upham, two silver cups have been offered to the group of women on the University of Idaho campus, the majority of whose members live in the same house.

Competition ran very keen for the possession of the Elizabeth Kidder Lindley Scholarship Cup, which was won for 1924-1925 by the Pi Beta Phi sorority, which organization came into permanent possession of it, having obtained it for the third time. This last year a new cup for the women's organizations was provided by Mrs. Upham, to be known as the Mary McClintock Upham Scholarship Trophy. This was won for the first time by the Pi Sigma Rho sorority on a 4.914 average. The respective groups upon whom the cups are conferred may have their names inscribed upon them and may keep them in custody until the next award is made.

BETA CHI

Burton L. French Scholarship Cup

THE Burton L. French Scholarship Cup is awarded to the group of men students on the University of Idaho campus attaining, for three scholastic years, the highest average of scholarship attained by such groups. This cup was won for three successive years by the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, which thus obtained permanent possession of the trophy. Mr. French offered a second cup for similar competition under the same conditions which was won for 1925-1926 by the Beta Chi fraternity on a 4.683 average, in whose custody it now is.

Groups of students eligible to competition for the Burton L. French Cup are such definite groups of men students, as fraternities, cooperative societies and other organizations, each of which have a general home for the accommodation of not less than sixty per cent of its membership. Every group attaining the highest average scholarship during a year may have its name and the year inscribed upon the cup.

Intra-Mural Basketball

BASKETBALL was made a real sport in intramural circles this season. The list of entries was divided into two leagues of seven teams each. The tournament was so arranged that each team met every member of its league twice, giving all squads a fair chance.

In the "A" league the Sigma Chi "Pirates" romped off with the title by going through their schedule undefeated, winning ten straight games. Competition was much closer in the "B" league, with the Beta Theta Pi "Devil Dogs" taking the title after losing one decision to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon "Butterflies," who were runners-up.

In the play-off for the championship fast, heady basketball was played by both teams. The Sigma Chi cagemen trimmed the Betas in the first game by the score of 24-13, accurate shooting by Beyer, "Pirate" forward, being responsible for the high score. In a furious battle the second night the Betas won out by the slim margin of one point. The score was 20-19. A shift in the Beta line-up strengthened the team greatly.

In the third and deciding game of the championship tournament the rivals battled evenly for three quarters, the score reading 13-8 for the Betas at the beginning of the last period. With a burst of speed and accuracy the Betas pulled away from the "B" league champs in this period, and the final score was 23-10, giving the "Devil Dogs" the intramural championship. The close guarding of Lawrence, Beta guard, who was "set" on Beyer, Sigma Chi's ace, was a feature of the battle.

Intra-Mural Cross-Country

KEEN competition featured in the first annual intra-mural cross-country meet held on McLean field Saturday, November 13, 1926. Teams were entered by Lindley Hall, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Tau Kappa Iota, Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma and Alpha Tau Omega. Due to the muddy condition of the regular cross country course the race was run on the track encircling the football field, and covered about two miles.

The Tau Kappa Iota squad, consisting of Hawkins, Muzzey and Andrews, won the event by placing second, seventh and eleventh, for a total of twenty points. Griffith of Lindley Hall took first place in the race, and his team mates garnered enough points to insure second place in the meet for their squad. Sigma Alpha Epsilon finished in third place.

The first cross-country meet between the various groups was a great success, and will without doubt be a regular event in intra-mural competition on Idaho's campus in the future.

Intra-Mural Debate

THE year of 1925-26 marked the second year of intra-mural debating at Idaho. Much competition was shown which revealed a great deal of varsity material. The season opened early in March with twenty-two teams competing for the cup. The following teams debated in the semi-finals: Tau Mem Aleph, represented by Paul Hyatt and Donald Anderson; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, represented by George Young and Milton Zener, and Tau Kappa Iota, represented by Howard Andrews and Harry Schuttler. In the finals Tau Mem Aleph won from Sigma Alpha Epsilon by a two-to-one decision. The questions debated ranged from campus problems to those of national importance, and thus proved very instructive to both the participants and audiences.

1926-1927

DURING the past year more interest was shown in intra-mural debate than ever before. The opening of the season found all intra-mural groups represented and working hard for the championship. Much of this interest is due to the efforts of Coach Davidson and Herbert Wunderlich, manager. Ridenbaugh Hall, Tau Kappa Iota and Sigma Alpha Epsilon debated in the semi-finals. In the finals Ridenbaugh Hall, represented by Myrna Adams and Charlotte Smith, won from Tau Kappa Iota, represented by Harry Schuttler and Walter Slaughter. The debate was very interesting and a well prepared argument was presented by both teams. The subject was: "Resolved, that the allied war debt should be canceled."

DEBATING has truly found a place among the important activities of the student body at Idaho. Greater interest has been shown during the past year than ever before in all forms of debate, including men and women's varsity, freshman, and intra-mural.

The competition among varsity aspirants was stronger than usual this year. About twenty men and twelve women tried out for the teams. This fact alone indicates the increased interest that is being taken in debating. From this large field of material excellent combinations were selected to represent Idaho in forensic competition.

The outstanding success this year has been due not only to the forensic abilities of the teams, but also to the ability and resourcefulness of the new coach, H. Carter Davidson. Professor Davidson has increased the interest not only among the contestants, but also among the students and general public with his plan of audience discussion at the close of each debate. Credit is also due to the music department and to the Spur organization for added entertainment at home contests.

The outstanding feature in Idaho's debating schedule this year was a coast trip. Warren J. Montgomery and J. Lael Simmons represented the university in the most extensive trip that Idaho has ever made. On this trip they met eight colleges and discussed three different questions. Five of these were non-decision debates: Reed College, St. Ignatius College, University of Southern California, University of Nevada, and Brigham Young College. Two were decision victories for Idaho: Redlands College and Utah Agricultural College, and one defeat by the University of Utah.

Four other debates were included in the year's schedule. These were dual debates with Gonzaga and with British Columbia, and triangular debates, including W. S. C.-Montana-Idaho, and Oregon-Washington-Idaho.

THE past year was the first year of freshman debating at Idaho. A great deal of interest was shown, and excellent varsity material was discovered for next year. The schedule for the season consisted of a dual debate with the Lewiston State Normal School. The subject was: "Resolved, that the United States government is justified in passing a law which would take from the interstate commerce commission the right to permit the railroads to charge more for a short haul than a long haul when the shorter is included in the longer." Walter Slaughter and Stanley Dolan, Idaho's negative team, met the normal school at Lewiston. Joseph Molloy and George Huber represented Idaho at Moscow. Both debates were audience decision, and although Idaho presented a well-prepared argument, they lost by a small margin.

BLUE KEY

Honorary Service Fraternity for Upperclassmen

FOUNDED AT THE UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, 1924
IDAHO CHAPTER INSTALLED, MAY, 1925

"Serving I Live"

Although one of the youngest national fraternities at Idaho, Blue Key has taken a definite place in the more active life on the campus. Composed as it is of only upperclass leaders in the various phases of student activity, Blue Key has accomplished many things for the university and the A. S. U. I. this year.

It published the Student Handbook; it promoted the special train to the Idaho-Washington football game, Seattle; it took over complete arrangements for the 1926 Homecoming Celebration, which included the publication of a souvenir program, campus decoration, house decoration, entertainment of visitors, and other things; it sponsored the annual Red Cross drive on the campus; it promoted the annual state interscholastic basketball tournament.

The fraternity inaugurated this year an annual banquet for alumni members, to be held on Homecoming day.

Original Composition	Shirley Miller

The English Club this year reached its twentieth milestone. The club did not become an active organization with a definite purpose, however, until Dr. G. M. Miller became the head of the English Department in 1917. The club since that time has been an important factor in stimulating interest in all branches of English work. When it was reorganized it took charge of the work in dramatics. In 1923 it founded the Blue Bucket magazine, which now is controlled by the A. S. U. I. For the last three years the club has maintained a Book Shelf of current literature for the use of all university students. The club also has conducted two art exhibits, and it has initiated the movement for chimes.

The biggest task of the club was inaugurated this year when it undertook the compilation of a bibliography and a collection of all material written about Idaho, in Idaho, or by Idahoians. The purpose of this undertaking is to accumulate all valuable material concerning the state in one place—the university.

The English Club has a membership composed of all instructors, majors, and minors in the department as well as students who have distinguished themselves in composition, in journalism, in dramatics, and in debate.

THE ASSOCIATED ENGINEERS

OFFICERS

President	Harold Lamphere
Vice President	Cecil Balkow
Secretary-Treasurer	Clarence Larson

The Associated Engineers is composed of the faculty and all students enrolled in the College of Engineering. Its purpose is to bring about a closer relationship between the different departments of the college and a broader understanding of engineering. This is accomplished by various social activities and the securing of prominent practicing engineers to present technical subjects to the organization.

The Associated Engineers sponsor the biennial engineers' show, which is a complete exhibit of all the Engineering Schools. The main social event of the year is the Engineers' Dance. The official magazine of the organization is The Idaho Engineer, published semi-annually.

The Ag Club is composed of students in the College of Agriculture. Its purpose is to further extra curricula educational studies, to promote various club enterprises, and for social activities.

The principal events sponsored by this organization through the year are the annual Ag Bawl, an all-college dance given in the fall, and The Little International. The Little International is a livestock show modeled after the larger shows at Chicago and Portland. Given in the evening, it terminates the annual Ag Day activities when all agricultural students engage in livestock judging and allied activities. The Little International is becoming one of the biggest things of its kind in the Inland Empire.

University of Idaho judging teams, composed of members of the Ag Club, hold an enviable place in competition with teams on the Pacific coast.

The Bench and Bar Association was first organized in 1912. All students regularly enrolled in the College of Law are members of the Association. The purposes and objects of the Bench and Bar Association are to cultivate fellowship among law students; to preserve the traditions of the Law School; to promote scholarship among its members; to encourage a professional attitude toward the study of the law, and to develop among its members those ethical standards which will make them most useful as practitioners of the law.

The Bench and Bar Association was largely instrumental in securing the adoption of the "Honor System" in the Law School. The Law School was the first school of the University of Idaho to adopt the "Honor System," and the only school that has thus far successfully maintained it. Upon the Bench and Bar Association, in general, and upon each member thereof, in particular, rests the duty and obligation of maintaining and enforcing this fundamental tradition of the Law School.

Idaho Student Chapter of the A. S. C. E., founded in 1852, was installed in 1926. The object of the parent organization is to maintain a contact with the embryo engineers in the more prominent civil engineering schools.

Meetings of the chapter are held bi-monthly. Talks are given by members on subjects pertaining to the profession and addresses are made before the organization by men prominent in the field. In this manner members achieve a practical aspect of their future vocation that is unobtainable in any college curriculum.

Men are curiously loyal. They are loyal to ancient hats and disreputable friends and some women. But they are always loyal to each other.

THE INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

OFFICERS

President	W. Fisher Ellsworth
Vice President	Charles Kincaid
Secretary	Frank W. Click
Treasurer	Melvin Perrins

The Interfraternity Council is an old organization on the campus and has continually made progress in harmonizing the actions of the fraternities. Its most recent accomplishment has been the adopting of a rushing code which was lived up to by all groups, and which greatly improved the rushing situation on the campus among the Greek letter organizations. The Council meets monthly and strives to regulate any unfriendly feelings that exist among groups and cooperates with the university in furthering its interest.

Odyssey of a College Student

Bertie (John Bertram Frankfurter) splashes the platform of the new Spanish Renaissance depot with tears. Typewriter in one hand and a box of fig newtons in the other, he is leaving dear old Boise (the town with the longest side track in the world). His parents grieve, for they are fond of Bertie and he is going to Idaho where George Yost and Max Newhouse and Dick Whitaker went.

The Eata Fig Newton men do not believe in forcing a pledge pin, so they have simply tied Bertie in the tub until he decides. Also the boys believe in giving their pledges ample time to think things over before taking the vow, hence Bertie can stay in the tub as long as he wishes.

Here we see Bertie with a shining new uniform. It is the costume given every year to the pledge doing the greatest service for his fraternity. It is the uniform of Service and Bertie earned his by contributing more neckties to the brothers than any other pledge of Eata Figs.

Bertie may be seen in the third row from the back on Sid McClellan's left. Bertie has become almost as prominent as Ross Woods in musical circles. His numerous appearances in the Glee Club have brought him popularity. Of course, no one has ever seen him on the stage, but we are always sure he is there.

Bertie the Sophomore.

Here we recognize Bertie as a sophomore by his hard-boiled look. Like George McDonald and Dinty Moore, he makes the frosh tremble with fear. On Bertie's right, behind the banister we see one dead frosh. He passed away the night of November 14, the victim of a stern glance from Clair Cluster.

Bertie Makes The Stock-Judging Team.

Dean Iddings chose Bertie for the team because of his extensive experience in a wide study of calves. Bertie gained this experience during his term as janitor at the gymnasium. Here he had a chance to judge from a variety of shapes and sizes, and was never known to miss a perfect specimen.

Junior Prom Chairman

The Junior Prom, under Bertie's auspices, was held at Rollins Park. Guy Williams' two-piece orchestra (Guy and his banjo) furnished the music. A lunch was served in the form of a basket supper. Dick King brought his own lunch from the Oriole Nest, as he is very particular what he eats. Red Sullivan was chaperon.

Bertie Makes Crew.

Chet Kerr, retired sea captain and social leader, encouraged Bertie to go out for crew. Bertie made it. Here we see him during the process of a daily work-out on Paradise Creek. With little effort Bertie makes 15 knots per hour, a speed equaled only by Duke Pierce's Ford.

Bertie Makes Phi Beta Kappa

Bertie wanted to be like his roommate, Con Dewey, and make Phi Beta Kappa. Bertie worked hard and when Dr. Miller heard of his achievements he dashed up to Bertie with a key. Bertie's qualifications were as follows:

- I. Scholarship: Made a high "D" in Larson's English Lit.
- II. Athletics (endurance): Had three successive dates with Omega Alphas.
- III. Character (high ideals): Buys tires.

Bertie Falls In Love.

Bertie met Sarah Trousdale. He fell in love. Here we see them on a date back of the music hall. It is very late (4:00 a. m.), but the Dean says dates are on at four. Bertie and Sarah think they are letting the rest of the world go by, but they haven't seen the night watchman behind the tree.

Bertie's Love Flies.

Bertie catches Sarah out back of the Dijji house with Frank Click. They are sitting in Giff Davidson's car because Ethel Greene is in the infirmary. Sarah tries to explain to Bertie, but he is broken-hearted and goes off to be a woman hater like Cam King.

Back To The Farm.

Bertie has returned to the farm, Route 3, Boise, Idaho. He is much wiser. College has made a different man of him. If he ever falls in love again it will be with Pearl Glenn, whose father owns a cheese factory across the road. However, college has been worth while, for did it not teach him the Black Bottom and the Valencia, which make plowing a joy?

The Model College Man

"Here you see two views of me, one with morning attire, and the other with correct afternoon clothes," said George Burroughs, and you will notice that the well-dressed man is wearing trousers both afternoon and morning. "No formal affair (with the exception of the Athletic Ball) should be attended in shirt sleeves," George continues. "Never commit the social breach of wearing the same tie twice. The one you see here in my picture, I would not think of wearing again, since it does not belong to me."

To the right we have something snappy in hints on college dress. Looking from left to right and from head to foot you will see Dick King, who leads in all Vandal fashion styles. In his right hand you will see his latest sack coat. Dick says that this coat has many uses besides being stylish, among others, it is good to place across a mud hole when one's lady friend calls for gallantry.

In Dick's hand you will see a stick of peppermint candy, which he received from the Kappa Sig house party. It was the only thing he got at the party which we could put in the picture. On his feet you will see a clever pair of galoshes from the "Friendly Store." Mr. King says for this added bit of chickness, he will have to give Mr. Kline complete credit, as he himself would never have thought of the nevelly finish to his outfit. They were added for the reasonable price of $19.78 and you can see the effect for yourself.

Mr. King tells us that one sure way of dressing effectively is to use the principle of contrast. There is nothing like it to bring out the hidden possibilities. To the left you will see Dick as he dresses for a morning class, startling the feminine hearts with his daring models of uniqueness. In the evening he appears as a different man—coming forth in Hart Schaffner and Mars suits which make the ladies gasp at their smartness. Mr. King does not pose for movie ads. He smokes a pipe and is one of the strongest men on the campus.

The Collegiate Ancient Mariner

(APOLOGIES TO SAMUEL COLERIDGE AND OTHERS)

It was an Ancient Mariner,
He was stopped by one of three.
"By thy looks thou art a new student,
So come along with me.

"We Kappa Sigs don't want no prigs, We'll play a game of poker."
The ancient glanced around the room,
But he could find no joker.

They caught his eye, they heard his sigh,
Their game was ladies' bridge,
Now come old gray-beard, tale the grip,
For you we fain would "Plidge."

"Hold off, unhand me, tempting youths,
No pledge pins now," quoth he.
He cleared the room, he gained the door
And up the street went he.

He saw a house all filled with men,
They bade him come within,
With harpischord and loud bassoon
They made a merry din.

"Now take this snake, and join our band,"
The Sigma Nuers cried,
"Half of the 'I Club's in this joint,
The other half has died."

The ancient guest he beat his breast
And journey forth again
Anon he saw another house
With painted window pane.

"What tong is this with secret mein Against adversity?"
"This ain't no frat, but is instead Six hundred University."

"With darkest shrouds we cloak our band
With magic infinitum,
We'll take you in, to do our themes,
For none of us can write 'em."

The mariner did gaze and gaze
But little did he see
A score of youths they held the door
It opened just an inch, no more,
"I am a-feared," quoth he.

He heard a-singing off afar
A merry minstrelsy
A Phi Delt crew, a hundred strong Didst carol merrily.

"We are the best," the Phi Delt sang
"We carefully pick our men,
They all must own a suit of clothes,
An' know how to count to ten."

PHOTOGRAPH OF A SORORITY APPLAUDING A DELTACHI SERENADE

"I hear a voice that calls to me,"
The gray-beard made reply,
"A beckoning hand now bids me go,
I see a Delta Chi."

What loud uproar burst from that door
From whence the summons came.

Didst hear a sound of jubilee
A shouting of a name.

"Oh, Ella is a good old sport,"
Cried all the merry men,
"The list is made, the die is cast,
Our grades are low, but they're not last,"

TRUE LOVE

This picture, it is said, furnished Shakespear with the inspiration which produced "Mama Loves Papa." But you can tell that Papa has either forgotten his fraternity training, or he was raised at Lindley hall, for he is sitting down and the lady has to stand up. We cannot be just sure what is causing the look of terror in Papa's eyes, but we think perhaps the curtain has just been jerked to one side by the house mother.

FOR A. S. U. I. PRESIDENT

The friends of Mr. High Tension Killameter Johnson, whose picture is printed above, wish to announce that he is in the race for A. S. U. I. president. Mr. Johnson entered the university with the required number of credits and still has them. During his entire first year he was a member of the freshman class, and always paid the laundry bills. He was the first to buy tickets to the arboretium and only lacked two of being into as many political combines as John McMurray.

"THE PERMEAL JANE"

Through the recommendation of Dean French the new vehicle pictured here has been adopted by Idaho students. It is called the "Permeal Jane." The model illustrated is a roadster, and is guaranteed to be strong, in fact Corona Dewey has ridden in this very machine. Girls may go out in the "Permeal Jane" at night as well as in the daytime.

The vehicle may be folded and conveniently carried under the left arm. It saves time, taxi bills, is self-starting, and makes a speed of 17 knots an hour.

It is believed that the "Permeal Jane" will be extremely popular, and it is hoped that it will be used discreetly and that the over-boisterous will not send it the way of the automobile by crowding its seating capacity. The new machine has a splendid pick-up, will pick up anything that will ride with the driver.

COME TO MOSCOW

Land of Sunshine and Flowers

AFTER THE MISERABLE WINTER YOU SPENT IN CALIFORNIA, COME HERE FOR YOUR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS!

No need for an extravagant wardrobe in our climate. One suit will do for all seasons. In fact most of us do use the same suit the year around. If you are socially inclined you can manage your dress through alternation with your roommates' suits.

Here you see a student enjoying our fall weather, which consists of one continuous dust storm—very beneficial to "T. B." victims, same quality dust as that found in Arizona and guaranteed to be more plentiful. In fact students carry a ring of this beneficial curative in their hat brims and under their collar nearly all through the autumn season.

Here we have four jolly students participating in the winter sports at Moscow. Just see how happy and healthy they look! They are in love with our climate and have never seen anything like it. In the right you can recognize Chet Kerr, who especially enjoys the deep drifts of snow. But then Chet always was inclined to drift. In the center is Grogan Austin from the Valley of Virginia. Mr. Austin is just telling the comrades that this certainly has the cotton fields beat from "chaum." On the extreme left you will notice George Greene and John McMurray in a little snow fight. Mr. McMurray, who has been in the Alps, says that if the Swiss ever hear of this rival winter resort they will be so jealous they'll quit putting the holes in cheese.

Here we see several of the campus "steadies" enjoying dates on the lawns and under the trees. The gardner passed just as this was taken, so there may be some difficulty in recognizing those in the picture. The large object on the left of the boulder is "Carrot" Bucklin's foot.

Dere Anny//:

I'm mad Anny. I went to a Dijis party an now you should ought to see my dress. I wouldn't pledge and they cried all over that blue lace riffel in the middle of my old rose taffeta. The gurls at the hall had told me that I would have to expect a little sobb stuff but I didn't expekt noSeattal showers. They have lots of ritzy gurls but they are crazy over the Betas wicht kind of spoils the looks of their front porch. Hermie Welker is their right hand man but they ain't so bad with their left hand either. Bridge is their worst fault. They are so crazy over it that they think Brooklyn Bridge is a new book of card rules, some of them even going so far as to send in their dollar for the book.

THE RUSHING OF ANNIE DEEVER

“A dirty night, a dirty night,” said the Forney Hall co-ed.
“A fine night for the rushing,” the gray housemother said.

“What are those cries? What are those cries?” said the Forney Hall co-ed.

“The sorority women driving up,” the timid door girl said.

“For they're rushing Annie Deever in the sombre, stilly eve;

She's packed her rouge and powder-puff: she's ready now to leave;

Oh, the girls will be delighted and the Forney girls will grieve,

For they're rushing Annie Deever in the evening.”

“Is she going Delta Gamma?” said the Forney hall co-ed.
“Not on your life, not on your life,” the timid door girl said.

“It is Gamma Phi or Pi Phi?” said the Forney hall co-ed.
“No, not even Kappa, the timid door girl said.”

"For they're rushing Annie Deever, she will live upon the row,

As a Theta or a Pi Sig or something else you know,
Or an Omega Alpha and perhaps a Daleth Teth,
For they're rushing Annie Deever hard as death."

"Alas, she's gone, poor Annie!" said the Forney Hall co-ed,

"She looked like such a nice girl," the timid door girl said.

"My nerves are simply shattered," said the Forney Hall co-ed.

"And tomorrow I've got a quiz, I think I'll go to bed."

MORAL—It was the twelve weeks. Annie went home.

I went to the Alpha Ki formel. They just wanted me on purpose to rush me, some of the other gurls told me, so I didn't pledge them. But anyway it was a reel party and I guess they are awful proud of their wood shed because everything I said they would answer, "yes, you wood." They also sed that the A. T. O.'s wuz the Cat's Pajamas. Now of course I haven never been around the A. T. O.'s much so I couldn't be sure what kind they wore, but I guess that wuz all right.

I am all off the sororityies and I have decided to tay at Forney Hall. Things are so convenience there Anny. Rite in yur room you have cold water and then another crank you turn that isn't so cold and the bathrobes have bountiful room to hang your clothes in and they've got clear-down mirrors. They also have dressing tables but I have an awful time to dress on one of the things. One of these days some of the girls will break their necks trying to stand up there to put her shoes on. I don't think that dressing table idea is so hot myself, anny (p. s. hot is a word they all use, I didn't mean the dressing tables was electric heated."

IT'S A GREAT thing to be proud of a great university in a great state. If you are to live in Idaho, why go to college somewhere else for four years to make friends you may never see again, and then come back to be a stranger everywhere in Idaho except in your own home town—and almost a stranger there?

¶In four years at the University of Idaho you will have opportunity to become acquainted with several thousand up-and-coming young Idaho men and women, who will be leaders in Idaho's social, civic, political, and educational life, and who will be your friends as long as you are in the state.

¶Idaho's special attraction lies in a double advantage—that it is large enough to afford expert instruction and adequate equipment in many fields, yet is not so large that students lose acquaintance with one another and personal touch with their instructors.

¶On the border line between being a small college and a large university, Idaho offers many of the advantages of both.

LaVANCE WESKIL

registered in school the first semester, made the panels for the subtitle pages.

ALLEN JANSSEN

produced all the borders used in the volume.

STERNER'S STUDIO

made the pictures of President Upham and Dean Crawford, together with the pictures of the deans of the colleges.

MIKLOS' STUDIO

made the pictures for this year's Beauty Section.

DEAN DONALDSON

designed the division pages, and made the title page.

PRODUCTION STAFF

made the editing of this Gem simple and effective, especially the untiring work and service of W. A. McMahon of the Inland-American Printing Co., of Spokane, and Fred S. Wiman, of the Western Engraving and Colortype Co. The full cooperation of Mrs. Sterner and Mr. Miklos enabled us to complete the pictures on scheduled time.

MEMBERS OF THE STAFF

who faithfully worked up until the last night when the index was completed, and thus made it possible to publish the book on time, are heartily commended by the editor for their sincere efforts.

"Oh, aren't you nice!"

WHEN Finis comes The BOOK we close,
And somewhat sadly, Fancy goes,
With backward step, from stage to stage
Of that accomplished pilgrimage . . .
The thorn lies thicker than the rose!

There is so much that no one knows—
So much unreached that none suppose;
What flaws! what faults!—on every page,
When Finis comes.

Still—they must pass: The swift Tide flows,
Though not for all the laurel grows,
Perchance in this be-slandered age,
The worker, mainly, wins his wage—
And time will sweep both friends and foes
When Finis comes.

—AUSTIN DOBSON.
