F OREWORD

As historians and story tellers painted vivid word pictures and wove their thrilling accounts around the ancient Vandal civilization—glorified both in victory and defeat—so this volume strives to present a portrait of the activities and characters whose dynamic presence marks another chapter of achievement in modern Vandal history

EDICATION

We honor and respect the Vandals of old, the pioneers whose deeds were of such importance to our progress and development, but it is to the proud achievements of the Vandal of our day that this nineteen-thirty-one Gem of the Mountains is dedicated. In it we have attempted to typify the modern spirit of the student body it represents

ADMINISTRATION

Mervin Gordon Neale

President

In the midst of all the activities of the University, it is difficult for the faculty and student body to appreciate those qualities which make the University of Idaho stand out from other institutions. From the perspective which comes with passing years, the individuality of the institution will become more and more distinct to those who have been privileged to enjoy its associations.

I am confident that, as the years pass, the University of Idaho will stand for friendship, loyalty and devotion to the best in life, and above all, to the Vandal spirit which survives every discouragement and defeat.

The Board of Regents, composed of members appointed for five-year terms by the governor of the state, holds the chief advisory power over the University and its policies. In conjunction with the President of the University, the Board of Regents rules on every important matter affecting either university administration or its work.

The great amount of administrative work of the University of Idaho is entrusted to these administrative officials. To them belong the duties of carrying into effect the measures necessary to keep straight university finances, handle registration of students, care for the student population, and conduct general university business:

Turner, Fitzgerald, Sweet, French, Olesen, Stanton

Dean of Women

Dean Permeal J. French

The dean of women is engaged in carrying on a great variety of work which comes within the scope of university administration, particularly as it affects the social life of the university campus. One of the most important of her duties is to provide for the welfare of the women students at the University.

This year an important advance in that work has been made. A hope and desire which Miss Permeal J. French, Dean of Women, has had for years has been fulfilled. This is the establishment of a woman's club room. The importance is not in the room itself as much as in the atmosphere and influence which the room provides. The facilities offered for club meetings and dinners have given the women an advantage which Idaho had definitely lacked before. Quite noticeable is a renewed spirit of unity among women and women's groups at Idaho. A greater air of sociability exists than ever before, and it is because of this new spirit of friendliness that the new club room is considered an important advance of the year.

Dorothy Shears Secretary

Considering the University as a whole, Dean French, who has served Idaho for many years, suggests that this year has seen a distinct advance toward university individuality. It is in this respect that the present year is significant, because enrollment has reached a new high mark. The University has begun to acquire certain characteristics which give it a position not obtainable by younger schools. This position becomes more noticeable as the University develops and begins to serve, educationally and scientifically, every section of the state. In this day of great educational institutions, it is noteworthy that Idaho can maintain and extend its individuality.

Dean Jay G. Eldridge

Dean of Faculty

Dean Jay Glover Eldridge heads two departments of the University, being the Dean of the Faculty and chairman of the Junior College Executive Committee. Due to the standardized type of work done in both divisions—the Junior College and the administrative work of the Dean of the Faculty—it is difficult to pick out any particular points as indicative of progress during any given year. It may be said, however, that in both divisions an attempt is continually being made to keep abreast of educational and administrative trends in proportion to the general advance of the University. A lifetime spent in the educational field and nearly thirty years' experience on the faculty of the University of Idaho have given Dean Eldridge a superior knowledge of the University and special ability to solve its many problems.

The Junior College has functioned without material change since it first became a part of the university plan. It was the desire of the President that it proceed without change this year and that previous policies be followed, in order that work would be interfered with as little as possible. Reorganization in the future will be made rather slowly in order to avoid disconcerting changes for the students.

The work of the Dean of the Faculty consists largely of advisory and administrative functions. Since it is held by the dean longest in the service of the University, it is in a sense an honorary position. This year there have been certain duties incident to the change of administration which have demanded special attention. Yet the best indication of progress has been the efficient manner in which work of the department has been accomplished.

Dorothy Rouse Secretary

College of Letters and Science

Acting Dean, Harold L. Axtell

Rebecca Flack Secretary

The Senior College of Letters and Science has made progress consistent with the general advance of the University. Special events in its career have more to do this year with the change of deans, necessitated by the death of the former dean, Martin Fuller Angell. To fill this position, Harold L. Axtell, Ph.D., long with the University as professor of classical languages, has been made acting dean.

The change in the administrative head of the school has not, however, materially affected the program or policy previously followed.

Moore, Shull, McDole, Iddings, Lampman, Hansen, Theophilus, White, Magauson, Woods, Hickman

College of Engineering

Dean Ivan C. Crawford

Violet Hagen Secretary

Among events of the year the College of Engineering points to three things as particularly important. The bridge design contest conducted by the American Institute of Steel Construction was won by an Idaho student in competition with students in technical schools in the United States and Canada. Enrollment this year represents a 20 per cent increase over last year and a 100 per cent-increase over a period of eight years. Gifts from manufacturers have increased the laboratory equipment.

The school was organized as a department in 1901, and became a college in 1908.

Second Row—Cady, von Ende, Schroeder, Beresford, Kostalek, Johnson, Dole, Buchanan First Row—Crawford, Gauss, Howard, Hull, Kulp, Miller, Carter

Dean James F. Messenger

Worthy of note in events of the past year is the 90 per cent increase this year in the number of regular and summer school students working for master's degrees. Another important fact is that almost every public school official in Idaho has taken some work at the University, thus giving an important connection between Idaho public schools and the University.

School of Education

Louise Cuddy Secretary

McCoy, Barton, Messenger, Holley, Smith, Mosher, Boyer

School of Business Administration

Dean Ralph H. Farmer

Ellen Jack Secretary

Among the significant features of the year for the School of Business Administration is an increase of 8 per cent in the enrollment, counting juniors, seniors and prebusiness students who are in the junior college. The Idaho Business School has given more attention than usual to investigation and study of the business of the state, particularly through special studies by the faculty. Plans have been formulated for additional work in this line to provide reliable information on problems peculiar to Idaho.

This is the school's seventh year as an individual university unit.

Moore, Gaston, Graue, Farmer, Wilde, Davison, Kerr

Dean William E. Masterson

College of Law

Incident to a new period of expansion and growth, the law faculty regards three events of the past year as highly significant. The most important of these is the establishment for the first time of an Idaho Law Journal published by the College of Law, with the assistance of an advisory board made up of members of the Idaho Bar.

Drastic reorganization of the curriculum to allow a strengthening of important courses has been made. Enrollment has increased 64 per cent in two years.

Among the oldest of units established on the campus, the College of Law ends its twenty-second year this June.

Jane Maxwell Secretary

Pittman, Hopkins, Howard, Masterson

School of Mines

Dean John W. Finch

Inez Roulston Secretary

A new dean, completion of important research work, and an improvement in the curriculum are high points in the year's activities for the School of Mines.

John W. Finch, a mining engineer of national reputation, has finished his first year as head of the School of Mines. In line with his coming, there has been a revision of the course of study in order to include some new and important subjects not covered before. Among these new fields is the very important one of geophysics. Research in ore dressing by Dr. Fahrenwald and other geological research have been of economic and scientific importance.

Second Row—Tullis, Newton, Udell, Lee, Albertson, Lundquist Front Row—Hite, Laney, Finch, Fahrenwald, Staley, Livingston

Dean Francis G. Miller

The School of Forestry names as the outstanding event of the year the opening of a wood chemical laboratory for the purpose of conducting research in chemical and mechanical utilization of wood, especially of wood waste.

Other important factors concerning this school, established as a department in 1909 and as an independent school in 1917, are that enrollment has increased 12 per cent in the last two years, that the school has increased its floor space and equipment to an important degree, and it continues to hold a position of national prominence in work in its field.

Anna Fulton Secretary

Kempff, Jahn, Plungian, Spence, Otter, Souder, Hubert, Miller

Department of Physical Education

Coach Leo B. Calland

Mildred Axtell Secretary

The functions of the Department of Physical Education are divided into two distinct parts. The primary and most important function is to train and fit university teams for participation in major sports. This includes coaching of football, track, basketball and baseball. At the same time attention is given to minor sports of tennis, swimming, wrestling, boxing and fencing. The other function of the department is the instruction of students who are taking physical education as a requirement of the first two years or those who are receiving degrees in education. The latter includes the presentation of regular text-book courses.

Fox, Hutchinson, Calland, Anderson, Jacoby

General Edward R. Chrisman

A number of events have made the past year stand out as important for the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Idaho. Enrollment in the advanced course, through arrangement with the War Department, is the largest of its history. Of importance in improving the appearance and efficiency of the corps has been the receipt of new uniforms issued by the government. In other fields, points of note are very favorable reports on graduates of the Idaho advanced course who have served at army posts as instructors in summer camps, and the winning in 1930 for the fourth time the rating of "Excellent" for the corps.

Idaho Alumni Association

President T. L. Martin

The chief purposes of the Idaho Alumni Association are: That the alumni may always be in close touch with the University and with each other; that through individual and concerted effort the alumni may be of service to the University. These purposes can be accomplished when we have an Alumni Secretary. I hope this may be soon.

The alumni should undertake some activity of value to the University in which each alumnus can take part. I suggest the creation and maintenance of an Alumni Student's Loan Fund. A small annual contribution from each alumnus will soon create a fund in excess of the requirements at the University. We should then use the excess for a building fund through which the alumni may soon contribute to the University a suitable and needed building.

Graduate Manager

George E. "Cap" Horton

The graduate manager of the University of Idaho has charge of all property and funds of the Associated Students. He also has general control over athletics, music, publications, dramatics, debate and intercollegiate competition in rifle marksmanship and stock judging.

In reviewing the past year, probably the most important and complex problem was the handling of the trip which the football team made to Hawaii. This trip has been only one of the major business matters of the year.

The best indication of a successful year is the way in which student activities have been handled by George E. "Cap" Horton, despite unfavorable circumstances in regard to the A.S.U.I. budget and general business conditions.

Graduate Manager's Office

Associated Students

All students enrolled in the University of Idaho become members of the A.S.U.I. upon payment of the regular association fee when they register. This makes them a part of the student government of the school. The field of the Associated Students includes every extra-curricular activity in which students participate. In student administration there is the executive board with legislative powers over athletics, dramatics, forensics and publications. In each of these divisions there are positions of administration and participation which definitely are a part of the A.S.U.I. In the broadest sense of the word, however, the activities of the Associated Students are not to be confined to this page. The whole book of which this is a part deals with the activities of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho.

ATHLETICS

Coach Calland

Leo B. Calland

Vandal athletic teams competing in the Pacific Coast Conference are noted for their fighting spirit. To represent Idaho means training and self-denial as well as aggressiveness and alertness on the field.

In addition to the intercollegiate athletic teams, the Department of Physical Education promotes an extensive intramural program, a teachers' training course, and required classes for freshmen and sophomores.

Everyone has an important part, whether as participant or as spectator in all of these activities. The loyalty of the student body with the determination that everyone must help in order that Idaho may be represented by the best possible teams has kept alive the old tradition, "Idaho Fights."

LEO B. CALLAND.

Fox, Hutchinson, Calland, Anderson, Jacoby

COACHING STAFF

daho rose to athletic heights a few years ago and gazed evenly on other Conference varsity squads, but gradually slipped until they were firmly on the bottom rung of the ladder.

The present Vandal coaching staff was organized while athletics were at their lowest ebb, and for two years each man has been building until now Idaho stands as the chief threat of the coast in every line of sport.

Each coach on the staff has turned out winning teams in the past, and the entire state has confidence that these men will be riding the skyline with their varsities before many months have passed.

Athletic Managers

Wilson, Grimm, Eaton

VANDALS

daho's varsity teams trot on athletic fields to the huge roars that greet them from the massed stands, but they furnish only part of the big show, as the real pep and collegiate atmosphere is provided by the men on the sidelines.

The big Vandal rooting section has been nursed along all year by "Bus" Grimm and his dukes, Harry Wilson and Vernon Eaton, until it has developed into one of the best sections in the history of Idaho. Their excellent tumbling provided entertainment for the crowds and kept alive an old Gem State custom.

The Pep Band is an outstanding feature of Idaho games and wins continuous applause at each appearance.

«I» MEN

The "I" men represent the athletic power of Idaho, as they are the winners of varsity letters in one of more of the four major sports and form the Vandal teams that battle Conference clubs for far western honors each year.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

daho's 1930 football machine lacked weight, experience and reserves, but made up for these handicaps with plenty of traditional fight, good coaching and worlds of speed. The Vandals upset a hard-hitting Gonzaga eleven, made Washington and Oregon give everything they had to annex victories, and even outplayed the mighty Cougars at times.

When the moleskins are dished out again next fall Leo Calland will have several veterans on hand for every position, besides the stars of one of the most powerful freshman elevens in Idaho's history. The squad will be well fortified with a year's experience, lots of reserves, and one of the fastest aerial games on the coast.

The past season is looked on as a thorough schooling for the 1931 Vandal eleven and supporters at the University and throughout the state freely predict it will be an Idaho year in the annals of the Pacific Coast Conference.

BOBCATS

daho opened the gridiron season against Montana State on MacLean Field and had the game safely tucked away until a short out-of-bounds kick with three minutes to go gave the invaders a 7-6 victory. Hanford ran sixteen yards to the one-yard stripe in the third quarter and on the next play Pederson fell across the goal. The Bobcats scored from the 20-yard line when a pass netted eleven yards and De Frate went over on an off-tackle smash.

COYOTES

Boise's largest football crowd watched the Vandals come to life after a slow, ragged first half and swamp the College of Idaho 30-6. The Red Shirts were outplayed the opening periods and left the field with the count 6 to 0 against them. Pederson, Wilkie and Wilson ran wild the third quarter and pushed the oval across for five touchdowns, while the powerful Vandal forward wall held in the pinches and the backs broke up O'Conner's lastminute aerial drive.

HUSKIES

The University of Washington eleven, led by Cherberg, Martin and Buse, broke through the Vandal defense in the last half to win the opening Conference battle of the year by a 27-to-0 score. The Idahoans kept the pigskin in Husky territory most of the first period, but a continuous procession of Purple and Gold reserves in the final minutes decided the tide of battle. George Wilson packed the ball for spectacular runs, while Corkery and Taylor played powerful games in the line.

MISSIONARIES

daho's Vandals plunged and passed their way up and down MacLean Field to smother Whitman College's fast eleven by a 47 to 0 score. Coach Calland used four quarterbacks to carry the brunt of the attack and each one placed the oval on the scoring turf. The Missionaries threatened only in the final quarter when a long pass carried them to the 10-yard mark. Wilson made the longest run of the year when he grabbed the ball behind Idaho's goal and ran 105 yards for a score.

WEBFEET

Oregon's powerful Webfoot eleven, led by Captain Kitzmiller, took advantage of the breaks and defeated the Vandals 20-to-6 in an exciting battle at Eugene. The Webfooters punched the first score across after a long drive, connected with a beautiful pass for the second, and grabbed a fumbled punt on the 6-yard stripe for the final tally. Art Norby, Vandal end, intercepted one of Kitzmiller's heaves and raced 55 yards for the Vandals' lone score during the game.

BULLDOGS

The Vandals uncorked a powerful running offense and air-tight defense to smash out a 26-to-0 victory over Gonzaga in a night game at Spokane. The Bulldogs, led by Sherar and Luce, made one determined drive in the third quarter, but were stopped before they could score. The famed aerial attack of the Irish was stopped cold while the Vandals, with Wilson and Davis on the tossing end, connected four times with heaves that were good for touchdowns.

COUGARS

daho and Washington State clashed before nearly 10,000 excited homecoming fans, but the championship Cougar eleven held the edge and went home with a 33-to-7 victory. The Vandal line held for downs three times inside the 5-yard mark, but some beautiful passes by Ellingsen and several long gallops by Schwartz and Dahlen spelled defeat for the men of Calland. Sather, standing at midfield, flipped a long pass to Hanford in the final period for Idaho's only counter.

GRIZZLIES

The Montana Grizzlies battled like inspired men in the opening half at Missoula, and the Vandals dropped the game 12 to 6, as they were unable to overcome the early lead. A long drive featuring Carpenter and Ekegren produced the first touchdown, while a blocked punt with Ekegren packing the oval over on the fourth down gave the winners their margin. The second half was all Idaho's, although the scoring ended after Davis shot a fast toss to Norby for the Vandal's lone counter.

BRUINS

The team journeyed to Los Angeles, and after battling for sixty minutes with a U.C.L.A. eleven that was clicking for the first time, landed on the short end of a 20-to-6 score. Both teams staged great drives in the opening minutes and play was even until Forster scored in the second quarter. Idaho, with Wilkie packing the ball, came right back and smashed the Bruin wall to bits to score in six plays. A blocked punt and the fast passing of Decker gave the Westwood school its victory in the final half.

ST. LOUIS ALUMNI

The fighting Vandals celebrated Christmas Day in Honolulu with a hard-earned 20-to-14 win over the Alumni eleven of St. Louis College. The Idahoans outplayed the Islanders during the opening minutes, but could not tally until Davis intercepted a heave and raced 65 yards for a score in the second period. The Idahoans crossed the Alumni goal again the same stanza and once in the final quarter. Swan was the key man of the St. Louis offense and twice crossed the Vandals' goal after long drives.

RAINBOWS

A powerful University of Hawaii eleven smothered Idaho 37 to 0 under a terrific barrage of long passes and spectacular open-field running on New Year's Day. The Vandals pushed the oval to the Islanders' 3-yard mark in the opening period, but were held in check the rest of the battle. Indie, Wise and Nagata all had perfect days, working behind a heavy, well-coached line. Wise furnished the greatest thrill of the day when he raced 78 yards through the entire Vandal eleven to score.

Coach Glenn Jacoby

daho's freshman eleven opened the season by running wild against Lewiston Normal and rolling up a 62-to-0 count. The yearlings, led by W. Smith and Bearson, scored almost at will and proved hard as rock on defense.

The Babes used their second string most of the time to trim Spokane University's varsity 21 to 0. Washington State's freshmen opened up a classy aerial attack in the final quarter to conquer the young Vandals 13 to 7, while the following week Ellensburg Normal's powerful backs ripped through the yearling wall to win 18 to 0.

The Baby Vandals and Gonzaga's Toy Bulldogs battled to a scoreless tie in a game featured by a heavy snow and freezing weather.

Freshman Squad

daho entered the Coast Conference basketball race with but two lettermen on the floor, while the rest of the camps were boasting the strongest quintets they had turned out for several years.

The Vandals learned lots of fundamentals from "Rich" Fox and the early season games put them in trim for the hard battles with the coast schools. Every team in the league had to show plenty of fight to win from the Foxmen and the sophomore stars should have things their own way next winter.

Hale and Drummond played outstanding ball all season, while Wicks and Barrett developed into a pair of crack forwards. Parks, Hall, Aukett, Lacy, Christians, Nelson and Smith formed the rest of the varsity, and these men will all be back next year to combine with the powerful frosh cagers and give Idaho a fast, experienced five that should finish well up on the Conference ladder.

daho's varsity cagers downed a jinx and for the first time in years grabbed the opening game of the season on the Whitman floor by outscoring the Missionaries 35 to 32 in a loosely played game. The next night the Walla Walla men came right back to take a thrilling 34-to-30 contest from the Vandals, who were extremely weak on "follow in" plays and tosses from the foul line.

The Foxmen battled their way through four more preconference games during the holidays, meeting the invasion of the Sparkler quintet from Spokane with a shower of baskets that netted an easy 46-to-26 win.

Ellensburg Normal grabbed early leads in both games of a double bill, and although the Vandals staged brilliant rallys each time, the Teachers captured the battles by counts of 23 to 19 and 34 to 30.

Hale

Gonzaga's powerful cagers flashed a winning type of ball to capture a close, hard-fought 39-to-34 victory from the inexperienced Vandals.

Oregon State's veteran five landed in Moscow and completely outclassed the Idahoans to take the conference openers by counts of 52 to 30 and 41 to 34. The Orangemen, led by Lewis and Fagans, ran up a safe lead in the opening fray and let the reserves finish the game, but they found the road rough the second time and were extended to the limit to keep the brilliant shooting of Barrett and Wicks from carrying the Idahoans into the lead.

Idaho took on Washington's championship team at Seattle, and due to the unfamiliar court and lighting effects passed short and missed set-up shots to drop the games by scores of 41 to 22 and 34 to 23.

Auckett

Barrett

Lacy

Hall

Idaho caught Washington State's powerful quintet unawares and played them off their feet to cop the series opener 30 to 25. Hale played flawless ball on the defense while Wicks and Drummond each garnered nine points to take high scoring honors.

The Cougars came back with a vengeance the following week-end and swamped the Vandals twice by counts of 37 to 13 and 31 to 21. McLarney and Gordon led the Stater attack, while Drummond and Wicks were again the Idaho stars.

A greatly under-rated Oregon cage team played airtight defensive ball and chalked up enough points to take a pair of battles from the fighting Idahoans by counts of 33 to 30 and 42 to 34. Both clubs played sparkling ball and the contests were close throughout.

Smith

Nelson

Oregon State turned back the invasion of the Vandals by 37-to-24 and 47-to-40 scores, in spite of the fact that Wicks took high point honors for the series. The opening battle was ragged, but the second fray was nip and tuck.

Oregon started fast both nights at Eugene and their early leads carried them through to 33-to-27 and 42-to-21 victories. Idaho played strong defensive ball.

Washington State spurted the last two minutes of the final Cougar-Vandal battle and with McLarney leading the way won 35 to 26.

Washington's mighty five showed flashes of power to grab both of the season's final games by counts of 43 to 34 and 41 to 36. Fuller, Swanson and Swygard stood out for the invaders, while Barrett and Lacy looked best for Idaho.

Coach Glenn Jacoby

Coach Glenn Jacoby was greeted by one of the largest freshman basketball turnouts in the history of the school. He developed these men into a powerful scoring machine that traveled through an excellent season.

The Yearlings were defeated three times by the Cougar Babes by counts of 44 to 28, 45 to 17, and 37 to 33, but came back strong in the final tilt to smother the Pullman five under a 44-to-30 score.

The young Vandals trounced Lewiston Normal twice, beat Spokane University, and took the measure of every large high school near Moscow, but were nosed out in the last minute of play by a fast Gonzaga freshman team.

Those who played on the squad were: Herman, Grenier, McConnell, Williams, Carlson, Geraghty, Squance, Tanner, Fickes, and Giffin.

Freshman Squad

Coach Rich Fox

Rich Fox, Vandal baseball coach, made his initial call for diamond candidates early in March and was greeted by the return of but seven veterans, including Lindsay and Smith, experienced chuckers. The outfield was the strong section of the nine, with Duffy, Johnson and Greeling back for another campaign and bolstered by Winzeler and Shurtliff, who developed into heavy sluggers before the conference battles were over. Kyselka and Greeling were moved to the infield and settled down to strengthen the inner defense. McCall, Jacobs, Lichti and Spaugy rounded into a fair twirling staff that needed only experience to check the powerful conference nines. Halliday and the heavy hitting McMillin took over the remainder of the infield, while Price often steadied the young pitchers through his effective work with the big mitt.

The first home game

daho opened the 1930 diamond season with a three-game invasion of Whitman at Walla Walla and dropped the first two tilts by counts of 4 to 3 and 7 to 6. The Missionary ball stars clouted the offerings of Vandal hurlers to annex the opening battles, but Lindsay and McCall bore down the third game and shut the locals out to grab an easy 8 to 0 win.

The Foxmen took the field for the opening home battle against Whitman the following week, and behind the effective twirling of Smith and McCall pounded out a 13 to 3 decision to even the series. The slugging of Price, Idaho receiver, was the feature of the game. The Idahoans repeated their air-tight ball the next day to grab the series final by knocking Clow, crack Missionary hurler, out of the box and running up an 8-to-1 count.

Greeling

Washington State's heavy slugging diamond artists invaded the Vandal camp for the opening conference battle and pounded their way to a 10-to-1 victory. Idaho sent several chuckers to the mound, but they could not check the Cougar scoring.

The squad left Moscow on April 28 for the most disastrous coast jaunt experienced by a Vandal ball club in years. The University of Washington eked out a close 5-to-4 win in the fifteenth inning of a spectacular pitching duel between Lindsay and Nevins, in which the Vandal moundsman was most effective. The Husky clouters fell on three Idaho chuckers the next day to pound out a one-sided 20-to-2 victory and make a clean sweep of the series. The perfect functioning of the Washington infield was the big factor in the coast team's defensive work.

Price stands pat

Oregon State was the next foe on the Vandal schedule and they proceeded to hand the invaders a pair of beatings by counts of 13 to 3 and 4 to 2. Ability to convert hits into runs during the first battle and the fast ball of Mack, Orange hurler, in the final game, were the things that spelled defeat for the Moscow nine.

Oregon tossed a crack group of ball players on the diamond against the Vandals and copped both contests by the close counts of 6 to 4 and 6 to 5. The Webfeet staged a ninth inning rally that netted three runs and sewed up the opening game, while they were extended to the limit to receive the decision the second day. Lindsay, Smith and Spaugy held down the mound and turned in the best hurling exhibitions of the coast tour.

Halliday

Spaugy

Idaho landed on the home grounds again only to hand the Cougars a pair of easy wins. The Staters pounded the ball hard to grab the first contest 14 to 7 and worked effectively behind Worden to take a 13-to-5 decision at Pullman. Damon, Cougar outfielder, garnered five hits for his club, while McMillin led the Vandals at the plate with a triple and a single to garner two of his team's five hits.

Oregon's league-leading Ducks invaded Moscow and swamped the Idahoans in two listless games by counts of 15 to 5 and 14 to 0. McCall was hit freely in the first battle, but Spaugy, who relieved him in the fourth frame, held the Oregon clouters in check. Scales, Duck twirler, held Idaho to two safe blows the second game, while every invader fattened his batting average.

This was a strike

Oregon State's fast nine made it four straight over the Vandals when they captured both ends of a double bill by scores of 13 to 1 and 6 to 5. The Orangemen garnered seventeen hits during the Monday battle, with Pennel and Ballard leading the way. Johnson and McMillin were the only Idahoans to connect safely off the delivery of Brown, State hurler. The Vandals started off with a bang in the second game and had three runs on the score board in the opening frame, but the coast men crept up to tie the count and Grayson broke the knot with a homer in the eighth inning.

Idaho, with Jacobs in the box, turned in the best game of ball they showed all spring, but dropped the season's final game to Washington State by a 2-to-1 count.

Coach Otto Anderson

daho opened the 1930 track season under the leadership of Otto Anderson, new coach, who developed the sophomore squad until they turned in a fair record at the end of the spring. The men were held indoors until just a few days before the first meet, due to the wet track, but moved along fast and were at mid-season form against Whitman.

Lack of numbers and inexperience proved the Vandal's downfall against Washington State and Oregon State and in the Coast Conference meet, but they came to life to swamp Montana and make a good showing in the Seattle relays.

Lemp, Alvord, Jensen, Hanford, Jossis, and Jones were the outstanding sophomores, and they were backed by such veterans as Kershisnik, Stowell, Mason, Heath, Hjort and Belsher, who placed for points in nearly every meet. Several freshman stars were developed who will be almost certain point-getters in the future.

daho's strong track squad journeyed to Walla Walla and captured eleven first places to defeat Whitman 87 to 44. Hanford, Vandal sprinter, garnered 14½ points to take head honors, while Lemp traveled over the high hurdles in 15.7 to smash the Whitman record. Phillips and Robbins each came through with seven points to keep the Missionaries in the running.

Washington State's well-balanced track team took eleven firsts and plenty of seconds and thirds to wallop Idaho 91 to 29 on MacLean Field. Idaho led in four events when Lemp ran the hurdles in 15.8, to tie the University record, Alvord grabbed the low hurdles, Burgher the discus and Heath captured the mile run.

Idaho takes first from Montana

Oregon State threw a mighty array of track stars on the Corvallis field and took the dual meet with Idaho by the overwhelming count of 102 to 29. A cold wind and drizzling rain hampered the men and the times were slow for every event.

Lemp and Heath captured the high hurdles and mile run respectively to garner Idaho's only firsts, while S. Johnson of Oregon State took high point honors when he broke the tape in the century and 220.

The Vandals took twelve first places and conquered the highly touted Montana squad by an 84-to-47 score in a coast conference dual meet. Every cinder event went to Idaho, while Kershisnik and Jensen took the shot and discus respectively.

FRESHMAN TRACK

The yearlings journeyed to Pullman for the opening meet and were defeated by the Cougar Kittens 81½ to 49½ in an afternoon featured by several record-smashing performances. McCoy soared skyward to establish a new university mark, grabbed first in the high hurdles and seconds in the low sticks and javelin to take high point honors.

The young Vandals battled through another hard meet with the Cougar frosh two weeks later, and when the dust cleared, the count stood nearly the same as before, with McCoy, Thomas, Alden and Harris taking firsts in their events.

VARSITY WRESTLING

Idaho's varsity wrestling squad reported early in the year to Coach and Captain Dan Lopez, who developed a strong group of grapplers during the winter.

The Vandals took on Washington State's crack squad at Pullman and dropped six out of seven matches when the powerful Cougars grabbed five falls, one decision and a forfeit. Idaho's lone win was scored by Lopez, who tossed Bishop.

The Washington Staters again won a match from Idaho when they invaded Moscow and walked off with seven out of eight starts. Lopez again pinned Bishop's shoulders to the mat to take his team's only points.

The men who wrestled for Idaho were Lopez, Stephens, Flynn, Laskey, Isenberg and Pechanec.

VARSITY BOXING

Boxing has been on the upgrade for several years at Idaho, and this season a team was formed and informal bouts held, with Lloyd Sullivan acting as coach and captain.

The sluggers engaged in an amateur card staged by the Moscow Athletic Club in April, in which fighters from various towns and Washington State College competed. Robert Blair dropped a close decision in his match, but Melvin Sackett stepped right into the ring the next bout and took a decision from Farmer Ellis of Moscow.

Sullivan and Herbert Owens were awarded draws in their matches, in which the former battled Denning, Cougar heavyweight champion, in the main event.

VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

Cross country is the means of uncovering hidden material and also building up the University track teams. The varsity and frosh runners were under the direction of Charles Heath, varsity track captain. Due to the weather conditions, only one practice meet was held with Washington State College.

Men who showed up well were Heath, Hall, Roberts, Galloway, and Swayne of the varsity squad, and Livingston, Siple and Fogle of the frosh squad.

Charles Heath and Leness Hall represented the University of Idaho in an A.A.U. annual cross-country run in Salt Lake City on Thanksgiving Day. Idaho took second place by placing first and third respectively. The University of Utah with five men won forty-three points, while Idaho with two men won thirty points.

VARSITY TENNIS

Idaho's varsity tennis squad reported early in the spring for practice, but continuous rain kept them off the courts until late April, just before the scheduled meet with Washington State's court men.

The season included two matches with the Cougar squad and one with Whitman's powerful group of racket wielders, all of which the Vandals dropped by overwhelming counts. Howard Ballif was the only Idaho winner in the Washington State meets, while the Missionary team made a clean sweep of both the singles and doubles matches.

The men who played on the Vandal squad were: Ballif, Karney, Campbell, Martin, and Jockheck.

VARSITY

The Foil and Mask Club, under the direction of Dr. E. E. Hubert, sponsored a fencing tournament on January 17, and when the bouts were over Douglas Cruickshank, Paul Aust, John Menard and Carl von Ende were chosen as the Idaho team.

The squad opened the season when Washington State's experienced men invaded Moscow and took five out of nine matches to grab the meet 70 to 66. John Menard was the outstanding Vandal performer, as he copped two of his three matches.

The Vandal swordsmen traveled to Pullman for the second series of bouts on February 28, and when the final results were tallied they stood on top with a 9-to-7 score. Menard was again high man for Idaho with three wins and only one loss.

Varsity swimming was added to the list of minor sports for the first time this year, and when the team was called for the opening tryout four veteran winners of former intramural meets were on hand in addition to a number of other paddlers.

The men around whom the team was built were Hale, Smith, Grimm and Ostrander, all of whom can travel through the water at a rapid pace. Later, the winners of the big intramural swim were included on the varsity squad, the most outstanding being Lawson and Bjorklund.

Several meets had been scheduled for late April with the Cougar mermen and the squad planned to enter a team in the northwest minor sports carnival at Eugene, Oregon, in May.

INTRAMURAL

Manager Charles Heath

Each year intramural sports are taking a more important place among campus activities. The main purpose of the intramural program is to give every man in school a chance to participate in some branch of athletics. In doing this, it not only affords exercise and entertainment to players who would otherwise have no chance, since all cannot enter varsity competition; but also a great deal is done toward the goal of teaching good sportsmanship, and thus a finer school spirit is developed on the campus. The various group houses are also brought together more intimately in the competition. The outstanding success of this year's intramural sports was due in large part to Coach Calland, who had charge, and to Charles Heath and Howard Berg, student managers. They have worked hard all year in putting on the tourneys.

Intramural Managers

VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball was the first event on the intramural program. In the final series, Lambda Chi Alpha, champions of "A" league, defeated Phi Delta Theta, "B" league winners, by scores of 3 to 15, 15 to 7, and 15 to 9. The tournament was held in the fall on the new courts constructed back of the Administration Building. All entrants were divided into two leagues. A single elimination tourney was held to determine the winner in each division, the victors meeting later for the school title. Competition was keen and considerable interest was shown in this sport. In the semi-finals the Lambda Chi team nosed out the Betas, while the Phi Delts defeated the Sigma Nus. Gustafson, Alden, and Jockheck were outstanding in the tourney.

GOLF

For the first time an intramural golf tournament was held on the local links. Phi Gamma Delta won a very close race from the Phi Delts. There were sixty-nine men representing every house on the campus. The four low scores of men from each house were counted in determining the team standings. The Fiji team, consisting of Menard, Krause, Carter and Pohlman, had a total of 193 for the nine holes. The Phi Delts had 197, and the Betas 214. Some very good material was uncovered by the tourney and a great deal was done toward arousing interest in the game. The outstanding men in the tournament were Menard, who took individual low honors with 42, and Glass, Beta Chi, who covered the course in 44 strokes.

TRACK

In the intramural track meet held in October, Phi Gamma Delta smothered all opposition, taking ten of the fifteen first places besides their share of seconds and thirds. The Fijis ran up 62 points, followed by Sigma Alpha Epsilon with 24½, and Beta Theta Pi with 20½. Other entrants trailed behind the leading teams. The meet was postponed from last spring and was the final event of last year's competition. The most outstanding performances were turned in by freshman athletes. Willis Smith, Phi Gam, was high point man with three first places and a berth on the winning relay team. Squance, A.T.O., turned in good performances in his events to take second honors.

BASKETBALL

Basketball proved to be the chief attraction for this year's intramural fans. The season produced many good teams and the lead was exchanged several times in both leagues. In "A" league Sigma Nu finally won out, going through without defeat. Beta Chi wore the crown for the "B" league hoopmen. In the final game, Sigma Nu defeated Beta Chi by a score of 31 to 21. Play was fast and thrilling throughout, the game being closer than the score indicates. Among those who proved their ability during the season were Duffy, Sigma Nu; Thurman, Beta Chi; D. Smith, Phi Gamma Delta; Swanson, Kappa Sigma; and Callahan, Lindley, who were picked as the all-intramural team by the referees at the end of the season.

INDOOR BASEBALL

Indoor baseball was won by Phi Gamma Delta. Competition was divided into two leagues with single elimination determining the winner of each. In the title game the Fijis, champions of "A" league, defeated Beta Theta Pi, "B" league leaders, by a score of 14 to 10. The game was one of the best all year. In the last inning the Betas rallied and drove in six runs before they were finally checked and the game ended. The entire season was featured by the heavy hitting of the winning aggregation. This, added to their pitching and fielding, gave them the impetus to easily overcome most of their opponents. Others who showed up well were McCoy, Doyle, Geraghty, and Yanik.

HORSESHOES

Barnyard golf experts turned out in force for the horseshoe tourney. A great deal of interest was shown and the sport enjoyed its best year since its introduction to the intramural sports. Some very good pitching was done and competition was keen. Elimination was held in both the doubles and singles events. Lambda Chi Alpha won in both divisions. Their team, Jockheck and Angney, defeated the Alpha Tau Omega representatives 21 to 7, and 21 to 3. The high spot of the entire tourney was the semi-finals for the singles championship. Jockheck finally triumphed over Albee, Lindley, to take individual honors.

TENNIS

Intramural tennis was won by Sigma Nu racket wielders. On the final round of play their squad took the Lambda Chi Alpha men into camp with scores of 6 to 2 and

6 to 3. The teams were grouped into leagues for the play-off, the winners playing in the final series. Intramural tennis was played as a preliminary to varsity.

CROSS COUNTRY

The annual intramural cross-country run was one of the best that has ever been held at Idaho. Lenness Hall, representing the L.D.S. Institute, won it for the second successive year. He broke his former record, running the distance in 12.36 minutes. He was followed by Roberts, Tau Mem Aleph, and Bowler, Phi Gam. Kappa Sigma won the meet by taking five of the twenty places.

SWIMMING

Kappa Sigma won the swimming meet by scoring 23 points to 21 by the Phi Gams. The dash events were high spots of the show, with Lawson, flashy Fiji, nosing out the Blair brothers to take high point honors. Various other forms of water competition were also held.

Dean of Women

Permeal J. French

For the young women of the University of Idaho the year 1930-1931 has been especially noteworthy. It would seem that many projects thought about, planned, and worked for in previous years were brought to a successful issue during this year.

The Associated Women Students have had an active and profitable year. Closer organization has been effected, so that women fully appreciate the value of adopting and maintaining a real interest in all affairs pertaining to them.

The several organizations for women which, of course, include honoraries, have brought their members together in an ever-growing spirit of democracy that is most assuring.

Altogether it would seem that the women now ready to leave the University have in their accomplishments much to be proud of and those remaining have a fine example of what may still be accomplished.

The Associated Women Students of the University of Idaho is an organization to further the interests of the women students. Its purpose is to offer an opportunity for fellowship, develop a feeling of mutual responsibility, be a social medium and foster a spirit of unity and loyalty to the University of Idaho. The A.W.S. maintains a student loan fund for women who need help to carry on their university work. This fund is raised from dues paid by all A.W.S. members. The organization sponsors informal social meetings of Idaho women and aids in the promotion of activities. Miss Permeal J. French, dean of women, is the faculty advisor for the organization.

Membership in the organization is based upon the point system. It is necessary that a woman earn eight hundred points which entitles her to the "I" sweater. The highest award granted is the "I" blanket, which requires sixteen hundred points.

The "I" Club has also helped in the furnishing of the club room in the women's gymnasium and has sponsored a movement to develop interest in athletics among high school girls.

The Big Sister movement was started at the University of Idaho in 1925, to make the first year at school easier for the new women. The chairman of the movement is appointed by Dean French and the president of the A.W.S. Ten captains are then chosen, one from each house on the campus. Each of the ten captains in turn chooses ten lieutenants, who are the Big Sisters.

Friendly correspondence is carried on before the girl comes to school. After she arrives, her Big Sister tries to make her stay at Idaho as pleasant as possible. This makes the new girl feel that she actually knows some one on the campus before she comes.

Tennis

Tennis is one of the most popular sports among the women at Idaho. Each year, the fall and spring tournaments bring a lot of interest both from the contestants and the onlookers. Any woman may enter the tournament and ten points are given in W.A.A. for entrance. Those who are high on the scale of wins are awarded the corresponding number of points. The system used is the single elimination. Contestants are matched for each round and the winners play.

Shirley Cunningham and Linn Cowgill made the finals this year. Both are very good with the racket. The improvement shown in the playing of all the girls who enter the tournaments is very marked. Tennis is an institution at Idaho, and, judging from the number of women who turn out, will continue in its popularity.

Volleyball

Burch, Wakefield, McPhillamey, Vincent, McCain, Thornhill

The inter-class volleyball tournament was won by the Freshmen this year. The plan for longer practice which was tried out this year seemed to bring good results. The team work of the winning group was very good.

The women on the winning freshman team were Helen Thornhill, Laurice Burch, Elizabeth Vincent, Lorna McCain, Dorothy McPhillamey, and Claudine Wakefield. The good serving, quick movement and ability to return the ball won first place for these first-year players. They displayed good ability and remarkable understanding of the game. Dorothy Janssen is volleyball manager.

Horseshoes

This year's horseshoe tournament occasioned more than the usual amount of interest. The inter-class games were done away with and the intramural games used instead. The rivalry between the teams was marked, but friendly. Forney Hall won the cup by defeating all other groups. Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, and

Kehrer, Rosenau

Delta Delta tied with Forney Hall for the finals. Marie Rosenau and Ruth Kehrer made up the winning team.

The contests this year were close and the turn-out good. Each team was enthusiastic and the girls tried hard for points. Idaho women are quite as proficient in "barnyard golf" as the men. Ruth Garver is manager for the sport. Points are awarded for entrance and winning teams receive more points in W.A.A.

Emmett, Green, Simpson, Norell, Neal, Armstrong

Basketball

he inter-class championship in basketball went to the freshmen this year. They won three games. The sophomores held second place with two wins. The season started December 10, and closed with a free-throw tournament on March 8. Dorothy Green was high scorer, with twenty-one baskets out of twenty-five throws.

The women who made up the freshman team were Doris Norell, captain; Louise Neal, Dorothy Green, Eloise Emmett, Margaret Simpson, and Doris Armstrong. A picked all-star team was chosen from all the girls who played. These were Doris Norell, Louise Mulliner, Eloise Emmett, Rhoda Swayne, Florence Rudger, and Mildred Richardson. Florence Rudger is manager for this sport.

Rifle

Scores made this year were higher than the scores for the two previous seasons. Only four members of this year's team had had any experience on rifle teams. Out of nineteen intercollegiate matches fired, the women won six, lost ten, and tied one. Matches were won from the University of Wichita, Michigan State College, University of Illinois, Northwestern, University of Nevada, and DePauw University.

Women on the team this year were June Davidson, Elsa Eisinger, Zoa Shaw, Dorothy Perkins, Verona Wolff, Marion Fry, Esther Moulton, Clara Gjelde, Ruth Kehrer, Frances Wheeler, Ora Spoor, Helen Peterson, Aretha Harvey, Elma Minear, Lillian Hejtmanek, Mary Simonton, and Catherine Reardon. Zoa Shaw is manager, and Lieutenant J. W. Sheehy is coach.

Swimming

he swimming meet opened March 30. Displays of diving, various strokes and forms were the order of the day. Intramural teams were organized among the various women's group houses for the purpose of arousing friendly rivalry. The inter-class tournament was well attended and a great deal of interest was shown on the part of all entrants. Each woman was allowed to enter three divisions, excluding those of her class.

A great deal of talent was shown. There are some in all the classes who are both excellent divers and swimmers. Many developed a perfection of stroke and graceful movement. Dorothy Dewey is manager for swimming.

Hiking

Hiking grows more popular each year among the athletic women at Idaho. It now holds an envied position. All who like to walk and want to gain points toward membership in W.A.A. find it pleasant to do it this way. A road map posted for the convenience of the girls tells the distance to interesting spots in the vicinity of Moscow. Not only the main highways but also unfrequented trails hold pleasure for them. There is a fascination about a quiet walk in the country which has been discovered by those who participate in hiking. Not only the good times which go with a crowd are possessed by the hikers, but also the joy of a stroll through scented woods or over grain-clad hills.

Baseball

Thornhill, Porterfield, Dewey, Holmes, Warren, Hogg, Harris

Baseball had an unusually good turn-out and is becoming one of the most popular sports for Idaho women. The sophomore team was victorious in the inter-class tournament. The team play of the sophomores was exceptional. Their individual work was good, too, and they worked hard against the other teams. Some of the games were close, which made for more interest on the part of players and spectators. The games which were played on the campus drew a great deal of interest and attention.

The 1930 championship sophomore team was made up of Dolores Holmes, captain; Maxine Thornhill, Lois Porterfield, Dorothy Dewey, Grace Warren, Joan Harris, and Bess Louise Hogg. Joan Harris is manager.

Kaar, Rudger, Richardson, Hutchinson, Nichols

Fencing

Fencing is a new sport on the Idaho campus this year. A class in technique was organized the first semester and many of the women were so interested that they continued with it the next semester. Not only because the sport is new, but because of its fascination, it seems to grip the participants and spectators as well. There is a thrill in the flash of foils that cannot be surpassed by any other sport.

In the short time that fencing has been offered, its popularity has grown amazingly. The women take pride in their perfection of technique and in their skill of combat. There have been some very fine exhibitions. The women who have gone out for fencing are Florence Rudger, Jessie Hutchinson, Mildred Richardson, Grace Nichols, and Virginia Kaar.

May Fete

The Twenty-first Annual May Fete was presided over by Ruth Newhouse on May 7, 1930. Georgetta Miller was the Queen's Maid of Honor and Lois Thempson acted as her page.

The whole essence of the springtime was brought home in dances by the women in physical education classes and climaxed by the winding of the May Pole. Miss Janette Wirt and Miss Verna McDonald were directors. The big thrill of the day was the procession of senior women and the pledging of new members to Mortar Board and Silver Lance.

Women's Scholarship

Delta Gamma

The privilege of possessing for one year the Mary McClintock Upham Cup, granted to the women's group house achieving the highest scholastic record, was bestowed last year upon Delta Gamma sorority. The average of the winning group was 4.878, surpassing slightly the record in grades attained by Kappa Alpha Theta of 4.871. Delta Gamma has always held a high scholastic standing, ranking third the previous year with an average of 4.712. Permanent possession of the cup goes to the group retaining it for three successive years. A similar cup, offered by Mrs. Elizabeth Kidder Lindley in 1922, was won in 1924 by Pi Beta Phi.

Alpha Kappa Psi Key

Joe Filseth

Culminating an enviable scholastic record, Joseph Filseth, St. Maries, was awarded the gold key given annually by Alpha Kappa Psi, national men's business honorary, to the junior who in his sophomore year receives the highest average in the School of Business. The scholastic average attained by Filseth was 5.830, which surpasses his average for his freshman year, 5.600, by only a small margin. As he is prominent in various other activities on the campus, the key was given to a particularly representative student. Filseth is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity; Delta Sigma Rho, forensic honorary; and was a candidate for the Rhodes scholarship this year.

Sigma Chi

Men's Scholarship

With a scholastic average of 4.435, Sigma Chi fraternity was the recipient last year for the second consecutive time of the Burton L. French Scholarship Cup. The award is granted annually to the men's group which has attained for a year the highest competitive average, and becomes the permanent possession of the group winning it for three successive years. Sigma Chi first won the present trophy two years ago with an average of 4.448. Second in grades last year was Beta Chi, averaging a scholastic record of 4.378. Phi Gamma Delta and Tau Kappa Epsilon have permanently retained similar cups in previous years.

Phi Chi Theta Key

Phi Chi Theta grants a gold key each year to the junior woman student in the School of Business excelling in scholarship, activities, and leadership. Last year's winner of the award was Mildred Carlson, who attained an average of 4.743. A high scholastic record also marked her freshman and sophomore years. In her first year she received an average of 5.125 and in her second year 4.656. Phi Chi Theta, donor of the key, is a national business fraternity organized for the purpose of promoting education among women students who are preparing to enter business. The recipent of the award offered by the group two years ago was Edna Swanson, who achieved an average of 5.310.

Mildred Carlson

Robert McRae

Sigma Tau Medal

Robert McRae, McCall, was last year's recipient of the Sigma Tau Scholarship Medal, which is awarded to the sophomore who, in his freshman year, receives the highest grades in the College of Engineering or in the School of Mines. McRae, enrolled in the latter school, attained an average for his first year of 5.766. Sigma Tau, donor of the award, is a national engineering honorary, and has done much to promote scholarship among the engineering students on the campus. Carl von Ende was the winner of the medal offered by the organization two years ago.

Alpha Zeta Award

he Alpha Zeta Award, which is extended to the student who attains the highest grades in the College of Agriculture during his freshman year, was granted to Leslie Lawton, who maintained an average of 5.594 during his first year. Lawton is from Wendell, where he achieved a high scholastic record in the local high school. The organization of Alpha Zeta, donor of the award, is an honorary fraternity whose purpose is to promote scholarship among students majoring in agriculture.

Xi Sigma Pi Tablet

Each year Xi Sigma Pi, national honorary fraternity, whose aim is to secure a standard of scholarship in forestry education, engraves on a bronze tablet in the Administration Building the names of the four forestry students with highest scholastic averages in the different classes. Outstanding in grades last year was George Jemison, junior, who attained a perfect average of 6.000. The names of other students placed on the tablet include Charles Wellner, freshman, 5.095; Stewart Buchanan, a sophomore, 5.139; and Arthur Buckingham, senior, 5.154.

Dramatic Activity

Blanchard

During his first year at Idaho as dramatic coach, Fred C. Blanchard has created a new interest on the campus in drama. His productions included five three-act plays given by the advanced students and two groups of one-act plays presented by the members of the elementary class.

Because of the large number of beginning students, it was necessary to use double casts for most of the one-act plays.

"The Show-Off," a three-act comedy, was given November 14 and 15. A group of four one-act plays was also presented in November. This group was made up of "The Kelly Kid," "The Next Step On," "The Gate," and "Great Minds."

He Who Gets Slapped

Next Step On

Dramatic Activity

Early in the second semester "He Who Gets Slapped" was produced. A few weeks later Curtain, honorary dramatics organization sponsored "Tom Cobb, or Fortune's Toy." In April a second group of one-act plays was presented, including "No More Americans," "The Artist," "In a Window," and "A Diadem of Snow." "A Bill of Divorcement" was produced in Spokane the latter part of April under the auspices of the Spokane Little Theater.

A permanent production staff and a business staff were organized this year. Advanced students took an active part in coaching the one-act plays. An intimate theater was constructed in the U-Hut to be used for rehearsals.

The Gate

The Show Off

Kelly Kid

"The Show Off," a satirical comedy by George Kelly, is characterized by many pathetic and whimsical every-day incidents.

Aubrey Piper, a good-hearted, conceited braggart, makes life miserable for everyone, including his wife, Amy. Troubles fail to daunt Aubrey's spirit or lessen his self-confidence. In the end he unwittingly manages to become a hero.

Merle Frizzelle, as Aubrey, headed the cast. Amy, his wife, was played by Lois Kennedy. Amy's home-loving parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, were portrayed by Ruth Garver and William Ennis. Nancy Kelly was cast as Amy's sister Clara, while Chester Brinck took the part of Clara's husband, Frank Hyland. Joe, Amy's young brother, was played by Howard Altnow. Character parts of Mr. Gill and Mr. Roberts were interpreted by Stewart Mingo and Charles Herndon.

The Show Off

He Who Gets Slapped

He Who Gets Slapped

A provincial French circus forms the setting for Andreyev's famous tragedy, "He Who Gets Slapped." The plot begins when a middle-aged man, with qualities of an influential and prosperous person, comes unexpectedly to the circus and wants to be a clown. The sensitive He falls in love with Consuelo, the bareback rider, an unsophisticated child. Consuelo's stepfather, in order that he may live in luxury, arranges to have her marry a wealthy, degraded baron. He, after begging in vain for someone to save her, realizes that he must kill her in order to set her free.

William Ennis played the part of He, while Consuelo's part was taken by Bertha Moore. Katheryn Hart was cast as Zinida. Other members of the large cast included Lionel Campbell, Floyd Silva, Leland Cannon, Chester Brinck, Merle Frizzelle, and Charles Herndon.

He Who Gets Slapped

Tom Cobb

Tom Cobb

Curtain, honorary dramatics organization, presented W. S. Gilbert's stirring melodrama of 1875, "Tom Cobb, or Fortune's Toy," March 6 and 7. Elegant Victorian settings, poke bonnets, bustles, false whiskers, and a happy ending were included in the farce. The audience contributed to the atmosphere by clapping and cheering for the hero and by hissing and throwing peanut shells at the villain.

The dashing hero, Tom Cobb, was played by Leland Cannon. Caroline Effingham, the shy, sweet heroine, was portrayed by Grace Parsons. Merle Frizzelle and Harry Robb took the parts of the villains, Mr. Whipple and Colonel O'Flipp. Catherine Brandt was cast as Mathilda O'Flipp, the colonel's daughter. The parts of Mr. and Mrs. Effingham were taken by John Peacock and Ruth Garver, while their son, Bulstrode, was played by Robert Grant.

Tom Cobb

Bill of Divorcement

"A Bill of Divorcement," by Clemence Dane, was presented by advanced play production students at the Masonic Temple in Spokane on April 7.

The plot centers around the father who, after having been in a sanitarium for the insane for fifteen years, suddenly returns home. Because she believes she is also tainted, Sydney, the daughter, refuses to marry the man she loves.

The part of the father, Hilary Fairfield, was played by Fred C. Blanchard. Bertha Moore portrayed his wife Margaret, while Sydney was played by Eunice Phillips. Pauline Brown Matthews took the part of Bassette. Hester Fairfield was played by Grace Eldridge. Chester Brinck was cast as Gray Meredith, Margaret's lover. Howard Altnow took the part of Kit Pumphrey, Lionel Campbell the part of Dr. Alliot, and Rapheal Gibbs the part of the Rev. Christopher Pumphrey.

Advanced Play Production

One-Act Plays

"The Kelly Kid," by Kathleen Norris and Orn Totheroh, is an Irish comedy. Cast: A. L. Bell, M. Chenoweth, M. Bodle, E. Taylor, S. Cunningham, F. Larson, B. Moore, J. Thomas, D. Williams, R. Hansen, A. Langdon, and R. Hunter.

"The Next Step On," by Butterfield, is a fantasy. Cast: L. Carl, R. Gibbs, J. Dunn, K. Hart, T. Melgard, K. Armstrong, H. Woodworth, V. Jordan, and G. Parsons.

"The Gate," by Mathew O'Connor, centers around an office boy in a newspaper office. The cast included E. Perrine, J. Milner, M. Tanner, M. Brosnan, J. Blair, W. Morgan, E. Jacobs, L. Neal, C. Taylor, D. Williams, L. Riutcel, and M. Kiebert.

William Alden Kimball's "Great Minds" is a comedy of a small town. Parts were taken by F. DuSault, P. Newhouse, E. Phillips, M. Murphy, F. Silva, F. Wernette, J. Orr, M. O'Donnell, J. Mitchell, C. Brandt, and G. Eldridge.

Elementary Play Production

In a Window

One-Act Plays

The cast of "No More Americans," by Babette Hughes, was made up of J. Orr, M. Brosnan, C. Taylor, W. Morgan, H. Hoover, J. Milner, W. McCoy, A. Langdon, T. Melgard, V. Jordan, J. Mitchell, D. Williams, and R. Hunter.

The cast of H. L. Mencken's "The Artist," was M. O'Donnell, J. Dunn, R. Hunter, K. Armstrong, R. Hansen, M. Bodle, L. Neal, M. Chenoweth, E. Taylor, D. Armstrong, B. Knowlton, S. Throckmorton, B. Hurst, B. Brown, F. DuSault, F. Wernette, D. Hungerford, L. Whitlock, and D. Williams.

"In a Window," by Conrad Seiler was portrayed by L. Carl, J. Hanson, P. Newhouse, M. Tanner, R. Hansen, and K. Armstrong.

"A Diadem of Snow," based on the life in exile of Czar Nicholas II of Russia, was presented by S. Mingo, C. Herndon, S. Cunningham, E. Jacobs, J. Thomas, W. Janssen, F. Silva, A. L. Bell, and L. Thompson.

Great Minds

Walden

The Freshman stunt, "A Dream," written by Kathryn Collins, Harold Snow, Howard Altnow, and John Thomas, depicted the troubled sleep of an innocent country lad about to leave home to attend the University of Idaho. Morris O'Donnell composed the freshman song, "Go Vandals, Go."

The seniors captured second place with their song and stunt. The skit was based on the activities of the food which found its way into the stomach of "Joe College." The song, "A Toast to Idaho," was written by Ruth Newhouse.

The junior stunt centered around the characters included in the popular books, "The Green Hat," "He Who Gets Slapped," "The Book of Knowledge," and "The Music Master." Their song was entitled, "Come Join the Gold and Silver Chorus." Harry Walden was general chairman of the song and stunt fest.

Military Ball

The Military Ball, which is sponsored annually by the military department of the University, was the first prominent social event of the year. It was given at the Elks' Temple, Friday evening, February 20.

The climax of the dance was reached when the new members were pledged to Scabbard and Blade, honorary military organization.

The guests of honor were President and Mrs. Mervin G. Neale, General and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, Colonel and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Captain and Mrs. B. M. Crenshaw, Captain and Mrs. H. L. Henkle, and Lieutenant and Mrs. John Sheehy.

Ray Kelley as general chairman headed the dance committee. The finances were handled by Jack McQuade. The programs were chosen by Bernard Lemp. Charles Herndon served as head of the decorating committee.

The decorations were composed of large American flags draped around the walls, and a war scene depicting soldiers in the trenches arranged on the platform at the end of the hall. The programs were made of black leather pierced by a small gold saber. The entertainment consisted of a skit given by John Thomas and Howard Altnow.

Invitations to the ball were only given to the officers of the R.O.T.C. A number of officers from the military department at Washington State College were asked to attend the ball.

Senior Ball

Oscar Brown was chosen to fill the vacancy left by Vining Thompson, as general chairman of the Senior Ball, when Thompson left the University at the end of the first semester. The dance was held Friday evening, March 6, at the Elks' Temple.

The decoration committee was composed of Betty Wilson and Joseph McCown. Clyde Raidy and Charles Herndon took charge of the finances and the distribution of tickets. The music and hall committee was headed by Catherine York, while Mary Murphy handled the publicity. The programs were selected by Damon Flack and Ruth Garver. Pauline Paterká and Frank Warner arranged the entertainment.

The decorative scheme centered around the large duplication of the program which stood at the far end of the hall. The figure "31" was cut out of a silver background and illuminated by amber lights. Gray suede leather with gold paper was used for the programs.

The hall was lighted entirely by candles. Large brass bowls filled with green, pink and lavender phlox stood in the corners and at the entrances of the room. "Rosie" Layne's orchestra, under the direction of John Thomas, furnished the entertainment during the intermission.

The patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. Mervin G. Neale, Dean Permeal J. French, Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Dean and Mrs. John A. Kostalek, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Calland.

«I» Club Formal

This year the members of the "I" Club defied convention and decided to give an "I" Club Formal instead of the Athletic Ball which they formerly sponsored every year. They also showed their originality by being the only campus-wide organization to hold a formal dance at the Blue Bucket Inn. The dance was given Friday evening, March 27.

Red and white, the athletic colors of the University, were used as a basis for the decorative scheme. Crepe paper streamers of the two colors were hung from the lights. A large illuminated red "I" was placed over the fireplace. At either side of the orchestra an "I" and a "Club" blinked throughout the evening.

The programs were of white mother-of-pearl composition with red silk showing behind the cut-out "I." Instead of being tied with tassels, the cords had small "I's" at the ends.

Stanton Hale acted as general chairman. His committee consisted of Howard Berg, Bernard Lemp, Elmer Johnson, and Hugh Duffy. Invitations were not restricted to the "I" men, but the tickets were available to all upperclassmen.

The patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. Mervin G. Neale, Dean Permeal J. French, Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Calland, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Otto K. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hutchinson, Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Horton, and Mr. Theodore Turner.

Spinster Skip

Failure to receive an invitation to the Spinster Skip is one of the most chagrining blows which may fall upon a University of Idaho man. The Skip is given annually for the purpose of "giving the women a break" by affording them the opportunity to invite their own escorts.

It is a matinee dance sponsored by the members of Mortar Board. In the past it has always been held on George Washington's birthday, but as the 22nd of February came on Sunday this year, it was postponed until Saturday, the 28th.

One of the traditional customs which no woman attending the Skip may violate is that she must call for her date and walk on the outside of the walk while escorting him to the Blue Bucket. A tradition which the men insist upon, but which is not always followed, is that their dates take them to dinner and a show after the dance. Some men even require violets for their buttonholes.

An aged revenge exercised by those not invited is to lock their more fortunate brothers in clothes closets until dinner time. If the men cannot be captured, hiding their best suits is usually as effective. This explains the reason why so many men may be seen on the day of the Skip parading around the campus dressed in their best, from 6:00 A. M. until 2:00 in the afternoon.

Catherine York was general chairman. Committees for the skip consisted of: Programs, Elsie Warm and Mary Murphy; orchestra, Betty Wilson and Grace Parsons; publicity, Mildred Axtell and Vera Bryant.

The patronesses were Dean Permeal J. French, Miss Ada Burke, and Miss Maude Garnett.

Junior Prom

The Junior Prom, the most outstanding social event of Junior Week, was held Friday evening, March 17, at the Elks' Temple.

The decorations, programs, entertainment, and the long full-skirted formals worn by the women, contributed to the southern colonial scheme of the dance. Panels, woven into a lattice work of red and white crepe paper, covered the walls. At the end of the hall was a large painted tapestry. The programs were of rose-colored leather lined with silver and white polka-dotted paper.

William Ennis headed the Prom as general chairman. The decoration committee was made up of John Middleton, John Torgesen, Bernard Lemp, Joseph Cremens, and Robert Baily. Other committees were: Florence Rohrer and Flora Corkery, programs; Malcolm Renfrew and George Jullion, entertainment; Charlotte Ginn and Ruth Crowe, refreshments; Robert Nixon and Donald Equals, hall and music; and Linn Cowgill, invitations.

The list of patrons and patronesses included Governor and Mrs. C. Ben Ross, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. G. P. Mix, President and Mrs. Mervin G. Neale, Dean Permeal J. French, Dean and Mrs. E. J. Iddings, Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford, General and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanton, Dean and Mrs. W. E. Masterson, Dean and Mrs. J. A. Kostalek, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Day.

Junior Cabaret

And then came the cabaret, Saturday, April 18, and Junior Week was over. The lower as well as the upper floor of the Blue Bucket was used for dancing, with Morris O'Donnell's orchestra playing downstairs and the Blue Bucket Band upstairs.

No programs were used and the couples sat around tables in true cabaret style. Soft drinks were served during the entire evening. These distinctive features added greatly to the cabaret atmosphere, which makes this event one of the most outstanding of the year.

After 10:00 o'clock, two-thirds of the crowd spent their time blowing horns in each other's ears. A few frisky fellows amused themselves by stealing each other's paper hats. Some were not happy unless popping balloons, and entirely too many went around stuffing confetti down the other fellow's neck. At least 50 per cent facilitated dancing conditions by showing off the latest, fanciest and speediest dance steps. The rest spent exasperating minutes attempting to escape serpentine tangles.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton Howard, Dean and Mrs. T. S. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sheehy, and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Henkle.

Philip Corneil was general chairman of the Cabaret. Ardith Mellinger, Katherine Mikkelson, and Jay Kendrick secured the entertainment from Pullman. The rest of the committee, Melvin Stewart, Elizabeth Bell, Ambrose Adams, Parker Wickwire, and Paul Aust, were in charge of the table arrangements, refreshments, and music.

Blue Key Dance

A skit put on by the pledges furnished the entertainment at the Blue Key dance, Saturday, December 12, at the Alpha Tau Omega house.

Stuart Kimball was general chairman, while Dale Goss designed the programs and Donald Equals was in charge of the refreshments.

Action cartoons beneath the heads cut from snapshots of the members were drawn on the inner leaves of the programs.

Members of the faculty invited as patrons and patronesses were General and Mrs. E. R. Chrisman, Dean and Mrs. W. E. Masterson, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Horton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Buchanan.

Interfraternity Council Dance

The Interfraternity Council dance was held Saturday, February 21, at the Beta Theta Pi house. The committee in charge was made up of William Hawkins, chairman; Jay Kendrick, and Frank Smuin.

Skins with the crests of the various fraternities were hung around the walls for decorations. The programs were embossed with a design which incorporated the Greek letter names of the groups.

Each member of the Council was allowed the privilege of bringing one guest. President and Mrs. Mervin G. Neale, Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Calland, and Dean and Mrs. R. H. Farmer were patrons and patronesses.

Delta Tau Delta Installation

The first event of installing Beta Chi as Delta Mu of Delta Tau Delta was the Installation Ball, Friday, May 1, at the Elks' Temple.

The installation, which was conducted by the members of the Delta Tau Delta chapter at the University of Washington, began Saturday morning, May 2, and continued throughout the afternoon. The services were concluded by a banquet for the new initiates.

The members of the Idaho Chapter of Delta Tau Delta were presented to the faculty, townspeople, and students at a reception at the chapter house Sunday evening.

Narthex Table

To be invited to the Narthex table is considered the highest honor which may be given a junior woman. The banquet is given every year by the members of Mortar Board, national senior honorary for women, and it is from the group attending that the members of the organization for the following year are chosen.

Narthex Table was given on April 23 at the Hotel Moscow. Miss Ada Burke, of the English faculty and honorary member of Mortar Board, was toastmistress. Catherine York, president, responded for the members. Junior women were represented by Bess Louise Hogg.

Sophomore Frolic

Linen and light-colored flannel knickers and brilliant sweaters and skirts characterized the Sophomore Spring Frolic, May 3, at the Blue Bucket Inn.

Clive Johnson was general chairman. Those serving on the decoration committee were Helen Tellifero, Raymond Davidson, Frank Shissler, and Mary Simonton. The entertainment was arranged by Winfred Janssen and Catherine Brandt.

Carl Evans and Eugene Scott were in charge of the music, while the program committee consisted of Kathryn Collins and Louise Morley.

Freshman Glee

The "baby prom" or the Freshman Glee was held at the Blue Bucket Inn May 15. At the time The Gem went to press the freshmen had not made any definite plans regarding the entertainment or the decorations. However, it is believed that they might have something to do with spring, paddles and green caps. Richard Stanton was appointed general chairman, with Eleanor Merriam, Harriet Eaton and Harold Fisher as the members of his committee.

The Glee shares equal honors with the proms and balls of other classes, as the freshmen are stringent about limiting the attendance to class members.

Faculty

Another eventful and successful year for the music department has been brought to a close under the supervision of Professor Carleton S. Cummings, Director. Idaho music students are especially fortunate in being able to study under faculty instructors of such genuine talent and teaching ability. Professor Cummings, before coming to Idaho last year, taught music and sang widely in New York, Boston, and Chicago, where he is well known as a concert tenor of exceptional ability. One of Mr. Cummings' outstanding achievements here has been the organization and training of the Idaho Vandaleers, a mixed chorus of rare ability and popular appeal.

In addition to Mr. Cummings, the music faculty is composed of Professor Carl Claus, Director of the University Orchestra and violin instructor; Miss Maude Garnett, public school music; Miss Isabel Clark and Professor Walter Mueller, instructors in piano; Mr. Raymond C. Miller, instructor of wind instruments; Miss Miriam Little, instructor in cello; Miss Agnes Marie Bothne, instructor in voice; and Miss Dorothy Fredrickson, assistant in the music department.

The Vandaleers

Vandaleers

Something entirely new in the way of musical entertainment was presented to Idaho music lovers this year with the appearance of the Vandaleers, a chorus of seventeen mixed voices. The group first appeared before the public in formal concert late in November in the University Auditorium. On December 2, they left for a concert tour through the southern part of the state. Seldom has a musical organization at Idaho met with such instantaneous and widespread approval as did the Vandaleers. Staged with colorful and appropriate costumes, their varied program was everywhere enthusiastically received.

Professor Carleton Cummings, director, and William Shamberger, president of the group, are largely responsible for the splendid success of the chorus. Agnes Ramstedt is secretary and John Jenny business manager. Members are: Louise Morley, Lois Thompson, Hazel Hayner, Elizabeth Gilmore, Virginia Steward, Pauline Paterka, Helen Parrott, Agnes Ramstedt, Dorothy Fredrickson, Martin Rosell, Ronald Smith, Annie Snow, Clifford Mullikin, Kenneth Hensley, William Shamberger, Erwin Tomlinson, Paul Rice, and John Jenny.

Shamberger

Treble Clef Club

Membership in Treble Clef is limited to forty voices, members being selected on the basis of voice quality and musical ability. Under the leadership of Miss Maude

Garnett, two concerts of real merit were given this year.

Members are: first sopranos, J. Wilson, V. Wolffe, C. Schmidt, M. J. Smith, H. Hayner, E. McMillin, L. Hall, J. Gooding, E. Gilmore, A. Francis, L. Brigham, F. Rohrer, F. Laing; second sopranos, E. Vincent, E. Thompson, E. Scott, H. Stetler, A. Ratcliffe, J. Harris, P. Newhouse, N. Green, M. Green, L. Cuddy, V. L'Herisson, F. Coughlin, A. McKiernan, E. Duncan, M. McComb, M. Donaldson; altos, B. Smith, G. Snook, V. Knee, M. Lewis, E. Jacobs, G. Bell, H. Baken, E. Collins, F. Bloom, E. Merriam, and M. Moulton.

Vandalettes

The Vandalettes, a double sextette of women's voices, is a musical organization new to the Idaho campus. Organized this year under the direction of Miss Maude Garnett, the group has been much in demand for performances at banquets, assemblies, and other functions. During the Christmas holidays, the chorus, dressed in the costume of the Waites, or carol singers of Old England, sang at the hospitals and public gatherings in Moscow.

All their appearances showed careful training and preparation, as well as real musical ability on the part of the individual members.

The group consists of: F. Simpson, L. Brigham, E. Thompson, E. Scott, B. Smith, H. Baken, L. Hall, M. J. Smith, F. Coughlin, M. L. Green, E. Merriam, and M. Moulton.

University String Quartet

Parrott, Claus, Little, Jensen

he University String Quartet is probably one of the best known and best liked of the various concert groups at Idaho. Their excellent reputation was gained in past years from the uniformly high character of their talent, and this year was no exception.

The quartet this year is made up of Professor Carl Claus, of the music faculty, who plays first violin; Miss Helen Parrott, one of the outstanding violinists at the University, second violin; Miss Louva May Jensen, who came here from the MacPhail School of Music in Minneapolis, viola; and Miss Miriam Little of the Department of Music faculty, who plays cello.

Kennard, Beamer, Mullikin, Miller, Snook, Ames

Instrumental Sextet

A new and interesting group that was organized on the campus this year is the Instrumental Sextet. This sextet is made up of a string quartet and two French horns. A group of this sort is very unusual, as Beethoven and Mozart were the only composers who have ever arranged music for such an organization. At the time this music was written, horns had not been developed to a very great extent and so they were much more difficult to play, as they did not have any valves. Mozart's sextet was written mostly for the strings while Beethoven's was for the horns.

Members of this group are: Celestine Beamer, first violin; Patricia Kennard, second violin; William Ames, viola; Geneva Snook, cello; Mr. Raymond Miller, director of the group and a member of the music faculty, first horn; and Clifford Mullikin, second horn.

Pep Band

Pep Band

Part one of this year's production was a formal concert which opened with an overture and closed with a group of popular marches. Part two was a stage show seen by the audience through a huge telvision screen, and the finale was a collegiate number featuring a medley of college and university songs.

Ames

G. Jullion; trombones, P. Pence, S. Stone, F. Irwin; snare drum, P. Kail; bass drum, W. Hawkins; baritone, R. Kelley; horns, D. Goss, C. Ratcliffe, H. Angney; bass, M. Olson.

The following assisted the Pep Band in putting on the show; soloists, C. Brandt, R. Campbell, G. Exum; dancers, J. Harper, D. Lindsey; trio, L. Thompson, C. Thompson, D. Norell; announcer, P. Boyd; chorus, G. Nichols, K. Collins, J. McCoy, B. Moore, H. Eaton, M. Tanner, J. Charrier, L. Neal, P. Newhouse, L. Thompson, L. Louis, L. Fredrickson, J. Hutchinson.

The orchestra was augmented by D. Wolfe, M. Pellum, R. Lane, M. O'Donnell, S. Walden, O. Tracy, N. Stedtfeld, and G. Giles.

Pep Band Show

Pep Band

Probably no musical organization on the Idaho campus has won such widespread recognition as the Pep Band. Always a popular organization, they have perhaps been best known for their music at football and basketball games. Their splendid reputation has not been confined to Idaho but has spread up and down the coast as they have traveled to college centers with Vandal athletic teams.

This year under the leadership of Harry Walden and William Ames, who filled the position the second semester, the Pep Band continued the high standard of performance set in past years. William Hawkins served as manager during the year. A trip was made to the southern part of the state early in October, where the Band played for the Idaho-College of Idaho football game at Boise.

The annual Pep Band concert given each spring is almost a tradition at Idaho. Written, staged, and produced in musical comedy manner by the students, this show is one of the outstanding musical events of the year. The television feature made this year's show unusually effective. Lively humor, clever dance and chorus numbers, and band music characterized the performance.

Hawkins

Orchestra

University Orchestra

The University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Professor Carl Claus, presented two concerts this year, one in January and the other during music week in the spring. Both performances were of exceptional merit and gave indication of excellent musical ability.

Members are: first violins, Y. Kildea, H. Parrott, N. Stedtfeld, C. Beamer, G. Giles, N. Newman, P. Kennard, C. Schmidt; second violins, A. McKiernan, R.

Professor Claus

Parker, L. Hejtmanek, B. Merriam, F. Eastburn, E. Lindroos, L. Sterner, A. Lee; violas, L. M. Jensen, J. Watkins, W. Ames, M. Lewis, H. Cagle, D. Craven; violoncellos, M. Little, G. Snook, L. Womack, K. Kennard, R. Decker; basses, G. Morse, M. Richardson, O. Tracy; flutes, R. McConnell, G. Hoback, C. Daly; oboe, L. Thompson, E. Starr; clarinets, L. Fraley, R. Dunlap, R. Herrick; bassoons, J. Harris, C. Ratcliffe; horns, R. Miller, C. Mullikin, W. Woods; trumpets, C. McConnell, F. Suter, J. Mitchell; trombones, S. Stone, R. Stanton, D. McPhillamey; tympani, J. Milner; percussion, H. Eaton; piano, V. Evans. The instrumentation is complete with the exception of a harp.

Varsity Debate

Expansion of the debating program each year allows more students to participate in the activity. Twenty-seven students represented Idaho in one or more intercollegiate debates this year. It is the policy of the coach, A. E. Whitehead, to give as many as possible the advantages of forensic training rather than to win debates by concentrating on a more talented few.

The debate which aroused the greatest amount of general interest was the international debate between the Oxford University and the University of Idaho, held on November 6. The subject of the debate was, Resolved: "That the world has more to fear than to hope from the further development of the machine." The Oxford team upheld the affirmative and Idaho the negative side of the question. The points which involved special conflict were unemployment, machine warfare, and commercialized art. Although the English team was well armed with subtle humor, keen satire, and weighty arguments, the Idaho team was in no way outmatched. Walter Slaughter and Paris Martin represented Idaho in this debate.

Much of the success of debating as an activity depends upon the student managers. It is their duty to assist the coach in scheduling the debates with other schools, and to care for the detail arrangements for each debate. Charles Herndon and Gladys Gleason have very capably filled the positions of managers this year.

Melgard, McMillin, Gleason, Leighton, Porterfield

Women's Varsity Debate

Co-ed debates prove the fallacy of the commonly accepted theory that women's arguments differ from men's arguments in soundness of reason and logical persuasion. Perhaps if more Idaho women had forensic training, the saying, "You can't argue with a woman," would become for most men an unfortunate reality.

All of the women's debates this year have been concerned with one question, Resolved: "That Gandhi has been a benefit to India." On December 7 the affirmative team, consisting of Elsie McMillin and Thelma Melgard, debated the negative team from Whitman College at Moscow, while the Idaho negative team, Gladys Gleason and Lois Porterfield, debated the Whitman affirmative team at Walla Walla. Both Idaho teams won the critic judge's decision. On December 8, these teams debated Washington State College, losing both decisions. February 27, the Idaho affirmative team, Jewel Leighton and Thelma Melgard, debated the University of Oregon, losing the decision on a technicality concerning the time limits involved in the interpretation of the question. The same team debated Oregon State College on April 15.

Elsie McMillin and Lois Porterfield represented Idaho on a short tour, debating three coast universities. On March 10 they debated the University of Oregon, on March 11, Oregon State College, and Willamette University on March 12.

Angney, Martin, Vincent, Farquhar, Olmstead, Wetherall, Wiseman

Men's Varsity Debate

Two questions of current economic interest were debated by the men's varsity debate teams. The question that was debated the first semester was, Resolved: "That government interference in the wheat situation is detrimental to the best interests of the farmer." The question that was used the second semester was, Resolved: "That chain stores have been detrimental to the best interests of the American people."

On December 14 William Wetherall and Robert Vincent, debating the negative side of the wheat question, won a decision from Whitman College, while Harry Angney and Joe Filseth, debating the affirmative side of the same question, lost to Whitman College. William Wetherall and Howard Ballif won a decision from Washington State College the following day. On February 25, a debate between the Universities of Idaho and Oregon on the subject of chain stores was held at Troy, Idaho. William Wetherall and Howard Wiseman, debating the negative side of the question, won the decision for Idaho. John Farquhar and Ralph Olmstead, debating the affirmative side of the chain store question, lost an audience decision to Pacific University on March 7. The same team debated the University of Southern California on April 3. Robert Vincent and Joe Filseth debated Oregon State College on April 15, using the Oregon system of cross-examination.

The annual Pacific Forensic Conference was held at Seattle April 6, 7 and 8. William Wetherall represented Idaho in the oratorical contest.

Higgins, Brink, Roberts, Peterson, Adkins, Axtell, Fattu, Hudson

he purpose of freshman debate is to discover prospective candidates for varsity debate and to give them preliminary training.

The question debated by the freshman team was, Resolved: "That automobile insurance covering personal liability and property damage should be compulsory. On January 17, the freshman negative team, consisting of Bert Bronson, Russell Betts and R. B. Popham, won over the Washington State College freshmen, while the Idaho affirmative team, Howard Adkins, John Fattu, and Norman Roberts lost to Washington State College. On March 3 the negative team lost to Washington State College and also to Yakima Junior College.

The freshman women debated the same question as the women's varsity debate team, Resolved: "That Gandhi has been a benefit to India." On January 10 the freshman negative team, consisting of Wilma Hudson, Mildred Peterson and Frances Hanley, debated the Washington State College freshmen. The affirmative team, Mary Axtell, Alice Brink and Dorothy Higgins, debated the Washington State College negative team on the same day. Both Idaho teams lost the decision of the critic judge.

Stansell, Schimke, Taylor, Collins

Intramural Debate

Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity, offers a cup to the men's and women's groups who win the intramural debates each year. Each group was eliminated on one defeat. Delta Gamma, for the second consecutive year, won the women's champaionship, while Lindley Hall won the men's championship, likewise for the second consecutive year. Elizabeth Taylor and Kathryn Collins debated for Delta Gamma and Weldon Schimke and Earl Stansell for Lindley Hall.

The question used by the women in the final debate between Delta Gamma and Kappa Alpha Theta was, Resolved: "That smoking rooms should be installed in the women's houses on the Idaho campus." Delta Gamma upheld the affirmative and Kappa Alpha Theta the negative. The preliminary debates for the women were on the question, Resolved: "That fraternities and sororities are detrimental to college life."

The question used in the men's finals between Lindley Hall and Phi Delta Theta was, Resolved: "That the expansion of chain stores is detrimental to the best interests of the American people." The question used in the preliminary debates was, Resolved: "That the practical application of companionate marriage will stabilize family life."

Reserve Officers Training Corps

General Chrisman

One of the best beloved men on the University campus is the commandant of the Reserve Officers Training Corps—Brigadier General E. R. Chrisman. For nineteen years General Chrisman has been active in directing and supervising the military department of the University, and it is largely through his efforts that the corps has assumed such an active part in student life.

Not only has he organized the R.O.T.C. until it now ranks in stability with any of the other departments of the University, but he has found time to participate in student affairs as advisor and counselor. He introduced Scabbard and Blade, honorary military organization at Idaho; he has served on the Discipline Committee; he is an honorary member of Blue Key; he serves on the Academic Board; and he is always keenly interested in every phase of student activity.

Efficiency is the watchword of any military organization. With this principle as the basis, and with a sound foundation in actual and theoretical warfare, General Chrisman is eminently qualified for the position he holds. Well-known, popular and highly esteemed, the military department has gained new prestige through General Chrisman's efforts.

Upon Frank Barnum, staff sergeant, falls the burden of the clerical work of the military department. All official correspondence passes through his hands. In addition to his office work, Sergeant Barnum is active both on the drill field and as assistant instructor for the rifle team. He was formerly a member of the Marine Corps.

Sergeant Barnum

Chrisman, Henkle, Crenshaw, Sheehy, Nielsen

Reserve Officers Training Corps

A good department must have good staff members. Upon Captains B. M. Crenshaw, H. L. Henkle, Sergeant Bernt Nielsen, and upon Lieutenant J. W. Sheehy rests the burden of the basic R.O.T.C. instruction. Unless these men were efficient, it would be impossible for Idaho to maintain the distinguished rating which it has held for several years.

Promoted to fill the vacancy left by Major F. R. Fuller, Captain Crenshaw is now in charge of the first year advanced course students. Captain Henkle ably fills the position which Crenshaw held last year—that of sophomore instructor and rifle team coach. Upon Lieutenant Sheehy devolves the task of training the "rooks" in the fundamentals of drill. Sergeant Nielsen has for several years developed military bands which show up very favorably under the critical eyes of the reviewing officers. To these men should be extended sincere commendation and praise for their efforts in the development of the Idaho unit of the R.O.T.C.

With the increasing enrollment year by year at the University of Idaho, there has been a corresponding increase in the number of students who must be trained in military. While the new military headquarters in the Memorial Gymnasium has greatly facilitated the handling of this increasing number of cadets, efficiency in organization has been the real secret of the successful handling of so large a group of men. While the credit for the institution of the plan now in use must go to the officers of the staff, its actual application and routine supervision has been handled by Lonie Woods, Staff Sergeant. He is kept continually busy issuing and receiving equipment, directing make-up squads, and keeping the armory in first-class condition. He has been with the military department here a number of years, and were his serious efforts of little merit, his personality and his stories would make him worthy of mention.

Cadet Regiment

Colonel Bernard Lemp commanded the R.O.T.C. regiment during the fall and winter semester. With the aid of an able regimental staff, consisting of Frank Tatum as Lieutenant Colonel, and John Croy as Regimental Adjutant, the parades and reviews were efficiently carried on. When bad weather made further outside drill impossible, calisthenics and close order formations were conducted within the armory.

There were few reviews the first semester, the time of all officers, both staff members and cadets, being occupied with the teaching of the fundamentals. Instructions in the use of the rifle, marching and company discipline, were the things concentrated upon. New uniforms were issued with roll collars on the coats, and straight tailored trousers. Overseas caps were issued, and the appearance of the cadet regiment assumed a heretofore unknown uniformity and preciseness of attire.

Senior Officers

Captain Crenshau

Diet

Captain B. M. Crenshaw, Infantry D.O.L., completes five years' service here this June. In this time he has taken an active part in military affairs, and has gained favor among the students as well as his fellow officers. His principal work is conducting the junior class instruction in advanced military tactics. As Adjutant of the R.O.T.C., he has charge of all office duties. This work, which includes the handling of all correspondence, comes under one of the most important divisions of the military department. Captain Crenshaw also assists in general drill. He is an honorary member of Scabbard and Blade.

Kenneth A. Dick became Cadet Colonel at the expiration of the first semester. His regimental staff consisted of Charles Walker as Lieutenant Colonel and John Croy as adjutant. Colonel Jerome G. Pillow, San Francisco, reviewed the corps the last week in April.

Junior Officers

Battalion Commanders

Regimental Officers

Captain H. L. Henkle, Infantry D.O.L., a new member of the military department this year, is in charge of the sophomore class in military instruction and drill. Besides having charge of the sophomore instruction, Captain Henkle is coach of the men's rifle team, which had a very successful season, winning a large percentage of its matches. Honorary membership in Scabbard and Blade was conferred upon him in the latter part of the first semester.

Upon the battalion commanders of the second semester rested a great deal of the responsibility for successful reviews. Major George Swindaman commanded the First Battalion, Major Charles Herndon the Second

Captain Henkle

Battalion, while Major Edward Douglas was in charge of the Third. Assisted by efficient company officers and fortified by a fair knowledge of military tactics, these battalions made creditable showings. The Adjutants were as follows: Captain Dynes Lawson, Captain Ralph Reed and Capain Lyman Youngs.

Regimental Officers

Regimental Officers

Color Guard

Lieutenant Sheehy

First Lieutenant J. W. Sheehy, Infantry D.O.L., whose major work is the supervision of the freshman classes in military, is one of the most popular members of the faculty. He has been at the University only two years, arriving on the campus in the summer of 1929. A graduate of West Point, and with several years of additional service in the regular army, he has back of him a training which is an ideal basis for R.O.T.C. instruction. Besides his freshmen work, he has done much in bringing the general drill of all the cadets up to its high standard. The success of the women's rifle team is a credit to his instruction as coach. Lieutenant Sheehy is an honorary member of Scabbard and Blade.

An essential part of every military organization is the color guard. To carry the flag of the United States and the regimental colors are positions of great importance and trust. They are appointed each year from advanced students. Ernest Brasch, is carrying the national colors and Charles Graybill the regimental.

Passing in review

Rifle Team

Winning a majority of its matches, the Vandal rifle team achieved noteworthy success in the interscholastic contests this year. Competition was with various universities and colleges throughout the United States. The work of the rifle team was made a minor sport last year. The four men receiving the highest average are: Eugene Hutteball, Donald Griffith, Ambrose Adams and Thomas Neilson.

Military Band

The Military Band has for several years been recognized as being outstanding in the West. It is accredited with highest ranking in the Ninth Corps Area. For the first time, it played this year at an athletic contest, featuring the homecoming game with Washington State College. An important event of the band is the concert which it gives annually. It also plays at the graduation exercises each year. For its director it has a veteran musician, Sergeant Bernt Nielsen, retired army band leader, who has been with the Idaho R.O.T.C. for fourteen years.

Idaho's Judging Teams

The judging teams represent one of the most important activities of the students of the College of Agriculture. Several weeks are spent in the fall preparing for the trip to the Pacific International Livestock Show in Portland, where the annual contests are held.

The Idaho teams are in competition with teams representing the University of California, Oregon State College, Washington State College, University of British Columbia, Utah State College, University of Nevada, and Montana State College.

Teams

Animal Husbandry: Mont Lewis, Oakley; Earl Stansell, Ashton; Ralph Magnuson, Worley; Alfred Funke, Cottonwood; Robert Corless, Paul; and Joseph Heward, Grace, alternate.

Agronomy: Dorothy Perkins, Jerome; Ardie Gustafson, Moscow; John Sandmeyer, Buhl; and Alfred Jackson, Moscow, alternate.

Dairy Products: Joseph Heward; Alfred Shaw, Malta; Leonard Wiseman, Hansen; and Raymond Spencer, Palouse, alternate.

Dairy Cattle: Leonard Wiseman; Herman Hilfiker, Filer; Alfred Shaw; and Irvin Slater, New Plymouth, alternate.

Grain Judging Team

Idaho's Teams Rate High

The Animal Husbandry Judging Team placed second in its contest. Ralph Magnuson was high man on the team and third in the entire contest. Horses, beef cattle, sheep, and hogs were judged. Competition in this division was unusually keen.

The Agronomy Team won second in its division. Dorothy Perkins was high on the team and third in the contest, which consisted of grading grain, judging grain and small seeds, and identification of plant diseases, and seeds of weeds and field crops.

The Dairy Cattle Judging Team ranked second in its contest. Alfred Shaw was high individual on the team and third in the contest. The team placed second in judging Guernseys, Jerseys, and Holsteins, and third in Ayrshires.

The dairy products team was second in its contest. Joseph Heward was high man and placed fourth in the contest. The team ranked second in judging milk, cheese, and ice cream, and third in butter.

The experience the students get in their judging work is carried over into the lines of endeavor they choose to follow when they graduate. Many attribute their success to a knowledge of the fine points obtained in learning to judge and place correctly the animals and agricultural products.

Many students turn out for each team and the competition is keen in every division. The final selections for the teams are not announced until a day or two before they leave for the show at Portland.

The "I" Club is an organization whose members are selected from men of the University who have been officially awarded a letter for participation in major intercollegiate athletics. It was formed as a common meeting ground for all athletes, to aid in keeping Idaho's athletics clean, and to build up the athletic activity of the University. Included in its activities are functions of a service and social nature.

The Interfraternity Council is an organization consisting of two members from each fraternity. The purpose of the organization is to harmonize all activities of common interest to the social fraternities on the campus and to cooperate with the University in all matters pertaining to these groups. The council also sponsors activities which may be of service in any way to fraternities.

It would scarcely be appropriate in such a monumental work as this to struggle along without a postface, PERIOD (Attention is directed to the encyclopedias, which have many pages of postfaces. See also 115 U.S. 28).

Reasons for the Present Undertaking: The first reason is the belief that too much undercover works exists that is not brought to the attention of you, and you, and us. The far-famed committee of thirteen has expended much time, energy and money in research during the past 42 years to bring the hereincontined material into the blinding glare of the spotlight.

STATEMENT BY THE CO-AUTHOR, POP D. DERRINGER: When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary to write a post-face when I should be writing a preface, I believe I shall merely refer you to the succeeding pages of foolscap.

Lame Ducks

One balmy spring morning in 1930, a covey of ducklings meandered aimlessly down a seemingly endless road in search of some pleasant diversion which would not impose too great a strain on their already over-taxed brains. From the opposite direction came two ugly, black, full-grown ducks, self-satisfied, and smug in the belief that they were the final representation of Power. The ducklings were awed by the magnificent presence of the ducks, so they shifted their direction and followed in the wake of the newcomers, who shortly thereafter promised to give them a taste of the same life-giving Power which they themselves had tasted.

The ducklings received their taste of Power in April when they were elected by an unconcerned public to fill responsible positions on a governing body. Two months later the ducklings hibernated in various parts of the country for the summer, emerging in September as full-grown ducks. From all outward appearances they were perfectly capable of solving the most intricate problems that could be placed before them. But this did not prove to be the case.

The ducks took an extended trip down the endless road during the succeeding months and succeeded in each case in getting right back to their starting point. Petty and major differences cropped up during these trips, and the dignified and austere body of governors was at a loss how to decide the differences. Their feet began to ache as a result of too much mental stimulation until finally they all became Lame Ducks, looking forward to the time when they would relinquish their offices to others. Thus ends the chronicle of a dignified and austere body, the Lame Ducks.

Camel Club

One blistering, burning morning on the arid stretches of the bleak Sahara, a caravan appeared over the shimmering horizon. They moved rapidly, taking form from a vague silhouette to a gathering of eight distinct figures, each dressed in the approved Klassy Kut Kollegiate Klothes, manufactured by Koldberg, the Klothes-Horse. By their actions, their clothes, and their camels, they evidenced the fact that they were members of the famous "Camel Club," whose enrollment is limited to men who refuse to drink water.

Presumably they were out on a practice jaunt, for they left an erratic and winding trail in the shifting sands, which did not seem to alter their steady progress. At the head of the caravan a figure with a mournful voice cried, "Any old bottles, flasks, demijohns, jugs, decanters, carafes, or erlenmeyers?" Apparently they were collecting a choice assortment of glassware to be used in some unaccountable manner.

They reach an oasis, but not a man is seen to go near the waterhole to cool his parched throat. Instead, the group has an informal meeting, beginning by a swig from a large-sized canteen ostensibly containing thirst-quenching liquid. The liquid is satisfying, for the members are heard to clamor for more.

When all have rested, the journey is resumed until the caravan dwindles to a mere speck in the distance. Thus ends the chronicle of the activities of the Camel Club.

Three Little Words

Three little words can stand for Ham and Eggs, No Parking Here, Smoking Absolutely Forbidden, Rest in Peace, I Love You, and countless others, but in this particular case it stands for two names separated by the coordinating conjunction "and."

The Three Little Words Club is an organization having for its purpose the creation of dreamy eyes, moonstruck faces, and absent-mindedness. This conclusion was drawn after a number of cases were observed by the committee of thirteen, who spent long, weary hours at night in the bleachers, and behind the Music Hall, gathering experimental data. This data, for the first time, is about to come to light.

The membership of this organization is limited to strictly local talent.

Kindness Pays

As a fitting gesture during "Be Kind to Dumb Animals" week, an altruistic and altogether kind college student, namely and to-wit: Paul T. Miller, did take care of, foster, father, and mother, a poor homeless white duck that had strayed from the fold. It all began on one blustery night in November, when icicles were hanging from the eaves and the snow was six feet deep.

Paul, wandering about the campus in search of a kind deed that should be done, unwittingly stumbled upon three fellows. One of the trio had a shivering duck tucked under his arm. Showing his generous spirit, Paul immediately offered to care for the duck, even to the extent of putting him to bed. Strange to say, his offer was accepted.

Paul, sheltering the duck under his coat, went to the Beta sleeping porch, with the intention of putting the duck to bed. But he erred. Bob Drummond unintentionally happened to be in the bed in which the duck was placed. Bob apologized for being in his own bed, and Paul accepted the apology in a gracious manner.

The Delta Tau Delta house was the next stop. Since all the beds were to be occupied that night, Paul kindly condescended to point out the fine points of the duck before the group. He placed the duck on the mantel and gave a detailed explanation of the duck's anatomy. His speech concluded, he brought the duck to the Sigma Chi house.

Several of the brothers did not like the color of the duck, hence they began and completed the tremendous task of painting the duck a vivid pink. It must be understood that Paul was not an accomplice to this dastardly deed.

The chronicle ends with the washing of the duck in gasoline to remove the paint, and returning him to his owner. Moral: Don't befriend friendless ducks.

Tong Travelogs

Chapter meetings—usually held once a week, except for cases of extreme urgency, such as when one of the brothers gets into another scrape, or when one of the sisters needs to be raked over the coals, or when another house is ready to hang the brass on some promising young college feller, etc.—are funny things. The word "funny" covers a multitude of sins. But we mean just that.

To get into the saddle, we might explain that a "Tong" meeting is merely another method of saying "Chapter" meeting, but since that has nothing to do with the introduction, we'll let it pass. Be it sufficient to say, however, that we have suspicions that the name had its origin with the Chinese, whose meetings were attended by arguments and heated debates, finally ending with several Chinamen in horizontal positions. Of course we're not insinuating that the Tong meetings that we write about end up like the Chinese ones. But they're almost as bad.

In each meeting that we visited, the hot air got so thick that we had to leave early in order to use our own horsepower. How the brothers and sisters ever survive those meetings is a mystery to us.

The deep and dark secrets of those meetings are revealed for the first time on the succeeding pages. For your own good, take them with a grain of salt.

At last the strained silence is broken by the chief silence-strainer, Marjorie Weber, who whispers softly, "Whatinell we gonna do to raise our scholastic standing on this here campus?" Well-poised Cowgill breathes heavily through distended gills, shuddering manfully, "Yeh, what if we should get that tin cup?" Meeting opens with short talk by Head Man concerning the question of a suitable hall to throw the next dance. The Elks' Temple is suggested because of the ample room, sufficient to take care of the army of pledges. The five members at the meeting vote to have the dance at the Elks'. Two floors above the thirty-five pledges dream dreams and bat their ears in general.

Nina Newman tells about nina or tena of the pledges whose average has fallen below normal. Lefever works herself up to fever pitch and states: "It's a cinch we can't put them all on study table. There isn't a room in the house big enough to hold them all." The other four members sit and muse and turn the situation over in their minds until it is done to a turn.

"I suggest," harangues Hagen happily, "that we build a new house, twice the size of this one. And while you're about it, build it closer to the Nest for the convenience of several of the girls." The suggestion is mulled, taking a terrific beating.

Discussion ensues about a leaky roof, stolen soap, permission from the house-manager to steal cookies from the kitchen, and the sad case of Sister So-and-so who couldn't get a date because of B.O.

And so on.

The bloody scene is the nominations and elections of officers for the house. The present Prexy frowns formidably upon the bright and shining faces of the future presidents of this country.

Springer nominates someone for president. Ostrander moves that nominations be closed. Springer nominates someone for vice-president. Ostrander moves that the nominations be closed. Springer nominates someone for secretary. Ostrander moves that nominations be closed—which proves that it's hard to break a habit of four years standing.

Kelley rises to be recognized, but no one recognizes him, so he is thrown out as an imposter. Daubert bellyaches about the childish antics of several of the brothers, who insist upon dropping water-filled paper bags from the balcony above the front door upon an unsuspecting person's head. Everyone looks guiltily around the room. The matter is referred to an investigation committee, who promise to discover the culprit and bring him to justice, or else—

The social standing of the house is considered lengthily by Brown, the acme of social lionedness of the house. He suggests that the frosh be required to get at least one date during each week. Kyselka, God's most perfect creature, chimes in with Brown.

Chapter room is reeking with the pungent odor of vases of Violets. Several more violets are seated in chairs about the four walls of the room. The silence is strained through a silk handkerchief.

"That's all there is to it" wails Wallis willingly; "we gotta pledge some athletes and students" The boys nod assent, by charming shakes of their heads. Discussion about athletes is deferred until the next meeting.

The old, old topic about a new house is brought up from the basement in a wheelbarrow by McBratney. Motion is made by Swindaman to have a committee write a letter to Rudy V allee for a donation. The members' eyes glow with pride when Rudy's name is mentioned. A motion is made to request that Rudy sing the Stein Song in his next broadcast. Seconded and voted down, thank gawd!

A stirring speech is made by Donovan that more men get into activities, so that the house may be advertised. He is told to go fry an egg over a fireless cooker. The annual 49 er Dance is discussed and it is voted to serve nothing but punch at the bar. Anything else will be served in the rear yard.

The meeting is well under way. The brothers, most of them with furrowed brows, sulk in their seats, under the merciless glare of two ten-watt lamps. Two of the boys have their chairs tilted against the wall.

"Hey, you guys," berates House Manager Hargrove heavily, "put those chairs down. Don't you know that's hard on the furniture?" The two boys look sheepish and completely cowed, thereby furnishing the house with a week's supply of mutton and beef.

Scholarship is brought up. Herndon, chief advocate of study tables, tells the members in no uncertain manner that if they want to keep the Scholarship Cup they'll have to snap out of it. His remarks are greeted with catcalls by a group of cats that had sneaked in when no one was looking. The meeting is temporarily disorganized while Reynolds puts the cats out.

Several members moan about Gillette playing with toy airplanes, automobiles and tiddle-dewinks on the living room rug. Suggestion is made that he play with them elsewhere.

Douglas asks if anyone knows where his fountain pen is. House manager cautions members to turn off any lights not in use.

The reception room is glittering with brightlylighted floor lamps and multi-colored flowers. The seats are arranged in orderly rows, except for the seats in front of the fireplace. These are strangely askew, because of the corrugated character of the floor.

Suddenly the lights are dimmed and the triumphal entry begins. The girls are in lock step, marching sedately to their accustomed seats of vantage. When all are seated, the president calls for the attention of the house with a high-pitched voice, which was the direct result of her having had a date with a baseball player.

"We ought to breathe a prayer for the girls who have left school because of various reasons," strained Rasmussen through clenched teeth; "who knows who may be next?" Led by Kelly, the girls breathe a devout prayer that they might not be next.

Consternation reigns in the ranks of the Harpists. A sister whose bravery overbalanced her common sense let the water drip in the shower, costing the house a nickel more for the water bill! Horrus! That they should harbor such a sneaky snooper. All sit about with breaths bated with the finest of herring bait.

"Our frosh are terribly low in their scholastic standings," rumbles Rouse rousingly. "I'd like to hear the consensus in the house as to what should be done about it." Seventy-eight members spring to their feet on Goodyear springfoot heels, bouncing around until the spring dries up. The other seventy-eight look bored; twenty more look punched.

"There's no use evading the question," hesitates Harris heavily. "Let's put 'em on study table and take their Friday dates away from them. It's a rotten break for the fellows, but it will save our one phone from overwork."

Motion is made, seconded and passed that the frosh put their noses to the rough boards of the study table. Discussion begins about prospects for next fall.

The Tong meeting opens on a night a week before the annual House Party. Expectancy is in the air, hanging by one hand from the chandelier. The atmosphere is surcharged with unpaid bills and the pungent odor of California sunshine. The Head Man gazes solemnly about, for he is going to make a very solemn declaration.

Walker slowly gets to his feet. "This dance next Saturday night ought to be a dry dance," he mutters through brazen bicuspids. Everyone snickers, for Walker is a strong backer of the W.C.T.U. Motion by Sommercamp to have an arid dance. Seconded and carried for the sake of effect.

House Manager, chewing a cud of terbaccy, rises to his feet by a great effort. "House bills are due and payable. You'd better see me within the next week."

The Ways-and-Means Committee reports on ways and means of raising the scholastic standing of the house. All members nod their heads in sheer weariness; one or two drop off into the land of Nod. Nod resents such actions, because the land is already well-populated by University students.

Discussion concerning repairs on the lavatory on the third floor, and the advisability of turning the third floor over to lady guests during the House Party.

Within the recessed portals the members gather slowly and solemnly. A great question is to be decided within the next few hours.

The Head Man, upon whose face is a ghastly grin, raps upon the table for order, and the members slowly stiffen and look more serious than before

"How long will this deception continue?" harps Hoggan softly. "Personally, I'd like to be able to smoke in my room when I'm studying. As it is now, we have to go outside to do so." The members, with the exception of one or two, gasp in amazement at such a startling suggestion. The suggestion is tabled.

Hall, in his characteristically indifferent manner, rises to his feet slowly and moans, "What are we gonna do about some of the fellows around here who insist upon carving their initials on their beautiful mahogany desks. It ain't right." The matter is referred to the main office at Salt Lake City.

It is discovered after a long discussion that the group average is above normal. It is resolved that several men flunk out in order to bring the average back to normal.

"Now, girls, we have the scholarship cup and we must keep it two more years so that we may win it for good," says demure O'Brien, the Phi Bete of the house. The meeting drones on. Flies disturb the sleepers, who half-heartedly try to shoo them away with short-vamp mules. The mules protest vigorously, to the extent of kicking their heels high into the air. "Order! Order!" shouts Woods, barely making her voice heard above the buzz of the flies. "What we need is a few desirable girls to fill up the house!"

"Well, what's holding you back?" asks Parsons, deftly spearing her chops and licking them. "Personally, I believe we have enough as it is, and besides, it's pretty hard to find girls who would make good Delta Gammas." The idea is referred to the rushing committee, who promise to consider the question and report back to the Supreme Minnehaha.

Axtell suggests that the silo be filled with corn on the cob and hamburger sandwiches for the girls who get hungry about ten-thirty. Suggestion is not accepted with favor, so Parrot says to accept it with flavor, and brings red and yellow to railroad the suggestion through.

A notice on the bulletin board had stared the members in the face for the past two weeks. The notice read in brief: "There will be a meeting on Thursday night at 8:00 P. M. to determine our policy with respect to the inscribed stone over the fireplace on the second floor."

Thursday night comes on little cat feet and half of the total members attend the meeting. The curtains are closely drawn, the atmosphere is hushed, and suddenly the president's gavel strikes the table with a resounding thwack. Everyone straightens in his chair, alert for the discussion to follow.

"It ain't right," ejaculates Ewing, "for us to have that stone over the fireplace in the second floor. Let me quote you to what that stone has inscribed upon it: 'Dedicated to the Women of Idaho, etc.' Now, we ain't women, are we?"

"I should say not," murmurs Paroz; "I would not need a car if I were. As it is, that's the only way I can get by!" The members are convulsed with laughter, for they see the wisdom in his remarks. It is finally decided to cover the stone with a shawl, which Hartling promises to produce in a mysterious manner.

Demigod Peck pecks fruitlessly at the end of a 7-H pencil, wondering when the Tri-Delts are going to build a new shack on the corner of Sixth and Elm. Her fruitless pecking is seconded by Ragan and voted upon.

Ragan and voted upon.

"This place we're living in now is a decided handicap in rushing," ruminates Handy handily. Seconded and passed by a unanimous ballot.

A long, drawn-out discussion begins. Why do the Lambda Chi's flock to the Tri-Delt house like fleas to a dog? Mikkelson advances the theory that sex-appeal is the controlling factor which motivates the movement. Seconded, thirded and carried.

Torgerson, temptingly: "I really think the coming reception should be an afternoon informal. Everyone feels so stiff in formal clothing." Seconded and carried, without any dissenters.

More talk about scholarship, stolen soap, lounging on the front porch, and stricter enforcement of rules for underclassmen.

"G'wan, what we need is a good five-cent cigar!" mumbles Jacobs from the corner of her mouth. "Not to speak of a street car system to the Nest."

"I don't know as to whether this is the right

"I don't know as to whether this is the right time to bring THIS up," ejaculated Galloway (the last of the long family line) prettily, as she lifted her leg to straighten her stocking, "but I can't see what rushing has to do with the low price of wheat in South Idaho."

Sneak dates are discussed and disgust at great length (as a conservative estimate, we should say from here to the basement window). Motion is made by Bohman that any girl caught on a sneak date be summarily quartered, drawn and hung. Motion is lost for want of a second. Garver runs to turn the clock ahead, in order to gain a second. Motion is voted upon and passes by the width of a gnat's eyebrow.

Long and short, fat and thin, bow-legged and knock-kneed, they all file slowly into the inner sanctum. The head Zulu says: "Gentlemen, be seated!" All seat themselves gingerly, for they have had tea and gingerbread before meeting.

"An epidemic of athlete's foot has spread through the house," renigs Gnicholson gnervously. "Something has to be done to stop the spread of this dread malady." Members dart piercing glances fearfully about.

A motion is made to remove the athletes from the house to prevent the spread of the disease. Warner makes an impassioned speech against such an action, giving as his reason that the house would be empty if such drastic means were taken. It is decided not to kick the athletes out, but to get a carload of copper sulphate for footwash.

The monopoly of the Alphas with respect to student-body positions is discussed at length. Decided that the only way to keep the Alphas from hogging the offices is to burn the school down. Voted down. The action of tipplers is debated.

Policy is discussed by several of the boys who are lucky enough to be insured. Is it proper to eat with one's knife, or is it? The disinterested attitude of the members is apparent.

"What are we going to do to keep our brandnew, becootiful house from falling down the hill?" queries Equals quickly. The unconcerned attitude suddenly disappears like a flunked-out student. Concern is strongly manifested, because if the house should topple, the doctoring of the lawn will have gone for naught. "Say, it's naught so!" gasps Schwartzenhauer lengthily.

"Pipe down, you!" orders Shern, gnawing his gnails gnervously, "just because you have the longest name in the University, don't try to impose upon our good natures." A motion is made by Piercy to prop the house with proper props. Seconded and carried.

Scholarship is discussed. Suggestion is made that the house pledge five or six five-point men, so that the house will win the Scholarship Cup from the Sigs. Everyone agrees whole-heartedly.

A modified stagger system is suggested in using the centralized wash-room during the nights of house dances. Suggestions is favorably received. And so on.

Lindley Hall Travelog

It all begins with a heated discussion in one of the rooms on the third floor. The participants in the discussion, headed by the redoubtable Schimke, inventor at large, genial genius, and lawyer, seem to be bothered by something strange. Their heads are tousled, their clothes look as though they had been slept in, and their eyes peer out through reddened lashes. "What I'd like to know," lisps Loosli, "is when we are going to elect somebody president of this organization?" Seconded and passed.

It is decided to have a general meeting of the group sometime, somewhere, somehow.

Sometime, somewhere, somehow rolls around in the conventional manner, and the men are massed about the walls. One or two adventurous souls, in quest of excitement, hang by their teeth from the chandeliers, kicking their heels about like the gay dogs that they are.

"We are here," wails Wayland, "to discuss the advisability of installing a Phi Bete chapter. By doing this we should be able to raise our average." He is voted down by a series of hoots from the owls hanging from the chandeliers.

Lopez comments on the athletic situation, but no one pays any attention. The election of officers is deferred until the next meeting so that the political machine can be oiled.

"Plans have been presented to us by that noted Sigma Nu architect, Chick Sale. All we need now is a little money," begins Goss, idol of the Sigma Nooers, in talking about building plans.

Mitchell gives a talk on the question, "Star versus the Conventional Crescent in the Door." From the standpoint of finance, he thinks that a Crescent is cheaper than a Star. It is finally decided to have a crescent in the door. A committee is appointed to notify Chick Sale immediately. It is decided to have the approach to the new house of wooden planking, making, as Ennis says, a m-i-g-h-t-y nifty job.

Graybill tells the members that for the first time in three years the control of the Pep Band has passed out of the hands of the Sigma Nus. He promises to pull a few strings. The members are downcast by the news, but they all express hope for better times.

Discussion ensues concerning the house across the alley. It seems that the girls are getting in the habit of drawing their shades to within two inches of the window sills. A discovery is made that the house is developing and harboring several contortionists. Seconded and carried.

Hays Hall Travelog

The meeting has been in progress for four hours. The question of scholarship has occupied the larger part of the time, because some members have insisted upon quibbling over a measly point. Everyone is beginning to show the strain of the drawn-out session.

"I give up," grumbles Gooch gaspingly, "give me water, air, liberty or death, a ham sandwich, or a lemonade." She leaves precipitously, precipitating a riot that is promptly quelled by the arrival of armed guards. The guards station themselves at advantageous points in the room, gazing about earnestly for signs of disturbance. Outside guards are stationed with machine guns, tear gas bombs, and all-day suckers.

"This riot has been impending ever since the parole board passed stricter measures," Hogg harangues. "Something ought to be done about it." The members nod assent, but nothing is done about it.

The boardwalk behind the building is discussed. Is it, or is it, proper to walk along the boards at night with a date? It is, is the answer.

"We have a letter from Burton L. French concerning our scholastic standing. He is highly desirous that we win the cup that he donated," begins H. Robb, the house belly-robber.

Hall states that Congressman French will keep on donating cups until the Phi Delts win one of them. Spaugy reiterates that B. L. French can't live forever. Members look at each other aghast, until Brown finds the leak in the gas pipe.

Moaning begins on the part of several of the boys about the rotten grub that they've been getting. LeMoyne cautions everyone about the overhead in the house, not to speak of the underground. Motion seconded and carried.

Lengthy reminiscing begins about the dear old days when the Futuristic Bench adorned the front porch for Kappas and others to look at. Members of the Old Guard sigh sighingly, heaving sighs with great abandon. Pledge is hurriedly called to mop out the room. Several boys motion that the meeting be adjourned, but the result is negative.

Far from the bustle and the noise of the campus the meeting of the brothers takes place. All is as quiet as a church-yard, except for the monotonous ticking of the grandafther's clock in the corner.

Suddenly the stillness is split by Hawkins, who wants to know when the house-movers are going to move the house up to the campus. He is tired of trotting so far each morning, only to get to his eight o'clock ten minutes late.

"Let's move it ourselves," suggests Slaughter slaughteringly. "I have a jack in my car that we can use." The statement is greeted with roars of acclaim, but since Rice was the first to file his claim, he is given the floor, nails and all.

"It's a good idea," reiterates Rice raspingly, "and we can use the rollers from my roller towel." A committee is appointed to formulate the plans for the moving operation.

A depression in high averages scholastically has been felt. This is attributed to the present business depression, with the reservation that the members crack a few books for a change, instead of running around with dates who are detri-mental to the cause. Discussion ensues about the advisability of building an escalator up the hill to the front porch. Voted down.

Sackett, the miner, holds the sack with a firm grasp in the other corner.

"Why should we break a record?" wiggles Terwilleger twitteringly. "The barn behind this place had a fire in it every year during the time that the A.T.O.'s lived here. The place is still insured. Let's burn it down to collect the insurance." Horrified, the members shudder simperingly. Their shudders turn to laughs, however, when Ingle sits down at the piano, for he has not taken the Five Fassy Lessons Course for asniring taken the Five-Easy-Lessons Course for aspiring pianists, given by the Extranational School of Correspondence.

The Ways and Means Committee are consulted as to ways and means of burning the barn. The plan of having a cat tip over a candle into gasoline is rejected because the candle would first have to be lighted. Then again, the cat might get scorched.

Meeting opens with the big activity men seated in the front row. The many athletes bulk large in the eerie light of the sputtering candles. Head man raps on the table for order, and he is greeted by "I'd like a hamburger!" The candles still sputter, although everyone knows that sput is a horrid word.

"What we need is a new house," cackles Cross crossly. "This one has too many cracks in it. I believe that dancing on the top floor is the reason for the cracks in the plaster." Yawns greet this startling and momentous declaration. Galigher takes up the cudgels in Cross' behalf. But the cudgel is heavy, so he abandons it to Frizzelle.

"Now, fellows," fawns Frizzelle faintly, "you know what he says is true, but I think we can fix the old dump up with some patching plaster." Seconded and carried out on a stretcher.

A discussion begins concerning the woeful lack of activities among the members. A committee is appointed to sit on the case until it's fit for human consumption. Hoffman would like to know who stole his curling iron. He's not getting by as good as he'd like.

Prexy opens the meeting with a corkscrew. He mumbles the ritual hurriedly, saying something about friendship and fellowship, which goes completely over the heads of all but Dick, who reaches up his hand to catch the words. The words are passed around and examined curiously by the members.

The meeting is interrupted by water dripping down from the floor above. "Will somebody go up and turn that faucet off?" demands Hensley irately, with a twitch of his powerful biceps to emphasize his say-so. A brother departs, and comes back five hours later with the news that it wasn't a tap at all. As a matter of fact, it's raining outside, and the roof's leaking. All leave the room to get their slickers, except Wimer, who crawls under a table to catch up on shut-eye.

"I'd like to know what we're going to do about activities?" gargles Hauck heinously. "And our scholarship is nothing to write home about!" The brothers look at him anxiously, trying to determine if he means what he is saying. A drop of rain drips down the back of one neck. The meeting is forgotten in the resultant confusion.

The water reminds someone about his soap. He asks who took his soap, but no one seems to be interested.

Members struggle through door to obtain their favorite seats in the elegant circle, while the Prexy roams through the spacious corridors of the house shouting "Beta Meeting" at the top of his lungs.

Prexy returns in two hours, having visited every room in the immense hotel." Do you know", cajoles Carpenter caressingly, "that the frosh in the east wing of the house have not yet met some of the frosh in the west wing?"

"Ye gods!" cries Kimball, "that means that fully seventy-five per cent of our pledges have not yet met the other seventy-five. We'll have to do something about the sly rascals!" The members sit with their mouths agape, endeavoring to catch the first flies of spring.

"You're only joshing," joshes Wood warningly, executing as pretty a fly as ever seen with one snap of his strong white teeth. "Let's have a parchesi tournament, so they'll get to know each other!" Seconded and carried.

Modern Bathrooms For a Modern Age

As striking in its way as the progress of aviation is the last decade's progress in living comfort. Seeing the new plumbing fixtures at Crane Exhibit Rooms, compact and graceful, you almost forget that they belong to the same species as the old claw-footed clumsy baths of your childhood. Admiring one of the new colorful Crane bathrooms, skillfully arranged by your architect, you will find it hard to believe that this is the same ugly room that once was hidden away at the end of a second floor hall. The extra property value that Crane materials bring is a revelation, too. In the interest of your parent's home, and the house you will some day build, you owe it to yourself to visit the Crane Exhibit Rooms to learn about these new fixtures, and to inquire about the plan under which they can be bought on easy monthly payments.
