GEM

Another scholastic year ends and another group leaves the University of Idaho, making way for the new and young. But still the Idaho Spirit exists. From year to year true Idahoans carry on the activities of the University with an earnestness and enthusiasm that will never be extinct. Our memories become dim and much of what has happened during our academic years is forgotten. In the pages that follow it has been attempted to present a true, typical picture of Idaho life. Behind this great activity lies its even greater foundation—Idaho people. The energy put forth by these leaders distinguishes the University.

F A C E

The task of developing and educating leaders falls upon our Idaho teachers. The influence of these Idahoans is recognized by all. In memory of our educators, this Gem of the Mountains for 1935 is dedicated to our friend, Carl Leopold von Ende.

ADMINISTRATION

ACADEMIC ADMINISTRATION

MERVIN GORDON NEALE
President of the University of Idaho

THE 1935 GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS is dedicated to the University of Idaho. After almost a half century of growth and development, the University stands for many things. To some it may stand for pleasant associations and lasting friendships. To others it may represent opportunity for stimulating experiences and acquiring a broader view of life. To still others it may represent an opportunity for personal advancement and greater individual success. May I express the hope that all of us, students, alumni, and faculty, will also think of the University in terms of a portion of the statement that is carved in stone at the entrance to the Administration Building to the effect that one of the objectives of the University is to train future citizens for public service.

Year by year the University engages in more and more activities directly connected with the welfare of the state. Many students participate in these activities. In numerous fields the University is a research laboratory for all the citizens of the state. It will fulfill its highest function as its graduates dedicate a larger and larger portion of their lives to the common good.

M. G. NEALE,
President.

C. BEN ROSS
Governor of Idaho

Board of Regents

CLENCY ST. CLAIR

THE BOARD OF REGENTS of the University of Idaho, made up of five citizens of the state and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, determines the policies of the University in the engagement of instructors and the purchase of new equipment and buildings; and is the final arbiter in educational matters throughout the state. During the past year the increased enrollment and the decreased income have made special problems that have required the members to give generously of their time and efforts; they have been concerned with the improvement and increase of the available housing for students, and with the addition of several instructors to the faculty staff. The present membership of the Board of Regents includes Clency St. Clair, president; Asher B. Wilson, vice-president; Jerome J. Day, Mrs. A. A. Steel, and John W. Condie, Superintendent of Public Instruction. The resignation of John S. Jenny has left a vacancy as yet unfilled. With the limited income available, the Board of Regents has improved housing conditions by building more accommodations at Lindley Hall, and by organizing new cooperative group houses. Every member of the board is wholeheartedly supporting the University, and planning for its continued growth and development.

Administrative Officials

M. BELLE SWEET ELLA L. OLESEN
FRANK STANTON OREN A. FITZGERALD R. W. LIND

ALTHOUGH the economy and the efficiency of the University's administration is, of course, in the hands of all its officials, several members of the Administrative Staff are directly concerned with the disbursement of funds, the purchase of new equipment and material, and the preservation of the property held by the University. These members of the staff include Frank Stanton, Bursar; Ella Letitia Olesen, Registrar; Mary Belle Sweet, Librarian; Oren A. Fitzgerald, University Editor; Raymond W. Lind, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds; Floyd L. Packer, Accountant and Purchasing Agent; George E. Horton, Graduate Manager; Robert F. Green, Proctor of Men.

This group of officials has the cooperation of alumni groups and townspeople, and carries on the business of the University in a manner as efficient as that encountered in any private competitive concern. Besides thus serving the University, the officials give very real assistance to a number of students each year by giving them positions as stenographers and assistants in the various offices. Many Idaho graduates have found permanent positions in these offices where they worked as undergraduates, and others use experience gained here to secure positions.

Southern Branch

JOHN R. NICHOLS

THE STUDENTS of the Class of 1927 at the Idaho Technical Institute climbed Red Hill one day, and with some ceremony changed the big white "T" to an "I." Established in 1901 as the Academy of Idaho, the school had grown until it had earned recognition as a branch of the State University. With full standing as a Junior College, the Southern Branch now offers very nearly the same work as is encountered in the first two years of any course at Moscow; in addition, the Southern Branch now has one of the finest and best-equipped Schools of Pharmacy in the West. This school has the fine record of having placed in responsible positions nearly all the students who have ever been graduated there with their Bachelor of Science degrees in Pharmacy. Students who have transferred from the Southern Branch to the University at Moscow have found the change was not difficult, and very many of them have won distinction in athletics, scholarship, and in dramatics. Attendance at Moscow of students who have transferred from Pocatello neared two hundred during the past year, and more than twenty will be graduated this year.

Executive Dean John R. Nichols has won the support of his students, and deserves credit for his promotion of friendship between the Branch and the University at Moscow.

Dean of Faculty

JAY GLOVER ELDRIDGE

AS EARLY AS 1896, Jay Glover Eldridge was a Phi Beta Kappa at Yale University, and shortly after that accepted a position on the faculty staff of the same institution. He came to Idaho in 1901, returning to Yale only long enough to take his Ph.D. degree in 1906. Since that time he has filled a number of positions at the University of Idaho, serving at different times as Director of the Summer Session, Dean of the College of Letters and Science, and Dean of the Graduate School. His broad experience enables him to fill efficiently the position of Dean of the Faculty, with the duty of acting in the absence of any other dean and presiding over the faculty meetings in the absence of President Neale. He is also Professor of Modern Languages, and teaches German, Old Norse Language, and European Literature. In 1926 he was instrumental in securing a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Idaho.

During the World War, Dean Eldridge accompanied American Expeditionary Forces in France as Y.M.C.A. Secretary. Since that time he has been active in civic and educational work. He is a member of the Advisory Council to the Simplified Spelling Board, and sponsor of the International Relations Club. During 1930-31 Dean Eldridge served as Grand Master of Masons for Idaho.

Dean of Women

PERMEAL J. FRENCH

TO DEAN PERMEAL J. FRENCH goes the task of directly supervising the women's living quarters in Moscow, and the managing of Hays Hall, Forney Hall, and the College Women's Club. Dean French also maintains the sorority house rules, and the rulings governing all campus social functions. Dean French, who was educated in the public schools of Idaho and the College of Notre Dame at San Francisco, holds M.A. degrees from the University of Idaho and George Washington in Washington, D.C. After serving as State Superintendent of Public Instruction, she became Dean of Women at the University of Idaho in 1908, and since that time has aided thousands of students to lead happier, better developed lives at the University. A thoroughly interesting conversational manner and the ability to remember every person she meets, makes her a frequent dinner guest at all of the fraternity and sorority houses on the campus.

Dean French is active in the administrative affairs of the campus and serves on the Health and Housing Committee, the Committee on the Residence of Women Students, the Student Organization Committee, the Academic Council, and the Calendar Committee. A true Idahoan, Dean French holds the growth of her alma mater as one of her greatest ideals.

Graduate School

CHARLES WILLIAM HUNGERFORD

AS YET the University of Idaho does not graduate a doctorate in any field, but the Graduate School does offer courses leading to the degree of Master of Arts, and the masters' degrees in the various sciences. In addition, the Graduate School grants professional degrees in the five branches of engineering. More than thirty departments offer majors toward the master's degree.

Charles William Hungerford is Dean of the Graduate School, and is assisted on the Graduate Council by Dean Messenger, Dean Farmer, Dean Fahrenwald, and Professors Hubert, Johnson, and Miller. Ella Letitia Olesen is secretary to the Graduate Council.

Dean Hungerford holds a B.S. degree from Upper Iowa University, an M.S. and a Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. From 1915 to 1917 he was Scientific Assistant in Cereal Investigation for the United States Department of Agriculture; between 1917 and 1919 he was Assistant Pathologist of the United States Department of Agriculture. Since 1919 he has been with the University of Idaho, and is now Professor of Plant Pathology, Assistant Dean of the College of Agriculture, and Vice-Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station. He is a member of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, of Sigma Xi, and Alpha Zeta.

College of Agriculture

EDWARD JOHN IDDINGS

BELIEVING THAT the best farm relief is the education of those who operate farms, the University is preparing hundreds of young men for scientific farm management and for efficient work in the agricultural industries. Besides offering excellent facilities in fourteen fields of major studies, the College of Agriculture offers service to the farmers of the state through its Extension Service; through the County Agents, the latest information on research, and accurate forecasts of economic conditions are made available to residents of every county in the state. The Agricultural Experiment Station, in connection with the University, carries on research in over one hundred and fifty separate problems of vital interest to the farmer.

Dean Edward John Iddings of the College of Agriculture was graduated from the Colorado Agricultural College in 1907, and was for a time a Special Agent of the Bureau of Plant Industry. Since 1910 he has served the University, taking time out in 1924 for a round-the-world tour. At present he is the Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, and Director of the Extension Service. He is a Fellow in the American Association for Advancement of Science, and a member of Sigma Xi, national scientific honorary, and Alpha Zeta, national agricultural honorary.

School of Business Administration

RALPH HUNTER FARMER

THE INCREASING ATTENTION being paid to the economics of government has brought new interest in the School of Business Administration, and this year finds two hundred and seventy students enrolled, twenty-five of whom will be graduated in June, 1935, with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. Freshmen and sophomores who expect to enter the Business School take the usual Junior College courses, but the junior year brings advanced courses, and the opportunity to choose one of five majors: General Business, Accounting, Commerce, Extractive Industries, or Secretarial Science. Subjects are not confined entirely to the business school.

Students in this school are served largely by the faculty staff of the College of Letters and Science, and by nine highly trained men in advanced business subjects. Dean Ralph Hunter Farmer received his A.B. degree from Oberlin College, taught school near Cleveland, and then served Minnesota until he came to Idaho in 1927. Since that time he has built up a progressive and attractive school. Assisting Dean Farmer are Associate Professor Erwin Graue; Assistant Professors Elmer E. Davison, Ellen Reiersen, Carl Tjerandsen, Willard J. Wilde, William C. Moore; and Professor Thomas S. Kerr.

School of Education

JAMES FRANKLIN MESSENGER

AT THE TIME the School of Education was first established, only two superintendents of Idaho's schools had been graduated from the University of Idaho; at the present time nearly all superintendents are graduates of the University. The School of Education keeps in intimate contact with every school in the state, and offers courses fitted to the needs of the schools.

During the summer session the School of Education is nearly as busy as it is during the regular session, since a state law requires that all persons who teach in Idaho shall have spent one session in residence at an Idaho college or university. Enrollment during the summer of 1934 was nearly six hundred, and will probably show another great increase during 1935.

James Franklin Messenger, Dean of the School of Education and Director of the Summer Session, received his A.B. from the University of Kansas, his A.M. from Harvard, and his Ph.D. from Columbia. After his graduation he taught successively in the University of New Mexico, Harvard University, Columbia, Virginia State Teachers' College, and the University of Vermont. Since 1920 he has been affiliated with the University of Idaho, and has written considerable work on the history of education.

College of Engineering

IVAN CHARLES CRAWFORD

SEPTEMBER, 1934, brought an increase of a hundred per cent in the enrollment of the freshmen in the College of Engineering; a thirty per cent increase in the enrollment of the whole college brings the total to three hundred and twenty-six. The present period of building and development offers considerable encouragement to the forty men who will be graduated in civil, electrical, chemical, mechanical, and agricultural engineering this spring.

Dean Ivan C. Crawford of the College of Engineering has had a most colorful and interesting career. After taking his degree from Colorado, he was graduated from the War College at Washington, D.C., and during the World War completed the course of training at the Army School of the Line, at Langres, France. He was chief of the Building Section of the Belgian Mission, and finally a member of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace. At present Dean Crawford is one of the University's best-known men; in state circles he is known as the State Engineer for the Federal Public Works Administration; in national circles he is known as one of the directors of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and one of a committee of seven to accredit engineering schools throughout the United States.

School of Forestry

RICHARD E. McARDLE

SINCE 1909 the students of Idaho have secured adequate preparation in forestry, and have entered the lumbering industry prepared for positions of leadership. The school is within a short distance of dense forests and some of the largest sawmills and logging camps in the United States. Excursions are made at all seasons of the year to sawmills, logging camps and various forests in order that practical field work in all branches of the science may be had. The University has approximately 10,000 acres of experimental forest land, a complete arboretum and nursery, and well-equipped laboratories for instruction in all branches of forestry. Foresters at Idaho are allowed to choose either General Forestry, Logging Engineering, or Range Management. Employment of the nineteen graduates promises to be good, many of the men going directly into the Forest Service, and others entering the service of private firms.

Dean Richard E. McArdle, installed as Dean of the School of Forestry in September, 1934, comes to us with his B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. Since 1924 he has been with the Forest Service, recently as Associate Silviculturist of the Pacific Northwest Forest Experiment Station at Portland, Oregon.

Junior College

THOMAS STONE KERR

It is the aim of the Junior College to offer the new student two years of general and cultural subjects, arranged so that he will have a good preparation for any field of advanced study which he may decide to enter, and planned to give him an adequate basis for making an intelligent selection of a profession or vocation. The increasing dependence being placed by the average student in the services and the opportunities for consultation and advice offered by the Junior College is shown by the increase in enrollment of over forty-five per cent over the figure of last year. The total enrollment of six hundred and thirteen includes all freshmen and sophomores who will enter the School of Business Administration and the College of Letters and Science. Thomas Stone Kerr, Dean of the Junior College, was superintendent of schools at Bonners Ferry before coming here in 1924, and since that time has written a book on business law which is now being used as a college text. Dean Kerr won his B.A. degree in Political Science at Indiana University, and his LL.B. from the University of Michigan. His time in Moscow has been well spent, for he has guided thousands of students through their first years, and was president of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce.

College of Law

PENDLETON HOWARD

For six successive years the College of Law has shown substantial increases, and fifty-three students are now registered in the law curriculum. In addition, many more are taking the combined Arts-Law six-year course, and still others are combining Business and Law in a six-year curriculum.

Pendleton Howard, newly-installed Dean of the College of Law, received his LL.B. from the University of Texas, his A.B., A.M., and Ph.D. in Public Law and Jurisprudence from Columbia University. Since 1929 he has served on the staff of the University of Idaho, and has written a text, "Criminal Justice in England," published in 1931.

In December, 1934, Dean Howard, with Professors Harding and Pittman, attended the thirty-second meeting of the Association of American Law Schools in Chicago. Dean Howard spoke on the subject, "What, if anything, should be done by the law schools to acquaint law students with the so-called New Deal legislation and its workings?" While at Northwestern University last year as visiting professor of law, Dean Howard gave a course in which acts of the New Deal Congress, including the NRA, the Banking Act, the Securities Act, and the Tennessee Valley Authority were studied.

College of Letters and Science

JOHN ANTON KOSTALEK

THE COLLEGE OF LETTERS AND SCIENCE, which includes the junior and senior years of the four-year curriculum, offers service to those who desire a non-professional training, those laying a broad foundation for professional studies, and those desiring technical training in professional or vocational curricula for which special schools or colleges have not been established. Doctors and chemists, physicists, scientists, journalists, and many others receive their training in the College of Letters and Science.

John Anton Kostalek, Dean of the College of Letters and Science, received his B.A. from the University of Illinois. From 1912 to 1918 he served as Research Chemist for the Goodrich Rubber Company, and in 1918 he turned his technical training to patriotic use in the Chemical Warfare Division of the United States Army. In 1919 Doctor Kostalek entered the Chemistry Department of the University; since that time he has risen to the position of dean of his college, carrying with him all of the accuracy and thoroughness of manner which he acquired in his years of scientific experience. He was President of the Northwest Science Association during 1930, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi.

School of Mines

ARTHUR W. FARENWALD

LOCATED scarcely a hundred miles from some of the richest deposits of silver and lead in the world, and near large gold mines that have been paying profits since 1880, the University's School of Mines offers an excellent opportunity for students to acquire practical experience in mining operations. The School of Mines has been organized since 1917, and grants degrees in mining, metallurgy, and geology.

When President Roosevelt last year called Dean John Wellington Finch to serve as the Director of the United States Bureau of Mines, his place at Idaho was filled by another well-known mining authority, Arthur William Fahrenwald. Dean Fahrenwald received his B.S. from the South Dakota School of Mines in 1914; he has later received professional mining degrees from South Dakota and New Mexico. From 1919 to 1924 he worked as research engineer for the United States Bureau of Mines; since 1929 he has been with the University of Idaho, and is also consulting metallurgist to the International Nickel Company of Canada. Dean Fahrenwald is the inventor of several ore-dressing processes and machines, and has published books on the flotation process and also on the cyanide process. He is a member of Sigma Xi.

Alumni Association

RALPH W. YORK

TO VOICE the united opinion of the alumni of the University, the Idaho Alumni Association was organized over forty years ago. Its meetings are held yearly, at Commencement, at which time election of officers for the coming year is held. Besides the president, there are elected three vice presidents, four regional vice presidents, and a secretary-treasurer. These officers for the past year have been president, Ralph W. York, ex-'19, Boise; vice presidents, Lawrence Huff, '21, Moscow; Mrs. A. J. Peavey, '03, Twin Falls; and Thos. P. West, '25, Pocatello. Regional vice presidents are as follows: First, Gerald Gehrke, '28, Idaho Falls; second, J. H. Christ, '19, Sandpoint; third, Doctor Carroll Smith, '01, Spokane, Washington; fourth, Floyd Marchesi, '25, Kellogg. Secretary-treasurer of the organization is Oren A. Fitzgerald, '23, of Moscow.

Certain members of the Alumni Association during the past year have organized the Vandal Booster Club, a group of graduates pledged to support the athletic program, aiming to assist the coaching staff in putting out good athletic teams.

Working for the betterment of the University, members of the club are continually in session.

STUDENT ADMINISTRATION

GEORGE E. HORTON

Graduate Manager

THE DUTY of the Graduate Manager is to budget and control the funds of the Associated Students. Activities included under his supervision are athletics, publications, dramatics, debate, music, stock-judging, and rifle marksmanship. This position requires cooperation with all of the student managers, the student coaches, and the Student Body officials. It demands business ability, and the critical examination of every purchase, so that the Student Body may secure the fullest return from its investments. The yearly expenses of student activities are around seventy-five thousand dollars, most of the income being derived from the payment of Associated Student Body fees, and the guarantees and gate receipts from athletic contests.

George E. Horton, who holds this position, has been well-known and admired ever since his under-graduate days at Idaho, when he helped to draw up the first constitution for the Associated Students of the University of Idaho, and captained the football team that won the northwest championship in 1900. For several years prior to his appointment as Graduate Manager, "Cap" Horton served on the Alumni Executive Board. He is assisted in his office by Mrs. Lillian Bair.

Through "Cap's" wise management and careful planning, and with the assistance of federal grants of money, four new concrete tennis courts have been built on the campus. New bleachers were also built at the end of MacLean Field.

Associated Students

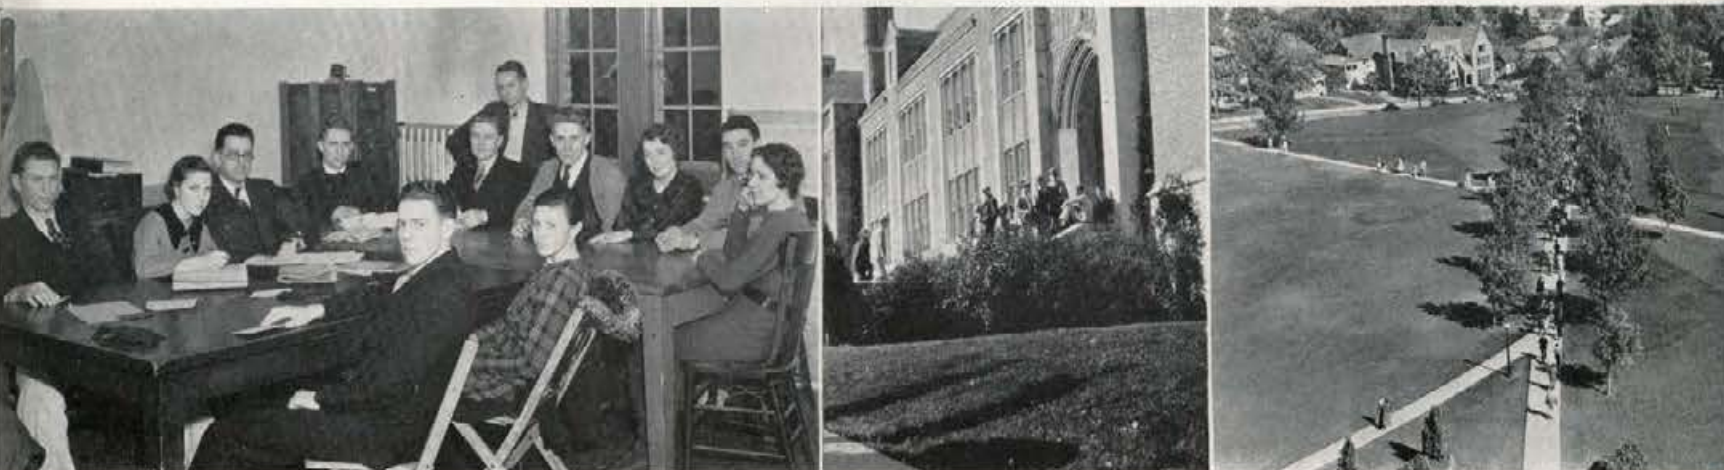

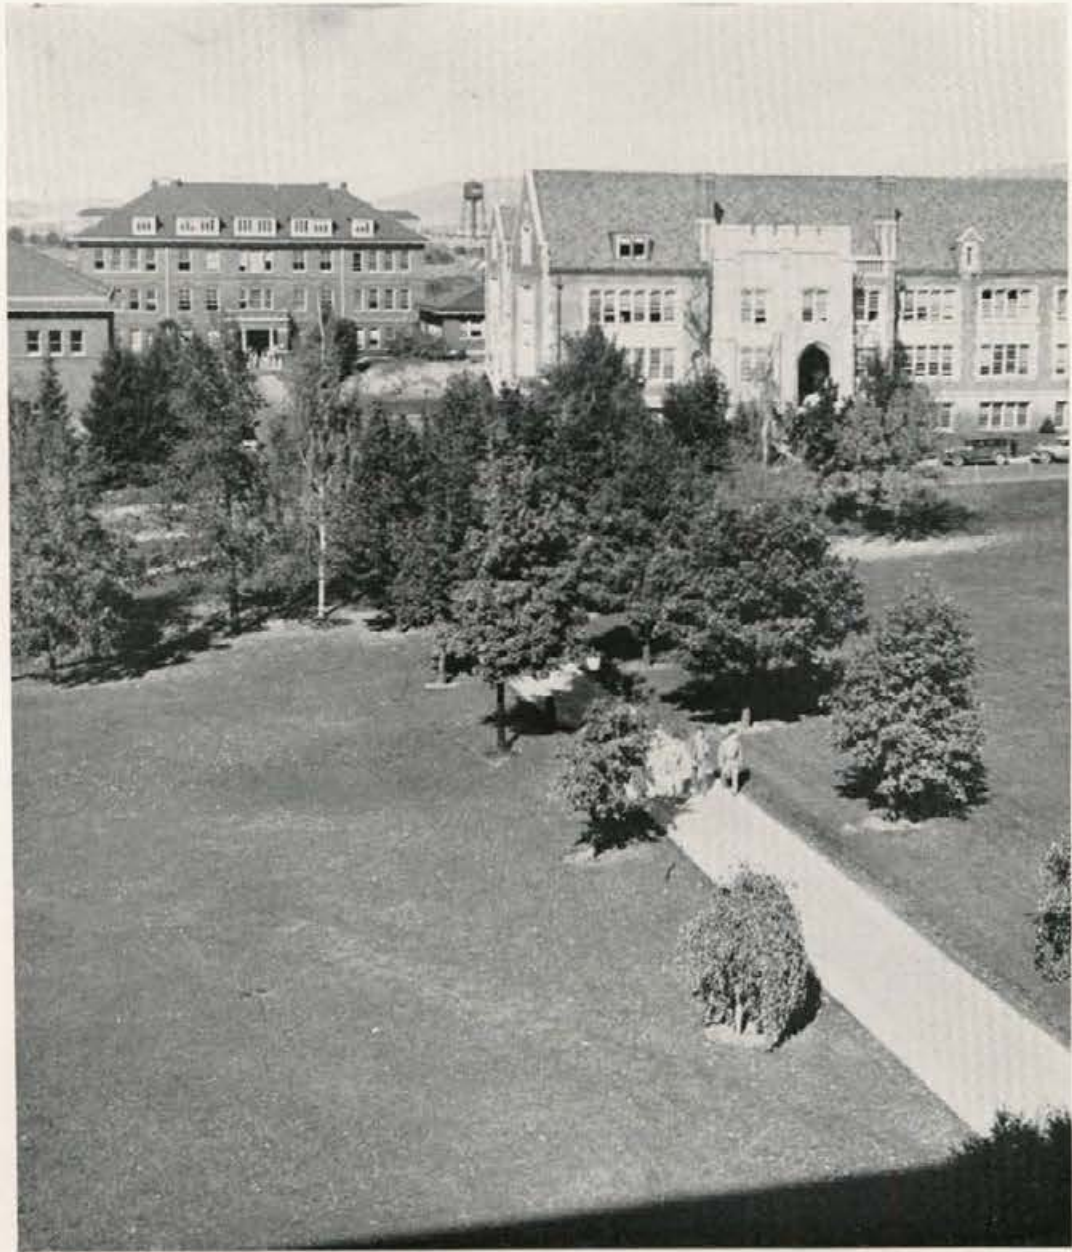

DAVID KENDRICK

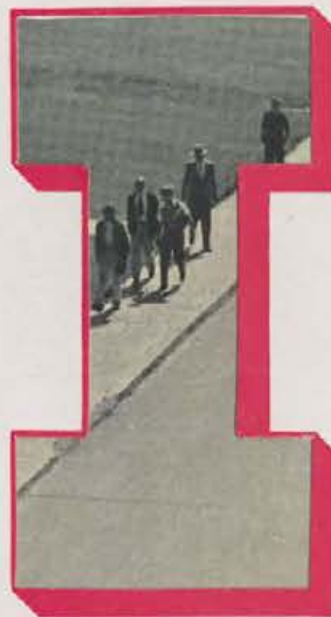

WINNERS in an exciting election in the Spring of 1934, the members of the Executive Board of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho were installed into their respective offices before the close of the second semester of last year. During the ensuing term they held weekly meetings for discussing and taking necessary action on student affairs. David Kendrick, president of the Associated Students, was chairman of the executive board; William Wetherall, vice-president, was vice-chairman. Mary Ellen Brown, as secretary of the Associated Students, also held the position of secretary of the executive board. Remaining members of the executive board were Robert Bennett and Leslie Albee, senior men; Frances Wimer and Mary Hartley, senior women; Louis August and Bernard Peterson, junior men; Mary Jane Pace, junior woman; Bill Armstrong, sophomore man. Ex-officio members were Dean T. S. Kerr, faculty advisor; Abe Goff, resident alumnus; Harold Boyd, editor of The Idaho Argonaut; Ethlyn O'Neal, president of the Associated Women Students.

During the past year, besides having the usual work of supervising publications, athletics, dramatics, music, and forensics, the executive board has done considerable work in the preparation of a proportional representation plan for the election of officers, and has planned a number of General Assemblies for the entertainment of the student body.

The Senior class ended four years of student activity with a highly successful Senior Ball. Arthur Hagen, President the first semester, and Brennan Davis, President the second semester, deserve praise for the work they did in making the affair such a success.

A strong supporting cast for the leaders was headed by Jack Barbee and Herschell Swann, Vice Presidents for the two semesters. Helen Thornhill was Secretary the first semester and Howard Arnett was elected Treasurer. Alice Bell and Donald Ridings served in these positions the second semester.

Looking back, it's a long time from the time one wears a green hat until he wears a cap and gown. It's a short time, however, from the time one enters the University until he is graduated.

In the four years that are now ended for the members of the senior class, many achievements have been accomplished by the group as a whole. Unrivalled leaders have been developed and unrivalled activities have been introduced. Under capable officers, the Class of 1935 says good-bye to that chapter known as "college."

FIRST SEMESTER OFFICERS

NORMAN IVERSON
BETTY GOODWIN

JANE POST
WALLACE GERAGHTY

At last an upperclassman!—With the turning from sophomore to junior comes not only a step forward in academic achievement but an advance in campus power and prestige. The underclassman becomes a mighty corduroy-garbed paddle-wielder, while potential campus powers blaze forth in realization of their ambitions.

To give deserved weight to the position of the junior, the university tradition of a week set aside in their honor as Junior week has become one of each year's bright spots. The year passes quickly, new juniors come, the old move up the ladder of life a notch, their freshman ambitions realized—they've become juniors.

Douglas Smith, Wilma Mitchell, Mary Jane Pace, Joseph Paquet

SECOND SEMESTER OFFICERS

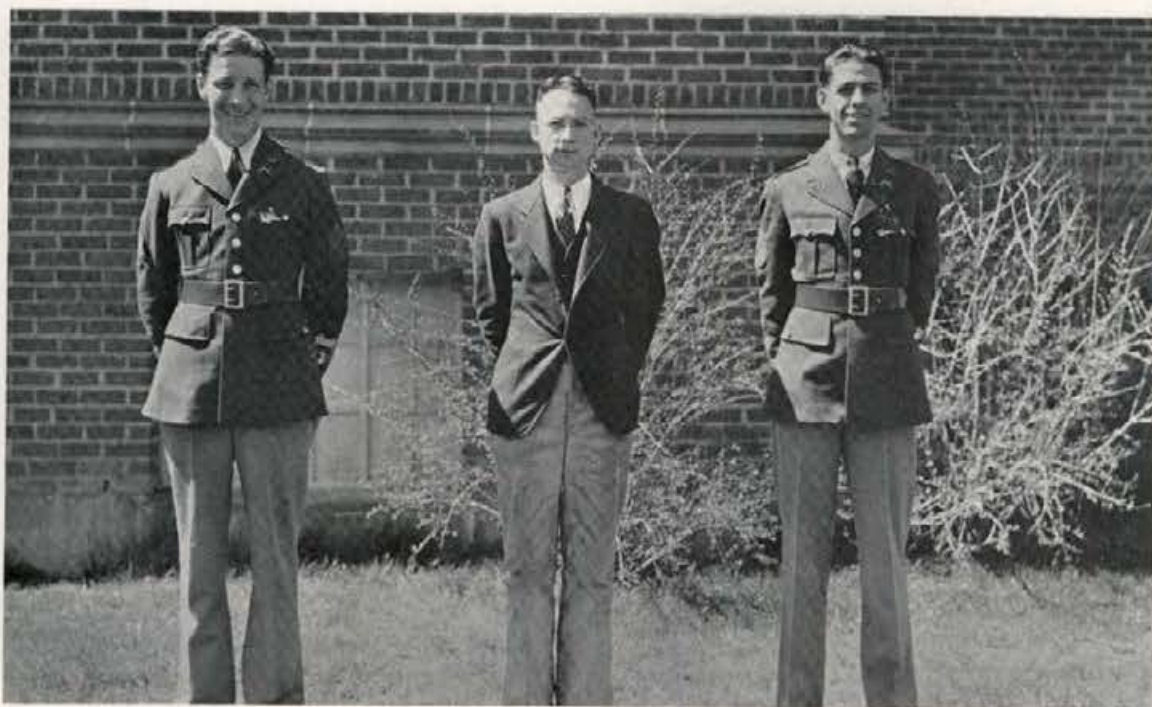

WILLIAM O'NEILL
DOROTHY REQUA

GERALD STAUDACHER
FLOYD CLAYPOOL

"Who will be the Prom Queen?" This was the cry that all Juniors gave at the beginning of Junior Week. The week started on April 23 with "Amateur Night," in a great search for good and poor talent on the campus, where Juniors chased across the Auditorium stage a group of green-horns. "Harlem" was the theme of the Junior Mixer, followed by the Prom and Cabaret. William Chatterton was general chairman of the week.

Norman Iverson was Junior Class President the first semester and William O'Neill the second. Other first semester officers were Jane Post, Vice President; Betty Goodwin, Secretary; Wallace Geraghty, Treasurer. Gerald Staudacher, Vice President; Dorothy Requa, Secretary; and Floyd Claypool, Treasurer, were the second semester officers.

JAMES MCFARLAND
ROY GRAY

FIRST SEMESTER OFFICERS

The Sophomores, although they have no student traditions such as the other classes, gave a Holly-Day Dance which may become a tradition, because of its success. Roy Gray was general chairman of the dance with Esther Flenner, Winston Goss, and Earl Bullock assisting him.

Winston Goss was elected President of the class the first semester, Fred Mason succeeding him the second semester. Other first semester officers were James McFarland, Vice President; Jo Betty Wickes, Secretary; Roy Gray, Treasurer. John Cooper served as Vice President, Doris McDermott as Secretary, and Marie Schneider as Treasurer the second semester.

FRED RASMUSSEN
DORIS McDERMOTT

JOHN COOPER
MARIE SCHNEIDER

The sophomore class is usually recognized as a non-distinct group—just through with their first year and not yet upperclassmen. This past year, however, the second-year class has not only been recognized by the others, but it also has been patronized to a great extent by them.

Campus leaders and scholars of the future have suddenly arisen and shown their capability and forwardness. Both the men and the women of the class have shown their ability to make the grade. The climax of the year for the Sophomores was the highly-successful dance which they gave previous to Christmas vacation.

FRESHMEN

ROBERT MASON
LOUINE PAULSEN EDWARD RILEY

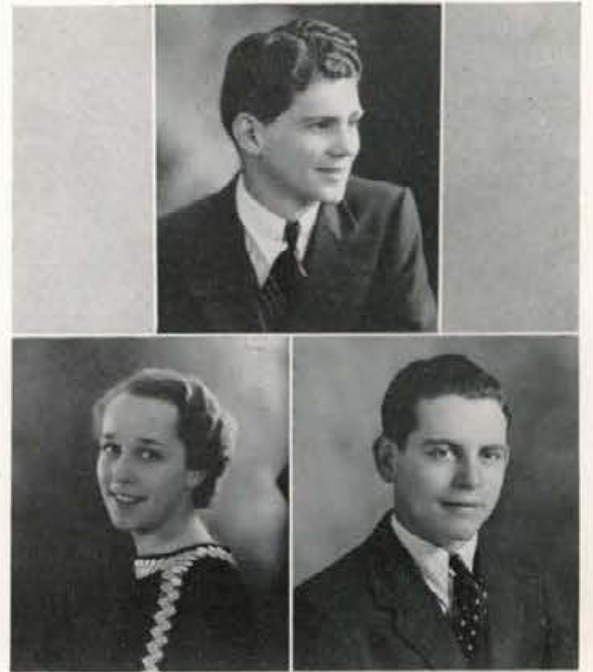

The Freshmen proved to be a lively class by providing a homecoming bonfire to welcome the alumni of Idaho. In social activities, the Freshmen were not outdone this year. The Freshman Glee, sponsored by the Freshman class, was one of the most successful of spring dances.

Robert Mason was Class President the first semester, Henry Schlegel, Vice President; Louise Paulsen, Secretary; and Edward Riley, Treasurer. Those elected the second semester were Robert Rogers, President; Laurence Duffin, Vice President; Marie Haasch, Secretary; and Max Kenworthy, Treasurer.

SECOND SEMESTER OFFICERS

LAURENCE DUFFIN
MARIE HAASCH MAX KENWORTHY

'Tis a hodge-podge those first few days of the freshman year. Shake up the "special," rush week, psychology and English exams, registration, edicts, and the Hulme Fight, and you have the first week of college in a nutshell.

Gradually the freshman comes into his own, that is, he is at least recognized. His class builds the homecoming bonfire, guards the campus, and perchance he may be invited to the social event of events, an "I" Club party.

COACH LEO CALLAND

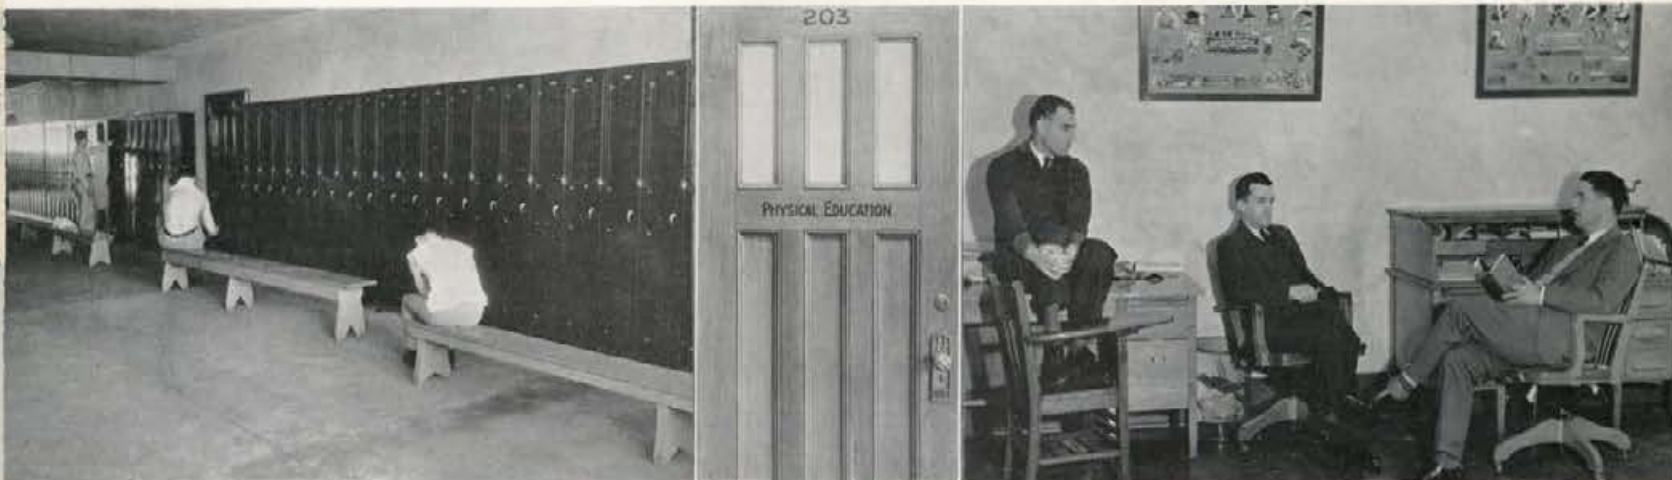

Director of Athletics

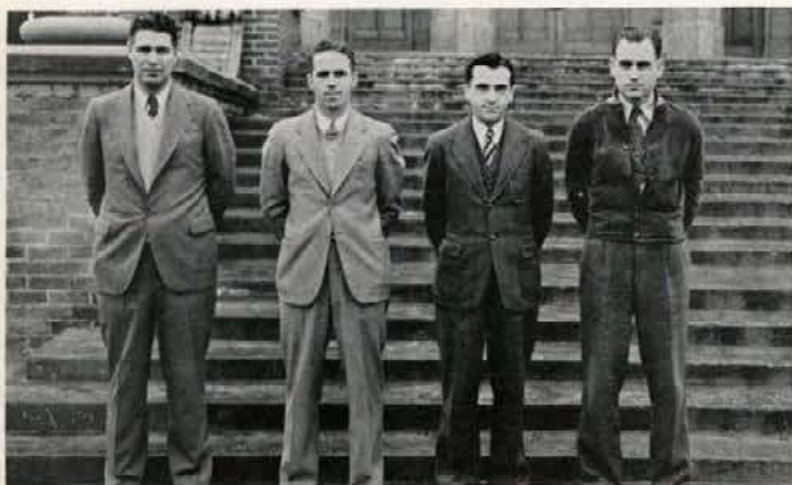

LEO CALLAND, completing his last year as Director of Athletics and head of the Physical Education Department, leaves behind him a commendable record. During his six years at Idaho, Calland completely revised the physical education program, promoting an extensive intramural program, a teachers' training course, and required classes for freshmen and sophomores. Majors in the field receive training from the men who coach the varsity teams.

In his capacity as head football coach, Calland, with his club playing in one of the strongest sections of the United States, achieved a record of twenty-one games won out of fifty-two played. Four intersectional jaunts were made, among them being a trip to Hawaii in 1930, when the University of Hawaii defeated the Vandals for the only intersectional defeat in six years. In 1932 the Vandals proved the superiority of the Pacific Coast Conference by overwhelming Utah State Agricultural College, a strong contender in the Rocky Mountain Conference, 33 to 0.

A graduate of the University of Southern California, Calland was captain of the first Troy delegation to play in the Rose Bowl classic. A second All-Rose Bowl berth was another plum to go to Calland that year. The next six years were spent in coaching in his alma mater and at Whittier College. Since coming to Idaho in 1929, Calland has turned out teams worthy of the tradition, "Idaho Fights."

Coaches

To produce teams that carry on the fighting Idaho tradition are tasks which have fallen the past years to Head Coach Leo Calland, Coach Rich Fox, varsity basketball, baseball, and assistant football; Otto Anderson, track and freshman football; Glenn Jacoby, freshman basketball and assistant varsity football; and Trainer Ralph Hutchinson. For five years these men have united in developing Idaho athletics, and their "never say die" teams prove they have succeeded.

All of the Vandal coaches have won honors in the sporting world. Calland was a stellar lineman at U.S.C.; Anderson twice represented the United States at the Olympiad; Fox was a basketball and baseball regular at Idaho; and Jacoby, another Idaho man, was a three-sport letter winner. Trainer Ralph Hutchinson was an all-American quarterback.

"I" Men

To the "I" Club goes the duty of maintaining campus traditions and customs. Only the cream of the Idaho athletic crop is admitted to the club, its members being selected from varsity letter winners in football, basketball, baseball, and track. No group is more enthusiastically in favor of clean-playing, hard-fighting Idaho athletic clubs, and with the fellowship provided by the organization, have an opportunity to discuss ways and means with which to achieve them. Whether the task in line is the enforcement of wearing the "I" caps at games, the "green lid" rule for freshmen, or just a job that no one else wants to do, the "I" Club is always willing to lend a hand. No bunch of shrinking violets are these, but worthy successors to Idaho athletic traditions.

Yell Leaders

Donald McKee, Paul Kerr, Otto Power

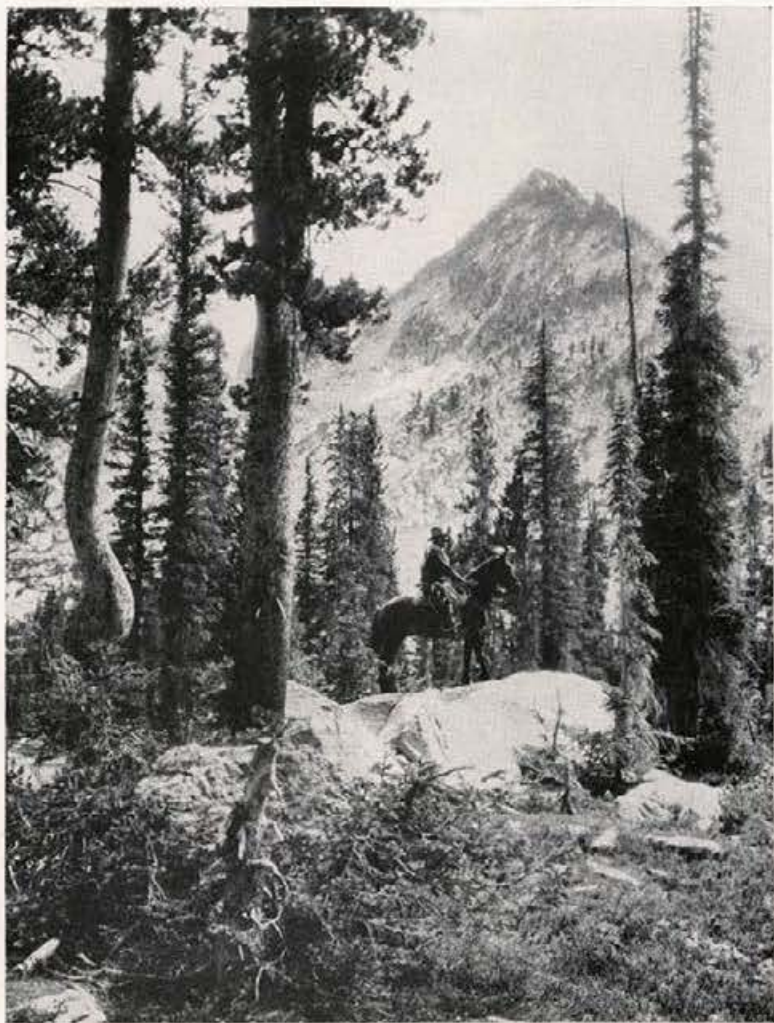

Lack of support on the part of the student body made the job of keeping up Idaho pep and spirit unusually hard for Yell King Paul Kerr and his dukes, Otto Power and "Spike" McKee. After earnest efforts on the parts of the yell leaders, a good share of the revered Idaho "Fight" spirit was revived. New yells and stunts between the halves of the football games were evolved by Kerr and his assistants. During the basketball season, a rooting section composed of the most vociferous members of each group house on the campus was organized, creating a unity never before achieved at Idaho. In collaboration with the Spurs and the Pep Band, novel stunts were presented during half-time periods throughout the basketball season. Idaho spirit is again on the up!

Pep Band

The Idaho Pep Band breaks into the strains of "Go, Vandals, Go," and immediately a hand-clapping, feet-shuffling mob of Idaho rooters rise to their feet and sing their alma mater's fight song. Such is the scene when the Band, under the spirited leadership of Bob Campbell, appears at Idaho athletic functions. Famous since 1920 for their stirring music, the band has continued to make a name for itself this year, making a trip to Spokane for a pep rally on the eve of the W.S.C. game. Wherever they go, listeners are impressed with the finesse of the bandmen, and go home muttering wonderingly at their spirited rendition of "Twelfth Street Rag," the watch note of the Pep Band since its inception.

Idaho completed her 1934 football season standing seventh in the Pacific Coast Conference ratings. The Vandals wound up the season by winning the first intersectional game they have played in several years from the Creighton Bluejays by a score of 13 to 0 in a Thanksgiving Day game at Omaha.

During the season the Idaho team was seriously handicapped by the loss of many regulars because of injuries. Harold Klumb, veteran tackle and halfback, and "Lefty" Inman, stellar southpaw passer, were on the bench for several games because of injuries. Early in the season Theron Ward, a letterman playing in the regular fullback position, was lost for the season because of an operation.

While other conference teams could work out in field houses during bad weather, Calland was forced to work his men outside in all kinds of weather. Many times in the late fall the Vandals had to practice under flood lights.

Clarence Devlin, sensational sophomore quarterback, proved to be Idaho's most consistent scorer. He also made the longest run for a score, traveling 38 yards to cross the goal line against the College of Idaho. Ross Sundberg, Devlin's running mate, had an average net gain of four yards for every time he carried the ball.

The Vandals journeyed to Seattle for their first conference game of the season, which they lost to the University of Washington 13 to 0. After holding the highly touted Huskies to a score of 0 to 0 in the first half, the Vandals' defense weakened, allowing Washington to score touchdowns in each of the last periods. Idaho's offense consisted almost entirely of a passing attack built around Bob McCue and Norm Iverson, both of whom received a great deal of praise from coast sport critics. Idaho was forced to play the game without the services of "Lefty" Inman, left-handed passer, who had been left in Moscow because of a seriously injured knee.

In the first half Idaho barely missed three scoring opportunities. Russ Honsowetz, who snagged three Washington passes during the game, gave Idaho the first break when he intercepted Ahonen's pass in the opening minutes of play. Before Washington could get the ball back to midfield, Idaho had made three valiant but unsuccessful attempts to score. Each time when within scoring distance, the Vandal passing attack, which seemed to function perfectly in midfield, bogged down and Washington took the ball on downs.

The second half the Vandals battled the Washington team on even terms until late in the third period, when a 36-yard run by Bufkin put the Huskies on the four-yard line in scoring position. On the next play a pass from Bufkin to Ahonen scored.

At the opening of the third quarter, the Huskies drove from midfield to the 21-yard line, from which Haines scored on an end run. Late in the game a pass from McCue to Anderson was good for 48 yards, placing the ball on the Washington 18-yard line, but the Vandal spurt was stopped a few plays later by an interception.

Both teams turned to the air for their offensive strength, Idaho throwing 32 passes, while the Huskies tried 20.

In their first home game, featuring the newly-initiated annual Dad's Day, the Vandals suffered an unexpected defeat by the Gonzaga Bulldogs, 20 to 24, in a game furnishing plenty of thrills for the 6,500 spectators.

A blocked punt by Norm Iverson on the third play of the game gave Idaho its first chance to score. The Vandals drove to the 32-yard line, from which McCue passed to Iverson, who was run out of bounds on the one-yard line. Geraghty scored on the next play and Moser's try for point was good.

Only three plays later, Ike Peterson intercepted an Idaho pass and ran 55 yards for the Bulldogs' first score. Soon after the kick-off a bad pass from center was recovered by Gonzaga on Idaho's seven-yard line. McNeese outran the entire Idaho team to circle his own end for the score. The Bulldogs scored again in the first period after recovering Geraghty's fumble on the Idaho 25-yard line.

Idaho scored twice in the second quarter to lead at the half by a 20-to-18 score. Late in the third period Gonzaga pushed over another touchdown for what proved to be the final score, 24 to 20.

The Vandals tossed 28 passes, completing 11 and having four intercepted. Gonzaga passed six times to complete three and have one intercepted. Idaho rolled up 15 first downs to six for Gonzaga.

A cold drizzling rain took considerable glamour from the Homecoming game played with the powerful Oregon eleven on MacLean Field, October 20. The Oregon Ducks were at home on the muddy field, and this fact, combined with the power and speed of Michek and Morse's ability to snag passes, gave to Oregon a well-deserved 13-6 victory. Although the condition of the field prevented any flashy open playing, the remarkable playing of Oregon's Michek and the punting of Idaho's big Earl Smith supplied the thrills for the game. Especially outstanding was the punting of Earl Smith, who averaged 46 yards on his seven boots, which is remarkable, considering the condition of the field. Oregon scored first in the second quarter on a pass to Parke. The next score for the winners came in the third quarter after an 80-yard march. Idaho's lone score came when Dick Nutting, guard, broke through the Duck line to block a punt, which was picked up by Anderson and carried across the goal. The fourth quarter was dominated by the Vandals. The Ducks were kept in their own territory most of the time and twice had to kick from behind their own goal.

The diminutive Vandal squad, although unable to stop the more powerful Oregon eleven, made an excellent display of good football, together with plenty of pluck and grit.

Idaho encountered more hot water than they expected in the Montana Grizzly fray. After a rousing send-off by the student body, the Vandals left to meet the Grizzlies upon the foreign field, confident that they would come off the field with the long end of the score. Perhaps they were too confident.

The Vandals were victims of circumstance in not piling up a greater score. They made over twice as many first downs. Idaho played bang up ball and deserves much more credit for the victory than they received. Paul Berg, the iron Vandal, turned in another sixty minutes of play. The Idaho running attack of Sundberg, Devlin, and Dayton did more than their share toward winning the victory. Also honorable mention would go to Moser, Klumb, and Hesse, the Vandal tackles, for their outstanding and aggressive play.

"Hank" Blastic, the twisting, turning dynamo of the Grizzly squad, contributed greatly in his sensational open field running to the excellent showing made by the Montanans. Rhinehart, Heller, and Emery stood out for Coach Oakes' club also.

All in all, the Grizzlies made very evident that they resented being considered under-dogs to any ball club, and showed indications of the strength they manifested in the tie game with O. S. C. later in the season.

State honors came to the Vandals by virtue of their 12-0 victory over the highly touted team of the College of Idaho, coached by Loren Basler. Fumbles and errors on the part of both teams predominated the course of the whole game. The field was in a fair condition, although the stadium grounds had been covered with hay for a week preceding the contest.

Ross Sundberg and Clarence Devlin carried the brunt of the Idaho power plays. These men netted one touchdown each. Unleashing good offensive power at the beginning of the third quarter, Idaho scored its first touchdown of the day. The Vandals obtained possession of the ball on their own 15-yard line, and on a sustained drive of 85 yards they scored. Sundberg went over the stripe from his own 12-yard line. He alone gained advances of 15, 12, and 9 yards before scoring. The second score came late in the fourth quarter when Devlin outran the Coyotes' secondary defense to chalk up six more points.

Yet the stubborn Coyotes put up a battle that is worthy of mention. Many more times during the fray they had Idaho in hot water—in fact, water at times that proved to be too hot. Poor defensive play and errors on the part of both teams marked the game as listless, while a shivering crowd of 2,500 fans looked on.

Idaho 0 W. S. C. 19

In the "Big Game" of the season Idaho lost 19-0 to the superior Hollingberry team of Cougars. It was a disastrous day for Idaho. From the opening play, when Christoffersen carried the kick-off to a sensational 65-yard spurt for a touchdown, never was the outcome of the contest in doubt. By playing straight, clever football, Washington State showed its superiority from the first to the final bark of the gun.

Following Christoffersen's opening dash, the Vandals obtained possession of the oval. Three passes were attempted, and Idaho kicked on the fourth down. Once again the Hollingberry men were on their way to score. Later in the same period, Sundberg's punt was partially blocked and Washington State took possession of the ball on Idaho's 38-yard line. Four more plays were all that were necessary and the Cougars again scored, making the score 19-0 as the half ended. This proved to be the final score. Idaho put up a more stubborn and determined attack in the second half. But it also saw Calland's men attempting 21 passes, completing 8 of them. Of a total of 177 yards from scrimmage, 123 came as a result of 10 passes completed.

Regardless of the Cougar power, the contest was full of thrills, and from the 12,000 spectators' point of view, the game was very interesting. A fog settled over Rogers Field early in the game, and by the fourth quarter the field was entirely obliterated from view. By virtue of the Cougar victory, "Babe" Hollingberry was able to keep his record clean in never being defeated on the home field in battle. Before the game ended, however, Washington State gridders had to admit "Idaho is not lost in the fog."

Despite the one-sided score of 45-13 run up by the California Bears against the Vandals in their November 17 battle, it was one of the most thrilling and spectacular games played on the coast this year. The hard-running Bear backfield, led by Arleigh Williams, could not be stopped and took the limelight in their 75-, 45-, and 33-yard touchdown marches. But the most thrilling moments of the game were supplied by our own "Booming Bob" McCue. He was declared to be the most versatile player to perform in Berkeley this fall, and his distance heaves were unequaled by any other passer on the coast. Idaho took an early seven to nothing lead in the tussle, but lost it late in the second quarter when the Bears put over two quick touchdowns. Three more goals were made by California in the third quarter, while the fourth quarter saw two touchdowns made in the first two minutes of play—one was a 73-yard sprint by the Bears' speed king, Ed Vallejo, and the other by Idaho as a result of Bob McCue's 45-yard pass to Iverson, who was downed on the four-yard line. Sundberg bucked the oval over. Late in the fourth period Idaho recovered a fumble and appeared to be goalward bound when McCue tossed a pass to Anderson for a 22-yard gain, but the chance was lost when Smith's attempted field goal went low and wild. Although unable to stop the heavier attack of the Bears, the Vandals proved that "Idaho Fights."

Wide open ball, the kind that makes the turnstiles click, was the type the Vandals played, and the California sports loving public proved their appreciation by rousing ovations for the visiting Vandals. The sharp shooting passing of Idaho, combined with the running of Vallejo, produced a real field day.

Idaho 13 Creighton 0

The Vandals, after a short week's rest from their California jaunt, traveled east to Omaha for a Thanksgiving Day game with Creighton University. The team was in splendid condition and entered the game determined to break the deadlock between the teams of one game each, set in 1925 and 1926, which they did to the tune of 13-0. The initial goal was the result of a well-executed play. Devlin received a punt on his 40-yard line, and without moving handed the ball to Honsowetz, who crashed to Creighton's 26-yard line. A plunge by Devlin and another by Sundberg placed the ball on the 15-yard line for a first down. After three more drives the ball was on the one-yard line and fourth down. On the next play Devlin scored on an end run. The second and last score of the game came late in the second quarter. Geraghty received a punt on his own 35-yard line and returned it to his 39, and then McCue threw a perfect pass to Creighton's 25-yard line, where it was taken by Anderson, who managed to shake a tackler loose and run the rest of the way untouched. The extra point was made by Moser. Only once did the Bluejays scare the Vandals. That was when, perchance, Pat Holland, Bluejay center, intercepted an Idaho pass and ran 82 yards only to be stopped on the three-yard line, and in the next four plays lost 12 yards. For a dozen Vandals, Creighton was the last game played under the silver and gold.

CLEMENT MARCH

A victory after nine years of defeat! The Idaho Vandals started their conference basketball play in a spectacular manner by defeating the Washington Huskies on the Seattle floor, something that hadn't been done in almost a decade. The Idaho quintet dropped their second game to the Huskies, and their first tilt with Oregon. The next night's win over Oregon and two over Washington State, however, put the Vandals in a good position to win the conference. And then came the Oregon trip. Two straight losses to Oregon and two to Oregon State definitely put the Vandals out of the running. Home floor losses to Washington, Oregon State, and W. S. C. placed Idaho in the cellar. Vic Warner, speedy guard, and Harold Klumb, big center, will be the only men missing from this year's squad next season, and with promising material coming up from the frosh squad, the 1936 basketceers should go places. Wally Geraghty, speedy little guard, was placed on the second all-coast team.

A brilliant upset victory over the 1934 Pacific Coast conference champion University of Washington Huskies was an auspicious start for the Vandal basketball season. Led by Klumb and Geraghty, the Idaho team forged ahead in the last few minutes of play to win their first game on the Seattle court in nine years by a score of 37 to 36. Washington managed to even the series on the following evening when they emerged victorious, 30 to 24, after a fast and furious battle. Geraghty was the high scorer for the two games with a total of 19 points, scored while holding dangerous Bobby Galer to five field goals during the series. Klumb provided a sensation by sinking eleven free throws without a miss in the games.

Sparked by high-scoring "Goose" Galer, the Huskies opened the Moscow series by crashing through with a 40 to 37 victory in a rough, colorful game before an immense crowd. Galer kept the basket hot as he tossed the ball through for seventeen points. The Huskies led by but one point at the half, 20 to 19, but hit a fast pace in the second half and had a nine-point lead shortly before the final gun. Idaho missed 12 free throws during the game. Larson, with 14 points, led the Vandal scorers. Fox's men made a valiant effort to even the series on the following night but lost a heart-breaker as Egge converted in the final seconds to give Washington a 34 to 32 win. Klumb, with 14 points, starred for the Vandals.

Oregon's Webfeet, a team that played brilliant ball at times during the year, took the Vandal series, 3 to 1. Idaho drubbed Oregon in the second Moscow game for its only Duck win.

Idaho was blazing away with a fire that had other conference schools worried when Oregon came to Moscow. After leading 17 to 11 at half time in the first game, Oregon faltered to let Idaho knot the score at 27-all, then eked out a 29-27 victory on Bud Jones' pivot shot in the closing seconds. Wally Geraghty, Idaho guard, sank 13 points.

With Geraghty looping one on the opening tip-off, Idaho piled up a 39-21 win in the second game. Half-time score was 21-6 for Idaho. Oregon unsuccessfully used ten men to stop the Vandal onslaught.

At Eugene, too much Sammy Leibowitz and Willie Jones decided the first game. With only three minutes to go, the Vandals led 27-24. Leibowitz passed a point-getter to Jones, but Vic Warner holed out a dribble to give Idaho a 29-26 margin. Two rapid fire baskets, however, on "Leiby's" assists saved the Webfeet.

Substitute forward Rolly Rourke rallied Oregon in the second tilt, the Webfeet winning, 42-35. Trailing 23-17 at half time, the Vandals evened it up to a 27-35 score with five minutes to play. Two baskets by Rourke on zooming passes from Leibowitz doomed Idaho.

Two defeats at the hands of Oregon State, 25-18 and 24-18, snapped the fiery spirit of the Vandals. The Beaver victories, following two losses to the University of Oregon, climaxed a disastrous road trip for Idaho.

Keeping pace with the Beavers in the first game, the Vandals fought on even terms to within five minutes of the end. Then wiry little Wally Palmberg snaked a left-handed toss through the net for the Orangemen, giving them the edge, 21-18. Another shot by Palmberg and a tip-in by Conkling, Beaver center, ended the scoring.

Unable to shatter an impenetrable defense, a tired Vandal crew never overtook the Beavers in the second game.

By garnering the two Moscow games, 26-24 and 35-37, Oregon State cinched the northern division title and shoved Idaho into the cellar.

Idaho just missed in the first home game. Though Oregon State led off, Idaho rallied to lead 18-17 early in the final period. A swift rally, however, brought the invaders' total to 25. Baskets by Warner and Fisher and Larson's free throw boosted Idaho within tying distance, but the rally fell short.

In the final game the Beavers cut a 9 to 2 Idaho lead down to one point at half time, 14-13. Smothered, the Vandals bowed to a final winning barrage of Oregon State baskets.

Idaho vs. Washington State!

In split series, Idaho divided four contests with the Cougars. The first game saw Idaho playing her first at home. Just returning from Washington, where they divided a twin bill, the Vandals delivered the goods. The final score stood 37-28 for Idaho. The Vandals, clicking in perfect unison, piled up a 22-11 lead by half time. At this junction of the game it appeared that Idaho had the game put on ice, but the Cougars came from behind to take the lead, 28-29. Once again Idaho, led by Klumb, mustered together all they had and took the contest.

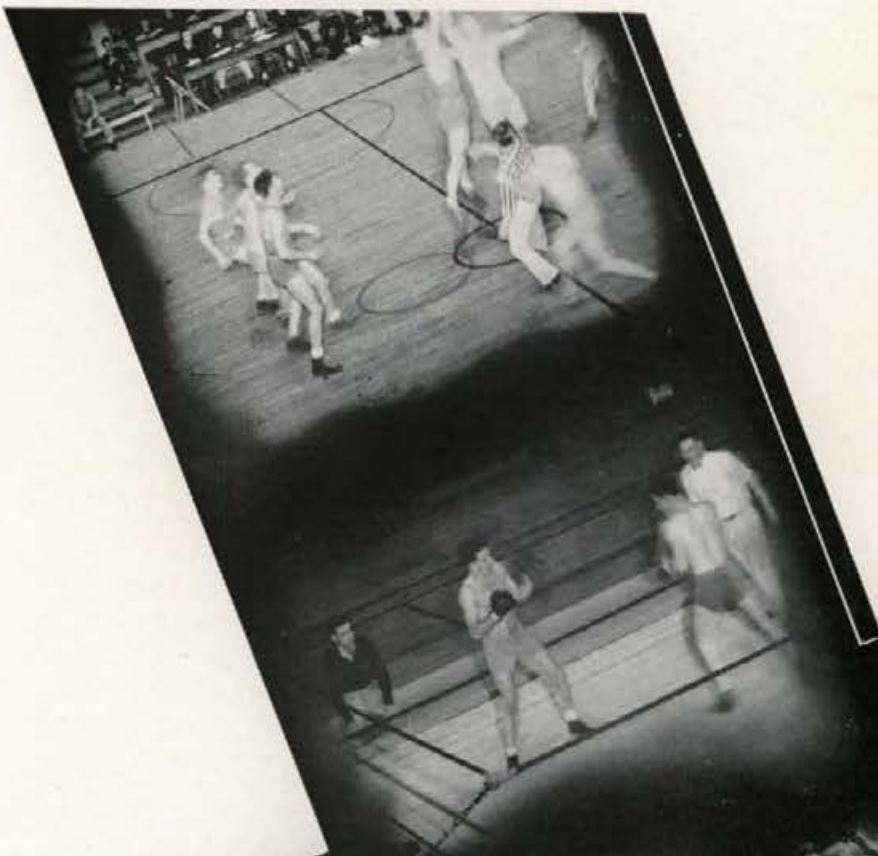

With Klumb in the infirmary, prospects for the second game at Pullman were not so bright. The Vandals, however, exhibited a stiff defensive and smooth running offense the first half to tie the score at 19-all. The second half changed matters, the Cougars pulling out in front and never losing the lead until the end of the game. The score then stood 42-31.

Before 3700 fans, Idaho registered a 29-30 victory over the foes from across the line in their third game. In as dramatic a finish as one could hope to see, Geraghty came through with a freak one-hand push shot when Idaho was behind, 28-29, and put the game in the win column.

"Idaho's hopes for emerging from the cellar position are blasted!" Such was the report after the last game of the season when the Vandals were defeated 34-23. W. S. C. went wild in netting 17 points the first half as against 3 for Idaho.

COACH OTTO ANDERSON

Winners in three dual meets out of five, Coach Otto Anderson's 1934 Vandal trackmen had a busy and fairly successful season of competition. Early season meets with Whitman College and Cheney Normal resulted in overwhelming wins for the Idaho squad. At Pullman the Vandals showed surprising power, although they were defeated 73 to 58 by Washington State College's 1934 conference champion squad. Oregon State College also won from Idaho, 76 to 55, in a dual meet at Corvallis, but the Vandals kept Anderson's record of never losing to Montana clear as they defeated the Grizzlies in an exciting 67-to-64 duel. Captain Jim Kalbus, Carroll Livingston, Theron Ward, Bill Squance, Bob Felton, and George Rich made up Idaho's team which garnered $5\frac{3}{4}$ points to win sixth place at the conference meet at Eugene. Squance skimmed the high hurdles in 14.7 seconds, and Jack LeGore high-jumped 6 feet $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches to set two new Idaho track records.

Opening her 1934 track season with determined attacks on Whitman and Cheney Normal, Idaho piled up a total of 87 points against the Missionaries' 34, and crushed the tracksters from Cheney Normal, 95 to 35.

Captain Jim Kalbus startled the Cheney cinder contenders by equaling the Idaho long-standing 100-yard dash record. "Cap" Jim raced down the slow Cheney track in 9.8 seconds. Big Theron Ward drove through the string just a yard behind.

Big Theron was high point man in the match with the Whitman Missionaries. He zipped through the 200-yard for first; scored second in the 100; and finished the day with another first in the broad jump, for a total of 12 points. Squance followed close at his heels with a blue ribbon in the 120 and 220 for 10 points. Kalbus drew a third in the 100-yard dash and ran with Livingston, Luvaas, and Felton on the winning relay team. Berg and McCue were first and second, respectively, in the shortput. Idaho was represented in the mile run by Bowler, who took first, and Klinger, who came right behind him. Newhouse, noted ASUI pole-jumping prexy, took a second and Rich a third in this exciting hobby. The 440-yard dash was won by Livingston; Felton seized a third. LeGore and Newhouse tied for a first in the high jump. Bob McCue fittingly ended the occasion by throwing the discus 134 feet, 9½ inches.

Washington State

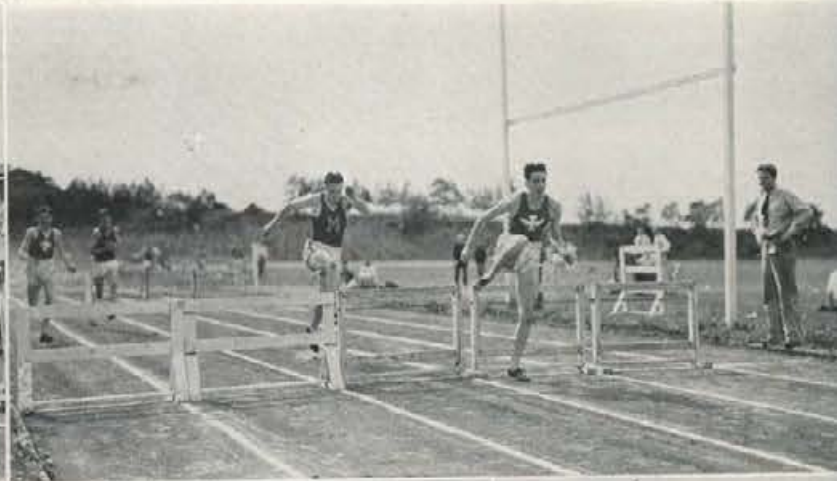

After one conference and two school records were broken, the Idaho Vandals lost to Washington State College only after victories in the last two events gave the Cougars a 73 to 58 margin. Captain Jim Kalbus and Theron Ward sent Idaho off to a flying start with first and second places in the century. Washington State soon took the lead after Theodoratus made a new conference record in the shotput with a toss of 51 feet 4 $\frac{3}{8}$ inches, but were never more than a few points ahead. The closest races of the meet were the two hurdle events between Bill Squance and Captain Ron Kelley of W. S. C. Squance set a new Idaho record in the high hurdles in the time of 14.7 seconds, while Kelley just nosed him out in the 220-yard lows to establish a new W. S. C. mark of 24.4 seconds. Holden Bowler brought the crowd to their feet by overcoming a 30-yard lead in the two-mile and winning by 20 yards.

Other Idaho wins were made by LeGore, who won the broad jump and tied with Giles of Washington State in the high jump; Kalbus in the 220-yard dash; and Newhouse and Rich, who tied for first place in the pole vault. The Vandals took an early lead in the relay but in the final lap Ken Leendertsen, conference half-mile champion, overcame Jim Kalbus' lead and won by a yard.

Staging a whirlwind finish in which they broke one school record, the Oregon State track and field team swept nine first places to defeat the University of Idaho, 76 to 55, at Corvallis. Speedy Captain Jim Kalbus, as usual, put the Vandals in the lead by winning the 100-yard dash, and big Theron Ward added more points by running third. Oregon State took the lead after the mile run by winning the first two places, and kept it until Kalbus and Ward tied the score at 36-all by taking first and third in the 220-yard dash. Eckman, Orange high jumper, again put O. S. C. in the lead, and after making a clean sweep in the broad jump, Oregon State never again was headed. Bill Squance did some stellar timber-topping by winning both hurdle events. He won the high hurdles in 14.8 seconds, and then won the 220-yard low hurdles a half hour later in 24.9 seconds. Others who won points for the Vandals were Newhouse and Rich, who tied for first in the pole vault; Alfred Berg, who won the shotput; McCue, who placed second in both the shotput and discus; Felton, who placed third in the 440-yard run; LeGore, who won third place in the high jump; Wise, who won third place in the javelin; Livingston and Brown, who placed second and third in the 880-yard run; Bowler, who placed third in the mile; and Pearson, who placed second in the two-mile run.

Conference Meet

Trailing Oregon and Washington with only one event to go, Washington State College swept eight points in the discus to win its second successive northern division conference track meet. The Cougars made $44\frac{1}{2}$ points, as compared to $42\frac{3}{4}$ points for the University of Oregon, and 40 for the University of Washington. Oregon State with $22\frac{1}{2}$ points, Montana with 9, and the University of Idaho with $5\frac{3}{4}$ were next in line.

Vandals who won points in the meet were Bill Squance, third in the 120-yard high hurdles; Carroll Livingston, a third in the 880-yard dash; George Rich, a tie for third in the pole vault; and a mile relay team which was composed of Felton, Livingston, Squance, and Kalbus captured a fourth. Three records were broken and a fourth tied by the time the day was over. A new record was set in the first event of the meet when Shoemaker, Oregon, won the 100-yard dash in 9.6. Bobby Parke bettered the javelin record almost 15 feet when he sent the shining spear whistling through the air 220 feet, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches. He is also from the University of Oregon. Roy Peden, Montana, won the 220-yard dash in 21.6 to equal the present recognized record. George Theodoratus, Washington State, set a new record in the shotput, heaving the iron 52 feet, $\frac{1}{2}$ inch to better the old record by almost a foot and a half. High point man of the meet was the huge Greek, who won two first places for an individual total of 10 points.

Boasting a hard-hitting wrecking crew and a sparkling hurler in Neil Speirs, the 1934 Vandal baseball nine was one of the best in Idaho history. Coach Rich Fox had only six lettermen for a nucleus but the recruits up from the frosh and transfers from other schools stepped into the vacancies and performed like veterans.

Although Idaho trimmed W.S.C. in three of the four conference games, the Cougars finished above the Vandals by the narrow margin of one-half a percentage point.

Of eleven non-conference games, the Vandals won eight. Five of seven games with Whitman were won by the Foxmen. Two wins were chalked up over Lewiston Normal, and in two games with the Erb Hardware team of Lewiston the Vandals got an even break.

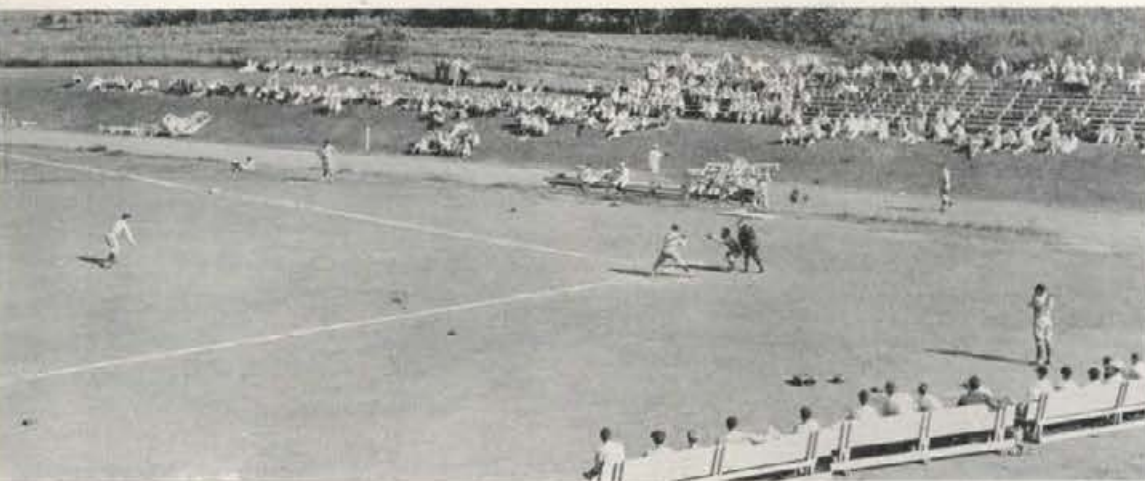

Wally Geraghty annexed the best batting average, but Katsilometes and Albee edged out the "fence busting" honors over their slugging team-mates.

Combining two timely hits by Katsilometes and McNealy with a walk and a Webfoot error, Idaho chased two runs across in the eleventh to win the first conference game of the season with Oregon, 6-4. The undaunted Webfeet came back to win the nightcap, 6 to 2. For eight innings of the first game, Don McFaddens, Oregon's hurler, gave only one scratch hit while his teammates were collecting four runs off Neil Speirs, Vandal pitcher. A Vandal rally in the ninth tied the score and set the stage for an Idaho victory in the eleventh. Speirs pitched steady ball, allowing 12 scattered hits. Ike Donin pitched three-hit ball for Oregon in the second game.

A barrage of 23 hits, many for extra bases, gave Idaho victories in the two home games with Oregon. The scores were 8 to 7 and 10 to 2. Donin, Webfoot pitcher in the first game, gave way to Buchnum in the fourth, after being nicked for homers by the two Geraghtys, Wheeler, and Schodde. With Cy Geraghty at bat in the eighth, Schodde scored the winning run on a squeeze play. Anderson, Vandal left fielder, relieved Newton in the second. He allowed the visitors just three hits and one run for the remainder of the game.

Four-hit pitching by Speirs and five Vandal runs in the first inning featured the second game. Albee, Schodde, and Katsilometes got homers.

Washington Series

Even though the Idaho Vandals finally finished in a higher position in conference standing than the University of Washington Huskies, it was the nine from Seattle that kept the Vandals from the Division championship. The Husky team was the only club with which the Vandals did not get better than even, or at least, an even break. The Huskies had the pitching staff that was able to silence the Vandal slugging hitters for three out of four games.

Out on their first away-from-home date, the Vandals met the Washington Huskies at Seattle May 7. Inability on the part of the Vandal hitters to solve the offerings of the Husky battery resulted in a 10-to-1 beating in the first game. The next day they again experienced difficulty in seeing the horsehide, and were defeated by a score of 8 to 1. Virtually unbeatable was the Vandals' impression of the Huskies after their initial encounters. The Huskies blew into Moscow on May 30 and 31 with the resolution to oust the Vandals from second place in the division standings. A 16-to-7 win for the Huskies the first afternoon put a bad complexion on things from an Idaho standpoint, but the heavy-hitting Foxmen returned the honors on the 31st with a sizzling 11-to-5 win. On the wings of this victory, second place honors in the division came back to Idaho to roost, but not for long, the Vandals winding up in third place, behind Oregon and W. S. C.

An even break was the extent of Idaho's success in the four-game series with O. S. C. The Vandals took the first game played at Corvallis, 8-4; the Beavers grabbed the second, 5-3.

The second was a tough battle. Boyd Rasmussen, Oregon State chucker, and Neil Speirs, Vandal hurler, saw action in both games. After each had pitched part of the first game, they carried the duel over to the second contest. Allowing only four hits, Rasmussen outlasted Speirs in the second game.

A spirited tribe of Vandal bat swingers conquered Oregon State in the first game of the series on MacLean Field. The score was 8 to 4. Slat Gill's Beavers turned tables on Idaho in the second contest, however, and pounded out a 16-to-8 victory.

In the first home game, Speirs gained revenge on Rasmussen. He allowed only five scattered hits and reeled off nine strike-outs. Schodde drove in four Vandal runs. Catching the Idaho battery napping, Callan, O. S. C., stole home in the sixth.

Idaho led 6 to 1 at the start of the fifth inning in the second contest on the strength of Katsilometes' and Kleiner's four-baggers and "Lefty" Naslund's three-hit hurling. A splurge of Beaver hits and costly Vandal errors in the fifth decided the game. Hibbard was the spark plug of the Oregon crew.

Inability to hit Lefty Irvine, W. S. C. hurler, cost the Vandals the next go in a close 3-to-5 battle with the Catmen. Still undaunted, they came back to win on the next day by a score of 5 to 1. The game was featured by the star hurling of Neil "Ace" Speirs, Idaho's No. 1 moundsman. No Cougar was allowed to cross the home plate until there were two men out in the ninth period. The Vandalsmen scored all of their counters in the second inning. Les Albee clouted out the only home run by hitting to deep right field with two men on. The win by Idaho evened the count. The third game came to the Idaho club by a score of 15-9. Neil Speirs was again the star hurler of the day. Newton, who relieved Speirs, also pitched nicely. The Cougar pitchers, Irvine and "Long Bob" Houston, were unable to stop the hitting Foxmen from Moscow. "Jo-jo" Wheeler and "Lefty" Naslund knocked out four-baggers, and by the first of the ninth inning it was 15-3 in favor of the Idaho ball club. The Vandals loosened up in the last half to allow six Cougar runs to come in. It was this win over the Washington State outfit that culminated the Idaho drive from the cellar position to third place in the conference standing.

MINOR SPORTS

RALPH HUTCHINSON

MINOR SPORTS

JAMES HUNTBACH

Death of Trainer Ralph Hutchinson cast a temporary gloom over the Vandal minor sports camp this spring. "Hutch," for several reasons, has been a boon to Idaho spirit in minor sports.

What a year it has been for the lesser lights! And it has been Idaho students who have coached Idaho teams to victory. Louis August headed boxing; Stan Skiles, wrestling; Ray Weston, fencing; Egon Kroll, swimming; and Ray Sowder, tennis. Leo Calland, athletic director, coached golf and Trainer Hutchinson directed tumbling.

So earnestly have August and Skiles worked with their boxing and wrestling squads that these two sports are now almost as widely heralded at Idaho as major sports. August's crew subdued all available competition in the Northwest, while the Vandal wrestling team won the Pacific Northwest Intercollegiate meet and places in the Pacific Northwest amateur matches.

STANLEY SKILES

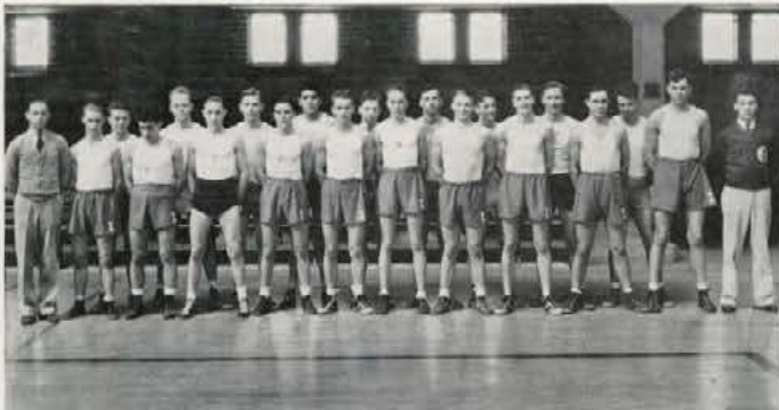

LOUIS AUGUST

BOXING, coached by Louis August, was composed of a squad this year that was rated as the best in the history of the school. At the start of the season Coach August's call for boxers was answered by the largest turnout in years. A beginners' class was also organized under the supervision of August and students who were qualified to teach boxing. The Vandal boxers fought at home and in neighboring Inland Empire towns. Out of a total of fifty-four bouts, the Idaho men lost seventeen, won thirty-six, and drew one. On all of these cards the Idaho fighters proved to be the drawing attraction, and in all of their bouts the Vandals showed examples of clean, speedy fighting. Two Pacific coast amateur champions fought on this year's team, George Riddle and Joey August, both of whom fought in the light weight division.

Members of the squad winning minor "I" sweaters were Bill Morrow, Joey August, Morey Fickes, Roy Hanford, Earl Spencer, Louis Rich, and George Riddle. These boxers were unable to take part in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate matches this year, but experts rated some of the Idaho men above the winners of their division. A lack of material for certain divisions as well as a lack of money made it impossible for Idaho to participate in inter-school meets.

WRESTLING, under the excellent coaching of Stanley Skiles, completed the most successful season since this sport became part of the athletic set-up. During the last two years Coach Skiles has built up the wrestling squad until it has finally reached the top. A championship team is always a drawing card, and this year wrestling was one of the most popular of the minor sports.

In their first meet of the season, the Washington State Cougars edged out the Idaho grapplers 20 to 18. Each team took four bouts with Idaho winning three falls and a decision, and W. S. C. winning four falls. Those who won for Idaho were James Wright, 118 pounds; Stanley Skiles, 128 pounds; Earl Leatham, 168 pounds; and Jack Barbee, Idaho heavyweight. After this meet, the Vandals proceeded to win the northwest intercollegiate mat championship. Seven Idaho men won the right to enter the finals and five of them won championships. These five men were Robert Miller, 118 pounds; Stanley Skiles, 126 pounds; Paul Jones, 135 pounds; Earl Leatham, 165 pounds; and Jack Barbee, the heavyweight. In the A. A. U. northwest championship matches at Portland, Miller and Leatham rated the semi-finals while Skiles and Jones both lost in the second round.

SWIMMING, coached and managed by Egon Kroll, finished a successful season with a creditable list of victories by the varsity team.

Composed of twelve men—Egon Kroll, Jack LeFavour, Vernon Shook, Bob Johnson, Jack McKibbin, Gus Dahlke, John Morris, Fred Hampf, Jim Mottern, Harvey Hollinger, John Hitzler, and Bob Painter—the team was whipped into shape for the first meet of the year with W.S.C. on January 7. Losing this first contest by a small margin, Idaho entered the annual triangular meet with Washington and Washington State, but did not gather enough points for victory.

Egon Kroll, Vernon Shook, Fred Hampf, Jack LeFavour, and Jack McKibbin made the jaunt to Seattle to enter the Northwest Championship meet. While Idaho did not place a single first in this contest, enough seconds and thirds were garnered to place her high among the list of contenders.

Returning to home water for the final engagement with W. S. C., Idaho's hopes for victory were blotted out when the more experienced team from Washington State piled up a decisive score for the college.

FENCING, under the capable supervision of Ray Weston, boasted a skillful squad when they defeated the Spokane Fencing Club, which has had about sixteen more years of experience than the Idaho team, by a score of five to two. The Idaho team was the most inexperienced squad in the Inland Empire Fencing Conference. The Vandals were the only team to beat the highly rated Spokane team this year. The University of Washington defeated Idaho by a score of 5 to 0 in the only match the two teams played. The W. S. C. team defeated the Idaho team in two meets, while the Vandals succeeded in trouncing W. S. C.'s squad only once. In their meets with the Whitman College team, the Idaho Fencing squad broke even with the Missionaries with a win apiece.

Much credit is due to the new members of the fencing team—Inman, Beach, and Nelson—for their remarkable showing.

In the spring of 1934, Idaho's chapter of Foil and Mask secured its charter from the Intercollegiate Foil and Mask Club. Fencing interest in the University has been kept alive by the club. A pioneer in northwest school fencing, Idaho has finished its fifth year in this sport.

GOLF in 1934 saw a season without losses. Under the direction of Coach Leo Calland, four matches were won and none dropped. Captained by William Lewis, the squad twice defeated Washington State College on the Moscow course and won twice from Cheney Normal on foreign links.

The first match of the season was a 9 to 3 victory over the Normalites on their own course. Bill Lewis, Bob Denton, Lewis Ensign, and Alec Morgan played for Idaho. On May 12 the Cougar golf team visited the Moscow links and were drubbed 10½ to 4½ by an Idaho team made up of Lewis, Morgan, Ensign, Curt Mann, and Chester Rodell. W. S. C. was entertained again the following week, but could manage to earn only 7 points as the Vandal squad made 8. Vincent Bevis replaced Curt Mann in the match. The final match of the season with Cheney was held on a course unfamiliar to both teams. The two squads were sent on a trip north to Spokane and played on the Downriver Golf course, but the change seemed to aid the Idaho golfers and they easily beat their opponents, 11 to 1. Sweaters, earned on the basis of the number of points won, were awarded by Calland to six men—Lewis, Ensign, Morgan, Rodell, Mann, and Bevis.

TENNIS, led by Ray Sowder, completed the 1934 series, winning three out of six matches. In the first match, with Gonzaga, the Idaho men were defeated by a large margin. However, in a return contest, Idaho defeated the boys from Spokane by taking a decisive victory, winning five out of seven matches.

W. S. C. took the Vandals into camp in the second match play at Pullman, four out of seven matches. Bill Hudson and Ray Sowder were the outstanding Vandals in winning two singles and pairing to win one doubles match. It was only after a fast, line-driving double match that they bowed to defeat in the second doubles match. In the last match of the season with the W. S. C. five, Idaho men won their minor "I" letters by defeating W. S. C. by a score of 4-3. Idaho took three of the five singles and split the doubles.

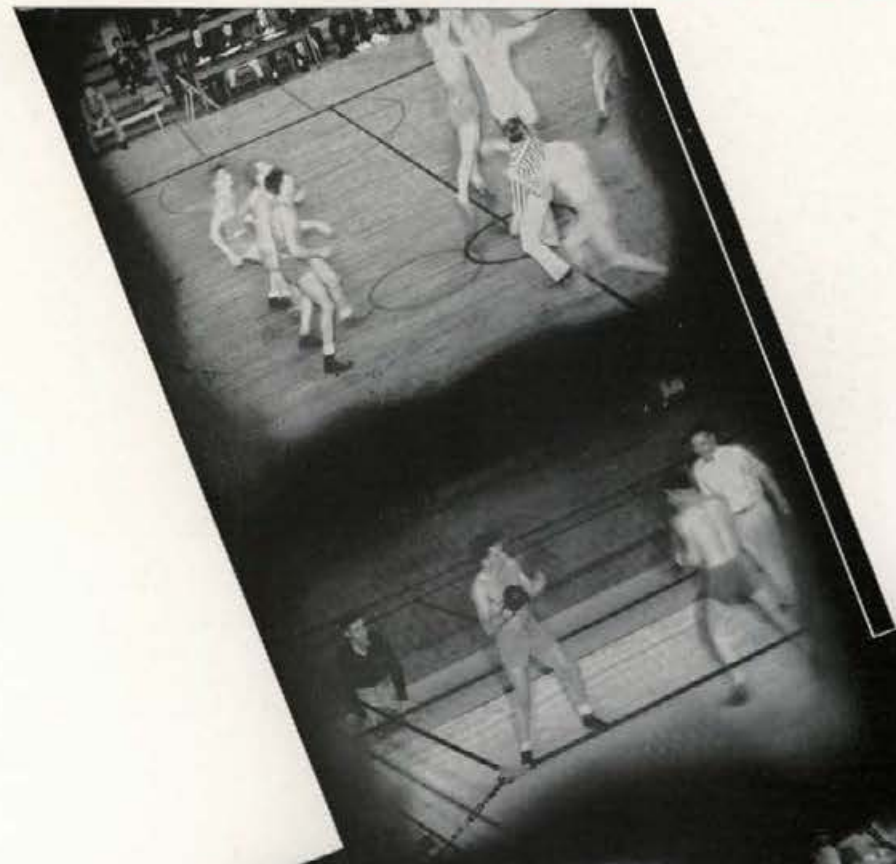

The Vandal cohorts had a disastrous weekend when they lost every match played in fourteen against U. of W. and Whitman. (The Vandals lost all their matches by decisive scores.) Axtell was the only man who gave his opponents any kind of a fight at all.

In the Whitman matches, Paul Rust was the only Idaho man to win a set in play. Hudson, H. Rust, P. Rust, Merchant, and Sowder represented Idaho in all match plays.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

CHARLES WILSON

Enthusiasm in all students characterized the successful intramural program for this year under the direction of Ap Berg and Chick Wilson, the two intramural managers, assisted by Cy Geraghty, Earl Smith, and the house group managers.

Boxing, inaugurated last year to replace cross country running, was abandoned. The group managers voted to include ice hockey, speed skating, and ping pong as intramural sports, but weather conditions prevented the inclusion of hockey and skating.

Another important change is in the running-off of the annual spring track meet. This year each league held a separate meet to place the men who competed in the all-school championship meet between the two leagues.

A new division of the groups was started at the beginning of the year. The Independents dropped out and two new teams, Senior Hall and the University Club, were admitted.

BASEBALL saw nineteen scrappy squads entered in the 1934-5 intramural indoor contests.

The Delta Chis, after losing one game to Beta Theta Pi early in the season, crashed the series with victories over Tau Kappa Epsilon, Lambda Chi, Beta Theta Pi (in semi-finals), and Phi Gamma Delta, in the championship game for "A" League.

The "B" League series was inaugurated by the Phi Delts and Lindley Hall on October 13. Alpha Tau Omega beat Ridenbaugh 10 to 7 on the 16th, and then went straight through their schedule, suffering only one defeat and winning games with the University Club, Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Theta (in a second attempt), and finally "B" League championship when they defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 6 to 1, on November 15.

The willow-wielders were divided into two circuits. Representing "A" League were Beta Theta Pi, Delta Chi, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi, Phi Gamma Delta, Senior Hall, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Tau Mem Aleph.

"B" League was represented by Phi Delta Theta, Lindley Hall, Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, Ridenbaugh Hall, L. D. S. Institute, Sigma Chi, University Club, and Chi Alpha Pi.

The final game for the intramural championship was played on November 22 between the Delta Chis, winner of "A" League, and Alpha Tau Omega, winner of "B" League. The score was 10 to 7 for the A. T. O.'s, giving them the championship.

HORSESHOES drew an unusual amount of interest this year. Meets were held on the University courts in Lewis Court. Both leagues had some good teams entered in the tournament and "ringers" were the rule instead of the exception, all men playing a fine brand of barnyard golf.

In the "A" League, Dale Sanner and Dean Greene, representing Kappa Sigma fraternity, won the final game from the Senior Hall team to win the league championship. Senior Hall was represented by Lewis Hetzler and Jay Macy.

Les Albee and Ralph Jensen, representing Ridenbaugh Hall, won the "B" League championship from Sigma Nu. Bob Lambert and Glen "Lefty" Naslund played for Sigma Nu. Close playing throughout the league made tough sledding for all teams entered, and tight games were a feature of the play.

In the final intramural event held before the Christmas holidays, Ridenbaugh Hall clinched the barnyard golf tournament with a win over Kappa Sigma. Albee and Jensen, pitching for Ridenbaugh, tossed extraordinary good horseshoes to beat a very fine Kappa Sig team. Time after time the winners flipped ringers in just when they did the most good.

WRESTLING replaced boxing in the intramural program this year because of the immense interest taken in varsity boxing. In order to enter varsity boxing, extensive training is necessary, and those participating are ineligible for intramural boxing.

The interest in wrestling is shown by the widespread division of points awarded. The A. T. O. grapplers won intramural wrestling by winning two of the eight events.

Though there was great interest in the semi-finals, the final bouts created the most excitement. In the 118-pound class, Wright, Lambda Chi, defeated Stearns, T. M. A. McElroy, A. T. O., cinched the 125-pounders in one bout. Lambert, Sigma Nu, outwitted O'Neill, T. K. E., in a hard-fought battle in the 135-pound class. In the 145-pound division, Rice, T. M. A., outpointed Woods, Ridenbaugh Hall. Dahlke, Lindley Hall, whipped Smolinski, S. A. E., in the 155-pounders. In the 165-pound class, Angell, Ridenbaugh Hall, beat Ellis, Phi Delt. Jarlett, A. T. O., defeated Green, Kappa Sig, for the championship of the heavyweights, wrestling at 175 pounds. Thiessen, S. A. E., took Ritzheimer, Beta, in a close one.

BASKETBALL, roughest of intramural games as played by group houses and refereed by lettermen managers, revealed three outstanding teams in each league. Delta Chis, Tau Mem Alephs, and Fijis dominated "A" League; Ridenbaugh Hall, University Club, and Sigma Nu "B" League.

Delta Chis, besting the Fijis in an overtime match, 20-19, improved steadily to win the "A" League finals with Tau Mem Aleph, 27-24.

Ridenbaugh Hall, "B" League favorite, ran into snares. Defeated by the hallmen once, 23-19, University Club gained another shot at them and won an upset, 23-22. Sigma Nu boosted Ridenbaugh out of the tournament, 23-20, but lost a sec-saw battle, 28-25, to University Club in "B" League.

Bagging 13 points in the last six minutes while holding University Club scoreless, Delta Chi snared the intramural championship. Don Witter, Delta Chi guard, looped in nine points in the final rally. Half-time score favored Delta Chi, 12-10.

Witter and Wayne Hill, Sigma Nu, were guards on the all-intramural team named by "Chick" Wilson and Ap Berg, 'mural managers. Hugh McKay, Ridenbaugh center, with Forwards Orrin Lee, "U" Club, and Russell Johnson, Tau Mem Aleph, finished the team.

VOLLEYBALL was won by Phi Delta Theta who defeated Tau Mem Aleph, the winners of A league.

In the semi-finals Tau Mem Aleph played Beta Theta Pi and emerged from a hard fought contest the champions of A league. Phi Delta Theta won B league honors from the L. D. S. Institute.

The tournament was based on the double elimination policy. Both the L. D. S. Institute and Phi Delta Theta were defeated once during the tournament. The champion Phi Delt team was driven to the wall by the Phi Gamma Delta squad, while the boys from the Institute suffered an early season defeat by Phi Delta Theta.

Beta Theta Pi, runners up in the A league championship battle, were defeated twice by Tau Mem Aleph, once at the beginning of the season and finally in the league championship game.

Except for their early season defeat by Phi Gamma Delta, the Phi Delt team went through the tournament without meeting serious competition. The A league championship game with the L. D. S. Institute was the bitterest battle of the tournament, the scores being 15 to 9, and 15 to 13.

SWIMMING again proved itself one of the most popular sports of all intra-group activities this year. The A and B leagues each held a preliminary meet before entering their winners in the finals. Scoring firsts in five events, Lindley Hall gained the intramural swimming championship, netting 28 points. Scoring 15 points, the Beta Theta Pi swimmers were runners up. The Fijis were third with five points.

In the 50-yard free style, Witherell, Beta, took first with Woods, Delta Tau Delta, runner up. McKibbin, Lindley Hall, first, and Witherell, Beta, second, furnished a good show in the century dash. The 200-yard free style was taken by Hollinger, Lindley, and seconded by Dimock, Ridenbaugh. In the 50-yard breast stroke, Mueller, Sigma Chi, was first with Dahlke, Lindley Hall, runner up. McKibbin, Lindley, took first and Tibbals, Fiji, second in the 50-yard back stroke. In the plunge for distance, Cobb, A. T. O., took first with Cooper, Delta Chi, second. Lindley Hall produced the winning relay team in the 200-yard relay and Beta Theta Pi came in second. The dives were taken by LeFavour, Lindley, and Witherell, Beta, first and second place winners.

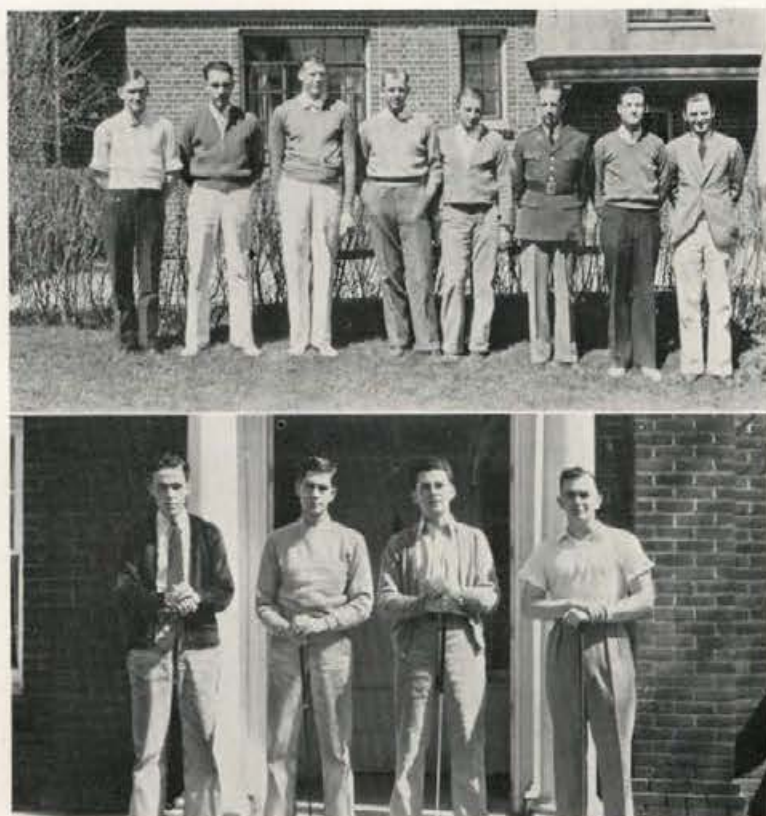

TRACK was run off last spring as a feature of the Campus Day celebration. The event was one of the most hard-fought and exciting in the history of intramural sports. Phi Gamma Delta nosed out her fifth consecutive win by 10 points, rolling up a total of 40, with four firsts: a tie for first in the pole vault, two second places, three thirds, and two fourths. A second place in the meet standing was given to Lindley Hall with 30 points. They captured two firsts, five seconds, two thirds, and one fourth.

The Fijis gained their points by firsts in the 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash and a tie for first in the pole vault; seconds in the 50-yard dash and 100-yard dash; thirds in the high hurdles, low hurdles, and 440-yard dash; and fourths in the broad jump and the low hurdles. The relay was the final event of the meet, with the Fijis eking out a close victory from the Phi Deltas.

Following the Fijis and Lindley Hall in the scoring were Beta Theta Pi and the Independents, who tied for third place with 20 points each. Alpha Tau Omega was fourth with 10 points.

Individual scoring honors were distributed evenly among Willis Smith and Addison Beaman of the Fijis and Earl Ritzheimer of the Betas.

Champion Intramural Golfers

GOLF, held last spring, saw one of the most successful seasons in the history of the history of the sport on the campus. There was a great amount of interest in the tournament as shown by the number of persons competing for the teams in each group house. Every group house in the tournament was represented by a team composed of four men. There were as many as twelve from each house trying out for positions on their group teams. The tournament was held through the cooperation of the Moscow Golf Club.

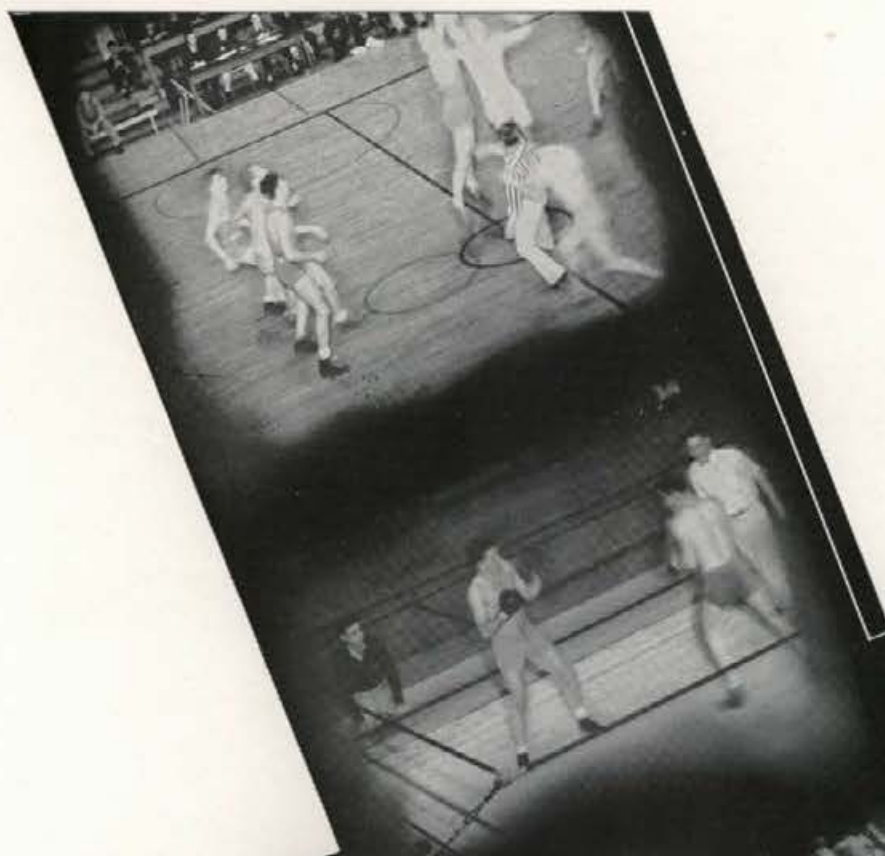

The tournament had as close a finish as any of the other sports conducted in the intramural group. Only one-half match point separated the winners of the championship from the runners-up in the tournament.

The team representing the Phi Delta Theta fraternity won the championship of the University for that house. The members of this team were Kenneth Nail, captain; Herman Wilson, Ralph Claycomb, and Robert Williams.

FRESHMAN SPORTS

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Though the frosh failed to turn in an impressive win record, much promising varsity material came to the surface. Otto Anderson coached the yearlings, handling the entire squad without assistance.

In the season's opener, the Babes trounced Lewiston Normal, 19 to 0. Against the Cheney Normal eleven the frosh chalked up 15 first downs to nine against them, but lost, 26-6. In the only home game, the Babes tied Gonzaga, who had defeated the W. S. C. yearlings. The score was 6-6. Both teams failed to take advantage of opportunities to shove over the winning touchdown.

Ellensburg Normal took a 20-12 victory over the freshman in a hard-fought game. The following week at Boise, the frosh dropped another close one to the Junior College, 6 to 0.

The stunning blow of the year was the 60-0 defeat by the W. S. C. frosh. The Vandals were minus four regulars and six of the remaining seven first-stringers could play only a small part of the time.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Idaho freshman basketball team, coached by Glenn "Red" Jacoby, came through the season with a record in the .350 percentages. The schedule included games with Erb Hardware of Lewiston, the Washington State freshmen, and Lewiston Normal. In developing material for future varsity teams, the winning of games is not the main object in view. Various men proved by the caliber of their playing on this year's freshman team that they have excellent chances of working into future varsity berths. Jacoby, an under-study of Fox, should be given much of the credit for developing the Vandal Babes into a well-rounded club. Their first test was against the W. S. C. frosh, who won a 38 to 42 victory. The Kittens also trimmed Idaho in the two following encounters by scores of 26 to 38 and 37 to 38. The Lewiston Normal series was marked by a 44-44 tie in the home game, after four overtime periods. In the Lewiston game of the series, the teachers won by a 32-38 score. Johnson, Eddington, Peacock, Stover, Beattie, Bohman, Kramer, Hallberg, and Cable were numeral winners.

PERMEAL J. FRENCH

DEAN OF WOMEN

Since her arrival at the University in the fall of nineteen hundred and eight, there has not been a more popular person on the campus than Miss Permeal J. French, Dean of Women. Her keen interest in student problems and college activities has endeared her to every person attending the University. The memory of her sympathy has drawn and is constantly drawing many old graduates back—she is a link between the past college generations and their alma mater.

Each year finds a larger number of old Idaho students sending their sons and daughters from all parts of the country to Idaho in order that they, too, may benefit by the guidance of this charming and able person. They could not show in any better way how much they value her understanding nature, friendship, and judgment.

Co-Ed Prom

The annual Co-ed Prom was held in the women's gymnasium under the management of Maxine Hofmann and the Home Economics Department. The idea featured was the Century of Progress and the hall was turned into a veritable fair grounds. Cider and doughnuts could be purchased in the various exhibition halls. Every woman connected with the University was invited, and the Prom afforded the women students an excellent opportunity to become better acquainted with each other. As tradition demands, all members of the opposite sex were excluded.

During the intermission each group gave a stunt. A clever radio station broadcast from the Century of Progress won for the Delta Gammas the silver loving cup. Prizes were also given to Frances Williamson and Frances Eldredge for the cleverst costumes carrying out the Century of Progress idea.

Taps and Terps

The seventh annual presentation of Taps and Terps by the Women's Athletic Association was held May fourth, nineteen thirty-four, in the University Auditorium. The main feature of the program was "The Nutcracker Suite," played by Dorothy Goode and acted by the dancing group. Other titles of events were "Humanity en Masse," by Miriam Marmein, which featured a dramatic study. More than seventy-five girls participated in the production of this show.

ETHLYN O'NEAL

Associated Women Students

The Associated Women Students, under the leadership of Ethlyn O'Neal, president, and her cabinet, have advanced another step toward bringing to the campus a circuit of famous speakers. The Associated Women Students have also continued their system of loans to girls who would have been unable to continue school without aid. Another project was the appropriating of one hundred dollars for teas, given for the purpose of developing friendly cooperation and fellowship among the women students. Other officers are Cynthia Daly, vice president; Dorothy Preuss, secretary; Janet Kinney, treasurer; Esther Hunt, point supervisor; and Martha Jean Rehberg, yell queen. The cabinet is also composed of twelve representative girls from the group houses, halls, and town associations.

Big Sisters

One of the greatest aids to the freshmen girls is the Big Sister Movement, which was started on the Idaho campus in 1925 and since then has been recognized as a most successful institution. Every spring a woman student is chosen by the A. W. S. Council and by Dean French to be the Big Sister chairman. She in turn selects ten girls, one from each organized woman's group, to work under her as captains. As soon as the new student's application is received by the registrar, she is assigned a big sister with whom she may correspond during the summer. During the first week at college the big sister furnishes all necessary help in registering and filling out time schedules. Mabel Mullikin was the chairman of the Big Sister Movement last fall. Captains working with her were Coaina Amstutz, Maxine Stewart, Ruth Evans, Jeanette Wines, Elva Anderson, Dorothy Dole, Anna Sweeley, Isabel Gibson, Ruth Farley, Cynthia Daly, and Mildred Carson.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association is one of the University's most beneficial organizations. Membership in it is obtained by earning one hundred points in any of the organized or leisure time sports offered. It aims to build the spirit of fair play, arouse interest in athletics, and bring the women of the University together in a feeling of good fellowship.

W. A. A. enterprises are planned and carried out by the following members of the Executive Board: Carol Campbell, president; Janet Kinney, vice president; Rosanne Roark, treasurer; Mae Pugh, recording secretary; Maurina Aldecoa, horseshoes; Edith Slatter, speedball; Jane Post, volleyball; Dorothy Armstrong, basketball; Dorothy Hohnhorst, baseball; Ruth Ferney, swimming; Dorothy Preuss, tennis; Orene Hardman, rifle; Dorothy Rosevear, hiking and other leisure time sports.

The outstanding workers in the Women's Athletic Association become members of the Women's "I" Club as soon as they receive the white "I" sweater, the reward for having earned one thousand points in W. A. A. activity. The "I" blanket is awarded to women who have earned eighteen hundred points during the season. Mae Pugh and Helen Thornhill are the only two girls on the campus this year who received this award last year.

Those who received "I" sweaters for the work they have done this year are Janet Kinney, Ruth Evans, Jane Merrick, Edith Miller, Helen Creaser, Esther Hunt, Ruth Ferney, and Mariette Kalbus.

The officers of the Women's "I" Club are Mae Pugh, president; Rosanne Roark, vice president; Mary Schlueter, secretary; Dorothy Preuss, treasurer, and Gertrude Olesen, sergeant-at-arms.

CAMPUS DAY

The annual May Fete was held last spring during the Campus Day celebration in the Memorial Gymnasium. Hundreds of students and interested friends gathered to witness the crowning of the May Queen and to observe the annual pledging of Mortar Board and Silver Lance. Following the processional, which was led by the members of Mortar Board, children of the faculty members of the University presented a dance around the Maypole. It was gay and spirited and delighted the onlookers by its naivete. The children also acted as attendants to the May Queen and the Maid of Honor, and assisted in crowning the queen.

Edna Scott, the Associated Students' choice for May Queen, was, after the traditional pomp and ceremony, crowned queen of the May by her attending Maid of Honor, Eleanor Merriam. Laura McGrath served as page to the queen. The queen was lovely in organdy with a large bouquet of garden flowers which she carried in her arms. The Maid of Honor also wore organdy. Flowers were the keynote of the scene.

As in former years, Silver Lance and Mortar Board, senior honorary organizations, tapped their new members. After much obvious deliberation Mortar Board pledged the following women: Carol Campbell, Marjorie Druding, Helen Latimore, Frances Wimer, Janet Kinney, Ethlyn O'Neal, and Rosanne Roark. Last year's Mortar Board members presented each new woman with a red rose and the Mortar Board cap and gown. Dean Permeal J. French was called upon to give a short speech. Before the Silver Lance members were chosen the Vandaleers sang several numbers in keeping with the spirit of the day.

Silver Lance honored the following men: Carl Morfitt, Charles Warner, Harold Boyd, Paris Martin, David Kendrick, John Powell, Elburn Pierce, and Robert Herrick.

VOLLEYBALL proved to be one of the most popular sports last November, with one hundred enthusiasts turning out for practices. It is an ideal winter game, as it requires skill and alertness. Class teams were chosen and the holding of an inter-class tournament was planned after five weeks of practice and instruction. Various games were played between the class teams. The juniors won in the final inter-class game against the freshmen. The members of the winning team were Gertrude Olesen, captain; Dorothy Preuss, Jane Post, Betty Mix, Dorothy Armstrong, Mariette Kalbus, and Mary Margaret Rosebaugh. All women who had turned out eight times, the required number of practices, were placed on teams. Besides a large number of second teams, there was one first team for each class, with two substitutes for each. All the teams were well matched. It was an interesting study of feminine brawn and brain, to say nothing of feminine grace, in the performance of the game. The players also had to demonstrate true ability, with marked determination and sportsmanship. Esther Hunt, manager, proclaimed it a highly successful season.

HORSESHOES, which made its initial appearance on the campus last year, is rapidly gaining in popularity, as evidenced by the fact that the number of women turning out this year represents a material increase over last year's number. This game requires steadiness, accuracy, and concentration. Sixty-six girls turned out and points were given upon the basis of their rank compared with that of the other girls. Twenty-five points were awarded to the upper one-third of the contestants, fifteen to the middle one-third, and ten to the lower one-third. Following the W. A. A. tournament an intramural, round-robin tournament was held. All the sororities, Hays Hall, Forney Hall, Daleth Teth Gimel, and the Women's College Club participated in this event. Because there were so many teams, they were arbitrarily divided into two leagues, the winner of one playing the winner of the other for the championship. The Alpha Phi team, composed of Ruth Smith and Neva Eisinger, was the winner, and the Delta Delta Delta team, composed of Ruth Evans and Marian Swanson, was the runner-up.

SWIMMING is popular as a physical education course in the University, but it is equally as popular as a major sport. Four class teams are organized, and in order to be eligible for a team a woman must have ten practice periods and must pass tryout tests before an authorized group of swimmers. She must also be able to perform two standard dives and one optional dive. One hundred points are given to women who make their class swimming team, according to the Women's Athletic Association point system. Additional points may be earned by participation in the swimming meet and by passing the senior life-saving examination.

Every spring a swimming meet is held. Exhibition of various dives and strokes are shown, and these, combined with free-style races and other events, arouse much interest and excitement among the spectators. A great deal of swimming and diving talent is evidenced at this time.

Freshman Basketball Team

BASKETBALL, as usual, proved one of the most popular of women's sports this year. Approximately eighty-four women turned out, of which seventy-two won their points. This number made it possible to have one more team than last year—twelve teams. These consisted of four first teams and eight second teams. The interclass championship was won by the freshman team after defeating the juniors in a closely contested game. The women were allowed five weeks of practice preceding the tournament, which began March 11.

The members of the winning team were Ruth Smith, Billye Jane Austin, and Lola Mae Dickinson, forwards; Evelyn Jenkins, Pearl Summers, and Ruth Runyon, guards; Frances Murtha and Kathryn Emery, substitutes. The second teams were classified as A, B, C, D, E, F, and G. Team A was the winner and was composed of junior girls. The members of the winning A team were Lois Boomer, Lorna Jane Cornell, and Bernice Levy, forwards; Marjorie Collins, Lucile Nelson, and Gertrude Olesen, guards. Dorothy Armstrong was in charge of the tournament.

RIFLE TEAM was shown greater enthusiasm and interest than ever before this year. Inter-class competition was first on the program again this year in an attempt to pick a team as successful as the one last spring. Out of the hundred women who turned out for rifle, thirty-six were chosen by the process of elimination to make up the competing teams. In another week this list was cut down to twenty-four, thus allowing six women from each class to fire on the team. A steady eye and hand as well as good nerve are the prerequisites for a good gunner. The women's scores were kept for each practice. This made keen individual competition in addition to the class competition. The senior team came out ahead this year, due to the experience of the junior women who were winners last year. The winning team members were Carol Campbell, Anna Sweeley, Mary Schleuter, Jean Clough, Geneal McKinney, and Esther Wohlaib. Lieutenant Hart coached the women's rifle team this past season.

Practice set in rainy weather

TENNIS was quite seriously handicapped by weather conditions for a great part of this year, but withal it was marked by a great deal of enthusiasm. A singles elimination tournament, begun in the fall, was postponed because of the intervention of winter and was not completely played off until late spring. Last spring's ladder tournament, in which the winners from each class played for singles and doubles championships, was won by Mae Pugh and Lucile Bell in the doubles series, with Dorothy Preuss emerging victor of the fall singles tournament and Marian Ginder of the spring singles tournament.

Instruction in the fundamentals of tennis is given to those women who have never previously learned or played the game. A class in tennis meets in the gymnasium for two weeks before the competitive series begins. Points in the Women's Athletic Association are given to all women who enter the tournaments, to all winners of the tournaments, and to those who play a certain number of hours of tennis as a leisure time sport. This season was successfully managed by Dorothy Preuss.

BASEBALL, always a popular sport among boys, has lately grown to great importance as a girl's game. Characterized by quick action and great excitement, it can be played only by alert and fun-loving people. Although not the most important sport on the Idaho campus, it boasts many expert players as well as eager amateurs. Last year, owing to the fact that the weather was wet and cold, only fifty-five turned out, of whom forty turned in enough practice periods to earn W. A. A. points. There were four first teams, one for each class and one substitute for each team. The sophomores finally won the championship crown. The members of the winning team, each of whom received one hundred and twenty-five points, were Ruth Puckett, Dorothy Preuss, Ruth Evans, Eileen Kennedy, Carolyn Carnahan, Hilda Froisness, Helen Winkler, Betty Mix, Mariette Kalbus, and the substitute, Anna May Henderson. Those not on the winning team each received one hundred points.

Sophomore Speedball Team

SPEEDBALL is known as the same game as soccer, but is a better all-round game. About 60 girls turned out at the beginning of the season, and all those turning out eight practices were put on a team. First team members received 100 points and winning team members earned 25 points extra. Second team members won 50 points. There were four first teams, one for each class. The Sophomores won the tournament with the Juniors as runners-up. Members of the winning team and their positions were Charlotte Kennedy, Center Forward; Lucile Nelson, left forward; Marian Swanson, right forward; Edith Slatter, right forward; Laurina Nichols, right halfback; Phyllis Miller, left forward; Ida Allen, center halfback; Zelva Hahl, center halfback; Marguerite Manion, right halfback; Dorothy Hohnhorst, left fullback; and Vivian Larson, Goal Keeper. Edith Slatter was manager of the sport.

DRAMATICS

FRED C. BLANCHARD

DRAMATIC ART

Idaho Director Fred Blanchard is a rare combination of talent, enthusiasm, ingenuity, and unflinching artistic sense. Possessed of that innate flair that characterizes the true showman, he has given to his productions a tone far superior to the usual run of university dramatic efforts. Handicapped by inadequate staging facilities, lack of workshop space, and an over-crowded schedule, he still accomplishes a wide variety in presentations. His programs each season range from the lightest of farces to the pageantry of epics. Playwrights, periods, type and tone of vehicle, and casts change with every production, each skilfully turned out, consistent and polished.

This year Blanchard started a course in the history of the theatre which studies the theatre as an institution and an art form. His program of one-act plays produced in the Laboratory Theatre, under the direction of Miss Jean Collette, is also a distinct advance in the opportunities offered Idaho students in the dramatic field. These plays constitute a project of the members of the elementary play production classes, and give invaluable practical experience in staging and acting. Blanchard received his Bachelor of Arts degree in dramatics, and his Master's degree in English at the University of Washington. He was two years with the Cornish Players, and did radio work, arranging and broadcasting plays, in Seattle.

Invaluable to the excellence of Idaho productions is Technical Director Theodore Prichard, head of the Art Department. He, too, represents an unusual combination of the practical and the artistic. His interests and varied career are indicative of the man's versatility and talent.

Prichard designs all the sets for ASUI productions. Equally effective with a hammer as with a brush, it is his ability and taste that make the rising of the curtain on every new production a surprise and a delight for every appreciative theatre-goer. He designed sets for a time at the University of Minnesota and was interior decorator for a large department store in Minneapolis.

Three-Cornered Moon

Rimplegar fortitude faces fickle fortune—Honors to poverty and pleasure

The 1934-35 dramatic season opened October 26 and 27 with the well-known, seldom-heard bang, as the mad, mad Rimplegars burst upon the scene. Gertrude Tonkonogy's "Three-Cornered Moon" was a rollicking success in spite of the difficulties ensuing from a first-on-the-bill play and a comparatively inexperienced cast. The story is one of the slightly moon-struck family of the Rimplegars, none of whose members ever does, says, or thinks of anything sensible except by accident. Wealth and a veneer of unruffled nonchalance combine to make the household of four children and their mother a delightfully topsy-turvy one. Devising complicated methods of suicide and quick trips to the ends of the earth are all in a casual afternoon with the Rimplegars. It is Mrs. Rimplegar who finally sacrifices this idiot's heaven on the altar of a "trusted" margin broker, and while she wraps a Turkish towel around her head and meanders dizzily upstairs and downstairs, her children run the Rimplegar flag at half-mast and struggle to keep it as high as that.

The daughter Elizabeth was portrayed by Helen Wilson, whose vivacity and brunette attractiveness gave the character much individual charm and interest. Erma Lewis appeared in her most substantial role to date, as Mrs. Rimplegar. Miss Lewis was happily cast, most capably rendering the "beautiful inanities" of the mother with an understanding, and a sure flair for the ridiculous. Aldrich Bowler gave a finished performance as the dreamy-eyed young poet-with-a-penchant-for-posies. Jean Ricker was cleverly insipid Kitty, who should have had more lines. The broad-shouldered Dr. Stevens was most satisfactorily undertaken by Burnell Baker, and John Daly, Jack James, and George Oram were spirited, amusing young sons and heirs of the Rimplegar debts and deficiencies whose antics contributed generously to the uproarious, mad melee.

Catherine Bjornstad as Jenny, the long-suffering, shock-proof factotum who wiped up the Rimplegar crumbs and swept their floors, completed the cast.

Dangerous Corner

Truth party at the Chatfield home

Those little white lies—are they, after all, preferable to the truth? J. B. Priestley's psychological melodrama, "Dangerous Corner," gave a new angle to the honor-bright theory, when within the space of a few short hours facts about the lives and actions of the Chatfield dinner guests are amazingly revealed through a series of fateful conversational chains and the psychological reactions of the characters. At the end, the idle dinner talk has led into such dangerous channels that three homes are shattered, a business has collapsed, and a frantic husband is about to shoot himself. A blackness descends and characters and audience have the weird experience of being catapulted back through the hours as the people pick up the thread of their lives, continuing to weave their intricate pattern of deceit—and to let sleeping dogs lie.

Robert Herrick, four-year veteran of the Idaho stage, made his last appearance in the role of the neurotic Gordon Whitehouse. Herrick's work, always made interesting by a sympathetic, workmanlike execution of his role, far surpassed all of his previous portrayals in the intelligent, professional handling of Gordon. Dorothy Pierce, one of Idaho's favorite actresses a few seasons ago, made her reappearance as Freda Chatfield. The sophisticated, unhappy hostess was a role that gave ample opportunity for Mrs. Pierce's experience and talent. She was ably supported by Eldred Stephenson in the difficult characterization of Robert Chatfield. Olwen Peel was played by Alline King, a valuable recruit from the stage of the Southern Branch, whose charm and intelligent acting created a very real "heroine." Paul Selby as Charles Stanton again appeared as the somewhat sinister, suave heavy, and again scored a very definite success with his portrayal. Nina Varian as Betty Whitehouse and Ethlyn O'Neal as Maud Mockridge completed the cast.

The police raid Gates' Asylum

The Strategy of Grandma Gates

Once again Idaho claimed the distinction of a premiere when the 1933-34 season was climaxed by George Savage's comedy, "The Strategy of Grandma Gates." The play is a sound, amusing American comedy whose actions are motivated by the unobtrusive Grandma Gates, she who is the personification of that much-vaunted, ingrained American characteristic—gumption. The story deals with the somewhat unique situation of a nouveau pauvre family taking up its abode in an abandoned mill, where its members and followers set up their shabby Lares and Penates and start the social season with the latest in tree-trunk chairs and a pine cone motif for the walls.

The deposed society matron, Phyllis Gates, was handled by Ethlyn O'Neal with her usual skill and understanding. Mrs. Gates has a natural ability for leadership that flourishes as happily in a logging camp as in a drawing room, and she soon has regimented the entire household, with her husband Peter as chief flunkey. Clarence Anderson gave an amusing Will Rogers flavor to his role of Peter Gates, as he conciliates with his wife and encourages the escapades of their daughter Millicent and her cohort Theodore. Margaret Moulton and Aldrich Bowler made a professional and highly diverting team as the two sixteen-year-olds who gloriously complicate the situation for Gerald Baker (Bill Cherrington) and Margery Perry (Nina Varian). Earl Bopp was cast as the arguing Jack Caston, Eldred Stephenson as Mr. Wilston, and Helen Lawrence as his wife. Alberta Bergh Utt played as Letitia; Ruth Lyons, Jane; and Coana Amstutz, Mrs. Johnson. Harrod Enking gave an appealing and interesting performance as the elderly Michael. The theme-role of Grandma, who motivates and gives heart to the play, was taken by Marian Dresser, whose experience, ability, and sympathy created a very vital, real, and not-soon-to-be-forgotten character.

Night Over Taos

Taos receives news of battle

Night falls on Taos as its man-made Montoya dies prophesying a new and more glorious dawn for his race and his beliefs. With his spirit goes the strength and the freedom that had been the heritage of the men of Taos for generations.

Maxwell Anderson's epic of the New Mexico of 1847 was a triumph of gorgeous pageantry. The effectiveness of the set, the brilliance and beauty of the costuming, created a background for the flash of swords, the swift emotions that spell disaster, and the subtle signs of a changing world that are all bound together by the single golden thread of one man's life.

Eldred Stephenson topped his university career with a magnificent portrayal of the chieftain Pablo Montoya. Bill Cherrington and Don Tracy as his sons, Federico and Felipe, gave him competent support. To his role of Martinex, the priest of the turbulent Taos flock, Malcolm Renfrew brought intelligence and talent, and Murva James gave interest to the part of Diana, the young northern girl. Marian Swanson's dark attractiveness lent conviction and charm to Dona Josefa, in sharp contrast to the bitter, malicious ancient Veri, so well portrayed by Erma Lewis.

Night Over Taos

In spite of the unwieldy number in the cast, each character as conceived and acted was distinct and different. Alline King, Barbara Walker, Catherine Bjornstad, Berniece Wilson, Tillie Jeppesen, Fanny Hopwood, Coina Amstutz, and Ruth Farley were cast as the women in the Montoya household. John Daly, Kenneth Lauritzen, and Burnell Baker played Don Fernando, Don Hermano, and Don Miguel, those of noble blood supporting the Montoya cause. Earl Boop was Captain Molyneaux, the trapper, with Halbert LeFebre and Eugene Ryan as his fellows. Clarence Anderson as Graso, Aldrich Bowler as Santos, Robert Granville as Diego, James Laing as Narciso, Harry Humphrey as Andros, and John Barker as Mateo played character roles. Andrew James and Wayne Harper were soldiers of the Taos army.

The rhythm of the blank verse, the pictorial perfection of the production, the excellence of the technical details, recalled "The Cradle Song" of four years ago. With "Night Over Taos," Moscow audiences saw another near-professional show that speaks convincingly of the skill of Directors Blanchard and Prichard.

CARLETON CUMMINGS

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

It is with pride that we direct visitors at the University of Idaho to the Music Department. Much of this pride has come to us because of the wonderful opportunities offered to the Idaho Vandaleers and other musical groups has brought many music lovers to Idaho. The reputation that Professor Cummings has helped to spread throughout the West of the Idaho Vandaleers and other musical groups has brought many music lovers to Idaho for further study.

One of the most unusual features of the Music Department, of which the members themselves are proud, is the large set-up of very expensive and unusual musical instruments that are placed at the disposal of any student who is unable to have one of his own, and who wishes to study and obtain instruction in that particular line of work.

Working together with Mr. Cummings is a talented and able faculty. Professor Carl Claus, Director of the University Symphony Orchestra, has studied abroad under the direction of some of the greatest musicians. Miss Isabel Clark, Instructor in Piano; Miss Lucile Ramstedt, Assistant Instructor in Piano; Miss Miriam Little, Cellist; Miss Berenice Barnard, Instructor in Music; Miss Pauline Paterka, Voice; and Mr. Robert B. Lyon, Director of the University Band, comprise the faculty.

CARL CLAUS

UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA

When Professor Carl Claus came to the University of Idaho thirteen years ago, it was with the primary idea of building a good university orchestra. His first group boasted ten pieces and each year it has grown until now the membership is sixty. From an ordinary collection of musicians, the orchestra has risen under the baton of Professor Claus to an accomplished unit with the highest standards and an enthusiastic following. In 1932, Professor Claus spent the summer in Salsburg, Germany, studying advanced conducting and musical literature. Idaho is fortunate in having such a fine musician on its music faculty. Special training for the violins and violas with him, and for the cellos and basses with Miss Miriam Little, has been a factor in the development of the organization. Two concerts are given each year, in which music of the master composers is performed. A student soloist is presented at both concerts, with the orchestra accompanying.

This year the features of the concerts were "Rosamond Overture" by Schubert, "Finlandia" by Sibellius, "Carmen Suite" by Bizet, and Beethoven's "Egmont." Harriett Norris, pianist, was soloist the first semester, and Katherine Kennard, cellist, the second. In April the orchestra played in Spckane for the convention of the Inland Empire Teachers Association. To be asked to play for this convention is, in itself, recognition.

THE VANDALEERS

"The finest organization of its kind I have ever heard," was the tribute paid the Idaho Vandaleers by a member of the Board of Regents of one of the neighboring universities. A mixed chorus in which talent, character, and musicianship are required, and scholastic standing is rigidly maintained, the Vandaleers, under the direction of Carleton Cummings, have received praise throughout the state for their excellent programs.

Climaxing a year of singing engagements was the ten-day tour of Southern Idaho in the new university bus in the early part of October. Concerts were given at Emmett, Weiser, Buhl, Burley, Rexburg, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Firth, Twin Falls, Rupert, Nampa, Kimberly, and Boise.

The eleven seniors will long remember the many pleasant experiences shared during the time they have raised the Vandaleers to a point of perfection seldom achieved by any group of amateur standing. Officers of the Vandaleers for the past year were Reginald Lyons, president, and Fay Pettijohn, secretary.

Hail, Gondoliers!

"THE GONDOLIERS"

THE GONDOLIERS

The two presentations of Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, "The Gondoliers," on February 8 and 9, best represent the number and excellence of vocal students on Idaho's campus. It is seldom that any institution boasts sixteen young artists that demonstrate real solo ability. The chorus of fifteen additional voices gave thrill after thrill and was heartily applauded throughout the evening.

"The Gondoliers" was presented through the cooperation of the Music, Dramatics, and Home Economics Departments of the University. The musical direction was by Carleton Cummings, the dramatics by Fred C. Blanchard, and the costumes were made under the supervision of Miss Marion Featherstone. A great deal of praise for the success of the opera goes to Gertrude Gehrke, accompanist, for the untiring effort and patience shown during the many rehearsals.

Light opera marks the beginning of a type of entertainment new on Idaho's campus, and by its popular appeal bids fair to become a traditional affair. "The Gondoliers" was replete with humorous moments set in the gay atmosphere of Venetian life portrayed in colorful costume. Light opera has for almost a century been one of the most entertaining forms of music, and its widespread indorsement should make it one of the highlights of future college years at Idaho. University music lovers are looking forward to the next Idaho operatic production.

ROBERT CAMPBELL

IDAHO PEP BAND

The Idaho Pep Band is an Idaho tradition. With the "Twelfth Street Rag" and various other well-known tunes, the Pep Band has advertised the University all over the state and along the coast, until a real Idahoan thinks "pep band" whenever he hears spirited music. It is an official ASUI organization, formed in 1921 to keep the famous Vandal Spirit popular.

Early in the football season, the band accompanied the football team to Seattle for the University of Washington game. Later several trips were made to Spokane to advertise Inland Empire games. In the spring, the band took a week's trip through Northern Idaho, playing for assemblies in the various high schools and staging shows in the larger towns. Robert Campbell, leader, had a difficult job this year because of the unusually large number of new members, and because several men dropped out during the year. The band, however, maintained its reputation.

ELBURN PIERCE

PEP BAND SHOW

"One of the best Pep Band shows we have ever seen," is typical of the comments heard on the campus after the 1935 Pep Band Show. For several years one of the season's highlights has been the Pep Band Show. Conceived and staged by the band, it is a revue of the best musical talent on the campus. This year the show was staged under the direction of Robert Campbell, Band Leader.

The show was divided into two parts, formal and informal. The formal section featured semi-classical music by the band. The program included "Orpheus in der Unterwelt" by Bizet, "A Day in Venice" by Nevin, and a trumpet trio composed of Richard Baker, Elburn Pierce, and Paul Ennis playing Victor Herbert's "Three Solitaires." A highlight of this part of the show was a new school song, "Fighting Idaho," by two alumni, Richard Stanton and Norval Ostroot.

The second, or informal part of the show, was in lighter vein. An eighteen-piece stage band opened with "Jitters," an original composition by Bob Campbell. The Alpha Chi Omega quartet, Mary Reeland, Marjorie Blaine, Charlotte Thompson, and Marie Haasch, something new in the way of entertainment, sang "Chloe" and "Clouds." Lights went low for "Bolero," played by the orchestra and danced by Jessie Hutchison and Bob Middleton. Daryle Holt and Jo Betty Wicks scored a hit with a tap dance number, while Harley Reckord horned in on the encore.

VARSITY DEBATE

The first debates of the year were held at the annual meeting of the Western Association of Teachers of Speech at Salt Lake City, from November 27 to December 1. Lewis Orland, sophomore, and Cecil Greathouse, junior, represented Idaho. They won five out of seven debates, and out of forty-two teams in the varsity division they were among the final six teams. The men's question was, Resolved: "That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions." On this same trip they spoke at the Kiwanis Club in Boise, the high school in Kimberly, and the Chamber of Commerce in Twin Falls.

On January 7, Paris Martin and Lewis Orland debated the University of California on the question of "Socialized Medicine." It was a non-decision debate. Greathouse and Orland debated Gonzaga over Station KHQ on March 2. They also debated Gonzaga on their home floor in an audience decision on March 10. Each team received twenty-five votes.

Clyde Koontz and Robert Mason met Brigham Young University later in the season in a non-decision debate. The question was on international shipment of arms and munitions. The Townsend Old Age Pension Plan was the subject of a debate held on March 19 between St. Mary's College of California and Idaho. Paris Martin and Cecil Greathouse represented Idaho.

Greathouse and Orland attended the Annual Pacific Forensic Meet at Walla Walla late in March. They participated in the debate tournament, Orland entering the oratorical contest and Greathouse taking part in the extemporaneous speaking contest and after-dinner speaking contest.

Varsity Debaters

The Annual Women's Triangular Debates were held in Walla Walla with Whitman and Washington State College on December 10. The question was, Resolved: "That there should be a maximum limit on incomes and inheritances." The University of Idaho was represented by Virginia Merrick, senior; Erma Lewis, junior; Anna Sweeley, senior; and Josephine Mitchell, sophomore. The teams won two debates at the tournament.

On December 17, the Annual Men's Triangular Debates with Whitman and Washington State College were held in Pullman. Lewis Orland, Cecil Greathouse, Clyde Koontz, and William Peterson participated. The teams won four debates at the tournament. The question was, Resolved: "That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions."

The Inland Empire Tournament for men and women was held at Whitworth College during January. Washington State College, Gonzaga, Montana, Whitworth, Cheney Normal, Lewiston Normal, Spokane Junior College, and Idaho all had teams represented. Ten freshmen and sophomores represented Idaho. The debaters were Robert Mason, Raymond Randall, Kent McQueen, William Reese, Frances Murtha, Virginia McDonald, Mary Curtis, Lorraine Hulett, Dorothy Rosevear, and Elizabeth Coats. The question was on the international shipment of arms and munitions. Creating much interest in forensics for underclass students, this enterprise will be continued in future. The experience received by the students provides them with additional training for future varsity material.

Women's Intramural Debate

Women's intramural debate was won by Kappa Kappa Gamma on March 8. The Kappas were represented by Eleanor and Margaret Echternach, upholding the affirmative, against Gamma Phi Beta, represented by Spckane Smith and Miriam McFall. The winners received the new trophy presented by Delta Sigma Rho with the aid of the ASUI. The question was, Resolved: "That proportional representation is adaptable to the Idaho campus."

In the first round Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Chi Omega, and Hays Hall defeated Delta Gamma, Alpha Phi, Delta Delta Delta, Forney Hall, and Women's College Club, respectively. Gamma Phi won from Hays Hall and the Kappas won from the Thetas in the semi-finals to debate together in the finals.

Anna Sweeley, Erma Lewis

Men's Intramural Debate

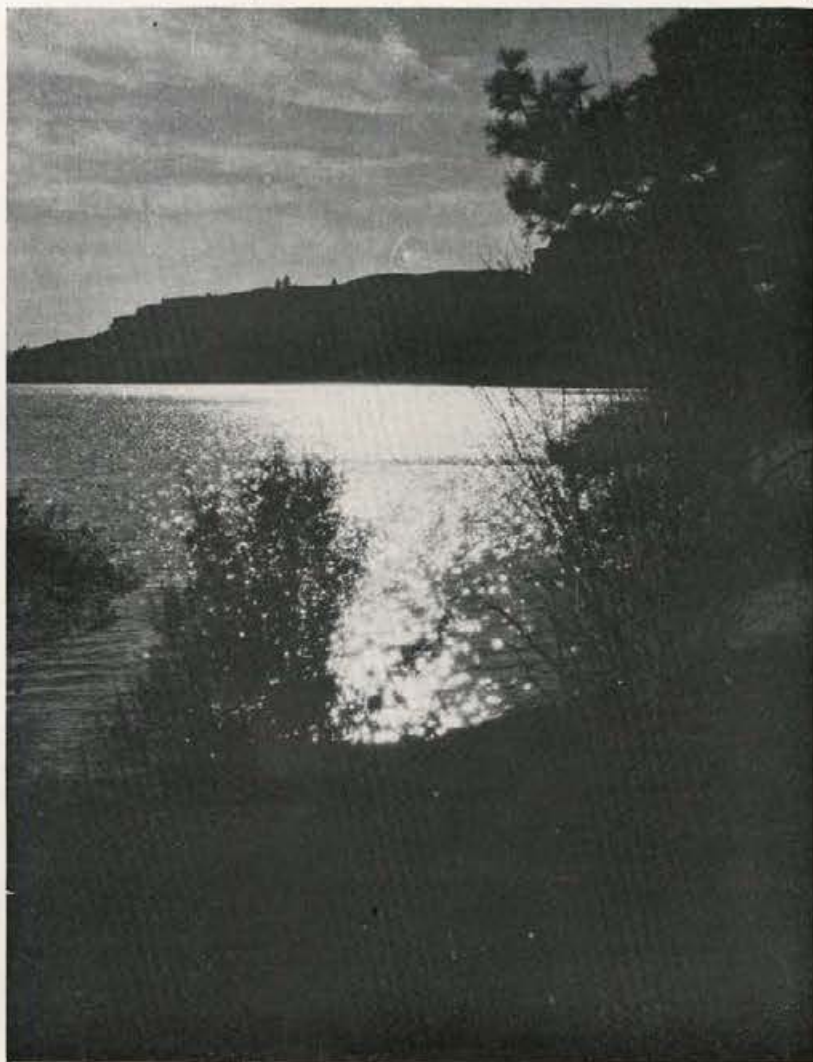

Oren Allison, Kent Peterson

Men's intramural debate was won by Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The S. A. E.'s were represented by Kent Peterson and Oren Allison, upholding the affirmative, against L. D. S., represented by Karl Jeppesen and Wayne Lee. The question was, Resolved: "That compulsory military training at the University of Idaho should be abolished." Seven minutes were allowed for constructive argument and five minutes for rebuttal. Faculty members were judges.

In the first round L. D. S., Phi Delta Theta, Delta Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, and Sigma Chi were victorious. Delta Chi, L. D. S., and Sigma Alpha Epsilon won in the second round. In the semi-finals L. D. S. and S. A. E. emerged victors to debate in the finals.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Scholarship Awards

Permanent possession of the scholarship cups was granted this year to Kappa Alpha Theta and to the L. D. S. Institute. These cups are presented each year to the women's and men's groups obtaining the highest average in scholarship. Kappa Alpha Theta has had top place for three years among the women, with an average of 5.024 in 1927-28, 4.838 in 1932-33, and 4.936 in 1933-34. Their third attainment of this high rating gave the Thetas the Mary McClintock Upham Cup permanently. The L. D. S. Institute succeeded in maintaining their high place in the men's groups for three consecutive years, and were rewarded with the ownership of the Burton L. French Cup. During this time their average has been 4.710 in 1931-32, 4.805 in 1932-33, and 5.177 in 1933-34.

The awarding of these cups sees the end of a close race in scholarship, and these two groups are to be commended on their ability to keep on the top.

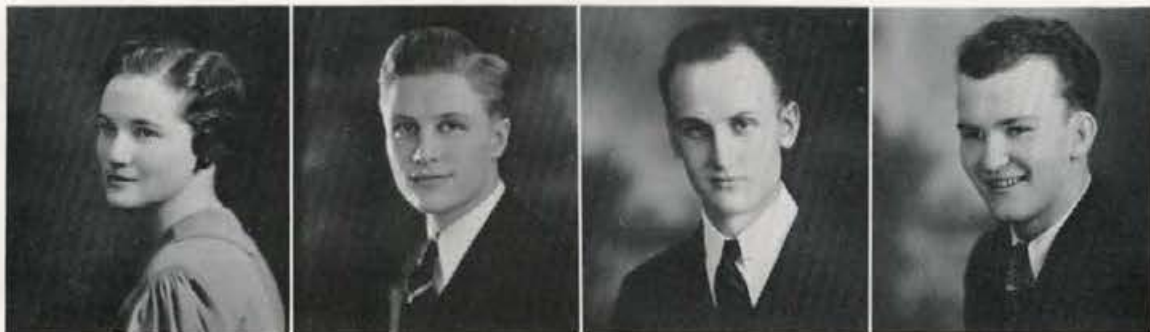

L. D. S. INSTITUTE

INDIVIDUAL AWARDS

Margaret Anderson received the gold key awarded by Phi Chi Theta, women's national honorary business fraternity this year. An average of 5.787 during her junior year and a high standing in activities and leadership earned this award. The key is given to the senior woman in the School of Business Administration on the basis of character, leadership, and scholarship. A transfer from the Southern Branch, Miss Anderson has shown superior ability in attaining recognition by Phi Chi Theta for her record made during her first year at the University of Idaho.

David Kendrick, president of the ASUI, was awarded the Alpha Kappa Psi Medallion for maintaining the highest scholarship among the men in the School of Business Administration during his sophomore and junior years. Alpha Kappa Psi is a men's national business honorary. The 5.718 which Kendrick attained proves his versatility in being capable of holding the highest student's executive office on the campus as well as excelling in the academic field. The students of the University of Idaho may congratulate themselves on having a man of his ability to govern them in the student affairs, and they may be proud of his leadership in both fields.

MARGARET ANDERSON

DAVID KENDRICK

FRED RASMUSSEN

SHERMAN KELLY

The Alpha Zeta Cup is awarded each year to the man who in his freshman year made the highest average in the College of Agriculture. Fred Rasmussen, with an average of 5.676, received the cup for 1933-34. This is a flying start to his college education, and one that will help him to success through the remaining years at school. Alpha Zeta is a national agricultural fraternity.

Sigma Tau, national honorary engineer's fraternity, awards a medal each year to the sophomore who during his freshman year makes the highest average in the College of Engineering. The Sigma Tau Medal was given to Sherman Kelly for the year 1933-34. His grades as a freshman averaged 5.75.

Livestock Show

Each year Idaho sends judging teams from every agricultural department to participate in the Pacific International Livestock Show at Portland. Schools competing are Idaho, Montana, Washington, Utah State, and Washington State. Participation entails extra-curricular work. The experience is valuable to the student in that he meets influential livestock men from every part of the country.

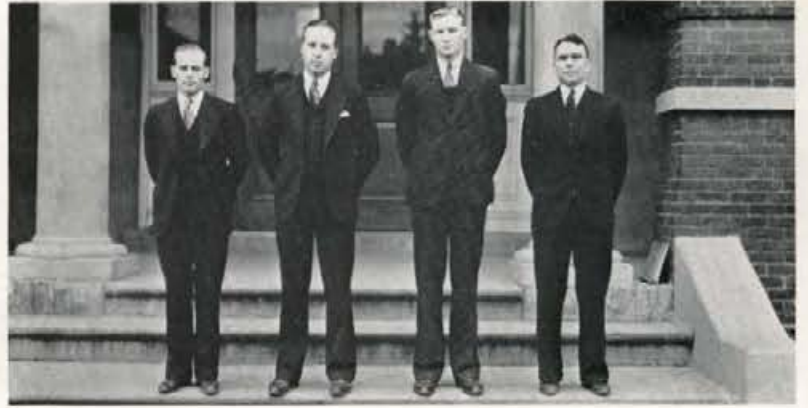

Animal Husbandry

The Animal Husbandry judging team received fourth place at the last Pacific International Show. Idaho, coached by C. W. Hickman, made 4204 points as against Montana State's first place score of 4414 points. This showing was not so good as in previous years, partially because all team members were first-year men. Those competing were Henry Schodde, Eldred Lee, Yale Holland, Ray Petersen, and Rodney Pearson.

E. Spencer, D. Campbell, L. Hall, C. Arndt

Represented by Duard Campbell, Leness Hall, Chester Arndt, and Edward Spencer, the Dairy Husbandry judging team won first place at the Portland show. Leness Hall was high point man in this department. Idaho won first place in judging Holsteins and Jerseys, second in Ayrshires, and third in Guernseys. This championship team was coached by F. W. Atkeson.

Agronomy

The Agronomy judging team this year won first place with the highest number of points ever made by one team in the Pacific International Show. The highest individual score ever made was chalked up by John Schwendiman, Idaho. The team, coached by H. W. Hulbert, this year won the grain grading trophy and the cup for judging and identification. Members were John Schwendiman, Wilbur Schroeder, Mark Peterson, and Andrew Jean.

Dairy Products

Competing against four other schools, Idaho's Dairy Products judging team took third place in the Pacific International Livestock Show held at Portland this year. Those selected to represent the school were Glenn Beck, William David, Leness Hall, and John Ellerson. The team was coached by D. R. Theophilus. Other schools competing were Utah State, Montana State, Washington, and Washington State.

Idaho Teams

The University of Idaho Agricultural judging teams have shown their skill consistently by placing among the winners every year at the Pacific International Livestock Show held at Portland. Idaho has entered judging teams yearly since the first show in 1912, and has a large collection of valuable trophies for rewards as proof of her efforts to excel.

BRIGADIER GENERAL E. R. CHRISMAN

ROBERT MOSER

WILLIAM ROBB

Commencement last year marked the according of a signal honor to Brigadier General E. R. Chrisman, retired, for forty years connected with the Military Department at the University of Idaho. In tribute to his untiring work in the service of the University, a group of alumni presented a large portrait of General Chrisman to the school. General Chrisman's popularity on the campus is attested to by the fact that he has been made an honorary member of Blue Key.

As a young lieutenant, six years out of West Point, General Chrisman came to Idaho in 1894 when the University had been established only five years. During the Spanish-American war he left the University to see active service in Cuba. After the war he returned to Idaho, once again to take up his duties in the military department. Active duty called him, however, this time to South Dakota, Alaska, New Jersey, and the Panama Canal zone. When the World War ended, General Chrisman was in command of military forces in Puerto Rico. He has remained at the University continuously since his last return in 1919.

Under his guidance the military department has reached a point of efficiency comparable to that of any University Reserve Corps in the West. Each year the cadet corps maintains the constant upward trend by passing the annual inspection with high honors.

Three years ago General Chrisman was permanently retired from the army after fifty-four years of service. At the present time he serves on the Academic Council of the University and lends his prestige and counsel to the military department, in which he still maintains a great deal of interest.

Military Personnel

Top: Major O'Connell, Captain Henkle, Captain Hale, Lieutenant Hart
Bottom: C. Frazier, J. Crowe, L. Ensign

Major O'Connell, head of the Military Department at Idaho, comes from Fort Benning, Georgia. He spent the past four years there, one year taking advanced courses at the Infantry School and three years with the headquarters staff. He was assistant Professor of Military Science at New York University for five years. Major O'Connell was graduated from the College of the City of New York in 1915. His favorite pastimes are bridge and golf, in both of which games he is acknowledged as being an expert.

The supervision of all junior officers comes under the duties of Captain H. L. Henkle. He also handles advanced classroom work in combat principles, howitzer weapons, and field fortification construction. With the remainder of the military staff, Captain Henkle assists in directing field drill. An ardent sportsman, Captain Henkle can be found off-duty hunting or watching university athletic contests.

For four years connected with the Military Department of the University of Idaho, Captain W. A. Hale has coached the rifle team to a place where it is considered one of the best in the Pacific Northwest. At his previous post at the University of Washington, Captain Hale's team won the championship four times. Besides coaching the rifle team, Captain Hale is in charge of the sophomore cadets.

Lieutenant Hart returned to the University of Idaho Military Department this fall after an absence of five years. He was previously stationed here from 1924 to 1929. Leaving Idaho, he spent two years in Hawaii, one year in Arizona, and two years in Wyoming. Lieutenant Hart has charge of freshman military classes, and instructs the women's rifle team.

SERGEANT BARNUM
L. ENSIGN

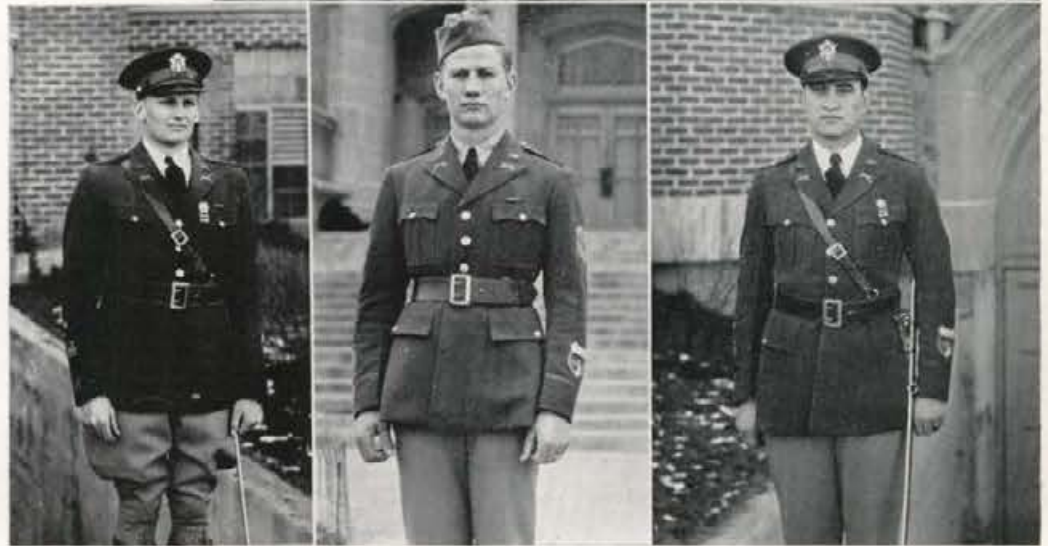

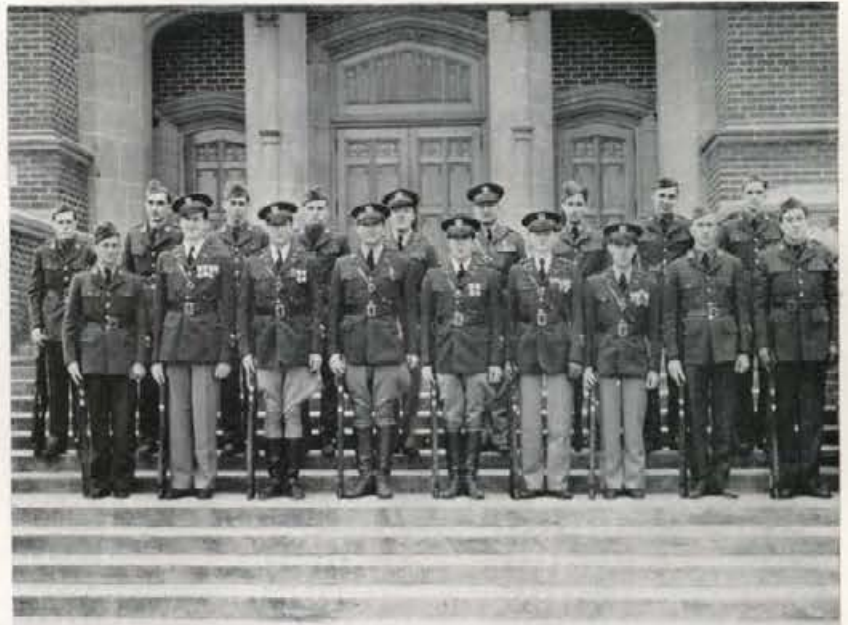

BANDLEADER LYON
H. CAGLE

First Sergeant Lonie Woods is in charge of the supply room. His duties include the issuance of uniforms and the cleaning and repair of all military equipment. No work for Lonie Woods is the job of handling all of the rifles in the department, for guns are his chief hobby.

The large amount of clerical work necessary in carrying on the Military Department falls to the lot of Sergeant Frank Barnum. Besides the office work, Sergeant Barnum assists in field drill and in the instruction of freshmen. Sergeant Barnum, who saw active duty in China in 1924, holds a captain's commission in the Officers Reserve Corps.

Robert B. Lyon is Director of the Military Band and is an Assistant Professor of Music. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois. The Military Band holds an important place in the musical activities of the campus besides its regular functions at cadet drill. Under the leadership of Mr. Lyon the Military Band has developed into one of the best bands in the West.

 Bottom: J. Crowe, T. Ward, E. Smith

The curriculum of the Military Department is dedicated to a cultivation of good citizenship in time of peace as well as in war. The first year course embraces not only the expected military training but also instruction in the constitution and general citizenship. Included in the purely military phase of training are field drill, rifle practice, and an extensive lecture course dealing with subjects that can not be actually demonstrated. Advanced courses are offered to those who wish to continue military training after the compulsory first two years are completed.

Yearly a number of advanced students attend a summer encampment at Fort George Wright, Spokane, Washington. Last year students from the University of Idaho won the "Doughboy of the West" trophy, which is awarded to the school whose delegation achieves the highest proficiency in rifle marksmanship.

This year the military band, under the direction of R. B. Lyon, has been divided into a concert band and a maneuver unit. Bernt Nielsen, bandmaster for seventeen years, died last spring.

SENIOR BALL

ARTHUR HAGEN

Senior Ball

The mystery of Egypt dominated the Senior Ball, given annually by the graduating class. This affair is one of the most important social events of the year and was held December 8 at the Blue Bucket Inn.

Decorations were especially attractive this year, the Egyptian motif lending itself to a clever decorating scheme. Indirect lighting came from behind realistic panels of pyramids and green palm trees. Separating these panels were splendid drawings of rolling white sand dunes which gave an effect of eastern richness. Huge Egyptian pillars, accentuating this effect, lined the beautifully decorated dance floor.

A huge Egyptian head watched over the dancers at the far end of the dance floor with the wise eyes of age. The head completed the appearance of the hall.

Soft white suede dance programs with a picture of the Memorial Gymnasium on the front added to the pleasure and were pleasant reminders of the formal affair.

Patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. M. G. Neale, Dean Permeal J. French, and Dean and Mrs. Ivan C. Crawford.

"I" CLUB CARNIVAL

Something different in the line of dances was carried out by the "I" Club at their Carnival, held on March 8. The Memorial Gymnasium was transformed into a series of sideshows and gambling booths, which, together with dancing to the music of Chuck Collins' Orchestra, afforded the unique entertainment for the evening. The use of counterfeited money was a novel way of carrying out the carnival idea.

The climax of the evening was the coronation of Mary Hartley "I" Queen. She was chosen from the Senior Class for her scholarship, activities, and personality. Charles Wilson, president of the "I" Club, introduced her during intermission and presented her with an "I" pin and blanket.

The dance chairman, Joe Wheeler, and his committee brought forth one of the most novel dances of the university social season, proceeds of which were used for payment on a trophy case purchased a year ago by the Club.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Calland, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Rich Fox.

SPINSTER'S SKIP

The Spinster Skip, day of days for the spring-styled coeds and their fortunate dates, was unusually successful this year. Perhaps it was the many beautiful flags which decorated the Blue Bucket Inn that inspired the feeling of patriotism and enthusiasm among the dancers; perhaps it was the sun which had shone fitfully during the morning and came out in its full glory during the afternoon; and it might well have been the swinging music played by the Blue Bucket orchestra that created a feeling of gayety among the people present. At any rate Mortar Board is to be highly complimented on the dance.

On the Idaho campus, as is always the custom, this is the women's day. It is on this day that the women call for the men, escort them to the dance, and then take them to dinner. As is always the custom, too, it is on this day that women pay all the expenses incurred from the time that the men leave their homes in the early afternoon until they again return to them in the evening. Both dancers and the patrons and patronesses, who included Dean Permeal J. French, Miss Ida Ingalls, and Doctor and Mrs. G. M. Miller, left the dance at five o'clock with the feeling of having spent a most pleasurable afternoon.

MORTAR BOARD FASHION SHOW

Spring was formally ushered in with the staging of the annual Mortar Board Fashion Show on March 23 at the Memorial Gymnasium. "A Day at the Yacht Club" was the theme carried throughout. Beginning with a dance by the scrub woman, Ruth Ferney, and the antics of the darkie bell hops, Aldon Hoffman and William O'Neill, the clothes for all the hours of the day were shown—sport clothes, luncheon frocks, suits and coats, tea and afternoon dresses, dresses for the cocktail hour, and formals. Modeling for Creighton's were Mrs. Fred Blanchard, Audrey Robinson, Mabel Nye, Gene Conklin, and Glenn Starlin. On parade for Davids' were Mrs. Jesse Buchanan, Margaret Brodrecht, Beatrice Jane Fisher, Homer Fisher, and Robert Felton. Stylish and chic were the Fashion Shop's models, Kathryn Parker and Joan Sandford, as were the Parisian's, Mrs. Milton Melzian, Patricia Espe, and Maxine Berger. Penney's chose Mrs. Gale Mix, Marjorie Blaine, Helen Madson, Ray Sowder, and Earl Bullock. Hats were shown by Peggy's Hat Shop and Torson's. Music throughout was furnished by Chuck Collins' Orchestra. The clever stage settings were designed by Theodore Prichard.

JUNIOR PROM

The Junior Prom lived up to its reputation of being the year's most anticipated dance. Held April 26 at the Blue Bucket, decorative effects secured by indirect lighting on a false ceiling created a colorful atmosphere.

Receiving were President and Mrs. M. G. Neale, Dr. F. C. Church, Captain and Mrs. H. L. Henkle, David Kendrick, William O'Neill, Barbara Geddes, and Jane Post. The climax of the evening was the crowning of the queen of the prom—Dorothy Scoggin. Credit for the success of the Prom is due to Chairman Douglas Smith. Edwin Atwood, Edgar Wood, Tillie Jeppesen, and Bernice Levy planned the decorations.

JUNIOR CABARET

By far the liveliest event of Junior Week, and probably of the year, was the Junior Cabaret, held at the Blue Bucket Inn, April 27.

Decorations downstairs of black and white contributed to the Harlem night club theme, where dancers stepped to the music of Chuck Collins' orchestra. Upstairs white modernistic decorations and music by Tom Armour's band were in order. During intermission a clever floor show added to the evening's entertainment.

Patrons and patronesses were Captain and Mrs. H. L. Henkle, Professor and Mrs. C. W. Hickman, and Lieutenant and Mrs. C. H. Hart.

SHOP WHERE THE CROWDS SAVE

David's
MOSCOW IDAHO

An Institution
as Old as the University
Itself.

When DAVIDS' Store was founded there was written into its policies an inflexible rule concerning the reliability of merchandise. It is not too much to say that our present growth is due entirely to the policy of never selling anything—however small—that we can not fully guarantee. And the most impressive phase of the success that has come to us lies not in its magnitude but in the ever-growing satisfaction, so freely voiced by thousands of our customers, in the reliability of their purchases.

We wish to express our appreciation for the services of all those who aided in the production of the 1935 Gem of the Mountains. Especially do we wish to thank the following for their interest and splendid cooperation:

Members of the editorial staff and business staff of the 1935 Gem;

Ralph W. York and the personnel of the Syms-York Company, Boise;

Walt M. Irvine and the personnel of the Western Engraving & Colortype Company, Seattle;

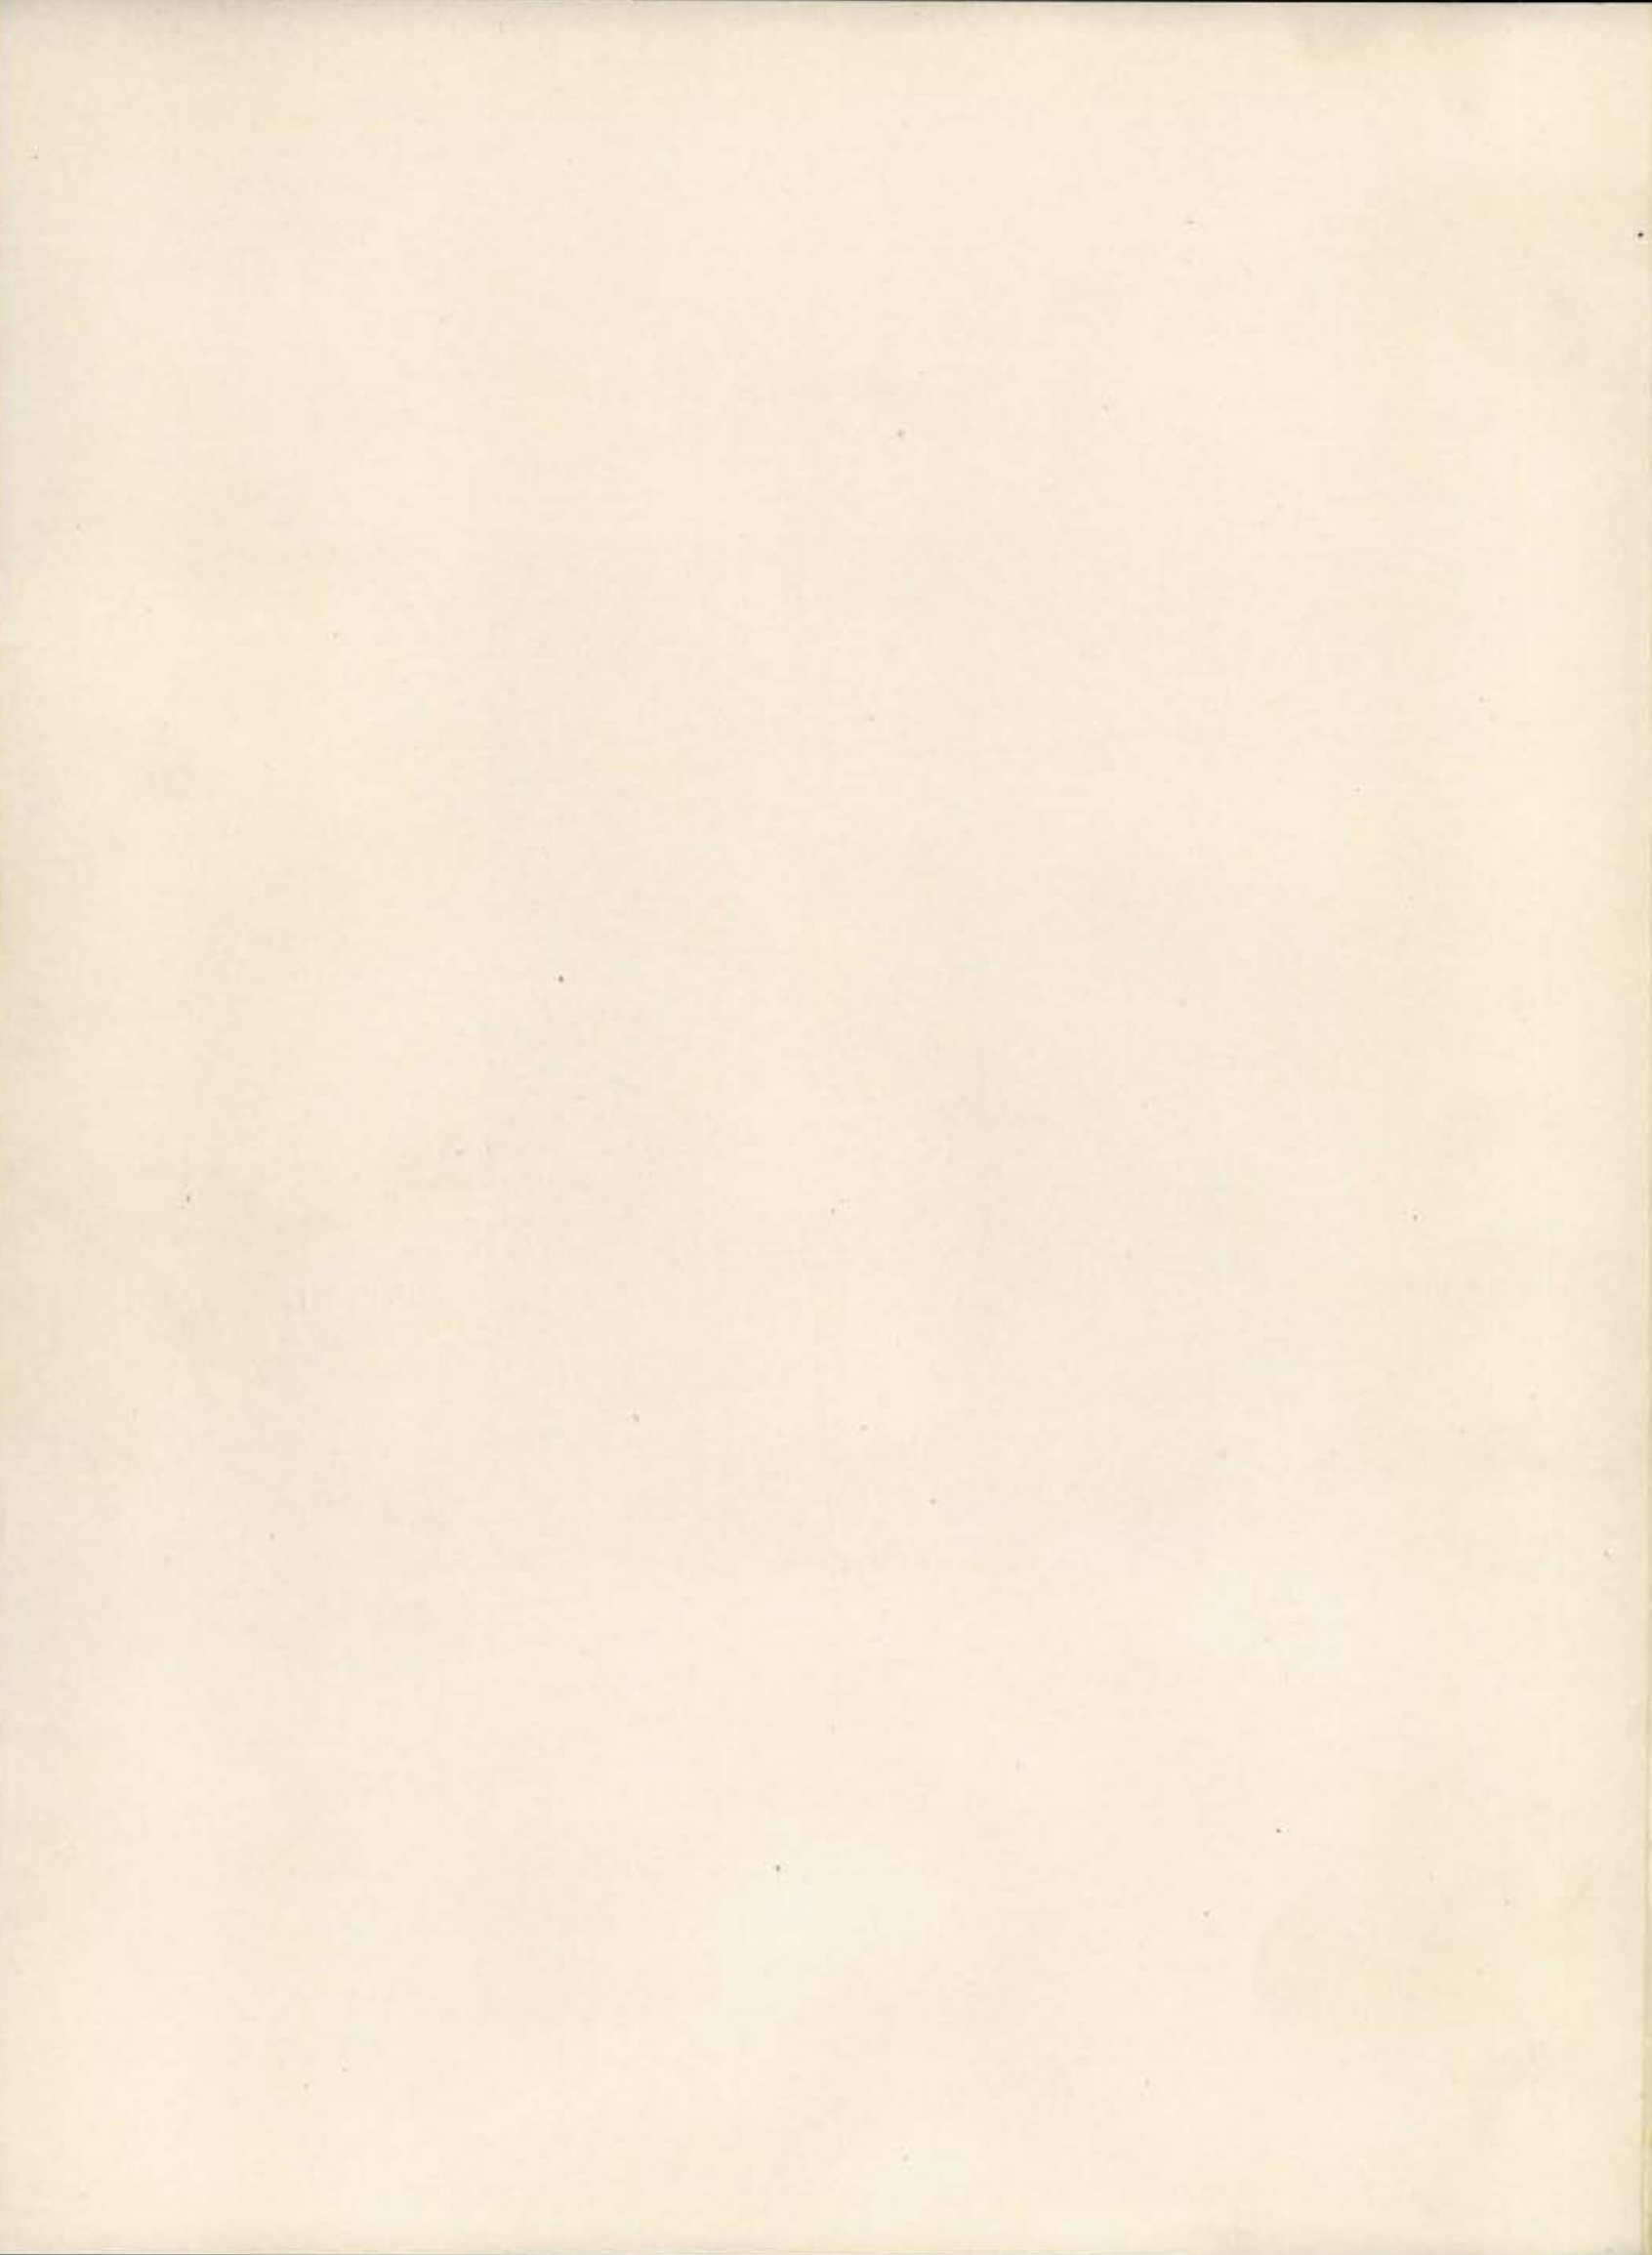

Hutchison Studio and Sterner's Studio, Moscow;

Charles Dimond, photographic services, Hodgin's Drug Store, Moscow.

The 1935 Gem also appreciates the support of the Gem advertisers for their interest in the University of Idaho.

ROBERT C. HERRICK, Editor.
MAURICE MALIN, Associate.
CECIL GREATHOUSE, Manager.
FRANK BEVINGTON, Assistant.
