STUDY — RECREATION — AFTER CLASS

The 1943 GEM presents Idaho

Spirit ran high on the Idaho campus the night Vandal football forces entrained for Palo Alto, California, to meet Stanford University. As students rally 'round the embarking gridders, the Pep Band strikes up a farewell march—and the 6:40 Union Pacific pulls out.

To Idaho men who have left the campus and taken a place among America's fighting soldiers, sailors, and marines, the staff of the 1943 GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS dedicates this book. The list is restricted to Idaho men who have joined the armed services since the establishment of selective service. We regret that the record is not complete.—THE STAFF.

Board of Regents . . .

An old student controversy was settled this year by the Board of Regents with the purchase of the Idaho book store and its merging with the Student book store. Maintaining the University on a war-time basis was the major job of the board during the year.

BOARD OF REGENTS . . . Judge W. E. McNaughton, Mrs. A. A. Steele, Judge J. A. Anderson, J. F. Jenny, C. E. Roberts, A. B. Wilson.

President Harrison C. Dale

President's Message:

To that far-flung battle-line where those are risking life itself who a few brief months ago trod these well-worn paths and shared our common University life, our thoughts reach out, trying, as it were, to remember that they are still a part of those of us who stay and of those of us so soon to join them. The Idaho ideal of national service still burns with unflickering light for they have brightened and illumined our University's record of devotion. They are winning their country's battles and adding luster to the great University that sends them forth. God bless them all, on land, on sea, and in the air; and when victory comes, bring them safe home again.

DEPARTMENT HEADS

The war forced many adjustments on the University's department heads during the year. With government and defense positions taking several members of the "U" faculty from the classroom, the problem of filling vacancies became paramount. And when new instructors could not be found, the department heads filled the empty positions. New responsibilities, to augment regular duties, were continuously being assumed by department heads.

But despite added work, longer hours, and heavier responsibilities, each department head kept the university educational machinery running smoothly. Their personal interest in the students and their assistance to skidding scholars was not slackened. They still found time for conferences with worried students. And they did it while instructing extra classes and maintaining Idaho's high teaching standards.

Students know department heads — they always have. The past year was no exception. Through daily contact with the heads of departments, students found which were willing to help—they learned which were lofty and indifferent. The approved often served as the confidant of many an Idaho student. To them were taken individual student problems which deans were too busy to hear.

Students who found themselves the unhappy possessors of penciled "D's" and red "F's" were frequent visitors at the offices of department heads. From these friendly instructors they received helpful advice and additional instruction. They learned that department heads had a genuine interest in students problems, that they were willing to help solve these problems. Conferences with professors often pulled students out of ruts leading to scholastic failure.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICIALS . . .

Two changes were made in university administrative personnel during the past year. One was the replacement of R. W. Lind by C. A. Truitt as buildings and grounds superintendent. The other was the naming of Mrs. M. C. Albrecht as purchasing agent to succeed W. W. Goss.

The jobs of both were made increasingly difficult by government tightening of priorities.

Robert F. Greene was given the extra job of providing housing facilities for navy and army personnel training on the campus.

All officials saw a busy year as staffs dwindled.

Student Administration

A.S.U.I. EXECUTIVE BOARD . . . Shown "in action" during one of its weekly meetings is Idaho's student executive board, governing body in student affairs. The board appoints all student committees, okays the A.S.U.I. budget, and performs many similar functions.

HARRY LEWIES
Student Body President

A. S. U. I. Leaders . . .

Disrupting events clouded the political horizon during the past year, as the old Independent party and dissatisfied Greeks combined to form a new Associated party which swept into power in spring elections. The new organization easily won the A.S.U.I. presidency and a majority of seats on the student executive board.

Student officers for the year, all of them members of the Associated Students party, were: Harry Lewies, president; Bob Wethern, vice president; and Norma Marchi, secretary.

But the student leaders found running the A.S.U.I. was much tougher than winning student elections. Trouble started as soon as the executive board convened. First was a squabble over the yell team. Next came a tiff with the Spurs. And always there was trouble with publications leaders who wanted to publish their papers and year-books without interference from "publications-ignorant" politicians.

The "publications problem" was perhaps the sharpest thorn in the executive board's side. Editors wanted a new publications board, and after a lengthy fight, they got it. But soon the publications board was dissolved by the politicians—and all promises which executive board members had made were stricken from books. When school closed, nothing constructive had been accomplished.

Accomplishments can be recorded in the executive board log, too. Much energy was concentrated on student war efforts. A victory committee was appointed to direct and promote all war activities. Idaho's "Bucket Brigade" of Minute Maids was organized to sell war bonds and stamps on the campus. And the Red Cross unit on the campus was supported by the executive board during its formation.

Costly social functions were banned for the duration by board action, because they "were not in tune with the times." A limit was set for dance decorations, programs were eliminated almost entirely, and corsages were discontinued.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN

RENA ECCHER
A. W. S. President

This year saw women on the Idaho campus realize the seriousness of World War II, the full weight of their responsibility, and the important role they play in promotion of the nation's war effort. Much of the gaiety and social activity which has always been a major function of the Associated Women Students was set aside. Substituted were national defense activities.

The traditional A.W.S. Carnival was cancelled to give greater support to the newly organized local Red Cross Surgical Dressing unit, which Idaho women obtained for the campus. This unit, housed in the women's gymnasium, had student instructors who supervised the making of bandages. Thousands of dressings were rolled during the year.

On the lighter side, however, the women sponsored an All-Women's Play Party, and it was reported very successful. The party consisted of a buffet luncheon, group singing, and country dancing, and the A.W.S. plan to make it an annual affair.

To assist new students, the A.W.S. sponsored a counselor service and met trains and busses bringing students to Moscow last September. They answered questions and helped to orient new students on the campus.

Heading A.W.S. activity was Rena Eccher, president. Other officers were Pauline Hawley, Doris Johnson, Barbara Long, Claire Bracken.

A keynote of the Associated Women Students is its representative form of government. Besides its regularly elected officers, the group has a governing body composed of junior and senior representatives from each women's group on the campus. This body, the A.W.S. Council, has the function of formulating and enforcing women's rules and regulations on the campus.

At the beginning of each year, the council meets with Miss Beatrice Olson, dean of women, and discusses all campus rules for women. Desirable changes in regulations are made, and these are published in the A.W.S. Handbook.

Women's activities end on May Day at Idaho with the annual May Day Fete. At this time an elected May Queen is crowned, leading campus honoraries tap new members, and the Spurs hold their traditional May Pole dance.

PERRY CULP, JR.
Graduate Manager

GRADUATE

Controlling the purse strings of the Associated Students at the beginning of the school year was chunky Perry Culp, Jr., who took over in the spring of 1942, when Gale Mix entered the army. Culp's official position was graduate manager, but he also acted as A.S.U.I. news director. And in the spring he even found himself "part-editor" of the Argonaut, after the draft had taken eligible publications students.

In March Manager Culp left Idaho to take a Red Cross field directorship, and into his job stepped Ted Sherman, an English instructor.

Office Assistants . . .

During the busiest part of the year, Maria (Mike) Smith was secretary to Graduate Manager Perry Culp, but she left Idaho at the end of football season to join her husband, an ensign in the navy. Mike was a favorite of the students and they regretted her leaving. An assistant in the manager's office was Jean MacRae, who kept Argonaut and Gem records.

MANAGER

The graduate manager's office is the "clearing house" for all student functions. It handles finances for all class projects, A.S.U.I. dramatics productions, debate, music, publications, and athletes.

An important cog in the A.S.U.I. machine is the manager's secretary—Arline Manning, this year. Arline was the right-hand "man" of Managers Culp and Sherman, and it was her job to write letters, keep A.S.U.I. records, and answer queries of ambitious class officers and assembly chairmen.

Secretary

The war and the loss of Bill Olson, alumni secretary, almost caused the discontinuance of the Idaho Alumni Association. But with Sib Kleffner, president, and Cecil Hagen, acting secretary, the organization remained active, although its functions were greatly curtailed. Student fees, which support the association, drew fire from students during the year, when it was reported the organization was "doing nothing."

MAJOR A. S. U. I. COMMITTEES . . .

Two of the most active committees on the Idaho campus this year were the Student Union Activities Board, established in 1942, and the A.S.U.I. Victory Committee, a "war baby."

Headed by Marylu Jensen, the activities group directed and controlled policies of the Student Union building and promoted several student-interest programs. It was instrumental in establishing a recreational program on the upper floor of the "Bucket."

The Victory Committee, with Ben Martin as chairman, boosted the sale of war bonds and stamps on the campus. It supported Idaho's famed "Minute Maids," a group of co-eds who canvassed group houses weekly to sell stamps. And in the spring, the committee sponsored a Victory Ball, charging no admittance, but requiring dancers to buy a dollar war stamp for admission.

Both committees worked in cooperation and under the guidance of the A.S.U.I. executive board.

STUDENT UNION ACTIVITIES BOARD . . . Norma Marchi, Merrie Lu Kloepfer, Molly McMann, Harry Mosman, Marylu Jensen, Mrs. H. P. Magnuson, Helen Gale.

VICTORY COMMITTEE . . . Joe Gordon, Anne Thompson, Harry Lewies, Chairman Ben Martin, Bob Stilinger, Rex Blewett, Helen Jean Brink.

Senior "White Christmas" Ball . . .

SENIOR BALL COMMITTEE . . . Front: Ray Hoobing, Helen Wilson, Harry Mosman, Rowena Nordby, Chairman Mat Lewis. Back: Dale Reynolds, Jean Mann, Mary Fran Marshall.

Fritz Fulton and Mary McCabe model military uniform and war stamp corsage. Both were in vogue at the Senior Ball.

Seniors

By far the outstanding dance of the college year was the Senior Ball, which carried a "White Christmas" theme—because of the popularity of the musical hit of that name.

The Ball was held in early December, and Seniors spent many hours turning the Bucket ballroom into a winter wonderland for the event. There were silver pines, icicles, and frosted window panes. And the weather cooperated to complete the setting when snow fell the day of the dance and left the campus white.

Matt Lewis took charge of all arrangements for the ball, assisted by Ray Hoobing, Helen Wilson, Mary Fran Marshall, Dale Reynolds, Harry Mosman, Rowena Nordby, and Jean Mann.

This year's ball differed from those of previous years in two respects: Military uniforms were as much in vogue as the traditional tuxedo, and corsages were made from war stamps instead of flowers. But the ball still retained a stilted atmosphere, and there was the old receiving line and the grand march. As usual the state governor and other dignitaries who never attend were the "guests of honor" at the ball.

Putting on a successful dance wasn't the only accomplishment of this year's class officers, however. They cooperated with THE GEM in securing activity lists of graduating seniors. This was a job made difficult, because of the large number of students who left school during the year.

BERGESON, WILLIAM F.—B.S.(Agr.); Blackfoot High School; Phi Gamma Delta; Basketball 1.

WARREN WEINBERG . . . A campus operator in every sense of the word was sparse-haired Warren Weinberg, a senior engineering student. "Warry," as he was known to his friends, was a leader of the United Students political party—and rumor had it he was a member of TNE, secret fraternity of "bad boys." A member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Weinberg also claimed membership in several campus honoraries. He was a member of the A.S.U.I. Executive Board, chairmanned a junior prom, and held several other high positions. Despite his extracurricular activities and his good times, however, Warry was able to drag down high grades.

BORG, ANGELA O.—B.S.(H.Ec.); Moscow High School.

HARRY LEWIES . . . After three years of political pump priming, the Independent political party was able to put Harry in the A.S.U.I. president's chair—and by a landslide vote at the polls. But Harry held several other high posts before taking over the prexy's duties. He was debate manager, head of the Independent Council, Chrisman Hall president, and class officer. During his senior year, he even took up housekeeping, sharing bachelor quarters with Gem Editor Don Carlson—until the army put both in uniform and gave them private's pay. Lewies was staunchly anti-Greek, but kept peace with his political foes.

JIM TOWLES . . . Carrot-topped Jim, wearer of the white star of Sigma Nu, was the Greek party choice for student body prexy in 1942, but lost. Even so, however, he made a record for himself on the campus—up until his big uncle took him into service in the spring of '43. Jim was a member of several campus honoraries, including Silver Lance, and he held a seat on the A.S.U.I. executive board. In fraternity affairs, Jim was a leader. He headed the Interfraternity council and was president of SN. When a junior, he took charge of all junior week activity. On the side, he was aiming for a law degree—and a crack at the bar examination.

GENE LUNTEY . . . Gene was one of those rare guys you hear about—one who is a leader in almost every conceivable activity and a "brain," too. Sigma Chi Luntey was president of his fraternity, of Sigma Tau, and the Interfraternity Council. He held offices in Blue Key and the chemical engineers association. During his senior year he edited the Idaho Engineer and managed Mike Ryan's track team. But greatest of all Gene's achievements was the winning of a $5,000 scholarship in chemical engineering—this topped four years outstanding scholastic work.

RENA ECCHER . . . One of the leading women on the Idaho campus was Rena Eccher, an independent "big-wig." Rena was a member of the A.S.U.I. executive board, president of the Associated Women Students, and member of several campus organizations, among them Spurs, Cardinal Key, Home Ec Club, and Phi Upsilon Omicron. Her senior year Rena was May Queen and reigned over the annual University May Fete. During her four years on the campus, she resided at Ridenbaugh Hall, where she held many house offices, including the presidency.

McQUADE, HENRY FORD—LL.B.; Moscow High School.

BOB WETHERN . . . Stringy-haired, bespectacled Bob Wethern was a "Johnny-on-the-Spot" among Idaho's Fourth Estaters during his four-plus years on the hill. During his junior year, he wrote a damn good sports column, when no one else was available to do the job. This led to his editorship of THE GEM his senior year—and with no previous experience, he put out a first-class annual. In his senior year, when Argonaut editors became scarce, he took over and put out a respectable newspaper. Besides being a leading publicist, Wethern was Tau Kappa Epsilon house president and A.S.U.I. vice president. His only weakness: Couldn't get out of bed in the mornings to get to class.

MANN, JEAN—B.S.(Bus.); Emmett High School; Hays Hall, Treasurer 2; Mortar Board; Cardinal Key; Spurs; Sigma Alpha Iota 2-3-4, Treasurer 3; President 4; Phi Chi Theta 3-4, Corresponding Secretary 3; Vandaleers 1-2-3-4, Secretary-Treasurer 2, Vice President 3, President 4; Orchestra 1-2-3-4; Maid of Honor 3; Taps and Terps 1-2-3; Gem 1-2.

JAY GARNER . . . A leader of the all-powerful Independent party and a BMOC at Idaho was Jay Garner. While studying the ins-and-outs of farming, Jay took time out to fill a seat on the A.S.U.I. executive board and act as co-chairman of Homecoming. He was a member of several honoraries, including Alpha Zeta, Silver Lance, Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, and Intercollegiate Knights. Along political lines, he was a member of the Independent Council, the Independent Caucus, and chairman of the Election Examining Board. When school ended, he was also a full-fledged member of the U.S. armed forces—wearing the uniform of a private, along with 107 other ROTCers.

SEVERN, RUSSELL—B.S.(Bus.); Montpelier High School; Sigma Nu, House Officer 2-3; Pep Band; Alpha Kappa Psi; Alpha Theta Delta.

MARY FRAN MARSHALL . . . Although she tried to keep out of activities during her senior year so she could "hit the books," Mary Fran still found herself dabbling in every sort of extracurricular work. And she was graduated with a list of activities as long as your arm. She was president of her sorority, Kappa Kappa Gamma, plus Gem art editor, Cardinal Key, Mortar Board, Panhellenic, AWS secretary, Spurs, W.A.A., etc. Dirty politics kept her off the A.S.U.I. executive board, but failed to keep her out of positions gained by ability. The title of "Big Woman on the Campus" truly fits Mary Fran.

Juniors

Despite war conditions and restrictions, the Junior Class was able to hold its annual Junior Week—serenade, mixer, cabaret, prom, et al. About mid-year it was feared that Junior Week would have to be cancelled, but Junior Class officers and class "biggies" wouldn't see the year go by without at least the Prom. So they set about formulating plans for the "biggest Junior Week yet." Many hours of extensive preparation brought results. In April the event was held. The only thing that failed to materialize was the Junior Assembly, which was dropped at the last minute, because of lack of student interest.

Rae Reinhardt was in charge of all arrangements for the week, with class officers and several competent committee chairmen lending support. Kent Barber was chairman of the Prom. Herb Larsen took charge of the cabaret, and Winton Wood directed the serenade. The week officially opened on Wednesday night, with a picked group serenading all campus group houses. It closed with the Prom the night of April 17.

Main activity of this year's sophomore class was the sponsorship of the University's annual Holly Week. Before Christmas vacation the sophomores conducted a serenade, an all-University mixer, a formal ball, and a house Christmas decorations contest. In charge of all activity was Dick Beier, chairman, and class officers. Theme for Holly Week was Holly Frolic.

Freshmen

Like all newcomers at the University, this year's Freshman Class was anxious to start things rolling. So in early October, the first-year class sponsored the second annual Frosh Week, which was high-lighted by an all-Freshman Sweater Mixer.

Purpose of Frosh Week is to give freshmen an opportunity to get acquainted with classmates. Throughout the week members of the class wear only sweaters to class, and the mixer carries a strictly "sweater" theme.

Hank Arrien was in charge of this year's event, being ably aided by the following committee heads: Harold Evans, Bob Miller, Jean Kilpatrick, Ann Hite, J. T. Peterson, Walter Jain, Marjorie Gooding, and Jean Ardinbury.

Credit for the success of Frosh Week is also due class officers, who worked hand-in-hand with committeemen in formulating and carrying out plans. Officers were: Elmer Wilson, president; Bob Barbour, vice president; Bob Jones, secretary; and Kay Richardson, treasurer.

Before the end of the year, Wilson was called into the armed services and Barbour moved into the presidency for the remainder of the term. Other officers served through the whole year.

Their First Day at College . . .

On this page THE Gem tries to picture the more serious side of a first week at "collitch." Upper photos show students as they wade through registration, get class schedule cards, and fill them out. Then, as center pictures reveal, student's "shell out" for registration fees—and then load up with books, prior to their first classes. And after their first class periods, there are lessons to do. The lower pictures show typical study poses of students "hitting the books." It's all part of a quest for knowledge.

With Students in Class . . .

Here THE GEM goes to class with Idaho students. It shows what goes on within the walls of a university classroom building. Above: "U" men tabulate data during an engineering experiment. Russian-born Dr. Wiens conducts a class in the Russian language. And pre-medical students dissect cats in a zoology lab. On the opposite page: Business students learn to operate calculating machines and figure expenses of modern business. No, not men from Mars, but mining students in gas masks—it's part of their mine rescue and first-aid training. Forestry students systematically plant new trees in the University's arboretum. Home economics students study the content of foods—in a chemistry laboratory. Civilian Pilot Training students learn how airplane motors operate. Kathleen Orr, nutrition major, carefully prepares a "balanced meal." She's a scholarship winner. Another engineer checks an experiment—accuracy is imperative, one slip by these technically trained students, and their work will have to be re-done. A physics student carefully manipulates a complicated machine, seeking proof of theories found in textbooks. And finally what all classes lead to, the examination, where professors find out "who knows and who is bluffing." This picture was taken during a math exam.

College Is Practical, Too . . .

All college education isn't taken from pages of books. These co-eds are getting the practical side of the newspaper game, as Louis Boas, editor of the Daily Idahonian, sends them out to cover regular beats. They'll write—maybe re-write—the stories. And these home economics majors, who live in Practice cottage, learn to properly set a dinner table. They make up the menu, cook the meal—and eat.

It all leads to one thing—graduation. Here seniors, clad in caps and gowns, sit while speakers tell them what the future holds. And the governor comes to wish "best of luck." Then they are turned loose.

MILITARY

COL. CHARLES W. JONES
Professor Military Science and Tactics

With the nation at war, the University's military department took on new significance this year, despite a marked drop in basic enrollment. Students, realizing they would soon be called to service, strove to get the most out of military classes—and hoped R.O.T.C. would help them get appointments to officers training schools.

At the head of Idaho's R.O.T.C. regiment was Col. Charles W. Jones, professor of military science and tactics. Col. Jones' job of coordinating military activity at Idaho became more difficult throughout the year, with constant changes in regular army personnel, the establishment of a technical training unit on the campus, and the activating of 107 advanced military students.

In April junior and senior military students were sent to Fort Lewis, Washington, where they were uniformed, processed into the army, before returning to school.

Commissioned officers who were members of Idaho's oft-changing military faculty during the past year included Col. Jones, Lieut. Col. William A. Hale, Capt. Wilfred B. Stanley, and Lieuts. John F. Lukens, Otto A. Nelson, Hugh Rutledge, and W. C. Wideman.

During the year Capt. Stanley and Lieuts. Lukens and Nelson were transferred from the University. They were replaced by Lieuts. Rutledge and Wideman. Rutledge later joined the staff of the army technical school, and Wideman became company commander of Idaho's "regularized" advanced military students.

Noncommissioned officers who served with the military department were Sgts. A. M. Schmall, J. D. Morgan, Paul Curd, R. L. Meador, A. C. Johnson, C. V. Kramer, R. A. Parvis, E. F. Greathouse, and M. O. DeGroat. Sgt. Johnson left Idaho at mid-year to accept an army commission.

From Cadet Officers to Buck Privates . . .

This year, for the first time in the University's history, R.O.T.C. cadet officers were not clad in trim officers' blouses and tailored "pinks." Instead, they wore the non-fitting, khaki uniform of regular army privates—and they held privates' ratings.

All advanced R.O.T.C. students were called to active duty with the regular army in April, after the University accepted an army technical training school for the campus. They were sent to Fort Lewis, Washington, for ten days, after being activated, and at Fort Lewis were "processed" into the army—and given their first taste of "real" army life.

Processing for the cadets included: Writing of army general classification (I.Q.), mechanical aptitude, and radio aptitude tests; taking "shots" for typhoid fever, tetanus, and smallpox; hearing the Articles of War; and finally the receiving of complete army uniforms.

After the processing the cadets returned to the campus to complete the school year. They stayed at regular campus residences and continued conventional college schedules—but the army paid expenses, plus fifty dollars a month.

At school's close, the seniors were scheduled to enter officers' school at Fort Benning, Georgia. Juniors were hopeful.

R. O. T. C. Unit Rates Excellent . . .

At their annual regimental inspection last spring, Idaho's R.O.T.C. cadets received a rating of excellent and were given the right to wear a blue star insignia on their sleeves for another year. These pictures show part of the inspection, which was made by Major Morrison, P.M.S. & T. at Washington State College. Below: A company passes before the officers' stand during review. Basics demonstrate artificial respiration during a Red Cross exhibition. On the opposite page: A large crowd, including a contingent of sailors, witnessed the annual inspection. While officers look on, sophomore marksmen demonstrate ability to hit landscape targets, and juniors show the proper method of putting a machine gun into action. White-capped Pershing Riflemen dress ranks prior to inspection.

Navy Trains Radiomen on Campus . . .

A vital part of Idaho during 1942-43 was the Navy Radio Training School, established in the spring of 1942. Throughout the year a corps of about 600 sailors trained on the campus. They were housed in Willis Sweet and Chrisman halls, and had classrooms in several university buildings. These pictures are a glimpse of the naval trainees. Upper left: Officers confer during an inspection. Upper right: In a classroom, trainees take code. Lower left: An idle moment when "gobs" sun themselves in front of Sweet Hall. CAMPUS SENTINEL . . . Beside this old cannon, a remnant of past wars, are Bob Robinson, Pauline Hawley, Evelyn MacKay, and Harry Lewies.

STUDENTS DEPARTED from the campus regularly during the year to enter the armed forces. Seventy-four E. R. C. men left the day the student body staged this giant farewell rally.

*L*ike hundreds of other colleges and universities throughout the nation, the University of Idaho this year found itself facing one of the most critical periods in its history. The United States was at war. And students, the lifeblood of any university, were leaving the classroom and taking a place among America's fighting men.

To meet this emergency, Idaho began adapting its cherished curriculum to suit wartime needs. An accelerated program was established, making it possible to complete a normal four-year course in three years. And strong stress was given to mathematics and sciences, considered essential to the successful prosecution of the war. Men soon to be inducted into the army were offered special courses in these fields . . .

University SERVES NATION DURING WORLD WAR II

PROGRESS OF THE WAR was followed daily by students, who read the latest war communiques and traced hostilities on maps in the University Library.

STUDENT DRAFTEES leave for an induction center during World War II. Idaho men have served their country through three wars.

. . . A supervised compulsory physical-training program was inaugurated to insure Idaho students physical as well as mental training for the strenuous military life ahead. It did not interfere with regular collegiate sports, which were extensively played.

Hard hit by the war were liberal arts classes, which were "teaching humanity during a period of inhumanity." Because they were "non-essential" they were de-emphasized in favor of technical courses, and their enrollments dropped sharply.

University men who remained in school during the year were enrolled in engineering and other technical curricula, or they were members of the army, navy, or marine reserves. They were not slackers trying to avoid selective service, but were training for specific and valuable war work . . .

IN MEMORY of two students killed in the Philippines during the Spanish-American War, this statue has been erected on the campus.

HONORING STUDENTS killed in World War I is this plaque in the Administration Building.

IDAHO WOMEN VOLUNTEERED for Red Cross work and rolled several thousand surgical dressings during the year.

... Of all male students, those in advanced military and reserve programs were destined to play the most active part in the war. They were training to be officers and the country's fighting men. Their courses were all planned with this objective. Those studying in physics, chemistry, and engineering laboratories were learning skills for war work on the production front.

During the year the services began calling college reservists, and Idaho's enlisted reserve corps and army air corps students left for induction centers. It reminded some of Spanish-American and World War I days, when students left in bodies to fight . . .

U.S. SAILORS, shown during inspection, were trained on the campus to be radio operators.

... A curriculum revision did not solve the financial problems of the University, however, and officials turned to the government for assistance. The result was the establishment of a navy radio school on the campus, and later an army technical training school.

Sailors and soldiers were moved to the campus in numbers for specialized training. University dormitories were taken over to house them, and classroom buildings were converted for army and navy use.

A decrease in enrollment and an accelerated schedule left little time for anything but studies, and extracurricular activities suffered. Editors, athletes, and musicians went off to war. And it was impossible to carry on a conventional extracurricular program.

Two new extracurricular organizations whose activities related to the war effort were established during the year. They were the A.S.U.I. victory committee, which co-ordinated all student war activities, and the "Bucket Brigade" of Minute Maids, who canvassed campus residences regularly to sell war bonds and stamps. Women students also volunteered for Red Cross work and rolled surgical dressings . . .

COMPULSORY PHYSICAL EDUCATION developed men for strenuous life in America's armed forces.

... By year's end the University had undergone almost a complete transformation. The country club atmosphere which had prevailed in pre-war years had almost been dissipated. Students had forsaken comfortable lines of reasoning and were settling down to the more serious thought of winning the war.

And for the third time in its 53-year history, the University had been geared for victory. It had served its country during the Spanish-American War and World War I, and was ready to serve again.

DON CARLSON
Editor

Editing a university yearbook during war-time is no easy job. That's what "Private" Don Carlson and staff discovered this year, as they fought sundry war-born problems to put out the 1943 GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS.

Throughout production, staff, printer, and engraver were faced with problems which at times looked as if they might prevent publishing the book. And when the book finally reached the presses, all concerned breathed sighs of relief.

Among things which slowed GEM production this year were: A shortage of photographic and engraving supplies, because of war needs; a lack of student interest in publications; the loss of student workers to the armed forces; and a general upheaval of conventional college activity.

It was through the efforts of a handful of faithful staff members and the sacrifices of Printer Ralph York that THE GEM was finally finished.

This year's book is not a radical departure from previous GEMS, but the staff has endeavored to put out a book which records a year at Idaho during one of the University's most critical periods. There are no elaborate layouts and color schemes. Instead, emphasis has been on good photography and thorough coverage of all phases of campus activity. Students are pictured at work and at play—and aiding the nation's war effort.

Work on THE GEM was begun in April, 1942, with the photographing of spring activities. Then in June the master dummy was prepared. Last fall the real job began: Pictures had to be scheduled, taken, mounted, and sent to the engraver. Extra dummies for the engraver and printer had to be drawn. Finally, copy had to be written and sent to the printer. All this work fell to a few students.

Everything was worked out according to a schedule, but throughout the year there were interruptions. And before Editor Carlson could get "his" book out, the army called him to be "processed" and placed on active duty. When he returned to school, he became the first full-fledged soldier to edit the University yearbook.

It takes more than an editorial staff to put out a college yearbook—and make it pay. That's where Business Manager Bill Campbell and his staff enter the picture. It was the 1943 business staff that sold nearly 1500 copies of THE GEM, secured lucrative advertisements, and sold space to campus organizations. And it was the business staff that kept THE GEM publishing "out" of the red."

GEM Contributors . . .

Even during lean years, when editors must do most of the work on their publications, there are unheralded staff members who make final publication possible. That's the way it was on this year's GEM.

Just as the work of the editor was increased because of a lack of student help, so was the work of a few faithful staff members to whom credit for the 1943 annual is due. These GEM workers and their contributions include:

Dick Beier, associate editor, scheduled the organization pictures and accompanied Charlie

Dimond, veteran GEM photographer, to take them. Anne Thompson directed mounting of class and house panels. Pauline Hawley and Mary Fran Marshall prepared dummies for the engraver and printer. Bette French wrote administration and organization copy. Marian Franson wrote organization writeups. Claire Bracken and Maryella Sanford secured lists of organization officers and members. Marylu Jensen and Evellen Baskett typed most of GEM copy, before it was sent to the printer. And Curly Taylor mounted pictures and handled odd jobs around the GEM office.

The 1942-43

The past year was probably one of the most critical for the Idaho Argonaut in its 45-year history. The war, lack of student interest, a decrease in funds, and the draft—these almost forced discontinuance of the student paper. They did necessitate its reduction to tabloid size.

Trouble for the Argo came early in the year when Ladd Hamilton, editor, and Dayle Molen, sports editor, were drafted. Into their places stepped Bob Wethern, former GEM editor, and Clark Chandler. Under Wethern's leadership, the paper continued publication until semester—then the draft cleaned house again.

Eveline Bellos became editor No. 3 and one of the first women to hold the job, but she lasted only one edition.

Next came Co-Editors Marian Franson and Claire Bracken, who stayed at the helm through the remainder of the year. Intermittently, even Graduate Manager Perry Culp took a hand at the editorship, writing two of the sheet's four pages.

Before the year was out, the Argonaut editorial staff was almost entirely "female." Nearly all male publications workers had been called into service. Only the sports desk remained with the men—Bernie Poller was sports editor.

This year's staff composition listed a managing editor only for a short time. She was Marian Franson, who soon stepped to the editorship. After that no one could be found for the position.

Helen Foster and Catherine McGregor were Argo copy desk editors, and to them fell the job of checking all heads which went into the paper. Bette Armstrong wrote occasional features and was author of the "Mulberry Bush," a name column. GEM Editor Don Carlson acted as staff cameraman.

The job of the Argonaut business staff is two-fold. It must solicit, lay out, and collect for all advertising. And it must wrap and address all Argos going to mail subscribers. This work, every bit as important as news gathering, requires an advertising staff, which works on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and a circulation staff, which labors Thursdays.

ARGONAUT WORKERS . . . These two pictures show two phases of work on the Idaho Argonaut. In the upper photo students are marking copy and writing news headlines. Below the circulation staff prepares single-wraps for mailing throughout the country.

Revenue Solicitors . . .

Business Manager Dick Ryan found Moscow businessmen reluctant to advertise in the Argonaut this year. Their reason: War priorities gave them little to sell. Nevertheless, Ryan and his staff combed Moscow's business district weekly, and squeezed out enough ads to keep the Argo's columns tight.

In Charge of advertising was Milton George and a staff headed by Helen Howard and Keith Whitley. These students went out each Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon to sell ads. Then they would report at the Idahoian office, dig mats out of files, and prepare layouts for the printers. After the ads were set came the job of proofing to weed out errors.

Patsy McGrath, circulation manager, saw to it that subscribers regularly received their issues of the paper. Every Thursday afternoon her staff would meet at the Argonaut office to wrap and address papers. When this job was complete, they would speed the papers to the post office to get them in the mails.

The business staff had to find room in the paper for national advertising, too, but collections and sales were handled through the office of the director of student publications.

The IDAHO ENGINEER

Twice each year—in December and May—Idaho's engineering students desert laboratories long enough to publish the Idaho Engineer, a technical publication covering all fields of engineering. This year Gene Luntley edited the self-supporting Engineer, which circulates free to all engineering students and members of the Idaho Society of Engineers.

The IDAHO FORESTER

Off the presses in May of the school year rolls the Idaho Forester, publication of students in Idaho's School of Forestry. The Forester, which boasts a wide circulation, is the forestry student's yearbook. It also is filled with articles covering both technical and commercial fields of forestry. This year Marshall Spencer edited the publication.

Drama and Debate

Dramatists Present Three Light Comedies . . .

A.S.U.I. dramatists were on their toes this year, presenting three popular light comedies, under the direction of John F. Sollers and Miss Jean Collette.

"No Mother to Guide Her," by Lillian Mortimer, played a two-night run early in November, plus a performance for Navy men. Director Sollers put his "dramatis personae" through a rugged training period to turn out one of the gayest and purposely "corny" productions ever staged at Idaho.

Marian Wilson, Marcia Kimble, and Drexel Brown headed the female cast, and Kenneth Lemon, Edward Dalva, Ralph Joslyn, and Bates Murphy topped the male cast of this "I'm going to marry your daughter or else—" production.

Other cast members were Betty Detweiler, Meredyth Bowler, Pete Kalamarides, J. T. Peterson, Guy Wilson, and Ed Ghormley. Assisting Director Sollers were Gene Roth, Beverly Bistline, and Ellen Cox.

Came the Christmas snows and the dramatics department brought its second smash hit of the season, "Green Grow the Lilacs," by Lynn Riggs. Under the direction of Miss Collette, this frontier story unfolded before a fascinated audience in mid-December.

Leading roles were played by Gene Roth, Jean Rosebaugh, Margaret Bacon, Evan La-Follette, Patricia Pugh, Jack Muller, Winton Wood, and Delmar Bodker. Beverly Bistline, Bob Leeper, Jerry Riddle, and Weldon Cole assisted the director.

High lights of the production were square dances and the 23-man cowboy chorus.

It was early April when the dramatists played "Ring Around Elizabeth," by Charl Armstrong. This was the first production in which Director Collette used a double cast. With each performance some characters were replaced by doubles.

Meredyth Bowler played the leading role of Elizabeth, who suffered a severe attack of amnesia, knocking twenty years off her memory and allowing her to beat her own daughters to their men.

COACH A. E. WHITEHEAD

Although transportation difficulties greatly curtailed intercollegiate debate during the past year, Idaho attempted to carry out a near-complete schedule. The Vandal debaters opened the season early in December at Walla Walla in a tri-angular meet with Whitman and Washington State. They competed in a tournament conducted by Washington State at Pullman, and later played host to W.S.C., Whitman, and Lewiston State Normal at the annual Inland Empire junior college tournament. To close the season an Idaho team was sent to McMinnville, Oregon, to compete in the Linfield College tournament, one of the biggest of the year.

The collegiate debate question this year was, Resolved: "That the government should levy a five per cent consumers' sales and service tax." All Idaho teams debated pro and con on the question.

Idaho Enters P. C. Forensic Meet

Six women debaters — Helen Jeanne Brink, Betty Boles, Eeva Harrington, Betty Echternach, Elaine Anderson, and Doris Mae Holz — represented Idaho in a triangular meet at Walla Walla on December 4 and 5. And in eight debates against Washington State and Whitman, the Idaho teams won four and lost four.

At Pullman on December 12, Idaho's team of Dale Greeley and Bill Edmark rolled through a four-debate tournament with three victories against a lone defeat.

On January 15 at Moscow, Idaho placed third in the Inland Empire junior college tournament, behind Washington State and Whitman. Lewiston State Normal was fourth. The four schools in the meet entered eighteen teams. Idaho's representatives included Doris Mae Holz, Betty Echternach, Elaine Anderson, Eleanor Andrews, Bill Edmark, Dick Minden, Sam Butterfield, Bill Raymond, Evan LaFollette, and Clyde Martin.

To close the forensic season, Milton George and Mitch Hunt entered the Pacific Coast Forensic League meet at Los Angeles. Hunt won first place in the after-dinner speaking division, and George was chosen with three other students to participate in a group radio broadcast on "What is the role of the United States in post-war reconstruction?" Idaho has invited the League to meet in Moscow in 1944.

INTRAMURAL DEBATE

Forney Hall won the women's division and Sigma Alpha Epsilon the men's in this year's intramural debate tournament, sponsored by the Idaho chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, national debate honorary. The 'muralists argued the question, Resolved: "That the federal government should adopt a five per cent sales and consumers' tax."

Six teams—Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Chi Omega, Alphi Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Forney Hall—entered the women's tournament, which was open to all university women who had not previously participated in intramural debate at Idaho or in other collegiate competition.

Forney Hall's winning team was composed of Elaine Anderson and Eeva Harrington. Betty Echternach and Doris Mae Holz, Gamma Phi entry, were runners-up.

Members of the S.A.E. team, men's champions, were Bill Edmark and Dick Minden, who defeated Phi Gamma Delta in the tournament finals. Kay Richardson and Bill Bergeson were the Fiji's second-place team.

Other teams entered in the men's competition, which was conducted on a double elimination basis, were Idaho Club, Kappa Sigma, Beta Theta Pi, and Sigma Nu.

Borth Forney Hall and Sigma Alpha Epsilon were awarded cups by Delta Sigma Rho. The debates were judged by varsity debaters and faculty members.

Music

MUSIC SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS . . . These students were all attending the University this year on scholarships. Around the piano they are: Jean Armour, piano; Billie Byerlee, violin; Lule Lingel, cornet; Alfred Thaxton, voice; Donald Binning, violin; Winifred Tovey, cello; Marie Gordon, pipe organ.

Idaho Music Faculty . . .

Idaho's music department lost two members to the armed forces this year when Raymond E. Lawrenson, piano instructor, took leave from music to study flying under the Civilian Pilot Training program, and Lee Gibson, band leader, joined the teaching staff of the Naval Radio Training School. There was one newcomer to the staff, Edmond J. Marty, who took over direction of band and instrumental instruction.

Head of the music department is amiable Alvah A. Beecher, voice instructor and leader of the Idaho Vandaleers. Prof. Beecher, one of the best liked of university faculty members, is not only prominent on the campus, but in music circles over the nation. He's national president of Phi Mu Alpha, music honorary.

Other members of the music faculty include Carl Claus, orchestra leader and violin instructor; Miriam H. Little, cello and theory; Myrtle Leonard, voice; Robert Walls, voice; Hall M. Macklin, piano, organ, and composition; Meitha Hiteman, musical education and piano; and Edmond J. Marty, band and instrumental instruction.

Because music is considered "non-essential" during the war, enrollment in music classes took a drop. Nevertheless, faculty members continued through the year on regular schedules, and concerts and other events were held as usual.

MILITARY BAND . . . THE GEM photographer catches the university military band in action at the annual R.O.T.C. regimental review.
 UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA . . . The University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Carl Claus, during rehearsal.

Military Band . . .

Of all the University's musical organizations, hardest hit by the war was the military band. Because band members were no longer exempt from compulsory R.O.T.C. classes, membership dropped. By year's end, the band could claim less than half a dozen male members, far too few to parade with the R.O.T.C. regiment or conduct any of its regular functions. Prof. Edmond J. Marty directed the band, after coming to Idaho in December.

Symphony Orchestra . . .

The University Symphony Orchestra, directed by Prof. Carl Claus, is composed of all students who can qualify for membership, after consultation with the conductor. Started 21 years ago with only a dozen members, the orchestra grew to 60 pieces. This year, however, because of decreased enrollment, its membership dropped slightly. Each year the orchestra plays two full concerts, besides playing at Commencement and sharing programs with other organizations.

Vandaleers

VANDALEERS . . . The Vandaleers at their annual Candlelight Service.

Noted among Idaho's musical organizations are the Vandaleers, a mixed chorus chosen annually by their director. Started in 1934, the Vandaleers have grown to be the campus' premier singing group. Highlight of their year's activity is a Candlelight Service, a religious concert held during the Christmas season. This year the group presented an Easter concert.

University Women Singers . . .

UNIVERSITY WOMEN SINGERS . . . The Women Singers at one of the two concerts given this year.

The University Women Singers is composed of all university women who desire membership. Formerly part of a combined men's and women's chorus, the Women Singers became a separate organization in 1941. During the past year the group gave two concerts: One with the University Men Singers in January, and the other with the band and orchestra in May.

University Men Singers . . .

UNIVERSITY MEN SINGERS . . . University Men Singers photographed at one of their concerts.

Organized in 1941, the University Men Singers is open to all men who desire to sing. This year, under the direction of Prof. Robert Walls, the group presented a joint concert with the University Women Singers, appeared before the Moscow junior high school, Idaho State Chamber of Commerce convention, and participated in a dramatics production.

Quartets . . .

QUARTETS . . . An instrumental quartet chosen from the band, and the University's String Quartet.

The University String Quartet, directed by Prof. Carl Claus, orchestra conductor, participated on several musical programs during the year. It rendered numbers at the Vandaleer Candlelight Service and at the joint concert held by the University Singers.

PAUL CAWLEY
Pep Band Leader

Pep Band Cancels Show . . .

When Leader Paul Cawley and several other members of the Pep Band entered the armed services at mid-year, the group was forced to discontinue. And efforts by the A.S.U.I. and Edmond J. Marty, university band director, to save the organization met with no success—membership had dropped too low.

But before it disbanded, the band played at all rallies and basketball games. With the exception of its annual trip to the Boise football game—called off because of lack of funds—it carried out a conventional schedule.

The annual Pep Band show, usually one of the campus' leading spring events, was cancelled, after a majority of student musicians had left the campus.

IDAHO PEP BAND . . . Idaho's 20-piece Pep Band, which was forced to disband after first semester because of heavy loss of membership to the armed forces. Paul Cawley, kneeling left, was leader of the group. The band was student organized and directed.

UNIVERSITY ALL-GIRL BAND . . . Shown at its first practice, held in the Student Union ballroom, is the University's all-girl band. The band was organized after male membership in the Military and Pep bands had dwindled.

"100 Gals and Guy" . . .

Late in the spring, after the armed forces had drained the campus of male musicians, the University had no band. The Pep Band had disbanded, and the Military Band had shrunk to less than a dozen pieces.

To the rescue came Profs. Alvah A. Beecher, head of the music department, and Edmond J. Marty, band director. They hit upon the idea of organizing an all-girl band. After extensive planning they issued a call for all interested women to sign up—and over a hundred coeds responded.

Women who had played in high school bands were enthusiastic about renewing musical activities. Some had brought instruments to the University, hoping to play in the band. Others sent home for horns and drums.

One of the first problems confronting the new organization was uniforms. The University had previously announced that the girls' band could not wear military band uniforms. The issue was quickly settled, however, when band members agreed to furnish their own outfits—white blouses and black skirts.

Next the band had to find a place for holding regular practices. And finally a time convenient for practicing had to be chosen. When school closed, the band was meeting regularly on Wednesday afternoons in the auditorium.

First occasion for the band to play before students was in March, when the University Enlisted Reserve Corps students entrained for Fort Lewis, Washington. At that time Prof. Marty and his "100 gals" were at the station, providing arewell program music. In May they participated in a National Music Week program.

Kappa and Sigma Nu Songfest Winners

Kappa Kappa Gamma, led by Kay Paynter, and Sigma Nu, directed by Jack Leishman, were named winners of the 1942 all-University Songfest, held in May.

The Songfest, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha, national music honoraries, is held annually, with all campus living groups eligible for participation. Contesting houses each sing two numbers, and winning organizations are awarded loving cups.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY JUDGING TEAM . . . Carl Johannesen, Wayne Johnson, John Erramouspe, Erling Johannesen, Dr. W. M. Beeson, and Jerome Dahmen. This team was the only one out of four Idaho teams which was active this year.

Little International . . .

The past year saw all student agricultural activities almost completely at a halt because of the war.

During the fall, when the University is usually grooming four judging teams to compete in the Pacific International Livestock Show at Portland, there was only one judging team on the campus—Animal Husbandry. Livestock, dairy products, and dairy cattle teams were not chosen, because of the war.

In the spring the Little International, campus livestock show, was cancelled. Until this year the Little International had been the "biggest days of the year" for Idaho ag students, who conducted a parade through Moscow streets and a livestock show at the University farm.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

FRATERNITY BOARD . . . With two men from each house tossing their comments into the ring, the council works for the promotion of the general interests and welfare of the associated fraternities on the campus. Rushing and pledging rules are laid down here, along with plans for interfraternity banquets and dances. Big item this year was the co-hosting with WSC of the Pacific Coast Interfraternity Conference—some 200 representatives from Pacific coast and Northwest schools met for the final banquet at the Moscow hotel.

Alpha Rho chapter of Alpha Chi Omega settled on the Idaho campus in 1924, plays alley-neighbor to the Bucket, and peers out on Fraternity Row from behind its green-shuttered windows. Among its activity women roam a yell duchess, a national Spur officer, some Phi Chi Thetas, and numerous publications workers. Very friendly and playful, the Alpha Chis count among their annual events a spring lyre dance.

The Alpha Phis rest on laurels brought in by their drum majorette, four Vandaleers, Hell Divers, Phi U members, and Argonaut feature editor. Big event last winter was the marriage of their president, who was also their spokesman at Mortar Board and ASUI executive board meetings.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Thanksgiving Eve of 1888 gave existence to Delta Delta Delta; and since the installation of Beta Sigma chapter in 1929, it has been the youngest of women's groups on the campus. In their brick mansion at the far end of Fraternity Row, the Tri-Delts have the Vandals' yell queen, a drum majorette, two SAI members, and the Sigma Chi's official sweetheart. Their April Sunrise dance springs to life annually after a six o'clock breakfast and gets an asterisked position on the tradition calendar.

DELTA GAMMA

DG history dates back to 1874 nationally and to 1911 locally. All out for the campus war effort this year, one of their members presided over the Minute Maids and another, as head of the AWS Red Cross committee, led the bandage rolling spree. Heavy on the publications, they peppered the Argonaut masthead with a co-editor, an assistant business manager, and various willing workers. Traditionally they vie with the ATO's and Sigma Nus for earliest hour bugler on spring house-cleaning day.

DALDA TAU GAMMA

Two decades of activity was rounded out this year by Dalda Tau Gamma, the Down Town Girls' sorority, founded at Idaho in '23 and satelited now by three other chapters in the Northwest. They jumped the food shortage last fall by abandoning the monthly dinner meetings and donating their room in the women's gym to the Red Cross bandage unit. Besides the prexies of Kappa Phi and Phi U, they sheltered an editor of the Argonaut during her one-issue reign, and withdrew to the Troy pavilion for a picnic-dance.

Oldest sorority at Idaho, Gamma Phi Beta's Xi chapter was established here in 1909. Emerging from rush week with the largest pledge class on the campus, the Gamma Phis primed seven freshmen for Alpha Lambda Delta and was the first group to initiate after the semester. Well represented on the Argonaut copy desk, SAI, and the varsity debate squad, they co-supported the winning candidate for dream man, chose their Mortar Board member for house president.

HAYS HALL

Jitterbugs and musicians mark Hays Hall as logical hangout for the SAI president and birthplace of matinee dances for the Navy. Harboring one versatile member who presides over Mortar Board and the women's "I" Club, besides serving as senior class treasurer, Hays is home for another Mortar Boarder, two Cardinal Key women, and an ASUI executive board member. Their Dear Diary dance is annual, and their huge living room is a by-word in social functions.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Established at Idaho 27 years ago, Kappa Kappa Gamma dates back to 1870 in national sorority history. Packed with innumerable WAA amazons and four Cardinal Keys, the Kappa house rates the presidents of both organizations as well as the Mortar Board secretary. A Hallowe'en party with the SAE's is traditional, and the famous Kappa benches are everybody's property, to be found anywhere from the Sigma Chi's roof to the Ad building steps.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

The Thetas in their cream-colored, brick home across from the Nest are the 23-year-old chapter members of a national sorority founded in 1870. They masquerade annually at their gypsy dance and picnic each spring with their big brother Fijis. Mixing together in their walled-in back yard with its Dutch fireplace may be found two Cardinal Key and Curtain women, four Vandaleers, and numerous WAA members.

RIDENBAUGH

PI BETA PHI

Conveniently located for quelling that four o'clock coke urge at the Bucket, the Pi Phis like to also dabble in music, play production, and honoraries. The service flag hanging in the window commemorates their WAAC enlistee, and the bonds in their treasury commemorate the national convention they didn't have. Established at Monmouth College in 1857, this oldest women's fraternity was begun at Idaho twenty years ago.

From their vantage point next door to the Bucket, the ATO's survey passing couples who must dodge the footballs and baseballs flying past when the athletic clique turns out in the street for warm-up. The Pep Band leader and five other musicians mix with four first stringers on the basketball team, two varsity football men; and The Gem has representatives there, too, where annually a tin can dance bursts forth in strict informality.

Oxford, Ohio, is the 1839 birthplace of Beta Theta Pi, oldest national fraternity at Idaho, whose Gamma Gamma chapter was mobilized here 29 years ago. Sprinkled through all activities the Hotelmen hit hardest at athletics and publications—"I" Club, Hell Divers, frosh sports, Argonaut, and Gem staffs. Three Blue Key men besides the organization's president hang their hats at the Beta house, as do two varsity debaters, the chairman of Sophomore Holly week, and the campus Dream Man. In April the Betes vacated their mansion, Forney Hall moved in—a war necessity.

CAMPUS CLUB

Packed with ag and engineer majors, the Campus Club is equally distant from either the Farm or the Ad building, so all are husky waiters. Baby of the cooperative groups, the rambling, one-story club that nestles down in the far end of the university grounds was built in 1938. Among the hundred inmates, before they were forced to evacuate because of a depleted membership, could be found the gavel-wielder for the sophomore class and enough basses and tenors to keep up the chorus and quartet tradition.

DELTA CHI

The 53-year-old Delta Chi fraternity, established at Cornell University in 1890, was enlarged by another chapter this winter when the Idaho members installed one at WSC. Yearly sponsors of a Pirate dance, the Delta Chis beat a well-worn path across the street to the Nest and bask on their front steps through sunny spring days. Saturated with sixteen engineers, they have good representation in Vandaleers and the "I" Club, too.

IDAHO CLUB

Tops in grades last fall, the Idaho Club men came through with the highest men's average to win the Alumni scholarship cup for the second consecutive year. L.D.S. INSTITUTE

Flanked by evergreens and the Theta house, the Institute has been home station for LDS men since its completion in 1929. With representatives from all over the state, the Instructors keep a high grade point, a dance band, and the vice president of the senior class. Good eaters—they cook their own and trek daily down to O'Meara's to consume it. A barn dance each spring marks their tradition picture.

KAPPA SIGMA

First fraternity to be established at Idaho was Kappa Sigma, planted here in 1905. For 28 years the huge, colonial-styled Gamma Theta chapter house has been a landmark with its big white pillars. And for the last eight years Chang, the chow mascot, has proudly monopolized all sidewalks from Music Hall to Wrights. The traditional Kappa Sig house party was discontinued this year for the duration, while publicity followed the accomplishments of the house's topnotch skier.

PHI DELTA THETA

Second fraternity to be established on the campus, Phi Delta Theta dates back to 1848, with Idaho Alpha's history beginning in 1907. Famed for the toughest Hell Week on the hill, the Phi Delts keep a varsity basketball man, a freshman class treasurer, chairman of the Rally committee, and an "I" blanket earned by their football-boxing-baseball star. Traditional rivals of the Betas across the street, they fight over a frosh football game, a snow fight, and ringing the Beta-Phi Delt bell after a major athletic victory.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

Fiji secrecy brings down the wrath of the Argonaut's reporters and makes the identity of their president a stock trick question for election board candidates. Founded nationally in 1848, the fraternity's Mu Iota chapter claims a football letterman, two varsity debaters, the sophomore class treasurer, the freshman class secretary, and business manager of the Argonaut. Its strategic location next door to the infirmary makes repairs readily available for winter accidents occurring on the long icy "Fiji hill" slide.

Serenades and Rallies

Almost as much a part of college as the classroom are student rallies and serenades. Before every major athletic event, Idaho students stage giant rallies. Starting at Hays and Forney halls rallies gain momentum as students parade along campus streets to the railroad station, student union building, or MacLean field. The Pep Band and cheer leaders always lead the way.

Serenades are popular throughout the year, with both fraternities and sororities making midnight treks around the campus to sing harmonizing college songs to pajama clad students.

Pictures on this page show: The Pep Band leading Stanford rally held the night Idaho's football Vandals entrained for Palo Alto, California. And a picked group of sophomores during their Christmas serenade, held in conjunction with Sophomore Holly Week

Students and Their Activities

Student activities at Idaho are varied, as candid on these two pages will verify. On the opposite page: Students at the annual Muckers' Ball try their luck at black jack and dice, two of many gambling devices rigged up by the miners. The campus' Ugly Ike (Keith Whitley) and Gaudy Gert (Irma Anderson) are united in holy wedlock—penny votes, which will buy an In Memoriam plaque after the war, won them their unsavory titles. Mary Gano says "hell-o" to the crowd at the annual "I" Club Ball, after being named "I" queen or 1942. These Russians are just Delts in disguise at their annual Russian dance. The gang below was snapped at the Teke Apache dance, one of the biggest fraternity "whings" of the season. And the unfamiliar faces are Washington State executive board members at the annual Idaho-W.S.C. Executive Board formal.

Above: Unless you want an outside shower and some rough handling by frosh don't "pass your pin" to your girl friend as did this unfortunate Fiji. Idaho's football team didn't do so well against Washington State—again this year—as expressions on these students' faces indicate.

Spinster Skip . . . Fun (?)

On Spinster Skip day at Idaho, the women foot the bills and get the dates—about all the men get is torture. These pictures show the Betas hog-tying a brother so he can't keep his Kappa date. Jay Garner looks comfortable, but he probably won't meet his girl friend on time if George Engler has anything to say. Russ Severn was all dressed up a few minutes before this picture was taken, but the Sigma Nus caught him before he could get over to the DG house. In their battered Model T the SAE's rounded up their dated men all over the campus. And the man who got away: Grinning Bob Desaulniers.

IDAHO Has Traditions

Like every university, Idaho has its traditions—and they are many. Below, Beta and Phi Delt pledges fight their annual snow battle. It's supposed to be good, clean fun but sometimes gets out of hand as it did this year. The Tekes load up their Civil War cannon which "somebody" stole one night and hauled over to block the Ad building doorway. At initiations and after Idaho victories the Tekes fire their relic. Kappa pledges can't inveigle the Sigma Chis to return their "Love Bench," which Sig pledges steal annually and display on their roof top. The coeds couldn't even "steal" the bench back.

Christmas Decorations

PHI UPSILON OMICRON

HOME ECONOMICS HONORARY . . . With more than twenty years of Idaho history written in its records, Zeta chapter of the national society is open to upper classmen in the upper fourth of the grade strata, with professional attitude and activities weighing mightily in the final selection of new members. Through its bi-monthly meetings the unit aims at advancing and promoting home economics on the campus and annually selects an outstanding home economics freshman as a name to grace their plaque.

Lorene Bales, Winifred Hunt, Macey Mott, Elizabeth Walker, Frances Larson, Rena Eccher, Marie Connick, Mavis Procter, Marjorie Call, Helen Hofmann, Kathleen Orr, Venice Draper, Lucille Halverson, Mary Brown, Lois Lemon.

ATTIC CLUB

ART SOCIETY . . . Thursday noon all students in the art department gather at the Art building for Attic Club meetings. A social organization, they play around, insist on attendance at art classes if aspiring frosh wish to join. The club was organized locally, and strives each year to publish an art manual, the "Atticana." War prevented publication this year.

CURTAIN CLUB

DRAMATICS HONORARY . . . On the basis of points accumulated through acting and work back-stage, new members are tapped to this local organization on the night after the second ASUI play. Massing together occasionally to further dramatics on the campus the Curtaineers read and discuss new plays, take a day off whenever a Broadway production bits Spokane, and entertain visiting artists. Questions of precedent lie with the two faculty advisors—both of whom were charter members when Curtain was created at Idaho.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

MILITARY HONORARY . . . Idaho's sixth regiment of Scabbard and Blade, a national society organized in 1905, picks its junior and senior members on a basis of character and proficiency in military science. Promoting the standards of military training as well as the qualities of efficient officers, the members are distinguished by a key on the watch chains and a bar on their dress uniforms. Their pet project is the annual Military Ball, but they work hard all year long on the upkeep of a service scrapbook of all university students in the armed forces.

Coaches Get New Duties In 1943

When the 1942-1943 school year opened, Idaho's coaching staff was well manned and equipped. But as the year progressed, the athletic department took on a new complexion. It all started when Basketball Coach Guy P. Wicks went into the navy. He was followed by Intramural Director Leon Green. Then came P.E. 37, which required the services of the entire athletic staff to condition the University's male population.

Despite conditions brought on by war, athletics survived, and Coach Francis Schmidt sent the Vandal football team through a full Pacific Coast Conference schedule. It was Schmidt's twenty-sixth year of coaching, his second at Idaho. And in this span, the "football master" has established an impressive record.

Babe Brown was Schmidt's football assistant, and also head basketball coach—he took over when Wicks left. Wicks was hoop mentor at the fore part of the season, and in the fall was freshman football tutor.

Dean of Idaho's athletic staff, Mike Ryan coached an unbeaten cross country team, bossed track, and on the side found time to act as trainer for Idaho athletic teams.

Leon Green was men's intramural sports director and instructor in physical education, before donning a navy uniform. His 'mural program was one of the most popular on the campus.

Coaching Idaho boxers was the job of Bob Knox, a former ring champ. Knox had a strong team, but the army thinned its ranks—as in other sports—before the tournament season began.

Rally Committee and Yell Team

Written into the A.S.U.I. constitution for the first time this year was provision for a student rally committee. The new organization, which worked in cooperation with the Vandal yell team, had charge of arrangements for all rallies and half-time entertainment.

The committee operated on a "non-legal" basis under the leadership of Bob Desaulniers in 1941-42, and when it was legalized this year Desaulniers was made chairman. Other members were chosen from among the cheer leaders and at random around the campus.

Outstanding among the committee's work this year were the card stunts, worked out by Yell King Rex Phillips and Desaulniers for the Idaho-W.S.C. game.

The Idaho yell team was the target of much unfavorable student criticism this year, after the A.S.U.I. executive board began interfering with its membership and activities.

In the fall, while under the direction of Phillips, the team was "tops," but when Phillips resigned the kingship, and the executive board shunned veteran team members to name Barbara Cronkhite yell queen, trouble started. Old team members resigned, and the energetic Barby was compelled to work with a small, inexperienced crew.

RALLY COMMITTEE . . . Barbara Cronkhite, Maxine Grover (secretary), Drexel Brown, Bob Desaulniers (chairman), Margaret Stillinger, Mitch Hunt, Joe Garner, Marvel Houx.

Third Wartime Eleven

After a seven years' absence, Idaho's football Vandals re-entered the Pacific Coast Conference as a full-fledged member during the 1942 season.

Back in 1934 both the Vandals and Montana were suspended from the conference, because their undermanned teams could not provide adequate competition for the larger coast universities. Since then both had been "king's-X" members, playing incomplete conference schedules. Before the 1942 season was underway, however, the conference reluctantly voted full membership to the Vandals and Grizzlies.

Their return to the conference, plus the fact they were Idaho's third wartime eleven, gave double distinction to the 1943 Vandals. Other wartime Idaho grid teams had played during the Spanish-American War and World War I.

The Vandals of '42 played the same razzle-dazzle game which their master coach, Francis Schmidt, introduced to the Gem State in 1941. Thirteen lettermen formed the backbone of the club, which lacked reserve strength. The remainder of the squad was composed of sophomore and transfer talent.

Honorary Co-Captains

At the end of their ten-game season, which yielded only three victories, the Vandals chose Irv Konopka, a tackle, and Dean Lewis, a guard, as their honorary co-captains.

Both Lewis and Konopka were chosen on several all-opponent teams during the year. Both were standouts for Idaho in every game.

Grads See Idaho Lose 33-0

A Homecoming crowd of 6000 fans piled into Neale stadium the afternoon of September 26 and watched a powerful Oregon State College football team roll over the Vandals by a score of 32 to 0. On that day the Beavers looked like the Rose Bowl champions they had been a year before.

Only once during that sunny autumn afternoon did Idaho's Vandals threaten to break into the score column. Near the end of the second period Idaho took Oregon State's kickoff, and with Howie Manson passing, marched down the field from its own 20 to the O.S.C. five. Here the threat ended when three passes fell incomplete and a fourth, intended for Pete Hecomovich, was intercepted.

Oregon State scored its first touchdown nine minutes and thirty seconds after the opening kickoff, when Fullback Joe Day found a wide hole off Idaho's left guard and raced 54 yards behind a vanguard of teammates to the goal line.

Coach Lon Steiner's orange-shirted eleven scored two more touchdowns in the second quarter to boost its margin to 19 to 0 at halftime. In the third period the Beavers crossed the Idaho goal line for another two touchdowns to end the day's scoring. The final period was scoreless, with O.S.C. dominating play.

Early Homecoming Celebration Flops

Idaho's 1942 Homecoming celebration, overshadowed by war and held before the official opening of school, was anything but a success. The event was held September 26, the same day as fall registration, and neither students nor committees had adequate time for extensive preparations. It also climaxed rush week, and fraternities were too busy tapping pledges to throw full support behind the celebration after the University ruled out conventional house decorations—because they were too pretentious for a war year.

Traditional Homecoming color was lacking,

Three events which highlighted the day were the Oregon State-Idaho football game, the annual Homecoming dance in Memorial gymnasium, and open house for alumni.

Co-Chairmen of Homecoming were Gene Luntley and Jay Garner, who fought against too heavy odds to make the affair a success.

EASTERN WASHINGTON GAME . . . Vandal defenders swarm over a Cheney ball carrier. Defensive play like this earned Idaho its first victory of the season over the E.W.C. eleven.

Airmen Blast Vandals 14-0

Under the lights of Gonzaga stadium in Spokane, the Vandals played their only night game of the season, and lost 14 to 0 to a star-studded Second Air Force team from Fort George Wright.

The Airmen's Bill Sewell, a thorn in the Vandals' sides when playing at Washington State College, was the biggest trouble maker for Idaho at Spokane. Sewell scored both Air Force touchdowns.

In the first quarter, after his passes had put the Air Force in scoring range of the Idaho goal, Sewell took the ball on a line play and carried it over the touchdown stripe. The second quarter was scoreless, with the Idaho line halting the Airmen ground attack, but in the third period, Sewell picked up one of his teammate's fumbles and dodged would-be Idaho tacklers all the way to the end zone.

On the Second Air Force roster were former All-American and ex-college stars from universities all over the nation, including Minnesota, Tulane, Washington, Ohio State, Northwestern, Texas, and Washington State.

Although they went down to defeat, the Idaho team showed improvement over its play the week before against Oregon State. The whole forward wall was stronger. But Idaho couldn't get its offensive rolling. Howie Manson tried passing, and was heaving the ball desperately in the closing minutes for a score, but could only connect with two passes. Dale Dykman was Idaho's leading ground gainer.

Idaho Trounces E.W.C. 28-7

After losing their two opening games, Idaho's football men took a breather and traveled to Cheney to whip little Eastern Washington College 28 to 7. It was Idaho's first win of the season, and came with comparative ease.

Eastern Washington proved stubborn during the first part of the game, and it took the Vandals a full quarter to take the edge off their foes. Then in the second period, Idaho began to ramble and scored the game's first touchdown. Howie Manson bucked over from a short way out for the score.

Manson figured in the second touchdown, too. This time he heaved along pass to Veto Berllus, who carried the ball over the goal. At half-time, with Chuck Plastino's two conversions added to two touchdowns, the Vandals were leading 14 to 0.

In the second half the Vandals continued to play an offensive game, and scored two more touchdowns. Dale Dykman scored one and Manson went over for the other. Plastino kicked points after both.

Cheney's lone touchdown didn't come until late in the final period, after Coach Francis Schmidt had replaced his first string with reserves.

The whole Idaho team looked good against Cheney, with Plastino outstanding on defense, and Earl Chandler the offensive standout. Chandler got away for several long runs during the game, setting the stage for scores.

Stanford Clubs Idaho 54-7

Idaho can't play football in the same class with the larger Coast teams. That's an old argument which has been coming from California sports writers for years, and it was proven by Stanford October 17, when the Indians humbled the Vandals 54 to 7 at Palo Alto. But Idaho can out-fight those Coast teams, and the Vandals proved this as they were bowing to the mighty Stanford Red.

After being out-played and out-scored for nearly three-quarters—and with the score 54 to 0 against them—the Vandals roared back to score their lone touchdown against the Indians. Despite Indian summer heat, which almost wilted the players on both teams, Idaho kept driving goal-ward until the end.

Their score came in the closing minutes of the game after a brilliant 35-yard pass from Howie Manson to Veto Berllus from the Idaho 44-yard line. After nabbing the ball, Berllus outran three Stanford defenders to score.

The Vandals played wide-awake football, too. During the game they romped on five Stanford fumbles. Irv Konopka covered two of them, before being ejected from the game for a little wrestling match.

Coach Francis Schmidt never gave up, either. He tried half a dozen backfield combinations and numerous formations during the afternoon. About the only thing he didn't try was the Stanford "T."

Idaho Loses 28-0 at Oregon

In an aerial battle at Eugene on October 4, Idaho went down to defeat at the hands of the University of Oregon by a count of 28 to 0. Both teams kept the ball in the air most of the afternoon, with Oregon throwing 28 passes and Idaho 27.

The game was scoreless through the first half, but Oregon broke the ice with three minutes away in the third quarter, sending Bill Davis over from the nine-yard line. Two minutes later the Oregonians scored again after intercepting Howie Manson's pass. The touchdown play was a 22-yard aerial.

Idaho's chief scoring threat came in the third period, sparked by a 47-yard pass play from Manson to Dale Dykman and a 30-yard run by Manson. The drive ended on the Oregon five, when Manson fumbled a lateral. Oregon recovered.

In the fourth period Idaho moved as far as the Oregon 11, but could get no further. After that Oregon took over and on six plays scored again. Nowling of Oregon took a pass on the Idaho 36-yard line and ran unmolested for the score. The Oregonians' fourth trip into the end-zone came a few minutes later on another pass.

During the game 395 yards were gained through the air, with Oregon marking up 250 and Idaho 145.

Vandals Bring Stein Home

Biggest football day of the year for the Idaho Vandals was October 31, the day they whipped Montana 21 to 0 and moved out of the conference cellar. The game was played at Missoula, and when the Vandals came home they brought the "Little Brown Stein," symbol of football superiority between the two neighbor-state universities. The Stein had been in Montana's possession since 1939.

Although the weather was wet and the ball slippery, Idaho used its passing attack to score all three touchdowns against the Montanans. The first tally was an aerial from Ray Davis to Pete Hecomovich. The second was another Davis pass, this time to Merlin Aldred. Manson threw to Johnny Evans for the third. After each Chuck Plastino booted the extra point. Montana made two scoring drives during the game, but was stopped each time by stubborn Idaho defenders.

Earl Chandler played outstanding on both the offensive and defensive during the game. He gained 87 yards from scrimmage in 14 trips with the ball. Other Idaho ground gainers were: Manson 82 yards in 18 tries; Malta 50 in 10; and Johnny Evans 22 in one.

Idaho tried 13 passes during the afternoon. Six were completed for a gain of 68 yards. Montana threw 13, but completed only three, all for short gains.

Jinx Sticks; W.S.C. Wins 7-0

A jinx, which is almost to die of old age, celebrated its seventeenth birthday in Neale stadium November 14, as Washington State College's Cougars slipped over a lone touchdown to edge the Idaho Vandals 7 to 0. Idaho, playing its best football of the season, threw a scare into the Cougars, but couldn't back up its threat with the necessary points.

Washington State scored three minutes after the second half opened, with Bob Kennedy lunging over from the two-foot mark for the score. The touchdown was set up the play before when Kennedy dropped back to pass on the 32 and found his receivers all covered by Vandal defenders. His only alternative was to run, and he weaved to the two-foot line before being forced out of bounds.

In the third period Idaho drove to the W.S.C. 12-yard line, starting when Dean Lewis intercepted a Cougar pass on the Idaho 40. Three long runs by Earl Chandler, Joe Malta, and Ray Davis sparked the drive. After reaching the 12-yard line, Idaho tried a lateral play which carried the ball to the Cougar one-yard mark. The play was called back, however, when officials ruled that the lateral was illegally thrown forward—Idaho fans question the decision. At this point, the Idaho offensive bogged down.

Idaho tried desperately to pass for a touchdown in the waning minutes of play, but couldn't connect. It was another morale victory for the Vandals, who haven't beaten W.S.C. since 1925.

Rally Beats Portland 21-14

After losing to Washington State in their last home game, the Vandals packed their football togs and headed south for a three weeks' trip that took them to Boise, Salt Lake City, and Los Angeles. Their first stop was in Idaho's capital city, where they whipped a scrappy little Portland University eleven 21 to 14.

For three quarters against the Portlanders, it looked as if Idaho was going to make another "X" in the defeat column, but in the fourth quarter the sluggish Vandals roared out with an attack which awed fans who had jammed into Public School field. With the score 14 to 0 against them, the Vandals opened up a combined ground and aerial offensive which netted three touchdowns in a span of 12 minutes.

Idaho scored first a few minutes after the final canto opened. Earl Chandler carried the ball into pay dirt on a line plunge, after aerials had put the ball within scoring range. Dale Dykman scored the next touchdown a few minutes later on a short end-around, and he lateraled to Manson for the winning touchdown near the end of the quarter. Chuck Plastino deftly booted all three points after touchdown.

Outstanding in the Idaho lineup during the game was Dykman, who ran the Portlanders dizzy during the final period with several long runs.

Utah Wins 13-7 at Salt Lake

From Boise the Vandals moved into Salt Lake City, where they dropped a Thanksgiving Day classic to the University of Utah Redskins by a 13 to 7 score.

Idaho's lone touchdown came late in the fourth quarter, when the Vandals' awry passing game belatedly began to move. Taking the ball on their own goal line, Idaho started to pitch passes, and with Manson on the heaving end completed four consecutive aerials, three of them to Veto Berllus. A couple of plays later Manson threw to Berllus again, and the play was ruled complete on the 10-yard line when Utah's Wally Kelly interfered with the big Idaho receiver.

At this stage of the game the Vandals switched tactics. A reverse to Manson, who squirmed across on a cutback from the 10-yard line, brought the Idaho touchdown. Chuck Plastino booted the point, and after that Idaho never found another chance. The Vandals were passing desperately for a winning touchdown, when the final gun sounded.

Utah's Frank Nelson scored first one second before the second quarter ended, going nearly the length of the field on a "convoy" pass play. And the Utes garnered the winning touchdown the first time they went on the offensive in the second half. Utah dominated play throughout the game with a pile-driving ground attack and unerring passing.

Standout for Idaho against the Utes was Dean Lewis, right guard.

U.C.L.A. Humbles Vandals 40-13

U.C.L.A.'s 1943 Rose Bowl champions floored the Vandals 40 to 13 in the final game of the season, played December 5 in the spacious Memorial colosseum at Los Angeles.

The Vandals fielded a heavy and fast team which kept U.C.L.A. on its toes with tricky forwards, laterals, hidden ball plays, and runs from fake punts. And the Vandals never quit trying. Four minutes before the final gun fired they scored their second touchdown on a 44-yard pass from Howie Manson to Jack Tewhey.

A crowd of 25,000 saw the game in which U.C.L.A., with All-American Bob Waterfield's sharp passing, scored almost at will. Waterfield was responsible for all the Bruins' six touchdowns.

It was a wide-open game, and despite the score, was interesting as far as fans were concerned. Manson and Chuck Thomas passed expertly and the Vandal backs and ends fielded the ball well. But interference could not clear touchdown trails through the powerful Bruin defense.

Frequent penalties and stiff body punching at close quarters by both sides marked the game, but officials ejected guilty players promptly, before the game got out of hand.

Both teams used passing to gain most of their yardage, with Idaho gaining 209 yards on 18 completed passes. The Vandals heaved 34. U.C.L.A. completed 16 of 28 tries for 319 yards.

The game was close throughout, and three sensational shots by Benson in the closing minutes kept Idaho in the game. W.S.C. trounced the Vandals in their second engagement of the season.

Playing without Fred Quinn and Norm Fredekind, the Vandals dropped a close 40 to 39 game to W.S.C. in their third meeting. And to end their series, the Cougars romped on Idaho 63 to 31. In the final game, W.S.C.'s Gail Bishop scored 23 points, and set a new conference scoring record of 224 for the season.

Rob Ryan, with 32 points, was Idaho's leading scorer against W.S.C. Fred Quinn played in only two of the games.

Despite a record-breaking 27-point scoring spree by Fred Quinn, O.S.C. trimmed the Vandals by three points in their opening game. Idaho came back a night later to win by twelve points. Quinn, Rudy Ryan, and Cliff Benson led the Vandals to victory.

Idaho was no match for Oregon State in their first Corvallis game, but during the second played on even terms with the Beavers. The second tilt was tied 22 times, before O.S.C. finally clinched it.

Quinn scored 68 points in four O.S.C. contests.

Vandals Second In N. D. Championships

Highlight of the Idaho 1942 track season was the winning of second place in the Northern Division championships held at Seattle. The Vandals rang up a total of 30 points to top Washington State, O.S.C., Montana, and Oregon. Washington was first with 50.

Vic Dyrgall won the two-mile race in 9:28, only three seconds over the ND record, to win his event for the second straight year. And Milo Anderson successfully defended his discus title with a heave of 151 feet, 10 inches. Other Vandal point winners were Dale Clark, John Thomas, Bob White, Bob Dwyer, LaVern Bell, Joe Piedmont, and Rich Walton.

Vandals Win Two, Lose Two Track Meets

After the Northern Divisions, the Vandals embarked for Seattle to end a successful season by garnering fifth place in the Pacific Coast Conference Championships. Washington, ND winner the week before, was the only Northern Division team to outscore Idaho in the P.C.C. finals, which Southern California won with ease.

At Seattle, Milo Anderson became the first Idaho weightman to win a coast event, when he tied for top honors in the discus throw. In the two-mile run, Vic Dyrgall took second in a photo-finish race, which was so close that timers clocked both the winner and Dyrgall at 9:20.3. Dyrgall was credited with a new Idaho record for the event.

In four dual meets during the season, the Vandals defeated their arch-rivals from Washington State by a 79% to 51% score, and trimmed Whitman 68 to 59. They lost two close duals with Oregon State, 67½ to 63½, and Montana 66% to 64%.

The track season opened with Washington State invading Moscow, and on a wind-swept, wet track, Idaho took nine of 15 first places and easily scored a victory. Idaho took an early lead and never relinquished it.

Against Whitman Coach Mike Ryan scrambled his lineup, and although the Vandals won only seven firsts to Whitman's eight, they outpointed the Missionaries.

Both the Oregon State and Montana meets were decided by the final event—the relay. And in both cases, Idaho was the loser. Up until the relay in each meet, the Vandals had led in scoring, but their margins had been too slim to spell victory.

Cross-Countrymen Win Coast, A. A. U. Titles

For the sixth consecutive year, the cream of Pacific Coast distance runners fell before Idaho's Mike Ryan-coached cross-country team. Placing five men in the first nine, the Vandals coasted to an easy victory in the coast intercollegiates.

Idaho scored 24 points in the meet, only five over the record held by the Vandals of 1941. Oregon State took second with 65, followed by Stanford, Washington, and Washington State.

Barely an hour after winning the four-mile collegiate grind, the Vandals came back to win the AAU championship, the second in two years. It was the second time in coast track history that a college team had won both events in one day—Idaho turned the trick the first time in 1941.

Bob White, Vandal star, paced the field in the collegiate race in 21:35. He was followed by Chapman, Thomas, Strochein, and Eyestone, who finished third, seventh, eighth and ninth, respectively.

White was third in the AAU race.

Both the Intercollegiate and AAU meets were held at Spokane on Thanksgiving Day under the sponsorship of the Athletic Round Table.

In two dual meets during the season, the varsity harriers were unbeaten. They opened the fall campaign with an 18 to 65 win over Whitman. Later they easily outran Washington State 17 to 51.

White was first to cross the finish line in both dual meets. At Whitman, he set a new course record of 16:30, 29 seconds under the old mark.

Idaho's 1942 baseball team, playing its first season under Coach Guy P. Wicks, whipped through a 31-game season, won eight, lost 22, and tied one.

During a 16-game pre-conference campaign, the Vandal diamond crew scored five of its victories—one of them an impressive 7 to 2 decision over the professional Spokane Indians. Other pre-conference wins were over Lewiston

State Normal, Whitman, and Erb's Hardware.

In conference play the Vandals opened with a two-week road trip into Oregon and Washington. On the tour the club lost five straight—a sixth game, with O.S.C., was rained out.

Throughout the remainder of the season, Idaho rang up only three victories—one over Oregon State and two over Washington—and ended the season in the conference cellar.

Idaho's baseball men opened the 1942 season with a double defeat at the hands of Washington in Seattle. But when the Huskies invaded Moscow, the Vandals turned the tables and scored two victories. Highlight of the series was a triple play executed by Vandals Matt Lewis and Hank Crowley.

Both games at Moscow were played on a rain drenched MacLean field.

With Vito Berllus on the mound, Idaho won its first conference diamond victory over Oregon State 5 to 4 on the home lot. Dale Clark clouted a homer in the last of the ninth and sent Berllus across for the winning tally.

Oregon State edged the Vandals two games to one, however, during the game, winning once at Corvallis and once at Moscow. The fourth game was rained out.

Oregon University's Northern Division champions had no trouble dumping the lowly Idaho Vandals in all four games of their 1942 series. In all four the Ducks scored impressive victories—two of them shutouts.

Idaho lost two to the Ducks while on its two-week road trip, and dropped two more when Oregon came to Moscow. Not once during the series did Idaho threaten the Oregonians, who only lost three games all year.

Even when the Vandals outhit their traditional rivals from Washington State College, the Cougars won—and Idaho bowed to W.S.C. in all four games of their 1942 series.

In mid-season the "Buck Bailey Circus" trimmed the Vandals with ease, 8 to 4 and 11 to 3. Then in a double-header ending the season, the Cougars notched two more wins, 4 to 1 and 4 to 3, in two of the tightest games the Vandals played during the season.

Jack Newell, Hank Crowley, and Tom Woods, Idaho's moundsmen, combined efforts and limited the play-for-pay team to six hits during the contest.

In other pre-conference tilts the Vandals won a lone game from Whitman in a nine-game series. They split four games with Lewiston Normal, and divided two games with Erb's Hardware of Lewiston.

Boxers Go Unbeaten

Boxing was just another minor sport at Idaho this year. The sport in which the Vandals were once the nation's leaders has been gradually de-emphasized.

Although Idahoans like to think of boxing in the same terms as they did a couple of years back—when Lon Erickson and the Kara Brothers pounded out two national championships in as many years—they must admit that Idaho's golden era of boxing has passed. There's still hope for its revival, and fans are hoping that after the war boxing will be re-emphasized.

But even though the boxing Vandals of 1943 didn't bring home a national championship—or a coast title—they did whip out a successful season. In four meets they were unbeaten, tied once.

To start the season the Vandals moved to Spokane to battle Gonzaga and they surprised the highly rated Bulldogs by winning five bouts to two. Washington State was next on the Idaho slate, and in two meets Idaho won two victories. The first meet went to the Vandals 4 to 3. The second was 5 to 3.

Later in the season, after Veteran Bill Williams and several other squad members had left school for the armed forces, the Vandals met Gonzaga in a return meet. And despite loss of first-string men, the Idahoans squeezed out a four-all tie with the Spokane club.

VARSITY BOXERS . . . Bob Eachon, Watkins Kershaw. Standing: Manager Bert Dingle, Michael Barclay, Ira Hill, Jerry Williams, Jim Warren, Vic Berllus, Merrill Barnes, Bill Williams, Ray Jeffery, Coach Bob Knox.

FIGHT ALONGSIDE W.S.C. . . . These three Vandal boxers joined forces with Washington State College in March and went east to fight the University of Wisconsin, national champions. The Idahoans are Lyman Holloway, Ray Jeffery, and Wes Deist.

Three Vandals Fight Wisconsin

After second semester had started and half the Idaho boxing team had dropped from school, Coach Bob Knox's squad was too undermanned to compete in the Pacific Coast and National Championships. Washington State's team had been cut, too, and the Cougars still had a meet scheduled with Wisconsin. Idaho was invited to combine with W.S.C. for the Wisconsin jousts, and in March three Vandals went east with the Cougars to make battle with the Badgers.

Idahoans who fought alongside Washington Staters were Lyman Holloway, Ray Jeffery, and Wes Deist. At Wisconsin, the Idaho-W.S.C. combination ran up against the 1943 intercollegiate champions and bowed 7 to 1. All three of the Vandals lost by decisions. Holloway's conqueror, who won a close decision over the Idaho freshman, was a national champion.

Leading Idaho boxers during the season were Vic Berllus, 1942 Pacific Coast heavyweight champion, and Bill Williams, coast 145-pound titlist. Neither Vandal lost a bout during the season, and fans had hoped the pair would go to the nationals. However, war conditions made it impossible.

Other Vandal squad members included: Jerry Williams, a freshman and Bill's brother, who fought in the 135-pound class; Watkins Kershaw, letterman, 127-pounds; Ray Jeffery, a transfer from the University of Idaho Southern Branch, 120 pounds; Wes Deist, former Gonzagan, 155 pounds; Merrill Barnes, 165 pounds; and Lyman Holloway, 135-pound freshman who was called "Idaho's best prospect since Ted Kara."

Wrestlers Edge U. of W., Lose to W.S.C.

Crippled by the loss of Hank Juran and LaVern Bell, two leading Northern Division wrestlers last year, the Vandals were undermanned at the opening of the 1943 mat season. And in their first two dual meets, the Cougars of Washington State mauled over the Vandals by one-sided scores of 38 to 0 and 36 to 5. Later in the season, however, after they had gained experience, the Idaho matmen edged Washington 20 to 16.

With only Bud Elmore back from the 1942 Idaho squad, it was necessary to recruit new talent. Irv Konopka, football veteran, was drafted for the heavyweight berth, and pint-sized Elton Miles held down the 124-pound spot. Other Vandals and their weights were: Harold Preston, 148; Ike Minata, 158; Darrell Matthews, 168; Hank Behrman, 178; and Allen Estep, heavyweight.

Swimmers Have Disastrous Season

Only seven men answered Student Coach Don Anderson's varsity swimming call, and of this group, only two were experienced mermen. They were Gerald O'Connor, team captain, and Allen Feld, breast stroker.

From this turnout, Anderson began building a team which opened the season in Moscow against Washington, Northern Division champions. The Huskies drowned the Vandals by taking first and second places in every event but the back stroke.

In two other dual meets, the Vandals met Washington State. These meets came late in the season, after many Idaho swimmers had been called into the army, and the depleted Vandal squad lost both by scores of 51 to 24 and 55 to 20.

In the Northern Divisions a small Idaho contingent scored six points to tie with Oregon State for fourth place. Washington, Oregon, and Washington State took first, second, and third places, respectively.

Netters Win 7 of 30 Matches

Six lettermen returned to bolster hopes of Idaho tennis fans during the 1942 season, but the Vandal racketmen disappointed. In five conference meets the Vandals won only seven of 30 individual matches. They lost five straight conference meets.

In the Northern Division championships at Pullman, the Vandals picked up only one tally, and took last place. Dale Pollak won a first-round match for Idaho's score.

The Vandals had good excuse for their unimpressive record, however. There was no regular tennis coach. During the tennis season, continued rains made practice almost impossible. And there was little support offered by the Idaho athletic department to minor sports.

Playing No. 1 on the Vandal club was Bud Doane, a vet of two seasons. He teamed with Sumner Delana for No. 1 doubles. Captain Elmer Jordan played No. 2 singles, while the remaining squad members alternated in other positions.

Although they do all their firing at home, Idaho riflemen carry out the most extensive schedule of any Vandal team. Through telegraphic meets the Idaho team competes with colleges throughout the nation. They also enter the William Randolph Hearst Trophy meet, the Ninth Corps Area wire matches, and the National R.O.T.C. matches.

This year's team, which was much smaller than Idaho teams of previous years, captured second in the William Randolph Hearst meet, which Idaho won in 1942. The Idahoans were only three points behind first place Montana State University.

Coach of the Idaho team was Lieut. Hugh Rutledge. Sgts. Morgan and Parvis acted as assistants.

Idaho's freshman football team went scoreless during its two-game 1942 season.

In their first game, the Vandal Babes traveled to Kellogg, where they lost to Montana State University in a night game, 6 to 0. A weak Idaho line, which was torn to shreds, gave Montana its victory margin.

Idaho's backfield, sparked by Jerry Williams, played outstanding, but did not receive enough support to penetrate Montana territory.

Washington State trimmed the freshmen by 13 to 0 in their last game of the season. The game was played on a snow-covered Neale stadium turf, and Washington State scored both its touchdowns on running plays.

Because Gonzaga University abandoned football "for the duration," the seasonal Idaho-Gonzaga freshman game was not played in 1942.

Idaho's freshmen basketball players romped through a 13-game schedule during the 1943 season and won 11 games, while losing only two.

Defeats were administered the frosh hoopmen by the Sigma Nu university intramural champions and Washington State's yearlings.

The Sigma Nu defeat came early in the season and ended a 19-game winning streak, which the frosh had carried over from their unbeaten 1942 season. The SN team, boasting one of the best intramural teams in Idaho history, scored a 51 to 39 triumph over the colorful babes.

In their series with Washington State, the Idaho Babes won five, while yielding only once. They ended the season with four straight victories over their traditional rivals.

Four victories were won from a quintet representing the Navy Radio Training School, located on the campus. Two other wins came over the Palouse town team.

Led by Bob Anno, one of Idaho's best track prospects since Phil Leibowitz, the Vandal freshmen raced to a second place in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate championships at Spokane on Thanksgiving Day.

Although the Vandals trailed W.S.C. in team standings, Anno won the three-mile race, outdistancing first-year harriers from all Pacific Coast schools.

In their only dual meets, held on a rain-soaked Idaho course, the freshmen were edged out by Washington State 27 to 29. Anno took first place in the meet.

Against Whitman the freshmen ran in the same race with varsity runners. Idaho won the event easily.

But two frosh cross-country numeral sweaters were awarded during the season. They went to Bob Anno and his running mate, Hoyt Anderson, who finished high in the standing of all races.

Freshmen who ran for Idaho in the Coast Intercollegiates were Anno, Anderson, Michael Barclay, Marshall Nichols, Ted Jones, Luis Berriocha, and Ed Linn.

W. A. A. and Women's "I" Club

Housed in the Women's gymnasium is Idaho's women's physical education department, headed by Miss Janette Wirt. Other members of the staff are Miss Margaret Mylne, Mrs. Frances Bascom, and Mrs. Ruth Marty. At semester Mrs. Marty came to Idaho to replace Mrs. W. H. Boyer.

A primary extracurricular organization on the campus is the Women's Athletic Association, organized to further the interest and encourage participation in women's athletics.

W.A.A. activities begin in the fall with a picnic for freshmen women. Then during the year the group sponsors after-school athletic tournaments. Women competing in tournament play are awarded points, and those securing a hundred points are eligible for W.A.A. membership. During the past year the group boasted a membership of 152 women.

Highlight of the year's activity is the awarding of the W.A.A. trophy to the outstanding woman athlete, this year won by Phyllis Paynter.

Phyllis Paynter was W.A.A. president during 1942-43. Other officers included Patricia Unterhahrer, vice president; Helen Newman, secretary; Rachel Swayne, treasurer; Barbara Long, recording secretary; and Virginia Newton, leisure sports recorder.

Members of W.A.A. who earn 1200 points are awarded women's "I" sweaters, and this year three awards were made to Ruth Ellen Jackson, Billie Keeton, and Dorothy Ann Outzs.

Women's "I" Club

"I" blankets were awarded this spring to Barbara Long, Phyllis Paynter, Doris Johnson, Ruth Ellen Jackson, Rachel Swayne, and Helen Dittman, who qualified by earning 2000 points.

All women who earn "I" sweaters automatically become eligible for membership in the women's "I" Club, headed this year by Rachel Swayne.

WOMEN'S "I" CLUB . . . Miss Margaret Mylne, Helen Dittman, Marjory Cruickshank, Phyllis Paynter, Rachel Swayne, Patricia Unternahrer, Barbara Long

Juniors Sweep Major Sports

Women's athletic activity is divided into three groups, major sports, minor sports, and dancing. Major sports are soccer, played in the fall; volleyball and basketball, carried on during the winter months; and softball for spring.

Throughout the year, the Women's Athletic Association sponsors an after-school tournament for each sport, and this year junior feminine athletes won championships in all four.

Competition in minor sports is primarily conducted among the four classes. There is no competition with other schools.

Faculty members in charge of the majors are Mrs. Marty and Miss Mylne.

Minor Sports Offer Individual Competition

Only women's sports in which Idaho amazons pit their ability and skill against coeds from other colleges are two minor sports—archery and swimming. In telegraphic meets—where records are compiled and compared by mail—Idaho women contest with college women all over the nation.

Idaho women participate individually in five minor sports. They are tennis, badminton, golf, ping pong, archery, and swimming. Intraschool tournaments are sponsored in each sport.

Winners in meets held this year before GEM press time were: Irma Smith, swimming; Merrie Lu Kloepfer, ping pong; and Beverly Weber, badminton. Kloepfer and Weber were also the winners in 1942.

Women Cancel Dancing Show

Third major classification of women's athletics is dancing, which is divided into four groups: tap, country, modern, and folk.

Annually dancing students present a public show, "Taps and Terps," but this year it was decided to cancel the event, because of the war. And the time which would have been spent on the production has been devoted to working at the Red Cross bandage station, located in the women's gymnasium.

Only public appearance of dancing students was the participation of the country dancing class in the production, "Green Grow the Lilacs."

Miss Wirt is in charge of all dancing classes.

WOMEN'S DANCING . . . Tap: Phyllis Paynter, Betsy Ross, Jean Bonneville. Modern Dance: First, Phyllis Buroker, Doris Johnson, Willa Hill; second, Jean Mann, Peggy Tway, Marcia Kimble; third, Marjorie Smith, Molly McMahon. EXEC. BD. HAMSTRINGS PUBS.

When a student accepts the editorship of THE GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS he automatically promises the Idaho student body that he will produce a book. This year, I have kept my promise. Here is the 1943 GEM.

But there's one group on the campus which did not keep its promise. That group is the A.S.U.I. executive board, which this year consisted of "publications-ignorant" student politicians.

In the fall the executive board reorganized the publications board, after editors had convinced them that the old board was not adequate to cope with publications problems. But when the reorganization took place, it was not written into the A.S.U.I. constitution and could not be until a student election was held. So the executive board said it would present the new plan to the students in form of an amendment at spring elections.

Later, however, the executive board dissolved the newly formed publications board. And in the spring no amendment for making the new publications board constitutional was placed on student ballots.

Publications students said last fall that the amendment would never be

GEM DEDICATED TO VETERAN CAMERAMAN

Each year when THE GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS is distributed and staff members are being congratulated for putting out "the best book yet," there's one staffman who is always forgotten. He's Charley Dimond, the GEM cameraman for 23 years.

Credit for most of THE GEM's finest pictures should go to Charley, who has missed meals, cancelled personal engagements, worked holidays, and stayed up all hours of the night to get them.

The 1943 staff takes this opportunity to express sincere thanks to Charley. We realize that without his assistance and cooperation, there would never have been a 1943 GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS.

placed on the ballots, but members of the executive board came back with promises that it would. They never kept those promises.

The executive board not only broke a promise to publications students, but it dissolved the publications board before submitting the new organization to the students for their approval.

There's nothing that can be done, however. The damage is done. We can only wait and hope that next year we have an executive board which is not so narrow-minded. One that will let publications run publications, as they should.

Students should know, however, that there may not be a GEM next year. One reason is because of shortages of vital photographic and engraving materials. Another is that there's no editor. When the executive board tried to run publications, they wrecked the only machinery available for choosing editors. They also stirred the ire of publications workers, and a staff for a book in 1944 was not trained.

Well, students, the executive board has done a fine job. We're lucky their term expires at the end of the current school year.—D.C.

LET'S PLAY THE GAME

Making a little go a long way is a fascinating game. Many Penney customers are adept at it. They'd been playing it long before it became a patriotic duty. Penney's whole plan has always been to help people get what they need for what they have to spend.

Now a new feature has been added. It is making what you have—and what you get—last for a long time.

This means you repair and mend anything that can be kept in use. You consider before you buy anything, going only to stores which give value and wearing quality. Penney's dependability and insistence on high standards are making it the favorite of more and more thrifty Americans.

Electricity Is Vital To the War Effort

America has more electric power than Germany, France, Italy and Japan combined. America's power was available immediately when war began, because private industry had built tremendous power supplies which were already serving 90% of the nation's demand.

David's

MOSCOW IDAHO

*An Institution
As Old as the University Itself*

WHEN DAVID'S STORE was founded, there was written into its policies an inflexible rule concerning the reliability of merchandise. It is not too much to say that our present growth is due entirely to the policy of never selling anything—however small—that we can not fully guarantee. And the most impressive phase of the success that has come to us lies not in its magnitude but in the ever-growing satisfaction, so freely voiced by thousands of our customers, in the reliability of their purchases.

Idaho Men Are Hitting the Mark!

Everywhere throughout the world—in North Africa, in the South Seas, in Burma, in the Aleutians and Alaska—men from the University of Idaho are proving their worth and demonstrating the caliber of their training.

The Gem is again in your hands with a story in words and pictures of "Idaho at War." We have again given permanence to another chapter in American education, to American endeavor, and to the American way.

Our pride in the 1943 Gem is only exceeded by our pride in Idaho MEN. In each instance it knows no bounds.

SYMS-YORK COMPANY

Printers and Binders . . . Boise, Idaho

This volume represents the 16th edition of The Gem to come from our presses

"Idaho's my Alma Water too!"

Throughout the world . . . in army camps . . . at naval stations . . . on the fighting fronts . . . wherever you find the boys who are winning this war, you'll find the yearbooks of their respective schools, treasured keepsakes of a happier day.

We at WESTERN are proud of the part we have played in helping these boys perpetuate their school-day memories and our sincere wish is that we may continue to serve their Alma Maters during this historic period and in the brighter days ahead.

We salute our boys on the fighting fronts! We are happy to have played a small part in giving them respite from their more arduous duties.
