Annual Publication of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho, Moscow

Marian Dykman Editor Jean Thompson Manager

Today, we are at peace. Our fighting sons have laid down their arms. They have returned to homeland, to parents, to friends, and to school. But there are some who will never again walk the familiar paths of Idaho or will never climb to the highest mound near the golf course to see the sunset, pausing as day meets night, contented in their hearts that they have completed another stride in the goal of life the daily accomplishment of learning the knowledge of the ages. They will not know these earthly endeavors. But we who are here will not lose sight of that for which they fought. In our midst, March 1946, we have nine hundred former soldiers, sailors, and marines. With our goals renewed, we set forth to make our university do its share in the beginning of a new era. We are not large in number, but every minute fraction of our vast nation is responsible for permanent peace . . . We at Idaho will not fail.

On October 3, 1892 the first students of Idaho climbed over a stile and hiked across a field to the still unfinished "Ad" Building which then comprised the University of Idaho. Fourteen years later, this building was destroyed by fire and the present "Ad" Building was erected in its place.

The stile is gone but the students still make their way in the early hours of the morning to classes in this most prominent building. Here they mingle with the faculty in an ardent search for truth, wisdom, and a date for Saturday night. Good old "Ad" Building. Long may it stand!

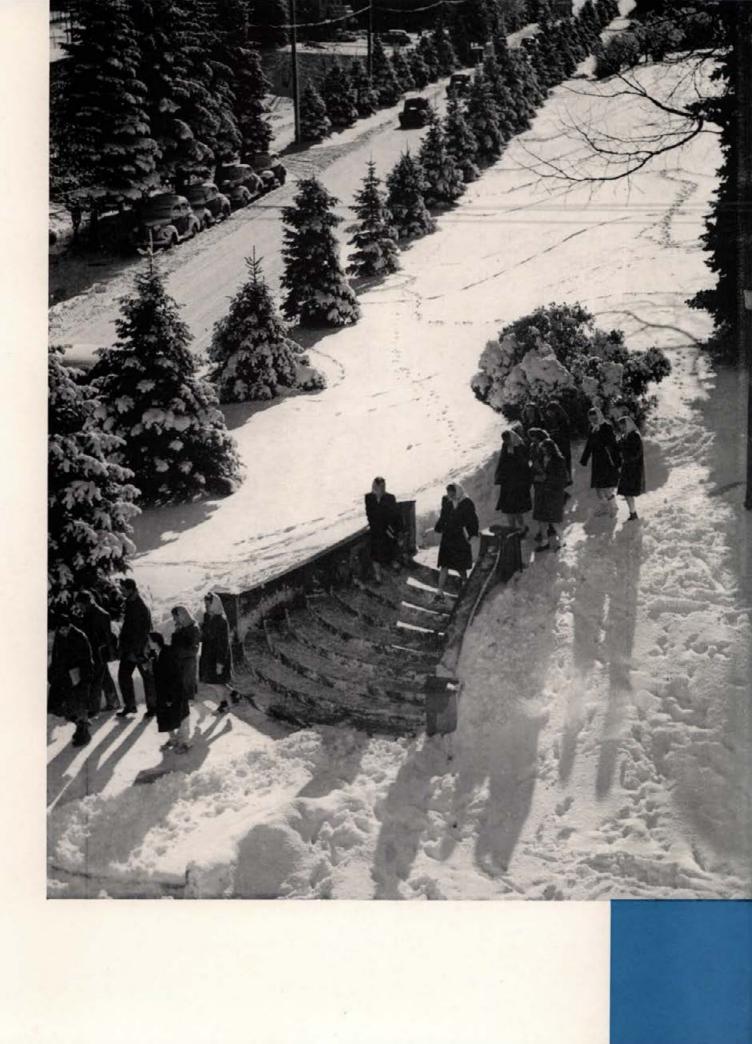

As the special pulls into Moscow each fall, returning students strain their eyes to catch a glimpse of that familiar sight, the "I" Tower. Many ambitious students have fulfilled their desire to get to the top, but contrary to popular opinion, the tower has another function besides being something to climb. It actually holds water.

The arboretum that stretches out beneath the "I" Tower demonstrates the truth of the old adage, "Mighty oaks from little acorns grow." At the turn of the century a small group of foresters began planting those first trees that have in the years since sprung into the mighty arboretum now popular for picnics and walks.

Since most students inevitably go to the "Ad" Building at some time during their college career, the familiar path from the main steps of the University to the top of the hill was aptly named "Hello Walk." Each year the new students are supposed to take advantage of "Hello Walk" to become acquainted with fellow students. It should be pointed out, however, that the friendly Idaho hello is not confined to the walk nor to the new students. It is permissible to say hello anywhere to anyone, but it is unforgivable not to greet everyone on the walk.

"Meet you at the Bucket" is probably the statement most often used among Idaho students. Whether it be for dancing, committee meetings. drinking cokes, playing cards, smoking, eating, or just talking, the Bucket is the place.

The name was derived from the blue buckets which hung from the covered wagons driving across the Oregon Trail. Back in 1845, emigrants claimed they found gold nuggets enough to fill their blue buckets, which gave rise to the legend of the Blue Bucket mine. The mine was never found but the words "Blue Bucket" became symbolic with the spirit of seeking for the nuggets of life.

Administration

The Faculty Clubhouse is to the faculty what the Nest is to the students. Reconverted last year from Navy classrooms, this building serves as an on-campus retreat for worn out professors. In those rare moments when they feel the need to escape the keen and probing minds of eager students, they can take refuge and relax comfortably in the attractive lounge. Here they leisurely discuss Darwin's Theory, world problems, the ninth hole of the golf course and their wives' hats. Despite its relative newness, this Clubhouse has already distinguished itself as a campus institution.

The Governor of the State

Now that the war is over and the enrollment is increasing rapidly at the university, we should all be enthused and determined to make the University of Idaho an outstanding institution in the nation.

Many of you will continue to reside in the state after you complete your college education, and make your place in the religious, professional, business, and political life of Idaho. You have an opportunity to mold the future course of this great state towards fulfillment of its destiny.

Success to you in this accomplishment.

ARNOLD WILLIAMS Governor of Idaho

The President of the University

> I believe the editors of this issue of the Gem of the Mountains would join me in congratulating those who prepared and edited the Gem during the war years for putting out such excellent publications despite the handicaps under which they worked.

> The war is over and with this issue I am glad to extend congratulations and good wishes to this year's editorial staff and to the "reconverted" student body, including the hundreds of veterans, now enrolled in the University of Idaho.

> M. Belle Sweet Librarian

> > C. A. Truitt Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds

Faced with an unprecedented enrollment jump, university officials this year managed to gear Idaho's administrative machinery to top speed. C. A. Truitt, superintendent of buildings and grounds, scoured the Northwest for veterans' housing units, Registrar D. D. Du Sault handled an apparently endless stream of returning veterans, and O. A. Fitzgerald, university editor, published the final edition of his regular news letter for Idaho servicemen. To these administrators fall the myriad jobs of keeping the university operating efficiently, from scheduling classes to selling basketball tickets.

Supreme in the administration of the university is the Board of Regents which, at quarterly meetings, determines policies and final decisions. Regents' principal project this year was establishment of a sound veterans' rehabilitation policy.

Graduate Manager

Gale L. Mix

Freshmen lounging in the Bucket early this year probably didn't look twice when a short, rotund man in a green coat followed a long cigar into the back rooms of the Student Union building. But to old-timers, the arrival of Gale Mix was the reminder of a colorful Idaho past and a promise of boomer days to come. Since 1939, when Mix first assumed duties as graduate manager, he's proved a fireball sports promoter and super salesman. Upon his shoulders fall the complaints and problems of executive boards, rally committees, and student body representatives, who have found him always a good listener and a dependable advisor.

Ted Sherman, acting graduate manager during the absence of Gale Mix, sparked Idaho's publicity program and handled ASUI finances ably and enthusiastically until early this spring, then went back to a heavy teaching schedule in the English department.

Mrs. Virgil Cherrington served as secretary in the graduate manager's office until March, when she turned the job over to Mrs. James Christiansen.

Dean of Women

New and varied social functions, over which she has the ruling hand, have piled work high on the desk of Mrs. Louise Carter, dean of women, this first year of peace. In spite of a position which makes it necessary for her to dictate the social life of the university, Dean Carter can boast a host of loyal friends among campus women who have sometimes chafed under her ultimatums. Hers is the job of establishing lockout hours, giving outof-town permission and advocating or vetoing social events before they can be scheduled; without leveling a beady eye on every campus dance, Dean Carter manages to maintain a high standard of social activities, and makes new friends while doing it. For handling a ticklish job efficiently and tactfully, Idaho's young in heart have a healthy respect and affection for the dean of women.

Herbert E. Lattig

Dean of Men

A sharp jump in enrollment of men students at the second semester provided enough desk work to keep several administrators busy, but H. E. Lattig, acting dean of men, handled the job effectively and still found time for a friendly chat with any student who might drop around to say hello. Coordinator of the NROTC and ROTC units on the campus, Dean Lattig has assumed much of the responsibility of advising veterans entering or returning to school and served this year on several student-faculty committees in addition to his regular duties. Congenial and sincere, men students have found him easy to talk to, his judgment dependable, and his office in the Ad building always open.

Deans

Acting Dean William J. Brockelbank, College of Law; Dean J. E. Buchanan, College of Engineering; Dean Jay G. Eldridge, University Faculty: Dean Arthur W. Fahrenwald, School of Mines; Dean Ralph H. Farmer, School of Business Administration.
Acting Dean C. W. Hickman, College of Agriculture; Dean C. W. Hungerford, Graduate School; Dean D. S. Jeffers, School of Forestry; Dean T. S. Kerr, College of Letters and Science; Dean J, F. Weltzin, School of Education.

Changes and replacements among deans in schools and colleges since the beginning of the year have caused several revisions of the university roster. The college of agriculture's venerable Dean Edward J. Iddings, who recently accepted a new position, has been replaced by Acting Dean C. W. Hickman, formerly professor of animal husbandry; Acting Dean William J. Brockelbank has replaced former Dean Pendleton Howard in the college of law, and new director of the college of extension is Harlow Campbell, former Coeur d'Alene high school principal.

These and other deans of individual colleges of the university are the students' link with higher university administration, and to them fall the task of arranging schedules, filling sections, and otherwise placing their charges in convenient niches in the university system. Registration time this year saw classes overflowing with returning veterans and new students, who filled all available sections, making revisions and the addition of new classes necessary.

Harried by students begging the necessary fraction of a point needed for house grades, by fouled up schedules and administration worries, the deans somehow have managed to maintain both their sanity and a cheerful philosophy of college life. Most of them, in fact, have become real friends to campus men and women who, through social and business contacts, have found them to be "regular fellows" as well as scholars and administrators.

Rank and File

Sitting on the old stone bench in front of the Ad Building is a privilege reserved for seniors only. Underclassmen who attempt to rest there between classes are at the mercy of the seniors or the "I" Club members who have taken over the punishment of those who dare to violate this tradition, Words can not describe the agony which numerous unsuspecting freshmen have undergone merely because they had not been informed of the sacred senior privilege. Many seniors have struggled through four years of gruelling work to achieve one shining goal—to rest their weary frames on the senior bench.

Senior Officers

Senior Officers: Don Collins, Helen Morfitt, Evelyn Thomas, Len Pyne

"Thanks for the Memories" was the theme of the dance given by students who have seen four years of work and play on the Idaho campus. Besides sponsoring their annual ball, seniors included an assembly featuring student talent and a serenade in Senior Week, the last part of February.

Members of the class of '46 were so well pleased with Len Pyne's work in presiding over them as juniors that he was chosen again as president. A resident of Spokane, Pyne was one of the "Big Six" of the winning Idaho basketball team, and he was chosen for "Who's Who." Besides showing his ability in baseball, he has headed Sigma Nu and been a member of "I" club.

Taking over when Pyne was gone was Vice-president Don Collins of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Coming to Idaho from South Dakota, Don has devoted a great part of his time to music, his major, and Intercollegiate Knights.

Evelyn Thomas, Kappa Kappa Gamma, continued with her junior job and took notes for the meetings of her class again this year. Another music major, Evelyn has been active in Sigma Alpha Iota, Kappa Delta Pi, Cardinal Key, and All-Girl Singing Orchestra.

Treasurer of the Senior class was Helen Morfitt of Boise. A home economics major, Helen is a member of Delta Delta Delta and has participated in WAA, Newman club, and Minute Maids.

Senior personalities which follow were chosen by officers.

Jane Meyer

Bob Smith

Jack Anderson

Lois Deobald

Marian Dykman

Mary Jane Hawley

Adams, Doris Winifred B.S.(Mus.Ed.) Weiser, Idaho

Doris has spent most of her time at the university in the music department developing her skill in piano. Becoming a member of Sigma Alpha lota her freshman year, the has been treasurer of that group and Ridenbaugh Hall. She played in the university orchestra three years and has willingly assisted in musical events on the campus.

Adamson, Mary Lu B.S.(Bus.) Burley, Idaho

Keeping the books of Alpha Phi and Phi Chi Theta was the task of Mary Lu (spelled with a "u") Adamson. Marcie's four years as a business major were lightened by her flair for dancing, laughing, and cating. For a wicked game of table tennis, just challenge Mary Lu.

Anderson, Elaine B.A. Preston, Idaho

Activities were practically second nature to Elaine, an English major, whose list includes Arg, Gem, Curtain club president, debate, Delta Sigma Rho, chairman of Student Activities board. Forney Hall executive board, and Interchurch council. On top of that, she belonged to Alpha Lambda Delta, Spurs, Cardinal Key, Mortar Board, Who's Who, and Phi Beta Kappa.

Anderson, Jack B.A. Sandpoint, Idaho

Numerous administrative reproofs did not phase Argonaut Editor Jack Anderson, whose Jacon columns continued to cast harbs. A speedster in the mile, Jack won a Pacific Coast championship and made a hobby of 'Philosomorganostrophy.'' He also provided the Sigma Nus with piano solos.

Anderson, Lois B.S.(Ed.) Moscow, Idaho

With a major in history and psychology, Lois Anderson plans to teach high school this fall. For two years "Andy" kept the Alpha Chi Omega scretarial books and was a member of Kappa Phi. Lois phonograph record collection is something to envy.

Anderson, Vera B.S.(H.Ec.) Idaho Falis, Idaho

"VA" chalked up an envious list of activities besides studying home economics. Being interested in sports, she became a member of WAA and finally Women's "I" Club. She worked on the Gem, Argonaut, stage crew, and Student Activities Board. Spurs, Home Ec Club, Westminster Guild, Cardinal Key. Phi Upsilon Omicron, and Pan-Hellenic Council claimed her as a member.

Armour, Jean B.S. Moscow, Idaho

Maestro of the violin and piano is talented Delta Gamma Jean Armour. "Tooj" took writing of original musical scores, winning the Mortar Board scholarship award, being president of Sigma Alpha Iota and making numerous solo appearances all in her usual artistic stride and bursts of enthusiasm.

Benoit, Joan B.S.(Bus.) Twin Falls, Idaho

Gamma Phi's pride is its president, redheaded Joan Benoit, Joan's scholastic efforts gained her membership in Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Chi Theta, of which she was president. Her cooperation and energy resulted in being house rush chairman and a member of both Senior and Sophomore Week committees.

Berlin, Joseph Burton B.S.(M.E.) Rupert, Idaho

"Burt" came to Idaho from the Southern Branch and helped run things on the campus during his three years here. Making his home Kappa Sigma, he has a major in mechanical engineering and plans to work in the East come graduation. His activities are Sigma Nu, chairman of Junior Week, Associated and Mechanical Engineers, and ASUI executive board.

Biegert, Gloria Satterfield B.S.(Bus.) Genesee, Idaho

Another married Idaho coed determined to complete her B.S. was brunette Gloria June Biegert. Swimming, golf, tennis all were June's favorite sports. When Hays Hall was forced to evacuate for the ASTP June moved her secretarial books to Elizabeth House, where she was social chairman.

Bjorklund, Dorothy Jean B.S.(H.Ec.)

To make a hit with Dorothy Jean Bjorklund, be sure to say a friendly "Hello," "DJ" served as president of Dalda Tau Gamma and Campbell Club, and was a member of the Inter-Church, Independent, and AWS Councils. Teaching high school home economics is DJ's post graduation plan.

Blake, Wynn Mowrey LL.B. Lewiston, Idaho

Wynn M. Blake spent his frosh year at Montana State College, where he was pledged and initiated into Sigma Chi. Uncle Sam sent him back to the home state, Idaho, with an ASTP unit, and after Wynn's discharge he stayed at the U. of I. to study law. His cute wife and tiny daughter are Wynn's special interests.

Blandford, Alfred B.A. Twin Falls, Idaho

Partners who lead from kings are Alfred Leonard Blandford's pet peeves. Jim, maintaining he is just a beginner, often takes time out from political science studies for golf, and to perform presidential activities of Beta Theta Pi. After recieving his B.A. in June, Jim plans to study law.

Bloomsburg, Barbara Anne B.S. Worley, Idaho

Keeping Independent politics going during the war was "Barbie's" main job. Then, too, she visited the chemistry building daily to learn of elements and their properties for her career. This didn't keep her busy enough so she was active in WAA, Canterbury, Argonaut, Dramatics, "I" Club, Hell Divers, Forney Hall executive board, and Homecoming Week.

Bowell, Dorothy Elizabeth B.S.(H.Ec.) Bonners Ferry, Idaho

Ruling the Theta castle was Dorothy Bowell's responsibility. This she ably did plus being active in Phi Upsilon Omicron, Minute Maida. WAA Executive Board and Westminster Guild. Debby's home economics will be subjected to a practical test, come June and wedding bells.

Brown, Darwin Dorre B.A. and LL.B. Blackfoot, Idaho

Darwin Brown, Sigmä Nu's "Who's Who, crammed into three years at Idaho a four-year activity schedule. His senior year Brownie was president of ASUI, his junior year of Interfraternity Council and Bench and Bar. Despite his law ourriculum and various class activities, Brownie found time to court and win his Alpha Chi, Bette.

Burggraf, Mark Allen B.S.(Pre-Med.) Idaho Falla, Idaho

"Burgie" of Phi Gamma Delta plans to become Dr. Burggraf sometime after graduation. Interested in music, he kept active in band, but Alpha Epsilon Delta, football, and drama also claimed his time. Although Mark started at the Southern Branch, had a year at the U. of W., he finally came to Idaho for his last two years.

Carlson, David Charles B.S.(Bus.) Coeur d'Alene, Idaho

Shedding his Lt.(J.g.) stripes in time for second semester, David Carlson receives a B.S. (Bus.) in June. Living his one semester at Idaho in Lindley Hall, his other credits were earned at North Idaho Junior College and in V-12 training. Dave's future plans include graduate work and more hunting and hiking with his wife.

Carson, Dudley W. B.A. Bliss, Idaho

Dudley W. Carson devoted his college career to the study of art and receives a B.A. in June. "Dud" also attended Gooding College and Pacific University. His paint brushes and pastels were kept at the Campus Club. Dudley's favorite expression and remark to the Gem questionnaire was "phocey."

Chamberlin, Billie Marie B.S.(Ed.) Lewiston, Idaho

If anyone wants to play basketball, go swimming, skating, dancing, tumbling, or any other sport, just call on "Bill." Four years have seen her with a major in P.E. at the university and now she wants to go into equatic therapy. On the campus she was a member of WAA, 4-H Club, Westminster Guild, University Singers, Pem Club president, and Hell Divers.

Cole, Weldon Charles B.S.(Ed.) Paris, Idaho

Be it Bach or Boogle Woogle, "Cosy" Cole really can tap out the keys. Boogle is his long suit, and music his major, but he chalked up a list of activities also. Intercollegiate Knights, sophomore class president. Pep Band, Phi Eta Sigma, Vandaleers kept his free hours busy along with arranging music for dance bands and his work in dramatics.

Collins, Donald Noulin B.S.(Mur.Ed.) Camp Crook, South Dakota

Music was Don's reason for coming to the "U" from Camp Crook, S.D. Even in his frosh year his clarinet added notes to the pep, military, and concert bands and the orcheatra. Membership in Intercollegiste Knights, Phi Mu Alpha, and Interfrat Council, and positions as SAE prevy and senior class vice-president have kept him busy.

Condie, Mary B.S.(H.Ec.) Preston, Idaho

Cooking for sixty girls at Ridenbaugh was just part of the daily schedule of Mary Condie, Mary started her Home Ec studies at the Southern Branch and plans to teach this fall. With her practical experience and energy Ridenbaugh's vice-president is destined for success.

Cooper, Howard Elmon B.S. Lewiston, Idaho

Tired of walking, Howard Elmon Cooper purchaeed a motor scooter and putt-putted about the campus. Pre-war Coop was the Gem photographer and a staunch member of the Vandaleers; post-war Coop completed his math curriculum, acted as president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and passed his pin to a dark-haired Alpha Phi.

Cowin, Dorothy Louise B.S.(Bus.) Moscow, Idaho

Dorothy is a town girl who moved right into campue life with four years of band membership and activities in Roger Williams Club and Dalda Tau Gamma. Greatest problem of college was those Saturday classes site couldn't escape. Equipped with a secretarial studies major and Phi Chi Theta membership, she is ready to look for a vacation.

Craggs, Lavona Cherie B.S.(H.Ec.) Idaho Fallo, Idaho

Preparing and serving food for dignitaries visiting the home economics department was the special task of dietetic major Lavona Cragge. Ask anyone and they would say "for a job welldone ask Scraggs." Phi Upeilon Omicron claimed her as a member and Pi Beta Phi as its president.

Dalva, Edward Martin B.S.(Ed.) Priest River, Idaho

Dramatically minded, versatile "Ed" made a name for himself on the Idaho campus for the parts he played in ASUI plays and his original stories and plays. After a year at Stanford in 1943, Ed became active in University Singers, Phi Mu Alpha, and Sinfonia. Curtain Club claimed him as a member and also vice-president while he resided at the Idaho Club.

Daniels, Delmar Daniel LL.B. Altadena, California

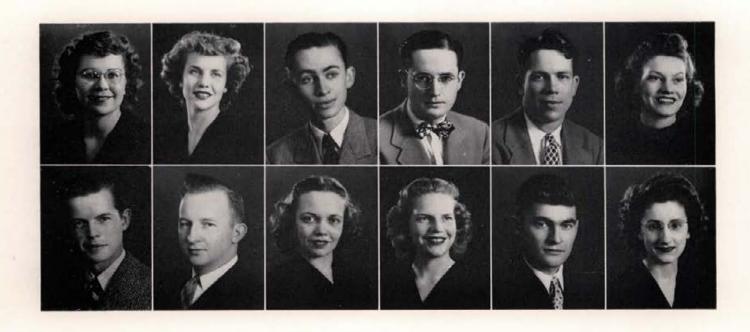

The senior class's most ardent political enthusiasi is Delmar Daniel Daniels. Dan's activitice--intramural debate, Phi Alpha Delta, and Bench and Bar-were all, except for nightly poker and bridge seniors, centered in his favorite field. In Dan's senior year he took the job of being Kappa Sigma's house manager.

Daniel, Louis Vernon LL.B. Payette, Idaho

Louis Vernon Daniel's "How you" was a familiar expression about the Alpha Tau Omega house until wedding bells claimed him in April. His fronk and soph years were filled with activities at the Southern Branch, while briefing cases and playing golf occupied "Crabby's" time at the U. of I. Crabby's pet peeves are aimed at the housing shortage and economic courses.

Dau, Dora Louise B.S.(H.Ec.) Lewiston, Idaho

When time comes for WAA to meet, Dora Dau is Johnny-on-the-spot. Training comes from the numerous trips daily to the third floor Ad building for home economic classes. Dora's humor added zest to life in Hays Hall, and made her a favorite in Home Economics Club.

Davis, William Robert M.S. Payette, Idaho

Not content to leave Idaho after graduation, William Robert Davis stayed to work for a master's degree in chemistry. In spare hours, when not instructing chemistry labs, Bob chatted with the fellows about the two years he was Sigma Nu president, drove about in his cream-colored convertible, and courted an Alpha Chi pledge next door.

Deal, Robert Leroy B.S.(Ed.) Moscow, Idaho

Track and cross-country teams were Bob's main interests. A physical education major, he plans to coach basketball and track after graduation. Following his major, he was a member of the "T" Club, and manager of track and crosscountry teams. Sports in any form were his long suit, and Bob calls them his major, his main interest, and his main bobbles.

Deering, Evelyn B.S. (Pre-Med.) Opportunity, Washington

Straight from Whitworth College came Evelyn to continue her studies in medicine at the university. She will begin work at the University of Washington medical school next fall. An outstanding student, she was tapped into Alpha Epsilon Delta. She has been a member of the All-Girl Singing Orchestra and Westminster Guild.

Deobald, Eloise LaVelle B.S. (Mus.Ed.) Kendrick, Idaho

Many organizations thrived under the able leadership of "Lois" during four years on the campus. She was president of Forney Hall. Mortar Board, and Kappa Phi. She belonged to Band, Alpha Lambda Delta, Sigma Alpha Iota, Spure, Wesleyan Foundation, Cardinal Key, All-Girl Singing Orchestra, ASUI Executive Board, Kappa Delta Phi, and Who's Who.

Dingle, William Bertram B.S.(Bus.) Dayton, Washington

With the brightly hued autor grouped about the Phi Delt house as evidence, William Bertram Dingle maintains his special interest is painting cars. Bert's other activities were Gem photographer, basketball manager for two years, president of Phi Delta Theta and Greek caucus chairman.

Dochios, Mary B.S. Rathdrum, Idaho

Ridenbaugh's president's schedule was overilowing with labs and activities. Executive Board, AWS, 'T' Club meetings were barely over in time for Mary to reach Student Activity Board, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Curtain and Mortar Board meetings. Full of ambition, Mary soon enters medical school.

Donart, Mary Jane B.A. Weiser, Idaho

One of the bomb shells to hit the campus four years ago was "Babe." With an English major, she reported for the Arg and later became managing editor and editor. She took Spura, Cardinal Key, and Mortar Board in her stride, and has been active in WAA. Gem, Canterbury, SAB, stage crew, Theta Sigma, Pan-Hellenic Council, publications board, ASUI executive board, and is in Who's Who.

Doumecq, Dorothy Juanita B.S. (Com.Ed.) Craigmont, Idaho

Dorothy completed her course in commercial ed. in three years besides having membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, Spurs, Kappa Delta Pi, and 'T' Club. She was AWS treasurer this year. Small and blond, Dottie divided her time between good times and study along with answering the telephone next door for everyone in Hays.

Durkoop, Arline Antoinette B.A. Spokane, Washington

Artistically minded, "Durk" has led a colorful four years at the university. Making her home Delta Delta Delta, she has been active in Gem. Argonaut, WAA. Westminster Guild, University Singers, Red Cross, play production, and Senior Week. In line with her art work, Arline has been president of the Attic Club.

Dyer, Gloria Helen B.A. Grangeville, Idaho

If Gloria Dyer's present wardrobe indicates the frocks to be featured in her post-graduation sports shop, success is guaranteed. How a political science major will aid these plans is still a mystery. Gloria's senior year was filled with being Kappa president and eating butterhorns at the Nest.

Dykman, Allen Dale B.S.(Ed.) Pocatello, Idaho

After being a three-sport man at the Southern Branch for two years. Dale Dykman continued bis sports career at Idaho. In pre-war days Dyke pledged Sigma Nu and played football. He arrived back from the Navy just in time to be a member of the Northern Division championship five and to help wife, Marian, edit the Gem (when not typing Education notebooks).

Dykman, Marian Krussman B.S.(H.Ec.) Pocatello, Idaho

Marian Dykman was the Alpha Chi's activity dynamo. Combining high scholarship in dieteiics with play production, a Gem editorship, membership in Mortar Board, Spurs, Phi Upsilon Omicron, and Alpha Lambda Delta, kept Marian on the constant go. Satisfying husband Dale's appetite was her chief concern.

Echternach, Betty June B.A. Lewiston, Idaho

"Betty Ech" did it and made it look so simple. Academics never mussed her hair but she got 4.00, making Phi Beta Kappa. She voiced her opinions as editor of the Argonaut. She participated in Home Ec Club, debate, Canterbury, Minute Maida, Spura, Alpha Lambda Delta president, Theta Sigma, Cardinal Key, Mortar Board, and was treasurer of the sophomore class.

Egelston, Richard Warren B.S. Boise, Idaho

Richard Egelston, after two years at Boise Junior College, came to the U. of I. to complete his physics major. Dick's technical interests found cultets in the Institute of Redio Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Big question, though, was Why did he insist on living in Pullman while learning in Vandal-land?

Finch, Margaret Virginia B.S.(Ed.) Boise, Idaho

"Margie" has majored in English during her four years on the campus. She claims membership in Westminster Gulld and Delta Gamma, being social chairman and vice-president of the latter. She has spent a great many hours on Argonaut and Gen circulation staffs. Her special interest during her school years was "Gerry."

Forbush, Harold Sanford B.A. Rexburg, Idaho

During his years here Harold has carved himself a secure place in the heart of the campus. A transfer from the Southern Branch, Harold is majoring in law and is an active member of the Bench and Bar and Lambda Delta Sigma. For relaxation Harold enjoys a wrestle with the L.D.S. fellows.

Freeman, Donna Mae B.S. (Bus.) Anchorage, Alaska

It's a long way from Alaska to Idaho, but "Dee" has made it worth her time. Busying herself in business and law, she also found time for Kappa Phi, Spurs, Independent Council and Caucus, Student Activity Board, University Singers, Junior Week committee, AWS Council, Student Faculty Board, president of Delta Tau Gamma and Bench and Bar treasurer.

Gage, Joella B.S.(Ed.) Kellogg, Idaho

Pride of the women's P.E. department is jovial Joella Gage. "Jo's" ceaseless energy found expression in all sports from swimming to golf and being vice-president of both the Women's Athletic Association and "I" Club. Jo represented Pi Beta Phi on the AWS Council, and homecoming committees.

Gardner, Raymond Clyde B.S. (For.) Los Angeles, California

Raymond Clyde Gardner, one of the four graduating forestry students, completed his de-gree in February and is now doing graduate work in Forest Management. Always active in the Associated Foresters, Ray was both president and chairman of Forestry Week his senior year in '40. This Kappa Sigma's two daughters, T-bone steaks and trout fishing are his special interests. interests.

Glenn, Letha Jean B.A. Boise, Idaho

"Down the road apiece" is Jean, a Spanish major. Activities really kept her busy her years here. WAA, University Singere, Canterbury Club, Argonaut, and stage crew round out her list. During her senior year, she was secretary of Canterbury, and advertising manager for the Arg. Jean plans to meander over to Europe after graduation.

Goodier, Cecelia Jane B.A. Sun Valley, Idaho

"Cisey" came to the university and joined Alpha Chi Omega in 1944 from the University of California at Los Angeles and Lake Foreat Colleges Studying sociology here, she now planus to go into social welfare work. Her chief inter-ests have been in International Relations Club, WAA, Gem, Hell Divers, and Homecoming and Senior Week committees.

Gorman, Margaret Mary B.S. (H.Ec.) Idaho City, Idaho

Every afternoon Margaret Gorman could be found clerking at the bookstore, managing al-ways to live through 'one more book rush.' The rest of Marg's time was spent in Home Ec laboratories preparing for that year of intern-ship at Minnesota Both Senior and Junior week found Kappa's Margaret a diligent worker.

Grimes, Marietta Merle B.S.(H.Ec.) Emmett, Idaho

Dexterity with the sewing needle is an accom-plishment of Marietta Grimes. For proof note the All-Girl Singing Orchestra costumes. This Botse Junior College transfer student is a home economics major, and practices cooking in Ridenbaugh's kitchen.

Hagan, Patricia Ann B.S.(H.Ec.) Moscow, Idaho

Kappa Kappa Gamma's Patricia Hagan is a true activity woman. Never too busy to help, Pat belonged to Spurs, Mortar Board, Phi Upsilon Omicron, and Executive Board. Pan-Hellenic, Cardinal Key, Canterbury Society and the Home Economic's Club all claimed Pat as president.

Hallock, Marian Isabelle B.S.(Pre-Nurs.) Twin Falls, Idaho

Quiet and friendly, Marion has been very active in Wealeyan Foundation and Kappa Phi, being chaplain this year. Pre-nursing is her major, and future plans are aimed at specializa-tion in some field of hospital work. When her books were left behind it might be tennis, hik-ing, photography, dancing, or just plain recrea-tional eating.

Harland, Richard Driscoll B.S.(Agr.)

Unique in the history of the university was the theme of annual Junior Week, "Knot Here for Knowledge," which was carried out with a giant rally, mixer, serenade, and Junior Prom. In keeping with tradition the week began with the rally, and students came dressed as Vandalettes, a deck of cards, school children, football players, and many others. Ridenbaugh hall took first place for the women with Mother Goose rhymes as the theme. "Angels" from the LDS Institute captured honors for men.

Betty Ann Craggs headed the Junior class this year, stepping up from the same office of the sophomore class the previous year. Busy with presidency of Pi Beta Phi, Betty Ann also found time to work in Cardinal Key, student activity board, Argonaut, Interchurch Council, and Westminster Guild. A bacteriology major, she came to the university from Idaho Falls.

Pete Rowell, one of the "brighter" men on the campus, has pulled down semester after semester of straight "A," besides being vice-president of the juniors. Phi Gamma Delta is his place of abode here.

Secretary June Williams has been one of the busier Gamma Phi Betas. Besides keeping notes and working on committees, she has worked industriously on the Gem, student activity board, and AWS council.

To keep track of moneys for juniors has been the job of Ann Price. Ann was elected president of Hays hall and has been active in Newman Club and Argonaut.

Despite difficulties caused by Christmas transportation problems, the sophomore class went ahead this year with plans for the annual Holly Week in December. Under the general direction of President Eve Smith, a serenade and assembly were presented just before the last trains and busses pulled out of Moscow loaded with holidaying students. The Holly dance, postponed until January 12, proved to be a very gala event with Queen Margaret Arnold, Forney hall, reigning at the festivities.

Eve Smith, who hangs her hat at Kappa Alpha Theta, held the guiding reins over the sophomores as well as filling her time with many other activities, including Spurs, Alpha Lambda Delta, WAA, and Argonaut. Eve is an accounting major.

Vice-president Leroy Beeson, who bunks at the Sigma Chi house, was always busy on committee work. He was chairman of publicity for Holly Week. A pre-med. major, "Beeson" was a member of the track team.

Bonnie Burnside of Alpha Phi holds office of secretary of the sophomore class. She was also treasurer of Spurs and active on Interchurch council and WAA executive board.

Treasurer of the class is Marilyn Daigh, a home economics major and a member of Alpha Chi Omega. "Boogie" filled her spare hours working for Spurs, Home Ec. club and the Gem of the Mountains.

FRESHMEN

Freshman Officers: John Dailey, Bill Morley, Darlene Evans, Barbara Garner

With "Carnival" as their theme, members of the freshman class this year made news on the campus with their annual assembly, concessions, and semi-formal dance. In a Mardi Gras atmosphere, students danced and elected both a queen and a king to reign for a night as a part of Freshman Week held April 22-27.

President John Dailey guided freshman activities this year, plus putting in a busy season with the football squad and working with the Intercollegiate Knights and student activity board. Dailey is a member of Kappa Sigma and is from Marsing.

Filling in while the prexy is gone is Vice-president Darlene Evans of Forney hall. Active in WAA sports, Darlene claims Preston as home.

Elected secretary by the freshman class was Barbara Garner from Peck. Industrious Barbara spent much of her time working on WAA points and handling committees for the Freshman Week celebration.

Dick Johnson was elected treasurer of the class at the fall elections but was replaced by Bill Morley of the LDS Institute when Dick left at semester to join the armed services. Pledged to Lambda Delta Sigma, Bill is a basketball enthusiast and was a member of the university golfing squad. Student Activities

Presented by the graduating class of 1928, it has more than served its purpose as a sanctuary for sky gazing campus couples in search of privacy and quiet. So frequented that even the pigeons associated with similar structures have given up in disgust, the 1928 Bench bears a reputation of being able to make the moon appear a bit larger, the stars a bit brighter. No one boasts of being a true Vandal without making a simultaneous confession that he or she has visited this monument, and Idaho students echo the sentiments of all, when, with heads held high, they shout, "This is worth fighting for."

Reconversion was the keynote of ASUI policies this year as students returned to their first peacetime campus since 1941. Heading the student body was lawyer Darwin Brown, familiar on campus for his friendly "hello." Brown climbed to his position after learning the ins and outs of politics from the Greek side of the fence. A member of Sigma Nu, he left the ranks of the fraternity dwellers this fall as a married man.

Brown's first year of school saw him as president of the freshman class at the University of Missouri, and from there he transferred to the University of Idaho, Southern Branch. He then arrived at the University of Idaho to make his bid for fame as a member of the "I" club, wearer of the Phi Eta Sigma emblem, member of Bench and Bar, and a representative of the united caucus. During his senior year he served as head of the Interfraternity council and was elected for "Who's Who in American Colleges."

Filling the position of vice president of the executive board was Ada Mae Rich, hard working Alpha Phi who drew up plans for a new student union building. In addition to working for a bachelor of arts degree, Ada Mae sang with the Vandaleers and All-Girl Singing Orchestra and competed for Idaho on the varsity debate squad. Tapped by the honoraries Cardinal Key, Mortar Board, and Alpha Lambda Delta, she was also a member of the AWS council and vice president of the junior class.

Efficient Jane Meyer, secretary of the board, was also known as president of Hays hall, vice president of Kappa Phi, and WAA president. Her list of activities in addition included Alpha Lambda Delta, the Independent council, the AWS council, student activities board, and junior advisor for Spurs.

Executive Board

The president and the nine voting members of the ASUI executive board found themselves governing an enlarged student body with an increased political interest caused by the large number of veterans in place of the 18-year-old freshmen of former years. Major project of the year was an investigation into the possibilities of a new student union building with the present Blue Bucket proving inadequate to accommodate the increased tempo of social and activity life.

Following a student questionnaire which proved a majority favored the building and would back it financially, a complete report was compiled and presented to the board of regents. Final result of the study was yet to be decided when the Gem went to press.

Other customary duties of the executive board which were carried out for the 1945-46 year included making awards to participants in ASUI contests, control of the publications board and the student activities board. The latter group, organized a year ago by the executive board, promotes all campus activities under the guidance of the executive board.

Plans to reconstruct a former CCC building as a ski lodge for university students originated with the executive board. Progress on redecoration of the lodge was reported, but complete work was delayed until next year when the amount of snowfall in the area could be determined.

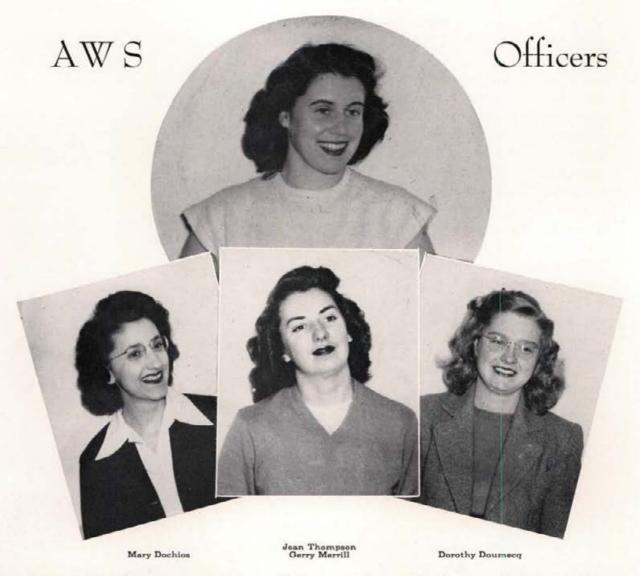

In the spring the board appointed Pat Hagan and Bud Doane, first alternate, as Idaho representatives to the Reed College Youth Congress held at Portland April 5 and 6. Another important appointment made by the group was to fill the vacancy left by freshman class treasurer Dick Johnson with Bill Morley.

Following tradition of past years, the board in April made plans for the annual dinner exchange with the governing body of Washington State College.

Faculty advisor to the board was Dr. H. Walter Steffens. Jean Thompson and Jack Anderson were ex-officio members along with Gale Mix, graduate manager.

Town girl Jean Thompson presided over AWS council during this school year, high-lighting her collegiate activity record. Majoring in education, Jean earned for herself positions in both Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Chi Theta, education and business honoraries. Pi Beta Phi house president last year, Jean has also been associated with Spurs and Cardinal Key, and was a representative to Pan-Hellenic meetings. Chosen for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," she was elected page at the Mayfete during her sophomore year.

Keeping up top grades along with her activities, Mary Dochios was elected to serve as vice president for the AWS board. A Mortar Board member, Mary was also elected to a position on the ASUI executive board. To receive a bachelor of science degree at the end of the year, Mary came from Rathdrum to the university.

Geraldine "Gerry" Merrill, an outstanding activity woman of the campus, ably kept AWS minutes. President of Forney hall women and of the Interchurch council, she has also been a Spur and Cardinal Key member, active in debate.

Bette Scott has worked her way up the activity line and as orientation chairman was in charge of the counselor system to direct new women students planning to attend the university. Bette, a featured vocalist in the All-Girl Singing Orchestra, was associated with Spur and Cardinal Key.

Dorothy Doumecq, who was a Spur during her sophomore year, holds the key to the money in this year's AWS organization. A junior woman of Hays hall this year, she proved scholastic ability as a member of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Junior and senior representatives from each women's living group with the officers make up the council.

Council

In order to promote student interest in campus activities, the Associated Women Students sent representatives this year to meet with Pullman women. Jean Thompson and Ethel Jane Kopelman attended this conference to obtain new ideas and discuss mutual problems of the two schools.

Continuing in the line of tradition, the fourth annual play party for all women was held early in the fall. Group singing and dancing was the main entertainment, and a buffet supper highlighted the affair.

Possibility of revising the group's constitution to include a new office and abolish the position of honorary yell queen was discussed in council meetings, but did not meet with approval.

Jean Thompson, Ethel Jane Kopelman, and Dean Louise S. Carter met with representatives from other northwestern colleges in Spokane on All-College day, sponsored by the American Association of University Women. Prospective students from the Spokane high school area were entertained with discussions by the college women. Deans of women from the schools met and discussed current problems in their fields.

Replacing the traditional carnival, AWS inaugurated the "Darktown Strutter's Ball" April 12 complete with darky faces and elegant costumes.

Concluding women's activities for the year is the annual Mayfete for which mothers from all over the state come. Presiding as queen this year was Jean Thompson, in whose honor the Maypole was wound by members of Spurs. Featured at the ceremonies is the tapping of members tor leading campus honoraries.

Marian Dykman, Editor

Worried frowns and sleepless nights disappeared from the lives of the Gem staff early in spring with the last shipment of pictures and write-ups for the 1946 yearbook. Duty of the publication was to present an accurate review of a campus changed over night from wartime to peacetime basis.

At the helm as the 1946 editor was Marian Dykman, activity woman from 'way back beginning as a Spur her sophomore year. During the summer Marian changed her last name from Krussman to Dykman, and the second semester found her keeping house for husband Dale, adding to her responsibilities. Marian's senior year climaxed hard work as a Cardinal Key, AWS treasurer, and associate editor of last year's Gem. A member of Alpha Chi Omega, Editor Dykman was enrolled in the university as a home economics major. For six weeks of the first semester she directed Gem policies from the home management house. Days and nights the editor could be found at a desk piled high with work in the Gem office at the student union building.

Greatest worry for her was including all the pictures of a student body with an enrollment which jumped 1,000 members at the second semester. Staff members of prewar yearbooks returned to help, but last minute details remained for the editor to complete. Dummy and layout changes took the most time, and difficulties were added with frequent changes in staff.

Crowded into the Gem office all hours of day and night during production months were the staff heads, men and women always working against a deadline. After the resignation of June Williams, Ora White stepped into the position of associate editor and held the top position photomounting. Managing editor Bill Sundeen, a returned veteran, could seldom be found without a camera in his hands.

Behind the scenes Mary Jane Hawley worked in charge of organizations, while Elaine Anderson and Clara Beth Young took over the job of compiling information for class groups. Administration worries came under the care of Barbara Smith, and Doris Gochnour was the one who handled the secretarial end.

Barbara Spaeth, activities head, did organization work on photographs with Geneva Ferguson who spent hours contacting groups and individuals to be photographed. With talent in art work a necessity, LaRaine Stewart and Bob Greive completed layout work—which meant drawing designs. Argonaut editor Jack Anderson took charge of sports, and Elizabeth Bottum and Ladd Hamilton teamed to do work on houses. Copy and rewrite were in the hands of Verna Kelly, Frances Rhea, Maurice Paulsen, Lucile Thompson, and Dayle Molen.

Gem of the Mountains

The business staff of the Gem managed to keep financial problems, which are always a headache, to a minimum of worry and succeeded with a good average of sales. Major portion of the business work could be completed during the first semester, and manager Jean Thompson kept her staff on the run.

One of the outstanding women on the campus, Jean had other activities to take her time in addition to her Gem work. Accumulating a long list of activities her first three years, her junior and senior years found her as president of the Pi Beta Phi house, AWS president, and as queen for the traditional Mayfete.

Working with Jean were assistant editors Ethel Jane Kopelman and Dona Harding. Ethel Jane, a junior woman who calls the Tri Delt house her home, is a familiar figure in campus life and served as vice president of the sophomore class last year.

Assistant editor Dona of the Alpha Chi house last year worked as organizations head on the Gem staff. As a major in commercial education she carried a heavy schedule in school work. A junior this year, she worked with other Cardinal Key members in the service honorary.

Gem salesmen met students as they came to the close of the registration line at both the first and second semester. Attention to routine matters such as this, prompt attention for all business details, and efficient handling of other matters were contributing factors to the financial success of the yearbook.

Feminine pulchritude and charm were the keynotes to success for the Gem's business staff, which numbered only women as heads of the various departments. Best proof that it could be a woman's world was offered by the achievements of Donna Chapman in charge of advertising. Donna, making even the holidays count toward work, kept her staff busy at the Christmas season collecting advertising copy with superior results.

Meanwhile another staff head, Betty Ann Craggs, reported a job well done as organization head when she secured the group pictures for several activities not shown since prewar days. All this work meant routine matters which necessitated a secretarial hand, and LaLene Cargill took charge of this aspect of the business staff.

"Have you bought a Gem yet?" was the constant question of Louise Cosgriff, sales and distribution head. To make certain sales were running smoothly, she placed key men and women in each living group to contact prospective buyers of the yearbook.

Working with other staff members, these heads kept the business machinery running smoothly and produced results in record time. Their accomplishments were evidence that men will find keen competition come next fall.

The Idaho Argonaut

Jack Anderson, Editor First and second semesters

Resuming some of its prewar importance, the beginning of the second semester found the Argonaut enlarged to a six-page edition but still on a weekly basis. Policy-determining man for the paper was Jack Anderson, who kept peace and quiet among the numerous women staff members but closed the office door on Wednesday nights with a thankful sigh.

A member of the "I" club, Jack hails from Sandpoint and spends summer vacations getting practical experience in the journalism field. During his senior year he kept up an active interest in campus activities and as a sports fan backed the reconstruction of the ski lodge and other worthwhile affairs. If tentative plans come true, Idaho will see him again next year working for a master's degree.

An enlarged paper meant more advertisements for the business staff, but major difficulties were overcome with experienced Louise Schlegel continuing to serve as business manager. Working under her was Elizabeth Glenn who replaced her sister Jean, advertising manager for the first semester.

A publication for the students, the Arg is entirely under student leadership and receives financial backing from ASUI funds. Argonaut offices are located in a corner of the student union building where the diligent staff puts in two working days each week. Page makeup differs slightly with each new editor, but the general appearance of the paper remains the same. With the return of photographer Bill Sundeen, a greater number of engravings of school activities reappeared per issue.

> A few minor changes in staff heralded the beginning of the second semester on the Argonaut. With only one editor, more work than before fell to Romaine Galey, who continued in the position of managing editor. Following the resignation of Jack Anderson in the early spring, Romaine assumed full control and veteran Ladd Hamilton became managing editor.

> Moving into the position of news editor at the semester was Frances Rhea, whose worry was too much or too little copy. Joyce McMahon, after a semester as rewrite editor, was named the new day editor while Helen Terhaar remained as night editor. Addition of a woman's page promoted Jonne Pearson to editor of that division, and Bob Zolinger took over the role of features editor. Adding some new members to his staff, Jack Goetz again took charge of sports events with Clark Chandler writing the column "Take Five."

Succeeding to the hazards of the copy desk was Doris Ring, while enterprising reporter Martha Rigby joined the list of names on the masthead as rewrite editor. Julie Ann Ryan, another staff head of the first semester, worked on as circulation manager.

Each week a weary staff put the paper to bed and adjourned for a coffee session.

The Idaho Argonaut

Pat Miller, Editor First Semester

Continuing a two-editor system for the first semester, the Argonaut reached the hands of students every Thursday and made for itself the reputation of hardhitting editorials and lively feature material. Editors Pat Miller and Jack Anderson combined beauty and brawn to enliven student interest in the publication and make it rate as a continued favorite of the student body.

Starting on the top scholastically her freshman year, Pat was named Alpha Lambda Delta member and continued her college success the next year as managing editor of the Arg. Coming from her Boise home in the fall of 1944, she moved into the Delta Gamma house as a candidate for a bachelor of arts degree. Pat left school at the semester to become a business woman and Sigma Nu Jack Anderson took full charge of the paper. A journalism major, Jack also placed Idaho on the map with fast track records. Famous for his sense of humor, his work on university publications included time spent as sports editor for the Gem two successive years and sports editor on the Arg.

On the business end of things for the first semester were business manager Louise Schlegel and advertising manager Jean Glenn. Wearing the blue sweater of Cardinal Key, Louise was also a member of Spurs and managed activities of the Interchurch council. She worked up to her present position after serving apprenticeship as assistant manager and advertising head. A Delta Gamma sister working with Louise was Jean Glenn, whose problem was to secure sufficient advertising copy and manage the ad staff. She transferred to the campus for a bachelor of arts degree, leaving at the semester to continue business studies in Boise.

Elizabeth Glenn Advertising Manager Jonne Pearson Society Editor Betty Ann Craggs Feature Editor Martha Rigby Rewrite Editor

Women held the majority of positions on the Argonaut for the first semester with Romaine Galey serving under Pat and Jack as managing editor. Last minute detail work was under her care, while news editor Elaine Anderson took charge of the assignment book and worked with the reporters.

Filling the new position of assistant news editor was Frances Rhea, stand-in for Elaine at busy times, and Joyce McMahon took charge of the rewrite basket. Credit for night work at the Idahonian went to editor Helen Terhaar who put the final sign of approval on copy there. Events in the sports world were recorded under the direction of Jack Goetz, and Jonne Pearson kept the student body informed on the social whirl. Adding humor to the Arg with a witty column was feature head Betty Ann Craggs.

The task of fitting the correct number of letters into a small amount of space fell to copy editor Jean Seymour and a staff of women who held lengthy sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday. Circulation of the final product was the job of Julie Ann Ryan who took over the Arg office on Thursday afternoon. Completing the first semester staff was a group of thirty reporters, working to make a name in future journalism circles of the campus.

Idaho Forester

Dedicated to future foresters, forestry majors planned publication of their yearbook, The Idaho Forester, for June 1. Editor Irvin Wentworth worked during the second semester to compile technical articles on forestry subjects and news of activities carried on by Idaho's Associated Foresters.

Circulation of the yearbook rose from 1,000 in 1945 to 1,500 in 1946. Copies are sent to alumni of the school of forestry and industries connected with forestry throughout the nation. Assisting Wentworth were staff heads Les Fisher, as associate editor, and Frank McGinnis as business manager.

Idaho Newsletter

February of 1946 marked the close of publication of the University Newsletter, wartime source of campus news for alumni and former students in military service. Compiled under the direction of editor O. A. Fitzgerald, the publication originated in 1944 when circulation totalled 1,000. Figures on men receiving the paper soared until the peak number of 4,150 was reached with the final issue.

Composed exclusively of personal items concerning students in the service and veterans on the campus, the Newsletter was sent to families of men who in turn forwarded it to them. Final issue of the publication, devoted to men who gave their lives in World War II, listed each man killed or missing in action.

Idaho Engineer

Two editors were in charge of the Idaho Engineer, publication of the Idaho Society of Engineers, which reached faculty and alumni in December and May. First semester editor Ira Jacobson graduated at the semester, to be replaced by Bob Smith, while Gerry Eide held down the position of business manager for both issues.

Purpose of the paper is to promote interest in the school of engineering and report activities of interest in the field of engineering. Featured in the May issue was an article by Arthur Adair, member of the first graduating class of the university, who is still active in engineering circles. Approximate circulation of the paper is 500, with issues sent throughout the country.

VanIda

Making its initial appearance on the campus this spring was the new literary magazine, the VanIda. Work progressed under the direction of staff heads selected from the student body. First copies of the magazine were sold to students early in April with the Intercollegiate Knights and Spurs acting as salesmen. Contributions came from a diversified group of future authors.

The VanIda replaced the former campus magazine, the Blue Bucket, which was abandoned several years ago.

ASUI Handbook

Reaching the hands of students in the spring was the ASUI freshmen handbook, better known as the ''Frosh Bible.'' Authorized and backed by ASUI funds, the purpose of the booklet is to acquaint students with the constitution of the student body. Included in the publication is a brief resume of honoraries, activities, and student organizations found on the campus. The handbook is well-thumbed comes time for spring elections and the selection of the election board whose members must pass a quiz on the constitution.

Working as editor this year was Mary Jane Donart, long active in journalistic circles. Theta Sigma members were on her staff.

AWS Handbook

To inform new women students of university rules and regulations is the purpose of the Associated Women Students' Handbook, published every spring. With Evelyn Fisher acting as editor for the publication, which left the presses early in spring, material published was brought up-to-date on changes in procedure. In addition, discussion of clothes, social behavior, activities, and honoraries were written to aid the orientation process of freshmen women.

Assisting to prepare the booklet were Mary Jane Hawley, Marina Dochios, and Lucile Thompson.

Editors

Elizabeth Robinson and Maurice Paulsen Co-editors of VanIda

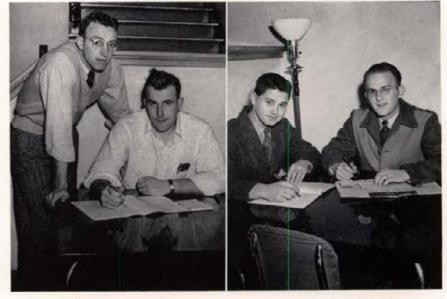

O. A. Fitzgerald

Editors Elizabeth Robinson and Maurice Paulsen were the team responsible for the editing and publishing of VanIda, their "brain child" which tapped campus literary talent. NROTC cadet Paulsen, member of the Argonaut staff, is a journalism major, while Elizabeth, who wears the white Spur uniform, is taking an English course.

O. A. Fitzgerald, university head of publications and information, was the managing hand behind the Newsletter. To him came letters from servicemen all over the world with a report on their activities since leaving the university.

Taking charge of the Idaho Engineer at the second semester was Bob Smith, basketball player of last year and a member of the Associated Engineers. Working as business manager for both issues was Gerry Eide, who at one time represented Idaho on the track field.

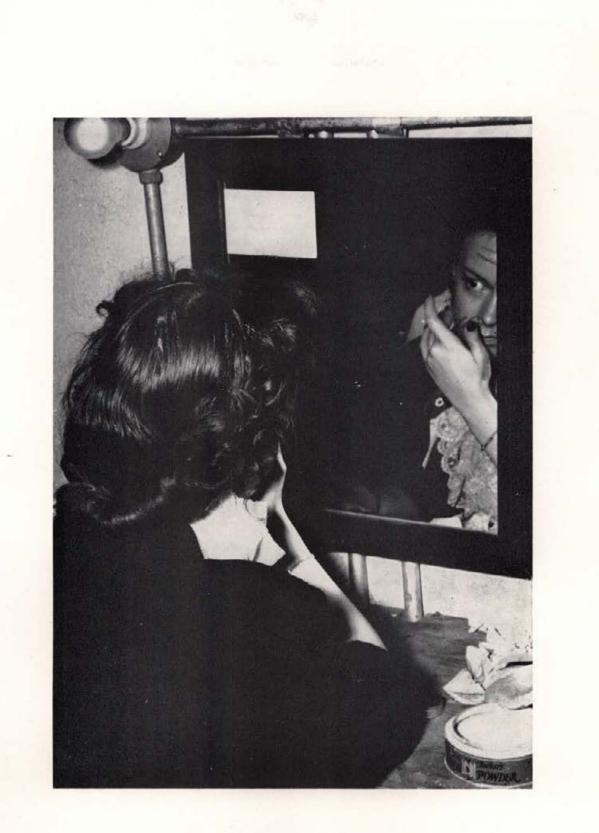

Irvin Wentworth, editor of the Idaho Forester, was a well-known figure in campus circles for activities on student body committees and in the spring he tossed his hat into the ring of presidential candidates. Working with him was associate editor Les Fisher, also a forestry major.

Stage Lights ... Curtain!

Dramatics

Jean Collette, director of dramatics, works tirelessly in furthering the advancement of the theatre on the campus. During the production of her shows she works day and night polishing acting abilities, overseeing stage construction, and carrying out the numerous odd jobs that go into a stage play. Herself an Idaho graduate, she is an exponent of the Little Theater movement, and through her efforts, has given Idaho students the opportunity to see many worthwhile plays.

Student directors Ed Dalva, Betty Smith, and Lois Fox read over a script to comb out technical difficulties. The use of student directors in dramatic productions not only gives the students valuable experience, but eases the pressure on the advisor during the weeks before a production. Stage plotting, stage design, and actual directing are done by student directors.

Stage Craft

Far more than acting goes into each of the productions of the dramatics department. The technical work is divided among crews, each with its chairman. Stage lighting, stage construction and makeup, each an art in itself, are taught and developed in the department. Experience is also available in the construction and use of costumes and properties. Active as crew heads this year have been Mary Stanek, Elaine Anderson, Ed Dalva, Elizabeth Hadley, Louise King, Maxine Webb, and Gene Roth. Sometimes as many as sixty students are employed for one production. Most of the work on sets, costumes, properties, and makeup is done in the seldom-seen cubicles directly below the stage. From these rooms on production nights flow up and out onto the stage the colorful array of actors and material that under the proscenium become another ASUI dramatic presentation.

Last minute checking of makeup is made by Miss Jean Collette, director, before the first performance of "The Skin of Our Teeth," the February production. Elizabeth Bottum, left, is almost ready for the spotlights and Bob Booth looks on disinterestedly. Elaine Anderson, right, makeup chairman, stands ready to carry out any last minute alterations.

English Comedy

"Fresh Fields," the dramatic department's selection for the spring of 1945, was a sophisticated comedy of English brand. The play, with leading roles taken by Enid Almquist, Jo Hunter, Grace Lillard, and Marvin Tregero, dealt with the financial difficulties of an English lady of social position. Repeat performances were given for graduation and at Spokane.

"I certainly was surprised!" Ludlow (Ed Dalva) and Miss Swaine (Marion Wilson) discuss the turn of events in a typical butler-secretary expository scene from the third act of the comedy . . . Center, Enid Almquist, Jo Hunter, and Grace Lillard appear shocked at Mrs. Pidgeon's lack of social grace . . . "You vile creature, let me go!" Lady Lilian Bedworthy (Enid Almquist) struggles with Tom Larcomb (Marvin Tregero) in the bottom scene from the second act of "Fresh Fields."

Light Comedy

The pen of Booth Tarkington is responsible for the delightful comedy, "Clarence," which was presented by the department as a summer production. Typically American, the play dealt with a misidentified returned veteran who, after a series of highly humorous situations, turns out to be the famed insect specialist, Clarence Smith.

"Of course, we'd often speak of other things or wouldn't we?" Clarence (Ford Smith) and Violet Pinney (Ann Smith) in a romantic scene from the third act of Booth Tarkington's comedy ... Clarence displays his versatility by performing on the saxophone. Alfred Potter (left) as Bobby, and Catherine Calvert, as Cora, look on admiringly in this scene from the second act ... Clarence is questioned as to his true identity by Mr. Wheeler (Dorsey Riggs, right) when it is discovered that no one knows who he really is. Catherine Calvert, Alfred Potter, and Evelyn Mueller, as Mrs. Wheeler, look on.

Mystery

"Night of January 16th," unique mystery melodrama, was produced in October. Audience participation and a double ending set aside the courtroom drama as "different." In the trial of Karen Andre, played by Polly Harris, for the murder of Bjorne Faulkner, J. T. Peterson was district attorney and Bob Booth, defense attorney. In both performances the jury, drawn from the audience, proclaimed the defendant "Not Guilty!" Major character roles were portrayed by Margaret Arnold, Ed Dalva, Don Frei, Patty Kulzer, Mike Oswald, and Maurice Paulsen.

"You lie!" Margaret Arnold on the witness stand accuses Polly Harris, as Karen Andre, on trial for murder. Judge Marvin Tregero and councilfor-the-defense Bob Booth look on . . . Defendant and defense council—Polly Harris and Bob Booth—face the jury for the verdict . . . Jean Kittenbaugh as the negress janitress is questioned by district attorney J. T. Peterson. Betty Smith, court secretary, and members of the jury, which was drawn each night from the audience, are in the background.

Fantasy

Thornton Wilder's fantasy, "The Skin of Our Teeth," appeared as the winter production. Encompassing centuries in its two hours, the prizewinning farce traced the development of the human race through the ages. Mr. and Mrs. Antrobus, the typical man and wife, surmount the dangers of glaciers, flood, and war successively; and in three acts. Dinosaur and mammoth, self-moving scenery, and disruption of continuity marked the production as unusual. Like other Wilder plays, it succeeded in stirring up much comment on the campus.

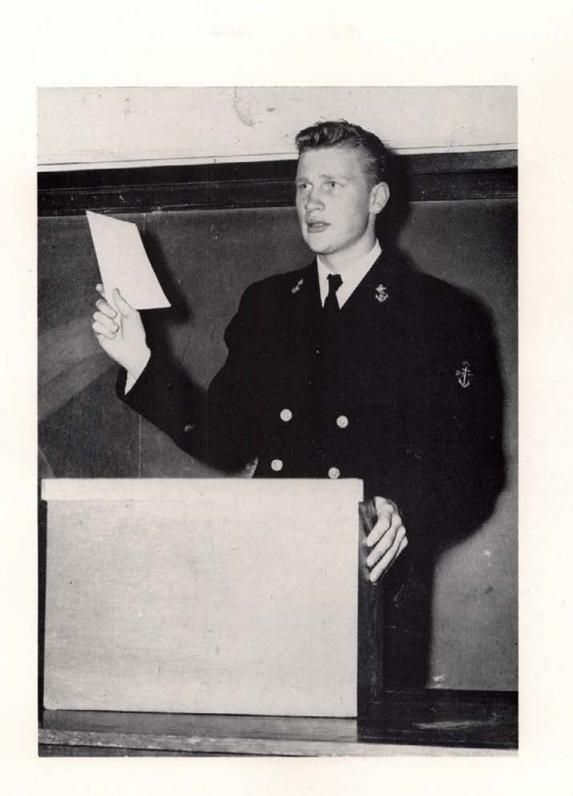

"They called me 'Cain'!" Little Gubby Mix, as Henry, tells Mrs. Antrobus (Enid Almquist) what happened at school in this scene from the prehistoric Ice Age setting of Act I. His sister Gladys (Shirley Brandt) looks on in consternation . . . Bathing beauty Sabina (Elizabeth Bottum) persuades Mr. Antrobus (J. T. Peterson) to accompany her to her beach cabana . . . Henry, grown up now, and played by Marvin Tregero, snatches Mrs. Antrobus' potatoes on his return from the war. Sabina assists and Gladys, now a mother, is worried

Debate

Coach A. E. Whitehead

Coaching the debate squads this year was Professor A. E. Whitehead, who had the worry of assembling debaters and their luggage before each trip. Always present at tournaments, he spent his time listening as a judge for other teams and tabulating progress of Idaho teams. Question of the year was: "Resolved, That the policy of the United States should be directed toward a policy of free trade among the nations of the world."

Fast and smooth talking characterized the varsity squad which entered four major tournaments during the year. Opening the season December 8 at Pullman, four teams competed, with the men entries placing first over Washington State College and Whitman competitors. Winning for Idaho were Jack Menge, Ed Keath, Bob Greive, and Sam Vance.

Next tourney held at Moscow with teams from all over the area saw two Idaho teams undefeated to place the university tied for first place with Washington State College. Winners were Geneva Ferguson, Frances Rhea, Jack Menge, and Ed Keath, who met all opponents with no losses during the two-day meet.

Joyce Keeton and Olise Geumlek

Continuing the debate season second semester, four Idaho women talked the university into first place at the annual triangular meet with Lewiston State Normal and Washington State College on March 2. Women who secured the trophy for the second consecutive year were Geneva Ferguson, Frances Rhea, Olise Geumlek, and Joyce Keeton.

Going to Linfield College at McMinville, Oregon, in March were Geneva Ferguson, Frances Rhea, Jack Menge, and Bob Greive. The two women placed second in the junior debate division, while NROTC cadet Menge took third place in the interpretive reading contest.

On April 15 Coach A. E. Whitehead and representative Stanley Godecke journeyed to Stockton, California, to participate in the Pacific Forensic League. Godecke entered into round table discussion there, while Coach Whitehead returned the newly-elected vice president of the League.

Gamma Phi Wins Intramural

Women's intramural contests, which also debated the question of free trade for the nations of the world, were run off early in the fall with Elaine Anderson as manager. Women teamed from each living group house to enter the competition, and teams from Gamma Phi Beta walked off the winners after several weeks of debating. Placing second were competitors from Ridenbaugh hall.

An annual event, the intramural rounds mark the opening of the debate year at the university. Debates were judged by faculty and townspeople.

As the Gem went to press, plans for a men's intramural were being made by Coach Whitehead. A casualty of wartime on the campus, the men's tournament is now regaining importance in the debate year. A rotating trophy is given to the winning house, and several men's houses indicated they would try for possession of the award this spring.

Music

Alvah A. Beecher, Department Head

Maintaining its high standards of musicianship and scholastic achievement, Idaho's music department entered the prevailing spirit of reconversion with enthusiasm and progress during the past year. Obstacles of shortage of instructors, a band without uniforms, crowded building conditions and limited male personnel added to the difficulties of the post-war music department.

Performing half-time at football and basketball games, leading the pep rallies and presenting two formal concerts, the University concert band under the ambitious and skilled leadership of Edmund J. Marty provided the entire campus with spirited music on every occasion. Probably no other organized music group surmounted as many ever-present problems as did the band. Always ready with music to fit the varied needs of the campus, the concert band and the tireless efforts of its members and director deserve a top rung on the ladder of music at Idaho.

Highlighting its season of fine musical performances for the general public and students, the University symphony orchestra under the direction of Robert N. Sedore, second semester conductor, presented at the spring concert of the group a performance of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" with Raymond E. Lawrenson as plano soloist.

Organized during the war to replace Vandaleers, the all-girl singing orchestra achieved the heights of publicity during their concert tours of military installations, and during the past year, the state of Idaho. Faculty members, music students, and local groups did much to finance, encourage and promote this successful musical organization.

Presenting two concerts, the University Singers, under the direction of Ruth A. Erickson, developed interest of those not actively identified with the organized group of singers, selected by try-outs only. Second semester, the group was enlarged to a mixed group.

All Girl Singing Orchestra

Appearing in informal and formal costumes, this popular musical organization presented its show, "Musical Varieties," to the state and campus during the winter and spring tours of the group. Original compositions and arrangements by faculty members added to the distinction of their performances.

Alvah A. Beecher, music department head, is organizer and director of the group.

University Singers

University Singers, musical group not requiring tryouts, became an organization of mixed singers second semester with the return of men to the campus. Presenting concerts both semesters, this group attracted many students interested in singing as relaxation instead of intensified study.

An ensemble of singers organized to study and perform madrigals, chorales and other mixed vocal works became an active group under the instruction of Ruth Erickson. Practicing regularly, this ensemble made its initial performance at the Original Compositions program presented by students of theory.

Army Training Corps

Colonel Benjamin H. Hensley R.O.T.C. Commander

Idaho's ROTC unit moved into the reconversion stage with the end of world hostilities and preparations for resuming a pre-war schedule are now well under way.

Commanding officer and Professor of Military Science and Training is Col. Benjamin H. Hensley, now in his second year at Idaho. Col. Hensley has had a long and varied military career, including service in World War I and the Philippine insurrection campaign. Under the campaign for more emphasis on strong armed forces, Col. Hensley will have the highly important job of developing Army officer material on the Idaho campus.

Records of Vandal ROTC men in World War II give ample testimony to the success of pre-war Idaho military training and from Germany to Japan ROTC grads put into practical use the lessons learned during their four hours a week at the Armory.

With abandonment of the ASTRP unit on the Idaho campus, after a two-year stay, the military program will now be concentrated completely on development of men for the Reserve Officers' Corps. During war years attention was divided between ASTRP students and the handful of ROTC hopefuls.

Army Instructors

First Lt. Morris S. Herzog, now the only other commissioned officer in the Idaho unit, fills the job of Assistant PMS & T as well as holding down the job of Supply Officer. Lt. Herzog is a graduate of the Officer's Candidate School in Army Administration and, like Col. Hensley, is spending his second year here.

First Lt. Morris S. Herzog

Enrollment in military courses took a decided upswing this year with 110 students participating, compared to a low of 35 in 1945, and this increase has kept Col. Hensley and Lt. Herzog well occupied. Once again no advanced course was given but post-war plans call for reopening of classes for third and fourth year military students next year.

Also inactive once again were Pershing Rifles and Scabbard and Blade, military honoraries, but resumption of these is expected next year.

Non-commissioned officers assisting Col. Hensley and Lt. Herzog in operations are Technical Sergeant Jefferson D. Morgan and Staff Sergeant Charles V. Kramer.

Returning vets will remember Sgt. Morgan from the old days when he tutored pre-war Idaho military students. He is instructor for the freshman class, Supply Sergeant, and in his spare time serves as coach of the Vandal rifle team.

Sgt. Kramer instructs sophomore class students in military fundamentals and acts as clerk for the ROTC unit.

T/Sgt. Jefferson D. Morgan S/Sgt. Charles V. Kramer

Fall and Spring Mean Outdoor Inspections

Vandal ROTC activities this year were all military and nothing else, as the transitional stage between war and post-war programs was still incomplete. The annual military ball did not reappear; military honoraries were still temporarily extinct; and future plans were, as yet, indefinite. With the "duration plus six" not ended, and conscription still in effect, Idaho military heads could not count with any certainty on expansion next year or any year.

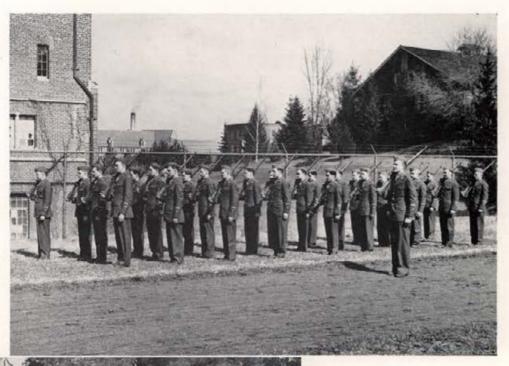

Company Commander Bob O'Connor, acting First Sergeant Art Humphrey, and entire ROTC unit grab themselves some "parade rest" during inspection.

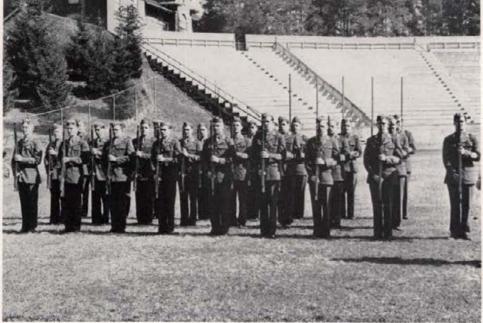

When ya going to clean that gun, Private? It's Samuel Vance and his First Platoon sweating out "inspection arms."

Drill and More Drill for Cadets

Course for Idaho military men varies from classroom activities to practical outdoor drill. Training is compulsory for first and second year students unless they have had previous military service. After ROTC work, students are well versed in knowledge of army fundamentals. They learn to read maps, take azimuths, and understand the organization of the army. Close order drill is stressed, and trainees familiarize themselves with the manual of arms, the assembling and disassembling of army weapons.

Practical Training for Future Brass

ROTC men on the Vandal campus can be distinguished by the blue lapels, and the sleeves of their olive drab uniforms. Class schedule for these potential officers calls for four hours of military a week. Three of these are devoted to classroom activity and drill by squads and platoons. Fourth hour finds the entire unit working together. Climax of the year comes with the annual spring inspection when the whole group is reviewed by a visiting officer.

ROTC Sophomores Bob O'Connor, Art Humphrey, and Clay Riches look interested as S/Sgt, Charles V. Kramer gives out with the nomenclature of the machine gun.

Vandal Rifle Team Is Always Good

Pride and joy of the army unit here is the rifle team, which has consistently ranked among the best in the country. Practice on the armory gun range under competent coaches has made Idaho marksmen near perfect. Tangible evidence of this can be found in both past and present records of team's meets. Vandal riflemen compete with colleges all over the country by means of telegraphic matches, and annually emerge near the top with the nation's best.

Navy Training Corps

Captain S. H. Ambruster N.R.O.T.C. Commander

Activation of a Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps Unit at Idaho established more firmly the position the university now holds in national peacetime military plans. One of fifty-two similar units now in operation in the United States, the NROTC program here was authorized by Congress early in 1945 and began operations 15 August 1945.

Captain S. H. Ambruster, a Regular Navy man of eighteen years service, serves as Commanding Officer of the Willis Sweet gobs, and as Professor of Military Science. Graduating from Annapolis in 1928, Capt. Ambruster has held numerous positions of responsibility in the Navy, including several years in the submarine service. Before assuming command here, he was Chief of Staff, Naval Office at Midway.

Curriculum for naval students on the Vandal campus is quite similar to that of civilians, although trainees are limited to majoring in subjects which the Navy considers likely to be helpful in future service. Majority of these land-bound middles are enrolled in the engineering courses. The Navy has set a minimum of seventeen credit hours per semester for trainees although many exceed that standard. Most trainees have already seen their share of sea duty and there is no scarcity of campaign ribbons and battle stars.

Navy Instructors

Chief assistant to Captain Ambruster was Commander H. P. Knowles until his discharge in the spring of this year. Officially, Commander Knowles held the titles of Executive Officer and Associate Professor of Naval Science. He graduated from Annapolis in 1921 but resigned his commission in 1924 after three years Navy service to enter civilian life. In 1942 he re-entered the service and for three years was attached to the NROTC unit at Holy Cross College. Experience gained there made Commander Knowles well qualified for his job when he was assigned to help establish the training program at Idaho.

Succeeding Comdr. Knowles as Executive Officer 30 March 1946 was Lieutenant Commander Walter Welti. After World War I service, he studied at Cornell University, graduating in 1924. He taught at Utah State College until 1943, and, in the meantime, picked up an M.A. from Cornell.

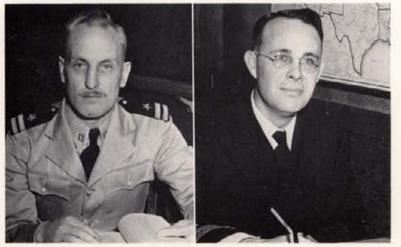

His first Navy assignment was as Commanding Officer of the Butte School of Mines V-12 unit. In the fall of 1945 he was transferred to the Vandal campus as Associate Professor of Naval Science.

Third Associate Professor at Idaho was Lt. Comdr. L. Gilman. Graduating in June 1941 from Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut with a B.S. in psychology and history, Lt. Comdr. Gilman entered the service shortly afterwards.

Lt. Comdr. Walter Welti Lt. Comdr. L. Gilman

More Navy Rank

Lt. D. V. Smyth Lt. H. T. Torrance

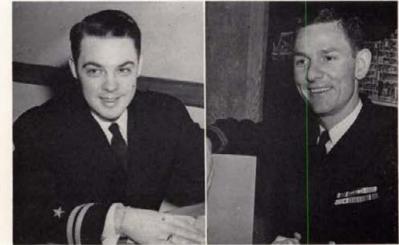

In keeping with the nature of training offered to navy men in NROTC, all officers assigned to the Idaho organization are college graduates and most have had teaching experience prior to entering the service.

Lt. D. V. Smyth, a veteran of ten years' coaching experience, is one of four Assistant Professors of Naval Science and handles athletics for the sailors. Smyth, a graduate of Western Michigan, coached high school football, baseball, and basketball before serving in the Armed Guard in both Atlantic and Pacific theatres.

Experience acquired in Texas schools stood Lt. H. T. Torrance in good stead during Navy service. Lt. Torrance was superintendent of schools at Waco, Texas, before donning Navy blue at the V-12 unit at the University of Texas.

An accomplished pianist, Lt. J. L. Willhide still finds time to pour knowledge into the ears of swabi students. He taught music for several years at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and presented a piano recital in the Vandal auditorium early this year.

Seamanship and gunnery instructor for ambitious naval veterans was Lt. C. S. Nelson. Lt. Nelson joined the Navy 7 December 1942 with a B.A. degree from the University of North Carolina in his pocket.

Liaison work between Navy high command and trainees falls upon the shoulders of student officers pictured above. Their jobs provide practical "on the job" training for potential future positions.

Program for naval students calls for more than just college courses. In addition to university curriculum, trainees are given four hours of physical training a week, all conducted by Naval instructors. The military side of life is not neglected as the Navy schedule calls for three hours of Naval Science and two hours of military drill per week. Damage control, communications, seamanship, and navigation all come under Naval Science training.

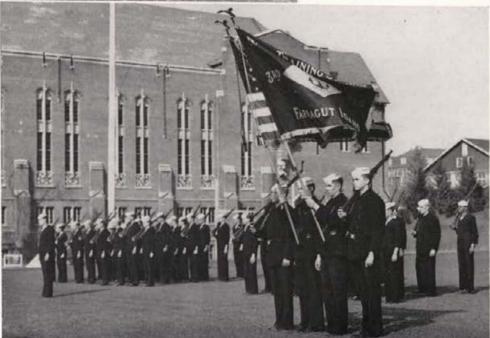

Sailor participation in extra-curricular activities was authorized and the Navy is well represented in athletics, dramatics, religious organizations, and the ASUI.

The Navy Parades In Front of the S.S. Sweet

Recruits who are entranced by "join the Navy and see the world" soon find out that life as a seaman isn't always just a pleasure cruise. Like all others, Idaho gobs learn that the Navy believes in military drill as essential training for sailors. The NROTC trainee finds time to squeeze in two hours of drill each week. This period, consisting of rifle and marching maneuvers, is taken under supervision of regular naval instructors in the Armory or on the drill field.

"Old Glory" and the sailors parade in back of the gym.

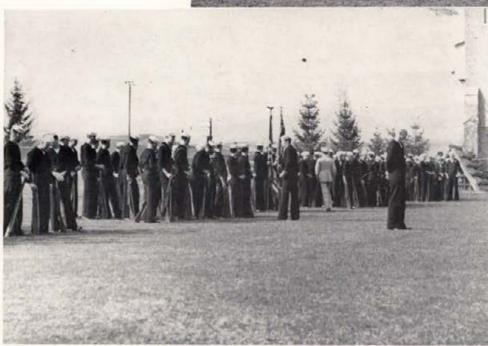

Farragut's colors are on display but it's Idaho NROTC boys who provide the accompanying escort.

Navy Life Calls for Versatile Training

Sailors who can't swim are out of place in the Vandal Navy unit. Included in a weekly five-hour course of physical training is one hour of swimming, which insures the swabis something to back up a "sink or swim" outlook. Policy of American armed forces provides for heavy emphasis on physical development. In line with this, Idaho Navy men get a varied athletic education which covers calisthenics, commando basketball, and boxing. Presence of Navy men on Vandal varsity teams is ample evidence of their abilities.

Some Admiral's heart would be warmed if he could see these gobs in action on the solid ground of MacLean field.

From here it looks as though someone's getting chewed out as the Navy "stacks arms."

Inside and Outside With The Navy

Naval social life was not neglected despite the sometimes confining military regulations. In December the Bucket took on the streamlined aspects of a modern vessel when NROTC men sponsored their first dance of the year. At Gem press time, the sailors were formulating plans for a big spring formal. Most campus events found the gobs much in evidence. Liberty was granted on Wednesday and Friday evenings and from noon Saturday until 7:45 p.m. on Sunday. On weekdays, campus liberty was permitted until 7:45 p.m.

What good all this drill is going to do for the swabis when they plant their feet aboard ship is a question we can't answer.

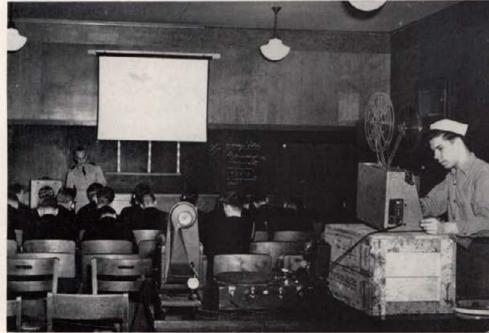

NROTC Headquarters nestles in back of Willis Sweet hall, houses offices and classrooms.

NROTC Men Are Students ... Combat Men

Instruction for trainees was in capable hands. All officers tutoring Naval students were college graduates; were well trained for their respective jobs. Majority of them had seen sea duty; the ones who hadn't had gained valuable experience in other NROTC units. In a Navy renowned for hidebound traditions, modern educational methods crept in, provided progressive instruction. Movies aided both Naval teachers and trainees.

Damage control is the subject; Lt. D. V. Smyth is the instructor.

Clubs and Honoraries

Relics of the Spanish American War, the two cannons on the Ad Building hill have become familiar landmarks on the Idaho campus. Closely associated with these formidable weapons is the Old Guard, a group of veterans of that war. For many years they held a prominent and respected place among the student body and every year they would parade in full uniform.

The cannons have only been fired once since they were presented to the University and that was done illegally by a group of fun-loving fraternity men. They, the cannons of course, had to be practically rebuilt but since then they have been faithfully keeping guard on the old hill.

Mortar Board, a senior women's honorary, was founded nationally in 1916, and seven years later was established on the Idaho campus. The women chosen for the honorary are selected from a campus poll on the basis of outstanding scholarship, activities, and leadership.

Each year Mortar Board presents a scholarship award to the woman having the highest cumulative scholastic average during her freshman and sophomore years. During home-coming week-end, the members sold mums and sponsored the traditional alumni breakfast, and at Christmas time sold holly. In the spring, Mortar Board sponsors the traditional Spinster Skip and the Mayfete. Narthex Table honors outstanding junior women in the spring.

"Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" are outstanding junior and senior students, chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potential future usefulness to business and society. The students chosen have no offices or functions on the campus.

Seventeen seniors and two juniors have been selected from the University of Idaho for the 1945-1946 edition of "Who's Who," a published reference volume throughout the United States.

Nominations are made by a faculty committee of judges who select from one to twenty students, and from these the membership is chosen.

Cardinal Key is a national honorary for junior and senior women who are chosen the last of their sophomore year on the basis of outstanding scholarship, activities, personality, and leadership. They wear uniforms of blue with their traditional cardinal and gold emblem.

The main function of the organization is sponsoring exchange dinners for the purpose of getting the women students of the various living groups of the campus acquainted. This year they also sponsored a book drive. The books received as a result of this drive were sent to the Philippian Women's University Library.

Founded in 1932 on the Idaho Campus, the Spurs generally promote activity on the campus. Two sophomores from every women's living group who have participated in at least three activities are tapped for membership in the spring of the year.

This year the Spurs carried on all the activities for which the honorary is known, such as the alumnae breakfast, founder's day banquet, nickel hop and the winding of the Maypole at the Mayfete, at which time they presented their newly-tapped members.

Reviving a pre-war tradition, the group presented the "Spur Waddle" at the last WSC-Idaho basketball game March 2.

Aim of Alpha Lambda Delta, national women's scholastic honorary, is to promote scholarship. After the nine weeks, members of Alpha Lambda Delta sponsored a tea for all freshman women with a 3 point grade average or above to acquaint them with the organization. Freshman women who attained a 3.5 and participated in two activities were initiated in the spring. Those who received a cumulative average of 3.5 for their first two semesters are also eligible for membership. Each year this group gives an award to its senior member who has maintained the highest scholastic average for seven semesters of college work. A grade-point average of 3.0 in the school of medicine is the requirement for admittance into this honorary for pre-med students. The Idaho Alpha chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta holds a luncheon meeting at the Blue Bucket the second Tuesday of each month to plan programs and discuss latest medical achievements appearing in "Scalpel," the national medical journal. Newly initiated this year is a series of motion pictures dealing with the field of medicine which the members of the honorary are showing to pre-med students. Alpha Epsilon Delta is primarily an honorary and does not sponsor campus activities. Dr. W. H. Cone serves as advisor for the honorary group.

The Associated Engineers is an organization composed of all engineering students on the campus. Its purpose is to promote student activities and to act as liaison organization between the students and the faculty for the good of the College of Engineering. The Associated Engineers is governed by the Engineers' council, which consists of two representatives elected from each branch of the college of engineering. The president and the secretary are chosen from this council.

The organization sponsors the publication of the Idaho Engineer and such activities as an annual smoker, movies, and picnics. The Engineering ball, held this year on January 19, featured the timely theme "Atomic Energy."

The Attic club is an organization composed of the students registered in art. The object of the group is both social and professional; to give the students an opportunity to become better acquainted, and to gain greater appreciation of art. The remodeled Art building provides attractive space for activities. The Attic club's project for the present is to provide extra-budget furnishings for the building. For this purpose, a benefit bridge party is a new annual event and, also, the selling of Christmas cards designed and made by the art students. Other functions held during the year are an exchange dinner with the Washington State College Art Department and social fun parties for the Attic club members.

One of the oldest organizations on the campus, Bench and Bar was founded in 1912. Members include all those students registered in the college of law. The creation and development of an ethical and professional attitude which will be of value in their chosen field is the main purpose of the group. Activities during the year are high-lighted by a mock trial. At regular intervals the group holds banguets, at which time outstanding speakers are featured. Faculty advisors for the group are William J. Brockelbank, Blakely M. Murphy, and Weldon Schimke:

The Curtain club is Idaho's own drama honorary. Not only for actors and actresses, this group is for all those interested in drama in all phases - everyone from rope-pullers to leading ladies. On the basis of interest, effort and ability, the new pledges are tapped each year following the second ASUI production.

Besides their regular activities, the Curtaineers stimulate campus-wide interest in "art for art's sake" through reviews and discussion of plays, entertainment of visiting artists, and occasional treks to Spokane to take in current plays there. Each year the group sponsors one all-school play. The group is co-sponsored by Miss Collette and Miss Featherstone.

As sports swing into the spotlight, many Idaho men qualify to don the traditional crimson sweaters of the "I" club. By participating in one major sport, thus winning the recommendation of their coaches, and with final approval from the ASUI executive board, these sports' enthusiasts are entitled to the special honors and privileges assured by membership in this active organization.

Although functions of the "I" club during war years were considerably restricted, their traditions are not forgotten. The annual dance sponsored by the club holds a prominent place in campus social life. Students will always remember the "I" club section at major sport events cheering the Vandals to victory.

The Interchurch council, composed of two representatives from each protestant church group, seeks to promote good fellowship and friendship on the Idaho campus through a variety of functions sponsored by this active organization. The annual all-church mixer was met with enthusiasm, as were the other religious projects carried out during the year. The council also planned the sunrise services held in commemoration of Easter Sunday.

On behalf of the World Student Service fund, Mr. E. P. Wellenstein spoke to the council and other interested persons. The drive to support the WSSF was again conducted by the Interchurch council members and netted large proceeds for this worthy cause.

Kappa Phi is an organization for college women with Methodist preference. This national Methodist girls' club was founded in 1916 at Kansas University, Lawrence, Kansas.

Tau chapter is one of the most active church organizations on the campus. The work done by the group in charity is outstanding. The impressive candlelight service given each year during the Christmas season has become an annual holiday affair. A pledge term is served by each girl before initiation.

Mrs. Willard Stanton is sponsor for the group.

Lambda Delta Sigma was founded on this campus in 1937, having its start in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1934. This organization provides social functions and fosters fellowship among those who attend the Latter Day Saints church regularly. These social functions consist of hayrides, roller skating, monthly meetings, semi-formals, and a spring picnic. Although not scheduled the past few years, the annual semi-formal has again been put on the calendar due to an increase in membership. To become a member the student participates in a pledge period lasting three weeks.

Several representatives were sent to the annual convention held at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

The Zeta chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron has for twenty years existed on the Idaho campus. Phi U members promote and advance a professional attitude and interest in home economics. They choose an outstanding frosh girl enrolled in home economics and award her the Phi Upsilon Omicron plaque.

Their activities include bi-monthly meetings, tutoring classes in chemistry for freshmen, and a fireside for new students each fall. This spring a tea was held for alumnae and faculty members.

The membership of the honorary is composed of junior and senior girls who are in the upper one-fourth of the grade strata.

Sigma Zeta chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, officially titled national professional music fraternity, is an outstanding honorary on the campus and sponsors many activities throughout the year. A few of their many activities are ushering at recitals and concerts, giving receptions for visiting artists, co-sponsoring of the Mother's Day song fest, and giving receptions for all music students. Many of the members are participants in the all-girl singing orchestra.

Requirements for membership, besides being a music major or minor, are a grade average of a 3.0 in music studies and 2.5 in academic subjects. Mrs. Dorothy Jacoby is advisor for the group.

Theta Sigma, local journalism honorary for women, is for journalism majors who do outstanding work in Gem or Argonaut positions or in the school of journalism. Membership this year is small, totaling seven active members. New initiates are honored at a banquet every spring.

This year the old custom of picking the sophomore girl most outstanding in her freshman year of Argonaut and Gem work was revived. Frances Rhea was chosen. Theta Sigma serves as the copy staff for the ASUI handbook. If more activities can be acquired in future years, Theta Sigma hopes to become a national honorary. Pins are a slug of type with the member's name imprinted.

Members of Westminster Guild, Presbyterian group for college young women, had as their theme for this school year "Toward Tomorrow." Holding regular meetings, including monthly dinner meetings, the group has had faculty members as guest speakers on current topics of interest to college people of today. A highlight of the year was the meeting at which Mrs. Wilson Compton of Pullman spoke to the group. Key girls from each living group have been the informants as to meetings and business of the group. Each spring the officers for the coming year are installed at a picnic held at the city park. Sponsor for the group this year was Mrs. J. D. Furnas.

Go! Vandals, Go!

Thrills and chills, the clatter and hammer, the staccato beat of a thousand feet, the voices of the crowd blended as one, cheering the boys till the final gun. The scene does not change. The floor is still crowded, yet, unlike the previous description of 'most any University basketball tussle, the sensuous aroma of pulse-quickening perfume permeates the atmosphere, and Memorial Gymnasium has been converted from a sporting arena to a magnificent ballroom. But, despite its varied uses, this structure remains the home of the Idaho Vandals, a home where champions are born, where contests are won or lost for the reference of generations to come.

Dedication

Walter Thomas

Ronald White

To Walter Thomas, Idaho Falls, and Ronald White, Lewiston, both of whom were killed December 22, 1945 while traveling with the Idaho basketball team, this sports section is respectfully dedicated in memoriam.

Triumvirate Heads Idaho Athletics

J. A. "Babe" Brown

J. A. "Babe" Brown, University athletic director, finished the war years with an enviable record as well as a creditable job of running the Vandal athletic department. High light of "Babe's" work here came when he coached the Idaho cagers to their first northern division crown in 23 years, a feat which earned him the title "Coach of the Year" from the Seattle Cougar club. Next season will see Brown in the role of head football coach, giving him a chance to concentrate on his favorite sport.

Coach Guy Wicks returned late in the basketball season from a three-year stint in the United States Navy. He took over diamond duties; next year will resume his basketball coaching.

Carrying on into his eleventh year with Vandal athletics, Mike Ryan, dean of Northwest's track mentors, coached cross country, track, and acted as trainer for all Idaho athletic teams.

The sports year of 1945 saw the revival of intercollegiate sports on a pre-war scale. Football came back, and although the Vandals had an unsuccessful season, laid the groundwork for future Vandal elevens. Coaching duties fell almost completely on "Babe" Brown at first, but with the return of Guy Wicks and "Red" Jacoby from the service plus the addition of Ben Dobbs to the coaching ranks, the load was lightened.

Swimming, first of minor sports to return, saw Bill Ramsey coach the Vandal mermen to a successful season. Mike Ryan coached a second place cross country team, kept training room shipshape, took care of the pains and ills of the grid and cage squads, and in the spring turned out a track team.

Intramurals carried on a seven-sport program under the supervision of "Red" Jacoby, who fashioned a smooth-running schedule for group houses and halls to follow.

Doing the dirty work for Idaho athletic teams were the managers, unsung but invaluable to coaches. Playing nursemaid to players is a job where you earn what little credit you get.

Idaho's yell squad cheers for winning Vandals . . . Yell Queen Barbara Morris sparks the crowd

When Idaho's pep squad got together for their first practice after their appointment by the student activities board, they looked pretty good as a team. But, not satisfied with looking pretty good, they practiced and practiced, and practiced until the six sparky members were generally conceded to make up one of the top pep teams in the northwest. Unique formations, like the one below, brought Idaho and its yell team fame on the California trip.

Norma Grimmett and Art Humphrey, Barbara Morris and Dean Mosher, Ceva Jean Bates and Keith Bing perform one of the most intricate yells

Yell Team Invites Our Vocalization

Idaho's school spirit, usually conspicuous by its absence, got a stiff shot in the arm this year when the new yell squad took over. Headed up by Queen Barbara Morris and Duke Dean Mosher, they bullied, wheedled, and if necessary, strong-armed Vandal supporters into using their lungs for purposes other than nicotine catching. Discarding in one fell swoop former styles of yelling, they worked out a type of yelling unique in the annals of Idaho history.

Diminutive Barbie, who is often troubled by people who mistake her for a seventh-grader, lives across town in anticipation of the day when her ship comes in, carrying her hubby back from Germany. A senior, Barbie was yell gueen back before the war, in the days when the triple D house was home.

Norma Grimmett, a Pi Phi neophyte, hails from Idaho Falls where she put in three years as high school yell leader. Ceva Jean Bates got her practice in Caldwell before coming to Idaho and settling in Hays hall.

"And don't forget the Fiji boys" who make up the rest of the spirited section. Dean Mosher and Keith Bing are from Lewiston, and Art Humphrey calls Moscow home, but all three are of the "600 University" crowd. Blessed with boundless energy, the squad in action resembles nothing so much as a set of well-trained human dynamos.

Besides turning out in all weather for football and basketball, the cheer leaders found plenty of pep rallies and parades to occupy their time. Usually a thankless job, they were rewarded for their faithfulness by being sent to California with the team. There they made themselves famous for their spirit, and the girls became dubbed "The Three Little Girls from Idaho."

Football re-entered the Idaho athletic scene with the Vandals having tough sledding against the bigger Northern Division schools. One victory, scored over a newly-formed Montana eleven, kept the win column from being a total blank. Early season turnouts were small in both numbers and stature, and it wasn't until the arrival of the Naval ROTC unit that a sizable squad was developed.

Agile Merrill Barnes, 200-pound guard, captained the Vandal gridders through the 1945 season. Jim Hatch and Dick Johnson, frosh halfbacks, did much of the pigskin packing and tossed the aerials for the silver and gold squad.

Morris Klein, who drew his moleskins at nearly midpoint in the season, received an invitation to play as a guard in the annual Shrine East-West classic. The Idaho star saved the game for the West when he tackled an eastern ball packer on the West's three-yard line as he was about to score, a tally which would have tied the ball game.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHC

Over nine thousand ardent Vandal fans saw their first Idaho football since the sport was abandoned for the war period, but the opener was a disheartening affair as Washington State maintained their ageless jinx over the Vandals with a 43-12 triumph. After fighting their way to a 6-6 halftime deadlock, the Idaho team fell to pieces in the second half and the Cougars ran wild for a five touchdown victory.

Second game between the two teams was tighter but once again the tricky "T" formation was the downfall of the Vandal machine as they dropped a 21-0 decision to the traditional rivals at Pullman. Both teams showed much improvement over their previous meeting. The Cougars scored twice in the first half for a 14-0 lead; second half one more WSC pass paid off as the winners left the field on the long end of a 21-0 count.

For Idaho fans, who can't remember seeing the Vandals beat Washington State, it meant another year's wait for a possible triumph. The Silver and Gold gridders haven't beaten the Cougars since 1925.

An unidentified Idaho man and a haplees Couger gridder gang up to stop the WSC ball carrier as Jim Hatch (20) awaits developments in season's opener.

Farragut Sailors Stop Vandals

A star-studded band of Farragut Bluejackets handed the Vandals their third loss in a row as they stopped "Babe" Brown's team by an 18-7 count. The sailors broke a scoreless tie in the second quarter, but the Vandals came back to regain the lead when Dick Johnson went 16 yards on a reverse for a touchdown with big Frank Viro converting.

Two touchdowns in the final half, one in the last minute of play, iced the game for the Navy squad. An Idaho fumble pinched off the best Vandal offensive threat in the last half.

Sub-zero weather saw the Vandals invade the Farragut stronghold, but the Bluejackets fared better in the cold weather as they eked out a 14-6 win. Farragut's Kaufman proved to be the Idaho nemesis with his deadly passing.

Only Vandal touchdown came midway in the final period when Jim Hatch, triple threat Idaho halfback, bowled over four would-be tacklers to score standing up from the 13-yard line.

Oregon, paced by halfback Jake Leicht, overwhelmed the Vandals in their second game of the season by a 33-7 count at Eugene. The Webfeet were never headed as they scored in every period. Lone Idaho tally came in the final period.

Leicht's brilliant passing accounted for most of the Duck's scores. The veteran halfback ace tossed a 25-yard aerial for the first counter, then personally marked up the next one, boring over from the 7-yard line. Just before the end of the half Leicht connected on another pass for a touchdown, to give the Oregon team a 19-0 lead.

Idaho's only touchdown came in the final period when an Oregon fumble was scooped up by Vandal end Lefty Auer. From the nine-yard line, a pass from Warren Shepherd to Jim Brown, Idaho wingman, brought the Vandal score. Frank Viro converted the extra point.

Vandal Victory Highlights Homecoming

The "little brown stein" remained in Idaho's possession as the Vandal gridders celebrated homecoming with a lop-sided 46-0 victory over Montana. The score was the largest ever rung up by either school in competition dating back 40 years. The "stein," token of victory between the two schools for the past eight years, was already temporarily in Vandal hands after a 1943 win.

The contest was only two minutes old when Jim Hatch, Idaho offensive ace, skirted left end for the first tally of the day. The Vandals added one more counter in the first period, scored one touchdown each in the second and third guarters, then polished off the game with two more in the final period.

Montana threatened only once, recovering a fumble on the Idaho 21-yard line. The Grizzlies could not dent the Idaho line from there.

Searching for their second victory of the season, the Vandals came out second best as Oregon State took to the air for a 34-0 triumph. After a scoreless first period, the Beaver offense started to roll. They counted twice in the second quarter, twice in the third, and once in the fourth. The game was in the final period before Idaho got the ball into OSC territory.

With three minutes to go the Vandals staged a final drive. Passes by Warren Shepherd and Hatch began to connect and Idaho had the ball on the Beaver 8-yard line, but the game ended before they could score. Shepherd was a standout throughout the game for Idaho.

OSC's victory made it 14 wins out of 19 games in the series since it started in 1919.

Huskies Edge Idaho 12-0

The Vandals ended a dismal season in a 12-0 loss to Washington at Seattle, although the Idaho team turned in their best effort of the season. The heavily favored Husky eleven found the going tough against the Vandal squad and twice stopped the Idaho team within the 15-yard line.

Husky backfield ace Gordon Hunger opened the scoring on the fifth play of the game, then closed the scoring in the final period with another tally. Both teams played on even terms during most of the game, with Washington edging the Vandals in first downs 12 to 10.

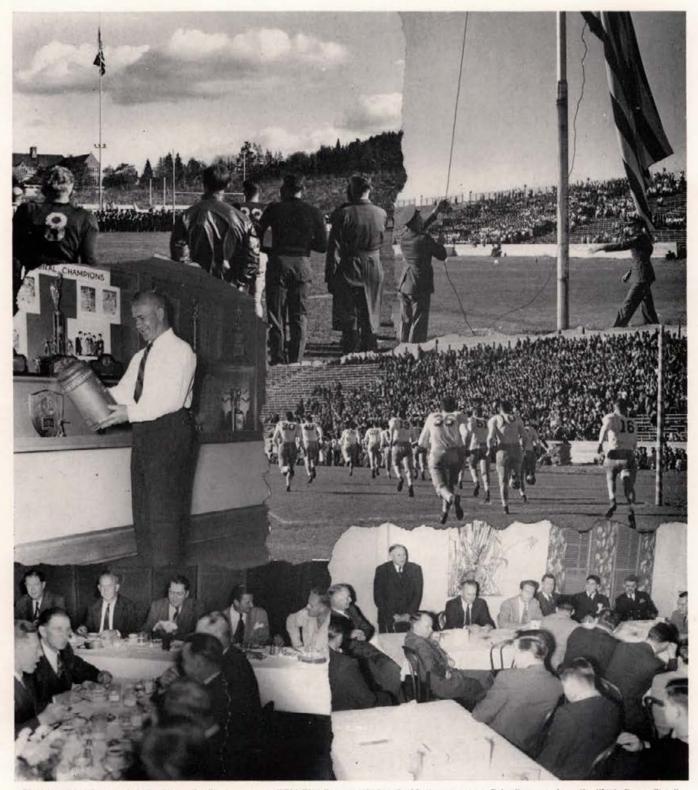

Despite a wet soggy ball, Idaho's passing attack was effective. Twice the silver and gold gridders marched to the Husky 14-yard line only to lose the ball on downs. Backs Jim Hatch, Clay Ringgenberg, Phil Litzenberger and tackles Frank Viro and Morris Klein led the Vandal club.

Spring of 1945 found Idaho still fielding a baseball team despite wartime difficulties. Under Coach Ernie Wohletz, the Vandals got off to a promising start with seven victories in their first ten games. However, a late season collapse blasted Vandal victory hopes and the diamondmen wound up the year with a record of nine wins and ten defeats.

Top man on the Vandal hurling staff was big John Dailey, frosh right hander, who twirled three wins against no defeats. Walt Smith, Sumner Johnson, and Bill Carbaugh carried the rest of the hurling load. Johnson was the winning pitcher in three starts and dropped one contest. Leading hitter on the Idaho squad was Carbaugh, who played top-notch ball in center field when he wasn't pitching. Carb finished the season with a fat .367 batting average and included three home runs among his 22 blows. Other heavy hitters on the team were Jeff Overholser, right field, and Len Pyne, veteran shortstop.

Military teams provided plenty of opposition for the Idaho nine. McCaw General Hospital, Fort George Wright, and Mountain Home Army Air Base all were listed on the Vandal schedule. Idaho athletic history was made in the game with Mountain Home as Coach Wohletz took his men to the southern Idaho installation by plane, the first air trip for a Vandal team. Transportation was furnished by Mountain Home officials.

Baseball Dominates Spring Sports

Non-conference diamond games found the Vandals eking out a slight edge with seven victories and five defeats. Tartar of the Idaho foes was Fort George Wright. With a team built around numerous pro and semi-pro players, the soldiers stopped the Vandals twice in two games. Mountain Home Army Air Base squeezed out a 3-1 triumph in the lone contest between the two teams.

It was two losses in a row when Washington's Huskies flattened the Wohletz men 9-3 in the first game of a double header. However, the Vandals salvaged the nightcap with a 6-1 triumph.

Washington State carried away all diamond honors in the traditional rivalry by slapping the Idaho batsmen twice in the final games of the series 4-2 and 6-0. In the closing games of the season the Vandals split a twin bill with Washington at Moscow as John Dailey stifled the Huskies 5-1. Second game saw Washington come out on top 7-4.

Individual performances carried off honors for the Vandal track team in 1945 as the squad all-around strength was not sufficient to compete with service subsidized aggregations at other northwest schools. Nevertheless, Mike Ryan, long time veteran of Idaho coaching ranks, got the most out of his small group of cinder candidates.

Idaho tracksters opened their season by grabbing a second place in the annual Inland Empire Relay meet at Pullman, trailing only WSC. Seven first places went to the silver and gold, including a clean sweep of the 35-pound hammer throw.

In two dual meets with Whitman's V-12 squad, the Vandals broke even, winning the first 71-42 and losing the second 58 2/3-72 1/3. John Taylor, frosh hurdle star, and distance ace Jack Anderson led the Idaho team in both meets, while Bill Abbott, "Zip" Einhouse, Bob Smith, and Ben Martin piled up points in weight events.

After dropping an early season dual meet to WSC, the Vandals came back to even the score with a seven-point triumph in a MacLean field meet. Taylor, Anderson, and Abbott were leading point-getters for the Ryan men.

Vandal thinclads carried off most of the honors in the Army-Collegiate track meet held at MacLean field. No team scores were kept but Don Johnson, former Idaho track great, now competing for Walla Walla, and Taylor split individual laurels.

Climax of the season, the northwest championship meet at Pullman, found the Vandals lagging behind Washington, Whitman, and WSC, with 271/2 points. Taylor was high point man for the meet with 12 points while Jack Anderson took first in the two-mile run.

Vandals Sport Individual Stars

Outstanding individuals on the Idaho track team throughout the season were versatile John Taylor and long-legged Jack Anderson, distance star. Taylor climaxed his spectacular performances in the regular season by winning the northwest high hurdle title in 15.2, second fastest time in Vandal cinder history since Bill Squance set the Idaho record of 14.7 in 1937. Anderson was a consistent winner during the season in any event from the half to the two-mile run.

Both were selected to represent Idaho in the central collegiate meet at Great Lakes and the NCAA meet at Milwaukee. Taylor carried off high hurdles honors in the Great Lakes meet, then salvaged a fifth in the national championships. Anderson placed second in the two-mile run at Great Lakes, then slumped to a disappointing seventh in the NCAA event.

Ryan Record Revealing

Starting with an initial turnout of only 20 men, Coach Mike Ryan moulded a team which performed creditably all year long, came up with two of the West's top individual stars. It's an old story to Mike. For years he's been working with sparse material, handicapped in training by lack of a fieldhouse for use during inclement weather. The fact that Mike always fields a good team is ample evidence of the coaching genius of this doughty Irishman.

Fall of 1945 saw another Mike Ryan-coached Idaho cross country squad establish another successful record as the Vandal harriers captured their lone dual meet, the Inland Empire championships, and placed second in the Pacific Coast conference title meet. With only one letterman, Jack Anderson, returning from the 1944 team, Ryan built a winning team from a handful of track stars and some willing newcomers.

It was a Vandal show from start to finish as the Ryan men opened the season with a 16-43 victory over Washington State. Running over the WSC three-mile course, the Idaho thinclads captured the first four places with Anderson winning in 15.53. Following the veteran distance star were Sherman Saylor, Art Humphrey, and Al Denman with John Benscoter and Dean Mosher taking sixth and eighth places respectively. The triumph gave the Vandals a record of eight wins in ten meets with the Cougars.

Sparked by Anderson, the Idaho team rolled over Washington State and Cheney Normal in the annual Inland Empire cross country championships. Six red-shirted Vandal harriers finished before a runner from either of the other two schools broke the tape at the end of the course. Anderson got his second successive win of the season and was followed by Saylor, Humphrey, Denman, Mosher, and Benscoter.

Big meet of the season, the Pacific Coast championship meet, saw Idaho finish second behind a powerful squad from the University of British Columbia. However, individual honors went to Anderson as he finished first, running the four-mile Spokane course in 21:40. This victory gave the Vandal ace undisputed recognition as one of the top cross country men in the country. The long-striding Sandpoint senior also holds the Pacific Coast fwo-mile crown. Second Idaho runner to finish was Humphrey who came in sixth, while Saylor and Mosher placed eighth and ninth respectively.

Idaho's Most Successful Sport

Although vastly under-publicized, Idaho's record in cross country for the past decade places this school among the top teams in the country. Absence of Vandal individual stars in this sport at national meets is regrettable but tight purse strings relax very little when the question of money for cross country teams comes up. Consequently, Mike Ryan has to content himself every year with a Pacific Coast title. In the past eleven years, Idaho has taken the crown six times, placed second four times, and finished out of the money only once.

Vandal swimmers, after a dismal start with few aspirants turning out, came back brilliantly to capture two of three dual meets and came up with the outstanding individual in the northern section, Wally Schultz.

Lack of eligible students forced the Idaho mermen to forfeit their first match to WSC, but Coach Bill Ramsey scraped up a squad the next week which set the Cougars back by a 40-34 count.

Competition with the two Oregon schools ended up in an even split as the Vandals stopped OSC 51-23, then lost to Oregon 53-22. In the northern division championships, the Idaho squad finished fourth.

Schultz and Joe Large paced the Vandal team throughout the season. Schultz was undefeated while Large lost in only one meet.

Battle for intramural honors received added impetus during the second semester with the influx of hundreds of veterans resuming studies. As houses filled, interest increased and the spirited rivalry which characterized pre-war days reappeared.

Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, and Navy Team No. 4 were running neck and neck after completion of the swimming meet. Sigma Nu, with 900 accumulated points from the various intramural sports, gained the trophy for 1945-46.

Track and golf were in full swing and softball competition saw twenty teams enrolled in two leagues. First place honor for softball was awarded to Kappa Sigma.

Women Learn to Play in W.A.A.

One of the first activities which eager, befuddled freshmen women encounter in the fall is the picnic sponsored by the Women's Athletic association. Tired of fighting Moscow weather, the executive board moved the picnic to the upstairs of the Bucket, where potato salad, folk dancing and group singing served to introduce the freshmen women to one of the most active campus organizations.

By participation in inter-class tournaments or taking part in leisure-time activities, women garner points toward membership. In the middle of the year an initiation is held for those who have added up 100 or more points.

To end their year with a flourish, the WAA members hold another picnic, this time with the awarding of the "I" pins, blankets, and sweaters as the main attraction. Throughout the year, the executive board, including a representative from each house, is the governing body.

Super-Active Sports Make "I" Club

Honor society of WAA is the women's "I" club, which only a few of the most active sportswomen on the campus achieve during their four college years. The 1250 WAA points necessary for membership serves to definitely limit the group. The number that go on to earn 2000 points for an "I" blanket is even more limited.

A physical education major, smiling Jo Gage heads the group, with another Pi Phi, Vera Anderson, as vice-president. Barbara Bloomsburg is in charge of the quill and scroll; Mrs. Minnie Connolly, in the capacity of advisor, helps steer the club's activities.

Among the club's projects are the selling of gym clothes left in the women's lockers at the end of the year, keeping the activities chart in the basement of the women's gym, and renting golf clubs, roller skates, and other sporting equipment. The treasury this year was tapped to purchase fencing equipment.

The major project of the year is always the over-night trip to famous Hell's Canyon. This long-awaited trek is planned to take place in the late spring.

Mrs. Irene Marks, Mrs. Minnie Connolly, Mrs. Katy Ras Boyer

The women's physical education department seemed changeable as the weather this year with one major switch following another. For the first semester, Mrs. Ruth Marty, the Delt's genial "housemother," was the only member of last year's faculty back. Under her leadership, Mrs. Irene Marks served as swimming instructor and Mrs. Minnie Connolly taught personal hygiene and folk-dancing.

At the semester, Mrs. Katy Rae Boyer, who left the department in 1943 to follow her husband to the army, returned to take over the leisure sports department. With Mrs. Marty's mid-year resignation, Mrs. Boyer became the acting head of the department and moved into the "inner sanctum" office. Now the three women hold sway at the little red gym, each instructing in what she likes best.

Although Mrs. Marks is the official advisor of WAA, all instructors work actively with the group. They most often find themselves chatting with president Jane Meyers, Hays' star botany major. Other officers who call the WAA office their second home are Jo Gage, vice president; Patty Kulzer, secretary; Helen Morfitt, treasurer; and LaRaine Stewart, recording secretary.

Females Frolic as Fall Follows Summer

Potential William Tells draw hows before a trusting audience . . . Champ Justice defends her title and honor in paddle duel

After spending an afternoon in study or work, many an Idaho co-ed hurries to the women's gym and finds rest and relaxation in sports competition with her fellow players. The most ambitious build up muscles and a vast supply of WAA points by participating in the four major sports of the year, but for the less physically inclined women a large variety of leisure-time activities and minor tournaments is available.

The balmy days of Indian summer saw the four class teams battling for soccer honors on the women's field across from Memorial gym. In spite of the early arrival of the Moscow monsoons which delayed practice and made indoor play necessary, the junior team emerged victorious under the captaincy of LaLene Cargill.

A duffer's swimming meet, open to rank amateurs only, was held early in the fall. Stroking her way to aquatic fame was Jan Garber with a total of 54 points. Her closest competitior, Pat Green, averaged 38 points in the various events.

On rainy days, the paddle pushers played off the table tennis tourney and finally eliminated all but the champion, Margaret Justice.

Stretching Straightens Out Mid-Winter Slump

Volleyball brings a variety of expressions to the players' faces . . . Modern dancers, clad in leotards, strike a graceful pose

When old man winter finally forced the women sports enthusiasts inside, they still found plenty of ways to earn the required 100 points for WAA membership. Margaret Justice again proved her prowess, this time taking honors in the badminton tournament.

Shuffleboard, which is the closest most Idaho co-eds will ever come to an ocean cruise, attracted many women this year. Pat Magee emerged victorious at the end of the battle.

Second major sport, volleyball, proved to be an interesting and unpredictable game. A dark horse team at the first of the season, the plucky freshmen, led by little Polly Bickett, walked away with the championship.

For the really active sportswomen, a basketball tournament was held at the first of the second semester. Excitement was high for the matches were close, but the juniors, with genial Twyla Shear as their captain, showed the result of longer practice by winning the prize.

Dancing and practice on the gymnastic equipment were popular means of letting off storedup winter steam.

Spring Brings Outdoor Sports and Stern Looks

The outfielders move back when Betty Newell steps up to bat ... The women's soccer field serves as the diamond in good weather

Balmy spring days, if and when they appeared, caused a rush for the outdoor sports equipment. The "I" club's few sets of golf clubs were in constant demand but the noble sports of tennis and horseshoes were not lacking in popularity. Tournaments for all three sports are held in the late spring.

Softball honors were captured last year by the freshmen, with Donna Poole serving as captain, while this year's tournament results have not as yet been recorded.

Another spring sport in high favor is archery. The national inter-collegiate telegraphic meet is the culmination of long weeks of intensive practice by the drawers of the bow. Among contenders for this year's title are Jane Meyer and Ora White.

Free throw champ Polly Bickett competed with some 20 contenders. A new sport for women on the Idaho campus this year is the rifle practice offered in the basement of the Memorial gym. Under the critical eyes of skilled ROTC sergeants, many a potential "Annie Oakley" is being born.

Vandal Sweethearts

Superb loveliness, colossal beauty, atomic comeliness, and breathtaking glamour prove insufficient superlatives necessary to visualize the feminine pulchritude on campus. A movie scout's paradise, the U. of I. boasts its women to be the type men look at twice, starting from the top the second time. So aptly immortalized in the words of "Sweet Sal from Idaho," each fair damsel appears as a facsimile of any cosmetics advertisement. Inquire of any male, and he will attest the truth of the statement that there is nothing at Idaho that does not meet the eye. But, better yet, let's take a few side glances of our own.

Living Groups

A place where young women may develop a well rounded personality and a place where a young man can learn how to handle a young woman with a well rounded personality; a home is man's castle, and woman's sanctuary. Whether sorority, fraternity, or independent, an unparalleled spirit prevails and competition inside and between these houses is high when being for scholastic and social prominence.

Whether a formal dance or a novelty party, exchanges between campus residences are frequent, doing their bit to make life at the University of Idaho just what it is.

The aim of this year's Independent council was to promote better social and political relationships between the independent living groups on campus and the downtown students. Their attention was centered on the social side of inter-hall exchanges, which encouraged friendly relations among all of their ranks. This group in collaboration with the Interfraternity and Pan-Hellenic councils sponsored the Christmas house decoration contests which were won by the Delta Gamma's for the women's houses and by the Delta Tau Delta's for the men's houses.

Ridenbaugh, Forney, and Hays halls were the scenes for the "Open House Mixer" held by this council at the beginning of the second semester. Preceding ASUI spring elections, the tennis courts were the site of the street dance, "Independents Take a Holiday."

Interfraternity council returned to pre-war status with the start of the second semester as war veterans crowded into previously closed fraternities. With two members from each house, the council seeks to promote the general welfare and interests of the associated fraternities on the campus. At full strength again, they began formulating plans for pre-registration rushing for the first time in school history.

Social highlight of the year for Greek men came when the council sponsored their annual formal dance shortly after semester's start, while in the educational department members announced that permanent possession of the scholarship cup had been awarded to Phi Gamma Delta.

Composed of two representatives from eight sororities, Pan-Hellenic council stresses close cooperation and alliance between these houses. These two women from each house are the president and rush chairman. This council is unique in its organization in that the presidency of Pan-Hellenic is passed year to year from one sorority to another. The future president serves her apprenticeship to this office in her junior year as secretary-treasurer.

Accomplishments of this year were varied under the able direction of Pat Hagan. A new Pan-Hellenic handbook will be available this summer for prospective Idaho students. For the benefit of all, a new pre-school rushing system will be established next fall. With the discontinuance of awarding the scholarship cup to the pledge class with the highest grades, the Kappa Kappa Gamma's will keep the last cup awarded on their mantel.

The big ATO haven, long-time contributor of fine athletes to Idaho gridiron and maple court battles, nursed war wounds through the lean years, finally locked up in 1944. Reopened last fall by a handful of stalwarts, by spring ATO's halls were filled with veterans under the leadership of President Bob Fleming and House Manager Loren Rice. Favorite social custom: the annual Tin Can Dance.

For a bleak period thereafter the building housed women students and became known as Mary house, but with the end of war, back came the Betas and the status quo. Now President Jim Blandford rules about 40 charges, still the largest fraternity bloc on the campus.

Famed for the difficulties encountered in trying to get dates out from the hall to the annual Spinster Skip, Chrisman carried along in the old tradition this year. There was even a dungeon in the basement. On the more social side, the hall gave many firesides during the year, and the "Garden of Rainbows" formal dance was such a success that it bids fair to become an annual event. Chrisman is one of the most active halls on the campus, and its members chalk up activities by the score. Politics and sports are two favorite fields.

Known not only for its strength in numbers, Chrisman houses numerous activity men. Topping this list, Irvin Wentworth, member of Who's Who, was the Associated party's candidate for ASUI presidency in the spring election. Second semester saw Irv step into prominency as president of Associated Foresters; he claimed membership in Xi Sigma Pi, forestry honorary, editorship of Idaho Forester, and filled the post of secretary-treasurer of independent caucus. Other foresters, Reade Brown and Kyle Bates, are secretary and treasurer of Associated Foresters.

Athletes residing on West Idaho are Bob Smith, track and tennis letterman, netmen Irv Wentworth and Bob Neel, and skier Hal Barnes. Bob Smith attended meetings of the university disciplinary committee, while Kyle Bates was an active SAB member. Underclassmen John Long and Reade Brown were Chrisman's IK's.

Chrisman was closed to civilians during the war when it was used as a naval civilian school, but opened up second semester last year. By this spring it had built up its enrollment to a pre-war number of 107 men.

Willis Sweet

Willis Sweet was christened "The Ship" when the Navy took it over the first of the year. The men were in the NROTC program, but there was time for them to participate in extracurricular activities. Ten states are called "home" by this group, but the majority came from the middle west, with Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Iillinois, and Nebraska leading. Many of the men have seen foreign service, and a portion of them had attended other colleges before entering the navy.

The men at Willis Sweet are noted for their high scholastic average. Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary, tapped Maurice Paulsen, James Hayes, William Hayes, Donald Thompson, Rolland Tipsword, and Herman Tilly for membership. Wayne Johnson was the man behind the gavel at Associated Engineers' meetings. Dramatics claimed ardent workers—Don Frye, Maurice Paulsen, John Lemire, Preston Haglin, Angus McKay, and Jim Wolter. Others could be found in the publications offices writing copy for the Argonaut or Gem. Several star athletes were from the Navy ranks. The names of Clay Ringgenberg, Maurice Vause, Bill Last, LaDene Vance, and George Hill appeared on the gridiron roster, while others were active members of the junior varsity basketball squad.

The social side of Navy life was not forgotten. The lounge at Willis Sweet provided the scene for the coffee hour following the Farragut football game. Next to highlight their social calendar came the "Nautical Ball" complete with Navy decorations and one o'clock permission for the femininity of the campus. Climaxing their stay at Moscow, these bluejackets said farewell to Idaho with their spring formal dinner dance.

Lindley Hall

Host to Campus Club members for meals first semester and living quarters for married couples, Lindley Hall became known as "The Hotel." Only fifteen couples lived there first semester, but with the influx of veterans, by second semester the total had grown to fifty-seven couples. Sports were a major interest, and a basketball team was organized among the men first semester. In the spring a baseball team was also started, which played against the men's houses and halls. Card parties among couples living at Lindley were a favorite form of entertainment. The people were also active in campus politics. George Stanger was president of the Hall first semester.

By the close of the year most of the couples had moved to the pre-fabs and to the trailer camps, and the others were planning to move in the near future. Lindley Hall, which had been a men's hall before the war, will no longer be "home" to married couples attending the university after this year.

Lindley Hall claimed its own dietitian, Venus Parker, a former Idaho home economics graduate. Dave Wilson was elected the new president of Associated Foresters, while Ted Parker was vice president of Lambda Delta Sigma. New initiate of Alpha Zeta, agriculture honorary, was George Stanger.

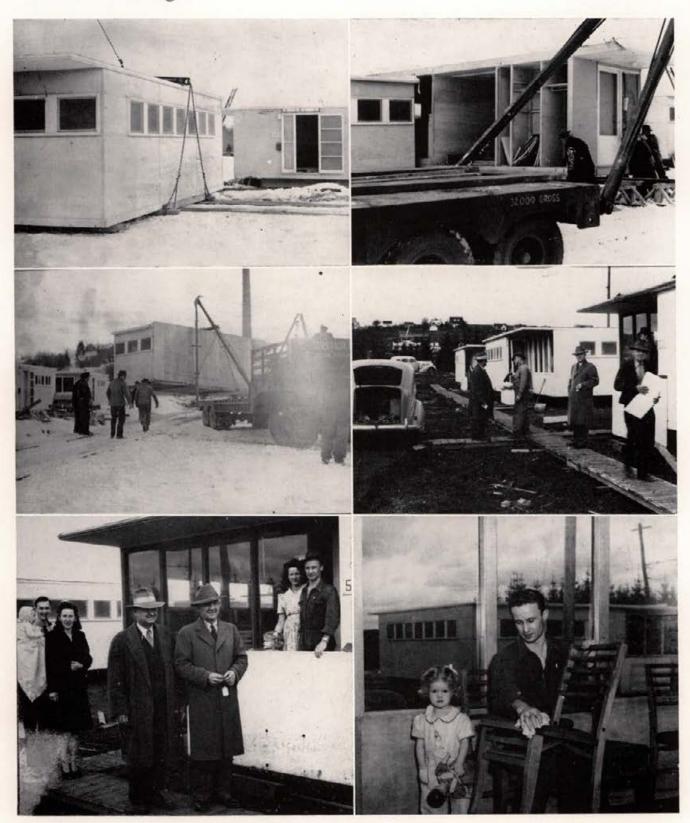

Bob Barbour, a pre-war frosh athlete, is scheduled to handle the pigskin next year; and Lyle Fagan threw the shot-put and discus on the cinder team.

Among the women students, Geraldine Wren writes Argonaut copy; Ruth Presnell is a member of the education honorary, Kappa Delta Pi; and Sarah Stanger was president of the Dames club.

Vet's Village

Pre-fabs were brought to the Idaho campus this winter to help alleviate the housing shortage. Providing inexpensive and convenient facilities, married veterans and families clamored for them and Vet Village became a self-sufficient community and an integral part of the University.

Forney Hall

Voices of one hundred and four women rang through the corridors of Forney hall during the 1945-46 school year. The season was begun with work on homecoming decorations, top honors for women being awarded them for originality and workmanship.

Mortar Board president Eloise Deobald also presided over Forney women during the first semester. She was a member of the famous all-girl-singing orchestra and was presented with the Mary E. Forney cup for the most outstanding senior in the hall. Another Mortar Board member is Elaine Anderson, who is listed in "Who's Who," was president of Curtain club, a member of Delta Sigma Rho, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Barbara Bloomsburg also proudly displays a "Phi Bete" key, while Winifred Tovey wears a pin of SAI; Karma Smith, Phi Chi Theta; and Evelyn Deering, Alpha Epsilon Delta.

Geraldine Merrill, a member of Cardinal Key, became leader of Forney second semester. Interchange council, Curtain club, Delta Simga Rho, and Spur advisorship took up a great deal of her time. Junior Bernice Evans was one of the "big nine" on the ASUI executive board.

A long list of royalty resides in Forney Hall. Catherine McClun was winner of the Sadie Hawkins' day race and Margaret Arnold reigned over the Sophomore Holly dance as queen. Lambda Delta Sigma members selected Geraldine Merrill as sweetheart, Elaine Anderson was maid of honor at the May Fete, and Helen Kerka captured queenship of Freshman week.

Social life has not been neglected within the walls of Forney, and formal dances using the themes of the "U.S.S. Forney," and "Through the Garden Gate" were sponsored. A barn dance was held and firesides exchanged with Ridenbaugh hall. South Blake Built in 1923 Named after Mary E. Forney of Moscow

Hays Hall

Hays hall's spacious living room, used for many campus social functions, was the scene of four Hays dances, three formal dinners, and the Christmas tea, introduced this year and scheduled to become an annual affair. "Moonlight Moods" and "Rhapsody in Blue" were first semester dances, followed by the annual "Diary Dance."

First semester president BWOC Jane Meyer was WAA prexy, "I" club member, ASUI executive board secretary, Cardinal Key, Phi Bete, and a member of "Who's Who." Newly elected Home Economics club president, Virginia Geddes, is a Phi Upsilon Omicron and Cardinal Key. Ceva Jean Bates was elected AWS yell leader and kept the varsity spirit aroused as a member of the yell team.

President second semester, Ann Price served as a junior class officer, and is a newly elected member of the ASUI executive board. Marg Walters, Spur president, will attend the Spur national convention at UCLA in July.

Alpha Lambda Deltas in the crowd are Pauline Schaplowsky, Polly Howard, Bonnie Bennett, Ethel Turnley, and Shirley Hammond. Theta Sigma claims Carol Cone and Jewel May. SAI's are Virginia Transue, Rosa Ascuaga, Polly Howard, and Doris Gochnour. Loyal stage hands, Maxine Webb and Louise King were tapped for Curtain club. Ruth Fisk, Virginia Transue, Madge Emerson, Polly Howard, and Shirley Oakley made music with the all-girl singing orchestra. Kappa Delta Pi members include Dorothy Doumecq, Lois Little, Margaret Madison, Thelma Rea, Florence King, and Kathleen Hammond. AWS treasurer Dorothy Doumecq also shared membership in the 'T' club with Dora Dau and Audrey Hartman, WAA executive board member.

Ridenbaugh Hall

Keeping their record of always having one girl in "Who's Who in American Colleges," Ridenbaugh hall kept up their tradition this year with Mary Dochios receiving the honor. Mary, besides serving as hall president, was active on Mortar Board, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Phi Beta Kappa, and ASUI committees. She and Mary Stanek were both members of Curtain club. This year, Phyllis O'Reilly and Myrna Ritchey were tapped for Alpha Lambda Delta, while Doris Adams sang her way into SAI.

A rough and rugged time was had by all participants at the Halloween barn dance. But the frosh claim they had an even rougher time when they came home from their freshman sneak. Ah . . . but revenge was sweet when it came time for senior tubbing day.

Christmas spirit prevailed at the Holiday Inn dance and just to pass the Yuletide cheer around, the Ridenbaugh girls gave their friendly rivals, Hays and Forney, a serenade. Woe be unto the girl who receives a diamond ring, for she eats her pie at dinner in solitude under the table. With the coming of "green-up" time the delicate aroma of lilacs penetrates everywhere as plans are made for the spring lilac dance, where everyone goes soft and dreamy. Any discrepancies between the frosh and senior points of view are forgotten at the senior breakfast.

These girls will always be remembered for their backing of all campus activities with enthusiasm, which was proven when Ridenbaugh took first prize in the Junior Week rally. South Blake Built in 1902 Named for Mary Ridenbaugh, who was at that time Vice President of the Board of Regents

Alpha Chi Omega

The path behind the Bucket is kept well worn from the Alpha Chi house which shelters many a "BWOC." Barbara Smith, house president, shared with Marian Krussman Dykman, activities on Mortar Board, Curtain club, and Phi Upsilon Omicron, and both appeared in "Who's Who in American Colleges." Marian shared her existence at home and the Gem office where she edited the Gem, assisted by Ora White. Three Cardinal Keys, Ora White, Dona Harding, and Madelyn Sanberg, also called the gray shingled house on Elm home. Sophomore class treasurer was Spur Marilyn Daigh. Jeanne Hofmann received the diamond jeweled pin for the pledge making the highest grades this year.

"How Deep is the Ocean?" was the question asked at the pledge dance in early fall, as mermaids adorned the walls amid the nautical surroundings. Alpha Chi's from WSC met their Moscow sisters at an informal fireside in early fall. The first flakes of snow mean only one thing ... a fight with the Sigma Chi's. No rest, though, with the "ever-eager-to-fight" Sigma Nu's next door. Despite frozen feet and red noses, the Alpha Chi's rendered the NRO's a Christmas serenade before leaving for vacation.

Any rivalry with the Sigma Nu's is forgiven at the Halloween party, which is proven by the number of five-armed stars flourishing beside the Alpha Chi pins. The "Lyre Initiation dance" in March, the upperclassmen's dinner dance in April, the spring formal, and the senior breakfast in May highlight the social season.

Alpha Phi

It wasn't long after school opened in the fall that there appeared several black eyes and minor bruises worn casually by Alpha Phi pledges—the results of the Alpha Phi-Fiji football game. Soon after this, however, came the "Paper Moon" pledge dance. Velma Wilkerson and Mary MacRae found themselves plunged into the "new student union" investigation. The pledge class continued their tradition of firesides for each pledge class on the campus. Virginia Tuttle, Becky Oliason, and Diana Hooper were chosen for scholastic honorary Alpha Lambda Delta, while Diana received the gold pledge pin given each year to the pledge making the highest grades.

Clara Beth Young, Phi U president, and Ada Mae Rich were members of "Who's Who," both having activity records long to be remembered. Mary Mulder took over the chapter presidency when "C.B." became a town girl. Spur Bonnie Burnside was elected the secretary of the sophomore class. LaRaine Stewart holds a place in the all-girl singing orchestra along with Bernice Bakes, Mary Beth Garretson, Beverly Oliason, Freda Sparrow, and Billie Adamson.

The "Crazy Hat" night was held with everyone wearing everything from hot water bottles to dustpans as millinery. The traditional dinner for alumnae and their children was held just before Christmas.

Delta Delta Delta

The big brick house at the end of fraternity row houses many outstanding girls known for both their friendliness and activities. A member of "Who's Who," Mortar Board and executive board, Mary Jane Hawley presided as house president. Cardinal Key prexy, Ethel Jane Kopelman, was elected AWS president for next year. They just can't help singing with Eleanore Andrew and Dorothy Monico, both members of the all-girl singing orchestra. Eleanore presided over the debate organization and was active in Cardinal Key.

The Tri-Delts took time out from fun and frolic, however, to set the scholarship cup on their trophy shelf and see Mary Pat Sylvester, Mary Jane Hawley, and Ethel Jane Kopelman initiated into Phi Beta Kappa. The gavel of Attic club was wielded by Arline Durkoop.

The customary Heart Sister and Delta week was held and the formal dance with the Tri-Delt chapter at WSC. Their "White Flame" formal and the annual dinner with the SAE are always looked forward to, but none with the expectancy of the sunrise dance where sleepy-eyed dates arrive at 6:30 A.M. and promenade 'till noon.

The Fiji's wage a continual battle over the blue and white Delta Delta Delta sign, but it seems to remain through the years where it belongs, with only one incident this year. This year's pledge dance was held in a lush Arabian Night's surrounding. The annual Christmas party for alumnae and a dinner for the faculty were also given.

Delta Gamma

The DG house is renowned for its third floor "paradise," inhabited by the pledge class, its sudden craze for braided top-knots and early-morning ATO serenades, and its numerous activity women. Mary Jane Donart not only served as house president and a member of Mortar Board, but was recognized for her active career by being chosen for "Who's Who in American Colleges." Literary talent was displayed by Romaine Galey, managing editor and later editor of the Argonaut; Pat Miller, first semester co-editor; and Louise Schlegel, business manager of the weekly, and college editor of Mademoiselle.

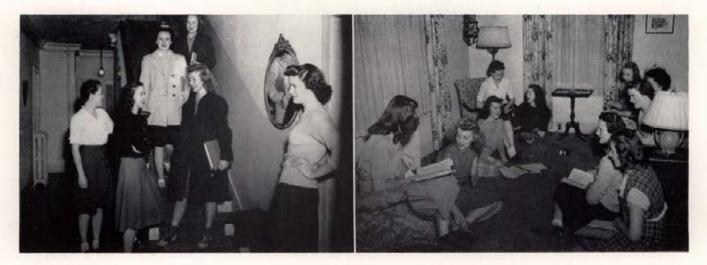

The DG's also have four members of Hell-Divers, three Theta Sigmas, and two Phi Chi Thetas. Lucile Thompson recently completed her second term as president of Kappa Phi, and the house also contains several presidents of other campus organizations.

Beauty was prominent when blonde Elizabeth Glenn was chosen as the Homecoming Queen by the football team in early fall. The DG's artistic talent gained them the first prize in the Christmas decorations contest.

A dreamy time was had by all at the pledge dance where angels adorned the walls. Scrolls with each pledge's name and soft lights completed the "dream" theme. Other dances were held during the year, with the upperclassmen's dinner dance re-established as an annual tradition.

Aqua-maids were Jan Garner, winner of the swimming meet, and fellow Hell-Divers Betty Ann Nelson and Jean Seymour. Joan Benoit, house president, gave her services to AWS and presided over Phi Chi Theta. Maid of honor for the May fete was executive board member Joyce McMahon. June Williams, junior class secretary, attended student activities board meetings with Geneva Ferguson. Meanwhile, Betty Echternach, chosen for "Who's Who," compiled an activity record long to be remembered with Mortar Board and past editorship of Argonaut.

Argonaut copy desk tradition remained with Judy Boon, Jean Seymour and Doris Ring, each ruling as copy editor. Shirley Brandt wore the black mask of Curtain club and Shirley Greenway won her sister's praise when tapped for Alpha Lambda Delta.

It took days to recover from the annual snowfight with the brother fraternity Sigma Nu, but when the Halloween party with the Phi Delts came, everyone was ready. The "Blue Champagne" initiation dance and the "Story Book Ball" are long to be remembered, but the first sunny day found the Gamma Phi's en mass on the sunporch—a sure sign of spring.

Kappa Alpha Theta

Living up to the title of "Theta's smiling lips" are these happy gals who haunt the Nest between classes and on leisure afternoons. Well-rounded in activities, one of their leaders, Cardinal Key LaLene Cargill is the new Pan-Hellenic president. Eve Smith serves as sophomore class president and keeps up the scholarship of the sisterhood as secretary of Alpha Lambda Delta. Heading the religious group are Patty Kulzer, Newman club president, while Debby Bowell, vice president of Westminster guild, rules also as house president.

Living up to its reputation as a musical house, the all-girl singing orchestra claimed Yvonne Whiting, La-Lene Cargill, Bette Scott and Esther Herndon. WAA executive board members were LaLene Cargill, Eve Smith, and Esther Landers. Fearless Mary Mathot and Jean Seitz competed in Hell-Divers. House lights went on and off with Liz Hadley, well-known electrician and Curtain club member.

Turning to the social side of life, Thetas entertained with their colorful Gypsy dance and soon after the traditional kites were flown from the balconies signifying the initiation of nine new members. Seven girls were lost to the ranks of matrimony this year and some claim it was all due to their own private arboretum within their walled-in backyard.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Early fall saw twenty Kappa pledges represented by musical notes at the "Hit Parade" formal pledge dance. Almost immediately after, followed the traditional struggle with Sigma Chi frosh for the white front-porch benches. Informality was the theme at the Halloween barn dance given by Sigma Alpha Epsilon for the pledge class. An annual affair, the dance is preceded by a potluck dinner at which everyone stunts, including the housemother. At the first sign of snow, the energetic freshmen were challenged to battle by next-door Fijis, although the victory was indecisive.

Activities were numerous, as frosh participated in Radio club, Argonaut and church groups. Claire Louise Hale's name was engraved on the trophy cup given each year at the scholarship banquet for the women receiving the highest grades. At the same dinner a treasured diamond key is given to be worn by the girl making the most improvement from the nine weeks to the semester.

Upperclasswomen, however, were not idle. Presidencies were held by Gloria Dyer, house president, and Pat Hagan, head of Pan-Hellenic and Home Ec club. Music and dramatics were taken care of by Curtain club president Enid Almquist and SAI members Evelyn Thomas and Joan Wittman. Joan and Evie were joined by Artys Powell and Olive Roberts for the all-girl singing orchestra tour. Page for the May court was Spur Barbara Spaeth. Francie gave up her presidency of Canterbury society at the semester to Bobbie Douglass.

House functions during the year were varied, ranging from the yearly all-girl fireside, with guests from every living group, to the Christmas, spring, and upperclassmen's formal dances. Seniors received their due glory at the senior breakfast, held just before graduation, when enthusiastic sophomores performed a take-off skit.

Pi Beta Phi

The Pi Beta Phi house kept up their reputation of brains, beauty, and "brawn" with many of their members active in the athletic association. Joella Gage served as president of Hell-Divers, vice president of WAA and president of the "I" club. Lovely Jean Thompson was chosen as May Queen, AWS president and honored as a "Who's Who of American Colleges." Lavona Craggs' official capacity was that of house president.

The annual ski dance was held this year midst a winter ski lodge atmosphere where everyone relaxed in gaudy ski sweaters and "down-hills." Just before Christmas the annual party for all children of Moscow alumnae was held.

Clara Pointner, Marion Eisenhauer, and Barbara Newell splashed their way in Hell-Divers and Jewel Mays served as Alpha Lambda Delta president. Cardinal Key was well represented with Betty Ann Craggs, Leona Bales, Jean Thompson, and Vera Anderson. The Pi Phi's collected enough points in the WAA association to be awarded the "I" plaque.

The Pi Phi's took a beating in their snow ball tussle with the Delts, a hosing down from the Kappa Sigs one night, and emerged from the Halloween party with the ATO's covered with charcoal, but saying they had a "wonderful time." The SAE's, however, were shown how to play baseball. Who won is still a question, but the fellows always pay on the coke date afterward. 'Tis a happy, but out-of-tune Pi Phi who sings a solo of the "Honeymoon Song" on receipt of a pin or diamond.

Back in 1924 the town girls who trudge across Moscow every day to hit the books organized their own sorority, thus establishing Alpha chapter of Delta Tau Gamma for the "down-town girls." Now it has developed into a national sorority consisting of four other chapters. The purposes of this organization are to unite the girls not living in organized houses to uphold the activities of the university and to help maintain a well-balanced college program for themselves.

Dorothy Bjorkland presided over the meetings held at the Bucket. From hay-rides to sleigh-rides, the social season was packed full of fun and frolic. Besides their annual formal tea, which introduced the new pledge class to their first taste of college, the DTG's held a picnic-dance and a spring formal. This year, twenty-five girls were active in the life of the college.

Students Play . . . Come Snow or Sun

The Alpha Chis come out to swap gossip and have a cigarette in the sun . . . How did Fiji Kenny Smith get in on this Gamma Phi coasting party on the golf course... Margaret Gorman directs pledge activities out the Kappa back window . . . Ridenbaugh has Christmas party complete with tree and Santa Claus in sailor suit . . . The blonde Alpha Phi bathing beauty prefers to remain anonymous. Shucks! . . . This sun is good from any angle say the Pi Phis . . . Not the Easter parade, just Ridenbaugh's "old clothes" party brought out these unusual costumes.

Long after classes are forgotten by Idaho graduates, certain other things will still be fondly remembered. Among these: trips to Moscow Mountain or Robinson Lake, long walks in the arboretum, afternoons at the Varsity, hamburgers at the Nest, playing bridge at the Bucket, chats over a coke at the Varsity, loafing on the grass in the spring. Sunday breakfasts at the Gampus Cafe, dancing after classes in the Bucket Lounge, banana splits at the Varaity. These are just a few of the cherished memories we take with us when we leave Idaho for the last time.

Lines form despite Idaho rain for registration formalities... Registrar DuSault looks on while students fill out class cards... Gem sales go over big at end of registration line

Students Select Big Sticks By Secret Ballot

Names are checked and ballots distributed to student voters . . . Artys Powell checks to see that the DG's don't stuff the ballot box.

Tri-Delt Spurs Yenor and McLaughlin pensively dole out student ballots . . . After voting. left Overholser gets a clipping: it's only his activities book, however . . . Buzz Evans, Geneva Ferguson, and Shirley Yenor play onesey-twosey with the ballots.

The gun sounds! Let's go, youse gals and youse guys! Sadie Hawkins Day is here! . . . Rex ZoBall didn't have a lightin' chance when Carol Long landed on him . . . An anxious female hangs on to Ralph Thompson the best she can . . . Carol is making mighty sure her great big hunk of man doesn't get away. Rex looks Happy.

Two Daisy Maes take unfair advantage of Li'l Abner ... Marryin' Sam, alias Fred Keiper, ties the knot for Catherine McClun and Jim Lafferty ... ''Kiss her, kiss her,'' scream the defeated Dogpatchers.

Moscowites Meet, Mingle, and Make Mirth

Freshman women become acquainted with activities on the Idaho campus... Dean Louise S. Carter and Mrs. Harrison C. Dale greet freshman women at the annual AWS-Mortar Board tea.

AWS play party becomes a friendly get-together for Idaho women . . . Home management house women entertain faculty quests at dinner . . . A get-acquainted tea is held by the home management girls honoring freshman home oconomics students.

Lads and Lassies Live on Lively Campus

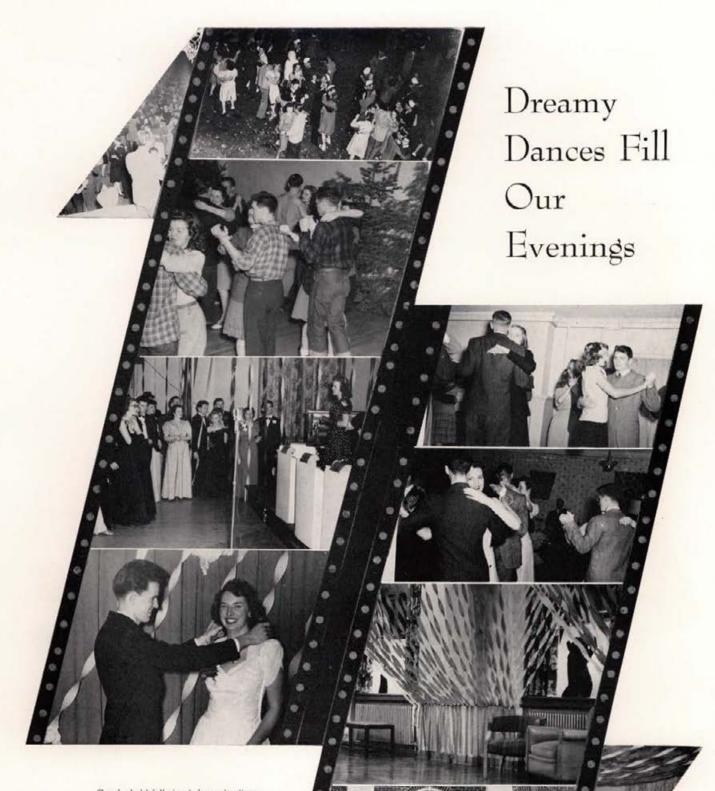

The Sigma Nus and Gamma Phis get down and roll for their annual snow feud... Navy and Pi Phis tangle and tussle on Willis Sweet grounds ... Lois Hoffman came through unscathed but Delores Gooby and "Pete" Peterson look worse for wear.

Vacation Vim and Vigor

MOSCO

Jane Griffin looks as if the south bound special isn't all it's cracked up to be . . . The Prestonites tried fair means and foul to get home for Christmas . . . Jackie Neeley and Gloria Taylor play in the snow with the new sled Santa brought. Nice ski suits . . . The SAE's made sure that the Thetas wouldn't get outside to continue their annual snowfight.

Greeks hold fall street dance to stimulate voting . . . 'Mike' Arnold and Carl Neiwirth gaze dreamily at the Foresters' woody decorations . . . 'Swooner' Scott swings it at the Interfraternity formal . . . Radiant Gerry is declared "Sweetheart of LDS" by Ted Parker.

Exchange night finds the DG's in the arms of the TKE mon . . . From the look on Marilyn's face, the Phi Delt formal must have been fun . . . Chrisman hall had plenty of decorations . But the Kappa Sigma house threw a house party with plenty of beautiful girls.

Costumes and Decorations Enliven Dances

Chuck and Fleta lean on the wheel at the Navy's memorable ball . . . The Alpha Chia gather to swap salty stories during the Swabi Struggle.

Deep-sea doings again, this time at the ACO's Neptune dance . . . Patty's long black hair causes Overholser to swoon, while Herndon and Hechtner laugh . . . The Bowery costume of Marion Whipple gets a hearty laugh from Darlene Henderson.

Something New Is Always Being Added

Chuck Urban is well rewarded by Pam Harrington for going through the rigors of an early morning mattress ride. The Sigma Chis keep time as Betty Newell plants a good one on Chuck Schiferl in the stocks . . . More pin doings. This time Lois Smith spoon leeds less Mitchell atter getting his 'bauble' . . . A fraternity-sorority baseball game cements friendship and develops biceps.

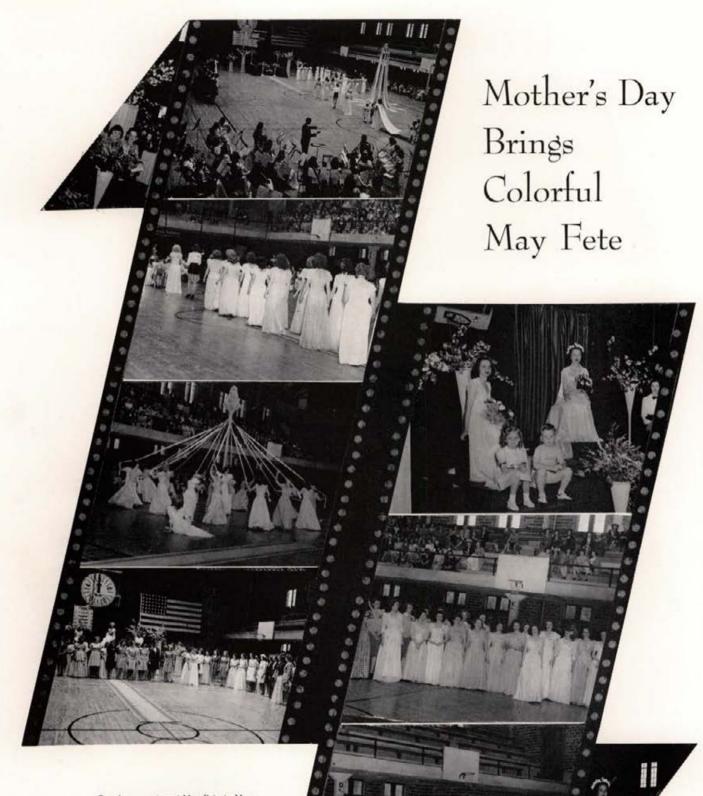

Keith Hardin gets the keys to the Campus club kitchen from Prezident Dale as Green beams ... The versatile Tri-Delts have a gab fest over their "Bundle for Britain" wrapping ... Sunny smiles from sunning Pi Phis ... The Alpha Phis work hard at getting an early spring burn.

Idaho's Campus Is Spring's Showcase

The engineers choose a beautiful spring day to survey the Ad building . . . Even the hard-working students find it difficult to stay in class in this weather.

The Ad lawn is covered with trees and shrubs of every variety . . . Idaho co-eds stroll up to Memorial steps to relax between classes.

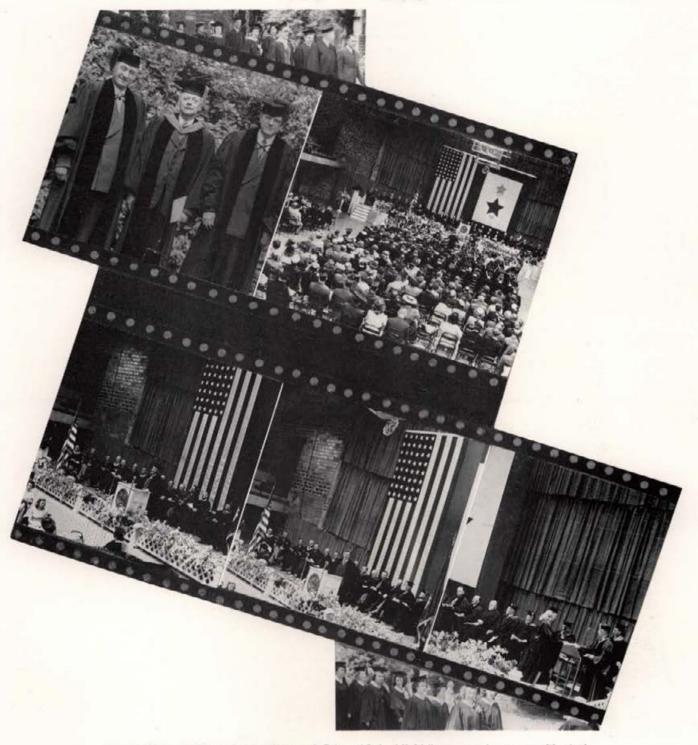

Royal procession at May Fete in Memorial gymnasium (reason: rain) ... Spurs entrance at Mother's Day celebration ... Annual Maypole dance by Spurs ... Sophomore honorary taps new members.

Queen Elaine Thomas and attendants reign . . Cardinal Key makes known future members . . , These women comprise Mortar Board.

HEN DAVID'S STORE was founded, there was written into its policies an inflexible rule concerning the reliability of merchandisc. It is not too much to say that our present growth is due entirely to the policy of never selling anything—however small that we can not fully guarantee. And the most impressive phase of the success that has come to us lies not in its magnitude but in the ever-growing satisfaction, so freely voiced by thousands of our customers, in the reliability of their purchases.

Two New Records

Last year the town and farm homes in the Snake River Valley enjoyed their electric service at the lowest rates in our company's history -37% below the national average.

And they used more electricity than ever before to make living easier and more pleasant. In fact, they used more than twice the national average.

Tíme Out...

To relax and listen to hot or sentimental strains of music played by the best bands in the land . . . to enjoy dancing at the many campus affairs held throughout the year . . . to meet your friends at informal gatherings or club meetings held in the various rooms of the building. Lasting friendships are made in college and memories originating under Blue Bucket hospitality will linger throughout a lifetime.

The Oregon team proved to be good sports when they met the Vandals to offer their well wishes in Eugene.

Oregon's Coach Hobson compares racing forms with Idaho's famous Babe Brown. Wonder what is good in the fifth.

These Idaho products look good to a hungry Idaho basketball team

The music department goes over the last minute plans of the orchestra tour. Walls. Brye, Benward, Beecher, and Macklin confer. Seems fantastic, doesn't it, that these girls also sing and play instruments.
