THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO

Foreword

The University of the State of Idaho has, throughout its many years of service, been a symbol of many dreams, ambitions, victories, and most of all memories. Traditions — the Hello Walk, "I" bench, WSC football clash, Holly week, Homecoming—are something for the students to enjoy, the graduates to remember. With our little character MaGoo to add a bit here and there, the staff of the GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS hopes to have depicted the feeling and enthusiasm at Idaho. In each of the book's five sections is one of the year's traditional activities. The Social section, representing the after-hours life of our school; the Living Groups section, showing our "homes" for the term; the Organizations, gathering together the extracurricular segment so necessary to college life; the Sports, telling of our victories, defeats, and spirits; the Classes, showing our academic life, including the faculty, schools, and students. The staff hopes the 1955 GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS includes many of the memories and traditions that you hold dear, and that through the years you will be able to thumb the pages and recall the full glory of your years at the University of Idaho.

Gale L. Mix

Since coming to the University of Idaho in 1939, Gale Mix has done more than any other one man to promote and work for the betterment of student activities and student government.

The University of Idaho was not new to Gale, as he was a 1926 graduate in the College of Law. His first position was that of Graduate Manager, later assuming the duties of Director and Manager of Athletics, and now that of ASUI General Manager.

Gale is always ready with a big grin and helping hand for any student with a complaint or problem.

To Gale Mix I dedicate the 1955
GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS.

The President Presides

PRESIDENT D. R. THEOPHILUS

This year the University of Idaho is proud to claim D. R. Theophilus as our new President. 1954-1955 not only marks the end of a successful regime by your friend and mine, J. E. Buchanan, but is the starting point of what we hope will be an even more inspiring era of our lives, with President Theophilus presiding.

In the past, Theophilus has spent several years as Dean of the College of Agriculture on the Idaho Campus. Following ex-president Buchanan's resignation this fall, Dean Theophilus filled in as our acting president until the Board of Regents, this spring, chose him to preside over the activities of the University of Idaho and gave him his full-fledged title of President of the University.

Any way you look at it, D. R. Theophilus is an excellent man for our President.

The Governor Guides

This year a new name accompanies the title of Governor of the State of Idaho—Smylie. Although we regret the departure of Len Jordan who worthily served our state for the past four years, we are anxiously looking forward to meeting Governor Robert E. Smylie who, as a part of the traditions of the University, attends the commencement exercises in the spring.

Newly inaugurated in January, 1955, after winning the office by a comfortable majority, Governor Smylie will attend his many duties, one of which is appointing the members of the Board of Regents.

Well, at last it's finished! It may not be just what you expected, and it's not just what we wanted; but it is the best we could do.

Putting out an annual is more complicated than most people realize. There's always misplaced copy, lost pages, scheduling and rescheduling of pictures, and of course, not knowing just where to start in the first place. About the best and only thing to do in a case like this is just to begin. It's not always important where you begin, but merely that you do; so that's exactly what happened. Clutching Magoo in hand and putting our best foot forward (it was hard to tell which left one was best) we began. As the year progressed, we gradually grasped the general idea of what was expected of us and how we were going to accomplish it. After many months of cutting, pasting, mounting, etc. . . . and with the help of a wonderful staff, the book was completed.

There are no drastic changes in the book (at least we hope there aren't) so no gross explanation of it is necessary. For you people who didn't get your pictures in the right places, or if any of you didn't get one in at all, we sincerely apologize. For any other mistakes which might appear we also apologize. However, if it's merely a matter of difference of opinion; all we have to say is—come around next year and help put out a better one.

HOMECOMING

More than 6,000 enthusiastic Idaho alums made the journey to Moscow for the 1954 Homecoming festivities. Miss Clara Armstrong reigned as queen and the Alpha Phis with "Lick 'Em" and Sigma Nus with "Three Coins in the Fountain" took top honors in the float divisions. Good weather and an energetic crowd made the weekend clash with San Jose, and Homecoming events a bang-up success.

Blood Drive

1334 pints of blood were donated by University of Idaho students in the annual campus blood drive. Although the 2000 pint goal was not met, the students turned out with marked enthusiasm with fourteen living groups totaling 100 per cent. Trophies for these living groups were blood bottles vacuum-filled with dark red liquid and inscribed gold plates reading "100 per cent for 1954 'Blood Drive.'" The "Moscow or Bust" WSC walkers were met with bloody challenges from Idaho student officials. Co-chairmen for the drive were Karen Lee Krauss and Dennis Thompson.

It was a great day at Idaho—and after 29 years it ought to have been. Our own Vandal fans, still cheering after Saturday's game met the foot-weary Pullman crowd, 1,042 strong, to host the traditional foot-washing. Pep bands, blood letting contests and national publicity combined forces to make the "Day WSC Walked" one not soon to be forgotten, and (we hope) very soon to be repeated.

Dad's Day

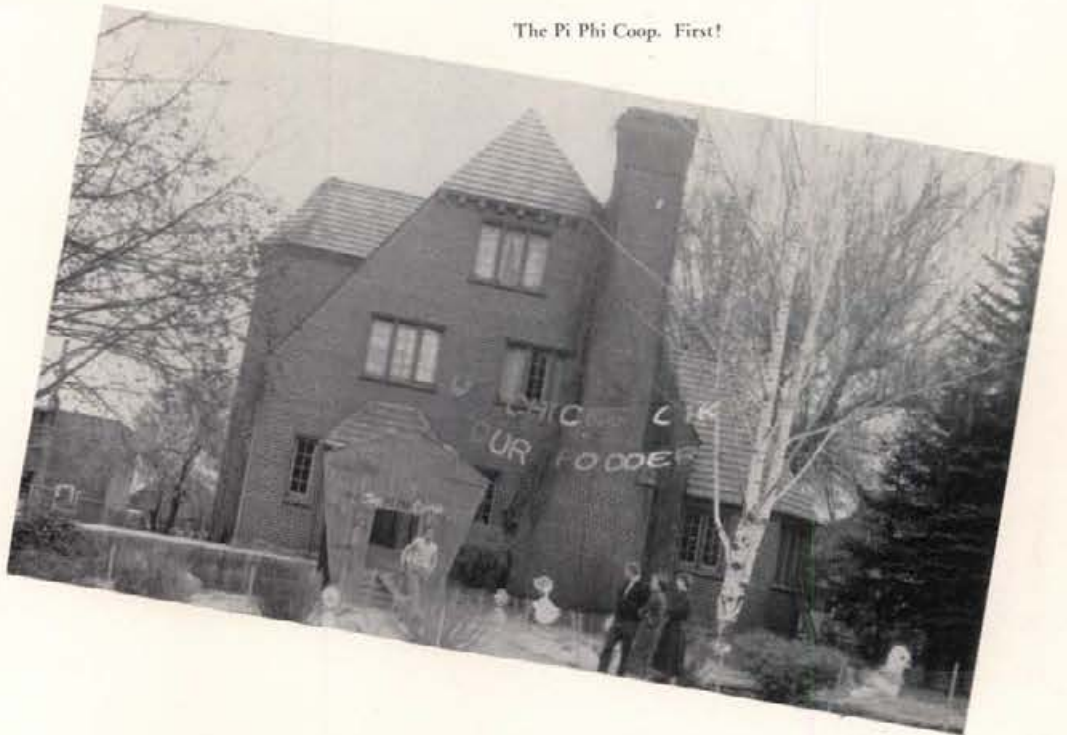

The fighting Vandals stacked up 45 points against their North Dakota opponents for a Dad's Day win. Beard growers had a heyday and the Pop's Hop was a giant success. Coach Skip Stahley received a new sedan at halftime for his great first season's job with the Vandals. Idaho boosters' pep has never been greater. Pi Phi and Fijis took the cake with their house decorations while the Delta Chis had the most visiting dads for the occasion as well as the highest percentage of beards. Dad was king for a day.

ASUI Student Government

The ASUI Executive Board—made up of nine members elected by the student body from the incoming junior and senior classes, the student body prexy, three ex-officio members and two advisors, meet weekly to govern the Associated Students of the University of Idaho.

This year's student government was ably guided by a former football star and political dynamo, Flip Kleffner. His right-hand man for the year was vice-president Jim Saad. With these two men's guidance, and the hard work and thought of the Executive Board, this was one of the most productive years of ASUI history.

One of the oddities of this year's board was the resignation of two of its members, Lee Anderson and Jack Parker, in mid year. They were replaced by two coeds, Pat Bartlett and Pat Gustafson, who went on to serve the second semester.

The board's handling of the Student Facilities Fee, the establishment of the skating rink, along with one of the most active semesters of planned activity kept them hopping and producing for the students of the University of Idaho who elected them.

The Idaho Argonaut

A beat-up brown corduroy jacket filled with sample cigarettes and a host of lawyer jokes set the scene for the 1954-55 Argonaut under Fred Williams. Assisted by M. E. Gary Pietsch, Williams covered the campus scene, and yet kept an eye on the "Third Floor Zoo" and Scotchman jokes.

Besides putting out a special Poor Cougars edition while the campus was celebrating a big win, the Arg staff went to eight pages for a Horror April Fool edition. The Golden Fleece took its stand in campus politics for the first time in several years.

The staff of 70 wound up with 62 issues, including a large number of six-pagers. Taking over the Jason seat for next year will be this year's M. E., Gary Pietsch.

The reporters, copy readers, ad salesmen, and the circulation staff did much to make the Arg one of the best ever. Plagued they were by office changes, lost copy, eternal deadlines, and the always used phone, but it was a good year.

The Voice of the Vandals... K.U.O.I.

"The Voice of the Vandals," broadcasting from the banks of the Paradise, has greatly improved its position on the campus during the past year. From September to June it can be heard beaming out over the campus—supplying music for exchanges, studying, and general relaxation. Located on the third floor of the Student Union Building, it gives many students the opportunity to practice announcing or to learn the actual operation of a radio station.

Two new shows, Coming Events and Chatter Box, have been added to the variety of programs already presented. These programs, plus about one thousand dollars worth of new equipment, give some indication as to the amount of effort going into K.U.O.I. During the past year it has been under the direction of station manager, Chuck White and a most able staff.

Idaho's Vandaleers, under the direction of Glen Lockery, completed another busy year. The annual Christmas concert was presented in December. This year's tour brought their fine music to the people in the southeastern part of the state. The Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Keith Forney, carry on the original custom of singing gay songs while seated around the table.

University Band

Warren Bellis
Director

Since the coming of Warren Bellis to the campus, the University Band has shown remarkable improvement. In addition to presenting snappy half-time entertainment at football games, it also found time to play at many campus functions and still present several very fine concerts. Much thanks should be given to this organization.

University Pep Band

This spring a group of student musicians and their director made a three-day tour of cities in northern Idaho. They did a very good job of publicising the University . . . members of the Pep Band include:

Another excellent ASUI Drama production was presented last fall under the name of "Mrs. McThing." This play was originally for children, having recently finished a long run on Broadway. It is a play for all ages and delighted the Idaho audience.

Under the direction of Miss Jean Collette assisted by Ed Chavez, the students have presented many productions of high caliber this past year. A lot of rehearsals and hard work are involved but the rising curtain justifies the time spent. Each production ends with a cast party.

Drama

The final ASUI Drama production, "An Inspector Calls," was presented this spring. The play is a psychological play written by J. B. Priestley in the style of a "who-done-it" mystery and is an effective presentation of the strange twists that take place in human beings when their consciences are affected and involved in a murder. Although the action requires only one set and the entire cast consists of only seven people, the play still involved some directing problems, according to Edmund M. Chavez, director.

"LOOKS LIKE ANOTHER COLLEGE DEBATE"

© COLUMBIA PICTURES CORP. . . UPA

"Resolved, that the government of the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the communistic government of China" was the debate question discussed in the United States this year. The Idaho team with 12 returning varsity debaters and 20 new aspirants had a very successful year, copping honors at the Inland Empire Junior College Debate Tourney and the Women's Triangular Debate, plus winning first place in the Debate with Idaho schools. Representing Idaho in the contest with the Oxford debaters were Dean Holt and Chuck McDevitt who later attended the debate tournament held at West Point.

Over Hill... Over Dale...

These cadets precede the entry of the Queen.

The Pershing Rifles, a national honorary made up of outstanding Army ROTC Cadets.

These are the graduating Seniors who have qualified for commissions in the Army Reserves.

The Army ROTC, under Lt. Col. Moore, is designed to turn out fully trained officers ready for active duty if their country should meet a crisis. Under the program, all under-classmen must take the two years of basic training. Those who show outstanding leadership in basic training are chosen to take the advanced course which will give them their commission upon graduation. While in advanced study, students are paid approximately $30 per month. Although most of the commissions will be in the reserves, the outstanding cadet of each graduating class may go into the regular Army.

Arnold Air Society, the honorary for Juniors and Seniors.

The AFROTC Drill Team, a very smooth unit in competition.

Although the Air Force is quite new as an independent organization, it has quickly taken its place in our first line of defense. It is growing just as fast on the Idaho campus under the leadership of Major Hughes. With enrollment increasing each year, it promises to catch up with the Army in the near future.

There are numerous branches of the Air Force for which a cadet can apply. He can either take flight if he qualifies, or he may go into one of the many technical jobs such as radio or radar. All of this can help the cadet even after he is out of the service.

The Air Force Staff of the Idaho detachment.

The Air Force Choir, a very well known singing group led by Air Force Cadet, John Harrett.

The advanced cadets on a field trip to Phoenix, Arizona.

Captain T. C. Thomas

Anchors Aweigh Me Boys . . .

The NROTC Staff and their two secretaries.

The Navy Honor Company performing at the May Fete.

The Naval ROTC program under Capt. Thomas is a four-year course offered through both competitive scholarships and open registration. Those entering on scholarships are given their books and tuition free plus fifty dollars a month. In return they agree to spend three years on active duty upon commissioning as Ensigns plus five years of reserve duty. They also must go on an eight-week cruise each summer which most of the men find quite educational and a very good experience.

The Cadet training revolves around a program including orientation, gunnery techniques, navigation principles, naval engineering, and preparation for a commission in the Navy or Marine Corps. One of the big social functions of the campus is the Navy Shipwreck Dance which is an annual costume affair.

The Eagle and Anchor Council which governs the cadets.

The Navy Drill Team which took first in campus competition.

The '54-55 Sports Parade

A successful Sports year

Led by new athletic director Bob Gibb (above), and with a revamped Athletic Department and a new coaching staff, the University of Idaho athletics began an upgrade sorely needed. Inspired by a 10-0 upset victory over the WSC Cougars midway in the season to end a 29-year dominance by the Cougars on the gridiron, the teams, supporters and whole state was instilled by a new spirit of optimism.

Although handicapped by a lack of height, the Vandal basketball team was able to hold its own in an unusually tall Northern Division during the fall. The new spirit seemed to hold through a winless baseball season and into the track where Idaho won its first northern division meet in three years, and three tracksters were sent to the Pacific Coast Meet in Eugene.

The minor sports too did well. Varsity skiers, led by Norwegian foreign students, won the Northern Division playoff, and two privately sponsored skiers from the team were sent back to the NCAA where Eirik Berggren emerged as National Champion Nordic Skier. The Golfers beat the perennially strong Oregon Staters, and did unusually well throughout the season. The Vandal Rodeo team emerged as one of the outstanding riding teams on the Pacific Coast, and the Idaho Tennis teams showed very well in Northern Division matches, although they went through the season without a team victory.

With the aid of strong freshman teams, and with the improved spirit and state support, The University of Idaho Vandals should in the future prove to be strong contenders in Northern Division sports.

The Vandals opened the 1954 football season at Neale Stadium, and proceeded to hold a great Oregon team to a practical standstill in the first half, charging through the Duck line and breaking up the backfield plays. Although the Idaho team failed to get an offensive moving, back Wilbur Gary showed much promise as they held the Ducks to a 6-0 first half.

The second half the story changed, and the Vandals couldn't match the depth of the Oregon line. The passing arm of All-American candidate George Shaw finally led the visitors to a 41-0 victory.

Halfback Mel Schmidt snags a long aerial as the referee takes a down.

The camera's eye catches a bit of Vandal defense in action. Mel Schmidt (20), Giles (85), Leigh (75), and Barton (55), close in as Hess makes the tackle.

Despite outstanding Vandal defense led by Burdette Hess and Marsh Jones, eight costly fumbles spelled downfall in Idaho's second outing of the season. Handicapped by Corvallis' 85° weather, the Vandals couldn't seem to get the ball into the Beaver end zone. In the second quarter it looked as if the Vandals would score when George Eidam passed to Frank Teverbaugh deep in Beaver territory, but the ball just skimmed through his fingers, and the Orange took over.

Several times Oregon State threatened the Idaho goal, but brilliant defensive playing, improved over the week before, stopped the Beavers as far in Idaho territory as on the Vandal three yard line. The final score was OSC 13, Idaho 0.

Quarterback George Eidam and a pair of spectacular ends, Paul Giles and Frank Teverbaugh, led the Idaho Vandals to their first touchdown of the 1954 season before the eager Homecoming crowd. The Vandals performed brilliantly the first period of the game, but failed to score again, as the strong San Jose State team dampened the festivities by overpowering the Vandals in the second half with a strong line and fast backs. The final score of the game was San Jose 48, Idaho 7.

The Vandals improved their scoring punch somewhat from the first of the year, although going down in defeat before the Arizona team 35-13, in Tucson.

Idaho took a surprising first quarter lead as George Eidam fired an aerial to end Paul Giles. The point after touchdown try failed. Cal Hilgenberg accounted for the final Idaho tally, smashing sixty-five yards in four plays to paydirt and Burdette Hess kicked the extra point for the Vandals' final score.

Under the lights at COP end John Sullivan (81) is stopped after a long gain. Halfback Lawr (49) looks on.

The College of Pacific celebrated their first victory in four tries as the Vandals took it on the chin 13 to 0. The darkest spot in the Vandals' showing was their passing attack which bogged down as Idaho completed only four out of sixteen attempts, with four interceptions.

Bright spots in the game were the Vandal defense, which showed considerable improvement over the earlier games of the year; and Ralph Kendley offensively, a transfer from Stockton, California. Kendley averaged a highly respectable ten yards per carry in the game.

The high point of the Vandal's grid schedule was reached when the over-confident WSC Cougars fell hard at Rogers Field in Pullman, ending a 29 year hard-luck streak for the Vandals. The pre-game cry from the Washington State College Evergreen was, "The Cougar line will hold the Vandals all day with Duke Washington ready to ramble. It looks like the Cougars and 24 points." The Cougars ate humble pie when it turned out to be the Vandals and exactly 10 points. The Evergreen had a small story and big black strips around page one while the Arg shouted with 6 inches worth of POOR COUGARS.

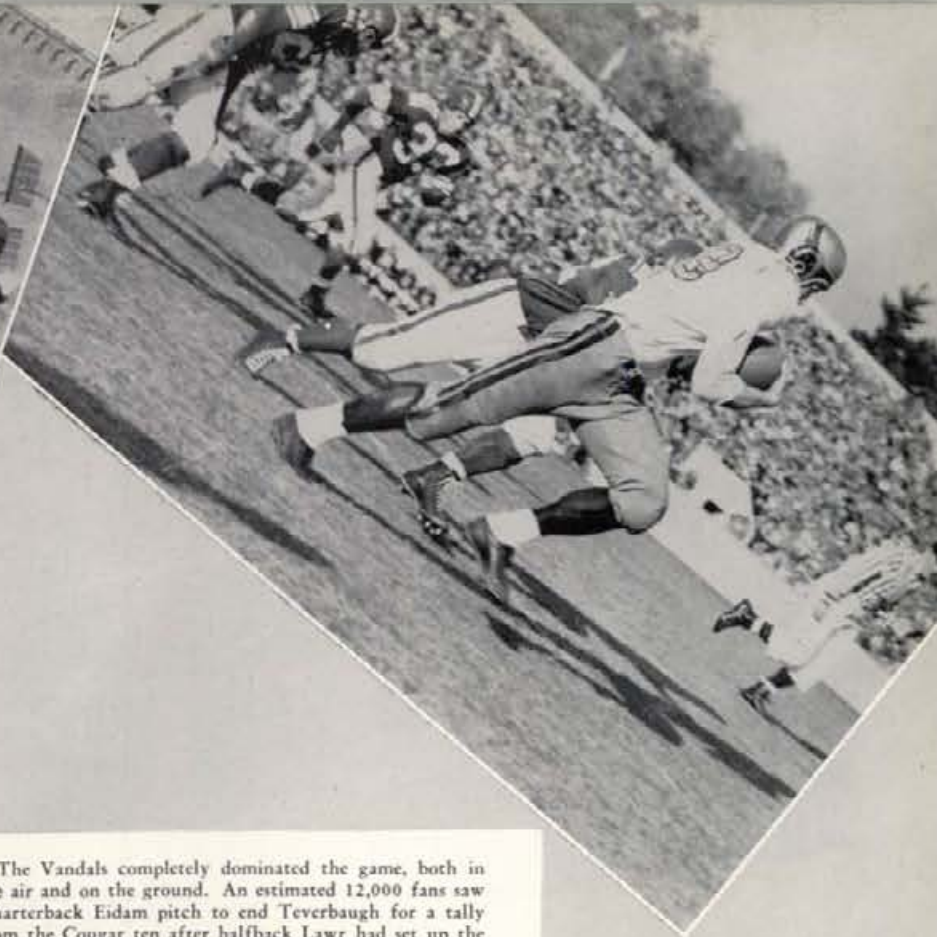

Long after the game was over, and the goal posts were down, the final score of IDAHO 10, WSC 0 was chanted throughout the Idaho campus. The University even gave an extra day for celebration as the annual walk trend was broken.

The Vandals completely dominated the game, both in the air and on the ground. An estimated 12,000 fans saw Quarterback Eidam pitch to end Teverbaugh for a tally from the Cougar ten after halfback Lawr had set up the play with a 63 yard dash. Hess converted for a half-time margin of seven points. Idaho's second drive came in the third quarter and halted on the Cougar nine. Center Leppke split the uprights with a perfect field goal for the insurance.

The talented toe of Captain Burdette Hess led the victory-hungry Vandals to their second straight victory of the season in a 14-13 decision over the University of Utah Redskins on their home field. Coming from behind in the third quarter, the Idahoans struck when big Gerry Leigh recovered a Redskin fumble on the enemy twenty-yard line, and skatback Wilbur Gary drove over into the end zone for the tying score. Hess again kicked the extra point, to give the Vandals the decision.

Dad's Day at the University of Idaho was a huge success, due in large part to the 45-0 triumph of the Vandals over the hapless North Dakota Bisons. The Vandals scored almost at will, being held scoreless only in the fourth quarter. Wilbur Gary raced 89 yards for the first Idaho T.D. on the Vandals' second play. In the second period halfback Bill Lawr recovered a dropped ball after the kickoff and ran all the way for another Idaho insurance tally.

Idaho wound up the successful 1954 football season with its fourth straight victory by a slim 7-0 win over the victory-hungry Brigham Young University Cougars. The Vandals outmatched the Cougars in nearly every department statistically in the thriller.

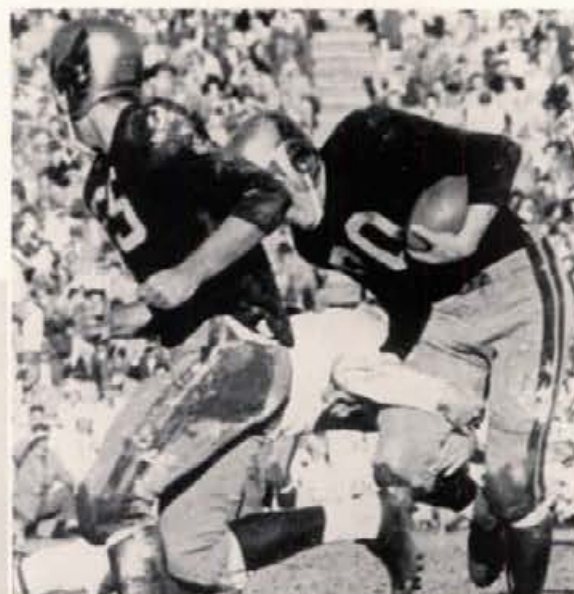

The Idaho score came in the second quarter when halfback Bill Lawr bulled over from the three-yard line. Captain Burdette Hess booted the extra point. Sparkling in the victory were Ray Bittner, Ron Braden and Ken Bratlie.

Hats off to a Top Staff

This year's coaching staff might well be dubbed "The Miracle Boys of '55." With the exception of Clem Parberry, every one of them was entering his first year at Idaho. A new Mercury was presented to Head Coach J. Neil "Skip" Stahley as a token of appreciation, and exultant cries were heard from heretofore dormant alums all over the state, as the Vandals rolled to their most successful football season in years. Able assistance was given to Skip by Earl Klapstein, line coach; Gene Stauber, end coach; Jay Pattee, backfield; Clem Parberry, frosh coach; King Block and Flip Kleffner, assistant frosh coaches; and Colin Campbell, senior manager. Under their able direction, next year should well be a successful one in Vandal football.

Coach Harlan Hodges spent his first year at Idaho faced with a relatively short team in a tall Northern Division, and had to make this up with ball control and speed. This he did with success, alternating low scoring with defensive ball control with fast break ball. But next year should prove far more successful than was the 1954-1955 season. The Vandal freshman team was the finest in years, compiling a 14-2 record, losing only to the University of Washington freshmen and the Whitworth Junior Varsity teams. Freshman coach Clem Parberry's boys will provide a large portion of next year's varsity team which will travel east next fall to meet such teams as Kentucky and LaSalle.

Northern Division Play

In Northern Division play, the Vandal hoopsters staged one of the biggest surprises the conference has seen in some time by use of the "Vandal Stall." The Idaho team initiated the slow moving, low scoring game centered on ball control and pulling the defensive team out so clear shooting is possible. This was first used successfully against the University of Washington Huskies, and reached its peak in the University of Oregon series at Moscow, where the ball didn't change hands for as long as five minutes at a time.

Although still lacking height and experience, the Five Iron Men, Bob Falash, Jim Sather, Bill Bauscher, Jay Buhler and Lefty Melton aided by the second string, Don Monson, were able to keep the Vandals out of the Northern Division cellar to tie for fourth place with the WSC Cougars.

The Vandals climbed out of the Northern Division at the expense of the Washington Huskies in the final game of the season as substitute Johnnie Sullivan dropped in a free throw to give the Vandals an 80-79 edge over the Huskies. After dropping the game the night before 84-77, the final game was a thriller as the score changed hands several times. Jay Buhler and Jim Sather exchanged hands with point honors, Buhler scoring 22 the first and Sather dropping in 21 in the clincher.

The Vandals opened the season in Seattle, and caught the Huskies unaware when they inaugurated the "Vandal Stall" in a 52-44 victory after dropping the opener 86-53.

The Duck series was perhaps the slowest series in Northern Division play since before the war, where the Idaho Stall was effectively put into use by both clubs. In a 41-40 Duck victory, at one time the Vandals held the ball for as long as five minutes without being guarded, and one and two minute "freezes" on the ball by either team early in the game were not unusual at all. At one point Oregon's big Jim Loscutoff and Idaho's Lefty Melton sat near the side lines and played a game of tick tack toe. (This too was a Duck victory.)

The high point in the series came at Eugene where the Vandals dumped any hopes of Oregon winning the Northern Division by waxing their hosts 65-50. The following night the Ducks returned the compliment and took Idaho 70-44. In their first meeting the Oregonians were successful in stopping the Vandals.

In the Oregon State series, the Vandals' lack of height showed up strongest as the Idahos watched 7-3 Beaver Swede Halbbrook take 32 and 38 rebounds in the final two games respectively. The brightest spot goes to Jim Sather, Idaho center, who was dwarfed 11 inches by his opponent, yet scored 25 points one night against the big man.

In the two games played in Memorial Gymnasium, the Vandals led or held close until late in the final half before the games were decided in the Beavers' favor. The scores of these two games were 52-59 and 53-65. This was the only series where the Vandals emerged winless in all four games.

After being the only successful victor of Oregon State College this season, the Washington State Cougars were stopped cold and dumped into the cellar by the Vandals in their final meeting of the season. Led by the high scoring of Jay Buhler with 26 points, and the excellent defensive play of Jim Sather and Bob Falash who held high scoring Cougars Bill Rehder to 3 out of 17 field goals and Captain Ron Bennink to 2 for 12, the Vandals completely overpowered the Cougars throughout the whole game.

Earlier in the season the Vandals beat the Cougars 73-75 in an overtime game. Without the services of Iron Man Harlan Melton, who fouled out early in the second half, the day was saved by reserve Don Monson and Bill Bauscher, who put in long shots all evening. Bob Falash was high scorer for the game. Still earlier, the Vandals lost to the Cougars 60-68 and 53 to 39.

The strong Vandal-Babe basketball team for 1955 was one of the strongest in Idaho history, compiling a 12-2 record for the season, losing only to the University of Washington freshman, after whipping them the night before, and to the Whitworth Junior Varsity team.

Probably going up to varsity next year will be leading scorer 6-5 Jack Mitchell, 6-5 Jerry Jorgenson, 6-6 center Bob Goold, 6 foot guard Gary Simmons, 6-7 forward Jim Branom, and 6-4 forward Roger Walser. Also strong will be Mark Cole, Bob Prestel, Gary Sather, Bill Wilson, Brent Thomson, Charlie Capps and Herb Hill.

Idaho Swimmers Improve

Varsity swimmers completed the 1955 tank season with a record of two wins and four defeats. The lone wins came against Eastern Washington College of Education where the Vandals opened the season with a 65-18 win over Cheney and finished the regular season with a 57-27 victory.

In Northern Division play the Vandals showed especially strong in the ND meet in Eugene, where the Idaho team emerged fourth, beating out the host Ducks. Coach Eric Kirkland stated that was the best showing the Vandals had put on since he came here eight years ago. The strong University of Washington team, unbeaten in regular play since 1942 again took the title, with WSC second and Oregon State third.

During the season the Vandals lost 53-30 to the Cougars, 52-31 to the Beavers and were overpowered 57-25 by the U. of Washington Huskies. The Oregon State Ducks edged Idaho 53-41.

Vandals Win Northwest NCAA

Compiling the best record of any varsity sport this year was the Vandal skiing team, undoubtedly one of the finest in the whole country. Filled with star Norwegian champion skiers, the Vandals placed high in every tournament they entered, capturing second place in the Kimberly, British Columbia meet, third in the Intercollegiate ski meet at Banff, Alberta, and first in the NCAA Regional meet at Stevens Base, Washington. Leading point getters for the Vandals this year were Eirik Berggren; Reidar Ullevaalseter, second year Vandal skier; and Helge Gagnum. Others outstanding on the team were John Harrington and Byran Ringheim. All with the exception of John Harrington are Norwegian championship skiers, at the university on scholarships. The team is coached by Ron Byers.

Vandal Skier National Champion

Since the University of Idaho was unable to send the ski team to Norwich University, Vermont, for the national NCAA ski meet which the Vandal skiers earned the right to enter at the regional meet at Stevens Pass, Washington, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta, national fraternities on campus, sent Eirik Berggren and Reidar Ullevaalseter respectively back to the tournament. Because it takes three men to compile a team, the two skiers were not able to represent the University in team points, but together with one other skier, Coach Ron Byers stated that Idaho would have won the intercollegiate crown. Even so, Eirik Berggren won the Nordic Combined jumping and cross-country to become a National Champion Skier. Reidar Ullevaalseter also placed high in jumping, downhill and slalom.

The Vandal Varsity

The University of Idaho baseball team had one of its poorest seasons in the school's history this year as the Vandals went winless in thirteen straight Northern Division games this year after winning six straight preconference matches against the professional Lewis and Clark Broncs and Spokane Indians. Hampered by the slowest season in years, the preseason practice was greatly limited to the field house, and some practice in Lewiston, but was entirely insufficient for Northern Division play. Bright spots in the preseason play was .571 hitting by third baseman Flip Kleffner, and excellent support by Don Monson, first base at .368; Ron Braden, left field at .333; catcher, Jim Howard, .298; and Nick Polillo, second sacker at .272.

Other preseason wins were over EWCE, Whitman and Whitworth after losing a pair to Montana State and one to Whitman.

Head Coach Clem Parberry's boys must be congratulated for spirit never dying after such a discouraging season. The boys played heads-up ball at every game and really gave out the "Big I" effort, but the breaks just weren't with the Vandals. Again the adage, "wait until next year" must prevail in Vandal land, and the Vandals will be a building club next year with the loss of such stars as Flip Kleffner, second string Northern Division third baseman, who has starred for the Vandals for four years; iron man Bob Falash, hard-working and hardhitting center fielder; Don Monson, outstanding first baseman; ace pitchers Dick Dodel and Aubrey Stephens; cleanup hitter and catcher Jim Howard, and outfielder Reggie Frazier. Next year the Idaho club will have to rely strongly on sophomores, who in a successful season are strong in pitching and hitting needed greatly by the varsity squad.

Pitcher Aubrey Stephens

Idaho opened its disastrous season against a strong University of Washington club, losing both ends of a twin bill at Moscow, and the two at Seattle. Bright spots in the series were a six-hit ball game pitched by Aubrey Stephens in a second game, 5-4; .467 hitting by Ron Braden for the series, .400 hitting by Ray Copeland in his two games, and a three for four hitting by pitcher Dick Dodel in the two games he pitched against the Huskies. The scores for the four games were 6-3, 15-3, 12-6, 4-3.

The Season in Brief...

The Vandals lost two chances to break into the win column against the WSC Cougars, but the rally broke down in the seventh when the Vandals were within one run of tying the Cougars, and then the Cougars broke loose in the eighth to score six more runs as they blasted four Idaho pitchers. In the third game of the series, the Vandals fell short two runs as the Cougars broke an eighth inning tie and took the game 5-3. Flip Kleffner, recently switched to shortstop, was the big gun for the Vandals, hitting 5 for 10 for an even .500. Bob Falash also had his eye in the WSC series, breaking an even .300, and Joe Lothrop hit a sizzling .375 in the two games he played. The other two game scores were 9-5 and 12-6.

Veteran University of Oregon pitcher Terry Maddox handcuffed the Vandals in two of the three games played with Oregon this year, and he relieved Blodgett in the third game. Aubrey Stephens lost another by a small margin as he pitched five-hit ball against the Webfoots in Eugene in a pitchers' duel against Maddox in a series of rain, snow, and hail. However, the Vandals' biggest loss was that of leading hitter Ron Braden, who separated his right shoulder in a diving catch.

Outstanding in Vandal hitting were Nick Polillo and Reggie Frazier, and leading Vandal hitter Ron Braden in the one game he played. Jim Howard hit the longest ball of the series, tripling in the second game, and Don Monson played excellent defensive ball throughout the series. Scores were 2-0, 15-9, 7-3.

Led by homers from Bob Boub and Phil Jantze, the Oregon State Beavers swamped the hapless Vandals in their two-game series, 16-3, and 15-5. Vandal pitchers couldn't stop the big bats of the Beavers as they took everything the Idahoans could offer. In the game played at McLeane Field, the Vandals lost an early lead in the fourth inning and never again threatened. Again the bright spot in the Vandal hitting department was Flip Kleffner who batted .500 and added a home run to the Idaho cause. Bob Falash and Jim Howard also showed well, both batting above .300. The other two scheduled games of the series, as well as one game with the University of Oregon, were rained out.

Golfers Best in Years

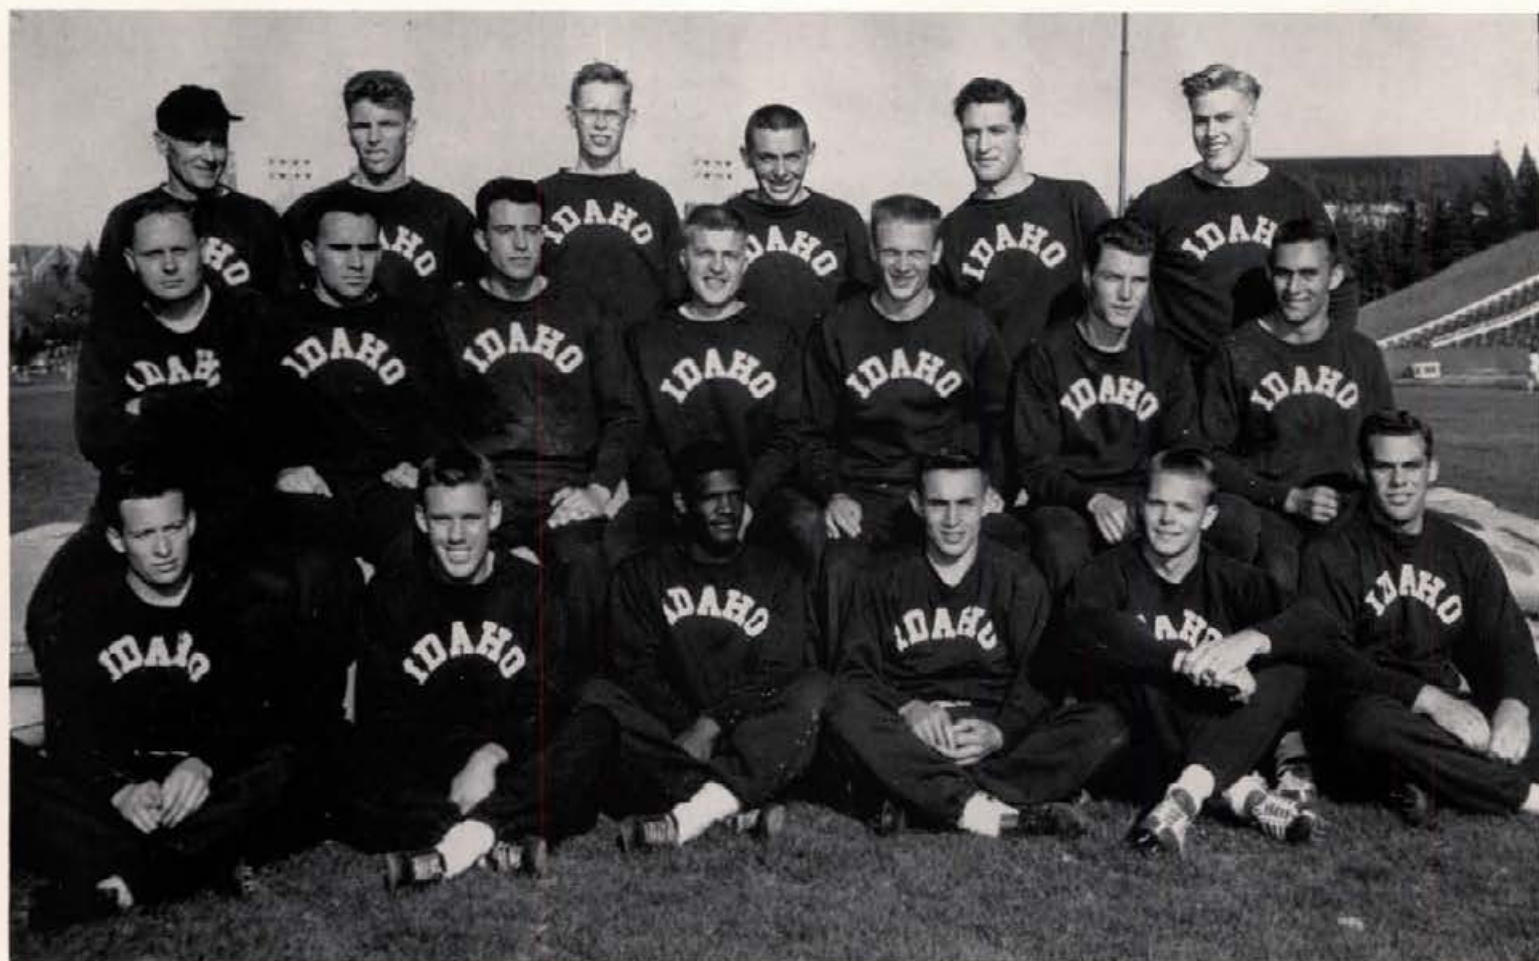

Idaho golfers again showed strong in Northern Division play this year. Sparked by veterans Bob Campbell, Dave Powell and Wayne Solomon, and with top support from sophomore Bob Adamson, the Vandals in regular season play lost only to the University of Washington, 20-7 and 17-1, in Seattle. Returning home, the Idaho club edged Washington State, 14½-12½, and the University of Oregon by the same score, and on the following day took a 16½-10½ victory over the strong Oregon State Beavers. By virtue of these victories, and the fact that they would play on their home course, the Vandals were favored to cop the Northern Division meet, but managed to place only fourth as the strong University of Washington team took the honors.

In preseason and nonconference play, Idaho tied Gonzaga at 7½ apiece and then swamped Whitman, 12½-5½. Other Vandal golfers were Phil McRoberts, Tom Lindley, and Bill Summers, all sophomores; and John Benzin and Jamie Steele, juniors.

Vandal Thinclads

The Vandals lost their only outing in nonconference track by a 70 $\frac{1}{3}$ -60 $\frac{2}{3}$ margin against the Whitworth Pirates. Strangely enough, the Vandals picked up one more first than did the Pirates, but the northern school picked up more second and third places. Coach Joe Glander explained the loss to lack of reserve due to spring football practice. These stars were able to run in the Northern Division meets. Outstanding in the meet was Lou Gourley who won both the two mile and the mile. Gourley ran the fastest mile of his career up to that time at a sizzling 4:23:5. Coach Glander also praised Jay Buhler and Frank Teverbaugh whom he said were instrumental in the Vandal victory in the mile relay.

An improved Idaho track team copped its first Northern Division win in three years, as they defeated the Oregon State Beavers this year to highlight a generally successful track year. Lack of depth was the main reason for the poor showing in several meets, and with a strong freshman team, the Vandals should have a good showing next year. Starring in track this year were Lou Gourley, veteran distance man; Wilbur Gary, sprinter and jumper; hurdler Larry Church; broad jumper and sprinter Bill Bauscher, and co-captain Gary Dixon, however the team was well rounded and even with a heavy toll from graduation, the Vandals should prove strong next year.

Vandals Lose to Washington Teams

Vandals took defeat at the hands of both Washington schools as the Cougars from Washington State handcuffed the Idaho team in a $94\frac{1}{2}$ - $36\frac{1}{2}$ victory and the University of Washington Huskies' depth proved too strong as the Vandals lost 87-44. In the Pullman meet the Vandals picked up five first places as versatile Wilbur Gary tied a meet record set in 1937 by leaping 23 feet $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches in the broad jump. Gary Dixon took first place in the 440 yard dash, and Lou Gourley copped both the mile and two mile. Buzz Hanson took a win in the javelin with a toss of 195 feet, 11 inches.

At Neale Stadium iron-man Lou Gourley again won both the mile and two-mile events as the Huskies' Bob Ledbetter paced the Washington team to victory. Bill Bauscher and Wilbur Gary took first and second in the broad jump and Nick Speropulos tossed the discus 140 feet to win that event. Duane Hodgson threw the javalin 186 feet to edge out Buzz Hanson for first place.

Idaho Splits With Oregon Schools

The high points and low points in Vandal track came this year with Oregon schools. Larry Church won the low hurdles and clinched Idaho's first ND victory in three years as the Vandals took OSC 66 5/6-64 1/6. The Vandals came through to win 9 of the fourteen first place events. The Vandals swept all places in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, with Wilbur Gary and Bill Bauscher copping firsts respectively. Lou Gourley finished some 150 yards ahead of the second place runners in both distance runs. Vandals winning firsts with their record are as follows: 100—Gary :9.9; 220—Bauscher :22.2; 440—Dixon :50.2; Mile—Gourley 4:32.7; 2 mile—Gourley 9:45; 220 low hurdles—Church :24.8; Pole vault—Duffy 12 ft.; Broad jump—Gary 22 ft. 10 7/8 in.; and Discus—Speropulos 138 ft. 9 in.

The story was quite different at Eugene where the Oregon Ducks swept all fifteen first place events in a 103-27 victory over the Vandals. All in all, six meet records fell despite a stiff wind and rain. These were the mile, shot put, javelin, half mile, 220 and two mile events. Top point getter for the Idaho thinclads were Lou Gourley with seconds in the mile and two mile; Buzz Hanson, second in the javelin and third in the high hurdles; Wilbur Gary, second in the broad jump and third in the 100; and Larry Church, third in the broadjump and low hurdles and second in the high hurdles.

Betas Win Intramural Trophy

Beta Theta Pi, after losing an early point lead, came up in softball, track and golf to overtake Phi Delta Theta for the all-campus Intramural Athletics Championship. Although the Betas won only one individual championship, horseshoes, with the exception of bowling and golf, they were in the top three places of every sport to give them enough second and third place points to eke out the runner-up Phi Deltas by 51 points. Third place went to Willis Sweet Hall.

College of Letters and Science

DEAN T. S. KERR
A worthy supervisor of the University's largest college.

This is the oldest and largest division of the University, both in enrollment and number of courses offered. The eight academic divisions of the department are: Art and Architecture, Biological Sciences, Home Economics, Humanities, Mathematics, Music, Physical Sciences, and Social Sciences.

It is in this college that so many students get a well rounded education. Drama students act in well attended plays, debate teams travel far, including Dean Holt and Chuck McDevitt being awarded a trip to West Point, art exhibits—a featured attraction, journalists and others all comprise the college.

A special feature of Letters and Science, is the general course which is offered to entering freshmen who have not decided on a specialized field. From these beginning days in college, through four years of hard work—and fun, and for some, graduate work, many attainments for richer living are acquired.

College of Education

DEAN J. F. WELTZIN

An important part of any University—where students learn to teach others. Idaho is justly proud of its College of Education.

It is here that students learn the basic principles of good teaching techniques for both elementary and secondary schools. Practice teaching five days a week for nine weeks is just one of the many fundamental habits that are acquired. This practical experience proves far more valuable than all of the "Readin', Writin', and 'Rithmetic" that has been a part of your life since beginning school in the first grade or kindergarten.

Dean Weltzin sees to it that every prospective teacher is placed where he wishes. Since there is such a demand for well trained instructors, such as the University of Idaho produces, this is more of an honor than a duty.

College of Engineering

Dean A. S. Janssen

Engineers play a vital part in everyone's life—without them we would not have the buildings of this university, our network of highways, or millions of communication systems. In their field, they apply their knowledge of science, skills, and experiences to the betterment of the entire world.

The University's College of Engineering is recognized one of the finest in the United States and attracts students from all over the country. Although it is only medium in size, it has proven itself outstanding in competition with other Engineering Schools.

Engineers usually specialize in one particular branch of the profession. Some phases are in Agricultural Engineering, Chemical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, or Mechanical Engineering. A career in Engineering holds unlimited opportunities for any young man—the demand for well trained engineers is increasing every day.

College of Agriculture

DEAN D. R. THEOPHILUS

Agriculture has been universally in existence for many centuries. In fact, our earliest records of man find the agricultural science in practice. It is basically necessary for the existence and well-being of man.

Today agriculture has grown into an exacting science, and the University of Idaho can claim the title of being one of the top agricultural schools in our nation. Students come from all parts of the world to learn the skills connected with agriculture that are taught here.

Practicing a three-fold program of teaching, research, and service, the University has a farm of 800 acres with purebred animals and equipment for extensive scientific study. The scientific findings each year are converted into practical improvements and new ways for better utilization of the land and its products.

"The spirit of Idaho runs deep—nowhere is the spirit of loyalty and earnest effort stronger than in those students who attend the College of Agriculture and who seek to draw their future livelihood from Idaho soil."

College of Law

DEAN E. S. STIMSON

The special objectives of the profession of law include a pursuit of the career of a lawyer, a judge, or a law instructor.

The College of Law at the University is affiliated with the Association of American Law Schools which endeavors to improve the legal education in our country. The curriculum offered prepares Idaho law students for general practice in any state in the Union.

The well trained legal scholars that instruct and conduct research for Idaho students supervise courses of study in commercial law, property relationship, public law and administration, and procedure and judicial administration.

College of Business Administration

DEAN DONALD J. HART

In the College of Business, there are majors in seven fields offered which are general business, accounting, economics, foreign trade, merchandising, and advertising, secretarial studies, and extractive industries. A combination curriculum in law and business is also offered. Each major originates from a basic two-year business course.

In 1953, the School of Business changed its title to the College of Business under the supervision of Dean Donald J. Hart. Dean Hart, who has been with the University for approximately five years, previously taught at Carroll College in Wisconsin.

This year there will be 85 undergraduate students receiving degrees and four graduate students who will be awarded Master's degrees.

Excellent opportunities await the student majoring in business training.

Our Class Work

Many hours of practice have made these students' achievements in typing very outstanding. Excellent opportunities await the student who graduates from the University of Idaho's College of Business Administration.

Dr. Graue, an outstandingly capable Professor of the Business College gives some students a little help with their problems.

College of Mines

DEAN J. D. FORRESTER

The School of Mines was created in 1917 because of the importance of mineral mining in Idaho. Included in the school are mining, geological and metallurgical engineering. A varied collection of casts and fossils along with thin-sectioning apparatus, microscopes, topographic and geologic maps is found in the school.

September 1, 1954, marked the arrival of the new Dean of Mines, Dean J. D. Forrester. Previously Dean Forrester resided in Rolla, Missouri, where he was chairman of the Department of Mining Engineering as Missouri's School of Mines and Metallurgy. From 1939 to 1944, Dean Forrester was head of the department of Geology and Geography at the University of Idaho.

At present Dean Forrester, besides being head of the Department of Mines, is also a professor of mining and geology, head of department of Mining and Metallurgy, director of Idaho's Bureau of Mines and Geology.

The School of Mines will be graduating eleven undergraduate students and four Master's degrees will be awarded.

During the school year a number of field trips are planned to nearby areas of mining and to metallurgical plants for laboratory study.

On November 23, 1954, the first field trip was taken to Orofino, Idaho. The trip proved to be very successful and much was gained from it.

College of Forestry

DEAN ERNEST WOHLITZ

One of the nation-wide attractions of the University of Idaho is its renowned College of Forestry. Because of its top national rating for excellent training in the field of forestry, Idaho usually has at least one representative from every state in the Union. Students are kept busy with studies of forests, fish, ranges, wildlife, plants, game birds and wood utilization in laboratories and classrooms.

One of the highlights of earning a degree in forestry at Idaho is the eight-week summer camp held in the intriguing woodlands surrounding the Payette Lakes near McCall.

As well as being surrounded by dense treelife, the foresters have a tree nursery which produces stock for planting throughout Idaho and a large arboretum which shows off its 150 varieties of trees which are especially spectacular in the fall of the year.

Summer Camp

Ralph serves as hungry foresters get their share of the sizzling steaks at the Meadow Creek steak fry. Wonder if these boys worked hard enough to deserve steaks!

Graduate School

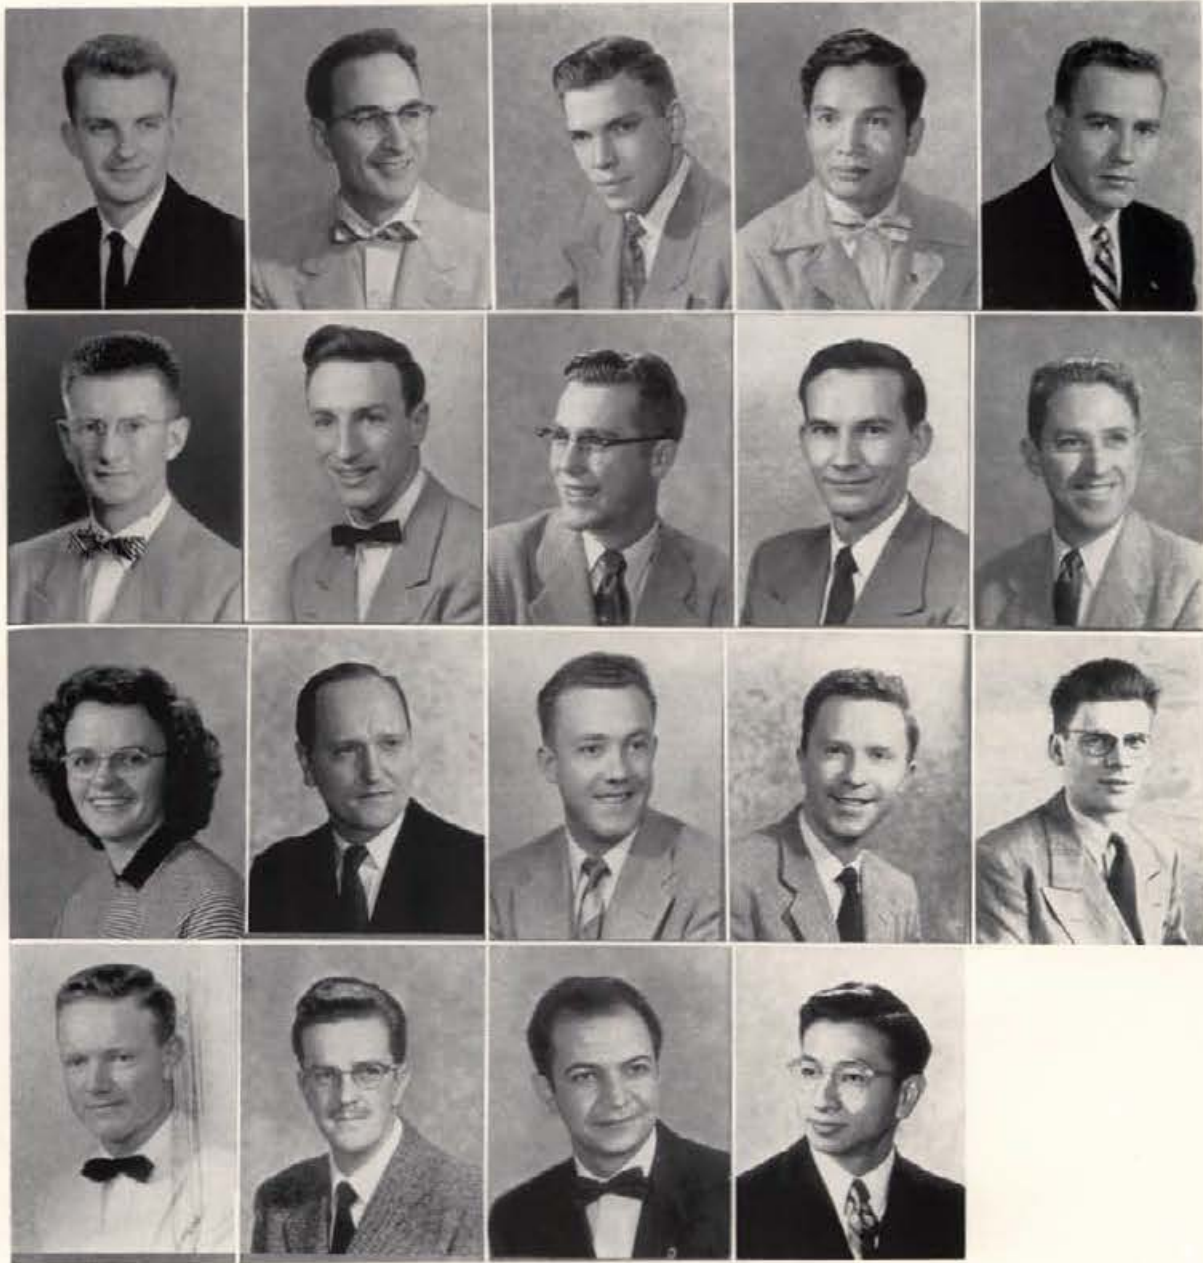

DEAN L. C. GADY

At our University forty-four departments in the various schools and colleges offer majors leading to a Master's Degree . . . a result of numerous hours of hard work on graduate theses, research projects, and comprehensive written exams. Many of the research projects carried out aim at the solution of some problem confronting an industry or community in Idaho, or to further basic knowledge in the development of our state.

For some, the four-year college course is not sufficient preparation for positions in many occupations represented by undergraduate schools, and they seek to better prepare themselves for life by more education at the graduate level. The Graduate School surrounds its students with those influences which will prepare them for leadership in their chosen field. These projects which ultimately lead them to a degree from the graduate school are carried on in various regions over the Northwest.

The projects carried on by the graduate students of the University are numerous and varied. Here we glimpse a few students at work, as they are now working in all parts of the Northwest.

I say . . . Whose epitaph is this . . .

The fall of 1954 found me with the job of Editor of the 1955 GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS. A position which I did not expect to have for another year. My first job was to select two Associate Editors and several staff heads who would work together with me in producing this annual. In this book you will find the results that these individuals have accomplished during the year.

You will not find any drastic changes in the GEM this year. We have simply tried to record the events that have occurred at Idaho throughout the year, and hope you will recall many pleasant memories as you thumb through your book.

After much phenagling we received permission to use the Mr. MaGoo cartoon. Through MaGoo we have tried to depict various phases of college life as we see it. We hope you like him. The Beauty section is a little different than it has been. Another change we hope you will like. Delta Sigs, we finally got your Queen in the Beauty section. We have been criticized by various living groups on the copy that has been written for them in the past. This year we decided each group could write its own. Their copy is exactly as was turned in to us. We have accidentally left out a few class pictures. But this was not purposely done, so please accept our sincere apologies. We have tried to spell the names correctly, using the Kampus Key as a guide.

An Editor always has many people to thank for the work they have contributed in the publication of the GEM. First on my list is Gale Mix. Gale has helped with many GEMS and understands the production of an annual from the beginning to the end. Throughout the year he always gave us the help we needed. To show our appreciation we decided to dedicate the GEM to him. We tried to keep it a secret, but we had to take his picture so many times that I am sure he caught on. Through his efforts four of us were able to go to Seattle and visit the Artcraft Engraving Co. At the engravers we saw exactly what happens to our pictures and learned many things which will make for a better GEM in the future.

Next I would like to thank Bob Lindborg and Al Salisbury of Artcraft Engraving for the help they have given us during the year especially on the MaGoo cartoons. Also for the patience they have shown when we didn't always mount our pictures correctly or get them in on the exact date. Certainly not to be forgotten is Mr. Swanson of Caxton Printers in Caldwell. I am sure there were many times when he would like to have had more copy, but his silence on the subject was greatly appreciated here in Moscow.

Without my fine staff, I am sure the GEM would not have amounted to much. Filling the positions of Associate Editors were Keith MacPhee and Jamie Steele—both doing fine jobs. My staff heads included Lorna Hobdey, Judy Crookham, Carolyn Sanderson, Marlin Briggs, Shirley Byrne, Jim Asaph, Rowena Hasbrouck, and Louise Tatko. I think these individuals probably got rather tired of hearing me ask them how much copy they were going to have for each deadline. But in spite of my worries at times they all did their work very well. I mustn't forget our photographers, Bob Stolley, Arden Literal, and Everett Headrick. Nor must I forget the girls who drew the MaGoo cartoons, Nan Soden, Mary Snow, and Sue Dolphin.

We had only one real near catastrophe this year. We seemingly lost about twenty-five pages of names for part of the classes section. After several of us had sprouted a few gray hairs, we discovered the pages stuck together under some pictures in the GEM offices.

So here you have the GEM for '55. I hope you like it, and if you don't then bring in your criticisms to the Editor for '56, Jamie Steele.
