The times we shared together are remembered now only in my mind.

Living and working with each other, mingled with moments of escaping to be myself.

*A small but important part,
shaping today's world
with yesterday's memories.*

*Another chapter in the unwritten biography of my life,
never to be experienced again,*

Homecoming features "Reflections" for alumni

U of I alumni returned to their alma mater during Homecoming Weekend, October 19, to reflect on their past college experiences. LuAnn Hanes, a Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge, reigned over Homecoming activities as Miss U of I.

Animated floats and an abundance of fire engines highlighted the Saturday morning parade. Under a hot sky 16,500 fans witnessed the Idaho Vandals recover from a three-touchdown deficit to tie the Montana Grizzlies 35-35. A Saturday night dance in the SUB ballroom closed Homecoming '74.

Independents take men's intramural football crown

Via a stunning upset win over Alpha Tau Omega, Lindley Hall gave the independent side of campus its first intramural football crown in many years. Roy Baldwin of Lindley scored the only touchdown in the 7-2 thriller. Lindley trounced the law school team, TMA-1, to gain the GDI berth in the championship game, while ATO defeated SAE to represent the Greeks.

FINAL STANDINGS BY GROUPS:

BELOW: Sorority girls join in the age-old struggle of tug o' war.*

Greek Week ended in the fun of a street fair and the SAE Olympics, emphasizing the public image of fraternities as good-time places. But to be Greek means more than frolic and occasional overdone pranks. Special days during the week underscored the serious side of fraternity life, including service projects in which the houses use fun to raise funds for volunteer groups and charities.

*Richardson expresses his views on
"Watergate."*

Speaking to a standing room only crowd, former Attorney General Elliot Richardson presents his views on the Watergate Conspiracy. Himself an innocent victim of Nixon's attempted coverup, Richardson concludes that Watergate will result in a new era of more open government.

In a question and answer period following the speech, the former Attorney General replies to student inquiries about his political career and his role in the Watergate investigations.

*Community involvement

ADMINISTRATION

AND COLLEGES

Hartung takes sabbatical, leaving University . . .

Dr. Ernest W. Hartung began his tenth year as President of the University of Idaho with a sabbatical leave. Dr. Hartung travelled extensively, gathering information from such sources as state governmental agencies, the forest service, banks and major Idaho corporations and industries. This information-gathering constituted an exploration of Idaho's growth potential.

The sabbatical experience gave Pre. Hartung a different perspective on the state, the University, and how each can help the other. He has formulated a five-year plan of development for the University of Idaho, to be presented to the Board of Regents.

Able to work at his own speed, and removed from the constant duties and distractions of the President's office, Dr. Hartung found the sabbatical relaxing and refreshing. Dr. Hartung and his wife, Mary, have three children.

Dr. Robert Coonrod, Academic Vice-President, received the title of Acting President of the University. He actually had few major responsibilities beyond his accustomed vice-presidential duties. The Academic Vice-President chairs the Budget Hearing Board, holds responsibility for planning and prioritizing, and oversees faculty promotions and tenure, plus other faculty and personnel matters. Dr. Coonrod received his undergraduate education in Missouri and earned the doctorate at Stanford in 1950. He has been Academic Vice-President since 1969. Dr. Carter has also held his current position since 1969, while Dr. Richardson accepted his position in 1972.

College of Agriculture

Under the direction of Dean Auttis M. Mullins, the College of Agriculture trains students in the most important industry in the state of Idaho—agriculture. World food shortages, pressure on preservation of the environment, and the emphasis on ecology offer challenges which these young people are preparing to accept.

Job placements for agriculture graduates are increasing as inflation and the energy crisis focuses attention on the importance of food production, processing, preservation and distribution.

College of Business

The College of Business and Economics under the direction of Dean Norman Olson provides students with a sound background in the basic principles and in research possibilities which will help them as they advance into positions of responsibility.

The college also aims to give its students an appreciation of the social importance and responsibilities of businessmen.

Through the Bureau of Business and Economic Research, the college is able to contribute to the advancement of knowledge about the state and its business activities. In addition, faculty and students have the opportunity to engage in basic research.

Modern computer facilities and data processing equipment keep the program ahead of changing business methods which is necessary in preparing students for the business world.

College of Letters and Science

Having sixteen departments, the College of Letters and Science is the most diversified of all the colleges. In the College of Letters and Science are music, English, sociology/anthropology, political science, psychology, art and architecture, foreign languages, chemistry, physics, history, theater arts, communications, home economics, mathematics, biological sciences, and WAMI.

Elmer Raunio, Dean of the College of Letters and Science, came to Moscow in 1949. He was a professor in the chemistry department until 1970, when he became the acting Dean of Letters and Science.

The largest change in the college this year was the changing of freshman English to pass-fail. Dean Raunio considers this change in the "best interest of the students", since it allows students who know their English to bypass their first semester of it.

EVERETT SAMUELSON
Dean of Education

College of Education

According to Dean Everett Samuelson, the major thrust this year on the College of Education is to reorganize the structure of the college, following a reevaluation of priorities to meet the needs of students and society. The new Teacher Education Center in Lewiston helps to meet education students' needs. The Center intends to change the nine-week student teaching practicum to a full-semester integrated experience. The Center is run in cooperation with the school district and Lewis-Clark State College.

Dean Samuelson has headed the College of Education for twelve years. He is now the senior dean at the University of Idaho.

College of Engineering

The College of Engineering, under the direction of Dean Robert Ferguson, provides an important part of the varied curriculum at the University of Idaho. It offers degrees in agricultural, chemical, civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering.

The number of students enrolled in the college followed a nationwide trend last year and reached a new low, but this year it is rising again. The current enrollment is 469.

Most students have no trouble finding work upon graduation. With 116 companies interviewing on campus during the year for engineers most students are placed in jobs by the time they graduate.

College of Forestry

Under the direction of Dean John Ehrenreich the College of Forestry provides the University with the faculty, classrooms and laboratories, the scientific equipment, plant and animal collections necessary for the highest quality instruction to prepare students for careers in the fields of forestry, wildlife, and range sciences.

The college has an enrollment of about 604 students representing 29 states and a few foreign countries.

Timber products for consumption constitutes the second most important industry in Idaho which makes the college of forestry an important asset to the state of Idaho, by preparing individuals for careers in the field.

College of Law

The University of Idaho is the only college of law in the state. 254 students currently attend classes in the college's two year old building. A modern library and an eleven-member faculty headed by Dean Menard prepare the students for their Bar examinations after three years of study.

College of Mines

The College of Mines is concerned with all aspects of earth science and technology. The college, directed by Dean John Bond, offers a very broad spectrum of courses that all pertain to the earth, to man and his environment. Much work is under-way on pollution control and land use planning.

Ronald Start, Dean

Graduate School

The Graduate School is currently undergoing a careful review of all areas. The Board of Regents desires that low-productivity programs be satisfactorily justified. Meanwhile, grad students keep busy teaching, creating, studying, researching and visiting the Graduate School offices in Morrill Hall.

Campus Chest Week provides fun for students and money for charity

Students raised over $3000 for charity during Campus Chest Week, April 1 to 5. Besides the events below, students participated on slave sales, dinner date sales, hashing, and a dance at which contest winners received awards. Of the donations, $1000 went to United Way. The rest was divided between Special Olympics (for handicapped children), Mountain States Tumor Institute, and March of Dimes.

REFLECTIONS

*Alone and yet together
I build a future for my person.*

*Among these firm brick buildings
housed with knowledge
I have ventured seeking to gain the wisdom which
I could use as an implement of life.*

Testing my wings on the breeze,

*I journey down
the road of life
confident that I am prepared.*

But now...

...I am tired of books

*I long to escape
to the green fields and quiet seclusion of life.*

*My mind seeks to experience
what print and ink
cannot teach ...*

Summer awaits me.
