Gibbons Takes On “Stalking Mother Nature’s Market”

Euell Gibbons, 64-year-old naturalist and author, renown for his advertisements promoting hickory nut breakfast cereal, made an appearance at the U of I on September 25 in the SUB Ballroom.

“Stalking Mother Nature’s Market” was the topic of Gibbons’ speech, sponsored by the ASUI Issues and Forum Committee. The program featured a discussion and slide show of the varied fruits, berries, greens and vegetables growing throughout the U.S.

ADMINISTRATION

AND COLLEGES.

President Hartung

President Hartung submitted a five year plan for the U of I to the Board of Regents in June 1975.

The 72 page plan layed down the overall goals and objectives of the University for the period 1975 to 1980.

The plan, which was intended to serve as a point of departure for discussions and planning, described funding as the major problem facing the U of I.

The area of primary emphasis for the next five years will be on Special education programs at the U of I, according to Hartung.

Initiates Five Year Plan

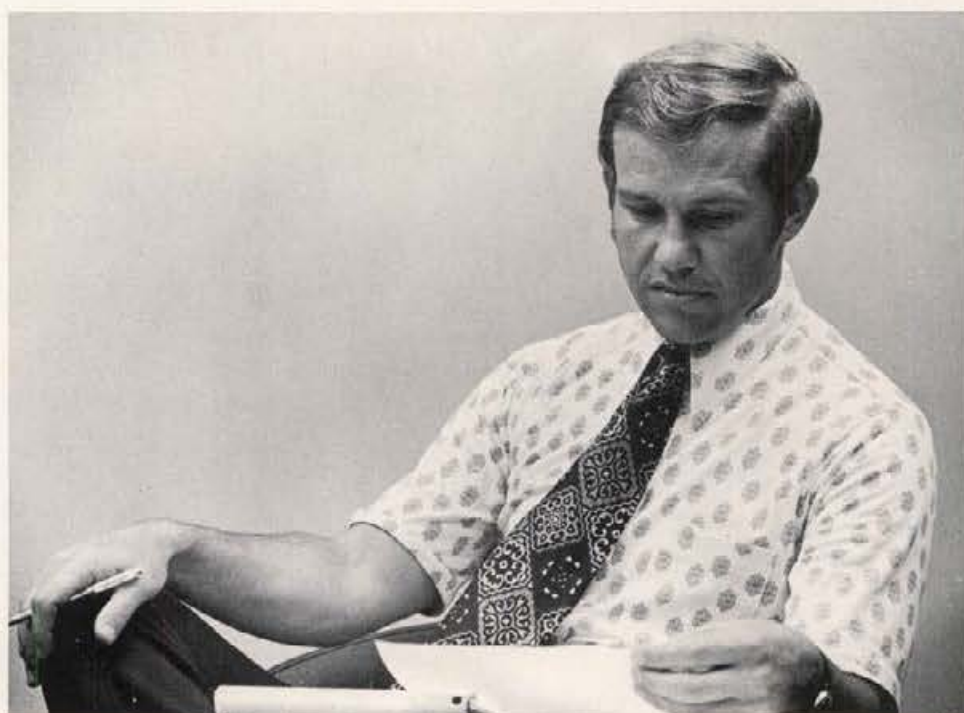

Administration Undergoes Changes

With the completion of the Kibbie ASUI Dome, and the resignation of Frank McCreary as Director of University Relations and Development, the U of I underwent two administrative changes this year.

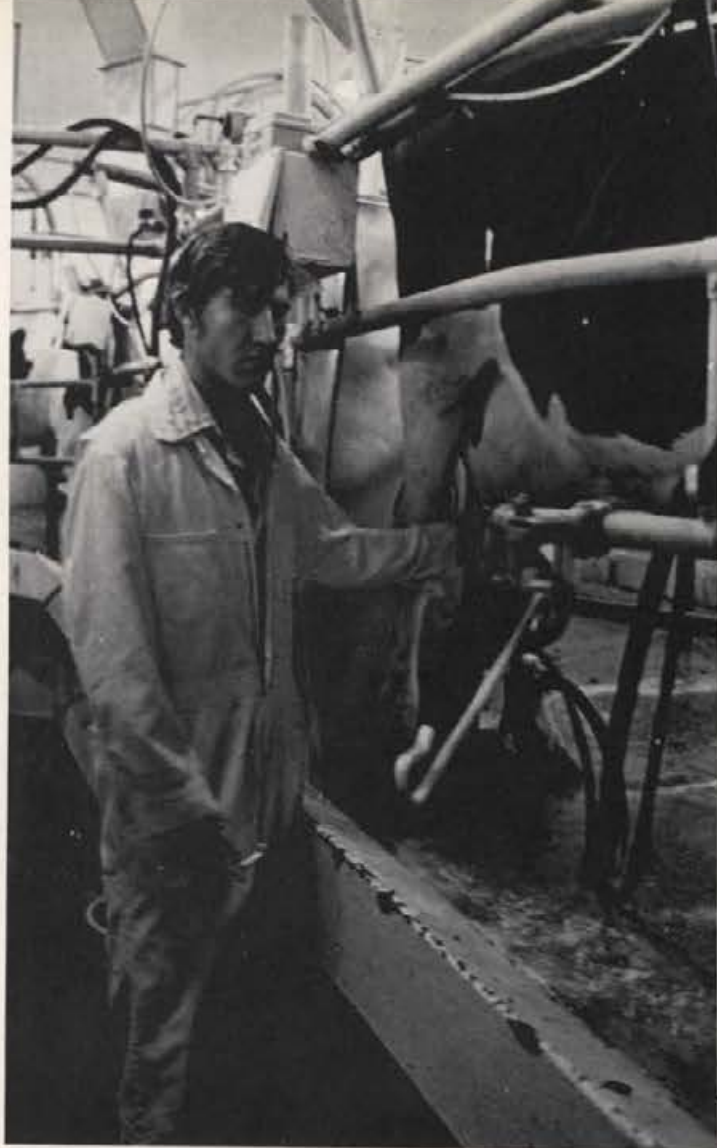

Dennis Hedges was hired as manager of the Kibbie Dome; a position created when the dome was completed just prior to the opening of the fall semester.

Carolyn Cron was appointed to the vacancy created by the resignation of McCreary in November and is now in the administration under the title of Director of University Relations.

College Of Agriculture

More than 500 students were enrolled in the College of Agriculture this year. Of these students, many reflected the attitude of wanting to learn all facets of scientific agriculture in order to solve future problems and provide more food for the hungry people of the world.

Dean Auttis M. Mullins said all indicators point toward continued excellent job opportunities in the field with good salaries and advancements.

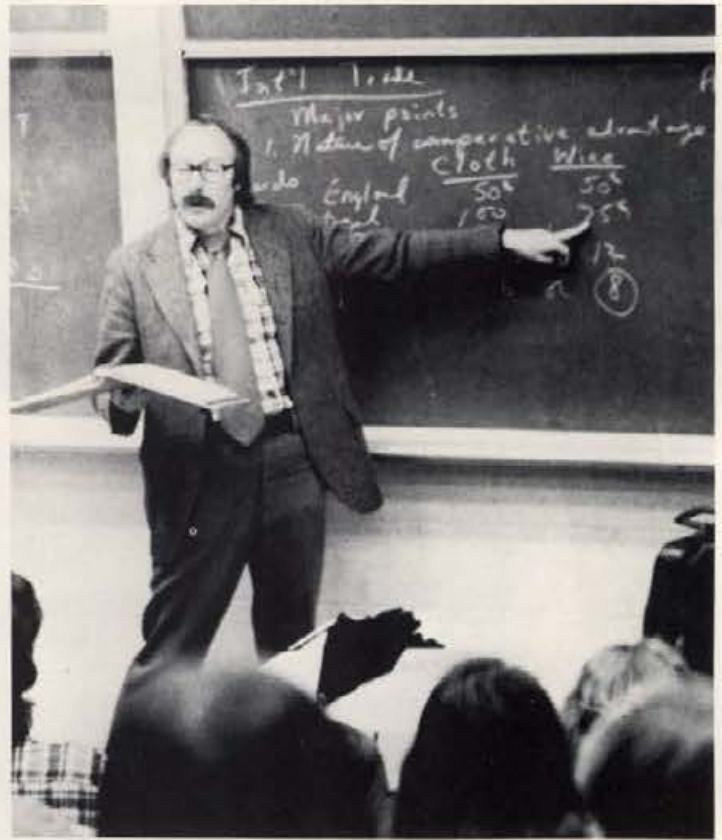

College Of Business

The College of Business under the direction of Dean Norman Olson, strives to teach its students basic principles, skills, and responsibilities of business.

Enrollment in the college this year consisted of 670 students in the spring.

The College offers a B.S. degree in Business in 11 different subject areas. They are accounting, business and applied science, business law, economics, finance, marketing, marketing real estate option, management, general business and office administration.

College Of Education

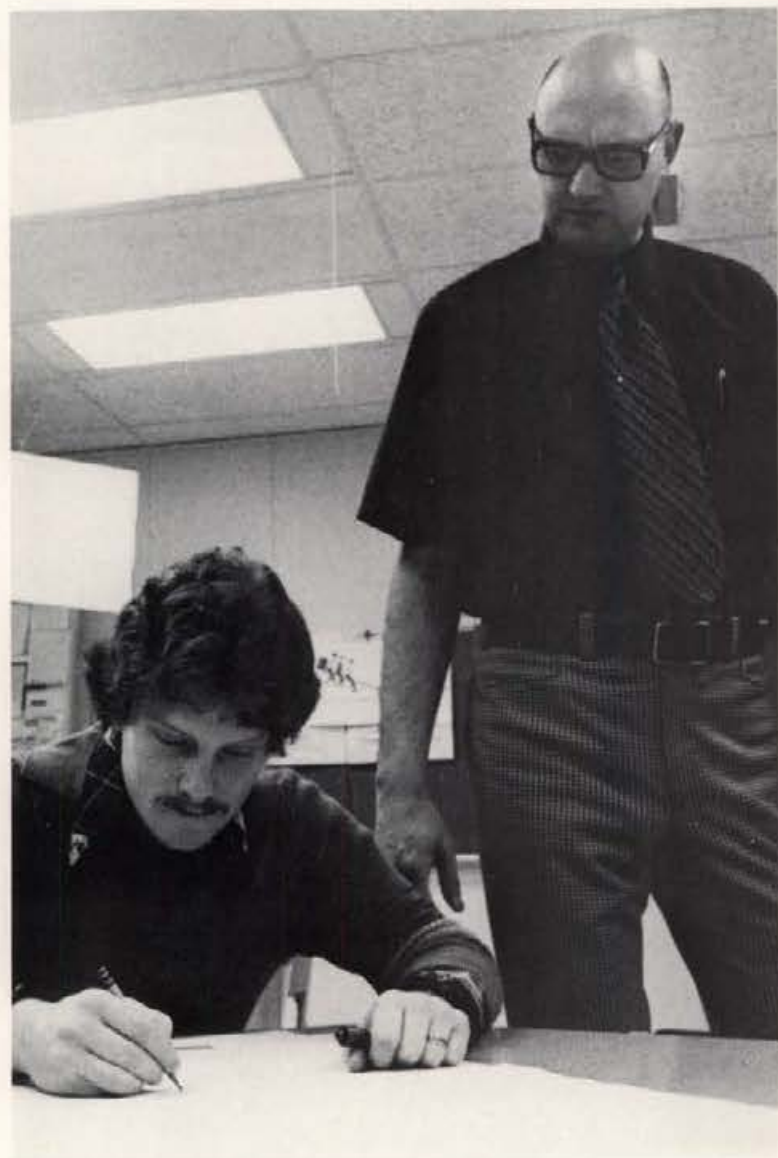

The College of Education has been headed by Dean Everett Samuelson for the last 13 years.

Although, the college witnessed a decrease in enrollment this year, credit hour registration has steadily increased. This year the total hours was up to 11,500.

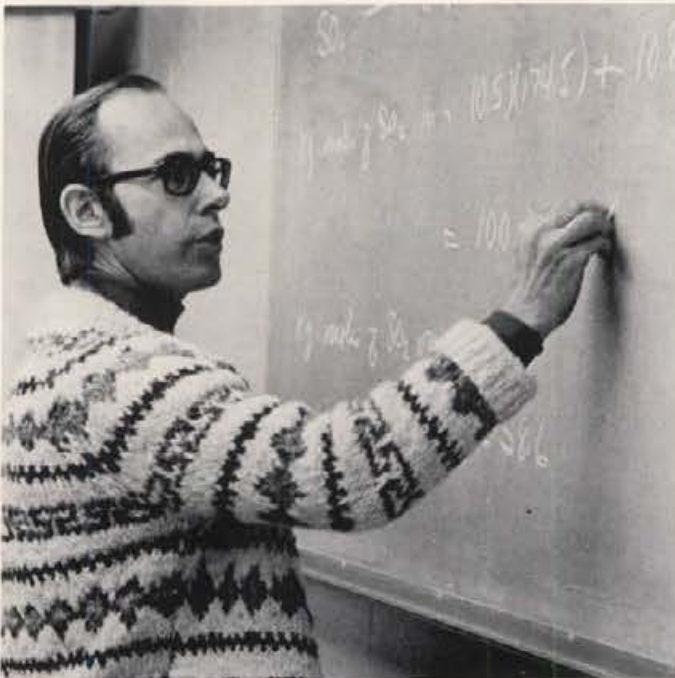

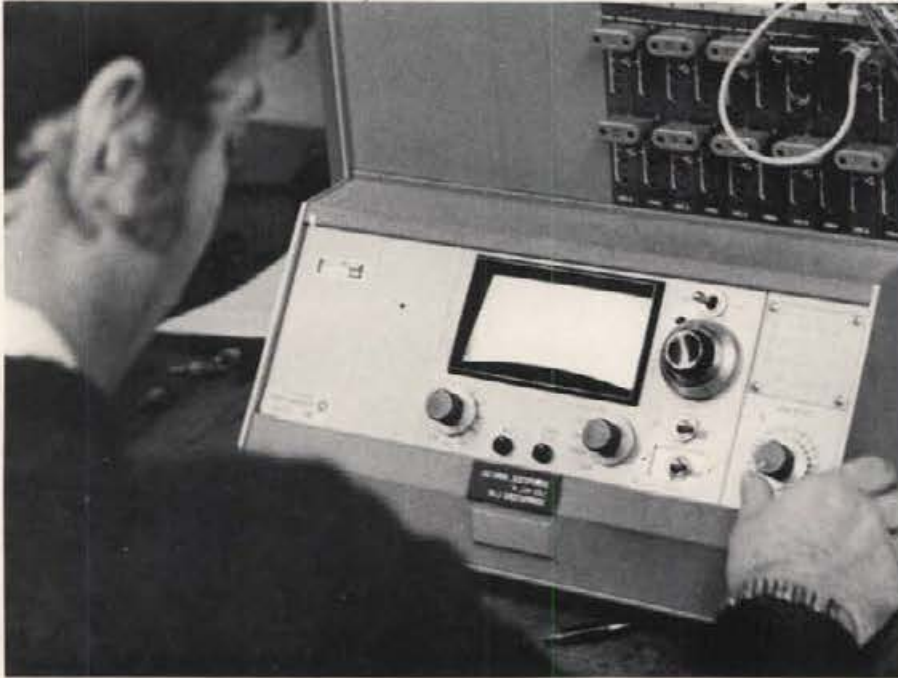

The College of Education places special emphasis on the areas of special education, early childhood education, and vocational-technical training.

Another program, which is only one of two in the north-west trains vocational rehabilitation counselors for Idaho, Oregon, Alaska, and Washington.

College Of Engineering

In the College of Engineering students learn to solve the problems of world growth through expertise in theoretical engineering and mechanic arts.

According to Dean Robert Furgason, a new class entitled Energy Utilization and Alternatives was offered for the first time second semester.

Construction of a new classroom for the College was made possible through $50,000 in grants from industry.

College Of Forestry

The College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences, under the direction of Dean John Ehrenreich, offers studies in forest, range, fishery, and wildlife resources; forest products / forest business; and wildlife recreation management.

The College maintains a forest nursery and 7000 acre experimental forest. It is located only hours away from prime grazing land, uncharted wilderness, forests, big-game ranges, major waterways and excellent water-based recreation sites. Students in the college are exposed to a continuous flow of research activity carried on through the Forest, Wildlife, and Range Experiment Station. Enrollment has reached 640 undergraduates and 130 graduate students.

Undergraduate education in forestry at the University of Idaho was first begun in 1909. New areas of study have been added throughout the history of the college. Wildland Recreation is the most recent example.

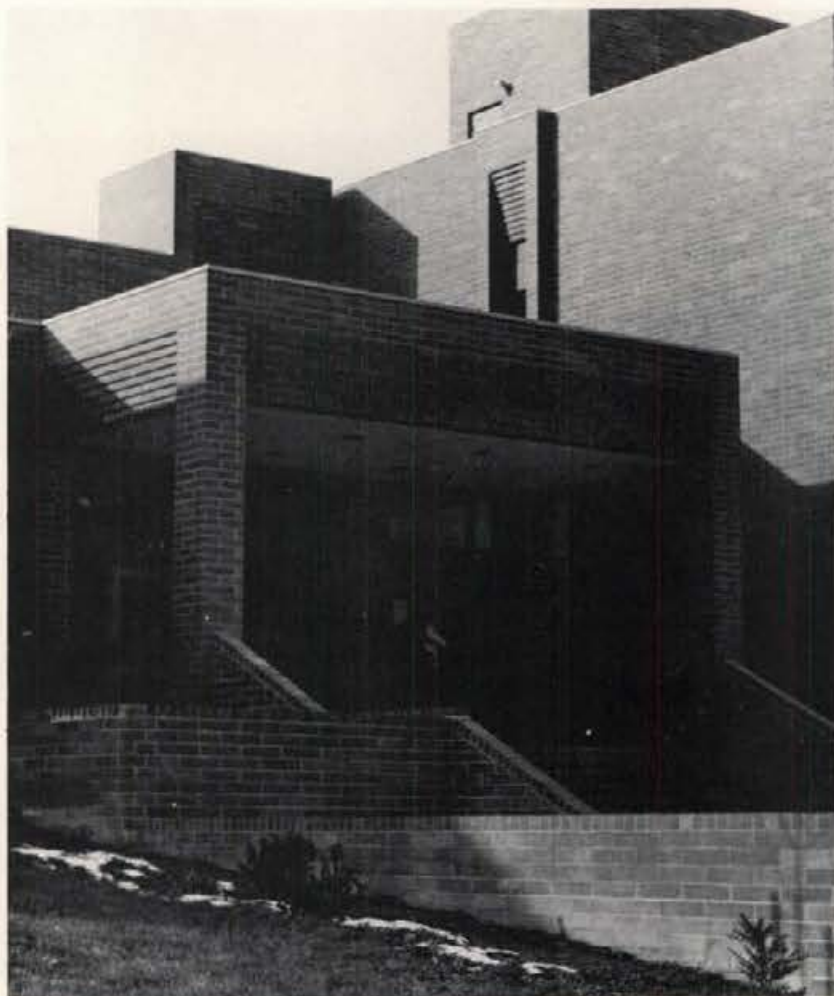

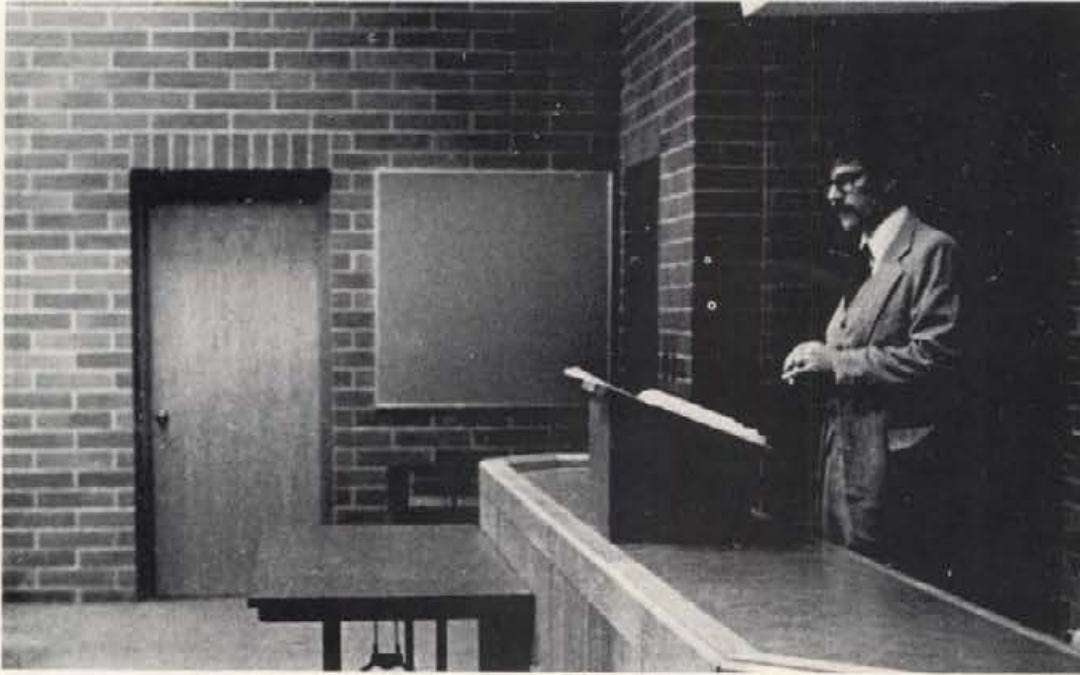

College Of Law

The College of Law, established in 1909, is the only school within Idaho that is devoted to educating students for the legal profession with its many areas of social involvement.

Albert R. Maynard is the Dean of the three year college, which is housed in a modern building completed in 1973. The building is equipped with a courtroom, library, seminar rooms, and T.V. videotape.

The atmosphere of the College promotes maximum interaction between student and faculty.

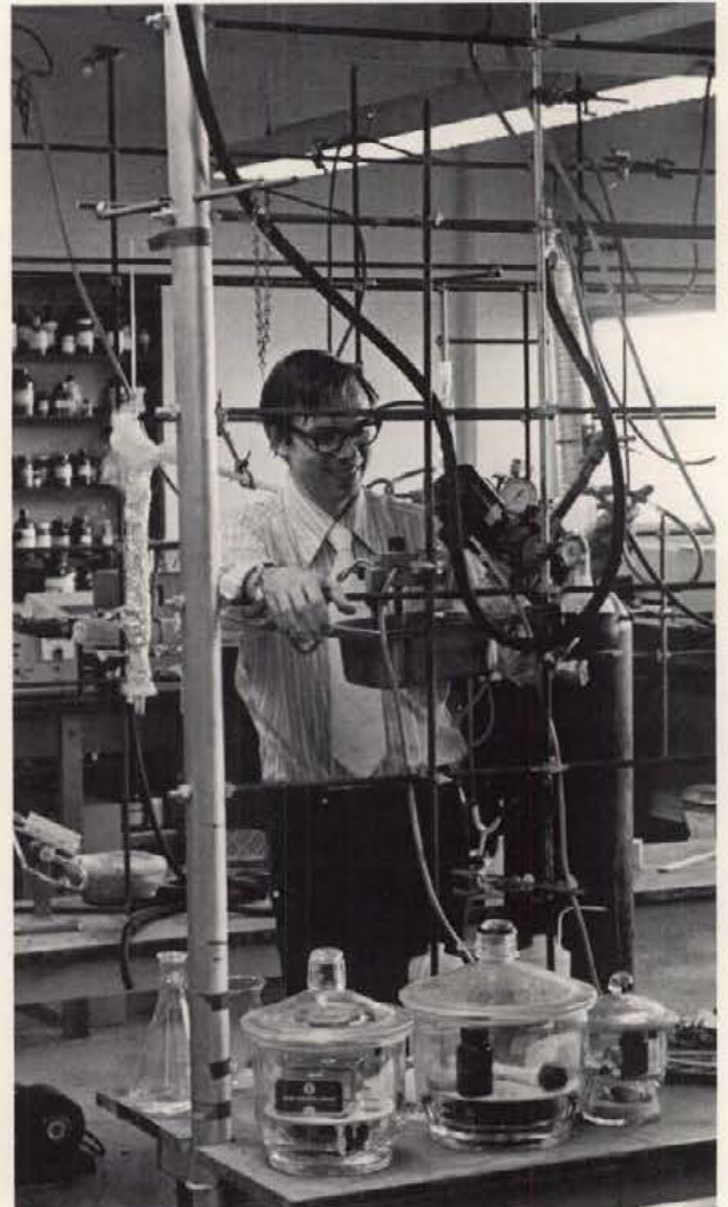

College Of Letters And Science

The College of Letters and Science, headed by Dean Raunio, is composed of 16 academic departments.

Among the activities occurring during the 1975-76 school year were the remodeling of the Art and Architecture Building South (formerly the old women's gym); and the Department of Sociology / Anthropology carried out excavations at Friday Harbor on San Juan Island and at Cataldo Mission east of Coeur d' Alene.

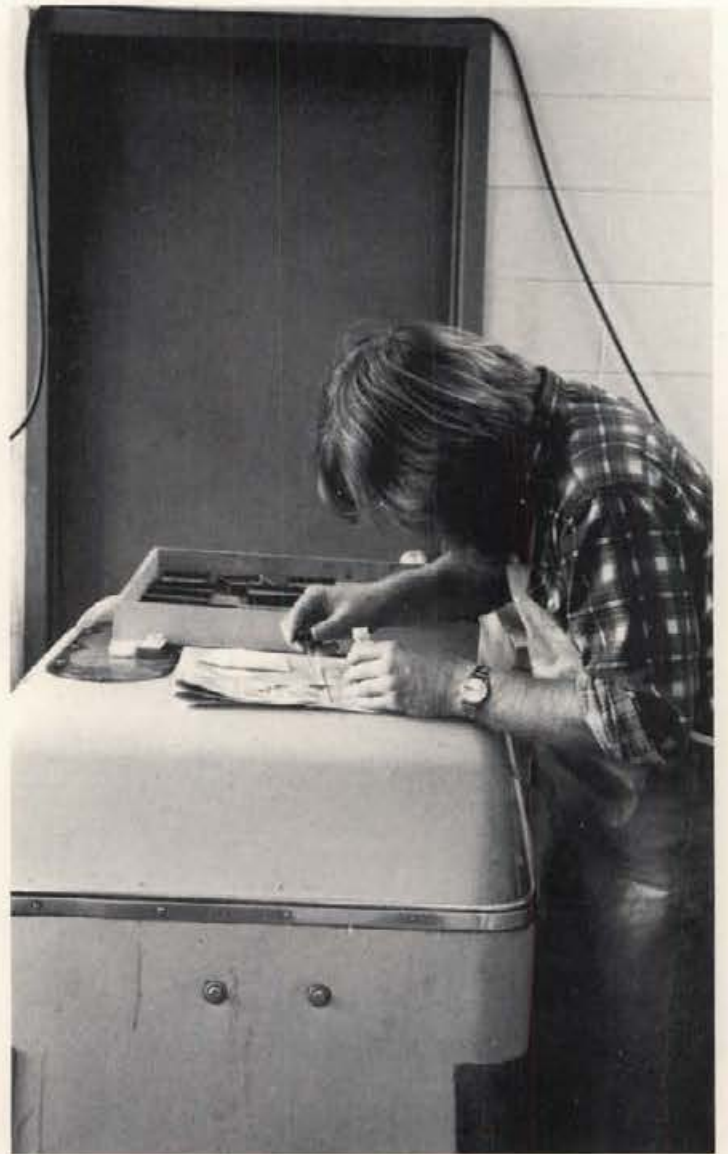

Dr. Robert Solso assumed the position of head of the Department of Psychology at the beginning of the fall semester.

Other areas within the College are music, English, political science, foreign languages, chemistry, physics, history, theater arts, communication, home economics, math, biological sciences, and WAMI.

College Of Mines

Dr. Maynard M. Miller from Michigan State University assumed the position of Dean of the College of Mines in November this year.

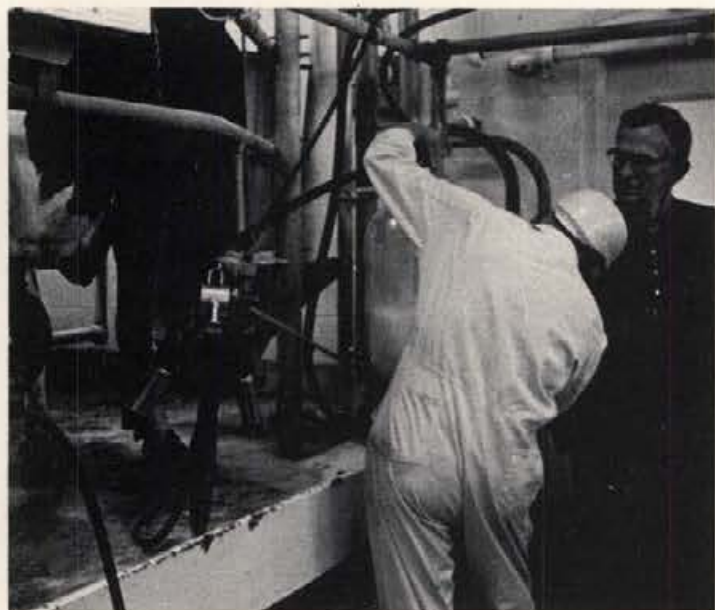

The College, which deals with many facets of earth science and technology, has several exchange programs operating with other northwest universities.

Two such U of I programs are working in conjunction with the University of Washington and Oregon State University.

Enrollment this year was up 100 students compared to 215 students in the college last year. According to past Acting Dean John Bond, enrollment is expected to double within three years time.

Graduate School

The Graduate School at the U of I contains 119 programs in various fields.

The School headed by Research Coordinator and Graduate Dean, Ronald Stark, underwent extensive review this year. Of the university's masters' programs, 19 met the State Board of Regents criteria, while 76 did not.

Education, chemistry, and forestry management received the highest evaluations from among the U of I doctorate programs.

Vandal Basketball Moves From Memorial Gym To Kibbie Dome During Season

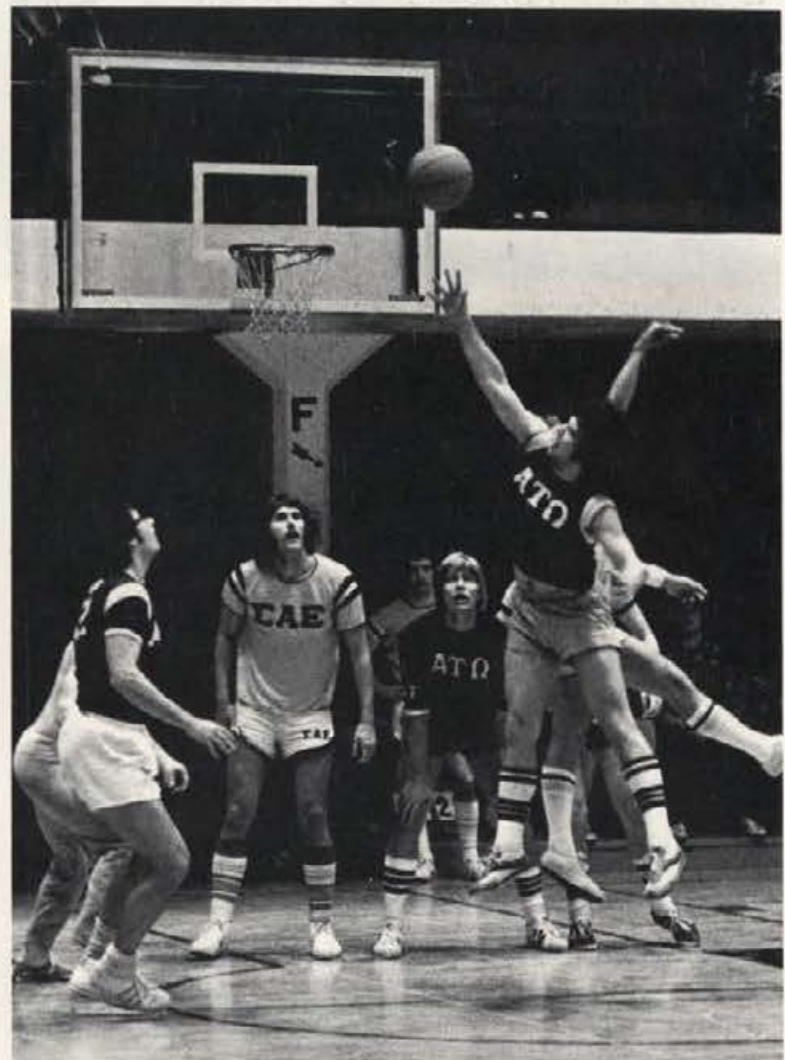

February marked the end of an Idaho tradition, with the death of alumnus John Reager. Known by most as "Big John," he could be recognized by his enthusiastic and often humorous stunts as a "cheerleader" at Vandal football games.

President Hartung summed up the feelings of the university in saying, "The University has lost a tried and true friend, a person who often put university interests before his own. Friends like that are hard to come by and his passing is a great tragedy for us all."

"It was the best spring football session during my 10 years here at the university," Idaho head coach Ed Troxel noted upon the completion of spring football drills for the Vandals in 1976. The silver and gold ended their workout on May 1, with the annual Silver and Gold Bowl in the Kibbie-ASUI Dome. Over 2,500 fans were on hand for the contest, won by the gold team 34-21.

CLOSING

Preparation will determine the success of our future.

Building on experiences from the past . . .

and developing our plans for the future . . .

We must let today's problems
be sufficient for today,

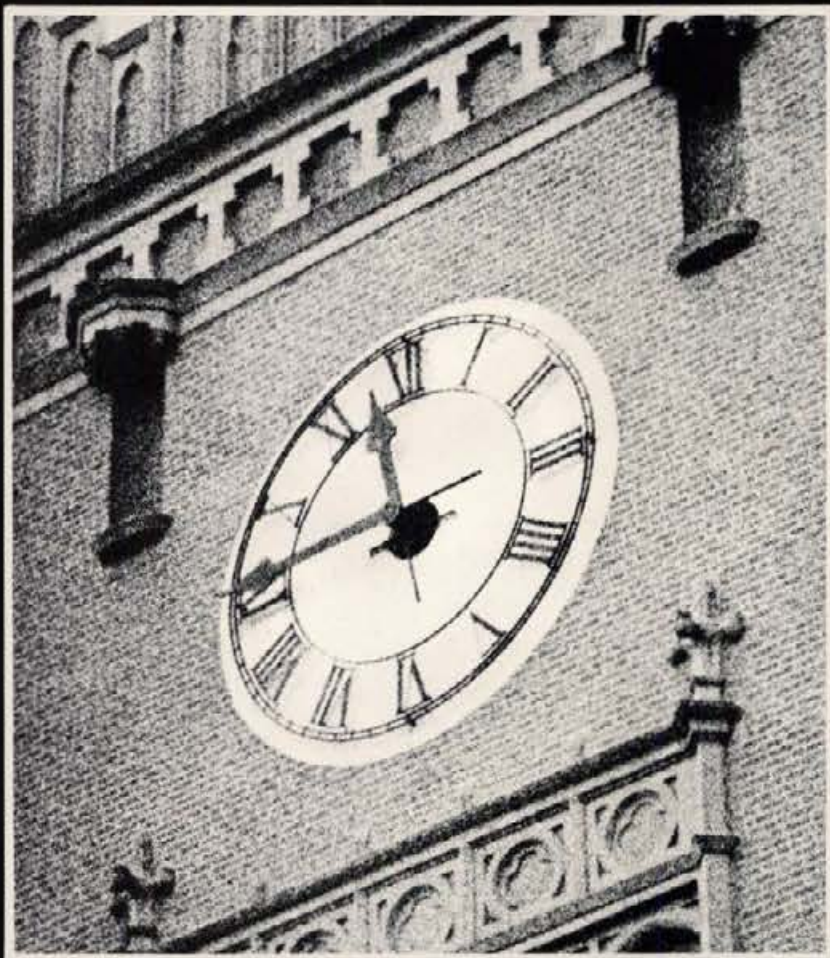

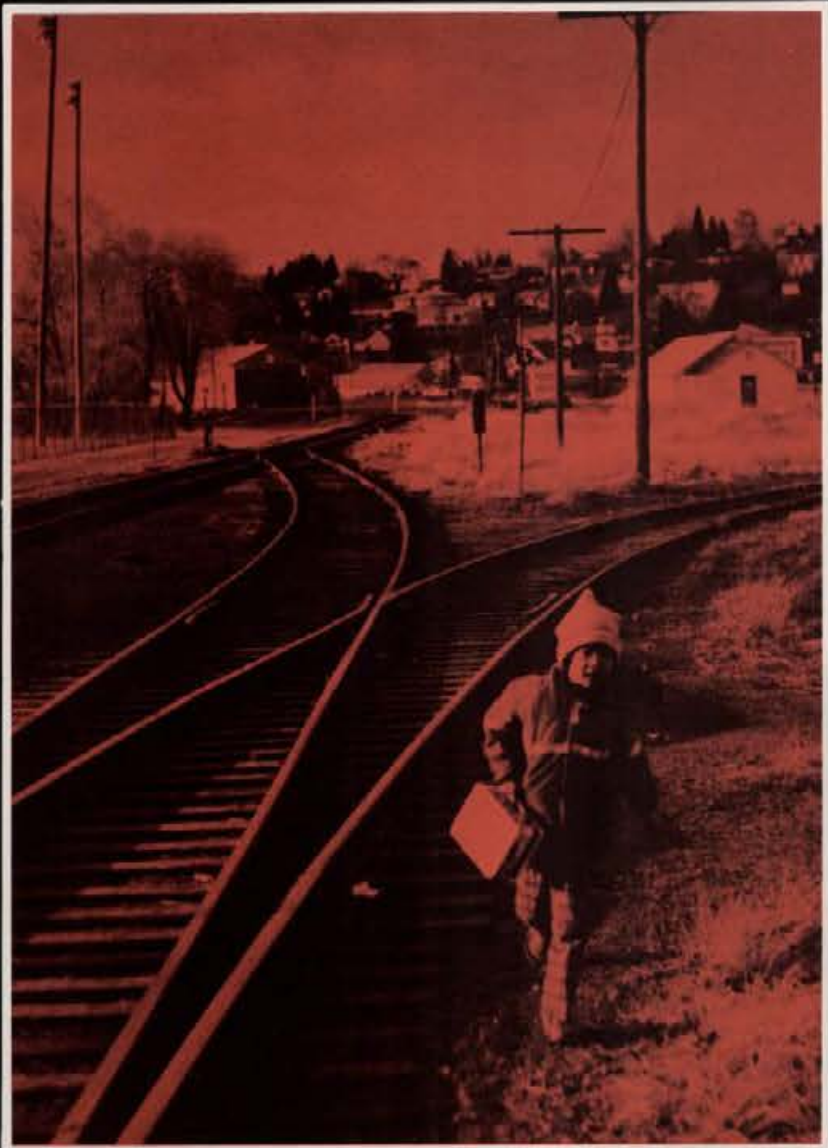

Striving to better ourselves as a nation, a state, and a people . . .

With education as our key.

STATE OF IDAHO

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

BOISE

CECIL D. ANDRUS
GOVERNOR

Dear Friends:

Here in Idaho we are using the bicentennial as a focus for a new approach to our problems, taking advantage of our re-dedication to the principles of Americanism. Working with our fine educational institutions, the State of Idaho plans to meet its problems with information, not emotion; with education, not guesses; and with facts, not rumors.

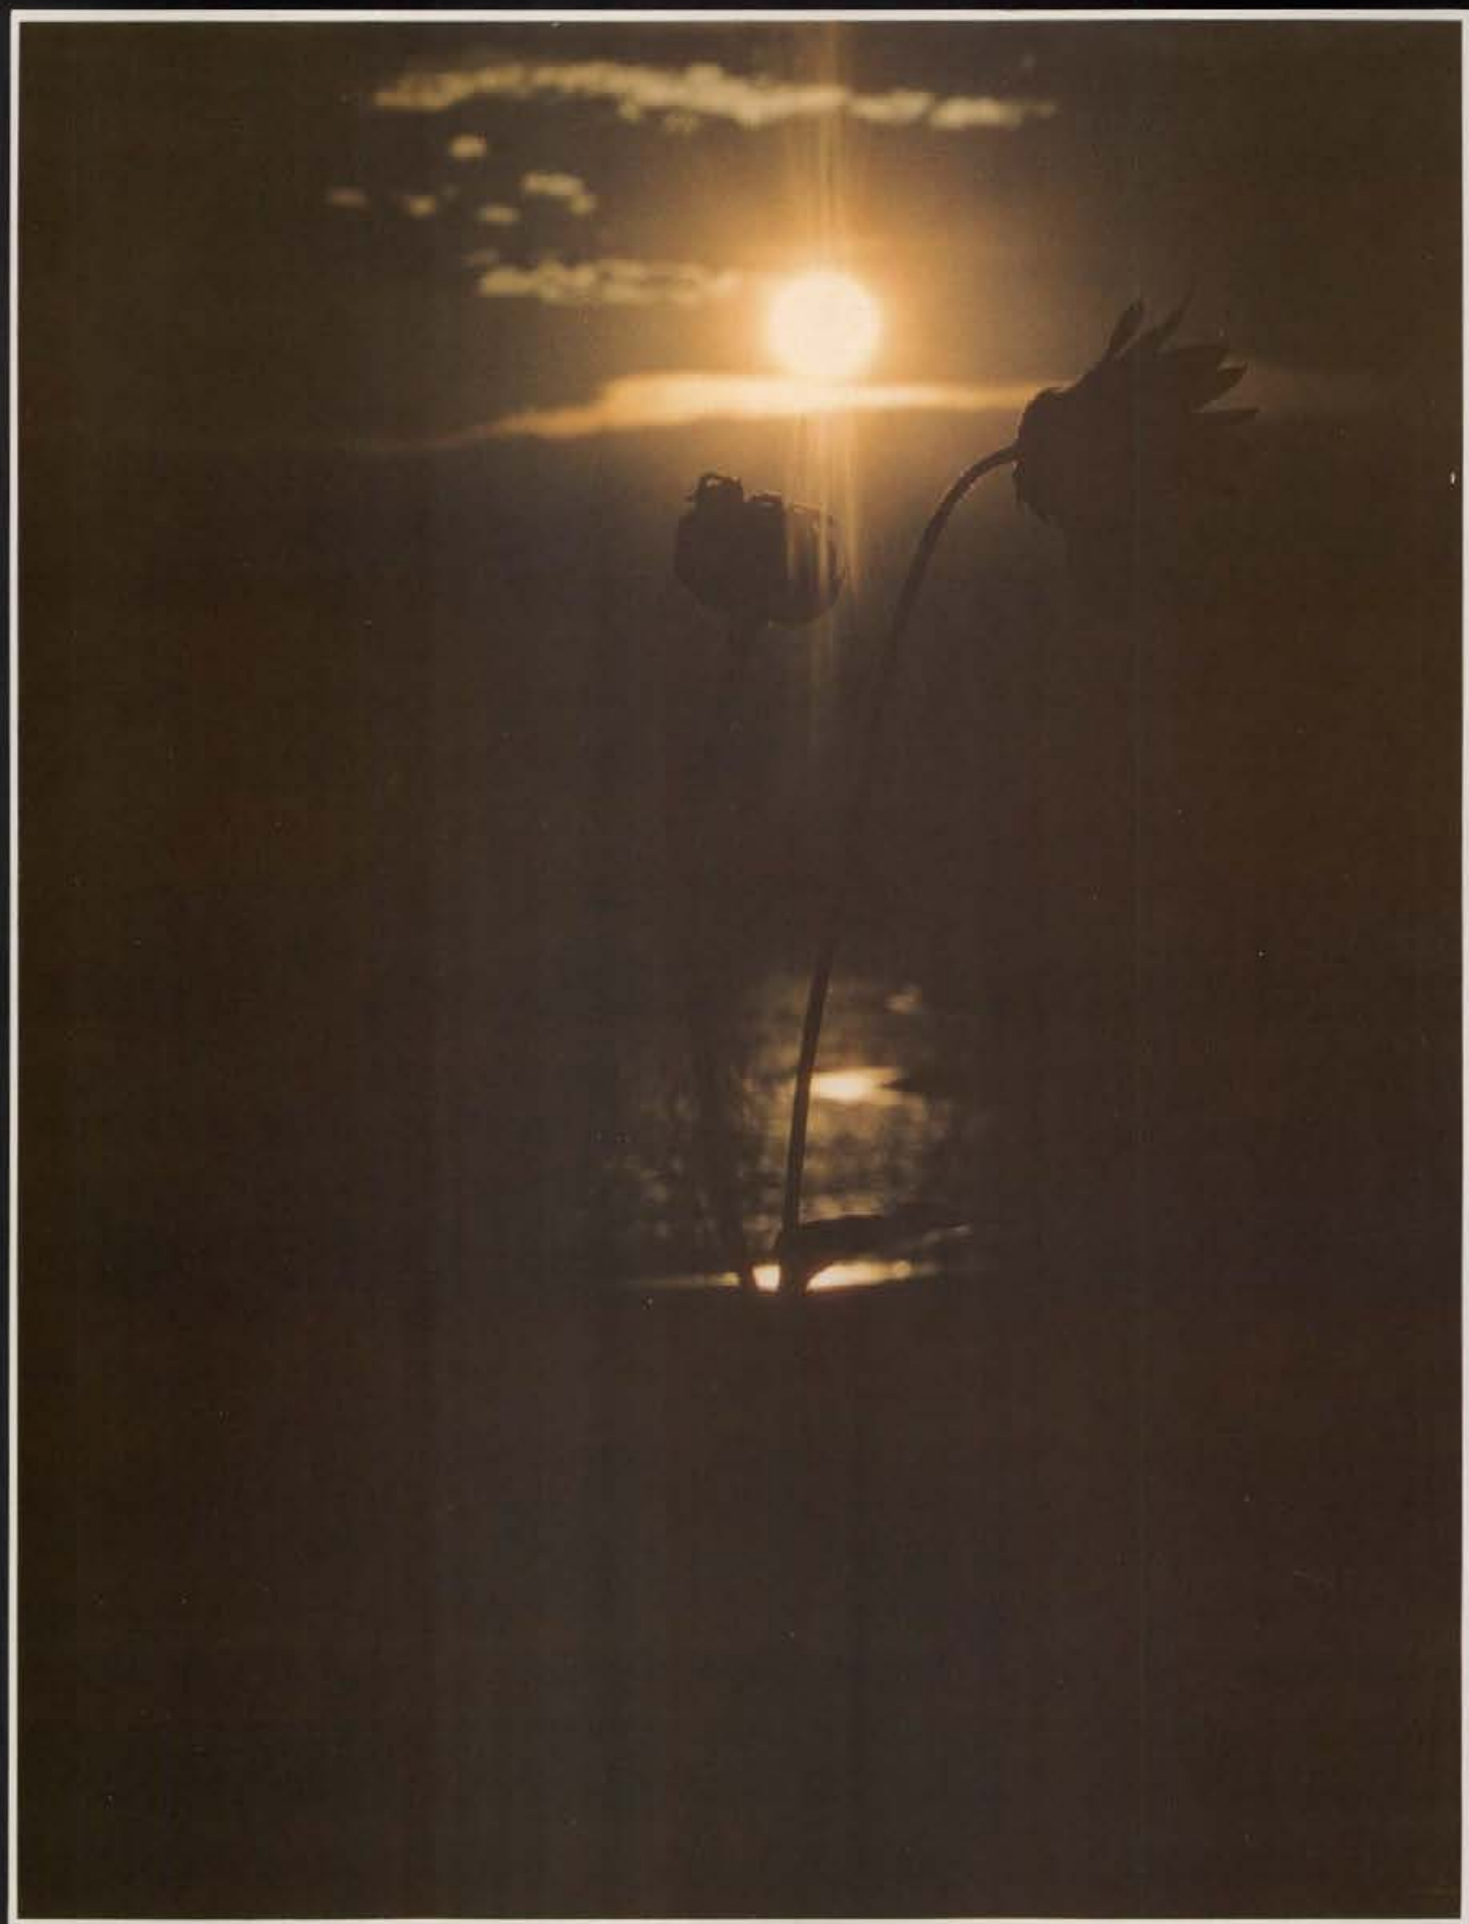

With this approach we can solve our problems. They are man-made and can be man-solved. All it takes is the work of all of us.

Sincerely,

CECIL D. ANDRUS
