Interests Are Varied

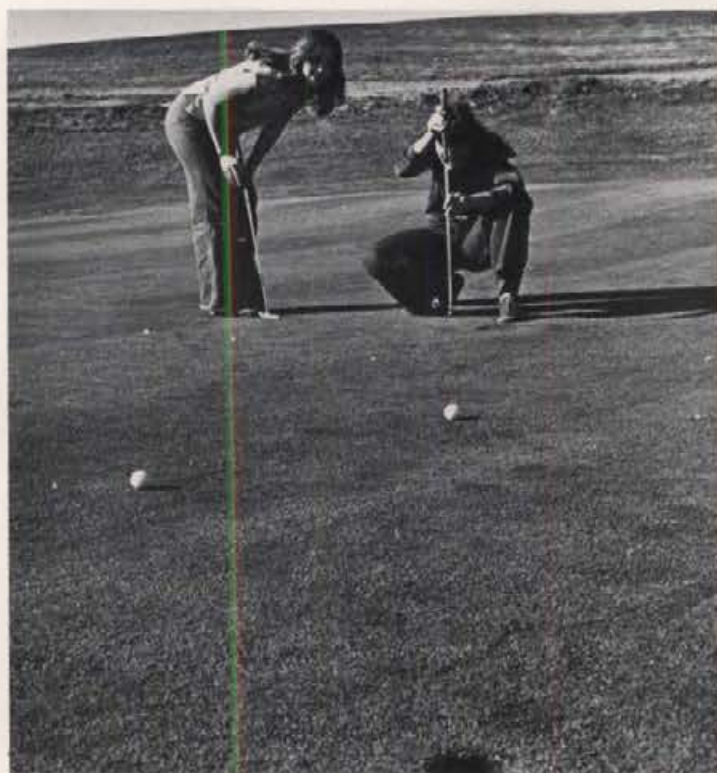

An indoor sport center and stadium, the Kibbie Dome empties for a moment. Halloween costumes were a part of October. Good friends get some rest and relaxation for a moment. Everyone experiences the "zoo" registration at Idaho. Precinct numbers and political candidates are all part of the campus voting. Track and swimming keep some students active. Joe Vandal keeps the spirit high at the homecoming bonfire held at the arboretum.

Autumn Tints Idaho Campus

Walking quickly becomes an accustomed habit for the U of I student. Intramurals are encouraged and men's volleyball is one of many. Also, women's intramural golf championships took place in the fall. As an added attraction, Moscow-Boise runner, Alan Walker helped to raise money for cystic fibrosis. Escape weekend vacations are appreciated by every student. About ten outdoor tennis courts are always in use. Construction of Wallace Complex cafeteria got off to a slow start as students and workers did their best to work around each other. A fall ballet enhanced the cultural environment of college.

Interests Are Many

Rush, Pajama Parade Occur In Fall

For one week girls went through the University of Idaho rush to pledge a sorority. About 200 girls pledged the nine campus sororities. Luncheons, formal and informal parties marked the event. A preference night was also among the festivities. The homecoming parade and skit was won by the Delta Gamma sorority.

U. of I. Volleyball Team Unites

Idaho's 1978 Volleyball team coached by Amanda Burk finished their season 24-20. After a slow start, a change in defense turned the team around, placing them second in the Boise State Tournament. The squad's five senior members turned in a great year especially Vickie May, co-captain of the team, who was named to the Small College All-Star Squad. She was the first woman from Idaho to receive this honor.

Rugger's Taste Varied Emotions

Blue Mountain Rugby team finished the season 7-2. Their losses were to Seattle during the season, and Snake River in the Motherlode Ruggerfest where they finished second. One big highlight was when Tom Schneibeck failed to score because his pants split. The team had a good season experiencing a few setbacks and a lot of wins.

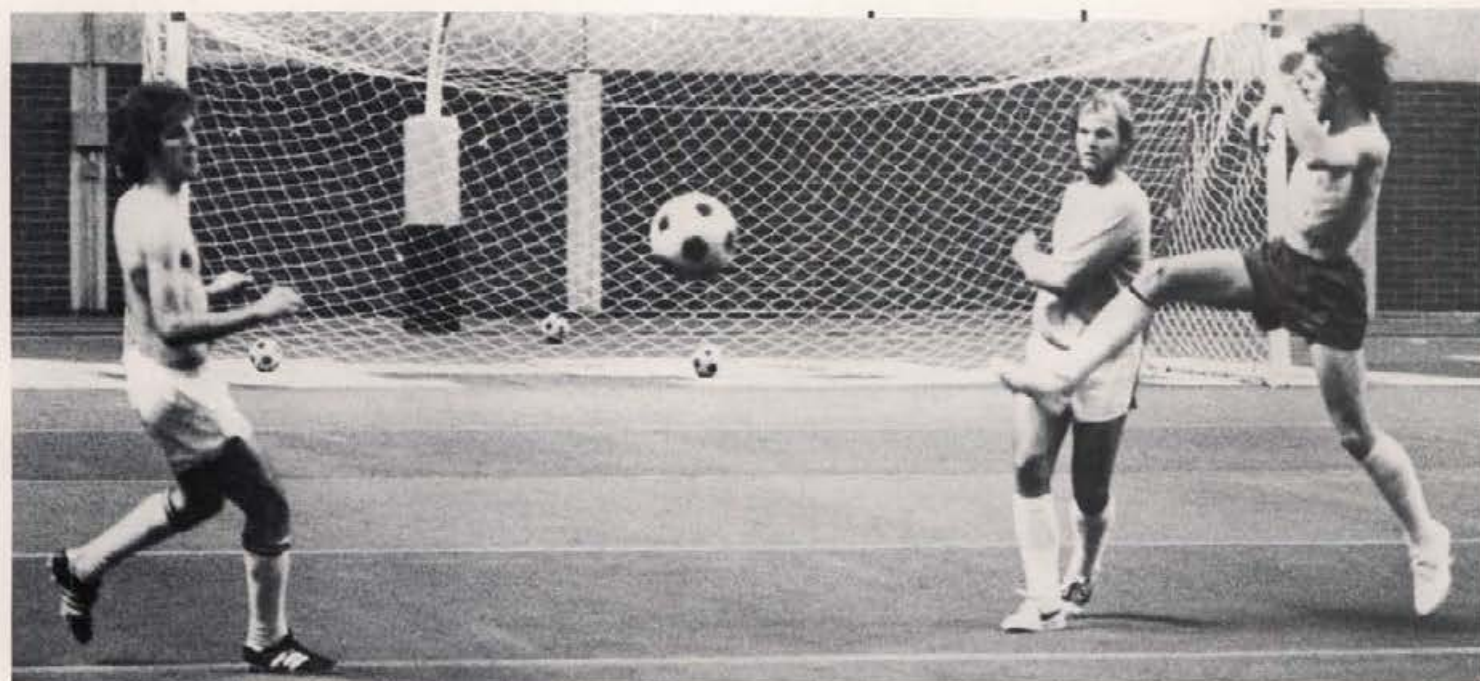

Dusty Lentils Finish Season Undefeated

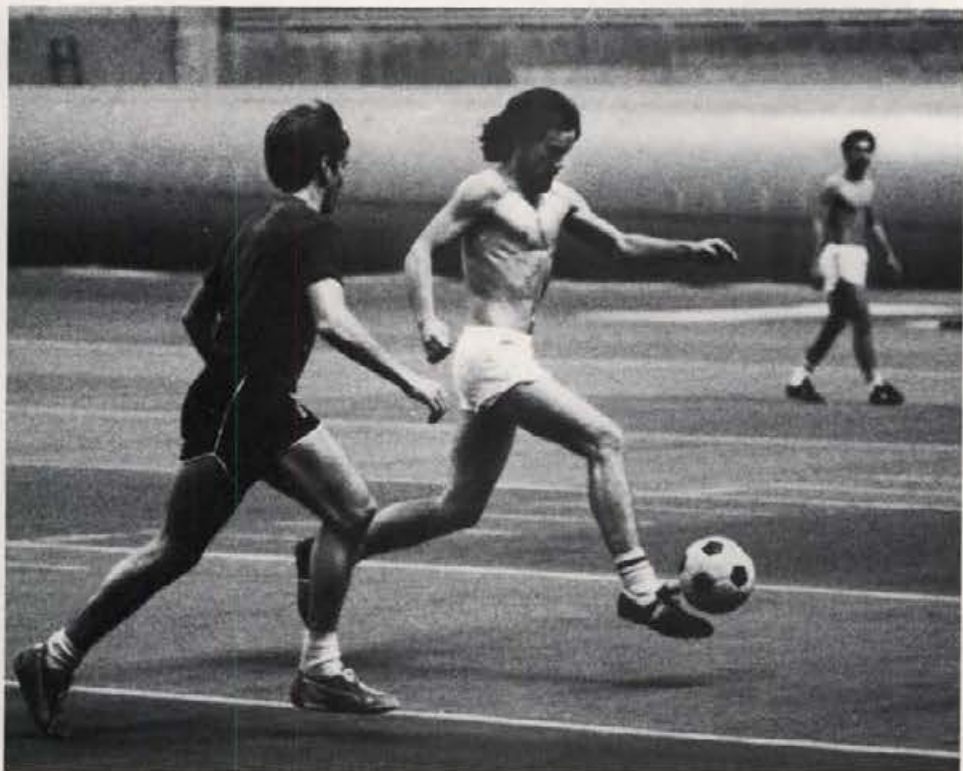

Looking for players at the beginning of the season, the Dusty Lentils came out way ahead. Their first game 32-0 over the Spokane "Animals" foresaw a winning season, ending as champions at the Motherlode Ruggerfest.

Dynamos Awarded 4th Place

Team Captain of the U of I soccer team, Thomas Reich says "I'd like to see more people taking an interest in soccer." The Dynamos had a super season losing only two games, one by forfeit. They placed 4th in the league, but may have done better. The tournament was cancelled after the first day because of snowstorms.

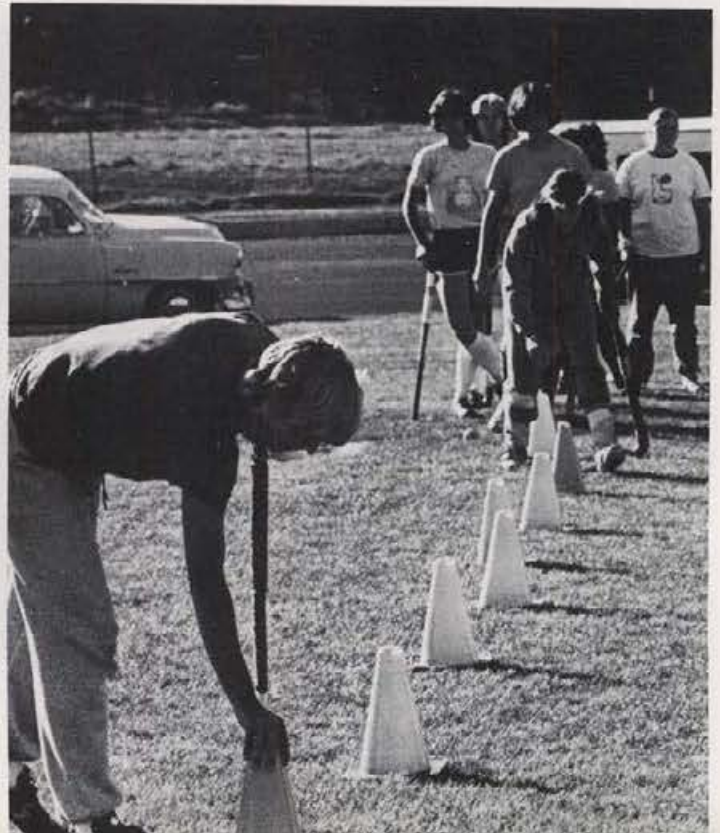

Field Hockey Conquers Season

The women's field hockey team went into the Washington/Idaho Invitational with an 11-5 record. Coaching the team this year was JoDean Moore. A setback for the girls was the worst loss in three years to San Jose, 7-0. The team also lost to Washington State in overtime, 3-2.

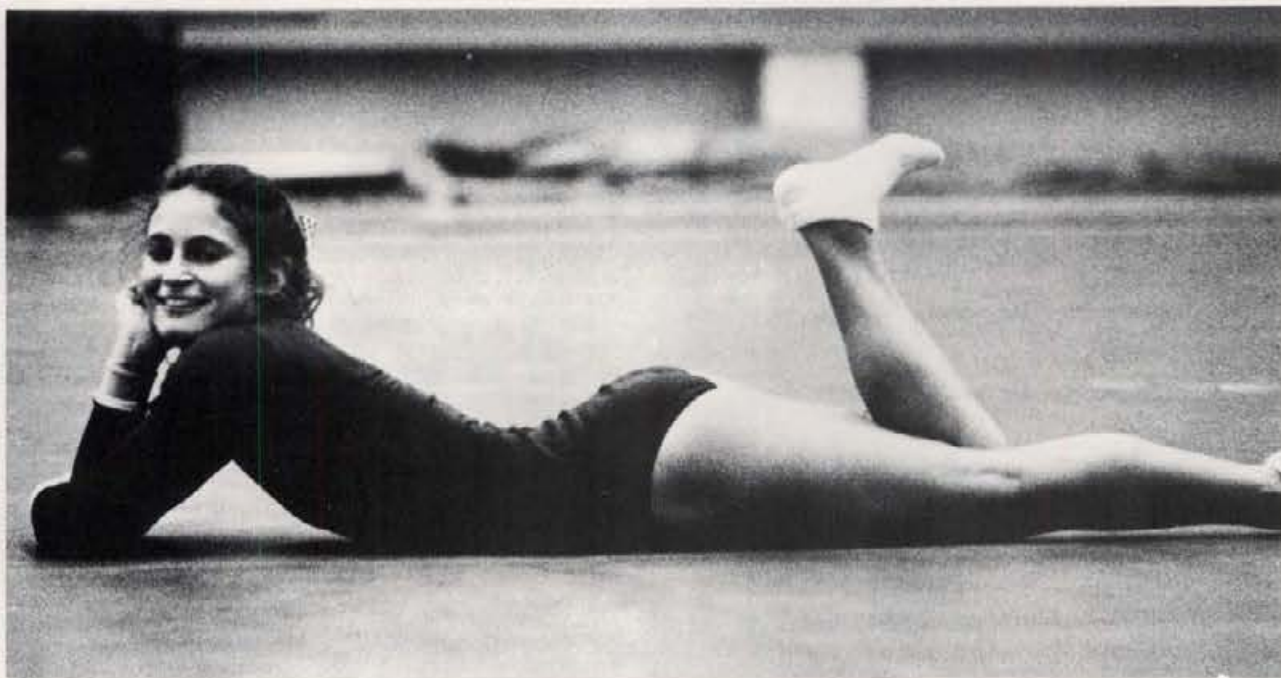

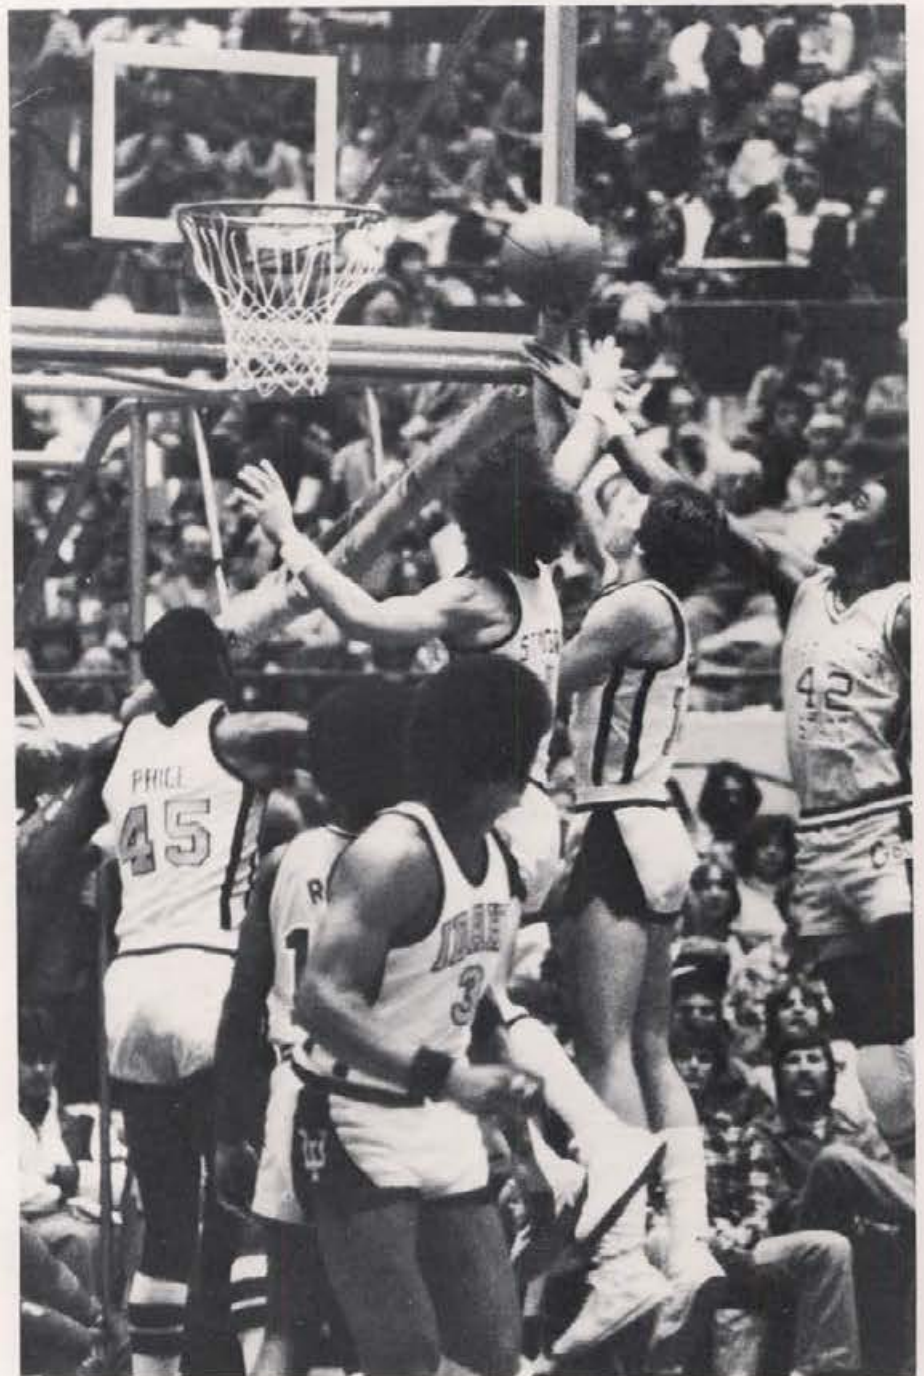

Gymnasts, New Coach Spring Through New Season

U of I gymnastics experienced a five woman team and a new coach from Illinois State this year. "The problem with gymnastics in Idaho is the lack of teams on the high school level. In the whole state we probably have ten teams," stated Coach Sherri Steffans. Regionals were held in Corvallis, Oregon. The gymnastics season opened December 9 against Seattle U. and Spokane Community College. Idaho downed Seattle while Spokane defeated Idaho. Team scores were: Spokane 106.75, Seattle 90.0 and Idaho 95.95

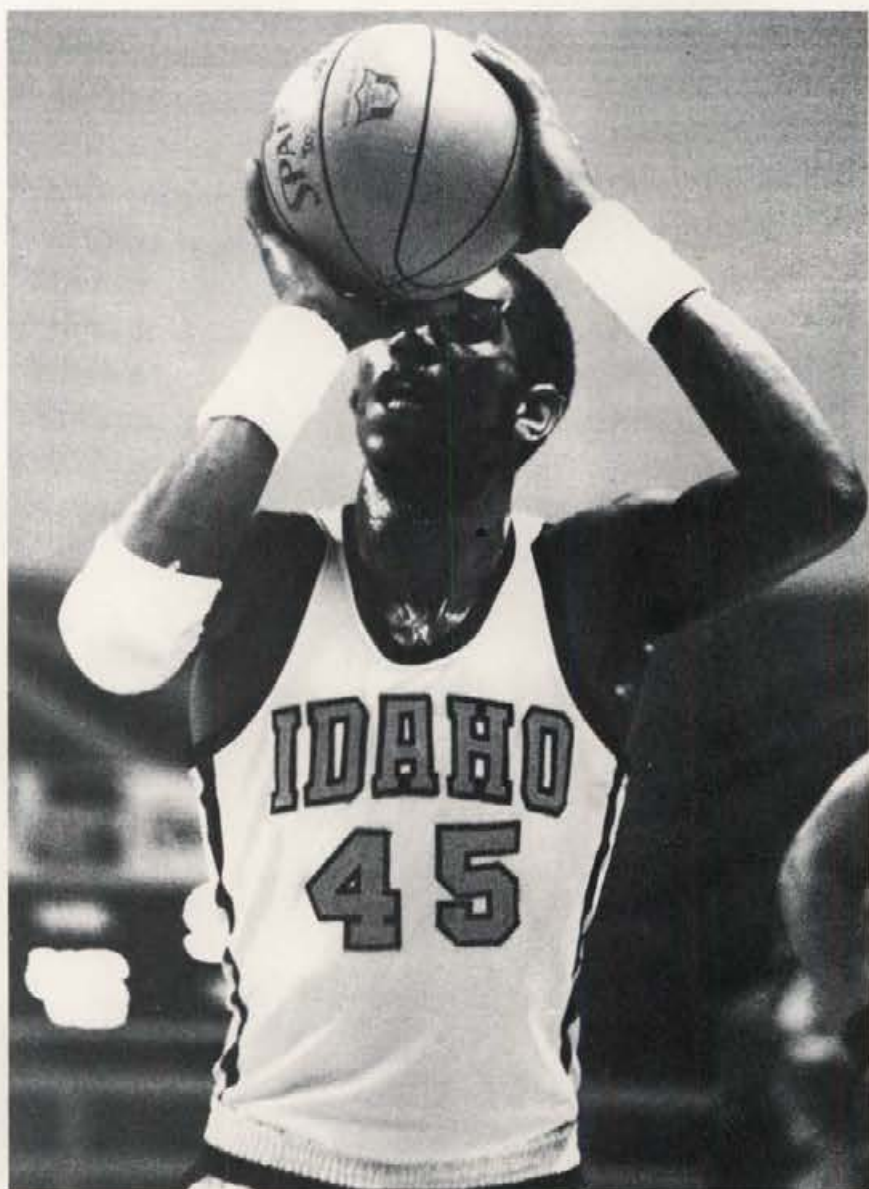

New Coach Strengthens Team

The Uoff vandals improved under the coaching of "Deadly" Don Munson. A team that hustled and had spirit enabled the vandals a win over BSU, 69-48. Junior guard, Don Newman, leading scorer, received player of the week for his performance during this game. As the season closed Idaho men chalked up an 11-15 overall record.

Basketball "Swooshes" Through Season

Girls' Basketball Experiences 17-6 Season Record

The highlight of the University of Idaho's Girls' Basketball team was a road trip through Alaska. The trip was an experience as well as rewarding for the U of I women won all four games. A down was that the team did not receive an AIAW Northwest Regional playoff bid. Coach Tara Van-Derveer lead eleven players to a 17-6 overall season record.

Campus Chest week sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega a co-ed service honorary, included a week of fun and games. Activities open to all U of I students included Mr. Ugly and Miss Campus Chest contests, an awards ceremony, car stuffing, leg contests, and beer chugging, ending with a lack of talent contest. Every year some of the money donated goes to Mountain State Tumor Institute.

The University Dance Theatre spring concert was an extra special treat this semester. Their new program included Modern Dance, jazz, disco-jazz, and ballet work. Many of the dances are choreographed by U of I students as are some of the compositions for music.

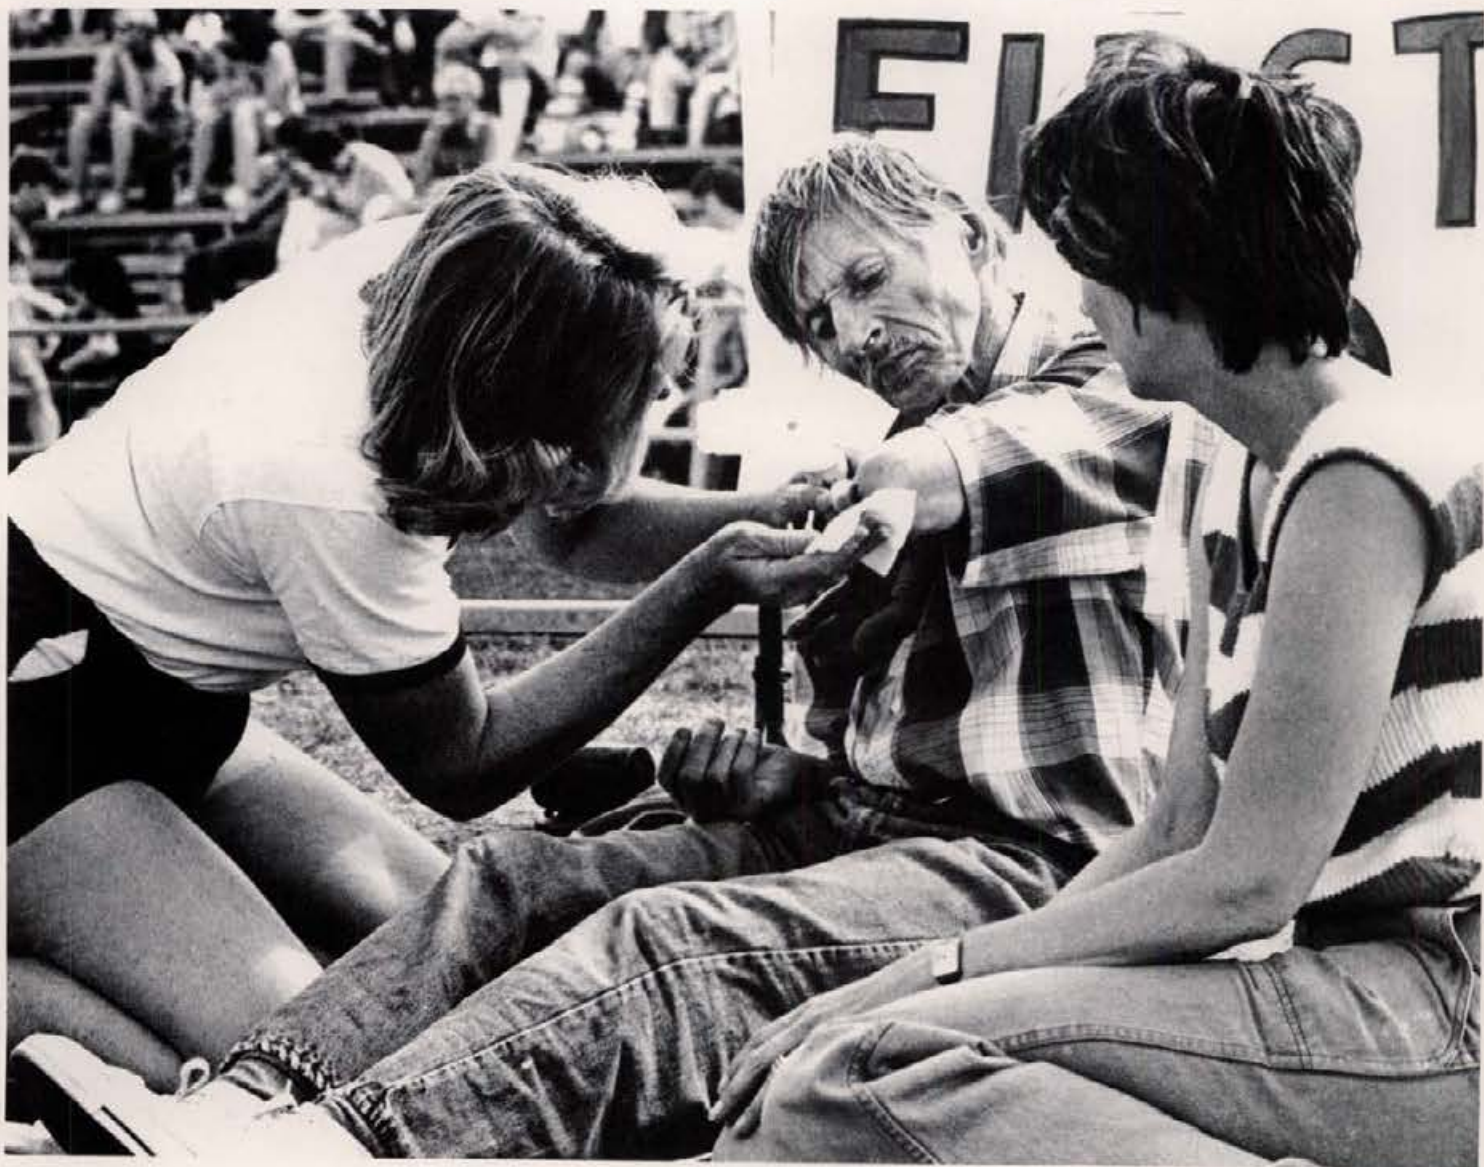

U of I Drama Presents Carnival

Chorus numbers, jugglers acts and dance routines delighted everyone as Carnival premiered in October. After joining a carnival and breaking up a magician act Lilly, the main character, joins a puppet act and falls in love with her partner. Carnival, performed by Drama, starred Keith Tackman and Secilla Lund.

The Thrill of Victory

Every year the Delta Delta Delta sorority sponsors the regional Special Olympics. Events include running, jumping, walking, and throwing baseballs. The happiness and pride that they create by giving their time is reflected on these two pages.

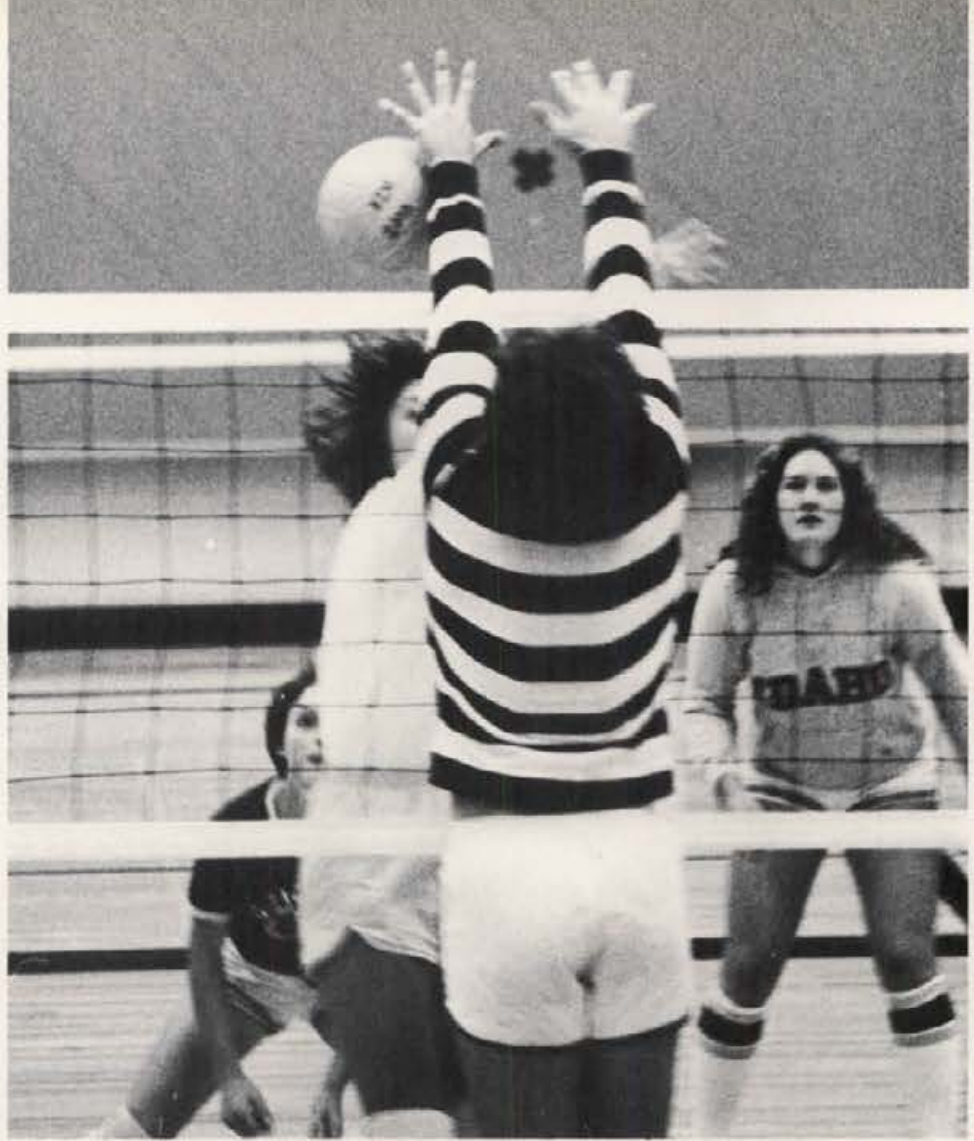

Kappa Sigma Sponsors Marathon

The Mountain States Tumor Institute received $550 when the Kappa Sigma fraternity sponsored a 24-hour non-stop basketball marathon in January. It was the fourth annual marathon and 22 teams participated in this year's event. Six Kappa Sigma teams kept the one hour campus teams dribbling down the court. The money will be used by the institute to buy an X-ray machine.

Difficulties Give President Gibb Better Hold On His Job

In his second year of presidency, President Richard Gibb seems to have come out ahead. He has become acquainted with every academic department, many student living groups, student honor groups, and he runs an open-door policy for students.

His major difficulties were brought on by budget cuts. Money must be saved from somewhere, and deciding just where those cuts should be made have strengthened him, giving him a better hold on his job.

Vice Presidents Fulfill Expectations

ACADEMIC VICE PRESIDENT
Robert R. Ferguson

Two vice presidents were newly appointed for this year. Academic Vice President, Robert Ferguson, formerly Dean of the College of Engineering, has added enthusiasm and imagination to his position. The Financial Vice President, David L. McKinney, was currently associate commissioner of finance for the Indiana Commission for Higher Education. He is considered one of the best people in higher education finance.

The search for the third vice president halted because of uncertainty of budget funds. Harry Davey handled the job until February 1, when he stepped down to fulfill other duties at financial aids, and at that time, Terry Armstrong, executive assistant to President Gibb, was named "acting coordinator" for all student and administrative services.

Administrative personnel give their time and training to help university students with problems that come up within their areas of specialization.

Harry Davey served as vice president for student and university relations from the summer of 1978 until February 1, 1979 in addition to his job as director of financial aids.

The College of Agriculture encourages students to become interested in many areas of study plus the minimum requirements of agriculture, biological, physical and social sciences.

The college is part of the land grant system. Besides providing instruction in agriculture it is also involved in an agricultural experiment station, which conducts research in all crop-producing and major livestock areas. The almost certain need for increases in food production make experiments within this college more and more important.

After nearly 32 years of services within the College of Agriculture Dr. A.C. Wiese will retire. In recent years he has been teaching and doing research in the Department of Bacteriology and Biochemistry.

General Studies

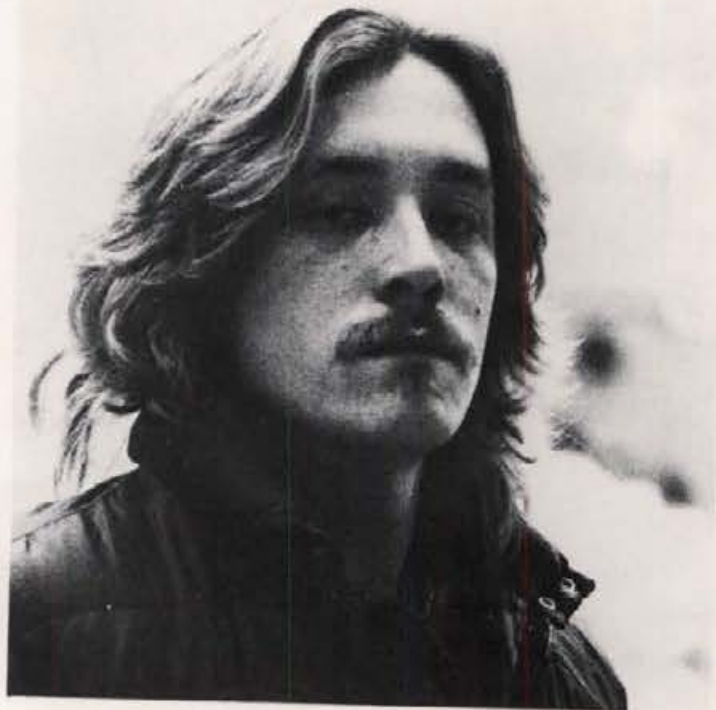

For students that are undecided about which college to enter, the University of Idaho offers a General Studies program. General Studies offers students a chance to explore various academic areas by making up a schedule to their liking.

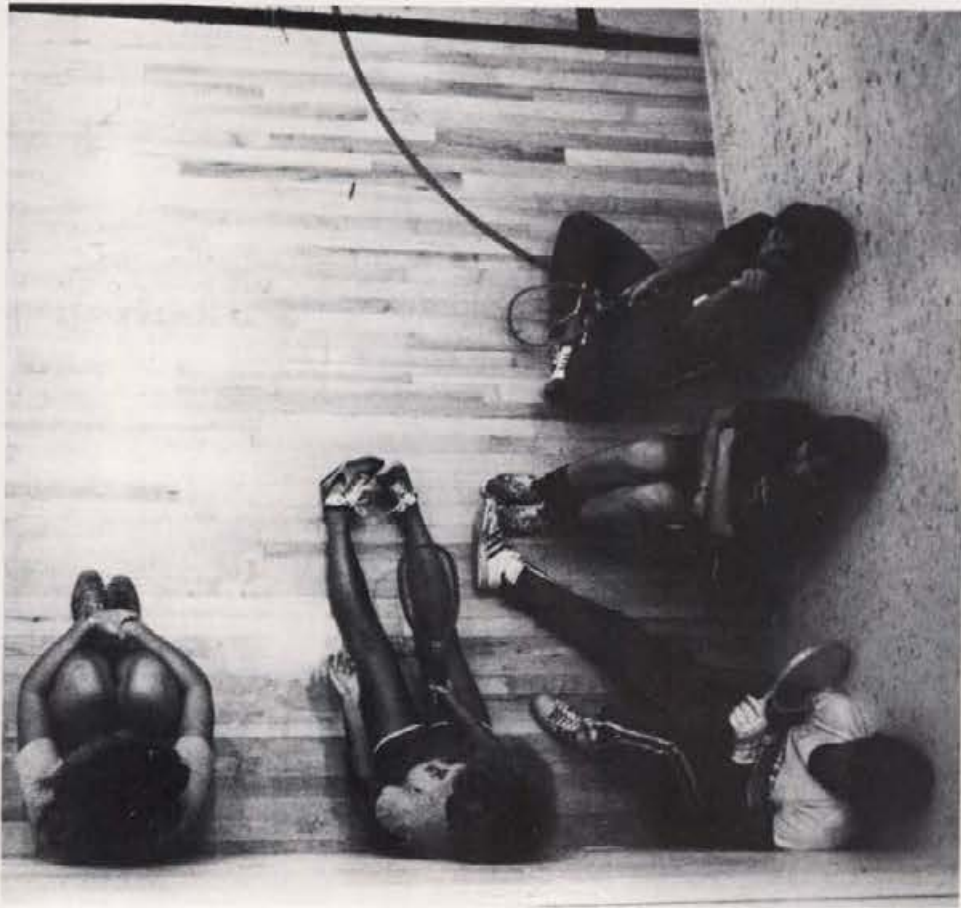

During the freshman year and most of the sophomore year it is advised to follow the required curricula leading to a baccalaureate degree of one of the colleges. Students may stay in the advisory phase of General Studies for five semesters, after which they must move into a college, or declare General Studies as their major.

The B.G.S. degree program is in nonspecialized education. A minimum of 48 credits must be earned in courses numbered 300 and above. All credits and grade points earned by a student enrolled in this program hold their value for any degree.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING DEAN
Melbourne L. Jackson

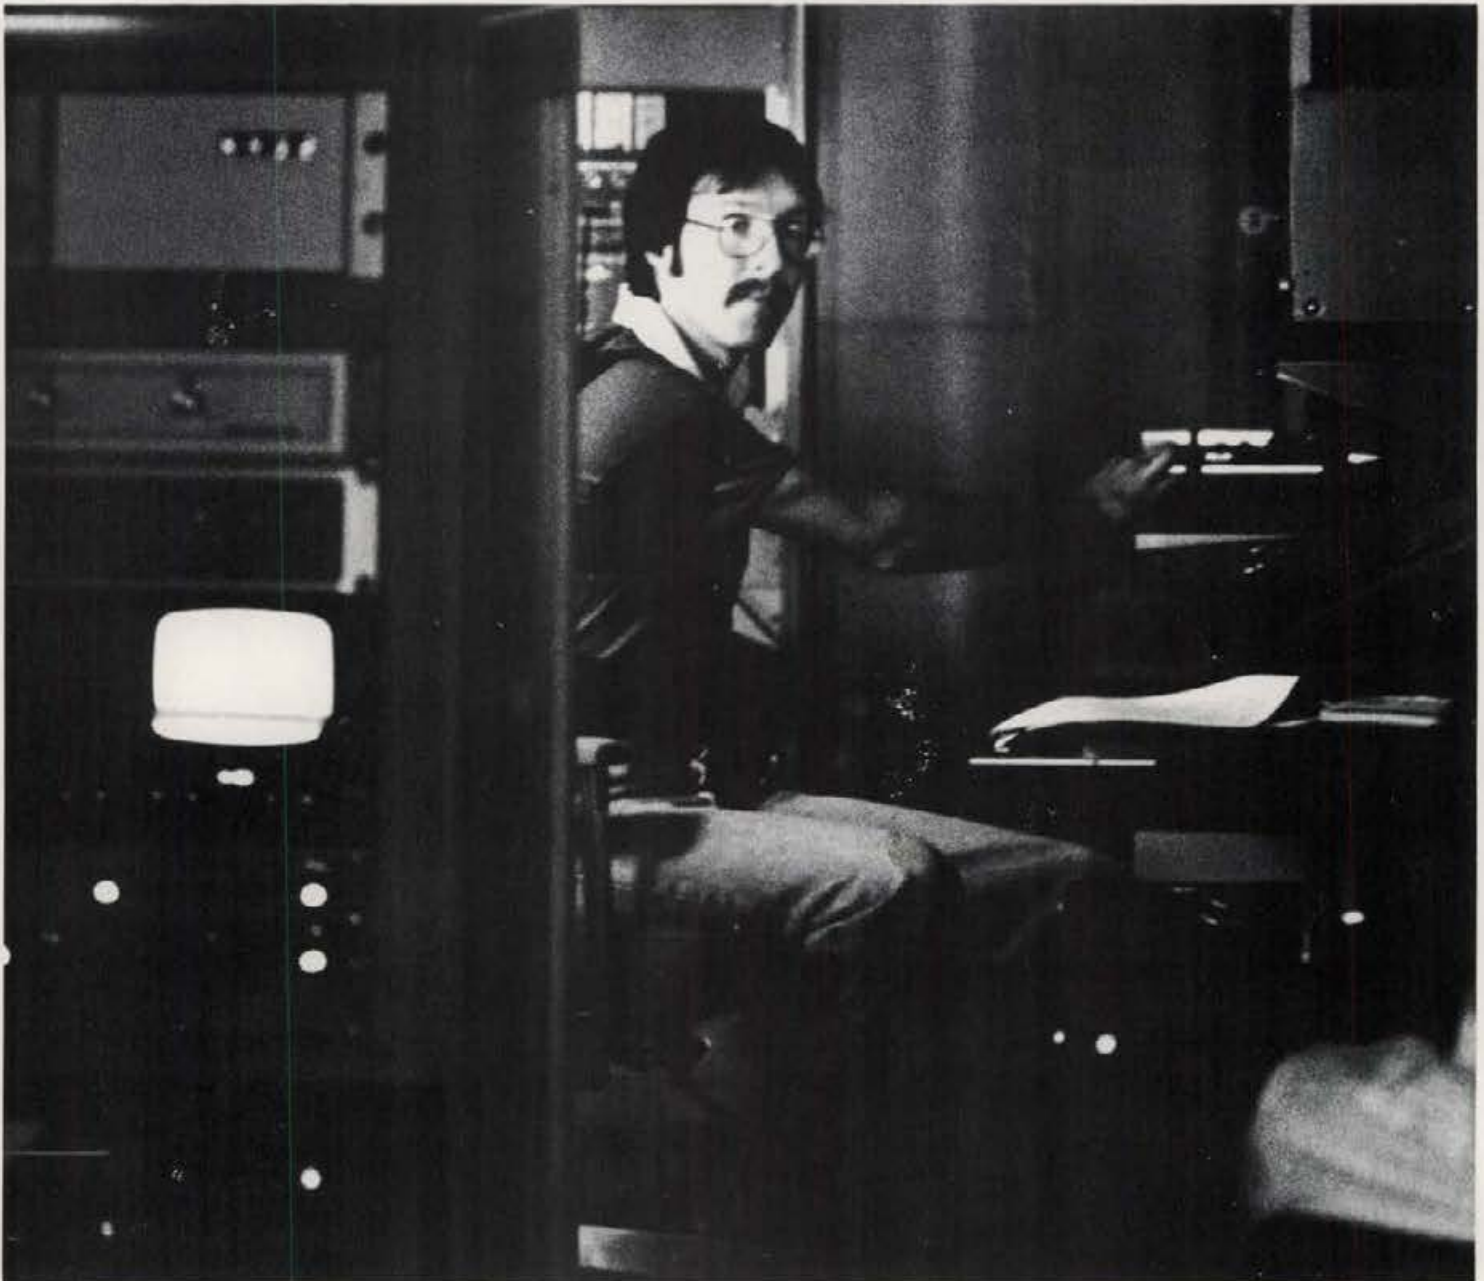

Students studying within the College of Engineering are goal oriented, hard workers who recognize the need to relate social, economic, political, and cultural considerations to the important technical side of engineering.

The U of I Engineering Program is among the finest in the country offering degrees in Computer Science, Agricultural Engineering, Chemical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, and Mechanical Engineering.

Forrest Hall, professor of civil engineering, retired in November. He served for 31 years and was praised as being an enthusiastic and inspirational teacher.

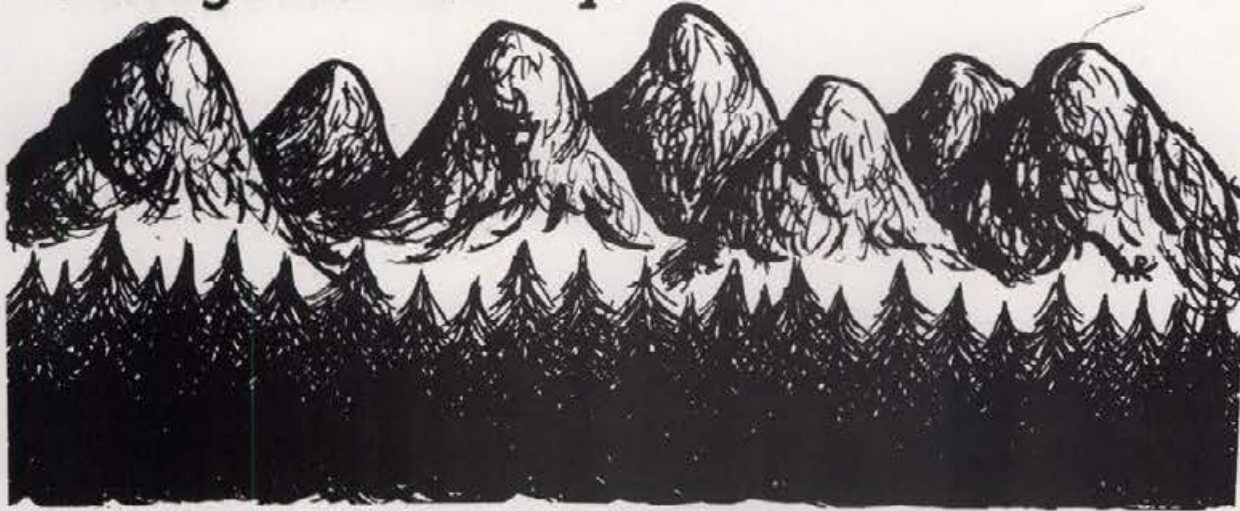

The College of Forestry, having received accredited status by the Society of American Foresters, offers excellent opportunities for its students entering careers in resource science and management. The program provides a natural study area of 7,200 acres of forest land located 25 miles from campus. This tract has a 200 mile recreation area and adjoins a 33-acre privately-owned nature preserve. The College also provides its students with a nursery, an on-campus Arboretum, a summer camp at Payette Lake and a wilderness field research station located in the Idaho Primitive Area.

This year a new major emphasis is put on continuing education. Updating and retraining of professionals is necessary to keep up with rapid changes in the field of forestry.

College

Law

The College of Law is the only school in Idaho directly involved with law. Students wishing to hold positions of leadership in government or business find satisfaction within the University's College of Law. Basic instruction is accomplished primarily by the case system, studying actual decisions of appellate courts. After three years of instruction, students with their degree are qualified to take any bar examination in the United States. In the graduation class of 1978 of 72 students, 50 students took the Idaho Bar Exam in July and 48 passed.

College of Letters and Science

COLLEGE OF LETTERS AND SCIENCES
Acting Dean Elizabeth Stevenson

The College of Letters and Science, being the oldest and largest college, is also found to distribute the largest number of degrees because of its diversity. Its wide range of degree choices include Art and Architecture, Biological Sciences, Chemistry, English, Foreign Languages and Literatures, History, Mathematics, Philosophy, Physics, Political Science and Public Affairs Research, Psychology, Sociology, Anthropology, and Theatre Arts. Schools of communication, home economics, and music are also included in this college.

After 13 years of dedicated service to the University of Idaho, Elizabeth Stevenson is retiring. For most of her last year she was Acting Dean for the College of Letters and Sciences.

College of Mines

The College of Mines, established in 1917, has come a long way. Today the related degrees of Geography, Geology, Geological Engineering, Hydrology, Earth Science, Mining Engineering and Metallurgical Engineering, are all very much concerned with stabilizing the earth. Pollution elimination through the development of metallurgical processes, land-use planning, recycling scrap metal, and computer mapping are just a few of their projects.

The College of Education sets out to give every one of their students a widespread, general education stressing specifically the subject to be taught. The college features a Teacher Education Program, for students recommended by the Dean, clinical experience as student teachers, and for seniors a full-time teaching job lasting half of a semester.

College of Business and Economics

The main goals within the College of Business and Economics are teaching, research, and services. Especially the development of managerial talents to aid careers and public service. B.S. degrees are offered in Accounting, Economics, Finance, General Business, Management, and Marketing.

John Knudsen has been acting Dean of Bus. and Econ. since July of 1977. In February Dr. Charles D. McQuillen was named Dean. McQuillen has been a teacher and also has government experience to make him an excellent choice for Dean.

KUOI-FM

KUOI-FM is the student radio station heard at 89.7 and located in the SUB. It employs 20 ASUI members, and has 42 volunteer disc jockeys on a regular schedule. The financial situation of the station this year led the way to trouble. They overspent their budget and were rebudgeted by ASUI Senate after many debates and arguments. Station Manager was Brian McConnaughey.

KUID Progresses Steadily

KUID Television, Channel 12, is a broadcasting station run by 18 professionals and 20 part-time students. Although they serve a small area they have won many awards including one from the Idaho Press Association, Regional ME, and others.

KUID radio station 91.6 is definitely maturing. It is now the most powerful educational radio station in Idaho with 1400 watts. Celebrating their 15th anniversary this year they converted to stereo and now serve 18 hours a day making them a full-service station. Besides playing classical progressive music they now also play adult contemporary.

Rich Nations . . . Poor Nations

The 1979 Borah Symposium zeroed in on world economic conflict. Speakers, as Senator Frank Church, D-Idaho, Dr. Walt Rostow, a former economic adviser to past presidents were a few who attended the symposium. Many speakers agreed a new international economic order was needed, but differed on how the new order should be established and why. Approximately 500 high school students participated in the event. The Symposium is sponsored annually by the University of Idaho.

A two mile run on the golf course and the administration building is the course for the annual Turkey Trot. 340 participants ran the event. The winner, Allan Galbrath, received a cornish game hen. Pledges of fraternities train for the run and some are required to run in the trot. The Turkey Trot is sponsored by the intramurals office.

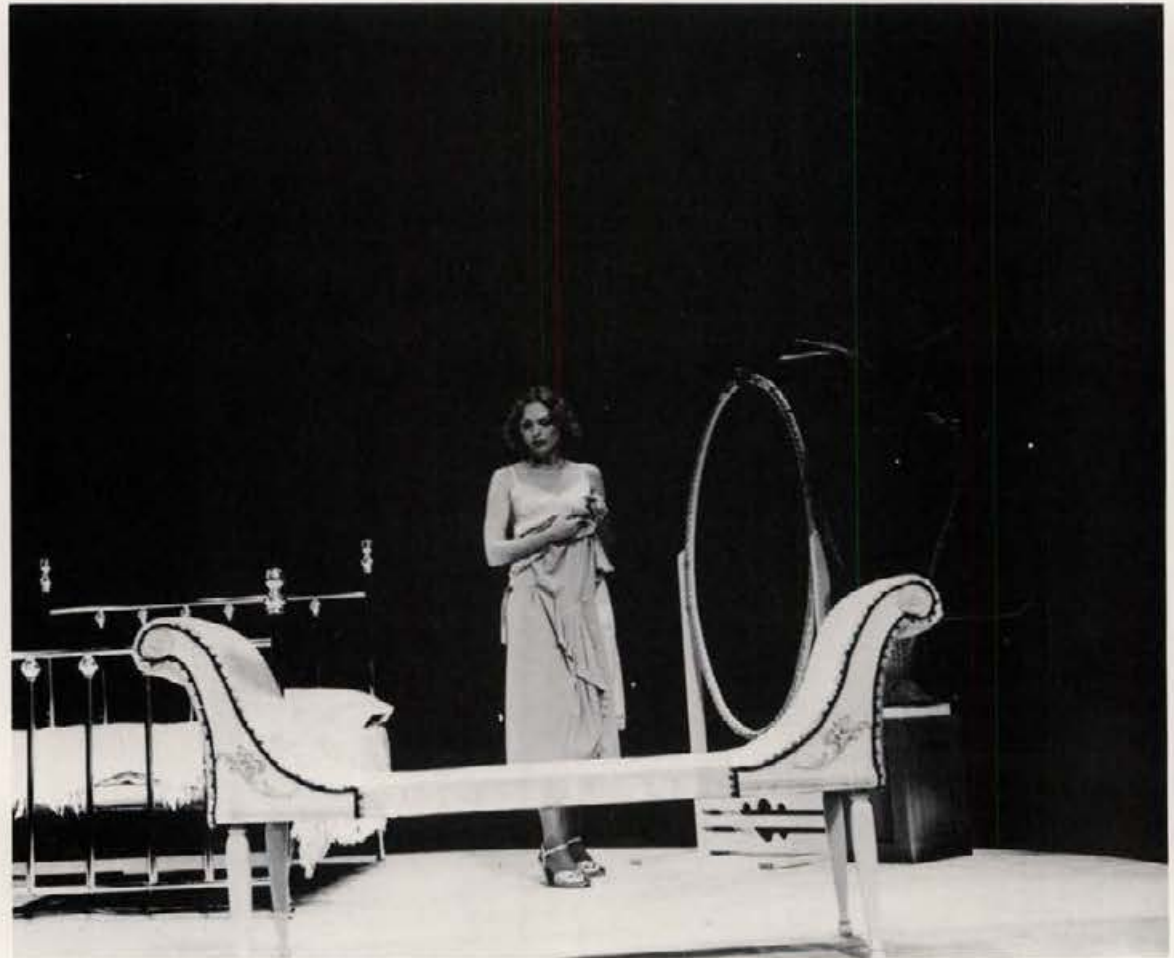

Happy Days Are Here

"Happy days" was the theme of the 1978 Idaho Homecoming celebration in October. A traditional pajama parade, bonfire pep rally, and the crowning of queen Kathleen Murry took place in the arboretum. Kathleen's first runner up was Katie Kirk, followed by Jayne Hopkins. Other events included a parade, a fifties dance, a Buffalo Rose Concert, and the play, Carnival.

Cat on a Hot Tin Roof

The last University play directed by Forrest Sears was an explosive story set in the South during the 50's. It asks the question, "When Big Daddy dies of cancer, who inherits some of the richest land in the South?" Due to double casting, Laurie Weeks and Maggie O'Donnell played Maggie the Cat, a sultry southern lady. The play was written by Tennessee Williams.

Audiences Revisit France Through Learned Ladies

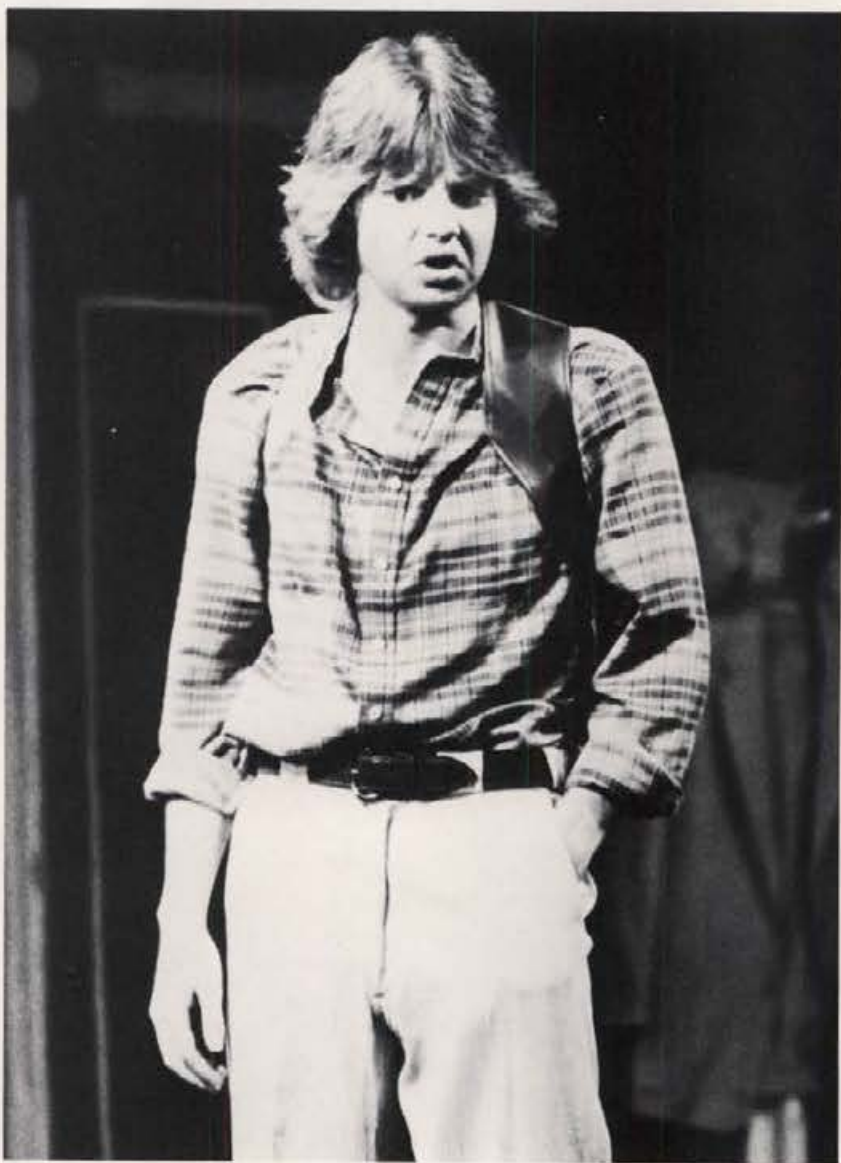

Learned Ladies recreated seventeenth century France with period clothing, hairstyles, and furniture. Learned Ladies was performed December 14-16. The ballet was directed by Forrest Sears. Performers Caren L. Grapham, Norman Scrivner, and Maggie O'Donnell were nominated for the Irene Ryan honorary award, and the entire cast was chosen to compete in the American College Theatre Festivals. The comedy, written by Moliere one year before his death, was considered by most people to echo his two great masterpieces, Tartuffe and The Misanthrope.

"The Dumb Waiter, a one-act play directed by Dave Lewis and written by Harold Pinter featured Tom Costello and Paul Horner as Gus and Tom, two rather ignorant, hit men waiting for instructions on their next job, in a sleazy hotel room.

U of I Presents Jazz '79

The Eleventh Annual Jazz Festival held at U of I Student Union Building hosted high school, junior high, and college instrumental and vocal jazz ensembles from the northwest. Groups chosen from competition during the day were featured in concert that evening. The shows were sponsored by the U of I music department.

Baseball Flies Into Action

The Idaho Vandal Baseball team ended the Banana Belt tournament 2-4 placing second in their division.

*Women's Track
Sets
New Records*

The strongest area of the Idaho women track team, coached by Roger Norris, is in the middle distance range 400 to 800 meters. Injuries at the beginning of the season to Penny Rice and Lisa Payne hurt the indoor season, but outdoor season brought these results: Kate Kirsh set the school record in the 1500 meters at 5:03, Jeanne Nuxoll established a new record in the three mile in 19:11 minutes, and Kim Ward set the long jump record at 17-5.

Four Qualify for NCAA Outdoor

Vandal men's track team under coach Mike D. Keller missed first place in the All-Idaho meet by one-half point. Bob Peterson placed second in the NCAA track and field championships with a high jump of 7-½. Gary Gonsor set a school record of 8:56.51 in the steeplechase, and Doug Bdkman set a record of 3:45.88 in the 500 meters. All three qualified for NCAA outdoor championships along with halfmiler, John Trout with a time of 1:48.7.

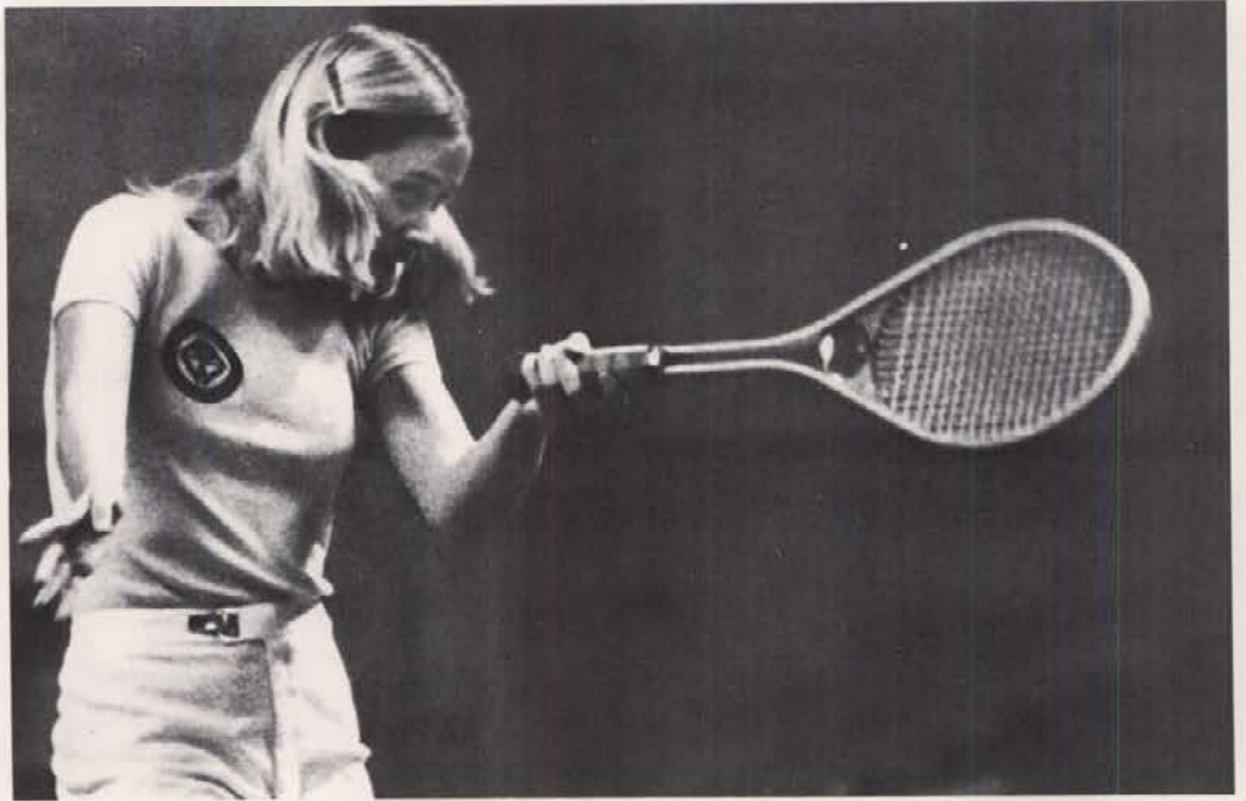

The swim coach is John DeMeyer. The men's swimming team finished the season with a respectable 7-4. Co-captains were Steve Cobb, and Mark Nordquist. Don Moravec, a freshman from Springfield, Oregon added depth to the Vandal attack. The women team placed 4th in the nation small-college with a record of 18-2. National competitors included Nancy Bechtholdt, Kris Ablin, Linda DeMeyer, Kathy Schmahl, and Nancy Rand.

Women Swing Into Competition

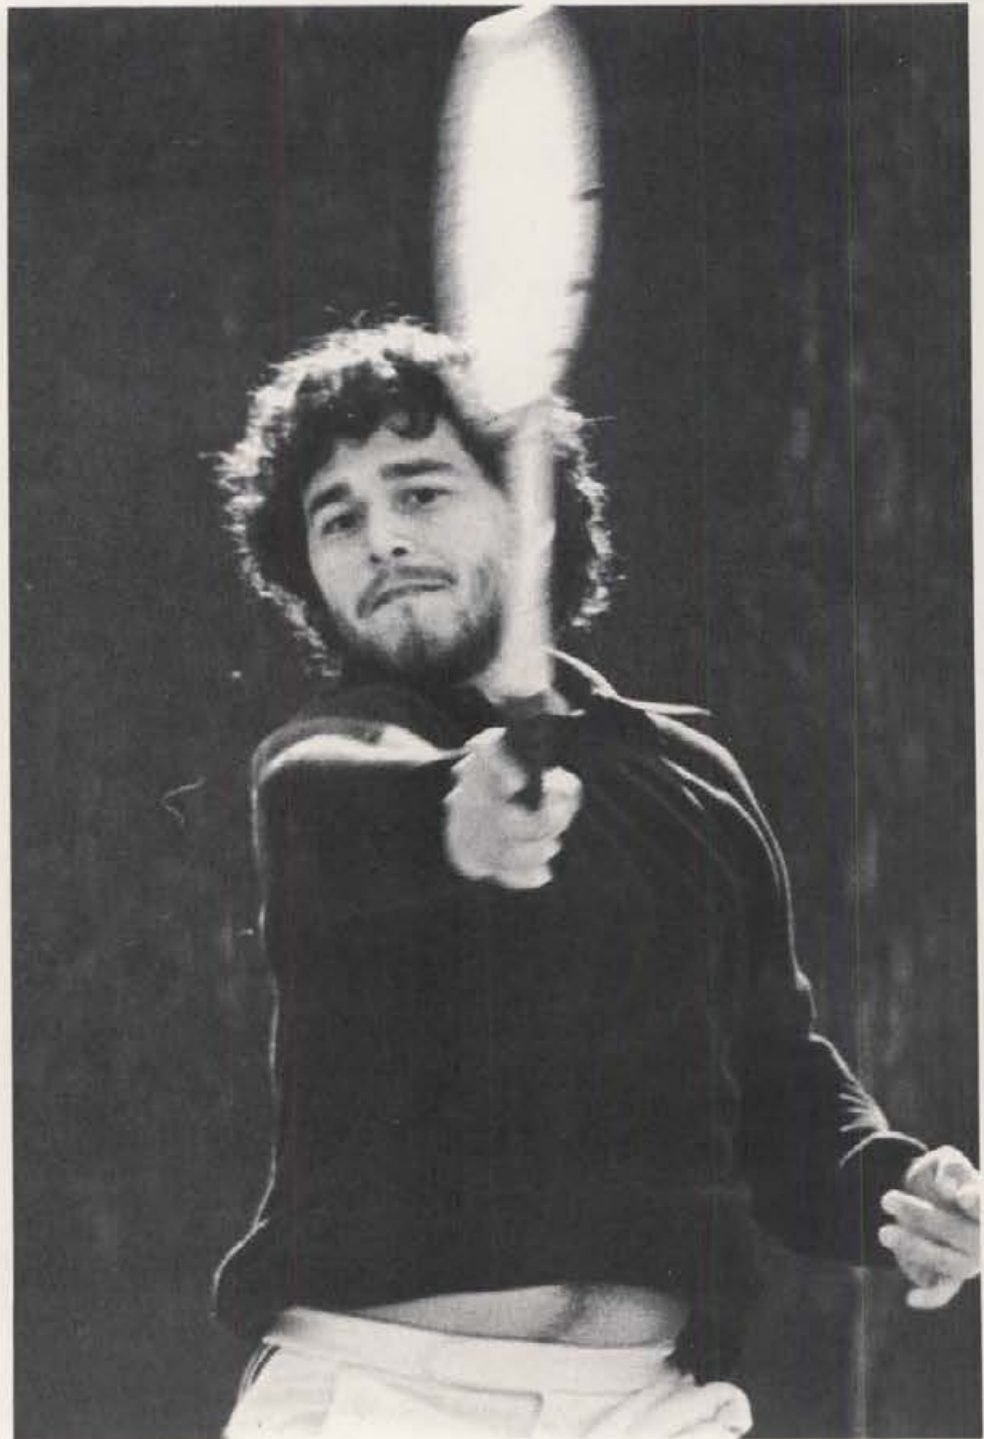

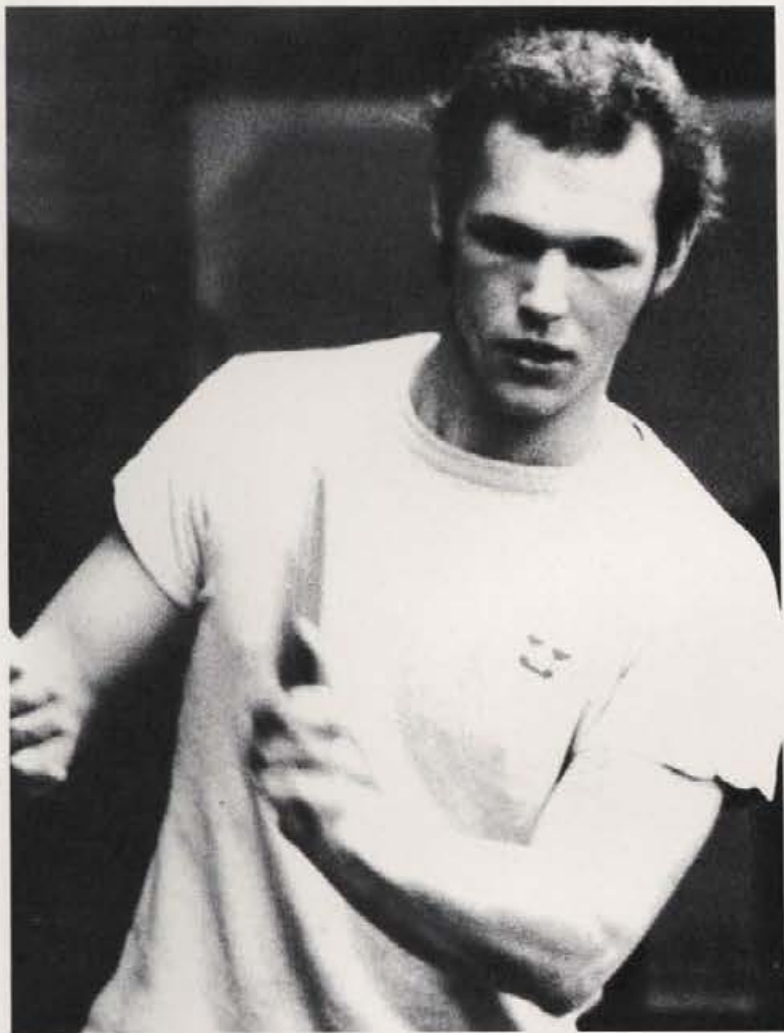

Under Coach Amanda Burke, the Vandal Women's Tennis Team took 1st in the Pacific Northwest small college, ending their season 18-4. Leading the team this year was Kellie Friddle.

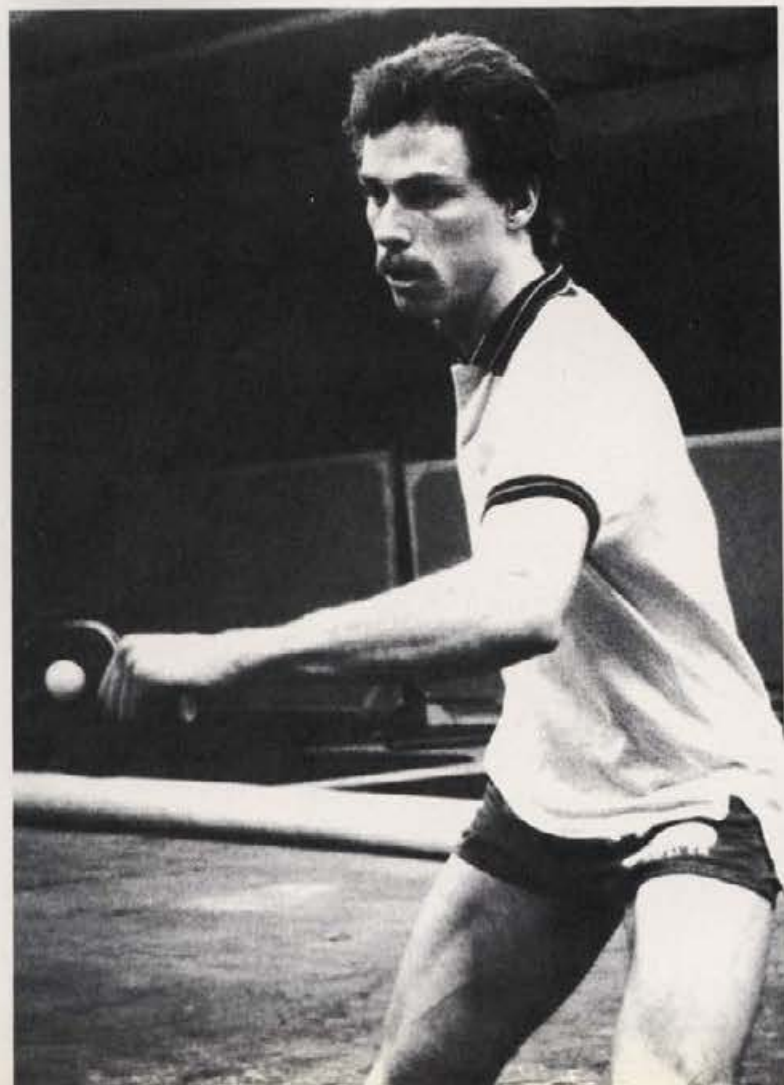

Tennis Team Experiences Disappointment

Defending Big Sky Conference Champions, University of Idaho's men's tennis team took only second at Big Sky this year. Under coach Ron Leonard, his young team was defeated by Weber State. They finished with a 20-6 dual match record and will be back swinging next year. Mike Palacio (pictured) was the No. 1 singles player followed by Bob and John Simmons, Scott Moreland, Jim Gerson and Andy Oas.

Special Thanks

I would like to thank my staff and special thanks to Donna Uptmor, my second semester assistant editor. I'd like to thank Andrea Reimann for doing all the art work in this yearbook. For moral support, a thank you is extended to Dean Vettrus. Last-minute pictures and deadlines were kept by Rick Steiner, Photo Bureau Director, and I'd like to thank him for helping the Gem Staff.

Mary Booth, Editor

My thanks is also extended to Jim Johnson, Hugh Lentz, Bart Holt, Kathy Bernard, and my parents.
