Special attention will be devoted to the smut problem. At the last anti-smut convention a number of farmers in all parts of the state were appointed to experiment with different methods of fighting smut and to keep a careful record of the results attained, and their reports will be received.

On January 6 and 7 a Millers School will be conducted under direction of State Chemist Olson. Instruction in the methods of testing wheat will be given, including several lectures by members of the faculty and demonstration work in the station laboratory. About thirty millers have signified their intention of attending this school.

SPOKANE HIGH TOMORROW NIGHT

Tomorrow night, promptly at 8 o'clock, the Genesee High school basket ball quintet clashes with the Spokane High team, and the strongest game on the local court this season is expected. This is the team that so nearly defeated the Genesee championship team last year.

The Genesee boys are practicing hard for this game, and even though it is claimed that Spokane will come here stronger than ever before, to avenge the sting of last year's defeat, the home boys expect to put it over them again.

The admission charge for this game is 50 cents, and the contest is scheduled for a prompt start at 8 o'clock.

Last night the local team met the Rathdrum team on the opera house floor. This is the team which Genesee played as the University gym in Moscow last March for the championship of north Idaho. The game was played after the NEWS had gone to press, but it was generally expected that Genesee would put it over the visitors.

The News with Sunset, one year, only $2.25.

NEW STAMPS FOR PARCELS POST

All the postage stamps for the new parcels post service are to be 1 1/4 inches in size, and all red. They have been on sale at the Genesee post office since the establishment of the parcels post this week.

The designs are as follows: One cent, postoffice clerk; 2 cents, city carrier; 3 cents, railway postal clerk; 4 cents, rural carrier; 5 cents, mail train; 10 cents, steamship and mail tender; 15 cents, automobile service; 20 cents, aeroplane carrying mail; 25 cents, dairying; 75 cents, harvesting; $1, fruit growing.

These distinctive parcels post stamps must be used on all matter of the fourth class, and all matter bearing ordinary stamps will be treated as "Held for Postage." Parcels will be mailable only at postoffices, branch offices lettered and local named stations and such numbered stations as the postmaster may designate, or presented to a rural or other carrier authorized to receive such matter.

All parcels must bear the return address of the sender, otherwise they will not be accepted for mailing.

Postmaster General Hitchcock announces that all the details of the parcel post system, which began operations January 1, have been worked out, and that the postal service all along the line stands in readiness for the burdens of the new service. The department at Washington has shipped to 60,000 postmasters and 45,000 rural carriers the necessary printed matter, supplies and equipment. These shipments have contained in all 70,000 scales, 110,000 rubber stamps and 10,000,000 insurance tags and in addition, 153,292,455 parcel post stamps and 12,058,435 postage due stamps have been sent out in separate consignments. The entire service is now equipped with all the paraphernalia needed to handle the new business.

Congress has devolved on the Postmaster General the duty of putting all the machinery of this gigantic undertaking into operation throughout the country on the same day. This achievement is said to be unprecedented in the history of the establishment of all government and private owned utilities. It has been necessary to anticipate the difficulties of actual operation, so that every precaution may be taken to have the mails move with the usual dispatch. All division superintendents and inspectors have been supplied with the regulations and ordered to exercise the utmost diligence. Since the Christmas rush the postmasters, too, have spent considerable time in making the clerks and carriers familiar with the regulations. No service ever introduced by the government has created more interest among the general public.

Since the enactment of the law in August, thousands of letters have been received requesting information of all kinds about parcel post, and offering inventions designed to facilitate the handling of the new mail. Every day hundreds of orders for the new zone map and guide are sent in by business houses and individuals who intend to ship their commodities by parcels post. Chambers of commerce, boards of trade and mercantile organizations have applied for the zone maps in quantities amounting to 10,000 copies.

FORESTRY COURSE BEGINS MONDAY

The ten weeks course in forestry which opens at the University January 6 promises to be well attended. Letters of inquiry are coming in every day from all parts of Idaho and from states as far east as Missouri and Illinois.

"The course will be essentially practical," said Dr. C. H. Shattuck, of the school of forestry. "It is intended for forest rangers and others who wish to increase their efficiency or fit themselves for forest service or lumbering positions. Special work will be done in lumbering, forest engineering, forest management and silviculture.

"In lumbering all the operations common to Idaho and surrounding country will be taken up. Part of the time will be spent studying lumbering operations in one of the largest logging camps in the West. Lectures and demonstrations at the saw mill will be given by an official lumber inspector of the Northern Pine Manufacturing Association. Forest engineering will include forest surveying, mapping, timber estimating, laying out roads and trails, telephone construction, simple bridge building, construction of logging roads, chutes, flumes, etc.

"Forest protection will include organization and methods of fire patrol, systems of roads, fire lines, lookout points, fire fighting, outfitting, supplies, fire laws, identification and study of tree diseases and damaging insects. Forest management will include a study of forest influences, forest requirements, methods of timber marking and thinning, seeding, collecting and storing of seed. Several forest supervisors and lumbermen will lecture at various times on different phases of forest administration and lumbering.

"In the past practically all the men completing the short course have secured positions with the Forest Service or lumber companies."

INTERESTING STATE ITEMS

Hope is to have a newspaper known as the Hope Herald. The first number appeared yesterday, January 2.

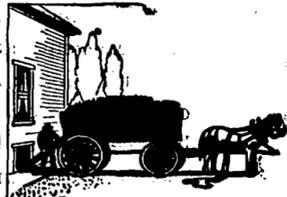

Governor-elect Haines has announced that he had appointed Dr. E. E. Maxey to be surgeon-general of the national guard of Idaho. O. H. Barber, a newspaper man of American Falls, has been named as state game warden.

The two terms of the District court for Latah county for the year 1913 have been announced by Judge Steele as beginning on April 14th and November 24. Besides the two terms in Latah county, Judge Steele will hold court two terms each in Nez Perce, Clearwater and Lewis counties.

Maps and plats of 200,000 acres of unsurveyed land in Owyhee county have been turned over to the United States land office at Boise by Surveyor General D. A. Utter. These maps will be held about 30 days when they will be filed and the land thrown open to entry. The land lies near the Oregon border and west of Silver City.

An amendment to the primary election law requiring voters to declare their party preference before receiving their ballots was among the legislative recommendations made by the county commissioners who met in Boise last week. The commissioners also asked that a tax commission of three persons be created and given the power of examining corporation books.

There is to be a general upheaval in the state land department at the opening of the administration of Governor Haines. The governor is not yet ready to announce his program but is already certain that there is to be a shaking up of dry bones and a lopping off of dead timber that will result, it is asserted, in a saving of $20,000 to the state in two years in this department alone.

THE GENESEE NEWS.

ESTABLISHED AT THE POST OFFICE AT GENESEE AS SECOND-CLASS MAIL MATTER.

P. O. NO. 100, GENESEE, IDAHO. PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

Subscription price, strictly in advance, $1.50. Single copies, 5 cents.

GOODBYE

With this issue of the NEWS the writer retires as publisher of this paper.

We have been with you and edited the News for the past more than three years, and while we may say that it is no small matter to run a country weekly and do it successfully, we feel that we have accomplished this, and we are grateful to the people and business men of Genesee who have so heartily supported us, and given encouragement and kind assistance in making the News one of the best weekly papers in the Palouse country.

Mr. P. C. McCreary, of North Yakima, Washington, assumes charge, with twenty years of experience in newspaper work. Mr. McCreary comes here highly recommended as a newspaper man and practical printer, and we hope the new management will receive your hearty support in his endeavor to make the paper even better than it has ever been. Mrs. McCreary and little son will arrive here the forepart of next week.

We leave Genesee and the Palouse country, not because of any dislike for her people for we have found here the best people it has ever been our good fortune to meet. We have a very warm spot in our heart for this community and its people, and it is with a tinge of sadness that we turn over our toga to Mr. McCreary, wishing him and you all the good things possible.

H. W. BROWN.

In assuming the responsibilities of publisher of the News, we do so with a knowledge that it is no small task, as Mr. Bruce has said, to publish a good weekly paper, and as the News is conceded to be one of the best small town papers published in the Northwest, the responsibility is naturally greater. However, with the co-operation of the patrons and friends of the paper we shall strive to give you as good paper as to possible to put out in a community of this size.

We are not a politician in any sense of the word, but shall pursue the present policies of the News, making it an independent paper in every way, and will be ready at all times to take up any matter of benefit to the community as a whole, but taking no part in personal or factional strife.

We invite all friends and patrons of the paper to call at the News office and become personally acquainted, that we may work together for the best interests of all. We wish you all a very happy and prosperous New Year.

P. C. MCCREARY.

W. S. C. DEFEATS G. A. A. C. In the best played game of basketball seen this season on the local floor the "Star" team of W. S. C. players defeated the Genesee Athletic club last Friday night by a score of 43 to 17. Genesee played a good game, but was not in trim to cope with a team such as came down from the college that day, and lack of practice on the part of the home boys allowed such a one-sided score. The visitors were in fine shape, and the work of young Bohler and others was spectacular at times, and brought forth favorable applause.

Following the game a social dance was indulged in by a large number of the young people. STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING. Notice is hereby given that the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Genesee Exchange Bank of Genesee, Idaho, will be held in the directors' room of said bank on Tuesday, the 21st day of January, 1913, at 2:30 o'clock p. m.

FRED K. BRISLER, Cashier. Dated Genesee, Idaho, December 26th, 1912. His Stomach Troubles Over Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your troubles, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Barker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my troubles were over." Sold by all dealers.

CHURCH NOTICES.

There will be no preaching services at the Christian church until the second Sunday in the New Year, Jan. 13th. The teacher training class and the Sunday school meet at the usual times.

E. M. PATTERSON, Minister.

Preaching at the usual hours next Sunday at the Methodist church, Sunday school at 10, preaching at 11. Epworth League at 6:45, preaching at 7:30. Morning subject, "Is There a Devil; Is He a Person; What Power Has He in This World?" Such questions will be answered from the Bible. Evening subject, "Christ and His Power." Prayer meeting and Bible study every evening this week at 7:30. You will be welcome.

J. G. CARRICK, Pastor.

The regular communion service will be held next Sunday morning in the Congregational church, with an address by the pastor.

At that service an opportunity will be given to our people who were not at service last Sunday to make their contribution to the Home Missionary society.

The church voted to observe the week of prayer, which begins next Sunday night. Instead of the usual prayer topics for that week, the pastor will preach every night except Saturday and the services will begin at 7:30 and will be evangelistic throughout. The sermons will be on the following topics:

Sunday—"What Is Meant by the New Birth?"

Monday—"Wronging Ourselves."

Tuesday—"Danger Signals."

Wednesday—"The Lost Boy."

Thursday—"What Is Sin and What Is Salvation?"

Friday—"What Is the Unpardonable Sin?"

Sunday morning—"The Conversion of Saul of Tarsus."

Sunday evening—"A Father's Advice to Young People."

These are vital topics and will be discussed in twentieth century terms. The aim shall be to make the services bright, brief and helpful, and everybody is invited to attend. Those not professing the religion of Christ are especially asked to make their plans to be with us at each service.

Come and hear these topics discussed. We don't ask you to accept what does not appeal to you. Always a special invitation to men.

A. P. ORTH, Pastor.

—John D. Sullivan was a business visitor in Uniontown yesterday.

—Miss Edna Driscoll left yesterday morning for Spokane where she expects to visit for several days.

—Theo J. Michels, who has been visiting here with his sister, Mrs. A. J. Primus, since Christmas day, returned to his home in Greer yesterday morning.

—One of the prettiest and most enjoyable dances ever held in Genesee was given at the opera house on New Year's eve by the Army company. A five-piece orchestra rendered splendid music and the large number who were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

—The Congregational choir took a labeled pile out to the Stockbook place on New Year's afternoon, where they spent a very enjoyable evening. One of the songs was devoted to the hungry mercy missions on their arrival, and after visiting with their hosts until a late hour they returned home.

"THE BEGGAR PRINCE" There is no doubt but that "The Beggar Prince," which is to appear at the opera house next Thursday, is absolutely one of the funniest comic operas ever written, and that is a strong recommendation.

The presenting company will be here at the opera house Thursday night, January 9, and in first-class in every respect. Special merit is given the two leading comedians, who have an excellent reputation in the east. There is a large chorus of young ladies who were selected for this company on account of their special types of beauty.

This is an opportunity to see something really good.

SHOES AND STOCKINGS.

A Way by Which Their Lasting Qualities May Be Increased. While shoes are new or before the soles are much worn apply with a small brush several coats of linseed oil, letting it dry in well each time before reapplying. The oil acts much the same on the leather as it does on wood, and if the applications of oil are repeated frequently the sole may be preserved intact indefinitely.

It sounds unreasonable to talk of preserving hosiery to any appreciable extent, but it may be done. The best hosiery is washed the longer it will last. By washing it do not necessarily mean the ordinary laundry method, which is calculated to fade and rot the fiber. Really, to preserve hosiery it must have personal supervision. Stockings should never be worn longer than one day. They should then be rinsed in lukewarm water with a few drops of ammonia in it, dried and worn without ironing. This repeated wetting of the fiber keeps it so firm and strong that it will not break at the points of greatest strain. This treatment applies to cotton, lisle thread and silk hosiery. If you will treat your new hose this way they will last a long time and darn but very little. Of course in time all hosiery, however expensive or strong, will succumb to wear, but the above method of treatment will double the lasting qualities.—New York World.

THE LETTER THAT KILLETH.

Trifling Errors That Have Had Big Results in Court.

It is on record that Lord Denman established great reputation at the bar by securing an acquittal in a famous case on the ground that a certain firm higher in the indictment as "proprietors of a silk and cotton lace manufactory" should have been described as "proprietors of a cotton lace manufactory." It having been ascertained that they made both silk and cotton lace.

In 1827 a judge quashed an indictment for murder because it was referred to the jurors as "on their oaths" instead of "on their oaths and in their hands."

In yet another case the judge held that the omission of the word "ewe" was sufficient to invalidate a conviction because the word "ewe" as well as "sheep" was used in the statute.

In 1841 Lord Cardigan was indicted for firing on Captain Tucker in a duel. He was acquitted because the captain's Christian name was wrongly entered in the indictment.

In another case about the same period a legal document was invalidated because the letters A. D. were used instead of the year of our Lord.—Westminster Review.

Bats in a Bedroom.

An army of bats invaded the bedroom of a rectory in Dorsetshire, and from every part of the room they could be heard plumping against mirrors and glasses, knocking against the ceiling, while too often to be pleasant one would hit against the head of the bed. The rector struck a match and lit a candle. This served to attract the creatures nearer to that particular part of the room in which the bed was placed. Then the rector and gentleman placed the candle near an open window, only to find that other bats began to come in, so that it was impossible to count how many there were in the room. Another plan was tried. All the curtains were drawn and the east window opened wide. The light was put out, and the visitors gradually dispersed.—London Mail.

Yawning Fish.

The mouth of the turbot is twisted to one side, rather as if it had belonged to a round fish which some one had accidentally trod on and squashed half flat. The yawn begins at the lips, which open as if to suck in water. Then the jaws become distended, and it is seen that this is going to be a real, genuine fish yawn. But the yawn goes on, works through the back of its head, distending the plates of the skull, and comes out at the gills, which, open, show the red inside and are inflated for a moment, and then, with a kind of stretching shiver of its back, the fish flattens out again.—London Mail.

Originality Needed.

To revive an old style of building, no matter how well it may be done, does nothing to advance the art of building. It would at the best be but a copy of an old work. Painters copy old masters for the purpose of study, but copying pictures will never make a painter's reputation. Something new must be achieved, some original work executed, before any advance in art is possible. So it is with architecture.—Country House.

BEGGAR PRINCE HERE NEXT THURSDAY

An old adage has it that "the good die young," and another reads that "it is the exception that proves the rule."

For the past eleven years "The Beggar Prince" has been a jinx to some of the unique experiences of being the "exception" which proves the rule. The eastern critics have put their stamp of approval upon this comic opera as being "good" and it has lived for eleven happy years during that time thousands of people have seen it played and still it maintains its unqualified popularity in every section of the country.

"The Beggar Prince" was such a strong drawing offering that it was not until it had been played for eleven consecutive seasons in the east and middle west that it could be obtained for the amusement of the theatre. Even in the great Northwest, this is the reason that many who pride themselves upon being well acquainted with all of the great theatrical productions have to stop and think if they know of this masterpiece of Anderson's.

FRESH BUTTER AND BUTTERMILK

About four years ago a book was published, the title of which is "The Prolongation of Life." This book was written by a European scientist named Metchnikoff who cites evidence to prove that the lives of all the higher animals, man included, are greatly shortened by the formation of poisons in the alimentary canal. These poisons, he claims, are formed by the non-acid forms of bacteria in yeasts. He states, also, that the growth of these poisonous forms is prevented or greatly hindered by the presence of lactic acid bacteria. His statements, as to the part played by these acid bacteria in the promotion of health, have done much to increase the use of buttermilk and sour milk drinks.

As fresh butter contains millions of the same lactic bacteria as buttermilk, though in smaller numbers, it is long with buttermilk in the health food class. In ordinary packed butter the number of lactic bacteria from none to only a few thousand, while frequently there are wild yeast forms which are injurious to health. It is evident, then, that there are other reasons besides flavor why fresh butter should command a higher price on the market.

One objection to the use of ordinary or packed butter is that the bacteria which cause tuberculosis may be present in each in considerable number. Butter made in dairies where the cows have been tested for tuberculosis, or from cream that has been properly pasteurized, is safe for table use. W. R. WARDNER, Assistant Bacteriologist, Idaho Experiment Station.

WILL USE COTTON SACKS

Farmers' Union to Handle Grain in Bulk

That the wheat-growers in the Inland Empire will use cotton bags instead of jute grain sacks for their next year's wheat crop, is the statement made by State President L. C. Crow of the Farmers' union, who, with P. W. Cox of Colfax, a member of the national board of directors, has returned from an extended trip through the southern states, visiting large cotton bag factories in the interest of the Farmers' union.

In addition to making arrangements for the purchase of about 10,000,000 sacks for the farmers of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, the two delegates made an investigation of the wheat markets of the south and found a demand for the soft wheat grown in the northwest. A number of the large southern flour mills are already securing their wheat from southern Idaho, on account of the fact that soft-wheat flour was at a premium over the flour made from the hard wheat of the middle west. With the development of the milling industry in the south and with the opening of the Panama canal it is thought that a new market will be opened which will handle practically all the western-grown wheat.

With reference to the sack problem Mr. Crow stated: "The purpose of our trip through the south was to make arrangements with the cotton bag manufacturers for the purchase of about 10,000,000 bags for June delivery. We found that at the price jute sacks were selling during the last season that we could lay down nearly two cotton sacks for the price of one burlap bag, by buying from the southern factories. In other words, we will not be at the mercy of the jute bag manufacturers."

"Of course it will be necessary to buy from a large number of factories on account of the great number of sacks that will be required. However, we will be able to get all at about the same price. At Nashville we will be able to buy about two million sacks, at Atlanta another million and similar amounts from other points throughout the south. The cotton bags are not only cheaper but they are lighter and more durable as well. The great hauling distance will be discontinued by the fact that the southern product is less than half the weight of the jute sacks made in the west."

Figuring the membership of the Farmers' union in the three northwest states as 10,000, and the average crop for the Inland Empire at about 60,000,000 bushels, the change from jute to cotton bags will involve the saving of a good many thousands of dollars.

The Farmers' union will build a number of elevators during the coming year and will prepare to handle the entire crop in bulk. "The general belief," said Mr. Crow, "that all grain must be sacked in order to be shipped around the horn to Liverpool is erroneous inasmuch as only seven per cent of the wheat grown in the northwest is marketed in Liverpool, the balance being used at home or shipped to the orient. Furthermore the quotations made on wheat at coast markets are not based on the cost of sacking the grain, but in reality on the prices offered at Chicago for bulk wheat."

To Stop Race-track Gambling. That the coming session of the Idaho legislature will pass measures abolishing race-track gambling and pool selling, is the consensus of opinion of legislators-elect and politicians from various sections of the state. From various sources it has been ascertained that the influence of the Mormon church will be exerted to this end, and further that the legislative delegations from the southern Idaho counties of Ada and Canyon, and probably Blaine and Lincoln will exert their efforts for the enactment of such a law.

A quiet but systematic campaign conducted during the last two months by various civic betterment and law enforcement organizations, by which the intolerable conditions at the Alan tracks at Coeur d'Alene were made known, has resulted in a general demand for an anti track gambling law, and the growth of this sentiment was increased in this section particularly by the manner in which the races at the Inter-mountain fairs have been conducted during the past two years.

GOOD BASKETBALL

Genesee Again Victorious Over Spokane, 36 to 8.

The Spokane game Saturday evening was the best of the season thus far. Both teams were nervous at the tip off and this showed in their play for nearly all the first half. Spokane was especially affected, not throwing a single foul goal out of the first seven chances. A noticeable feature was that the ball was in Genesee's possession or near their goal most of the time. This was due largely to the excellent defense work of Mattinson, combined with the clever and aggressive floor work of Wardrobe. Spokane "stalled" for time occasionally during the last half, and played during the whole game with the exception of a brilliant flash at the first of the second half, a purely defensive game, due, doubtless, to a realization of their poor basket-throwing ability.

The Genesee team is wearing off its rough edges and gaining machine like action in the whole team and making each man a star in his position.

The attendance was less than 60 per cent of last year's game, the Rathdrum game had an attendance of fully four-fifths less than last year, notwithstanding the game was on our local court. Not a regular game has fully paid for itself yet, but now that the team is playing in championship form they are confident of strong support.

The lineup was as follows:

Genesee	Spokane
L. Gray	r. forward	Bakke
Chas. Gray	l. forward	La Fayette
Staylor	center	Zimmerman
H. Mattinson	l. guard	Orion
H. Schooler	r. guard	Andrews
M. Wardrobe	l. guard	Andrews
Referee—Hinderman; Timekeeper—Vanouck; Scorer—Van Cook

On last Friday night Genesee defeated the crack Rathdrum team by a score of 47 to 14. The Genesee team outclassed Rathdrum at every turn of the game. It was expected that the visitors would put up a hard fight as they were one of the contenders for the North Idaho championship last year and the one sided score was a disappointment to those who had expected to see a good game put up by Rathdrum. The visitors themselves were rather disappointed as they had not expected to find any such players as they encountered, but it did not take them long to learn that they were up against the real thing.

Following was the lineup:

Genesee	r. forward	Rathdrum
L. Gray	r. forward	Presnell
C. Gray	l. forward	Mitchell
Martin	center	Boskel
Bressler	l. guard	Lakehill
H. Schooler	l. guard	Feely
Referee—Hunting; Umpire—Spurbeck; Timekeeper—Vanouck; Scorer—Dunkle

On January 22, Genesee meets what will probably prove their stoniest rival, Pullman on the Genesee floor. Pullman has defeated both Rathdrum and Spokane by good scores and will certainly put up a hard fight.

This Saturday, January 11, the Genesee High girls meet the strong Lewiston girls team. This will be a good game and the girls have been working hard in an endeavor to deserve their support.

In 1912 the metal output of Idaho, according to preliminary estimates by C. N. Gerry, of the United States Geological Survey, was valued at nearly $21,000,000, an increase of about 10 per cent over the value for 1911.

Increases were made in the production of copper, lead and zinc, while the output of gold and silver slightly decreased.

MEMORIAL TO CONGRESS

Appropriation of $1,400,000 Asked for Cello Canal

The Columbia and Snake River Waterways Association, the Idaho State League of Commercial Bodies, the Idaho-Washington Development League, the Lewiston Commercial club and the Clarkston Chamber of Commerce have united in a petition to Congress asking for the immediate appropriation of $1,400,000 for the completion of the Cello canal by the end of 1914. Copies of this document, with explanatory letters, are being sent to 500 members of Congress and to the legislatures of the Pacific States asking for cooperation. The memorial recites that "when this canal is completed the vast Inland Empire as far as Priest Rapids on the Columbia and during the greater part of the year the Snake river to Pittsburg landing, over 200 miles, will be opened for steamboat navigation to the sea. It becomes, therefore, a matter of tremendous importance to this section that the Cello canal be speedily completed. The last congress so realized the great importance of this work that it increased the appropriation for the year 1912 from $600,000 to $700,000. The engineers in charge state that one more good appropriation in an amount approximating $1,400,000 will complete the canal and provide the necessary equipment so that it may be in use for navigation by the spring of 1914. It is further stated that at least $100,000 in the cost of construction may be saved if the final appropriation is made speedily and in a lump sum so that the work may be carried on continuously."

Dr. Edward C. Elliott, dean of the department of education of the University of Wisconsin has been unofficially offered the presidency of the University of Idaho, to succeed Dr. MacLean, resigned.

Senator Borah has asked the department of agriculture to send a representative of that department to Boise to assist Commissioner Willis and the legislative committee in framing a pure food law, meat inspection law, etc. for this state.

Tell the people what you have and what your prices are. That is what the mail order house does. Every dollar sent out helps to impoverish a rural community. Every dollar kept at home helps to enrich it. Merchants should help try to keep the trade at home as much as possible by advertising.—Rathdrum Tribune.

R. S. Sheridan and C. O. Broxon, publisher and editor of the Capital News, and A. R. Cruzen, presumed to be a stockholder, were sentenced to jail for to do and fined $500 each by the Supreme Court of Idaho last week for contempt. The action against Sheridan, Broxon and Cruzen was brought December 2 by Attorney General McDougall. The publication of the message from Colonel Roosevelt criticizing the court's decision was admitted by the publishers, but they denied that this was contempt, claiming the right under the constitution to criticize the court.

E. A. Hinderman of Pullman, who refereed the basket ball game here Saturday night, returned home Sunday morning.

HOTEL RANGE BLOWS UP

A. J. Kessler, Cook, Has Narrow Escape From Injury.

About 7 o'clock Monday morning the kitchen range of the Grand Central hotel in this city blew up and the kitchen was almost demolished, caused by the coils in the range exploding after the water had been turned off in order that a bursted water pipe might be repaired.

Proprietor Whalen had been unable to find the water cut-off that disconnected the kitchen water supply and was therefore unable to drain the water from the range on Sunday night, consequently the pipes were frozen Monday morning and just before breakfast time a pipe bursted over the kitchen, making a miniature lake on the floor. The plumber was sent for and the flow of water stopped and preparations for breakfast was resumed. Ice was still in the pipes and as soon as the coils in the range became thoroughly heated the explosion occurred, causing much damage to the kitchen and completely demolished the range, parts of which were picked up from the street, where it had been blown through a window.

A. J. Kessler, cook at the hotel, was standing near the range, upon which he was preparing breakfast for the waiting guests, when the explosion occurred. A large plate from the back of the stove struck him but fortunately he was far enough away to avoid the full force of the iron. Had he been standing in front of the stove instead of at the side he would undoubtedly have been killed. Many dishes were broken and other things in the kitchen were scattered over the room. A soap dish was blown from the wall and hurled across the room with enough force to have severely hurt Mr. Kessler had he been in its path. Windows and doors were broken and the place looked very much as though a dynamite bomb had been touched off in that vicinity.

Landlord Whalen immediately got busy cleaning up the debris and making arrangements to install a new range, and in a short time he had brought order out of chaos and work at the hotel was resumed once more.

Fine Hogs.

J. N. Kries, living about two miles south of Genesee, on Friday of last week delivered to Rader & Westensee two hogs weighing in the aggregate 1220 pounds, for which he received $67.20. The largest of the two weighed 750 pounds and the "small one" 470 pounds. There are nearby communities which have been prating of their fine and heavy hogs. If any of them have any larger which they are placing on the open market, or holding for show purposes, we would like to hear from them. The Genesee country is fast taking its place among the hog raisers and the time is not far distant when this will be a hog shipping as well as a wheat shipping point.

—A jolly bunch of Genesee's young people gave a sleighing party on Wednesday night, their destination being the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Schuler, about six miles east of town. Music, dancing and games were indulged in and oysters were served in the merry-making returning to town at a late hour, feeling that they had been amply repaid for their trip.

—Regardless of the extreme cold weather of the past few days the farmers have been taking advantage of the good weather by bringing their wheat to town. The oldest inhabitants cannot remember when there has been a "spell" of weather like this. The thermometer started on its downward journey last Saturday and continued to go that way until on Sunday night it had reached 15 below zero, and on Monday night it again went down, reaching as low as 12 degrees, as registered by some of the thermometers in town.

—Postmaster Burr wishes to impress upon the patrons of the rural routes that the duty of keeping the roads open devolves upon them, and that unless they do so the rural carriers will be unable to make their regular trips, thus impairing the service, which may be taken as just cause for discontinuing the routes, as the government is very particular in this regard. John Vandenberg, carrier on rural route No. 2, had to divert his route on Monday, thus losing time for which a report had to be turned in and the cause given. Good country roads insure good rural service and that is the only way rural routes can be retained.

During the course of the evening Dr. Tuomy gave a very interesting description of hospital work in Vienna, where he took a post graduate course. ## GET THESE Money-making Secrets WITH Farm Journal

For $1.00 you can get now not only the FARM JOURNAL for FOUR full years, but also your choice of any one of the famous booklets, "Money-making Secrets," which other people have bought by the HUNDRED THOUSAND.

Just note what the information given in one of these booklets, "The Million Egg-Farm," did for Robert Liddle, a clerk of Scranton, Pa.

In May, 1910, Robert bought 2300 day-old chicks. He spent just one week studying the methods now given in this book—his only preparation for the business. Result—this "greenhorn" raised 58 per cent. of all his chicks, and 1350 of them were pullets ("Poultry Secrets" tells you this secret). In less than seven months he was getting 425 eggs daily, and selling them at 58 cents a dozen. His feed cost averaged $4.00 a day, leaving him OVER $17.00 A DAY PROFIT,—and this before all his pullets had begun laying.

Isn't "Money-making Secrets" a good name for such booklets? Read what people say of the other booklets, and of the FARM JOURNAL itself:—

"I find your Egg-Book worth untold dollars," says Roy Carver, Illinois. "What it tells would take a beginner years to learn."

"I am much pleased with the Butter Book," writes F. J. Dickson, Illinois. "I could secure 300 copies, one for each patron of our creamery."

"Duck Dollars is the best book I ever had on duck-raising," says E. W. Mansfield, New York.

"If your other booklets contain as much valuable information as the Egg-Book, I would consider them cheap at double the price," says E. W. Mansfield, New York.

T. F. McCrea, a missionary in China, writes, "I found Garden Gold a great help in my garden this summer. I lost my health in the great famine, trying to save the starving Chinese, and I am trying to get it back by getting near the soil. After a long tussle with the Chinese language and mission problems, I am now getting on with the vegetables, trees, chickens, etc. I am saving money and regaining my health. My wife and I both do Farm Journal, indispensable."

"The FARM JOURNAL beats them all," writes T. H. Porter, a subscriber. "Every issue has reminders and ideas worth a year's subscription."

"One year I took another agricultural paper, says N. M. Glawson, Washington, and it took a whole column to tell what FARM JOURNAL tells in one paragraph."

"I was very greatly helped by your garden page," writes Mrs. Joe Lawrence, Saskatchewan. "I was never able to raise cabbage until I read the article in your FARM JOURNAL. Now I have more than I need to use."

"FARM JOURNAL was a regular visitor at my boyhood home," writes Dr. William Dyer, New Jersey. "When the first crop came, it carried me back ten years, and I felt a boy again. I shall never get tired of reading it, and I shall send it like home. When it arrives, I feel the gladness jump right into the brain on the first page and read it until the last page, and all through the month I drink of its cream. You must work hard to keep it so rich."

"FARM JOURNAL is good for the man behind the counter, as well as the man in the field," says J. I. Stout, a Virginia bank clerk.

"I could get as good interest on every dollar as I could from the Farm Journal. I would soon be a millionaire," says A. W. Wetzel, Penna.

HEAVY SNOWFALL

Deepest in 27 Years, Say Old Residents of County.

"Not in 27 years has there been such a heavy fall of snow in this county," says J. Rosenburg, one of the old residents of Genesee, and other old residents make the same assertion, some placing the time as far back as 30 years.

While snow had been falling here in small amounts for several days, not until last Saturday evening did it set in earnest. Snow fell incessantly during Saturday night and on Sunday morning it was variously estimated and measured from 22 to 27 inches in depth. Sunday and Monday a small amount fell but not enough to make any material difference.

On Sunday morning quite a crowd assembled at the Northern Pacific depot to see the train come in and watch it plow through the drifts as it came near the depot. It arrived at 10:30 o'clock with two engines pulling one car, and they were a snowy sight indeed. The head engine resembled a huge snowbank with a smokestack sticking out one end, and both engines were covered with ice on their working parts. The front window was broken out of the first engine on the engineer's side and the cab was filled with snow. It was a hard trip from Pullman to this city, and on Monday it was even worse as the snow had become packed and the engines had great difficulty in pushing their way through.

The county roads were blocked for the most part, and on Monday the rural mail carriers had to abandon their trips for that day, but on Tuesday the roads were open and the carriers made their regular trips, the farmers along the routes turning out and clearing and breaking the roads and otherwise helping them along, which was appreciated by the carriers and Postmaster Burr.

The N. P. has been running a doubleheader every day this week, but on Wednesday the morning train did not arrive in this city until about 1:30 and the afternoon train at about 6 o'clock, snow having drifted and packed on the track.

Residents of Joint District No. 28, just across the line in Nez Perce county, are enjoying the benefits of a splendid school, the new schoolhouse having been completed just in time for the opening of school in the late fall, at a cost of more than $800, and is open in every way, or as far as it is possible to make one in the country. The house is not only used for school purposes but for the holding of social and other gatherings as well and very many enjoyable entertainments were held there during the holidays. It is understood there was some considerable opposition to the erection of the building but that now all are of the opinion that it is a good investment as such institutions as this are a credit to any community.

M. K. Smith went to Moscow Wednesday on the delayed train to meet a nephew whom he had not seen for some time.

IDAHO STATE NEWS

Interesting Items Cleared From Numerous Exchanges

In a justice court at Bonners Ferry two men are to be cited for contempt of court for criticizing a decision of the court. Next!

S. D. Taylor, ex state auditor, has purchased the Caldwell Tribune. Mr. Taylor was formerly proprietor of the Bonners Ferry Herald.

R. W. Green of Portland was in Lewiston last week looking over the prospects for the installation of a fruit drying plant. The Lewiston Orchard association is considering the installation of a plant similar to one used in Portland and will cost approximately $25,000.

Last Saturday Richard Sheridan, C. O. Broxton and A. K. Cruzen, the three publishers of the Capital News at Boise, were released from jail. At the request of the released man a pro posed demonstration at the jail was not held at that time. The plans as made called for a procession of prominent citizens, headed by a band and later a public mass meeting at the Capital News office.

Recommending that more deputies be appointed in his department, in order to have more efficient inspection of foods in the state of Idaho, James H. Wallis, state pure food inspector, has written to the various women's clubs of the state asking cooperation with him in the matter of securing more assistance. This increase in deputy help would affect no particular part of the state.

A young man named Rummage was accidentally shot last Friday night near Orofino by Emmet Long, and fears are entertained that he cannot recover. Rummage and others were returning from a party in the Fraser section and were shooting their way through for amusement. The horse ridden by young Rummage stumbled and fell, bringing the rider within range of a shot fired by Long. The bullet entered his back and lodged in the chest. This should be a warning against the carrying of firearms by young men and boys and their promiscuous use.

Nezperce has just completed a new $40,000 school house, which was opened for school last Monday. A housewarming is being held this Friday, afternoon.

Moscow's fine new high school will be opened on the 17th and a reception and program will be given. It is a building of which the people of Moscow are justly proud.

Under a ruling made by Judge Davis in a suit of Herbert A. Ellisworth, county assessor of Ada county, against V. W. Platt, receiver, the county cannot collect taxes upon the capital stock of the defunct Boise State bank. The court ruled that all delinquent taxes must be collected from shareholders of the bank.

A meeting, the purpose of which was to discuss plans for the construction of a macadam road between Caldwell and the Clearwater, by way of Lapwai, and to devise ways and means of interesting the government in the building of this highway. The road under consideration will be about 12 miles in length and would cost approximately $60,000.

A Washington dispatch announced the appointment of Charles Ward of Lewiston to Annapolis naval academy. Mr. Ward is the son of Mrs. Mrs. James B. McGraw and has been a student of Gonzaga college at Spokane for three years. He left a few days ago for the east to take a special course preparatory to the entrance examinations at the academy.

A. Meyers went to Lewiston on Thursday morning's train to consult a physician.

RURAL ROUTE NO. 3

Rural Mail Delivery and Parcel Post Good Combination.

Rural Route No. 3, out of Genesee will go into commission on February 3 and promises to be the best patronized route going out of Genesee. There will be about 30 patrons to start with and more will be added. A. W. Beachler, J. P. Michaelson and others were instrumental in the establishment of the route and deserve great credit for the work accomplished. It will serve a great many people who heretofore had to come to Genesee for their mail and will not doubt be duly appreciated by the patrons. The Driscoll Hardware company is busy getting the mail boxes ready for the patrons, placing the names of those to be served in plain black letters on the side of the box which will make it more convenient for the carrier, especially until he becomes acquainted with the names and location of those he serves.

Uncle Sam is very liberal in the way of establishing rural routes and the only requirement is that the farmers keep the roads in passable condition, so far as possible. The rural free delivery and parcel post will be a great boon to the farmers as they can have almost anything except the heavier articles delivered at their door at a very small cost. A farmer can telephone to a merchant in this city and have delivered by parcel post a package eleven pounds in weight for 15 cents, and smaller packages in proportion, the lowest rate being one pound for five cents, and adding one cent for each additional pound.

When the farmers become accustomed to the use of the parcel post they will not doubt find it a great convenience and will use it a great deal more than at present as very few people have become acquainted with and accustomed to its use.

Haines, in delivering his first message to the state legislature, had this to say regarding taxation, which will be of interest to every taxpayer in the state: "As a final word on this general subject of lessening the expense of government, I desire to emphasize that the burdens of taxation in the state must be materially reduced, and that this reduction must show upon our tax bills for this year. The point has been reached in this state where in many counties it is no longer profitable to own property which is subject to taxation. In addition to reducing the cost of state government, the cost of county government, municipal government and school district government must be curtailed whenever and wherever this can properly be done."

MAY BUILD EXTENSION S. & T. and N. P. Are Getting Busy—May Electrify

It is stated upon reliable authority that if a railroad is constructed in the southern part of the county, in the neighborhood of Waco and Dasty, that it will be the Spokane & Inland, and that it will be constructed from Palouse, via Pullman, along the Panhandle survey of the Northern Pacific.

The report is that the Northern Pacific line between Pullman and Palouse will be electrified and the line constructed from Pullman well down into the southern part of the county. The situation is rather complex, but the deductions seem reasonable. The Northern Pacific and the Great Northern Railway companies each own a half interest in the Spokane & Inland. By building into that territory neither company would be harmed, except by the possible loss of passenger business from Pullman. It would be necessary to build out from Palouse as great difficulty would be encountered in leaving Colfax without paralleling the O. W. R. & N. Company lines.

Another feature makes it quite imperative for the Inland to build feeders is that the road is far from being on a paying basis. At present the road is not paying interest on its outstanding bonds. Another feature would indicate that the matter has received serious consideration is that the proposition of electrifying the Northern Pacific line from Pullman to Palouse and the Genesee line from Pullman to Genesee, with a proposed extension from the end of the line on to Lewiston. The former proposition never went beyond the discussion in the columns of the newspapers, but it was actually under consideration.—Pullman Tribune.

Farmers Oppose Officers' Action Farmers of Walla Walla, Columbia and Garfield counties are opposed to the recent action taken by the legislative committee of the state union in conjunction with the State Federation of Labor in sending blanks to various union asking for definite opinions of the prospective registrars of the next session.

At a meeting of the Tri County Farmers' union held in Walla Walla last week resolutions were passed regarding the action. The letters sent out ask members of the union to find out the best method of influencing legislators, and to get all possible information as to how they can be approached.

The resolution adopted set forth that the tri-county union is seeking no legislation except such as is beneficial to the farmers and at the same time in no way injurious to any other class; that the union feels it has a right to demand that no undue pressure or influence outside of reason and justice be brought to bear toward the enforcement and passage of any law against the honest judgment and conviction of any member of the legislature.

GET THESE Money-making Secrets WITH Farm Journal

For $1.00 you can get now not only the FARM JOURNAL for FOUR full years, but also your choice of any one of the famous booklets, "Money-making Secrets," which other people have bought by the HUNDRED THOUSAND. Just note what the information given in one of these booklets, "The Million Egg-Farm," did for Robert Liddle, a clerk of Scranton, Pa. In May, 1910, Robert bought 2300 day-old chicks. He spent just one week studying the methods now given in this book,—his only preparation for the business. Result—this "greenhorn" raised 95 per cent. of all his chicks, and 1350 of them were pullets. ("Poultry Secrets" tells you how to do it.) In less than seven months he was getting 425 eggs daily, and selling them at 58 cents a dozen. His feed cost averaged $4.00 a day, leaving him OVER $17.00 A DAY PROFIT,—and this before all his pullets had begun laying. Isn't "Money-making Secrets" a good name for such booklets? Read what people say of the other booklets, and of the FARM JOURNAL itself:—

"I find your Egg-Book worth untold dollars," says Roy Cramer, Illinois. "What it tells would take a beginner years to learn."
"I am much pleased with the Butter Book," writes F. J. Dierston, Illinois, "and would like to know how I could secure 500 copies, one for each of my neighbors."
"Duck Dollars is the best book I ever had on duck-raising," says F. M. Wasson, Pennsylvania.
"If your other booklets contain as much valuable information as the Egg-Book, I would consider them cheap at the price," says J. W. Mansfield, New York.
T. F. McCrea, a missionary in China, writes, "I found Garden Gold a great help in my garden this winter. I lost my health in the great famine, trying to save the starving Chinese, and I am trying to get it back by getting near to the soil. It gives facts with the Chinese language and mission problems, it is a great rest to get out with the vegetables, trees, chickens etc., and it saves money and regains my health. My wife and I both find Farm Journal, indispensable."
"The Farm Journal beats them all," writes T. H. Poirer, Pennsylvania. "Every issue has reminders and ideas worth a year's subscription."
"One year I took another agricultural paper," says N. M. Gladwin, Washington, "and it took a whole column to tell me how Farm Journal beats them all."
"I was very greatly helped by your garden paper," writes Mrs. J. W. Winters, Iowa. "I had a very successful year in growing cabbage until last summer, when I tried the Farm Journal. I have more than I need to eat."
"FARM JOURNAL was a regular visitor at my boyhood home," writes Dr. William Davis, New Jersey. "When the first crop came in, I sent him a letter and let it be again. I shall never be without it again—want home to see the boys. When it arrives, I read it to my wife until half-past ten, and I think of it dream. You must work hard to keep it so rich."
"FARM JOURNAL is good for the man behind the counter, as well as the man in the field," says J. J. Sloan, a Virginia bank clerk.
"If I could get as good interest on every dollar as I get from the FARM JOURNAL, I would soon be a millionaire," says A. W. W. White, Pennsylvania.
Farm Journal full years, with any one of both for $1.00 the booklets.

RECORD SNOWFALL

Heaviest Snow Ever Known Here—Much Damage Done.

The heaviest snowfall in this part of the country was recorded on Wednesday morning after many days of falling weather. Never has there been, in the memory of the oldest inhabitants, a snow that lay as deep on the level as at this time, the depth being variously measured at from 36 to 40 inches, and piles of snow along the sidewalks measure from six to eight feet in height, where the merchants and others have shoveled it from the walks in the business district.

Much damage has been done to various buildings in and around Genesee. The barn of Arthur Hampton, five miles northeast of town caved in under the weight of snow, killing two cows valued at $50 each, besides completely wrecking his barn, which will have to be entirely rebuilt. Mr. Hampton sustained damage to the amount of between $400 and $500.

Payment made shined in this city also fell in on Tuesday about noon, doing considerable damage. The hay barn of Hanson & Trai gave way under the weight of snow last Monday, one end of the roof falling in.

The large hay barn of C. R. Spurrbeck, on the south side of the railroad track, in this city, gave way under the tremendous weight of snow on the roof on Wednesday morning and completely demolished the building. This was a splendid building and was thought strong enough to withstand the weight on the roof. The building is practically a total loss, so far as being of further use is concerned, and will have to be rebuilt.

The Northern Pacific railroad has been unable to run trains with any degree of regularity for several days, and on Tuesday the train between Pullman and this place failed to arrive, it having got only as far as Staley, from which place it returned to Pullman. However, on Wednesday morning the train came in about on time with three engines and three cars, with a snowplow on the front engine, even then they had a hard struggle in many places to push through the drifts. Trainmaster C. R. Hunt was with the crews directing the work.

There was a large crew of snow shovelers with the train as well as two crews of trappers, one crew of which were relieved here, going to bed in the caboose, they having put in the necessary time and were relieved.

Trains on all branches as well as the main line of the Northern Pacific have been experiencing the same trouble as has been encountered here. There was no train into Lewiston on Tuesday, it having only gotten as far as Moscow, where it was tied up.

Reports from all parts of the Inland Empire are that of the heaviest snows ever known. While the snow will be of vast benefit to wheat on the uplands, the fear is expressed that unless it is removed in some way it will smother the growing grain on the north slopes.

Last Sunday night was the coldest experienced here so far this season, thermometers registering variously from 12 to 22 below zero. So far as known there was no suffering of stock or people in this part of the Palouse, most of the farmers having ample shed and barn room for their stock.

The rural carriers have been unable to make their trips out of Genesee since last Thursday, but will soon be able to make their routes again as the farmers were busy breaking the roads for them. Very little eastern mail had been received at the local office this week up to Thursday.

—We regret that the following article reached us too late for publication last week, as the News had gone to press just before it was received: Bugger brothers were very pleasantly surprised on Tuesday evening of last week by a number of neighbors and friends who came in sleighs and brought with them well filled baskets. Games of various kinds were indulged in until about midnight when a bounteous luncheon was served. At a late hour all departed for their several homes feeling that it was good to be there and expressing themselves as having had a very enjoyable evening.

FARMERS SEEK MARKET

Believe Better Profits Can Be Secured in New Market

The Whitman county Farmers union has decided to make war on what they say is a combination of northwestern millers and the bag trust at a convention of the organization, representing practically every local farmer in the county, held last week at Albion, a movement looking to the diverting of the wheat grown in the Inland Empire from the coast market to the millers of the southern states for successfully carrying on the fight against the grain buying companies, according to Y. C. Mansfield, a pioneer farmer of Edicouat.

Mr. Mansfield said in part: "Since 1910, when the milling trust combined with the banking trust to force the farmers to sell their wheat, regardless of the cost of production, and the bag trust, having advanced the price until sack dealers were making greater profits from the empty containers than the farmers were from the wheat that went into them, the wheat growers have realized that they must fight their own battles or be forced into bankruptcy, and they are now going to make a determined stand against the combinations that have had them by the throat for years by opening up a competitive market large enough to handle the entire output of the northwest. We can ship our grain into the remotest of the southern mill districts now for 40 cents a bushel, giving us 10 cents a bushel better price than we can get here, besides eliminating the cost of the sacks and the expense of bagging it, which averages about six cents a bushel, and when the Panama canal is completed and the Columbia river opened to navigation to the sea we can get a much cheaper transportation rate, so that eventually the southern market will enable us to make practically double the profit we do now."

Anti-Racetrack Gambling
One of the most interesting contests to be waged in Boise this winter, says an exchange, is that which will occur when the friends of race track gambling cross swords with those who oppose it. It is stated that a lobby has been arranged by the gambling fraternity of Spokane and Coeur d'Alene and that a fund of $10,000 has been raised to defeat the passage of a law to prevent such gambling. Such a measure was introduced in the Senate Saturday by Senator Fields of Latah. The measure is intended to prevent gambling of any kind and makes it a felony punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term of from one to two years. The friends of race track gambling are evidently uneasy and have already advanced a compromise proposition by which the sale of Pari-mutuals might be permitted. The friends of the bill introduced and mentioned above will not make any such compromise. The gambling game in Idaho must cease.

Enlarged Homestead Act.
Representative French has introduced a bill providing for the designation of 30,000 acres of land by the Secretary of the Interior within the State of Idaho which is now available for entry under the Enlarged Homestead Act without the residence feature of the law being imposed. In the State of Utah large areas have been designated where the residence feature is not imposed and the radius of 50 miles.

House Members Are Strong
The Latah county members in the lower house at Boise are justifying the support given them by the people of Latah county in the last election, Messrs Mason and Overmire are both proving aggressive members and are commanding the respect of the lower house. Mr. Clark is regarded as being one of the strong men of that body. His Blue Sky law introduced during the latter days of last week has received very favorable comment and he is especially recognized as being a leader in the advocacy of measures intended to promote the interests of the farmers of the state. The lower house has an stronger delegation from any county in the state than that of Latah.—Idaho Post.

Babies By Parcels Post.
The mailing of babies by parcels post is a real infant industry which Postmaster General Hitchcock is asked to foster. In the circumstances of his bachelorhood, Mr. Hitchcock is considering calling in consultation experts in the transportation of babies. A letter which he received presents the problem to him. This is the letter just as it was phrased and punctuated: "Fort McPherson, Ga.
"Postmaster General,
"Washington, D. C.
"Sir: I have corresponding with a Party in Pa. about getting a baby to raise (our home being without One) may I ask you what specific relations to use in wrapping so it (baby) would comply with regulars and be allowed shipment by parcels post, as the express care is to rough in handling, yours,
"The name signed to the letter is withheld at the request of Mr. Hitchcock.
As babies, in the opinion of the postmaster-general, do not fall within the category of bees and bugs—the only live things that may be transported by mail—he is afraid he may not be of assistance to his correspondent.

Interesting Items Gleaned From Numerous Exchanges

Ben Dill, a pioneer meat dealer of Lewiston, died at his home in that city last Thursday morning at the age of 52 years. He had been a resident of Lewiston since 1878.

Attorney Frank L. Moore, one of the four presidential electors of Idaho, who was chosen to carry Idaho's vote to Washington, D. C., departed last Thursday night for the national capital.

As a result of heavy snows mail service to the Camas prairie has been delayed. A general protest is to be made by all the towns of the prairie to the head of the railway mail service asking relief.

Although he had nearly $500 in cash at his elbow, Harvey Glass, a former sheep herder, died slowly at Weiser, of starvation, rather than spend his money for food. This was the conclusion reached when the body of Glass was found in the cheapest rooming house in Weiser, where he had been sharing quarters with a companion, at a cost of $1 25 a week.

One horse was killed and the other seriously maimed last Thursday night when the roof of the stable, burdened down with snow, crashed in on the animals. The horses belonged to County Commissioner A. F. McRae of Mullain, who had his team hauling ore from the Talar lease. The barn is in the draw at the rear of the home of W. L. Penney and W. F. Gardner.

A meeting was held last Friday attended by the Lewiston business men for the purpose of initiating a good roads campaign in Nez Perce county. Plans discussed favor bonding the county and creating road districts, every one of which will have its principal highways improved. A convention is to be called within a few weeks which every district of the county will be asked to send a representative to formulate some plan of action.

In their fourth biennial report the directors of the Northern Idaho Insane asylum ask for an appropriation of $75,000 to carry that institution through the next two years. This is for current expenses. In addition to this they ask for $15,000 for improvements including a fruit and vegetable canning plant, covered pavilions for the patients, a garage, an ambulance and the purchase of additional land for farming.

K. OF C.'S GO TO COLTON

Twenty-seven from Genesee attend initiation.

On last Sunday afternoon 27 members of the Knights of Columbus of this place went to Colton to help the lodge at that place initiate a class of 19 candidates, as well as taking nine from this city to be given the third degree. The party left Genesee at 3 o'clock, arriving at Colton about 7, rather cold but enjoying the trip. They occupied a two seated sleigh, a cutter and two bob-sleds, the latter being hauled by to horses—four on one and six on the other.

After the initiation ceremonies a banquet was served, a three piece orchestra discoursing music during the banquet hour. After all had satisfied their appetites, dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

The degree work was exemplified by the Spokane team, in charge of F. J. Dorsey, state deputy of Washington. The Spokane team drove overland from Pullman and did not arrive at Colton until about 10 o'clock, but regardless of their long, cold drive the work was put on in fine shape.

Those attending from here were as follows: Chas. Grieser, Theo Schleiter, Jas. Smith, E. V. MacGuire, J. Sweeney, Ed. Smith, Chas. Whalen, J. H. Broome, Wm. Smolett, Jno. Lorang, B. T. Lorang, Geo. Hasfarther, Joe Knapps, Geo. Bershaw, Joe Bershaw, Thos. Dwyer, Joe Webber, Joe Hasfarther, E. M. Becker, W. R. Hickman, Geo. Abbott, Jno. Cunningham, A. J. Primus, Otto Kretschner, Joe Grieser, Peter Johann and Andrew Hasfarther.

Those attending from here returned home at various times and various ways, some driving overland while others waited and came home on the train Monday afternoon.

—The Idaho Post, published at Moscow, last week contained pictures of the newly-elected county officers, who were recently inducted into office. The list contains the likeness of Sheriff C. C. Brown, serving his second term; Clinton Wilson, commissioner from the Second district; John L. Woody, serving his second term as commissioner; A. B. McIntire, serving a second term as commissioner; Theo. Martinson, assessor, formerly deputy, and John Nisbet, prosecuting attorney. The county offices of Latah county are almost entirely in the hands of the republicans, Ruth Broman being the only democrat and she was elected without opposition.

—The Ladies of the Progressive Needlework Club enjoyed a delightful sleigh ride last Thursday afternoon out to the home of Mrs. Ira Hanson, where the afternoon was spent in needlework. The annual election of officers for the ensuing year was held, the following officers being elected: Mrs. W. E. Herman, pres.; Mrs. C. F. Taomy, vice-pres.; Mrs. John Kempf, sec. and treas.; Mrs. John Hall, editor; Mrs. F. S. Casebolt, reporter. Thirteen members and three visitors were present, the visitors being Mrs. F. C. Shork, Mrs. J. H. Jackson and Miss Merl Kimbrough. At 5 o'clock the guests were served with a three course lunch which was highly enjoyed, and many words of praise were heard referring to Mrs. Hanson being an excellent entertainer. The Club is invited to hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. John Hall, on January 31st, which date happens to be her wedding anniversary.

—The Senior class of the High school and a few invited friends chartered a bobbed Tuesday evening of this week, had it equipped with a hayrack, got aboard and made a trip to the Tobin ranch, two miles west of town. There were about 35 members of the party and it is useless to say a good time was had. Arriving at the ranch about nine o'clock, the fun was started. Games of various kinds were played and at 12 o'clock a splendid supper was served, after which the pleasure-seekers returned to town, sorry that it was not the beginning instead of the end of the trip.

—It will be a mighty hard job to keep "secret" weddings in case the proposed new law is passed compelling the publication of intentions for 15 days before the proposed ceremony takes place. It is feared Idaho may lose some of the "business" if the bill should become a law.

—Thos. H. Brewer, president of the Genesee Exchange bank, left Wednesday morning for his home in Spokane, after attending the directors' meeting of the bank at this place. Mr. Brewer has many warm friends here who are always glad to see him.

A 12-pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Flomer on last Sunday night. We extend congratulations and return thanks for cigars.

While they steal a little fruit during the summer and fall they more than pay for their forage. Feed the birds.

—The third biennial report of the state board of health has been received at this office and contains some interesting statistics regarding the general health conditions of this state for 1911 and to September 30th, 1912. There were only 94 cases of contagious diseases in Latah county during 1911, as follows: Smallpox, 18 cases; diphtheria, 17; scarlet fever, 37; typhoid fever, 5; chickenpox, 4; measles, 13; and during 1912, to September 30th there were no contagious diseases of any kind whatsoever, which speaks well for the precaution taken along sanitary and other lines. The cases of typhoid fever in this county in 1911 occurred during the months of August, September and October, which is the worst season of the year for that disease and precautionary measures are advised, which were undoubtedly taken during 1912, as no cases were reported. ### Exchange Bank Elects Officers

The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Genesee Exchange bank was held at the bank last Tuesday forenoon, at which the following officers were elected for the coming year: Officers, Thos. H. Brewer, president; T. Driscoll, vice-president; Fred K. Bressler, cashier; Chas. P. Whalen, teller. The directors are Thos. H. Brewer, T. Driscoll, W. H. Eblen, W. J. Freeman and Fred K. Bressler. The regular quarterly dividend was declared.

The Genesee Exchange bank is one of the strongest institutions of its kind in existence, having at the last report a total of $513,846.39, which is much larger than in many banks of cities of many times the size of Genesee, which speaks well for the management of this institution.

The bank was established in 1897 in the room known as the old Sullivan building, where it did business until October, 1904, when it was moved to the present commodious quarters where it is doing a thriving business and has the confidence of its depositors and the public in general. The bank is equipped with one of the largest and strongest safes in the State of Idaho, which makes the depositor doubly secure.

—Miss Minnie Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Craig, who reside about six miles south of Genesee, and R. H. Kelly, editor of the Winchester Journal, were married in Lewiston last Monday, going to Winchester on Tuesday, where they will reside. Miss Craig has many warm friends in this part of the county who are sorry to see her leave but who wish her much happiness and contentment in her new home. We congratulate Mr. Kelly on securing one of Latah's fair daughters and wish him and his a long and happy life.

—As a result of watchfulness of State Pure Food Commissioner James H. Wallis, the people of Idaho have little to fear from artificially colored vinegar which has been shipped in from Utah in times past, he having discovered and confiscated some recent shipments. The shippers of the vinegar have promised not to attempt to send any more of their product into this state, as did vinegar manufacturers at Spokane, who had been flooding the northern part of this state with their impure products.

Areas Below Sea Level.

All the continents, with the possible exception of South America, contain areas of dry land which are below sea level.

In North America, according to the United States Geological Survey, the lowest point is in Death Valley, California, 276 feet below sea level; but this is a slight depression compared to the basin of the Dead Sea, in Palestine, Asia, where the lowest dry land point is 1,290 feet below sea level. In Africa the lowest points are in the Desert of Sahara, about 150 feet below sea level, but the Sahara as a whole is not below sea level, although until recently the greater part of it was supposed to be. In Europe the lowest point at present known is on the shores of the Caspian Sea, 86 feet below sea level. In Australia the lowest point is at Lake Torrens, about 25 feet below sea level.

Ex-Governor Hawley

Ex-Governor Hawley's friends are seizing every opportunity to strengthen his chances for the position as Secretary of the Interior. Senator Perky states that the governor is one of the few Western men now being considered for this portfolio. "While in Washington he made a splendid impression upon the members of both Houses," says Senator Perky, "and his integrity and ability and his world of experience is being recognized." Senator Borah is very anxious to see if Western men are wanted and to assist his friend Governor Hawley in any way he can.

Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your troubles, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Barker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my troubles were over." Sold by all dealers.

FROM THE UNIVERSITY

Genesee Boy Holds Record of Muscular Measurement.

Idaho students are much stronger than Eastern college men and women. This superiority is shown by the dynamometer, a device for testing and measuring the strength of practically every group of muscles in the body. The average test of Eastern college men is 4125. The average of 150 Idaho men, taken as they came to the machine, is 5453 pounds. The average strength of Eastern college women is 2990 pounds, while that of the Idaho women is 3625. This year only five men and only eight women at the University fell below the Eastern average. As a whole the Idaho men are 32 per cent and the women 21 per cent stronger than the eastern college students.

The best developed girl at the University is Miss Winifred Brown of Lander. She made the remarkable test of 5095 pounds, which is far above the eastern average and almost up to the standard for Idaho men. Miss Brown is five feet six and three-tenths inches in height and weighs 135 pounds. In appearance she is typically feminine and slight rather than otherwise, not giving the effect of over-muscular development in any way. Her superb physique is perfectly normal, there being no over-development of some muscles at the expense of others. According to Physical Director Van der Veer, her development represents what every girl should be.

Other girls with unusual records are Vivian Allen of Sandpoint with a test of 4935 pounds, Precious Ross of Moscow with 4850 and Josephine Wayman of Hanna with 4505. A remarkable test is that of Florence Blomquist of Moscow, only five feet in height and weighing but 105 pounds she totaled 3915 on the dynamometer. Bernice Mason of Newport is also unusually well developed for her size. She weighs 113 pounds and is five feet three inches in height. Her test is 3840.

Among the men Julius Nordby of Genesee holds the record with a test of 7310 pounds. Stanley Brown of Palouse is second with 7070, and "Black" Phillips of Lewiston third with 6790.

In the competition for the cups to be given to the best developed freshman, Brown is leading for the men's cup. He is five feet nine inches tall and weighs 186. He played a star game at fall-back on the football team last fall and is one of the most promising players at the University for several years.

Miss Tina Gregg of Lewiston is leading for the women's cup with a test of 4300. She is five feet seven inches in height and weighs 155. She is a sister of Veon Gregg, the crack pitcher of the Cleveland American league team.

The splendid physical development of the Idaho students is in part due to their vigorous outdoor life. The ordinary Idaho student is at home in the woods or mountains. Miss Brown, for example, has hunted, fished, camped, snowshoed, skeeled and ridden horses ever since she was a little girl. During vacation the men students are engaged in healthy, man-holding work, such as in the forest service or in surveying parties. Then, too, there may be something in the climate. At any rate there are few weaklings among the Idaho students and their average strength test is much higher than that of eastern college men and women.

Brady Starts It.

Ex-Governor James H. Brady, one of the wealthy men of the State of Idaho, has put on a firm financial basis the work of the rural clubs of the public schools by donating three thousand dollars to a fund, needed to start things going. Prof. J. A. Hughes editor of the News Letter, has been retained as organizer.

Sixty-six thousand school children in the state will become members of these clubs. Every country boy will cultivate an acre of ground and every city boy will raise his exhibits on a smaller plot for entrance into the fairs of the several counties of the state. The prize winners will be brought to Boise to the state fair with their exhibits and will have all their expenses paid. The girls have been organized into domestic science clubs.

—Suppose we consider our schools as agencies which shall determine the destiny of our country, for that is precisely what they are. When viewed in that aspect they immediately become the bulwarks of liberty, and no true patriot can then deny them the moral and financial support needed to make them efficient.

HOME TEAM DEFEATED

Basketball Boys Had Hard Trip Last Week

The trip to Walla Walla which the basketball team took last week proved most disastrous. Three games out of four were lost, though all were close and the boys met defeat gamely, fighting desperately every minute.

Long runs by rail, poor connections and worse sleeping quarters weakened the dash and vigor while there was no time to recover from bruises and sprains.

The first game at Waiilatpu was won by a score of 34 to 18. The court was small, with heavy posts set around the playing space. The Waiilatpu team was large and played a strong game, better far than either Colfax or Sunset played. Land, W. S. C., was referee.

The next evening at Walla Walla the boys found a good floor and the fastest team they have thus far met. Chas Gray and Martinson both received sprained ankles during the game. Macgrunn was easily the star basket tosser of the game, eluding our guards for seven field goals. Neil Whitman, was referee.

Friday evening at Colfax our boys easily outplayed their opponents. The score was 25 to 16 in Genesee's favor at the close of the first half. The last half was played under collegiate rules and with L. Gray, Martinson and Wardrobe severely bruised and playing only on their nerve, our boys scored but two field goals. Golf secured eight baskets during the game. All the favors of the referee were extended to Colfax. The game ended in a spurt of furious playing by Colfax in a score of 32 to 31 in their favor.

The last game, played at Sunset Saturday afternoon in a little cement gymnasium, with none of our first team fit to play, was lost by a score of 18 to 28. This was not a high school team.

C. Gray, L. Gray, Bressler and Wardrobe played forwards; L. Gray, Wardrobe, Jain and I. Schooler played guards during the trip. C. Gray secured 12 baskets, L. Gray 9, Bressler 9, Wardrobe 8, Martinson 1, during the trip. Genesee's total score was 100, while their opponents' was 102.

The basketball team has received an invitation to participate in the first Inland Empire tournament to be held at Washington State college March 7 and 8.

On Friday night of last week, before a good house, the local High school girls took the Moscow High girls into camp by a score of 13 to 11. This proved to be the hardest game the local girls have had this season and they were busy from start to finish and every one played a star game.

Moscow started the score but our girls quickly realized what they had to do and began real playing. The score was kept very close during the entire game and at the end of the first half the score stood 7 to 5 in favor of the locals.

After our girls took the lead in the score shortly after the beginning of the game, the visitors could not play fast enough or clever enough to even tie the score at any stage of the game.

Following is the line up:
Genesee Orth.....forward.....Loomis
Larrabee.....forward.....Frazier
Martinson.....center.....Drury
Archibald.....guard.....Berton
Whitted.....guard.....Buchanan
Moscow sub, Scott; umpire, Sparbeck; timekeeper, Vanonck.

Don't forget the game tonight—a double header between the Genesee High school boys and girls and the Lewiston High boys and girls. This is expected to be one of the best games of the season and you can see two games for the price of one—only 35 cents.

Heard in a Barber Shop

In a three-chair barber shop on the fifth floor of a Loop (Chicago) skyscraper the conversation had switched suddenly from a red hot discussion of Christian Science to the subject of mail order.

"Blank & Blank!" snorted the boss barber, quick to grasp the possibilities of the newly opened subject. "I got a mighty poor opinion of Blank & Blank" (naming a leading Chicago mail order house) "Spring 'fure last my brother Bill, up in Wisconsin, bought a lot of paint from Blank & Blank and painted his house white. Said he couldn't get the paint no ways as cheap at home. When I went to Brother Bill's farm last summer that nice coat of white paint had disappeared. Bill said the first big rainstorm that came along washed the paint all away. Now Bill buys his paint at home."

—On account of the continuous fall of snow the past week the "cannonball" of the Northern Pacific has been unable to keep up with its schedule. Last Saturday afternoon the train was several hours late and on Sunday it did not appear in an appearance until late in the evening, the snow having drifted on the track so as to make it almost impossible to get through although they have been using two engines all the time.

—W. D. Woodward of Johnson has purchased 1200 bushels of Kentucky wheat which he will ship to Louisville, Ky. Palouse wheat is greatly in demand in southern cities on account of its superior quality.

EARLY EASTER THIS YEAR

Lent Begins February 5, Making Short Social Season.

Wednesday of next week marks the beginning of Lent, when all those who adhere to the Lenten calendar will cease their social activities until after Easter, which falls on March 23 this year. All one has to do is to look at the calendar to see that the social season this year is one of the shortest on record, and all due to the fact that Lent begins on February 5, the earliest since 1818, and will not occur again for 87 years—or in the year 2000.

The reason for this early arrival of that season of the year when the members of the "social whirl" are forced to lay aside their activities is the ideal of ecclesiastical observance adopted by the churches hundreds of years ago, determines the date for Easter, which this year will fall upon March 23, one day later than the earliest possible date upon which Easter may fall, March 22.

The custom established by the churches decrees that Easter shall fall on the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21.

"Easter," a church official said, "and with it, of course, the ending of Lent, is a movable feast and is fixed by the ideal moon, adopted by the churches hundreds of years ago, when they were attempting to settle upon the fixed date for Easter.

Sixty-seven years ago, and fifty-six years ago respectively, Easter occurred on the same date it does in 1913. The next year when Easter will pay an earlier visit will be in 1940, when it will arrive on March 24.

The latest Easter of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries was in 1859, when it fell on April 24. In 1848 and 1905 it occurred on April 23. Last Easter was on April 7.

As Easter is the most important of all the movable feasts of the Christian church, it determines all the rest. Hence, next year Ash Wednesday comes February 5, Ascension Thursday on May 1, and Pentecost May 11. Easter can never come earlier than March 22 and the only time it did or could not do this from the years 1801 to 2000 was in 1818. This was made possible by having a full moon on March 21 and the following day being Sunday. This coincidence does not occur more than once in a century and it is only then that the Feast of the Ascension can occur in April, and then April 30.

Congregational Church Meeting

The regular annual meeting and dinner of the Congregational church was held Wednesday evening in the church and a very enjoyable occasion it was indeed. Dinner was served in the church dining room from 6 to 7 o'clock and was duly enjoyed and appreciated. There were five large tables which were set with those in attendance. After all had partaken of the feast the annual business meeting was held and officers elected for the ensuing year, as follows, Fred Follett being elected temporary chairman; Trustees, Fred Follett, Leon Follett, George Follett, Louis Jain and W. E. Smith; clerk, F. E. Lambert; deacons, Louis Jain; deaconess, Mrs. B. H. Schooler; organist, Mrs. Wm. Herman; chorister, J. T. Nelson; superintendent Sunday school, C. R. Sparbeck. The Sunday school assistants will be appointed by the superintendent and the ushers of the church will be appointed by the pastor.

—The Ladies' Aid society of Our Saviour's church, on Rural Route 1, held a very interesting meeting Wednesday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. S. M. Tidemann, about 40 ladies being present. Sewing, crocheting, etc., and visiting was the order of the day and a general good time was had. A splendid luncheon was served during the afternoon. A sale of the articles made at these meetings is held once each year and the proceeds go to benevolent work of various kinds. The church is in a very prosperous condition at this time.

—The road out on route one is said to be in very bad condition, caused by the late heavy snow, water and slush settling in the middle of the road, causing the traveler much inconvenience.

RURAL ROUTE NO. 3
Starts Out of Genesee Tomorrow—February 1

Rural Route No. 3, out of Genesee, starts tomorrow morning (Saturday, February 1) and will serve a district covering a distance of 26 1/4 miles in length, as follows:

Beginning at the post office, the carrier will go thence: South to Fredrick corner, 1 mile east 1/4 mile, northwesterly and east to Beacher corner, 3/4 mile, south to Davis corner, 1 1/4 miles, south and southeast to Craig corner, 2 1/4 miles, northeast, 1 1/4 miles, south to Beacher corner 1/4 mile, west to Kline corner 1 1/4 miles, southwest and west to Goldsmith schoolhouse 3/4 mile, northwesterly to Ingel corner 3/4 mile, north to Meyron corner 1 1/4 miles, west 1/4 mile, south and west to Arp corner 3/4 miles, northwest to Heitfeld school house 3/4 mile, east to Kasper corner 1 1/4 miles, north and northeast to south center of section 16, 1 1/4 miles, east to Manderville corner 1 mile, south 1/4 mile, northeast to post office 1 1/4 miles. Length of route 26 1/4 miles.

Al Mayer was appointed temporary carrier by Postmaster Burr and will act in that capacity till the examination papers of the regular applicants are received from Washington.

The persons responsible for the installation of this new route have every reason to be proud of their achievement and no doubt will duly appreciate the service.

Rural routes are a boon to the farmer for many reasons and in many ways. It will be no longer necessary to drive to town to get the daily mail when work demands their attention at home. Since the establishment of the parcels post it brings the farmer within reach of the home markets and he can order any article over the telephone from a merchant and have it delivered the next morning at his door, eliminating many disadvantages the farmer has had to put up with.

With this first trip of the new route goes its every patron a sample copy of the News, and if you are not already a subscriber, we invite you to become one. We shall endeavor to give you a good local paper and want your cooperation and need your help in many ways, other than from a money standpoint.

We invite you all to call at this office, whether you become a subscriber or not, that we may become acquainted.

—Dulif Smith who lives six miles north of Genesee, and who is one of the oldest settlers in this part of the country, was in the city Wednesday morning and said the roads were getting in fairly good shape although pretty rough in places. Mr. Smith has been a resident of this vicinity since 1877 and is living on the homestead obtained from the government. When he came to this part of the country from the east he came by way of California, coming by boat to Astoria and from there by wagon. There are a few residents who have been here as long as Mr. Smith, but it would not take long to count them were they put in a bunch.

—Andrew Klem, as well as many others who undertook to come to town through the deep snow of last week, experienced great difficulty in getting through. Mr. Klem started to Genesee on Friday, but after spending two and a half hours twisting a mile, and a half, gave it up as a bad undertaking after spending another hour and a half extracting his horses and sled and returned home. His horse dauntling began made the attempt on Friday and came through but found it an exceedingly hard trip. His was the experience of practically every farmer who attempted to make the trip to town on Friday.

—Again on Friday the Northern Pacific train failed to put in an appearance on account of the heavy snow of the night before which had drifted upon the track. However, Saturday morning a snowplow was sent in advance of the regular train which cleared the track and the regular trains have been running reasonably regular since that time.

—William Bivens, a Payette Valley rancher, topped the Portland markets last week with 27 head of fine cattle, receiving $7.85 per hundred, the highest price ever attained for that class of stock.

—Bert N. Moersch left Saturday morning for Portland, where he goes to take a position with the P. J. Cronin company, harness and saddlery manufacturers. Mr. Moersch will have the Willamette valley for territory after having spent the necessary time in the house to get acquainted with the trade. He leaves many friends here who will miss him but who wish him well in his new field.

—Mr. Moersch is the oldest son of F. S. Casbolt for more than two years and has the very best wishes of his former employer as well as his many acquaintances.

—During last week when the snow was laying so deep on the streets and along the sidewalks that it was almost impossible to see over from the sidewalks and still more impossible to throw it to the top of the piles from the sidewalks, Chas. Westensee, Chas. Geltz and Grant Clark conceived the idea of hauling some of the "best" snow in the city to the walk in a sled, "all same like Spokane," Chas. Westensee furnishing the team. Permission was secured from the city fathers to drive a team upon the sidewalk and the snow removed, but in this instance the work was done gratis instead of costing the city several hundred dollars as it does in Spokane.

—Andrew Schmidt, wife and family left Saturday for their home in Lewiston, after a month's visit with relatives near Genesee. Part of their stay was enforced on account of the heavy snowfall which blocked the wagon roads as well as the railroads.

—Since the snow is disappearing and things have begun to thaw out, some of the members are beginning to ask if it would not be a good idea to show out the Commercial club of this little city and start things doing. Lewiston, Kellogg and a number of smaller towns have live commercial clubs and there is not a week that matter from Lewiston telling what they are doing over there does not reach this office, which shows they have some live wires there. A real live commercial club is a good thing for any town, no matter how small.

—Steve Broemmeling, Herman Broemmeling and John Johann left last Friday for the country adjacent to Little Salmon river, John Broemmeling driving them overland as far as Spaulding, where he remained to look after the roofs of some buildings and to relieve them of their weight of snow. The Messrs. Broemmeling and Johann expect to remain in the vicinity of the Little Salmon for a week or ten days, where they will angle for the wary trout and stalk the ferocious cotton-tail. As they were telling of their hopes (never a feat) one could imagine they could smell the trout and hear the sizzle of the frying rabbit, done to a golden brown.

Basketball News.

The game this (Friday) evening between Johnson and the High school will be a good one, if all appearances do not fail; they defeated our strong second team several weeks ago by a score of 37 to 13, almost trebling the score. They are a bunch of big husky boys and we are sure you will see an exciting game.

Arrangements are under way to bring the Cashmere Athletic club here to play the high school. They have one of the strongest teams west of the Mississippi. "Herb" Smith, one of Idaho's most famous athletes is playing substitute. They have been beaten but once in two years, and by a narrow margin. They are to meet all the large northwestern universities this year and will certainly give our boys a good game.

Thus early in the season the Opera House has cost the high school $123. Do a little figuring and see if it would not be a simple business proposition for the high school to own their own gymnasium.

—On Friday night of last week a very pleasant party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Sparbeck and was attended by the following young people of this city: Misses Laura Phipps, Irah Larrabee, Esther Orth, Adeline Bressler, Ruby Tiffany; Harry and Irvin Scholer, Don Bressler, Lester and Chas. Gray and Lou Jain. Games were indulged in and a splendid time was enjoyed by those present. Refreshments were served at about midnight which were duly appreciated and enjoyed.

—Jno. Linnehan and wife of Tekoa, Wash., are visiting relatives here, coming in on Saturday's train.

—J. D. Wright went to Lewiston Sunday morning, where he spent a few days on business.

THE SHIRE HORSE Many Admirers Do Not Like Hair on Legs.

The following article, which we reproduce, was handed us by a horse lover, although not dealing in this class of horses. The future of the Shire horse is discussed in the London Livestock Journal by C. W. Tindall, Wain Fleetball, Lincolnshire, England. Mr. Tindall recently returned from the Argentine Republic, where he judged the heavy horse classes at the Palermo show. He reports that the Shires were fairly well represented and that two or three of the best horses in the two-year-old classes were really good ones.

While we have been unable to find out just how much wheat there is yet to be shipped from Genesee, it is stated by one in a position to know that there are at least one thousand cars of the cereal on the Genesee branch of the Northern Pacific yet to be shipped, which, taken with the immense amount that has already been shipped, augurs well for this part of the country, and taking into consideration the fact that Genesee is the largest wheat shipping point on the whole Northern Pacific system, it is any wonder that the bank totals for this little city are the largest, too, of any place of many times its size in the United States.

IDAHO STATE NEWS

Interesting Items Gleaned From Numerous Exchanges. Reports from all parts of northern Idaho are to the effect that great damage was done by the heavy snowfall of this month, breaking down buildings in practically every section of the Inland Empire.

A snowfall about a quarter of a mile long occurred on the road between Perrell and the Gold Ridge mine. It took from Monday until Saturday evening of last week to open the road so that teams could get along. ### NEWS ABOUT OUR SCHOOLS

(BY PROF. L. T. BARCOCK)

Mrs. P. C. McCreary was a visitor in room two last week. Patrons are cordially invited to visit the class rooms at any time.

The attendance in all departments of the school has been somewhat irregular the past two or three weeks owing to the deep snow.

The first semester of the present term of school is past, the examinations have been held and the reports of the half-year's work will be out the present week.

A session of the Literary Society was held in the assembly room on Wednesday evening of this week. A small admittance fee was charged the proceeds to go toward the piano fund.

The fourth year English class of the High school is deep in the subject of Sociology this semester, and the study is proving very interesting to the members of the class who are proving to be good thinkers.

Madames Larrabee and Brune were welcome visitors in all the rooms of the first floor last week. Mrs. Brune felt at home in the room where she taught last year and her pupils were glad to see her.

The Freshmen of the high school will give a reception to the other classes of the high school in the Congregational church basement on the evening of February 8, 1913. Refreshments will be served and games played by the guests assembled.

The fourth year German class will read Schiller's Wilhelm Tell the coming semester. This is one of the German masterpieces and the class will enjoy reading it. Probably no other German writer has portrayed the universal German heart as accurately as the poet, Schiller, has done.

A class in Ancient history, also one in High school arithmetic and another in Botany have been organized at the beginning of the second semester. Carl Flomer who succeeded in passing the eighth grade examination will probably be admitted to these classes and the class in first year English.

The basket ball game at the opera house last Friday night was quite a one-sided affair, the score being 93 to 12 in favor of Genesee. The Johnson team are big bulky fellows but they are not swift enough for Genesee's team. The visiting team was accompanied by Prof. Moffitt, the principal of the Johnson school.

R. D. Bowman returned Wednesday afternoon from a two week's stay at Lewiston.

P. Mochel arrived here last Wednesday afternoon from Medical Lake, Wash., on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mochel.

The Gray Eagle school house was burned down last Friday morning about 5 o'clock, the origin of the fire being unknown. There had been no school in the building during the week but no cause is ventured. There was to have been a dance in the house on Friday night and a great many of the younger set were badly disappointed.

B. H. Schooler left on the Saturday morning train for points in Iowa and Nebraska, where he expects to buy a number of imported horses for the firm of Follett & Schooler. It is a well-known fact that this firm handles the best horses on the market and some fine ones are expected to be the result of Mr. Schooler's trip.

A very pleasant party was given on Thursday night of last week at the home of Anatole Borgon, about three miles northwest of town. Games were played and a general good time was had. Refreshments were served and at a late hour the pleasure seekers returned to their homes expressing to the entertainers the pleasure of the evening.

H. A. Hanson returned from Moscow the latter part of last week, where he had been for the past four weeks under the care of an eye specialist. He had a cataract removed from his right eye, the operation being a success in every way. Mrs. Rosenau of this city is under the care of the same physician and on Thursday of last week a cataract was removed from one of her eyes, and at last report she was getting along nicely and the indications were that she would regain her sight.

Miss Amelia Lorang was a passenger for Spokane Wednesday morning, where she will attend school.

W. H. Purrell went to Spokane Wednesday morning to visit his wife, who was in bed by a street car in that city in December and who is as yet unable to be out. Mr. Purrell is superintendent of the Rapid River Mining & Milling company, of which organization there are a number of stockholders in this city.

The Knights of Pythias hall was the scene of a very pleasant informal party on Thursday night of last week, about 40 being present. A general good time was had and punch was served to the thirty at intervals to suit the necessity of the occasion. These little parties are given semi-occasionally and are always a source of pleasure to the attendants. The Knights are justly proud of their hall and club room. There are few, if any, small towns the size of Genesee where the lodge and the members deserve great credit for their enterprise.

At the annual meeting of the Latah County Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance company, held at Troy the first Tuesday of January, the following officers and directors were elected: M. W. Harland, president; A. S. Lyons, vice-president; J. H. Vedvig, secretary; Eloy Mortenson, treasurer. Directors, Frank Benscotter, Kendrick; John Peasley, Moscow; John A. Nisbet, Genesee; Lawrence Johnson, Troy; H. O. Rue, Avon; M. W. Harland, Troy; J. H. Vedvig, Troy; E. of Martinson, Troy. At the time of this meeting there was in force $600,000 of insurance, which speaks well for this company. J. A. Nisbet has charge of the company's business in the Genesee district.

Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Rev. James A. Lewis, Milaca, Minn., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been a needed and welcome guest in our home for a number of years. I highly recommend it to my fellows as being a medicine worth of trial in case of colds, coughs and croup." Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a trial and we are confident you will find it very effective and continue to use it as occasion requires for years to come, as many others have done. Application must be made for the sacks during February and the applicant must make affidavit as to the amount of grain produced by him last year, together with an estimate of this year's crop before he can get the sacks.

There are 3791 Indians in Idaho, according to figures compiled at the office of the state immigration bureau. Six hundred and twenty three of them are located on the Coeur d'Alene reservation in north Idaho, and 471 are living on the Bannock and Shoshone, formerly the Lemhi reservation. The greatest population of any of the four Indian dominions within the state is reserved from the Fort Lapwai reservation in the Lewiston country, where there are 1389 of the aborigines.

Farmers and sportsmen in various parts of the country, especially in the vicinity of Lewiston, are feeding the quail to keep them from starving. The Lewiston Gun Club has been furnishing grain to keep the birds alive and are offering a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of anyone found killing the birds in their present helpless condition. Warehousemen at Agatha have been feeding the birds that have been gathered under the warehouses, thereby giving them shelter and plenty of food. This is indeed a good act and all who see that the birds are in want should feed them.

Less Bowel Trouble in Genesee

Genesee people have found out that A SINGLE DOSE of simple buckhorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-ika, the German bowel and stomach remedy, relieves constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach INSTANTLY. This simple mixture became famous by curing appendicitis and it antecipitates the digestive organs and draws off the impurities. It is surprising how QUICKLY it helps. F. E. The Farmers' union of Peck have purchased 75,000 grain bags through the Albert Brothers Milling company at Lewiston. The price is not made public but dealers in bags are quoting them at 10c, which is said to be the highest price paid for bags thus early in the season for several years and farmers are reluctant to place their orders.

On one of his numerous trips through the country Dr. J. D. Adams says that on last Sunday one of the old Nez Perce Indians, who resides in the canyon southeast of Uniontown, informed him that we are yet to have three feet of snow, and the doctor is now busy trying to organize a company to take the old Indian in charge in order to prevent the falling of any more of the road-blocking material.

A Letter
The following is a letter to the young people by Rev. A. P. Orth, pastor of the Genesee Congregational church:
I am going to preach a series of four sermons to young people, beginning the first Sunday in March. One of the subjects will be, "A Good Young Man's Conception of an Ideal Young Lady," and another will be, "A Good Young Lady's Conception of an Ideal Young Man." I have thought that the young people themselves can help me in the work of preparing these two sermons. Every young man and woman in the community is asked to write me a letter giving his or her view on the matter. I want the young men to give me their conception of an ideal young lady, and the young ladies to give me their conception of an ideal young man. You need not sign your name if you do not want to, but if you do I will forever keep it a secret and in presenting your idea from the pulpit I will present only what you say, withholding the name of the person who says it.
I take this course in this matter because I would like to know what our young people are thinking about, what their ideals are regarding each other and because I feel that an expression from them will help me in the preparation of these two sermons. Speak freely and honestly in this matter. Bring your reply to the church and put into collection plate or send through the mail.
Faithfully your friend and pastor,
A. P. ORTH.

—On last Sunday and Monday nights, between ten and twelve inches more snow was added to what we already had (which was plenty) and what we might have to say about it would not be well in print, so we merely make the statement that "more snow has fallen."
—C. E. Wood, who was taken sick last Thursday, is getting along nicely and it is expected that he will soon be able to be out again.

Congregational Ladies Aid
The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Moore, and a very pleasant time was had, the afternoon being spent in fancy work and in social chat, and at the proper time a light luncheon was served.
The ladies decided to hold a White Bazaar and food sale on Saturday before Easter—March 22, the location to be decided upon later.
A chicken-pie dinner will be given on February 20, in the basement of the church.
The Aid will meet with Mrs. Perkins on next Wednesday afternoon and are requested to meet at the store of Follett Bros. at 1:30 o'clock, where conveniences will be in waiting.

A very charming party was given last Friday night at the country home of Mr. John Johann. Even though the roads were as bad as they ever get quite a number of the town folks ventured out and were well repaid for the effort. In some places the drifts were so high the merry makers could reach out with their hands and touch the telephone wires. It proved an excellent chance for Messrs. George Johann and Joe Broemmeling to give an exhibition of fine driving and horsemanship. After indulging in music, dancing and feasting until a late hour everybody returned safely home well pleased with the outing. Among those from town were: Mr. and Mrs. John Henry of Spokane, Mr. Earl Wells, Mrs. Joe Hasfurther, Misses Veronica Hasfurther, Josephine Reissauer, Edna and Dorothy Driscoll, Christina Lorang and Lena Broemmeling.

Old Age
Old age as it comes in the orderly process of nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom, counsel. That old age as it would be, but old age as it often is, means poor digestion, torpid bowels, a sluggish liver and a general feeling of ill health, despondency and misery. This in almost every instance is wholly unnecessary. One of Chamberlain's tablets taken immediately after supper will improve the digestion, tone up the liver and regulate the bowels. That feeling of despondency will give way to one of hope and good cheer. For sale by all dealers.

Basketball News
Our boys neared the century mark again when they overwhelmed Johnson high school 93 to 12. The Johnson boys were big and played game but they could neither stop our boys shooting, nor pass properly when they did get the ball.
The game was played under collegiate rules which permits too much individual play, but our boys needed the practice as those rules must be played in the near future. L. Gray threw some pretty baskets, the other boys all played well although rather sluggish at times.
This evening (Friday) the Lewiston girls came to meet our girls and indications point to a lively game. Our girls have played well this season, losing no games as yet and deserve your support against the strongest team they will play this year and the last game on the home court.
The same evening the high school boys meet the strong alumnus team which defeated them early in the season. This will likely be the most interesting game, at least the closest of the season. Come out and yell for the home team.
Remember the Collax game next week. This will be the last home game on the schedule unless the attendance justifies the expense of bringing another team here.
The Athletic association is running behind in financial matters because the attendance at the games have fallen far short of meeting their expenses.

—Will (Hogan) Gage went to Moscow yesterday on a very mysterious journey. The boys are all making guesses as to the importance of the trip, but the real object will not be known until his return.
—Dr. J. D. Adams left Tuesday for a trip to his claim in the Coeur d'Alene country, to be gone a few days. Dr. Howard of Spokane has charge of Dr. Adams' office and work during his absence.
G. Roy Dye, who has been in charge of the work at the Pancovesta since last fall, departed Wednesday morning for his home in Grant City, Mo.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Follett left Tuesday morning for Los Angeles, where they will spend the remainder of the winter, enjoying the ocean breezes and flowers of that sunny clime.
—Mrs. J. T. Stewart on Thursday of last week entertained a few friends at dinner, it being her birthday anniversary. A very pleasant time was had.
—Frank Jacobs was a Thursday morning passenger for Nezperce, where he is employed, after a few days' visit with relatives here.
—J. M. Henry and wife left Thursday morning for their home in Spokane, after a two-weeks visit here with his mother.
—Miss Alice Nisbet left on the Thursday morning train for Moscow, where she will visit for several days.
"Well, which one of the newly-married pair is boss?"
"No one can tell yet."
"Why not?"
"Her mother is visiting them at present."

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Heat Problem Discussed—Much Tardiness Reported
The regular monthly meeting of the school board was held in the library room of the high school Monday night and was called to order at 7:30 by President Follett, all members being present and answering to roll call as follows: Follett, Nelson, Meyer, Hanson, Nebelsieck and Casebolt.
Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved, after which the following bills were read and allowed:
F. S. Casebolt, wax ..... $ .70
Standard Lumber Co., coal ..... 91.60
Follett Bros. books ..... 4.70
H. Nebelsieck, express ..... 2.58
Genesee Electric Light Co. .... 1.50
Inland Heating Co. .... 25.00
After some discussion of general conditions regarding the schools the matter of heat was taken up, there having been some considerable complaint from teachers of their rooms not being properly heated, especially on Monday mornings, and the board decided that the furnace should be kept going all the time during the severe cold weather and instructions were ordered given the janitor accordingly.
The Genesee Musical club asked the rental of the assembly room for the purpose of holding practice meetings and the board granted the request at a rental of 75 cents per night, which will cover expenses, there being no extra heat required, and theaters will be under the supervision of a member of the board of education.
Some of the teachers asked that more keys to different parts of the building be given out, but the board decided that there were enough keys out at the present time, and the request was refused on the ground that some of them might become lost, which might cause trouble in the future.
Supt. Babcock reported that there are a great many cases of tardiness and half-day absences without the necessary excuses being presented and as the rules are very explicit and strict along these lines the superintendent was instructed to enforce the rules in this respect, which may mean expulsion in case there is a continuance of the practice. The rule says the only excuse acceptable shall be: "Sickness of the pupil or some member of the family, or other unavoidable reason."
A fine new bunting flag 5x10 feet in size has been received by the board and will be displayed on Flag day and at other times when the occasion demands. It is a handsome piece of work and has the necessary 48 stars, which shows it is right up-to-date.
A planetarium has been received by the board and is one of the most complete instruments of the kind made. It is to be used in the teaching of geography and takes the place of the old-fashioned globe. It revolves in a way to show the relative positions of different stars, the sun, moon and earth, also showing their location at the different seasons of the year, which makes it a very comprehensive instrument.
There were a number of applications for positions in the school for next year but the board decided not to take any action at this time.
There being no further business the board adjourned to meet the second Monday in March.

—The country home of Geo. Rosenau was the scene of a very pretty party Sunday evening, when a sleigh party from town drove out to the Rosenau ranch to enjoy the evening. The pleasure seekers arrived at the ranch about 5 o'clock and disembarking from the sleigh immediately started the fun. One of the main things that make such parties more than a pleasure was not forgotten and systems, ice cream and the necessary accompaniments were served, to which all did justice. Games were played and the usual good time was had. There were about 14 in the party.
—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grassel arrived in Genesee Tuesday afternoon from near Colton. Mr. Grassel came here to consult a physician, he having been in very poor health for some time.

FARMERS' UNION MEETING

Stockholders to Hold All-Day Session—The Bulk System
At the regular meeting of the Farmers' union, held on Saturday last week, it was decided that on Saturday, February 22, there will be held an all-day meeting at which ways and means will be discussed for the handling of grain in bulk, as the price of sacks is getting beyond the reach of the members, as they do not care to turn the value of their crop over to the sack trust for sacks to put their grain in, hence the bulk system of handling their grain will be made the main discussion of the day.
It will cost the members a large sum of money to make the change from warehouses to elevators, but when the change is once made that part of the question will be permanently settled and the farmers will no longer be at the mercy of the sack trust. The members of the Farmers' union use nearly half a million sacks each year, which is no small item, and if the unions in the Inland Empire should decide on the bulk system of handling their grain they will make the sack trust feel their strength.
The question is not a local one by any means. It has been discussed all over this great wheat-producing section and is of vital importance to all farmers and they are looking toward the bulk system as the solution of the question and will stop the systematic robbery they undergo at the hands of the trust.
At the meeting last Saturday H. J. Herman was elected stock buyer for the union and he will have in charge the handling of all stock sold by the members.
State Veterinarian Named
For the first time in the history of Idaho the post of the state has officially authorized veterinarian to look after the herds and cattle of the state. A. P. Powell last week received the appointment of assistant state veterinarian by the live stock sanitary board of Boise, with territory extending over the six northern counties of the state, comprising Kootenai, Bonner, Latah, Shoshone, Nez Perce and Idaho, with headquarters in this city. The duties of the new officer will be to look after the many herds and give them close inspection at intervals; to examine all interstate shipments and to care for all stock which may demand attention at any time and at any place within the territory. Mr. Powell has lived Friday night at Ames place his graduation from the Washington state college at Pullman three years ago.
—The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Engle was the scene of a very pleasant informal dancing party Friday evening, when a sleigh party of friends and neighbors gathered to spend the evening. Refreshments were served and the usual good time was had.
—Miss Millie Geltz of Seattle, Miss Clara Geltz and Marcus Springer drove to Lapwai on Monday, where they went to visit relatives.
—The News and Twice-a-Week Spokesman both for $5.25 the year.

IDAHO STATE NEWS

Interesting Items Gleaned From Numerous Exchanges
St. Maries has become tired of being called a village and a petition has been presented to the council asking that it be made a city of the second class and a census has been ordered taken to ascertain if they have the required number.
A recent letter from an Illinois party to a Nezperce relative mentioned, among other things, that the writer had harvested 15 bushels of wheat to the acre from some of his $50 Illinois land last season. Here on this prairie farmers harvest 40 bushels of wheat to the acre and consider it nothing to brag about, and this off of land that sells around $75 per acre. Note the difference.
The senate of the twelfth Idaho legislature has been swept by a wave of economy and retrenchment which carried with it the job of distributing clerk at general elections in this state. At the same time the upper house went on record as in favor of the "Kenyon-Sheppard" bill, pending before congress, and thereby gave the "wets" an insight as to the "dryness" of that body. The result will be the introduction of a state-wide prohibition bill this session.
The community property bill, by Ferguson of Bannock, has had rather a rough road to travel through the different committees, and as amended gives the husband some considerable advantage over the wife in the disposal of community property in this state. Both as introduced and amended the bill gives the husband the right to dispose of community property practically as he pleases on the death of the wife, while the wife is not given the right to her share in the community property to save her children. The husband may will a part of the property to whom he sees fit.

Gage-Green Marriage

Miss Melissa Green and Wm. C. Gage, both of this city, were on Saturday united in marriage in Moscow by Probate Judge Morgareidge at his office in the court house. Mrs. W. H. Gage, mother of the groom, and Frank Green, father of the bride, accompanied the happy pair to Moscow to witness the ceremony. The newly married pair were agreeably surprised upon their return to Genesee to find waiting at the home of Mr. Gage's mother a fine wedding supper, which was thoroughly enjoyed. On Sunday the ranch of the groom's parents, three miles south of town, where they will reside. Later in the evening a number of the ranchers gathered at the house and the result was an old-fashioned charivari. After a sufficient amount of "music" had been furnished on the outside the noise-makers were invited in and the fun began. Games were played, refreshments served and cigars passed and the revelers did not adjourn until 6 o'clock Monday morning.
Mr. and Mrs. Gage are both well and favorably known in this community and have the best wishes of their host of friends for their future success and happiness through life.

Letter From H. A. Morgan

The following letter has been received from H. A. Morgan from Portland, which his friends will read with pleasure and who will be glad to learn that he is convalescing from his recent injuries in Seattle:
To the News: I again feel like telling you how we all are and how we are enjoying ourselves. Have had a fine time so far, except got in a street car wreck and had two ribs broken at Seattle, but an improving fine and have come on to Portland on our way to California. We are having better weather here than you are at Genesee, shrubs are starting, pussy willows are out, grass so green that we enjoy it and feel sorry for you in the snow there. I would send you a fine bouquet if I thought it would not freeze. There are lots of violets being sold here on the streets every day but I don't believe they would look well in the snow there.
We will try and write you now and then. Say, the birds are singing here in the trees. How are they? Robbins and meadowlarks—they just sound fine when we read about your snow and cold weather.
H. A. MORGAN.
—A message has been received from the Idaho-Washington Development league at Lewiston asking that the Genesee Commercial club send a message to the state legislature asking that meritorious bills now pending be passed, the Commercial club answering as follows: "Senator Fields, representatives Clark, Oremuth and Mason, Boise, Idaho: 'It is the sentiment of the Genesee Commercial club that all meritorious measures for state development should pass, especially the bill for the purchase of the Lewiston-Clarkston bridge. Signed Genesee Commercial Club, by Executive Committee—E. K. Bresler, Jos. Hasfurther, Fred Follett, Robert Emmett, J. T. Nelson.'"

Aid Society Meeting

The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. Perkins on Wednesday afternoon and the usual social time was had and refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Mr. Perkins met the ladies at the Follett Bros. store with a large sleigh equipped with a hayrack and plenty of robes and a very enjoyable ride was the result.

A short business session was held at which it was decided to hold their chicken-pie supper in the basement of the church on next Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock and it will be served cafeteria style. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in fancy work and social chat.

The next meeting of the society will be held with Mrs. Orth in the parsonage.

Miss Laura Phipps was agreeably surprised on last Friday night by a number of her schoolmates and friends when they gathered at her home to have a pleasant evening playing games and having a general good time. About 16 were present. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The Baraca and Philathea classes of the Congregational Sunday school held a joint meeting Tuesday evening and organized a young people's choir. They will take charge of the music at the Sunday evening services of the Congregational church.

NEWS ABOUT OUR SCHOOLS

(BY PROF. L. T. BARCOCK)

Clyde Armstrong has enrolled in the High school this week. He attended the Wenatchee high school the first semester of this year but will finish up his work in Genesee and graduate here this coming spring.

The work of the first semester of the present term has been completed and the report cards have been given out. Parents are requested to inspect these reports and if there is anything lacking, help us to make them complete.

At the literary society last week held in the assembly room, an excellent program was rendered. The girls also conducted a candy sale in one of the corridors. The gross receipts of the evening were between eight and nine dollars. The society will give another program in the near future.

Some little trouble was experienced again on Monday morning of this week with frozen water mains in the school building, though no damage was done this time, except the overflow of the automatic flushing tank in the attic caused by ice having formed in the siphon. The plastering was wet somewhat but prompt action prevented serious damage.

The pupils of the Freshman class gave a reception to the other classes of the high school in the basement of the Congregational church last Saturday night. Games were played and delicious refreshments were served. Between 40 and 50 were present and all united in pronouncing it one of the most enjoyable occasions of this kind ever held under the auspices of the Genesee High school.

B. C. Partridge of Kamiah, is here to take charge of the Northern Pacific depot for about ten days. Agent W. E. Smith will take a vacation for that length of time.

Rebekah Mask Party

The third annual valentine party of the Rebekah lodge of this city was given in their hall Tuesday night and it was a decided success from all points, about 60 being present to enjoy the fun. The sterner sex was barred from the festivities, hence the lack of details in this article.

No one was allowed to enter the hall unless masked, and to say there were a few of all kinds of costumes will not miss it very far. There were those present representing the small boys and girls, Sunbonnet babies, the select, Gold Dust twins and various other celebrities.

There was a fortuneteller's booth in which you could get almost any kind of fortune one might want, and some you didn't want. There were also cozy corners where the fanmakers would try to make out the identity of some other person. There was also another kind of fortunetelling game, where twelve candles were placed in a row upon the floor and those who cared to try their luck would extinguish them, the number of candles extinguished in the act would tell the number of unlucky months they would have during the year and of course there were few candles blown out by the jumber.

Hearts were matched for partners for supper, and ice cream with red hearts in was served. The tables were decorated with valentine lunch cloths, with napkins to match. Cake and coffee were also served. The hall was decorated with evergreens and hearts, making the whole a very pretty affair.

Music, singing and various amusements were indulged in and it is useless to intimate that one of the very best times of the season was had for the Rebekahs are noted for their ability along this line.

Prizes were awarded Mrs. Charles Schooler, Mrs. Jno. Gibbs and Mrs. Will Herman (but just what for we were unable to learn).

Frank Herzog of Minot, N. D., arrived in Genesee Thursday morning for a visit with E. E. Miller, whom he had not seen for over 20 years. Mr. Herzog is an old friend of the Miller family.

Miss Tillie Meyer, who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer for a couple of days, returned to her school duties in Moscow Sunday morning. Miss Lyon accompanied Miss Tillie home and was her guest during her visit. She returned to Moscow Sunday morning with Miss Meyer.

The real "man without a country" is the man who doesn't smile when the home team wins.

Lincoln Collins, son of O. M. Collins, living about six miles south of town, was found by Henry Herman near the ranch of H. J. Herman, about 9 o'clock Monday morning, and brought to Genesee. It seems that the young man had been away from home for two or three days, having gone to Clarkston. His brother went to Clarkston and brought him as far as his ranch, about eight miles southwest of Genesee, and thought the young man could go from there to his father's ranch, but he had lost his way and when found he was in a rather weak condition.

The game of basketball that was to have taken place between the local girls' team and the Lewiston team of the sickness of some of the Lewiston girls.

Mrs. W. E. Smith will entertain the basketball team after the game Friday night between Colfax and the high school team of Genesee.

Don't forget the game tonight between the high school boys and U. of L. on the home court, which will be the last regular game here. The game will be called at 8 o'clock and you are needed to help boost the boys as well as to help boost the financial part of the game.

A great deal of interest in high school circles centers on the basketball game with the Genesee girls here the coming Saturday. Several weeks ago the Moscow girls went over to Genesee and were beaten by one basket, mostly through bad luck, but here the conditions will be reversed and the Moscow team should stand an excellent show of winning. The girls who will probably play for Moscow are: Captain Drury, center; Loomis, Frazier and Scott, forwards; Buchanan, Burton and Harris, guards.—Moscow Star-Mirror.

—W. C. Owen, an old-time express messenger on the Genesee branch of the Northern Pacific, died at his home in Spokane Friday afternoon at 2:45, aged about 40 years. Mr. Owen had the run into Genesee for 10 or 12 years and has many friends and relatives here, he having married a Miss Peterson of this city. L. Peterson, A. Peterson and Edwin Peterson, brothers-in-law of the deceased, went to Spokane Sunday morning to attend the funeral which was held in that city on last Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Besides other relatives he leaves a wife and four children, who have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

California Backing Up. One reason for the high price of hay in California, perhaps the controlling one, is the exclusion this winter of Idaho alfalfa by the California officials on the plea that the Idaho product is infested with the alfalfa weevil and they must protect the alfalfa fields of their own state. This quarantine on Idaho hay has been resented by the Idaho legislature in a thinly veiled threat that so long as it remained in force Idaho would not appropriate a dollar for the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915 or the San Diego exposition the same year. Idaho people contend that the quarantine is unwarranted by the facts, and have been urging the California officials to make an investigation on the grounds, but without success until the legislature conveyed its threat. Now the California commissioner of horticulture offers to send a commissioner to Idaho immediately, provided Idaho will bear the expense of his investigation, and the offer is officially accepted in the following telegram from governor to governor: "Governor Hiram W. Johnson, Sacramento: I accept with pleasure proposal of your commissioner of horticulture to send commissioner to Idaho to investigate reported alfalfa plague in our state. Expenses guaranteed." John M. Haines, Governor.

IDAHO STATE NEWS. Interesting Items Gleaned From Numerous Exchanges. Paul Colton, a dope fiend, "Carrie Naloned" the big plate glass window in the front of a pharmacy at Idaho Falls, because the management of the store refused him laudanum. He was seized before he could do any further damage and hurried to the jail. A. W. Hastings, a settler near Shoshone, shot and killed a drink-crazed Spanish shepherd, recently. The sheepherder approached the Hastings home in the middle of the night uttering violent oaths and threatening to kill Hastings. The coroner's jury pronounced the killing justifiable. Hiram O'Neil, convicted on the charge of falsifying the reports of the State Bank of Commerce of Wallace, the comptroller of the currency, was on Thursday of last week sentenced at Coeur d'Alene to from two to ten years in the Idaho state prison. O'Neil was removed when sentence was pronounced by Judge Dunn. O'Neil will not go to the prison at once, but will remain in the Kootenai jail for two months, until the motion for a new trial has been settled.

Statewide prohibition made its debut in the legislature last week, entering in the form of a bill by Bradley Canyon and Mason of Latah, introduced in the lower house. The bill is a drastic one, prohibiting the manufacturing, selling, giving away, or otherwise disposing of intoxicating liquors. It even prohibits the circulation of advertisements by outside liquor houses and breweries. The authors claim, however, that it does not prevent the individual consumption of liquor.

After having aided in the passage of a bill providing $5000 for the purpose of manufacturing hog cholera serum at the university, Dr. E. T. Baker, head of the veterinary science department has returned to Moscow from Boise. "The record time," said Dr. Baker, "was made by the legislature, when it passed the bill. It was just about 25 minutes after it had been introduced until it had passed both house and senate. As soon as the situation was laid before Governor Haines by Acting President Gayley, he ordered the bill introduced under suspension of the rules as an emergency enactment. The area of infection from this disease now extends from above Twin Falls to Idaho Falls, and an estimated conservative loss is $75,000. One man lost 400 hogs in 10 days. Cholera also exists around Walla Walla, and in Oregon, Utah, California, and it will take careful watching to keep it out of this section of the country.

Valentine Party. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sampson was the scene of a very pretty party on last Saturday night, which took the form of a valentine party, and was given in honor of Miss Dorothy Neely of Seattle, who is here visiting Miss Mildred Gettly. The rooms were decorated with hearts, and hearts was the game of the evening, making it a decided valentine party. Light refreshments were served during the evening. Those present were as follows: Misses Dora Burr, Dorothy Driscoll, Edna Driscoll, Anna Bond, Carol Byrnes, Clara Getz, Mildred Getz and Dorothy Neely; Messrs. Chas. P. Whalen, Walter Buchholtz, Leon Larrabee, Dr. J. D. Adams, Dr. J. M. McColl, Max Sencenbaugh, Emory Vandenburg and Thos. H. Herman. Prizes were awarded, the ladies' first prize going to Miss Dorothy Driscoll and the second to Miss Dora Burr. The gentlemen's first prize was awarded to Dr. Adams after he and Emory Vandenburg had decided who was entitled to it by cutting the cards. The gentlemen's booby prize was awarded to Max Sencenbaugh after a spirited contest between Dr. McColl, Thos. H. Herman, Max Sencenbaugh and Walter Buchholtz, they cutting the cards to see who was entitled to the foot prize. It was a very enjoyable evening for all present.

H. A. Morgan Heard From. The following letter was received from H. A. Morgan last Thursday afternoon after the News had gone to press, but as his many friends are always glad to hear from him, we print it this week. It was written at Roseburg, Ore., and is as follows: "Genesee News:— We are at present here for the night; left Portland this morning. We are just traveling in the day time and stopping over at night and are enjoying the sights. This is the finest spring weather you ever saw. All through the Willamette valley they are making garden and seeding; the grass is so green and growing fine; good pasture. Ranchers are preparing their hop fields and the China pheasants are all along the railroad track, look so fine it makes one want to stop off and hunt awhile. Mrs. Laura Stuber, a former resident of Genesee, is traveling with us to California, which makes four in our party. We took in the city of Roseburg tonight; the air is so soft and balmy, but perhaps you are having just as good weather there by this time, so I will not brag. We leave here at 3:10 a. m. February 10, for Shasta Springs; will arrive there at 6 p. m. same day and stay over until morning again. My regards to all at Genesee. H. A. MORGAN

High School "Pow Wow" for '12. The High School Pow Wow for 1912 is a bit of work truly creditable to the high school students and the delay in its publication has seemed to add to its desirability. It has been brought well up into this school year. The excellence of its illustrations is its distinguishing feature.

The picture of every child in last year's school is to be found somewhere in its pages, with special illustrations of the faculty, upper classes, athletes, teams, play casts, the staff of the old and new buildings. The magnificent full page half tone of the old building is alone worth the price of the annual to those whose recollections center about it and its associations. Poetry, humor, fiction and interesting records of classes and long graduated alumni, with accounts of the various school and student activities lend substance and spice to its 95 pages. The edition is limited and everyone should plan to secure their copies early. Put them away carefully for their interest will never wane. Buy extra copies to send to friends who may wish to know of our school and community. The success of this issue determines the fate of succeeding issues. The price of the copies will be one dollar each and will be put on sale Saturday evening at the school rally.

Genesee Girls Defeat Moscow. Our girls won the crowning victory of the season when they defeated the Moscow High school girls' team on their own floor, Saturday evening by a score of 18 to 13. The game was a hard fight every instant and the victory was due only to superior playing. The first half was indecisive though with our girls three in the lead which lead they advanced to five by the end of the last half. Some pretty exhibitions of team work were given by our girls. Oth made all of our 18 points from her forward position with the aid of Martinson's splendid floor work and passing. Archibald played a game at goal guard that effectually stopped Moscow's basket shooting. Whitted did her part in breaking up Moscow's plays, and Larrabee kept her husky knees busy. A large crowd was present and cheered every good play.

—On last Tuesday afternoon the home of Mrs. Oscar Nordby, on Route No. 1, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering, when the ladies of the United Church met at her home, among whom were also some members of the Seaview's church. The afternoon was spent with needle-work and social chat. A sumptuous luncheon was served during the afternoon, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. These gatherings are among the very pleasant features of the neighborhood and are always enjoyed by the attendants. —Cann & Steltz have completed the repairing and finishing of the home of Mrs. F. E. Becker. The kitchen is finished in white enamel.

LATAH POSTOFFICES

Democrats Making Fight For Coveted Prizes. The postoffices of Latah county are too rich a plum to be lost to the democrats without a fight and the county organization of the democratic party "tight to the last ditch" before it will allow any of these plums to fall into the laps of the republicans. Telegrams have been sent to the democratic senators at Washington, D. C., urging that the confirmation of all republican postmasters be held up until Woodrow Wilson becomes president and the democrats have a majority in the senate. As Idaho has no democratic senator the democrats of this state are appealing to Senator Chamberlain of Oregon to look after their interests.

There are seven presidential post offices in Latah county and the aggregate salaries of these is $10,500 per year. Moscow is the most important, with a salary of $2500. Potlatch comes next, with $1800. The others are Genesee, $1400; Troy, $1300; Boville and Kendrick, $1200 each and Julietta, $1100. All these offices are held by republicans. The terms of J. J. Campbell, postmaster at Potlatch; W. M. Harland, postmaster at Troy, and Joseph R. Collins, postmaster at Moscow, have expired and all have been re-appointed by President Taft, but the confirmation of these appointments has been held up with scores of others by the United States senate.

—Two sleigh loads of merry-makers went from town to the C. C. Swenson ranch on Wednesday night for a good time and dancing was the order of the evening. A splendid lunch was served. The crowd returned to town during the small hours of the morning.

"MAIL ORDER" Cream Separators. When you buy a cream separator you want the best machine you can get for the money, don't you? Well, then, just listen to this proposition: Before you order a "mail order" separator write to the concern and tell them that you want to try their machine out against a De Laval, with the privilege of sending their machine back if you decide that the De Laval is better worth what we ask you for it than their machine is worth what they ask. That's absolutely fair, isn't it? We'll be glad to furnish you a De Laval for such a trial any time you like and let you be the judge. We are glad to make this offer because we know that the De Laval will give you better service and cost you less in the long run than any other machine you can buy, no matter what the price. If you already have a mail order separator, or any other for that matter, which isn't giving satisfaction, we have an exchange offer that we believe will interest you. Before you buy a Cream Separator, see and try a DE LAVAL. THE VARIETY STORE W. H. COOK, Propr.

—At the request of Governor John M. Haines, President Carlyle has gone to California to try to secure the removal of the ban placed upon Idaho alfalfa by that state on account of the alleged presence of weevil in the Idaho product and which careful investigation by the authorities who have charge of that work does not show and Mr. Carlyle will make a strenuous effort to have the ban removed.

—H. W. Brune arrived in Genesee from a trip to the coast on last Sunday afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. Brune, who had gone to Spokane to meet her husband. Mr. Brune not finding anything to his liking in the Willamette valley, he decided to locate at Sand Point, Idaho, for the present at least, or until he finds something more to his liking. He will be connected with the Pend d'Oreille Review at that city.

—Word has been received by J. A. Nisbet that his cousin, Gen. J. E. Stewart of Chicago, chief inspector of the postoffice department for Chicago, has been chosen chief marshal of the day at the inaugural parade when Gov. Woodrow Wilson will be inaugurated. President of the United States on March 4. Gen. Stewart is a lifelong republican but has been closely connected with the government of Uncle Sam's affairs since the war and his being chosen chief marshal at this time shows his particular fitness for the handling of such affairs.

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

Lumbermen's Convention

The tenth annual convention of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association was held in Spokane last Thursday, Friday and Saturday and was attended by lumber dealers from all over the Pacific northwest. The sessions were held in the Masonic temple and were alive with interesting and profitable addresses and discussions. Ladies were especially invited to attend all sessions and many of them were present. A special program of luncheons and matinees was also provided for the entertainment of the visiting ladies. The convention closed Saturday evening with a big dinner for all lumbermen and their ladies at the Masonic temple, at which Frank B. Cole of Tacoma officiated as toastmaster.

On Friday night the order of Hoos initiated twenty-eight into the mysteries of the order and a great time was had.

Marching chain-gang style into the conclave of full grown "cats" at the Masonic temple, squeaking "kittens" were inducted into the mysteries of the great lumberman's order, Hoos.

Under the spur of the presence of three of the supreme nine of the order F. W. Trower, snark of the universe; L. R. Pifer, supreme custodian, and W. M. Stephenson, supreme schivener, Master of Ceremonies Geo. W. Hoag, and Chief Torturer G. W. Duffey put into effect for the first time the new revised initiation ritual. All general arrangements were in charge of J. E. Ehrmantraut of Spokane, vicegerent snark of eastern Washington and northern Idaho. Initiation was followed by a banquet.

E. Abernathy and I. C. Peterson of this city were among those who rode the "log and boards" over the rough road prepared for the victims, but they arrived home Sunday afternoon seemingly none the worse for wear on account of the journey.

—The firm of Follett & Schoeller the first of this week shipped to Spokane a car containing 16 of their fine horses, including the blue and red ribbon winners at the Northwest Livestock association held at Lewiston last fall, the shipment going to Roberts Bros. of that city. —The Alumni basketball team will journey to Lapwai Saturday to play the Lapwai Indians. They expect a good hard game. Watch the score in next week's issue. A return game is expected during March.

GRAND RALLY AND DINNER

Farmer's Union Holds All-Day Meeting—Bulk vs. Sacks

In accordance with its established custom, the Farmers' Union of Genesee observed the 22nd of February with its annual grand rally and an oyster dinner on the side.

They were very fortunate in having with them, as the speaker of the day, Louis Delvick of Quincy, Wash., an authority on grain elevator construction and management, or, in other words, handling grain in bulk from field to the mill, which was the principal object of the meeting.

This is a subject of considerable interest at this time, and is probably the next most important issue to be taken up by the Union throughout the Washington and Idaho jurisdiction of the order. Mr. Delvick has a very pleasing yet convincing way of showing up the fallacy of sacking all our grain, for the other fellows concern, as well as the great loss to the producer in not cleaning and grading his grain before sending it to market. When it is taken into consideration that Genesee farmers will pay this year approximately $30,000 for their sacks, and that this item has been an annual affair for many years past and without some effort on their part will most certainly continue, the reader will understand that some action somewhere, by somebody is surely called for.

As a result of this meeting there is no doubt that the farmers will undertake in the near future to convert or remodel their present warehouses to the elevator system, with all cleaning and separating conveniences.

At the noon recess the farmers adjourned and went to the Grand Central hotel where a splendid dinner was served to more than eighty of the members.

As has been stated before, the question of the future handling of grain is not a local question and is one that is being thoroughly discussed and acted upon throughout the entire Palouse and Big Bend countries. Some of the unions have already decided to handle their grain in bulk, while others are making arrangements to continue the use of sacks. While the union of this place have not made complete arrangements, there is no question but that the general sentiment is looking toward the handling of grain in bulk.

Of course this cannot all be accomplished in one season, but this will ultimately be the end.

The Farmers' union in the Cottonwood section have already decided to handle their grain in bulk and have begun the gathering of funds for that purpose, something over $6,000 having already been secured, which insures the erection of the $7,000 elevator planned.

The Farmers' union of Tekoa, Wash. have decided to erect an elevator with a capacity of not less than 50,000 bushels and more than half the money for that purpose has already been subscribed, thus disposing of what they term the "sack graft."

Meetings have been called in other parts of the Palouse country for the purpose of taking up this all important question and there is no doubt that the bulk system will eventually be adopted by the unions all over the Inland Empire.

Definite steps have been taken at Colton and La Crosse for the erection of warehouses with elevator facilities and a large number of farmers have contracted for steel tanks for farm storage, and notice has been given transportation companies that they will have to prepare to handle grain in bulk if they expect to transport the products of the Farmers union.

B. H. Schoeller of the firm of Follett & Schoeller, is expected to arrive in Genesee the first of next week with a carload of blooded horses which he will bring from the eastern market, where he has been for the past few weeks buying the best there is in horses.

A fine grade of timothy seed for sale at J. Rosenstein's.

"Did you get anything," whispered the burglar on guard as his pal emerged from the window. "Now, he broke wet lives here is a lawyer," replied the other in disgust.

"Dat's hard luck," said the first. "Did you lose any?"

Parcels Post Advantages

Uncle Sam is desirous that the general public acquaint themselves with the use and advantages of the parcels post system, and in order that this may be accomplished has sent out circulars giving full particulars regarding its advantages, which is especially so for the farmers who wish to have small packages delivered at their doors by the local merchants.

Parcels weighing four ounces or less may be mailed at the rate of one cent per ounce or fraction thereof, and parcels weighing more than four ounces are mailable at the pound rates, a fraction of a pound being considered a pound. The local rates are as follows:

One pound 5 cent, 2 pounds six cents, and so on, adding one cent for each additional pound, which makes it very handy for the rancher who may want a small article from the home merchant but hasn't the time to come for it, at which time the telephone and parcels post come in very handy.

Extensive alterations will be made in the Lualaba building and fine new fixtures will be installed.

Everything is expected to be in readiness for the opening about March 5th.

Mr. Stewart's spring purchases are looked after in New York by a personal acquaintance who is one of the best buyers in that city, thus assuring styles that are absolutely up-to-the-minute and correct in every detail — Daily Star-Mirror, Moscow, Idaho, February 15, 1913.—Adv.

Coasting Accident

Melvin Clark was quite badly hurt in a coasting accident on Monday night, when a party of about 25 were coasting on a hill at the John Friedrichs place, about a mile from town. A tubogun load of young people were making the descent of the hill and when the bottom of the hill was reached a barbed wire fence was in their path and they were unable to stop or turn the course of the sled and the consequence was a collision with the fence. The impact broke the lower strand of wire as well as breaking down a post, throwing Melvin against the stand, badly cutting his right ankle and otherwise bruising him. His trousers and overcoat were also "wrecked." A physician was consulted and the patient repaired and it is thought no bad results will remain as a reminder of that particular ride. A few others were somewhat shaken up, but young Clark being on the front of the sled he received the main force of the collision with the above results.

Alumni Team Victorious
The Alumni basketball team of this city journeyed to Lapwai last Saturday where they played the team of that place Saturday night, defeating them by a score of 20 to 14, which again demonstrates the fact that Genesee has more good material for the game than any other town of like size in the country.

The line-up was: C. Gray, Leon Larrabee, forwards; H. Schoeller, center; E. Wells and D. Spurbek, guards. Clyde Armstrong accompanied the team as substitute and Cozy Rader as coach. Some loyal supporters of the Genesee squad were, Arthur Springer, Bill Geitz, Ray Edwards and Nick Osmundson.

The Orofino High school coach was Referee. A return game is expected soon, watch for posters.

M. H. Nordby was a Sunday morning passenger for Moscow where he went to look after business affairs.

Mrs. A. H. Morgan went to Lewiston last Thursday afternoon for a week-end visit with friends.

Antone Borgen was a business visitor in Moscow the first of the week.

"MAIL ORDER" Cream Separators

When you buy a cream separator you want the best machine you can get for the money, don't you? Well, then, just listen to this proposition:

Before you order a "mail order" separator write to the concern and tell them that you want to try their machine out against a De Laval, with the privilege of sending their machine back if you decide that the De Laval is better worth what we ask you for it than their machine is worth what they ask.

That's absolutely fair, isn't it? We'll be glad to furnish you a De Laval for such a trial any time you like and let you be the judge.

We are glad to make this offer because we know that the De Laval will give you better service and cost you less in the long run than any other machine you can buy, no matter what the price.

If you already have a mail order separator, or any other for that matter, which isn't giving satisfaction, we have an exchange offer that we believe will interest you.

Before you buy a Cream Separator, see and try a DE LAVAL.

The annual Track and Field meet and Declamatory contest under the auspices of the Lewiston High school, has been announced for April 25. Genesee will send a strong team and a try-out will be held to determine the contestant for declamatory honors.

The school rally at the schoolhouse last Saturday night was a complete success. The round table discussions were especially interesting, and an excellent program was rendered in the assembly room. The sale of the Annuals was somewhat slower than was expected, but the prospects now are that enough copies will be sold to clear expenses. Refunds were served which netted the Athletic association about $12.

In the matter of tardiness there has been a marked improvement of late. The writer of these notes urges upon parents the necessity of having pupils at school every day of the session on time, unless prevented by unavoidable cause.

The basketball team is doing some strenuous practicing these days getting ready for the Tournament the latter part of next week.

That Debate

At the regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge on Tuesday night a short literary program was given, which was very enjoyable. Readings were given by Emery Vandenberg and Henry Herman, then came a debate on the momentous question, Resolved—"That machinery has been of more benefit to humanity than literature," the affirmative side being carried by Lambert, Haymond and Cornish, while the negative was handled by McColl, Jackson and Burr. The affirmative side had a shade the best of the argument as they had machinery upon which to load their arguments, thus making it easier for them, while the negative had all the literature which had been dug up from the archives of ancient Egypt and other remote places and from that time to the present day, which made rather a heavy load. However, both sides managed to get their proofs as far as the judges, who after a lengthy conference of about two minutes, decided that the question was entirely too weighty to be decided on the spot of the moment so asked for further time in which to weigh the arguments and other material at hand (in order to look up a good pair of scales) and time was granted. The judges were: Rev. Orth, Prof. Babcock and Leo Miller.

These entertainments are always a source of benefit and amusement for the members, who have decided to pull off something of the sort once each month.

—On Sunday the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lotang, three miles northwest of town, was the scene of a very pleasant social gathering, when a number of friends gathered to spend the day. Social chat and a general good time was indulged in until the noon hour, when a sumptuous dinner was served, such as are only to be found on the ranch and which was thoroughly enjoyed by those fortunate enough to be present. Those present were: Jos. Moersch and family, Jno. Geselchen and family, Mrs. Wm. Smolt, Miss Edith Berger, Paul Voell, Otto Kretschmer and Chas. P. Whalen. The trip was made from Genesee in sleighs.

—Last Friday evening, after the regular business meeting of Lilly Chapter of Eastern Star, three of the brethren very charmingly entertained the chapter at a fishing party, which took the form of a "prize puzzle—find the fish" affair. The hope is expressed that next time there will at least be large enough catch for a fay. However, the new way of serving fish was very novel and dainty, to say the least. Plenty of fun was in evidence and the size of the fish is attributed to the extreme cold weather.

—Dr. J. D. Adams on Tuesday received a fine player piano and had it taken to his home. The doctor wishes it understood that it is a "player piano" and not a piano player" that he has taken home. His friends insist that it should have been the other way round.

—Mrs. G. E. Sampson, Miss Dorothy Neeley, Miss Clara Geltz and Miss Mildred Geltz were Saturday morning passengers for Pullman, where on Saturday night they attended the military ball, going from there to Moscow on Sunday.

—Washington's birthday was not very generally observed here, the banks and postoffice being the only places of business that were closed.

—Aloys Reiserer of Colton was a visitor in Genesee Sunday.

—Dr. H. P. Carlson was a business visitor in Uniontown Monday.

—O. M. Collins was a Monday morning passenger for Spokane.

—M. A. Bielenberg went to Uniontown Friday afternoon for a visit.

—John Anderson was a business visitor in Uniontown last Saturday.

—J. G. Thompson was a Saturday morning passenger to Uniontown on business.

—Nick Bielenberg of Moscow arrived in Genesee Friday afternoon for a visit with B. H. Bielenberg.

—R. R. Gray was a passenger for Spokane on Saturday morning, from which place he may go to Los Angeles later.

—A. Springer returned Saturday afternoon from Lethridge, Alberta, Canada, where he had been for the past year.

—Mrs. E. H. Ehlen was a Friday morning passenger for Pullman for a visit with her sister, Mrs. W. M. Savage, in that city.

—Raymond Edwards went to Garfield, Wash. Monday morning, where he will visit for a short time before going to Tekoa, where he will remain.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Follett have been heard from by friends in this city and they are having a fine time down at Los Angeles and are enjoying the warm weather there.

—Joe Long, who has been a resident of Genesee for the past 18 months, left Tuesday morning for Portland to join his mother, who has been there since December. They will make Portland their home.

"A Good Time Medley" is the caption of the entertainment to be given at the Genesee schoolhouse on this evening by the Baraca and Phila thea classes of the Sunday school. There will be all kinds of entertainment—solos, quartets, a farce drama and quite a number of booths of various kinds. Homemade candies will also be on sale. The proceeds will be used in the Sunday school work. Everybody come—a good time for young and old.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jain left Monday morning on their return home to Wabito, Kansas, after a very pleasant visit with the family of his brother, L. Jain, sr., and other relatives in Genesee. Their son, Wilbur, accompanied them as far as Spokane, from which place he will go to his ranch at Bawli, Alberta, Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Jain will stop at Boulder, Colo., where they will visit relatives before returning home.

—On Monday just afternoon while the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dye was watering a pony, on their ranch, a horse weighing about 1600 pounds made a lunge at the pony and stepped on the little fellow's right leg, breaking it between the knee and ankle. He was taken to Moscow by his father Monday evening, where the fracture was reduced and the little sufferer was brought home Tuesday morning. He is getting along as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

Labor Commissioner's Report

The seventh biennial report of the commissioner of immigration, labor and statistics, S. J. Rich, commissioner, has reached this office, and is the most complete and the handsomest piece of work we have ever seen of its kind. It does credit to any magazine published, not excepting the Sunset, which is conceded to be one of the best printed magazines in the United States, especially as far as printing goes. The commissioner's report is replete with knowledge of the state and her resources and contains many fine colored pages, all of which have the caption "See America first—begin with Idaho." It sets forth the scenic beauties of the state as well as telling of its agricultural advantages, raising of livestock of all kinds, fruit raising, climatic conditions—in fact, it has the state of Idaho, which is one of the best on earth, in an nutshell, and Commissioner Rich deserves great praise for the work, as well as the printers who executed it.

School for Road Overseers

The civil engineering department of the University, in co-operation with the office of public roads of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will hold a three days' road school for road overseers and others interested in good roads at the University March 12, 13 and 14.

Dr. L. I. Hewes of the U. S. office of public roads, who gave several lectures before the similar school last year, will again be present. His abundant practical information, clear presentation, and considerate manner in answering questions make him a most successful instructor.

Lectures will be given on earth road repair and maintenance, road management, economic influence of highways, recent development in road building, state aid, concrete bridges and culverts, and other subjects.

The purpose of the school is to help make more effective the current expenditure of road funds and to stimulate interest in permanent good roads.

Such a thing has not been known in this part of the country for many years. The mercury has been below zero a good many times during this period there has been no suffering and there is no sickness to speak of, the doctors having had a vacation thus far. ### University Remains at Moscow

The Twin Falls bill for the segregation of the Agricultural College from the University of Idaho was killed in the house Tuesday afternoon.

Representative Overmuth moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed and after a bitter fight by the Twin Falls supporters, the motion carried by a vote of 37 to 17.

The Twin Falls bunch had secured a strong line up by trading votes, and holding up some of the bonding bills, but at the final test this organization failed to rescue the bill from the postponement rout.

—The high school basketball team will go to Moscow Friday afternoon to meet the U. of I. team in that city, where they are expected to sustain the reputation already made by the different teams of this city. ### Old Age

Old age as it comes in the orderly process of nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom, counsel. That old age as it should be, but old age as it often is means poor digestion, torpid bowels, a sluggish liver and a general feeling of ill health, dependency and misery. This in almost every instance is wholly unnecessary. One of Chamberlain's tablets taken immediately after supper will improve the digestion, tone up the liver and regulate the bowels. That feeling of dependency will give way to one of hope and good cheer. For sale by all dealers.

Latah County Mines
The fourteenth annual report of the mining industry of Idaho for the year 1912 has reached this office and contains some considerable information regarding the various mining industries of the state, of which there are a great many, has the following to say regarding Latah county, which in part is as follows: "Latah county, besides being one of the most important agricultural counties in the state in the humid plateau region of the Palouse country, carries some conspicuous mountain uplifts of granite formation that are quite well mineralized at several points throughout the central and western borders of the county, and contain some interesting deposits of copper, gold and silver ores, and some of the best commercial mica deposits that have been discovered in the western states. It has as yet been developed to an important stage. Some considerable mica has been shipped from the Muscovite mine near Avon, and that considerable interest was manifested last summer in a copper mine near Troy."

CLEARWATER BRIDGE

Piers Now Above Water Line—Work Being Pushed

The work on the Clearwater bridge is progressing very satisfactorily and the concrete work on the first pier is now completed to a point above the water line. The crib work for the second pier located in mid-stream was completed last week and the installation of concrete was commenced on this pier Monday morning. One of the pier sites on the gravel bar has been excavated to the bedrock and the excavations for the fourth pier has been started.

The work is carried on with great caution at the present time because of the prospect of extreme high water but unless serious trouble is experienced with the winter freshets the construction of the piers will be completed in about two months.

Statement is made by Fred W. Straw, of the Security Bridge company, that the entire structure will be completed and in readiness for use by the middle of summer unless water conditions prevent the completion of the piers before the spring freshet season. It is explained that the construction of the upper structure can be carried on regardless of water conditions in the stream but unless the piers are completed before the high water in May, the completion of the bridge will be materially delayed. It is the importance of completing the piers during the early spring that prompts the bridge company to continue the construction work in mid-stream when freshet waters are expected and extreme high water at this time would necessarily result in a loss of several hundred dollars.

With the completion of the piers, however, the first spans extending from the south shore to the gravel bar could be easily handled and construction work across the main channel could be carried on by means of cables. It is explained that such construction would necessarily be slower than it conditions favor the erection of false work but the company will employ every agency to complete the bridge structure as early in the season as it is possible.—Lewiston Tribune.

Nez Perce Indians Oppose Sale
A council of 200 Nez Perce Indians held at Fort Lapwai voted adversely on the proposal of the commissioner of the Indian department to sell the timber from 2500 acres of land located near Winchester. The decision was reached after three proposals had been submitted by members of the tribe and thoroughly discussed.

Many of the Indians favored the plan for using the tribal lands for providing allotments for the children of the tribe who have been born since the reservation was allotted and who are not provided with lands. It was stated that the tribal holdings are sufficient to provide each such child with approximately 40 acres of an average value of about $2000.

James Stuart headed a delegation that favored the sale of the timber from the land in the event the entire net proceeds from the sale should be turned over to the tribe for distribution. The majority of the tribe was adverse to the timber sale on any terms and this position was endorsed by the council after all phases of the matter had been fully discussed.

All sections of the reservation were represented at the meeting. A report of the action of the council will be forwarded to the commissioner of Indian affairs at Washington, and will be considered by him before action on the application for sale will be taken.

Monday evening of this week about 50 friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Herach very pleasantly surprised them by giving them a farewell reception at the Jos. Moersch home. The evening was spent in music, card playing and social chat. A beautiful present was given them by the crowd. At about 12:30 refreshments were served.

IDAHO HISTORY

Short Sketch of the Doings of the Early Lawmakers

According to a historical sketch written by H. L. Talkington, head of the department of history of the Lewiston State normal, last Monday was the fiftieth birthday of Idaho, which was the last piece carved of the territory known as the Oregon territory, and the resolution to make it a territory was introduced by Wm. Kellogg of Illinois on Dec. 15, 1862, but it was not until March 3rd of 1863 that the bill was passed and was signed by President Lincoln on the same day.

At that time the territory embraced what is now the states of Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and a strip of the western part of the Dakotas and Nebraska.

On July 10, 1863, President Lincoln appointed Wm. H. Wallace, late delegate to congress from Washington, governor of Idaho territory and on September 22, following, Wallace issued his proclamation organizing the territory of Idaho with the capital at Lewiston.

The first territorial legislature convened at Lewiston December 7, 1863, and adjourned February 4, 1864, which was somewhat shorter than their sessions held in these times. A bill for the removal of the capitol from Lewiston to Boise was passed and approved December 24th, 1864, and after some considerable squabbling and injunctions the capitol was finally moved to Boise. Idaho was admitted as a state on July 3, 1890, and is today one of the grandest and best states in the Union.

Letter From Mr. Morgan
H. A. Morgan, wife and daughter have arrived at Long Beach, Calif., as is shown by the following letter, which was received too late for publication last week, but which will be read with much pleasure by their many friends here:—

Genesee News:—As you see, we are here now. Had a very pleasant trip, traveled by day and stopped over every night from Seattle here, so we took in the country pretty well. Our stops were Portland two days, Roseburg one night, Dunsmuir, Calif., one night, San Francisco, four days, Santa Barbara, two days, Los Angeles, two days and then here to Long Beach.

The frost has hurt the looks of California very much more in some places than in others. Here and above Santa Barbara the damage is worst; around San Francisco it was not nearly so heavy. Eucalyptus and live oak leaves are killed completely in some places while the lemon and orange trees in some places have lost all their leaves, and you know they are evergreen trees.

I hear your snow is going some there. Suppose everyone is glad. In Los Angeles there were a few falls of snow in the air and nearly everyone nearly went wild to see them. You had better ship us a car of snow down here; think we could sell it for a good price—at least two snow balls for five cents.

H. A. MORGAN.

—Glenn Sampson believes in being progressive and has made some extensive improvements to the interior of his barber shop, having purchased and placed in position a new marble wall case which has fine plate glass mirrors 44x56 inches in size which are encased in quartered oak settings, together with individual cases and lavatories for each chair. This with his hydraulic chairs, makes one of the most complete and up-to-date shops in this part of the country. One will travel many miles before they will see one like it in a town of many times the size of Genesee.

—Miss Mary Kries had the misfortune on Tuesday to fall through a window at her home, cutting an ugly gash in her right arm which required five stitches to close.

—Miss Katie Hasfurther, who has been ill of pneumonia for the past two weeks, is much improved in health.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Gulig and Miss Christine Lorang were Moscow visitors on Tuesday, having driven over.

—Miss Clara Dahm of Uniontown is visiting with her cousin, Miss Frances Moersch, this week.

—J. E. Miller has purchased from G. Payne his residence property in the east part of town.

THE NORTHWEST SHOW

gregate Over $11,000

The business men of Lewiston last week assured the premium fund for the Northwest Livestock association's show in December, when $5,500 was subscribed as Lewiston's portion and an official notification of such action by the Lewiston Commercial club and the Idaho-Washington Development league was given Secretary S. B. Nelson of the Lewiston association. The meeting was held at the Bellingham hotel at the luncheon hour and was attended by business men and members of the executive committee of the Northwest Livestock association. The members of the executive committee pledged themselves Thursday evening to furnish $3000 for the premium list and the amount subscribed by Lewiston swells the fund to $5500. Special cash premiums are already being announced and statement is made by Secretary Nelson that fully $11,000 will be available for cash premiums for the 1913 show.

The preliminary premium list of the association showing the amounts to be offered for premiums in the various classifications will be issued at an early date and the plans now provide for having the permanent premium lists in circulation early in the season.

Most of the visiting members of the executive committee left for their homes highly enthused with the plans for the 1913 show. The action of the Lewiston business men was highly commended and the publicity campaign for the December exposition will be launched at once by Secretary Nelson.

The members of the committee have been advised that cattle, sheep and hogs have already been selected for the 1913 show and now are being prepared for exhibition. August Schoeder the well-known Kenterville breeder who exhibited the prize winning carload of fat steers last year, was in Lewiston and stated that he now is selecting a large number of two-year old steers from which a carload exhibit will be chosen later in the season.

Moscow Defeated
The Genesee High school basketball team won from the Moscow High school boys on Friday night in the new gymnasium, by a score of 45 to 17. The Moscow team could not stop their fast opponents in their accurate basket shooting and excellent team work. This was the second defeat of the season for the Moscow team, they being defeated early in the year by Caldwell.

Stilling played well for Moscow, while Wardrobe and Gray starred for Genesee.

The lineup was as follows:
Genesee Moscow
Wardrobe.....guard.....Schultz
Schoeller.....guard.....Hill
Martinson.....center.....Stilling
Gray.....forward.....Hunter
C. Gray.....forward.....Nankervis

A second game was played on Saturday night and was between U. of I. school boys, the latter putting it over the former to the tune of 18 to 14, which was a much better game than the first one.

The home team left this morning for Pullman to take part in the high school tournament to be held in that city tonight and tomorrow night, where they will contest, with ten other teams, for the championship of the northwest.

The people of Genesee are looking for the Genesee boys to sustain the reputation they have made all the way through, with the exception of that fateful trip recently—which should be forgotten.

England Refuses to Pay
The British postoffice has finally decided to refuse compensation for registered mail lost on the "Titanic." An indemnity of $10 is payable to the owner of any registered letter or package lost in transit to any foreign country through negligence on the part of the mail service or transportation line. If negligence had been admitted in the case of the "Titanic," the amount payable would be in the neighborhood of $4,000,000, but the British postoffice authorities take the ground that the disaster was "due to causes beyond control."—From the March Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Pleads for the Rural Carrier

A contribution to the Wisconsin
Agriculturist, a weekly publication that has an extensive circulation in the rural districts of the Northwest, in a recent issue published the following plea for the rural carrier: (Re-published by request from R. F. D. News.)

"Don't expect the rural carrier to do more than Uncle Sam says is his duty, when you are not willing to do even as much as Uncle Sam expects you to do. Don't expect him to pick up loose ends when the weather is cold, just because he may have sometimes accommodated you in the warm weather by so doing. Don't expect the mail carrier on days when you would postpone a trip to the city because you are afraid of the snowdrifts. Don't expect the mail carrier's team to make 24 miles with the snow up to the neckyoke just because you may have planned a big plow team two or three miles into town and back."

"Don't expect the mail carrier to break the loads when you don't think it worth your while to do it. It is you who will miss the mail, not he. Don't sit in the house and wait until the mail is stalled before going out to help, for the carrier will turn around and be gone back before you can reach him, as he does not know that you are coming. Don't write to Washington about the carrier failing to get through some road before he reaches your district; you will get more satisfaction if you notify the town chairman, as he does not know that you are coming. Don't write to Washington about the carrier failing to get through some road before he reaches your district; you will get more satisfaction if you notify the town chairman."

"Don't wait until the last minute before you buy stamps, money orders, etc.; it may be a stormy day, or you might miss the carrier, and it is not the way you buy your coffee and sugar for your breakfast. And don't wait for the road overseer to ask you out before you go out to open the roads after a snowstorm; he may be sick or away from home."

"ONE WHO KNOWS."

Why do you use phosphorus, which is so very dangerous for both the destruction of property and stock, when Woodlark is much safer and is a deadly poison. Every kernel is warranted to kill. # INAUGURATION LAST TUESDAY, MARCH 4

HOW PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON WAS INDUCTED INTO OFFICE.

SUCH GRAND SIGHT NEVER AT CAPITAL

More Visitors at National Capital Than Its Population—Everything Passed Off Without Mishap—Tafts Go to Georgia for Brief Rest.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—This is how the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson took place today.

Pennsylvania avenue was one long, continuous grandstand. Every available space was given up to the erection of stands decorated in green and white and filled with visitors who paid from $2.50 to $5 a seat.

The windows along the avenue were sold at from $50 to $500 each and were attention was tendered Mrs. Marshall. Goodbye, Mr. Taft.

Arriving at the capitol building, the party entered the senate chamber and took seats reserved for them in front of the vice-president's desk. Members of the house and the supreme court, in addition to the senators, entered and were seated in the senate chamber. Then followed the ceremonies initiating vice-president-elect Marshall into office.

Mr. Taft was met by Mrs. Taft at the White House and they left by the rear door, going to Union station to catch the early train for Augusta, Ga., where they will have a month's rest.

President Wilson hastened to the specially constructed, glass-protected grandstand to review the great inaugural parade, which had, in the meantime, started from the capitol.

The parade consisted of five divisions, headed by General Leonard Wood as grand marshal.

The suffrage parade was some show as well as the inaugural spectacle.

OUR NEW PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL SPEECH

WOODROW WILSON'S FIRST ADDRESS AS PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

PRINTED HEREWITH IN ITS ENTIRETY

Remarkably Short, But to the Point—Says 'Tis Not a Day of Triumph, But One of Dedication—With God's Help Will Do His Best.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—President Wilson in his inaugural address said:

There has been a change of government. It began two years ago when the house of representatives became democratic by a decisive majority. It has now been completed. The senate, about to assemble, will also be democratic. The offices of president and vice president have been put into the hands of democrats. What does this change mean? That is the question that is in our minds today. That is the question I am going to try to answer in order, if I may, to interpret the occasion.

It means much more than the mere success of a party. The success of a party means little except when the nation is using that party for a large and definite purpose. No one can mistake the purpose for which the nation now seeks to use the democratic party. It seeks to use it to interpret a change in its own plans and method of view. Some old things with which we had grown familiar, and which had begun to creep into the very habit of our thought and of our lives, have altered their aspect as we have lately looked critically upon them, with fresh, awakened eyes; have dropped their disguises and shown themselves alien and sinister. Some new things, as we look frankly upon them, willing to comprehend their real character, have come to assume the aspect of things long believed in and familiar, stuff of our own convictions. We have been refreshed by a new insight into our own life.

Life is Very Great. We see that in many things that life is very great. It is incomparably great in its material aspects, in its body of wealth, in the diversity and sweep of its energies, in the industries which have been conceived and built up by the genius of individual men and the limitless enterprise of groups of men. It is great, and very great, in its moral force. Nowhere else in the world have noble men and women exhibited in more striking forms the beauty and the energy of sympathy and helpfulness and counsel in their efforts to rectify wrong, alleviate suffering, and set the weak in the way of strength and hope.

We have built up, moreover, a great system of government, which has stood through a long age as in many respects a model for those who seek to set liberty upon foundations that will endure against fortuitous change, against storm and accident. Our life contains every great thing, and contains it in rich abundance.

But the evil has come with the good, and much fine gold has been corroded. With riches has come inexcusable waste. We have squandered a great part of what we might have used, and have not stopped to conserve the exceeding bounty of nature, without which our very existence would have been worthless and impotent scolding to be careful, shamefully prodigal as well as admirably efficient.

We have been proud of our industrial achievements, but we have not hitherto stopped thoughtfully enough to count the human cost, the cost of lives snuffed out, of energies exhausted and broken, the fearful physical and spiritual cost to the men and women and children upon whom the dead weight and burden of it all has fallen piteously the years through.

The groans and agony of it all had not yet reached our ears, the solemn moving undertone of our life, coming out of the mines and factories and out of every home where the struggle had its intimate and familiar cast. With the great government went many deep secret things which we too long delayed to look into and scrutinize with candid, fearless eyes. The great government we loved has too often been made use of for private and selfish purposes, and those who used it had forgotten the people.

Duty is to Cleanse. At last a vision has been vouchsafed us of our life as a whole. We see the decadent with the sound and vital. With this vision we approach new affairs. Our duty is to cleanse, to consider, to restore, to correct the life without impairing the good, to purify and humanize every process of our common life without weakening or sentimentalizing it.

There has been something crude and heartless and unfeeling in our haste to what we call progress. Our thought has been, "Let every man look out for himself, let every generation look out for itself," while we reared giant machinery which was too big for any but those who stood at the levers of control should have a chance to look out for themselves.

And now we begin our moral, we remembered well enough that we had set up a policy which was meant to serve the humblest as well as the most powerful, with an eye single to the standards of justice and fair play, and remembered it with pride.

We have come now to the sober thought. The scales of heedlessness have fallen from our eyes. We have made up our minds to square every process of our national life again with the standards we so proudly set up at the beginning and have always carried at our hearts. Our work is a work of restoration.

We have identified with some degree of particularity the things that ought to be altered and here are some of the chief items:

A tariff which cuts us off from our proper part in the commerce of the world, violates the just principles of taxation, and makes the government a facile instrument in the hands of private interests; a banking and currency system based upon the necessity of the government to sell its bonds 50 years ago and perfectly adapted to concentrating cash and restricting credits; an industrial system which, take it on all its sides, finances as well as administrative, holds capital in leading strings, restricts the liberties and limits the opportunities of labor, and exploits without renewing or conserving the natural resources of the country; a body of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertaking. The first basis of science taken directly to the farm, or afforded the facilities of credit best suited to its practical needs; water courses undeveloped, waste places unreclaimed, forests untended, fast disappearing without plan or prospect of renewal, unregarded waste heaps at every mile.

Should Study Economy. We have studied as perhaps no other nation has the most effective means of production, but we have not studied cost or economy as we should, either as organizers of industry, as statesmen, or as individuals.

Nor have we studied and perfected the means by which government may be put at the service of humanity, in safeguarding the health of the nation, the health of its men and its women and its children, as well as their rights in the struggle for existence. This is no sentimental duty. The first basis of government is justice, not pity.

These are matters of justice. There can be no equality or opportunity, the first essential of justice in the body politic, if men and women and children are not shielded in their lives, their very vitality, from the consequences of great industrial and social processes which they cannot alter, control, or singly come with, safety must see to it that it does not itself crush or weaken or damage its own constituent parts. The first duty of law is to keep sound the society it serves.

Sanitary laws, pure food laws, and laws determining conditions of labor which individuals are powerless to determine for themselves are intimate parts of the very business of justice and legal efficiency.

These are some of the things we ought to do, and which the others have done, the old-fashioned, never to be neglected, fundamental safeguarding of property and of individual right.

This is the high enterprise of the new day; to lift everything that concerns our life as a nation to the light that shines from the hearthfire of every man's conscience and vision of the right.

It is inconceivable that we should do this as parsimonians; it is inconceivable we should do it in ignorance of the facts as they are or in blind haste. We shall restore, not destroy. We shall deal with our economic system as it is and as it may be modified, not as it might be if we had a clean sheet of paper to write upon; and step by step we shall make it what it should be, in the spirit of those who question their own wisdom and are contented and knowledge, not shallow self-satisfaction or the excitement of excursions whither they cannot tell. Justice, and only justice, shall always be our motto.

Nation Has Been Stilled. And yet it will be no cool process of mere science. The nation has been deeply stirred, stirred by a solemn passion, stirred by the knowledge of wrong, by ideals lost, of government too often debauched and made an instrument of evil. The feelings with which we face this new age of right and order sweep across our people, whether we be in the front ranks or in the rear. We feel that we are one. We know our task to be no mere task of politics, but a task which shall search us through and through, whether we be able to understand our time and the need of our people, whether we be in the front ranks or in the rear. We feel that we are one. We know our task to be no mere task of politics, but a task which shall search us through and through, whether we be able to understand our time and the need of our people, whether we be in the front ranks or in the rear.

The deserters from Agua Prieta broke camp at Caniza Springs and started for Mogon, where they will be joined by a rebel group from Oaxaca, Yavapai and Coconino, totaling some 700 armed men.

NEW PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

crowded with onlookers. There were between a hundred and two hundred thousand visitors in addition to Washington's population of about 300,000 people.

From all sides was heard the blare of bands and the tramp of regiments of regulars and militia who are closing in from the side streets in the vicinity of the capitol building, where the big parade had its start.

In front of the capitol building, facing east, a huge dais-like temporary grandstand had been erected. Here is where the president took his oath of office from Edward D. White, chief justice of the United States and made his inaugural address. Behind the dais, facing serried ranks of soldiers and unserried ranks of people. Those near him were able to hear. To the rest he was a bare-headed figure in pantomime, holding a manuscript in one hand, opening his mouth and making gestures with his arms.

"Real Show" at Noon. The real show began at noon. Before that time, approximately at 10:30 o'clock, a committee, headed by Thomas Nelson Page of the local inaugural committee, drove to the Shoreham hotel to secure the president-elect, where he had arrived Monday, accompanied by a special escort of a thousand Princeton students, and was a Monday night guest of his cousin, John E. Wilson of Franklin, Pa.

The reception committee notified the president-elect Tuesday that it was time for him to go to the capitol, and a similar committee was waiting on the vice-president-elect for the same purpose. The committees took both gentlemen to the capitol, where they were greeted by President Taft. A few moments later they started in a carriage under escort to the capitol building, a mile distant. In the first carriage was President Taft and Woodrow Wilson and two members of the committee on arrangements. Wilson sat on the left side going to the capitol and on the right side returning. Neither Mrs. Wilson nor Mrs. Marshall took any part in the drive to or from the capitol, but they were detailed to go to the Shoreham and escort Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters to the capitol. The same

The inaugural celebration concluded with a display of fireworks on the Washington Mall, opposite the south front of the executive mansion.

PRES. TAFT PREACHES SERMON Tells Unitarians That He Expects Their Faith to Absorb the World.

Washington.—Sunday was a day of farewells for President Taft. He began his last Sunday as president with a brief sermon to the congregation of All Sons' Unitarian church, where he has worshipped for four years, and addressed to the wives of members of his cabinet at a last formal dinner given by Secretary MacVeagh, and observed the custom established by George Washington and kept green by presidents ever since of visiting Georgetown university. In between times he took up with Secretary Hillenbrand and said goodbye to close friends and to the employees about the offices of the White House.

The president's sermon Sunday was devoted largely to a discussion of the Unitarian faith, which he said he expected to see absorb the world.

WILSON'S LEAVING PRINCETON

Thousands Give Grand Sendoff As He Leaves for Washington, D. C. Princeton, N. J.—Thousands of the home folk of Princeton, and with them the students of Princeton university, gave Woodrow Wilson a farewell demonstration Saturday night, when he bade him Godspeed to the White House.

It was a unique tribute to the man who, after 27 years of residence in the historic town, had been elevated to the presidency of the United States, in that both students and townfolk joined in cheering him. It was the first celebration in which "town and gown" mingled in such great numbers and with so much enthusiasm.

DEATH OF THOS. LINEHAN

Old and Respected Citizen of Genesee Passes Away

Thomas Linehan, one of the pioneers of this section, settling in this vicinity about 20 years ago, died at his home in Genesee Tuesday, March 4, 1913, of cancer, at the age of 67 years. He was born at Watergrass Hill, County Cork, Ireland, in March, 1846, and came to America with his parents, Cornelius and Margaret Linehan, when he was four years of age, they settling in New York, where he resided until eight years of age, when he went south and enlisted in the army at Huntsville, Ala., in 1864, serving his country as a soldier and Indian fighter until peace was restored, he having taken part in many Indian troubles in the west.

He was married to Miss Elizabeth Taylor, near Julietta March 13, 1880, and later they came to Genesee to reside.

Mr. Linehan was a man who was well known and universally liked by all, for his noble character as a man, which is more than half the battle in this life.

He was a member of the Catholic church, from which the funeral was held yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Heagy officiating, with interment in the Catholic cemetery. Besides his widow, Elizabeth Linehan, three daughters and four sons: Mrs. Margaret Murphy of Genesee, Arthur Linehan of Genesee, Mrs. Nancy Mourning of Oregon City, Ore., John Linehan of Tekoa, Wash., Helen Linehan of Genesee, Thos. Linehan, of Tekoa, Wash., Corneal Linehan, of Tekoa, Wash., a sister, Mrs. J. C. McKiernan of Pomeroy, Wash., all of whom were present at the funeral.

Much building activity will be noticeable in the Rimrock country in the near future, some of the improvements being the erection of a $2,000 residence by E. M. Becker; a basement barn by Mr. Michaelson, to cost about $1,500; a modern residence by Roy Evans; a large barn by Hubbard Enderfield, to cost not less than $1,200; and a barn 40 by 80 feet to be placed by W. H. Gage.

The rush is on at Emmett's big closing out sale. You are requested to read the two-page ad of Mr. Emmett in this issue of the News, and also the other ads in the paper as they are entitled to your trade, and tell you what they have to sell. The home merchants cater to home trade.

—Mrs. J. T. Nelson, Mrs. Leon Follett, Mrs. W. E. Smith and Mrs. A. P. Orth were passengers for Spokane Thursday morning, for a little "joy ride" on the cannonball. Mrs. Orth will continue her journey to St. John, Wash., where she will remain for some time.

A general epidemic of spring fever is expected soon, and while it will not be very remissive from a doctor's standpoint, it will be an indication of warmer weather, which will be hailed with delight by most people. —C. F. Burr is having a trial with his crop, he having failed to show up at his usual haunts on Wednesday. The case was decided against him and he had to remain at home.

—John and Thos. Linehan arrived in Genesee Tuesday afternoon from Tekoa. They were called here by the serious illness of their father, Thos. Linehan, Sr.

—Lou Jain, jr., and Miss Gladys Jain were Wednesday morning passengers for Troy, where they went to attend the funeral of their grandmother.

—Mrs. J. C. McKiernan of Pomeroy, Wash., arrived in Genesee Wednesday afternoon, called here by the death of her brother, Thos. Linehan.

—Mrs. Ed. Kessler, who has been sick at a local hospital for some time, returned to her home on Tuesday much improved.

COCOA, COFFEE AND TEA FACTS

Imports into United States Increase Rapidly.

Imports of cocoa into the United States for 1912 exceeded those of any earlier year, and approximate 150,000,000 pounds, against 127,000,000 pounds for 1911. The growth in the importation of this article in recent years has been much more rapid than that of coffee or cotton. The quantity of cocoa imported in 1912 is practically three times as great as in 1902, a decade earlier, while the increase in the importation of but 20 per cent, and those of coffee are actually less than in 1902, the comparisons being for the nine months ending with September, 1912.

This rapid increase of importations of cocoa has brought the United States to first rank in the consumption of that article, the present consumption, based upon the net imports of the calendar year 1911, being 300,000,000 pounds, compared with 112,000,000 for Germany, 100,000,000 for the United Kingdom, and 50,000,000 for the United States.

Of the world's imported cocoa, the United States is also the largest consumer, this important position being held by 796,000,000 pounds, compared with 404,000,000 for Germany, 245,000,000 for France, 238,000,000 for the United Kingdom and 26,000,000 for Russia.

In imports of tea, however, the United States ranks 12th, the net imports of that article 100,000,000 pounds being exceeded by those of the United Kingdom, 294,000,000 pounds, and those of France, 155,000,000 pounds. Germany's tea imports for consumption in 1911 amounted to 1,000,000,000 pounds, and those of France 3,000,000,000 pounds.

Most of the cocoa imported into the United States comes from the West Indies, Central and South America. Of the 131,000,000 pounds imported in the first nine months of 1912, 31,000,000 pounds were imported from the West Indies, 28,000,000 from Santo Domingo, 20,000,000 from Ecuador, and 12,000,000 from the United Kingdom. The remainder were credited to Portugal and 7,500,000 pounds to the United Kingdom, though in fact produced in Ceylon.

Brazil is the chief source of our imported coffee, having supplied 435,000,000 pounds in 1911, and 451,000,000 pounds in 1912. Other sources are Colombia, 37,500,000 from Venezuela, 37,000,000 from Central American States, 29,000,000 from Mexico, and less than 20,000,000 from all other countries, including 42,000,000 pounds imported from Europe.

The net value of the cocoa imported in the nine months of 1912, was $1,000,000,000, compared with $800,000,000 for the same period in 1911. The increase in the value of the cocoa imported in 1912 is due to the fact that the price of cocoa has advanced 25 per cent since 1911.

St. Patrick and the Shamrock

THE SHAMROCK came into Irish history at the time St. Patrick was trying to convert Leoghaire, a chieftain, and his followers to Christianity. St. Patrick is said to have plucked a shamrock from the sward to explain by its triple leaf and single stem in some rough way the doctrine of the blessed trinity—one God and three divine persons—the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost.

Proverbs of St. Patrick

Followers of Christ should not be so swift in judgment until they know how true it may be which is written: "Do not desire quickly to be a judge." Those in authority in the church ought not to have worldly wisdom but divine examples before them. It does not become the servants of God to be crafty or cunning. Judges of the church ought to judge as a person in judgment. "For there is no respect of persons with God." Pluck of an Irish Prince. It is related that while engaged in the baptism of royal Prince Aengus, son of the king of Munster, St. Patrick, leaning on his crozier, pierced with its sharp point the prince's foot. Aengus bore the pain unmoved. When St. Patrick, at the close of the ceremony, saw the bleeding and asked why he had remained silent the prince said that he thought it was a part of the ceremony. He Kidnaped St. Patrick. Milihu, the Irish chieftain who kidnaped St. Patrick, ended his life by throwing himself into the flames that were destroying his castle. He had previously thrown all his personal belongings into the fire, hearing that St. Patrick was coming to visit him. The saint saw the work of destruction from a nearby hill, but too late to prevent Milihu's self destruction. St. Patrick was doomed to death twelve times during his flight to establish Christianity in Ireland and each time escaped paying the penalty. Connell's Gift. Connell, the first Irish chieftain to become a Christian, made a gift to St. Patrick of a site for a church which to this day retains the name of Donagh-Patrick.

MOIRA SAINT PATRICK'S DAY STORY

By Clarissa MacKie
(Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.)

MICHAEL DOLAN stood in the doorway of his grocery store and watched the solitary pedestrian on the opposite sidewalk. "Pretty, pretty," crooned Michael approvingly, "but only a week out of Ulster county, Ireland, or I'll eat me out."

"I'm looking for Mrs. Slattery," she said in a soft, rich voice. "The number's all right, but she don't be living there now, I'm thinking." Michael frowned. He distinctly remembered Mrs. Slattery, who had moved away owing him a small bill. "I don't know where she's gone," he replied. "I might find out if you'll come inside and wait. I'll take your bag. Beorra, but it's a load!"

"Joe, you go around and see if you can find where the Slatterys have gone," ordered Michael, and the boy darted away. "You'll be having a chair by the stove," he asked.

"Thank you," said the girl shyly. "Shure, and I'm making you a lot of trouble." "None whatever," protested Michael, leaning against the counter. "The green and gold of old Ireland commands me services at any time," he ended elegantly.

A swift flush deepened the girl's rare color. She smiled and displayed marvelous teeth. "Of course I know I'm green looking," she admitted, "but it's beyond me to tell how you can see the Irish flag through me carpeting," she laughed deliciously.

Michael was confused. He could not explain that he had instantly compared the green of her eyes and the gold of her wonderful hair to the colors of the Irish flag. "You just come in on the boat?" he asked hurriedly.

She nodded. "Yesterday, I was to room at Mrs. Slattery's?" asked Michael. "You going out to housework?" asked Michael.

"No, I'm going to mend lace in one of the big stores," she responded, looking past him to the street. "That he is," she cried warmly; "never a better son. But me arms long to hold a girl. I'm wishful for Mike to marry."

"Then you'd be happy?" laughed Moira softly. "Mrs. Dolan looked keenly at her. Her face softened when she saw that later Mrs. Dolan was as deeply in love with the girl as was her son. "I always wished for a girl," she crooned in Moira's ear as they undressed in the tiny bedroom. "Your son must be a comfort to you, he is so kind," said Moira. Mrs. Dolan wagged her head. "That he is," she cried warmly; "never a better son. But me arms long to hold a girl. I'm wishful for Mike to marry."

THE BACK TO IRELAND MOVEMENT

By Dennis Flynn
(Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.)

IT is the promoters of the "back to Ireland" movement ever pictured to themselves the overcrowding of the steamships by young Irish men and women eager to return and establish a permanent home in the land of their birth they are surely doomed to disappointment. If they thought, however, they were creating sentiment for the home going of old folks bent on spending their last days on "the old sod" they are likely to see their thoughts fulfilled—that is, if only a few of the hundreds of Irishmen who are today declaring their ever-willing hearts to their home in Ireland before they die carry out their determination.

But the trouble with the average Irishman, who is bent on first spending his old days in his native country, is that when he looks around and figures out that there are more of his old friends right in his own neighborhood or in his own city than he could possibly find in the old country he has a change of mind and decides to remain at home. Those who have watched the effects of the "back to Ireland" movement declare that it is more apt to take a firm root in an old bachelor than in any one else. In fact, one authority declares that there are more elderly unmarried men returning to Ireland to spend their declining years than any other class.

The average Irishman is willing, and with good reason, to concede that Ireland is a far better country to live in nowadays than it ever was before. He is also willing to admit that it is daily becoming more and more prosperous. Optimistic followers of St. Patrick declare that the day is not far off when emigration from the "old sod" will be confined entirely to prosperous Irish travelers on pleasure bent. But this same average Irishman will tell you that until emigration from Ireland does start entirely there will be no great rush upon the part of prosperous Irishmen in this country to go back and take chances on making a living even with the scores of new industries which are starting in Erin.

It is in fact, there are scores of rich Irishmen in America who have their agents on the watch continually in Ireland for good land values. As a result many fine farms, castles and estates are falling into the hands of Irish Americans. "I'll wake up tomorrow," he assured himself while he ate his supper, with Moira sitting opposite the head.

FOLLETT BROS. MERCANTILE COMPANY

Has Made Its Way By the Way It's Made

WHEN we began marketing the International Commercial Car six years ago the one idea uppermost was to sell a useful car. That meant a car for country roads, that would safely carry a reasonable load, always get there and back, and last long enough to be very profitable.

Some of those first cars are still doing an honest day's work every day. All of them paid for themselves. None of them was so efficient as the car we sell today. Now is the time to buy an International Commercial Car.

For the merchant engaged in any business requiring much light hauling, or prompt deliveries; for the business man who wishes to extend his territory; for the man who wants to cut down delivery expenses and at the same time be progressive and up-to-date, an International Commercial Car is a good investment.

Simple, sure, powerful, it climbs hills, goes through mud-holes, and sandy stretches, and where a team can travel at any speed from 3 to 18 miles an hour. Transmission is simple and direct. Brakes are powerful. Bearings are strong. A single lever controls the car. Write for catalogues and any information desired.

Returned from "Bear Hunt"
Mat Burns, Dick Vandenberg and F. F. Taylor have returned from the "bear hunt," but they report that they failed to see anything of Mr. Brain—in fact, they did not go to that part of the country where the big animal was reported to have been seen near Uniontown—as they were afraid that the bear would attack them. They went to the canyon of the Clearwater and had great sport, killing two coyotes, a large cliff squirrel and two other fur-bearing animals which they could not name. They also gave chase to a lynx and got several shots at it, crippling it but failing to stop it effectively. The animal was reported to have been bothering the ranchers' sheep considerably this winter and they hoped to be able to bring in the pelt. They also had some considerable sport shooting coons (raccoons) east of Lewiston, but saw "nary a bear."

Phosphorous Is Dangerous
Why do you use phosphorous, which is so very dangerous for both the destruction of property and stock, when Wood's Great Peppermint Cure is a deadly poison. Every kernel is warranted to kill. Climatic changes, dew, frost, or the moisture of the earth do not destroy its strength. Every package guaranteed. Sold by Grant Clark.

WOMEN OF DENMARK.
As a Rule, They Are Wage Earners Even Though Married.
There is an outstanding point of difference between the activities of women in Denmark and in other countries. In Denmark the sole aim is economic independence for women throughout their lives.

BEGINNING AT HOME.
The late Governor Larrabee, the "grand old man" of Iowa, was extremely fond of children. One day while looking over his mill at Turkey River he found an infant, dirty and ragged, sound asleep near the water wheel. The boy was Mickey Burke, son of a poor family in the neighborhood.

WATCHING WATER FREEZE.
An Easy Way to Make the Growth of Ice Crystals Visible.
It is not commonly known that fresh water and not sea water, does not freeze and that the growth of ice crystals may be made plainly visible. An interesting experiment to show this may easily be made.

CURIOUS ACACIA TREE.
It Gets Peevish and Ugly and Odorous When Disturbed.
In Idaho there exists a species of the acacia tree which is entitled to be classed as one of the wonders of plant life. When full grown it closes its leaves together in coils each day at sunset and curls its twigs to the shape of pigtail.

Thackeray at the Minstrels.
When the Christy minstrel troupe to London 1837 Thackeray was enchanted with them. "I heard not long since," he says in one of his letters, "a minister who performed a negro minstrel show in London. He was telling me that I, in my most unexpected manner, I have gazed on thousands of tragedy queens dying on the stage and exclaiming 'I am a black man' and I have wanted to wipe them. They have looked up, he said, at many scores of clergymen without being dimmed, and with a white handkerchief covering face and a banjo, sings a little song and strikes a wild note which sets the hearer shivering with happy pity."

Almanacs.
Almanacs were not allowed in the hands of the common people of Rome until about 600 B. C. (Dante has a fine knowledge of the calendar was entirely in the custody of the priests. Did one wish to know the date of a feast or the hours of the sun's rising on a certain day when there would be a new moon he must consult the priest, as these occult laws were only to be revealed by him. But one day a prescient man named Flavius, secretary of Appian Claudius, obtained the secret either by stealthily obtaining access to the documents or by repeatedly consulting the priests. He engraved the records on white tablets and exhibited them openly in the forum and so became the publisher of the first almanac.—Harper's.

Our Dying Sun.
The time will most surely come when the sun will cease to throw out light and heat. Long before that happens, however, the earth and other planets will have become "dead worlds," like the moon—like the sun upon them. It has been calculated that the sun will cease to throw out its heat somewhere about 7,000,000 years from now.—New York American.

A PUMPKIN EPISODE

By M. QUAD Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

If at any time during the year 1903 you had arrived in the village of Grafton in a certain middle state you would have found a restful, peaceful place. No one rushed about. No one talked politics. No one argued over Jonah and the whale. There were no quarrels among men or dogs. If you had asked Deacon Somers what thrilling event had happened in Grafton in the last twenty years he would have taken five minutes to reflect and then slowly answered:

"Well, I can't think of nawthin' 'cept the Baptist church being struck by lightning!"

In that same year a man traveled over a good part of Indiana and Illinois buying pumpkins in seeds of farmers. He would send him in the fall to a certain address in Chicago, and if a farmer wanted some money in advance to protect himself he got it.

It was the same man that had bought the seeds several hundred miles away that appeared in Grafton only in January of the next year. He had come to herald the fact that a great medical discovery had been made by accident, as most great things are.

It was that the seeds of a certain pumpkin grown nowhere else except along the Lybian desert were a sure cure for indigestion, liver troubles, kidney ailments, nervousness and a dozen other things. They would positively prevent consumption and cancer and all sorts of fevers.

Mr. White had a few of the seeds with him. They were chocolate colored instead of a yellow white. They could be had only in Chicago, and he had ordered a sack would be filled. Just hold a seed in the mouth for five minutes and then chew it down.

Grafton woke up. Bell county woke up. Other counties woke up. A full page ad. In the local papers woke the editors up. Talk about booms and a raise of 20 per cent in real estate! Why begin reading at any time and which will hold your interest forever.

Did you confiding public send away to Chicago for the Lybian seeds? You bet they did! They got 'em by the hundred, and made the trip there and back that they might plead in person for a larger quantity than the circular allotted. The letters going west averaged a dozen each.

The editors said that Mr. White was an honest man and the crying need of the country was more like him. Mr. White massed them, say much. He was too busy signing contracts to do much gabbling. What he did say, and with much feeling, was that he hoped the people would not forget him after he had departed.

They haven't yet and probably never will. The village of Grafton had four pretty fair doctors. At the beginning of things they called Mr. White a liar, a faker and a fraud. His reply was that when they discovered the cure for the blood men wanted to mob him for a charlatan. The doctors denied the curative properties of his Lybian pumpkin seeds. He replied that for years and years the medical fraternity had fought shy of quinine.

No, they didn't get anything on Mr. White to scare him out of town between two days. He was right on the job all the time, and the doctors suffered in prestige instead of gaining. It was probably one of the four that wrote a letter to Washington that brought an inspector to Grafton to see if the postal laws were being broken. He came and saw and went away. He said that somebody had to get the money of the Uncle Rubes of the country and he could see no difference between Mr. White and the brokers of Wall street.

As spring approached and the snow began to go and the people to get ready for pumpkin seed planting there came to Grafton one day a professor from the State Agricultural college. He had heard of the seeds and wanted to see them. They were shown him, and he promptly identified them as the seeds of American pumpkins.

"But they are not a yellow-white," was protested. "That's because they have all been dyed!" "But these surely came from a desert. How do you make that out?" "They feel sandy."

"Couldn't sand be sifted over them?" "No," said Mr. White to the professor in a quiet and even voice, "are you prepared to substantiate your allegations in a court of law?" "Yes, I say they are American pumpkin seeds."

"You must prove them to be such or pay me heavy damages," said the professor, and when he had been notified by several parties that he had better move on he moved. The day that the first snow went into the ground Mr. White took a trip. He hasn't returned yet.

More than 300 acres of land were planted in pumpkins and the yield was tens of thousands of American pumpkins. Hundreds of people chewed up the Lybian seeds, but no one was better off than before. No one was cured from beginning to end, and yet there were many who felt about it as Deacon John did when he said: "Well, that saves us the trouble of investing our money in mortgages!"

Woman's World

Recent Work of the Love God.

MISS ETHEL CAROW ROOSEVELT, PRINCESS VICTORIA OF PRUSSIA.

The god of love has been aiming at persons in high places recently, and shafts from his bow have fallen on both sides of the water. The blow administered by Cupid of most interest on this side of the pond is that of Miss Ethel Carow Roosevelt, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

Dr. Richard Derby, a young physician of New York city. Few young women are more widely known than Miss Roosevelt, who holds the distinction of having spent more time in the White House than any young girl before her and who made her debut in society at a ball in the White House in December, 1908. Her coming marriage, which is likely to take place this spring, will be an event of widespread social importance.

It is said that Dr. Derby's ability as a horseman first inclined Miss Roosevelt, herself an ardent lover of horses, to favor his suit. Miss Ethel's opinion of a molybdenum is as marked as that of her distinguished father, and most assuredly there is nothing of the weakness about Dr. Derby.

As an oarsman he made his mark at Harvard. He was one of the Crimson's gridiron heroes, and his classmates thought so much of him that they made him first marshal of the class at the commencement in 1903, which is about as high an honor as can be bestowed upon a collegian.

In the other engagement, that of the Princess Victoria of Prussia, the course of true love did not run so smooth. The daughter of the American Prince Ernest August of Cumberland, the fiancée of Princess Victoria, is a scion of the house of Hanover, between whom and the Prussian royal house a feud has existed which goes far back into history.

To bring about this union of hearts it was necessary to reconcile a person whose father (the young prince) who deems himself by right a king with the house of Hohenzollern, which deposed him of that right.

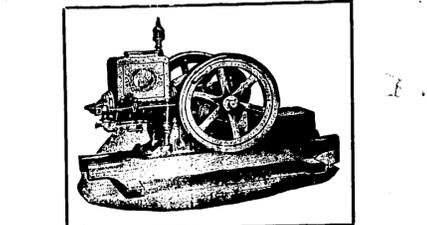

But the head of the house of Hohenzollern, the emperor of Germany, had vowed, "My daughter shall be happy. So when my daughter is only eight months old but shows a remarkable degree of intelligence.

EASTER. At Easter we should feel our very hearts budding and blossoming with new loves, new hopes and new determinations to realize the joyfulness of the Christian spring. What is it that makes Easter morning glorious with a glory of its own? It is the resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ. It is an abandoned grave. It is the angel unbinding the stone and the resurrection of Christ with an accent of triumph.—Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker.

Gift to Helen Taft. Girl friends of Helen Taft gave her as a farewell gift a gold hand bag studded with amethysts. Nearly all of her close friends were represented in the gift, and the greatest delight of the president's daughter was deeply affected. Miss Taft has spent almost all of her childhood in the national capital, her father going there in 1850 as solicitor general, which was informal, and with the exception of four years spent in the Philippines as governor general, has resided in Washington ever since.

Missouri Girl Sets Coiffure Style. Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the speaker of the house of representatives, lives in the possession of a natural curl which adorns her head just below her right ear and is setting a new style in coiffures. Styles have been set by Miss Roosevelt in the "Alice blue," and Miss Taft in the "Helen pink," and Miss Eleanor Wilson in the "Nell rose."

THE GOOD ROADS SCHOOL

Second Annual School Held at Moscow Decided Success—Large Attendance

The second annual good roads school held at the University last week was very successful. The sessions were attended by about seventy-five road overseers who took great interest in the work. The purpose of the school was to help make more efficient the expenditure of road funds and to stimulate interest in permanent improved roads. Lectures were given by Professors C. N. Little and D. B. Steinman of the civil engineering department, Mr. J. P. Congdon a consulting engineer of Boise, and Dr. L. I. Hewes, chief of economics and maintenance, U. S. office of public roads. Some of the topics discussed were earth road repair and maintenance, road management, road location, concrete construction for culverts and bridges, economic influence of high ways, and recent development in road building.

"The use of the split log drag is the only hope for keeping earth roads in good shape," said Dr. Hewes. "It should be used after every rain. By attaching handles similar to plow handles it can be made to bite in where thought necessary. It is an advantage to have the front log shed clear across. In using the drag, work should be done from the center outward cutting the shoulders deep, instead of beginning at the outside and throwing scourings and light dirt into the middle of the road. The slope should be one inch to the foot and should be maintained by dragging.

Money spent on improved roads is a profitable investment. It has been estimated that it costs twenty cents to haul a ton one mile and that on improved roads where larger loads can be hauled the cost is reduced twenty-five per cent and more. Investigation shows that every acre under cultivation yields on an average half a ton of produce a year. The tonnage passing over roads leading to markets is amazing and a reduction of five cents a ton per mile in the cost of hauling means a tremendous saving to the community in the course of a year. It more than pays interest on the investment and often pays the entire cost of the improvements in a very few years.

German Police Dog

Dr. J. D. Adams on Tuesday received a Doberman Pinscher, or German police dog, from the kennels of Will H. Potter of Kootenai, Idaho. These dogs are known as "the dog with the human brain" and are said to be very intelligent. They are used extensively in the large cities of Germany as aides to the police in hunting down criminals. The animal received by Dr. Adams is only eight months old but shows a remarkable degree of intelligence.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

Teachers of the Inland Empire to Gather in Spokane on April 16-17-18

Teachers throughout the Pacific Northwest are getting ready for the annual convention of the Inland Empire Teachers' association, which will be held in Spokane April 16, 17, 18. Dr. Phineas P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, will be one of the principal speakers, appearing not only before the general assembly but at the various departmental meetings every day during the convention.

Dr. D. E. Phillips of Denver University, another prominent educator, also will be a speaker, as will a number of instructors from various northwest colleges and universities.

The association has grown by leaps and bounds the last few years and now has a membership of 2,500. On Wednesday, April 16, the session will be opened with addresses of welcome by Mayor W. J. Hindley, President Charles Hebbard of the chamber of commerce and J. Grier Long, president of the Spokane board of education. Responses will be made by the following state superintendents of public instruction: L. R. Alderman of Oregon, H. A. Davee of Montana, Grace M. Shepard of Idaho, and Josephine Corliss Preston of Washington. Dr. Claxton also will deliver an address at the opening session.

On Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock the visiting women will be entertained at a banquet by the Ella Flagg Young club and the Grade Teachers' association of Spokane. This will be followed by a reception at the chamber of commerce.

Thursday's program will include addresses by Dr. D. E. Phillips on "The Power of Feeling in Education and Life;" by President William T. Foster of Reed college, Portland, Ore., and by President George H. Black of the Idaho State Normal school at Lewiston.

Josephine Corliss Preston, Washington state superintendent of public instruction, has called a meeting of the State Board of Education to be held in Spokane April 18, the closing day of the teachers' convention.

The railroads have granted special rates of fare and one-third for the round trip, on the certificate plan.

ECHOES FROM LOS ANGELES

Genesee Contingent in Golden State Are Enjoying Life—Morgan Hunts Rooks

Fred K. Bressler has received a letter from Fred Follett in which he has many things to say, starting out with "Better come on down, the water's fine," and going on down telling news of interest to home folks, finally saying: "We have a good one on Morgan. When he moved here from Long Beach he took his family and Mrs. Stuber and started out to hunt rooks. It was a very warm day, and with their luggage, it was a very strenuous task. After going about ten blocks Morgan was about all in, so sat down to rest. Mrs. Stuber went on and went into a house to inquire for rooms and while she was gone Morgan went to a place he thought was an apartment house, and rapped on the door. A girl answered the knock and Morgan asked her if she had any vacant rooms. The girl laughed and told him she did not think he would want any rooms there. Morgan asked her why, and she told him they were undertaking parlors. They finally got rooms and board and are nicely located."

The Genesee county seems to be enjoying life. T. Driscoll, Morgan, Stone and a man named Dooley, from Garfield, hired an automobile for two weeks and are taking in the surrounding country. "We haven't been around so very much yet—in fact I have not been feeling just right until today, but I feel like a two-year-old now."

California Raises Quarantine

Through the raising of the quarantine placed upon Idaho alfalfa and alfalfa seed by the horticultural commission of California this state will be permitted to ship to the Golden state over 5000 cars of alfalfa each year, besides selling in the neighborhood of $3000,000 worth of the seed annually. The quarantine which California placed upon the Idaho product, which Acting President Carlyle of the university was most active in raising, did not so materially affect the sale of alfalfa as it interfered with the greater industry of raising and selling alfalfa meal does on alfalfa seed and devours that with much relish. In large shipments of seed the weevil hides himself and is carried from place to place. Owing to his color being about the same as the seed he is not discovered until a glass is put upon him. The following real estate deals have been made during the past week through the agency of C. F. Burr: J. J. Kenne to Henry J. Herman, a four-acre tract north of town for a consideration of $350; Ernest Peterson to Adolph Carlson, 80 acres northwest of town, consideration, $6,000; F. C. THE RESURRECTION AND THE LIFE. The conversions of the Christian church is laid in the empty grave of Jesus Christ. The resurrection proves the death; the death proves the life, the life the birth of Jesus Christ. Doubt the resurrection and it is impossible to account for the existence of Christianity. The resurrection proves our own resurrection. It was the tomb of Jesus on the first Easter morn, so empty shall be all the graves of his people in the last great Easter morn. He is therefore in the largest and fullest sense the resurrection and the life.—Rev. Dr. H. S. Murrill, Pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, New York.

REVIVE THE DEAD CLUB

Booster Gives Some Timely Advice on How to Keep Things Moving

The following communication has been received at this office from a booster—and which makes very good reading:

If your town has a commercial club that has been allowed to fall into a state of "innocuous desuetude," revive it! If your commercial club is not doing the work it could and should do, get busy and try to infuse some new life and enthusiasm into it. You know your town should have a live commercial organization. You know the many important things it might undertake for the benefit of the community. It is merely a question of you and a few others getting together and stirring things up.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to have every other meeting a social one, with the ladies present or in full charge of the proceedings and entertainment? In many instances this has helped greatly in reviving almost dead commercial clubs. This phase of the work might be carried even further and a ladies auxiliary organized.

How about a display of home grown products? If your club has ample rooms, the proper place for such a display would be in the club rooms but if it be an excellent plan to place such a display in the depot. The railroad would probably not only consent but might also assist in exhibiting and maintaining a fine exhibit and it would be more effective there than anywhere else. There is a fine display at the depot at Columbia Falls, Montana.

Why not try a noon luncheon once a week? This is a large city idea in commercial club work, but many smaller cities and towns are using it with very good results.

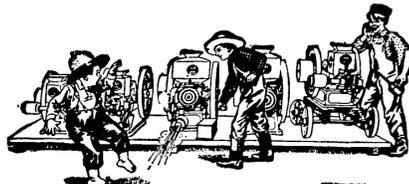

An important consideration is membership. The club must have members in order to be a success. Your business men and the farmers should get together, work together and pull together for the best interest of your town and community. You have everything that makes for a "best town" within your grasp.

Increase Capital Stock. At an all day meeting of the Farmers' union, held in their hall in this city on Tuesday, it was decided to increase the capital stock of the organization from $10,000 to $20,000. The members have fully decided to handle their grain in the future in bulk and arrangements to that end will be made as rapidly as possible. While definite plans are under consideration no decision has been reached as to just what is best. The matter will be further considered at their regular meeting to be held tomorrow.

Sell Registered Horses. Follett & Scholer on Saturday of last week sold to Julius Geise of Fixed Ridge a span of their fine Percheron horses, which were brought in only last week in their shipment from the east. The team weighed 3500 pounds and brought the magnificent sum of $1750, which, added to the amount of stock already purchased by Mr. Geise from this firm, makes a total of $4450. This sale again demonstrates the fact that the farmers and ranchers around Genesee know the value of pure bred stock—which is the only kind of this firm deals in. Mr. Geise is one of the very substantial ranchers of this part of the Palouse country.

For three solid months the rural carriers on routes one and two have made their trips in sleighs—something that has never been possible here in the memory of the old timers, and which is not likely to happen again for a great many years.

While sleighing was not very good on Saturday there were a goodly number of them still in use, the farmers taking the last chance to make a trip to town on the runners before the mud sets too deep. It is to be hoped that the sleighing is at an end for this spring.

The local debaters of the Knights of Pythias lodge will in the near future undertake to settle the grain question, which is causing a great deal of speculation in the Inland Empire. The question to be handled is: Resolved, "That the sack system is a better way of handling grain in the Palouse county than the bulk system." The farmers will await the outcome with bated breath.

EASTER EGGS ORIGINATED IN A QUEEN'S COURTSHIP

By MINERVA SPENCER HANDY.

It was in her youth and beauty that she made pilgrimages to the south of France to visit the shrine of her favorite saint.
Some say it was to pray for a young and handsome husband. If so, her patron saint kindly granted the prayer in advance of the petition. On her way she stopped to rest for a few days at Bourg, a village on the edge of a deep forest and at the foot of the majestic Alps.

On Easter Monday the people for miles around met to engage in the customary Easter games. The young regent of the Netherlands from her place beside the chateleine of the castle enjoyed the scene hugely. It was very interesting to see the older men shoot at targets and casks of wine, the winner being allowed to put his lips to the cask and drink his fill. But when the young couples began to gather for the most exciting event of the day then the princess grew enthusiastic, for, you remember, she was young and beautiful and even her dream dreams of handsome, loving partners.

The moment arrived for the contest.
One hundred eggs were scattered over the ground. A young man and a maiden began the figure. While the onlookers laughed it was a serious affair for the dancers. The couple that succeeded in rolling the egg between them, twirl about them in all the varied gyrations of the dance, without breaking or cracking an egg might marry the successful partner. The egg, gliding between them, was a graceful knight to the chateleine of the castle and requested her hospitality. Of course the hostess granted it at once, and she was Philibert, the handsome Duke of Savoy.

The dance, which the coming of the duke had interrupted, was now resumed with greater merriment than ever.
After watching the dancers Marguerite in just said, "I would that I were one of those simple peasants and might try the egg rolling."

Philibert bowed low before the fair regent and said, "Madame, will you permit me to be your partner in the dance that is going on before us?"
This was equivalent to an offer of marriage, and, hearing it, the crowned princess, with a look of surprise, cries of "Austria!" and "Savoy!" rang through the air, and cheer followed cheer. Marguerite graciously consented, and the handsome pair took their place in the dance. A serious task was before them. They must roll the egg around the neck of the chateleine, and the handsome pair took their place in the dance. A serious

Little Things of Dress.
A very pretty collar for apronwear has the large looped bow carried out in soft crepe de chine. The material was turned back on the right side and sewed down with a row of French knots in silk the same shade as the crepe de chine.

In Paris plain white silk stockings with black clocks are ousting open work hose for evening wear. The brocade stockings are being worn in the day while a world of elaboration is introduced into the ornamentation of intruding shoes, and a gem set buckle with a row of silver and gold gauze ribbon, or the center of the shoe is marked with a large circular pearl sewed decoration, mounted on a disk of velvet ribbon.

This is a year of lace where blouses are concerned. Lace of every kind is used and is considered far more dressy than net or satin. French embroidered elie represents, however, the last word in elaboration. This form of nee-dwork, being done by hand, from the design, is very costly. Those who are clever with their needles are able, however, to evolve what in time will be some an heirloom, buying handmade net for the purpose.

Uses of Olive Oil.
Not every one realizes the medicinal properties of olive oil. It is quite true that the machinery of the body needs oiling occasionally, like any mechanical machine, and that the best oil for this purpose is olive oil. It is used in the preparation of ointments, and is exceedingly beneficial. A tablespoonful will aid the digestion and ease liver trouble. It is used in the preparation of ointments, and is exceedingly beneficial for catarrh of the stomach or throat.

A New Fad.
The newest fad in interior decorating is painting the wainscoting and the bushboards in the various rooms a deep glossy black.

The floors are finished in dark brown, and the walls of rooms so finished look best in buff, gray or dove blue, which preserves the neutral tone of the room.

HER EASTER HAT.

Smart Spring Model
For the 1913 Girl.

THE HAT THAT MAKES A BACKBONE.
Dame Fashion has set the seal of her approval upon the small Easter hat, but there are types of beauty to whom the diminutive shape is anathema. The hat that makes a backbone will be included among the season's models.

Such a chapane is pictured that outlines a charming profile with cameolike precision against the drooping brim. The hat is of black cloth, edged with plaited tulle and caught up at one side with deep yellow ox eyed daisies.

EASTER LILY PARTY.

Fun For the Holiday Week Cheap and Easy to Carry Out.

A pretty plan for an Easteride gathering where originality and a knack of giving things a happy turn must take the place of an unlimited supply of pocket money is an Easter lily affair.

Buy for the invitations the note paper with tiny lily sprays replacing the monogram, which may be obtained from any large stationer at this season of the year, or lily shapes cut from white cardboard at home and having the little notes written on them are equally effective and cost less. Inclose them in green envelopes.

Crane paper lilies are very easy to make, using the ten cent patterns now sold everywhere for the purpose. These in connection with bands and cartels, which are made from various make delightful festoons for the parlor walls.

It adds to the picturesqueness of the lily function if the girls are asked to wear white gowns, but this detail is not necessary to the success of the function.

Begin the evening's fun with a blind fold game set up in this way: On a square of muslin draw with colored crayons will with situations seeking of "Austria!" and "Savoy!" rang through the air, and cheer followed cheer. Marguerite graciously consented, and the handsome pair took their place in the dance. A serious task was before them. They must

We are now taking orders for 16-inch Slabwood

The big mill at Potlatch is turning out a better and no advance in price. To insure delivery orders must be placed early as they are now loading day and night to keep up with the business that has already been placed.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

President and Co. gress to Work in Harmony on Tariff Legislation

Washington.—Committee meetings and conferences will be held during the week with a view getting the congressional bill in good running shape for the tariff grid that is soon to commence.

The house, the senate and President Wilson have come together informally on the preliminaries of tariff revision.
As a result Chairman Underwood of the house ways and means committee states that the two houses practically will be agreed upon details of tariff revision before the bill reach the house, and that the opinions and desires of the president have been considered.

Encouraged by the rapid progress already made in the preparation of the tariff revision bill, close friends of President Wilson predict that current reform measures would be brought before the extra session of congress.
While members of the Democratic majority of the ways and means committee differ on what the income tax should be, it is indicated they will agree on a tax of from 1 to 1 1/2 per cent on incomes up to $5000, and on incomes above that amount the tax applicable to incomes as low as $3500.
President Has Wage Material Now.

A movement for a nation-wide campaign for a minimum wage law for girls and women took definite shape here when Lieutenant Governor O'Hara, head of the Illinois "starvation wages" committee, put the result of the Illinois investigation before President Wilson.

O'Hara explained the close relationship between low wages and the white slave traffic and urged the president to call a national conference of anti-slavery commissioners from various states to meet in Washington with the object of starting a national campaign for a minimum wage for women. President Wilson was told that 32 states already had signed similar laws.

Following his stand that the power and influence of the government of the United States shall not be capitalized by financial institutions seeking to make loans to China or other nations in need of money, President Wilson was asked what the attitude of the administration would be toward enterprises in China or elsewhere independent of government aid.

The matter came up in connection with a visit of George Bronson Res, a confidential representative of Dr. Sun Yat Sen. Mr. Res said he knew the president's attitude regarding the six-cent loan project was approved by the officials of the new Chinese republic.

Wilson indicated that the development of the administration's policy toward China would be gradual and that there was no intention of withdrawing the potential functions of the protection which the government has exercised in respect of China, and that the administration would make a vigorous effort to promote American trade interests in the orient.

The president's viewpoint was that the United States would be in a favorable position to help preserve the integrity of China by remaining outside of any particular agreements which might have for their object a voice in China's political future than by actual participation.

Equal Suffrage May be Considered.
There is a strong probability that franchise amendment to the constitution of the people of the country for their approval. This action is foreshadowed by the vitalizing of the senate committee on woman suffrage.

It has long been one of those which has existed solely for the purpose of giving a chairmanship to some senator who otherwise would not enjoy that honor. The senate has now enlarged its ranks, making it an active committee.
Most of the members came from suffrage states, and the chairman, Senator Charles S. Thomas of Colorado, took that office on the understanding that congress would take steps at the coming session to submit the suffrage amendment.

National Capital Briefs.
Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, has resigned.
Dr. Charles Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, has been offered the ambassadorship to Great Britain.
President Wilson is giving much serious consideration to the question of formal recognition of the new Chinese republic.

BURIED ALIVE FORTY DAYS.
Queer Test a Hindu Fakir is Said to Have Made.
Dr. Koenigberger, a physician in the Punjab, doubting the frequently reported stories of the Hindu fakirs who claimed to be able to sustain life for long periods of time without food or water, was determined to test the truth of the matter. He selected a fakir named "Buddha" and placed him in a small box, sealed it up and buried it in the ground for forty days.
The fakir was found alive and well after the box was opened.

Remarking that many members of the public feel some doubt as to the precise extent to which the law will be enforced in the case of a defendant or a burglar, the Law Journal of London says: "A peaceful trespasser must be requested to depart the premises before he is liable to be removed, but a violent or armed trespasser can be removed without such a request."
It is claimed that the law is not lawful to kill even a person assaulting one or stealing one's goods. Unless one's life is in danger such acts are not justified. It is also claimed that the use of force in the defense of one's home is not justified, even if no violence to the person is threatened, but this is very doubtful.

FATAL TORNADO SWEEPS OMAHA

Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Indiana All Suffer from the Elements

Omaha.—Omaha and vicinity was swept by two distinct windstorms late Sunday afternoon, both of cyclonic intensity, which spread death and destruction in their wake. Fire which broke out in many of the wrecked buildings added to the horrors.
The best available figures placed the number of dead between 100 and 200, with not less than 1000 more or less seriously injured.

The first and main storm struck
Nebraska, from the west of South Omaha, shortly before 6 o'clock, and moved in a northeasterly direction through the city of Omaha, leaving a wake of death and destruction eight miles long and from four to six blocks wide. The path of the storm lay just north of the business district, and included two of the fashionable residence sections, known as West Farnam and Bessie Park. Practically all the buildings in this district were demolished.

The well-defined path of the storm ended at Crater Lake, near the Missouri river, in western part of the city.
The eddy to the horrors, fire broke out in many of the wrecked buildings. The streets, littered with debris, were practically impassable for the fire apparatus, and the fire burned themselves out in places where the fire apparatus was unable to reach. In some instances the flames were brought under control by volunteer "bucket brigades."

The second storm swept across the Missouri river about 6:20 P. M. doing considerable damage to Council Bluffs.
Figures compiled early place the number of known dead in Council Bluffs at nine and a score injured.

The police were unable properly to protect the business district, and soldiers from Fort Omaha were called out. The town was practically under martial law.

Omaha's suburbs suffered heavily, razed to the ground and a half score or more are dead.

The worst damage was done and the heaviest toll of lives exacted in the western part of Omaha, in the vicinity of Twenty-fourth and Lake streets, and from there northeast to Sixteenth and Binney streets. This was the residence district, and the destruction wrought was well-nigh appalling.

Whole blocks of houses were picked up and dashed into a shapeless mass.
Streets were buried from the track and demolished.

Chicago.—A terrific wind storm, causing widespread destruction and loss of life and property, wrecking the already demoralized telegraph service, ragged over the central and middle states. Reports from Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Indiana indicate heavy damage.

Omaha, Berlin, Ashland, and Yutan,
Neb., the latter two near Omaha;
Cassville, Ark.; Woodbine and Carroll, Iowa; Terre Haute, Ind., and Ablene, Kan., are places from which messages carrying the news of grave destruction have been received.

Terre Haute, Ind.—With a known dead list of 16, reports brought by messengers on horseback from the south part of Vigo county, indicate that a toll of a tornado which struck here late Sunday night would reach 500.
The property loss probably exceeds $500, 000.

In addition to destroying about 800 homes in the south portion of Terre Haute, Princeton, a small town six miles south, was destroyed and the intervening territory devastated. The injured number at least 300 and many of these are in a serious condition. The hospitals are filled to their capacity.

English and Irish Glass.
Each country has its distinctive types of glass, but it requires special and well trained perception to tell the difference between some of the English and Irish specimens of the last century and the careful copies which are now being made of them in European factories. The letter, however, can generally be known by their greater whiteness and lightness of weight. Waterproof glass is now the most sought after being produced in equally beautiful pieces were made in the Cork and Dublin glass houses. Glassmaking can be traced back for about 2500 years to the people who lived on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean, but its origin has never really been fixed. Its ingredients are still the same, but their proportions seem to have varied very little.

You Saw Me.
A tramp stopped at a prosperous looking country house and asked for food.
"Certainly you may have it," replied the owner, who had happened to address, "and if you will saw some wood
I will give you, besides, 50 cents. You might as well do it while the wood is being prepared. Allow me to lead the tramp to the wood pile."
Presently, when the meal was ready, he went to call the tramp, but found the door open and the wood pile plattered a little while paper. He picked it up and read the scrawled words:

DR. PRICE'S Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

ROMANCE OF THE REAPER

International Harvester Entertainment Draws Large Crowd—Interesting and Instructive

Standing room was at a premium at the entertainment given by the International Harvester company in the Genesee opera house Wednesday night. It was estimated that there were between 500 and 600 people present. The show was under the management of Geo. T. Odell, while Prof. Wm. Ulrey was the lecturer and who explained each picture in an interesting and instructive manner. The pictures begin with the old reaping book of past ages and brought the art of harvesting down to the present day, showing the very latest improved method of taking care of grain.

Fifteen minutes one sees the marvelous development in the methods of farming covering a period of some 4,000 years and winding up with three marvelous gasoline tractors of 35 horsepower each, pulling 55 disc 14 inch plows and cutting a space 63 feet wide. While these tractors cannot be used in this section on account of the hills, it shows what can be done in a level country.

While the entertainment was given by the International Harvester company, the firm of Meyer and Flomer have the credit of bringing it here and should be given direct credit for the entertainment which so many people thoroughly enjoyed, they have borne all local expense attached to the entertainment.

Saved $150 in Six Months

An Illinois farmer whose specialty is poultry bought an International Commercial Car for no other reason than that of spending more time with his chickens. At the end of six months he wrote the agent, "That car I bought from you has put $150 in my pocket already. When I am at work my time is worth a dollar an hour, sometimes more. On the road it's worth about half as much. That car has saved me two hours a day for six months, 300 hours, one hundred and fifty dollars. You may be able to profit quite as much by the purchase of an

International Commercial Car

The Car That Has Made Its Way by the Way It's Made

An International Commercial Car does two or three times as much work as a horse and wagon, at a cost per delivery much lower. It enables you to cover twice as much territory. On hundreds of farms the car has earned enough to pay for itself in a couple of seasons. Its usefulness is almost endless. Its solid rubber tires reduce tire troubles and expenses to a very low figure. The wheels are high enough to give ample clearance on bad roads. The ignition system is of the best. The motor is simple and easy to understand. One lever controls the car. Brakes are positive and powerful.

COST OF BAD ROADS

Comprehensive Statistics of Cost of Haulage on Good and Bad Roads

There are 2,151,570 miles of public roads in the United States. Of this mileage, statistics for 1904 showed that about 7 per cent are improved. During the crop year 1905-6, about 85,000,000,000 pounds of farm products were hauled over common roads from farms to shipping points. These figures do not include forest or mine roads from city to country. It is evident that the slightest saving in cost of hauling per ton would assume striking proportions when considered for the entire country, says "Better Roads."

Figures show that these great crops traveled in wagons over country roads 208,432,644 miles, merely by being transported from the farms to shipping points. Investigations have shown that the average cost of hauling per ton per mile is 23 cents. On stone roads in good condition the cost is about 8 cents; on stone roads in ordinary condition, 12 cents; on earth roads containing ruts and mud, 39 cents; on sandy roads when dry, 64 cents. A reduction in the average cost of hauling from 23 cents to 12 cents would mean an annual average saving of over $250,000,000. This loss comes direct from the pocket of the farmer. The railroads take the wheat, corn and other farm products at the station and the producer gets the value (or market price) of the shipment.

If the farmers of the nation are paying $1,000,000 a day more than they should in the cost of getting their products to the shipping point, it requires no expert to show that if they had good roads they would be receiving $1,000,000 a day more for their products than they are now getting. Every cent saved in the cost of transportation is a cent added to the price the farmer receives for his products. The addition of $250,000,000 a year to the income of the American farmer would mean a great strengthening of the purchasing power of the agricultural classes and a marked increase in agricultural assets. In addition to this direct gain the good roads add a value to every acre of farm land in the nation. This gain in income and increase in land values would far more than cover the cost of establishing and maintaining good roads.

Some Weather
A letter received by Postmaster Burr from Jas. Mulalley, who is in Alaska, states that they have had one of the most severe winters there that they have had in many years, the thermometer registering from 40 to 60 below at the same time in Alberta they have not had enough snow for sleighing and the weather has been unusually warm for that part of the country. Coming on down to our own part of the country it is unnecessary to state we have had more than our share of both snow and cold. In places in the east they have had to put ice around the fruit trees to keep them from budding in the middle of winter, which all goes to show that there is something radically wrong with the way things have been run during the winter months and that a new weather clerk should be put up at the coming election—especially one that has some respect for the people of this part of the world.

P. S.—About three inches of snow fell again on Saturday night.

N. B.—About two inches more snow fell on Sunday night and Monday morning.

P. S. Thermometer a little backward about "going up."

A New Game

There is a new game called "Tickle the Editor." You take an ordinary sheet of writing paper, on which you pen a few lines suitable for the occasion. Next you fold it carefully, enclosing in the fold a check or a post-office order sufficiently large to pay all arrangements and a year or more in advance, and hand it to the editor. Keep an eye on him and if he smiles adorns his face, the trick works fine. It can also be played by mail. Now is the time to play the joke.—Exchange.

The Forty Year Test

An article about the exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief—it cures. For sale by all dealers.

Influence and Example

Every community ought to exemplify the enterprise and energy of its most progressive citizens. The wide-awake citizen ought to see the importance of devoting a share of his time to the public service in aid of his community.

Public spirit characterizes the modern successful business man. He realizes that he is indebted to the community in which he has attained his success, and that the best and most practical method of meeting his obligation to the community is to take an active interest in community affairs.

Moreover, when the citizens of wide influence—the bankers and merchants—take active part in community development the less influential are easily induced to do likewise, for they can be made to see that their aid and influence are important. Though their sphere of influence is less extensive their voice and example are potent, perhaps more so than their more prosperous neighbors would be in the same sphere.

No one's interests are too small to not warrant engaging in the work of community building. The great strength of the American army is said to be due to the fact that each soldier is an officer. So when each and every citizen is working in community building nothing can long retard its progress. Lets get together.

At the food sale and white bazaar held by the Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church last Saturday practically everything was disposed of, and especially everything in the line of food, which supply ran short early in the afternoon. All in all it was a decided success, the ladies taking in the neighborhood of $25.

As the time has arrived when warm weather should be here baseball enthusiasts have begun to get out and warm up a little on the sunny side of the buildings, tossing the ball preparatory to the opening of the baseball season. Genesee should have a good club.

According to the calendar winter ended at 12:11 o'clock on last Friday morning and we were supposed to bid farewell to old man Winter and welcome the fair Goddess "Spring," but the recent convalescence of the old gentleman would indicate that only but had not been broken but instead "strained" a little and that instead of being dead he has proven a pretty lively corpse. While Spring should have been on the job some time ago she is a little inclined to be "backward" this season. The cold snap of last week put a stop to the rattling of fishing tackle and small fish that would be recreation seekers had to go back to the snow shovel instead.

The "grab sale," held by the Emmett store on last Saturday was a decided success, they having disposed of between three and four hundred packages. It attracted a large number of people who were willing to take a chance in fact the element of "chance" seemed to be in the air and several clerks were kept busy from morning till night wrapping up the mysterious packages which were eagerly sought, as much for the sake of the surprise as for what the packages were really worth.

Glenn Sampson has added two fine deer heads to the adornment of his already nifty barber shop. They are fine specimens of the white tail buck and add much to the appearance of his shop. One of the heads is mounted in a large stained background and has the fore feet curved upward in such a way as to make a neat hat or coat rack.

Prof. Monroe, professor of animal husbandry at Washington State college, Pullman, was in Genesee last Saturday looking over the lot of fine horses brought here recently by Pollett & Scholer. Prof. Monroe was delighted with the animals and pronounced them as fine lot as can be found in the northwest.

Fred Lambert has placed in front of his place of business a large sign announcing his wares and which even the man who is not inclined to look cannot help seeing. It should be a trade winner.

Uncle Sam and "Woody"

In the guessing as to what Uncle Sam was saying to President Wilson, there were quite a number of guesses, although not nearly so many as we had expected. Each one seemed to think the other fellow would win, so did not make one. However, those who did guess sent in very good ones, the best of which we published here, with omitting the names with the exception of the winner. The winner was selected by disinterested judges and by men that have no connection with nor interest in the News, and was as follows:
Perry Sherrod, Rural Route No. 3, was selected as the winner, his answer being, "We expect great things of you, Professor," and his subscription has been set ahead one year.

Other good answers were as follows, omitting the names: "Be good Wilson," "We welcome you as president of the U. S.," "Here's hoping it will be 'restoration,'" "Hello, Woodrow, glad you're in my employ, old boy."

On Thursday night of last week the Scottish Rite Masons of this place indulged in the annual feast, which is obligatory on the part of Masons of this degree—the thirty-second. There are five Scottish Rite Masons in this city: Leon Pollett, C. F. Burr, Geo. Rabold, Fred Nagel and O. Olson. Members of the other Masonic orders and their families were invited to the feast and a splendid time was had. The feast is celebrated each year on what is known in Masonic parlance as Maundy-Thursdays and is always an enjoyable affair. Easter Sunday is likewise celebrated by the Scottish Rite Masons in accordance with the teachings of their order.

A likeness of the general appears on the program, which shows that Father Time has dealt gently with him, who carries his more than three score and ten years extremely well.

PARCELS POST INFORMATION

Packages May Be Delivered Same as Special Delivery Letters—C. O. D. Feature After July 1

The parcels post system of mailing packages has proven a great boon to farmers and local merchants in a great many instances and is being more extensively used by them as the possibilities of its advantages are understood. Local merchants are adjusting themselves to the new conditions and it is indeed a great time-saver for the farmer who is busily engaged with his farm duties, and as the busy season approaches it will be used more extensively, as a farmer can go to the telephone and order a half a ton of mail boxes, by affixing the usual special delivery stamp or placing thereon ordinary stamps to the amount of ten cents in addition to the regular postage for carrying the package, which must be in every case in parcels post stamps. When ordinary stamps are used for special delivery purposes the package must have marked thereon the words "Special Delivery," which will insure immediate delivery of the package upon arrival of the rural carrier.

Another and still newer feature is the "C. O. D." package permissible to parcels post delivery. A package may be sent along the same route and the amount of the bill collected upon delivery, the amount to be paid to the carrier, along the same lines as express packages handled C. O. D., upon the payment of ten cents in parcels post stamps affixed to the package, and the same will be insured in an amount equivalent to its actual value, providing the amount does not exceed $50.

The parcels post system has come to stay and will be of great benefit to the local merchant and farmer alike when its possibilities are fully realized. The weight of any package cannot exceed 11 pounds nor the size more than 72 inches in length and girth combined, but it will be remembered that a great many articles weighing less than the limit and smaller than 72 inches in size may be sent to advantage to farmer and merchant alike.

The number of packages being forwarded from the Genesee office is increasing weekly and Postmaster Burr is well pleased that so much local business is being handled, especially on the rural routes.

Farmers' Union to Build Elevator At the meeting of the Genesee Farmers' union held on Saturday, March 22, it was decided to build an elevator in this city which will have a capacity in the neighborhood of 50,000 bushels.

A sufficient amount will be taken from the west end of the present Farmers' union warehouse located in the west part of the railroad yards for the proposed building. The building will have complete cleaning machinery and will be made up-to-date in every respect. A feed and chop mill will also be a part of the apparatus, thus keeping it in operation the year round.

It is the intention of the union to build another elevator at the east warehouse next year, which will be made of sufficient capacity for the needs of the members of that organization.

The handling of grain in bulk is being adopted in nearly every part of this great wheat producing section. The farmers are of the opinion that it will be a great saving of the present waste of grain as a great portion of wheat that is cleaned will be made ready for the market in one way or another, and the plan for the year ahead that brings very little income at present.

Latah County Seed Farm Halvor Nelson of Big Bear ridge, who owns four farms of 160 acres each, has sold one of them to W. W. Tracy, the expert seed farmer, for $15,000 or $93.75 per acre. This gives Mr. Tracy 320 acres. All of the land with the exception of thirty acres will be sown to various kinds of seeds. He makes a specialty of alfalfa, clover and other garden seeds. It will require a force of from 15 to 25 men to handle this farm this season. He has extensive contracts with the agricultural department of the government to furnish all the output of this farm. It is quite a novelty for the people in this section of the country to go and visit the farm in the summer time when all the flowers are in full blossom.

Another Booster Heard From

To the News: Apropos "Reviving the Dead Club." It is most discouraging to see this town, situated as it is in the finest farming country, with practically no poor, but truly an abundance of wealth in both city and country held back for want of a live commercial club.

Sure, we have everything that goes to make a "best town" in our grasp, if only we would grasp it. We believe there are as many reasons for having a good booster club for Genesee as for any town on the map, and there are reasons why we should be proud to let them know we are here, though some of the things we see and the manner in which we are intimidated by a jerk water railway service should be overcome.

Regarding the ladies assisting at the "feet" and becoming a co-operating club, why suggest it to the Ladies Progressive Needlework club? It would give these intelligent women a broader outlook to feel that they would be assisting in bringing about a Greater Genesee. No doubt it would be a surprise to their husbands to learn that their wives could successfully handle something besides embroidery hoop, needle and trying pan.

We feel sure that if these women were to put their shoulder to the wheel with their husbands it would mean the eternal progress of Genesee. A BOOSTER.

We would be pleased to hear from every "booster." An exchange of ideas is a good thing for any community. Amendments to State Land Laws One of the most important laws passed by the recent session of the legislature was an amendment relating to the sale of state lands. The bill was drawn by Representative Oversmith and provides that where the purchaser of state land improves the land to the extent of one-tenth of the purchase price he will not be asked to pay any principal in the year in which he makes the improvement.

According to the information given by Mr. Oversmith this will be of great aid to the state in disposing of its grant lands, especially in Latah county where the state now owns practically 20,000 acres of cut-over lands. These lands will probably be put on the market during the coming year and will be very attractive to the man of small means.

Under the law as it now stands the buyer will simply have to make his first payment and thereafter keep his interest paid as no principal will be due for ten years if the buyer will keep on improving the land.

Mr. Oversmith expects to interest all the commercial bodies in the Inland Empire in these cut-over lands and claims to have the assurance that the railroads will do their part in advertising this feature throughout the east.

"It will mean hundreds of new settlers in Latah county within the next two years and will bring a class of citizens who will be a credit to the state," is the way Latah county's returned representative desired to be quoted on this question.—Star-Mirror.

Must Take Turn

The refusal of President Wilson to see applicants for office or those urging their appointment, has caused consternation in the ranks of the Democratic office seekers. The President insists that applicants must take up their cause with the respective cabinet officers, upon whose recommendation the appointment will be made. From present indications it is doubtful whether there will be enough jobs to go around, as the stools at the pie-counter are filling up rapidly.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. B. H. Schooler, and the next plan for the year ahead. The next meeting will be held in the church basement on April 9. A good attendance is requested as plans for this year's work will be made.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

New Tariff Must Provide Revenue Sufficient to Run Government

Washington.—When the gavel falls at noon on April 7 the ways and means committee of the house will be prepared to submit a complete system of revision and ask for its approval. Truth is that the men charged with directing the tariff fight have some misgivings about the bill to be presented and recognize that it may be subject to material amendment when it gets to the senate. In fact, the house leaders will be glad to have the senate assume part of the responsibility for the bill.

House leaders realize that they must do two things. They must make such revision as will be in keeping with their pledges to the people, and at the same time must provide for simple revenue to run the government. They have discovered already that they will need fully as much revenue as has been available during the past few years, for they find they cannot in any material way reduce the expenses of the government.

Revision Must Produce Revenue With a certainty that a certain amount of revenue must be available each year, the tariff revision must be so shaped as to produce that revenue over and above what can be raised under the income tax. How much the income tax will produce will not be known, even approximately, until the tariff bill has passed both branches of congress and been approved by the president, for there is no difference of opinion about this feature of the new tariff bill than over any other section.

The plan as finally passed upon is understood to provide for raising the income tax revenue on a graduated scale, ranging from an income of $400, beginning with a 1 per cent tax on incomes of $400 and running as high as 4 per cent on incomes of $100,000 and upward.

It was said that the plan retains the provisions for free raw sugar and free raw cotton and the 15 per cent tax on wool. A fight is expected in both houses for a change to free raw wool. Suffragists Ready to Beatege Wilson Stige is to be laid to the White House by the suffragists, it was announced at national headquarters, as a result of the refusal of President Wilson to include in his message to congress some reference to the suffrage cause. The president's declination was based on his belief that congress should take the first step, and that he would not be justified in inaugurating such a sweeping reform through recommendations.

Representatives Kent, of California, Lenroot, of Wisconsin and Anderson of Minnesota, progressive republicans, made a formal announcement that they would join the party progressives in a new third party organization and would not vote for Representative Murdoch for speaker.

Indians to Get Interest Secretary Lane has signed an order, effective July 1, 1913, providing that all Indian funds on deposit to the credit of superintendents of the various agencies over the United States should be placed on an interest bearing basis at the rate that prevails in the localities where the money is deposited. Heretofore these funds have not drawn any interest.

It is estimated that these accounts approximate $1,000,000.

National Capital Brewities The first formal dinner by President and Mrs. Wilson will be given April 16, in honor of members of the cabinet.

Clay Tailors, an attorney of Tonopah, Nev., has been appointed legal adviser of the reclamation service by Secretary of the Interior Lane.

Secretary of War Garrison, Wednesday, ordered that 50,000 tents and 1,000,000 rations be rushed to Ohio from Philadelphia for the relief of the flood sufferers.

One of the best jobs at the disposal of the Wilson administration, that of chief forester, has been placed under the civil service. This position, now held by Prof. Henry S. Graves, a republican, appointed by Taft to succeed Gifford Pinchot, pays $5,000.

On the request of President Wilson, secretary of War Garrison went to Ohio to personally survey conditions in the flood district. He was accompanied by General Wood. President Wilson was going himself, but he decided to send Garrison as his personal representative.

County Schools Given Ample Funds. Boise.—A weight was lifted from the minds of rural district school trustees and teachers when the board of county commissioners, after hearing Miss Ivy M. Wilson, county superintendent of schools, on the urgent necessity of knowing what they may expect in a general appropriation this year, gave her their pledge that they will raise $100,000 by this fall by general taxation for the support of the county schools next fall and spring.

Miss Wilson appeared before the commissioners, explaining that under the terms of the state law, rural districts must hold their annual trustees' meetings next month. At that time, the law provides that the different districts may depend upon a special tax levy, applying only to that particular district, for school purposes. This levy must not exceed 15 mills on every dollar of taxable property.

People Flee From Ohio River. St. Louis.—Thousands of residents along the Ohio River from Cincinnati to Cairo fled because of the flood warnings issued by the weather officials. The towns situated on the river are threatened with the most disastrous flood since 1884.

The special session of congress, it is predicted by democrats of the senate, will be a prolonged affair. It is assumed that President Wilson will ask consideration of the currency question, and other matters of pressing importance insofar as their discussion would not interfere with the right-of-way of tariff revision. Democratic Leader Underwood believes that the tariff will be disposed of in the house by May 1, and in both houses by July 1.

It is understood that as a part of the plan to take over all of the remaining assets of the bank. These, he says, consist of timber leases in British Columbia, a claim of $200,000 against the Lane Lumber company and a claim of $70,000 against B. F. O'Neil, former president of the bank, recently sentenced to the penitentiary for making a false report. The timber leases, Mr. Day declares to be of slow and doubtful value, and the claims against Barney O'Neil, he says, are of no value.

J. P. MORGAN DIES IN ROME

Noted American Money King Succumbs After Weeks of Failing Health

Rome.—J. Pierpont Morgan, the noted American financier, died here Monday, of what is believed to have been cerebral anemia. Mr. Morgan, whose health has been failing for some time, had been touring Egypt and came here a few weeks ago for rest and treatment.

Up to Saturday night, Mr. Morgan's condition was such that the doctors and the physicians made every effort to conceal Mr. Morgan's true condition.

A week ago Mr. Morgan was persuaded to go to bed and remain there, to conserve his strength. He did not sleep well through the aid of drugs, but took a satisfactory amount of nourishment.

Wednesday afternoon he began to refuse food and since then it has been impossible to nourish him. He lost weight and strength rapidly.

The only nourishment the patient was able to receive for several days was through injections. All attempts to make the patient swallow anything, even water, were in vain. The physicians explained that this was due to the lack of functional vitality in the nerves part of the system, which under such conditions arrest the discharge of their proper functions by the organs.

John Pierpont Morgan was born in Hartford, Conn., April 17, 1837. His parents were Junius Spencer Morgan, a business man of that city, and Juliet Pierpont, a daughter of the Rev. John Pierpont, the poet, after whom he was named.

MEXICO PROTESTS TO UNITED STATES Mexico City.—The Mexican government has made a formal protest to the American government against the shipping of arms and ammunition from the United States to the rebels, and has requested the American government to exercise vigilance in guarding the frontier.

Mexican officials understand that numerous consignments of war material, including many machine guns, have been sent across the border. In some cases even at the regular posts of entry, and now are in the hands of the rebels.

It is pointed out by the same officials that, since the rebels control a large part of the frontier, this country is dependent absolutely for the time being on the United States to prevent the rebels from obtaining supplies. That the rebels are securing quantities of ammunition appears to be a fact.

ORMSBY VERSUS ORMSBY
By MARY BLOCKWELDER

Fred Ormsby had a lot of theories in his head. One was that constancy meant want of novelty. For instance, he said suppose a woman is living happily with her husband, if a man managed to get her taste should come along and have access to her, her love for the former would fall before the attractions of the latter. As to her leaning the man she has married for that one she hadn't married, that was a matter of principle. Her love she could not control, but she could act as she pleased.

He went further than this. He believed that a woman might be drawn away from her husband by an ideal or imaginary lover. Ormsby had married a wife who seemed to love him as well as he could desire. Instead of letting well enough alone, he concluded to experiment upon her. Disguising his hand, he wrote her a love letter purporting to be from one whom she did not know. He told her that he had loved her from the time when she was a little girl, though all the while from a distance. He would not for the world make himself known, for such a course after having written her of his love would be inadvisable. He admitted that he had no right even to inform her anonymously of his passion. He simply couldn't help it. Ormsby mailed the letter to his wife so that she would get it when he was not at home. He argued that if she were not captivated by this unknown lover, a woman devoted to her husband would at once turn the letter over to him to read. If she yielded to the siren song she would lead to her self. All depended on this first impulse. He hoped that she would show him the letter as soon as he arrived at home, after she had received it. If she did not, she could gradually be brought under the spell.

When Ormsby went home that evening Mrs. Ormsby did not open the letter. She was as usual, for the accustomed marital kiss. But she said nothing about the letter. He felt a sudden chill about the heart. It is singular that we should wish to know what will give us pain when in ignorance we would be happy. Here was a man trying to win his wife away from himself by means of an imaginary lover, and when won he would be miserable. Mrs. Ormsby did not open the letter, raised or elated or depressed or mystified. She was simply the woman he had left in the morning.

Ormsby wrote another letter to his wife from her unknown lover, pretending to be much cast down at having deceived her and begged that she would forgive him. He signed a fictitious name and gave an address where a reply could be sent. But if she did not think it proper to reply, she would be obliged to be content, trusting to her forgiving nature.

Mrs. Ormsby did not reply to this note. She simply ignored it. Her husband did not notice any change in her. She did not seem dreary or lachrymical or depressed or anything of the kind. He said nothing to him about the letters. He concluded to try her once more, and if she did not yield to his persuasive appeals he would abandon the attempt. He confessed what he had done and told her how pleased he was that she had discovered his theory.

One day not long after the sending of an attorney stating that he (the attorney) was about to bring suit against him on behalf of a client for alienating the affections of said client's wife. If he chose to compromise the suit $20,000 damages would be accepted, and much domestic bitterness would be avoided. The name of the complainant was given.

Ormsby was thunderstruck. There was just one person in the world who might have cause to bring such a suit, and this affair had occurred before Ormsby had been married. Could it be possible that the woman, having quarreled with her husband, had said things to him to make trouble? When Ormsby went home that afternoon the shoe was on the other foot. He and not his wife was under fire. He was taciturn and that night slept but little. One thing he refrained from doing—he said nothing to his wife about the threatened suit.

MAKING THE LITTLE FARM PAY
By C. C. BOWSFIELD

Few city men who seek homes in the country and for farmers of small means who wish to own the land which they till the little farm, choose a forty-acre by choice. The choice of location is important. To get the best results it is necessary to be near at least one good town.

In modern conditions farming has to be made a business proposition. Even the city man who wishes a restful country house is seldom averse to having his land show a balance of profit. All farming ought to pay better than it does, and the operations of any one owning a small tract of land ought to show what may be realized by applying business methods to agriculture.

As land increases in value intensive farming will come more into vogue. The man of ordinary means who is getting started in agriculture must try to make forty acres accomplish what he would have used eighty or a hundred acres for in an earlier day.

The up to date plan of running a little farm is to have such a variety of products that the work is a little distributed over the year and there is something to sell each week or month. A farmer with forty acres operating on the principle of diversification can show results as follows:

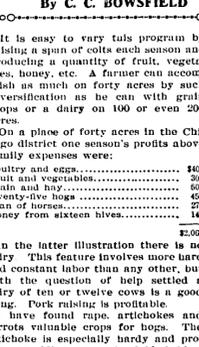

700 Gray hogs, average weight 100 lbs.	1,000
1,000 Pigs, average weight 50 lbs.	500
500 Eggs and poultry	2,500
	4,000

It is very essential to make money, but it should not be done at a sacrifice of the fertility that is in the land. The thing to do is to raise crops that will enrich the land at the same time as they enrich the farmer.

NEW CORSET COVER.
For Wear With Thin, Summer Frocks.

THE LATEST BRASSIERE.

The latest brassiere, or corset cover, is seen in the illustration, a dainty affair of lace and all over eyelet embroidery.

The novelty of the design is found in the half length sleeves which are made in one with the waist.

For cool summer days, when one wants to wear a thin gown, this corset cover will be found very comfortable.

A Clever Idea. In the narrow, envelope shaped band of the moment it is difficult to find these heavier things that slip down inside the girdle. It takes quite five minutes to discover the whereabouts of a key in one's bag, and as for finding those extra hairpins slipped in the bag for use in case of emergency, it is altogether impossible.

So a Baltimore girl has hit upon a clever scheme suggested by necessity. She has purchased a set of the tiny gold filled safety pins to be had in the shops, and with these she carefully pins to the lining of her bag near the top the various articles she wishes to reach in a hurry. She has a pin for her keys, another for her shopping list and a third for samples and such things.

She doesn't have to burrow around in the bag to find what she wants, and the bag keeps its shape ever so much better as a result.

Points for Mothers

The girl who has just left school is generally a person much envied by her fellow schoolgirls, but sympathetic women with good memories often pity her. From the day when she was first taken to the kindergarten till now every day's work has been arranged for her. Some of the best brains in the country have combined to lay out her scheme of work and play. Her disposition has been studied, her habits observed, her amusements organized. She has been allowed enough liberty to do as she likes, but not enough to stagnate. Then suddenly Dame Fashion decrees that she is old enough to put her hair up and let her dresses grow long, and anxious parents declare that "dear little" education is really finished now; it is time the child came home for good.

Of course if a college career opens before the schoolgirl the nature of her life alters very materially. It is the same routine with a wider liberty. The sudden emancipation is probably never felt, for unconsciously the restrictions of childhood widen into the liberties of the adult. The girl, again, who is immediately to take her place in society has plenty to occupy her. She will be coming out directly, and all the excitement of the dance to be given in his home await her or the busy festivities of the season.

Very differently circumstanced are those who look forward to the end of their school days with eagerness because then they can get to work and help to relieve the financial straits of the family.

But between the two extremes is a vast host of girls who leave school because they are tired of study. The latter vaguely through the next few years wondering how to pass the time. The brothers of this class are more fortunate, expressed or unexpressed desire to leave them unemployed for a year or two after their nominal education finishes. The boy shows no marked ability, expressed or unexpressed desire to leave them unemployed for a year or two after their nominal education finishes.

It's Smart For Summer. A rich rose shade between cherry and cerise has been named in honor of Miss Eleanor Wilson, the daughter of President Wilson, who this shade promises to be very popular during the coming season, especially with the dark eyed young women, to whom it is especially becoming. The dainty gown of pink and white is different. "I am determined to treat my boys and girls alike," says the anxious mother. "So if Isabel wants a training she shall have it. But the dear girl does not seem to know what she wants, and I say I can do with her very well at home or at school. I can fill the case and go on with me." Then there is the sewing club once a week. "And the good woman feels mildly indignant with "dear Isabel" because a dissonant note is unmistakably showing itself on her pretty face.

And Isabel wonders vaguely how to fill the long, long hours and wishes that all her life were arranged for her as school days were. Perhaps she has gifts, but she has not the opportunity of those robust natures which revel in difficulties, yet will willingly face trouble, yet withal she is a nice, bright girl, and she is the possessor of a fine woman in her.

She wants to do something in the world, but she does not know what, and she wishes that some one would find out for her. She thinks what a noble profession nursing is and remembers eagerly that she has heard that some housewife's work would be hers at first. Would she regret, as she dusted the ward, that she of her own free will undertook it?

Points for Mothers

The girl who has just left school is generally a person much envied by her fellow schoolgirls, but sympathetic women with good memories often pity her. From the day when she was first taken to the kindergarten till now every day's work has been arranged for her. Some of the best brains in the country have combined to lay out her scheme of work and play. Her disposition has been studied, her habits observed, her amusements organized. She has been allowed enough liberty to do as she likes, but not enough to stagnate. Then suddenly Dame Fashion decrees that she is old enough to put her hair up and let her dresses grow long, and anxious parents declare that "dear little" education is really finished now; it is time the child came home for good.

Of course if a college career opens before the schoolgirl the nature of her life alters very materially. It is the same routine with a wider liberty. The sudden emancipation is probably never felt, for unconsciously the restrictions of childhood widen into the liberties of the adult. DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

Mrs. Herman Broemmeling Passes to Great Beyond Tuesday Afternoon—Funeral Thursday

Mrs. Mary Broemmeling, wife of Herman Broemmeling, died at her home about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from a stroke of apoplexy, which attacked her on Monday afternoon, at the age of 88 years.

Mrs. Broemmeling had been in the best of health and spirits and was up town shopping when she was stricken. She was on her way to the Herman store, and when near the office of E. E. Miller she fell to the sidewalk. Those on the street who saw her fall rushed to her assistance and Dr. Tuomy was called and did all that could be done for her. She was placed in a hack and taken to her home, but sank steadily until the end. She was unable to speak or use her limbs after the stroke.

Mrs. Broemmeling was an old and respected resident of this vicinity, having lived in and about Genesee for many years. She was born in Germany and came to America with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Johann, in 1874, and was married to Herman Broemmeling in Michigan in 1876, coming to this vicinity a short time afterward.

She leaves, besides her husband, the following children: Stephen, John H., Joseph and Frank Broemmeling, Mrs. John Krier, Mrs. John Kries, and Mrs. Art. Hansman, who resides in Canada.

Mrs. Broemmeling was a consistent member of the Catholic church, and was a woman of noble character, beloved by all who knew her, always having a good word and a smile for everyone.

Funeral services were held in the Catholic church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Haegy officiating, with burial in the Catholic cemetery.

A bouncing baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quilty Wednesday afternoon.

A daughter was born on Friday of last week to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hasfurber.

OUR GUARANTEE
To the wearer of this shoe: Look at the sole; you will find the name Selz on it; that name guarantees these shoes to give satisfaction. If you don't find the name Selz on the sole, it isn't a Selz shoe and you don't get the guarantee. Selz shoes can be guaranteed because they are honestly made of good leather throughout; they are never cheapened by the frame so common in shoe making, such as gutta serena, cheap counters and composition heels. We could not guarantee poor shoes. Remember, your dealer is authorized to see that you get satisfaction from every pair of shoes bearing the mark S. E. L. Z. If you use Selz shoe designers you get better service.

Let the Selz guarantee be the "watch dog" over your shoe service. You'll find a guarantee tag on every pair of shoes made by Selz—it reads as above. Read over a couple of times and think what it means, from the standpoint of the maker, to sign his name to a promise of this kind. It guarantees satisfaction and nothing else. If you think about it, that's really all you want in shoes, or anything else. Satisfaction is complete—if you are satisfied, that's all there is to it.

It's Shoe Insurance
And you don't get anything like it with any other shoe made. Selz guaranteed shoes for men, women and children. We are sole agents in Genesee.

One of the most successful plays ever put on by the university was the sophomore performance of last Saturday evening, when that class staged "The Magistrate." Potatoes For Flood Sufferers
The citizens of Genesee and surrounding country are responding generously to the appeal for potatoes to make up a carload to be sent to the Ohio flood sufferers. The car will contain about 325 sacks of 100 pounds each, and will be sent forward on Monday. Those who did not have potatoes to give, who were appealed to, offered cash or other provisions, but as only potatoes were wanted the proffer had to be refused with thanks. This is a worthy cause and those who have not been seen and who are willing to donate a few sacks of potatoes can notify either Fred K. Bressler at the Exchange bank or J. T. Nelson at the First bank, who will see that they are properly cared for.

How many towns are there the size of Genesee where one can travel over the various crossings and side-walks without getting their nice shine spoiled by mud? Not many. The traveling men are all talking about our nice, clean walks and crossings. That is a good way to advertise, but we need more and more of it. Let's all boost together.

The house of Mrs. J. H. Rosenau was the scene of a Sunday school gathering on last Friday night, the members of the school of the German Lutheran church having gathered there to spend the evening, and a splendid time was the result. Games were indulged in and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Helen Fleischman, who was operated upon at the Tuomy hospital last Friday afternoon is getting along nicely and it will be only a comparatively short time until she will be able to return to her home in Uniontown.

Time to Get Busy

What with "rain day," "salmon day," "apple day" and "canned food week," the grocers are being accorded the opportunity for doing a lot of featuring in special lines. On the whole, featuring is a more dependable profit-getter than "faturing," and not half so risky. There is still another special day that is worthy of observance, and that is "clean-up day." Almost every town and city in this section is making clean-up day a regular annual event, and every one may well get in and help along a cause that tends to civic cleanliness. It saves doctor bills and helps to pay grocery bills.

R. E. Emmett has accepted the position of overseer of the Clearwater ranch and is now in charge.

Exchange Bank Guessing Contest

In the guessing contest at the Genesee Exchange bank on the amount of checking business done at that institution in a year—from April 1st, 1912 to April 1st, 1913, Mrs. Mary B. Tuomy was the winner, her guess being $1,865,000.00 and the total amount of business for the year amounting to $2,049,381.55, which is indeed a good showing for a bank in so small a town.

If there is another institution in this whole northwest in a town of many times the size of Genesee that can make a showing of this kind we would like to hear from them. It is not only an indication that the bank is handled along conservative and business-like lines, but also shows the richness of this section of the great northwest, especially when the fact is taken into consideration that we have another strong banking institution in Genesee that is doing a good business. The heaviest month's business done by the bank during the year was last October, when the total reached the magnificent sum of $383,462.55, which again demonstrates the fact that there is an immense amount of money in circulation in this, the best part of the world.

Walter Herman was in from his ranch on Tuesday morning, he having come through the road leading directly south from town. He said he is the first team that had been through the road for three months, or since the heavy snow, and that there are places where the snow is still three or four feet deep. He said it would be impossible to take a load through at this time. Mr. Herman said that just as soon as the rains ceased he would be able to go to plowing, and that some of the ranchers living beyond Coyote Hill were in their fields at work.

The Driscoll Hardware company has caught the spirit of spring and have been doing a little interior decorating and brightening up their private office.

Cough Medicine for Children

Baseball Meeting

Quite an enthusiastic meeting of the baseball fans was held Saturday night at the store of Smolt & Son, at which a temporary organization was effected. Dr. J. D. Adams being made manager while Chas. Gray was appointed temporary captain.

There will be about 20 "hopes" who will be given a tryout and the best timber selected from that number. Practice will begin as soon as the weather clears up and the grounds get in shape.

Genesee has some timber that has the making of good players and no doubt there will be a good team selected as the boys are all enthusiastic and will do their very best.

A masquerade ball will be given by the association on Friday, April 11, in the opera house and will undoubtedly draw a large crowd as every one is anxious to see a good team here and are willing to help the cause along. The dance will be in charge of Walter Buchholz, Max Seisenbaugh and Elmer Vanouck.

A play will be put on during the first part of May, the date to be definitely decided upon later.

The boys are going to make a desperate effort to carry the team through the season without leaving a debt.

A fire at the ranch of W. E. Tipton on Saturday destroyed a shop and tool house and about $100 worth of small tools and harness, all the larger pieces of machinery having been saved.

There had been a fire in the shop, where Mr. Tipton had been working, and just how the fire caught is not known. Mr. Tipton was in town at the time.

There was most certainly a day of moods, it having rained, snowed, sleeted, and did everything else in the weather category. The sun also shone a few times during the day, but not long enough at a time to have furnished much of a shadow—unless it be the groundhog, who sees his shadow whether it is there or not.

Hogs are once more touching record marks at Pacific Northwest terminals, and hog pork on the hoof is not a remote probability. The pig as a profit-producer is earning a place in current literature, but not earning many dollars for the dealer who serves him out over the counter.

High Water

On last Saturday night Cow creek was decidedly out of its banks in the south part of town, the water covering the street just north of the railroad and entirely surrounding the depot, washing out a small portion of the grade of the siding but not getting over the main track.

The flats north of town were covered with water, as well as those in the east and south part of town. The water was within about five or six inches of the floor of James Doyle's home and was pretty well up to the residence of Jake Toning but no particular damage was done and a small amount of work will again place the railroad sidings in repair.

Near Uniontown on Sunday morning about 300 or 400 feet of the roadbed of the Northern Pacific was washed out, delaying the morning train nearly two hours, and the afternoon train was about three hours late.

Another unusual occurrence was noted on Tuesday morning when the merchants on the south side of Main street were out shoveling away the large drifts of snow that have been there for many weeks. J. H. Jackson was out rather early in the morning digging away with a crowbar, we supposed, preparatory to putting in a charge of dynamite but he got tired waiting for the blasted stuff to explode and dug the bank away with a shovel, throwing it out into the street.

The athletic association of the high school will give a play in the gymnasium on Friday night, April 18, for the benefit of the association. The play is entitled "The Senior" and will be one of the best things put on here in a long time and will undoubtedly draw a large crowd.

City Election

The election held in this city on Tuesday of this week was very quiet as compared with some elections held in years past. There was no contest only in the second ward, or west precinct. There were a good many scattering votes for various persons for the different offices, but a great many of them were for complimentary purposes.

The men elected are as follows, and there is every reason to believe that they will look after the interests of the city in a way that every one will be well satisfied:

For Mayor—J. T. Nelson.
For City Clerk and Ex-officio Police Judge—C. F. Burr.
For City Treasurer—Charles P. Whalen.

For aldermen, First ward—Henry Martinson and Fred Lambert.
For aldermen, Second ward—John Meyer and Aug. Kach.

The vote was as follows:

DRAFT HORSES IN DEMAND

Today's Inadequate Supply a Factor in the Cost of Living—Better Farming—Better Horses

The following article written by Wayne Densmore, is taken from the Country Gentleman and is timely and full of information for those interested in better horses.

Did you, as you ate your breakfast of oranges, oatmeal, cream, bacon and eggs, buttered toast and coffee, ever consider the intimate relation the horse bears to the health and happiness of yourself and your family? Everything you had was produced, transported to market and to your home through the use of horses. The high cost of living you have gumbled about is partially due to a lack of horses of the right kind, and in every phase of our national life conditions prevailing in the horse-breeding industry have a direct and important influence.

Horses represent more aggregate wealth than all the cattle, swine, sheep, poultry and bees in the United States. The combined value of all these classes of livestock is approximately $130,000,000 less than the value of our horses alone.

Good farming, requiring good horsemanship, can increase the yield per acre, build up the fertility of the soil, and reduce the cost of living to the consumer. This is the modern farming method, which will return benefit to all parties concerned, and in this the horse plays the most important part.

He who seeks to forecast the future of any class of livestock undertakes a most difficult task, but it is one which every livestock producer must attempt for his plans, if not well laid out, will reach fulfillment in less than two to five years. He must therefore consider the future. To do this in the horse breeding industry we must understand the relation of market conditions, market classes, the status of each class under present conditions, and the conditions affecting breeding stock.

The prosperity of every industry hinges in large part upon the conditions of the open market. This in turn is controlled chiefly by supply and demand. A strong demand for any class of livestock—a demand which exceeds the visible supply and results in prices that leave a satisfactory profit to the producer and to the middleman—stimulates production. It also results in improvement in the quality of the livestock produced. Men who have already sold horses at a profit are in a position to buy more and better breeding stock and are encouraged to do so by the success they have already achieved.

For many years four distinct classes have existed in the open market—draft horses, coach or carriage horses, roadsters and saddle horses. Each of these includes horses of a specific type intended for a specific purpose. The draft class includes horses that weigh more than 1600 pounds in ordinary working condition and are of such conformation, muscle and general type as to be particularly adapted to the transportation of heavy loads.

Draft horses are in keen demand both in the city and in the country. The supply is so wholly inadequate that horses far below marketable age have been purchased in the breeding districts. It is now virtually impossible to find sound, well proportioned draft geldings even three years of age. To numerous inquiries which I recently made, buyers in Illinois and Iowa unanimously replied there were few good draft geldings four years or over in their districts and that good draft horses as young as three years of age had practically all been bought. About the only draft horses available in these districts consist of geldings two years old, coming three, and these are too young for market purposes.

Prices, according to the best informed men on the Chicago market, were higher for good draft horses during 1912 than at any time in the past twelve years. Sound, full age geldings of approved draft type, weighing from 1700 to 1900 pounds, averaged around $450 each on the Chicago market. Matched pairs of similar quality brought from $750 to $800 a pair. Lighter-weight geldings, ranging from 1600 to 1650 pounds, sold for somewhat less. Unsound drafters and those of unsatisfactory conformation and type were sharply discriminated against, selling down as low as $200 to $250.

A decrease in cattle, sheep and hogs means an increase in tilled land, for it means that pastures have been broken up and more land put under the plow. This calls for an increased number of horses for farm work. Methods of tillage have improved. Farmers are more thoroughly awake to the necessity for proper plowing and thorough preparation of the seedbed. The increased cost of labor and the extreme difficulty in securing satisfactory farm help has forced the general use of gang plows, heavy disk harrows, and other labor-saving devices, which make it possible to do farm work with less manual labor but require an increase in horse power.

Heavier horses are necessary to handle this improved machinery. The men who fail to secure heavier horses find before the season is half over that they have not enough horse power. Their horses are too light or they have not enough. In order to do their work at all they are obliged to do it superficially. Plowing is not well done, the seedbed not properly prepared, and cultivation is not adequately attended to. The result is that the yield is not what it might and should be.

As the actual shortage cannot be accurately determined, many farmers are apt to neglect securing the increase in their horse power which their farms need. Many of them will not be convinced until some of their neighbors, by actual demonstration, prove to them that larger yields can be secured at less cost by the employment of more and heavier teams.

So far as draft horses are concerned market conditions are exceedingly favorable. Increased transportation requirements in the city, increased acreage of tilled land and better farming methods in the country, are contributing to increase the demand for powerful work horses beyond the supply.

SILLO WISDOM

Observe These Points and Get the Best Results

The basic point about a silo is that it must be an airtight receptacle. A cement silo should always be pitched with tar or painted on the inside with some air tight material before filling. The sole reason for building the silo is that it is the most economical way of storing a succulent food. We can store three times as much dry matter in a silo per square foot as we can in a haymow.

The theory of silage is that sugar, protein, etc., turn to lactic acid by fermentation. Heat is generated, from 100 to 150 degrees, which kills off all germ life or rather the germ life kills off itself. The longer this heat is maintained the better the silage. Around the outside the temperature is frequently low. Cypress, redwood and cement absorb a little absorption, dry silage a little on the outside and provide fermentation.

Forty pounds per cubic foot is about the right weight for silage. It is practically uniform all the way down. The most expensive place to build a silo is inside a barn. It may be desirable for convenience, however, but it takes up valuable space that can be used for storing grain or sheltering animals.

Silage must be cut fine. The finer it is cut the better it will pack and the better it will be. A quarter of an inch is about the right length, and a half inch is the limit at which silage ought to be cut. What you lose in cutting you gain in labor in the pit—Farm Press.

Found the "Assets"

A Canadian lawyer tells this story: A bailiff went out to levy on the contents of a house. The inventory began in the attic and ended in the cellar. When the dining room was reached, the tally of furniture ran thus:

- "One dining table, oak.
- "One set chairs (6), oak.
- "One sideboard, oak.
- "Two bottles whisky, full.
- "Then the word "full" was stricken out and replaced by "empty," and the inventory went on in a that way. It struggled and lurched diagonally across the page until it closed with:
- "One revolving doormat."

After Twenty Years
A romance of 20 years standing culminated in the marriage Saturday afternoon at the home of Justice George W. Stocker, of Grant Robbins of Moscow, Idaho, who served as sheriff, deputy sheriff or city marshal for 18 years, and Miss Pauline Moerder, who was four terms treasurer of Latah county. Miss Moerder did not arrive on the expected train, and when she finally reached the city late in the afternoon, the office of County Auditor R. W. Butler was closed and Mr. Butler had to be summoned from his home.

After securing the license the couple, accompanied by Charles Henderson, a Spokane contractor, went to the home of Justice Stocker and the justice, who was taking his Saturday afternoon off by cultivating his garden dropped his hoe long enough to perform the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins then left quietly without telling their friends where they were going.

The acquaintance of Sheriff Robbins and County Treasurer Moerder began when they were both officials of Latah county and lasted throughout their official careers, and for the four years following Sheriff Robbins' retirement from office, during which time he has been interested in Nevada.

Ronald Amundsen says the sun is fierce at the south pole and they expect very little discomfort on their journey. He would not have made such a remark had he gone up against the unusual weather conditions we have experienced here during the past winter. All of which goes to show that things have been terribly mixed in weather conditions—warm at the south pole and cold here. But old man Winter is on the run now and they expect many varieties are showing in the various yards in this city. There have been no severe cases of spring fever as yet, but the warm sun the past few days has brought out a great many symptoms.

In the report of the guessing contest at the Exchange bank last week we stated that the winner, Mrs. Mary B. Tuomy's, guess was $1,865,000, when it should have been $1,965,000. It was merely a typographical error.

CHURCH SERVICES

METHODIST CHURCH
Sunday school at 10 a. m., and preaching at 11 a. m., by the pastor. Say, men of Genesee, do you go to church? Have you no obligation you owe to the church? Would you as soon live in a town without churches as with them? Do you know your absence from the church puts you with the crowd that is against it? Are you putting heavy burdens on the church and not willing to touch it with your little finger? Did you ever read what Jesus said of that crowd? Better get busy men, and share the burdens and help solve this social problem that you are demanding of the church.
The Methodist church stands against all that is evil, and for everything that is good. It hobbos with no man in sin, and condones no man in meanness—better help them by your presence and influence.
Subject next Sunday morning, "So Built We the Wall; and all the Wall was Joined Together unto the Half Thereof for the People had a Mind to Work."
Evening service, "What is Sin." If you believe in gospel preaching, backed with a New Testament experience, come with us, we will do the good.
J. G. CARRICK, Pastor

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. and Young Peoples' meeting at 7 p. m. Please note the change in time of service.
Next Sunday morning is the time for the regular bi-monthly children's meeting. The entire service will be given to the boys and girls. The children will furnish the music, do the singing, take up the collection and welcome the older folks.
The sermon will be to the children and the subject will be—"Fighting Giants." All the children in the community are invited to this service. Parents are urged to bring their children and enjoy the service with them.
The subject of the sermon to the young people next Sunday night will be—"Two Young Men, Who Became Fast Friends."
Crowded house last Sunday night and a good time. Don't miss next Sunday. Come early. Sit well forward. Bring someone with you.
A. P. ORTH, Pastor.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Bible school at 10 a. m. A lively working happy school. If you are not attending any Bible school there is a place for you here. Last Sunday, Banner day, 66 in attendance, $3.05 collection. Come help us reach our aim of 75 by July.
Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by pastor. Young People's Song and Praise service at 7 p. m. Every one cordially invited to attend all these services.
E. M. PATTERSON, Minister.

GERMAN LUTHERAN

Make Your Feet Glad
OUR GUARANTEE
To the wearer of this shoe:
Look at the sole; you will find the name Selz on it; that name guarantees these shoes to give satisfaction.
If you don't find the name Selz on the sole, it isn't a Selz shoe and you don't get the guarantee.
Selz shoes can be guaranteed because they are made of good leather throughout; they are never cheapened by the faults or errors in shoe making, such as gaudy interiors, cheap centers and composition heels. We could not guarantee poor shoes.
Remember, your dealer is authorized to see that you get satisfaction from every pair of shoes bearing the mark of Selz. If you use Selz shoes dressings you get better service.

Let the Selz guarantee be the "watch dog" over your shoe service.
You'll find a guarantee tag on every pair of shoe made by Selz—it reads as above.
Read over a couple of times and think what it means, from the standpoint of the maker, to sign his name to a promise of this kind.
It guarantees satisfaction and nothing else. If you think about it, that's really all you want in shoes, or anything else. Satisfaction is complete—if you are satisfied, that's all there is to it.

It's Shoe Insurance
And you don't get anything like it with any other shoe made.
Selz guaranteed shoes for men, women and children. We are sole agents in Genesee.

The savings made by a DE LAVAL Cream Separator

A De Laval will save enough over any gravity setting system in quantity and quality of cream, sweet skim-milk, labor, time and trouble to pay for itself every six months.

A De Laval will save enough over any other separator in closer skimming, in running heavier and smoother cream, skimming cool milk, greater capacity, easier cleaning, easier running and fewer repairs to pay for itself every year.

An up-to-date De Laval saves enough over De Laval machines of five, ten, fifteen or twenty years ago in closer separation under all conditions, greater capacity, easier running and greater mechanical perfection to pay for itself every two years.

Remember that these are not mere claims. We are always willing to let you try out a De Laval for yourself on your own place.

NEWS ABOUT OUR SCHOOLS

(BY PROF. L. T. BARBOCK)

The boys are practicing steadily these pleasant spring days for the annual meet at Lewiston to be held April 25, 1913.

The pupils of the rooms on the first floor are enjoying the organ recently purchased from G. A. Bumpass. It makes the round of all the rooms each week, and pupils and teachers are equally enthusiastic concerning the music program.

A candy sale was conducted in the lower hall on Monday of this week by Miss Maggie Nisbet, teacher in the first primary, assisted by her pupils. The proceeds amounted to over seven dollars which goes to the organ fund.

The members of the athletic association are busy preparing the college drama, "The Senior," to be rendered in the opera house on the evening of April 18 proceeds for the cause of athletics in the high school.

The pupils of the fourth year German class are finishing Schiller's great work, "Wilhelm Tell," and have enjoyed the study of this literary masterpiece very much.

The large room in the basement was cleared out recently and before the weather was fit outside for physical exercise, the boys made good use of it in getting in condition for track work.

A lively interest was taken in the declamatory try-out among the students of the high school on Thursday evening of this week. Musical numbers were rendered to relieve any possible monotony of the program.

Card of Thanks
Herman Broemmeling and children wish to extend their heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors for kindness during the illness and after the death of their wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Broemmeling.

Cough Medicine for Children
Too much care cannot be used in selecting a cough medicine for children. It should be pleasant to take, contain no harmful substance and be most effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets these requirements and is a favorite with the mothers of young children everywhere. For sale by all dealers.

Farmers Want Good Horses

The following article recently appeared in the Kendrick paper: "Clarence H. Fry, of Gold Hill, went to Moscow Monday to look for some horses. The farmers of this section are doing the wrong thing in not raising more horses. This spring horses are in demand and there are not enough good horses to supply the demand."

If the farmers in that vicinity, or any other for that matter, want good horses all they have to do is come to Genesee and they can get the very best there is, as a glance at the columns of this paper will show. The horsemen in and around Genesee have long prided themselves on the class of animals they raise and bring into this country.

The firm of Follett & Schooler of this city have recently brought into this city a carload of the very best to be bought in the eastern market—not scrub or "second-graders," but thoroughbred registered animals that any community may well be proud of. The ranchers in the vicinity of Kendrick need not go to any other country or any other part of the country, but come where they have the best all the time—to Genesee.

Profit in Hogs

A farmer living south of town six years ago purchased a fine brood sow which has made a money record hard to equal in this or any other part of the country. The owner at the present has in a bank to his credit $500.00 which is the direct earnings of the animal. On Tuesday he sold the sow for $35.00 and still has left on his ranch ten descendants of the sow which are easily worth $100.00, which makes a total of $635.00 from the one sow in six years, again demonstrating the fact, and more convincingly than ever before, that hogs are not only one of the best, but the very best investment a farmer can make and the returns are sure and profits great. Thousands of head of hogs could easily be fattened upon the wheat wasted here each year.

President Wilson Forces Sugar Schedule Through House

Washington.—President Wilson scored his first victory when the house democratic caucus, by a vote of 155 to 23, adopted the tentative sugar schedule, making that commodity free after three years of 1 per cent duty.

The vote was taken after Chairman of Ways and Means Committee Underwood had warned the house that the adoption of any of the many amendments placed before it would be a direct affront to the president, who had specifically asked the adoption of the sugar tariff schedule, and would seriously imperil the passage of the bill in the senate.

"The sugar schedule in this bill was not reported from the committee as I personally would have reported it," he said. "It represents, however, the wishes of the president."

The final adoption of the sugar schedule, which Underwood declared meant an ultimate saving to the consumer of $15,000,000 yearly, followed a day of stormy debate with a Republican senator.

Senate Reserves Rights on Tariff

The attitude of the senate toward President Wilson's tariff plans, as embodied in the new house tariff bill, became fairly well defined after a meeting of the democratic members of the finance committee.

Briefly the senate committee will agree to the view of the president and prospects. "We consider the market conditions unusually favorable and will operate their plants to capacity."

Brussels.—Delium will be the scene of one of the greatest general strikes the world ever has witnessed. It is expected to affect every branch of industry within the kingdom. At least 500,000 men—possibly 600,000—will cease work. This movement is not for an increase in wages, nor betterment of working conditions; it is in protest against the refusal of the government to grant the workers' demand for a 10 per cent increase.

Pure Clothing Wanted

Representative Marbeck, progressive leader in the house, wants clothing manufacturers who mark goods "all wool" when they are not, fined and put in jail. He put in a bill proposing a series of labels ranging from "pure wool" to "mixed goods," which would hold manufacturers responsible for proper labeling of their goods.

ASSASSIN SHOOT AT KING ALFONSO

King's Presence of Mind Saves Him From Death in Madrid

Madrid.—For the third time in his life King Alfonso narrowly escaped being the victim of an anarchist attempt against his life. Three shots were fired at the king in the streets of the capital by a native of Barcelona, Rafael Sanchez Allegro, who was immediately overpowered.

King Alfonso owes his escape to his courage, quickness and skilled horsemanship. Accompanied by his staff he was riding along the Calle de Alcalá, returning from the ceremony of swearing in recruits, when a man sprang from the sidewalk and seized the bridle of the king's horse with one hand, pulling a revolver pointed at the king with the other. The king, realizing the situation with lightning rapidity, dug his spurs into his horse, which reared violently.

The quickness saved his life. The bullet, instead of burying itself in the king's breast, struck the horse. So close was the range that the king's left glove was blackened by the powder discharge. Before the assailant was able to pull the trigger again a secret service man sprang upon him. The two men fell to the ground locked in each other's arms, struggling furiously. The assassin, freed his revolver, arm and fired two more shots in rapid succession, but the officer knocked his arm aside and the bullets flew harmlessly through the air.

Professor Tweeg, Claim Jumper

By LAURA COLBY

There are persons who, scorning the great problems of the present that are constantly thrusting themselves upon us, must needs be going back not thousands but millions of years to a period when there was not a labor union, a suffragette society or a trust, to dig up the bones of dinosaurs, ichthyosaurs and kindred animals, which, instead of being as we are today, all brains and no body, were all body and no brains.

There was Professor Tweeg of a university, who had no use for a human being who lived on the banks of the Nile 5,000 years ago, but considered a trifle of the paleozoic period a very interesting creature. And the university to which he was attached was willing to send him anywhere he chose to go for the purpose of digging for bones so old that they are only fit for paving purposes.

Professor Tweeg was riding about on such a quest over the western plains mounted on a horse which should have been more interesting to him than those of a mastodon, from the fact that his bones were ready for a glue factory, when he met a girl in cowboy costume with a rifle slung to the pommel of her saddle and no end of cartridges bristling in her belt.

"Good morning," replied the professor from behind his spectacles.

"Be you the feller that jumped the Darby and Jones claim?"

"No," replied Tweeg. "I'm the man to whom it was reported that the bones of an extinct animal were buried over there (pointing) and I've been digging for them. I'm going there now to continue my search."

"Well, I reckon you'd better let the mite-bird and his kind get on with their work. The owners of the property after you, and if they catch you they're likely to make you dance with your legs too short to reach the ground. There they come now."

In times of danger man is expected to step to the front. But what can be expected of a fellow who is absorbed in an age when even stone headed weapons hadn't been invented? Tweeg looked so helpless that the girl took pity on him. "You come along with me," she said, and, turning her horse's head toward a gulch in the mountain, she and the professor in a twinkling were chased by the mounted men. When they arrived at a defensible position the girl gave the order to dismount and got behind low rocks together with her past loads. Tweeg, appreciating the danger much more readily than could be expected from one of his impractical disposition, placed himself beside her.

"What's yer gun?" she asked.

"My pistol? I haven't any arms."

"Lord save us! Was you born without any brains in yer head?"

There was no time to reply to this, for the men who were after the mite jumper had dismounted and were advancing on foot, each man with a cocked rifle in his hand. When they came within range one of them called out: "Come out of there!"

"You better come and take us out," replied the girl.

"Who are you?"

"You Nan Jones? What you doin' with that galoot that was diggin' our gold?"

"Reckon he wa'n't after dust."

"That won't wash. What else could he be after?"

"There was a party between Nan and the professor, and it was agreed that he should explain. Nan excited a promise that the miners should hold off for awhile, and the professor raised his hand above the rocks.

"Just look at him!" cried one of his opponents. "He's got double lights in his head."

"Reckon he's one of them monkeys they had in the show that come along a spell ago," said another.

"My friends," said the professor, "I had no idea that I was jumping your claim or digging in a mine at all. I was told that a peculiar bone was found on your property and having examined it, I found it to be of the dinosaurian family."

"There hasn't never been no stich family buried there," the speaker shouted. "I been here forty year and know what I say."

"Not a human family," the professor hastened to say. "I refer to an animal thirty feet long."

"What are you givin' us?"

"I don't mean that it exists now, but lived many millions of years ago."

A WISE OLD WRITER.

Columella, in the first century A. D., wrote: "No one gifted with common sense will ever permit himself to be persuaded that the earth has grown old as a man grows old. The sterility of our fields is to be imputed to our doings because we have neglected the cultivation of them to the unreasonable management of ignorant and unskillful slaves." Columella also recommended the growing of alfalfa and vetches, commending their virtues to the highest terms.

HARROW AFTER PLANTING.

Iowa Authority Has Found It Pays to Treat Corn Soil That Way.

If one could be sure of getting the right kind of weather during the time he is putting in and taking care of his corn crop it would not be a difficult matter to be scientifically exact in the methods adopted. When our labor, however, is punctuated by frequent rains many plans are bound to miscarry, says the Iowa Homestead.

In a general way, however, it is practicable to do a tremendous amount of work destruction before it is time to use the cultivators. From the standpoint of sound agricultural practice it is rank heresy to put corn in a soil where weeds have already started. That is done no amount of skillful labor will ever head them off, particularly in the corn hills. We have preached in season after season about the necessity of thoroughly disking or harrowing the soil just before planting, and we have no hesitation about repeating that advice.

But that is not enough, because the best opportunity under average circumstances that is afforded during the whole season to destroy weeds is after the crop is planted and before it germinates. Two or three harrowings give the corn as ready to shoot through the surface soil will often give the weeds such a check that they can never compete with the corn, and because of this we believe most sincerely that one should afford to plant part of his acreage somewhat later rather than to miss the opportunity of giving proper attention to what is planted early. While we appreciate as much as any man the necessity of getting the crop in in good time, yet on the other hand a few days' delay in planting does not always mean that the crop will be that many days late in ripening. Bear in mind that the soil is warming up all the time, and that the extra moisture from the more rapidly liberates fertility, so that the crop when it is planted comes more quickly and more strongly.

Keep a Horse or Two.

Keep the key spots covered in yards and pastures where young, unshod horses and brood mares run loose in the daytime. A thin coating of sand, gravel, coal ashes or loam will answer the purpose, and the manure from the stable is better than nothing—American Cultivator.

Barrels to Lift? Try This.

When many barrels are to be up ended the device shown herewith will save backache and finger strain. In using the six inch hand grip, the handle shown above the barrel is about two feet long. Just below the hand grip a metal hook about an inch wide is fastened. This fits over the chime of the barrel. At the lower end is a wooden crosspiece hollowed on the inner side so as to fit the curvature of the barrel. If very heavy barrels are to be handled the handle should be six to twelve inches longer, so as to get extra leverage when lifting.—Orange Seed Farmer.

Fruit and Vegetable.

Anty Septic is the yeast tree's kindest relative. She should always be on hand when pruning out blighted branches. Let her wipe the knife after every cut. Corrosive sublimate is her best ally.

Where the bodies of fruit trees are covered with whitewash composed of lime and soft soap with a little carbolic acid added, there is less danger of injury from rabbits, sunscald and insect pests that may attack the bark.

Allow the ashes to cool before using them as a fertilizer for grapes; then don't put them right up against the vines. In fact, it is best to dig a shallow trench a few inches away from the roots of the vines and place the ashes in that.

The ground for radishes should contain a large amount of rotten manure and should be made thoroughly before drilling the seed. Planting may be done any time after the ground is ready, excepting the seed with about one-half inch of soil. It is easy to sow too much seed, thus making it necessary to thin.—American Agriculturist.

PROTECTING THE ORCHARD.

Oil Pests Successful in Saving Trees From Effects of Late Frosts.

Orchard heating to prevent loss of the crop from late spring frosts has become a matter of great importance in commercial fruit growing, particularly in the west. The most successful form of heating is with oil pots, says the Rural New Yorker. These pots hold about five quarts and burn from five to eight hours, depending on weather conditions and quality of oil. Oil with a paraffin base, testing 28 to 30 degrees Fahrenheit, is considered the best fuel for orchard heating. But in sections where this cannot be had at a reasonable price almost any available mineral oil or kerosene will do. The number of heaters used in an orchard varies with the extent of the orchard from one per acre, and the average increase in temperature runs from 2 to 4½ degrees.

Various methods of billing and distributing the pots are used. Some orchards have galvanized tanks holding 400 gallons of oil, the oil being pumped to the heaters.

Photograph by Nevada agricultural experiment station.

Another method is to hang the oil about the orchard in barrels on stone posts or sleds, two men carrying four rows of heaters per acre are used. Two men and a team can fill about 1,500 heaters in a day. Several patented lighting devices are to be had, but most use a burning mantle affair, consisting of a kerosene torch made of gas pipe and candle wick and a spouted can of gasoline. A little gasoline is poured on the mantle and the torch applied. With heaters twice to twenty-five feet apart an experienced hand will light about fifteen per minute.

In a bulletin on orchard heating, issued by the Nevada agricultural experiment station, it is said that if an ordinary thermometer is employed some shelter should be provided for it—for example, a homemade shelter—or it should be carefully kept in the shade and where the air circulates freely.

There is another use to which the common thermometer can be put with more satisfactory results. This is the measurement of the rate of fall of the temperature after sunset to determine the probability of frost before morning. In this case the thermometer must be hung without shelter from the branch of a tree.

PUT THEM ALL TO WORK.

Unproductive acres must be fenced. Taxes must be paid on them. The interest on the money invested in them is lost. Some labor must be put on them even if they are idle, and that is lost. Every unproductive acre is a liability and not an asset to the farmer, and the sooner he realizes this fact the better off he will be.—National Stockman and Farmer.

ASKED BUT ONE FAVOR.

And Mrs. Carnot Shunned Politics. While Mrs. Carnot was in office, Under the leadership of the Hon. Charles D. Walcott, she issued a recent issue relates a number of stories pertaining to the wives of various presidents of the French republic and gives to Mrs. Carnot the place of honor. She was twenty years old when she married the young engineer, who was then receiving a salary of $500 a year. She had been a student and had assisted her father, Dupon-Witthe, in his economic researches.

"Although she exercised great influence over her husband," the writer says, "she never asked a political favor and never was known to meddle with affairs of state. Once in the course of her seven years' residence at the Elysées she asked a favor at the hands of a cabinet minister. Delescluse was secretary of colonial affairs and after a dinner at the palace Mm. Carnot told her she had a favor to ask. He was surprised when he heard that she wanted some postage stamps for a meaning rail. Some authors, however, would derive the name from the generic name of all oaks.

"When after Carnot's tragic death a fund was created for a charity to bear his name Mme. Carnot gave a large sum and then sold the jewels which she had worn on state occasions and gave the proceeds to the government's steps toward voting her a pension were halted by Mme. Carnot, who said she would accept none."

YOUR USELESS CHIN.

What Mechanical or Physiological Purpose Does It Serve?

"What is your chin for?" is the odd query raised by Sir Ray Lankester, the scientist, who says he is unable to find any mechanical or physiological purpose for the chin. He says that the chin is a sign of a man's intelligence. "The fact that modern races of mankind have chins and most primitive men whose remains have been found have a sign of a chin, is a strange speculation as to why this is so," he said.

Dr. Forbes Ross agrees with Sir Ray in his opinion. "The teeth that forward gives the following explanation of the reason for it: "All animals that browse have no chin at all. Their teeth are adapted to allow them to reach easily things that would otherwise be beyond their reach. The moment man gave up browsing on green things and became less and less an animal his teeth grew erect, and his jaw had to accommodate itself. Erect teeth prove man to be far removed from ruminants, and to be a man with a well marked jaw is further removed from ruminants than a man without. That's why we are in a quandary to regard a man without a chin as possessing a mind rather like a sheep, without determination, without character."—New York American.

Changing a Name.

How a patient name may be transformed out of all recognition is shown by an instance quoted by Cosmo Innes in his work on surnames: "The name of Kenneth Fitzroy, a Dublin citizen, thrived in trade, and his children inherited him in his later years to change the name, which they regarded as undignified. This he did chiefly by dropping the last letters. He was buried as James Halpen. The fortune of the family did not recede, and his son after renouncing retail dealing looked out for a euphonious name. He made no scruple of dropping the unnecessary 'ch,' and that being done, it was easy for the name to go to the top. Walter Scott had just raised to a great height. Consequently he who had run the streets as little Kenneth Fitzroy came out at the assembly of the day as Kenneth McAlpin."

Tom Thumb and the Iron Duke.

The Duke of Wellington called frequently to see the little general at his public levees. The first time he called was general was presenting Napoleon Bonaparte, marching up and down the platform and apparently taking snuff in deep meditation. He was dressed in the well known uniform of the emperor. I introduced him to the Iron Duke, who inquired the subject of his meditations.

"I was thinking of the loss of the battle of Waterloo," was the little general's immediate reply.—P. T. Barnum's Life.

Art dealers who go to picture sales have a curious expression which they use when the bidding for a picture stops at a price much lower than it was expected to bring. They look at one another and remark, "It's on the rocks already." When they hear that cryptic remark a wreck usually follows.—New York Press.

The Caller.

"Mary, has any one called while I was out?"

"Yes, ma'am; Mr. Biggs was here."

"Mr. Biggs? I don't recall the name."

"No, ma'am; he called to see me, ma'am."—Strand Magazine.

Grateful to Him.

She—Oh, Jack, I'm awfully glad you proposed. He—Then you accept me? She—Well, no, but you say your proposal puts me even with Kitty Cobb, who had the most of any girl in our set.—Boston Transcript.

Keep the Soil Fertile and Busy.

Intensive growers of vegetables all most invariably maintain manure compost piles. When one crop is removed the soil is plowed, an inch or two of rotten manure applied, harrowed in and the next crop planted the same day perhaps. One acre farmed intensively may be worth more than ten acres farmed in the ordinary—National Stockman and Farmer.

CORK TREE BARK.

If Carefully Removed a New Supply Grows in a Few Years.

As most people know, cork is the outer bark of an oak. This tree, known to the botanists as Quercus suber, is evergreen, native to the Mediterranean region, and is cultivated in France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Morocco, Tunis and Algeria. It grows slowly and does not bear until it is about 10 years old. A new supply may be obtained from the same specimen after a few years.

We are so familiar with the use of cork for the stoppers of bottles that we seldom realize its manifold other uses, though its connection with leather dates back only about 600 years. We so commonly speak of the stopper of a bottle as a cork that we do not usually refer to the expression "a rubber cork."

Just as our word for stopper has been derived from the word cork, so cork itself has probably been derived from the Spanish corko, which in turn is derived from the Latin cortex, which means bark. Some authors, however, would derive the word from quercus, the generic name of all oaks.

Cork is present in the bark of all trees, though in quantities too small to make it useful in the many ways in which cork from the cork oak is employed. The cork barked elm, the sweet gum and a few others have strongly developed cork.

Literally Speaking.

Little Elsie was reproved by her mother for saying "What?" She was told that she must never use that expression, but say, "I beg your pardon." The lesson evidently went home, for a little later she turned to her mother and inquired, "Mamma, I beg your pardon time is it?"—Boston Transcript.

ROTHSCHILD AS A BEGGAR.

The Sequel to Baron James' Posing as an Artist's Model.

Many stories, with or without good foundation, are told of the Rothschild family. In a book, "The Romance of the Rothschilds," by Ignatius Hall, one is related of Baron James Rothschild, who looked after the interests of the firm in Paris. The famous painter, Eugene Delacroix, who was struck with the features of Baron Rothschild, decided that he would like to have the baron for a model dressed in beggar's rags.

The baron liked the idea and consented. On the following day he went to the painter's studio attired in costume proper to his part, and when he knuckled one of the artist's pupils opened the door. He looked compassionately at the "poor beggar" and gave him a coin in recognition of his part.

We are so familiar with the use of cork for the stoppers of bottles that we seldom realize its manifold other uses, though its connection with leather dates back only about 600 years. We so commonly speak of the stopper of a bottle as a cork that we do not usually refer to the expression "a rubber cork."

NEWS ABOUT OUR SCHOOLS

On Friday of this week the pupils of all departments in the school will be granted a holiday for the purpose of cleaning up the school premises and the park. No holiday will be granted until the work is done and after that the remainder of the day will belong to the pupils. If the weather should be rainy or unfit for such work it will be postponed to a subsequent date when the weather is favorable.

On Friday night of this week will be rendered the college comedy, "The Senior," by a cast of characters from the high school. This is an unusually strong play and has an excellent cast of characters consisting of 15 players. The price of admission is within reach of all; twenty-five cents, reserved seats thirty-five cents. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Athletic association, and the play ought to be well patronized.

The preliminary try-out at the Assembly room of the high school on Thursday night of last week was a splendid success in every way. There were seven contestants and the speaking was unusually good. The winner of the school championship was Jessie Wardrobe, and she will go to the inter-scholastic meet at Lewiston on the 25th. She is rehearsing diligently for that event and will either win the medal or force someone else to do some remarkably good work in order to win it from her.

The fourth year English class is preparing a theme this week under the caption, "The Cause, Prevention, and Cure of Crime." Next week the subject under consideration will be, "The Education of Tomorrow." The members of the class are quite enthusiastic in their study of these modern problems that society will have to solve soon. Sociology is a subject that ought to be studied by every pupil in the senior year of the high school.

Myrtle Peterson has been selected as valedictorian and Herbert Martinson as salutatorian of the class of 1913. They are at work on their addresses for the graduation exercises to occur at the close of the present year. The class this year is a large one and one in whom the people of Genesee will be proud to honor.

Miss Brennan, formerly of Genesee, but now a teacher in the Uniontown schools, enjoyed a vacation last week and visited the school rooms down stairs one day last week. She was accompanied by Miss Tobin of this city.

One of the most delightful events of the Progressive club year occurred Thursday at the home of Mrs. Fred Lambert. Most of the club members were present and Mrs. Morgan was the only visitor. The club meets with Mrs. Alonzo Murphy Thursday, April 24th.

The City Market recently bought from W. H. Gage a cow that weighed 1,500 pounds, and which had been fattened on silage. Mr. Gage realized $95.00 for the animal, which demonstrates the fact that there is money in cattle as well as hogs, both of which there are too few raised, not only around Genesee, but the country over, the supply not being equal to the demand—and the price is still going up.

Be sure and look on the inside of the NEWS this week. It is all home print and has something of interest for all.

Prof. Brooks Heard From

Word has been received here from Prof. Brooks, formerly superintendent of schools in this city, telling of his success in Guthrie, Okla., where he has been superintendent of schools for the past two years, and who has many warm friends here who will be glad to learn of his continued success.

Following are extracts from a letter written by him:

"After serving here as Superintendent of the Guthrie Public schools for two years at a salary of $1800 per annum I was unanimously re-elected a day or two ago, for a term of two years and the salary fixed at $2200 and $2400 respectively. I am feeling pretty good over it as the salary was fixed without any solicitation on my part and my reelection took place without any application on my part.

"I presume everything is going along nicely in Genesee. You are to be congratulated upon having built a new school building adequate to the needs of the city. I am hoping some day I can get to see the Genesee folks. I have a warm spot in my heart for them."

The order for "clean-up" day is being generally observed and there are very few yards that are not being put in fine condition which makes a decided change in many quarters. Trees are being trimmed, yards raked, gardens put in shape—things generally taking on a more pleasing appearance. The city will remove the trash on Saturday, if it is piled where it can be gotten at by the teamster.

W. H. M. Society.

The W. H. M. society of the Methodist church met at Mrs. Arthur Hampton's Friday of last week, and a very pleasant afternoon was spent, there being present about eighteen. Are we asleep? I think not. If you think so, just step in at one of our meetings and see for yourself. We have a rather sleepy looking president, but the rest are wide awake, active members. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The W. H. M. society of the Methodist church will meet at Mrs. Bumpass Friday, April 24. A 10-cent lunch is served at all these meetings. Also, on Saturday, April 25, at the Variety store, the Methodist ladies will have a cake sale, and ice cream and cake will be served in the afternoon. All are welcome.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING

Interesting Session Held at Grand Central Hotel—Elected Officers April 21—Get Together Spirit

A very interesting session of the Genesee Commercial Club was held last Thursday night in the Grand Central hotel, when a few of the faithful met to talk over matters pertaining to business that would naturally come up soon.

Fred Casbolt was made temporary chairman and Fred Lambert temporary secretary in the absence of both the permanent president and secretary.

The following bills were then read and approved:

The school board met in regular session Monday night, with President Follett in the chair and all members answering to roll-call.

Minutes of previous meetings were read and approved.

The following bills were then read and approved:

Farmers' Union, coal ..... $155.25
D. A. Baum ..... 2.50
F. E. Lambert ..... 3.10
Genesee Electric Light Co. .... 1.50

A great many applications from teachers from various parts of the country asking for positions in the school were read, but as the list of teachers is incomplete publication of any part is withheld.

Prof. Babcock was given three days leave of absence to attend the Inland Empire Teachers association at Spokane, beginning Thursday morning.

There was some considerable discussion regarding some of the students participating in athletics who are not keeping up their studies or attending school regularly, which may bar some of the boys from taking part in the meet at Lewiston, to be held on the 25th.

The board decided that as the school grounds were not fully graded and Arbor day could not be properly celebrated by setting out trees, the children would be given the day to clean up around the school yard and in the park, while those belonging to the athletic association would be given the afternoon to work on the track.

The question of hiring a janitor for next year was taken up and Fred Springer was given the place at a salary of $65.00 per month.

The question of screening the basement windows in order to protect them from breakage was discussed and it was decided to get prices on heavy screening with a view to having the work done at once.

Masquerade Ball a Success

The masquerade ball given last Friday night by the baseball association was a decided success in every particular—both socially and financially, the gross receipts being in excess of $85.00 and the enjoyment by the participants in excess of that.

There were all sorts of costumes, comical and fancy—Chinamen, Indians, imps, Jews, Irishmen, Scotchmen, Uncle Sam, Spanish, Mexicans, school kids, Red Riding Hoods, "Gold dust Twins," Goddess of Liberty, Queen of Hearts, George Washington, Turkish and "Old Dutch Cleaver" with her stick to make the "skid-doo," and a few of them every make-up to represent all imaginable personages, and a few that could not be imagined, and the enjoyment had was well worth the price. Prizes were given for the best costumes of both a dress and comical nature, the prizes being season tickets for the baseball games. We mention no names as some did not care to have their names printed, therefore we omit all.

Supper was served at Snolts' to all who cared to partake.

Genesee on last Saturday resembled a town of many times her size when one would look at the hitch racks and the streets and note the number of farmers in town. They are preparing for their summer's work and are naturally laying in the necessary supplies, both in tools and provisions, for it will be only a short time until we will be busy in their fields. Quite a number have been working their ground on the uplands, while as yet it is pretty soft in the flats.

Letter From John Trautman

New Norway, Alberta, April 3, 1913

The Genesee News, Dear Sir:— We just received the GENESSEE NEWS today and saw that you are still having snow. Genesee must have changed since we left. Saw some of the post cards taken of Genesee Main street during the big snow, they look fine. We had a very nice winter, only about 10 inches of snow and only about two inches at a time. Never had good sleighing all winter. Several times it was 35 below zero but the automobiles never stopped running all winter. The roads are dusty at places now; no rain since last October and we don't get any till May or June. All the Palouses up here are O.K. Since the 27th of March he had the finest kind of spring weather, will start to work in the fields soon. Stock wintered fine. Sold a bunch of cattle the other day to a butcher, that was never in a barn. You want to put up a new weather clerk the next election, but the old clerk suits us fine up here in sunny Alberta.

Best wishes to all my friends
JOHN TRAUTMAN.
Route 1, New Norway, Alberta.

Baseball Game

The game of baseball last Sunday between two picked teams was very interesting and some good work was done for the first time on the field. Of course the boys will improve as the season advances and it is expected that a good team will be the result.

The team styling themselves the "Genesee City Team" was taken into camp to the tune of two to nothing—the younger boys fixing them in the good old-fashion way. It was interesting and very much enjoyed.

There were a few things happened that were not on the baseball program, all of which served to liven up matters. A genuine "roofer" from the "old sod" arrived on the special train from Pullman and proceeded to make things lively. There was also a "broncho busting" (?) exhibition which brought in a good many spectators—for the would-be busters.

EUROPE DEFIED BY MONTENEGRO

Cettinje.—The little kingdom of Montenegro has thrown down the gauntlet to the six great powers. She declines to yield to the demands of the powers to abandon her attempts to gain possession of Scutari, and has officially announced that "there will be no departure from an attitude which conforms to the necessities of the state of war existing between the allies and Turkey."

An international fleet, comprising warships of Austria-Hungary, Italy, France, Germany and Great Britain is now blockading the Montenegrin port of Antivari. The fleet includes four Austrian warships, the British cruisers Yarmouth, Infatigable and Gloucester; the German cruiser Broelleville, the Italian cruiser Pisa and the French cruiser Edgar Quinet.

Russia is not represented by a warship, but has acquiesced in the naval demonstration.

A brigade of Austrian troops from Cattaro has been maneuvering near the Montenegrin boundary.

The customary note has not been given the Montenegrin government, and Austria's action is considered unfriendly and menacing.

OHIO DAMAGE IS $100,000,000

Work of Rehabilitation is Progressing Rapidly.

Columbus, O.—The work of rehabilitation of the flood-swept cities of Ohio is progressing rapidly. Every where progress is being made. The death toll is still unknown and will probably not be complete for months, but it will not reach over 200 throughout the entire state. All of the stricken districts have been reached with food and other supplies, while the Ohio national guard officers, has the situation well in hand as far as order and sanitation are concerned. The total property loss can be roughly estimated at present. By those who are in close touch with the situation it is placed around $100,000,000.

Based on figures on reports received from the field agents throughout the Ohio flood districts, officials of the Red Cross Society, in charge of the relief workers, issued a statement estimating that 454 persons lost their lives in last week's flood.

Ohioans numbering 77,133 need aid, according to the statement.

GLEAM OF THE EMERALD.

Its Brilliant Green Light Has No Rival on Land or Sea.

"Interesting" said an expert, "is the word that most persons apply to an emerald. There is only one other jewel which shares this quality, and that is the diamond. The emerald has also green lights, although, of course, they are entirely different from those of an emerald. The reason that makes an emerald interesting is that its beauty and value is the same that makes the woman with green eyes the most interesting of her sex. It's a light that never was on land or sea; it's a brilliant gleam that gives the accent to any sort of costume and any sort of complexion. It's just like a green of a so-called 'artistic green.' The emerald is the soul of life, light and beauty."

The emerald has the advantage of being one of the most becoming of gems. Light haired beauties claim it for their own, for they declare that nothing else will even supply, accentuate their delicate fairness so effectively. Brunettes are adorable in emeralds, especially the brunette with wavy hair. The emerald, with its blue eyes, instead of being dimmed by the jewel, gather fire and depth from its close neighborhood, and make the eyes seem much larger than when the emeralds are not near. As for the man, an emerald beauty, it is her stone par excellence.

BREAKING THE BANK.

A Feat That is No Longer Possible at Monte Carlo.

Among the chess-maniac players who played about 2000 games at Monte Carlo was Charles Wells, adventurer and inventor, who went to Monte Carlo with the money of other people, to "win it all" in his grand idea. He played, also on the simple chances, a modification of the famous method of playing the great game of roulette. Wells began with a stake of ten units, decreasing to nine if he won, but increasing to eleven if he lost. His game was a kind of swinging of the pendulum, going up one way to twenty units and the other down to one.

For a time he contrived to prosper so successfully that the tables at which he played had occasionally to stop for a few minutes until more money was brought. This was "breaking the bank" and earned Wells the honor of becoming the hero of a popular music hall song.

Nowadays, however, no successful player can have the thrilling joy of breaking the bank. As soon as it is seen that one gambler or more may reduce the funds of a table to a low level, the money is unostentatiously brought by one of the footmen, and play never stops for an instant.

Charles Wells figured in the criminal courts of Paris, where he claimed he had won $400,000 from the casino.—C. M. Williamson in McClure's Magazine.

HELD COURT IN A RIVER.

The Attorney Was in a Hurry, and the Judge Was Accommodating.

To act in a legal capacity while enjoying a morning swim—surely a unique record in the annals of our law—once fell to the lot of Vice Chancellor Shadwell.

The then Duke of Newcastle had commenced to bathe in the "river" at Chatter in such a rapid and wholesale manner as to raise the anger of his eldest son, Lord Lincoln, who, finding expostulation useless, turned to the law and sought an injunction to restrain his father. Although it was long vacated, he ordered his solicitor to press matters forward, for the magnificent trees were falling at an alarming rate.

So up to town posted the attorney and had the affidavits drawn up the same night. The following morning he repaired to the vice chancellor's house on the banks of the Thames, and found his arrival that the chancellor had gone for his morning's swim.

With exemplary presence of mind he chartered a boat and after a stiff pull came up with the judge and at once stated his case. Meanwhile the vice chancellor took water and, on the injunction being formally applied for, granted it forthwith and resumed his swim.—Tit-Bits.

DRESSING FOR ROYALTY.

The Proper Gaper When One is Invited to Windsor Castle.

Those who are invited to spend a few days with the king at Windsor are sometimes apt to be rather overcome by the grandeur they find, and an excess of shyness, something like stage fright, is in some cases the inevitable accompaniment of the first evening at the castle.

In Queen Victoria's time guests were bidden only to "dine and sleep." Therefore all they saw of their royal hosts was accomplished in a few hurried moments' conversation in the drawing room after dinner unless they happened to be near the queen at the dinner table.

This is all altered now. Guests are bidden to stop two or three days and consequently see much more of the king and queen than in former times. The question of dress always is a great problem with the ladies "commanded" to Windsor castle, instead of one's outfitting out one smart evening toilet and suitable jewels for a "dine and sleep" visit of one night, quite an outfit must be made in for three or four days' stay. No particular dress is required on arrival, as guests are shown at once to their rooms, but next morning it is necessary to appear rather smartly dressed for breakfast, which is quite a formal meal at the castle.

Then another change of toilet is required when the time comes to join the shooters at luncheon and yet another on returning to the castle for 5 o'clock tea. Every individual different outfit must be worn, suitable to the royal surroundings and proportionately expensive.—London Answers.

If, during the transition from winter to spring, you experience a lack of energy, seem tired, despondent, have backache or headache, with broken unrefreshing sleep, your system needs renovating. The inactivity of winter life and consequent closing of the pores leaves an unwholesome accumulation of impurities in the system. Your blood needs purifying. Try Dr. Wm. Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier. It is the safest and best spring medicine for old or young. A short treatment at home corrects a long list of ills that beset us in the spring, such as biliousness, sour stomach, constipation, sallowness, and aggravating eruptions of the skin. ### BETTER ROADS IN IDAHO

Bills Passed by Recent Legislature For Improvement of Highways

H. B. 207—Koelsch motor vehicle bill. Passed.
H. B. 341—Shattuck $200,000 bond issue for good roads. Passed.

On the very last day of the legislative session Idaho came into its rightful heritage as a good roads state, and it is now entitled to take its place among the truly progressive states of the Union. Among the things done by the senate on the last day of the meeting was the passage of the Koelsch and Shattuck bills, as the two good roads measures were called.

The Koelsch bill provides for the creation of a state highway commission, a special tax on motor vehicles, and for convict labor on the highways. The highway commissioners will receive no pay except necessary expenses, and the commission will have entire jurisdiction over the highways of the State. This division of the bill is modeled largely after the uniform highway law which is being adopted in all the states as rapidly as they can get to it. It looks toward a national system of roads.

A special tax is assessed on motor vehicles as follows: Under 30 horsepower, $20; 31 to 40 horsepower, inclusive, $25; 41 to 50 horsepower, inclusive, $30; above 50 horsepower, $50. All money raised from this tax and from registrations and fines will go into the road fund and will be used for no other purpose.

The third division provides for working convicts on the roads, largely following the plan pursued in Colorado. The minor details of the bills are similar to the uniform motor vehicle law.

The Shattuck bill provides for the issuance of $200,000 state bonds, the money to be used in laying out, surveying and constructing a system of state highways.

The credit of getting these laws passed is due largely to Theodore Turner, president of the Idaho State Automobile association, who has been on the ground practically all the time during the legislative session, and has spent his time in explaining the good points of the bills and showing where they would benefit every resident of the state.

Wheat in most places throughout the country is looking fine and there is very little of it smothered on the north slopes, according to reports from all directions. While there is still some snow on the north slopes it is melting rapidly and green wheat is seen peeping from underneath, which makes the rancher feel pretty good.

Straw hats are ripe, and while all are not so fortunate as to have one left over, they are becoming quite numerous.

HEAVIER FARM HORSES

Light Horses of Little Value to Rancher—More Horsepower Needed

The average weight of the farm horse has been steadily increasing for many years. The general-purpose farm horse of a generation ago was much smaller than the one used today. Then a 900 or a 1000 pound horse was considered heavy enough for all purposes, although in a few cases in every locality slightly heavier horses were used for farm work.

For a long time draft horses were considered entirely too heavy for field work and for other purposes on the mixed farm. It was held that a draft horse, weighing more than 1200 pounds, was too slow and too heavy of foot to be efficient. Moreover, it was held that the heavy horse required more feed than his extra work in special cases was worth.

Farmers of the past have had the benefit of cheap farm labor. They could afford to put a cheap hired man in the field with a light team. It is not so today. The hired man now must be paid almost twice as much as twenty-five years ago. Now he can not earn his wages driving a single light team in plowing and other heavy work. Not only must the owner and his hired man work heavier horses to make a profit on their labor, but they must work three, four and even five heavy ones together to accomplish what must be done on a paying basis. One man now in field must drive thirty tons of horse power.

Experience has shown that medium-heavy draft horses are well adapted to general farm work. They are becoming more popular every year on farms, and extra weight is more in favor. Farm horses of the future will be heavy.

GENESEE COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING

Interesting Meeting Held at Grand Central Hotel—Officers Elected—Banquet Served.

The first real meeting of the Genesee Commercial club was held on Monday night of this week and was one we'll worth the while attending, and while no very great amount of business was attended to, the club was put in good working condition and it is expected much good will come of the resurrection of the club.

The first thing on the program was a banquet, served by the management of the Grand Central hotel, and was one of the best imaginable and to which all did justice. After all had satisfied their appetites cigars were indulged in and short speeches were made by many of those present who are interested in the town in a business way and otherwise, setting forth their views as to what would be for the best interests of Genesee and surrounding country. J. T. Nelson acted as toastmaster.

H. J. Herman, president of the Farmers' Union was present and made a short address, which was along the line of good roads, which are not only a benefit to the farmer but to the merchant as well. Along this line he mentioned the fact that he had been working in the interest of good roads and had suggested that prizes be offered for the best improved and best kept road district leading into Genesee, the prizes to range as follows: $50 first, $30 second and $20 third, which would be worth the trying for and which would be an incentive to those having the roads in charge to do better work and do it at the proper time. His talk was well received and was timely and to the point.

B. H. Schoeller said when he first landed in Genesee he pined his faith to this part of the country and that it is still sticking there. He lauded the banks, farmers and business men of our little city, predicting as prosperous times in the future in the past.

W. J. Herman, who has recently returned from California, gave a short resume of his trip, telling more particularly of the fine roads they have there and stating that there is no reason why we should not have them here. We have the wealth and with the assistance of state and national good roads organizations there is nothing to hinder the Genesee valley from having as good roads as are to be found anywhere.

Fred K. Bressler also spoke along the line of good roads, stating that the commercial club should co-operate with the Farmers' union in making good roads, that the farmers may be able to get their grain to market at almost any time of the year, whereas now there are only certain times of the year that such hauling can be done.

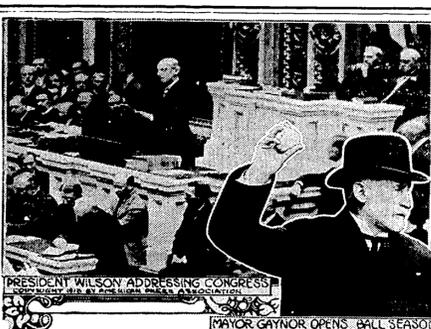

Thos. H. Herman spoke in regard to keeping the meetings going and the club alive all the year instead of allowing it to hibernate during the busy season and winter, and suggested that the only way to have a good commercial club is to have meetings at least every two weeks during the entire year.

Others present made short talks along various lines, and all were of one opinion when it came to doing things for the benefit of Genesee and surrounding country.

At the time B. H. Schoeller was made temporary chairman and business of meeting was taken up. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved, after which the following names were presented for membership and accepted: J. M. Senenbaugh, W. F. Buchholtz, O. G. Ballard, Earl Wells, Howard Wheeler, F. F. Taylor, J. M. McColl, H. J. Herman, J. G. Carrick, D. Schornhorst, G. W. R. Bold, C. E. Van den Berg and W. E. Smith. An even 44 were present at the meeting.

The election of officers being in order the following were chosen to guide the destinies of the club for another year: B. H. Schoeller, president; Thos. H. Herman, vice president; J. T. Nelson, secretary and treasurer; and the executive committee is composed of Fred K. Bressler, F. S. Casbolt and F. C. Shork.

chamber of commerce regarding securing better transportation facilities between Pullman, Genesee and Lewiston over the Northern Pacific, and which was left in the hands of the executive committee for a report at the next meeting, two weeks hence. The communication stated that Pullman was making an effort to get an early morning motor car service over this end of the line to connect with the Inland Electric at Palouse and give an early morning passenger service to Spokane. The matter should be pushed at this time and there is little reason to doubt but that the service can be secured if concerted action is brought to bear. Pullman wants it, Lewiston wants it and Genesee not only wants it, but needs it, and badly. Let's go after it in a way that will leave no misunderstanding as to our attitude in the matter.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to investigate and report regarding the building of a swimming pool made report that they thought it would be most too large an undertaking at this time. The report was accepted and committee discharged.

The question then came up regarding a ladies' auxiliary to the commercial club, and after some discussion the following committee was appointed by the chair to confer with the ladies regarding such organization: Dr. J. D. Adams, Dr. J. M. McColl and Chas. P. Whalen, which committee was instructed to make report at the next regular meeting.

It was the unanimous sense of the meeting that a horse show should be held in this city, and the matter was turned over to the executive committee to gather data regarding same. There being no further business the meeting adjourned to meet at the Grand Central hotel two weeks hence.

Preparations are being made by the Lewiston high school for the interscholastic track meet and declamatory contest between high schools of eastern Washington and central Idaho to be held in Lewiston Friday, April 25. Fifteen events are scheduled and handsome silver cups and gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to winners. The declamatory contest will be held Friday evening.

If there is anything in the transposition of soil for inoculation purposes, then the Genesee country should have the very best fruit prospects—that is, if they can raise the fruit they claim to at Kennewick—for during the past two days the air has been very heavy with Kennewick and Pasco soil. No wonder they have to have such an enormous price for what they have left when it is placed on the market for barter and sale.

There has been a little of all kinds of weather this week, and especially Monday and Tuesday, when it was cloudy, sunshine, rain, snow, sleet, and the wind rarer inclined to be not only cool, but cold. Old Man Winter must have been in a trance and is "coming-to."

The Farmers' union on Wednesday sold to Mons Hanson of Moscow a fine lot of hogs—100 in all—at $8.25.

Chenea Is Free Man Once More
Lewiston.—On motion of prosecuting attorney Miles S. Johnson P. S. Chenea of Pomeroy, recently found not guilty of the murder of Blanche Gorman, by reason of insanity, and later pronounced sane, was discharged by Judge Steele after a severe lecture.

Chenea informed Sheriff Harry Lyon a few days ago that there were two things which he would never do again, and that was to take a drink of whiskey or carry a gun.

RANCHER SHOT AND KILLED

Henry Brown, Age 64, is Slain by Guy Buster, 25—Refuses to Talk.

North Fork.—Henry Brown, aged 64, part owner of the Brown and Hovey ranch on the North Fork river, was shot three times and instantly killed by Guy Buster, aged 25. Buster gave himself up to the sheriff.

A coroner's jury found that Buster did the killing. Brown was a highly respected fruit rancher and sheepman. He leaves a widow and two children. Buster refuses to talk.

State Seeks Corbett Estate.

Coeur d'Alene.—Suit was instituted in the district court in the name of the state of Idaho against Lawrence F. Connelly of Harrison (who was and still is the administrator of the estate of John Corbett, deceased) and John J. Rosabelle, and William Connelly and Joseph Kroetsch for the purpose of escheating the estate to the state, including the interest and increments which have accumulated since the death of Corbett in January, 1907. The plaintiff alleges fraud on the part of the defendant administrator and each of the codefendants. The property is worth $75,000.

Marooned in Tree Tops

LaCrosse.—Thomas H. Shobe and H. T. Ecton spent a night in the top of a willow tree in the middle of the Palouse river. Mr. Shobe owns a ranch on the opposite side of the river, and in an attempt to cross the boat in which the two men were crossing became unmanageable, and the swift water of the Palouse, which is running bank full, drove the boat into the tree tops. It upset and threw the men into the branches, where they clung until rescued in the morning.

WOMEN SCORE LAWMAKERS

Failure of Favored Measures to Pass in Legislature Inspires Criticism

Boise.—The club women of Idaho are up in arms over the failure of their measures to weather the storm in both houses of the legislature and through their magazine the "Idaho Club Women," they score the solons for their attitude. They appeal to their sisters to elect members of their own sex if they want real representation.

The club women "fathered" four measures; the first a bill providing eight hours as a day's labor for women; a marriage measure seeking to provide physical examinations for applicants wishing to take matrimonial vows; a proposed law making wife desertion a felony, and the Iowa abatement measure. In addition to these there were several other measures of interest to the women of the state.

The mothers' pension bill, which was indorsed by the Mothers' Congress of Women's Clubs, was passed, although it was introduced independently of all women's organizations.

Wilson Keeps Out of Democratic Strife

Boise.—The factional fight that is being waged in Idaho among leading Democrats has already had enough impetus to be carried to President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan, and the Commander has been forced to follow out the edict issued by the president that the Idaho factions must smoke the pipe of peace before the federal pie will be distributed.

In the meantime, Republican federal office holders are still enjoying salaries at the rate of about $100,000 a year.

Flood in Northern Idaho.

Murray.—Murray and the north side of the Coeur d'Alenes remain isolated from the world, so far as railroad communications are concerned, and little hopes are entertained to have through service again this month. The local train and crew, stalled here, as well as a section crew and 10 local men, have been busy blasting rock and filling in washouts between here and Waiter station.

There are four washouts, averaging 125 feet each, and needing a 10-foot fill between Murray and Pritchard, seven miles below here.

Only first class mail has arrived here, and it was brought over from Wallace on horseback.

NEWS NOTES OF IDAHO

The farmers' union warehouse was broken into at Culedeas and robbed and a considerable sum of money and papers were taken from the office. Fayette valley, in the southern Idaho-Oregon district of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors, will turn over 1350 carloads of fruit to the central marketing and distributing organization.

Beginning June 1, Robert H. Barton of Moscow will be commandant at the soldiers' home. Dr. Fred W. Pittenger will be physician, and E. G. Burnet of Boise will be adjutant and pharmacist.

A freight car filled with barley was wrecked on the Clearwater line within a few rods of the scene of the accident in which Conductor Poplinski lost his life. Traffic was delayed until the wrecker could be brought to clear the track.

A sawmill belonging to Turnbull brothers, near Stagle, was partially destroyed by fire. Between 4000 and 5000 ties were also burned and 400,000 feet of lumber. The Turnbulls carried no insurance and estimate their loss at about $5000.

The apple crop of the Weiser district will again be marketed through the Northwestern Fruit Exchange of Portland, as it has been for the past two seasons. The Weiser River Fruit association renewed its contract with the Portland organization for the third consecutive year.

An epoch in the history of the University of Idaho was closed when the meeting of the last board of regents adjourned. All joined in expression of their doubts as to the wisdom of a university's not having a board of regents of its own, even though it was subject to a state board of control.

The Kellogg mine owners and operators are not alone in their fight to prevent a lowering of the present duty on lead and zinc, the industrial union of Wardner-Kielog, the membership including the majority of the underground miners in the Bunker Hill & Sullivan, having voiced a strong protest.

Sheep men in the Lewiston vicinity do not expect their flocks to lamb over 80 per cent average. The long winter left the ewes weak and there is now plenty of grass the effect of the long winter is still apparent among the flocks. The sheep, however, all have heavy fleeces. Shearing will begin about May 1.

There is the usual spring death of miners in the Kellogg mining properties. Every night a number of men draw their time and leave the district, the farms calling them. It is the same each year. The men are content to work underground during the winter, but when the sun is bright they leave for the fields and woods.

Horses and grading machinery are being assembled at Lewiston by A. Johnson, president of the Nez Perce & Idaho railroad, and camps will be established. It is the intention of Mr. Johnson, if possible, to have the road graded and ties and rails laid into the Tammany district by fall, so that the wheat crop from that district can be hauled.

Peter Burns and Jack Stewart, convicted of burglary at Lewiston, have been sentenced to the state penitentiary for from six months to five years. William Moran, Jack Moore and Ray Chester Chasteen were each sentenced to four months in the county jail, and Arthur Chasteen to three months in the county jail.

Dr. A. D. McCrackin and Richard Thomas made a perilous trip to Kellogg via Kellogg peak in the hope of ending the snow. The big cougar which had been seen in that vicinity. They found the snow over 10 feet deep in many places and travel was difficult. Although the dogs raised the company they were too far from the hunters to permit them to get within range.

The university cadets, under command of Lieutenant John F. Franklin, U. S. A., have left for the annual encampment at Hayden lake, Idaho. Traffic Manager Waldo G. Paine, on behalf of the Hayden Lake Improvement company, has given the use of cottages and cots. Commandant Franklin stated that he had two companies of cadets and a band on the trip.

All the state cut-over lands of Latah county will be placed on the market for sale at public auction this fall if plans now being matured by the Idaho state board of land commissioners come to fruition. Approximately one-twentieth of the entire state lands of Idaho are in eastern Latah county, and if Commissioner Day places them all on the market this fall a great influx of settlers into the territory surrounding Deary is expected.

While working in one of the slopes of the Snowstorm mine, near Sulphur, Alfred Andrieux, aged 52 years, fell through the floor of the slope to the waste below, a distance of about 20 feet, breaking his back at the first lumbar vertebrae, with the result that from the waist down he is completely paralyzed. A rib was also broken in the fall, which punctured one of the lungs. There is scant hope of his recovery. Mr. Andrieux is an old resident of this district.

SWEAT PADS

We have added to our line of Sweat Pads until we now carry a complete list of sizes in five different grades, and our prices are as low as they can be sold. Do not forget to see us for Pads.

A large assortment of harness to select from, and we defy competition to undersell us. No piece of leather work leaves our workshop without personal inspection of a skilled workman, and if we say it's good, it is good.

Has Made Its Way By the Way It's Made

WHEN we began marketing the International Commercial Car six years ago the one idea uppermost was to sell a useful car. That meant—a car for country roads, that would safely carry a reasonable load, always get there and back, and last long enough to be very profitable.

Some of those first cars are still doing an honest day's work every day. All of them paid for themselves. None of them was so efficient as the car we sell today. Now is the time to buy an

International Commercial Car

For the merchant engaged in any business requiring much light hauling, or prompt deliveries; for the business man who wishes to extend his territory; for the man who wants to cut down delivery expenses and at the same time be progressive and up-to-date, an International Commercial Car is a good investment.

Simple, sure, powerful, it climbs hills, goes through mud-holes and sandy stretches, anywhere a team can travel at any speed from 3 to 18 miles an hour. Transmission is simple and direct. Brakes are powerful. Bearings are strong. A single lever controls the car. Write for catalogues and any information desired.

High School Play a Success.
The high school play, "The Senior," given in the Genesee opera house last Friday night, was a decided success, both as a play well presented and from a financial standpoint, the entertainment netting the Athletic association about $35.00, which was applied to the indebtedness incurred by the basketball games of the past winter.

It would be hardly fair to pick any of the players as being especially good—one more than the other—as all carried their parts exceedingly well, and for the length of time put in on the play it showed that there is some good material along that line in Genesee and the people are all justly proud of the effort made by the high school pupils in the presentation of the play.

Mrs. Will Herman acted as pianist, and there were piano duets by Miss Hasforth and Miss Faith Follett, and Miss Myrtle Peterson and Miss Gladys Larrabee, which were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. There were vocal duets by Misses Esther Orth and Laura Phipps, and Misses Irah Larrabee and Ruby Tiffany.

Taken as a whole it was a splendid entertainment and entitled to the liberal patronage received.

CHURCH SERVICES

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. and Young Peoples' meeting at 7 p. m. Bible study and prayer meeting Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the church. Please note the change in the time of our evening service.

If you are not attending Sunday school elsewhere come and visit ours, and see how you like us. Our school is well organized and is doing good work. We use the graded system of lessons in every department of our school. Have an adult Bible class, a large Baracca or young men's class in charge of Dr. McColl, two junior Baracca classes for the boys and girls in their "teens," and a Philathea class for the young women—all enthusiastic in their work. Our superintendent is wide awake, our school is on the "front line" list and we are sure if you come we can find just the right place for you. At present we are taking a trip to Palestine. The men and boys' ship so far is a little ahead of the ship carrying the gentler sex, and the interest in the race is keen. Although we are several hundred miles out at sea we will stop any time to take on new passengers. Better join us next Sunday.

The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning will be, "Christ the Great Teacher." In the evening the sermon will be for young people, and the subject will be, "Some things that keep young people from Christ and the Church." We intend to hear this sermon and are especially invited to the evening service. Every young man and woman in the community is urged to attend this service. Don't miss it—you will enjoy the music and there will be helpful thoughts for you in the sermon. Special music at both services.

A. P. ORTH, Pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH
Next Sunday at the Methodist church there will be services as follows:
Sunday school at 10 a. m. and preaching at 11, subject, "The Supernatural in Our Religion." Junior league at 3 p. m. Mrs. Carrick, superintendent and Miss Ruth Morgan, president. Senior league at 7 p. m., led by Mrs. Arthur Hampton. Preaching at 8 p. m., subject, "Lulled to Sleep and Inactivity by Our High Ideals."

Pastor Babcock will sing at the morning service and W. H. Cook at the evening service.

Come with us and we will endeavor to teach you the way of life. We will try to give you such instructions that when you come to pass over the river there will be no regrets.

"Shadows no need of shadows, when at last we lay life's burdens down."
J. G. CARRICK, Pastor

CHURCH OF CHRIST
"Nothing Succeeds like Success." With delegates attending the convention at Pottlatch and no preaching service our Bible school made a long stride towards its July aim—88 present and $3.53 collection. We were glad to see so large a Bible class—keep it up. Let our slogan be, "Take the Children to Bible school," not "send."

Next Sunday closes our red and blue contest. Let every one be there. Regular preaching services at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Expect to have Baptisms at the morning service. The subject is the evening will be the "Mission of Music," and there will be suitable music at this time.

Young Peoples' meeting at 7 o'clock. All are cordially invited to be present at all these services.

E. M. PATTERSON, Minister.

OUR SAVIOUR'S CHURCH
Norwegian services in Our Saviour's Lutheran church, north of town on Sunday at 11 a. m. All are cordially invited.

The L. Y. P. S. of Genesee valley had a very enjoyable meeting last Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hove. There were about sixty present, but in Mr. Hove's new magnificent mansion there was room enough and to spare. A constitution was adopted and the society is henceforth to be known by the name of The Lutheran Young Peoples' Society of Genesee Valley. A good program was rendered consisting of music, recitations, reading, and a short talk by Rev. Breivik. After the program a sumptuous luncheon was served. The next meeting will be held May 4.

G. I. BREVIK, Pastor.

GERMAN LUTHERAN
English services will be held in the German Lutheran church next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. and Lutheran League at 1:30 p. m.

A. F. WOLFF, Pastor.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL
Strong Pressure to be Brought to Bear on Senate by Protectionists

Washington.—Opponents of the Underwood tariff are going to make their great fight in the senate. The manner in which the Democratic caucus of the house has stood by the ways and means committee is proof positive that any effort to secure changes during the consideration of the bill in the house will be futile. It appears that pressure will be brought upon the senate by means of petitions, letters, personal interviews and other means. The interest of so-called lobbyists will be employed by different interests to work for a change in rates. But it is expected that the most important results will be reached by petition and appeals to the constituents of senators. Not only manufacturers, but workmen employed in different industries, are expected to write to their senators urging changes in the tariff. It is also expected that the protectionists will be urged to write to their senators urging changes in the tariff. It is also expected that the protectionists will be urged to write to their senators urging changes in the tariff.

SOME BALL GAME.

North and South Siders Crossed Bats Last Friday—Another Big Game This Afternoon

On Friday of last week the baseball fever seized some of the semi-fans of our little city and a desire to get out and take a whack at the pellet was created by a few agitators of the great American game, and by the middle of the afternoon enough would-be swatters were secured to pull off one of the biggest games of the season—from a numerical standpoint, and the teams were styled "North" and "South" sides, being taken from each side of Main street. A few of those who felt the need of a try-out went early to the ballground and began practice—with the result that when the big game was called they were about all in. About four o'clock the game was started and the playing was fast and furious and the sprouting which accompanied it was something worth seeing, especially when the pellet was allowed to slip through the fielders' fingers and it had to be chased to the fence or brought from the far side on account of a wild throw. However, some good work was done and a good game with much fun was the result. One of the many fancy plays played off was that by J. H. Jackson, who tried to make a running jump on the ball as it whizzed past him some ten feet away, while the wind-up apparatus in Dr. McColl's arm as he prepared to deliver the ball was a good deal on the order of the old time Waterbury watch. Walter Buchholz also gave a very good imitation of the old time "slide, Kelly, slide" movement when he tried to catch a fly and his feet went faster than his body, resulting in a drag-like movement toward the home plate. There were divers and numerous other stunts pulled off, but the scorekeeper failed to get them all down, hence we have to omit them, and after the smoke of battle cleared away and those who had come to the rescue of their friends had thoroughly searched the debris it was found that the score was 7 to 10 in favor of the "South" side and the "North" side has vowed vengeance on their foes and promise them a "drubbing" they will not soon forget. "Kelly up, Casey on deck!"

J. A. Hillbard was re-elected superintendent of the Wardner-Kellogg schools and for the fourth consecutive year will be in charge of the school work there.
The registration books for the Lewiston primary election closed with 608 voters registering for the election to be held Monday, May 5. Only one ticket has been filed.
Encouraged by the success of the celebration last year the business men of Wardner and Kellogg have decided to have another big celebration of the Fourth of July, the two towns joining. Upon complaint of M. A. Holmington, editor of the Plummer Reporter, Deputy Sheriff Harry Sawyer of Coeur d'Alene placed under arrest the village marshal, William Marlow, to answer to a charge of battery in the probate court in that city.
The lessees of the Tyler mine at Kellogg have leased the old south mill of the Bunker Hill & Sullivan company and will place it in operation as soon as possible, working one shift in the mill, which has a capacity of 250 tons in eight hours.
Fred Oman, 28 years of age, of Bonners Ferry, while working on the state bridge, spinning the Kootenai river, struck a live wire with a hammer he was using while working 18 feet above the floor of the bridge. Oman fell to the floor unconscious, but he will recover.

The West Coast Portland Cement Company has obtained patent to valuable lime rock deposits near Lime Point on Snake river. This company is building a large cement plant at Asotin and the rock will be taken by boat from the quarry to the plant at Asotin.
Lee Guy, a farmer of the Blain section near Moscow, was arrested by the sheriff's office and arraigned before Probate Judge Morgardner on a charge of disturbing the peace of one of his neighbors. Mr. Guy was placed under $100 cash bonds and the hearing postponed until some future date.
Determined to profit by Idaho's success in the exchange of state school lands tied up within forest reserves Attorney General W. T. Tanager and State Land Commissioner Clark Y. Savidge of the state of Washington came to Boise and held a long conference with the state land board.

The county commissioners at Sand Point granted the petition of the Kanakuba Boom and Navigation company for a license giving them power to collect tolls for sorting logs and other timber products in their booms at the mouth of Priest river. The commissioners, however, established the rate of the license at $100 per year.
The rose committee of the commercial club of Lewiston will issue a call to all persons in Lewiston-Clarkston and Astin interested in the culture of roses to meet at the clubrooms Monday, May 13, for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization. At this time plans for the annual rose carnival will be made.
The construction of a storm sewer system in the paving district at Moscow is under full headway by the Bird-Mendenhall Construction company, which has the contract for the paving of 70,000 yards there this summer. The company has installed a steam power ditching machine and has from 75 to 100 men working.
Announcement has been made that the appointment for receiver of the Coeur d'Alene land office has been made by that office goes to Attorney Frank Langley and that Attorney J. L. McClear of Coeur d'Alene has been recommended for United States attorney and that the appointment has been confirmed.
Deputy United States Marshal William Schultz of Lewiston arrested Lillian Newby of Jacques Spur on the Nez Perce Indian reservation. He was taken before United States Commissioner O'Neil, where he waived examination and was committed to the county jail in default of bonds.
M. C. Weir and Fred Schekora, both of Spokane, have purchased the Northern Idaho Lumber company mill at Latah from O. L. Triplett and will operate it together with one or two small plants in the same territory and at Medford. The plant has been shut down for repairs for several weeks, but will resume within a week with a full crew, both day and night.

Statesmanship and the Farmer

For a long time the so-called national policy of the United States has been expressed in the term "diversified industries." Our original and principal industry was farming. The protectionists held that we must be a manufacturing nation, and in order to bring this condition into effect we were willing to erect a barrier of almost prohibitive duties against foreign goods. Statesmanship now turns again to the manufacturer to the farmer, but it uses new methods. It does not propose to help the farmer by protective tariffs, but by promoting the success of his business in two ways. The first way is that used through the Department of Agriculture, the experiment stations, and the agricultural colleges. This form of statesmanship aims to propagate scientific agriculture. It inculcates right uses of the soil, and endeavors to improve in every way the quantity and quality of farm production. The second kind of statesmanship applied to agriculture is that which is concerned with markets, and endeavors to help solve the problem of the cost of living by bringing producer and consumer into closer relationship, to the advantage of both. The Department of Agriculture, under the new Secretary, Dr. Houston, proposes henceforth to give greatly increased attention to the subject of the organization of farmers for the more effective sale of their products. Cooperative credit, provided in one way or another will enable groups of farmers in any given neighborhood to use capital like business men,—that is to say, like merchants and manufacturers—both to help in efficient production and also in handling and marketing. The local cooperation of farmers, whether for purchase of supplies, such as machinery and fertilizers, or for marketing their products, is to have increased assistance and encouragement, we are informed, from the Government at Washington.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews.

An Insufferable Nuisance

By MARTHA B. PARKER

David Matthews, a very young and fashionable bachelor, who drove in his auto all by himself, was turning a corner at the rate of twenty miles an hour when he spied another machine, driven by a young lady, coming toward him. He slowed down at once and swung far around to his right. The young lady lost her head and swung to her left. There was a crash, and the girl lay in the middle of the street motionless.

David, who was uninjured, gave a leap and landing beside her, picked her up. She opened her eyes and looked at him in a dazed fashion, as if wondering how she happened to be lying in the street in the arms of a handsome young man. Then the propriety of the situation came over her and she sat up, looking at him with a look of indignation. "What are you doing here?" she asked. "I don't know," he replied. "I was driving my car and you were driving yours and we crashed into each other."

"Well, I declare!" she exclaimed. "The gentleman who had caused all this trouble was surely thanking God that the automobile had been smashed instead of the girl."

"Are you sure you're not hurt?" he asked.

"Oh, my goodness gracious!" she cried. "It can never be put together again in the world."

As to the information relative to how far she had been injured, she gave it by falling in his arms and placed her on the broad back seat.

"Confound a woman!" he exclaimed. "You never can tell what she's going to do!"

He was fanning the unconscious girl with his hat, wondering what to do next when she revived again and, seeing a crowd gathering and gazing at her, she made a dive for the door of the car.

"What in thunder are you going to do?" cried Matthews.

"I'm going to go home," she said.

"Stay where you are till I find out if my machine will go, and if it will I'll take you home."

All this happened within a few minutes. The machinery of Mr. Matthews' auto was still running (but not clutched) like a five story flour mill. Jumping into the front seat, he put on the clutch and the car moved forward, leaving the gaping crowd behind. Then the girl forgot the latter and remembered her car.

"My auto, my poor auto! I'm not going to leave it there in the street."

"Confound your auto," muttered David between his teeth. But instead of saying it to the girl he turned in his seat and said almost fiercely:

"Now, stop this confounded nonsense and tell me whether to take you, to a doctor's or home."

"You horrid thing!" she showed signs of another collapse, and Matthews was beside himself to know what to do. Looking up and down the street, his eye caught a doctor's sign, and, pulling up beside the curb, he jumped out, opened the car door and leaned forward to take the girl in his arms with a view to carrying her into the house. But she suddenly revived.

"What are you stopping here for?" she asked impatiently.

"For a doctor."

"I don't want a doctor. I won't have a doctor. Take me home!"

Matthews slammed the door and resumed his seat. "Will you kindly tell me where you live?" he asked.

"What's going to become of my new auto?"

"It's going to be a junk shop."

"Oh, dear!" she moaned. "Papa gave it to me only yesterday."

"For heaven's sake do tell me where you live. Of course I'll replace your auto and glad enough to get rid of it!" He paused to avoid being rude.

"Oh, you want to get rid of me, do you? I have you just as I understand that it was you who ran into my auto, not I who ran into yours."

Matthews gashed his teeth, then by an effort pulled himself together and, looking the girl in the face, said with great firmness:

"If you'll kindly tell me where you live I will drive you home, where you may have the attention you need, and you shall have a new car as soon as it can be obtained."

"Oh, well, I live at No. — G. street. Oh, dear!"

"What's the matter now?"

"My bundle!"

"What bundle?"

"Why, I bought a yard of ruching at—"

He drowned the rest of it with his horn, as well as an expulsive condemning the yard of ruching to a place where it would be expatriated in an instant, growling to himself that a woman was an insufferable nuisance and if he ever got rid of that one he hoped he might escape the rest of the sex during the balance of his life.

Vain hope! Within six months he was walking up the aisle of a church with a big chrysanthemum in his buttonhole and the insufferable nuisance on his arm. Instead of knitting his brows and growling, he wore a smile like the cat that ate the canary.

LEWISTON TRACK MEET

Martinson Secures Eleven Points for Genesee—Team Attends Moscow Meet

Track teams from eleven schools in northern Idaho and eastern Washington were present at the fourth annual interscholastic track meet. The points were distributed as follows: Ashton 27, Nez Perce 27, Moscow 24, Grangeville 15, Genesee 11, State Normal 6, Caldesac 6, and Clarkston 5, several schools winning nothing.

The preliminaries were run in the morning, even including the 440 yard dash, and left the team tired for the afternoon, but notwithstanding, many new records were set. Martinson proved our only point winner and carried off two first places—the hammer and the shot, and took a third place in the discus throw.

Moscow won the relay in a close and exciting race. Harpke of Nez Perce, by taking firsts in the high jump and high hurdles, and second in shot put and discus throw won the individual cup. The mile run was by far the fastest ever run at Lewiston and the finish was so close that only the judges could pick the winner. The high jump was also a hard fought and interesting contest. The day was perfect, if a little warm for our boys, and a large crowd enthusiastically watched every event. About twenty-five were in attendance from Genesee.

The high school track team is in attendance at the Idaho Inter-scholastic track meet at Moscow, which convened yesterday and today.

On last Saturday the fourth and fifth grades of the grade school played ball and contested against the sixth and seventh grades at the ball ground. The boys of the fourth and fifth grades won out in all the events except baseball, when the older boys defeated them by a score of 23 to 14.

In "the track meet" the younger boys put it over the older ones 43 to 18 points, which is going some for the little fellows. The school boys will play a grade team from Uniontown on Saturday at 2 o'clock if the weather man does not interfere.

Melvin Wardrobe and Clyde Armstrong were Thursday morning passengers for Moscow to attend the track meet.

The Knights of Columbus held initiation ceremonies last Sunday in the I. O. O. F. hall in this city and a great time was the result. Some 20 candidates were given an opportunity to ride the goat, and while the animal got pretty tired before all had been given an opportunity it held out till the last one had been given all the fancy sidesteps and the short stops. A banquet was served by the ladies in the opera house, which was conceded to be one of the finest, from a culinary standpoint, that has ever been attempted in this little city.

A GRAND GOOD TIME

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Hold Joint Celebration—Large Attendance

Tuesday evening of this week the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs assembled in I. O. O. F. hall to once more celebrate the anniversary of Odd Fellowship, this being the ninety-fourth anniversary of that order. A most sumptuous banquet was served at 7 o'clock, a few of the members giving a party, and all enjoyed the abundance of good things set before them. The Rebekahs, who were invited to the banquet, were most generous in their contributions and their delicious dishes and generous giving. After the banquet a program of music—instrumental and vocal—and recitations was rendered, which was fully appreciated, particularly the members given by the Rebekahs. The Rebekahs were favored at this time by the presence of their Assembly president, Mrs. Retta Holman, of Moscow, who gave a talk on the growth and prosperity of the order, and expressed her loyalty to both Odd Fellowship and Rebekahism, and was delighted to meet with them at this time. As a happy climax to an already very pleasant evening, a few of the "younger" people indulged in tripping the light fantastic. And thus ended the celebration of the ninety-fourth anniversary of Odd Fellowship.

Louis Merzes Killed
Louis Merzes, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Merzes, former resident of this place, was instantly killed last Friday about 11 o'clock at Tekoa, by being run over by a Milwaukee train. The lad and a depot employee were riding on a small handcar in the railroad yards, when they discovered a freight train coming behind them. They lifted the car from the track and were to all appearances out of danger of being hit by the train, when in some manner young Merzes fell backward and his head and one of his arms were crushed beneath the wheels. The lad, with his parents, removed from Genesee to Tekoa only last summer, and were engaged in keeping a boarding house there. They are well known here and have a host of friends who deeply sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Deceased leaves, besides his father and mother, one brother and five sisters. Mrs. Victor Hasfurther of this place is an aunt. The funeral was held in the Catholic church in Tekoa Tuesday morning and burial was in the Catholic cemetery at that place.

A Garden Cinderella
If you could choose only one flower from all the plants in the world, it would be the nasturtium, for its beauty of leaf, bud, blossom and seed-pod, its delightful fragrance, entirely devoid of sicknesses, its few requirements, and its long season of bloom. Not many other garden flowers have all these good points in their favor. Although it has pushed its way in to flower society from the vegetable garden, this Cinderella of the blossoms richly deserves the position it has attained, not only on the score of good looks, but also that of fine character, which is more than can be said of some "dainties."

A generous handful of these flame-colored blossoms, so spicily sweet, set off by the plant's own cool-green, white-veined leaves, when arranged in a clear glass bowl on a snowy cloth, will make the plainest meal attractive. These bright blossoms do not combine steeliness or garish gaudiness to them. They can be arranged gracefully in a common brown butter-cream, however, and look well in the unpretentious ware—"The Ladies' World and Housekeeper for May."

French Furnishes Own Help
One of the conditions that works a great hardship upon Representatives in Congress from the western states is the meager allowance made to the members for clerical assistance and even for office furniture and accommodations.

A senator may have two, three or four and sometimes more clerks, and as many rooms for the handling of his work. The house members have but one room and meager allowance for clerical assistance, including a typewriter desk and typewriter.

Several of the members from the western states are so flooded with work that they have been compelled to put in their rooms additional typewriters and furniture, and employ additional clerical help at their own expense.

One of the new members who had passed the office of Representative French several times, noticed that there were two typewriters in his office and he immediately endeavored to obtain an extra one for his own use. Not succeeding he met Mr. French on the floor of the House and drawing him aside asked in most confidential manner how he obtained his extra typewriter.

Mr. French increased the mystery by drawing the new member still further away and then whispered into his ear, "I bought it."

ANTI-ALIEN BILL IN CALIFORNIA PASSED

Johnson Will Withhold Signature Until Bryan Confers With President Wilson

Sacramento.—The California anti-alien land holding act which passed both houses of the legislature within 24 hours after bringing about one of the most unusual situations in the history of the nation, will lie on Governor Johnson's desk without his signature until Secretary of State Bryan confers with President Wilson in Washington.

Defeated finally in his diplomatic effort to dissuade the California legislature from enacting an alien land bill affecting the Japanese, Secretary of State Bryan declared that he looked to the people of the state to express a final judgment through the referendum, before the act shall go into effect.

Secretary Bryan in his final address voiced the president's opinion that the words "eligible to citizenship," constituted in the California attorney general's draft of the alien land measure the words "ineligible to citizenship," are equally as discriminatory and, therefore, equally objectionable to Japan.

Until the final amendment was added permitting aliens ineligible to citizenship to lease agricultural lands for three years, the measure was the most drastic of any that had been proposed. Now, however, it is asserted by many that it will accomplish little, inasmuch as it does not stipulate that the leases may not be renewed again and again.

JAPANESE COMMEND WILSON
Leaders in Tokio Advise People to Preserve Calm Attitude

Tokio.—The Japanese press expressed a general appreciation of the efforts of President Wilson in behalf of a land bill in California that would not be objectionable to the Japanese. Leaders of public opinion in Japan are advising that an attitude of calmness be maintained in the present situation. Such men as Baron Shibusawa and Chairman Nakano, of the Tokio Chamber of commerce, publicly assert confidence that the American government and people alike are opposed to discriminatory measures of legislation. They declare that every effort now must be made to discover and eradicate the root of antagonism to the Japanese in California, that amicable relations may be restored.

News Snapshots Of the Week

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF COMMERCIAL CLUB
Good Attendance—Splendid Banquet Served

On Monday night a very enthusiastic meeting of the Genesee Commercial club was held in the Grand Central hotel at which 32 boosters were present from Pullman, who came here in the interests of better train service for Pullman and all the towns on the Genesee branch.

The Pullman delegation—32 strong—including a number of delegates from Johnson, Colton and Uniontown, arrived in the city about 6 o'clock, having come overland in automobiles and were shown around our little city, one of the principal points of interest being the large horse barn of Follett & Schooler, where the visitors were shown as fine lot of horses as can be seen in any part of the United States, barring no place, after which all repaired to the hotel where at about 7:30 o'clock all sat down to a fine banquet, which had been gotten up by Mrs. Whaley, Landlord Whaley being absent from the city, which speaks well for the hotel service in our little city, she not knowing how many would be present until after the noon hour on Monday. There were even 80 present in the gathering.

After all had partaken of the bountiful supper the Pullman delegates stated the object of their trip, setting forth the fact that they wanted better train service between Pullman and Spokane, and asked the co-operation of the citizens of Genesee, Mr. Hanson of that city setting forth the advantages to be derived by the placing in service of a motor car from Genesee to Palouse to connect with the Inland Electric line, thus giving an early morning service to Spokane and permitting of the transaction of business in that city and returning home the same day, he later presenting a petition which was left with the Genesee club for signatures, which will later be presented, with others, to the officials of the Northern Pacific railway for consideration.

Wm. Goodyear of the Pullman Herald made a very interesting talk along the line of better railroad service and what might be accomplished through cooperation, speaking particularly in favor of the proposed betterment of railroad service.

Mr. Boyle of Colton stated that he was not in favor of any change in the present service and could not see where there would be any benefit to Colton in the proposed motor-car service to Spokane, taking chances of later being reduced to a mixed service.

L. E. Wenham of the Pullman Herald was in favor of securing better railroad accommodations and thought it could be secured if gone about in the proper way and that cooperation is not only necessary in securing the desired motor service but is necessary for the accomplishment of anything for the good of the public.

Mr. Bean, banker at Uniontown, thought the line and service should be improved and that we should be given not only better facilities but better rolling stock and the road placed in repair in order that better time might be safely made, stating that this line—the combined receipts—paid better than any part of the Northern Pacific system of the same length, and if they have anything better, we are entitled to it.

Scott Jamar of Pullman talked on good roads—not only better railroads but better wagon roads, by having which all were brought closer together in a commercial way. Good wagon roads are a necessity, not only for the betterment of the towns but for the best interests of the farmer and stock-raiser. Good roads are a necessity—both rail and wagon.

Wool Schedule Is Passed by the House—Republican Amendments Are Killed

Washington.—The wool schedule was passed without amendment by the house in its consideration of the Underwood tariff bill. It went through with little excitement, its passage causing scarcely a ripple on the smooth waters of the democratic tariff program.

The republicans concentrated their attacks on the schedule by presenting a blanket amendment as a substitute for it. This substitute, prepared by Representative Payne, provided a rate of 18 cents a pound on raw wool, placed on the free list in the Underwood bill, and comparative rates based on a duty of 18 cents a pound on the wool contents of the various stages of manufactured wools.

The republicans proclaimed their substitute to be in conformity with the report which the tariff board made on the woolen industry, made two years ago. The democrats as emphatically declared that it was not.

An expected defection from party lines by democratic members representing woolgrowing states failed to materialize in the vote on raw wool. The republican substitute was defeated and the Underwood schedule passed 74 to 193.

The progressives who voted with the democrats were: Murdock of Kansas, Kelley of Tennessee, Chandler of New York, and Bryan and Fairaker of Washington.

Good Roads Committee Proposed
Washington.—Good roads legislation is considered of such importance that leading democrats propose to create a new standing committee in the house to be known as the committee on good roads.

Provision for such a committee of 21 was made in a resolution introduced by Representative Henry of Texas. Should the committee be created it would take from the present committee on post-roads and post-roads a part of its work. Mr. Henry declared that more than 50 good roads measures already introduced which ordinarily would go to numerous standing committees should go to one and in violation of the existing treaty of trade and commerce between America and Great Britain.

The British government has joined the nations in protest against that portion of the tariff bill which extends a preferential difference of 5 per cent on goods imported in American bottoms.

It is understood the democratic tariff managers in the house, who were all first disposed to permit the senate to deal with this question, it being one involving treaty relations, which belong to the upper house, have recognized the force of the objections that have accumulated from all quarters and will themselves remove the objectionable provision by an amendment when the administrative section of the bill containing it is reached.

Japan Will Enter Formal Protest
News that the Japanese government had instructed Ambassador Chinda to make formal protest against the California anti-alien land bill, now awaiting Governor Johnson's signature, was received in Washington official circles with interest, although it was not unexpected.

It is taken for granted in official circles here that legal proceedings will follow the enactment of the bill into law.

Japan believes its treaty rights should be taken to The Hague for adjustment, but it is probable the department of justice and the state department will hold that the proper procedure will be for Japanese affected by the legislation to appeal to the federal courts.

When complete, the bridge built across Snake river by Perry for the O.W. R. & N. Co., will be one of the largest structures of its kind in the western portion of the United States. The bridge is 4000 feet in length, crossing the river from high bluffs. It is 340 feet from the base of the center pier to the base of the piers, and 246 feet from the top of the pier to the rail. The rails are 240 feet above the average low water mark.

THE IMPORTANCE OF GOOD WAGON ROADS

Are a Necessity in the Upbuilding of Any Community—Save Money for All

In the up-building of country towns, making farming more profitable and rural life more pleasant, there is nothing of greater importance than good roads.

Every farmer is vitally interested in good roads and should give the movement his active support in his community. The farmers are the ones who suffer most from bad roads for the simple reason that the most expensive transportation of farm products is from the farm to the railroad station. The haulage to the nearest best market or shipping point must be counted as part of the cost of production; it comes out of the price received by the farmer for his produce. Better roads will save hundreds of millions of dollars annually to the farmers of the United States.

Good roads facilitate and increase communication between the country and the town and therefore stimulate business and increase the trading radius of any town or city which has good roads leading into it from the country. Every merchant should be a loyal supporter of the good roads movement which means a more prosperous country community and that the home town will get more of the trade.

By diminishing the expense of carriage and facilitating highway travel, good roads put the remote parts of the country more nearly upon a level with those in the close neighborhood of the town or city; they give the country dweller every advantage of the city while retaining the greater room and healthfulness of country life.

The sooner we realize that bad roads are in reality more costly than good roads, the better. Good hard roads are the only sure foundation upon which cheaper transportation and greater country prosperity can stand. And it should not be forgotten that the proper maintenance of roads is as important as their construction. If properly built, their maintenance will cost much less than the necessity of periodical reconstruction where they are neglected.

And be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the Genesee News for publication, a copy spread on the minutes and a copy sent to the wife of the deceased member.

Dated May 5th, 1913.

It was decided to ask all business houses of the city to close from 2 o'clock until after the funeral out of respect for the deceased.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned to meet on May 19, at the regular hour.

School closed in the Jain district May 7, with a very pleasant picnic at the J. Moresch ranch. At noon every one enjoyed the picnic dinner served on the lawn.

Whereas, our esteemed and worthy member of the Genesee Commercial club, E. Wood, has been removed from our midst by the hand of death. And whereas, he was a member most highly esteemed by those members with whom he mingled while in our midst.

Therefore be it resolved; That in the death of C. E. Wood, his bereaved wife has lost a true husband, his daughter an affectionate father, the state a useful citizen and the Genesee Commercial club a valuable member, designed for home use, and makes home baking easy and a delight. It will protect you from the dread alum baking you food of the highest healthfulness.

ANOTHER BIG GAME

"North" Siders Again Trimmed to the Tune of 14 to 8 by "South"
Siders—Good Crowd present

Another "big game" of baseball was pulled off last Friday at the ball park when the North and South sides were lined up in battle array and the would-be fans proceeded to pound and try to pound the pellet.

Most of the business houses of the city were closed in honor of the occasion and a goodly number were present, the price of admission being ten cents, the proceeds going to the commercial club. The gate receipts amounted to $6.15. There were in the neighborhood of 100 people in attendance, which leaves a slight discrepancy in the receipts.

The South side started the game and when the first half of the first inning was over they had four scores to their credit. They made two more in the second, one in the fourth, two in the seventh and five in the ninth, which gave them a total of 14 scores.

The North side made two in the first, one in the third, two in the fifth, two in the seventh and one in the eighth, giving them a total of eight.

The North side attributes their downfall to the fact that in the eighth inning they tried to slip one over on the South side by striking two of the three bases and the home plate, which, when the South side went to bat gave them nothing to go by, hence when the ninth inning came they "found" the ball and when they started running just kept on coming around as the bags had been swiped by two or three of the North sides and they didn't know when to stop, resulting in their five scores in the ninth.

A good time was had and it is planned to have these games semi-occasionally through the summer.

Cattle and Wheat

Realizing the advantage of raising cattle in connection with their big wheat farms, many farmers in the Palouse country, south of Spokane, are turning their attention to cattle
as a means of increasing their profits.
Those who have been engaged in dairying for two or three years have made such encouraging reports that many others this year are trying the system.
As a result, many farms that have been devoted to wheat growing will be equipped with silos and herds of from half a dozen to 50 cows. In addition to increasing the returns from the land, the farmers have demonstrated that cattle raising has a potent influence in conserving the fertility of the soil. Alfalfa is being cultivated on many ranches, as well as corn for ensilage. Hog raising also is attracting considerable attention from Palouse farmers.

Most Prompt and Effective Cure for Bad Colds

When you have a bad cold you want a remedy that will not only give relief, but effect a prompt and permanent cure, a remedy that is pleasant to take, a remedy that contains nothing injurious. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all these requirements. It acts on the throat plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectora-tion, opens the secretions and restores the system to a healthy condition. This remedy has a world wide sale and you can always be depended upon. Sold by all dealers.

Excursion Rates for Horse Show Manager Fred Lambert of the horse show wishes to state that a rate of a fare and one-third has been secured over the Northern Pacific road from all points for the big show on June 13 and 14. Also that the Northern Pacific Railway company has offered a cash prize of $25 for the best grade two-year-old mare or gelding exhibited at the show, which should bring out sharp competition from all those having animals in this class, and there are many of them in this part of the Inland Empire.

There has been a number of ranchers asking in regard to the exhibition of livestock of various kinds, and the management wishes to state that a suitable place will be provided for the exhibition of all such stock, chickens, or other articles, providing at least four days' notice is given in order that the proper provision may be made.

And don't forget that this is going to be the biggest and best horse show ever attempted in this part of the country and will be second to none in the exhibition of fine horses.

Pleasantly Surprised

Thursday of last week the ladies of the Progressive Needlework club spent the afternoon very pleasantly at the Kempf home. The gathering was in the nature of a surprise to Mrs.
Kempf, this date being the thirteenth anniversary of her marriage. The ladies arrived at the Kempf home early in the afternoon, carrying with them those etables which go to make up a most delicious spread, and it was quite pleasing to the ladies to see Mrs. Kempf completely surprised.
Before departing for their homes, the ladies presented Mrs. Kempf with a token of remembrance, and expressed the wish that she might enjoy many more years of happy wedded life.

There has been received at this office an invitation to visit the State Normal at Albion, Idaho, on "Annual visiting day," Friday, May 16th, when everyone is at liberty to visit the normal and inspect the work being done by that institution. C. E.
Cave, chairman of the faculty committee, has this to say: "The marked success which attended the celebration last year has given the event a prominent place on our school calendar."

There will be a game of baseball at Recreation park this afternoon between the local high school team and the Clarkston high school team.
Clarkston put if over our boys during the track meet at Lewiston 8 to 5, and a good game is expected this afternoon.

Disorders of the stomach may be avoided by the use of Chamberlain's have been effected by these tablets. Sold

Sanitary Folding Cup

To stimulate public sentiment against forest destruction and at the same time promote sanitation, the state authorities of Idaho, Washington and Oregon have endorsed a unique project of the Western Foresty & Conservation association to supply 300,000 public school children with a folding cup puzzle which shows a way to avoid public drinking cups and also teaches many lessons about the forest fire evil. A square piece of paper, printed on both sides with a jumble of broken text and portions of pictures in bright colors, when folded on dotted lines presents in a series of four consecutive complete pictures, the growth of a forest fire from carelessness with a match to a final scene of destruction. At the same time are developed a series of rules and precautions, while one side of the completed cup suggests learning to fold it out of any paper anywhere. These will soon be distributed in immense quantities through the public schools.

Borah a Republican

Senator Borah has been generally reckoned to be on the fence as between Republicans and Progressives.
Each side has been claiming him, and sometimes he has seemed to be leaning one way, sometimes the other.
There is no longer doubt as to his future course. In a letter to the Republicans of Kansas he says: "Believing, as I do, that the great body of the Republican party and those who have made its history are in thorough sympathy and full accord with things which ought to be done,
I propose to remain with them."

Washington has a noxious weed law that places upon land owners the duty of keeping weeds down in the public roads along their farms and streets must be kept free from weeds by the abutting owners, which is considered to be one of the best and surest ways of preventing the spread of noxious weeds. Failure of property owners to clear the streets and roads after notice has been given results in the road supervisor cutting the weeds and taxing the cost against the property.
The net result is that there are not very many weeds left standing along the roadside, which protects the farmer against the pests in his field.

Play Good Ball

The Genesee baseball team descended on the Potlatch players on Sunday last and took them by surprise, at least so far as the game of ball was concerned, and not only were the Potlatchers surprised, but the Genesees were not looking for such a basket of eggs as they brought home with them—and they were all good, too.

The Genesee boys left home about 7 o'clock in the morning in automobiles, arriving at Potlatch about 11:30 o'clock and were met by the Potlatch boys and shown a nice time. After all had partaken of a good dinner and feeling their fittest the game was started with the result that when it was all over the Genesee boys had taken the home boys into camp to the tune of "11 to 4," which sounded very nice to the visitors.

The Genesee lineup was as follows:
W. Gray 1b, C. Gray 2b, Earl Wells
3b, Don Bressler ss, Leon Larrabee rf,
C. Armstrong cf, P. Armstrong lf,
John Hill sub. Holverson and Swenson was the battery and they did some nice work, while all the boys did their work well, the first two men up making scores.

Potlatch has a good team and the boys feel that they were well repaid for their trip, speaking in the highest terms of their entertainment.

Genesee will journey to Kendrick on Sunday for a game with the team of that place, and the boys are asking for 10,000 boosters to accompany them.
Kendrick is expected to play here on the 18th, and Potlatch is expected here to play a return game on Sunday, the 25th.

3. To fatten beef cattle or sheep for not more than one-half what it is costing you now.
4. To increase the butter fat in your milk (no matter what breed you are keeping) by at least 10 per cent.
5. To get winter eggs in almost summer quantities if fowls are properly housed.
6. To turn your corn or other forage crop into a succulent feed, thereby saving the enormous waste that would have resulted if cured and fed by old method.

SILO BOOK FREE! Every progressive farm journal, every agricultural college and experimental station recommends Silos and Silage. The best that these educators have said on the subject has been published in the NEYERHAEUSER SILO BOOK. It contains short chapters on "The Theory of the Silo," "The Value of Silage," "Ensilage Feeding," "When to Cut Corn for Silage," "Silage Bales," "Locating and Erecting a Silo," and "Feeding its Contents." This is a valuable book and you ought to have a copy. There is a copy waiting for YOU. Will you call or write for it?

Saved $150 in Six Months

An Illinois farmer whose specialty is poultry bought an International Commercial Car for no other reason than that of spending more time with his chickens. At the end of six months he wrote the agent, "That car I bought from you has put $150 in my pocket already. When I am at work my time is worth a dollar an hour, sometimes more. On the road it's worth about half as much. That car has saved me two hours a day for six months, 300 hours, one hundred and fifty dollars."

International Commercial Car

The Car That Has Made Its Way by the Way It's Made. An International Commercial Car does two or three times as much work as a horse and wagon, at a cost per delivery much lower. It enables you to cover twice as much territory. On hundreds of farms the car has enabled enough to pay for itself in a couple of seasons. Its usefulness is almost endless. Its solid rubber tires reduce tire troubles and expenses to a very low figure. The wheels are high enough to give ample clearance on bad roads. The ignition system is of the best. The motor is simple and easy to understand. One lever controls the car. Brakes are positive and powerful.

DEATH OF C. E. WOOD

Prominent Grain and Elevator Man—Had Done Much for Genesee

C. E. Wood, one of the oldest and best known citizens of the Palouse country, died at his home in this city Sunday morning, May 4, 1913, aged fifty-four years.

The deceased was born in Morrow county, Ohio, Jan. 28, 1859, and on May 8, 1883 he was married to Miss Clara T. McDonald. In 1891 they came west and settled in Oregon, coming to Troy, Idaho, in 1892, and to Genesee in 1893.

In the year 1893 Mr. Wood entered the implement business, the firm at that time being under the name of Stish & Wood, and later he bought the interest of Mr. Stish, continuing in the business about a year, after which time he closed out his stock and entered the grain business in 1894, continuing in that business until the time of his death.

He built an elevator and warehouse in this city afterward purchased what was then the Evans mill, operating it until it burned down some three years ago. Mr. Wood was the organizer of the present C. E. Wood company of which he was the largest stockholder, and secretary, treasurer and manager until his death. He also owned warehouses at different points and was interested in the milling business at Colfax and Moscow.

Deceased was one of the prime movers and the principal stockholder in the Farmers' Tramway company near Nezperce, which he operated under lease for nine years, and was a factor in the development of that part of the Palouse country.

In 1904-5 he established the electric light and waterworks systems at Kennewick, Wash., which he later sold, again returning to the Genesee country, where he centered his energies, to which there seemed to be no end.

Mr. Wood was foremost in all improvements in Genesee and was probably more instrumental in the up-building of the town than any other one man, serving on the city council at the time the waterworks and electric lights, macadamizing, etc., were secured for the city, giving liberally of his time when he could ill afford to do so on account of his own pressing business. He was one of the foremost and most successful business men of the town and one which our little city will miss in many ways.

Deceased had been in ill health for some months but had attended to his business affairs until about three months ago, when a slight stroke of paralysis prevented him leaving his home. Regardless of this fact he insisted upon looking after every detail of his many business enterprises and continued to do so until within a short time of his death.

The funeral was held from the family home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon May 6, and burial was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We sincerely appreciate and thank very kindly those who so generously tendered their assistance in our hour of grief and trouble.

Mrs. C. E. WOOD AND DAUGHTER.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Old Council Winds Up Business of Term Monday Night—New Members Meet Tuesday

The last meeting of the members of the old council was convened in regular session on Monday night and wound up the business of their term. All members were present and answered to roll call. Very little business was attended to except the allowing of bills for the past month, which were as follows: C. F. Burr, salary supt. water...$10.00 C. F. Burr, salary city clerk... 20.00 A. J. Fitz, salary and extra work... 75.00

Hazelwood Cream Co., return of milk deposit... 23.50 Polkatch Lbr. Co., lumber... 8.15 F. K. Bressler, salary city treasurer... 1.00 Follet Bros. Merc. Co., Mde... .85 J. R. Wells, drayage... 23.50 Smolt & Son, mde... 1.50 Pat Mulalley, street work... 26.00 —Harris, street work... 12.50 J. Montague, street work... 5.00 A. Murphy, taps and repairs... 17.00 A. Murphy, blacksmithing... 4.55 Ed. Roderick, labor... 5.00 Standard Lbr. Co., lumber... 16.00 Geo. Bershaw, street work... 18.75 Genesee E. L. & P. Co., city lights... 26.85 Genesee E. L. & P. Co., pumping... 75.00

There being no further business the council adjourned sine die. The new city council convened Tuesday night at 7:30 with all members present—J. T. Nelson, mayor; Jno. Meyer, Fred Lambert, Henry Martinson and A. Rach—with Mayor Nelson in the chair.

After roll call Mayor Nelson appointed the following committees for the ensuing year: Accounts and finance—Fred Lambert, Jno. Meyer. Streets and public property—H. Martinson, A. Rach, Fred Lambert. Fire and water—A. Rach, John Meyer.

Health and Police—John Meyer, H. Martinson. By a vote of the council Henry Martinson was made president of the council.

The board of city treasurer C. P. Whalen, in the absence of C. P. Whalen, presented and approved: Fred K. Bressler, Leon Follett, W. H. Ehlen and T. Driscoll were named as surties. A. J. Fitz being the only applicant he was made street commissioner and ex-officio chief of police, with full powers in the office.

On application of the manager of the horse show, the city granted the use of the streets on June 13 and 14 for the horse show, free of charge. Manager Lambert to have full charge of all concessions. The new liquor and anti cigarette and tobacco law was discussed at length and the city will do its best to see that the use of tobacco and liquor in the city limits is abated, especially among boys under age. A resume of the law is published in another part of this paper, which might be a good idea if all would read.

The question of fixing up the streets was discussed but no official action was taken. The street committee was instructed to inspect the places needing attention and report at the next meeting. One of the most important things discussed was the collection of dog tax, which is now due and payable, and the city marshal was instructed to at once proceed to collect the tax or rid the city of some of the many canines which are fighting on the streets all the time.

There being no further business the council then adjourned.

Just received a complete line of Eastman Kodaks and supplies. You can buy them just as cheap from me as at the factory. GRANT CLARK.

Monarch The Satisfactory Range

It Pays for Itself!

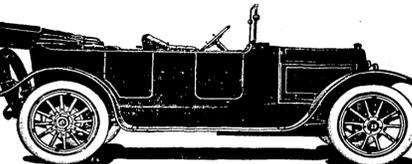

Why not Have One?

All the delightful satisfaction of having a perfect range is within easy reach of every one. For the MONARCH Malleable Range will effect a sufficient saving of fuel to actually pay its own cost in a short time.

There's no economy in continuing to use a "grey iron and steel" range, though it is only a few years old and can be made to "do" for a few years more.

Every year it wastes enough fuel to pay a large part on a Monarch's cost. This great difference between the fuel requirements of the Monarch and ordinary steel ranges is to be accounted for entirely by the difference in construction. The MONARCH is made of Polished steel and Malleable iron, a tough, unbreakable material.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences of the Past Week From Cities in Our State

Asks That Marriage Be Called Off. Wallace—William F. Dunlap has just filed an application in the district court seeking to have his marriage with Laura Dunlap, wife number two, declared null and void. The petition states that at the time of the marriage Dunlap had a former wife living. Dunlap's double blessedness arose from the fact that he took the word of a friend and failed to investigate for himself. Wife number one resided in Spokane and made application for a divorce. Dunlap made inquiries of a friend who told him that the divorce proceedings were scheduled to be tried the next day. Not desiring to make any defense, Dunlap presumed that he had been a single man and soon after married again. Later he learned that the divorce proceedings in Spokane had been postponed. His second wife learned of this and she packed up her belongings and left for parts unknown. In the meantime the divorce had been granted to the first wife.

BARNEY O'NEIL IS LOSER

New Trial Denied Idaho Banker, Recently Convicted. Cour d'Alene.—Barney O'Neil, who recently was found guilty of having rendered a false report of the condition of the State Bank of Wallace, was denied a new trial by Judge Dunn. O'Neil's attorney gave notice of appeal.

O'Neil was president of the bank. He has been prominent in the affairs of Idaho. He opposed unsuccessfully the present United States Senator Brady for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1910.

Giant Sturgeon at Bonners Ferry. Bonners Ferry.—The largest sturgeon ever seen in the Kootenai valley was captured by Clarence Fry. Mr. Fry has a speck line in the river at this time of the year and frequently catches large fish. The last time he went to pull in his line he found a sturgeon nine feet long on the line and with the help of two men he landed the fish and had it weighed. The monster balanced the scales at 320 pounds.

Retailers Only Are Affected. Lewiston.—The new liquor law passed by the recent legislature and affecting all druggists has gone into effect. Under this law retail druggists can only carry 50 gallons of liquor in stock. C. F. Osmer, proprietor of the Idaho Drug company, which does a wholesale and retail business, is in receipt of an opinion from the attorney general of the state of Idaho which explains that the law only affects retail stores, wholesalers not being affected.

GOVERNORS WILL ATTEND EXECUTIVES OF 14 STATES TO JOIN BOISE GOOD ROADS CONVENTION.

Boise.—The governors in attendance at the Western Governors' Association conference to be held in Salt Lake the first week of June will, following the close of their conference, speed to Boise on a special train to attend the Inter-Mountain Good Roads convention which opens in this city on June 10.

Because the chief executives of 14 states expressed a desire to be in attendance at the convention of the Inter-Mountain Good Roads Association a change was made in the date for the meeting of the Western Governors' Association from the second to the first week in June.

While the greater part of the week of the good roads convention will be devoted to the discussion of good road matters, entertainment of the visitors will not be forgotten. They will be given a special trip to the site of the great Arrow Rock dam, the highest in the world, show the orchards of the Boise valley, taken on a trip around the electric line that now connects Boise, Nampa and Caldwell as well as intermediate smaller towns, plunged in the big natural hot water dip at the Natatorium, Idaho's famous resort, dined and maybe visited.

WOULD TAX R. R. LANDS

Shoshone County Commissioners Plan to Get Money From N. P. Wallace.—Taking the position that the Northern Pacific Railway company is using dilatory methods in making applications for surveys and securing patents for its vast area of idle and grant lands in Shoshone county and that by reason thereof the county is losing the revenue from practically $1,000,000 worth of assessable property each year, the county commissioners have taken action which, if successful, will add these lands to the assessment rolls for taxation within a short time.

Government Secures Dr. Aldrich. Moscow.—Dr. John M. Aldrich, head of the department of biology at the University of Idaho, who was not re-employed at the last meeting of the regents for next year, received a telegraphic offer from the bureau of entomology at Washington, D. C., tendering him a position.

Dr. Aldrich will wire his acceptance, to take effect immediately after commencement in June at the university. The offer was tendered by L. O. Howard, sent as soon as he knew Dr. Aldrich was available.

Would Pay For Water. Washington.—The people in the eastern part of Banrock county, Idaho, in the vicinity of Bancroft and Chesterfield, have made application to the interior department for the purchase of sufficient water from the Blackfoot reservoir to irrigate from 20,000 to 30,000 acres of land.

High Water Now at Kellogg. Kellogg.—The Coeur d'Alene river has broken the record for this year and is now above the flood stage of a month ago. The warm wind is cutting into the snow in the hills and a further rise is expected. A careful watch is being kept to prevent the Sanny-side bridge from going out. No deliveries of fuel or other bulky articles can now be made in Snydsid, packages which can be carried in the hand being all that can be taken across the river.

George A. Bush, age 45, a rancher near Caldwell, was found dead in bed. He lived alone. Excessive drinking had led to his demise as the cause, as he took to the ranch five gallons of it and less than a pint was left.

MINES MAKE PROFIT RECORD

Annual Statements Show Six Companies Earned $3,305,000. Cour d'Alene.—The year ended December 31, 1912, was the most prosperous in history for the mining companies operating in the Coeur d'Alene district in Idaho according to the annual statements just filed with the assessor of Shoshone county by the six largest companies, showing net profits of $3,305,551, as against $2,826,779 for the same period in 1911. This is approximately $1,200,000 greater than the record for 1910. The total ore extracted was 2,412,100 tons.

The Bunker Hill and Sullivan company leads with $1,019,029 profits. Federal, which held second place in 1911, was surpassed by the Hercules, credited with $715,763.

The Morning is the only one of the Federal holdings to show an increase, $259,970. The Wardner mine of the Federal decreased $367,755, and the Mace properties $400,000.

The Success Mining company shows a gain of $122,450, in the face of heavy expense for betterments.

Among the companies reporting losses are the Caladonia, which was idle the greater part of the year because of the litigation with the Bunker Hill and Sullivan company; the Gold Hunter and the Marsh, the two last having turned their profits back into the properties in development and equipment.

IDAHO STATE NEWS

IN CONDENSED FORM

The Grangeville commercial club has voted to purchase the right of way deed to lands lying between the Dry Lake and Salmon river, giving Grangeville a clear right of way from the county seat to Batty's ferry. The road is what is known as the Rice Creek road and it was for the building of this that Idaho county asked to be given an appropriation from the state at the last session of the legislature, but was refused. The money necessary for the purchase was raised by subscription among the Grangeville merchants.

Mrs. Judge Warren Trull has been selected by the directors of the Latah county fair association to be superintendent of the baby show at the fair this fall. The superintendent has already appointed a committee, William E. Lee, S. R. McGowan and Eugene Pierce, said to be confirmed bachelors, to assist in raising the necessary funds for the baby show. The superintendent also announces that the babies to be judged for prettiness will be those born during the year, but whose parents are unable to make in conformity with the scientific principles of swagging.

A suit has been filed in the district court at Wallace by W. W. Papeah and A. E. Cowles against P. P. and J. H. Weber to quiet title to a tract of land in Kellogg, the area of which is .065 acres. The suit is a friendly one for the purpose of having the court determine which of the two parties is entitled to the area which is a conflict between the dividing lines of their respective tracts. The land in controversy is in the main business portion of Kellogg and is valuable.

One of the most important civil cases before this term of the district court at Moscow is that brought by the First National bank of Moscow against the regents of the University of Idaho for a claim of $100,000 with interest since 1906 at 7 per cent. The action grew out of the contractor's failure on the construction of the new administration building. The contracting firm, J. W. Colson & Son, became financially embarrassed, which resulted in the cancellation of its contract with the regents. It is claimed the state has had the use and benefit of assets to the amount of the claim.

A 2-year-old buck deer strayed near the boom camp of the Donners Ferry Lumber company and was frightened into the river. Not being able to cross the boom, the deer was caught by a lasso by some of the lumberjacks, and after having been retained as a prisoner for a day and a half was again set at liberty.

In the damage case of Frederick Petrick against Dr. Robert H. Foster at Moscow, the jury, which disagreed, was discharged by Judge Steele, after being out all night. Mr. Petrick charges Dr. Foster, who formerly conducted a healing sanitarium at Juliaetta, with malpractice. Judge Steele announced the case would now go over the term.

The plans for the Kellogg sewer have been completed sufficiently to enable Robert Sterling, city engineer, to estimate the cost of the improvement and the figure for the entire system as drafted at $40,000, and a bond issue of this size will be required to repair the damage, which they estimate will cost $20,000 and take three weeks to finish. Arrangements have been made to have mail for Murray come on trails to Pritchard, from where it is brought on stage daily, instead of having it come over the county road every other day. Freight and express shipments are handled in the same manner.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

INSTRUCTIONS AS TO LARD

Net Weight Must be on Container—Thirty Days in Which to Comply

To the Wholesalers, Jobbers and Dealers: Because of the uncertainty as to the disposition of stocks of lard now in possession of dealers and in the hands of jobbers and wholesalers, which do not contain the net weight required by the new law, the following regulations are issued:

Printed stickers, giving the net weight in BLACK figures, may be used so long as such labels will adhere firmly to the container. If preferred, the lid may be embossed with raised letters giving the net weight as required by law.

A stencil may be used by which the net weight may be painted on the main label.

The use of rubber stamps will not be permitted because of the possibility of the printing being obliterated in the handling of the goods.

Any other weight on the container than the net weight is prohibited.

All weights must be given in pounds and ounces.

Printed stickers will be given in which to make all stock now on hand conform to the above requirements.

Good Roads Exhibit
Senator Brady visited Secretary of Agriculture Houston with reference to securing a government good roads exhibit for the Fourth Annual convention of the Inter-Mountain Good Roads association to be held at Boise, June 10, 11, 12 and 13, 1913.

Building Improvements

That the farmers of this part of the country believe in the proper housing of grain and stock is indicated by the fact that there are a number of fine barns and residences in course of construction, and more are in contemplation.

J. P. Michelson, residing four miles south of town has completed the concrete basement of a large barn he is erecting on his ranch, which, when completed will be as fine as any in this part of the county.

H. Mandersfield has commenced the erection of a large stock and hay barn on his place a half mile west of town.

Geo. Ebel, who resides about five miles west of town is getting out rock and otherwise making arrangements for the erection of a large barn.

J. B. Davies is just completing a large barn which he has been working on for some time. Mr. Davies will also erect a new house on his ranch in the near future.

Ernest Becker has his foundation completed for his fine new home on his ranch two and one-half miles south of town. The carpenter work is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

School Board Meeting
The school board met in regular session Tuesday night with all members present and President Follett presiding.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved, after which the following bills were allowed:

F. E. Dicus, ..... $1.85
Electric Light Co., ..... 1.50
Miss Nisbet, ..... .85

There was very little other business attended to except the reading of applications from teachers asking for places in the school. Practically all the places have been filled, there remaining only one or two vacancies and it is expected they will be filled in a short time, after which the full list of teachers will be published.

The old arc street lights that have been on the corners in the business districts have been replaced for the present with Tungsten lamps, and while they are not so strong as the arc lights, they are sure, while the others burned only semi-occasionally and were a source of trouble all the time to keep them going. The smaller lights are much more satisfactory as they burn all the time.

POTATOES HEARD FROM

Spuds Were Sold and Proceeds Given Flood Sufferers—Were of Fine Quality

M. S. Wilson, who resides about two miles east of town, has received a letter from Carbonate, Ohio, stating that the potatoes forwarded by the citizens of the Genesee valley to the flood sufferers had reached their destination. There had been a great many rumors that the potatoes had gotten no further than Spokane and that the flood sufferers had gotten no benefit from the shipment. The following letters set all such fears at rest, and while the potatoes did not go to the sufferers, it is evident they got the proceeds, which were used for their benefit:

Carbonate, Ohio, April 23, 1913.
M. S. Wilson, Genesee, Idaho.

I am writing you, thanking you for your help, and thought of the Ohio people I would write to let you know where your potatoes were. I bought some of the potatoes which you sent. How it came the sufferers had more than enough so they sold them so they could get money to buy other things which they needed. In one of the sacks I bought I found your name and address so I thought I would write to let you know where your potatoes were. I lived in Genesee about eight years ago this spring. The potatoes were very nice and look natural. I had one weighed, it weighed two pounds and two ounces. I knew several Wilsons in that part of the country, but could not make the initials. I have a brother living there, U. G. Dickson. Well I guess he lives in Lewiston now. Will say that the people of Ohio appreciated the kindness of the people of Idaho very much. Would be pleased to hear from you.

Sincerely, KURT TODD,
Columbus, Ohio, May 8th, 1913.
Genesee Commercial Club, Genesee, Idaho.

Gentlemen:—I am directed by Governor Cox to acknowledge receipt of the supplies which you so kindly and generously sent for the relief of flood sufferers in Ohio.

On behalf of the citizens of the State, and particularly of those in the flood stricken districts, Governor Cox desires me to thank you sincerely, and to assure you of our highest appreciation. Very respectfully,
EDWARD T. MILLER,
Lieutenant Colonel O. N. G. Quartermaster, Ohio Flood Relief Commission.

A. Murphy denies the report in circulation that he has been trying to climb telephone poles with his automobile. He says he has only been trying to run over the tops of the hitching posts. He hasn't gotten the machine thoroughly domesticated as yet but is getting along nicely with it. The other evening just as he drove it into his brand new garage and he thought he had it stopped all right it took flight and went right on out the other side. There wasn't any door, but that made no difference, it went through just the same. Mr. Murphy says he will soon have it so he can leave it standing most anywhere.

Fred Lambert and Rev. A. P. Orth made a trip on last Friday to the Little Potlatch to angle for the finny tribe, and while they captured a few of the way little fellows they had their ardor somewhat dampened during the day, as there was almost a steady downpour during the entire day. Fred thinks he will do his fishing behind the stove in the future, where he can keep dry.

The Standard Lumber company has at their yard a sample of the new silo being handled by that firm. The time is not far distant when silage is going to be an important factor in the feeding of stock of all kinds and more and more of them are being used all the time by the farmers.

Going for an outing? Don't take chances on fruits put up in tins. Proximate poisoning is often caused by the sun warming the tins in the lunch box. Drop in at Taylor's and get some of those fancy Preserves and Jams, put up in glass.

Our job work will please you.

Baseball News

Genesee and Kendrick failed to get together last Sunday on account of rain, but if the weather man will behave himself, the boys will journey to Kendrick on Sunday for a game with the team of that city.

Kendrick has made her brags that they are going to "nail the hides of the Genesee team on the fence" alongside others they have there drying, and it is now up to Genesee to get busy that they may not be able to make their threat good. The boys still want that bunch of 10,000 boosters to accompany them and help them keep their hides whole.

The Potlatch team is expected here on the 25th and Kendrick will play a return game here on June 1—if the weather man is willing.

Arrangements have been completed for the Myrtle Indian baseball team from the Myrtle reservation, to play ball here both days of the horse show. The team played here last year during the horse show and put up a good game, the home team defeating them by a very narrow margin. It is said the Indians have a stronger team than last year and it will make our boys hustle to put the score on the right side of the "ledger."

The boys of the fourth and fifth grades of the public school played the boys of the Catholic school last Sunday afternoon on the Catholic school grounds. The game was fast and furious and when the final score was made it was found that the public school boys had won by a score of 14 to 12.

Irvin Schooler added a little to the program at the ball grounds on Sunday afternoon, when he brought in two baby coyotes which he had "dug out" at the ranch. Irvin is thinking some of starting a menagerie, although they are worth a dollar each.

The senior class of the high school is putting in some hard practice on their class play, which it is expected to give during commencement week, and during the horse show if it is possible.

A nine-pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, residing in the Potlatch, on Wednesday morning of this week.

Mrs. A. A. Haymond and daughter, Lizzie, are ill at the Tuomy hospital, the latter suffering from pneumonia.

Two Accidents

Walter Casebolt, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Casebolt, while playing ball with some of his playmates near his home Tuesday evening, was hit with a baseball on the left side of the nose, just below the eye, which crushed the bone badly, causing a very painful injury.

Walter had just run from third base to the "home plate" when one of the players threw the ball for a put-out. Walter had beaten the ball and turned to see where it was, when it struck him, with the above result. While it is not expected any lasting injury will result, it is very severe.

On Wednesday morning while one of the little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Casebolt was coasting with some children the wagon ran off the sidewalk into the ditch, upsetting the load and injuring the little girl's left limb between the knee and ankle. While no bones were broken the injury is a very painful one.

At the regular meeting of the Rebekah lodge last Tuesday night a farewell reception was given Mrs. Kate Kennedy, before her return to her home in Seattle. Mrs. Kennedy was given a substantial remembrance which she duly appreciates. She is a charter member of Golden Rule lodge No. 11, of this city. Refreshments were served and a good time was had.

The body of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Crawford of Spokane was brought to Genesee for burial Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Crawford is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Burr of this city. The relatives duly appreciate the assistance and sympathy of their friends and neighbors.

F. F. Taylor, Milton Rader, Verge Sampson and Ernest Gage were angling last Sunday, their destination being the mouth of Hattiwai creek. They succeeded in landing an even dozen fine trout which they claim weighed from a half to a pound each. Fine says the fish had scales as how he could tell the weight.

At the state convention of the Knights of Columbus held in Wallace on Tuesday of this week, Jos. N. Hasfarther of this city was elected state warden of the order for the ensuing year. This speaks well for the Genesee council, it having been instituted but three years ago.

Build a Meyerhaeuser FIR SILO

Built on Honor—Sold on Merit. Every Piece Guaranteed. One-Piece Clear Slaves, cut at the factory with steel templates. Made on the Pacific Coast from selected Douglas Fir logs. Airtight Doors that swing inwards and are easy to open and close. Steel hoops and steel anchors. Come complete, roof and all, in one shipment. Easy to erect and easy to maintain.

Why you should build a fir stave silo

The advantage of wood stave silos over concrete are vouched for authoritatively and officially, among others, by the Storrs Agricultural Experiment Station of Storrs, Conn., in a bulletin, as follows: "In the first place wood is a poor conductor of heat. It conserves the warm temperature at the beginning of fermentation so that the proper acid is formed, and prevents thereby the spoiling of silage. "Second, the silage keeps best against wood, and nothing is lost around the edges. In some cement silos quite a loss of silage is experienced around the edges. "A fir stave silo is easy to erect. Fir is the strongest and most durable of all silo woods. It is less liable to shrink, expand or rot than any other wood and there is "not a knot" in it.

Silo Book Free!

Every progressive farm journal, every agricultural magazine and every educational and experimental station recommends Silage and the Silo. The best of these educational and experimental station recommendations are included in the Meyerhaeuser Silo Book. It contains short chapters on "The Theory of the Silo," "The Value of Silage," "Essential Feeding," "When to Cut Corn for Silage," "Silage Rations," "Locating and Erecting a Silo," and "Feeding Its Contents." This is a valuable book and you ought to have a copy. There is a copy waiting for you. Will you call or write for it?

Genesee Horse Show a Winner

The following regarding the Genesee horse show was sent out from Lewiston recently by the "live wires" of that boosting, booming city, which shows that they not only boost for Lewiston but for the whole Palouse country:

Lewiston, Idaho, May 10.—The fourth annual Genesee Horse show will be held on June 13 and 14. All plans are being made for a big time and many farmers, who are raising blooded stock, are going to enter them for show. W. J. Jordan, general agent for the Northern Pacific has arranged with the committee for reduced rates during the show. The fare will be one and one-third instead of full fare for all parts of the Palouse country and from the prairie country, including the Grangeville section.

Arrangements are being made so all stock that will be brought in for show will have proper care and also plenty of stable room. Fred E. Lambert, one of Genesee's most capable business men has the horse show entirely in charge.

V. C. Cook, state veterinarian, announces that there will be a meeting of the State Livestock Sanitary Board in Moscow on May 26th for the purpose of meeting with the livestock men of the northern part of the state and discuss livestock interests with them, and the board and state veterinarian especially requests that all persons interested in the livestock business meet with them on that date.

LIQUOR LAW FOR DRUGGISTS

Prescribes Duties of Physicians, Druggists and Express Companies

One of the laws enacted in the recent session of the legislature to go into effect May 8, is the drug store act, known as Senate Bill No. 20. This law strikes more particularly at the violation of the local option law by drug stores. One of the strongest features of the bill, however, is section five, compelling the keeping of a complete record by all express companies and all railroad companies of all shipments of liquor received.
Superintendent Herwig of the Anti-Saloon league who championed the bill makes the following statement: "I sincerely believe that senate bill No. 20, as enacted into law will be the means of driving every bootlegging drug store out of business. With this law in effect, and the Webb law prohibiting the interstate shipment of liquor in force, we believe local option can be made effective and will reduce bootlegging to a minimum."
Following are some of the features of this law:
Prescribing duties of practicing physicians and providing strong penalty for making false statements to physician in order to secure liquor.
Requires sworn affidavit before alcohol can be purchased for mechanical, manufacturing or scientific purposes. Holds a person for perjury if using alcohol otherwise than sworn to in the affidavit, or uses alcohol for beverage purposes.
Prescribes duties of licensed pharmacist—drug store. Requires a bond of $500 from drug stores before any intoxicating liquor or alcohol of any kind can be carried in stock. Limiting the stock of intoxicating liquor of each drug store to 50 gallons. Requires a drug store to keep complete record of all sales in duplicate giving name of person to whom sold, quantity, price, purpose and when for medicinal purposes, name of physician and direction for using same must be given. All records to be open to public inspection. Duplicate record to be filed with city clerk each month. A violation of any provision will prohibit a drug store to sell liquor at all for one year. Second violation, he will forfeit his license for five years, besides receiving heavy penalty.
All express companies, railroad companies, public or private carriers, must keep a separate record of all shipments of liquor to their station. The record must give the consignor, from what city shipped, the name of shipper, the amount and kind, the date when delivered, and to whom delivered. This record shall be open to public inspection. All shipments in the state must be labeled in a conspicuous place, "Intoxicating Liquor."

What One Hog Can Do
Joseph L. Ashlock, private secretary to President E. A. Bryan of the Washington State College, has undertaken an investigation of individual successes made in the hog business in the Inland Empire. In a letter to the Spokane Chamber of Commerce Mr. Ashlock tells of the experience of Thomas Pritchard, a former living four miles north of Pullman, Wash. Mr. Pritchard has a purebred, registered Duroc Jersey sow, which brought 57 pigs in the three years of 1910-11-12. Of these she raised 24 pigs. Had Mr. Pritchard been in the business of furnishing breeding stock to the public, these 24 pigs should have brought not less than $25 each, or $1,350, which sum would have represented the gross income for three years from one sow. Mr. Pritchard sold several of the pigs for more than $25 apiece, and others were converted into pork for the farmer's table. The college authorities are convinced that large returns can be realized from hog raising in the Inland Empire.

To Spray Trees on Reservation

The amount available is $50, but Mr. French has been assured that the Department will be able to set aside a further amount sufficient to carry on this work and will take up the matter with the Superintendent of the agency at Lapwai.

HISTORIC FERRY REMOVED

Had Been in Operation Since Early Seventies—Removed to Truax

The Snake river ferry, as an agency for crossing the river between Idaho and Washington, passed into history last Friday and preparations are now being made to take the equipment to Truax, twenty-seven miles below Lewiston, where a ferry service will be established.
The Snake river ferry is one of the oldest "landmarks" in Lewiston and during the early days it performed a very important part in the development of the country. The crossing has always been at the same point but during the rush to the mines in the early sixties, a rival ferry was installed and skiffs were bought into service to cross foot passengers. Those were very palmy days for the ferryman and it was a poor day that the receipts did not pass the $250 mark and frequently the daily returns were double that amount.
The old sign board which announced the rates prevailing in 1872 was given by Mr. Pearey to H. L. Talkington of the Lewiston State Normal school, and is preserved by him. The paint had protected the wood from the wear that the letters had almost an eighth of an inch. The following were the rates then charged:
Wagon and team . . . . . $3 00
Wagon with 4,000 pounds . . . . . 4 00
Additional team . . . . . 1 00
Each additional animal . . . . . 50

From the time the ferry was first established it was an important factor in the means of communication with the outside world. Regular stage service was maintained between Lewiston and Walla Walla and as the country developed, the ferry became more important to the Idaho and Washington communities until the business between these sections reached such proportions that the steel bridge was erected by the Lewiston-Concord Bridge company thirteen years ago.

Money in Livestock
The following shows the strength of the livestock market in Portland last week at the close of business, again demonstrating the fact that there is money in livestock of all kinds when raised for the market:
Receipts for the week have been: cattle 1789; calves 22; hogs 2432; sheep 4856; horses 2.
A higher steer market has marked the week's business in the cattle division. May showed a big run and bidding was keen and Idaho and Montana stuff brought $8.40 to $8.50 Thursday, with several loads from Stanfield and Echo going at $8.75 off the cars. The cattle supply throughout the country is limited and a steady market is looked for. There was a fine butcher trade, but demand exceeded the supply of heifers, bulls and calves, so cows sold up to $7.40 and heifers $7.75 and bulls $6.00 and $6.25, showing the strength of the market.
Hogs continue strong, while eastern markets are lower. Demand is so keen that buyers continue to pay $9.05 for best light hogs. This firmness may not last long but exists for the week's close.
A better sheep house prevailed. Plenty of mutton and lambs to supply the trade with strictly prime wool wethers bringing $7.50 to $7.75, ewes at $6.50 to 6.75 and spring lambs $8.75, the early part of the week, but quoted lower toward the close of the week's business.

Monarch MALLEABLE RANGE
The Stay Satisfactory Range

It Pays for Itself! Why not Have One?

All the delightful satisfaction of having a perfect range is within easy reach of every one. For the MONARCH Malleable Range will effect a sufficient saving of fuel to actually pay its own cost in a short time.

There's no economy in continuing to use a "grey iron and steel" range, though it is only a few years old and can be made to "do" for a few years more.

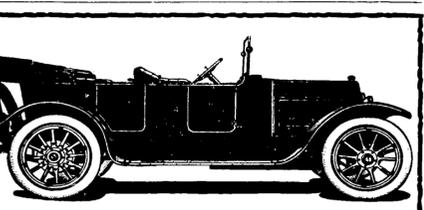

Every year it wastes enough fuel to pay a large part on a Monarch's cost.

This great difference between the fuel requirements of the Monarch and ordinary steel ranges is to be accounted for entirely by the difference in construction.

The MONARCH is made of Polished steel and Malleable iron, a tough, unbreakable material.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETS AT HOTEL

Coming Horse Show Main Topic of Evening—To be Biggest Ever—Fine Supper

The Genesee Commercial club met in regular session Monday night at the Grand Central hotel, at which time the horse show was the principal topic of the evening.
The first thing on the program was one of those fine dinners for which Landlord Whaley is noted, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, after which the meeting adjourned to the hotel office where the business of the evening was taken up.
The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and bills amounting to $100.93 were read and allowed.
The committee appointed at the last meeting to confer with the electric company regarding street lights, reported that the company had said they had arc lights ready for Genesee and that they would be installed as soon as possible, which will be an improvement much needed in our lighting system.
Manager Lambert made report that arrangements for the big horse show were progressing nicely and that the program was about completed. He stated that arrangements could be made with the Lapwai Indians for a war dance and exhibition and after some discussion and some considerable fun it was decided to secure the Indians for this purpose. They will be decked in their war paint and fall regalia and will take part in the parade of both Friday and Saturday and it is expected they will add very materially to the parade and amusement.

J. V. Mayor of Uniontown has sent word that he will have a string of 12 to 14 horses at the show, which brought up the question of taking care of the horses that will be brought here for exhibition and other purposes. B. H. Schooler and F. J. Cornish were appointed a committee to make the necessary arrangements and all those who have available stable room are asked to make it known that the horses may have the proper housing during the show.

High Mark for Cattle
The cattle market reached the pinnacle of this year's business Monday, May 12. All existing Pacific coast open market prices for beef were broken when five loads of corn fed steers went to the killers at $9.00. A few cows brought 7.65 but offerings were scarce. The general run of prime fed bullocks sold $8.50 to $8.70. Good calves are steady at $9.00. The beef shortage is acute and fails to fill the constant demand from anxious buyers. $8.75 for steers, 7.75 for cows, 9.00 for calves and 6.50 for bulls are conservative tips in the cattle market, which is firm.

Triangular Track Meet
The second annual Triangular Track Meet—Pullman, Lewiston and Genesee—will be held on the athletic field in Genesee this afternoon commencing at 2 o'clock, at which time there will be the various events of the day, consisting of 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 200-yard dash, 400-yard dash, 800-yard dash, 1200-yard hurdles, 200-yard hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, discus throw, hammer throw, javelin throw and mile run.

This will be the last high school athletic event of the year and it is expected that a large crowd will assemble to give the boys encouragement and support.

Senator Brady has been appointed a member of a sub-committee from the senate committee on military affairs to visit West Point on a tour of inspection. They will leave Washington on Friday afternoon and will probably be occupied several days in this work.

Decorations to be Held in City
Friday, May 30, being Decoration Day a fitting program has been arranged and the weather permitting, will be carried out in the city park, the weather being disagreeable, it has been arranged to go to the armory.

It is fitting and proper that we not only hold this day sacred and apart for our dead heroes, but for those who are still in our midst as well, and so it has been planned that to properly begin the day, all school children, townpeople and countryfolk meet at the City Park at 8:30 a. m., Friday, May 30, and form in line for a march to the cemetery, not only to decorate the graves of our departed soldiers, but those of our relatives and friends as well. A large float is being constructed to carry the little folks to the cemetery.

On returning from the cemetery the following program will be rendered in the park or armory, whichever is most suitable:
Song—Star Spangled Banner.
Prayer—Rev. Orth.
Song—Choir.
Address—Rev. Orth.
Song—Male quartet.
Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech—Mrs. John Hall.
Song—Choir.
Recitation—Miss Tobin.
Song—The Good Old U. S. A.—Adelaide and Morris Murphy.
Flag Drill.

Presents General Road Plan.
With the general use of automobiles throughout the country the demand for better roads is more insistent every day. In former times the old horse could pull through the mud and slush and get to town and back, to keep the larder from getting empty, but some tens of thousands of automobilists after having been stuck in the mud have given up the idea of defying bad roads. So the good roads problem is very much of a live issue, and former Senator Bourne in a report based upon exhaustive investigation of the subject, proposes to meet the question in all its fullness. He wants an expenditure of three billions of dollars, of which one-third is to be for building and two-thirds for maintenance, the amounts extending over a period of fifty years. The plan would cover the country.

The Commercial club of this city has extended an invitation to the chamber of commerce at Moscow to be present at our big horse show and engage in a tug of war for a prize of $10. No doubt both organizations will avail themselves of this opportunity to show the strength of their respective strong men. They have been informed that a good, strong rope has been specially prepared and that it is guaranteed to hold all the weight and strength they can muster. It will prove an interesting feature of the show.

Supt. A. M. Bart of the Northern Pacific, has notified Agent Smith that the evening train out of Genesee—No. 668—will be held both Friday and Saturday evenings—the horse show days—for those who wish to take advantage of a later train. The Commercial club and horse show committee and management fully appreciate it will prove an interesting feature of the show.

GENESEE'S BIG STOCK SHOW
Automobile and Indian Parade—Past and Present—Other Attractions—June 13 and 14.

Saturday, the second day of the big horse show, will be observed as Pioneer day. While Pioneer day comes on Sunday, the 15th, it was thought fitting and proper to observe it on the 14th, and arrangements will be made to that effect. Ex-Governor McConnell will be present and deliver an address along pioneer lines.

The parade on that day will be made up of Indians and decorated automobiles, the Indians taking the lead with their ponies, which will be decorated in the true Indian fashion as they were many years ago when they were in full possession of this country, and the riders will be decked with their war costumes and paint. The Indians will be followed by automobiles which will be decorated suitable to the occasion, depicting the difference between "then and now." A prize of $15 will be given for the best decorated auto, while for the second best a prize of $10 is offered. Autos from any part of the country may compete—none barred.

The full program and list of prizes will be published in the News next week.

Health a Factor in Success
The largest factor contributing to a man's success is undoubtedly health. It has been observed that a man is seldom sick when his bowels are regular—he is never well if they are constipated. For constipation you will find nothing quite so good as Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They are sold by all dealers.

Only Half an Hour from Town
MODERN business men and farmers have ceased to measure distances by miles. Minutes serve instead. We are just half an hour from town. I am an International Car. "I went to town today, starting half an hour after my neighbor went by my gate with his team, and I passed him just where the main street paving begins. We visit every friend within thirty miles, hear lectures, see entertainments, have a better time in every way since I bought an International Commercial Car."

An Ohio business man says "When I am using my International Commercial Car the expense is about the same as with a team, but when it is not in use it is not eating. Therefore, costs nothing. After a year's experience, I find the repair bills to be no more than the bills for shoeing, harness repairs, wagon repairs, painting, etc., and there is the added advantage of getting around three times as fast."
When you own an International Commercial Car you make the trips you used to neglect because you did not want to take the horses from their work. It can be used in all seasons when the road is passable to horses. The wheels are high enough to give ample road clearance. Solid tires give good traction and eliminate many tire troubles. The engine is simple and powerful. It will pay you in many ways to know all about the International Commercial Car. A letter brings full particulars with many interesting facts and figures.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences Of The Past Week From Cities In Our State
Gives Farm for State.
Sandpoint.—Owing to the generosity of T. J. Humbird, Sandpoint is to have a state demonstration farm at the corner of the University of Idaho spent an afternoon in company with T. L. Greer, manager of the land department of the Humbird Lumber company, looking over available sites for a demonstration farm close to Sandpoint. Coming back to town he was struck with the appearance of a tract on the line of the Sandpoint and Interurban railway and within a block of the city limits. Going over this tract carefully, he discovered it was ideal for the purpose, and returning to the office he told Mr. Humbird that he would like very much to have that piece of land. Mr. Humbird not only offered the land, which embraces 175 acres, but also agreed to furnish lumber for the buildings to be erected.

Borah Assails Tax.
Washington.—Senator Borah of Idaho is preparing to attack the income tax provision of the Underwood tariff bill on the ground that it is not in conformity with the principles on which incomes should be taxed in this country and on the further ground that it does not place the burden of taxation on those most able to stand it. He will propose at least two im-

UNIVERSITY REGENTS LOSE
Jury in Moscow Court Returns Verdict of $6500.
Moscow.—The jury returned a verdict in Judge Steele's court for $6500 against the regents of the University of Idaho in favor of the First National bank of Moscow. About six years ago J. W. Colson & Son, contractors on the new administration building, failed to pay the bank about $7000. The board of regents denied the right of the bank and also set up a defense of their being no regents since the last session of the legislature. The case will probably go to the supreme court.

Invader Shoots Man Who Aids Woman
Wallace.—In a desperate encounter at Burke Jesse Anderson was probably fatally shot by T. H. Jones, a cook, and now lies in a critical condition. The trouble occurred in the room of Mrs. C. Martin, whose premises Anderson had invaded and had been expelled. Jones repelled Anderson upon his second invasion, was knocked down with a chair and then Jones used his gun.

SHEPHERD KILLS EMPLOYEE
Victim is Said to Have Throttled With Gun.
Twin Falls.—A fatal shooting took place near Devil's creek, some 50 miles south of here, in which Jesse Hayes, an unkillable man about 28 years old, was killed by John Gray, a well known and wealthy sheepman of Three Creeks. The sheriff and coroner were called to the scene and returned accompanied by Mr. Gray, who will be given a preliminary hearing. The coroner's jury returned a verdict charging manslaughter. The defense showed that Hayes and several other men employed at the ranch had received liquor from a party of bootleggers who passed the ranch that morning. Later Hayes went to the 1 o'clock, where Gray was reclining, drew a gun and flourished it threateningly. Gray ordered his men to take Hayes away. Gray then retired.

Half an hour later Hayes came to the tent, which he opened and menacingly approached the bunk, from which Gray fired the shot, striking Hayes near the heart and resulting in death an hour later.

View Proposed Highway.
Wallace.—A day was spent by the visiting members of the state highway commission in viewing and inspecting the proposed national highway from this city to the Montana line. These making the trip were Chairman Theodor Turner, Secretary of State W. L. Gore, Turner, Secretary of State W. L. Gore, accompanied by a number of local road enthusiasts. The trip was made by automobile as far as possible and from there on foot. The purpose of this trip was in order that the commission might get first hand information as to the feasibility of the project, and upon their return they all expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied as to the feasibility of the road.

DUAL TRACK MEET.

Moscow Carries Away 77 Points, Genesee 54—Wardrobe High Man
Moscow won from us in the dual meet which we held with them on May 16. Our boys put up a hard fight, but with the absence of Schooler, and the first places, and although nearly every man on the team did something yet Moscow forged ahead and won with a score of 77 to 54. Wardrobe was high point winner for us with a first in the 50 yard dash and one in the discus throw, a second in the broad jump, and thirds in the shot put and the 100-yard dash. Gray took two firsts, one in the broad and one in the high jump, a second in the 120-yard hurdles, and a third in the pole vault. Martinson took a first in the shot put, Mochel took a second in the half and a third in the mile run. Post took thirds in the high jump, the high hurdles and the low hurdles. Haymond took second in the mile. Morschek took second in the hammer. Armstrong took second in the 220-yard hurdles. Follett took third in the 50 yard dash.

Fly Screens or Swatters, Which?
Don't domesticate the fly this summer. Keep him out of the house, where he belongs. We can at least keep him away from our food. Of course, it would be ideal to abolish flies altogether, but then never have to bother about them any more, but we can't hope for that for at least a long time yet. When it comes to annihilating any particular pest, bug or insect by ordinary human power, it becomes a big job. About the best we can do is to introduce some other pest, bug, insect or natural enemy and let him do the work for us, and even introducing a natural enemy does not always succeed.

JAPAN STILL SHOWS FAITH
Likelihood of Estrangement of Peoples, However, Admitted.
Tokio.—Faith in the American people is that justice is done the Japanese is the dominating note in the discussion of the California alien land ownership legislation.

Land Bill Referendum Move is Begun
San Francisco.—The Asiatic Exclusion League of California, instructed its executive committee to draft a petition for a referendum vote on the alien land bill, to be circulated immediately, after the measure is signed by Governor Johnson.

Bill More Drastic Than California's
Phoenix, Ariz.—An anti-alien land ownership bill far more drastic than the bill recently passed by the California legislature has been signed by Governor Hunt, following its passage by both houses of the state legislature.

Grant Clark is complaining of a very sore back and chest, caused by a barrel of whitening falling on his chest. He was moving the barrel, lifting it over some bags of potatoes when the pile gave way, causing the barrel to throw Mr. Clark backward, it alighting on his chest, as a result of which he is wearing a cane these days.

JAPANESE SITUATION CONTINUES TENSE

Governor Johnson Believed Intends Taking 30 Days Allowed for Signature.
Washington.—Tension over the Japanese situation continues to excite attention in official and diplomatic quarters. The impression is beginning to gain ground here that Governor Johnson will avail himself of the full 30 days allowed to sign the bill, even though he has declared his purpose to approve the Webb bill.

Secretary Bryan has not communicated with the governor since the receipt of his telegraphic message setting out his reasons for upholding the action of the legislature, but is simply waiting for the final act of signature before making reply to the legislation. It has been suggested that, although there has been some preliminary exchanges before the event, the Japanese government can find no technical reason for demanding relief before the commission of some action under the terms of the Webb law to the detriment of a Japanese subject.

It is generally accepted that one of the primary points of protest by Japan is that the California law is in contravention of the treaty of 1911, but exactly wherein has not been far disclosed. Governor Johnson's last communication to the federal authorities analyzed the treaty and the law to the end of showing that the latest enactment is in no way a contravention of the treaty. The first and most fundamental issue, therefore, appears to be this question of whether the law is, or is not, contrary to the treaty.

War talk is denounced as ridiculous and only calculated to embarrass the two governments, which are laboring under a peaceful settlement by diplomacy.

It is conceded, however, that failure on the part of the Americans to respond to the Japanese appeal for a discontinuance of the alleged discrimination against the peoples, The Japanese public generally is convinced that the land bill is a racial and not an economic measure and hence a blow to national pride, and the people feel that the world must be taught the necessity of equal treatment for the whites and non-whites.

The objections of the league are based on the clause in the Webb act which permits three-year leases. It is the purpose of the organization to circulate at the same time an initiative petition for a law which will exclude Japanese and Chinese from both ownership and lease holds under any condition.

Bill More Drastic Than California's.
Phoenix, Ariz.—An anti-alien land ownership bill far more drastic than the bill recently passed by the California legislature has been signed by Governor Hunt, following its passage by both houses of the state legislature.

The new law makes it impossible for aliens of any color to hold land unless they have declared their intention of becoming citizens. Non-citizens now holding land will be compelled to dispose of it within five years. Minors, aliens or property necessary to the working of mines alone is exempted.

Government Must Pay
Treatment of Ill, Waiting Aliens Not Steamship's Duty.
New York.—A decision handed down by Judge Mayer in the United States district court will cost the United States government about $1,000,000 a year from now on. It holds that the government must pay for medical aid to aliens brought to this country and found after their arrival at Ellis Island to be suffering from some temporary contagious disease.

The government sought to collect from the Holland-American Steamship company $2167 for such treatment, but the court, in finding for the defendants, declared that the Immigration laws make no provision for the steamship company to pay for medical treatment for aliens. Unless overruled by a higher court, the decision will apply to all steamship lines.

Build a Meyerhaeuser FIR SILO
Built on Honor—Sold on Merit. Every Piece Guaranteed. One-Piece Clear Staves, cut at the factory with steel templates, make the Pacific Coast from selected Douglas Fir logs. Air-tight doors that swing inward and are easy to open and close. Steel hoops and steel anchors. Comes complete, roof and all, in one shipment. Easy to erect and easy to maintain.
Licensed under the Harder Patent No. 67722.

Why you should build a fir stave silo
The advantage of wood stave silos over concrete are vouched for authoritatively and officially, by the Storrs Agricultural Experiment Station of Storrs, Conn., in a bulletin, as follows:
"In the first place wood is a poor conductor of heat. It conserves the warm temperature at the beginning of fermentation so that the proper acid is formed, and prevents thereby the spoiling of silage."
"Second, the silage keeps best against wood, and nothing is lost around the edges. In some cement silos quite a loss of silage is experienced around the edges."
A fir stave silo is easy to erect
Fir is the strongest and most durable of all silo woods. It is less liable to shrink, expand or rot than any other wood and there is "not a knot" in it.

SILO BOOK FREE! Every progressive farm journal, every agricultural collection and every expert station recommends Silage and the Silo. The best that these educators have said on the subject has been published in the WILEY-INTERSCIENCE BOOK. It contains short chapters on "The Theory of the Silo," "The Value of Silage," "Ensilage Feeding," "When to Cut Corn for Silage," "Silage Rations," "Laying and Growing Silo," and "Feeding the Contents." This is a valuable book and you ought to have a copy. There is a copy waiting for YOU. Will you call or write for it?

Those who know buy Cream DE LAVAL Separators
Creamermen—Because they are experts in the handling of cream and know by long experience that the De Laval skims cleanest and wean longest. That is why 98% of the World's creameries use the De Laval exclusively.
Experienced Dairymen—The De Laval is the universal favorite among big dairymen. They know that no other separator will give them such satisfactory service.
Old De Laval Users—Whenever a man who has used an old model De Laval decides to purchase a later style machine he invariably buys another De Laval.
Men Who Investigate—If anyone takes the time to investigate the merits of the various cream separators, either by finding out from other users what kind of service their machines have given or by testing other machines out against the De Laval, the chances are a hundred to one that his choice will be the De Laval. More De Laval machines are in use than any other make.
There is a reason. We will tell you why.

Rain Again Interferes

The ball game scheduled between Genesee and Kendrick last Sunday was again called off on account of rain. It seems that the weather man has it in for the ballplayers, but the boys say they will yet have it out with Kendrick and take chances on their hides being "hung up."

It is expected that Pottatch will play on the home grounds next Sunday if the weather will permit, and Kendrick will play here June 1. Pullman will be here June 8, and the Myrtle Indians are expected to play here during the horse show, which will make four games on the home grounds in the near future.

There are a number of new automobiles making their appearance in our little city, and while the weather has not been favorable to automobile driving for some days they may be seen and heard at any and all times. We doubt very much if there is another town of the size of Genesee in this or any other part of the country that can show more cars than can Genesee. Dr. Rees is the latest to add one to the number and has a nifty little Ford runabout which he caresses very tenderly and handles very gingerly.

Dr. C. F. Tuomy was called to Uniontown on Thursday last week to assist Dr. Burg reduce a fracture of Albert Mengelkamp's right leg, which was broken in a runaway accident.

At the Genesee Opera House

"Nevada"
On Tuesday, May 27th, local thespians, under the direction of Louis Denece, will present the fascinating comedy drama, "Nevada," a play that depicts the thrilling life of the west in days gone by, when men's natures were elementary and justice—"rough and ready"—prevailed. Strong in pathos, rich and sparkling in comedy, and through all like a vein of gold, there is felt the strong personality, the wholesome influence of the true woman.

In touching the great chord of human sympathy the author has extended that rare skill which has given life to every great play known to the stage and in Nevada, the strong cast of local characters has a vehicle worthy of their best efforts. The long experience of Director Denece has enabled a fitting selection of the cast with due consideration of their relations both to each other and to the story, special scenery has been provided for the settings and with an orchestra providing the incidental music Genesee people are promised a very pleasing production.

The proceeds derived from this entertainment go to the support of this season's baseball team. Reserved seats are on sale at Dicus' Drug store.

There will be a moving picture show in the opera house on Saturday night, June 1st. One of the features of the show will be some fine Norwegian views. The show will be accompanied by a four-piece orchestra.

Panama Canal Is Almost Ready

It is not impossible that the Panama Canal may be open to navigation this year, as Col. George W. Goethals has stated that the passage of ships will be permitted as soon as one set of twin locks can be operated. Work is being pushed on the lower guard gates in the west chambers, in order to have all the gates on this side completed as soon as possible, thus permitting the passage of ships before all the gates are completed, as the other side of the locks can be kept dry. The same plan is being followed at Pedro Miguel and Miraflores. The gates in the west chamber will be completed by October first. Some interesting views of the canal appear in the June Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Don't forget that the big horse show will be held on June 13 and 14. The Northern Pacific has agreed to make a rate of a fare and a third for the round trip from regular excursion points, and for this concession our local agent is entitled to a great deal of credit for same as it was through him that the concession was made on the part of the company.

N. Edwards and son, Len, have purchased from Albert Sheldon his cigar and pool business, taking charge Monday evening. Mr. Edwards and son have been assisting Mr. Sheldon in the business and are not new to the town or the business. Mr. Sheldon will go to Spokane, where he expects to go into the garage business with his brother.

Mrs. W. E. Smith was given a surprise by the ladies of the Progressive Needlework club, Thursday afternoon of last week, in honor of her twelfth wedding anniversary. The afternoon passed all too quickly—needles and tongues flying to get in all the time possible. The lunch prepared by the ladies was a bounteous one, and on being seated to partake of same, present Mrs. Smith with a token of esteem and remembrance.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Democrats Grant Concessions Regarding Publicity of Tariff Hearings.

Washington.—Announcement by Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee, that sub-committees considering the present tariff bill, the Underwood tariff bill had determined to grant more time to protesting manufacturers than at first was intended, aroused considerable interest at the capitol.

Although the effort of senate Republicans to force public hearings was defeated by a vote of 36 to 41, the minority leaders see in the changed tactics of the Democrats a concession which they assert results from the cancellation of secret consideration of the bill.

Two Democrats, Senators Ransdell and Thornton, of Louisiana, voted for the Republican amendment. Senator Flanders, of Washington, Progressive, voted with the majority. Senator Jones, of Washington, Republican, who previously had determined to vote against public hearings, announced just before the rollcall that he had changed his mind and that the finance subcommittees were giving private hearings to some interests which he thought should be public.

Committees to Stand Pat.

Democrats of the committee have practically decided they will propose no changes in the free wool and sugar schedules and that Democrats opposed to the present tariff bill must fight their fight to the party caucus. According to the present plan the subcommittee having the wool and sugar schedules under consideration will listen to all arguments senators wish to lay before them, but will report the bill to the full Democratic membership of the committee without recommendations. The Democrats of the committee will refer sugar and wool to a party caucus and the senators interested will have an opportunity to make a final appeal.

President Wilson came out strongly as the champion of free wool and free sugar in three years, as provided for in the tariff bill recently passed by the house.

He announced emphatically that he was not considering compromises of any sort; that he stood squarely behind the measure as it passed the house and he regarded it as the duty of the Democratic majority in the senate to fulfill its platform pledge by enacting the house bill into law.

To Aid Agricultural College Work.

Closer relationship between the work of the department of agriculture and that of agricultural colleges and experiment stations was assured at a conference here between Secretary Houston, Assistant Secretary Galley and representatives of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations.

A permanent committee will be named and frequent meetings held between the national and state agricultural workers. The most important co-operative effort will be to devise means for securing the greatest possible good both to farmer and consumer from the newly-organized division of markets and rural organization service.

Monarch Malleable

The Stay Satisfactory Range

It Pays for Itself! Why not Have One?

All the delightful satisfaction of having a perfect range is within easy reach of every one. For the MONARCH Malleable Range will effect a sufficient saving of fuel to actually pay its own cost in a short time.

There's no economy in continuing to use a "grey iron and steel" range, though it is only a few years old and can be made to "do" for a few years more.

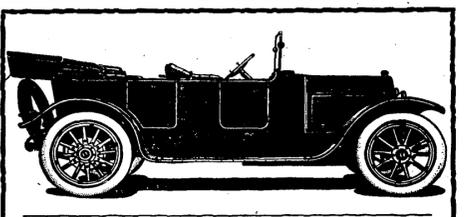

Every year it wastes enough fuel to pay a large part on a Monarch's cost.

This great difference between the fuel requirements of the Monarch and ordinary steel ranges is to be accounted for entirely by the difference in construction.

The MONARCH is made of Polished steel and Malleable iron, a tough, unbreakable material.

WHAT SCIENTIFIC ROAD BUILDING IS DOING

Farmer and Merchant Alike Profit by Good Roads—Open All the Year

There is a demand for better roads. The demand is growing. And the demand is bringing results.

Not so long ago the question of good roads was only a matter of hope with little expectation of realization. The farmer figured on about six months in the year to do his marketing when grain and products of the farm were hauled while the roads were "open." Then the remainder of the year the work of moving his goods was at a standstill.

But the farmer has awakened—he is one of the nation's best good roads advocates. He has seen the false economy of the bad road. He has found that his horse handle larger loads on good roads, his wagons and buggies last longer, and besides, he has saved time. His property becomes more valuable and there is not the drudgery in getting over the roads.

Utah and Idaho have not been backward in the agitation for better roads, in fact millions have been expended in the last five years for the economic cause and more will be appropriated in the next few years. The work of the past has had a great tendency to educate, and the progress of road building in the future will be more far reaching than in past years.

The agitation for better roads has done more. It has brought about a new science—the science of road building. Only a few years ago when the neighbors proposed improving the old lane, the first implement thought of was the plow. The wet grounds from the side of the road were plowed and scraped into the middle and the wagons and carriages acted as rollers. This means of road building proved entirely unsatisfactory. The policy was fundamentally incorrect.

So the men who made road building a study decided on different plans and road building today is entirely different, in fact, it may be said, it is after the order of horse building, the foundation made firm to take care of the weight above. While the first cost is greater, it is considered money well spent because the road is not only serviceable, hard and lasting, but it gives a proper appearance and affords comfort to those who use it.

No factor has been greater in the development of better roads than the automobile. Its speed and its comfort has become so recognized that road building is being effected to care for the wagon and carries of a few years ago, and while it is acclaimed that the automobile is more or less of an enemy in tearing up the road because of its speed and the effect of rubber tires on building material, its invasion must be considered a good for it has aided greatly in the development of better roads.

Automobile travel is becoming more extensive. Their cost has been lowered so that men of reasonable means may own them, and as the field grows more extensive, new touring fields are sought. The easterner, when vacation time comes, casts his eyes to the west, considers the roads and the scenery, the hotels and all, and as he finds them good, makes his tour.

The agitation for "See America First" has added its results. In fact Europe is casting glances toward America for touring fields. They have conquered the Alps with their many passes, they have made annual treks through the Tyrols, they have even attempted the boundless Sahara and they now seek America where they must find rational roads, rational hotels and rational road directions and there is no reason why, with the progress in roads that is being made through Utah and Idaho and other western states, that with the proper added European travel should not be extended this way, to say nothing of the easterner who wants to see his own country.

There are many reasons for the improvement of highways.—See Idaho First.

News Snapshots

English suffragettes continued their militant tactics, placing many bombs in public buildings and publishing their newspapers in jail. D. Haywood, leader of the I. W. W., addressed Paterson (N. J.) strikers. English polo players, valued at $100,000, that will be used in the international match in June arrived. Australian tennis champions who will play America for the international trophy, under the direction of W. Hicks, arrived. Harry K. Thaw testified he had tried to bribe his way out of Matteawan insane asylum. Mrs. Blanche A. Williams Hoye of New York asked $75,000 alimony a year. Mayor Hunt of Cincinnati attempted to settle the trolley strike in that city.

PROTESTS FROM SMITH

Believes in The Protection of American Homes, American Labor and Industries

Hon. Addison T. Smith, member of the national house of representatives from Idaho, in a speech before that body, protests vigorously against the passage of the present tariff bill, known as the "Underwood Bill." He believes the protection of American homes, American industries and American labor is the Polar star of American prosperity.

Mr. Smith sets forth in very forcible language his reasons for opposing the bill, saying in part: "Mr. Smith of Idaho, Mr. Chairman, if I believed that the proposed bill would result in reducing the cost of living without reducing the income of the wage earner, or the prices the farmer is now receiving for his products, I would cheerfully give it my support. If I believed that because of the duty on imported articles the price of living was being gradually forced upward in this country, I certainly would not oppose the measure now under consideration.

"On the contrary, the advance in the price of commodities, which has been gradual for the last 10 years, affect alike free-trade countries as well as those that have a protective-tariff system all over the world. . . . I realize, Mr. Chairman, that there is no argument which can be advanced against the bill under consideration from this side of the House which will deter the democratic party from forcing this iniquitous measure through this branch of congress in the present form. The die is cast. The appeals from the manufacturer, the wage earner, and the farmer will not be heeded; but in the light of past experience we on this side believe that the radical change in the fiscal policy of this government which you are about to adopt, the abolition or reduction of the duty on many articles which are now being produced in this country, will result in transforming the unprecedented prosperity which this country has been enjoying for the last 15 years into an era of business stagnation which will throw hundreds of thousands of honest men out of employment. Our importations will increase and our home production will be curtailed. Discouragement and dismay will overwhelm our manufacturing and commercial interests from ocean to ocean and from the Lakes to the Gulf, without any benefits accruing to the great mass of consumers for whose interests you are attempting to legislate."

Celebrate Silver Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hove was the scene of a very pleasant surprise party last Sunday afternoon, when, after the usual services in Trinity Lutheran church, north of town, had been concluded, the assemblage, some one hundred in number, repaired to the Hove home and gave them a genuine surprise, the occasion being their silver wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Hove were presented a beautiful silver table service, the presentation speech being made by the Rev. G. I. Breivik, in a very happy speech it was, in which he wished them all the comforts and blessings of life in future as they have received in the past, and in double measure.

Mr. and Mrs. Hove were married in North Dakota twenty-five years ago, coming to this vicinity shortly after their marriage, and they have resided on their ranch continuously since that time. They have lived here and prospered in this world's goods. They are the parents of eight children.

John Kluss, who resides northwest of town, is suffering from a broken leg as a result of being kicked by a horse.

Good Roads Building in Idaho.

Plans for a north and south highway connecting Spokane, Colfax, Pullman, Lewiston, Grangeville, and intermediate points with Boise and the cities of southern Idaho, are under consideration by the good roads and bridges committee of the Lewiston Commercial club. The proposed route of this highway in Idaho is from Payette down the little Salmon river to the main Salmon river and down that stream to Whitebird. The road will then be constructed to Grangeville and from Grangeville to Cottonwood, Morrow, Forest and Waha to Lewiston. The line will be extended from Lewiston up the Uniontown hill to connect with the Washington state highway at the Washington state line leading to Pullman, Colfax and Spokane. At Lewiston the system will tie on to the eastern Washington state highway, via Clarkston to Pomeroy, Dayton, Walla Walla and the cities of the Yakima valley. A general convention of citizens of Nez Perce county will be called in June to consider the most feasible plans for meeting the cost of construction of the road and its feeder lines in this county. Prominent good roads experts will be invited to address the convention.

Memorial Day Proclamation

Memorial Day is made a holiday by our laws and will be generally observed as such by our people. It will not be inappropriate, however, for me to invite public attention to this day and particularly to the character of exercises which should be observed thereon.

It is oftentimes referred to as the Soldier's Sabbath. It is a day set apart on which to pay honor and respect to the memory of those heroic men, living and dead, who in the hour of our greatest national peril freely offered their lives and honor upon our country's altar in order that it might continue to live. It is a day sanctified by devotion to duty, to the call of country, to the highest ideals of patriotic service, and it is, therefore, a day on which public and private enterprises should partake of a religious character; all unseemly games and noisy sports and shows which serve to distract attention from the sacredness of the occasion should be discouraged.

Let us place flowers upon the graves of the departed, let us add something of pleasure to the lives of those of that grand army who still remain with us, and let us seek to inspire in our children the same patriotic love of country and devotion to duty which animated those noble men of an earlier day.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Idaho. Done at the capitol in Boise, Idaho, this twenty-second day of May, A. D. 1913

JOHN M. HAINES, Governor.
By the Governor—Attest: Wilfred L. Gilford, Secretary of State.

Genesee Skinned by Potlatch

The Potlatch ball team came over last Sunday and engaged the Genesee boys in a game of ball at Recreation park in the afternoon at which a goodly crowd was present and a good deal of noise made as the rooting and jeering were furious at times.

From a wrangling standpoint the game was a "great success" for it is always considered a good game when some one wants to let the ump, which was the case two or three times last Sunday, but Chas. stood his ground and no serious trouble resulted. The game was a decidedly rough one and full of errors.

However, Potlatch came over here to win, and win they did, not so much on account of their extra good ball playing, but simply because the Genesee boys were in no condition to play, and when the final score was made it was found that Potlatch had seven scores to their credit while Genesee had only three. However, the boys have turned over a new leaf and "pasted it down" and better ball may be expected in future.

E. E. Miller returned Monday from Spokane, driving overland a fine new Studebaker '13, which he now has on exhibition. It is a very pretty car and the quality very one knows. He has been delayed in getting his cars on account of a shortage in the east.

BASEBALL PLAY A GREAT SUCCESS

Large Crowd Gathers to Witness Offering by Local Talent—Carry Parts Well

On Tuesday night a large and representative audience gathered in the opera house to witness the play, "Nevada," given by local talent for the benefit of the baseball association and those in the audience were well repaid for time and money spent as it is conceded to be one of the best, if not the very best home talent affair ever put on here. The direction of the play was in the hands of Louis Denee, who worked hard with those taking part for the past two weeks and his efforts were not in vain.

The play was laid in the mining district of Nevada, the scene depicting the cabin of "Mother Merton," (Mrs. J. T. Nelson) who acted as "mother" to all the "boys" of the district, "Silas Steele," (Thos. H. Herman) a missionary of health, and who had come all the way from Vermont to try and find his father, who had disappeared from his home some years before, and also to spread the good tidings of "Busted Balm," which was guaranteed to cure all ills man is heir to.

"Vermont," (Edwin Smolt) an old miner, was one of the important figures of the scene. He told how some years before he had found a little waif, "Mosey," (Dorothy Driscoll) she was known in a basket floating in the creek and had brought her to the cabin, where Mother Merton had cared for her ever since.

Agnes Fairlee, (Edna Driscoll) also came from the east in search of her brother, who had disappeared from his home under a cloud, suspected of forgery, and whom she suspected of being in that part of the country and made overtures to one "Tom Carew," (J. M. McColl) a young miner, who promised to assist her in locating the one of her quest. He also fell violently in love with the winsome easterner and they later became fast friends.

"Dandy Dick," (Leon Larrabee) a young miner, who had just returned from a prospecting trip, thoroughly disgusted and disheartened, whom Tom Carew tries to cheer up, but in vain. He later turns out to be the brother of Miss Agnes Fairlee, whom had come west in search of. In the meantime one "Jerdan," (O. G. Ballard) had appeared on the scene, ostensibly in search of the one known as Dandy Dick, accused of forgery, but later himself proved to be the one who had committed the crime and was banished from the camp.

"Jube," (Donald Brenner) a black miner, and "Win Kye," (Emery Vandenberg) a Chinaman, were on the scene and were ever on the alert, seeing and hearing more than any others in the camp.

"Nevada," (Louis Denee) the wanderer, who later turned out to be the father of Mosey, was ever in search of a lost mine, but which he was never able to locate on account of his having been badly hurt by falling rock from which he had never recovered, but which was later discovered by Tom Carew, after which the old man regained his memory, but was too old to have any use for the gold found therein.

As a whole it was indeed a good play well played by the best home talent company yet seen in Genesee. To specialize would be doing other members of the company an injustice, for they all carried their parts to the best advantage possible and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience.

It is expected that the play will be given in Uniontown tomorrow (Saturday) night if arrangements can be made to that effect. Louis Denee, who managed the play here is in Uniontown to see what can be done along that line.

Manager Adams and the baseball boys fully appreciate the patronage of the public and their assistance in making the play the success it was.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Edwards are the parents of a ten-pound baby girl, who arrived at their home Friday afternoon of last week.

TRIANGULAR TRACK MEET
Genesee Loses To Pullman at Last Moment—No New Records Were Made

The triangular meet this year was a much more even and exciting contest than last year. Lewiston started in the lead, but Genesee held it most of the afternoon until nosed out by Pullman at the last moment. While the meet was fast in almost every event no records were broken.

First was won as follows:
Half mile, Bevis, Lewiston; 50-yard dash, F. Glover, Pullman; shot put, Schooler, Genesee, high jump also; 100-yard dash, F. Glover, Pullman; pole vault, Schooler, Genesee; 200-yard dash, F. Glover, Pullman; hammer, Martinson, Genesee; javelin, Nave, Lewiston; 120-yard hurdles, Henry, Pullman; broad jump, Gray, Genesee; discus, F. Glover, Pullman; 40-yard dash, Glover, Pullman; mile, Bevis, Lewiston; relay won by Pullman.

Of our men Schooler took three firsts, one second and two thirds; Martinson took one first and two seconds. Gray took one first and two seconds. Wardrobe took four thirds.

BOISE MAYOR UNDER FIRE
Hodges Declares He is Not Aware of Disorderly Houses Operate.

Boise.—Mayor Arthur Hodges, of this city, was placed on trial in the district court here on ouster charges preferred by J. I. Mills, a business man of Boise, charging him with willful violation of city ordinances and laws of the state by permitting disorderly houses to operate and liquor within them without license.

Mayor Hodges denied in answer to an amended complaint, that he had knowledge of existence of such places and that so far as he knew, they did not operate. The case is one of the most sensational in the history of the municipal government of Boise.

Marble Creek Decision Set Aside. Court of Appeals, Boise, Idaho, has set aside the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of the state of Idaho vs. Thorpe et al. in township 44, range 2 east. The ruling of the Idaho state court is set aside and the interior department holds that the state selections in township 44, range 2 east are invalid. By the ruling of the interior department the state court proceedings are as though they had never been.

Tax Commission Names Three.
Boise.—The state tax commission has designated the following men as assistants for that department: John D. Robertson of Washington county, assistant secretary at a salary of $2000 per annum; W. M. McKendrick of Boise, examiner, at a salary of $5.00 a day; F. D. Kaufman of Boise, examiner, at a salary of $5.00 a day. Mr. Robertson's appointment is permanent. Mr. McKendrick and Mr. Kaufman are to assist the state board of equalization and will serve till September 1.

FALLING PIER KILLS 34 MERRYMAKERS
Promenade to Auditorium Collapses Beneath Crowd at Long Beach, Calif.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Thirty-four persons were killed and 117 injured when the promenade leading from the municipal pier at Long Beach to the municipal auditorium collapsed under the weight of a throng crowding into the auditorium for the exercises therein celebrating Empire day, the anniversary of the birth of Queen Victoria, by British residents of southern California.

The cause of the accident was the overloading of the pier. The overcrowding, according to an official statement, was due to the delay in unlocking the doors. If the doors had been unlocked at the proper time, it was asserted, the crowds could have got into the auditorium instead of overwhelming the pier supports.

The crowd massed about the auditorium doors was composed mostly of women and children. When the section about the doors sank they went in with it and a half dozen policemen who had been vainly striving to hold the throng in check went with them. Comparatively a small number of men were caught in the trap, as most of the male celebrators were taking part in the parade.

Fallen timbers and flooring were jammed among the limbs of those caught in the trap and ropes were required to pull back the jagged edges of the sunken flooring and broken joists before the dead and injured could be taken out.

Coyote Attacks Sleeping Man.
Wheeler.—Nicholas Decker, a sheep herder in the employ of Sam Ross, is in this city awaiting the arrival of the life saving antitoxin for rabies. It has been ordered by telegraph.

While asleep in his tent, he was awakened by a fierce snarl in his forehead and the weight of a body on his back. He struck out with his hands and knocked a coyote across the tent. Following it to the door through which it had disappeared, he was in time to see a full grown coyote, the foam flying from its bloody chops, leave the body of a wounded sheep dog.

BUTTE TO BOISE LINE
Articles of Incorporation With Capital of $40,000,000 to Be Filed.

Boise.—Articles of incorporation for a $40,000,000 company will be filed with Secretary of State Gifford within a week for the purpose of constructing and operating a line of railroad from some point in Montana, through Boise and to Winnemucca, Nev., to connect there with the Western Pacific, with the understanding that the Western Pacific is to be utilized from Winnemucca into San Francisco.

This statement was made by L. O. Leonard, who has been working on this project for years. The articles to be filed will in reality be an article of the old Butte & Boise Railroad company, amended to increase the capital stock from $24,000,000 to $40,000,000, and to carry the project on from Boise to Winnemucca. Attorneys are now at work on the amended articles, and Mr. Leonard asserts that they will be filed within a few days.

This proposed line, according to the best information that can be obtained at this time, will start from a point four miles east of the mouth of the follow up the Big Horn river; cross over into Idaho to pass through Salmon; run south from Salmon to Challis, and from there run in a general southwesterly direction to Boise. From here to Winnemucca it will follow the generally accepted route. The total distance is approximately 650 miles, and the estimated cost of construction is from $40,000 to $48,000 a mile. Part of the route has been surveyed and accepted.

Wages Declared Not to Control.
New York.—The rate of wages is not the controlling factor in the cost of production and there are manufacturers who should employ more efficient methods before attempting to reduce wages on account of the proposed reductions in the tariff, declared William C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce, speaking at a dinner given in honor of Secretary of War Garrison by the Hudson County Bar Association.

AGED CHIEF CHANTS OVER SON'S BODY.
Weiser.—Following out the burial customs of his tribe, always performed immediately after the body of the deceased is prepared for burial, Hugh Hunter, a Winnebago Indian, chanted the weird words in his native tongue over the body of his son, David Hunter, who died on the train while crossing the divide between Huntington and Baker. The deceased was 19 years of age and for the past year had been attending the school at Fort Lapwai on the Nez Perce reservation.

Commercial Club Meeting.
There will be a meeting of the Genesee Commercial club on next Monday night at the Grand Central hotel. All members are requested to be present.

Walter Lord, an employee on the Hampton ranch, is suffering from blood poisoning in his left hand. He is getting along nicely and it is thought he will soon be able to resume his work.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS MEET
Plan for 1914 Campaign and Agree on Need of Reorganization.

Washington.—Leaders of the republican party—members of the executive committee of the national committee from 12 states—gathered here Saturday and laid preliminary plans for the congressional campaign of 1914.

The conference was the first formal meeting of republican leaders since the 1912 campaign. It was harmonious from the time Chairman Hill called for order until the last motion was adopted. The need for reform within the party was not denied. The suggestion of the progressive element for a national convention in the near future was heard and it was practically unanimous that such a convention should be called.

Those who know buy DE LAVAL Cream Separators

Creamseparators—Because they are experts in the handling of cream and know by long experience that the De Laval skims cleanest and wean longest. That is why 98% of the World's creameries use the De Laval exclusively.

Experienced Dairyman—The De Laval is the universal favorite among big dairymen. They know that no other separator will give them such satisfactory service.

Old De Laval Users—Whenever a man who has used an old model De Laval decides to purchase a later style machine he invariably buys another De Laval.

Men Who Investigate—If anyone takes the time to investigate the merits of the various cream separators, either by finding out from other users what kind of service these machines have given or by testing other machines out against the De Laval, the chances are a hundred to one that his choice will be the De Laval. More De Laval machines are in use than any other make.

There is a reason. Come in and we will tell you why.

More than 1,500,000 DE LAVALS now in use.

First Aid To Housewives

To wash blankets so the color will not run, use rain water whenever it is practicable, heated to the temperature of the water in which they are later to be washed. To an amount sufficient to thoroughly cover them, add a half pint of ammonia. A half tub of water is the amount generally required for two double blankets. This serves to set almost any delicate color and at the same time loosens the dirt so as to make your washing easier. If green, blue, mauve or purple is the dominant color, soak the blanket in alum water, for at least ten minutes before washing, using an ounce of alum to a gallon of water. To set brown tones—the red browns and tans—use sugar of lead in the same proportion. Yellow, buff and tans are made much brighter by adding a cupful of strong strained coffee to the rinsing water. Light blue may be set with sugar of lead in the same proportion as that used for the browns and tans.

The fancy blankets of Indian design which are so "comfy" to keep on the foot of your living-room couch to throw over you for the occasional ten minutes' cat-nap, naturally get much more soiled than the blankets used on your bed. These dry clean nicely but in time they will require the tub-cleaning; therefore it is well to keep in mind these color setting facts. If these methods are carefully followed, the housewife may put away the finest woolen blankets in the spring, secure in the knowledge that when they are taken out in the fall, they will be as soft and fluffy as when new.—Pictorial Review.

On Monday evening this section of the country was visited by one of the worst wind and thunder storms ever seen here, and while no serious damage was done to buildings, quite a number of trees were blown down in the city and limbs taken from others. While the wind and rain was of short duration it thoroughly drenched the ground. The dust which was a forerunner of the rain caused a thick mud to be made on the sidewalks and a great deal of window washing was the result on Tuesday morning.

NEWS NOTES OF IDAHO

Forty-five graduates will be in the class of the Idaho state normal school at Lewiston this year, this being the largest class in the history of the institution.

Tom Hall and John Bowen, both living in Sandpoint, were brought before the probate judge on the charge of selling liquor without a license. Three counts were brought against each of the two men.

State Chairman J. H. Gipson of the Progressive party will lead an attempt to devise ways and means of amalgamating the Progressives of Idaho and the Progressive Republicans into one working organization.

Gifford farmers say they never saw so many field mice as are this year scampering over the plowed ground. At the same time flies of an unknown variety fill the air in every direction like swarms of bees.

Idaho's public utilities commission will not ask common carriers (steam and electric railways) for free transportation for its members, the members of its staff, or for state officials, either elective or appointive, or for others heretofore enjoying the liberality of the roads.

Nine hundred and eight thousand acres in southeast Idaho, withdrawn on the supposition they contained coal, were restored to entry under the homestead law. There is considerable coal in this region, but none in the land affected by the order.

The W. C. T. U. women of Moscow assembled at the court house to assist Sheriff C. C. Brown in the destruction of the accumulated liquor secured in raids. The bottles were broken about 90 in all, and the contents poured on the ground.

Henry Hirsell, 70, a pioneer of the Lewiston country, was found dead by a neighbor in the wood above Wah. Investigation showed that he had been struck by a tree which he had felled, and he is thought to have been dead since May 8.

Because one of the terms in its franchise provided that the city should not construct or maintain a municipal water plant, the franchise under which the Pocatello Water company was operating at Pocatello, has been declared void by the United States district court at Boise.

Peter Bradovitch, a convict and inmate of the Blackfoot asylum, killed five of the sleeping inmates in one of the wards of the institution. He used a small table as a weapon, and struck it with deadly effect. Governor Haines has ordered a sweeping investigation into the tragedy.

The Homestead 10-stamp mill and the small plant at Newburg, Idaho, destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $50,000 to the owners, who are George E. Roth and others of Rochester, N. Y. The fire is ascribed to defective wiring.

The organization of the drainage district, including the entire Kootenai valley to the Canadian boundary, was perfected at Bonanza Berry and papers are to be filed in the district court at Sandpoint asking for the creation of the district. This district will include about 50,000 acres.

Representative Addison T. Smith, of Moscow, has advised the members of the former senator from Idaho, who has sent to personal friends of the senator in the state volumes of government publications from his private library, complying with wishes made before his death.

Chief of Police Guy Hurd and Sheriff H. S. Remer of Sand Point joined forces in driving tramps in the jungles along the railroad tracks out of town. They were given their choice between going to work nine hours a day for $2.75 or leaving town, and only two elected to work.

The two professional men of Plummet pleaded guilty in the probate court at Coeur d'Alene. Dr. M. R. Douglas, a dentist, for illegally prescribing intoxicating liquor, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs, and Dr. William Cusick, physician, for practicing without a state license, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs.

The body of Sanford Lamb, who was drowned in Pine Creek near Kellogg while attempting to ford the creek on horseback, has been recovered. A cut over the eye indicates that he was stunned after falling into the swift current. The body was found in a log jam a quarter of a mile below the scene of the accident.

Judge Frank S. Dietrich in the federal court at Moscow has handed down a decree by which judgment is given the United States for an aggregate of $88,489 against Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company of Idaho, for timber trespassing and destruction on national forestry reservations and for debris wrongfully thrown in the St. Joe river and its tributaries.

The H. & M. Mining company has started to develop claims it owns on the Buckhorn. A steam engine has been shipped to Summit, and is to be taken to the mine to replace the water power that was used last year in operating the concentrator. The company plans expending about $25,000 in road building and general development.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Strong Support Fortifies Wilson in His Stand on New Tariff Bill.

Washington. — President Wilson seems to have the tariff situation well in hand, notwithstanding repeated murmurings among western democratic senators, who have it in their power to force material changes in the Underwood bill, and unless there is a change of heart at the White House, the tariff law will be signed in substantially the shape in which it left the house.

From time to time there is speculation as to what might happen if a few western democratic senators, representing wool and sugar growing states, should join with the Louisiana senators and form a coalition to defeat the sugar and wool provisions of the Underwood bill. Up to date it has been impossible to induce any of the senators who have figured in this speculation to declare themselves publicly on the bill, and their timidity leads to the conclusion that they will content themselves by expressing their disapproval of free wool and free sugar, and will then vote for the bill.

Uncertainty Felt for Three.

Administration leaders are confident they will win in their tariff fight, although there is uncertainty as to the stand of a few democratic senators at the present time. Real concern is felt at present only over the two senators from Louisiana and Montana, of whom the Louisiana senators, if admitted, will vote against the bill as long as it provides for free sugar, either immediately or at the end of three years, and the Montana senator, who is opposed both to free sugar and free wool. Early votes, however, have indicated that Senator Poindexter, who is obligated to the democrats, intends to vote with them on the tariff, if his franchise is needed, and in the event he does, it will need five democratic votes against the tariff bill to prevent its passage. It is not easy to figure out where five dissenting democratic votes can be obtained.

President Wilson may actually have before him this week for his approval or rejection the much budgeted $117,000,000 sundry civil appropriation bill which includes the provision exempting labor from the income tax, and authorizing from prosecution through funds appropriated for the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law.

What the president will do with the measure is not clear. A Nepton clause which caused ex-President Taft to veto it is engaging country-wide attention.

Petitions Flood White House.

The executive office has been flooded with letters and petitions regarding the measure, some urging him to veto it because of the exemption clause and others appealing to him to give it his approval.

The tariff situation will reach an interesting period this week, when the senate finance sub-committee get down to work on the measure, and the House will be voting on the revisions of the Underwood bill.

After the private hearings closed Tuesday, the three sub-committees began to sift through the mass of material prepared at the private hearings and through briefs filed by protesting manufacturers. There is little prospect that the work of revising schedules will be concluded this week.

Insurance Feature Coming Up.

Senator Williams' sub-committee will take up the insurance feature of the income tax section of the bill. Another matter to occupy this sub-committee will be the amendments to the administrative features of the bill proposed by Assistant Attorney-General Johnson and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis. The amendments being seriously considered are one to give the Secretary of the Treasury the right to proclaim valuations on all valuations of good and chattels, and another attorneys taking up disputed cases on a contingent fee basis.

National Capital Brevities.

President Wilson has dictated into a talking machine a long speech that will be ground out to 89 tributes of praise on 66 reservations on the four sides of the city in the City of Genesee, shall pay a license therefor.

Section 6. It is hereby made the duty of the Chief of Police to enforce the provisions of this ordinance, and to pay over to the city treasurer each month, all the moneys received for licenses under this Ordinance.

The question of putting on special policemen during the horse show was brought up, as well as the sprinkling of the streets during the two days of the big horse show, both of which will be attended to at the proper time, but the people may rest assured there will be enough policemen on hand to preserve order, should there be any need for such action.

There being no further business the council adjourned.

Don't fail to see the broncho busting at the big horse show.

Monarch MALLEABLE RANGE

The Satisfactory Range

It Pays for Itself!

Why not Have One?

All the delightful satisfaction of having one. For the MONARCH Malleable Range will effect a sufficient saving of fuel to actually pay its own cost in a short time.

There's no economy in continuing to use a "grey iron and steel" range, though it is only a few years old and can be made to "do" for a few years more.

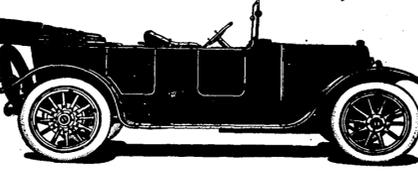

Every year it wastes enough fuel to pay a large part on a Monarch's cost.

This great difference between the fuel requirements of the Monarch and ordinary steel ranges is to be accounted for entirely by the difference in construction.

The MONARCH is made of Polished steel and Malleable iron, a tough, unbreakable material.

CITY FATHERS HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

Many Matters of Importance Discussed—Ordinances to be Enforced

The city council met in regular monthly session on Monday night, with all members present except Alderman Meyer, who was absent from the city, with Mayor Nelson presiding.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved, after which the following bills were allowed:

Ed Roderick, work on streets $11.25
James Montague work on streets . . . . . 20.00
D. B. Harris work on streets . . . . . 4.50
Genesee E. L. & P. Co., power for May . . . . . 75.00
Genesee E. L. & P. Co., street lights . . . . . 36.60

A. J. Fitz, salary and extra work . . . . . 75.00
C. F. Burr, salt water . . . . . 10.00
C. F. Burr, city clerk . . . . . 20.00

One of the most important questions of the evening was the putting in of crossings at various points in the city, especially where there is a great deal of heavy traffic during the wheat season. After some discussion on the subject of width, it was decided to put in at least five concrete crossings, those in the residence district to be at least four feet wide, while those in the business part of town should be five feet in width. The work will be begun in a short time.

One of the aldermen reported that a great deal of stock was being promiscuously staked in the streets and alleys of the town and called the attention to the fact that there is an ordinance prohibiting the staking of stock in streets and alleys or near sidewalks, and is very plain on the subject. That portion of the ordinance bearing on this subject is as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons being the owner or having the control of any cattle, horses, mules, goats or other stock, to permit, suffer, or allow the same to be staked on any of the streets or alleys, or so near the sidewalks that they can cross the walk, of the City of Genesee, Idaho.

Section 2. It shall be the duty of the chief of police of the City of Genesee, to take up, impound, and dispose of all stock according to the provisions of Ordinance No. 55 (old number) that is found staked in violation of Section 1 of this ordinance, the same as if found running at large.

Marshal Fitz stated that he had collected some $37.00 dog tax, and that there are a few more who had promised to pay their license, but are rather slow about paying it over. He is now preparing his artillery and getting the dog tax collectors ready to go to work for the slaughter of the tax is paid.

The following extracts from the ordinance pertaining to dog tax may be of interest to those wishing to keep their dogs:

Section 1. That no dogs be allowed to run at large in any of the streets, alleys, lanes, or in any of the public grounds or places in the City of Genesee, without having a collar or number thereon as hereinafter provided.

Section 2. Any and all persons or parties having in charge, or owning any dog, either male or female, before permitting the same to run at large in any street, lane or alley, or other public place or ground in the City of Genesee, shall pay a license therefor.

Section 6. It is hereby made the duty of the Chief of Police to enforce the provisions of this ordinance, and to pay over to the city treasurer each month, all the moneys received for licenses under this Ordinance.

The question of putting on special policemen during the horse show was brought up, as well as the sprinkling of the streets during the two days of the big horse show, both of which will be attended to at the proper time, but the people may rest assured there will be enough policemen on hand to preserve order, should there be any need for such action.

There being no further business the council adjourned.

The senior class of the high school went to the Little Potlatch Wednesday morning for a picnic. The automobiles were brought into use for the trip. Supt. Babcock and Mrs. J. E. Reilly accompanied the class. A large amount of refreshments were taken, including a good supply of ice cream and the necessary accompaniment.

Miss Esther Martinson, who was taken from Genesee to the Gritman hospital at Moscow, some ten days ago, is not improving very rapidly.

News Snapshots Of the Week

About 250 coast artillerymen left Fort Slocum, N. Y., for Honolulu, via San Francisco, as part of the movement to increase the Pacific garrisons. Essad Pasha, who proclaimed himself king of Albania following the surrender of Scutari, was assassinated. Princess Victoria Louise, only daughter of the emperor of Germany, was married in Berlin to Prince Ernst August of Cumberland after King George, the czar and other European notables had arrived. B. Saunders Walker, Jr., the Macon (Ga.) banker, died after a week's fight against acute death from poisoning. Miss Dyer, daughter of Governor Dyer of New York, was married to a young man from Genesee.

GOVERNOR'S FLAG DAY PROCLAMATION

Saturday, June 14, Set Apart as Day to be Observed by Patriotic Citizens

In the year 1876 there was formed in this country an organization known as the American Flag Association, whose avowed purpose was to promote reverence for the flag of our country, and to arouse a living sentiment which would serve to prevent its desecration whenever and wherever possible.

The flag of a country is the visible symbol of its power and sovereignty, and respect for a country's flag has come, through centuries of history and tradition, to symbolize respect and reverence for that country itself. Accordingly those of us who love our country, who have faith in its institutions, who appreciate the great power for good it has exercised in the past, and who hope for a grand and glorious future, should all unite in cultivating in ourselves and in our children that sentiment which the American Flag Association was organized to promote.

I have the honor, therefore, to proclaim Saturday, June 14, 1913, as Flag Day, and to recommend that every public officer, every teacher in our schools, all editors of newspapers, and citizens generally throughout our State, do everything possible to assist in arousing widespread enthusiasm in providing for the holding of appropriate public exercises and the general celebration of this day.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be attested the great seal of the State of Idaho. Done at the capital in Boise, Idaho, this twenty-second day of May, A. D. 1913.

JOHN M. HAINES, Governor.
By the Governor—Attest: Wilfred L. Gifford, Secretary of State.

Ex-Governor McConnell
Ex-Gov. W. J. McConnell has assured the horse show management that he will be on hand Saturday afternoon (the 14th) and will deliver an address along pioneer lines.

Gov. McConnell was first in Genesee 35 years ago, having come through here on horseback from Lewiston, at which time Genesee had one inhabitant, a Mr. Levy.

The governor will give some parts of history of this country that will be new to many of the old-timers as he is intimately acquainted with not only the commercial history, but the political as well, the whole of which would make a very interesting theme.

A very pleasant party was given the senior class of the high school and a few invited friends on Friday night by Miss Myrtle Peterson at the home of her parents east of town. Games and music occupied the evening, after which a delicious luncheon was served and a very pleasant time was had by those fortunate enough to be present.

Little Thea Smith, who has been suffering from infantile paralysis, has so far recovered as to be able to walk.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVED HERE

Appropriate Exercises in City Park—March to Cemetery—Graves Decorated

Decoration day was fittingly observed here by the people of this community. A good crowd gathered in the City Park to make the trip to the cemetery to decorate the graves of departed soldiers and of friends and relatives. The procession, made up of automobiles and a large float for the children, left the park about 9:30 in the morning, going direct to the cemetery, where the handful of old soldiers present made a few remarks, after which they scattered flowers on the graves of their departed comrades.

A small mound had been erected in memory of the unknown dead heroes who had fallen and who had been buried on the battlefield. This mound was consecrated anew and decorated in their honor.

After the decoration of graves was concluded all returned to the city and reassembled in the park where the exercises of the day were held, as follows:

Song—"Star Spangled Banner"—Chorus.
Invocation—Rev. A. P. Orth.
Song—"Hail to the Flag"—Chorus.
Reading of Memorial Day Proclamation—Prof. L. T. Babcock.
Song—"Scattering of Flowers"—Chorus of male voices.
Recitation—Miss Margaret Tobin.
Song—"The Mighty Nation"—Chorus.
Lincoln's Gettysburg speech—Mrs. John Hall.
Song—"The Good Old U. S. A."—Adeline and Morris Murphy.
Address—Rev. A. P. Orth.
Flag Drill.
Song—"America."

The program was a splendid one and well rendered, the music being of a superior quality, while Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech, by Mrs. John Hall, was thoroughly enjoyed by all present but the story surrounding the circumstances under which it was made, was also of more than passing interest. The address of Rev. Orth was well received and duly appreciated by those assembled in the park and they were willing to forego their regular dinner hour in order that they might not lose any of his interesting address.

There were truly but a handful of old soldiers present—and very few more are to be found in this part of the country. Of the G. A. R. post organized here in 1896 consisting of 22 members there are only six existing in this vicinity, four have died here and the rest have moved away and no doubt some of those have passed to their last reward ere this.

Those still residing in this vicinity are G. M. Hollister, Co. B, 1st Infantry, Minnesota; Jake Kambeitch, Co. F, 6th Cavalry U. S. and 2nd battery; L. Jain, Co. K, 33d Infantry, Wisconsin; Pat Ryan, Co. B, 4th Cavalry, Michigan; Jacob Rogers, (company not known); T. O. Miller, Co. C, 1st Heavy Artillery, Wisconsin.

Those who have answered the last roll call from this vicinity are J. M. Edwards, Mathias Bechler, Wm. McMahon and G. W. Daggett.

Some of the ladies of the city prepared and served a basket dinner in the park for the old soldiers, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the "boys of '61."

Will Be Present
Word comes from Lewiston and from Moscow that the Commercial clubs of those two cities will be on hand with a strong representation from each to take part in the "tug of war" to take place between the two organizations on "Friday, the thirteenth."

Lewiston assures the management that they will be here with a strong delegation, and that arrangements will be made for an automobile excursion here on that day.

Moscow also advises that they will have a good representation here and that ten men, "good and strong" will be selected for the tug of war, which promises to be one of the interesting features of the program.

There will be big times—horse show.

Without a Hat

"To wear a hat, or not to wear one," that is the question. Most girls answer it by going bare-headed—but they have to pay for their recklessness later.

"But it does the hair good," one argues.

I admit that the hair should, like a plant, have plenty of light and air in order to grow well, but a too ardent summer sun scorches and fades the hair, and in general does it more harm than good. It is not the hair, however, which constitutes the most important reason for or against the custom.

The effect upon the head, the eyes, the expression of the face, and the complexion is much more serious. Without a hat the eyes are dazzled with the brightness of the summer glare, and the result is that the forehead becomes wrinkled and furrowed with the attempt to lower the eyebrows and protect the eyes in that way. Wrinkles appear at the corners of the eyes and fold down below in the process of squinting to keep out the excessive brightness. A permanent scowl develops, and headaches are often frequent.—The Ladies World.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow outside." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and swallowed. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and are agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences Of The Past Week From Cities In Our State

Women on Inquest Jury

Weiser.—Coroner McCann returned from Roboette, Or., where he held an inquest over the body of an unidentified man found in Snake river on the Idaho side. Nothing was found that would lead to identify. Besides other minor articles a watch valued at $5 gold piece and 60 cents in small change were found in the pockets. The watch is a seven-jewel open-faced Waltham, the works are numbered 372483, and the watch bears the number 11139. The watch will be sent to the manufacturers and an effort made to identify the unfortunate owner.

For the first time in the history of this county, and perhaps the state, it was impossible to complete the jury of six men without going several miles out of his way, and in order to hasten matters McCann swore in two women and proceeded with his gruesome duties. He declares the women atoned the ordeal fully as well as the other members. The jury was in the water fully six weeks.

SENATOR BRADY MARRIED

Chicago.—United States Senator James H. Brady, of Idaho, and Miss Irene Moore, daughter of Mrs. George M. Moore, of this city, were married at the home of the bride's cousin, Mr. Arthur L. Moore, Ravine drive, Highland Park, a Chicago suburb.

After the ceremony the bride couple left for Washington and will be at home after June 15 at 1700 Rhode Island Avenue, N. Y.

Indian Boy Beats Cupid

Spokane.—After a series of futile attempts to secure a marriage license that he might claim Esther Wynecoop, a Spokane Indian maid, as his bride, Alex Pierre, age 20 years, an Indian boy of Worley, Idaho, was able to get the license. He was assisted by the auditor's office and obtained the coveted credentials.

Pierre, a Nez Perce, formerly attended the Cushman school at Tacoma. He arrived in Spokane to make final preparations for the marriage ceremony. When he reached the office of the county auditor with the Indian maid he found that she was old enough to get married if she liked, but he would not be able to get the license. He was then informed that the bride might depart for her home without delay she was permitted to leave her signature at the office.

"Drys" Win Fight

Weiser.—After a lively battle during the past month, the wet forces met defeat in the local option election held in Washington county. Twelve out of 15 precincts gave the "drys" a majority of 776. Only two precincts were carried by the wets. The remaining precincts are expected to remain dry to reduce the majority.

The results were a big surprise, as the majority in nearly four times as many precincts as two years ago. The "drys" carried Weiser by 179 majority.

FLOOD WATERS RECEDED

St. Joe Valley Is Lake, Burke Is Cut Off and Business Houses Damaged

Boise.—Flood waters caused by the heavy rains, have receded considerably, following a drop in the temperature.

At Burke, where the principal damage was done, owing to the overflowing of its banks by Canyon Creek, the waters have receded into the waters' path, as they flowed down the main street.

At Yellow Dog, near Mace, nearly 100 feet of railroad track is washed out and all the canyon towns above Mace are isolated, so far as railroad traffic is concerned. Both railroads are damaged to such an extent that no trains can reach Burke.

The Hercules mine was compelled to close.

With three swollen rivers pouring their torrents into Lake Coeur d'Alene from which it takes its source, the Spokane river has reached a height greater than has been recorded since the historic floods of 1894, and is still rising.

Damage at Nez Perce Heavy

Lewiston.—Later articles received from the vicinity of Nez Perce, which was visited by a cloudburst and hail storm, place the damage at more than $100,000. The path of the hail storm is about five miles long and a mile in width. Some of the grain in the path of the storm was a total loss and will be plowed under at once.

Democrats Plan to Crowd Tariff Bill by Holding All-Day Sessions.

Washington.—"Make the republican work" is the slogan adopted by the democratic leaders of the senate in charge of tariff legislation who predict that the senate would vote on the bill by August 1.

Members of the finance committee said that the bill would be out of subcommittee by June 9; that the full committee's report should be ready for caucus by the following week and that the revised measures would be reported to the senate on June 23. That it will be passed by the senate will be placed on its passage.

Hoke Smith, of Georgia, said that the senate should vote on the bill in the latter part of July.

"We will keep the republicans who want to discuss the bill working, and we will keep at work ourselves from the very beginning," he said. "We will meet in the senate every day at 10 o'clock in the morning and keep at it until 6 o'clock at night. That will prevent the opposition from delaying the bill by playing with it. We will tire the republicans out of playing."

Lobby Inquiry Started

The senate's investigation of the "Numerous and insidious lobby" which President Wilson charged was threatening the tariff bill, was begun Monday morning by a committee composed of Senators Overman (chairman), Walsh, Cummins, Reed and Nelson.

The investigation was conducted openly in the public hearing room of the judiciary committee in the senate office building, and members of the senate were called in alphabetical order.

President Wilson was sent a certified copy of the resolution authorizing the inquiry.

Report Attacks Hitchcock Regime

The postoffice department did not get a condition of self-support during the administration of Postmaster General Hitchcock, notwithstanding the widely-advertised announcement to that effect, although an apparent surplus was attained by unjustifiable methods of bookkeeping. The general morale and efficiency of the postal service were sacrificed to a ruthlessly enforced policy of false economy for the sole purpose of presenting a showing of self-maintenance; and after the attainment of this end, just before the inauguration of the new administration, the policy was reversed, according to a report addressed to Postmaster General Burleson, and signed by Daniel C. Roper, Joseph Stewart, A. M. Dockery, James T. Blaisdell and Merritt O. Chance, respectively first, second, third and fourth assistant postmasters general and chief clerk of the department.

Settler Must Pay Operation Costs

The recent decision of the United States supreme court in the case of Swigert vs. Baker settles for all time the right of the secretary of the interior, through the reclamation service to impose and collect annually from the majority in nearly four times as many projects the cost of maintenance and operation of projects from the time water is turned into the canals up to the time the projects are turned over to the settlers completed.

On many projects there has been discontent because the government has been requiring the settlers to pay the maintenance and operation charge, which usually ranges from 50 cents to $1 an acre a year. The lower court decided in favor of the government and was reversed by the United States circuit court of appeals at San Francisco, but now is sustained by the supreme court.

National Capital Bravities

The president is reported to have agreed with Secretary Williams and Simmons that raw materials and their products in the agricultural schedule should be equalized in the tariff bill.

The progressives have been allowed representation on all the house committees except rivers and harbors and agriculture. They are given a total of 28 assignments.

The seventeenth amendment to the constitution of the United States became effective when Secretary Bryan formally proclaimed that direct election of United States senators is now the law of the land.

The appointment of Alexander H. Stephens to be general superintendent of the railway mail service, vice Theodore Ingalls, was announced by Postmaster General Burleson.

Secretary Bryan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, signed a renewal of the five years of the general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain.

Secretary Lane announced a reclamation commission, which will direct all work of the reclamation service. F. H. Newell, present director of the reclamation service, will be chairman.

Rural Carriers Meet in Moscow

On Friday of last week the rural mail carriers throughout Latah county met in Moscow and effected a county organization. The meeting was held in the Federal court room and was called to order Friday morning. W. A. Rosebaum was chosen temporary chairman and Mrs. Adah Dysart was made temporary secretary. After some discussion of preliminary work the meeting adjourned to meet again at 2 p. m.

After convening in the afternoon election of officers was in order and Chas. Riggles of Kendrick was chosen as permanent president for the ensuing term; W. A. Rosebaum of Moscow was made first vice-president and Emery Vandenburg of Genesee second vice-president; Mrs. Adah Dysart of Juliaetta was selected as secretary-treasurer.

After the election of officers the duties of the rural carrier were discussed and ways and means planned for the betterment of the service as well as help to the carrier.

Mrs. Adah Dysart of Juliaetta was instrumental in effecting the organization for it was due to her efforts more than any other one that the meeting was held and the organization effected. The carriers feel that by co-operation they can be of better service to the patrons as well as making their own work easier to handle.

The next meeting will be held in Moscow—the date to be set by the executive board.

The children of St. Joseph's school on Tuesday morning were taken to the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. James Tobin, where they enjoyed the day. They went on two large wagons which were decorated with boughs and other appropriate paraphernalia. They all had the time of their lives.

OREGON GOVERNOR INVADES THE DALLES

Accompanied by Sheriff and Militia Orders Disorderly Houses Closed.

The Dalles, Or.—Governor West arrived here Sunday with Major Smith and 11 state militiamen from Portland and compelled Sheriff Christman to imprison 32 women who had been arrested in a raid made Saturday night by special agents of the governor.

Christman refused to imprison those placed under arrest without commitments and because, he said, agents of Governor West had failed to convince the sheriff of their authority. After a conference with the governor Christman promised Governor West he would lend every assistance in his power in obeying the order of the executive.

Sworn in as deputies to make the raid were four ministers and they remained on guard with their prisoners until relieved by militiamen brought by Governor West.

Governor West said he had no desire to prosecute the girls who lived in the houses or visitors, and 29 of the 32 prisoners arrested will be held merely as witnesses. The prisoners are under guard in the Washington hotel and at one of the closed resorts.

Ernest R. Ringo, who was appointed special prosecutor by Governor West at the time of his Portland vice crusade, has been ordered to remain here to assist District Attorney Bell.

ROOSEVELT GIVEN VERDICT OF 6 CENTS

Marquette, Mich.—Complete exoneration for Colonel Roosevelt, former president, from charges of drunkenness made against him in an editorial by George Newett, editor of the Ishpeming, Mich., Iron Ore, came here when Newett, after Roosevelt's case was retested, took the witness stand and made complete surrender, and with Newett the heavy damages he had claimed, arose in court and declared he had achieved his object, disproved the tale that did him much injury in the last campaign and asked the court to direct a verdict in his favor. For nominal damages only—which in Michigan is 6 cents.

The six cents were paid and the colonel will settle his own costs of close to $10,000.

Carpenter Knocks Out British Champ. Ghent, Belgium.—George Carpenter, the French heavyweight pugilist, won the heavyweight championship of Europe by knocking out Bombardeur White, the British champion, in the fourth round. Carpenter himself took the count of nine in the first round and was sent to the floor again in the second.

Chase Traded for Zelder and Borton. New York.—First Baseman Hank Chase, of the Yankees, has been traded to the Chicago White Sox in exchange for infielder Hollie Zelder and first baseman Frank Chance, of the New York American League team, announced.

DEFY ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE

Labor Federation Declares Lawmakers in Collusion With Lorimer. Chicago.—Officers and members of the Chicago Federation of Labor backed the state legislature into the corner, since the Illinois legislature had dared it to "come out in the alley and fight."

They readopted a resolution, adopted May 18, in which they asserted that the Illinois legislature had been defeated by political collusion between members of the legislature and William L. Lorimer, who they said, was "the power behind the speaker's chair on that day."

In adopting the resolution the members of the Federation of Labor expressed themselves as willing to "go to jail if necessary." In addition to reiterating the charges contained in the first resolution, they added to them charges of unfair play, "use and gavel rule and political machinations."

Oriental Limited is Wrecked. Moorhead, Minn.—Engineer Frank French was killed, his fireman was seriously injured and all passengers were badly cut and bruised when the Oriental Limited on the Great Northern road was wrecked at a crossing near here Sunday night.

NEWS NOTES OF IDAHO

The city water works were temporarily disabled at Eastport, when the high water of the Moyie river carried out a section of the main pipe line.

Charles O. Braham was fined $100 and costs by Police Judge Strong, after having been convicted of selling three bottles of beer to some boys at Moscow.

The excavating is about finished for the basement of Grangeville's new $60,000 schoolhouse and construction will begin immediately. This new schoolhouse will be modern throughout.

The prospect of a heavy crop throughout the Kamiah section is said to be excellent by farmers. Fall grain is entirely out of danger of dry weather and the spring sowing will within a few days be high enough to shade the ground and hold the moisture.

Leonard Lundgren, an employe of the Interstate-Columbia Mining company at Wallace, was lodged in the county jail pending an examination into his sanity. Lundgren, it is said, attacked Walter Scott, another employe of the company, and seriously stabbed him with a candlestick.

Oscar Carlson of Coeur d'Alene was arraigned before Judge Dietrich of the district federal court and pleaded guilty to a white slavery charge. The defendant is charged with having brought one Mamie Eldridge of Hilliard, Wash., to Post Falls for immoral purposes.

At a meeting held in Bonners Ferry by the people of the district in all the geological churches it was concluded to try a plan of a union church. The following committee was appointed to draw up tentative articles for the government of the church: G. A. Burrow, Professor E. E. Elliot, W. T. James, Mrs. George R. Gray, F. R. Richardson and Fred Gleed.

The crop situation in Latah county, which is the banner wheat producing county in Idaho, appears to be in doubt at this time, according to growers. The deep snows of last winter lay on the northern slopes until late in the spring. Some say it stayed so long that the grain underneath was killed. This is probably true in some extreme cases.

F. C. Norbeck, who was formerly employed as cashier in a Wallace bank, has returned from British Columbia, where he has been for some time, and surrendered himself to the federal authorities at Coeur d'Alene and will be brought before the court to plead to the indictment against him of misappropriation of funds of the bank. Norbeck was indicted by the grand jury at the last term.

Dr. E. T. Baker, veterinarian of the college of agriculture, was appointed assistant state veterinarian by the board of agriculture, at which he met in Moscow. Dr. Baker will have charge of the work in this part of the state, and will maintain headquarters at Moscow. Special attention will be given to the stamping out of tuberculosis among cattle and other diseases of contagious nature.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Spoor of Sandpoint and Constable James McGreevy of Bonners Ferry dispossessed Charles Herbold of a piece of land near Bonners Ferry on which he had been living for several years, but on which, it is said, he had failed to file. C. W. Shoop, an entryman on the same land, was the holder of the title. Shoop swore to a complaint in which he accused Herbold with threatening to kill. Secretary Franklin K. Lane held against the contention of Senator William Borah that Secretary Fisher had no authority to insert in the proposed settlers on land in St. Maries and St. Joe counties a clause making the lands subject to overflow rights of Washington Water Power company. The secretary in a letter to Senator Borah sustains Secretary Fisher and holds that the permit to the Washington Water Power company should stand.

The prospect for crops in the Lewiston territory was never better. If the yield equals the promise this district will harvest one of the largest crops in its history. Grain dealers and shrewd men, who have watched conditions place the increase in acreage devoted to small grains at 10 per cent. Fall sown wheat on the Camas Prairie looks extremely well and while spring sown grain is late it also looks well. The increase in acreage is due to the fact that farmers have plowed up a good deal of land devoted to timothy seed last year.

After a steady rise since the morning of May 28 water in Lake Coeur d'Alene registered 14 feet 6 1/2 inches above low water height, the highest since 1894. The record is 17 feet 6 inches. The Blackwell mill closed, with water six inches deep over the floors of the building. The rush of driftwood from the Spokane river shook the Blackwell bridge and the entire lake shore was covered with the debris. The water was over the floor of the Red Cedar mill offices, and the equipment was transferred to the steamer Idaho, which is tied up at the Northern dock. At the Stack-Gibbs lumber company plant water was six inches deep in the fire pit.

Lots of fine horses—horse show.

The Stay Satisfactory Range

It Pays for Itself!

Why not Have One?

All the delightful satisfaction of having a perfect range is within easy reach of every one. For the MONARCH Malleable Range will effect a sufficient saving of fuel to actually pay its own cost in a short time.

There's no economy in continuing to use a "grey iron and steel" range, though it is only a few years old and can be made to "do" for a few years more.

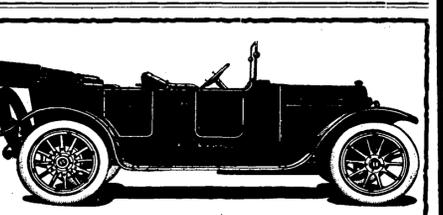

Every year it wastes enough fuel to pay a large part on a Monarch's cost.

This great difference between the fuel requirements of the Monarch and ordinary steel ranges is to be accounted for entirely by the difference in construction.

The MONARCH is made of Polished steel and Malleable iron, a tough, unbreakable material.

HORSE SHOW TO BREAK ALL RECORDS

Everything in Readiness—Finest Stock in Inland Empire Will be Here

From present indications Genesee will have not only a record-breaking show, but a record-breaking crowd as well. Inquiries have been coming in from all parts of the country asking for information regarding the big show and Manager Lambert has informed them that everything is in readiness and, weather permitting, it will be the biggest ever.

The special features of the two days are well worth coming to see and hear, say nothing about the scores of fine blooded horses that will be on exhibition and in the big parade, which will be one of the biggest and best pageants ever pulled off in this city. The parade will start at 9:30 Friday morning and will be made up of horses of all kinds—both blooded and grade, immediately after which the judging will take place. At 2:30 in the afternoon the big ball game will be called at which time the Myrtle Indians and the Genesee team will cross bats, and it promises to be one of the best of the season, as the boys know what they will have to do in order to even play with the Indians as they have a splendid team and will come with the expectation of winning. After the ball game the other sports will be pulled off, of which the program was published last week. The big Indian war dance will take place in the evening, in which 20 braves will take part, wearing all their tribal costumes and paint the same as they did many years ago when they were in actual warfare against the whites who were invading their territory.

On Saturday the day will begin with a big automobile parade at 9:30, when all automobiles are expected to take part and a first prize of $15 has been offered for the best decorated machine, while $10 will be given for the second best decorated auto. The Indians are also expected to take part in this parade, which will make a very spectacular affair and well worth seeing.

The general prize list is an unusually good one and for which the competition will be sharp and the special feature prizes are well worth the trying for and in the sports the competition will be keen.

Some of the very best features of the two-days entertainment will be the big bucking contest, when some of the very best riders in this part of the northwest will give exhibitions of riding the very worst horses that can be found. You all know what the Pendleton Round up is, and after you see the bucking here you will have seen some of the very best riders that took part in that famous affair. There will not only be horse riding, but three large and vicious bulls have been secured for the riders to saddle and ride and do other stunts with. Don't fail to see this, one of the most exciting parts of the entire entertainment program.

The tug of war between the Moscow Chamber of Commerce and the Lewiston Commercial club promises to be one of the leading features of Saturday's program and they have promised to come well prepared for both sides to win.

And neither last nor least—but all the time—the big bowery dance will be going, where those who like to "trip the light fantastic" can do so to their heart's content. The affair will be in charge of local people and will be conducted along the very strictest lines and all may go there and dance and be in no danger of encountering the usual roughness connected with such dances. The enterprise is backed by the baseball boys.

The Genesee ball team went to Pullman Sunday afternoon and crossed hats with the Pullman team, who succeeded in taking the Genesee boys in to camp to the tune of "6 to 3," which did not sound well to the boys. It was a hard and muddy trip, which may have had something to do with the result.

News Snapshots

Colonel Roosevelt pressed his $10,000 suit for libel against George A. Newett, editor of Marquette, Mich., Judge Richard G. Flanagan presiding at the trial. Burton W. Gibson, the New York lawyer accused of murdering his client, Mrs. Rosa M. Szabo, was tried for the second time at Newburg, N. Y. William M. ## SENIOR CLASS PLAY

To Be Given in Opera House Tonight and Tomorrow Night—Large Class Graduates

The Senior class of the Genesee high school will give their class play in the Opera House tonight and tomorrow night. It is a play full of comedy and is considered one of the best for amateur work.

The class has been working hard on the play and no doubt when presented will be greeted by a large audience. The cast of characters is as follows: Captain Rickett, Louis Denice; Obdiah Dawson, Lewis Jain; Timothy Tolman, Herbert Martinson; Mr. Dalroy, Clyde Armstrong; Hobson, Cornelius Sweeney; Clarice, Clara Archibald; Mrs. Tolman, Ruth Martinson; Katy, Laura Phipps; Tooley, Master Elvin Smith.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached in the Congregational church by Rev. A. P. Orth on last Sunday evening, and a masterful address it was. He gave the graduates valuable and practical advice as to the true secret of success in life, citing instances of men of history who had made a wonderful success during their lifetime and who had surmounted seemingly unarmountable obstacles and reached their goal by hard work and application to the business of life the same as they had applied themselves to their studies during their school period and that they too could reach the goal of their ambition by the same application and methods, and no doubt the class was greatly benefited by the excellent advice given.

Two members of the graduating class were absent from the address on account of being out of town.

The commencement exercises were held in the opera house last night (Thursday), but too late for a report in this paper. The graduating class consists of fifteen members, as follows:

Cornelius Sweeney, Kathryn Frances Hasfurter, Charles C. Gray, Mamie Emma Scott, Lewis G. Melvin, Mildred Archibald, G. Melvin Wardrobe, Ruth M. Martinson, Donald L. Bressler, Myrtle Clarice Myerson, Henry J. Morscheck, Jessie Myrtle Wardrobe, Herbert J. Martinson, Laura Bell Phipps, Clyde D. Armstrong.

The class officers are as follows: Kathryn Hasfurter, vice-president; Laura Phipps, secretary; Donald Bressler, treasurer; and their motto is "Club, though the rocks be rugged."

School Board Meeting

The Genesee school board met in regular session Monday night, with President Follett in the chair and all members answering to roll-call except members Casebolt and Hanson.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, after which the following bills were allowed:

Fred Lambert, $5.00
Genesee News, $2.00
Electric Light Co., $1.50

A number of applications from teachers in various parts of the county for positions in the school were read but as there is only one place still vacant only one teacher will be needed. No selection was made at this time.

Topics of general interest and for the benefit of the school were discussed, after which the board adjourned.

Uniontown Wants Foresters

A movement has been started in Uniontown to secure the convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters in 1915, and it is probable the convention dates will be arranged so that delegates can secure a rate of a fare and one-third by securing tickets to Lewiston in connection with the Panama-Columbia celebration. The matter was brought to the attention of the Lewiston Commercial club by a letter from Henry W. Hofer, who is a delegate to the convention held this year at Vancouver, B. C., and Mr. Hofer will endeavor to have Uniontown selected as the next meeting place. His letter states about 50 delegates will attend the 1915 convention.

W. A. Whitted, who was laid up for some time with a crippled foot, caused by his running a pitchfork into the arch, is again able to look after his ranch work, although the soreness has not entirely left the injured member. He returned the "props" he had been using and is now going about without the aid of crutches.

Rural Life Conference

There will be held in Pullman on June 17, 18 and 19, the first rural life conference, which is under the auspices of the Washington State college and is for the discussion of all things pertaining to rural life and its betterment, both in a moral and spiritual as well as a material way. The conference will be addressed by some of the ablest men of the day, and all persons interested are cordially invited to be present and hear these able discussions.

Potatoes to Fatten Pigs

An experiment to test the feeding value of raw or steamed potatoes as supplementary feed with a grain ration, has been carried on by Robt. Withercomb at the Eastern Oregon experiment station, with interesting results, which will be of special value this year on account of the super-abundant potato crop.

The results of the experiment were divided into eight lots and records of the different feed ration given each and the proportionate gain made were kept carefully. Each hog in lots 1 and 2 ate an average of 170 1/2 pounds of barley and 509 1/2 pounds of raw potatoes, making a gain in weight of 60.70 pounds. Those in lots 3 and 4 ate 110 3/4 pounds of barley and 663.75 pounds of steamed potatoes, and made a gain of 70.60 pounds while those in lots 5 and 6 ate 188.60 pounds of barley and 554.80 pounds of steamed potatoes and made a gain of 78.10 pounds. Lots 7 and 8 ate 300 pounds of barley without potatoes and made a gain of 69.5 pounds.

The last two lots, fed barley alone, were used as a check on the others to show more definitely the proportionate value of the potatoes. At the present value of the potato, a pound of five weight, the hogs fed barley made a $4.87 gain, which makes the barley feeding value $1.62 to the hundred.

Lots 1 and 2 fed barley and raw potatoes at the rate of 3 pounds of potatoes to one pound of barley, made a $4.25 gain, which gives the raw potato a feeding value of $2.29 to the hundred. Lots 3 and 4 receiving six times as much steamed potatoes as barley, made a $4.94 gain, giving the steamed potatoes a feeding value of $4.70 to the hundred. Lots 5 and 6 fed three times as much steamed potatoes as barley, made a $5.47 gain, making the feeding value of the potatoes $4.42 to the hundred.

It is noticeable that those fed six times as much potatoes as grain did not make quite the gain made by the other, but it required $2.25 pounds less barley to make this gain, so the difference in feeding value is accounted for.

It is also noteworthy that the steamed potatoes are worth $1.13 more to the hundred than raw for feeding, as shown in the comparison of the gains of animals fed the 3 to 1 ration.

Quail Plentiful in Idaho

Quail are very plentiful in the Clearwater section this year according to the report brought to Lewiston from Lenore by County Commissioner W. J. Green. During the past two weeks Commissioner Green has spent much time in inspecting the quail during the snow period, and at the present time you find the quail in pits in all parts of the country and if the season is favorable, the supply this fall will be larger than ever.

Little Girl Dies.
Ruby, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stewart, died at the Tuomy hospital Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 after an operation for abscess, brought on by appendicitis. After she had become seriously ill at her home she was removed to the hospital, where everything possible was done for her, but to no avail, her little life passing on Wednesday afternoon.

Ruby was a bright and winsome child and was loved by her playmates for her sunny and loving disposition. The funeral was held from the Methodist church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. G. Carrick officiating. Interment was in I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Wilson's the Name
There are twenty towns and four counties in the United States bearing the name of Wilson, and a chain of mountains in Colorado and Utah. There are eleven Marshall counties situated in Alabama, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota, Mississippi, South Dakota, Tennessee and West Virginia. The majority of these were named for John Marshall, Chief Justice of the United States from 1801 to 1835. There are also 16 cities or towns of the same name, besides numerous Marshalltowns.—U. S. There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow eating." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and swallowed. Then when you have fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

Seek Way to Make N. P. Pay Tax
Orofino.—A non-partisan meeting was held at Odd Fellows' hall to discuss ways and means to subject the scrip and Northern Pacific grant lands of this state to taxation.

From speeches made by county officials and prominent citizens the fact was developed that of a total of approximately 122,437 acres of land owned and controlled by the Northern Pacific railway company in Clearwater county but 12,615 acres have ever been submitted for taxation. There is no doubt of the attitude of Clearwater county regarding these matters.

Appropriate Resolutions were passed and it was unanimously decided to call a convention of delegates from all the counties of the state, particularly those of the northern part, to meet in Coeur d'Alene city July 30.

BANKERS ENTERTAINED
Mastery Addresses Delivered on Second Day of Welser Meeting

Welser.—Covering a wide range of topics, a number of splendid papers were read at the annual convention of the Idaho Bankers' association and the organization, declared many of those who have attended conventions of the American Bankers' association, assert that the program was fully as interesting as the bankers' stand-point as any that has ever been heard at a national gathering.

W. D. Vincent, cashier of the Old National bank of Spokane made an excellent address on "Bank Advertising," showing the distinction which exists between this class of publicity and that obtained by the merchants, since the merchant's object through advertising is to induce people to spend, while the highest aim of the banks is to persuade them to save.

Other addresses showing careful thought and interest to the large number in attendance were those of William B. Davidson of Boise on "The Product of the Soil as a Basis of Credit," Lydell Baker of Portland on "Landmarks of Financial America," J. D. Cochrane of Salt Lake on "Troublesome Problems in Banking." The latter was a masterly paper and one of the best ever heard in Idaho.

Smith, son of E. W. Smith, a rancher, living 10 miles south of Deary and for which Mr. Smith is being sought by the United States postal authorities, the American Bankers' association and the local authorities.

"DRY" COUNTY GOES "WET"
Lincoln Votes to Have Liquor by Only 28 Counts

Boise.—Complete returns from the Lincoln county local option election show that the county left the "dry" column and became "wet" by a majority of 28 votes. The "drys" carried a majority of the precincts, but the heavy majority given in Shoshone precinct alone of 127 sent the county into the "wet" column.

The fight waged in Shoshone county has been a bitter one. For four years the county has been "dry" under the local option law. The recent division of the county by the legislature, leaving old Lincoln county with several of the heavy "wet" precincts, made it comparatively easy for the saloons to be voted in again.

The "drys" carried North Shoshone precinct by one vote, Marley by six, Richfield by 21, Dietrich by 70, Grand View by 5, Oakes by 15, Falls City by 10, or a total of six precincts in which the total majority was 128. The "wets" carried Shoshone precinct by 127, Hedrick by six and Jerome by 23, making a total majority of 156.

Horse Thief Eludes Pursuers
Bliss.—Sheriff of Gooding county has had several deputies out on the trail of the horse thief who stole a horse and saddle from the Great Shoshone Land & Water company's barn at Bliss. The sheriff got his man out and trailed the man through the lava desert east of Bliss to the north Gooding tract. He headed north and reached the foothills, evading the sheriff of Lincoln county, who went out from Shoshone in an automobile with a posse.

The owner of the horse and saddle offers $25 for the recovery of his property, and a further reward of $100 is offered for the conviction of this guilty party.

SELECTING A JURY.

Methods of the Prosecution in a Great Criminal Case
In his book "Courts, Criminals and the Camera" Arthur Train, once an assistant district attorney in New York, tells how jurists are selected for a great criminal trial. For a month before a trial, says Mr. Train, every member of the jury panel has been subjected to an unusual inquisitorial process. The district attorney knows a good deal about every prospective juror and his performance has difficulty in restraining a smile when he meets with deliberate equivocation in answer to an important question as to personal history.

"Are you acquainted with the accused or his family?" mildly inquires the assistant prosecutor.

"No, not at all," the talsman may blantly reply.

The answer perhaps is literally true, and yet the prosecutor may be pardoned for musing to himself as to how he sees that his memorandum concerning the juror's qualifications states that he has scraped the memo either in the form of checks from brokers or certificates of deposit also have been referred to the past.

Senator Says President Lobbyist
An unexpected turn was given to the "lobby" investigation when Senator Townsend, of Michigan, republican declared on the stand that the influence wielded by President Wilson and the democratic secret caucus on the making of the tariff bill constituted the "nearest approach to undue influence on members of congress" that the investigating committee would be able to find.

QUEER SPORT IN CHINA.
Dropping a Pheasant With a Twenty-four Pound Gun.

Foreign sportsmen in China always observe with curious interest the maneuvers of native hunters.

An English sportsman tells of an incident he witnessed at the well-known Shaha, or lower barrier, of Nadoo creek, in north China. A native shooter had his gingham with him—a most unusual thing to do—and there might be no question as to its length, it was placed upright alongside the Briton. It exceeded his height by two feet two inches, making the piece of ordnance over eight feet in length. Englishmen sometimes complain of the weight of their own guns—six and a half to seven and a half pounds. So it is astonishing to behold a Chinese hunter carrying a twenty-four pound gun all day long.

This particular native was accompanied by a small, odd looking animal, which the foreigner was assured was a dog. Recognition of the hunter and dog at work made a deep impression on the stranger.

A hen pheasant happened to drop into the fowling field at feed time. The native took her easily, crept up as closely as he safely could, put down his gun on a bit of higher ground, and fired. The pheasant fell, and the dog lay down across the barrel of the gun, thus serving as a screen for his master. When the proper moment had arrived, the man fired. The bird was killed on the ground, and the dog remained on the barrel until his master took up the gun to reload—youth's Companion.

Some mispronunciations of today once enjoyed the highest standing. We must not think that Shakespeare was sinning when he rimed groin, avine, indeed, of like long i (as in leaf), sur, the majority of congress have mapped out a good deal of trouble for themselves and their colleagues. For if the democratic leadership undertakes to rush the republican minority the majority will retain it as possible, and in the senate a determined minority can make an unlimited amount of trouble.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Senatorial Investigation Shows Old Lobby Methods Are No Longer in Vogue.

Washington.—Lobbying in its crude form has disappeared so far as Washington is concerned. This is shown not only by the results thus far obtained in the senatorial investigation into President Wilson's charge that an "insidious" lobby has been blocking his tariff revision plans, but by facts which are common property in the national capital.

Representatives of corporations do not pass money to senators and members as they did in the "good old times." Stock investments for legislators in which the latter without the risks reaped the benefits either in the form of checks from brokers or certificates of deposit also have been referred to the past.

Senator Townsend's statements in relation to President Wilson were not in the form of charges. He expressly said he did not charge the president with using improper methods, but he insisted that the charges that lobbies existed and the activity of the president in support of free wool and free sugar amounted to an "undue influence," even though he did not use the "big stick" of patronage.

Tariff Blow Aimed at Tobacco Trust
In accord with suggestions of Attorney General McKeen, Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, introduced an anti-trust amendment to the Underwood tariff bill which would levy a special additional excise tax on a sliding scale on graduated on manufactures of cigars, tobacco, cigarettes and snuff. The amendment, coming from a democratic member, will receive thorough consideration from the finance committee.

The progressive excise tax proposed would not reach a manufacturer until he controlled about 25 per cent of the total production of the articles. Over that amount he would be taxed in a sliding scale on tobacco 1 cent a pound for the first 1,000,000 pounds per quarter; 2 cents a pound for the second 1,000,000 pounds and so on up to 8 cents a pound.

Republicans May Resent Crowding
In decreeing that the tariff bill shall be rushed through the senate with all possible speed, the democratic leaders in the upper branch of congress have mapped out a good deal of trouble for themselves and their colleagues. For if the democratic leadership undertakes to rush the republican minority the majority will retain it as possible, and in the senate a determined minority can make an unlimited amount of trouble.

At this early date it can be set down as a fact that if the democrats attempt to crowd republican senators during the tariff debate, the republicans will find means of delaying the consideration of the bill which even the democratic correspondents, mate. In the past four weeks there has been in the city of five or six new automobiles added to the already large number in our little city, which gives Genesee, without a doubt, more autos for the size of the town than any other place in this country. During the past four weeks the following machines have been delivered here by the different local agents:

H. A. Morgan, the local Ford agent, has delivered machines to the following persons: A. H. Morgan, touring car; Henry Herman, Jr., touring car; Dr. J. E. Reilly, runabout.

Meyer & Flomer have delivered to W. R. Hickman a Velie touring car for use in his livery business.

Ernest E. Miller has sold to John Kempf a Studebaker "25" touring car.

Fast Time With Dairy Cows
The fastest time ever made west-bound with a shipment of livestock was that just performed by the Northern Pacific in transporting a shipment of 250 head of high-grade dairy cows from St. Paul to Big Lake, Washington, 75 miles north of Seattle, in 121 hours, which included the time the cows were off the cars for feed, rest and water. This dead time consumed approximately 15 hours, which leaves the actual running time between St. Paul and Big Lake, 106 hours for the distance of 198 miles.

This shipment of cows was valued at approximately $30,000, and they are to be used on the cut-over timber lands in the Puget Sound country north of Seattle by small dairy farmers and creameries, also to improve the local herds.

D. W. Abbott has sold to Geo. F. Miller of Fairview his farm of 30 acres, which adjoins the town on the south, for a consideration of $3000. Mr. Miller took charge at once and will make the ranch his home. Mr. Abbott will go to western Washington, where he expects to buy a piece of land, probably in Whatcom county, near Bellingham. His family and household goods will follow as soon as he has decided on a location. Mr. Abbott has been a resident of this vicinity for many years and the family has many friends here who are sorry to see them leave Genesee and who wish them the very best of everything obtainable in their new home.

The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church will serve meals during the horse show. They will occupy the building just west of the Follett store.

I will not serve any meals during the horse show only to my regular boarders.

Shipping Horses Into Idaho
A quarantine proclamation signed by Governor Haines of Idaho, May 3, 1913, requires all horses coming into the state to be tested with mallein by a state or federal veterinarian. When the horses have not been tested, the owners or parties in charge must notify the state veterinarian at Boise before proceeding more than two miles into the state. The testing must be done by an assistant state veterinarian, whose fees are $5 a day and expenses.

All railroad companies, common carriers and all persons testing or driving horses into the state must give due notice of their coming into the state and send the charts of tests to the state veterinarian. It is usually more convenient to notify the assistant state veterinarian as more prompt action can be taken. For north Idaho the assistants are A. J. Powell, Conner d'Alene; Dr. E. T. Baker, Moscow, and Dr. J. W. Aikens, Nezperce.

MANY INDICTED FOR WAGE CONSPIRACY

19 Mineworkers Officials Accused of Part in Restricting Coal Competition.

Charleston, W. Va.—President Whit and 18 other officials of the United Mine Workers of America, were indicted in the federal court here on a charge of violating the Sherman anti-trust law. It is alleged the defendants conspired with the coal operators of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to raise wages in the West Virginia coal fields so as to prevent its competition with the other four states in the western market.

The indictments charged that the 19 men affiliated with the United Mine Workers of America did in Kanawha county, West Virginia, and within the jurisdiction of the federal district court, engage in a combination and conspiracy unlawfully in restraint of trade and commerce in the several states; the offense is said to have started September 1, 1912, and continued since.

It is charged that the indicted men have been agents and members of "an unincorporated voluntary organization of individuals as a labor union known as the United Mineworkers of America, having many thousands of members, who conspired, by regulating wages, to control the price of coal, which the coal mined in the state of West Virginia could compete with coal mined in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois."

CONSERVATION NOT FAVORED

Western Executives Favor Liberal Legislation. Salt Lake City, Utah.—When the national conference of governors meets in Colorado Springs next August it will be asked by the western states to consider a bill for the conservation policy pursued by the last three national administrations.

This was made certain when the western conference officers, at its closing session declared for a more liberal administration of the public lands by the national government.

WOOD ACQUITTED IN DYNAMITE TRIAL

Boston.—After deliberating overnight the jury acquitted President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen company, of the charge of conspiracy to injure the textile strikers at Lawrence by "planting" dynamite. A disagreement in the case of President Wood was reported. Dennis J. Collins, who turned state's evidence, was found guilty on two counts and not guilty on the other four counts of the indictment.

Immediately when the verdict was announced, Attorney Henry F. Hurlburt, counsel for Wood, asked the court to direct an investigation of the published statement that an attempt had been made to influence Merritt Shuman, one of the jurors. Before the court made its charge, Shuman was questioned by Judge John C. Crosby, District Attorney Fellecker and counsel for the defense regarding a statement which he was said to have made recently to the district attorney.

SUBMIT STRICT 8-HOUR LAW

Portland Organization Would Limit Working Day. Salem, Or.—A copy of a proposed law regulating the number of hours women shall work, which it is desired to have initiated at the special election in November by the Day bill, was submitted to Secretary of State Olcott by Dr. Marie D. Equi, president of the Eight Hour league of Portland.

NEWS NOTES OF IDAHO

The Hope Lumber Manufacturing company closed its mill at Hope on account of high water.

That the Western Pacific railroad will soon be extended to Twin Falls and Boise, has been announced by an official of that road.

Francis McFarland and Mrs. Lula Allen were married at Cottonwood. Mr. McFarland is a Nes Perce Indian, a son of Phillip McFarland, a Nes Perce chief who was educated at Charlotte, Okla., while his wife is a graduate of Carlisle.

The trial of John Louma has been resumed in the district court at Wallace. From the questioning of jurors by W. W. Bisby, attorney for Louma, it early appeared that the line of defense is to be insanity.

The crops in the Genesee valley are looking well, and it is reported to be much better than the fall grain. In places the fall grain was killed by the heavy snows, but it is not thought this will reduce the total crop materially, as the spring crop is above the average. The heavy rains were a benefit to that section of the country.

The Lewiston police records show that since the new state law went into effect regarding the sale of alcohol and other kinds of liquor that arrests for drunkenness in the city have fallen off one-half. Alcohol can not be secured at all for drinking purposes and other liquor can only be ordered by a physician when it is absolutely necessary.

The North Idaho Telephone company has started work on extending the service to Government and Deadwood gulches near the Kellogg. A large number of additional phones will be installed. The line up the North Fork, which has been down for the last month on account of high water, will also be thoroughly overhauled.

A decision has been rendered by Judge E. C. Steele at Lewiston in the case of the Bank of Commerce versus the Wabash-Lewiston Land and Water company. E. E. Eastwood, trustee, and Franklin M. Potts, The Bank of Commerce was awarded judgment in the sum of $13,571.71. The costs, amounting to $14.80, were assessed to the defendant.

The famous Pocatello Water company case, which has been through the state courts to the supreme court and into the federal courts, has been placed before Idaho's public utility commission through a petition from the water consumers. The commission is asked to order a hearing.

The snow on the mountain from the station in the Morning mine at Mullan, has caused a partial suspension of operations temporarily and about 75 men have been laid off until the trouble is remedied. Difficulty has been experienced several times in the Morning shaft because of the pressure crushing the timbers, and as greater depth is reached the trouble from this source increases.

Several good speakers have been secured to talk in Genesee on horse show days. Among them are ex-Governor McConnell, Dean Carlyle and Dr. S. B. Holman. All arrangements have been made with the Lapwai Indians to have a war dance. There will be a big bucking contest and several performers will be here who are to take part in the Pendleton "Round-up" bringing with them a number of wild horses.

Preparations for the annual state encampment of the G. A. R., to be held at Nampa June 18, 19 and 20, are well under way and a detailed outline of all arrangements and the official program for the three days' meeting have been published. It is anticipated that there will be at least 250 veterans in attendance, and a large representation from the W. R. C., D. A. R., and other auxiliary societies, from all parts of the state. Free accommodations, rooms and meals, will be furnished the visitors. The Nampa Chamber of Commerce has assumed the task of providing for their entertainment.

The county commissioners have appropriated $300 for a Bonner county road, which the voters will be asked to vote on at the next election. It is expected that Bonner county will have a fair, but would call it the Kootenai valley fair. It is felt that the fair in Bonner county affair it should be at the county seat, where people from Clarkfork, Priest River, Clagstone, Sagie and Colliola can reach it without a long drive.

The college commission of the Idaho annual conference of Methodist Episcopal churches at the Hotel was held by authority previously given the commission perfected details of incorporating Gooding college. The following trustees were elected: G. W. Padgham of Salmon, H. W. Parker of Twin Falls, C. S. Brainerd of Payette, D. J. Gilliam of Boise and ex-Governor F. R. Gooding. At a meeting of the board of trustees the following officers were elected: President, G. W. Padgham; president, C. S. Brainerd; vice president, Sam J. Chaney, secretary, and E. R. Evans treasurer.

Lots of fine horses—horse show.

Monarch MALLEABLE RANGE

The Most Satisfactory Range

It Pays for Itself! Why not Have One?

All the delightful satisfaction of having a perfect range is within easy reach of every one. For the MONARCH Malleable Range will effect a sufficient saving of fuel to actually pay its own cost in a short time.

There's no economy in continuing to use a "grey iron and steel" range, though it is only a few years old and can be made to "do" for a few years more.

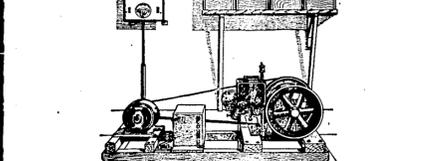

Every year it wastes enough fuel to pay a large part on a Monarch's cost.

This great difference between the fuel requirements of the Monarch and ordinary steel ranges is to be accounted for entirely by the difference in construction.

The MONARCH is made of Polished steel and Malleable iron, a tough, unbreakable material.

GENESEE HORSE SHOW A GREAT SUCCESS

Rain Interferes With Program—Large Crowd Saturday—Good Time Had

Regardless of the inclement weather the big Genesee horse show started off as had been advertised, thus demonstrating the fact that even Jupiter Pluvius could not outwit those bent on having the biggest and best horse show ever pulled off in Genesee. The rain poured down Thursday night and during the day. However, at 1 o'clock the parade of fine horses took place, and a finer lot of horses were never brought together in any community.

Immediately after the parade Prof. E. J. Iddings of Moscow judged the stock. The horses were lined up on Main street and the judge went manfully forth and stood in the drizzling rain while the animals were exhibited by those in charge, and a fine display was made, the judge making the remark later that he had never judged finer horses and mules.

Following are the awards made: Percheron stallion, Follett & Schooler, Genesee.

Belgian stallion, Brown & Moore, Moscow.

Shire stallion, Follett & Schooler, Genesee.

Four-horse team, Schooler & Webster, Genesee.

Grade draft team, Anton Bielenburg, Genesee.

Grade, any sort, Clyde Leechman, Genesee.

General purpose team, Otto Kretschmer, Genesee.

Suckling colt, grade, Joe Dahm, Uniontown.

Saddle horse, Dr. J. D. Adams, Genesee.

Three-year-old thoroughbred mare, Mike Mayer, Uniontown.

Three-year-old Shire, Follett & Schooler, Genesee.

Draft mule team, Hampton & Driscoll, Genesee.

Two-year-old mare, C. H. Spurrick, Genesee.

Yearling grade colt, J. V. Mayer, Uniontown.

Two-year-old colt, William Botjter, Genesee.

Three-year-old colt, Charles Jain, Genesee.

Thoroughbred two-year old, J. V. Mayer, Uniontown.

Suckling colt, J. V. Mayer, Uniontown.

Two-year-old Percheron mare, Follett & Schooler, Genesee.

Later in the afternoon a good-sized crowd assembled at Recreation park where exhibition riding was done by some of those who expected to take part in the bucking contest on Friday. Aside from quite a number of horses being ridden, two bulls were brought into the grounds and an attempt was made to saddle and ride them. The smaller of the two was successfully handled, while the larger one was more obstreperous and declined to be ridden at that time. The exhibition lasted for an hour or more and was thoroughly enjoyed by those at the grounds.

At 7:30 in the evening the big Indian war dance took place and was witnessed by a large crowd, the Indians giving their best to entertain their paleface brothers and their efforts were not in vain as was shown by the applause given.

Saturday morning rain was still falling, but that had no terror for those who had made up their mind to take part in the auto parade, and at the appointed time H. A. Morgan was ready to come forth with his machine gaily decorated, making the trip up and down the main street. After a few minutes' wait it was found that his was the only machine in the parade, for which Mr. Morgan and the decorators deserve great praise for they saved the day, so far as the automobile parade was concerned. Mr. Morgan received first prize.

Steel and Iron Raw Materials Are Placed on Free List in Tariff Bill

Washington.—The transfer to the free list of the tariff bill of iron and steel raw materials, with an estimated dutiable value of more than $400,000 a year, was approved by the majority members of the senate finance committee. This increased the senate's additions to the Underwood free list to an aggregate annual loss of $2,400,000 in revenue, making the total estimated annual revenue loss from the free list about $27,000,000.

All structural steel, which was made dutiable at 12 per cent in the Underwood bill, has been reduced as a compensation for the placing of raw materials on the free list. The result, largely because they are controlled by the United States Steel Corporation, was to reduce the duty on raw materials placed on the free list, largely because they are controlled by the United States Steel Corporation, was to reduce the duty on raw materials placed on the free list, largely because they are controlled by the United States Steel Corporation.

Among the articles which the senate sub-committees have added to the free list are: Pig iron, ferro-manganese and spiegeleisen, ferro, livestock, wheat, photographic films, cedarwood, coal tar dyes.

Print Paper Provision Changed. Amending the section of the Underwood tariff bill which would place on the free list all print paper valued at not more than 2½ cents a pound, the majority members of the senate finance committee voted to incorporate in the bill the provisions of the Canadian reciprocity act passed in 1911.

This action would extend the free list to include all print paper valued at not more than 4 cents a pound, on condition "that no export duty, export license fee or other export charge of any kind whatsoever, or any prohibition or restriction in any way of the character of a tariff, shall be imposed upon such paper, board or wood pulp, or the wood pulp used in the manufacture of such paper or board."

Free Postage Big Aid to Sugar Men. Where the government printing office and the postoffice department helped in the fight against free sugar and the congressional frank sent tons of anti-free sugar literature circulating throughout the land, was brought out by the senate lobby investigation.

Senator G. Palmer, Washington representative of the United States beet sugar industry, testified that more than 1,500,000 copies of arguments in behalf of beet sugar had been turned out by the government printing office, made public documents by order of congress, and had ridden on the franks of senators and representatives, postage free.

"Sugar at a Glance," prepared by him, he said, had attained a circulation of 220,000 copies under the frank of Senator Lodge. "Report of the Finance Committee," by the same senator, had beaten the pamphlet by 80,000 copies.

Suffrage Gets Favorable Report. Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, presented the report of the senate suffrage committee, recommending the passage of Senator Chamberlain's resolution for a constitutional amendment enfranchising women.

The report vigorously urged votes for women. It declared suffrage was justified "by every test the students of government should have for the enfranchisement of any class of citizens.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

Search for a rich ore shoot, lost in the Iron Crown mine of Newsome, is to be engaged in by stripping the side of a hill having an area in the neighborhood of 100 acres.

Dr. L. P. McCalla, a Boise physician, was elected president of the International Good Roads association, whose meeting has just closed at Boise. Butte, Mont., was selected as the meeting place for 1914.

According to reports received at Lewiston, Forest Price and James Bartwell were drowned in the Gatun river while trying to cross the turbulent stream on a small improvised raft. They were prominent farmers and stockmen.

Idaho this year will produce the largest wheat crop in the history of the state. In the Clearwater country, the Lewiston section and Camas Prairie the crop is looking better than it ever has before, and a 10 per cent increase in acreage is reported.

Selecting Moscow as the next meeting place, receiving reports from officers and committees, adoption of resolutions and electing officers, the Idaho Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star closed its eleventh annual convention at Weiser.

A large wool sale was held at Rogerson, when nearly 1,000,000 pounds of wool from the neighboring ranges were disposed of. There were buyers present from all the leading wool houses in the east and a good price was obtained.

Trustees of the Blackfoot insane asylum having accepted the resignation of Dr. Poole as superintendent, have named Dr. George Hyde of Rexburg to take charge of the institution. The new superintendent is widely known to the medical profession throughout the state.

The public utilities commission has ordered all public utilities, including common carriers, to file their schedules with the commission within 40 days from the date of the order for general supervision by the commission. These schedules must contain all classifications including terminal charges, joint rates. The forms are to be similar to those of the interstate commerce commission.

The troublesome question as to how to systematize the handling of business of the seven important state institutions by one board consisting of five members and an ex-officio member, appointing of committees for that purpose and officially accepting a proposition to establish an experimental station at Sandpoint, were among the important transactions of state board of education at Moscow.

Crop conditions in the Lewiston and Camas Prairie and Clearwater districts were never better. Grain dealers who have made a close study of conditions in this district for years are unanimous in saying that the grain was never in better condition than it is now. The stand of fall-sown grain is all that could be wished and looks exceptionally fine. Spring-sown grain is rather backward owing to the late spring, but looks well.

Prof. W. H. Olin, head of the department of agricultural extension, University of Idaho, will inaugurate work on the experimental farm at Sandpoint, where a series of experiments are to be made in the development of a character of opposite nature. It has long been known, for instance, that the polled character in cattle is dominant, because when a pure polled animal is mated with one having horns the offspring are almost uniformly polled.

As a result of his investigations in inheritance in horses, Anderson reports that coarse qualities are dominant to finer ones, so that the thick, pointed one, and the big coarse head is dominant to the clean small one. The long neck seems to dominate over the short neck; the deep narrow foot is dominant to the flat foot; the calf knee dominant to the straight perfect knee; crooked inferior action dominant to true and superior action, and in general strength seems to be dominant to weakness. In colors, gray bay and black are found to be dominant to chestnut.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences of the Past Week From Cities In Our State

Deep Snow Affects Yield.
Moscow.—While the acreage of fall sown wheat is probably about equal to that of last year in Latah county, indications are that the yield will not be as large, owing to the damage done by snow on the north slopes. It is to be seen now that the great length of the time the snow laid on the ground caused much of it to melt from the bottom, which had the effect of smothering and rotting the green roots of the fall wheat. In many fields of otherwise beautiful looking wheat, spots on the north slopes are absolutely without any grain and in other places with a very poor stand.

Court at Wallace Adjourns.
Wallace.—The justices who have been in attendance at the district court have been discharged for the term and court has taken an adjournment until July 7, at which time the final steps will be taken in the closing of the sale of the assets of the defunct State Bank of Commerce.

Bankers Promise to Aid.
Lewiston.—Encouraged by Miss Grace Sheppard, state superintendent of public instruction, who has been in Lewiston, the Idaho Bankers' association will take upon itself the raising of $2000 to further the cause of agriculture in this state among the boys and girls who are members of the potato clubs.

ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY
Twin Falls Man Takes Second Wife During Honeymoon.
Twin Falls.—Following the charge of bigamy made from Grand Rapids, Mich., against John Chisholm of this city, Grand Juror Pitman-Chisholm, who is John Chisholm, has filed suit for divorce. The case is a peculiar one. On March 23 of this year Miss Byrna Pitman and John Chisholm were married here. On the twelfth day of the wedding John Chisholm borrowed $100 that the bride's father had given her as a wedding present and went to Grand Rapids "on important business." Here he met Miss Julia Hastings, a young lady friend with whom he had been corresponding, and attended to the "important business," which was to procure a marriage license, the second within two weeks, and wed Miss Hastings.

Summer School at Moscow.
Moscow.—The second annual summer session of the University of Idaho is now open. The summer session will give instruction for the benefit of teachers of all grades, high school teachers, superintendents and principals. A faculty consisting of 25 of the regular university instructors and several other prominent educators and special lecturers have been engaged for the session. In addition to the work given for teachers, courses in regular college subjects will be taught, so that students who desire may secure college credits at the summer session.

Teacher and Lawyer Wed.
Lewiston.—The marriage of Miss Ann Webster Lytle, daughter of an American of the state normal school at Lewiston, and George W. Tannaahl, a prominent Lewiston attorney, was solemnized here.

IDAHO BANKER HAS PLAN
End of State Debts and Taxes Desire of Weiser Banker.
Weiser.—One of the most remarkable plans proposed in this state to free Idaho from indebtedness and place the state on a non-taxation basis was presented to the Idaho Bankers' Association at its recent meeting here by Senator D. W. Davis, of American Falls, president of the First National Bank, of that city. He proposed the sale of 300,000 acres of land a year by the state to raise a sum of more than $30,000,000 to be loaned out at interest, part of the interest money to be placed aside from year to year in a surplus fund, thereby multiplying the state's earning capacity.

Idaho has 2,924,000 acres that are unsold. Under the law only 25 sections, or 16,000 acres, can be sold each year. At this rate it would take the state more than 183 1/2 years to dispose of its land holdings.

Taking the total assets of the state as a basis, Senator Davis proposes by his plan to build a financial earning producer for Idaho so that in 11 years taxes would be reduced 40 per cent by keeping this preparation at hand during the hot weather of the summer months, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is worth many times its cost when needed and is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. It has no superior for the purposes for which it is intended. Buy it now. For sale by all dealers.

Free Deal on the Farm
"Who has that horse you drove last summer?"
"Nobody's got him; he's dead."
"My, but that's too bad. He was a mighty good horse."
"Yes—but I didn't care so much. He didn't cost me nothing. I paid for him in work."

One-Third Off
On all trimmed hats, CLEMENS & CARBUHN.

A Bargain at Herman's
One $30.00 Bath tub, slightly used to go at $12.00.

FOR SALE—Fresh Jersey heifers, Choice, $50. Geo. Carbuhn. 48-1f

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

SAVED A DOUGLAS.

Sir William Ramsay's Quick Wit at the Battle of Poitiers.
In the battle of Poitiers (1356) a number of Scottish soldiers fought on the side of the French, and several of them were taken prisoners by the English. Among them was Sir Archibald Douglas. Being dressed in a suit of splendid armor, the victors thought they had captured a nobleman. Several of the English were about to strip off his armor when Sir William Ramsay of Colchester, who was also a prisoner, happening to catch Sir Archibald's eye, gave him a meaningful look.

Pretexting to be very angry, he cried out: "You rascal, how is it that you are wearing your master's armor? Come here and pull off my boots!" Douglas, seemingly thoroughly cowed, went humbly forward and drew off a boot, with which Sir William began to beat him.

The English onlookers at once interfered on Douglas's behalf, saying that he was a person of great rank and a lord.

"What!" shouted Ramsay. "He a lord? Why, he is a base knave and, I suppose, has slain his master. Go, you villain, and search the field for the body of my master, and when you have found it let me know, that I may give it decent burial."

All this was acted so naturally that the English allowed Ramsay to ransom the pretended manservant for 40 shillings. The money having been paid, the English allowed Ramsay to thrash and then bade him begone. Sir Archibald lost no time in effecting his escape, which he owed solely to the ingenuity of his friend.

BULLS IN PARLIAMENT.
The Welcome Sound That Cheered the House of Burgesses.

It would be hard to say which of England's two houses of legislature "takes the cake" for committing howlers, and still more difficult to pick out the member who has taken pride of place in this respect during recent years. But perhaps for simple effectiveness the noble lord during a debate on Indian affairs exclaimed: "Talk of this as a loan to India! It is a sea mile in the ocean!" Nevertheless, it stands to reason that the lower house is more prolific in quantity, if not in quality, in its stock of howlers than the upper, except that it has so many more opportunities.

Captain Craig, the fiery orator, cooked the following oratorical stew: "The best case involving the title to millions of dollars' worth of oil lands in California and Wyoming—was dismissed by Judge Riner, of the United States district court. While the government sought to recover only 400 acres of land in this suit, the issue involved covers thousands of other acres of California and Wyoming lands included in President Taft's sweeping order, designed to conserve the country's resources and to afford the government a supply of fuel oil for the United States navy."

California Gets Batch of New Laws. Sacramento, Cal.—A mother's pension act, a minimum wage commission act and a so-called "blue sky" act, the latter seeking to prevent wildcatting by promoters, were among a big batch of progressive measures signed here by Governor Hiram Johnson. A pipe line law, making oil ducts now owned by big corporations common carriers, and an eight-hour law for women, to include student nurses and employees of lodging houses and places of amusement, also were signed.

HAWAIIAN VOLCANO TO BE FORTRESS
Boston.—American troops in the Hawaiian Islands have taken possession of and are being mounted, a volcano situated on the coast and are working night and day to convert it into a fortress capable of withstanding a long siege. Ammunition and food supplies are being stored within it, and guns are being mounted, a water supply has been arranged for and gardens have been planted on the slopes of the crater to provide food and thus render the place self-sustaining in case it be besieged for any great length of time.

This information reached Boston from an authentic source in Honolulu, and the communication further said that American residents in the Hawaiian Islands, including troops, are much exercised over the Japanese situation. The communication says that Americans have moved into the crater bag, which weigh twenty to twenty-five pounds, is purely a Kanachka fish and is not found in the Okhotsk and other districts.—Consular and Trade Reports.

Commercial Club Meeting

The Genesee Commercial club held a short session on Monday night at the Grand Central hotel.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved after which topics of interest to the club were discussed. Geo. Rabold and E. J. Raymond were accepted as new members of the club.

F. J. Cornish then brought before the meeting the fact that there was quite a discrepancy in hay rates from here to Spokane as compared with other points, and a committee consisting of Mr. Cornish and J. T. Nelson was appointed to take the matter up with the railroad company through the local agent of the company, W. E. Smith.

The question as to whether Genesee should have a Fourth of July celebration was then brought up and discussed at considerable length but no action was taken as the commercial club did not feel that they cared to undertake it so soon after the horse show.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Dan Healy brought to this office on Wednesday afternoon some of the finest strawberries we have ever seen. There were several in the boxes each of which measured 4 1/2 inches in circumference. Mr. Healy says he has a good many more that are larger which will ripen soon, this being his first picking. He has an experiment station of his own where he has a great many varieties of what grows, all sown at the same time, from which he expects to select the ones best adapted to this climate. Mr. Healy believes in having the best and the way to get them is to make his own experiments.

Glenn Sampson is ever improving his barber shop, for his own convenience and the general appearance, as well as for the public good. He has recently added sanitary headrests to his chairs, so that each patron has a clean "pillow" when he lays back for a shave. He has also recently put in a new "electric hot-air" dispenser—mainly for drying the hair after a shampoo, which is not only an ornament but one of the very latest things in this line. He has also added a wildcat to his stuffed managerie and will soon be able to charge admission as well as for a shave.

C. F. Barr has received word from John Platt, who resides on the Salmon river, that he had 47 old sheep and 26 lambs killed on Thursday night of last week by lightning. It seems that the lightning struck a tree nearby, glanced to the wire fence, around which the sheep were laying, killing all that happened to be near enough and then jumping to the center of the inclosure killing the only one which happened to be there. The loss is a heavy one to Mr. Platt.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church will have a business meeting and social in the church tonight, (Friday). All the members and friends of the society are invited. A good time is anticipated.

At 3 o'clock there will be a baseball game and the Genesee boys, and a good game is assured as the Lewiston team is one of the strongest and best that has been here this season. Then there will be a big bucking contest for local horses and riders, with a first prize of $10 and a second of $5, in the time of harvest and potatoes are taken part.

And again, last, but not least, the big bowery dance, where everybody who loves the dance can have a good time at a very small cost. Perfect decorum is assured all those who attend.

There will be plenty of good band music all day as well as various other attractions for the amusement of the large crowd that is sure to be present.

The Lewiston branch establishment of the California Canning company is doing a heavy business in Royal Anna cherries, which are packed in barrels at the plant there being in Idaho and shipped to Portland, where they are made into maraschino cherries. Heavy shipments are being received from outside points.

The continued heavy rains in the Lewiston district are a source of alarm to the fruit men. It is feared that if the rains continue the cherry crop will be heavily damaged, as incessant rain softens the cherries, causing them to crack. Some complaints are being made by fruit growers that the shot hole fungus is working on the peaches, but if the rains cease the damage may be slight.

Build a Meyerhaeuser FIR SILO

Built on Honor—Sold on Merit. Every Piece Guaranteed. One-Piece Clear Staves, cut at the factory with steel templates. Made on the Pacific Coast from selected Douglas Fir logs. Air-tight doors that swing inward and are easy to open and close. Steel hoops and steel anchors. Comes complete, roof and all, in one shipment. Easy to erect and easy to maintain.

It is the easiest silo to open—doors swing inward. They are always out of the way, simple to operate and cannot be dropped or lost. Strong and substantial throughout, it is held firmly into its jams by enormous pressure by a strong, positive door latch. The carefully bent hinge-rod holds the door against the inside of the silo. Only the best steel and malleable iron are used in the fittings.

The ladder steps are firm and safe. The hoops have a "breaking strength" many times greater than required. The lugs are of tough new malleable iron. The new improved inner collar or hoop and the three or more anchors together steady the silo against the strongest wind.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences of the Past Week From Cities in Our State

To Review O'Neil Case
Boise.—The court in this state will review the evidence, the judgment and the sentence entered in the district court for Kootenai county against Bernard F. O'Neil, convicted of Commerce of Wallace, for O'Neil has filed an appeal and intends to fight his conviction on the charge of making false reports to the bank examiner. He is incarcerated at Coeur d'Alene pending the outcome of the appeal.

Notice of the appeal has been served upon Attorney General J. H. Peterson.

Hill Stones Shatter Windows
Kellogg.—The worst hailstorm in 20 years visited the section immediately west of Kellogg and in a few minutes every window on the west side of the Sweeney mill was shattered, chickens were killed by the wholesale in Deadwood and Government gulches, roofs punctured and gardens ruined.

MURDER SUSPECT CAUGHT

Nephew of Idaho Farmer is Held for Shooting
Lewiston.—Jas. Deering, a nephew of George Deering, who was shot and killed near his home near Grangeville has been arrested by the authorities of Idaho county. He is held as a suspect in the shooting. Young Deering stoutly protested arrest and disclaims any connection with the shooting.

Investigation of the conditions about the Deering ranch revealed that some difficulties have arisen in the past few weeks. James Deering, who is an orphan, has been residing with his uncle since the death of his father. Difficulties, it appears, had arisen and James Deering was expelled from the George Deering home. Subsequent to this the young man took up a homestead about a half a mile from the Deering ranch.

Suit Against Iron Works
Wallace.—The financial troubles of the Lead-Silver Mining company were revived here when the Rex Mining company brought suit against the Coeur d'Alene Iron Works in the district court to recover the value of 10 ore cars of the value of $768 and damages of $500.

Hay Outfit Burned
Twin Falls.—Word has been received here that F. T. Wilson, a prominent rancher near Jerome, while driving with a hay derrick along the road parallel with a high tension power line, three miles south of Jerome, was hurried to town by brush and his hay outfit consumed by fire when the wagon struck a culvert and swung part of the derrick against the wire. Wilson was uninjured.

TIMBERMEN DODGE TAXES
Tax Commissioners Informed $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 Value Escapes
Boise.—The tax commission has recently been in receipt of a number of communications from county assessors of several northern counties, calling attention to a vexing situation in connection with the taxing of timber lands in Nez Perce, Lewis, Clearwater, Idaho, Latah, Shoshone and Kootenai counties, for which, so far, there seems to be no adequate remedy. The particular cause of complaint is in regard to scripped lands in the forests in the north. These lands, which are extremely valuable, except in rare instances, have never been patented, and as a consequence under the law are not taxable. The aggregate acreage that is held in this way by great corporations in these counties is said to be over 2,000,000 acres. Much of this land, it is claimed, has a cash value of from $50 to $100 an acre, and it is probable that the lands thus escaping taxation would aggregate in value $75,000,000 to $100,000,000.

In some of the counties this condition of tax dodging has become so serious that taxpayers' leagues have been formed endeavoring to secure a rebate on lands before patent, or if that cannot be done, to expedite patent so that the lands may become taxable. Such a league was recently organized in Clearwater county, and a number of meetings have been held.

G. A. R. Veterans Rap Governor
Boise.—The Grand Army of the Republic of the state of Idaho at its final day's encampment at Nampa administered a rebuke and censured Governor John M. Haines for his delivery of an address before the members of the G. A. R. in which reference was made to the political situation in this country during the strike and locking of the mines. The governor was criticized for some of his official acts, the encouragement going on record as against them.

The News is all printed in Genesee.

STORIES OF SHERIDAN.

The Great Writer Had a Hard Time Doing His Creditors
Like many a brilliant man before and since his time, Richard Brinsley Sheridan had a habit of resting on his laurels a bit too long. He was a successful playwright. Then, finding himself short of money, he would borrow. This habit increased with his years, and moreover, his efforts to discharge his obligations grew less and less. His reputation at last was such that tradesmen demanded cash on delivery.

Benjamin Robert Sheridan, who was himself woefully addicted to the same bad habit, tells with evident glee two stories of his fellow sufferer.

A butcher one day brought a leg of mutton to Sheridan's house. The cook took it, put it into the kettle, and went upstairs for the money. As she stayed away some time, the man entered the kitchen, took off the cover of the kettle, fished out the joint and walked off with it.

But the leg was not always so successfully avoided for some time came plump upon him as he emerged from Fall Hall. There was no possibility of dodging, but Sheridan did not lose his presence of mind.

"Oh," said he, "that's a beautiful mare you're on?"
"Yes, indeed. How does she trot?"
The creditor was pleased—even flattered. He told Sheridan he should see and immediately urged the mare to do her prettiest. But long before the animal's best pace was reached, Sheridan had turned again into Fall Hall, and was lost in the crowd.—Exchange.

NEATNESS IN ATTIRE.

It is not only impressive, but is a mark of respect. The fixed habit of presenting always a neat and cleanly appearance to the world is sure of a double reward. It not only increases the respectability of the man, but begets a sustaining self respect. It is scarcely reasonable of a man who does not respect himself to look for respect from others. It is not the cost of clothing, but the scrupulous care of it that counts. The man of slender means should be especially careful. He should always dress more than his address or position demand.

Style in writing, as defined by the famous Chester in the dress of thoughts, so the true style of the average man may be correctly surmised from the care he takes of his personal appearance. He should be neat, but should always be free of grease spots and dust. He should like his bath even if it has to be taken by the window pane and never by any chance neglect to brush his hair, his shoes, his teeth, his coat, trousers and hat. If he can't afford a pressing iron he should put his clothes in a hot steam mattress and sleep upon them. If laundry is a serious item, he should wash his own handkerchiefs, dry them on the window pane and never by any chance be seen with a soiled one.—Philadelphia Press.

A One Time Literary Mystery.
In the Newry Telegraph, an Ulster (Ireland) irvivecky, on April 19, 1817, under the simple head of "Poetry" appeared the name of Byron called "the perfect ode in the language." Byron or Campbell or any of the others to whom this poem was usually ascribed would doubtless have been proud to claim it. But the author was the obscure curate of Ballycroy, in Tyrone. Rev. Charles Colver, of the same place, was the author, but a posthumous fame for him. Not until his death of consumption in 1823 at the early age of thirty-two did the name of Colver become known to the world. And Wolfe, who wrote much other verse of merit, is remembered only by that long poem in which he recited the columns of a provincial newspaper to universal recognition in the big world of letters.—London Chronicle.

Larvae Nests.
By breaking open rotten logs one can find in midwinter the grubs or larvae of many of the wood boring beetles, and beneath logs and stones near the margins of ponds and brooks horde of the maggots or larvae of certain kinds of flies may often be found huddled together in great masses. The larvae of a few butterflies also live over winter beneath chips or bunches of leaves near the roots of their food plant or in webs of their own construction, which are woven on the stems close to the buds whose expanding leaves will furnish their first meal in spring.

The Parvosa Sex.
"I thought you had such a good maid coming."
"I did. But when she called up on the phone my husband answered her."
"Well, he was so much charmed by her voice that I didn't engage her."
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Turn About.
The doctor made me show him my tongue, and it cost me $2, but I got even."
"How?"
"In a poker game last night I made him show me his hands, and it cost him $5.—New York Times.

FEDERAL ATTORNEY SENDS RESIGNATION

Charges United States Attorney General With Interfering in Important Cases.

San Francisco, Cal.—In sensational telegrams to President Wilson and United States Attorney General James C. McReynolds, in which he charges the latter with having interfered with his administration of justice in two important cases, John L. McNab has resigned as United States attorney for the northern district of California. Delay ordered by the attorney general in the prosecution of Drew Caminetti and Maury Diggs, under the Mann white slave act, and of directors of the Western Fuel company on charges of conspiracy in defrauding the government in coal weighing frauds were given by McNab as the causes of his resignation, which was telegraphed to Washington.

Drew Caminetti is a son of former San Francisco Mayor Caminetti of Alameda State Senator A. Caminetti of Contra Costa county. Caminetti is commissioner general of immigration by President Wilson.

McNab was first ordered to delay the prosecution of Caminetti and Diggs until autumn the prosecution of Caminetti and Diggs. On this account he had intended to resign after the conclusion of the Western Fuel cases, but when he received a telegram from McReynolds, ordering him to postpone indefinitely the trial of Robert Bruce and Sidney V. Smith, indicted with six other Western Fuel directors, he decided to wait no longer.

Washington.—It developed that the trials of Drew Caminetti and Maury Diggs were postponed by Attorney General McReynolds at the request of Secretary of Labor Wilson, who issued a statement assuming all responsibility for the postponement.

Attorney General postponed the trial in the Diggs-Caminetti case solely upon my request. I, therefore, am responsible for the postponement. A. Caminetti has but recently assumed the duties of commissioner-general of immigration. He has not yet fully familiarized himself with the duties of the office. He asked me for leave of absence in order that he might return to California to be present at the trial of his son. I insisted that he remain in connection with the holdup and robbery of the dry goods store of Mrs. Elizabeth Foley, 756 East Forty-seventh street, Saturday night. Mrs. Brunner was identified by Mrs. Foley and Miss Mary Pollane, a clerk, as the woman who held a revolver in their faces and rifled the cash drawer of the store Saturday night, after buying a five-cent handkerchief.

Mrs. Brunner, who is the wife of Joseph J. Brunner, owner of a garage at 1448 South Washaw avenue, was taken into custody at her husband's garage three hours after the robbery had taken place.

In the arrest of Mrs. Brunner, the police believe they have secured a man who has perpetrated several daring holdups on the south side.

Johnson Must Pay $2500.
Chicago.—Because Miss Ruth Mehl was hit in the face with a punching bag, Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, must pay her $2500, a jury decided in the circuit court here.

The young woman was struck by the bag which Johnson accidentally knocked off its fastenings in an exhibition at a theater last year. She sued for $25,000.

Suffragists Avoid Violence Question.
Budapest.—Thanks to the tactful leadership of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the president, the Congress of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance closed without becoming entangled in a controversy over the question of militant methods in the advancement of the cause.

Drink Pure Water, Avoid Sickness
Impure water causes typhoid fever and other diseases. There is no excuse for an impure water supply in Idaho.

It is the duty of the proper authorities of every town to install a pure water system.

It is the duty of every citizen for the protection of his family to insist that pure water shall be provided in his locality.

Surface wells are dangerous in towns where there is no sewer system and in which dry earth closets are not exclusively used.

Open irrigation ditches are dangerous as a source of drinking water. Streams used for drinking purposes should be protected from human and other contamination.

The best water supply is one taken from springs and conveyed in pipes. If springs cannot be secured, the supply should, if possible, be piped from mountain streams which are carefully protected from contamination.

Filtration through a sand filter furnishes an additional safeguard and can be inexpensively installed.

Artesian wells are usually free from dangerous contamination. Water used for culinary purposes should be boiled if there is any reason to suspect its purity.

The State Board of Health will investigate complaints relating to impure water supplies in any locality in the State.

Canned Beets
Choose young tender beets. Put into boiling water and boil thirty minutes; cool and slip off the skins. If the beets are very large they may be sliced; if not, can them whole. Pack the beets in the jars, fill the jars with cold water, place the rubbers on the jars and lay the glass tops on loosely. Place the jars on the rack in the boiler, fill the boiler with cold water to half the depth of the jars, put on the cover and boil for one hour. Remove one jar at a time, screw down the lid, replace in the boiler, put on the cover and boil for another hour. If the beets are covered with equal parts of water and vinegar they make a delicious pickle.—Pictorial Review.

Course in Forestry at University
The call for young men trained in forestry subjects has been much greater than the Department of Forestry has been able to meet. This is bound to be the case for many years to come. Idaho has only just begun to utilize its vast crop of trees, comprising as it does more than 20,000,000 acres of the finest timber in the world.

High school graduates who are fond of healthful outdoor work at good salaries should consider Forestry as a vacation. No state in the Union offers better opportunities. For bulletin and particulars address

"Rock Bottom Prices"
Is Going to be Our Motto from Now On

We are going to try to keep at home—where it belongs—the trade of this community that is going elsewhere. There is no reason in the world why the business firms of this town can not sell goods just as cheap, if not cheaper, than any town in the country for the reason that it costs less money to do business in Genesee than any in any town of its size in the Palouse country.
All we ask is a comparison of our prices with other towns—not only compare the prices, but the quality of our goods.

Experience Has Taught Us that the people of this community—as a rule—demand a high quality of goods, but we are sorry to say that in many instances some people are led to believe, by unreasonable houses, who carry an inferior grade of goods, that their prices are cheaper than ours.
Let us all boost together and help one another in every way that we can, thereby making a better community and a better town.

June Jocularly
June is the month mosquitoes come—they come early in the evening and stay all night. Screens are a good thing to keep mosquitoes out and also to keep them in. It's a poor screen that won't work both ways. Mosquitoes make music. The farther away they make it the sweeter it sounds. Kerosene is a good cure for mosquitoes. It makes them strong and healthy. They like it. If a mosquito presents his bill you will probably feel bored. A mosquito in the hand is worth two in the nose. Many a loving couple get married in June, and the groom pays the preacher whatever he thinks it's worth. Sometimes it isn't worth it. Then the newly-married couple leave on their honeymoon. A honeymoon lasts as long as the money holds out. An old shoe thrown after a newly married pair is supposed to bring good luck. This is merely a supposition—if the old shoe hits the groom in the eye he can't see his good luck. The electric fan and the baseball fan are now working overtime. It is time to take off your winter woollens and take on your liquid refreshments through a straw. Straws show which way the wind blows and which way the soda goes. WHITING'S brushes show the painter the easiest route to profitable painting. HERMAN'S sell Whiting's and Rubber-set brushes of all sizes.

Fine Strawberries

The News is indebted to Mrs. Thos. Wells for some of the largest strawberries we have ever seen. One of the largest of the lot measured 3 1/2 inches in diameter, which is not small for apples or peaches, to say nothing of strawberries.

Chima Kimberlain also has some fine berries which he was exhibiting to his friends, one of which measured nine inches in circumference, which is not so small.

From the number of extra fancy berries that have been placed on the market by local growers it is evident that this section could very easily take its place among the berry-producing sections of the Northwest for finer berries do not grow anywhere.

Woodward brothers have just completed for Nels Lunde a well which is 92 feet in depth and which is almost a gusher, water flowing out at the top, which is an indication that Mr. Lunde will have all the water he needs in future.

Pullman will hold their second annual horse show tomorrow. A good list of prizes and ribbons have been secured and a good show is anticipated and there will undoubtedly be a good crowd present, if the weather man will permit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hickman are the proud parents of a fine baby boy, born Friday morning. The youngster is a healthy specimen and weighs a little over twelve pounds.

Irvin Schooler, who was operated on last Thursday for appendicitis in the local hospital, is getting along nicely and will be able to return to his home in a few days.

L. D. Rogers, living eight miles south of town reports that he has plenty of new potatoes at his ranch, which are among the first of the season for this part of the country.

WAR ON WEED PESTS

Effort Will be Made to Stamp Out All Noxious Weeds—Cooperation Asked

The Moscow Chamber of Commerce has started an aggressive campaign to exterminate the "Jim Hill" mustard, the Canadian and Russian thistle and other noxious weeds which have made their appearance in the Palouse country, and they ask the cooperation of ranchers and others to rid the country of the pests.

At its last meeting the following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, the 'Jim Hill' mustard and other weed pests have made their appearance in the Palouse country and are spreading with alarming rapidity especially along the rights of way of the various railroad lines, and

"Whereas, the unrestricted spread of these weeds is a serious menace to the agricultural interests of any community. Therefore, be it

"Resolved by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce that immediate and concerted action should be taken by the county and city officials, the Farmers' union, the railroad companies and every good citizen to prevent the spread of and to stamp out the 'Jim Hill' mustard, the Canadian and Russian thistles and other noxious weeds that may appear, and

"Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the county commissioners, the city council, the Farmers' union and to each of the railroad agents in Moscow."

The noxious weed problem is one that concerns every citizen of the county. If permitted to spread, the "Jim Hill" mustard will devastate every farm and garden. It will diminish the fertility of the soil and shatter land values. The time for effective work is before the pests get a foothold. Every property holder should exercise careful vigilance and stamp them out on their first appearance. Where the pests have gained a foothold, a greater and more determined effort should be made to prevent their spread and to eradicate them entirely and community action should be taken at once.

Pullman Hog Show

Pullman's second annual hog show will be held November 28 and 29, premium lists for which have been issued, copies of which may be had by addressing W. D. Foster, superintendent of exhibits.

A good list of prizes has been made up and there is no question but that it will be one of the best of its kind held in this part of the country.

The question is not only of raising more hogs, but better hogs and is one that has been occupying the minds of ranchers in this part of the country for some time and the Pullman show will be a good place to get information on the subject that will be of benefit to all who contemplate the betterment of their hogs.

H. J. Herman of Genesee is a member of the committee on exhibits and will be glad to furnish any information desired.

Ladies Aid Society

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. E. Abernathy and Mrs. Fred Follett entertained the Ladies Aid of the Congregational church and a number of invited guests at Mrs. Follett's home. The rooms were fragrant with vases of June roses, peonies and poppies.

A large number answered to roll call, after which the ladies busied themselves with fancy work until five o'clock when a dainty luncheon was served. Mrs. Hershelberger assisted in the serving.

The next meeting will be held in three weeks at the home of Mrs. Will Herman, two other ladies will assist in serving.

A tennis club was organized here last Friday evening with a membership of 18 members. Dr. J. M. McColl was chosen president, W. E. Smith, vice-president, Thos. H. Herman, secretary and treasurer. The grounds just west of the opera house are being prepared for a court and the club will begin practice games just as soon as the court is ready.

Mrs. Agnes Hawks, who last week swallowed some anaesthetic tablets in an effort to commit suicide, died a few days later at her home in Moscow. It was thought for a time that she would get well, but the poison seemingly had gotten in its work before the doctors could counteract it.

The Ladies aid of the United Trinity Lutheran church will give an Ice-cream social next Sunday afternoon, June 29, at the Henry Hanson ranch four miles north of town.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

LORANG-WHALEN NUPTIALS

Popular Young People United in Marriage at St. Mary's Church Wednesday Morning

One of the prettiest weddings that has ever taken place in Genesee was solemnized Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church when Miss Amalia Lorang and Chas. P. Whalen were made husband and wife, the Rev. Fr. Haegy performing the ceremony in a very impressive manner, the ring ceremony being used. Miss Dorothy Driscoll presided at the organ, playing Lohengren's wedding march as the contracting parties took their place before the altar.

The bride was attired in a beautiful dress of white silk and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, while the groom was attired in the conventional black.

Miss Christina Lorang, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a gown of Copenhagen blue. LeVeque Whalen, brother of the groom, was best man. Misses Viola Lorang and Helen Geselchen were flower girls and were dressed in pink.

Immediately after the ceremony the invited guests departed for the Lorang ranch where a six-course dinner was served upon their arrival.

The afternoon was spent in amusements and social converse and in the evening a light lunch consisting of ice cream, punch, etc., was served, after which toasts to the bride and groom were proposed. Later in the evening dancing was indulged in and refreshments were served at 11 o'clock.

Still later some twelve or fifteen of the groom's friends found that they had not departed from the Lorang ranch, as had been reported, and they immediately procured automobiles and descended upon the unsuspecting pair and proceeded to give them an old-fashioned charivari—tin pans, cans, etc., winding up with a serenade, singing many of the late and popular songs, among the most appreciated being "Are There Any More at Home Like Molly." A midnight banquet was served the serenaders, after which they departed for their several homes wishing the the bride and groom every happiness through life.

Those present at the reception and dinner at the Lorang ranch were Mr. and Mrs. John Lorang, father and mother of the bride; Mrs. Winnie Whalen, mother of the groom, of Portland, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Whalen of Cheney, Wash., LeVeque Whalen of Portland, Ore., Peter J. Lorang of Lewiston, Henry Lorang of Portland, Ore.; Charles Lorang, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Lorang of Spokane, Misses Christina, Bertha, Martha and Viola Lorang, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smolt, Edwin Smolt, Mr. and Mrs. John Geselchen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Geselchen of Spokane, Misses Ella and Frances Geselchen of Spokane and Miss Mary Clemens.

The bride and groom departed Friday morning amid a shower of rice and old shoes, for Spokane, where they will make a short visit, after which they will visit at Cheney and Naches City, Wash. Later they will return to Genesee to make their home. The coach on the Northern Pacific railroad was properly decorated showing that they were newly married, etc.

Mr. Whalen is one of Genesee's rising young business men, being teller in the Genesee Exchange bank, while his bride is a daughter of one of the foremost ranchers of this part of the country—Mr. and Mrs. John Lorang.

The News joins with their host of friends and well wishers—and here's hoping "that you may live long and prosper."

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Abbott are the proud parents of a bouncing baby boy, born last Friday.

All the delightful satisfaction of having a perfect range is within easy reach of every one. For the MONARCH Malleable Range will effect a sufficient saving of fuel to actually pay its own cost in a short time.

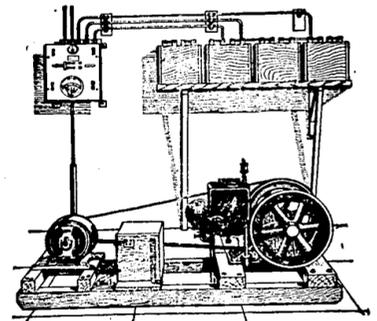

There's no economy in continuing to use a "grey iron and steel" range, though it is only a few years old and can be made to "do" for a few years more.

Every year it wastes enough fuel to pay a large part on a Monarch's cost.

This great difference between the fuel requirements of the Monarch and ordinary steel ranges is to be accounted for entirely by the difference in construction.

The MONARCH is made of Polished steel and Malleable iron, a tough, unbreakable material.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

President Wilson Approves Dissolution Plans of Union Pacific Merger

Washington.—President Wilson approved the plan negotiated by Attorney General McReynolds and the railroad attorneys for the dissolution of the Union Pacific merger under the Sherman anti-trust law, as directed by the supreme court of the United States, so as to avoid a receivership for the great combination.

This latest attempt of the many made to dismember the combination provides for the disposition of the entire $126,650,000 of Southern Pacific held by the Union Pacific. It is understood the plan, as one step, provides for the exchange of $38,292,400 of Southern Pacific stock for the Pennsylvania's holdings in the Baltimore & Ohio, which are approximately of the same value.

The remaining $88,357,600 of Southern Pacific will be disfranchised and placed in the hands of a trust company as trustees and against this stock will be issued certificates with no voting power to shareholders of the Union Pacific.

Caucus is Deaf to Westerner's Plea
Notwithstanding the efforts of several western democrats to induce the caucus to place on the free list all woolen cloths, clothing, blankets, and other manufactures of wool, an overwhelming majority stood out against this amendment and defeated it.

The western senators urged that, inasmuch as raw wool is placed on the free list, it would be only fair to the woolgrowers and the public generally to place on the free list the manufactures of wool, which would really benefit the consumer much more than free raw wool.

The committee insisted that if manufactures of wool were placed on the free list there would be a large deficit in the treasury, and for this reason the committee and the caucus would not accept the proposed amendment.

Several Changes in Currency Bill
Several changes were made in the currency bill as the result of the numerous conferences in which President Wilson, democrats of the house and senate committees, Treasury department officials and a committee of bankers took part, but despite earnest appeals that the federal reserve board to control the proposed new currency system be increased and that the bankers receive representation, no change in this provision was made. The board will consist of seven men to be appointed by the president.

In the senate, Senator Cummins contemplates proposing an amendment which would make the board an elective body.

Reintroduced in the bill was the original proposition for retiring the present banknotes within 20 years and the substitution of additional federal reserve notes for them.

To Study Government Aid for Schools
A step toward solving the question of governmental aid to the founding of vocational educational schools was taken by the senate through the passage of Senator Hoke Smith's bill providing for a commission of nine experts to study the question and report to the next session of congress.

The bill is expected to halt action temporarily on the various vocational school bills now before congress, and which have been the subject of much discussion. The commission that would be authorized would not take up the consideration of agricultural extension work, which is covered in separate bills before congress. The commission would be appointed by the president to serve without pay.

National Capital Privileges
Golden shoulder straps are to be restored to the uniforms of naval officers, according to an order issued by Secretary Daniels at Washington.

The house has passed a bill for a prohibitive tax of $200 a pound on the manufacture of opium, and also prohibiting its importation except for medicinal purposes.

It is reported the Wilson administration is preparing to make a clean sweep of the whole diplomatic corps. New men, Wilson men or Bryan men, are to be appointed to every ambassadorship and ministership now held by republicans.

A bill will soon be introduced in the house to distribute 300,000 discarded Krag-Jorgensen rifles among clubs of civilians, in order to stimulate general interest in rifle-shooting.

Keeping Highways Good

The present year promises to be the greatest in the history of the movement for the improvement of the public roads of the United States. A joint committee of congress is engaged in the feasibility of federal aid in the construction, improvement and maintenance of public highways, and a number of state legislatures are considering good roads legislation.

Too much stress can not be laid upon the importance of maintenance in connection with the work of improving the roads. The people of nearly all the states are enthusiastic for road improvement and are spending enormous sums of money in the construction of superb roads, and yet almost without exception they are making little provision to care for the roads after they are built. This is true not only in the various counties, but under many of the state highway departments.

To maintain the roads in good condition year after year requires a considerable annual outlay, but this outlay is infinitely less than the loss which must fall upon the people eventually if they allow their roads to go to utter ruin. The thing for all advocates of good roads to do is to urge continuous and systematic maintenance and the setting aside every year of an amount per mile estimated by an engineer to be sufficient for the proper maintenance of the road—a course which must make for economy and efficiency.

Variety Store Changes Hands

W. H. Cook, who for the past 20 months has been the proprietor of the Variety store in this city, has sold the business to T. Carlander of Moscow, the latter taking charge July 1.

Mr. Cook has worked up a good business here and in addition to his store business has been handling cream for the Washington State College creamery and has been doing a good business in that line.

Mr. Carlander, while a stranger to the people in this part of the country he is no stranger in the business world and comes here well recommended to the people, and he will no doubt share the same patronage and confidence of the people as did Mr. Cook.

Mr. Cook will go to Montana, where he will remain until fall, probably going from there to California.

George, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson was badly cut about the head and face by coming in contact with a barbed wire while playing ball with some companions at the Henry Hanson ranch last Sunday afternoon. A barbed wire had been stretched to keep the stock away from the trees and the youngsters were playing among the trees and did not see the wire. The wounds are very painful but no lasting results are feared.

An addition 24x50 feet is being put on the C. E. Wood company's elevator in this city which will be used as a chop mill to do custom work. G. E. Carlan of Spokane has charge of the work and expects to have everything in readiness within the next 30 days.

Our job work will please you.

DEMONSTRATION TRAIN WAS HERE WEDNESDAY

One of Most Complete Ever Run—Carries Farm, Garden and Stock Exhibits

In scope, completeness of detail and capacity to impart instruction and suggestions, the Northern Pacific—State College demonstration train now touring eastern Washington undoubtedly out-classes any similar demonstration heretofore operated in the state. Six years of experience on the part of the railway and the college have gone into the makeup of the train. Compared with previous efforts, satisfactory as they were, the present train is in a class by itself.

Picture studies show the ways and means by which such subjects as soils and crops of the field, orchard and garden are taught at Pullman, giving the student an idea of what he will be taught in the study of "agriculture" and how it will be taught. There are plots of corn, wheat, oats, field peas, barley and other cereals; and at work in these plots, judging and selecting, studying variations in yield according to variations of soil treatment, fertility, seed, and so on, learning what is best, and which is worst, are students. Others are studying temperature, humidity and atmospheric pressure; the moisture requirements of crops, soils in the laboratory and in the fields, and evaporation. The observing person, either young or old, studying these pictures gets the idea that "scientific farming" after all, is not so very scientific, but consists mainly of harnessing the forces of Nature, whose part in the general scheme of Creation, is to produce food and other material comforts for humanity, efficiently, economically and abundantly.

The picture studies, as described, designed mainly to convey suggestions to the young—and to older persons as well—are supplemented by exhibits planned to "get home" to the farmers, dairymen, and orchardists, whose specific problems deal not so much with the selection of a line of work for future specialization, as with actual production today in the field.

The dairy appliances shown include butter workers, testers, types of sanitary and unsanitary milk pails, record sheets, cream separators, coolers and so on. One exhibit—a diagrammatic one—has a pretty sharp point for the producer of either beef or dairy cattle. It is shown that a record Holstein, producing in a year 18,405 pounds of milk, yields in food values 552 pounds of proteins, this against 172 pounds yielded by a fattened steer weighing 1250 pounds; 618 pounds of fat, against 333 pounds for the steer; 920 pounds of sugar, against none for the steer; 128 pounds of ash against 43 pounds by the steer; a total 2218 pounds of such food, against 548 pounds for the steer.

Another diagram shows in terms of fertilizer value what the man who sells hay or grain is taking from his land. A ton of alfalfa hay removes from the soil $11.39 worth of fertilizer, leaving he who sold it for, say $12 a ton, a net profit per ton of 61 cents. Red clover, timothy and wheat straw sold by the ton from the land, remove similar values in fertility from the land, meaning of course, the ultimate decrease in producing power which is now seen in many of the older, single-cropped sections. These losses are suffered by the man who produces his hay or grain crops and sells them as such, as compared with the man who produces the same crops and feeds them, marketing animals and animal products, and returning animal manures to the soil.

The sale of a ton of butter from a farm, depletes the farm in fertility in the huge sum of 64 cents. The barn alfalfa hay, green fodder and cereal or two which produced the milk, sold from the farm, would have removed values in fertility ranging from sixteen dollars a ton for the barn to eight or nine for the green fodder. Applied to the production of meat animals, the figures cited above, have equal force. Thus it is seen how in this type of farming that it is possible to preserve indefinitely, the producing power of the soil.

One of the cars is loaded with poultry and buildings for poultry plants. There is an incubator house in which the hatching is done; a brooder house in which the young chicks are kept up to six weeks of age, or thereabouts; the colony house in which the young pullets roost while growing up on the range; and a model laying house equipped with nests, roosts, drinking fountains and feed hoppers. There are hovers of the out-of-door and indoor type, to take the place of the mother hen in keeping the chicks warm; feeds and grits for baby chicks, cockerels and pullets, fattening stock and laying hens.

The exhibits of forage crops include fifty varieties of peas, which have been tested out at the college; Swedish Select oats, black oats, Canadian oats, gray oats, field peas of the seed type and field peas of the forage type; beardless barley of the hay type, brew barley, spring barley and winter barley. Swedish Select oats are highly recommended. Timothy hay is not recommended unless moisture is abundant. Brome grass is good in pastures, mixed with alfalfa—the combination lessening the probability of bloating. The brome will not do well on excessively wet land. Red clover is recommended for short rotations.

Another display shows the weed seeds one is apt to find in eastern Washington cereals. There is mustard, pigweed, Jim hill mustard, lupines, common plantain, burdock, hairy vetch, dodder pods, tumble weed china lettuce and other outlaws in the agricultural industries. The wheats include fortyfold, little club, bluestem, alaska, several college hybrids, Turkey red, kubanka, polish, Jones winter life, emmer and others.

The stock car contained Tamworth pigs, bacon type; Duroc-Jerseys and Berkshires, lard type; Drosset and Shropshire sheep; a Shorthorn steer, and two dairy cows, one of good type and one of poor type. Both breeds of sheep are of the mutton type, but the Drosset is used especially for early lambs. The Shorthorn steer was first-prize calf at the Lewiston stock show last fall.

How to Measure Hay and Corn

Where the farmer has no scales for weighing heavy feeds, a reasonably accurate estimate may be made of hay in the mow or stack, and an exact estimate may be made of ear corn in the crib or wagon box.

A bushel of ear corn contains 2748 cubic inches. To ascertain the number of bushels in a corn crib or wagon box, multiply the length by the breadth and height in inches, and divide the product by 2748. If the size of the crib, or other room containing the corn, is slanting, multiply together one-half the sum of the top and bottom widths, the height and length. To find the number of bushels of corn when shelled, take two-thirds of the product for ear corn, or, the number of bushels of shelled corn a bin or bed will hold is three halves for that of ear corn. Three half-bushels of ear corn are counted for one bushel of shelled corn.

For ordinary hay in the stack or mow, 400 cubic feet are counted for a ton. To estimate roughly, then, the amount of hay in a stack or mow, multiply the width by the length and height in feet and divide the product by 400. The quotient will give the number of tons.

Hay in storage differs not only in kind, but in density from top to bottom of the mow or stack. The higher the pile of hay and the longer time it has had to settle will determine its density at the bottom. In measuring a stack of hay, about three feet at the top of the stack should be ignored in the count as the top portion is light and very narrow. Hay in a deep mow with much pressure from above will figure out more tons to the number of cubic feet than hay in a shallow mow.

W. A. Matthews, who fleeced Idaho bankers out of $20,000 and disappeared last April from Boise, where he had promoted the Overland Fire Insurance company, is now in Detroit, Mich., and if a telegram may be taken as truth, he has added bigamy to his other offenses.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state of the Sand Springs Land company of Buhl, the purpose of the corporation being principally to construct and maintain lakes and ponds, and to propagate, grow and dispose of fish. The capital stock is placed at $10,000.

Professor A. O. Pratt, plant pathologist at the university, has tendered his resignation to accept a position in a similar line of work with the federal government in south Idaho. During the summer he will investigate potato diseases, and his headquarters will be at Jerome.

The portfolio is as handsome a specimen as could be found anywhere.

The hog cholera serum plant at the university is now ready for operation. The plant consists of about a dozen houses for immune and diseased hogs, a fully equipped laboratory, and a crematory to burn all refuse matter. The manufacture of serum will begin in a few days. The serum will be distributed by the state live stock sanitary board. The plant is deemed large enough to produce all the serum needed in Idaho, and about 25,000 doses will be manufactured this year.

Reasons for Calling Bond Election

In the matter of calling a bond election in Latah county for the purpose of determining whether or not we shall have a new court house we wish to give to the Public a few unbiased facts and reasons for calling same.

The records of our County are of inestimable value to all and must be protected. Our court house has one small vault in connection with the auditor's office, which would, beyond doubt, melt down like wax in case the building should be destroyed by fire and should we be obliged to re-place our records from available sources it would cost us more than the price of a new Court house.

Only the records of the office of the Auditor and Recorder have any protection as the vault is inadequate to hold even all of these. These might be saved in case of a small fire, but there are the records of the probate judge, assessor, tax collector, treasurer, county superintendent and all the other offices which have absolutely no protection at all from fire, and would suffer a great loss in case of a small blaze.

Our jail cannot be used at all for keeping prisoners. For some time we have been compelled to send our prisoners to Lewiston or Wallace, thus incurring a tremendous expense in boarding and transporting the prisoners as well as in mileage for officers traveling to and from the jail to which our prisoners are sent.

The County attorney and Surveyor have no offices in the court house and we are compelled to rent offices downtown, thereby causing great inconvenience and additional expense not only in office rent but also in heating and lighting the offices.

The new Revenue law has imposed additional work upon practically all the officers and the present accommodations in the offices are entirely too meager to meet the demands. The Treasurer has been made tax collector and there is not a place in the court house where she can take the records for the purpose of collecting taxes.

There is no jury room to which a jury can retire except a portion of the wood shed. This is either an imposition upon the dignity of the District Court or it lends a great dignity to the wood shed.

The Commissioners have no place to meet for deliberation except as they can find a vacancy in some office or Court room.

The matter of remodeling the old building has been carefully considered and has been deemed, by the most conservative people, out of reason. It is generally conceded that any money expended upon the old building would eventually be thrown away.

State legislature makes it permissible to pay off all the bonds after a period of five years.

This law has been taken advantage of in the resolution calling the bond election and the bonds may be taken care of within the five years if the people of the county so desire.

This is your county, your building to be erected, your records to be protected. The matter does not belong to any town or any community; it is for Latah County.

We have taken this action after careful deliberation and consideration for the best interests of the entire county and we hope that you will consider it your privilege as well as your duty to come out and express yourself at the polls.

John L. Woody, A. B. McVernon, Clayton Wilson, County Commissioners.

Gipsying in a Motor Truck Our best vacation, real vacation, was spent last summer in an auto truck. Memories of that are so pleasant and full of varied experiences that we are going to repeat it this summer.

Terrible Heat in East Reports come from Chicago and other cities throughout the east and central west that on June 30, 85 deaths were caused by the excessive heat during a week's time, which will bring the total up to more than 100 that have died from that cause, and the number of prostrations, often causing death later, were lost track of.

Dr. Willey Will Assist Dr. Willey of the University of Minnesota who has had charge of the manufacturing of the hog cholera in Minnesota for the past four years has been secured by Professor Nicholson to assist in the proper establishment and equipment of the serum plant at the University of Idaho. He arrived in Moscow Tuesday.

CO-OPERATION comes from the Latin co, meaning "with" and operari, meaning "work." "TO WORK WITH." The first form of co-operation is with yourself. The first way to co-operate with yourself is to get into line with nature and health. Get enough sleep. Keep clean. Don't worry. Eat spinach. Co-operate with your family. Be on time. Do your part. Think up a few pleasant stories to tell at meals. Don't make the family table a general strapping ground. Co-operate in business. Put with the team around you. Don't pull against them. The barn dance at the Joe Davies ranch last Saturday night was a very pleasant affair in which about 60 couples took part. Light refreshments were served in the form of a lap supper. One of the heaviest downpours of the season occurred just east of town, near the Magee place, last Friday about noon, when rain fell in torrents, covering the roadway with water to a depth of about 12 inches, washing out culverts and otherwise damaging the road. ## NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Senator Simmons Says Tariff Bill Will Reach President Last of August

Washington.—With the tariff bill completed by the senate caucus, the senate leaders feel certain that the measure will be in the hands of the president by the latter part of August. Five weeks is the time Senator Simmons, who will have the bill in charge, believes will be needed. Republican senators, however, insist that it will take much more time.

The completed bill as it stands is more of a downward revision than the original Underwood measure. The total estimated revenue under the measure, including the income tax, will be about $310,000,000.

The house rules committee unanimously reported in favor of a sweeping investigation of charges that lobbying, particularly that of the National Manufacturers has improperly influenced legislation and has created and defeated national legislators. The resolution creates a committee of seven with unlimited powers and an unlimited expense account to investigate all charges. The investigation will be independent of the senate's inquiry.

Currency Sure to Prolong Session. It begins to look as though congress would remain in session indefinitely, but there is considerable doubt whether the present session, even though it may run until December, will witness the enactment of a currency bill. For a time it seemed that the senate would insist on adjourning as soon as the tariff bill became a law, for this is in accordance with the personal desires of three-fourths of the senators of both parties, but so completely has the senate surrendered to the president that there seems to be little resistance left.

Muhall's Story of Lobbying Told.

How the National Association of Manufacturers, through its hired lobbyists at Washington, secured legislation favorable to its interests, obtained the defeat of measures beneficial to the labor interests, how it controlled congressional committees, made and unmade senators and representatives, and how it levied tribute on all manufacturing interests—great and small—throughout the country, was explained by the sensational exposures of Colonel M. Muhall, for 20 years the lobbyist, field worker and strikebreaker of the organization, before the senate investigation committee called into existence by President Wilson's charges that an "industrious lobby" exists and has existed at the national capital for many years.

Witness' Confession is Astonishing.

A story of misrepresentation, impersonation of public men and organized effort to influence Wall street financiers probably without parallel in the history of congressional investigations was unfolded before the senate lobby committee by a prosperous-looking, self-proclaimed individual, calling himself David Lamar, of New York, self-described as an "operator in stocks" and admitted the best of several assumed names. With entire abandon, arousing the committee to laughter at times by his naive admissions, he told of his impersonations, his participation in attempts to influence Wall street. He telephoned to financial men and lawyers in the names of Representative Flordan. He assumed the guise of Chairman McCombs, of the Democratic national committee, to telephone to Chairman Hill, of the Republican national committee.

National Capital Brevities

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska withdrew from the democratic caucus when his proposed tariff bill amendment for a graduated tax on tobacco production was defeated. A spirited scene followed.

Attorney General McReynolds has dismissed Judge Clayton Herrington from the department of justice at San Francisco. Herrington had criticized the federal authorities in connection with the Diggs-Caminetti case.

The interstate commerce commission will have to get along in its great task of making a physical valuation of railroads without the assistance of the army engineers unless congress be induced to pass special legislation.

Government officials are greatly interested in the reported achievement of Dr. Goldschmidt, a German inventor of wireless apparatus, in sending messages between Neustadt, near Hanover, Germany, and Tuckerton, N. J., 2800 miles.

News Snapshots Of the Week

McKinley. United States Commissioner of Immigration Anthony Caminetti was mired up in the attack on Attorney General McReynolds. U. S. Grant, son of one time president, became engaged. Princess Patricia denied she was engaged. Mrs. Stetson announced herself head of Christian Scientists.

PIONEER PICNIC GREAT SUCCESS

Large Crowd Attends—Sports, Music and a General Good Time—All Well Pleased

A crowd equally as large as that which attended the recent horse show gathered in Genesee on July 4 for the purpose of attending the picnic, which was one of the best that has ever been held in this city. There were fully 3000 people here and a more orderly and well-behaved lot it would be hard to find. The day dawned clear and Old Sol beamed on the undertaking in a way that made everyone feel good until about the middle of the afternoon, when Jupiter Pluvius thought he would have a little fun with the ball boys, but to no purpose as they stuck to their game and the shower was soon over.

The crowds began coming early in the morning and continued to do so until night. The first delegation to arrive on the early train from the west and again a goodly number was brought in in the afternoon by the "cannonball," besides innumerable automobiles which came from every direction and from all parts of the country as did many teams.

The first thing on the program was the automobile parade, which took place at 10:30, and when there were not so very many machines in the parade, some of them were highly decorated and could have been a credit to many a parade more pretentious. One of the main features of the parade was the battle between the "Monitor" and the "Merrimac," and was pulled off by H. A. Morgan, skipper for the "Monitor," and C. A. Campbell, skipper for the "Merrimac." It was something new and novel and was duly appreciated by the large crowd that watched the maneuvers of the "vessels" as the battle waged hotter and hotter until both "vessels" were badly "shot to pieces." The idea originated with C. A. Campbell and first prize, while the "Merrimac," under command of Rear Admiral Morgan, was given second prize. It was probably the first time in the history of "naval" warfare that both "vessels" were compelled to fly a flag of truce.

At 11 o'clock a goodly crowd gathered in the city park to listen to an oration by the Hon. W. J. McConnell, ex-governor of Idaho, who delivered a speech of a characteristic character chiefly along patriotic lines, although touching at times on other things of vital importance to this country as a nation as well as to subjects concerning the great State of Idaho. Mr. McConnell's speeches are always enjoyable and this one was fully up to his high standard.

At the noon hour took a number of families had an old-fashioned picnic dinner in the city park and was thoroughly enjoyed.

In the afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, the sports were pulled off in Recreation park, where a crowd that exceeded the capacity of the grounds, had gathered to enjoy the afternoon. A relay race was pulled off to start

GENESEE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY IS ORGANIZED

Meeting Held in Genesee Opera House Tuesday Afternoon—Much Work Planned

Genesee is to be congratulated on her splendid women and their interest in her welfare as evinced by the large number who attended the meeting in the Opera house on Tuesday afternoon to hear Mrs. Truitt regarding civic work which is being done elsewhere and which may be done here.

The Genesee Improvement Society, of the constructive and large planning of the commercial clubs and then took up the smaller detail work showing that it is essentially women's work. That even in home building it is the women who put on the finishing touches, adding the many beautiful and sanitary things which are a source of pleasure and comfort to all. She advised co-operation with the Genesee Booster organization and city council showing the value of such cooperation to all bodies, in that civic betterment must come from a long, stern concerted effort on the part of all citizens.

After the speech, or talk, for it was a heart to heart talk, an organization was effected, which is to be called the Genesee Improvement Society, with officers as follows:

Mrs. F. C. McCrory, president; Mrs. W. E. Smith, vice-president; Mrs. Dan Burr, secretary; Mrs. James Nisbet, treasurer.

Chairman of standing committees as follows:

Mrs. Leon Follett, park committee; Mrs. Joe Hinesinger, cemetery; Mrs. John Hall, press; Mrs. Chas. Burr, ways and means; Mrs. Will Herman, library; Mrs. J. T. Nelson, clean city.

These chairman together with the officers will constitute an Executive Board. There were 27 members gained with splendid enthusiasm and promise of their members soon.

We bespeak for this infant organization your heartiest good will and co-operation.

While returning from the Village of Lapwai to her home at the Indian agency on the night of July 4, Mrs. Margaret E. Sharp, wife of Superintendent Sharp of the Nez Perce reservation, was shot by unknown persons. She was wearing a 12-caliber pistol and passed entirely through the left foot. Mrs. Sharp saw the flash of the pistol several hundred yards distant, but it was too dark to recognize any one. She walked a quarter of a mile to the government sanatorium in her wounded condition, where she was removed to her home.

It is believed that the shot was fired by bootleggers or drunken revelers, who had been drawn to Lapwai by the celebration in that town.

Several arrests were made.

House Burns at Moscow

The residence of W. M. Fields burned Sunday at midnight, building and contents are a total loss. Cause of the fire is not known.

Mr. Fields, who has been in poor health for several months, went to Lewiston a week ago, on the advice of his doctor, hoping to be benefited by the lower altitude. Mrs. Fields accompanied him and there was no one at home except their son, Harry, a jeweler, who is employed at Wallace's jewelry store. He was awakened about 11 o'clock by the smell of smoke and the crackling of flames. He discovered the lower part of the building all on fire and filled with a dense smoke. He gathered an armful of clothing from the hooks in his room and rushed down the stairs, escaping from the burning building in a half suffocated condition and gave the alarm.

The heat from the burning building was intense and it was with difficulty that the adjacent buildings were saved.

Mr. Fields carried $1000 insurance on the building and $1000 on his household goods.

143,300,000 Gallons of Booze

The American people drink more whisky and beer, smoked more cigars and cigarettes and chewed more tobacco during the fiscal year 1913 than in any other yearly period of the nation's history, according to estimates based upon the record-breaking internal revenue receipts of the federal government for the 12 months ended June 30.

The drinkers of the country consumed the enormous total of 143,300,000 gallons of whisky and brandy, breaking the former high record of the fiscal year 1907 by 7,300,000 gallons. Sixty-four million five hundred thousand barrels of beer were consumed, exceeding 1911's record by more than 1,000,000 barrels.

Despite the high record consumption of intoxicants, returns to the internal revenue bureau show, without explanation, that the number of saloons of the country decreased by 18,000 during the year, the retail liquor dealers numbering only 450,000.

Assessments on drinking and smoking luxuries, on corporations and oleomargarine and other articles taxed by the federal government, brought into the United States treasury $344,426,884, the greatest amount in history, exceeding the previous high record of 1911 by $21,900,000.

Increase in Corn Yield

There will be a 15 per cent increase in the acreage of corn this season in the Clearwater river valley, with a much larger increase in the total output. The success which the farmers of this territory have experienced in raising corn on fallow lands in the valleys and uplands has given an impetus to this crop.

The recent heavy rains have been a great asset to the corn of north Idaho this year.

Recent tests made by the Idaho experiment station at Moscow show that the germination of acclimated corn in this district reaches 98 per cent, which is as high as any grown in the country.

Approximately 10,000 acres of fallow lands in this part of the state have been planted to corn, according to estimates made by Lewiston seedmen.

Slilage Fed Cows Pay Best

From 329 herds reported in a government "cow census" as having been fed silage, numbering 6689 cows, $1.39 was received for each dollar's worth of feed consumed, compared with $1.20, the average return from the 21,758 cows not reported upon with reference to whether silage formed a part of their rations.

Comparing herds fed with those not reported to be so fed (the larger part of which probably did not have silage and which may be regarded as representing the actual common run of silage herds in the United States), it was found that the ratio of profitable to unprofitable herds among the silage fed is to that ratio among those not reported as 2.8 is to 1; or that the probabilities of making a profit are nearly three to one in favor of the silage feeder, as compared with the average dairy farmer.—Missouri Ruralist.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

The Western Tri-State League closed Saturday the first half of its official schedule, and Tuesday opened a new one.

Moving pictures were taken of the excursion boats and special trains at St. Maries. The pictures will later be exhibited and will be used in one of town theaters to advertise the shadowy St. Joe and St. Maries.

The Carbonate Mining company, operating the Carbonate mine on Pine creek, has levied a 1 mill assessment against the 800,000 acres outstanding, amounting to $800. The fund will be devoted to maintenance of the property.

The world's record in rock drilling was broken at Warden by Siligo and St. Germain, who drilled 46 13-16 inches into granite in 15 minutes, and won a prize of $300. The previous record, 45 7-16 inches, was made at Tonopah, Nev., July 8 last year.

While dressing to go to the Fourth of July celebration, Mrs. Groven Hebron of Polkton accidentally ran a rather curling iron in her left eye, badly burning the eyeball and causing severe suffering. The doctors say that with great care the sight will be restored, but it may be defective.

For the purpose of inspecting the proposed trunk highway of north Idaho extending north and south, Frank King, state engineer, accompanied by W. L. Gifford, secretary of state, Dr. J. A. Little, of University of Idaho, and Theodore Turner, chairman of the state highway commission, will tour the state for the next several weeks.

John Bryant made his second successful ascension from Recreation Park at Sandpoint July 4. Rising about 2:45 o'clock he circled in graceful sweeps above the park, then started for Sandpoint, a mile distant, climbing above the town and returning to the park, after having been in air for nearly 20 minutes.

Decorated with flags and bunting a large traction engine pulling a train of four wagons which had been fitted with racks and filled with students and faculty members of the university summer school, steamed through Moscow headed for the picnic grounds on Moscow mountain. A commissary wagon was attached to the rear.

In a letter to a friend at Topeka, Kan., Senator Borah of Idaho has positively denied that he is or will be a candidate for president. He says: "I have not my lightning rod up, as it is now being published abroad, and I have not the slightest intention of putting it up or of conniving at its being put up."

Bread will be sold by the pound in Idaho from this time henceforth, or every loaf will be plainly labeled as to its contents in ounces. If not, the baker who ignores the law will have trouble. The pound loaf is to contain 16 full ounces, and the half pound loaf eight ounces. This is the result of a late move on the part of Inspector Walls.

One of the most important strikes in the Coeur d'Alene region in recent months was made in the Manhattan mine, near Wallace. The strike was made on the 1500-foot level, 500 feet in from the tunnel portal, where 20 feet of zinc was encountered. Development of the shoot on an extensive scale is planned and arrangements have been made to treat the ore at the Ingot-Caldwell mill.

If the present weather conditions prevail the Lewiston section of Idaho will produce a record crop, is the universal opinion of Lewiston grain men. At present grain is in its tenderest stage, the stalks are long and slender and there is need of the most favorable conditions. In most sections there has been no damage during the entire year. There is no increase in the acreage of wheat. From the present conditions it is estimated that the average yield for wheat will be 20 bushels an acre; barley, 50 bushels.

Considerable interest is felt in the appointment of a chief of police at Lewiston to succeed Chief Masters, resigned, which is to be made by the new city administration, which takes office next Monday. There are at present three applicants for the place, William Shultz, former city marshal and sheriff of Nez Perce county, at present deputy United States marshal; James Rice, who served two terms as chief deputy sheriff under O. W. Clark, and Commodore M. Nelson.

Decline of Country Towns

Towns in the last census period gained three inhabitants for every one that rural districts gained; but all those living in incorporated places of less than 2500 inhabitants are classified by the census as rural population. The gain in population, broadly speaking, was confined to towns of more than 2500 inhabitants; and a table prepared by the National Federation of Retail Merchants shows more than 6000 country towns in eight states, that actually lost population in the ten years. This table includes 150 county seats in Missouri, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois, out of a total of 450 county seats in those states.

This rather extensive stagnation or decay in country town population in that great agricultural region approximately bounded by the Missouri, Ohio and Hudson rivers is described by a correspondent as appalling. It certainly indicates that the country town should take stock of itself.

Several months ago an investigation of the same phenomenon within a relatively restricted area led to a strong presumption of an intimate relationship between good roads and country town population—those towns that enjoyed the advantage of improved highways tending to hold their own, or to gain, and those under the disadvantage of "bad roads" tending to lose. For a country town that depends upon rural trade, this is the very first point to be considered.—Saturday Evening Post.

W. E. Tipton on Wednesday of last week fired up his thrashing outfit and thrashed out five sacks of wheat, the first thrashing to be done in this part of the country since last season. Mr. Tipton believes in being first in most things, and especially in thrashing.

When I opened up this sale, this being my 85th sale, I was determined to give the people of Genesee and vicinity a taste of such values as they had never before received. No one can dictate prices at which I shall sell goods. When I take a sale it is with the strict understanding that I am to set the prices. If I can't be allowed to do this, some one else can conduct the sale.

A petition is being circulated and subscriptions taken for the purchase of a right-of-way for a new road from the other side of Catholic gulch to the M. S. Wilson ranch, a distance of about six miles, which will make the road much shorter for the residents of that section to come to Genesee and will cut out several bad places that they now have to traverse. The betterment of a wagon road is just as essential as the betterment of a railroad and a great many of the railroads are cutting down grades and taking out curves in order to make their haulage easier and quicker, and what will apply to and help a railroad will apply to and help a wagon road. It is good move and those looking after the matter deserve the support and encouragement of all who are interested—directly or indirectly.

For the month of June, the lightest month of the year, the carriers of the three rural routes going out from Genesee delivered 11,775 pieces and packages of mail, and collected 1,593 during the same period. While this is not a very great showing, it is only a small portion of what the average for the year will be.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Senate Leaders Believe That Five Weeks Will Settle Tariff Question

Washington.—Discussion of the Underwood-Simmons tariff revision bill, which its lengthy free list, greatly reduced rates on all commodities and its new system of ad valorem instead of specific rates, actually began in the senate this week.

Chairman Simmons, speaking for the democrats at the finance committee meeting, said he intends to debate on the bill could be concluded in five weeks; and Senator Smoot, of the minority, agreed with him.

Senator Smoot has in preparation a new wool schedule, which he thought to submit as an amendment. Senator Simmons will have general charge of the debate for the democrats, and Senator Penrose for the republicans.

Lobby Inquiry Into Labor War

All the "wars" that have been fought between labor and capital, all the efforts that both have made to secure legislation which would profit them, and the tangled skein woven about their relations in the last ten years are to be investigated by congress. The senate lobby committee in executive session decided that the "wars" must be inquired into.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will appear before the committee on July 25 and a subpoena was issued for John Mitchell, vice president of the federation and former head of the United Mine Workers.

At the same time the committee subpoenaed George Pope and John Bird, general manager of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Senate and House Fight for Witness

With Martin M. Mulhall, one time chief lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers as the prize, the senate and house lobby investigators contended for first testimony from the star witness. The senate won.

The house investigators will continue to watch for an opportunity to catch Mulhall when he is not engaged before the Overman committee.

Mulhall testified before the senate committee, reciting details of the fight he alleges the manufacturers financed to beat Representative Hughes, of New Jersey, now a senator, to re-elect Nelson W. Aldrich as senator from Rhode Island and re-elect former Representative Littlefield, of Maine.

Mulhall talked of "inside" and "outside" work; of a bookkeeper for the American Federation of Labor, whom he charged with later becoming a paid spy for the manufacturers' association.

Two More Money Probes Proposed

Currency difficulties broke out along two different lines in the house with the introduction of resolutions directing investigation of the currency bill. The first, by Representative Henry, proposed a renewal of the investigation of the money trust, as an adjunct aid to the banking committee in its consideration of the currency bill.

The second, by Representative Lindbergh, of Minnesota, progressive member of the committee, proposes an investigation to determine whether the Glass bill would not create a monstrous monopoly controlled and operated by private interests.

National Capital Brevities

Speaker Champ Clark appeared in the senate lobby committee to place statement of deal of every manufacturer in Chicago, an exhibit, as a recently reported by the Chicago grand jury.

Secretary Wilson of the department of labor arranged for an interview with the president and representatives of railroad companies and trainmen's brotherhoods, to urge his aid in preventing the threatened strike of 100,000 employees of eastern railroads.

Without a word of objection, the senate passed Senator Borah's bill amending the three-year homestead law by providing that homesteaders, instead of cultivating 20 acres of land, as is now required, may make improvement to value of $150 for each acre entered and thus establish their good faith and acquire patent.

News Snapshots Of the Week

A true spirit of reunion marked the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, July 1-4. Governor Dunne of Illinois signed the bill granting the vote to 1,000,000 Illinois women. Donald B. MacMillan left New York on the Diana to discover crockery. David Lamar, the "Wolf of Wall Street," amazed the country by his brazen testimony of how he impersonated congressmen. The white slave case against Manly L. Diggins and Farley Drew Cabnettel was started after President Wilson had considered the charges that the department of justice had unduly delayed the matter. Colonel M. M. Mulhall, former lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers, started the country with his sensational charges of corruption among legislators at Washington, and the senate lobby investigating committee passed to hear Colonel Martin and the men involved in his published story. He implicated Representative J. T. McDermott of Illinois and former Representatives Thomas E. Watson, Charles E. Littlefield, Henry M. Country, Ralph B. Cole, John J. Jenkins, Kittredge Haskins and others. Frank P. Walsh of Missouri was made chairman of the new United States industrial commission.

CHAUTAQUA AT MOSCOW

Latah County Assembly to be Held July 18-23—All Arrangements Made

Moscow is an ideal place for the Latah County Chautauqua. Nature has endowed it with a temperate, beautiful climate, beautiful and picturesque scenery, abundance of good pure water, excellent drainage and superior sanitation.

Industry, art and science have contributed all else necessary to make it what it is—a city of beautiful, refined and happy homes.

Moscow is the educational center of Idaho. Here are located the School of Mines, the Agricultural college and the University, the three big educational institutions fostered by the state. The University is now in the midst of its summer session, the grounds have assumed their most beautiful aspect, the buildings are open, the class rooms and laboratories filled with busy students from all over the northwest. Chautauqua visitors will have favorable chance to see the machinery in motion. They can inspect the buildings and equipment and be able to get some idea of the importance and magnitude of the work that is now being accomplished by this great Western Educational institution.

Moscow has superior transportation facilities and is easily accessible from all points in the Inland Empire. It has three railroads operating 24 passenger trains a day. Reduced rates during Chautauqua.

The city has excellent hotel facilities, supplemented by the hospitality of her citizens, whose homes are always open to the public on occasions when the capacity of the hotels are overtaxed. Moscow's guests are always properly cared for.

The streets of the city which have been torn up all spring are assuming form and the opening of the Chautauqua on Friday next will mark the dedication of Main street's fine new pavement to the public.

The green shady park, ornamented with flowers and shrubbery, traversed with gravelled walks and equipped with drinking fountains, seats and swings will appeal to the Chautauqua visitors and contribute materially to their pleasure and comfort.

MORE INFORMATION

Further Explanation in the Court House Bond Election by County Board

The question is being asked every day "If we build a new court house, where will it be located?" We find a large number of people who think that it should be located on the old site; others think that it should be moved down town. We wish to say here that we are willing for the people of Latah county to decide the matter.

We are going to give the voters a chance to vote on the question at the time the bond issue is voted upon. A separate ballot will be prepared for that purpose.

We wish to reiterate the statement made in our "Reasons for calling bond election" published a short time ago, that "We positively guarantee that the cost of the building will not exceed the amount voted upon in the Bond Election."

In the event that the bond election carries we are going to provide for the issue for the bonds in denominations of one hundred dollars, five hundred dollars, and one thousand dollars each. This will enable the people of Latah county to take a part or even all of the bonds thus providing for a loan for Latah county money and keeping our interest money at home.

In the matter of deciding the style of a building and plans for same we will select a committee to be composed of voters from all parts of the county, to confer with the board.

Again we ask you to carefully consider the matter, without prejudice, and from a business standpoint. Remember that it is real economy to protect our records.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

The Genesee News is Twenty-Five Years Old Today—Changed Owners Four Times

The News today is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary—or would be if we had time—and with this issue the volume is changed to 25 and the number to 1. During that period the paper has changed hands four times. Upon looking back over the old files we find that volume 1, No. 1, was published under the name of The Recorder by Poor & Jenkins, who had purchased the plant from C. C. Neal, getting out their first paper on May 14, 1891. From a "valuedictory" signed by Mr. Neal it would seem that he had been publishing for a short time a paper called The Advertiser which was short lived and the proprietor said he found "that I must get a divorce from Genesee," which would indicate that he had not had altogether smooth sailing on the journalistic side. Later the interest of Mr. Jenkins was taken over by Mr. Poor who continued to publish the Recorder until May 19, 1892, when he sold out to Hopp & Power, who on June 17, 1892, changed the name from The Recorder to THE GENEESEE NEWS and it has been published under that head since that date.

A tiny offspring, in the shape of The Daily News, was born in the News office on April 23, 1895, but only survived seven days when it was laid in its tiny grave alongside of many other such enterprises. It was in the form of a three-column four-page paper and was too small to withstand the buffets of this cruel world and succumbed on the seventh day of its career.

On January 24, 1902, J. W. Hopp sold the interest in the News to Chas. Power, who conducted the business until November 5, 1909, when he disposed of the business to H. W. Brune, Mr. Brune conducting the business until January 1, 1913, when the present owner bought the plant from Mr. Brune.

In looking back over the old files of the paper a great many chronicles of happening appear that would be of interest to many of the old timers of this part of the county and as soon as we can get all the old papers straightened out we will publish from time to time items of interest to the older residents especially—things that happened twenty or more years ago—when the town and the country was new.

The News has had a very prosperous look from the very start and it must be said that it has fared well at the hands of the people from the date of its establishment twenty-five years ago, and is still enjoying a reasonable amount of prosperity. The merchants of Genesee and the people of the surrounding territory are loyal to the paper and in return for that patronage and loyalty we hope to be able to give you all the news that it is possible to give with our limited means and income, and for the first time in many years the paper is all printed in the News office, thus giving us an opportunity to print all the local news obtainable without crowding any of it out with advertising and we shall continue to print it all at home.

WEATHER REPORT

Condensed Summary of Weather Conditions for June—Low Temperature

The month was one of normal temperature, excessive cloudiness and frequent and heavy precipitation. The forepart of the month was warm, the highest temperature at many stations occurring during the first three days. The latter part was cool, the lowest temperature over most of the State occurring about the 20th. The extremes of temperature were not pronounced. Freezing weather was confined to elevated districts and did no damage. The month was the wettest June on record, having almost doubled the normal amount of precipitation. Practically the entire state received more than one inch of rain, while in the Seven Devils Mountains the total was more than seven inches. The rains were well distributed but were most frequent during the last nine days. The number of cloudy days was the greatest on record for June, as was also the number of days with rain. Snow in the mountains melted rapidly during the first half of the month, causing some fear of low water later, but at the close of the month streams were carrying an ample flow.

The mean temperature was 61.2 degrees, which is 0.1 degree below normal. The highest monthly mean was 69.6 degrees, at Guleby, Owyhee county, and the lowest was 50.2 degrees at Pierson, Custer county. The highest temperature record was 99 degrees at Weiser, Washington county, on the 18th, and the lowest was 24 degrees at Pierson, on the 15th day of the month.

The greatest daily range was 54 degrees, at Priest River No. 3, Bonner county, on 7th. The greatest monthly range was 60 degrees, at Oakley, Cassia county, on the 11th. The average precipitation was 2.87 inches, which is 1.58 inches above normal. The greatest monthly amount was 7.11 inches, at Landore, Adams county, and the least was 0.91 of an inch at Gooding, Gooding county. The greatest amount in 24 hours was 1.98 inches at Rogerson, Twin Falls county, on the 11th. The average number of days with a measurable amount of precipitation was 12.

The total movement of wind, in miles, at the regular weather bureau stations was as follows: Boise, 3,826; Lewiston, 2,120; Pocatello, 5,174. Highest velocities, in miles per hour, were as follows: Boise, 30 from the southwest on the 3d; Lewiston, 29 from the northeast on the 19th; Pocatello, 32 from the southwest on the 30th. The prevailing direction of the wind was southwest.

There was an average of 9 days clear, 11 partly cloudy and to cloudy. The percentage of the possible amount of sunshine was as follows: Boise, 70; Pocatello, 53; Spokane, Wash., 68.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

Hill fell at Eastport for about 20 minutes, completely covering the ground and doing some damage to the garden and trees. A committee has been appointed at Lewiston, to secure $4000 to defray the expenses of the Lewiston-Clarkston fair, to be held in that city September 29 to October 4.

Robert Johnson of Walla Walla is planning a relay race, one branch of which is to cover a distance of 150 miles from Grangeville to Walla Walla.

B. L. Foster and Henry Stokes of Kellogg have planned to enter the rock-drilling contest at Butte at the annual picnic of the Western Federation of Miners there early in August.

The Idaho state land board has decided to sell 12,000 acres of timber in the Boise basin. Bids will be received by the board and the timber sold at public auction.

There are 269,905 acres of land in Shoshone, Latah, Lewis, Idaho, Clearwater and Nez Perce counties in Idaho that are open to settlement, according to figures submitted from the United States land office at Lewiston.

The month of June was the darkest and wettest June since weather records have been kept at Salmon. The precipitation amounted to 3.39 inches; rain fell on 25 days and there were 17 days with thunderstorms.

Notice has been given by the dairy-men of Wardner and Kellogg that July 15 the price of milk will be raised. The dairymen attribute the necessity for the increase to the advancing cost of milch cows, feed and the general scarcity of milk.

Plans are on foot to celebrate the next anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln as it was never celebrated before in Idaho. These plans include a banquet or some other form of popular celebration in every county in the state.

James Dearing must stand trial before the district court of Idaho county on a charge of murdering his uncle, George Dearing, who was shot and killed near Grangeville on June 19, according to a decision rendered in a preliminary hearing at Grangeville.

The Lewiston commercial club will be asked to take steps to ask the Carnegie here fund to give a medal to Waldo Sloan, the 11-year-old boy who saved the life of a lad named Treadwell from drowning in the Clearwater river below the Holbrook Island bridge.

Eugene H. Grubb, a recognized expert and successful grower of potatoes is to spend a week in the Idaho Falls district, making a thorough study of the local situation, and to suggest what is needed to correct whatever trouble in the way of infection that may exist.

It is reported from Boise that J. E. and W. S. Kuhn, whose bank failed recently here during the panic, have invested millions of dollars in irrigation and power enterprises in Idaho within the past five years. Their holdings in the Twin Falls section are estimated at $25,000,000.

The secretary of war and party will include Boise in their itinerary. Although it is not yet known definitely what day they will inspect Boise barracks, it is reasonably certain in advance, that they will report, on their return, in favor of abandoning Boise barracks.

The appraisers appointed by Judge Budge are in session at American Falls to ascertain the value of land and city property flooded by the Southern Idaho Water Power company in the construction of their new power plant, which raised the water of the Snake river above the dam and flooded considerable property.

News of the incorporation of the Butte, Boise & Winnemucca railroad company has caused much interest at Salmon, although rumors of the proposed enterprise have been current for some time past. The new road will go southwest from Salmon and will tap a country rich in mineral wealth.

Odd fellows of the Couer d'Alene district are planning for the first annual district convention to be held in August at Kellogg. All lodges in Shoshone county and a part of Kootenai county are included in the district and will be represented by degree teams in the ritualistic contests for district honors.

Improvement Society Meeting

The officers and chairmen of standing committees of the Genesee Improvement society are requested to meet Wednesday afternoon, July 23, at the home of the president, Mrs. P. C. McCreary at 3 o'clock sharp.

There are some important things to come before the executive board and every member is urged to be present at this first meeting.

The president while feeling her inability to act as the leader of this organization feels greatly relieved and encouraged in that each committee is taking right hold of her work and she feels that such splendid support should eventually lead our society to success. Let no member of the executive board, or of the society, or of the community disappoint us.

PRESS COMMITTEE.

The new road for which a petition was recently circulated, is progressing nicely under the supervision of John Magee, road overseer for that district. The culverts are in and the grading is being pushed as fast as possible. The new roadway is a little more than a half a mile in length and will take out many dangerous curves and grades, thus making the hauling of grain a much easier matter. A few more curves cut from the same road would help very materially. H. A. Morgan was the first one to pass over the new road in an auto. He not only hit most of the high places but most of the low ones also.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Nelson was on Thursday evening the scene of a very pretty little party given in honor of their son Leslie's eighth birthday anniversary, when a number of his little friends were invited in to spend a few hours in honor of the occasion. The little fellows romped and ran, having the time of their lives. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The Sunday school of the Methodist church held picnics on Friday of last week, when the adult members drove to Pine Grove to spend the day, while the youngsters were taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hickman for an outing. A splendid time was had at both gatherings.

On the evening of July 23, at 8 o'clock the Congregational Sunday school will give a mixed program consisting of vocal and piano solos, duets, trios, quartets, violin solo, choruses, Recitations and a one act comedy. Admission 15 cents. At the Congregational church.

LEWISTON-CLARKSTON FAIR

New Grounds—Large Premiums—Many Novel Amusements Planned

New grounds representing an investment of $20,000 and improvements amounting to about as much more with larger cash premiums for all exhibits and new and novel amusement features are some of the interesting features promised by the Lewiston-Clarkston fair this year in the initial announcement issued but a few days ago.

The fair management will pay particular attention to the collection of such exhibits as will exploit the resources of the entire eastern Washington and northern Idaho region but will also provide amusement features that are entirely new to the northwest. The contracts are already closed for the appearance of the Rice & Dore Water Carnival company which will come by special train of 22 cars. This company will provide the free acts of the grounds as well as the actual settings in the city, but all of the acts are entirely new.

The free acts features will be especially entertaining as all work at the grounds is done in a small sized lake constructed in the infield immediately before the grandstand. Fifteen people and a number of horses work here daily and mystery is added to the performance from the fact that the performers appear and disappear at will from the bottom of the lake.

The newspaper editors of the surrounding country will hold a "Press Day" at the Lewiston-Clarkston fair this year, the week of September 29. Special programs will be arranged by the fair association and the newspaper men are already writing Secretary Nickerson to what they think of the plan and which day will best suit their convenience. All letters received endorse the plan in the strongest terms and the fair management hopes to be of assistance to the newspaper men to the extent of being the means of bringing them together and arranging a meeting at which time a district press association may be organized.

The day will be opened with a big street parade in the business district and during the afternoon they will occupy a special box at the grandstand. They will be the guests of the Rice & Dore Water Carnival company in the evening and a big revel in the carnival midway will be arranged.

For Sale

Rear Admiral Morgan has for sale at one second-hand battle-ship—or what there is left of it. It was formerly known as the "Merrimack" and took part in the famous battle of July 4, 1913, and while its intrinsic value is not great, as a relic it is priceless. The fact that it took second prize in the aforesaid battle should add to its worth. Mr. Morgan says the "ship" may be seen by any one interested in dry land navigation.

W. J. Heron received on Friday a fine Duroc Jersey pig, which he will add to his herd. Mr. Herman has about 100 of this breed of hogs as well as a nice bunch of Poland Chicks, both of which breeds he is improving from time to time. There is no question but that hogs, properly cared for and fed will bring better results than any other one thing for the same amount of care, and it is just as easy to raise a good hog as a scrub.

Fred Lambert and W. E. Smith returned Friday morning from an extended fishing trip, having been absent from the city for two days. Fred said fishing was good, and it undoubtedly was. He also said they caught over a hundred fish and that a "great many of them" would weigh a pound, which is encouraging to the disciples of Walton and no doubt a great many will take advantage of the excellent "fishing."

Adventist Sabbath School Work

During the past four years the Sabbath schools of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination in North America gave $63,778.30 for the furtherance of the gospel in foreign lands, according to a report rendered by Secretary George B. Thompson, before the delegates at the world conference of Seventh-day Adventists now in session in Washington, D. C. An exhibit of this report has been received by Mrs. L. E. Carrico, secretary of the Sabbath school of the local Adventist church, and the members were much interested in the progress mentioned in it.

During the quadrennial period of 1905-1908, the Sabbath schools gave $73,141 to missions, the increase over the amount during the quadrennial period ending in 1912 being $59,636.

The motto adopted at the present session of the general conference for the coming four years was, "A million dollars to missions." The report further showed that in 1908 the denomination had 3,747 Sabbath schools, 1,260 of which were in foreign fields and 2,478 in America. During the four years of the general conference period, the schools had grown to 4,467, of which 1,845 were in foreign lands, and 2,622 in home fields, making an increase of 574 foreign and 136 home.

Milwaukee Heading This Way

It has been learned from reliable sources that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, one of the best roads that has ever been built in the east or west, is heading this way and are planning extensive operations in the Lewiston and Clearwater country and there has been some intimation that it might invade other tributary territory, thus securing some of the immense tonnage of wheat that has been going out through other channels.

It might be a wise move on the part of some of the big shippers of this territory to get into communication with the leading spirits of the move and have the road pushed to the Lewiston territory, which it would not take very much urging to have them do.

There was some considerable hail fall to the north of town on Sunday. At the Horse ranch, some five miles north of town, enough hail was gathered to make ice cream for dinner, the congealed coolness having fallen about 11 o'clock. It's an ill wind, etc., and Mr. Hove says they duly appreciated the treat.

Howard Wheeler, who has been employed at the Northern Pacific depot in this city for the past three years as an assistant to W. E. Smith, the local agent, left Thursday morning for Pasco, Wash., where he goes to take a better position with the same company. Howard leaves many friends behind who wish him well in his new location.

Spokane Grain Rates Reduced

Through the efforts of the Genesee Commercial club, and especially F. J. Cornish, one of its members, the rate on grain from Genesee to Spokane has been reduced from 17 cents to 14 cents a hundred. This equalizes our grain rates with other points to Spokane and should give this territory considerable more business with that city than we have heretofore been unable to get on account of the high rate.

The 17-cent rate has been in force here for many years and the only reason it has not been reduced is because no one has ever taken it up with the company. The Commercial club passed resolutions entering a protest which were turned over to W. E. Smith, the local agent, who in turn took it up with the company, with the above result.

Thus it has been proven that a commercial club is of some benefit even to a small town and it is to be hoped that our business men will not allow themselves to forget that we have a commercial club, and one that can do things if we only stick together.

There are a number of other things that should be looked after by this organization and one of them is the delivery of express packages. When one has to pay an already too high express rate and then has to add the price of delivering at this end, it makes the rates unreasonably high.

Your attention is called to the annual financial statement of the Genesee Independent School District No. 2. You should read it all in order that you may know what the school money is being and has been expended for. By calling on the secretary, H. Nebelsieck, you can find out just what particular item the amount was expended for and how much was expended therefor.

The Genesee ball team again journeyed to Kendrick on Sunday to give the Kendrick boys an opportunity to "nail their hide to the fence," but they were unable to even start the slaughter, to say nothing of the skinning process. The score was 14 to 8 in favor of Genesee.

Snider-Peterson

Miss Leta Ethel Snider of Bozeman, Mont., and J. A. Peterson of St. Paul, Minn., were united in marriage on June 30 at the parsonage of the Methodist church in St. Paul, the Rev. Mr. Luce officiating.

Miss Snider grew to womanhood in Bozeman and has many friends and acquaintances there. She is a graduate of the Montana State college having completed her studies there in 1911 and for two years past has been assistant principal of the Genesee high school, where she made many friends and who wish her health and prosperity in her new home.

Mr. Peterson graduated from Montana State college in 1909, since which time he has been attending the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis. He is a young man of many good qualities and is highly esteemed by all who know him.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson are at home at 69 south Victoria street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Motorcycle Jumps Track

As a result of having made a leap into a ditch at the side of the road while riding a motorcycle, the front portion of the machine has been sent to a hospital in Spokane, where they doctor up such cases, and the rider, Walter Buchholz, should be thankful that he is not occupying a similar position. It seems that while riding about a mile north of town Walter had lost track of the pilot machine and was anxious to get in sight of the one in the lead, so turning on the gas was soon going "all same like Morgan." Upon reaching a corner he had not figured that something might be coming from the other direction, but just as he went to round the turn a boy on horseback appeared on the scene and in order to avoid a collision he made a swerve to one side, missing the horse but landing in the ditch with the above result. Walter claims he is not injured but has a "hitch" in his gait just the same.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Gallinger Leads Tariff Minority—Senate Bitter in Discussing Bryan

A new policy toward Nicaragua, involving the virtual control of the affairs of that republic by a United States trust protectorate, similar to that now exercised over Cuba was outlined by Secretary Bryan at a conference with members of the senate foreign relations committee.

Mr. Bryan's proposal, coming as a surprise to members of the committee, has been taken by many senators as the first pronouncement of a general policy on the part of the administration to extend American control over the countries surrounding the Panama Canal, and to assure the stability of Central American republics and the domination by the United States of their relations with other great powers.

Gallinger Leads Tariff Minority

Republican senators in conference reaffirmed their support of Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, as their leader to assume charge of the tariff debate on the floor for the minority and agreed to support requests of republicans for record votes of amendments when desired.

The majority report estimates that the pending bill effects a reduction of 27.64 per cent from the rates of the existing law.

The report also shows that the bill as reported to the senate, provides rates 4.22 per cent lower than the Underwood bill as it passed the house. In analyzing its changes in the house administrative features of the bill, the committee "deemed the amendments of the house entirely too drastic," particularly those authorizing examination of books of foreign manufacturers, and tariff discount on imports in American ships and other like features, which were stricken out.

Senate Bitter in Discussing Bryan

Secretary Bryan's policy of lecturing in his vacation time involved the senate in a bitter controversy. The charge that Senator Bristow, ignoring the defeat of his resolution directed at Mr. Bryan's action, insisted on being heard in severe criticism of the cabinet officer.

Before the debate ended charges and countercharges between senators on the two sides of the chamber had brought the senate to a high pitch of excitement. Senator Ashurst produced an old letter of Senator Bristow's from 1906 had been perfectly willing to take a federal position and devote only part of his time to it.

Senator Bristow returned with the charge that Senator Ashurst had spent more than $100 of public funds sending private telegrams that should have been paid for from his own pocket.

The average yield per acre of potatoes in the United States is not more than half what might reasonably be expected. This shortage is attributed to various causes, including such varieties, failure to fertilize liberally and to cultivate intensively, and neglect of crop rotations. #### Industrial Engineering Department is Favored at University of Idaho

At the close of an able address by S. E. Hutton on the desirability of the establishment of a department of industrial engineering at the University of Idaho the chamber of commerce at its luncheon yesterday unanimously adopted the following resolution, copies of which will be sent to the members of the state board of education and to the various chambers of commerce and commercial clubs throughout the state:

"Whereas, the growth and development of the state of Idaho in the next decade or two promises to be very great, and in order for it to be of a permanent and substantial nature this development must include all lines of industrial as well as productive growth; and

LIBERTY BELL AT EXPOSITION.

Famous Old Relic Will Be One of the Interesting Attractions.

Philadelphia.—Despite the dire predictions of expert metallurgists and others, it seems settled that the Liberty bell, which proclaimed the independence of the United States 137 years ago, will be sent to the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915.

The crack, which was started on July 4, 1776, when the bell pealed forth the news of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, extends around one-fourth of the bell's circumference and

It gradually increasing. According to Wilfred Jordan, curator of Independence Hall, the crack extending two inches in a single year during the handling incident to the founders' week celebration in this city in 1908.

The course followed by the crack offers an imperfection known to metallurgists as a "cooling strain," which allows the least resistance to the pressure of the bell's sides.

"The slightest vibration," said Mr. Jordan, "will affect the bell in time, and the continual jarring which is bound to result on a railroad, no matter how well the bell may be protected, will show the time until, if, indeed, it returns from the 6,000 mile journey whole."

STATISTICS PROVE GROWTH OF "MOVIES"

6,380,000,000 Nickels Spent Annually in America.

New York.—Chairman Frank A. Tichenor of the first international exhibition of the moving picture art has completed tabulating moving picture statistics, which show that 6,380,000,000 nickels are paid yearly by 3,650,000,000 persons who love the "movie" show.

The figures, which are the first official ones ever prepared in this country, are expected to create considerable interest not only among moving picture men, but the public at large. The figures show that $319,000,000 was received in quarters, dimes and nickels, that $80,000,000 is invested in the industry, that more than 200,000 persons are employed and that 10,000,000 feet of picture film are produced yearly.

The statistics show a decrease in smaller licenses in some of the smaller cities, which is attributed to the wage earners' money going to the "movies" instead of "the poor man's club." The statistics will be illustrated by a moving picture called "The Shrinking Demolition," in which a monster demolition is made by means of trick photography to decrease in size, while at the same time a moving picture theater grows from a toy size to normal proportions.

SINGING FISH DISTURB TOWN.

This Remarkable Fish Tale Comes From Bellevue, O.—This town is all roused up over certain singing fish which keep the villagers awake at nights. These fish, a variety of lamp fish, live in the subterranean streams which flow under the place and, possibly because of some tonic, come to the surface and sing.

Anyway, they gather at the surface of streams and quiet pools in the gathering dusk, when they utter what a prominent poetess of Bellevue calls a sweet, sad, lulling melody, which she likens to the moaning of night winds through lonely, howling pines.

She also believes that the put in the subterranean darkness keep track of each other by their cries and that the drooping sounds are their callings to their mates. But plain citizens who are kept awake are beginning to cuss the gosh-blamed noise.

The outer shell is as large as a turkey egg, which is somewhat unusual in their class. One of the shells has been broken, and on the inside can be seen a smaller egg, one which is about the size of an ordinary hen egg.

TO DRAFT COMPENSATION ACT Governor Haines Selects Representatives of Law, Labor and Capital. Boise.—Governor Haines has announced the names of the following men who are to investigate labor conditions in the state and report to the next legislature a draft of a workmen's compensation act to serve as a basis for legislation.

Walter H. Hanson, Wallace; A. H. Connor, Sandpoint; J. C. H. Reynolds, Spirit Lake; E. M. Hoover, Boise; J. P. Nicholas, Warrenton; T. W. Rickard, Post Falls.

This action of Governor Haines is taken in conformity with authority conferred upon him by the last legislature. When the legislature of last winter failed after many trials to agree upon a workmen's compensation act it was finally decided to authorize the governor to name a committee to represent the lawmakers, capital and labor.

This committee will be called to meet for the purpose of organizing and mapping out its work soon after August 1. Whether it will meet in Boise or at some point in the north is not yet known. As four of the members are named from north Idaho, it is thought the meeting may be held in the north.

Idaho Defaulter Held. Boise.—Arrested on the charge of issuing a bogus check on the Boise City National Bank of this city, given to the National Bank of Denver, was William A. ### 72; HAS NOT LOST A TOOTH.

Woman Has Three Small Fillings, These as a Preservative. Battle Creek, Mich.—A woman seventy-two years old with all her own teeth and only three tiny fillings is the discovery made at an institution here. The woman is Miss Helen Simons, a Lansing school teacher.

A physician made the discovery a few days ago and was lecturing on the best occasion to state that few people over fifty had all their own teeth. He then asked all in the audience who were over fifty and retained all their own teeth to raise their right hands.

Miss Simons was the only one. The incident was so unusual that she was examined by a number of dentists. They pronounced her teeth unusually good.

The three small fillings in her teeth were put in more as a preventive than because her teeth were decayed. She says they were slightly discolored and, although there was no sign of decay, she took the dentist's advice and had them filled.

Miss Simons is the daughter of Anson Simons, one of the pioneer settlers of Lansing. She is also a sister of the late B. F. Simons of that city.

ATTACKED BY SNAKES.

Virginia Man Saves Self by Rolling Into Fire, Then Stream. Piedmont, W. Va.—While trout dabbling in a mountain stream near Mountain Lake George, a well known business man of this city, was attacked by snakes, and before he could get them off the reptiles had entwined themselves about him, binding his arms, hands and feet. The snakes, over a dozen in number, measured from four to six feet in length.

Enser had the presence of mind to roll down the hill into a fire that had been built to warm his feet. His clothing caught fire, and the snakes, scorched and sizzling, untwined from him. Enser, though badly burned, ran to the trout stream and threw himself into the water, extinguishing his burning clothes.

His body, arms and face were severely burned. During the celebration train after City Fling Friday, a fishing boat crowded with old men from all parts of the country. The average age of the Confederate civil war veterans today is seventy-two years.

FLYING BOAT USED IN PRACTICAL WAY

Chicago Man Plans to Fly to and From His Office. Chicago.—A striking indication of the part the aviation is destined to take in practical problems of transportation is given by a recent tendency, just beginning to manifest itself in America, to use flying boats in a practical way for ordinary business purposes.

For daily travel between Chicago and his home in Lake Forest, Harold P. McCormick, president of the business center of the city, Harold P. McCormick is planning to use a Curtiss flying boat. This flying boat is adapted for use as an airplane, but is said to be a staunch and seaworthy boat as well.

In ordinary practice it will be run in a way as to skim the surface of the water or to fly a short distance above it, thus eliminating many of the dangers both of flying and of high speed on the water. The propeller is located at the bow of the boat and pulls the machine along instead of driving it from the stern.

The propeller is located at the bow of the boat and pulls the machine along instead of driving it from the stern. The propeller drives the air blast through the radiator, making it possible to keep the engines cool for hours when the boat is running at slow speed on the water. The hull differs from that of the standard type in having a V shaped bottom, a feature designed to make it a smooth riding craft in choppy seas.

Seats will be provided in the cockpit for four passengers, while the front seat will give room for the driver and one passenger, an arrangement similar to that of the four passenger automobile. As a matter of safety the control is arranged so that either of the occupants of the front seat can handle the machine.

Power is supplied by a Curtiss eight cylinder motor of the latest type. This motor, which is designed for operation at moderately high speeds, is rated at from 100 to 150 horsepower. The Curtiss 100 brake horsepower at 1,800 revolutions per minute. The weight of the motor, exclusive of radiator, is 310 pounds. During recent trials the machine was run at the rate of a mile a minute flying in the air and at the rate of fifty miles an hour when operated as a hydroplane.

CHOKES ON HIS OWN TONGUE.

It Sticks in Youth's Throat, and He Dies in Epileptic Fit. Philadelphia.—Charles Arloro, twenty years old, choked to death in bed on his own tongue in the morning. Arloro had been suffering from epilepsy for some time and was having a fit when his sister, Mrs. Anna Marlo, returned home. She summoned a doctor, but he did not arrive until after Arloro had died. His tongue had stuck in his throat.

GREATEST BATTLE IS FOUGHT AGAIN

Veterans of the Blue and the Gray Met at Gettysburg.

40,000 SOLDIERS IN CAMP.

President Wilson Orator on July 4. General Sickles Only Division Commander Present, Deaths Having Mounted Out All Others on Both Sides.

Gettysburg, Pa.—Again, after fifty years, the men who fought under the blue and the stripes and those who followed the stars and bars into the din of battle have met on the battlefield at Gettysburg—this time not to fight for the cause that both sides believed to be right, but to celebrate the semi-centennial anniversary of the greatest battle ever fought on American soil and, with one exception, the greatest battle ever fought in the history of the world.

About 40,000 veterans met and fought the battle over again this time, reposing in comfortable chairs and telling the younger generation of the trials and hardships of fifty years ago. The quiet little Pennsylvania town stepped back fifty years and looked upon the army of blue and the army of gray meeting again on her doorstep and thereby showed to the world that the scars of battle are not as deep as they were fifty years ago.

From the first day of the celebration until the last from early morning until long after the sun had gone down the veterans trooped to the scene of the battle, which had so peacefully slept among its hills since Lee and Meade turned their legions southward and met for the first time in the "bloody" battle so many years ago. When the soldiers arrived in Gettysburg they found the stars and stripes fluttering from every window of every house in the town. The stars and bars were much in evidence.

During the celebration train after City Fling Friday, a fishing boat crowded with old men from all parts of the country. The average age of the Confederate civil war veterans today is seventy-two years.

The veterans lost no time in leaving their trains and establishing themselves in camp. Five thousand tents, each accommodating comfortably eight soldiers, had been erected on the scene of this battle. The tents felt westward with the slope of the ground from the Seminary road to the point on Seminary road where the clash of Pickett started on the third day of the fight.

They covered the "Peach Orchard" and the "Wheat Field," where hundreds of men were lost, and part of the ground over which Pickett charged, but they did not reach the "Bloody Angle" or the use of Cemetery ridge from whose heights Meade's artillery cut to pieces the legions of Pickett.

The formal exercises were held in a smooth riding craft in choppy seas. Seats will be provided in the cockpit for four passengers, while the front seat will give room for the driver and one passenger, an arrangement similar to that of the four passenger automobile. As a matter of safety the control is arranged so that either of the occupants of the front seat can handle the machine.

Member to Wrestle

Wrestler from eastern Washington and central Idaho who believe they are entitled to recognition on the mat will be given an opportunity to meet Miss Mary Harris, champion woman wrestler of the world, who will be in Lewiston the week of September 29.

The women's fair here Saturday morning for PULLMAN for a short visit with friends.

Miss Harris is in charge of the school of physical culture with the Rice & Dore Water Carnival company and hopes to secure a local wrestler for each evening of the week in which the company appears here.

Members of the Congregational church and Sunday school on Friday of last week went to the W. A. Nixon ranch for a picnic, and a genuine picnic they had. Autos and rigs of various kinds were donated for transporting the 82 people who took advantage of the opportunity for a days outing.

Those attending took their own dinner and plenty of ice cream. The picnic was augmented by a great deal which was given by Mrs. Nixon, which when all spread made a dinner such as is relished by hungry townspeople and to which ample justice was done. Games were played and a general good time was had during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Nixon were highly praised by the picnicers for their hospitality.

The tennis grounds have recently been scraped and put in fine condition and a great many lovers of the game are taking advantage of the cool mornings and going to the court for a few hours' play. The young ladies especially have been taking advantage of the opportunity, some getting as early as 6 o'clock in the morning (some one said) for a smash at the ball. Some one with a groch made the remark that "if those girls had to get up and —" But what's it his business whether they like to wash dishes or not, they like to play tennis and it's lots more fun.

Potato bugs have been making their appearance in the Palouse country in large numbers in many places. They are one of the worst pests known to potato raisers. They multiply very rapidly and strip the vines of all leaves if not killed, poisoning being the best means of ridding the patch of the pest.

To police them one can heap up a tablespoonful of Paris green to three gallons of water and put on the vines with a common sprinker.

The German Lutheran mission fest held last Sunday in C. H. Meyer's grove was a success in every way, especially socially and financially. Prof. A. P. Meyer of Olympia addressed the gathering, both morning and afternoon. A good crowd was in attendance and a very enjoyable day spent. A collection for home and foreign missions amounting to $66 was taken.

Dr. Taomy, J. S. Larrabee, A. A. Haymond and Fred Lambert left early "one morning the first of the week" for a little sport with the funny tribe in the Little Potlach, going in the doctor's auto. They had fairly good success and report a good time.

Fred G. Helm's picture show on Saturday night was up to the usual standard of his shows and drew a good crowd, the warm weather considered. Good piano music was furnished, which was enjoyed by the audience.

New Latah County Atlas

J. W. Myers, representing Chicago publishers, is in this vicinity taking orders for a new atlas of Latah county which is complete in every detail, or will be when fully compiled and published. It contains an outline sectional map of the county, showing townships, ranges, with numbers, location of cities, towns, villages, railroads, rivers, creeks and all postoffices with names. Township plate of every township in the county, showing sectional lines, wagon roads, railroads, rivers, creeks, etc.; the size and shape of tracts of land and farms with the owners' names, number of acres in each tract, with location of dwellings, etc.

Each rural route in the county is shown on the map and its number given. By tracing the rural routes one will be able to tell who is served by each route.

The atlas is just the thing to tell you what you would like to know about our own county, township, city, village or land location.

A fishing party composed of Fred Follett, Dr. C. A. Follett of Seattle, John Follett, J. H. Jackson and Geo. Bolion left early one morning the first of the week for a day's sport along the Blaine River, going to a point near Janesville. They left town about 5 o'clock, getting to their destination about 8 o'clock, cooking breakfast after their arrival. They did not wait to catch fish for their morning meal, but they had supplied themselves with plenty of bacon, eggs, spuds and all the necessary trimmings and the only complaint they had to make was that their cooking vessels were too small. They had good success, landing 105 fine trout during the day, with only three of the party fishing. Geo. Bolion made the record catch of the day, landing 55 fine ones.

The Farmers' union is making extensive improvements at their west warehouse preparatory to handling their wheat in bulk. They have torn away 40 feet of their warehouse and are erecting in its stead a 40-foot elevator which will be equipped with cleaning and smutting machinery for the preparation of grain for shipment. The building will be 80 feet in height and will have a capacity of 40,000 bushels. The foundation is now under construction and is being built of reinforced concrete. An office and storeroom is also being built to the north of the present building, 200 feet in size, which, when all is completed, will give the farmers an up-to-date building for the purpose of handling their grain in an up-to-date way.

Noxious weeds of all kinds and varieties are just now occupying the center of the stage in various parts of Washington and sheriffs in many counties in that state are serving notices on the farmers that they must destroy them. There is likewise a noxious weed in this state and ranchers should feel it their duty to destroy all such pests. If not destroyed now they will soon become a menace to the farmer as the Jim Hill mustard is becoming in many places. Thistles are one of the many kinds that should be looked after as they will spread very rapidly as soon as the seed are ripe, the wind carrying millions of tiny seeds over the surrounding country.

Those who have tried it suggest the common motto is a very effective method of keeping the little striped beetles away from cucumber, squash and melon vines. Three or four should be pressed into the soil to each hill, deep enough so that they will not roll round.

A live western merchant offered a substantial price to the customer who would bring the largest family to his store on a given sale day. The man who won the prize showed up with his wife and thirteen children. In these days of small families this item is worthy of notice.

The June just past was a record breaker in more senses of the word than one. On the evenings of the 9th and 10th frost was reported from many sections of the country, while on the 18th temperatures several degrees above the 100 mark were reported from many central western cities.

An odd incident is related in a late issue of an eastern agricultural journal. The farmer who reported the incident became disgusted with the desertion of a clutch of eggs by his mate and accordingly got on the nest and sat on them until the eggs hatched. It is more than likely that his mate was a surrogate and that he was trying to make the best of a bad situation.

Beekkeepers will be interested in a bulletin lately issued by the bureau of entomology of the department of agriculture at Washington, No. 169, treating of sack-bug, which is an infectious disease and causes the death of the larvae in the corn belt. Copies of the publication may be had at 5 cents apiece by applying to the superintendent of documents, Washington.

Common road dust sifted on the roadbeds that are being skeletonized by the little green slug will put them out of business. The dust is best applied early in the morning, when the dew is on the leaves.

It is not a good plan to let strawberries or raspberries grow on newly planted vines or canes. During their first year's growth the plants need all the strength they can muster for the growth of root and branch.

A lady reader reports that she has found that the Chinese are making rapid progress in civilization of the tomato. The type is indicated in the figures showing the increase in the importation of hats into the empire from $50,000 worth in 1910 to over $800,000 worth in 1912.

One level headed hog raiser suggests leaving two or three of the smallest ones with the dam after the litter has been taken from her. This plan is good not only for the backward pigs, but the little clumps will be of assistance to her in the drying off process.

Following an apparently dormant period of five or six months, a three year old poliovirus that the writer has taken on new life with a remarkable vigor is reported to have been found in many western fruit sections. The disease is of a bacterial nature and works in the sap. While fakers and frauds have claimed to have preventive or cures for this kind of polio, which they say a long price, there is but one way of eradicating it—namely, cutting out infected twigs and branches, and well below the point of infection and disinfecting the cut and knife with a strong disinfectant. It is well to cut out the infected twigs the first time in order to make sure of getting it all.

Pear blight, which attacks both apples and pear trees and several wild allied species, is had again this season in a number of fruit sections. The disease is of a bacterial nature and works in the sap. While fakers and frauds have claimed to have preventive or cures for this kind of polio, which they say a long price, there is but one way of eradicating it—namely, cutting out infected twigs and branches, and well below the point of infection and disinfecting the cut and knife with a strong disinfectant. It is well to cut out the infected twigs the first time in order to make sure of getting it all.

A late issue of a widely read popular magazine recently contained an interesting article under the caption of "The Experience of One Back to the Land." The article showed how this man came to grief by buying a run-down and played out eastern farm and lacking the job of reclaiming it with his own hands. His first year's experience on the land cost him in the neighborhood of $2,500, and fortunately he was able to develop his farm for what he paid for it. At the conclusion of the article the very sensible suggestion is made to those who are thinking of renting a farm for a year or two instead of buying, this plan giving less money to be lost in case of failure, and more opportunity for success.

The writer has lately put down some thirty-five dozen eggs in the water glass solution. It is interesting to notice how they keep and whether the prevailing prices for eggs at the market are worth while to preserve them in view of the original cost of 16 cents per dozen. The eggs put down were rather small and were of the second quality. The solution was made by mixing one part of water glass in ten parts of water. A ten gallon stone jar was used as the container.

The discovery of the value of the much prized Bordeaux mixture was by accident. A Frenchman, the owner of a vineyard near Bordeaux, had been annoyed by schoolboys stealing his grapes, so he hit upon the plan of dipping his vines with a mixture that would give them an unsightly color. He used lime, copper sulphate and water, and the boys, thinking the grapes had been dipped with poison, let them alone. Later, when fungus pests attacked the grapes, this grower's vines were found to be largely immune. From this beginning the practice spread until it became general in France and in other parts of the world.

IS THE KICK JUSTIFIED?

A reader of these notes who is a level headed and progressive farmer offers this criticism against the work and methods of the so called county agricultural expert—namely, that his efforts are almost entirely from the standpoint of the average farmer because most of the experiments he conducts are so limited and so unimportant that they cannot be carried out in the same way on a quarter or half section farm. Our friend contends that for the hundred and one details, some of which are of a very annoying and were to make a distinct success of it, an improvement over what would then be in a position to tell the average farmer how to farm. The same thought is expressed by a Kansas farmer in the following language: "I am in favor of progress and advancement, but before we get into the expert business too far I am in favor of the money, asserting that unimproved and unworked and last, but by no means least, thoroughly and heavily rolled. This rolling will make it soft and homogeneous and prevent sink holes, says Thomas H. King in Southern Good Roads.

When then it is opened to the public, the time should be lost in radically changing the present method and insuring that no further damage shall be done to the vegetation of the historic park.

In support of his agitation Le Forester points out that a commission, appointed some time ago to inquire into the matter, has already reported that not only are all the ornamental plants and flowers seriously affected by the tar that flows on them from the wheels of passing vehicles, but also that their leaves first show spots resembling burns and then drop off.

Among the trees two species, the yew and the plane, seem to resist the effect a little better than the others, but even with these final destruction is only a matter of short time.

The commission recommends that the roads of the Bois be covered with small paving stones or bitumen instead of tar.

Naturally the general idea is that the money thus expended will give them roads permanently good. But what will take care of itself with the present means of traffic.

The Holy Health contest system of care taking now in vogue the sad experience of generations teaches us that it will be useless to look for any proper relief or attention being given them when it is needed.

Neither do I believe the public will stand for the expense of a gang of men to be sent to every town and village to take the greater portion of the year with it.

THE GRASSHOPPER PEST.

In several sections of western states grasshoppers have done great damage within the past few weeks, and entomologists, concerned with several of the states, agricultural colleges have warned farmers of possible damage from the pest in the coming weeks. A spray of Paris green, which is used in killing the grasshoppers, is made by mixing one pound of arsenate of lead and two quarts of cheap molasses and diluted with six gallons of water. This should be applied to vegetation along roadsides and the edges of fields where the grasshoppers may be seen. When they eat it is made by mixing one pound of Paris green in forty pounds of water. The old law of molasses and molasses to make it a sticky mass. This should be scattered in small quantities at intervals of one or two days. The use of Paris green is abundant. Another mixture useful by good is made by substituting fresh horse manure for the molasses on the above recipe and adding salt.

TWO RECORD BREAKERS.

Two new records were set by the department of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell university, New York. A couple of hens of which he may find in his own flock. This year he has laid 600 eggs in a period of three years, the highest sustained production of which has been able to find in any other record. These eggs weighed 80.19 pounds, or more than twenty-five times the weight of the county average hen. Corn Surplus, has laid 602 eggs in the three year period, a remarkable feature about her performance being that she laid more eggs each successive year, her score for the three years being 180, 180 and 196 eggs respectively. The performance of these hens leads their owner to the conclusion that a hen can sustain a high egg production for a period of at least three years and that a better method of selecting a hen for selection which will add greatly to the value of the poultry business of the country.

WHY SHOULD SUCCEED.

Success in most any line of agricultural endeavor or in any other industry is not a matter of luck, but of the exceptional opportunity or especially favorable environment or to unusual ability. The writer has seen many men who have succeeded in the simple traits of persistence, application to details and the use of a fair measure of good sense and intelligence. More Fish For Idaho
Congressman Smith has arranged with the Commissioner of Fisheries for his active co-operation with the State Game Warden and the various rod and gun clubs in their effort to stock the streams of Idaho with game fish. The commissioner expressed himself very favorably toward the establishment of a Government fish hatchery in Idaho, and Congressman Smith has introduced a bill providing for an appropriation of $25,000 for this purpose.

Appropriate blanks will be furnished by Congressman Smith to any one who desires to make application for the supplying of desirable and suitable fish for the stocking of private ponds, lakes or streams, as the government has an ample supply of fish for distribution.

The Commissioner of Fisheries has also promised to conduct a series of experiments with reference to the culturing of salmon in the Snake River with the hope that an ample supply of salmon can be propagated.

For Chicken Mitts
Spray kerosene emulsion on walls, roosts, floors and nests once each week. For the emulsion take two gallons of kerosene, 1 gallon of water, 1 pound cake of soap, 1 pint crude carbolic acid. Boil the soap (cut up) in the water until dissolved; remove from the fire, and while the water is boiling hot add the kerosene and the acid, churning with a spray pump for ten minutes. Then add six gallons of hot water, stirring well. A corrosive sublimate (poison) spray of 1 part to 100 parts of water is also good.

Men
The following composition on men is credited to a little girl.
"Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear, but they don't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they would. They are more logical than women and also more zoological. Both men and women sprang from monkeys, but the women sprang further than the men."

One of the best attended dances in a long time in this part of the country was given last Saturday night at the Jos. P. Kraut ranch, when some 200 of the followers of Terpsichore assembled to "inhale." Mr. Kraut's new barn, which had just been completed, was the building in which the dance was held and is one of the most complete in this part of the country. The basement is of concrete and will be fitted up for dairy purposes. It will have a concrete floor and all modern sanitary appliances.

The executive board of the Genesee Improvement Society, which is composed of the officers and chairmen of the several committees, will meet at the home of Mrs. P. C. McCreezy this (Friday) afternoon at 3 o'clock, in order that some preliminary work may be done before the next meeting of the society, which will be held the first Saturday in August.

The Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church, which was to have met with Mrs. Leon Follett next Wednesday afternoon, has been invited by Mrs. Orth and the Philathea class of the Sunday school to go to the Mattinson ranch for an outing on Friday and the invitation has been accepted. A pick-up lunch will be served.

The musical entertainment given Wednesday evening by the Baracca and Philathea Sunday school classes of the Congregational church was well attended, the warm weather considered, the program was above the average in merit and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

A. N. Coverdale is another rancher who has joined the ranks of the autoists, having had a new car delivered to him on Friday of last week.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble
When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stengel, Plainfield, N. J., writes: "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate was terrible. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken three bottles of a package of them and can now eat almost anything that I want." For sale by all dealers.

Pulverized Limestone in Stables
Many farmers are using pulverized limestone to apply to their land to correct its acidity, but few have put it to use in the stable. It has been generally considered that something with a most powerful chemical reaction was needed to abolish stable odors and flies. Accordingly farmers have assumed that the expense for such effort was beyond their means. It has been left to the leading horse commission firm of New York to bring to public attention the beneficial effects of cheap ground limestone in the stable.
William Bradley had been using limestone dust in his stables where 300 to 500 work horses are kept, and when he obtained a controlling interest in the Pisa, Doer & Carroll Horse Co., he introduced the limestone into the sale stables as well. This is the very finest grade of pulverized limestone. It is scattered daily throughout the stables to dry up the floors, and consequently reduce the odor. It is also thought to reduce the number of flies. Many farmers could try this simple expedient, for they have fairly fine grade of ground limestone right at hand. It could be scattered in the stable and then be applied to the land with the manure, as well as to spread it separately on the fields.

White Shoe Cleaner
Ten cents worth of whitening, mixed with water to the consistency of thin cream, and applied with a brush will cover all soiled patches and whiten the shoes as snowy white. Brush off most of the surplus powder to prevent its rubbing off. White buckskin shoes may be cleaned by making a paste of gasoline and comstarch and brushing it off when dry. For pink, blue, lavender or any colored shoes, add a little of the desired tint to the whitening and they will look fresh as new. A small piece of red crape paper will make a pink tint, blue for the blue, and a little water color paint for the lavender or other colors.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Administration Supporters Believe They Can Force Currency Bill to a Vote

Washington.—Confronted with apparently irreconcilable disagreement among the democrats of the house banking and currency committee on the pending currency bill, the administration again changed its plans for getting the measure through the committee and the house. The scheme of Chairman Glass to take the unfinished bill out of the hands of the committee democrats and send it to the democratic caucus which failed, was abandoned, after Chairman Glass had conferred with President Wilson.

The bill will be kept in the conference of the committee democrats this week, according to the new plan, and they will be forced to vote on the essentials of the measure. The administration supporters believe they will be able to outvote the republican insurgents by 10 to 4 or perhaps 11 to 3. Representative Ragsdale, who offered the Henry-Ragsdale insurgent amendments to the bill, Representative Buley, of Ohio, Representative Egan, of Texas, and Representative Neely, of Kansas, are the four members listed as doubtful.

Why Not More Hogs
An illustration of how wheat may be made to bring high price

A few days ago a carload of hogs arrived at the Portland Union Stock yards by rail from Candon, Ore., the consignors being the Gilman-French Co., of The Dalles, the hogs coming from that company's Prairie ranch near Wheeler County, this ranch being located a few miles southeast of Fossil.

These hogs sold for $3.10 per hundred pounds, and the carload consisting of 90 head, brought the shippers $1,399.95, after payment of freight and sales expenses. The manager of the Gilman-French ranch states that the grain fed to these hogs to fatten each of a patch of fine onions he had growing on his place. He was incidentally looking for some kind of dope to feed them in order that they might pass his "tube roses" by. He found the necessary recipe in the "Farm, Orchard and Garden" department of the Genesee News and was preparing to use the prescribed dose.

Store Changes Hands
As stated in last week's News, the store formerly belonging to R. E. Emmett & Co. of this city, has passed into the hands of Messrs. Spekker & Wegner, who also have a mercantile establishment at Colton, Wash.

While these gentlemen are strangers to our part of the country, they are in the mercantile world, having been in business in Idaho for the past twelve years and are well known to the community.

Harvest in Full Blast
The grain harvest is starting in earnest and it will not be long before there will be many miles of shocks in our part of the country. A great deal of barley is cut, some of which was taken care of last week. The hay is all cut and wheat harvest is in full blast. Harvest hands are coming in every day and are being picked up by the ranchers almost as fast as they arrive. While the grain is not quite so heavy in some sections as in past years, yet there will be a large crop and the ranchers are preparing to take care of it as rapidly as possible.

In some sections the whir of the thrasher and combined harvester will be heard within a few days and then the rush of taking care of a million bushels of grain will be in earnest.

The Seattle Grain company has leased from the C. E. Wood company the two warehouses known as the Driscoll warehouses, which they will operate in connection with their own warehouse near the depot. F. J. Cornish will be in charge of the company's business here.

News Snapshots Of the Week

Henry Lane Wilson, United States ambassador to Mexico, was called to Washington for a conference with President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan regarding the demand of President Huerta for recognition.

Senator Stephen J. Bulwell began his prison sentence in Sing Sing, Dr. P. B. Renshaw of the University of Wisconsin was offered the post of minister to China. Senator Reed served as chief inquisitor of the trial of the late Commodore Perry's flagship, began a tour of the great lakes. The old boat, with cabins in place, will visit many cities during the summer to take part in celebrations of Perry's victory.

Unity of Effort Necessary
City and Country Residents Should Work Together For Best Interests of All

Town and country people together can do a great deal for this community as a whole that neither could do alone. Better by far that all the money and efforts of our community be combined and concentrated in producing the highest efficiency in community affairs than that they be so divided and scattered as to result in mediocrity or in total failure.

The farmer must give his undivided support to the town institutions to which he looks for service of any kind; the merchant also in the planning and management of village institutions must give consideration to the needs and wishes of the farmer.

Some radical changes may be necessary to bring our community facilities up to the high standards demanded, but when these changes have been made and when the new order of things has become established, this community will be able to hold its own and its patronage.

Let us but understand one another and the situation in which we are placed and we shall at once realize that we are all aiming at the same goal, seeking a single end, and making this our home town and community enterprising, progressive and prosperous. Let us pull together and not apart.

Runaway
Rader & Westensee are still looking for a portion of their meat wagon, which was lost from behind their team the other day when it took its sudden departure from the yard in the rear of the market without waiting to be unhitched. The team was tied to a post in the yard at the rear of the market when they broke loose and proceeded to take a whirl around the ranch, where they finally headed in. On leaving the yard they encountered a top buggy, from which they broke the shafts and bent one wheel, and on the way to the ranch they lost the wagon in sections, part of which, at last report, they had been unable to locate.

Fishers Return
Thos. H. Herman and Fred Dicus have returned from their fishing trip to Priest Lake, and from all accounts they were successful in every particular, they having landed a goodly number of large trout and Henry had some of the goods with him when he came home, having brought home two fine fellows that measured 22 inches each, as well as a number of others that reached the 12 inch mark on the rule. Mr. Herman returned last Saturday, while Mr. Dicus did not arrive home until Wednesday, he having stopped at Garfield, Wash., to rest his arms as one must carry all fish, not being allowed to ship them. Fred says he left some very large ones at Garfield.

In going, on their arrival at Priest River by train, they took an auto stage to Colton, on the edge of the lake, from which point they took a lake steamer for the upper end, where they pitched their camp and proceeded to draw out trout of various kinds and sizes. They also had a great many bites—from mosquitoes, which they say were as large as jaybirds and more plentiful.

The last wood shipment from the Snake river country has been made from Lewiston. Figures show that 20 cars, or approximately 700,000 pounds, have been shipped from Lewiston country this year.

In Idaho 1,100,000 acres of coal and phosphate withdrawals have been classified and approved, and for water power sites approximately 10,000 acres were withdrawn and about the same acreage restored.

It is announced from San Francisco that the Western Pacific will within six months have branch lines in Idaho and California, connecting with the main line. It is believed that a Boise-Idaho branch is included in the company's plans.

If the Black Horse Mining company is to be saved from a receivership the stockholders will have to provide funds to liquidate its indebtedness, according to a statement from the secretary, J. C. Feahan, accompanying a call for the annual meeting to be held in Wallace, August 20.

From spotted fever, a deadly malady transmitted to him by the bite of a wood tick in Idaho county, just 18 days ago, Charles A. Eldredge, vice president of the Humboldt Mining company, died at the age of 80 at his home in Spokane.

Convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to from six months to 10 years in the penitentiary for slaying Miss Clara F. Foy, a school teacher of King Hill who was fasted 49 days, Dr. Chas. C. Smith, osteopath, has appealed to the supreme court to set aside the sentence.

Earl Baker, wanted at Waiser on a statutory charge, was arrested at Curtis, Neb., recently, but escaped before necessary formalities were perfected for having him returned to this state. County officers declare they will continue the search and bring Baker to trial.

The expenditure of $200,000 will be made at once by the Camas Prairie railroad in the extension and improvement of the Lewiston terminals, according to Superintendent Finch. The yards will be sufficiently large to accommodate 500 cars, 40 locomotives, 500 car bunkers and a modern roundhouse. The site for the grounds is in East Lewiston.

Approximately $100,000 worth of stock was on exhibit at the second annual horse show held at Newport. There were 250 entries in competition for $1000 in cash prizes. The sweepstakes prize for the best pure-bred stallion was won by J. H. Sorenson, of Nez Perce, who exhibited a Belgian. The prize for the boy and girl judging contest was won by Alvin Brockman and Miss Marvel Ramey, of Nez Perce.

A severe electrical storm at Caldwell did much damage to crops and put the electrical power company out of commission for several hours. Electric cars were held up between Caldwell and Boise. Several houses were washed away by clouds of mud from Willow Creek and Priest Canyon districts. In Boise heavy rains caused serious damage and several sections of the city were flooded.

For joy riding outside limits and returning a minute late for drill C. S. Ward of Lewiston was dismissed from the United States naval academy, Annapolis, Md. Senator Borah pleaded with the navy department to reinstate Ward, and while the department admitted the offense of the two middles was trivial Assistant Secretary Roosevelt said dismissal was necessary to the discipline of other boys in the academy.

A unique shipment left Freewater, Oregon, for Harrison, Idaho, and was billed from the fruit growers' union. It consisted of a crate of grasshoppers to be used for bait for trout and bass fishing. The grasshoppers were large and aged. Bartholomew had considerable difficulty in classifying the shipment. They were not hogs, nor dogs, especially in the northern half of the state.

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

At Wallace an assessment of 1 1/2 mills a share has been levied on the capital stock of the Oreano Mining company, limited, payable on or before September 1, 1913.

Cour d'Alene was thoroughly inspected by Albert H. Wilson of Lewiston and George Robinson of Boise, deputy state pure food and sanitary inspectors. They say the city is not in good sanitary condition.

MANY TRIBES TO SEND MEMBERS TO NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

THE NATIONAL INDIAN CONGRESS AT THE SPOKANE FAIR.

SPOKANE, once the meeting place of all the Indian tribes of the inland empire in their annual tribunals, is again to be the Mecca of the red men of the entire Northwest and practically the entire country when the First National Indian Congress will be held on the Spokane Interstate Fair grounds during the week of Sept. 15. Never before has the white man of the present generation had so good an opportunity to see so much of the aboriginals as he will have at this time. The Interstate Fair management is going to show how this development took place and further give the Indians a chance to see and enjoy the interstate fair.

No expense has been spared by the fair management in getting the tribes to Spokane. That it will be a most representative gathering of Indians is shown by the fact that the Little Spokanes, the Nez Percés, the Yakimas, the Blackfeet, the Flatheads, the Kallispies, the Crees, the Colvilles, the Shakes, the Shos and the Croves are all going to send large delegations to the fair. It will be a real Indian show. The Indians will be encamped at the fair grounds throughout the week, and brave and squaw bringing their own tepee and camping utensils. During the day the Indians will engage in the sports of their tribes and will show the primitive life of the early aborigines, portraying their varied ceremonies and dances and graphically reproducing all the old life of the Indian. The Night Show will also be in charge of the Indians, who will put on each night a realistic and intensely thrilling reproduction of General Custer's last fight in the center field, with the Indians victorious and celebrating their victory with a gorgeous ceremonial dance. With over half a thousand Indians in the fair grounds at all times, dressed in the full regalia of their tribes and riding their own ponies, there will be something doing every minute to interest visitors.

One of the Indian maidens, who is a famous rider, has already entered four of her ponies in the regular relay race given at the fair grounds each day, and she hopes to win the $1,000 purse offered. Other Indians of different tribes are at work preparing teams for the athletic events at the fair, and many of their teams will be put on before the grand stand.

The First National Indian Congress has the approval and indorsement of the United States Department of Indian Affairs, the Indian Affairs Committees of the United States House and Senate and the National Society of American Indians. The fair association is bringing the Indians to Spokane not only for your amusement, but for their education, and, aside from showing the general public the dances and customs of years gone by, the Indians will also show what advancement they have made in an agricultural and industrial way by making a number of interesting exhibits.

CONFECTIONERY.

Centuries ago it was a part of the art of the Apothecary.

Curiously enough, the making of confectionery originated in a way with the apothecary about 500 years ago. It was then that sugar was first imported into England, and it was then that "confections" first became known. For a time they appeared only in medicinal form, the apothecaries using the newly imported sugar as a means of mitigating the bitterness of their doses. In other words, they mixed their drugs with it, and thereby lay the origin of many of the sirups and medicated candies, the ancestors of our cough drops and lozenges. The cost of sugar was far too high, and most people were far too poor to permit of its being eaten for its own sake alone and as a mere luxury.

It was only a couple of centuries ago that there began to appear a new phase of the apothecary's art. Confectionery began to be made more or less apart from any medicinal purpose and because people liked them, and eventually the confectioner's business became quite separate and distinct from that of the apothecary.

Although the confectioner's trade may be said to be about 200 years old, it was only within recent times that it became a real and extensive industry. At first sugar was heavily taxed, and the confectioner's trade was pursued upon very elementary principles. For a long time everything was done by hand. Implements were of the very simplest—candy tilters heated on small brick furnaces, pestles and mortars, rolling pins and kettles. The output was very small, and, comparatively speaking, sweets made of all sorts were expensive and frequently unobtainable.

All this has been changed, and nowadays the most improved machinery and implements are used in the making of the most delicate and attractive sweets. Muscles have been superseded by engines, pestles and mortars and rolling pins, and scissors have given place to revolving pans and steam pans, and mechanism for beating and kneading and mixing, for cutting and slicing and grating, for rolling and grating and stamping, for crushing ice and freezing cream and other processes.

While many of the best and most expensive candies are now being made by hand processes, by far the greater mass of sweets is produced by machinery.—Harper's Weekly.

Elizabeth's "Excellent Wash."

Good Queen Bess liked her ale and had to have it. Wherever she went there she had to go also—strong ale. Great was the trial of her doctor, the Earl of Leicester, as expressed in a letter from Hatfield to Lord Burleigh: "There was not one drop of good drink for her here. We were fain to send to London and Kenilworth and divers other places where she was. Her own beer was so strong as there was no man able to drink it." And the doctor of this "excellent wash" of good strong ale for breakfast, we are told, put the queen in good spirits for the start of the day's work.—London Chronicle.

Hugo's Long Sentence.

For the longest sentence on record he must go in the French in "Les Miserables" Victor Hugo has one sentence that runs through a hundred lines, and earlier in the book, in one of the chapters of the "Waterloo" section, there are over fifty lines without a full stop. England's record rests under official patronage, for it would appear to be the seventh section of the foreign enlistment act, which does not stop until it has very nearly reached its six hundredth word.—London Graphic.

Not Very Reassuring.

He—Your father called me a timber wog. What did he mean by that? She—Oh, that's just one of pa's political expressions. He used to live out west, you know, and nothing ever pleased him so much as to shoot a timber wog before breakfast. Of course, he didn't mean anything by it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Papa's Fault.

Father—I have just heard that that incorrigible son of mine has just married a well known actress. Daughter—Well, you have yourself to blame, father. Father—How do you make that out? Daughter—Haven't you often told him to hitch his wagon to a star?

MEXICANS SHOOT AMERICAN OFFICIAL

United States Immigration Inspector Seriously Injured by Federal Soldiers.

El Paso, Tex.—Charles B. Dixon, of San Diego, United States immigration inspector, was shot in the back by Mexican federal soldiers at Juarez. The soldiers are said to have invoked the notorious "ley fuga" or fugitive law. Dixon was seriously wounded and is likely to die.

Dixon was in Juarez on official business. Investigating a white slave case, when he was arrested by a band of federal soldiers, who started to march him away from the city in the direction of the foothills, where many executions have taken place. Dixon started to run, and after getting a block away, was fired on.

Dixon made a statement to American officials that he was satisfied the Mexicans were marching him out to shoot when he ran. He said the Mexican soldiers were drunk.

"I told the soldiers when they arrested me that I would go to the commandant's office," said Dixon. "But instead of taking me there they started to the foothills south of the city. I was attired in the immigration uniform of khaki and I thought perhaps they had taken me for an American spy and intended executing me. I did not know what to do. I had a gun, but I did not have time to run for the border, so I broke loose from the two drunken troopers who held me."

Dixon was released from the Juarez hospital and brought to El Paso at 1 o'clock Sunday, after American Consul Edwards had made a demand for his release and for the arrest of the men who had shot him.

After being shot, Dixon was taken to the Juarez hospital by his captors and kept there under guard from Saturday afternoon until Sunday. The Mexicans refused to remove his blood-soaked clothing, though they did permit Dr. Trappan, of the immigration office, to cut the clothing and treat the wound Saturday afternoon.

Arthur Walker, the negro whom Dixon was investigating when he was arrested, and the soldiers who made the arrest, were immediately put in jail, according to the report of Colonel Castro, commanding the Juarez garrison, to F. W. Berkshire, supervising inspector of immigration for the United States on the Mexican border.

Losses Life to Save Dog.

Boise.—Toreado Zababaeasca, a Spanish sheep herder, was drowned in a cloudburst in South Mountain about 30 miles south of here. Toreado, with two companions, were camped in a canyon and fled when the water began to rise. Toreado then remembered his pup. The animal had been left in the tent and he tried to support to insure the success of the fair the commissioners will grant them the $300, otherwise not and the fair will be held here.

FLOOD HITS BOISE

Wall of Water 10 Feet High Sweeps Through Pearl Canyon.

Boise.—Heavy rains did serious damage in Boise and various Southern Idaho points, rivers and creeks rising rapidly and overflowing, flooding sections of this city, as well as streets in surrounding towns, while a cloudburst above Pearl carried a wall of water 10 feet high down the Pearl Canyon, washing out houses and damaging mining plant.

The stamp mill at Pearl, operated by the lessees of the Checkmate mine, was washed away and the shaft of the Black Pearl mine was caved in. A second cloudburst in the Willow Creek canyon, 10 miles north of Emmett, did damage to stock, while a severe storm raged about Sweet, flooding that section. The rain storm was general all over southern Idaho.

DEMANDS ON MEXICO IS PLAIN IN TERMS

Washington.—Strong representations, the most drastic in phraseology that have been made since the present American administration came into power, were made to the Huerta government in Mexico.

The United States government demanded not only the prompt arrest, court-martial and punishment of the Mexican federal soldiers who shot Charles B. Dixon, Jr., an American immigration official at Juarez, Mex., but the immediate release of Charles Bissell and Bernard McDonald, mining managers imprisoned by federal soldiers at Chihuahua. City and said to be threatened with execution.

So serious were these incidents regarded in official circles that they overshadowed largely the discussion of policy which the visit of Ambassador Wilson had brought to a climax.

There is little information about the status of McDonald and Bissell. They were en route to Parral in an automobile to bring out refugees when arrested at Santa Rosalia. The machine was confiscated and the two men taken to the city of Chihuahua, where news of their pending fate was carried to the border by Americans.

While the demands were directed toward the Huerta government, the constitutionalists, according to reports, are making every effort here to gain favor with the United States by affording all possible protection to Americans and their interests.

IDAHO PROMOTER IN JAIL

W. A. Matthews Must Answer Charge of Swindling Denver Bank.

Boise.—Another chapter in the case of W. A. Matthews, alleged defaulter promoter of the Overland Insurance company has been added through the confession of Matthews that he swindled the First National bank, of Denver, out of $650.

After organizing the Montana Fire Insurance company, of Montana, Matthews came to Idaho for the purpose of organizing the Overland Insurance company. James E. Clifton, Jr., and F. F. Johnson, president and cashier respectively of the Boise City National bank of this city as president and treasurer respectively. Matthews also interested George Fletcher, president of the Idaho National bank. He absconded before the company was organized and it was said he took with him $20,000 collected for stock purchased by Southern Idaho bankers and business men. Most of the payments made to him were in certificates of deposit and these he had cashed at the Idaho National bank.

Idaho Forests Protected.

Wesley—Disastrous forest fires will be reduced to a minimum once the co-operative plans of the state, government and timber interests get well organized, according to Charles A. Hackney, manager fire warden, whose district covers southwestern Idaho.

During wet weather Mr. Hackney says his men will be engaged in re-planting old trails and building new ones. At all times they will be within easy reach of telephone connection with the forest service.

The government bears half the expense.

IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY

Play Hours for Children in Park—Ladies Doing Good Work Along All Lines

The first regular meeting of the Genesee Improvement society will be held on Saturday afternoon, August 2, at 3 o'clock. The assembly room of the high school will be used for this meeting.

Every member who signed up at the time of organization is requested to be present and every other woman in the community is invited to come. We need you, your ideas and influence. There are now 45 members. If you are not one of this number come out to this meeting, hear the reports of the committees on cemetery, park, clean city, library, etc., and you will realize the help you can be.

The first definite work is to be conducted by the Park committee and is to be a play afternoon for the children of the town. Every Friday afternoon beginning August 8, all the children are invited to the park to have a good time between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock.

There will be a committee of six ladies from the Genesee Improvement society to provide games and to look after the children while there. An effort will be made to have some swings and seats by that time, but at any rate the ladies will have some good things arranged for the youngsters. All mothers who desire to do so may come with the children and the committee will then feel that their efforts are appreciated. Send or bring your little ones for an outing and don't forget the date—August 8, from 3 to 5 in the afternoon.

PRES. COMMITTEE.

In Honor of Mrs. Larrabee

A reunion of former Genesee residents was held at Natatorium park in Spokane, Monday afternoon, July 28. The crowd began to gather at 3:30, all laden with well-filled baskets. These baskets were found to contain numerous good things to eat, which were enjoyed by over thirty-five old friends, all seated at one long table. After disposing of the eats in a satisfactory manner the crowd took in the various amusements, particularly the joy-wheel. The affair was in honor of Mrs. J. S. Larrabee of Genesee, who was in Spokane visiting friends.

Those participating were: Mrs. J. S. Larrabee, Mrs. W. C. Brandt, Miss Nellie Brandt, Mrs. Margaret Reed, Miss Mabel Reed, Miss Abigail Spiger, Mrs. A. B. Scroggie, Misses Arta, Maurine and Grace Scroggie, Miss Lepha Culbertson, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Martin and daughters, Sarah and Laura, Mrs. I. W. Tice, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Henry, Misses Jane and Lulu Brennan, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keane, Mr. Thos. Keane, Misses Laura and Mollie Keane.

W. J. Herman on Sunday received by express four fine Poland China pigs from Preston, Minn., and had them taken to his ranch, where he has some of the best hogs in this part of the country. Mr. Herman is turning his attention to hogs of the very best breeds. He has a number of varieties, all of which are thoroughbreds.

William Fish has purchased from Mrs. Minnie C. Kelly (nee Crisp) the ranch on the reservation for a consideration of $4,800. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly have gone to Valer, Mont., where Mr. Kelly has purchased a printing office. He formerly had charge of the Winchester (Idaho) Journal.

Costly Treatment

"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. "I went to a St. Louis hospital, also to a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers.

Lewiston-Clarkston Fair

Lewiston, Idaho, July 31.—The Lewiston city council has given the Lewiston-Clarkston fair association further substantial aid by the appropriation of $2,000 to be used in the construction of the new grandstand building. Last year the city purchased the grounds at a cost of $27,000 and with the fund now provided for the grandstand, the association will have more money to be used in the preparation of the exhibits and securing the amusement features. The work on the grandstand will be commenced next week and the building will be completed in time for the opening day, September 29. A pleasing plan of architecture has been decided upon and additional seats can be added when needed without destroying the effect. The new grandstand will have a seating capacity of 1500 and an additional 500 people can be accommodated in the bleacher space between the building and the track fence.

Electric Motor Chair

An electric motor chair designed for use by invalids or in parks and other outdoor resorts, is described, with illustration, in the August Popular Mechanics Magazine. This chair weighs 300 pounds, has a steel-tube frame, and is equipped with a storage battery and a 3/4-horse-power electric motor. The battery is concealed in the dash at the front, while the motor is under the seat. The operation of the car is controlled by means of a foot lever, the current being turned on by pressure on the foot lever and turned off when the pressure is released. This car runs at a speed of about 5 miles an hour.

WHAT THE COW FURNISHES

Old "Bossy" Eulogized by One Who Has Made Study of Her— "Grand and Noble"

On the banker more than anyone else rests the responsibility for the development of the great Northwest country. Nothing will so quickly and surely and permanently contribute to his noble cause than for each banker to urge and encourage the farmers in his community to increase their dairy herds. It is surprising to know a few good cows, properly cared for, will produce. It is not enough for a farmer to keep cows to merely supply his own family. Every farmer should realize and systematize a regular Dairy Department. If I were a country banker, I would start the Dairy Ball to selling, by not only suggesting but urging my farmer patrons and friends to buy some cows, and I would offer a valuable prize to the farmer producing the biggest actual result from a certain number of cows. If they were willing to invest a small amount of capital to buy a few cows, I would loan them the money. I would feel that I could not possibly contribute to a cause that would have a more beneficial effect on my community and be productive of greater thrift and prosperity in which all would necessarily participate. Let me quote the words of Col. F. M. Ware of Lincoln, Nebraska, which I consider a most beautiful and glowing tribute to the cow and tells a magnificent story:

"Grand and noble brute! Of all the animal friends of man, she is the greatest. To her we owe the most. Examine into all the different channels of commerce into which she enters and note the result should she be blotted out. A Sunday afternoon would then pervade the great stock yards industries of our large cities, and grass would grow in our streets. Fifty per cent at least of the trains of freight that now plow the continent from ocean to ocean would be side tracked, for then there would be nothing for them to do. Fifty per cent of the laborers would not get pay on Saturday night. Our tables would be bare of the greatest luxuries with which they are now covered. Oh, you who would abuse the cow, I wish that I could, as you are about to sit down to your noonday meal, slip up and remove from your table what the old cow has placed there. I'd take the cap of milk that's waiting by the baby's chair; I'd take the cream, the cheese, the custard pie, the cream biscuit, the steak, the smoking roast of beef and leave you to make a meal of potatoes, beets, pickles and tooth-picks.

"It is the self-same cow that has made the Western plains to blossom (financially) like the rose; and were it not for HER they would revert to the Indians from whence they came."

"None other like the cow! There is not a thing from nose to tail but that is utilized for the use of man. We use her horns to comb our hair, her hoofs make glue, her tail makes soap, she gives our milk, our cream, our cheese and our butter, and her flesh is the great meat of the nation; her blood is used to make our sugar white, her bones are ground to fertilize our soils, and even her panache her herself has put through the first chemical process necessary for the protection of the best white cardboard paper, and now they have discovered that such paper can be made into the finest quality of false teeth.

"No other animal works for man both day and night. By day she gathers food and when we are asleep at night she brings it back to reheat and convert into all the things of which I speak.

"She has gone with man from Plymouth Rock to the setting sun. It was her sons that turned the first sod in the settler's clearing; it was her sons that drew the public schoolhouse from the sturdy pioneers as, inch by inch, they fought to prove that 'Westward the star of empire takes its way,' and the old cow grazed along behind and when the day's march was done she came and gave the milk to fill the mother's breast to feed the suckling babe that was, perchance, to become the future ruler of his country. Who says that much of what we use do not owe to man's best friend, the cow? Treat her kindly, gently, for without her words fall me to describe."—From The Confidential Banker, Portland, Oregon, 1913.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: cattle 1337; calves 380; hogs 953; sheep 3407; horses 65. Last week's cattle market was one of the most active ones of the year. Monday had one of the largest single day runs, containing considerable good quality of beef. Prime steer top is steady to strong at $8 to $8.25; cows and heifers $7 to 7.25 with occasional sales 15 cents to 20 cents higher. Outlet is broad and buyers keen for prime stuff.

The hog market has run wild for six days, jumping in price from $9.35 a week ago to $10. Receipts were unusually light and the trade was unable to fill orders for pork supply. The $10 price equals that of 1910, which was the highest hog market in the history of the Union Stock yards. Liquidation will probably be light for the next few weeks, or until the annual fall run of pigs commences. Bulk of sales averaged from $9.50 to $9.60. Smooth heavy swine are steady to strong.

Although a pet bear raised in Clearwater county, Idaho, cannot be classed as an agricultural product, such an animal will be one of the attractions in the Okechne and Clearwater booth at the Spokane Interstate fair this fall. The bear was captured while a cub in the hills of Clearwater county and is a decided novelty around Orofino. Orofino like several other districts has asked for increased space at the Spokane fair to display its agricultural products.

Mrs. J. H. Jackson, who has been ill for several days, is able to up and around the house again.

WHICH KIND ARE YOU?

In the opinion of a current writer, there are three varieties of farmers—the new farmer, who is the progressive business agriculturist; the old farmer, once up with his time, the pioneer with a wholesome love of work, but little ability as an administrator, and the mossback or the old farmer who has gone to seed, who does not love work and has hopelessly lost in modern competition. He is a drag upon the progress of agriculture and an obstruction in the wheels of the country's community organization. The new farmer will take care of himself, and the old farmer and the mossback are rapidly disappearing, but the extension idea in the idea of taking to them the inspiration and help that the new farmers can give—Country Gentlemen.

At a conference between President Mehlner of the Union Pacific, and President Spruille, of the Southern Pacific, the main objects for discussion were plans for building a branch line from some point on the Central Pacific to Boise, and line and service changes occasioned by the separation of the Southern and Union Pacific systems. The line to Boise is planned to meet the competition of a similar branch from Winnemucca, Nev., which the Western Pacific is known to have had under contemplation for some time.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery "I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. ### NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

President Wilson is Opposed to Any Interference in Mexico

Washington—Developments indicate a policy of friendly non-interference toward Mexico. It is said that the president, in conference with members of the house military affairs committee, had discouraged the idea of making preparations for a volunteer army. Likewise, Secretary Bryan's request for an appropriation of $100,000 with which to transport destitute Americans from Mexico in emergencies developed a feeling in official circles that the American government would endeavor in any crisis to remove American expeditionarily from the trouble zones. This procedure, it is felt, would minimize the chances for international difficulty as any destruction of property would be cared for by indemnification.

Protectors for Nicaragua Dropped

Secretary Bryan's plan for an American protectorate over Nicaragua, providing for American supervision of Nicaragua's finances, independent and foreign relations, have been shelved for the time being. Apparently with the knowledge of the administration, the senate foreign relations committee passed a resolution asking the secretary of state to submit a new Nicaraguan treaty, omitting the protectorate policy. The compact at the request of the senate committee is to be limited strictly to the original negotiations with Nicaragua by which the United States was to pay $2,000,000 for an exclusive canal right across the country, a naval base site on the Bay of Roncesca, and a lease to the Corn Islands in the Caribbean Sea.

Opponents of the Proposed Protectorate had made it clear that it would be impossible to secure ratification of the Nicaraguan treaty in the present congress if the so-called protectorate amendment was included in it. This sentiment is understood to have induced Secretary Bryan to consent to its withdrawal.

Federal Cash to Help Move Crops

Twenty-five to fifty million dollars of government funds will be deposited in the national banks of the south and west at once by Secretary McAdoo to facilitate the movement of crops. Federal, state and municipal bonds and prime commercial paper will be accepted as security for the money, on which the banks will pay 2 per cent interest.

The Motive of Secretary McAdoo in announcing this policy is to anticipate the money stringency in the late summer and fall, which invariably accompanies the marketing and movement of crops, especially when they are unusually large, as the harvest now beginning forecasts.

Senators Listen to Women's Pleas

"From all over the country supporters of 'votes for women' came to Washington to plead their cause before congress. The senate left off its tariff work for more than two hours and listened to the suffrage argument. Delegates from every state in the Union presented to each senator on the floor petitions urging the support of the Chamberlain resolution to amend the Federal constitution to confer suffrage on women and graciously every senator presented the petitions to the senate.

Many made speeches declaring their sympathy with the movement and a few announced their intention to vote against the resolution.

National Capital Briefs

The house resolution calling for an investigation of the attorney general's action in postponing the Diggs-Cannell white slave case was tabled by a vote of 93 to 59. Chairman Flood, of the house foreign affairs committee, admitted that it was by direct request of the president that Ambassador Wilson did not appear before his committee. The democratic members of the house banking and currency committee have planned to settle all difficulties over the currency measure at a party caucus to be held August 11.

President Wilson made it clear to those who discussed the Mexican situation with him that he had not been swayed in the least degree by the arguments of Ambassador Wilson in favor of recognition for the Huerta government in Mexico.

News Snapshots Of the Week

The federal board of arbitration, began efforts in New York to settle the threatened railroad strike. Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, was chosen president of the New York. New Haven and Hartford to succeed Charles S. Melan.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Appropriation for Ensuing Year Made—Sidewalk Situation Discussed

The city council met in regular session on Monday night with all members present except Alderman Meyer, and with Mayor Nelson in the chair.

MAN OF MANY NAMES

Causes Employment Agency much Trouble and Expense—A Painter and Wealthy

A man giving the names of McDonald, O'Neil, Hill, Wilson, etc., who dropped into town the latter part of last week and who has been pulling off stunts of various kinds in various places left on last Saturday morning, and the next seen of him he arrived in Genesee Monday morning about 3 o'clock, bringing with him a woman whom he had gotten through an employment agency at Spokane, and who had come to Pullman on the representation that "Wilson" as he gave his name to her, wanted her as cook on his ranch near Uniontown.

Meeting her at the 6 o'clock train Sunday afternoon at Pullman he proceeded to drive to his (r) ranch about four miles out of Uniontown, but the four miles lengthened to several times that a pleasant place for the children of the city to meet once each week and have a play afternoon and asked that the city place a few benches in the park, which, after the convening of the council, they agreed to do and ordered that six benches eight feet in length be made and placed in the park for the convenience of the public. Alderman Lambert was appointed a committee of one to have the work in charge.

A resolution calling for the appropriation for running the city during the coming fiscal year was then introduced and adopted, it calling for $4,000 in the general fund and $5,500 in the water fund which latter appropriation will allow the payment of a $3,000 bond and also be sufficient for the running of the system for the year.

The city marshal was instructed to sell all old plans for wood that were unfit for further use in repairing walks or crossings.

The question of putting in cement walks, especially in the business district when it was necessary to replace the old walks, which were actually length, and while it was the unanimous sense of the council that cement walks should be put in, no definite action was taken. H. Martinson was appointed a committee of one to confer with those interested. It was decided that the city should, as an inducement to put in concrete walks, pay one-fourth the cost of the walks and curbing, which will really make a concrete walk cost less to the property owner than the old board walk and no doubt many in the business section will take advantage of the offer and place new concrete walks in front of their business houses.

At this time the request of the ladies that the city furnish fuel for the heating of a reading room and library which they expect to establish here was taken up. No action was taken, but the aldermen thought there

Fire destroyed an ornate factory in Binghamton, N. Y., causing the loss of the lives of about seventy-five girls. Most of the bodies were so badly burned that identification was impossible. Convicts in Sing Sing prison notified because many of them were to be transferred to other prisons. They set fire to buildings and destroyed one factory inside the prison walls. About sixty of the men were later transferred to Auburn. Judge William L. Chambers, Judge Martin A. Knapp and G. W. W. Hanger, president of the federal board of arbitration, began efforts in New York to settle the threatened railroad strike. Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, was chosen president of the New York. New Haven and Hartford to succeed Charles S. Melan.

Lightning Strikes Barn of Martin Williams—Seven Horses Perish

On last Saturday evening one of the severest electrical storms that has visited this part of the country in years caused many people to seek places of safety away from wires of various kinds and during which the large barn of Martin Williams, living about eight miles from town on the Nez Perce reservation was struck and burned to the ground in the twinkling of an eye.

About 8:30 o'clock, during the most severe part of the storm, and while Mr. Williams and his help were at the house, they heard an unusually loud report seemingly close, and upon looking to the door they found that the largest of Mr. Williams' two barns had been struck and was a mass of flames.

Mr. Williams and his men immediately rushed out to the scene of the fire, thinking that perhaps they might be able to at least save the horses, of which there were seven in the barn, but they were unable to get within account of the intense heat, the flames having spread with great rapidity. Mr. Williams said he did not think it was more than two minutes from the time the barn was struck until the whole structure was a solid sheet of fire.

Merchants Busy

Last Saturday was one of the busiest days the merchants of Genesee have had for some time. Ranchers were in from every direction laying in supplies for their harvest crews and looking after hands, a great many of which have arrived in town during the past week or two. Harvest is in earnest and two or three thrashing crews have already begun the work of taking care of the grain.

While some of the fall grain is not quite so heavy as last year there appears to be less smut on the average, and the spring grain crop will be one of the heaviest that has been harvested in many years, oats being especially fine.

The farmers of the Genesee country have never had a crop failure—which is more than a great many of the wheat-raising districts can say—and this season is no exception to the rule.

The Clearwater Ranch company expect to commence thrashing some time next week, when they will head and thrash at the same time.

The Progressive club will give a picnic on Thursday, August 14. The location has not yet been decided upon, but there is no question but that it will be a picnic in every sense of the word.

Don't forget the benefit for the Genesee Improvement society at the opera house Saturday. Helm's shows are better.

We print all kinds of "stickers" for labeling your land and other products.

Stewart of the supreme bench took occasion to exhort in no uncertain terms the author of the article who supplied the facts, for an article on Idaho in the current number of the Hearst magazine. # MONEY WASTED IN ROAD BUILDING

Scientific Study of Construction Essential.

NEW YORK AN EXAMPLE.

Lack of System and Slipshod Methods Cause Great Waste—Highway Commission Now Making Study of Practical Construction.

New York state is spending an average of $50,000 a day in the construction of better roads. At two referendums the people of the state have voted to spend $100,000,000 in the building of highways. Prior to the time John N. Carlisle, commissioner of highways, took hold of the affairs much money was wasted on account of slipshod methods and lack of system. Part of the road fund will be spent in each county. When the commissioner was asked recently when new contracts for highway improvement would be let he replied:

"New York state should have the best highways in the world. No one else has been getting them. At two referendums the people have voted to expend $100,000,000 in the construction of good roads, and they have a right to insist that the highways be improved. But until I am satisfied that roads will be built which will give the people dollar for dollar the money invested in them I am not going to approve of further construction."

"No man now spending on the conditions can understand how disorganized this department was when I became commissioner. Although it has and is now spending on an average of $50,000 a day, there was no system in its office work, and mail was received at the postoffice in five private letter boxes. No one thing surprised me more than the fact that this department, charged with the expenditure of $100,000,000 in the construction of highways, had no facilities for making a scientific study of road construction.

"It is not necessary to tell the people that with this lack of system and this slipshod method of doing business, money has been wasted. There is evidence of it in every county where highways have been constructed. Not even the engineers believe that some of the roads, if built according to contract, would stand the traffic which is expected that the contracts would be modified by supplemental agreements, and in nearly every instance this was done."

U. S. AIDS IN ROADMAKING.

Improvement Marked and Many States

Improvement of the public roads of the United States is to be greater this year than ever, according to the reports received from all parts of the country by ex-Secretary Wilson of the United States department of agriculture. A joint committee of congress engaged in an investigation of the feasibility of federal aid in the construction, improvement and maintenance of public highways, and a number of the state legislatures have considered good road legislation. In connection with the general impetus that the good road movement has recently had in all parts of the country, the director of the office of public roads says:

"Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of maintenance in connection with the work of improving the roads. The people in nearly all states are filled with enthusiasm for road improvement and are spending enormous sums of money in the construction of superior roads.

"To maintain the roads in good condition year after year requires a considerable annual outlay, but this outlay is infinitely less than the loss which must fall upon the people eventually if they allow their roads to go to utter ruin. The thing for all advocates of good roads to do is to urge continuous, systematic maintenance and setting aside every year of an amount per mile estimated by the engineer in charge to be sufficient for the maintenance of the road—a course which must make for economy and efficiency."

National Federation Meeting.
The National Good Roads federation has closed an interesting meeting at Birmingham, Ala., where much enthusiasm was shown upon the subject of better public roads. The speakers elected were John H. Bunkhead, United States senator from Alabama, president; United States Judge W. E. Grubb, treasurer; J. A. Toussaint, secretary. The vice presidents are: Del M. Potter, Arizona; E. J. Watson, South Carolina; John W. O'Neil, Alabama. The meeting was well attended, there being 880 delegates present from twenty-four states. The next meeting will be held in St. Louis next year, Nov. 15.

Roads Belong to Public.
In theory the roads are public. In fact the roads are the property of the private citizen; in theory the roads are controlled by highway officials; in fact the roads are controlled by any man who in local facilities uses them for his own individual purpose and in any way and at any time of the year.

URGE BILL TO CREATE ROADS ACROSS AMERICAN CONTINENT

Convention to Ask Congress For Great Country Military Roads.

Steps to lay before congress the necessity of building cross country military highways and the passage of such bills, as well as to bring before the state legislatures bills for the construction of lateral roads connected with the federal cross country highways, will be the purpose of a six days' convention of the United States Highway Roads association in St. Louis. The association was formed at Birmingham, Ala., and is a consolidation of forty road building organizations that will have headquarters in St. Louis.

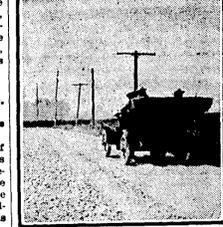

The association wants the east and west roads to be federal highways constructed by United States engineers and maintained by the government. An important feature of the convention will be an exposition of road building materials and machinery, under the auspices of the conventions bureau in Suburban Garden, where the convention also will be held. It is here that the entire eighty-six good roads organizations in the United States will be affiliated with the new association by November.

AUTOMOBILE TRAFFIC HARD ON ALL MACADAM ROADS

Repairs, Needed Once a Year, Are Difficult and Short Lived.

Highway engineers long ago discovered that the ordinary macadam road has no chance under automobile traffic. The best of them, when founded and covered and surfaced, hardly last a season. "Spotty" repairs are difficult and short lived, and a highway nine-tenths of whose surface is in good condition soon has to be entirely made over because of the ruined one-tenth, says the New York Evening Post. The various forms of surface used in macadam—turfed, oiled, etc.—have given better service than the plain macadam, but they, too, are comparatively short lived under heavy motor traffic and similarly defective in requiring complete renewal when but a small part of the road is worn out.

The result of this new situation is that the macadam road, which furnished a comparatively cheap and satisfactory highway for horse traffic, has become one of the most expensive forms of road surface. The fact that

but a small part of the road surface is needed for motor traffic (a highway not much traveled could carry 50 percent of its traffic on two strips of inches wide, where there was more travel four strips would be necessary) led to the suggestion that the macadam be replaced by a surface of concrete or asphalt. This new situation is that the macadam road, which furnished a comparatively cheap and satisfactory highway for horse traffic, has become one of the most expensive forms of road surface. The fact that

Recently, however, the subject has been taken up in England, and there appears some probability that the "hard road strip" will be given a thorough test in the near future. A British engineer, discussing the problem, suggests the following possible hard strip materials: Asphalt, wood paving, metal plates, concrete blocks. The most obvious difficulty to be overcome in the use of strip roads is that of maintaining the proper relation between the strips and the rest of the road surface. There will always be a tendency for the macadam to break along the edges of any hard strip, and the problem of keeping the surface in good condition in these points will necessarily be a difficult one.

The principal reasons for freeing Gudger were that he is declared to be suffering from tuberculosis and the Latah county jail has been condemned as insanitary.

When Gudger was taken to the county jail at Lewiston the officials of Nez Perce county refused him admission because of his disease. These facts were presented to Judge Steele.

JOINT PROJECT PROPOSED

Oregon and Idaho Should Improve Snake River.

Boise.—State Engineer J. H. Lewis, of Oregon, has made a proposal to the state of Idaho, through Governor John M. Haines, for Idaho and Oregon, with the assistance of the federal government, to develop co-operatively to secure information on which to base legislation that will result in the development of power to lift water to high elevation for irrigation for irrigation lands along the Snake River for irrigation purposes, and at the same time form locks to make the river navigable both east and west from Huntington. In his proposal to Governor Haines Engineer Lewis says in part: "The Snake River, which flows through the state of Idaho, is a navigable waterway of about 1300 feet. With the construction of dams to utilize this fall approximately 800,000 horsepower could be developed. By constructing balanced piston type, or incline cable locks, this portion of the stream could perhaps be made navigable. If this project could be intelligently promoted by the two states most interested and co-operation of the United States secured, the whole scheme might be successfully carried to completion."

Sandpoint Needs G. N. Aid
Sandpoint.—The state demonstration farm near here seems an assured fact. Dr. W. L. Carlyle, acting president of the University of Idaho, is advertising for bids for the rough clearing of land donated by T. J. Humbird. There is just one hitch in the proceedings, and that is the fact that the Great Northern will donate the $1000 asked for. This sum is absolutely essential to the establishing of the farm and if not obtained from the Great Northern must be secured elsewhere.

Shoshone Wife Seeks Freedom
Wallace.—Seized by the arm and violently thrown against the walls of the house and the children in the dining room, called by name, and compelled to stand by and see her husband severely whip and strike her children, are some of the indignities which a woman of her husband suffered at the hands of her husband by Lola Scott, according to allegations in her suit in the district court against her husband, John Burnie Scott, for an absolute divorce.

Rescuers Killed in Mine Explosion
Tower City, Pa.—Nineteen men were killed and two seriously injured in a double explosion in the East Brookside mine of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron company, near here, by what is believed to have been dynamite and gas. Thirteen men died in the first explosion and five were killed in the second blast, after an heroic attempt to rescue the first victims. One of the rescuers escaped.

Story of Noah is Found on Stone

CALIFORNIA MILITIA CALLED OUT BY RIOT

Four Killed in Strike of Hoppers in Wheatland Fields.

Sacramento.—A special train carrying five companies of militia has been ordered to leave here for Wheatland Cal., where four men, including the district attorney of Yuba county, were killed in a battle between 400 striking hoppers and a sheriff's posse.

According to reports reaching here from Wheatland, the hop pickers held lated demands for increased wages. All were employees of the Durst ranch, which is partly within Wheatland.

Durst and Constable Anderson attended the meeting. Durst refused the demand for more pay, and the men came out. Anderson sought to take a leader under arrest. He was disarmed and beaten but escaped and telephoned Sheriff Voss, of Yuba county, for help.

Voss gathered a posse at Marysville and hastened to Wheatland by automobile from Marysville, the county seat. District Attorney Manwell accompanied him. When the machine reached Wheatland Voss sought to parley with the rioters. Abusive language was hurled at him and he seized one man and started toward the motor cars. The prisoner's friends leaped at the sheriff and beat him into unconsciousness. The deputies made a charge and a volley of shots was exchanged. Manwell, standing by the automobiles, F. C. Voss, a deputy sheriff and an unnamed deputy were instantly killed.

PROSECUTE LAND LOCATORS

Oregon Authorities on Trail of Fraudulent Promoters.

Portland, Ore.—Prosecution of persons engaged in the illegal practice of "locating" settlers on Oregon and California land grant claims will be started at once by Clarence L. Reames, United States district attorney in Portland.

"There is no legitimate authority for any one selling location and any of these land grant promoters, has become one of the first place the property still is in litigation, as the railroad has appealed the case. No locations can be made until the government finally gets title to the lands. Even so, the promoters are not to be accepted, as it will require an act of congress to open the property for entry. Any locations that are made now are not worth a cent."

PRESIDENT HUERTA WILL NOT RESIGN

Mexico City—Foreign Interference

In the conduct of his task of pacification will not be tolerated by Provisional President Huerta. He proposes to resist the question of his resignation on interference on the part of the nationals or foreigners.

This determination was expressed in a statement issued by Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, the Mexican minister of the interior, on behalf of the president.

"General Huerta will not resign," Dr. Urrutia said. "Much less will he permit nationals or foreigners to take a hand in a question in which is involved his honor and that of the nation. I will say more—that General Huerta has contracted an obligation with the nation and will promise the nation to establish peace in the Mexican republic."

This obligation is in the way of being fulfilled. If, when it is realized, our government has been recognized by that of the United States, we shall do it. We will not, however, change our attitude of defense of national honor and dignity."

Commercial Club Meeting

A short and unexpected meeting of the commercial club was held Tuesday night to look into the matter of having exhibits at the Latah County fair and now is the time to get busy gathering the necessary exhibits of grain of various kinds for that purpose. There is no question but that we should be represented at the fair as we have everything here that goes to make up a good exhibit, not only of grain, but other farm products.

J. T. Nelson was appointed a committee of one to interview the owners of automobiles regarding the gathering of exhibits of grain, etc.

It was decided to hold a meeting of the club next Monday night at the Grand Central hotel to take the matter up in earnest, and at which time a smoker will be given and light refreshments served. Eight o'clock is the hour of meeting.

It was asked that all farmers who have a nice bunch of grain of any kind and would like to be represented at the county fair, bring it in and leave the same at either bank. His name will be placed thereon and he will be given proper credit for it.

Genesee last year took third prize ($45) on their district exhibit, and also the Northern Pacific prize for the largest and best potatoes, and there is no reason why, by beginning early, that a better record cannot be made.

Teachers Resign
Word has been received by the school board that Prof. Geo. A. Bohannon, who was employed as principal of the Genesee school for the past school year, has resigned and asks to be released. He has accepted a position as bookkeeper for the Great Falls (Montana) Tribune.

Miss Mabel Smedley of Herman, Minn., who was employed to teach the second and third grades, has also resigned on account of the health of her father, who does not want her to go so far from home. Miss Smedley has fine recommendations and the school undoubtedly loses a good teacher in her failure to come here for the coming school year.

No selections have yet been made to fill the vacancies but a number of applicants are being considered.

SMUT TREATMENT

Wheat Not Treated Shows One Third Smut—Treated Less Than One Per Cent

Samples of wheat treated and that not treated by the Healy method are on exhibition at the Genesee Exchange bank, where they may be examined by those interested in the treatment of wheat for what is known as the stinking smut.

Dan Healy has been working on a method for the prevention of smut for a number of years and last fall, in order to demonstrate the fact that his treatment is of benefit, sowed 25 rows of wheat containing nine varieties, putting the rows about nine inches apart, part of which he treated with his method and part of which he gave no treatment at all. The wheat treated by his method is less than one per cent smut, while that not treated is fully 33 1/3 per cent smut, and which must be conclusive evidence that Mr. Healy's method at least has some merit.

Three samples are on display at the bank and are of the "143" variety. Each sample was taken directly opposite each other and were not selected on account of their being free from smut. Row No. 1, not treated, one-third smut; row No. 2, treated, less than one per cent smut; row No. 3, treated and smut sown with the grain, two heads out of 30 contained smut, and the remainder of the treated grain in the 25 rows contained about the same percentage of smut as row No. 1.

John Nisbet has about an acre of treated wheat which is about 2 per cent smut and Thos. Dwyer has about 60 acres of Red Russian wheat that was treated by Mr. Healy that is only about two or three per cent smut and he is well pleased with the result of the experiment.

The government expert, Dr. Humphrey, who was in Genesee some two weeks ago, pronounced Mr. Healy's treatment as good and recommended as an aid to the use of it that crops be rotated and was of the opinion that it would take at least four years to rid the ground of the smut germ.

The following affidavit from three well-known ranchers will best serve to show what the users of the treatment think of it:

AFFIDAVIT
State of Idaho, County of Latah,—ss. John A. Nisbet, W. W. Gray and Thos. Dwyer, being first duly sworn according to law, depose and say:

That they were present and assisted in sowing seven varieties of wheat on the Daniel Healy place on the 28th day of October, 1912, and on this first day of August, 1913, we examined the said grain and found that the varieties treated by Mr. Healy's preparation contained not to exceed one per cent of smut, one row of the wheat we sowed dry smut in the row and sowed wheat treated by Mr. Healy and that row contained about one per cent of smut, and the balance of the wheat not treated contained about one-third smut.

JOHN A. NISBET,
W. W. GRAY,

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Administration Positively Refuses to Recognize the Huerta Regime

Washington.—A two hours' conference between President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and the senate foreign relations committee brought about no change in the attitude of the administration toward Mexico.

The president took the senators into the confidence far enough to outline the following:

That John Lind, his special envoy to Mexico City, does not bear any solution of the present situation, but goes to continue this government's effort to induce Provisional President Huerta to redeem his promises for free and constitutional elections.

That under no circumstances does the administration propose to recognize the Huerta government.

That Mr. Lind has gone to Mexico City to be the "eyes and ears" of the Washington administration on the ground and to explain the attitude of this government when he had fully familiarized himself with the situation.

That by withdrawing Ambassador Wilson and sending Mr. Lind, the president planned to have a man on the ground who was in sympathy with the administration here and was in no sense a factor in the situation in Mexico City.

The meeting was entirely friendly. The president did most of the talking and Secretary Bryan and members of the committee added a word here and there.

While the president disclosed no definite plan for the pacification of Mexico, the implication remained that on Lind's reports would depend to a large extent the future policy of this country.

All predictions of an early passage of the Democratic tariff bill by the senate are going glimmering. Majority leaders realize that, notwithstanding the fact that they have set a new record in pushing consideration of this measure, only a beginning has been made and the earliest anyone now will promise completion of the task is September 10.

Ten days ago, when a member of the finance committee said he thought the senate would pass the bill by August 20, there were some who thought it might be possible, but that date is less than two weeks away and only four schedules have been considered, 36 paragraphs in these having been passed over for future consideration.

The chemical, earthenware, metal and lumber schedules have been approved, save for rates on certain articles in each which will be taken up later. There remain to be considered ten schedules, among them the three on which there will be the most vigorous attacks by the minority, namely the wool, sugar and agricultural schedules.

Epionage Over Judges Charged.
Replying to a senate resolution demanding the information, Attorney General McReynolds admitted and defended the course of the department in its investigation of the matter, namely, to say which judges were subject to inquiry, declaring it "incomprehensible with the public interest" to make the information public.

The report aroused a storm of protest, which Senator Borah, of Idaho, led.

"I know this is a very serious charge," said he, "but I am so reliably informed that I will not say a word that will do the least harm to the public in the future and the plans will be taken up on a larger scale next year."

A sum of $5,000 will be paid out by the Lewiston-Clarkston Fair association this year for the best exhibits offered at the horticultural hall during the week of September 29. The premium lists have just been received from the printer and are now available for public distribution.

There have been material enlargements in the women's department and the school children's department where liberal cash prizes are offered. The fair association will not attempt to assemble a livestock exhibit, it being decided to allow the livestock association to have full sway in this matter for the December show, but the money formerly paid out for livestock has been used to enlarge the agricultural, horticultural and poultry departments.

LARGE SPRING CROP
Finds Some Winter Grain Not Up to Former Years But Spring Grain Looking Fine

The oat crop of Latah will be one of the best in years and from present indications the yield will be extremely heavy, according to M. B. Mikkelsen, of Lewiston.

"The oat crop is fine and the indications now point to an extremely heavy yield," said Mr. Mikkelsen. "The spring grain also seems in splendid shape but the winter grain does not class up with crops I have noted here in former years. The winter grain seems to have been frozen out in spots here and there, but the bulk of it is in good shape. In spite of the damage to winter grain, the crop prospects were never better and the entire district comprising the grain belt counties of northern Idaho will produce a heavy crop. Harvesting is in progress in the Lewiston country, however, labor is somewhat scarce and farmers are working under difficulties.

"It is too early to make predictions on prices. It will probably be a couple of weeks before it can be fully determined what the opening market will justify. Just now barley seems to be stiffening and sales are being reported at above a dollar."

Mr. Mikkelsen left this evening for Spokane. He has been touring this section for several days visiting Genesee, Uniontown, Colton, Troy, Kendrick and other points.—Mirror.

School Board Meeting
The regular meeting of the school board was held Monday night with all members present except J. T. Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Sparbeck returned Thursday afternoon from their vacation at fishing trip spent at Kootenai. They were gone about ten days and report a splendid time and some nice catches of fish.

The clean city committee is hustling and they are not a bit discouraged, but will have something done soon. The cemetery and library committees are busy as bees and will soon be calling on the finance committee for appropriations. The society is grateful for the $15 received from the Helm moving pictures and hope we have a good attendance this week.

A play for the future is mentioned elsewhere in this paper. The ladies are hoping to add to the Commercial club's display of grain and vegetables, a display of canned goods and needlework, but because of there being no meeting of the club on Monday night no definite report can be made.

Friday from 3 to 5 is play time in the park under the supervision of the ladies of the G. I. S.

Mrs. Follett, Mrs. Schaefer, the Misses Driscoll and Mrs. James Nisbet had charge of the play last Friday. While the rain prevented a large gathering, but all who were out reported a good time.

The seats will probably be ready for this Friday and any mothers who desire to come will find a place to sit and rest while the children play.

REVIVAL MEETINGS
There will be held in Genesee, beginning September 5, in the Methodist church a special series of meetings to be conducted by Rev. B. Caradise, D. D. of St. Louis, Mo., a man of national and world fame, one of the greatest revivalists in the United States and an author of marked ability. Scarcely a corner so small in the United States but what has been penetrated by the work of Dr. Caradise. He is loved and admired by thousands of people who have never seen him.

Genesee is to have the opportunity to hear him and come in contact with this holy man of God. The Methodist church is being arranged for the meetings and we ask all other denominations to join us in the services. He will only be here for ten days, so what you do must be done quickly. Make your arrangements to come. Safe, sound and intensely religious. Remember the date.

COMMITTEE.
Runaway
While out driving on Thursday afternoon Albert Sheldon and Len Edwards had a very exciting time for a few minutes, when their team took a notion to go away and leave them in the road. They were jogging along at a very nice gait near the "Y" when a singletree came loose from the doubletree, letting the former down on one of the horse's heels, which frightened the animal and it began to kick. Len thought to get out and get hold of the team, but before he could get to the team Albert was out by the side of the road in a heap and the team had taken their departure. The team headed toward the Hickman barn and in going over a bridge missed their calculation and the buggy was left in the creek. When it was fished out it was found to be in rather a dilapidated condition.

The occupants of the rig were not badly hurt and were able to walk to the city.

Costly Treatment
"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes H. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. "I went to a St. Louis hospital, also to a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers.

Last Week's Storm
The storm of the forepart of last week was very severe in portions of Nespeere county, extending generally over the prairie section, where it laid waste many fine fields of grain, several farmers having nothing left but their hay.

The storm also did some considerable damage in this county, the Potlatch district having suffered considerably from heavy downpour of rain and hail. The streets of Kendrick were covered with hail and chickens were killed by the large stones.

The Thorn Creek district was also visited by a hailstorm that caused considerable loss to the ranchers in that vicinity, some of them estimating their loss at from six to ten bushels of oats per acre.

Home Talent Play
There will be a home talent play "East Lynne" given in the Genesee opera house on Friday evening, September 5, under the auspices of the Genesee Improvement society. The play is in competent hands and no doubt will draw one of the largest crowds that has assembled in the local play house for many months.

Those having the play in charge are putting forth their best efforts and the general public should respond generously as it is for a worthy cause, the proceeds going to aid the ladies in their work of making Genesee a better town in which to live.

The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church will meet next Wednesday afternoon in the church basement. A full attendance is very much desired as there is business of importance to come before the society. Pick-up lunch will be served. Come early and bring your thimbles.

No Insurance

How often do you read those words in a newspaper in connection with a destructive fire and pass it over without giving it a serious thought?

"No Insurance" It means total loss. The property you have labored long to accumulate goes up in smoke or is ruined by water and smoke in a few moments, and you are forced to begin all over again without capital.

Wouldn't you rest more comfortably if you knew that should such a disaster come to you, the amount of your loss would be at your command, almost immediately?

We represent some of the most reliable insurance companies in America, whose policies guarantee absolute protection against loss.

Courthouse to be Remodeled

The county commissioners have decided to remodel the old court house which contains the following directions to carry with it sufficient votes for the erection of a new one. The commissioners have decided that it is useless to recommit the question of building a new courthouse and they state that in all probability they will not submit it again.

The office of Probate Judge Morgaridge will be removed down town, as will also that of Miss Bryden, county superintendent of public instruction. The office of Miss Katherine Broman will be moved to the new probate office and a doorway will be cut through to connect her office with that of the tax collector in order to facilitate the work.

The rooms vacated by Miss Bryden and Miss Broman will be used as a meeting place for the county commissioners and as jury rooms. The offices will be somewhat scattered but this seems to be the only thing to do at this time.

Portland Market
Receipts for the week have been: cattle 1775; calves 131; hogs 1685; sheep 1283; horses 24.

A big run of cattle at the yards for the week. Most of the receipts were about of very ordinary quality and a few cases of choice steers. The top for best steers was from $8.25 to $8.50 with good ones going for $6.50 to $7.50. Prime stuff is in demand. Best dehorned cows and heifers sold at $6.50 to $6.75, while the horned stuff went at 6.25 to 6.40, and ranged on down with fairly good grades from $5.75 to $6.00 and others $4.00 to $5.50 governed by age and condition. Bull calves $8.75 to $9.00. The price of cattle has only gone to pieces on poor stuff, the better class holding up well.

The hog market shows weakness with slow demand. Very light receipts with extreme top at the week's close. $9.60 for one load, with bulk of sales $9.10 and $9.25.

Mrs. W. J. Herman has received word from her daughter, Miss May Herman, who is spending the summer in Europe, that she is having a fine trip. The greatest danger to young apple orchards comes from the insects of the winter. The eggs are laid by the minute female of the pest in May and early June, and the little worms which hatch in a few days are soon busy. The insects which enter the trunk is usually indicated by a drop of brown colored sap or, in the case of the borers that are several months of age, by the presence of a hole in the trunk. Washes applied at about the time the young hatch will destroy them, but the only sure method is to inspect the trunk of the tree at intervals during the summer and cut out and destroy any that are found. Where the borers are not cut out, the tree will die. This twig may be used to prod them in their holes where at work. The ground for a diameter of two or three feet about the trunk should be kept free from weeds and grass so that evidence of the borers can be easily detected.

The 50,000,000 pounds of veal which Americans consume annually would require 50,000,000 pounds of beef if the calves that are slaughtered were allowed to grow to maturity. More than this, the costly larger amount of beef is not only more digestible but good deal more nutritious than the smaller amount of veal.

While soap, whitewash and some other things may be applied to the trunks of fruit trees without injury, mixtures containing grease or heavy oils are always injurious. Many a young orchard has been ruined through applying to the bark such greasy mixtures through the mistaken notion that they will keep off some insects or insect pest with which the trees were threatened.

Raps sown at the time of the last cultivation of the corn will give an abundant supply of green stuff for hog pastures that will do well in nearly all sections of the country. The corn should be allowed to lie down next October and November. But, whether the hogging down method is followed or not, the farmer should have a good supply of green stuff for his hogs.

Quite unusual damage to the small branches of the Oregon fir has been noticed on the Pacific slope within the past few weeks. This is attributed to the fact that the fir has been cut in April, the trees being hit shortly afterward by a bitter cold snap, accompanied by a sharp northeast wind. The damage is not so serious as that of trees often suffer from what is usually called snow sap.

Where pasturage is abundant the feeding of a grain ration to milk cows does in most cases increase the milk flow somewhat, but the increase is milked off the cow and the cow is not the grain fed. However, it has been noted in some experiments conducted by the animal husbandry department of Cornell college, New York, that cows that were given such grain ration gave 16 per cent more milk after the pasture season than cows that had pasture only.

While there are a few New England orchardists who favor keeping their trees in grass, cutting the grass and using it for a mulch, and while in many ranches in the far west the system of clean cultivation throughout the season is followed, there is much to commend the system of giving clean cultivation up to the middle of July and then seeding to some leguminous cover crop and plowing this under the 1st of April. ## A HOME MADE ROAD DRAG.

The office of public roads at Washington has recently sent out a circular which contains the following directions for making the split log drag and how to use it: "This road log is made from two halves of a log which has been cut into sections of about eight feet long. The two halves of the log should be set with the flat surfaces toward the front and the ends toward the rear. The log should be placed together with braces set in holes bored through the log. The team for hauling the drag should be hitched to a chain fastened to the front half of the log. The drag should be hooked up in such a way that it will run diagonally and cause a small amount of loose earth to slide past it to the center of the road, thus forming the crown. The edges of the drag will smooth out the ruts. The best way to drag is to begin at the side ditch and follow up one side of the road and then down the other. In the next trip the drag should be run a little nearer the center of the road. The road should be dragged in this way until the center. Small ridges of earth will be thrown in the horse track and the ruts will be smoothed out. The drag should be dragged following a heavy rain, when it is moist and mealy and will work to the best advantage."

THE DODDER PEST.
Dodder is one of the worst ills that can beset the grower of small grain, clover and alfalfa, and it is likely to be especially troublesome in fields of the former because it so closely resembles them. The presence of dodder in one's field is usually the penalty for having been too close to a cattlegrower's house clover and alfalfa seed. The dodder is a parasitic plant and sponges—that is, it lives off the host plant. It is not a true seedling and the plant gets a start it attaches itself to any plant which it may touch, and shortly afterward the host plant is extremely weak and the other crops withers, but the plant above this point flourishes on its stolen nourishment. The most effective way of getting rid of dodder is to quit buying cheap seed that is infested with it. Another is cutting the crop which it infests before the dodder seeds. Some farmers resort to the use of a crop rotation which will not leave the same untreated crop on the land two years in succession.

THE HANSON ALFALFA.
Some three years ago Professor Hanson of the South Dakota Agricultural Experiment station, in cooperation with the federal department of agriculture for the purpose of securing, if possible, the seed of a variety of alfalfa that would be well adapted to the conditions of the western and intermountain states. He secured a variety of yellow flowering alfalfa, the stalk of which is smaller and the leaves of which are finer than the common alfalfa. This alfalfa was introduced into this country in three years now since this Siberian alfalfa seed was sown, and it is now possible to note results. A stool of alfalfa recently cut in contact with the alfalfa seed was sown, and it is now possible to note results. A stool of alfalfa recently cut in contact with the alfalfa seed was sown, and it is now possible to note results.

PRIZES FOR RURAL PUPILS.
Six months ago Director Page of the office of public roads announced an essay contest to be participated in by pupils of the rural schools of the county. The prizes for the best essays were to be awarded on the best essays written on the subject of "The Maintenance of Country Roads." The contest was held in the county office and the prizes were awarded to the pupils whose essays were the best. The prizes were awarded to the pupils whose essays were the best.

GROWING THE CATALPA.
The Burlington railroad is closing an interesting test in the growing of catalpa trees for railroad ties. Eleven acres of land were planted with catalpa trees in the spring of 1912. The trees are now growing well and are expected to be ready for use in the spring of 1914.

How to Maintain a Road.
There is only one way to maintain a road. The slightest injury to its surface or any defect likely to work an injury must be corrected the moment it appears. Each little depression must be filled in. Every obstruction to drainage must be removed before it has an opportunity to do its destructive work. Such care involves a patrol system, which is nothing more or less than a continuous inspection of the roads by persons capable of correcting defects as they occur and fully equipped to do so. It will be more satisfactory and less expensive in the long run.

Co-operation Greatly Desired.
With the execution of the deal of good by showing the states what to do, and the states can do a great deal of good by showing the counties what to do, and all can accomplish the desired end by co-operation in the construction and maintenance of public roads.

LOS ANGELES TO HAVE BEST ROADS

Established Plans Call For Seven Hundred Miles. TOTAL COST $7,000,000.

Climatic Conditions in California Enable Proper Maintenance at Small Cost—Four Hundred Miles Already Completed.

Los Angeles county, Cal., is determined to have the very best roads in the United States, according to F. H. Joyner, chief engineer of the good roads commission of that county. Joyner's progress has recently been made there, and the work is being continued on an enlarged scale.

In 1910 the road commission of Los Angeles county was re-elected, an entirely new staff of officers being placed in control. From the moment that the new men entered upon their duties they immediately began the task of improving the roads, which were in a deplorable condition. Now, after two years and a half of hard work, the roads of Los Angeles county are without doubt the equal of any roads in the United States, and, quoting Mr.

"Roads to go somewhere" is an expression now in vogue in connection with the country wide attention to the improvement of the highways. A road extending across a township, of course, has value; it has increased value when it extends across a county; it has considerably increased value when it extends across a state; but it is of infinitely more value when it extends from state to state across the continent.

"I had my way about it I would build a great national system of roads leading from our national capital to the capital of every state in the Union. Some say that that would bankrupt the government. Have you ever stopped to think what it would cost? Probably $5,000,000,000. We have spent millions of dollars upon the improvement of rivers and harbors and millions of dollars on the improvement of the Panama canal," said J. M. Lowe, president of the National Old Trails Ocean to Ocean road, the other day.

In connection with road matters, various parts of the country show gradually improving methods in regard to highway improvement. Arkansas has just voted to establish a state highway department, while Idaho has done the same, in addition to which an appropriation of $200,000 has been made for the purpose of surveying and starting the construction of a system of state highways. Promising legislation is pending in Pennsylvania, Missouri and several other states.

PLANS FOR ILLINOIS ROADS.
Will Allow Various Counties to Do Their Own Building.

Hard road building came into the Illinois senate in a new form when Albert Clark of Chicago put in a bill providing for the construction of a state highway system. It provides for a referendum plan of appointing three county road commissioners in a county that may decide to make up hard road building. These points are urged in favor of the plan:

First.—It is an equitable plan, spreading the cost of constructing main roads over all the taxable property in the county.

Second.—It tends to make continuous main roads, with no breaks at the township lines. This desirable feature is never attained under the township plan, while town line roads invariably suffer

A heavy hail storm swept over a large territory south of Orofino, badly damaging farm crops. Hundreds of acres of grain fell beneath the hail. The contract to build the Kellogg sewer has been let to Parrott Brothers company of Baker City, Ore. for $20,400.

William Morley has been experimenting with growing celery in and about St. Marys for some time. He plans on starting a celery farm on a large scale and says that he is satisfied that this will make one of the big celery producing districts of the west. The plan is to build a modern macadam highway through the Lapwai valley to accommodate farmers on the reservation the county engineer and Theodore Sharp, the Indian agent, have proposed plans of the reservation which will be submitted to the department of Indian affairs this week.

A thrashing machine known as the Anderson machine, operating in the Thorn Creek neighborhood near Uniontown, was entirely destroyed from the explosion of smut on Tuesday of this week. This is the second machine Mr. Anderson has lost in the last two years from the same cause.

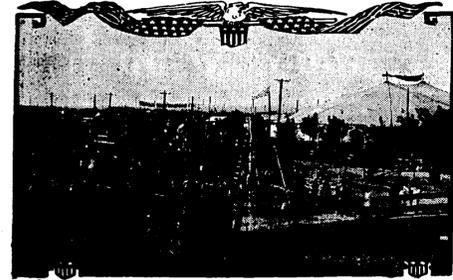

The annual encampment of the National Guard of Idaho will be held at Boise for 10 days, beginning Monday. The encampment will be upon the military reservation at Boise, which the government has placed at the disposal of the Idaho guard for this purpose. The Idaho, or Second, regiment consists of three battalions of 450 men and about 50 officers. Lieutenant Danahoe, commander of the regular army has been detailed for instruction. With the regiment is one of the largest, best equipped and most celebrated regimental bands in the northwest.

THE FREE CHILDREN'S PLAYGROUND AT THE SPOKANE FAIR.

There is one place above all others where children, big and small, can have the best time of the year, and that place is the Spokane Fair the week of Sept. 15. One of the latest attractions for the little folk is the big new Play Grounds installed by the Spokane Park Board. This covers more than an acre and is full of swings, slides, sawsaws, trapezes, horizontal bars and other things for having fun, and it's all free. Up in the middle there are two big glittering merry-go-rounds, with princing steeds and enticing ball-ho music, and the Ferris Wheel, not so big as the original Ferris Wheel, perhaps, but just as much fun.

Then there's the Animal Circus, with all sorts of cute, trained ponies, monkeys and dogs and a bear that can skate on roller skates; the big Indian Congress and Village and other shows too numerous to mention.

In front of the Grand Stand there are the races, the polo games, the cow boys, the fireworks, the big Indian battle every night, the log chopping contest,

The miners in their rock drilling contest, the motorcycle relay race, the Scotch Highlanders' band, the broadsword battle on horseback and lots more attractions different and more interesting than any circus.

Then there is a long list of cash prizes for children, nearly $400 in all, covering nearly everything they raise in gardens or make at school. All this children's work will be shown together this year in a new department all its own.

Even the babies can win some big cash prizes at this Spokane Fair, for there is a prize of $100 in gold for the best baby from outside Spokane, as well as many other cash and trophy prizes for the babies who enter in the Better Babies Contest.

And last, but not least, there is a big Free Nursery, where the babies can be left in charge of competent nurses while the parents enjoy the Fair.

AN ANSWERED PRAYER

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

"Now, Henry, I want to talk to you on a very serious matter," began Mr. Gregg's wife as they sat together one evening.

Mr. Gregg nodded and sighed. He had a bored expression. His wife had a serious aspect to bring up every week or two.

"You know our Polly?" queried the wife in a half doubting way.

Mr. Gregg was the father of Polly and ought to be fairly well acquainted with her. He nodded his head.

"Polly has another beau, and I want to know what we are going to do about it."

"I can't do anything," slowly replied the husband after a moment's thought, "but you can."

"You can butt in and crowd Polly out and do the courting yourself, as you have done with every other beau she has had."

"Henry Gregg, may the Lord forgive you, for I never can!" wailed the wife as she covered her face with her hands.

"But I'm right," he defended. "Suppose that when a young man called here to see Polly I went to the door to shake hands with him and tell him I was glad to see him."

"Around how late it would be when he and Polly were married."

"Suppose I dined it at him that Polly was engaged and that he would never have a chance to marry another."

"Henry Gregg, you are an unnatural father, and I'll never let another word to you on this matter. If Polly lives to be ninety years old and never marries it will be all your fault."

It was common gossip that Mr. Gregg was so crazy to marry Polly off that she was making a fool of herself. No one had given her a pin, and the girl had heard nothing. No one named her. She was a sweet, sensible girl and didn't even realize that there was too much mother and not enough herself about the affair.

Mrs. Gregg had received a bad setback from her husband. She felt that he had usurped a privilege as sacred as the cov of India. A daughter's love affairs and matrimonial prospects ought to be left entirely in a mother's hands. The wife had said that she would discuss the matter further with her husband, and she meant to keep her word, but she must talk to somebody. She hardly dared trust a woman, but who then?

"Why, the minister of my church, of course," she replied after casting about for a day or two.

"Are you in trouble, Sister Gregg?" asked the good man as she entered his study with tears in her eyes.

"Yes; great trouble. "Concerning your husband?"

"Partly. He has come between me and Polly."

"How! How is that?"

"Why, he says I'm to let her beatus alone and that she is to manage her own affairs. Did you ever hear the like?"

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences of The Past Week From Cities In Our State

Aviator Maroney Tumbles at Kellogg Kellogg.—In a fall of 30 feet T. Maroney, one of the aviators engaged to fly at the annual miners' picnic at this place, wrecked his machine and was himself badly bruised but not dangerously injured.

Frank Bryant, brother of John Bryant, who was killed at Victoria a few days ago, made two beautiful flights and arranged for another after Maroney was wrecked.

Maroney flew two miles, never getting more than 20 or 40 feet off the ground. He had engine trouble from the start but kept his head when he saw he was going to fall. He was using a strange machine.

To Auction Timber Land Coeur d'Alene.—L. L. Lewis, referee in bankruptcy, has entered an order authorizing Ernest L. Boyd to offer for public sale at auction the remaining property of the defunct Lane Lumber company, which aggregates 7000 acres of timber land in Kootenai and Shoshone counties, and has been appraised at $1,000,000.

Up to this time the trustee has been unable to get a satisfactory offer on the property at private sale and therefore an effort will be made to dispose of it at public sale in order to close the estate. The sale has been set for September 3 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon in front of the city hall in this city.

Idaho Farmer Shoots Wife of Doctor Twin Falls.—James H. Nichols, a farmer living near Eden, 15 miles northeast of this place, shot Mrs. Florence Stocklager, wife of Dr. L. B. Stocklager, through the heart, turned the weapon, a .45-caliber revolver, on himself and fired three shots in a row through his body. One passed through the heart as Nichols lay flat on his back. An inquest was held. The verdict was that he was insane. Stocklager and then killed himself.

Death Valley Hero Found Man Who Asserts He is "Scotty" in Ranch Hand at Weiser.

Weiser.—Is the Weiser the temporary home of the world-famed "Death Valley Scotty?"

A farm hand employed on the Dave Madison ranch of town given the name of Walter Scott and declares he is the original hero of Death Valley. To substantiate this he produces letters and valuable papers from prominent men in various parts of the west.

He says he never tried to avoid coming in contact with former friends during his financial embarrassment.

He says his present predicament is due to being intercepted by a party of Mexicans when on his way to his mine, who killed his brother and compelled him to flee for his life.

This man is about 55 years old, 5 feet 9 inches in height, has blue eyes, light complexion and weighs about 140 pounds.

These weeks later Mrs. Gregg fell on an icy sidewalk and broke a leg. After a couple of weeks the pastor made a call, as it was his duty to do. He found her cheering and cheerful. She welcomed him with a smile and said: "I have some news for you. Polly and Mr. Somers are engaged!"

"She told me this morning," "Happy to hear it."

"And I want to say how thankful I am that you pressed for me. You did pray, didn't you?"

"Tom! Tom! Well, sister, if I did not exactly pray I thought how nice it would be for you to be hid up for several weeks and give Polly a show to do some courting, and my thought seems to have been answered!"

The Unsociable Little Fellow. At dinner during a voyage to Corcoran to which he had invited the passengers who included some officers of his regiment and two Corsicans, he requested an officer, M. de Bellec, to call a young man in uniform, the uniform of the military school and reading at the end of the boat. The young man refused. M. de Bellec came back irritated and the young man refused. M. de Bellec said: "I should like to throw the unsociable little fellow into the sea. He has an unpleasant face. Will you not discuss the matter further with her husband, and she meant to keep her word, but she must talk to somebody. She hardly dared trust a woman, but who then?"

"Why, the minister of my church, of course," she replied after casting about for a day or two.

"Are you in trouble, Sister Gregg?" asked the good man as she entered his study with tears in her eyes.

HARRY THAW MAKES DASH FOR LIBERTY

Powerful Autos Aid Escape of Stanford White's Slayer From Matteawan.

Matteawan, N. Y.—Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, escaped from the hospital for the criminal insane at 7:45 Sunday morning. A dart for liberty through an open gate, a dash into the open door of a powerful automobile that stood quivering outside, and a flight like a rocket for the Connecticut state line, 30 miles away, accomplished his escape, and the hospital authorities are certain he is outside the state. Once beyond the boundaries, Thaw fled for a long, perhaps years, of litigation can bring him back, and then only in one event—that he be adjudged insane in the state to which he has fled.

Five confederates managed the car in which he escaped and a big black limousine which trailed it past the asylum gate.

The shades were drawn in the dormitories and the inmates were getting their second sleep when Thaw left his room. The milkman's cart was rumbling on the road outside as he walked through the storeroom and into the outer court or yard of the asylum grounds. A six-cylinder touring car, black, and 60-horsepower, followed by a limousine, also black, loaded lately along the road as the milkman drew near the gate. Thaw, standing a few feet away, apparently unconcerned, waited until Barnum, attendant at the gate, unlocked the gate and swung it wide to let the milkman enter. As Barnum stepped aside for the milkman to drive inside Thaw flashed past him straight for one of the waiting cars.

With a shout Barnum started in pursuit, but a flying leap landed Thaw safely within the car. The wheels were slowly turning before he had fairly reached the roadway. They were throwing up a cloud of dust before he had gone 20 feet.

WOULD BUILD ALASKA ROADS Development of Coal Lands and Cheap Transportation Needed.

Seattle, Wash.—In his address at the commercial club here Secretary Lane declared it was one of the first duties of the government to develop Alaska.

"If the government were justified in spending $400,000,000 to join the Atlantic and Pacific coasts with a canal, why was it not as much obligated to link to itself with an outlying portion of the United States by the construction of $400,000,000? The United States built a dirt road across Pennsylvania a century ago, and dug a canal from Lake Erie to the Hudson river."

The secretary declared that not only in the case of Alaska but in the construction of an Alaskan railroad system, but its operation, so that products might be transported at reasonable cost. He wished to see the coal lands developed, and the way to be built all the people and not fall into the hands of a monopoly.

GLYNN REFUSES TO DEAL WITH SULZER

Albany, N. Y.—Martin H. Glynn checkmated a movement of William Sulzer to invoke the aid of the courts on the question which of the two is the lawful present chief executive of the state of New York.

Replying to a formal proposal by the suspended chief executive, Glynn refused to sign a statement of facts. Mr. Glynn declared it was beyond his power to "barter away any of the functions attaching to the office in which I am placed by your impeachment."

"Any attempt on my part to do so," he said, "or to stipulate a method by which it might be done, would properly place me in the position you now occupy of being impeached for non-appearance in office."

Mr. Glynn declared further that he proposed to perform every function of the office of governor, "except insofar as I am restrained by your illegal action or by physical force."

Dakota Farmers Harvest at Night. Grand Forks, N. D.—By transferring the headlights from their automobiles to their binders, farmers on the Red River valley are conducting the best operations through the night and are lying idle during the day.

This is owing to intense heat, more than 100 horses having died from prostration during the past week, according to reports that have reached here.

Editor Kills Former California Official Growing out of the rival claims of the towns of Quincy and Greenville for a $40,000 high school now under construction, J. A. Boyle, the former city engineer, was shot and killed by F. G. Hall, veteran editor of the Phoenix National Bulletin, of Quincy.

IDAHO WEATHER

Condensed Summary of Weather-Conditions for the Month of July

The month was one of excessive cloudiness, frequent and heavy precipitation and marked contrasts in temperature. The mean temperature was, with one exception, the lowest since 1903, and the cool period that culminated on the morning of the 14th gave minimum temperatures as low as the lowest recorded since 1901, and caused some damage in elevated districts. The number of clear days was, with one exception, the smallest on record for July and the number of rainy days was the greatest on record. The average precipitation was more than double the normal amount, and was the greatest on record. The greater part of the state received more than one inch of rain, with in part of Boise watershed the total was more than six inches. A large part of the rain fell during the last decade, a period which over much of southern Idaho is ordinarily nearly rainless. The heavy rains caused some local damage but were generally beneficial, reviving vegetation and augmenting the water supply.

The mean temperature was 65.7 degrees, which is 2.2 degrees below normal. The highest monthly mean was 75.2 degrees at Garnet, Elmore county, and the lowest was 54 degrees at Pierson, Custer county. The highest temperature recorded was at Glenns Ferry, Elmore county on the 20th and at Weiser, Washington county on the 20th. The lowest was 22 degrees at Leo Creek, Custer county and at New Meadows, Adams county on the 14th. The greatest daily range was 63 degrees at Moore, Blaine county on the 16th. The greatest monthly range was 72 degrees at Glenns Ferry and Mountain Home, Elmore county.

The average precipitation was 1.92 inches, which is 1.15 inches above normal. The greatest monthly amount was 6.35 inches at Spring Hill, Ada county and the least was 0.10 of an inch at Lewiston, Nez Perce county. The greatest amount in 24 hours was 3.13 inches at Vernon, Fremont county on the 24th. The average number of days with a measurable amount of precipitation was 7.

The total movement of wind in miles at the regular Weather Bureau stations was as follows: Boise 3,980; Lewiston 2,820; Pocatello 5,455. Highest velocities in miles per hour were as follows: Boise 30 from the northwest on the 1st; Pocatello 27 from the west on the 6th; Lewiston 30 from the southwest on the 22nd. The prevailing direction of the wind was southwest.

There was an average of 17 days clear, 9 partly cloudy and 5 cloudy. The percentage of the possible amount of sunshine was as follows: Boise 81; Spokane, Wash., 80.

Birthdays Celebrated

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer was on Sunday the scene of a very pleasant dinner party in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Meyer.

The present were Mesdames D. Scharnhorst, Con Steltz, Frank Kraut, Herman Nebelsieck, G. Buechler, F. R. Meyer, Mat Caruhun, J. H. Pader, Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Wolf, Messrs. and Mesdames H. Flomer, H. Meyer, Nebelsieck, Agnes Sophie Meyer, and George Meyer of Pullman.

An elaborate luncheon was served and both Mrs. Meyer and Mrs. Buechler were the recipients of many nice presents.

The Moscow Mirror of Saturday is breaking the fact that Amos Tuck French of New York, one of the "high-ups" of the Northern Pacific was in, through, Moscow on Saturday on a tour of inspection but did not deign to stop in that city long enough to be seen for an interview. They should feel flattered that he even went through that city. He passed Genesee up entirely, not even coming down this way to see what a fine (?) roadstead there is between this city and Pullman. He missed the most important part of his whole western trip.

Archie Harris has been showing his friends some potatoes which he thinks are about the best ever, and from a prolific standpoint they are hard to beat. He was exhibiting a basketful which he said was taken from one hill and which contained 46 potatoes, which weighed ten pounds.

Mrs. Frank Grieser is ill at her ranch home.

PLAY AFTERNOON

A Goody Number of Children Present—The Club Room

Some 25 or 30 children gathered in the park last Friday afternoon for their play time and if one was to judge from the laughing and screams of delight they had a wonderful time.

They had some stories and it is reported there is some splendid talent among the children themselves.

Much credit is due the ladies who have this in charge.

There is hope in the hearts of many that a room shall be obtained which will be suitable for a rest and reading room and also furnish a suitable place for the meetings of the Improvement Society and the Commercial club.

If such a room could be secured on the main street and on the ground floor, it would be a suitable place for the grain and produce exhibit of the Commercial club and the fruit and fancy work of the ladies. A part of such exhibit could become permanent and would certainly be a valuable asset to our town.

Should not this "dream-hope" be realized? PRES. COMMITTEE.

EQUAL TO OCCASIONS.

A Man of Quick Wit and Prompt Action Was Lord Whitworth.

Lord Whitworth, who held various posts of honor in English diplomatic circles, was a kindly, gracious gentleman as well as a wit and a man of the world. He had indeed almost measured swords with Napoleon at the Tulleries when that despot railed at England for not having eyesight.

By a son of the same name, but of a different name, was a very good pun, for the word used by Lord Whitworth means "to see" and "to see" is also a great word.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

How to Halve Household Bills.

There is no one thing alone which stands for economy. One must study the daily needs and be well acquainted with standard prices. There is much truth in the saying, "Where there is a will there is a way."

The cheaper cuts of meat are just as palatable when cooked properly. A tough round steak may be pounded well, which literally will tear and season well, after which it is ready for a hot frying pan. When cooked it is deliciously tender. Meat once a day is a little better than meat every day, especially in summer. Baked macaroni with cheese is a good substitute.

When the oven is on it is well to get as much cooking done as possible so as to save fuel. After the oven is well heated the hot burner may be turned off and an even heat remains.

Splendid soups may be made by left-overs. Leftover vegetables with scraps of meat, to which a handful of rice and a little butter, may be added, will be added, are very nutritious. Left-overs from the counter to messes of bread are saved and either ground for bread-meats, made into puddings or used for dressings.

After all, the high cost of living is a matter which can be controlled by the individual. It is not so much the amount eaten as the amount wasted that makes household bills so high.

DESTRUCTIVE INSECTS.

How to Battle With Cabbage and Other Insect Pests.

No time should be lost in destroying weeds and insects. It is labor that must not be neglected. Insects are easily controlled if the work is begun early.

There are two kinds of insects—the biting and the sucking species. To the biting kind belong the Colorado potato beetle, the cutworm, etc., which devour a portion of the plant. The sucking insects belong to the family of plant lice and grasshoppers.

Some internal poison, such as paris green or arsenate of lead, must be used to destroy the insects, while a solution that kills by contact, such as kerosene emulsion or tobacco decoction, must be used for the sucking species.

Cabbage and other plant lice are best controlled by spraying with kerosene emulsion, using the 15 per cent of kerosene. If the lice are on trees, flowers or rosebushes tobacco decoction may be used with good results.

It is best to spray before the insects are numerous. There should be several sprayings, four or five days apart, as one spraying will not completely do the work.

It is important in fighting these insects, as with many others.

How to Remove Stains.

Iron mold and dry ink stains may be removed by placing the stained material in a solution of salt water or lemon juice and allowing it to steep until they disappear or by placing the stained part over a basin and pouring hot water over it.

Stains on the face may be removed by placing a little of the solution on the face and rubbing it in.

How to Keep Buttons.

Some care should be taken in the use of buttons. They should be placed in the top of each box. This is a good plan, as it keeps the buttons dry and free from dirt.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Foreign Powers Favor Efforts of United States for Peaceful Settlement in Mexico

Washington.—Great Britain, France and Japan are among the countries who have interposed their influence upon the Huerta administration in Mexico in support of the efforts of the United States to bring about a peaceful settlement of the revolution.

That the United States is backed by a world-wide sentiment in its peace policy is conceded in diplomatic circles here. Tangible evidences of the attitude of France came in the news dispatches from Paris stating it was practically certain President Poincaré and Foreign Minister Pichon would not receive Francisco de la Barra, appointed minister to France by provisional President Huerta and now en route to his post in Mexico.

Assurances that Latin-America stands by President Wilson have been formally received here. This had been expected, however, as the interests of Central and South American countries, where volatility of government has prevailed through military dictatorship, are admitted in line with the attitude taken by the United States in the present situation.

Harry Thatcher is One of the Oldest Living Natives in the State

Harry Thatcher, deputy county auditor and recorder, is perhaps the oldest living native of Idaho still residing within the state, at least he has found a means of determining this and it is not unlikely he will be one of the honored pioneers of Idaho in attendance at the Rainmakers' carnival at Boise next month.

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

The Camas Prairie railroad company is expected to begin work at an early date on its new terminals at Lewiston, to cost $250,000.

Wardner-Kellogg spent $16,500 for automobiles during the season and the end is not yet in sight, according to the local agents.

The grain pool at Lewiston, comprising 18,000 bushels of wheat, has been purchased by the Pacific Coast Elevator company, of Portland. The price received is said to be satisfactory.

Preparations are being made by the Harrison Rogatta club for the celebration of their labor day. Beside the boat races, there will be a baseball game, foot races, music by the St. Mark's band and a dance.

The state tax commission dismissed the appeal of the Potlatch Lumber company from the order of the county commissioners of Latah county, sitting as a county board of equalization, to set aside a homestead tax of 40 per cent on the timber held by that company.

Hedges, lawns, shade trees and gardens are feed for millions of grasshoppers which have infested the residence district of Lewiston. Efforts to combat them are without success. Reports of more serious damage in the farming district near here are coming daily.

With a sensational murder trial, founded upon the mysterious shooting of a rancher from ambush as its principal card, the calendar for the August term of the district court in Idaho county presents what is expected to be the most interesting court session in the history of the county.

The delinquent tax roll for Nez Perce county is the smallest in the history of the county. Unpaid assessments this year in the county outside the city of Lewiston are $16,887. Last year this figure was $18,875. In Lewiston there is $1950 unpaid, while last year this figure was $3437.

Mayor Nelson's refusal to sign a warrant for $400 which the city council of Coeur d'Alene had unanimously passed in favor of the Kootenai County Fair association and which amount the city's executive claimed could not be constitutionally paid, has been up from in an opinion given by the city attorney.

A mysterious fire completely destroyed the plant of the Larkin flour mill at Peck. When the flames were discovered the fire had reached such a stage that it was impossible to combat them. The estimated loss will exceed $25,000, which is partially covered by insurance. Flour stored in the building, worth $8000, was lost but is covered by insurance.

The state board of equalization equalized the holdings of the Washington Water Power company in the three counties of Shoshone, Kootenai and Bonner at $2,388,102, adopting almost to a cent the same measure given by Frank S. Dietrich of the federal district court on the value of the holdings of that company in the three counties.

Voters in the Wardner-Kellogg district will elect two school directors to succeed S. S. Bonham of Wardner and William McDougal, Kellogg, on Sept. 2. Bonham will not be a candidate for reelection and C. C. Cooper has been suggested as his successor. McDougal will probably be reelected.

Paul Kellogg, having taken an active part in the board's work. The ranchers living east of Bonners Ferry and north of the river have decided to employ Attorney G. Martin of Sandpoint to draw up a remonstrance against being included in drainage district No. 6, and to present their case before Judge Flynn at Sandpoint Sept. 17. They feel that their land can not be benefited by widening the narrows of Kootenai lake and that building dikes along the bank of the river will be too great a drain on their resources.

The body of Nicholas Knoles, son of Henry Knoles, a prominent sheep man of Asotin county, Wash., who was drowned in a lake in the Thunder mountain country, has been recovered. Knoles was dived to cross the lake, which is about 100 yards wide at its widest point, on back of his horse. The young man took the dare, and in some manner or other his horse stumbled, carrying the rider to the bottom of the lake and presumably stoning him.

Game Law Synopsis There has been some considerable discussion and no little argument about the game laws of the state and particularly in Latah county, and it might be well for some who are in a hurry, to read their licenses carefully. Those having licenses will be able to settle the question to their own satisfaction, at least, by reading the reverse side of their license. That part affecting this county is as follows:

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO
Important Occurrences of the Past Week From Cities In Our State Bridge Opening Interest Grows
Lewiston.—The celebration of the purchase of the Lewiston-Clarkston bridge, about September 1, may assume greater proportions. Many in the Palouse country feel as keen an interest as Lewiston, Clarkston and Asotin. Pullman, Moscow, Genesee, and Uniontown are anxious to take part in the festivities.
The outside Washington towns see in the purchase of the bridge a possible linking of these districts with the proposed Washington state highway which may serve the important towns in the southern part of the state with the main trunk line which has already been constructed. The favor with which the Idaho officials have looked upon the proposed highway makes the desire of great cooperation with the Palouse towns even more potent.

LANE HANGS OVER CANYON
Braves Dangers of Perilous Trip in Skiff, Hanging by Cables.
Boise.—Swinging over the great gap in the canyon of Boise river 300 feet above the construction work on the Arrow Rock dam, Secretary Franklin Lane, of the interior department, braved all the dangers of this perilous trip in a skiff dangling by cables to inspect the wonderful engineering feat the reclamation service is executing in the erection of the highest impounding concrete irrigation dam in the world. The act of the secretary when he volunteered to make the ride in the skiff with Chief Engineer A. P. Davis is taken by reclamation engineers to be conclusive of his desire to get first hand at the inside facts of work executed under his department.

Attempts Life of Wife and Kills Self
Emmett.—Edward Dewalt is dead with a bullet in his brain and his wife is suffering from a wound on the head inflicted with a large steel file as the result of a family quarrel. About 10 o'clock the neighbors in the vicinity of the Dewalt home were aroused by the sound of a shot. They ran in the direction of the sound and found Dewalt wailing in his own blood in front of his own home. Rumors flew through the town to the effect that he had first shot his wife and then killed himself. This report proved erroneous so far as the woman is concerned. It was found that Dewalt had struck his wife on the head with a large file and the supposition is that he passed out and shot himself dead under the impression that he had first killed his wife.

TROOPS PLAY AT WAR GAME
Idaho National Guard Holds Comparative Battle.
Boise.—A sample of what a regiment of infantry might expect if in a real war was given to the Second Infantry, Idaho National Guard, when that body of soldiers in encampment here was aroused from its slumber and rushed toward Barberston in the foothills to destroy a large bridge and bar a supposed enemy from crossing the Boise river.
An advance guard with signal corps ran across the camp of the enemy and found a brigade on the side of the river. The signal corps then climbed one of the high hills and signaled the regiment, stopping its advance a safe distance away. The regiment carefully covered its retreat. Competitive record shooting is now in progress on the range.

Reclaim St. Joe Land
Courer d'Alene.—The plan to form a new drainage district in the vicinity of Medimont, Kootenai county, on the St. Joe river, all in township 48, north range 2 west, was recommended by preliminary No. 1 commissioners and Engineer J. V. Phinney together with a preliminary report which was filed with the county clerk. The report says the benefits to the land contained would be large and the proposed dike would in no way injure the adjacent lands. The residents along the river in a radius of 10 miles are anxious for the district to be completed.

Wallace School Bonds Approved.
Wallace.—The trustees of local independent schools recently received word that the issuing of $55,000 of bonds for the new high school building and gymnasium has been passed on and approved by attorneys of C. H. Coffin of Chicago, the successful bidder for the bonds at a premium of $801, and that as soon as the bonds can be lithographed and signed by the local officials the money will be forthcoming.

FOUND ITS GOLDEN HEAD.
Riddle of a Marble Column in Italy Read by a Baggar.
Near the monastery of San Vito, in Naples, stood a marble column that had been erected by an eccentric Frenchman about the beginning of the last century. On it were written in French the following enigmatic words: "On May 1 every year I have a golden head."
The inscription sorely puzzled the inhabitants of Naples. On May 1 the year after the erection of the column a great crowd came to it in the hope of finding the top covered with gold pieces. Needless to say, they went home with their pockets as empty as they were when they came.
Four successive years people came to see the promised wonder and went away disappointed. At last the authorities had the column taken down in the belief that treasure would be found beneath it. Nothing but earth was found, and so the column was set up again. Obviously the words had a mystic meaning but no one was clever enough to guess it, and for years the riddle remained unsolved.

Finally in 1841 a ragged beggar named Annibale Tosci noticed the inscription. He stood looking at it for a long time while he pondered its meaning. Then suddenly the solution of the riddle flashed into his mind. He waited patiently until May 1 before he tested the accuracy of his interpretation of the mystic words.
On the day mentioned in the inscription Tosci, bearing a pick and shovel, set out at daybreak for the column. He arrived before any chance visitors, and as soon as the monastery's bells tolled he started digging in the ground covered by the shadow of the top of the column. He had not dug long before he came on a satchel that contained 50,000 francs. The discovery was a true one—the head of the column covered the golden treasure every year on May 1.
Annibale Tosci, the beggar whose sharp guess had given him comparative wealth, became a landowner near Mantua. He died at the age of ninety-four.—Youth's Companion.

HISTORIC RAILROAD TRIP.
Fillmore and Webster on the Erie's First Through Train.
The completion of the Erie was the most important event in the history of railroad building down to that time—a matter of national consequence. Recognition of this fact was made when in May, 1851, a special train carried on a two days' trip through the mountains and valleys of southern New York, sweet with the leaves and blossoms of early summer. President Fillmore, four members of his cabinet and other officials of national distinction. Daniel Webster, majestic even under his heavy burden of age and ill-health, was secretary of state in Fillmore's cabinet and rode on that first through train. He made the journey in a rocking chair lashed to a flat car, that he might lose nothing of the scenery and the sweet of the fresh verdure. Nor was he too feeble to enjoy the great barbecue at Dunkirk, where oxen and sheep were roasted whole, pork and venison cooked in vessels holding fifty gallons each, bread was baked in loaves ten feet long and two feet thick, so heavy that two men staggered under their burden, and the whole was served at a table 300 feet long, spread under a specially built long, open Railroad street from Deer to Lion street.
It was a great day for Dunkirk; it was a great day for New York state and the nation, and was a great day also for President Fillmore, who found the pork and beans especially to his taste.—Wells Fargo Messenger.

Soaking the Clothes.
Mrs. Browning had a new domestic named Agnes.
"Agnes," said the mistress, "did you put the clothes in soak?"
"O! did not," answered the girl.
"Did you want me to mum?"
"Why, certainly," was the reply.

About two hours later Agnes presented herself to her mistress.

Two Separators Explode

In addition to the Anderson machine, which exploded last week, one belonging to Kirk & Andrews exploded from smut accumulating in the interior of the machine. A. C. Frohman, separator tender, was standing on top of the machine when the explosion occurred. He was thrown from the top of the machine and his face and right hand were badly burned, but no serious results are expected.

A machine belonging to Frank Fuchs of the same neighborhood, also blew up on Saturday evening just as they were cleaning up and preparing to quit the job. The grain had all been thrashed and they were scraping up around the separator in order that no grain should be left on the ground, when the explosion occurred. A coat was later found and it was the opinion of some that the garment had been run through the machine and that there had been matches in one of the pockets, causing the explosion. Pieces of the machine went as high as 40 feet in the air—it is reported. No one was seriously hurt.

Prizes for Students

Attention is called to the prizes to be given at the County Fair for children's work. Pupils will compete by grades in penmanship, drawing in charcoal or pencil, and work in water colors. Girls who are interested in sewing and fancy work and boys who like to make garden, work with tools or who are interested in photography, should secure a copy of the premium list and look it over carefully.

It is not too late even now to organize clubs in sewing and bread making in order to compete for the trip to the State fair. Any teacher, trustee or interested person who can secure the agreement of five or more pupils is authorized to form a club. Names should be sent to the State superintendent that the club may be registered and receive a number and also to the County superintendent.

Ice Factory For Moscow

That Moscow is to have an ice machine is an assured fact. It has been talked of for some time but the scheme has now gotten beyond mere talk. W. S. Robbins and helpers are making ready to install a monstrous machine, capable of making tons and tons of frozen water on short notice. Moscow's water supply has been pronounced as pure as Ivory soap, and the ice Mr. Robbins will manufacture will be entirely sanitary as well as solid. Think of the delights that are to come to us during the hot months of next year when we drink lemonade and melt ice cream on our tongues.

And this may explain why Mr. Robbins resigned his office as chief of police. An ice factory will probably earn a larger income than a policeman. We are glad Mr. Robbins will give us safe and sane ice.—Idaho Post.

Anyway, Morgan aped his swish up in a tree and proceeded to train his artillery on it until within a short time there was no danger of anyone else being attacked by the bird. Morgan claims self defense.

POLO GAMES AT THE SPOKANE FAIR

POLO, the most exciting of all games or contests, will be seen in the Inland Empire for the first time in history when the big 1913 International Fair opens on Sept. 15. Not one team, but many, including the champion poloists of Canada and of the Pacific Coast, will engage in a polo tournament throughout the entire week of the fair. A massive solid silver trophy cup will be given to the victorious team and other trophies offered for the various games and individual players. The center field at the Fair Grounds has been made as smooth and green as a lawn under the supervision of the Spokane Park Board. All hydrants, light poles and other obstructions have been removed, and the field will give a clear view of some of the most exciting polo matches ever witnessed by the American public. There is intense rivalry between the poloists of Canada and those of the Pacific Coast, and Spokane is fortunate to have the first Northwestern International Tournament take place on its soil.

Southern California has hitherto monopolized most of the Pacific Slope polo enthusiasm, the tournaments at Coronado, Burlingame and Riverside being most famous, but the contagion has spread, and Portland, Boise, Vancouver, Victoria, Kelowna, Calgary and many other Western Canadian cities now possess teams, most of which are already entered for the Spokane games.

With the international matches between England and America at the famous Meadowbrook Tournament in the east and the contest at Spokane between Canada and America, polo should become known by and deservedly popular with thousands of people who have never yet seen it played.

That the Eastern Oregon-Southern Idaho fair circuit will offer some excellent racing programs at the fall meets, is assured by the agreement of the various fairs to cooperate in arranging all the fair dates so that the horse owners will be assured of five weeks' racing over a short circuit. The Baker county fair took the lead, arranging tentative programs and sending them out to all the other associations for approval. They were also sent to the leading horsemen of the northwest. That all events will fill early is likely. La Grande, Baker, Ontario, Caldwell and Boise form the Eastern Oregon-Southern Idaho circuit working together good results are assured.

SNAKES AS THEY FEED.

When They Start Swallowing They Never Know When to Stop.

The swallowing process is a serious one for a snake, which cannot draw itself painfully over its prey by latching its jaws, armed with backward curving teeth, forward, on one side of the head, and by similar movements of the neck, ribs and skin, until the whole mass has finally reached the protracted stomach. The snake's jaws are attached to the skull, and the bones of the head and neck are connected by elastic ligaments which may be so stretched that an object considerably larger than the head itself may be swallowed if rightly seized; hence prey is usually turned about after killing it until its nose is foremost, when the undertaking begins. A copious flow of saliva assists deglutition.

Once started, a snake never knows when to stop; has little ability to do so, indeed, and the prey rarely kicks loose. It has happened frequently in zoological collections that a large snake has swallowed a smaller one mechanically, as it were, when each has seized the same food animal. Both swallowed at it until the larger reached the nose of the smaller diner and then kept right on eating. Both swallowed in its mouth, unless the victim of its voracity managed quickly to let go of the fare and escape.

Barrett tells us, in his book on the care of animals in the London zoo, of one case where a lion constrictor devoured a cage mate nine feet long who did not feel disposed to let go of his half of a pigeon. Next morning this lion could not eat, but had to be killed to make room for another. Both swallows at it until the larger reached the nose of the smaller diner and then kept right on eating. Both swallowed in its mouth, unless the victim of its voracity managed quickly to let go of the fare and escape.

BULLET PHOTOGRAPHY.

Curious Effect of Shooting Through a Moving picture has been made at the rate of 100,000 a second in contrast with the rate of fifteen or twenty a second when a camera is used. It is reduced on a screen to give the eye the impression of a continuous picture. The only thing that moves fast enough to make such tremendous speed worth using is a bullet, and some extraordinary pictures of bullets have been taken at this rate, seventy-two pictures a second. A revolver bullet as it moved ten inches from the muzzle. Pictures of a bullet passing through sticks of wood were also taken. The bullet passed completely through the thin stick and was well on its way beyond before the wood gave any sign of disturbance. Then some splinters started out, following the bullet; the stick began to split, and after the bullet had proceeded some distance the stick suddenly fell in pieces. No camera shutters are fast enough to take pictures at anything like this speed, so no shutter was used.

Instead of a series of electric sparks was flashed, the sparks following one another at the rate of 100,000 a second, each spark making a picture. The film was mounted on a wheel about three feet in circumference, and the wheel was revolved at the rate of 9,000 revolutions a minute. When all was ready the bullet was shot, the sparks flashed and the wheel revolved, the actual exposure being limited to a fraction of a second so as not to pile up pictures the one over the other.—Saturday Evening Post.

FACING TORTURES.

The Sublime Courage Shown by an American Indian.

WILLING TO DIE FOR ANOTHER.

Story of a Dramatic Episode in Which the Iowa and Musquakie Tribes Fought—Herosm That Won the Admiration of the Enemy.

A striking story of the courage and self-sacrifice of which the American Indian at his best is capable is given by O. H. Mills in the Des Moines Register and Leader. It was told to the white men by the famous Sue chief, Hans Hawk, who himself saw the incident.

It all began with an unfortunate quarrel between an Iowa and a Musquakie, in which the latter killed the former and then in a moment of frenzy scaped his victim. The two tribes were at peace, and this act, allowable only in time of war, was an insult to the eyes, an intolerable breach of good faith.

The Musquakies offered all sorts of reparations, but the Iowa would accept nothing but the person of the offender, to be tortured and put to death in proportion of the outraged spirit of the dead man. To this the Musquakies agreed on condition that the culprit be given a month to fortify himself for his terrible ordeal. But just as the month was about to expire he fell ill with a raging fever. In that condition he could not be carried across the river, but he insisted upon making the sacrifice. Accordingly an escort was selected to accompany him, at the head of which Black Hawk, Sue's chief, was placed.

The others tried to dissuade him and described to him the tortures he would have to undergo, but he insisted upon making the sacrifice. Accordingly an escort was selected to accompany him, at the head of which Black Hawk, Sue's chief, was placed. "I never saw a more pathetic scene," said Black Hawk, "than the parting of Cono and his father and mother and other relatives. The whole tribe was overwhelmed with gloom."

In the middle of the afternoon the party arrived at the Iowa's village. Cono had asked that his identity should not be disclosed, but one of the Iowas was present at the time the young Indian was slain, and he told the young chief, who said that the guilty party was not being delivered, and Black Hawk told the whole story. The Iowa chief accepted the true and after a brief council, consented to the arrangement. The death circle was staked out and patrolled with armed guards, and Cono was placed in its center, while his escort was entertained in the tepee of the chief. It was a chill November day, and the sun was still sinking behind the cliffs of the Des Moines river when the escort left the camp.

They paused on a hill about a half mile distant from the camp. They could see that the fire had been lighted round the death circle, and in the hush of the evening came the plaintive sound of Cono chanting his death song. He was kneeling on his hands and knees, his head bowed, and he was weeping. This was his remarkable story:

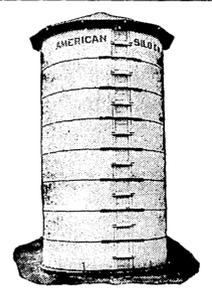

The fire of the death circle were burning brightly, and the squaws with their burning sticks were preparing to make the first attempt to extort a cry of pain and agony, when an old man, the father of the dead Indian, raised his voice:

"Stop!" he said. "Let me speak. I am the one that has suffered. My son was killed and scolded by a Musquakie. I was hungry for revenge, and were the one that killed and scolded him here I would shoot with joy at his head. But this young man is brave. Never have I seen such bravery before. He is too good a man to torture and kill. Release him and let him return to his own people."

Although the entire village a few hours before had been eager for revenge, there was a murmur of approval as the old man gathered his blanket about him and took his seat. Without any one's making a single objection, Cono was removed from the circle and given food and drink. A few hours later he was led from the camp, allowed to mount his own pony and depart in peace.

GOOD LUCK IN A POSE.

Accidental Success Won Through a Gladstone Photograph.

"An literature," said a publisher, "popular success frequently comes by accident. A remarkable case was that of J. H. Gladstone. This man, a poor chemist, spent some years writing a book called 'John Inglesant.' But the publishers would have none of 'John Inglesant,' and finally Mr. Gladstone printed 100 copies at his own expense. 'Only forty of these copies sold, one purchaser being a photographer. The photographer took Mr. Gladstone's picture and sent it to the publisher. The man chose a studious pose, sitting with a volume in his hand. He bent in absorption over the work, which happened accidentally to be 'John Inglesant,' and in the thousands of copies of the photograph that were sold the book's name was plainly to be made out."

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 853; calves 344; hogs 640; sheep 8630, and horses 1.

Grain arrivals have been very light. Prices advanced 25 cents for the mid-week offerings and one load sold Friday as high as $9.15 and one at $9.05. Only two loads available at the week end.

Liberal receipts of sheep, with prices holding a little better, a good start. Most of the lambs received at the week end sold at $5.25 "off cars." Prime yearling weathers $4 to $4.35. Prime ewes $3.50 to $3.85.

E. S. Rice, Manager

Announcement has been made by the board of directors of the Midvale Elevator & Milling Company, that E. S. Rice, the past year's manager and purchasing agent of the Payette-Weiser Milling Company, had been appointed manager and purchasing agent of their warehouse. Mr. Rice is one of the most experienced and capable warehousemen in the northwest. He was highly commended for his excellent work while in the employ of the Payette-Weiser Milling Company, by the fair association of offering special cash purses for the automobile and motorcycle races and a classification for road machines and touring cars will be made.

As a special feature in connection with this part of the program, the association is now negotiating for the appearance of Barney Oldfield, the holder of the world's record for fast driving. Oldfield's only life insurance is the substantial construction of his machine and his reputation for driving is such that a great exhibition is assured even though the condition of the track would not permit him to approach his present record.

Regardless of the fact that the white flag (of truce) was displayed by the weather bureau on Monday, the weather man seemingly got hold of the wrong stop and let the rain out, but it was not heavy enough to bother the thrashers.

HUTS AND HATS.

Man's Headgear Was First Fashioned After His Habitation.

It has been pointed out that the form of the hat bears a certain relation to buildings of a primitive nature—huts. A distinguished archaeologist has invited attention to the curious resemblance that has existed and that is still to be found in many countries between headgear and habitations of other buildings. It may be that of the same taste, or the lack of it, has given rise to the similarity of style, or in the beginning the designer of the hat may have taken the hut as a model.

In the Hawaiian Islands, long before the inhabitants took the trouble to clothe themselves, they built grass houses, and at the present time the characteristic Hawaiian hut is remarkably like the hut.

AN UGLY QUARREL—MUCH EXCITEMENT

Olaf J. Pearson Receives Some Severe Wounds—Will Lose Left Eye

The people in the vicinity of the H. P. Carlson home were startled on last Saturday evening by the cries of "Murder! Help! Help!" and at the same time witnessed two men running down the street toward town, one seemingly chasing the other. After running a block or two the runners came upon two men upon the sidewalk who had been standing talking and they inquired the trouble, whereupon the one in the rear stopped and turned back, the other falling to the ground, having run as far as he could. The men inquired the trouble and found that the man had been severely wounded and was bleeding profusely from wounds on the head and body, whereupon he was assisted to Dr. Ehlen's office where his wounds were dressed.

Another school year has started with its usual preliminaries. Both the superintendent and the principal addressed the high school Tuesday morning. News Snapshots Of the Week. Harry K. Thaw escaped from the Matteawan State Insane Asylum and fled to Canada where he was captured and lodged in the county jail at Sherbrooke, Quebec. His wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, said she feared Thaw would get the freedom and then "something dreadful" would happen. His case will come up before Supreme Court Justice Globesky at Sherbrooke on Aug. 27. Thaw waited on at a table at Matteawan when the news spread of his escape to try to induce a work woman. He then was appointed governor general of the Philippines. The first race between a Franco-Philippine and a motorboat in America took place at Chicago when Glen Martin's water bird beat the fast motorboat schoa Redinger.

Sam Goodiana was again exonerated by a coroner's jury at Pochello for shooting and killing Louis Schifano, who persisted in forcing an unwelcome attendance upon Goodiana's sister-in-law. He has been adjudged feeble-minded and will be sent to Orofino if a brother and sister whom he has in the east do not care to take charge of him. Gleason is about 60 years of age and a bachelor.

Secretary Lane's announcement, while in Oregon, that he was heartily in favor of an additional loan of $300,000 to the reclamation fund to make possible the early completion of projects now under construction or authorized, has given encouragement to Senator Burah, author of such a bill, which is now pending before the senate irrigation committee. Supported by Secretary Lane and the united western contingent in congress, Senator Burah is hopeful that his bill will receive favorable consideration at the regular session of congress, and on Secretary Lane's return to Washington, he will have a conference with him in regard to the bill in question.

San Francisco, Cal.—Warrants for to have gone on for years along the Pacific coast with the connivance of these customs guards is in the hands of Collector of the Port J. O. Davis.

Collector Davis declares that the opium ring, thoroughly organized, with representatives in China and Pa-operations from which the profits amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO
Important Occurrences of The Past Week From Cities
In Our State
Inspector Seizes Goods.
Lewiston.—For three days A. H.
Wilson, deputy inspector, has been inspecting the stocks in Lewiston mercantile houses and has been removing quantities of canned goods from the market which do not comply with the pure food laws.
Quantities of canned meats are being placed on the market under deceptive labels. Some of the goods removed from the shelves bear inspection labels of dates prior to June 30, 1906.

OLD WELL YIELDS BONES
Excavation for New Building Leads to Discovery of Human Skeletons Weiser.—Gossip among the pioneers of this section of the state with the discovery of a number of skeletons on the Neely ranch, east of the city, while a basement was being dug, but as yet there seems to be no solution of the mystery.
The first discovery was made when a number of small bones, thought to be human, were unearthed at a depth of several feet. Later the skull was exposed. This was followed by the discovery of other skeletons. The positions indicated beyond doubt that the bodies had been buried head downward. Closer investigation also revealed that they had been buried in a well.
Soon after the discovery Mr. Neely notified Coroner McCann, who went to the scene at once and brought the skeletons to town. A careful investigation indicated that some of the bones were of women. Opinions differ as to whether they are of Indians or white people, but they are generally believed to be of Indians.

Appeal is Taken.
Boise.—The American Surety Company of New York has appealed from the judgment of the District Court for Blaine county in the case of the state of Idaho and for the use and benefit of Clara Mills et al. vs. the American Surety Company. In the trial court the surety company was held liable to the depositors of the defunct Idaho State Bank of Italy for the failure of William G. Cruise, ex-state bank examiner, faithfully to perform his duties.

Bag of Hoppers Trapped.
Lewiston.—A grain bag, arranged on the pilot of a locomotive, proved an effective trap for grasshoppers and when the train on the Galawatier branch reached Lewiston, the sack was filled with the pests.
The trainmen say the catch was effective by the grasshoppers flying in the bag as the train speeded its way from Sites to this city.

DISCUSS WORKMEN'S LAW
Committee on Compensation Meets at Sandpoint.
Sandpoint.—The members of the workmen's compensation committee appointed by Governor Haines to draft a compensation measure to be introduced at the next session of the legislature, met here in the offices of A.
H. Connor. The members of the committee are J. C. H. McReynolds, chairman, A. H. Connor of Sandpoint, E.
M. Hoover of Boise, Walter H. Hanson of Wallace, J. P. Nicholas of Wardner and T. W. Rickard of Pocatello. Mr. Connor was elected secretary of the committee and Mr. Hoover treasurer.
The subject was discussed at length and general plans laid out for the work to be done. Data will be gathered among the industries of the number of men employed, average wages, the number of accidents and what they have cost the employer and the number of cases that have gone to trial. Also the cost to the state and prospects for damage suits will be ascertained.

Explosion Wrecks Thresher.
Kendrick.—Following an explosion caused by smut the separator belonging to J. W. Pirell, a thresherman and extensive farmer on Big Potlatch ridge, was completely destroyed by fire. The strawstack was destroyed, but the grain was saved.
Work Commenced on Play Grounds.
Wallace.—A large force of men is now at work installing apparatus for the children's playground which is to be established here. It is expected that the grounds will be thrown open to the youngsters inside of a week.

NEW YORK GIANTS AND UMPIRE MOBBED
Forfeiture of Game to Philadelphia Causes Fans to Make Demonstration.
Philadelphia.—Manager McGraw of the New York Giants and Umpire Brennan narrowly escaped a mob here and hours after their train pulled out, baseball fans of the city were still voicing their anger at the action of Brennan in forfeiting a game to the Giants after the Phillies had reached the ninth inning with a score of 9 to 6 against the New York team.
The New York and Philadelphia factious have different stories to tell of the cause of the trouble, but the game developed was a serious one for a time. Toward the close of the game several hundred fans moved into the center field bleachers, directly in line with the batter and pitcher.
When the Giants came to bat, Mc-Graw protested to Brennan, asserting that the background fire created by the fans with their coats of interfered with the batting eyes of his men. The fans refused to comply with the order of Brennan to put on their coats and Manager Doon refused to order the police to clear the bleachers. Brennan then ordered the bleachers cleared and when the police refused to act, he declared the game forfeited.
Immediately after Brennan's decision 20,000 fans swarmed onto the field. Police surrounded Brennan and exercised him through the crowd. He was struck with cushions, however, several times.

PACIFIC LET IN CANAL
Waters Pour in and for First Time
Lap Masonry of Miraflores Locks
Panama.—The last remaining barrier at the Pacific end of the Panama canal was blown up by dynamite Sunday morning.
A workman seized a shovel and made a small trench through which a rill of water trickled. Gradually it widened until an hour later a raging torrent, with a 35-foot fall, poured into the canal. The water rushed into that part of the canal between Gamboa dike and the Miraflores locks.

Board Says West Unjust to Morson
Salem, Or.—Declaring that they would not be parties to a "persecution of the innocent" the board of directors of the Oregon Land company and would do everything in their power to get the federal government to extend the contract with the state for two years, Treasurer Kay, Attorney-General Crawford and State Engineer H. H. Hays, today issued a signed statement explaining their position as members of the Desert Land Board in the controversy with Governor West.
They insist that J. E. Morson, president of the company, has been treated unjustly and should be allowed to complete the irrigation work.

EMPLOYERS MAY FIX EXPENSES OF GIRLS
Olympia, Wash.—Employers of women in industries in the state of Washington, in being examined preparatory to the fixing of a minimum wage, will be required to face the embarassing ordeal of telling just how much they think a working girl or woman should be allowed to spend in the course of a year on each one of a list of 30 separate items.
Indications are that the question will be embarrassing to many employers, not merely because it presupposes an intimate acquaintance with articles of feminine apparel and their cost, but because of the dilemma in which it will place employers who pay low wages. These are forced to face the prospect either of placing their estimates below the cost at which the articles in question may actually be procured, or of confessing, by placing their estimates higher, that a working girl or woman cannot support herself on the wages they pay.

Judge Speer Denies Charges
Savannah, Ga.—In a communication to Chairman Henry Clayton, of the judiciary committee of the house, adding for a copy of the charges pending against him, and for permission to appear before the committee in his own defense, Judge Emory S. Speer, of the Southern Federal Georgia District, makes a general denial.

Legislators Called to Sulzer Trial
Albany.—A formal call for the state legislature to assemble here at noon
September 18 for the impeachment proceedings against Governor William Sulzer, charged with malfeasance in office, has been issued.
Short Shift for Guilty Paymasters.
El Paso, Texas.—Two paymasters of the Mexican army, on route to the government troops at Chihuahua, escaped from the train with $200,000.
They were pursued, overtaken at Juney, and shot.

Brief News of the Week
The proposition to bond San Francisco in the sum of $2,500,000 to extend its municipal street railway system was passed by the voters by a big majority.

Letters from the north and returned stampede bring unfavorable news from the Shushanna, Alaska, gold field. Goldseekers going toward the camp meet discouraged men returning and many turned back, abandoning supplies on the trail.
Three submarine divers sent to the scene of the wreck of the steamship
State of California in Alaskan waters were able to descend only to the pinnacle of the rock on which the vessel struck. No further effort will be made to recover the 29 bodies supposed to lie in the cabin of the lost ship.
The palace of peace at The Hague was dedicated by Queen Wilhelmina in the presence of 2000 officials and delegates to the recent peace conference there. Andrew Carnegie received the grand cross of the Order of Orange-Nassau at the hands of the queen.
Precanceled stamps, the newest device adopted by the government, to save time in the delivery of packages and incidentally save hundreds of thousands to the government, will soon be in use. The new scheme calls for the cancellation of stamps before they are sold and they will be used by the big stores and mail order houses who send out great quantities of mail each day.
Fire which swept the steamship Im-perator, the largest vessel afloat, as she lay docked in Hoboken, caused the death of Second Officer Herman Gobrecht, the serious injury of Senman Stumpf, and created a panic among the 1131 steerage passengers who were aboard. Officials of the line estimated that the damage to the vessel itself would not be great.

RURAL CARRIERS MEET
Emery Vandenberg of Genesee Chosen Delegate to National Convention
The rural mail carriers of Latah county met in Moscow on Monday of this week and transacted much business of interest to the rural carriers and postmasters of this county.
The meeting was called to order by President Riggle of Kendrick, after which the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.
J. I. Mitcham, Geo. Buckalew and
C. E. Vandenberg were appointed a committee on resolutions, after which the meeting adjourned to meet again at 1:30 o'clock.
The meeting was called to order at the appointed time and an address delivered by ex-Gov. McConnell on "Organization and Alien Labor," J. I.
Mitcham responding.
The committee appointed to draft resolutions then reported and their recommendations accepted.
Dr. E. T. Baker, assistant state veterinarian spoke on "Diseases and Care of the Postmasters and Carriers," which was very beneficial and of great importance to the carriers. County Commissioner Woody spoke on "Good Roads," which is one of the most important subjects discussed, for without good roads the carriers are unable to make their route and for which cause the route may be discontinued. This address was followed by discussion by the carriers.
J. R. Collins, postmaster at Moscow, spoke on different subjects regarding patrons and the problems confronting both postmasters and carriers.
May 30, 1914, was chosen as the date and Kendrick as the place of the next meeting.
C. E. Vandenberg of Genesee was chosen as delegate to the national convention, which will be held in Evansville, Ind., and J. H. Gage, also of Genesee, was chosen as alternate.
Taken as a whole the meeting was a very pleasant and profitable one for all concerned.

To Banish Rats
Rats and mice will leave the premises where chloride of lime is used freely as a disinfectant. Nearly all cellars would be better for a frequent use of chloride, and the rats and mice object strongly to its odor, hence apply freely to places frequented by these rodents. The lime may be dissolved in water and poured into the holes; a trap set at a chloride hole will be apt to catch the rodent, which is better even than having him move to other quarters.
F. E. Dicus and Will Herman were among the hunters who went out after birds at the opening of the season on Monday. They report that shooting was only fair. They succeeded in capturing seven fine ones.
This part of the country was visited by quite a heavy wind and dust storm on last Sunday which caused many people to say things that would not look well in print. However, no damage was done.

OF
Ladies', Misses' and Children's FALL SUITS AND COATS
We want you to see these goods early and compare the quality, style and PRICE with the same goods at other towns. Every first-class store in every town or city in this whole country handles the some class of ladies' suits and coats that we do. All we ask is a comparison of prices. If money is any object to you, we are satisfied you will buy your winter suit or coat from us, for the reason it costs us less than half to do business in Genesee than it does in towns where rents and taxes are double what they are here.
Genesee will never amount to anything if the people in this town and vicinity persist in doing their trading in some other town. Think it over. If you can do just as well at home, why not give your town

The Ladies' Cemetery association of Moscow has succeeded, after some 16 years of patient work, in securing a chapel for their cemetery in that city. It was a long road but the turn was finally reached and their object accomplished. During all these years the ladies have spent many hundreds of dollars in beautifying their cemetery.

Press Committee

Some Interesting Figures
According to a report recently sent out by the Agricultural department at Washington, and which has some direct bearing on the present high cost of living, especially in the meat line, cattle, hogs and sheep are on the decrease and have been for some time, the figures covering a period of 26 years. In 1888 there were 49,234,777 cattle in the United States, while today, with our greatly increased population, there are but 56,527,000, which shows a heavy decrease per capita. In 1907 there were 72,533,996, which is the highest number during the 26 years for which the figures are given. Our population is increasing at the rate of 1-600,000 per year and the increase of cattle should be correspondingly great in order that the laboring man may be able to have meat at least as a luxury, while today the price is almost prohibitive. Hogs and sheep have decreased in like proportion to the increased population and the price is still soaring.

A Romance With a Point

A man entered a store one bitter cold day and bought a woolen muffler. When he opened the muffler he found inside of it the photograph of a beautiful girl, together with a note saying: "If you are single, please write to me." A name and address followed and the man smiled. He was single and he put the photograph on his sitting room mantel. There, every evening looking up from his book, he beheld it. It was very beautiful and in a week he had fallen head over heels in love. So he wrote to the girl. Another week passed, a week of anxious, nerve racking suspense. Then the love-sick man received this: "Sir—The Mary Smith to whom you wrote was my grandmother. She died nine years ago, aged 86. Yours truly." Our heartbroken bachelor, on looking into this strange matter found that he had bought the muffler from a dealer that did not advertise.

Moscow Boosters

About 100 boosters from Moscow, headed by a portion of their famous band, descended upon Genesee Thursday forenoon and spent about an hour talking fair and dispensing music. They were a bunch of live ones and their visit will no doubt be the means of adding many shekles to the gate receipts.

ANCIENT SECRETS. SPECIAL DAYS AT SPOKANE FAIR

Priceless Recipes That Are Now Lost to the World. COLORS OF THE OLD MASTERS.

They Are the Envy and the Despair of Parisians. Their Composition is a Mystery—Greek Fire and Roman Mortar.
Numerous are the trade secrets handed down generation by generation from father to son, and vast is the capital made out of some of them in the commercial world of today. Paradoxically, perhaps, is this the case among the numerous manufacturers of pliant sauces and the countless vendors of patent medicines. But there is also, it must be remembered, another side to the case. Many, alas, are the priceless trade secrets buried far down below the moldering dust of the misty past and lost to the world, perchance never again to be recovered. To cite the first example that occurs to the mind of the writer, for instance, what would a Royal academy of painting and present day give to the possessor of the secret held by the old masters—Raphael, Leonardo, Verrochio, Van Dyck and their competitors—for mixing their colors so as to render them imperishable and impervious to the ravage of time? The red colors especially of these artists of a bygone epoch are every whit as bright now as they were three long centuries ago. On the contrary, the colors of pictures painted only 100 years ago have lost their luster and are faded and decayed to the very core.

Again, in the world of music, the manufacturers of violins—old masters, as one may justifiably term them, in the manufacture of violins, the violinists and their competitors—for mixing their colors so as to render them imperishable and impervious to the ravage of time? The red colors especially of these artists of a bygone epoch are every whit as bright now as they were three long centuries ago. On the contrary, the colors of pictures painted only 100 years ago have lost their luster and are faded and decayed to the very core.

Thursday the Mining Men, the Rotary Club and the Dairywomen will be on hand, also Okanogan Day, Palouse Day and Minusquam Day. A meeting of dairywomen will be held in the Congress Tent, and the big auction sale of live stock will commence in the Stock Building Arena. Practically all the live stock will be awarded, and the judges will explain the reasons for the awards. Friday will be New England Day, Bachelor Day, Live Stock Day, College Day and W. O. W. Day. This is the day for the parade of the prize winning live stock, and the combination live stock auction will close. Saturday is Children's Day, Labor Day, Carnival Day, Motorcycle Day and the last day of the $1,000 Cow boys' Race. A number of special athletic stunts will be arranged for the track and infield, and the deciding games in the Big Polo Tournament will be played. The lucky horse winner the $500 cash prize in the Better Babies Contest will receive their awards before the Grand Stand. The fireworks display at night will be unusually elaborate. Admission for children is only ten cents on this day. Sunday is the last chance to see the fair. All exhibits will be open, and the famous Highlanders' Band will give two concerts. The general admission to all parts of the grounds will be only twenty-five cents.

Mrs. James Polar of Rithdram is seriously ill from poisoning, caused by some plant in the woods. Transcript on appeal has been filed in the supreme court in the case of Frank H. Tolman against George Z. Blackman. The appeal is from the Custer county district court. It is reported at Lewiston that a heavy cloudburst swept a large area east of that city, in the vicinity of Arrow Junction. Considerable damage was caused to corn and grain fields near the Clearwater river. At the special election to vote on the question of bonding Priest River for $14,000 for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a water works system the bonds carried by a vote of 54 to 2.

Long Lived Ornaments. Ornaments last longer than anything else that man makes. There are brooches and necklaces in museums more than thirty centuries old. Monuments, perhaps, stand second, and houses third. The life of furniture is shorter still. There is very little furniture in England which dates beyond the year 1500. Pictures last longer than furniture, and there are paintings still in fair condition which have weathered six centuries of life.

Then She Got Mad. "I've never seen the man yet," she declared. "He never tipped a waiter but once in his life. It was on his wedding tour, and the teward gave the waiter 10 cents and asked for a receipt."—Chicago Tribune.

That Held Him. "You may be a stinger?" "I should say he was stinger. He never tipped a waiter but once in his life. It was on his wedding tour, and the teward gave the waiter 10 cents and asked for a receipt."—Chicago Tribune.

The Party Line. "Hobby—Why didn't you come to the door and let me in? Wife—'I couldn't. George's neighbor was talking to somebody and I was at the phone."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to outguess, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime. When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure. This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL LAW

Encouraging Delinquency a Dis-demeanor.

Section 159.—In all cases where any child shall be a delinquent child, a juvenile delinquent person, or a juvenile delinquent person, as defined by this act, the parent or guardian, legal guardian, or person having custody of such child, or any other person responsible for, or by an act encouraging, causing or contributing to the delinquency of such child shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon trial and conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not to exceed three hundred dollars ($300), or imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not exceeding six months, or shall suffer both fine and imprisonment. The court may impose conditions upon any person found guilty under this act, and so long as such person shall comply therewith to the satisfaction of the court, the sentence imposed may be suspended.

Children to Attend School

Section 160.—In all districts of this state, all parents, guardians and other persons having care of children shall instruct them, or cause them to be instructed, in reading, writing, spelling, English grammar, geography and arithmetic. In such districts, every parent, guardian or other person having charge of any child between the ages of eight (8) and eighteen (18) years shall send such child to a public, private or parochial school for the entire school year during which the public schools are in session in such district; provided, however: That this chapter shall not apply to children over fourteen (14) years of age, where such child shall have completed the eighth (8) grade or may be eligible to enter any high school in such district, or where its help is necessary for its own use or its parents' support, or where for good cause shown it would be for the best interest of such child to be relieved from the provisions of this chapter. Provided, further, that if a reputable physician within the district shall certify in writing that the child's bodily or mental condition does not permit its attendance at school, such child shall be exempt during such period of disability from the requirements of this chapter. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of the school district, if there be such superintendent, and if not, then the county superintendent of schools, to hear and determine all applications of children desiring, for any of the causes mentioned here to be exempted from the provisions of this chapter, and if upon such application such superintendent, hearing the same, shall be of the opinion that such child for any reason is entitled to be exempted as aforesaid, then such superintendent shall issue a written permit to such child, stating therein his reasons for such exemption. An appeal may be taken from the decision of such superintendent so passing upon such application to the probate court of the county in which such district lies, upon such child making such application and filing the same with the clerk of judge of said court, within ten days after its refusal by such superintendent, for which no fee to be determined by the court ($1.00) shall be charged, and the decision of the probate court shall be final. An application for release from the provisions of this chapter shall not be renewed oftener than once in three months. 7-4

Local Racers Wanted

It is being planned to make local and green racing a feature at the Lewiston-Clarkston fair this year and the committee in charge announce that in addition to the published program which carries offerings of over $4,500, a special effort will be made to arrange additional races and appropriate purses for all comers. It is explained that a clear distinction will be made between circuit or what are known as "registered" horses and local or non-registered horses. Any one having horses should arrange to be present this season because the purpose of the racing meet is to encourage anew the sport in this section. One of the largest features of the race program is planned for Monday, September 23rd, "Bikes' Day" which is known as a tandem race. In this race one horse is ridden and one driven ahead, a purse of $100 being offered. Circuit races are barred.

Kills Large Bear

Levi Groselove, who resides on the Big Potlatch below Julianna, killed a large black bear on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Groselove went out to look after his cattle and thought it might be a good idea to take his rifle, which he did. He had not gone a great way when he came upon a pheasant making an unusual noise and upon looking around saw a large black bear making ready to partake of a meal of pheasant eggs. Mr. Groselove raised his rifle and fired at brain, striking the animal just under an ear. The bear dropped but was not dead by a long way and charged his disturber but a second shot put the bear's right eye and a third shot changed the animal's notion of charging and he took to his heels. In the meantime Mr. Groselove kept on shooting and at the sixth shot his bearship was no more. The animal dressed nearly 300 pounds.

It would seem that there is still some fair-sized game in Latah county. Telephone in your news items or tell about happenings in your neighborhood.

A great Scotch Highlanders' Band, with the attractive light uniform, will be on hand at the Lewiston-Clarkston Fair the week of Sept. 15. Several of the crack Canadian teams expect to compete.

Don't fail to read the "Want Ads." they will interest you. Look inside.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 2024; calves 91; hogs 820; sheep 4096; horses 1. The cattle market has suffered decline since last Saturday and while not severe, it amounted to a quarter. Buyers could not be induced to bid over $8 for any quantity of choice steers. A few picked from the lot sold at higher prices, but the bulk was a $7.50 to $7.75 affair. Half fat and poorly finished beef is a drag on the market, unless of feeder quality. Desirable feeders are selling freely $6 to $6.50. Butcher stock has been uneven and prices ranged wide. Good cows at $7, steers at $8, bulls at $5 and calves at $9 are liberal quotations in the cattle market.

A difficult hog market to judge. One short ear sold Thursday for $9.60 and one ear of contracted stuff came into the yards Friday, but these were the only two at the unloading chutes on these days. Monday's top sales were $9.30 and one load Tuesday "off cars" at $9.70. What the market would do in the event a reasonable liquidation occurred and buyers had a respectable hog spread is hard to conjecture. Monday had the only receipts of the week and the total was extremely light. On the basis of majority of swine transactions the prices seem strong at $9.00 and $9.50 and demand firm.

Mutton and lamb buyers furnished the only interesting feature to the otherwise drab livestock market. Weather sales at $4.25, ewes at $3.85 and $4 and lambs at $5.25 created an active trade. Killers are not short on sheep house supplies, but they fancy the prime stuff evidently, which is but a small proportion of the total receipts. Prices are considered steady.

Jones Bros. Famous Shows

Jones Brothers' World Toured Shows will visit Genesee for two performances next Saturday, September 6. With each successive season one look forward to the variety of the various tamed aggregations that travel the country for the amusement of the people, and no show is ever more heartily welcomed than Jones Bros. Not claiming to be the largest in the world, they have made an enviable record for themselves by the sterling value of their performances, which appeal to all as interesting, amusing and instructive. Everybody loves horses and ponies and those who do not enjoy seeing the heights to which it is possible to educate these domestic pets are few and far between. More especially does this apply to the fair sex, who with the little ones are, the most loyal of Jones Bros.' patrons. They are assured of the highest form of entertainment free from everything at all calculated to offend the most sensitive.

In addition to the tamed animal features, Jones Bros. have secured the very best lady and gentlemen performers of international reputation. All are premiers in the land from which they came. The herd of performing elephants, the rare wild beasts, Baby Bunt, the cute little baby elephant, the Good-night pony, together with the many beautiful prancing ponies in military drill and other especially pleasing to the little ones. The host of funny clowns, the many beautiful lady artists, the feature acts by the world's greatest gymnast, Mile Roberts, in her awe-inspiring, blood-curling, nerve-thrilling and death-defying act in mid-air, the like of which has never been witnessed since the days of Roman daring, will live long in your memory when many other shows have faded away into forgetfulness. Don't fail to see the big free outside exhibition at 2:30 and 7 p. m. Two performances daily.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Democratic Leaders Apparently Agreed on Ambitious Legislative Plans

Washington.—The program of anti-trust and currency legislation that faces congress for the ensuing 12 months has become fairly well outlined in the last week. President Wilson and the democratic leaders in the two houses of congress apparently have agreed on an ambitious plan of legislative work, which will bring all of the most important reforms contemplated by the Wilson administration within the period between now and the end of the next regular session of congress.

The tariff bill will be out of the senate and in the hands of a conference committee of the house and senate before the end of this week. Currency legislation promises to dominate congressional activity within a few days. Anti-trust legislation will be up soon.

Home Talent Play Success

Local Players Draw Large Crowd—"East Lynne" the Offering

"East Lynne," given in the Genesee opera house on last Friday under the auspices of the Genesee Improvement society, was one of the most successful plays ever presented here by home talent, which was shown by the frequent applause given by the large and appreciative audience.

While the play is an old one, it is one which has many difficult parts and is one which is not easily handled by any save those who have had a great deal of experience upon it as the stage. However, the parts were all carried well, and each performer did himself proud in the rendition of their respective roles.

The more difficult parts, and those more particularly worthy of especial mention, were taken by Thos. H. Herman (Sir Francis Levison), Edwin Smolt (Archibald Carlyle), Emery Vandenberg (Richard Hare), Miss Edna Driscoll (Lady Isabel), Miss Esther Orth (Barbara Hare) and Miss Ruth Martinson (Miss Carlyle). Others in the play who carried their parts well, were Max Senecbaugh (Lord Mount Seppin), Earl Wells (Mr. Dill), Miss Laura Phillips (Joyce), Miss Jessie Wardrobe (Wilson) and Walter Buchholz (Justice Hare).

Miss Adelaide Johnson sang the "Persian Serenade" (Cooke) and to an insistent encore responded with another well-rendered selection. Miss Johann has a very sweet voice and her singing was one of the real pleasures of the evening.

Edwin Smolt sang "Tonight Will Never Come Again" and responded to an encore with "You Keep Your Eye on Me," first asking the ladies to join in the chorus. Failing to get anyone to respond to this invitation, he asked the boys to join in the chorus and was rewarded by a voice (Durel Springer) being raised in the rear of the house. This is the first time in a long time that the "echo" stunt has been pulled off here and was thoroughly appreciated by the audience.

Music was furnished during the evening by an orchestra composed of Miss Olson, piano; Miss Dorothy Driscoll and Geo. Johann, violins; Dr. W. H. Ehlen, cornet; and Will Meyer of Uniontown, clarinet.

The ladies of the Improvement society are very appreciative of the efforts put forth by the different players and the large attendance at the play. The society netted in excess of $75.

Carlson Taken to Lewiston

H. P. Carlson was on Saturday of last week taken to the Nez Perce county jail at Lewiston, where, unless he secures the necessary bond for his release he will remain until the fall term of the District court of this county, which will convene in Moscow the latter part of November.

Olaf Pearson, whom Carlson assaulted, is getting along nicely and is again at work on the Ches. Spurbuck ranch. His left eye is in very bad condition and it is not likely that he will ever be able to use it much.

National Capital Brevities

The house currency committee has completed its work on the administration bill, and has authorized Chairman Glass to report the measure. Debate will probably begin early next week.

Congressmen Allen of Ohio and Stephens of New Hampshire are drafting a bill to provide for the abolition of all wooden cars in the United States within five years.

TO HOLD CONVENTION

Preparations Being Made for Fall Campaign in Sunday School Work

Sunday school workers throughout the Inland Empire are making elaborate preparations for the big fall campaign when conventions will be held in 14 of the 28 counties embracing the territory of the Inland Empire Sunday School association. Knapp, general secretary with headquarters in Spokane assisted by the various county organizations has practically completed arrangements for the convention and is interested in this contest and its members are making great preparations for the comfort of the mothers and babies, while in attendance at the fair. #### Has "Come and Went"

Jones Bros.' famous "world tour" shows have "come and went" with their herd (1) of performing elephants and cages (?) of trained and ferocious animals and the people saw and were amazed at the absence of the said animals. However, there were some very good stunts pulled off by some of the acrobats.

This little show makes the mistake that so many make when they fail to have what they advertise. Of course people do not expect to see all that is advertised upon the circus bills, but there should be a law in this country, as there is in some of the old countries, compelling them to produce everything advertised, and then there would be less room for gulling the public, who in expectation of seeing at least a large portion of what is advertised.

Dr. W. A. Burg of Uniontown came very nearly being minus an automobile. While on the road making calls last Sunday his gasoline tank sprung a leak, filling the pan, which later caught fire. The doctor had all kinds of thoughts in a very few seconds, one of which was to abandon to the machine and let her burn, but finally concluded, and very quickly, to throw dust on the blaze, which he did, putting the fire out. Only his presence of mind and plenty of dust saved his machine.

At an informal dinner tendered in his honor by the Weiser commercial club, Major Fred R. Reed, commissioner of immigration and labor for Idaho, made a stirring address in which he pleaded for community co-operation, sketched the difficulties that have been met in development work in the past, outlined the obstacles now confronting the state and roused lasting enthusiasm when he predicted that Idaho is to go ahead still faster, providing the people of the state stand shoulder to shoulder, forgetting petty bickering to solve present problems and correct the errors that may have been made in the past.

School begun at the Payne school house on Monday, September 1st, with Miss Viola Hendrickson as teacher and with a goodly number of scholars in attendance. This is Miss Hendrickson's second term in this district, she having been chosen to teach the school here last winter, which was the first term in the new school house. The building has been newly painted and put in spick and span shape and a very successful school year is anticipated.

Thrashing in this neighborhood is about completed. Fall grain is about one-half crop and spring grain will be about two-thirds of a crop.

There is quite a good deal of corn in this neighborhood and it is of good quality and will be a good yield. W. I. Patrick has about 30 acres, Tom Ingle about 25 acres and Chas. Herman about 25 or 30 acres in this immediate neighborhood.

W. I. Patrick has just harvested 25 acres of beans which are of extra quality and the yield was good. Martin Williams' new barn is nearing completion. It is built on the same location of the one recently destroyed by lightning, and while not quite so large as the one destroyed, is substantially and will be fitted with modern barn conveniences.

Johnny Gibb last week finished thrashing 300 acres of grain which he says yielded about one-half the ordinary crop.

The News would like to have a regular correspondent in this neighborhood. Everything furnished.

Now it is a bank that is claiming the $500 reward offered by the state for the capture of U. G. Bearup, charged with the murder of a deputy sheriff in Bannock county, at Grace, August 23. The bank is located at Soda Springs. Soon after the murder of the deputy sheriff at Grace, Bearup wrote to the bank from Ogden requesting that his money be sent to Colure, Nev. The money was sent, and the sheriff at Colure was notified at the same time to look out for Bearup. The man called for his mail at Colure, he was arrested and returned to Pocatello, and is now in jail there. Hence the Soda Springs bankers hold that they are entitled to the reward for his capture. Governor Haines has taken no action in the matter yet. He will wait until he has heard from all claimants for the reward before paying out the money.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Esther Orth

The school notes this year will be edited by the students under the censorship of the High school faculty. This may be their first attempt in the editorial line and the public is kindly asked to bear this in mind when reading the school notes. We feel confident, however, that the students will do very best and have the notes of the Genesee school as good as any in the state.

A quarter holiday at the end of each month is promised the room or rooms that have neither absence nor tardiness. We ask the parents to help the school along in this matter for it will be greatly appreciated by both teachers and scholars.

Last Thursday Supt. Hov gave short talks in the different rooms on school notes and appointed Esther Orth as editor-in-chief; Ida Schooler from the 8th grade was elected to the position of editor and Armond Nelson from the 6th and 7th grades.

The Primary room has a total enrollment of 25 pupils. For the number of pupils in this room there have been a considerable number of absences. Esther Clark enrolled as a new pupil

A bountiful supper was served in the banquet hall to which all did ample justice and at 8 o'clock the evening session was called to order and the time was spent in initiating candidates, after which sherbet and cakes, watermelon and coffee were served and all went home feeling they were well paid for the trip.

The next district meeting of the order will be held in Moscow. Those attending from Genesee were taken overland in automobiles by W. R. Hickman and Jno. Meyer, and were Mesdames Martha Larrabee, Pearl Gardner, Meta Herman, Cima Hirschberger, Anna Hanson, Ruth Perkins, Miss Gladys Larrabee and Miss Helen Linnehan.

G. I. S. Meeting
The goodly number of the G. I. S. who gathered Saturday afternoon to discuss the affairs of the society showed that they are not to be disturbed in their plans by any ordinary occurrence. It being a beautiful day the ladies decided to use the new benches in the park and held their meeting there. A report of work done by all committees was heard. The finance committee reported $84 net from the play. Immediately a vote of thanks was given the Messes Driessell, who had the play in charge to every member of the cast, and every one who in any way contributed to its success, and we especially thank those who attended for their patronage. After all the success is measured by the "gate receipts." We hope we may continue to have your support and cooperation and that future entertainments shall be up to the standard.

A committee was appointed to confer with the president of the commercial club relative to a joint meeting of the officers of the club and the executive board of the G. I. S. Our membership committee reported several new members and we wish every woman could see the advantage both to the organization and to herself and join before the time of our next meeting. PRES. COMMITTEE.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1497; calves 118; hogs 2115; Sheep 3727.

Killers are surfeited on half fat cattle and are shading their bids on such demand. Most of the receipts for the week have been of the ordinary variety, so sales have ranged in price from $6.75 to $7.75 with 8 cents an extreme top for very best grade. Feeders are in demand and had good sale. A limited supply of cows and heifers has been received with good demand and prices in line with about a week ago, top grades going at $6.35 to $6.65 and an occasional bunch at $6.75. Steady receipts on prime light veal.

Receipts of hogs continue to come in bunches. A good sized run Monday with $9.50 top for best light stuff. The price sagged to $9.35 by Tuesday and Wednesday, the same holding for Friday and the hog market can be quoted anywhere between $9 and $9.50 with tendency downward.

The week started off with a brisk business in the sheep house with a fair supply of both choice lambs and sheep. The strength had declined before the midweek and buyers were hard to find for the few arrivals on the later stock trains. Sheep and lamb prices quoted steady with last week.

Little Prospect of President Signing Tariff Bill Before End of the Week

Washington.—More time has been devoted by congress to the consideration of the Underwood tariff bill than ever before was given to the consideration of any other tariff measure, and the present special session has already run two weeks beyond the previous record for a special session, with no end yet in sight. There is little prospect that the Underwood bill can be signed by the president prior to September 20, but if the bill becomes a law on that day a total of 166 days will have been consumed in its consideration and passage.

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

Ex-Governor W. J. McConnell of Moscow, father-in-law of Senator W. E. Borah, has received word that Senator Borah will not come west this fall to make a contemplated trip through California.

Owing to frosty nights and the near approach of the rainy season, E. C. Pulaski, chief ranger of the Wallace forest and in charge of the fire fighting brigade, has dismissed the fire fighters for the season. Not a single serious fire was reported this year.

The Coeur d'Alene rod and gun club has instructed its secretary to purchase and have planted in various parts of Kootenai county a quantity of wild celery seed in addition to the wild rice already planted, which will be used for grating for the wild birds.

Bert Miller, the highwayman who held up George Strehle, a baker, in Bovill and who shot Strehle three times when the latter refused to throw up his hands, is still at large in the woods in the north end of the county. An important strike has been made in the carbonate property on Pine creek in the lower tunnel which is in about 700 feet. The ore is low grade, but the indications of better ore following developments are convincing to the owners. The carbonate is well located for transportation.

Members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of Canyon county have pledged themselves to do everything in their power to send to the next Idaho legislature men who will support a state-wide prohibition measure. This action was taken at the county convention of the W. C. T. U. held at Caldwell.

With the governors of Washington, Idaho and Oregon invited to be present, and with the cooperation of Spokane business men, commercial, civic and rural organizations throughout the Inland Empire, the Spokane chamber of commerce will formally launch its alfalfa campaign under the leadership of Professor Perry G. Holden on Tuesday, September 23.

After a separation of 48 years, during 15 years of which neither knew whether the other was alive, Peter Rhodbeck of Spirit Lake, and his brother, William Rhodbeck of Darby, Mont., are exchanging anecdotes of the half century which has elapsed since they said "goodbye" at the railroad station in Missouri Valley, Idaho, just after the close of the civil war.

The arrivals of horses, cattle and sheep left the university of Idaho farm at Moscow for Spokane to be exhibited at the fair. They are not entered for prizes. The shipment includes five horses, 12 cattle and six sheep. In charge of Professor E. J. Idalgos, of the animal husbandry department, from Spokane the exhibit will be taken to Boise, Caldwell, and the fact cattle to the Oregon state fair at Salem.

The jury in the suit of Octave Trambly, general agent of the New World Life Insurance company, against Roy Paul, a young minor, 20, and his mother, Ethel Paul, to collect a note for $25 for life insurance premium was decided in favor of the defendant by a jury in the probate court at Sandpoint. The defense set up that the policy delivered was not as represented.

The case of Estella Weichlein against the Great Northern railway was dismissed in the superior court at Spokane, when called for trial, Mrs. Weichlein, widow of Herbert F. Weichlein, who asked $50,000 for her husband's death while he was serving as a locomotive engineer, being given $100,000 by the railroad. Weichlein lost his life near Voreno, Idaho, when the locomotive he was driving ploughed into the Pond Oreille river, having struck a cavern, alleged to have been caused by the road's negligence. Mr. Albert announced the terms of the compromise.

With what is alleged to be a third load of stolen grain, William Hall, aged 23, and Charles Harris, aged 45, were trailed by Chief of Police Grant Robbins into the edge of Moscow, where they were placed under arrest by Deputy Sheriff Sterling at the Moscow feed yards, where it is said they had been selling below the market price. S. W. Sordoff and Gus Anderson, Whitman county (Wash.), farmers, reported that some of their grain had been stolen. Chief of Police Robbins located a part of the grain with Anderson's brand on the sacks at the Moscow feed yards, where he secured a description of the parties.

In order to make the Latah County fair more attractive to exhibitors the business men and residents of Moscow have offered special prizes worth upwards of $500, these premiums to be awarded in addition to those included in the regular premium list and include livestock, vegetables and roots, general exhibits, fine arts, children's department and the "better baby" contest, the prizes ranging from $2.50 to $10 in cash and trade at the different stores, any and all of which are well worth the trying for.

The complete list has been published in the Moscow Mirror and no doubt the fair management will be glad to furnish prospective exhibitors with a list of these special premiums.

We are sorry to state that we will be unable to handle these premiums on account of the length of the list.

School opened in the Jain district Monday, September 15th, with Miss Helen Hendrickson from Lewiston as teacher. A very successful term is expected.

Nauck was at work on an idler when the large main drive belt of the mill broke and a loose end struck him in the chest, killing him instantly. The complaint alleges that the belt was defective, that it had broken and had been improperly repaired on the night preceding the accident and that the company was negligent in not notifying Nauck of this.

S. Nelson. The council will also ascertain at what figures these plants can be purchased or new ones built and the estimated cost of maintenance after city ownership has been gained.

OPPOSE ORCHARD'S PARDON
Church Association Trying to Free Confessed Murderer.

Boise.—Ariston, who is opposing the application of Harry Orchard for a pardon. Orchard is the arch conspirator, self-confessed murderer of 14 men and sensational witness in the trial of Haywood, Pettibone and Meyer, of the Western Federation of Miners, for conspiracy to murder ex-Governor Steunenberg. The application will come before the pardon board in October. It was filed at the request of the Metropolitan church association of Waukesha, Wis. Orchard says he gave consent only after being urged to do so by the association. Protests from all sections of the state have been received by members of the board of pardons against consideration of the application. Orchard was sentenced to be hanged, but his life was saved through commutation. Orchard is a model prisoner and leads the religious services among the convicts. His occupation is making and mending shoes for his fellow convicts.

NAPOLEON'S PORTRAITS.

Same That Louis XVIII. Did Not Succeed in Banishing.
At the time of the Emperor Napoleon's exile to the island of Elba among other means to which the Bourbon king resorted in order to stop up his leaking throne was the passage of a stringent law that no picture, statue, statuette, figure or resemblance of "General Bonaparte" as he was called, should be allowed to remain in any place, public or private.

Mr. V., an American, then residing in Paris, owning a particularly fine and correct bronze statuette of the emperor, buried it, with other things of the kind, in his cellar. His turn for inspection by the police came. In walked the chief officer, who said: "Have you any statue, image or likeness of any kind of that upstart, that Bonaparte?" "Certainly I have," answered the American, and, turning to his valet, he said, "Francis, bring me a bag of Napoleons." "The honor is mine," said the valet, and he brought a bag of Napoleons. "You are right," said the official, leaving—Boston Herald.

Coloring Drawings.

A Tip to Draftsmen That May Save Time and Trouble.
Every draftsman has had occasion at one time or another to color a drawing or a white print. The use of colored inks is unsatisfactory, as the colors in colors obscures the details and is slow. While water colors have the disadvantage of slowness, besides being difficult to apply evenly. A quick and satisfactory method of coloring involves the use of ordinary wax crayons and gasoline. Crayon of the color desired is applied and then rubbed with a piece of cloth wet with gasoline until the color is even and extended to the limits desired. If it overruns the line it can be erased with a pencil eraser. Some colors, particularly the yellow, purple, greens and light blues, produce much better results than others. It is probable that the gasoline dissolves the wax from the crayon, leaving the pigment as an impalpable powder, which when rubbed over the paper colors it uniformly. The method is applicable with equal success to eggshell and smooth drawing papers and to white prints on both paper and cloth.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

Delicately Handled.

Speaking of fitting marriages, an east side clergyman said: "I favor healthy marriages only, to be sure. Health certificates would be an excellent thing. I have noticed that the Italian among us have a tactful way of managing that. 'The Italian doctor and mother ask the young man who seeks their daughter if he is insured. If he is not they urge him to take out insurance before the wedding, and sometimes they insist upon it. They put the argument for it on the usual grounds, the risk of his dying suddenly, and leaving his family penniless. But what they are often most concerned about is assurance as to the suitor's good health. They feel satisfied that if he has not insurance there is nothing serious the matter with him. 'Now, that seems to me a happy way of dealing with delicate problems to the satisfaction of all hands and the embarrassment of none.'—New York Sun.

Saved the Baby.

The Chicago Historical society has a letter in which is described how Stephen A. Douglas was rescued from a fiery death on the day of his birth. The letter was written by Horatio L. Wait, master in chancery of the circuit of that city. John Conant, one of Wait's family ancestors, who lived next door to the Douglas home in Brandon, Vt., saved Douglas' life from a fire which broke out in the morning. "The morning Douglas was born," the letter says, "John Conant went to the Douglas house, and as he entered the room Douglas' father was sitting in an armchair before an open fireplace with the infant in his arms. Just as Conant entered the father died suddenly from apoplexy. The infant rolled down into the fireplace, and Conant snatched him from the fire."

A young Scotchman went to a London school of music, where he learned to play the violin fairly well. On his return to his native village he gathered his friends together to hear his new instrument. When he had played one or two tunes he looked up expectantly. After a slight pause his old grandfather spoke. "Eh, myn," he said, "it's a marvellous thing for a small w'it!"—Liverpool Mercury.

Women and Children Refugees Reported to Have Fallen in Hands of Rebels.

Mexico City.—One hundred Americans, including women and children, rescued from Torreon, are reported to have fallen into the hands of rebels while proceeding overland to Saltillo. The authorities at Saltillo decline to take the responsibility of sending a force to their rescue, fearing they say that the rebels might commit atrocities on the refugees which possibly otherwise would be avoided. The report comes from an official source at Saltillo, but has not been confirmed by Torreon.

Senor Gamboa, the foreign minister, has had no advice further than the communication to the embassy. He expressed regret, but added that it was no more than what might be expected as the result of the "neutrality policy" of the United States, which had hampered the administration in proceeding with a strong hand against rebels and bandits. The Americans are headed by Deputy Consul-General Allen, of Monterey, who went to Torreon to notify American residents there of President Wilson's warning.

THAW APPLIES TO COURT

Writ is intended as Check on New Hampshire Governor.
Colerbrook, N. H.—The perpetually recurring writ of habeas corpus which so often entered the career of Harry K. Thaw since his incarceration in Mattawan as the insane slayer of Stanford White, was applied for again in his fight to resist extradition from New Hampshire after his unexpected deportation from the Dominion of Canada. This time and for the first time in the history of Thaw's efforts to regain his liberty the writ was issued by a federal court. United States Judge Aldrich in the district of New Hampshire granted the application of three of the Thaw lawyers, Martin, Shurtzoff and Wood. William Travers Jerome, specially deputed to bring Thaw back to the asylum, heard the news with ill grace and characterized the move as one of bad faith.

Organization of Cello Commission.

Portland.—What otherwise would have been a sedate session of the commission authorized by the last legislature to investigate the feasibility of state development of the Cello power project in the Columbia river became a lively little meeting, when John H. Lewis, state engineer, read a formal protest against the selection of State Senator Day, of Portland, as chairman.

Bovill is just now getting her share of notoriety and free advertising throughout the country. The shooting which occurred there in a hotel recently is one of the latest developments and Andrew Stroeble has three bullet holes in his anatomy while a man by the name of Miller is a fugitive from justice, he being the one alleged to have done the shooting. This, together with the numerous arrests for bootlegging is putting Bovill on the map in a way that will cause most people to look it up.

Mrs. C. H. DeBow, who was quite sick the first of the week, is convalescing.

Don't fail to read the "Want Ads," they will interest you. Look inside.

If one was to judge the size of Genesee by the activity and number of teams on our streets last Saturday they would tell their friends that we have one of the busiest and best little cities in the whole country. The streets were well filled with people and the tie racks were full of teams and the warehouses were as busy as they possibly could be with many teams waiting to take their turn at the unloading platforms. Verily, the lot of the Genesee valley farmer is exceedingly pleasant as compared to some other sections.

The C. E. Wood company's elevator, which they have been working on for some weeks, is rapidly nearing completion and by another week will be fully equipped for business. They now have one 15-horsepower motor but have decided to put in another of 20-horsepower for running a portion of their new machinery.

L. Jain was taken sick while up town Monday afternoon and was taken to his home in an automobile in the evening. He is getting along nicely and will soon be himself again.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured
"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers.

No Insurance

How often do you read those words in a newspaper in connection with a destructive fire and pass it over without giving it a serious thought?

"No Insurance" means total loss. The property you have labored long to accumulate goes up in smoke or is ruined by water and smoke in a few moments, and you are forced to begin all over again without capital.

Wouldn't you rest more comfortably if you knew that should such a disaster come to you, the amount of your loss would be at your command, almost immediately?

We represent some of the most reliable insurance companies in America, whose policies guarantee absolute protection against loss.

In writing up the home talent production of "East Lynne" last week we accidentally left out the name of little Bernadine Hasfurther as one of those who took part. Little Bernadine carried her part exceedingly well for one so young as there are very few children of her age that would not have had a very bad case of "stage fright," and we take this means of placing her name among those who did themselves proud on that occasion.

TO FEATURE CLEANING DAY

Genesee Improvement Society Going in for "Cleaner City"

Cleaning day is next on the program with the Genesee Improvement society, so every one in the family, from father and mother down to little sister and brother, get busy. Get out the rusty rake, hoe and shovel and clean out the dirt.

The average housewife has two general housecleaning days during the year. So why not the city? Look at the poor neglected back yards and the streets in front of your homes. Do they need improvement? Do not wait till your neighbor starts in, but get up early tomorrow morning and get the boys and girls up to help you cut down and burn the noxious weeds. Pick up your yard, if you have no woodshed to put it in. Get some big dry goods boxes and place near the alley—one to throw your old cans, bottles, etc., in, and the other for cool ashes, taking care there is no red-hot coals in them. Keep a pail a few feet from your back door in which to throw your slop water until you get time to carry it back to a dumping pile.

Have a cleaning day every Saturday—train the young boy and girl to clean the yard every Saturday morning and then let them go to the "movies" in the afternoon or to play.

We live in the cream city of the Palouse country, so let's not let it get polluted with filth and noxious weeds. The Improvement society met on Saturday, September 5, but it was rather a hurried meeting as all the members were not there and everyone present was in a hurry to go see the elephant or the "movies." It is sincerely hoped we will have a much larger attendance at our next meeting. Our hopes are spacious and extensive and let us come believing there is work for each one to do—a place for each one to fill and an influence to lend—for the soul of the society is its service to humanity. Come and bring your neighbor.

Our constitution and by-laws will be read at the next meeting, which will be held on Saturday, October 4.

Second and Third—Verda Smith and Irene Smith.
Fourth and Fifth—Denimon Harris, Andy Harris and Pansy Smith.
Sixth and Seventh—William Edwards, Harold Edwards and John Traill.
Eighth—Lena Erickson and Raymond Edwards.

High school—Bartel Webber and Irvin Manderfeld.
On account of the large number enrolled in the fifth grade, Miss Baxter has been assigned the fifth, Miss Doty the fourth and sixth and Miss Wardlaw the seventh and eighth, to lessen the work for the teachers.

Friday evening the high school girls gathered on Reservoir hill for a moonlight romp. Such games as leap-frog, pull-a-way, hide and seek and beef-steak were played until all were contented. Since "stolen fruit tastes the sweetest" apples and water melons were heartily enjoyed by all present.

At the athletic meeting held on Monday evening the association decided to fit up the basement suitable for athletic purposes. Prof. How was appointed a committee of one to consult the school board about installing shower baths and making the basement a model gymnasium. A committee of three, Mahlon Follett, Harold Raymond and Doreal Springer, were appointed to collect old athletic material and to inquire concerning the financial conditions of the association. They were also to see what material they needed to fix the basement as a gymnasium. George Post was elected president of the Athletic association and Mahlon Follett secretary. The election of the other officers was postponed until the old members of the association returned to school.

At the meeting of the Literary society Tuesday evening the members decided to help clear the athletic association's debt by giving them the money now in the treasury and assist them in getting more.

Henry Esser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Esser, who was kicked in the pit of the stomach by a horse tied to the hitching rack near the Follett store last Friday, is getting along very well, considering the hard jolt he received. The fact that young Esser was very close to the animal is perhaps the only thing that saved his life, for had the animal gotten a good kick at him he would have hurt him badly. As it is the lad has the hoof marks on his stomach as a reminder.

Never was man more delighted at receiving a letter from his wife than Boris Meloff. But he dare not give vent to his feelings lest he be watched by some of those who had followed him from Sofia. On second thoughts, however, he remembered that he was no longer a prisoner, since his enemies believed that he had captured the dispatch. At any rate, he saw no further evidence of intended interference and on receiving Boris took the dispatch from the place where Kristina had concealed it and delivered it to the frontier office.

Whether or no it had effect on the Kaiser in inducing him to curb Austria is a state secret.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Esther Orth

Last Friday morning the Freshman peacefully climbed the High school steps wholly unconscious of the on-coming danger. Nobly taking their respective places they were welcomed by their friends (the enemy) who by means of strong wires tied their hands and feet to their desks. Then they were cruelly branded (with red chalk) while the remaining classes, after their strenuous work, gazed upon the dazzling red "F" on each cheek and the ruddy tip on each nose. Upon seeing the tears of mortification and the perspiration from hard labor coursing down their crimson cheeks, their kind hearted elders took pity upon them and gave them liberty. Prof. How passed boxes of bon-hons among them which quieted their rebellious natures. We—the Sophomores, the Juniors and the Seniors heartily congratulate the freshmen upon taking their initiation so good naturedly. (?)

Last Tuesday morning at recess little Thekla How was knocked unconscious while playing and it required some time to restore her to consciousness. However no one was to blame for the mishap. She was able to attend school the next morning.

Ida Schooler swallowed a pin last Friday afternoon which might have had serious results had it not been for the prompt assistance of her teacher and schoolmates.

The ever crowded condition of the fourth and fifth grades have made it necessary for the superintendent to put the seventh grade with the eighth and the fourth grade with the sixth.

There has been a great deal of absence and tardiness in all the rooms during the past week.

Our attendance is gradually increasing. The new pupils enrolled this week are:
Primary—Johnny Nebelsieck.
Second and Third—Verda Smith and Irene Smith.
Fourth and Fifth—Denimon Harris, Andy Harris and Pansy Smith.
Sixth and Seventh—William Edwards, Harold Edwards and John Traill.
Eighth—Lena Erickson and Raymond Edwards.

An Episode of the Balkans

By ALBERT KENYON

When the Balkan states had expelled the Turk and were anxious lest the powers should intervene and inflict their ancient enmities upon them the two powers most able to help or harm them were Germany and Russia.

At this time Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria sent a young man in his service to the emperor of Germany to offer certain inducements for him to re-join Austria. This person was Boris Meloff, a very determined young man, who, so far as strength and bravery were concerned, was well adapted to get the message through to Berlin. Austrian spies were on the watch to checkmate any move Prince Ferdinand might make and Meloff was liable to be attacked and his dispatch taken from him.

On the day of his departure he went to his home and told his wife that he was to go on a journey and the object of it, directing her to get out his pistols and a couple of short knives, which he intended to take with him for defensive purposes.

"Fighting is but half the defense you will have to make," said Kristina, his wife. "You will be in greater danger of losing the dispatch by stratagem. Where will you carry your dispatch?"

"Where would you suggest?" asked Boris.
"I will think it over and let you know later."

Boris gave her the dispatch that she might know its size, and before he left her she opened his valise, which she had packed for him, and showed him the dispatch, addressed to his imperial majesty the Kaiser, on top of his other clothes, where every one could see it. Boris was astonished at this and was about to take the package to put elsewhere when he was stopped by her.

"Boris," she said, "leave it where it is. No one will look for it in your valise. It will be sought for on your person. Keep your weapons on your person and the dispatch in your valise."

The young husband concluded to humor his wife. He kissed her and the children good-bye and walked forth.

There is a railway running north-westward from Sofia, and Boris went by train, his route lying through Serbia and Austria. There were travelers and a railway man on the train before he knew that there were Austrians aboard who had hidden their eyes.

On reaching Belgrade a man stepped up to him and whispered to him that his wife, Kristina, had sent him to say that after Boris had left her she had learned that an attempt would be made to relieve him of the dispatch in changing trains at that point. The man handed Boris a note from his wife, written in her well known hand, advising him to give the messenger the dispatch to take from the train, to be returned on the train leaving Belgrade for Budapest. Boris hesitated; but, having every confidence in his wife, he concluded to do so. Going with the man to a room in the station where they would not be observed, he opened his valise and gave the man the package.

That was the last Boris saw of the man or the package. After leaving Belgrade he looked for him through the train and, not finding him, was in agony at having been duped. His great wonder was how the fellow could have been a gymnasium. George Post was elected president of the Athletic association and Mahlon Follett secretary. The election of the other officers was postponed until the old members of the association returned to school.

At the meeting of the Literary society Tuesday evening the members decided to help clear the athletic association's debt by giving them the money now in the treasury and assist them in getting more.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle, 1823; calves, 192; hogs, 2471; sheep, 5030. A large increase in both cattle and swine receipts has been noticeable the last few days. With the advent of live stock the market became active and interesting. Monday's cattle receipts was one of the largest of the year and contained a lot of good beef. The $8 steer top was not disturbed and a few choice lots brought $8.10, $8.15 and $8.25. Bulk of steer sales $7.30 to $7.70; cows never attained the 7-cent mark but a lot of good ones sold $6.75 and $6.85; calves steady at $8.50 to $9. Beef outlook is better and absorbed over 1500 head this week. The swine trade suffered a sudden set back and is in process of adjusting itself to the amount of fall liquidation. Prices broke a quarter and best light hogs sold in bulk at $8.75 to $9. Receipts were liberal and the demand fair.

We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that one bottle stopped his cough and cured his cold completely." For sale by all dealers.

Probate Judge Busy

Probate Judge Morgareidge has been pretty busy for some time, there having been an unusual amount of business in his court, especially last week when he had before him for hearing the cases of William Hall and Charlie Harris, charged with the theft of a load of wheat from the ranch of Gus Anderson and they each drew a fine of $250 and six months in the county jail. There is no doubt but that the twain will not steal any more wheat this season at least as they will hardly be out of their enforced incarceration until all the grain has been taken care of this season, and in future it is hardly probable they will attempt to sell grain which they themselves have not raised. It is said the men entered the field near Mr. Anderson's home and loaded the grain in broad daylight.

Pat McGaffney also drew a very handsome fine for keeping a "blind pig" at Bovill, the venture costing the defendant $200. Failing to raise the necessary amount McGaffney was taken to Lewiston, where he will "board out" his fine. Mrs. McGaffney was also arrested on the charge but was released and Pat got the whole dose.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Desire to Talk Will Prolong the Passage of Currency Bill at Special Session

Washington.—There is no reason to doubt that congress will pass a currency bill, in a form acceptable to President Wilson, but there will be a great deal of surprise if the currency bill passes as soon as the president wishes; that is, at the present special session. The president unquestionably has the democratic majority in both senate and house working in complete harmony with his legislative plans, and from that majority he can get exactly what he wants in the way of legislation. The majority, however, cannot fix the time for voting in the senate, and for that reason the president is likely to be disappointed over the delay in completing the Glass-Owen bill.

Some Fine Weather in Idaho for Month of August 1913

The weather of the month was characterized by rather wide ranges in temperature, deficient precipitation, abundant sunshine and absence of severe storms or other unfavorable conditions. The mean temperature was the highest since 1905, but was less than a degree and a half above normal. There was a well defined cool period extending from the 6th to 19th, during which freezing temperature occurred in elevated districts and some frost was observed in the agricultural sections. Except over limited areas, however, the damage from frost was unimportant. The period from the 20th to 31st was the warmest of the summer. The precipitation was less than one inch over most of the state, and there were a few places where no rain fell. Most of the precipitation was in the form of local showers. There was some shortage of water for irrigation, but otherwise conditions were generally favorable.

Alcohol Duty Favored

The tariff conference have agreed to Senator Lane's proposal to make more liberal the regulations concerning the manufacture of denatured alcohol, with a view to facilitate a manufacture by farmers from their waste products. It is also possible that a small duty, for which Senator Lane has contended, may also be assessed. If this is done, Senator Lane believes importations will provide a material amount of revenue and considerably aid farmers and other domestic manufacturers of the product.

Slavery Common in Philippines

Secretary Garrison had before him a Philippine slavery report by W. H. Philips, auditor for the islands, backing up the startling charges of Dean Worcester. It cites details of many cases of boys and girls sold into slavery at prices ranging from $80 to $100 and says that heads of savage families sell their daughters and regard the practice as right. "I have no hesitancy in saying that I think the charges of Secretary Worcester that slavery exists in the Philippines are sustained," says Mr. Philips.

Navies of the world will be invited to join in a great demonstration at Hampton Roads to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal. Coinage changes in the new nickel have led many people to believe that the coins are counterfeit. The United States treasury department gives assurance that the new nickel is genuine. The currency bill has passed the house by a vote of 286 to 84. The measure goes to the senate with President Wilson's endorsement. All amendments offered by the minority are rejected. A campaign to raise the Progressive party strength in the house has been started. Nineteen progressives of the house and Senator Miles Poinsett were named on the committee with Representative Rinebaugh as chairman.

A GOOD SILO IS THE FARMER'S GOLD MINE

Silage May Be Made From Almost Any Roughage Crop—Alfalfa Good

Good prices are now being paid for farm products, but we hear our city cousins complaining of the high cost of living, and through their complaint, we are fearful lest in some way we lose these high prices. The farmer is not inclined to believe he is receiving any more for his produce than he should; in fact, he maintains his profit is still too small, and he should receive more. As we are an agricultural people and prosper as the farmer prospers, we certainly should rejoice in these high prices of farm products; but at the same time, we expect the farmer to use economic methods in his production. To illustrate, we would hear a storm of complaint if the cloth-makers were using the spinning wheel and charging prices accordingly. We could not afford to pay for manufactured goods, if they were turned out by old methods. We demand progress in every department of our industry, for the larger pulls back the leader. If beef and butter are too high, it may be because they are not being produced economically. Therefore, the consumer certainly has a right to complain if the farmer does not use economic methods in his husbandry.

SOIL CULTURE LECTURES

Dr. W. E. Taylor, Famous Expert, Will Speak at Lewiston October 1

A lecture of extraordinary interest to all tillers of the soil will be given under the auspices of the Lewiston Commercial Club, in the Club rooms at Lewiston Wednesday, October 1, 1913, at 10:30 a. m. The speaker will be Dr. W. E. Taylor, of Moline, Illinois, famous as one of the leading soil experts of the nation, a practical farmer and a speaker of eloquence and power. Dr. Taylor's subject will be "Soil Fertility and the Science of Crop Production." The farmers and horticulturists of the Lewiston region are especially invited to this lecture, which will be free. The members of the Lewiston Commercial club are planning to make the occasion a memorable one.

Holden Alfalfa Special

Definite word has been received to the effect that the Holden alfalfa special train will be in Genesee on the morning of October 23. The train will come in from Pullman and will arrive here at 8 o'clock and each evening farmer interested in the betterment of his crop conditions in this part of the country should be on hand and hear what these men of experience have to say regarding the raising of alfalfa and other farm crops in this territory.

When and How to Cut Alfalfa Will Be Explained by Experts

A week or ten days before the special is to reach Genesee there will be advance men here to make the necessary arrangements for analysis of the soil in order that Prof. Holden and his corps of assistants will know exactly what they are telling you about your own farms and what is necessary to raise better crops. No matter whether you are in sympathy with the raising of alfalfa or not, come out and hear what they have to say. It will do you no harm and may possibly do you some good.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 20, '13

Mr. Fred K. Bressler, Cashier, Exchange Bank, Genesee, Idaho.

Dear Sir: We are sending you under separate cover a copy of the Holden Alfalfa Campaign schedule and a copy of the circular giving the details of the campaign. This schedule will show you the day and hour of the arrival and departure of the special train in your city.

I think there is no question but what this campaign is one of the most important ever undertaken for the betterment of agricultural conditions in the Inland Empire and we all know that when the farmers prosper we all prosper. While this country is on a good financial basis now, yet it could be a good deal better and will never be as strong, financially, and conditions as staple as they should be, until the farmers get to raising more logs and cattle. In some of the dairying districts of this state, land is held at from $300 to $400 per acre, rents for $20 per acre cash--the farms are small, the buildings large and modern and there are extremely few places for sale. The people are contented and prosperous. We can have the same conditions here if we will all get in and help, and this alfalfa campaign is a big step in that direction.

Will you kindly use every influence towards getting the farmers and business men of your city to attend the Holden lectures when Professor Holden and his corps of assistants reach your city.

Yours truly, THOS. H. BREWER.

That football as it was played last year is about the form of contest wanted by its enthusiasts is evidenced according to Coach "Pink" Griffith of the University of Idaho, by the slight changes that have been made in last season's rules.

Good news for the farmers, stockmen and fruit growers of Idaho comes from the headquarters of the Oregon Short Line. There will be no shortage of cars this fall for rushing the tremendous crop of the state to the markets of the east.

Caldwell won the annual choir contest held at Nampa. Nampa was second and Meridian third. Roswell and Boise also competed. The swiftest time was made by Caldwell, with a high order. This is Caldwell's second successive victory.

The annual "stag" reception, an event of the first week of every college year, was held on Friday evening. This meeting was for the men of the student body and faculty, and was in the nature of a general get-acquainted gathering, conducted by the Y. M. C. A. at Moscow.

A new system of street lighting has been ordered for Wardner and Kellogg by the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining company to replace the system now in use. Arrangements have been made to install a tungsten arc system, which will greatly increase the lighting of the streets at approximately the same expenditure.

The reorganization of the Idaho-Oregon Light and Power company has been authorized by the federal court, but the case is not yet finally disposed of. The court spent one day hearing arguments, and more arguments are to be heard. They are submitted for the purpose of adjusting the details of the foreclosure and reorganization which has been authorized.

Representatives of the dry forces in the forthcoming local option campaign in Bannock county met in Pocatello and organized for the purpose of making vigorous opposition to the wet interests, who recently published a declaration of principles in favor of an open town. Business men generally signed the declaration. The election will be held in December.

The first week of the college year 1913-1914 for the University of Idaho closed with prospects for a good year for the institution in all lines. The registration shows the largest freshman class in the history of the upper classes. The department affected most by the non-return of old students was the college of law. The mining department shows a big increase in the freshman class.

At a special meeting of the Volmer school board voted for the $15,000 bond issue recently bids were opened. The bonds were awarded to Sweet & Co. of Denver, Colo. The money will be used to provide a school building for the district, and the board will now take up the question of buying the building owned by the Volmer Educational and Improvement association or of constructing a new building.

George B. Thomas, secretary, and S. H. Inch, superintendent of the Utah Power and Light company, both of Salt Lake, were before the state tax commission in connection with the valuation placed on the property of the company in Idaho by the state board of equalization at its recent meeting. They promised Commissioner Hamstead to have their tax expert in Boise to go over the report of the company next week.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences Of The Past Week From Cities In Our State
"Rollers" Ready to Die.
 Caldwell.—Members of the Holy Rollers are holding camp meetings in southwestern Idaho in preparation for their pilgrimage to Southern California, where they will assemble shortly for judgment day. Many of them, owners of farms, have abandoned their holdings. The belief that they no longer can be of use to them because it will be impossible to take worldly goods with them when they go for judgment.

IDAHO PASTOR ARRESTED
 Effort to Move Church Building Is Reversed.
 Boise.—Conflict that threatened to disrupt the peace and dignity of both towns and cause a wide breach between their respective citizens reached a high pitch in Soldier and Fairfield, central Idaho, when Rev. Max Reinhardt of Fairfield was arrested for stealing the Baptist church in Soldier. The Baptist denomination built a church in Soldier several years ago, which was deeded to the society, and there is no church house in Fairfield. Rev. Mr. Reinhardt was authorized to remove the building to Fairfield, which is only a mile and a half from Soldier.

There has been a lively fight waged to prevent the removal of the church to the railroad town at Fairfield and when the building was being stripped for removal some of the Soldier citizens made out a deed to the property to one of the local merchants in Soldier, who promptly had Mr. Reinhardt arrested, alleging that the house was his and that the church authorities could not remove it.

Month's Pay for Three Days.
 Moscow.—Alfred J. Carls had worked less than three days for the Bird-Mendenhall Paving company, he obtained judgment for $75 as a common laborer because the company had to pay him the $25 it owed him at the time he quit work. Carls brought suit under a new statute for 30 days' wages which the court held the company was liable for as a penalty for not paying Carls when he quit work for the company.

"Cyclone" Falls to Unseat Hawn.
 Grangeville.—Jack Hawn's sensational ride of Cyclone, one of the world's most famous outlaw buckers, was the feature of an excellent program at the "Border Days" arena before an audience that taxed the 10,000 seating capacity of the park.

O'NEIL APPEAL DENIED
 Idaho Banker Must Serve a Jail Sentence.
 Boise.—B. F. (Barney) O'Neil, former president of the State Bank of Commerce of Wallace, must serve an indeterminate term of from two to ten years in the Idaho state penitentiary, for the supreme court has affirmed the judgment of the district court for Kootenai county. The opinion is written by Justice Sullivan and is concurred in by Chief Justice Alisha and Justice Sullivan.

O'Neil was convicted of the charge of making false reports to the state bank examiner on the financial condition of the Wallace bank. The fight to extradite him from Vancouver, B. C., to Idaho, formed an interesting chapter in a legal controversy that was waged for several months. He appealed from the conviction, but by the opinion he loses his case.

Engineer Held to Blame.
 Nampa.—Engineer V. C. Eggers was to blame for the wreck of Oregon Short Line, on the Idaho Northern extension, near Smiths Ferry, August 31, according to the findings of the board of inquiry which has just been made public. The accident resulted in the death of Fireman William Betts, brakemen Scott and Miller; severe injuries to Conductor T. S. Moffat and slight injuries to Engineer Eggers. The board of inquiry was composed of Oregon Short Line employees and one representative of the public, Ned James.

Bill to Aid Workmen.
 Pocatello.—According to advices received by T. W. Rickard, a member of the workmen's compensation commission appointed by the governor in July, the first formal meeting of the commission for the purpose of drafting a bill for presentation to the next legislature will be held in Boise, October 1.

To Teach Sewing, Cooking.
 Wallace.—The domestic science equipment for the high school is about installed and within a few days will be ready for use. The equipment is of the latest type and electric stoves will furnish heat for the students.

WOMEN WARRIORS.

Amazons of Old Appear to Have Been Dames of High Degree.
 For a long time it was held that the story of the Amazons, the valiant race of women warriors, so great a favorite with the Greeks and other peoples of antiquity, was a mere poetic myth, but within recent years archeologists and scholars have indicated that there were indeed women fighters of high rank in those remote days.

The first stories of the Amazons assigned them to the northeastern part of Asia Minor, but Etruria was peopled from Asia Minor and had attained a high degree of skill in certain of the arts long before Rome was founded. Such evidence as this tomb affords is in the opinion of more than one authority, more convincing than the pictures of Amazons on the old vases or such legends as that of Queen Penelope, who was said to have led 5,000 women to the aid of Priam during the Trojan war—Harpur's Weekly.

BLACK SEA DEAD LINE.

Below 1,200 Feet the Poisonous Water Kills All Organic Life.
 The Black sea, which in some parts is a depth of more than 6,500 feet, is poisoned by sulphured hydrogen wherever the water is deeper than 1,200 feet. This accounts for the curious fact that there is no organic life below that depth, excepting perhaps some bacteria of very low order, impregnated with sulphur.

The causes for this phenomenon are explained by the fact that the water is fresh water through the Bosphorus, while salt water coming from the Mediterranean enters through a deeper current into the depths of the Black sea. The waters on the surface are, therefore, controlled absolutely by horizontal currents of considerable force, and surface currents which might carry the noxious gases from the bottom to the surface and fresh oxygen from the surface to the bottom are hardly ever noticed.

Made in Glasgow.
 It was a long and tedious train journey, says the Glasgow News, and the other two occupants of the compartment had exhausted several other topics and were now "on" about cock-fighting. "When I was a lump of a lad in Blair's," said the one of them, "I had a wee bantam that could bate any bird ye could pit before him. Weel, this Sunday morning he bate two cocks, six of the ribber, but he was that set torn that to pit him out o' pain I threw his neck and threw him on the middle. Then we took out another pair o' birds, and yin of them crawled his challenge, when up me we bantam staggered the his feet, gied a cock-oo-oo-oo, and drappit down dead aff the middle." "Ye're an awfu' man, Wully," said the other man solemnly. "Are ye no' feart ye drap down dead yersel?"

Not Sufficiently Explicit.
 "I think we met at a summer resort two or three years ago, didn't we?" "Perhaps we did. Your face looks very familiar to me."
 "It ought to, I propositioned to you one evening and you accepted me."
 "Did I? Do you remember where it was?"
 "It was in a hotel veranda, behind a lot of palms and rubber plants."
 "Oh, you will have to be more explicit than that. Nearly half of my engagements have taken place with that kind of a stage setting."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Not an Uncommon Experience.
 "I don't know whether or not it's because they have a personal grudge against me," said the smiling giant, "but I know when I ride in full day light on a street car with which I'm perfectly familiar the conductor calls in every crowd street loudly and clearly, but when I'm trying to find my way on a dark night in an entirely new neighborhood he's silent as a church on a Monday morning."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

COLOMBIA DEALS WITH GREAT BRITAIN

Canal Rights Said to Have Been Given English Firm Alarms United States.

Washington.—The report that Pearson & Son, the great English firm of contractors and exploiters, with its significant relations to the British government itself, had obtained a gigantic concession for the exploitations of Colombia's natural resources, involving the right to construct docks, quays, railways and canals, arouses intense interest, not to say keen concern, here.

The matter involves the acquisition by English concessionaries of tracts of land and harbor works in the Gulf of Darien, a stretch of territory on the Panama canal, and special interests along the Atrato river, a waterway which forms a part of the site of the Colombian route for an isthmian canal.

The question would not be so significant were it not for the fact that the concession also includes the construction of railways, docks, quays and "canals," the last named being of the greatest significance. That feature of the concession might be considered England's answer to the Panama canal toll question, the American attitude concerning which has caused keen dissatisfaction in Great Britain.

MRS. WILSON CONTESTANT
 Error in Publication of Entry Is Discovers.
 Los Angeles.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States, was a desert entryman for a part of the date lands in the Salton Sea basin of the Imperial valley, until she was notified by the local land office that the entry had been cancelled.

An error in publication of first entry was discovered, and a correction was ordered by the land office, but again instructions were not followed, and, in the course of time, Mrs. Wilson notified that the home-stand had been cancelled.

YOUTHFUL GOLFER TIES BRITAIN'S BEST
 Brookline, Mass.—An American youth—a stripling scarcely out of his teens—carved a niche for himself in international sporting history here. Francis Ouimet tied with England's professional golfer, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, in the final round of the national open championship. As a result of his exhibition of nerve and golfing skill he will be America's sole representative in the 18-hole three-ball medal playoff of the tie which exists between the trio, each of whom turned in a card of 304 for 72 holes contested.

Ouimet's performance lifted the nineteenth annual open tournament of the United States Golf association out of the usual classification accorded a national champion and brought the contest to a standard little short of other international competitions. Of the half dozen home-bred and transplanted professionals on the field could keep pace with Ray and Vardon and all hope of retaining the honors appeared lost until Ouimet was found making his lone stand mid rain and mud against the two other players.

BRYAN ANSWERS CRITICS
 Secretary Declares He Will Lecture Whenever He Pleases.
 Jamestown, Va.—One of the largest crowds this community has ever seen gathered here to hear Secretary Bryan deliver his last chautauque lecture of the season. A previous statement of the secretary in Washington answering criticisms of his appearance on the lecture platform and declaring his purpose to lecture in the future when-ever he deemed it desirable or necessary, had aroused great interest, and when he was announced the audience began a demonstration that those in charge had trouble quieting. On the platform with Mr. Bryan were Senators Burton and Newlands.

Washington.—Secretary Bryan issued a statement saying that he would lecture as long as and whenever he felt there was a proper occasion to do so. The statement said: "I expect to lecture whenever I deem it desirable or necessary to do so, and have not in the least altered the plans which were made at the time of my departure from the office. The criticism that has been directed against my lecturing is no more bitter than the criticism I have undergone at other times and for other things during my connection with politics."

An Escape

By LUCY K. WYNKOOP

Joe Green, a boy ten years old, lost his father, then his mother, and was thrown up upon the world at an age when he should have been subject to the necessary training to direct him in an honorable career.

Joe was a bright boy and fitted for a better life than robbery and passing the principal part of his life in jail and the rest of it undergoing the risk of jail or something else. But the time had not come for him to show himself character enough to enable him to break away from the path in which fate had placed him.

Joe became so infatuated with machinery that he was anxious to get out into the world and become a machinist. He was not a patient boy—few persons whose abilities are of the "wild" order are so his inventive brain turned toward a method of escape from the reformatory that he might go to some place where his past would not be known and enter upon a career connected with machinery. He thought over a number of plans by which he might get out of the prison, but none of them were practicable.

But at last he hit upon an original conception, one that was allied to the science of mechanics. Some mathematical knowledge was required to put it into practice, but there was a school in the reformatory which the boys were required to attend, and Joe showed a considerable aptitude to a mathematical way.

The suggestion came in this way: The power house was built against the prison wall. Besides the engine, it contained a broad leather belt turned by the shaft, the upper end running over gearing attached to the ceiling. Besides this gearing was a window, which was usually kept open in order to let out the heated air of the engine and furnace room.

One morning it occurred to Joe that the belt might possibly be used as a conveyance to carry one to the window, whence he might lower himself to the ground outside the prison wall. But no one could jump from the belt to the window without running the risk of being dashed against it or falling to a brick yard pavement below it, or both. There was but one time when such a ride could be taken if the belt were when the steam had been shut off and the belt was slowing up previous to stopping its revolution. This was attended to by the engineer himself at a clock every workday evening, and there were usually only persons, prisoners or officials, about during the closing hour; therefore the feat must be performed in presence of others.

Joe found time when he was supposed to be studying to calculate a point where he could jump on to the belt, he carried to the window and stop there, though the basis of those calculations was obtained by watching the belt revolve and noting its stopping, noting especially the position of the lacing with reference to the point at which the belt must be loosed.

He was months making those calculations and calculations and at last he was enabled to fix a point which many notions at the closing hour showed aff-ary, had arranged the dates of the evening, and there were usually only persons, prisoners or officials, about during the closing hour; therefore the feat must be performed in presence of others.

It was midnight when Joe Green made his experiment, and it was not only dark without, but a snowstorm was raging. Joe was making headway, but a much respected and wealthy contractor for machinery named Joseph Green is living in Rio de Janeiro. He never talks about his boyhood, but has given away a fortune for the betterment of boys who are deprived of a home training and has helped hundreds of young men who have served terms in prison to a means of earning an honest livelihood.

Just a Suggestion
 The local school board members have been in quandary as to just what kind of a "noise" to put on the building to call the pupils to school on time and so far as we have been able to learn, no decision has yet been reached.
 A certain place in Pennsylvania was up against the same problem, which was figured out by one of the members of the building committee as follows:
 An energetic young priest in charge of a parish in Cambria county, Pennsylvania, had succeeded in raising money enough to build and equip a new church, all except for the bell. To get enough money for the bell, he held a meeting of his parishioners, at which the members of his building committee made speeches. All except McCarthy had spoken. One mentioned their fine church; another their comfortable pews; another, their splendid altar and another spoke of the steam heat they had in the church and of the coal in the cellar for the furnace. They were all sorry, they said, that they were without a bell and hoped the members would be able to make a further effort and secure the money for that purpose.
 Then came McCarthy's turn and he spoke as follows: "We have a fine church. Our pews is comfortable and our altar is grand. 'Tis true we have no bell. But, said he, we have steam heat in the church and plenty of coal in the cellar. The divil wid the bell. Let's put a whistle on the church."

As the school board has plenty of coal and a steam-heating plant, it might be well for them to follow the suggestion of "McCarthy."
Swine Husbandry
 There has been received at this office a copy of the "Pacific Northwest Swine Husbandry," a booklet gotten up and sent out by the Portland Union Stockyards Co. The publication has to do with everything in the nature of breeding and feeding hogs on the ranch and is what might be termed an encyclopedia on swine production. It is a very comprehensive little booklet and should be in the hands of every hog raiser and those contemplating the raising of hogs in the inland Empire.

This booklet may be had by addressing O. M. Plummer, secretary, Portland Union Stockyards Co., Portland, Ore.

"Hazel Kirke"

On Monday, September 29, at the Genesee opera house, local thespians, under the direction of Mr. Louis Deane, will present the greatest of Scottish plays, "Hazel Kirke." This admirable play is so well known that little need be said of its merits; having the distinction of running 587 consecutive performances at Madison Square Garden, New York City, some years ago.

In no play of recent years has such romantic interest been built up around a simple, country heroine. A play of strong dramatic interest, quiet exceptional character of style, delightfully pure, and one that is not for a single moment weary to monotony.

Special scenery has been provided for the settings and with an orchestra providing the incidental music, all who attend are assured a very pleasing production.

The price of admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Seats on sale at Dicus' Drug store.

Fred G. Helm's moving picture show on Saturday night was one of the best he has ever given here, one picture especially being of particular educational value was a reproduction of Captain Scott's dash for the south pole. It gave many interesting views showing ice bergs and showed many interesting things such as take place on board a vessel of that kind. It will be remembered that Captain Scott was the one who lost his life after the pole had been reached.

The splendid rain of Sunday and Sunday night was a great boon to this country, especially in laying the dust, which had become very deep on the roads where a great deal of wheat had been hauled. While it interfered with a few small jobs of threshing it was a great help to the roads and the farmers as well as the townspeople were greatly benefited thereby.

The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning will be—"Congregationalism, Its History, Principles and Achievements." If you do not know about the beginnings and development of Congregationalism and what it stands for, next Sunday morning will afford a good opportunity to learn about it. We should have every pew filled at this service. Those not members and strangers are especially invited to the morning service.

In the evening the subject of the sermon will be—"The Two Builders," and will be on building character and life.

We were pleased to see the large congregation last Sunday evening, which taking into consideration the stormy weather, was very encouraging. Since we have no Endeavor meeting at present let all the young people faithfully attend the evening preaching service. The evening sermons are always prepared with the view of being helpful to them.

We hope that none of the boys or girls will forget the Junior meeting Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

J. P. Kraut, one of the successful ranchers of this part of the country, finished last week the filling of a large silo, the contents of which will be used for feeding stock the coming winter. Mr. Kraut is one of the increasing number who believe that the silo is the only practical way of conserving the real feeding and fattening qualities of his crops. He put corn, oats and alfalfa in the silo and so arranged it that the different articles will be used at the time best suited to each feed.

While people are visiting the fair at Moscow this week they will be able to see something new in the form of fancy pavement. It seems that one of the newly paved streets of that city was not made rabbit-tight, and the next morning when the city inspector took a look at the paving he found all kinds of tracks in the soft concrete. It is evident that a few people at least have "made their mark" where it will not be rubbed out very soon.

The dance given by the army company in the opera house on last Friday night was well attended and a splendid time was had by those attending. The music was furnished by Uggen's orchestra, which was of superior quality and it is seldom the dancers of this part of the country have an opportunity to "trip the light fantastic" to as fine music.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

Short Cuts to Thrift.
 One of the things that can be utilized by the thrifty housekeeper is the ever present, despised thing which comes around bundles and packages. The strings together, making fairly large knots and being careful not to trim off the ends—the more regular the better. Then with a pair of course needles knit into bath mats. If you are fortunate in having a variety of colors, by judicious blending they can be made to look strikingly like some of the Turkish rugs, especially if you use the gilt cord which comes around boxes of confectionery. They are not only serviceable but have the added merit of washing forever. All of the colors are fast except pink. As most of the strings now in use in the shops are of a single color, the rugs can be made any desired color, either by dyeing or by making of balls of solid color, costing about 5 cents apiece.

Another economy consists in saving all the odds and ends of soap except the coarsest kitchen kinds. When you have about a quart put on the stove to melt, adding a pint of water. As soon as these become thoroughly melted stir in a scant pint of oatmeal or oatmeal flakes—the kind used for porridge until dissolved—only a few minutes if hot—then add a tablespoonful of extract of almond. Turn into a pan to harden. When cool cut into cubes. This soap is not attractive in appearance, as it becomes rather dark, but it has a curative property and rapidly heals chapped hands, rendering them smooth and white.

Glove fingers make splendid protection for the stems of flowers, especially if the flowers are of a delicate color and to a white dress. Save the fingers, insert the flower stems in them and pin to dress and no dampness or stain will injure the most delicate bloom.

As every woman knows, the legs of stockings are being torn out continually to the detriment of her patience and pocketbook. But do not discard the stockings, no matter how badly torn. Lay two together, fold over and over, putting a layer of newspaper in one fold, sew the edges together and you have a nightgown for your baby.

An excellent floor mop may be made from old stockings in this manner: Slash them in strips an inch wide, forming a fringe. Stitch several thicknesses of this to a strip of cloth three inches wide and ten inches long. Machine stitching is best. Saturate this with a good furniture polish and fasten in a mop stick. By using this daily upon hardwood floors they are kept free from dust and given a beautiful polish.

HOW TO REPRODUCE OLD PLASTER CAST.

Many women may desire to reproduce an article in plaster. This is a useful and difficult matter if these directions are followed: The materials required are: Plaster of Paris, clay, water, a mixing spoon and a round board two feet square. When you first attempt it try something simple—half of an apple, for instance. An extra precaution would be to mix a little bluing with the plaster, to distinguish it from the model. Soap the half apple well on the outside. Place it flat side down upon the modeling board and build a mound of softened clay around it.

When this has hardened mix the powdered plaster with water until it is the consistency of pancake batter. Pour this into the mold of the article. Shake the plaster into the mold thoroughly. Make a hole in the top of the mold, which is formed by the union of the two halves. Through this opening pour the liquid plaster.

When the cast has hardened it may be shellacked or ivoryized. This is extremely interesting. Try it some time and see.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

Nowadays there are many forms of gardening, but perhaps few are more interesting than the water garden. Most persons have an idea that water gardening is only possible where there is a large amount of room. This is quite a wrong notion. There must be few gardens in which it is not possible to grow a piece of ground about nine feet square, and this is all that is necessary.

The situation is a matter of some importance. In a general way odd corners are to be avoided, and the more open the position the better.

A very good foundation for the pool would be that of a rough circle. Six feet is a suitable measurement for the diameter of the pool, which should be dug out to the depth of one foot. The greatest depth must be in the center of the pool, and the sides should sink fairly abruptly. In a pool of this size it is desirable to have as much deep water as possible, so that there will be good accommodation for water lilies. The deepest part of the pool should be at least two feet six inches and might be a little more.

After the digging out of the basin one of the first steps is to make sure that the soil is pressed down very firmly in the bottom.

The question of lining the basin now arises. Of course there is no doubt that the best way is to spread over the whole of the floor a layer of concrete. This substance is formed by mixing moderate sized stones with cement, and the making of it is not beyond the average amateur. The concrete is spread over the bottom of the basin and should not be less than three inches in thickness.

HOW TO ANCHOR PORCH TABLE COVERS.

Whoever may be blessed with an airy porch will be glad to know that she may keep the table covers in place by weighting them.

Stow in each corner a piece of muslin about an inch square, making it like a little pocket, open at one end. Slip into each pocket a metal weight, about the size of a quarter, such as a tailor's use for weighting coats. When the cover needs washing it will be easy to remove the weights.

The comfort of folding the covers on the tables and not on the porch floor will be the reward you will reap for the little trouble you have taken.

I measure my coffee and put it in the pot ready for the water. If I am to have hot biscuits or waffles or buttermilk pancakes, I measure the flour and all ingredients and washes it ready to mix with the milk, or if I am to have toast I slice the bread ready for the toaster. If I am to have breakfast bacon I have it sliced and ready for the sizzling, or if there are to be croquettes I mold them and have them ready to be fried in the oil.

HOW TO CLEAN WHITE FEATHERS.

White feathers of any kind, especially white willow plumes, can be cleaned at home to look like new at a very small cost.

Take one quart of gasoline and 5 cents' worth of plaster of Paris and mix together to the consistency of whipped cream. Dip the feathers in this mixture several times and squeeze out the water. Then hang them up in the open air to dry thoroughly and until all the gasoline has evaporated. Remember never to use gasoline in a room with a light or fire. It is very explosive.

How to Rest the Eyes.

To relieve the fatigue of the eyes after a long day spent out of doors bathe them with a warm solution of boracic acid, soaking pads of absorbent wool in the lotion and laying them over the eyes for a few minutes, changing them two or three times. This rests and soothes them and restores their brightness.

How to Mend Lace Curtains.

Take strips of net the right size or good parts of old curtains and dip them into hot starch. Apply these strips to the worn places while the starch is hot and they will adhere and will not show as much as darning would.

How to Bail a Cracked Egg.

To prevent the contents of a cracked egg from boiling out gently rub the crack with damp salt before immersing the egg in water, and allow time for the salt to penetrate.

How to Make Mest Pie Crust.

To prevent the crusty coating through the bottom crust of mest pies brush over the crust with white of egg.

SILO A MONEY MAKER.

Reasons For Its Use by All Interested in Every Form of Live Stock.

No other subject is receiving so much attention from the experiment stations, farm papers and farmers' institutes as the silo. All the great industries depending on live stock are advocating its use.

It is a conservation subject of great importance, for with it can be saved in rare cases more than a better steeper price than $7.75 appear.

The swine market was unsatisfactory from several view points. Total receipts were comparatively small, quality not of the best and demand slow. Prices generally 15 to 20 cents lower. Best light hogs selling $8.50 to $8.75. Trade spasmodic and a hand to hand proposition.

Through the mediation of Senator Borch of Idaho, Private Harold McMillan, for 16 months a member of the United States marine corps, will receive his discharge in order to be free to take care of his widowed mother and sister. McMillan's father died in July at his home in Wallace, and the young man felt he ought to be at home to look after his relatives. Ordinarily his release could have been obtained only by purchase, but the silo in place of the old feeding others can go in. With the silo the cost of producing stock and stock products can be greatly lowered. Experiments have shown that by the use of the silo in place of the old feeding silage, the cost of producing a pound of nearly all kinds of farm forage and a good and cheap ration for horses, cattle, sheep, swine and chickens. It requires little storage space, is a labor saving device, doubles the value of the corn crop, triples the stock carrying capacity of the land, restores the fertility of the soil and returns the grain annually 100 per cent on the investment—Farm and Ranch.

FEEDING ENTAILAGE.

has been brought about largely by the rise in price of all kinds of stock foods. This in turn has driven many men out of the stock business and discouraged others from going in. With the silo the cost of producing stock and stock products can be greatly lowered. Experiments have shown that by the use of the silo in place of the old feeding silage, the cost of producing a pound of nearly all kinds of farm forage and a good and cheap ration for horses, cattle, sheep, swine and chickens. It requires little storage space, is a labor saving device, doubles the value of the corn crop, triples the stock carrying capacity of the land, restores the fertility of the soil and returns the grain annually 100 per cent on the investment—Farm and Ranch.

FINE WAY TO SAVE.

Each farmer should write to the state experiment station and secure the proper fertilizer formula for whatever crop he desires to grow. The station will send a food indoors on rainy days at a good saving to his pocketbook and soil. Conservation means saving and getting the most out of every dollar which the farmer pays out for the middlemen's profits for wages and for freight must eventually come out of the soil.

To Secure Farm Bridges.

Use No. 12 wire, but No. 9 is stronger. From the upper sill of your farm bridges on both sides of the stream to a tree up the bank. If fifty yards off it will do all right, or if you have pinet posts on the banks five feet deep and tie to these, and if the plank on the bridge is well nailed with twenty-penny wire nails high water will not carry off the bridges every freshet, as is now often the case. Progressive Farmer.

"The Lowing of the Kine."

The dairy cow should not be required to drink water that a person would be unwilling to drink himself.

A good tank heater for the cow's drinking water and a sheltered place for the tank save feed and make more milk.

After the first week of sleeping and resting the young calf should be allowed to exercise freely in the open air in order to develop muscles, lungs and heart.

A concrete floor is the only kind that will insure perfect drainage for the cheese making room. It will also help to keep the curing room cool in hot weather and warm in cold weather.

Be careful about feeding beet tops to the cattle. Heavy feeding of this material is somewhat dangerous, as it tends to purge animals. Feed in limited quantities and with other feeds.

Probably no single cause tends more to check milk secretion than the failure to remove all the milk at the time of milking, says Hildreth, Dairyman. The presence of even a little milk in the ducts may act as a powerful check on the secretion of fresh milk.

Portland Markets
 Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1646, calves 62, hogs 2337, sheep 6462.

The late cattle market manifested little if any change as receipts since the first of the week have been very unimportant and business very slow. Monday had another beef deluge which surpassed the record total seven days previous. Fortunately the run contained a liberal supply of fat steers and the trade was forced to bid strong prices to secure good lots. Two loads of steers at $8 and $8.10 respectively, one of cows at $7.25 and another at $7 were extreme quotations. All other sales were 16 to 20 cents lower and price range is unsteady. The beef deluge has dulled the market temporarily and only in rare cases does a better steer price than $7.75 appear.

The swine market was unsatisfactory from several view points. Total receipts were comparatively small, quality not of the best and demand slow. Prices generally 15 to 20 cents lower. Best light hogs selling $8.50 to $8.75. Trade spasmodic and a hand to hand proposition.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES
 By Miss Esther Orth

New pupils are steadily enrolling and the attendance is growing rapidly. Those enrolled during the past week have been:

Primary—Wesley Peterson.
 Second—Muriel Peterson.
 Fifth—Gladys Jain.
 High School—Ruth Elkum, Henry Mochel, Carl Nagel and Ben Jain.

Since the changing of the grades, Miss Doty has the fourth and sixth with 45 pupils enrolled, Miss Baxter has the fifth with an enrollment of 35, and Miss Wandrobe has the seventh and eighth with an enrollment of 32.

The attendance during the past week has been excellent with scarcely any tardiness except in the primary room, where the attendance has been exceedingly poor and the tardiness more than necessary for the enrollment of such a small number of pupils.

The weaving, drawing and sewing apparatus and the new chairs arrived for the kindergartners. They are very industrious and enthusiastic, and it is feared they enjoy the work too much. It was remarked by one small seamstress, that "she liked the chairs best of all but she was going to have her papa saw off part of it so she could hang her feet over."

It is sincerely hoped by all that William Flomer upon finishing high school, will be able to take a "Hypotenuse" from a "Hippopotamus."

The high school appreciated a lovely instrumental duet rendered by Gladys and Irah Larrabee, Monday morning.

Examination in all subjects will be given the last week of every month in the high school.

A meeting was called last Friday evening and the organization of an orchestra was discussed. About twenty pupils consented to join. They will practice once or twice a week until all signs of massacre have been abolished.

The public will be entitled to hear the orchestra in the near future.

Eighth grade teacher—"Hazel, what is Long Island noted for?" "Crawfish," Hazel promptly replied.

"Hazel Kirke" desires one and all, both young and old, to come and make her acquaintance Monday evening, September 29, at the Genesee opera house. It is a certainty that she will highly please all those she meets. She has consented to come here for the benefit of the High School Athletic association, to do all within her power in clearing the athletic debt.

Sunday School Institutes

Institutes will be held in Lewiston, Friday, September 26 and Spokane on Monday, September 29. C. A. Phipps of Portland, will attend these conferences and institutes with Professor E. C. Knapp, general secretary of the Inland Empire Association. There will be afternoon and evening sessions at the institutes and representatives of the 28 counties in the association limits will attend the nearest institute.

Other conventions will be held as follows:

Grant county, Ephrata, October 2-3; Clearwater county, Orofino, October 6-7; Asotin county, Asotin, October 8-9; Nez Perce county, Lewiston, October 10-11; Kiekkitat county, White Salmon, October 21-22; Benton county, Kennewick, October 23-24; Whitman county, Albion, October 28-29; Walla Walla county, Walla Walla, October 30-31; Garfield county, Pomeroy, November 3-4; Columbia county, Huntville, November 5-6; Pend Oreille county, Newport, November 10-11; Stevens county, Colville, November 11-12; Spokane county, Spokane, November 12-14.

New Candy Kitchen

Genesee can now boast of a manufacturing plant that has caused a great many people to stop and investigate and sample the wares and is one that a great many people are interested in, especially those with "sweet teeth."

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Braun have opened a candy kitchen in the Sullivan building and are manufacturing candies of all kinds and of the very best in quality, as we can testify from samples submitted.

The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Geo. Follett. The afternoon was spent in needlework and social chat. A pickup lunch was served.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.—from his table.

—And now the question arises, if the price of porthouse steak reaches the dollar mark, how much more will the producer receive for his cattle on the hoof?

Madam, Do You Know the Facts About Monarch Ranges?

A new range is the most important purchase you can make. On it depend your health and happiness, as well as that of your family. You use your range more than any other article in the home. You are entitled to the best one you can buy—one that performs its service easily, quickly, satisfactorily and economically, and Monarch Ranges have all these qualifications. They are "best by test."

Why Shiver and Freeze Through Another Winter?

It is not necessary that you live through another winter in a few cold, damp, drafty rooms, unevenly warmed by a common heating stove. You can make your own climate in your own home, day and night, up-stairs and down, all winter long if you put in a GERMAN HEATER. Call and see them.

Some Good Exhibits

Some of the farmers hereabouts are bringing to the banks in this city samples of their crops, some of which make a very creditable showing, especially along the corn and pumpkin line.

Alfalfa Good Roughage

No other roughage on the farm is possible of wider use than alfalfa hay. For road horses it is not of much value being so laxative and causing the animals to sweat freely. However, it can be used with all classes of horses to some extent, and largely with those at slow steady work. When fed to fat ten steers, alfalfa hay tends to the more rapid laying on of fat, thereby reducing the quantity of concentrates required for a given gain. For the dairy cow there is no better feed, for alfalfa hay is rich not only in crude protein but in mineral matter prime requisites in milk production. For sheep feeding alfalfa hay leads the roughages, and it can be used to a limited extent with fattening hogs and largely employed in shotes and breeding swine during winter.

Understanding the composition and nature of alfalfa hay the stockman can feed it to all the farm animals with economy and satisfaction. On every farm where stock is kept there should be an effort made to grow alfalfa. If the attempt results in failure, recourse should be had to red clover or some other legumes.

At the New Jersey station it was found that while alfalfa hay is one of the richest of roughages and approximates bran in crude protein content, its fiber and coarse, bulky nature prevent its entirely taking the place of such concentrates as bran, cottonseed meal, etc., with cows giving a large flow of milk. Cows fed alfalfa hay in place of all the concentrates lost flesh, and their coats were less smooth and glossy than those getting some meal as a part of their rations. When alfalfa used to furnish as much as 60 per cent of the crude protein usually furnished to the cows in form of bran, cottonseed meal, etc., there was some shrinkage in milk flow, but a financial saving of over 25 per cent in the cost of producing the milk.

Many Amusements

Elaborate preparations are being made for the opening of the Lewiston-Clarkston fair next Monday, September 29, the program for the first day being under the direction of the local lodge of Elks while the newspaper men of the entire region will have the run of the grounds on the second day. The fair management has secured a most comprehensive exhibit of the products of eastern Washington and northern Idaho and has this year given special attention to the preparation of an educational exhibit and the women's department. The amusement features are the best ever secured. A big racing program in which over one hundred horses will participate will be a feature and added to this will be the automobile and motorcycle races. A big water carnival with twenty performers will be one of the free act features before the grandstand each afternoon while twenty-six carloads of new and novel carnival attractions will be used for the carnival settings in the city at night.

Large Crowd at Fair

According to reports coming from Moscow, the opening day of the fair was a huge success, as has been each and every day.

Bill Inside

Bill Sprague kept a general store at Croysden Four Corners. One day he set off for New York to buy a lot of goods. The goods were shipped immediately; and as Bill had lingered in New York sightseeing they reached Croysden Four Corners before him. The goods in an enormous packing case were driven to the general store by the local teamster. Mrs. Sprague came out to see what had arrived, and with a shriek, uttered and fell.

"Oh, what's the matter, ma'am?" cried the hired girl.

Mrs. Sprague, her eyes blinded with tears, pointed to the packing case, whereon was stenciled in large black letters: "Bill Inside."

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Conferees Adjust All Differences in Tariff Except Cotton Future Tax

Washington.—After more than two weeks of constant work behind closed doors, the eight democratic representatives and house members of the conference committee settled the last of their other differences and reached the final decision that they could not agree on the cotton futures tax.

The six republican members of the conference committee were summoned to meet at a full committee meeting at 10 o'clock Monday.

The final differences in the bill were adjusted as follows: The house receded from its rate of half a cent a pound on lead ore and accepted the senate rate of three-fourths of a cent a pound.

The senate receded from its rate of 12 1/2 per cent ad valorem on the silver ore and accepted the house rate of 10 per cent.

The house gave up its demand that the woolen tariff rates go into effect at once agreed to the dates fixed by the senate, namely, woolen goods January 1, 1914; raw wool, tops and waste December 1, 1913.

The house receded from its provisions as to cotton threads, yarns and cloths, accepting the senate amendments, which revised the schedules on a new basis of thread count.

Income Tax Will Raise $82,298,000.

According to estimates by treasury experts $425,000 American residents next spring exactly how much they owe the government under the new income tax law, which is embodied in the tariff bill.

The first returns do not have to be made to the internal revenue collectors before March 1, 1914. When they are made they will cover the incomes of citizens from March 1, 1913, to December 31, and the first payment of tax will be for money received during this period.

Every single person (citizen or foreigner) whose annual income exceeds $2000 and every married person with an income above $4000 is expected to report his or her receipts in detail to the government agents March 1 of each year. The estimate completed indicates that the income tax will produce $82,298,000. To this will be added the $35,000,000 or more produced by the present corporation tax, which is continued as a part of the law.

Literacy Test Up Again.

An attempt will be made before the adjournment of the special session of congress to pass an immigration bill with a literacy test as its leading feature, such as was vetoed by President Taft.

At a meeting of the house committee on immigration the old Burnett-Dillingham bill, which met Mr. Taft's disapproval, was ordered reported to the house. Democratic back of the measure will go to work immediately to have this legislation indorsed by the caucus, an action which is necessary to insure its consideration at the present session.

National Capital Brevities.

President Wilson would be authorized to direct the construction of the government railroad in Alaska by a bill reported by the house judiciary committee.

A surplus of from $10,000,000 to $16,000,000 over current needs of the government will be provided by the new tariff law, in the opinion of Senator Simmons, chairman of the joint conference committee.

Customs officials estimated that $150,000,000 worth of goods are in bonded warehouses at the country's ports of entry at present, waiting for the lower duties provided in the tariff bill.

Representative Clayton of Alabama will remain in the field as a candidate for the senate from that state, even if he has to contest against Oscar W. Underwood, the house leader, for the nomination.

Congress, at its December session, will likely take up the matter of safeguarding lives of passengers on railroad trains. The interstate commerce commission may be empowered to treat with such questions as steel cars and safety equipments.

Brady's stories are all good—"The Island of the Stairs" is better.

News Snapshots Of the Week

Gov. Sulzner Failed to Appear

Gov. William Sulzner of New York failed to appear in person at his impeachment trial at Albany at which Chief Justice E. M. Cullen of the state court of appeals presided. Following the public funeral of "Big Tim" Sullivan, the New York congressman who was found dead after being missing for ten days, the authorities began investigating his death. Rev. Hans Schmidt, a Catholic priest stationed in New York city, confessed he killed Anna Amundler, the Hudson river murderer victim, and embassy at Rome, returned to Washington to face charges that he had abused his diplomatic privileges regarding the importation of articles free of duty. Thomas A. Edison, the great inventor, was reported so ill as to be unable to go to his laboratory for the first time in eight years.

"HAZEL KIRKE" A WINNER

Was One of Best Local Plays Ever Witnessed Here—Good Attendance

The play, "Hazel Kirke," which was the offering by home talent at the opera house on Monday night, was not only one of the best, but the very best, that has been here for many months, each and every one taking part acquitting themselves in a way that shows their talent. The success of the production was in a great measure due to the efforts of Louis Denee, who had the direction of the play.

"Hazel Kirke" is a play of more than passing interest, it being laid in Scotland, where romance runs wild. It takes up the story of a headstrong old miller, Dunstan Kirke (Louis Denee), who had a very handsome daughter, Hazel Kirke (Miss Dorothy Driscoll). The old miller is heavily in debt and one Squire Rodney (Henry Herman) holds a mortgage, to stay the execution of which the old miller promised the hand of his daughter, Hazel, in marriage. In the meantime a young man—Lord Travers (Dr. J. M. McColl)—had made his appearance in the country and had had the misfortune to fall into the river, also breaking an arm, and was saved by Dunstan Kirke and taken to his home at Kirke's Mill and there was nursed back to health by the old miller's beautiful daughter (Hazel) and during the process of convalescence the young people fell desperately in love, much to the consternation of the old Scotchman, who had made other arrangements for his daughter, and who always said his word good.

Squire Rodney, upon discovery of the secret of the young people withdrew his suit, he being many years the senior of Hazel, but still the old miller's mind was unchanged. The result was that the young people took matters into their own hands and fled and were married.

Pittacus Green (Edwin Smolt), a hunter of curiosities, appears on the scene early in the play and falls in love with Dolly Dutton (Miss Laura Phipps) the old miller's niece, and is persistent with his wooing at intervals until he is finally rewarded in the last act.

The old miller had forbidden his wife, Mercy (Mrs. J. T. Nelson) seeing their runaway daughter without his consent, but later upon her return home the wife had been unable to comply with his command as the daughter had returned to the old home without their knowledge. But all was later forgiven and it is all well that ends well.

It is a long story and an exceedingly pretty one and one that was handled by the players in a way that was pleasing to all. It is impossible to follow it through, but suffice it to say that all taking part are entitled to credit in the way they handled their roles. In addition to the above, those taking part were Lady Travers, mother of Lord Travers (Miss Edna Driscoll), Clara, a maid (Miss Esther Orth), Barney O'Flynn, a lackey (Walter Buchholtz), Methusalem Miggins, called Met (Cecil Bolton), Joe and Dan, mill hands (Deceal Springer and Malion Follett).

Mrs. J. S. Larrabee, who has been quite ill, is improving slowly.

Progressive Club

The hospitable home of Mrs. F. S. Casebolt was the scene of merry making Thursday afternoon, September 25, when she entertained the Progressive Needle Work club and a number of invited guests. The parlors were gay with purple asters and the dining room a festive air. The ladies were brilliantly colored autumn leaves, mountain ash berries and trailing vines.

Story telling and music made the time pass so swiftly that needles were almost forgotten and gladly work was laid aside when the invitation came to enter the dining room where a delightful luncheon was served. Miss Faith Follett presided at the piano and gave some pleasing selections.

All were sorry when the time came to depart and each one assured Mrs. Casebolt of the really good time that she had had.

Fred G. Helm announced at his last appearance here that he would not show his pictures in Genesee any more. This is to be very much regretted as Mr. Helm's pictures are always good and furnish amusement once a week, and as there is none too much amusement here at any time, a great many people will be disappointed.

"That Big Snow"

A postcard has been received at the News office asking for information regarding the big snow H. A. Morgan passed through on the Craig mountains on his way home from the Camas Prairie country last week, which reads as follows:

"The many friends of H. A. Morgan are anxious to know whether the ten feet of snow through which he motored on Craig mountain was horizontal or perpendicular. Kindly ascertain and tell us in the next issue of the NEWS. Very respectfully, A Subscriber."

It is impossible to get a written statement from Mr. Morgan. He first declared the snow was perpendicular and later changed it to horizontal, but said there was ten miles of it instead of ten feet, and that he went through it without having runners on his machine.

MONEY IN HOGS

There are some few people in this part of the country who think that hogs and wheat do not travel in the same channel and that there is no money to be made even by having an alfalfa pasture for them to run on. We would like to refer these same people to Al Whitted, in the Little Poltatch, whom nearly every one in this part of the country knows, for a few figures along this line.

There is at least one man in this part of the country who says he cannot make money by feeding 69-cent wheat into 8-cent hogs. Mr. Whitted says he can afford to feed 75-cent wheat to five-cent hogs. There seems to be a wide difference.

Mr. Whitted has 200 acres of land, of which he tills 85 acres, has about 15 acres of alfalfa and the rest in pasture. He also says that he raises enough on the 85 acres to feed about 20 head of horses, 12 head of cattle and sells from $1,200 to $1,500 worth of hogs from his place each year and that his wheat brings from $1 to $1.50 per bushel used this way.

If you are not able to figure it out, ask Mr. Whitted, who has some interesting "hog" figures which he is willing to show any one interested. He says the combination of alfalfa and wheat for the raising of hogs is unequalled and a winner when properly handled.

Mr. Whitted now has about 200 head of thoroughbred Duroc Jerseys of which he is justly proud.

Heavy Yield of Oats

Dr. Parr, who bought the Gust Johnson farm near the Farmers mill a few years ago, reports a yield of 126 bushels from an acre of White Tartarian oats. Mr. Parr had in three acres of oats which were divided into three different patches of one acre each. The three were planted at different times, the earliest sown yielding 126 bushels, the next making 93 bushels and the last 89. Mr. Parr, who is the first to introduce this variety in this section states that they are a winter oat, and expects to seed a few acres this fall for the purpose of determining whether they will make a better yield than if sown in the spring. He expects to have in a 40-acre field next year.—Troy News.

The brand-new (?) passenger coach the Northern Pacific has furnished the people of this branch is certainly a "hum-dinger." It is to be presumed that if they had anything on the whole system that is any worse the Genesee branch would be favored with it. The steps are decidedly unsafe, being broken at one end. It does look as if the company could afford at least one decent car for the ladies who are compelled to travel over this branch. There is confusion nearly every morning among the ladies as to which is the smoking car and which is the ladies' car. The people should rise up in their might and demand at least one car that is fit for a lady to ride in.

If you miss a single line of "The Island of the Stairs" you will regret it.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

No reasonable expense or labor on the part of the officers of the Canyon county fair has been spared this year to make it the biggest event of the kind ever pulled off in the state. Shoshone county is to fall in line with the other counties in the state and have a probation officer working under the direction of the probate court if the plans of Probate Judge G. E. Worstell are carried out.

Soda Springs is having trouble with its municipally owned water works system. Complaints are rolling in on the public utilities commission in such numbers that an investigation is to be made. The final day of Walla Walla Frontier days came to a close with 23,000 people shouting themselves hoarse to acclaim a new world's champion bronco-buster, Bob Gavin, chief of police of Caldwell, Idaho.

An eight-man team was required to haul a shipment of groceries sent by parcel post from Delth to Jarbridge, Nev. The groceries were sent from Boise, Idaho, and the rate was lower than the regular freight charges.

W. H. O'Brien of Salmon has been appointed county attorney to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of G. H. Padgham, who accepted the vice presidency of the Methodist college at Gooding.

The Idaho Power and Light company, organized under the laws of Nevada, has taken over the holdings of the Beaver River Power company in Boise and southern Idaho, together with all its franchises, worth approximately $1,000,000.

Aside from recommending several bills to be introduced into the next session of the legislature, the most important question discussed at the council meeting of the State Federation of Women's clubs held in Boise, was the subject of finance.

Seven negroes, men and women, were rearrested at Pocatello on a charge from the grand jury. Three of the number escaped. It is believed wholesale bootlegging and other crimes and a bad gang will be weeded out.

Nampa was visited by a trio of burglars, who secured $13.42 from the safe of the Nampa Flour and Feed company, a good overcoat and 60 cents in pennies from the office of the Continental Oil company.

The sale of delinquent stock of the Carbonate Mining company was held at Kellogg in front of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan offices. Few shares were offered, owing to the strike in the property several weeks ago, a strongly defined one body having been encountered. The assessment which remained unpaid was for one mill.

Charging that the company has completely failed to furnish water, settlers on the Medbury tract are determined to have cancelled the contract between the state of Idaho and the King Hill Extension Irrigation company. A number of settlers appeared before the state land board and made a strong plea for a better system.

August Paulson of Spokane has filed suit in the district court at Wallace against the East Standard Mining company to condemn a tunnel right of way and dump ground on the Chalmers Belt claim. Mr. Paulsen has recently acquired the Omaha, Omaha and Luckey Fraction Lodes, in the Lalande mining district, near Burke.

Now the public utilities commission is wrestling with the mutual telephone companies. It seems that these companies, and there are many of them in the state, have been giving their stockholders much lower rates than they give to those who use their systems and who are not stockholders. This is a violation of the public utilities law and the commissioners are now at work to see that the provision of the law is enforced.

Attorneys for the defendant in the case of the government against Elias Masters, state water commissioner, and E. F. Lincoln, water master, filed a motion for dismissal before Federal Judge Dietz at Boise. The motion was taken under advisement. The defendant was given a week to file a brief in the case and another week will be allowed the plaintiff to reply. The case is the outcome of the action by the state officials in breaking the locks of the New York dam which furnishes water for the Boise government irrigation project.

NEWS OF GENERAL

INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences Of The Past Week From Cities In Our State

DISTRIBUTION GUESS WORK

New Laws for Assessing of Public Utilities in Idaho Confirmed. Cour d'Alene.—County Attorney N. D. Wernette has received a letter from Attorney General J. H. Peterson in reply to his inquiry asking for information relative to the matter which indicates that the county authorities will be forced to resort to guesswork in distributing the assessments on certain public utilities to school, road districts, towns and cities on the tax assessment rolls for the current year.

Princeton Pupils Win Out. Princeton.—Princeton school children carried off the honors at the Latah county fair at Moscow.

BLUNDERS OF ARTISTS.

Curious Examples in the Dome of the National Capitol. In the dome of the capitol at Washington there are eight great paintings carefully designed and executed by the artists for the adornment of the national's greatest building.

One of the best known pictures is that of which Washington is shown resigning his commission to the Continental congress. There are two young girls, almost life size, standing in the foreground. They are very pretty young girls, but one of them has three hands. One left hand rests on the shoulder of her companion; another left hand is round her companion's waist.

Disgracefully across the rotunda is the painting of the baptism of Pocahontas. Sitting in the foreground is Opeacatough, the uncle of Pocahontas, who is barefooted, and the artist has given him six toes on his left foot.

In the picture of the surrender of Cornwallis General Washington is conspicuously seated upon a white horse. But General Washington was not present at the surrender. Cornwallis did not surrender his army in person, but sent a subordinate officer to do so.

The fifth picture, "Signing of the Declaration of Independence at Philadelphia on Sept. 1776," is wrong only in the title. The Declaration of Independence was adopted on July 4, but it was not signed by the members of the congress until Aug. 2, 1776.—Youth's Companion.

No Use For Fresh Air. Old time doctors had no faith in the virtues of fresh air. Andrew Bourne in his "Compendious Regimen or Dietary of Health," published 1642, writes: "The bedward and also in the morning use to have a fire in your chamber, to waste and consume evil vapours within the chamber, for the breath of man may pollute the air within the chamber, in the night let the windows of your house, specially of your chamber, be closed, lest your breath may pollute the air."

Two guests made the first courses of a dinner at a suburban home, which had been arranged partly in their honor. Their bags had been searched, and distant homes called on the telephone for information, much nerve energy had been expended, all because the key to the trunk containing the necessary dinner raiment could not be found.

Dead Easy. "What are you giving your cows now in the way of galactagogues?" asked the Irvington professor of the milkman. "Oh," said the milkman, who has just been graduated from Purdue and is not to be stampeded by any Butler college pedagogue, "their sustenance is wholly of vegetable origin, rich in chlorophyll and opulent in butyricacous qualities."

The Speaker. It was his power of protesting that in the first place gave the speaker of the British house of commons his name. For the early members were not great at oratory and soon realized the desirability of choosing a spokesman with a ready tongue and the courage to argue with the king.

Fairies. How many kinds of fairy were there? A good many. For an elf differs from a troll, who must not be confounded with a pixy. Then in addition there was the kelpie, the gnome, the brownie, the kobold, the nis and the uisge beatha, or water spirit.—Chicago News.

Circumstances. You might as well expect one wave of the sea to be precisely the same as the next wave of the sea as to expect that there would be no change of circumstances.

Portillo Diaz Ordered Home. Mexico City.—General Porfirio Diaz, ex-president, has been summoned by the war department to return to Mexico for active army service.

TWO DRUG-CRAZED

NEGROES KILL 8

Colored Brothers Lynched in Mississippi After Killing in Streets.

Harrison, Miss.—Two drug-crazed militia boys, brothers, began a reign of murder here early Sunday that ended only after three white men, four negro men and a negro woman had been killed, several persons wounded and the two boys lynched. A serious clash between the races was prevented by the arrival on a special train of a company of national guardsmen from Natchez.

The trouble started at about 2 o'clock in the morning, continued intermittently until 10 o'clock when Walter Jones, the oldest of the two boys, who started the firing, was lynched just after the soldiers arrived. His brother, Will Jones, had been shot and lynched by citizens earlier in the day.

Twenty persons were injured, 18 of them negroes. None of the negroes was dangerously hurt. The shooting was started by Walter Jones, aged 20, in the negro quarters, where Johanna Alken, a negro, and Theod Grayson, a white, were shot and killed. Walter then went home, aroused his 18-year-old brother and together they proceeded through the main street of the little town firing at everyone in sight.

CHINA SENDS APOLOGY

Insult to Flag and Murder at Nanking Conditions.

Pekin.—The apology of General Chang Hsun to the Japanese consulate at Nanking has cleared the air, according to the Japanese officials here, and removes the danger of complications for the present.

On September 27 the Japanese minister presented China three days to comply with Japan's demands in connection with the recent attacks on Japanese at Nanking.

Canal May Make Beef Cheaper.

Washington.—A message of hope for a reduction of the price of beef to less than one-half of what it is today has been brought to the American people by Augusto B. Leguia, former president of Peru, now in this city. He made the declaration that with the opening of the Panama canal and a reduction of 4000 miles in distance between the United States and New York for 10 cents a pound from his country.

SULZER MAY TESTIFY

IN HIS OWN BEHALF

Albany, N. Y.—The trial of Mr. Sulzer before the high court of impeachment was resumed at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, and it is generally believed that this week's sessions may suffice for the presentation of all the prosecution's direct evidence.

Should Mr. Sulzer persist in his purpose to take the stand in his own behalf, however, the issue is not unlikely to be tried, and that he will do so is now generally conceded.

The impeaching managers have succeeded in placing in evidence contributions aggregating not only the $6400 reported in Mr. Sulzer's sworn report to the secretary of state, not only the additional items aggregating $8500 which were suppressed by Mr. Sulzer as alleged in the formal articles of impeachment, but, under the court's ruling permitting the widest latitude, they have already increased the latter figure to $18,200 in checks alone.

Religious Healer Killed in Her Office. Los Angeles.—With a piece of gas pipe a foot and a half long, one man battered the life out of Mrs. Rebecca P. Gay, a religious health practitioner, in her office, and after a futile attempt to throw the body from the fifth story of the office building, left the dead woman covered with copies of a religious newspaper.

Tennessee Anti-Liquor Bills Fail. Nashville, Tenn.—The dying hour of the extraordinary session of the Fifty-eighth general assembly, called to bolster up Tennessee's prohibitory laws, were as calm as the last few days had been turbulent. The session ended, however, with heavy legislation to its credit.

Poor Sowing. "There's a fellow who is hoping for a crop failure." "That seems unusual. What has he sown?" "Wild oats."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THEY PUZZLE GREAT MINDS.

Simple Words Too Profound For Human Understanding.

Q.—Can there be two kinds of infinites or two infinite spaces? A.—The writer of this question must decide. The nearest star is distant twenty-five trillion miles. Write a row of units 111111. To the star and let each unit represent one of 22222, twenty-five trillion miles long; then the number of miles represented would be twice as great. Then write a row of 99999, equally long, and the distance expressed would be nine times as great as that represented by the 1's.

But no human can think of the distance expressed by the 1's. Let the first row of figures extend twenty-five trillion or fifty or a thousand trillion miles to the east; then a row could be extended toward the west. Many millions of years would be required to write the long rows. Suppose that you write 9's both ways during a thousand million years each. Then the distance expressed would be a billion times a spider's thread when compared to an infinite distance.

There are possibly fifty persons now living in China who live by their wits. They are the mighty of the earth, and are all transcendent mathematicians. Not one of these even tries to begin to think of infinity or eternity. They all know better. Only one sophisticated man strives to think of the two words, so my questioner must answer his own question, for I cannot even hope to see a glimpse, lasting three thousandths of one second, of the meaning of one of the following list of words: Mind, space, time, duration, infinity, eternity, infinity, space and time, electrons.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

FOUR SOULS EACH.

Curious Beliefs of the Savages of West Africa. West African religion is particularly generous to the human beings, to each of whom there are four souls, four being the usual number. Only one is immortal, however. The others, though troublesome enough during the owner's life, cease to be at the same time as the body. They are the shadow soul, the dream soul and the bush soul.

One soul seems more than many of us can manage, but the poor African has a bad time between the four of them. He never knows when someone may plunge a knife into his neck, thus causing him to die, or when his bush soul, which takes the form of an animal, may rush into danger and get hurt, and, as for his dream soul, that is particularly troublesome, as it wanders from his body during sleep and runs the risk of being caught by witch traps.

When this happens its place is often taken by a nasty stranger spirit called a "sisa," which seems to have no other object but to cause misfortune and sickness to the being who forms his temporary habitation.

Most of the tribes have the idea of an underworld after death, neither heaven nor hell, but much like the existing world, only dimmer. Among the Tschwi tribes this idea is well defined. Their shadow world has a name—arshamand— and there even know the way to the entrance, which is across the Volta river. This place has its markets, its towns and its interests, but everything is felt in a more indistinct way.

Meat For Jurymen.

At one time it was the common duty of both the plaintiff and the defendant to bring refreshments for the jury empaneled to try it, and from arose the practice (which survived until 1870) of drenching them "meat, drink or fire" while deliberating upon their verdict. Later on it became usual for the person in whose favor the case was being tried to really throw a dinner and sometimes a guinea or so for their trouble. This practice led to so much abuse that it was found necessary to pass a law prohibiting it.—London Graphic.

Garrick's Wit. David Garrick on one occasion passed Tyburn as a huge crowd was assembling to witness the execution of a criminal. "Who is he?" asked the great actor of a friend who accompanied him. "I believe his name is Vowel," was the reply.

"Ah," said Garrick, "I wonder which of the vowels he is, for there are several. At all events it is certain that it is neither U nor I!"

Scientific Problems. "Much energy is not utilized. There ought to be some way of conserving the rays of the sun." "Yes and look at all the energy that goes to waste in chewing gum. If we could only harness the gum chewers, eh?"—Pittsburgh Post.

Well Trained. Hunton—I'd like to go shooting to-morrow if I could only get a dog that was well trained. Ethel—Oh, I'll let you take Dottie then. She can stand on her head, and shake hands, and play dead, and say prayers, and do lots of things.—Puck.

"There's a fellow who is hoping for a crop failure." "That seems unusual. What has he sown?" "Wild oats."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Chinese Umbrella

By REGINALD D. HAVEN

I was dining the other day with my friend Alan Bonbright. The subject of his was the invention of a misnomer which was held in China, and she had spent most of her girlhood there. Her husband had been to China on business, met her there and brought her home with him as his wife.

Mrs. Bonbright a girl at this time, was with her father at his missionary station in the province of Shantung. After dinner I was taken to a room where a collection of souvenirs of the Flowery Kingdom was kept. Among them was an umbrella made of bamboo wood and paper, cut and sewed with the customary pictures of men and women, birds and flowers.

Across it when expanded were Chinese characters which, of course, I could not read. Bonbright directed my attention to the umbrella, and Mrs. Bonbright said, "If you're going to tell that story I had better warn you that it's a long one indicating that I was about to hear something unpleasant."

"You know," said Bonbright, "that 'China' is full of persons who live by their wits. They cut off their heads whenever they capture them, but this doesn't seem to deter others, for life is cheap there and only the better classes care much about their own or others' terrestrial existence. Well, one day I was traveling on horseback through the province of Shantung, I had no mind to be set upon by the highwaymen and had armed myself. There was not much fight in even the robbers in China unless they have a few advantages, and I didn't feel in much danger so long as I could defend myself."

"I was not attacked myself, but, hearing a shouting ahead of me, I pressed forward and found a Chinaman in the dress of a mandarin being set upon by a gang of robbers. I fired shots at them and they left their prey to a sorry plibit and took to their heels. I picked him up and set him to rights. I had come up just in time to save his pocketbook, and he offered me a portion of its contents as a reward. This, of course, I declined, whereupon he talked his thanks—so I supposed—for I did not understand a word he said. Just before I left him he took a writing stick and wrote those characters which were on the umbrella, and gave it to me. There was nothing to do but accept it, and as the day was hot I did so."

"Ever since I met looked at the umbrella, then at me, and their indifference was at once turned to reverence. Some of them stopped and gazed at me as I passed. I wondered why they mistook me for the governor of a province or an executioner. Singularly enough, I didn't catch on to the fact that it was the umbrella that was drawing forth such respect."

"I stopped that night at the missionary station presided over by my wife's father and found them in great trouble. They had got wind through some of the Christian natives, servants and others attached to the mission of the Boxer movement, and they were about to break forth. My wife was the oldest of a family of seven. The converts were in a terrible state of mind, which naturally communicated itself to the white family."

"Drowning persons will cling to a straw, and this family clung to me. True, I was only one man, but I was well armed, and even one man might be of some protection. I suppose I could have retained my way, but I could not leave the girl who struck my fancy. When she looked appealingly at me with those blue eyes of hers I could not resist and said 'I would remain with them till the trouble was over.'"

"Remembering how easily I had put up with the trouble, I really thought that with my two revolvers and some fifty cartridges I would be a protection, but when I heard the shrieks of the Christian converts as the road approached the mission house I didn't like the prospect. The yells of the brutes who were murdering them were equally appalling. 'What could I do against an infuriated mob?'"

"However, I stationed myself at an upper window, laying my ammunition and extra pistols beside me. I called upon Ethel to stay beside me and bid them for me as fast as I fired, and she served herself to do so. I put my head out and seeing the mob coming reeking with blood, my heart beat so fast I thought I was going to faint. I tried to do something to convert me from them, I took up the umbrella the mandarin had given me, opened it, fixed it before me as the window and looked into through it so that I could see where to fire."

"The mob had broken into the next house and killed every one there, then was ready to storm the mission. Already an ax had fallen on the door beside me when I saw a man look at my umbrella and become much excited. He ran forward, then back with the man who wielded the ax. A knot of others gathered, all looking at the umbrella. Not another blow was struck. I did not need to fire a single shot. The mob seemed disappointed, but passed on as if nothing had happened."

"As soon as it had gone I withdrew the umbrella. Ethel, who could read Chinese as well as English, clasped her hands, raised her eyes to heaven and gave thanks. Then she interpreted the characters to me. It was an order from the greatest mandarin in the province to 'respect this man and all that belongs to him.'"

EARLY HISTORY OF IDAHO

Ex-Gov. W. J. McConnell to Publish New History of State—Interesting and Instructive Ex-Gov. W. J. McConnell, whom you all know, is publishing an early history of Idaho—covering a period of more than 50 years, he having been a resident of this state for that length of time. The volume will be very interesting to the older residents as well as instructive to the younger generation. Ex-Gov. McConnell has always taken a keen interest in the development of the state and was one of the framers of the constitution for Idaho, and his history will deal with politics as well as reminiscences of happenings both humorous and pathetic, taking up events from the days of Indian fighting down to the present time. The table of contents contains hints of the pleasures in store for the reader. Such lines as, "Cynthia went to the ball in Florence," "Masonic funeral on Rattlesnake," "Three robbers hanged by citizens of Lewiston," "First watermelons and beautiful immigrant girls," "Snapping Andy too Snappy for Hick," "John Kelly, famous violinist," "Newspapers sold for 1¢ each," "Formula of beverage called 'Sheep Herders' Delight,'" "Graduated as Robbers and Heroines,'" "Methodist minister asserts he can fight or pray," will give a slight idea that the history is far removed from "dry bone" facts. Former Governor McConnell is noted the west over as the best story teller of three states and he has not left this trait behind in his narrative.

Money in Mail Boxes

A habit is prevalent, not only in this part of country, but all over the United States where rural delivery routes have been given the people, of placing loose coins in the mail boxes and expecting the carriers to lift them out. A great deal of complaint has been made to the department regarding this habit, and the department has passed a statement regarding this practice as follows, which should be read by every one served by a rural route: "The attention of postmasters at rural delivery offices and of rural carriers is again directed to the fact that carriers are not required to collect loose coins from rural mail boxes. "Patrons should inclose in an envelope, wrap them securely in paper, or deposit them in a coin-holding receptacle, so they can be easily and quickly taken from boxes and carriers are not required to lift such coins, and when accompanied by mail for dispatch, attach the requisite stamps. "Carriers who lift coins not so inclosed, wrapped, or deposited will do so purely as a matter of accommodation and not by any direction or requirement of the Department. Rural carriers are now counting, weighing and classifying all mail handled by them, which is usually and quickly taken from boxes and carriers are not required to lift such coins, and when accompanied by mail for dispatch, attach the requisite stamps. ### STANDARDIZE POTATOES

"Raise and Market Better Spuds" Is Advice Given by an Expert

D. E. Willard of the industrial department of the Northern Pacific railway, who was in Spokane recently on a tour of the northwest, knows a thing or two about potatoes. Mr. Willard was formerly with the Agricultural college of North Dakota.

Mr. Willard, as well as several thousand dealers in potatoes, and several million consumers thereof, would like to see the farmers of the northwest raise and send to market a better grade of spuds. Will P. Kirkwood, in a recent issue of the Country Gentleman, tells some very interesting conclusions drawn by Mr. Willard regarding potatoes.

White, except for the early market; of medium size, from 6 to 10 ounces, and fairly uniform; oblong round, rather than cartwheel round, smooth, with shallow eyes; dry and brittle when cooked, with a flavor that "tastes like more."

It was found that discriminating hotel keepers, restaurant men and housewives, preferred such potatoes, because they look better on the table, however served, because medium size prevents waste, the oblong round bakes better; and smooth, shallow-eyed potatoes save labor.

Mr. Willard says: "From 15 to 20 percent of the potatoes shipped not only do not approach the requirements of the market, but should never leave the farms on which they are grown." The farmers shipping small, misshapen, knotty, and often sealy potatoes lose out on three points, states Mr. Willard.

The inferior stuff pulls down the grade of their whole shipment, and forces a reduction in the price, because the market does not want their poor stock and somebody has to pay to get it out, the cost being charged against the farmer. The cost of shipping the stuff is also charged against the farmer. Then, again, this waste stuff would have a real value on the farm as a feed for live stock.

"It is really pathetic," says Mr. Willard, "what would you think of apple growers who would mix their varieties, disregard color, and perfection in size and shape and other qualities; just dump apples into a barrel and ship them? Yet that is the kind of thing the potato grower does."

The Butter and Egg Question

There has been some considerable complaint about the quality of some of the eggs now being placed on the market as fresh, when in fact they have been packed. It is impossible for a merchant to detect the age of eggs, therefore he sells them to his customers for fresh eggs after they are cussed and discussed in a way that he does not appreciate, especially when he is innocent of any intentional wrong doing. The good housewives should also see to it that their butter rolls are full weight as the merchant is liable under the law for short-weight butter and is subject to a heavy fine. Indeed, it has been less than a year since some of our merchants were heavily fined for having in their possession short-weight butter rolls which had been prepared by the makers.

The new law is very strict along this line, both as to the quality of eggs and the weight of butter and it is no more than fair that those having either for sale should see that they are up to the standard both in weight and quality.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Bible school at 9:45. This is the beginning of a new quarter and also the beginning of the year's work in the graded series. Promotions will be made at this time. At the workers' meeting Monday night, which was well attended and very interesting and enthusiastic, teachers for the coming year were appointed and the grading of the school made a little closer.

Every member should be present on this promotion day and every parent should especially make an effort to come at this time.

METHODIST CHURCH

Preaching services at the Methodist church next Sunday will be as usual. Sunday school at 10 a. m., and preaching at 11, subject, "An Ungodly Man Lecture on Christianity." Preaching at 7:30 p. m. subject, "Am I Keeping My Vow."

OUR SAVIOUR'S CHURCH

English services in Our Saviour's Lutheran church, north of town, on Sunday at 11 a. m. All are cordially invited.

GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH

There will be no services in the German Lutheran church next Sunday on account of the absence from the city of the pastor.

The G. I. S.

Saturday, October 4, is the regular monthly meeting of the Genesee Improvement society. Many plans will be discussed at this time. Let every member bring her ideas, suggestions, good will and come prepared to use them.

What is the most important thing the society can do?

What one thing in our little city is the most unpleasant to you? Can the society remedy it? How about our reading room for the winter? Are there any needy people in our village? Is the rubbish in your yards and alleys ready to be hauled away? These are a few questions to think over and bring answers to the meeting Saturday at 3 p. m., sharp.

They Don't Do It Here

"Turn that wrapping paper the other side out," said a lady in a dry goods store, as the clerk was putting up her purchase in a printed wrapping paper. "I don't want to be a walking advertisement for your store. I read the papers as all intelligent people ought to do, and I think it is the place to advertise your business. Instead of asking your customers to carry your sign around with each purchase of goods, go and tell the people through the paper what you have to trade and what it is worth."—Exchange.

Fred Nagel, who lives about six or seven miles south of town, was in the city Saturday afternoon, and while looking at the display of farm products which are being brought to the Exchange bank, made the remark that there would be no more thrashing on his farm—that he intends to feed all his crops to cattle and hogs. While Mr. Nagel has always been a believer in feeding his crops, he will plant his place to corn and alfalfa as the principal crops and will increase his herds. Indications are that more farmers will take up this idea the coming year than ever before.

GENESSEE SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Esther Orth

A meeting of the High school orchestra was held Monday night and officers were elected as follows: Esther Martinson, president; Ilah Larrabee, vice-president; Cuvier Ehlen, secretary; Esther Orth, assistant secretary; Ada Schooler, treasurer; Adeline Bressler, librarian. The officers were instructed to elect to form a constitution and music has been ordered.

Five new pupils were enrolled in the High school Monday morning. They were Clyde Meyers, Stephen Cambridge, Claude Bumpass, Frances Orth and Louis Steltz.

A number of pupils attended the County fair last week on Friday. The attendance in the primary room was excellent last week.

The second and third grades forfeited their quarter holiday on account of tardiness. The attendance however was very good.

For opening exercises Tuesday morning several of the sixth grade boys told a number of very interesting stories to the delight of the pupils.

During the past week the fifth grade had very poor attendance and much tardiness.

Miss Doty, instructor of the fourth and sixth grades was unable to attend to her duties last Monday. Her place was taken by Mrs. Bold.

An eighth grade pupil has discovered something unknown to even the most renowned physician, that peritonitis was the covering of the heart.

Tuesday evening, the committee appointed to inquire about the necessary equipment of the basement met and the material was selected and ordered for the shower baths, dressing rooms and floors. A great deal of interest is being shown by the boys and it is hoped that athletics will soon begin in earnest.

Pine Grove News

School work is progressing nicely although there are not many pupils in the district this year.

Lucile and Beatrice Armstrong quit school last Friday to go to town with their parents for the winter.

Hursahl Pittman joined the beginners class last week.

Clarence and Sidney Debie are the only pupils who were neither tardy nor absent during the first month of school.

Henry Whitted and family returned home Sunday from Moscow where they had been attending the fair.

A. C. Brigham transacted business in Moscow last Saturday.

Mrs. T. O. Miller returned home Friday from a week's stay at Harrison, Coeur d'Alene and Spokane. She was accompanied home by her son, Emil, who will spend a few days in this section of the country.

Robt. Wardrobe transacted business in Lewiston the last of the week.

Fred Dehle and mother mere Moscow visitors on Monday.

LATAH FAIR SUCCESS

Genesee Exhibitors Capture Several Prizes—Best Boy Baby in County

According to all reports the third annual fair of Latah county, which closed Saturday night, was a grand success from start to finish and that some of the features were far above the average at much larger fairs.

Aside from the attractions at the fair, the parades up town were drawing cards of the best style and were witnessed and appreciated by the thousands congregated in Moscow to take in the festivities during the week.

In the better babies contest, about which there has been a great deal of furore and which has caused many an anxious mother to have her baby scored and then she was not in the best of humor because some other child happened to score higher than hers, there were a great many entries, but it remained for a Genesee baby to carry off the first, which was given to Arthur Roy Flomer, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Flomer, the little fellow receiving a bronze medal for his part in the contest, of which the fond parents are justly proud.

Miss Mary Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Burr of this city, captured first prize for the best bread in the school contest, receiving a blue ribbon and $3 in cash.

Miss Alice Niabet won first prize for the three best cakes for which she was awarded a cash prize and a special premium, which was a handsome silver cake dish.

In the needlecraft department Mrs. Ola Hagan carried off first prize for the best Handkerchief lunch cloth.

Mrs. Ira Hanson received first prize on Handkerchief runner; first on Hebebo centerpiece, and first on Battenberg centerpiece.

Mrs. J. A. Hanson received first prize on a knitted dolly.

In the livestock division Follett & Schooler of this city carried off a goodly number of prizes, as follows: Draft horses—Percherons: Best stallion, 3 years old and over.

Shires—Stallion, 2 years old and under 3, first; mare, three years old and over, third.

Genesee's saddle horse—Harry Schooler, first; Marion Cole, third.

Harry Schooler also carried away the local commission of a $5 riding bridle for the best gentleman's saddle horse, and Follett & Schooler $5 in merchandise for the best Percheron stallion.

There are probably others in this vicinity who carried away prizes whose names we have not learned and if such there be we would be glad to know of it as our neighbors will be glad to know of your good fortune.

Our Boys' Opportunity

Luther Burbank by experience and accomplishment doubtless the best qualified man in the world today to make such a statement, says the great opportunity for our boys and young men is in agriculture. He points out that after the young man has spent eight years at hard study of medicine, the law or engineering, he has not made a success; he is only prepared to commence the battle for it. Whereas, to add but one kernel of corn to each ear grown in this country in a single year would increase the supply five million bushels. One improvement in the potato is already paying back $17,000,000 a year. Everything we eat and wear comes out of the ground. With less than half the population raising things, should there be any wonder that the cost of living has been increased 58 per cent in 15 years? To quote from Mr. Burbank:

"What the world needs is not more money, or college lore, there are plenty of these, and at a cost of one hundred and eighty million dollars per annum in money and land, who knows how much time, they have succeeded in increasing our crop yield only a bare three percent."

"What the world needs is men who can do to agriculture and to horticulture what Edison did to electricity, Carnegie to steel, and the Vanderbilts, Hills and Harrimans to transportation, develop their efficiency."—H. H. Windsor in the September Popular Mechanics Magazine.

GREATEST OF ALL...

HOLDEN HERE OCT. 23

Arrangements Are Completed for Lectures and Demonstration

From 8 a. m. until 10 a. m. Thursday, October 23, the Holden alfalfa party will be in Genesee.

From the moment Prof. Perry G. Holden, the famous agricultural scientist, and his corps of a dozen expert assistants leave their five-car special train until they depart from this section, they will be extremely busy talking to the farmers about alfalfa and aiding them to solve their problems.

The campaign opened officially at Spokane September 23, and until November 15 will be the principal topic in every agricultural community of the Inland Empire.

On the arrival of the train here Prof. Holden and his party will be taken in automobiles to neighboring community centers and to farm homes, where they will lecture on alfalfa and other farming topics, and where they will endeavor to help the farmers in solving their problems.

Members of the Holden party, all of whom are recognized agricultural scientists, are:

Prof. P. G. Holden, W. R. Baughman, J. E. Waggoner, R. W. Lamson, Charles W. Farr, George Alford, J. E. Buck, George E. Stayner, C. H. Allen, Chas. M. Carroll, J. H. Hancey, and Harry Nagerson. At least five experts from the Washington State college will accompany the Holden party. Those selected to make the trip are President E. A. Bryan, Professor George Severance, head of the agricultural department; Ira C. Cardiff, director of the experiment station; A. B. Nyström, head of the department of dairying, and E. F. Gaines instructor in agronomy, and assistant plant pathologist.

At the other end of the line the Spokane Chamber of Commerce and representatives of Professor Holden have completed all arrangements for the trip. All that remains to be done here by the local committee in charge. It now devolves on local residents to stimulate still greater interest and insure the presence of good crowds of farmers at each meeting. The Spokane Chamber of Commerce has advised the local committee to circulate posters in all sections of the surrounding country calling attention to the event. It is likely that arrangements will be made at the division offices of the telephone company in Spokane to have the telephone operator here call up every farmer on the line the day before the arrival of the train, announcing the time and place of meeting.

The Inland Empire campaign of Prof. Holden will take the party to 140 railroad points in a region nearly 200 miles square. The campaign will extend 3,200 miles of five railroad systems. Over 500 alfalfa lectures will be given to the farmers in towns and country within a period of 40 days of starting.

Charles M. Carroll, manager in charge of Holden arrangements, says that the Inland Empire campaign will be the most comprehensive ever undertaken by the famous agriculturist.

"Its extent will be greater than all the 19 campaigns conducted by Professor Holden this year," states Mr. Carroll. "We intend splendid results here in the Inland Empire, as the disposition of the people seems open-minded. The conspicuous success made by several alfalfa farmers who have raised alfalfa in this section have done much to influence many farmers in favor of this plant."

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1492, calves 19, hogs 1983, sheep 9965, horses 26.

Sentiment in the cattle market has not been such as to warrant optimism recently. While receipts have not totaled so much as a week ago, there has been more than enough beef to supply trade needs. The $8.00 steer has been displaced at least temporarily, and extreme top quotation is $7.50 to $7.75. Butcher quality failed to attain the high standard of six days ago and prices on cows were generally lower. Prime heifers at $7, cows $6.75, bulls at $5.50 and calves at $9 are liberal price tops.

Demand for any but choice finished cattle is slow and outlet very unsatisfactory.

Bumping the hog market is not proving as easy a task as buyers anticipated. No other explanation is needed than supply paucity. Statistically the market is 10 to 15 cents higher than it was a week since and prime light swine are a week since and prime light swine are a week since brought $8.50 to $8.60 and $8.70 too, and smooth weighty stuff moved readily at $7.50 to $7.75. If receipts for the week had been larger perhaps a more active market would have held forth, but growers are not rushing to market as yet and liquidation is spasmodic. Of course hogs are beginning to carry more weight, and winter approach and quality will be better packing proposition eventually. Until receipts become steady enough to deluge the trade, swine prices have a good chance to range between $8 and $8.50.

An Early Winter Predicted

An early winter is predicted by timber and mining men from the surrounding mountain regions, the prophet being made by woods creatures to protect themselves during the cold period. Further evidence is furnished by the forest ruminants. The deer and elk are beginning to leave the feeding grounds in the higher mountain reaches much sooner than usual.

"A residence of years in the mountains of the northwest has taught me that wild animals are the premier weather prophets, and since learning to interpret their actions I have been able to predict weather conditions weeks in advance," said Herman Anderson, a timberman of St. Maries, Idaho. "I have just returned from a trip along the headwaters of the St. Joe river and I encountered several herds of elk and deer heading for the lowlands at a pace that plainly indicated they had sensed the approach of snow in the upper levels."

"Squirrels and other hibernating animals are laying in heavy supplies of nuts and roots, which also is indicative of a long winter, and the rabbits are already putting on their winter coats, while the migrating wild fowl are gathering in flocks preparatory to starting south."

To Move Pictures

People who stand their family portraits against the walls while packing and unpacking their household goods cause a great deal of broken glass, scratches and dents. The first thing to do when moving into your new home should be to hang the pictures any place in order to get them out of the way without waiting to choose a place of arrangement. This will prevent a great deal of breakage and other damage.—New York Telegram.

Checkers

Checkers is said by some to be a very old game, but others declare it to be of comparatively modern origin. Whoever it came in absolutely unknown. The game is also called draughts, and there are many varieties of it—Chinese, English, Polish, Spanish, Italian and Turkish. It is also found among the native tribes of the interior of New Zealand.

Insult to Injury

"Mrs. Wombat is highly indignant." "Her house was robbed, I hear." "Yes, and the next night the burglars brought back her silver-plated ware."—Pittsburgh Post.

MAN EATERS OF AFRICA.

The Lions and Crocodiles Are in a Class by Themselves.

Man-eating lions have always been fairly common in East Africa. The most noted but far from exceptional case was that of the two man eaters which for a time stopped the building of the Uganda railroad by their ravages among the workmen until they were finally shot by the engineer in charge. Mr. afterward Colonel) Patterson. Another lion, after killing several men around a station on the railroad, carried off a man by a man's hand, and he fell asleep, and the lion climbed on the platform, entered the car by the door and carried off his would be slayer through the window.

In the summer of 1909 a couple of men eating lions took to infesting the Masai villages on the plain around the headwaters of the Gussu Nyiro, west of Kenya, and by their ravages forced the Masai to abandon the district, and the native travel routes across it were also temporarily closed. A few weeks later I was hunting in the district. We kept the thorn boma around our camp closed at night, with a fire burning and sentinels on guard, and were not molested.

Near Muechukosomba a white traveler was taken out of his tent by a man-eating lion at a good many years ago. A gruesome feature of the incident was that on its first attempt the lion was driven off after having seized and wounded its victim. The wounds of the latter were dressed, and he was again put to bed, but soon after he had been left alone the lion again forced his way into the tent and this time carried the man off and ate him.

Every year in East Africa natives are carried off from their villages or from hunting camps by man-eating lions. Occasionally one hears of man-eating leopards, which usually confine themselves to women and children, and there are man-eating hyenas, but the true man eaters of Africa are lions and crocodiles.—Theodore Roosevelt in Scribner's Magazine.

BRITAIN FEARED NAPOLEON.

And Lamb, Who Thought Him a Fine Fellow, Fanned the Flame.

It was on AUG. 8, 1815, that "General" Bonaparte, as his English captives insisted upon calling him, was transferred from the Bellefleur to the ship Northumberland, to begin the Journey to St. Helena. There was much protest in England against the transportation of the distinguished prisoner, but

It is not necessary that you live through another winter in a few cold, damp, drafty rooms, unevenly warmed by a common heating stove. You can make your own climate in your own home, day and night, up-stairs and down, all winter long if you put in a GERMAN HEATER. Call and see them.

MAKING GOODS FIT PRICE

Better Goods for the Same Money From Your Home Merchants

An educational campaign on mail-order methods of buying stock would do more toward stimulating home buying in this town than any other one thing. The merchants of this town buy standard brands of goods and get the quality they order. The mail-order concern dictates its purchasing price. It is a fact that buyers for mail-order houses approach the manufacturer of an article and tell him they must have the goods at a certain figure. It is ever a question of price and not quality. The manufacturer gives the mail-order concern an article which he has cheapened until he can make a margin of profit in spite of the price stipulation. If it happens to be an article made of metal, then an inferior grade is used, or paint is used instead of enamel, or some other method employed to force the cost of manufacturing down to meet the mail-order buyer's price. Of course, the outward appearance of the article may be the same as the one carried by the merchant in this town, but—

The merchant paid more, but got more for his money. If you buy of him you will, too. Then again a mail-order house will sell an article at a price to attract attention. These "leaders" are a bait. The catalogue buyer compares this with the price he would have to pay here and, noting the difference, jumps at the conclusion that everything in the mail-order house must be less expensive. Paradoxical as it may be, the mail-order goods are cheaper but are not less expensive.

Essential Facts Pertaining to Silos

The following summary of facts was arrived at after five years' investigation at the Storrs experimental station Storrs, Conn:

- The fermentation of corn silage is essentially the change of sugar into several acids. The most important change is the conversion of a part of the sugar by lactic acid bacteria into lactic acid. A second change is produced by action of yeasts on the remaining sugar, changing it to alcohol. The acetic bacteria change the alcohol into acetic acid.
- The exclusion of air is necessary for the proper production and preservation of silage.
- The walls of a silo should be non-conducting to heat, cold and moisture.
- Mature corn makes silage of better quality with less waste.
- Silage undergoes a ripening somewhat similar to the ripening of which softens the fiber, makes more digestible the proteins and adds sweet and agreeable flavors. This ripening occupies from three to four weeks.
- A silo is the cheapest form of storage.
- Any farm product can be siloed, providing there is sufficient sugar in the mixture to be fermented into acid to preserve it.
- The following mixtures silo successfully and make a desirable and nearly balanced ration: Alfalfa and rye; clover and timothy or wheat or oats; peas and corn; and corn and cow peas or soy beans.
- A round wooden stave silo, taking all things into consideration, has proven most satisfactory.
- Nothing excels the feeding of silage, especially legume silage, during the dry summer months, for keeping the milk flow to its highest point.

MUST KNOW IT ALL

Here's a Chance for Some College President to Get a Job as Assistant Ranger

Announcement is made that civil service examinations for the position of assistant forest ranger at an entrance salary of $1,100 per annum will be held in Pocatello Monday and Tuesday, October 20 and 21. These examinations will be conducted by the forest supervisor. The position of ranger came into existence with the creation of the national forests, and the duties and requirements of a ranger have gradually enlarged with the development of the forests and the increase in national forest business.

First of all, a forest ranger must be healthy and strong, and familiar with the region in which he seeks employment and with the industries and customs of the west. He must be accustomed to trips alone in isolated mountain regions, and be able to cook and pack and take care of himself under such conditions; be resourceful, and be able to plan and execute, since it may be necessary for him to take charge of a crew in construction work or in the emergency of a forest fire.

He should understand the livestock business, recognize poisonous plants, know the relative value of different kinds of forage and the manner in which these can be grazed to the best advantage; also areas best adapted to cattle or to sheep, and be able to readily detect the prevalence of any contagious disease. He should know enough of timber business to identify the different trees and know their value for different purposes; how timber can be best secured from various situations, and be able to estimate standing timber and scale it when cut.

He should be familiar with the elements of surveying, so that he can run a compass course and assist prospective homesteaders in marking the boundaries of their claims. He should know enough about farming in the region to be able in general to determine whether the claimant will be able to make a success of farming on the land selected and of the land laws to competently advise the applicant. As a draftsman he should be

NATIONAL SPORTSMAN
Special Tariff Rates Abolished by Bill

Wash., Oct. 9.—Surrounded by the leaders of a united democracy, President Wilson signed the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill at the White House. Simultaneously, telegrams were sent to customs collectors throughout the country by the treasury department, putting into actual operation the first democratic tariff revision since 1894.

A happy group of legislators, members of the cabinet and friends encircled the president as he signed the bill, using two gold pens. He presented to Representative Underwood the pen that had written the word "Woodrow," and the one which had completed his name to Senator Simmons.

Many Tariff Rates Abolished by Bill

The Underwood-Simmons bill brings into effect one of the most far-reaching revisions of tariff rates and revenue laws enacted for many years. A new income tax, applying directly to the incomes of citizens; the abolition of all tariff on scores of items of immense importance to American industry and American consumers; and a heavy reduction of tariff rates on most of the articles in general use in this country are its chief features.

While certain portions of the new law do not take effect at once, most of its provisions and almost all the direct tariff reductions do.

The federal government has been spending nearly a billion dollars a year and the new tariff law will raise $249,000,000 a year, and that the income tax will raise $127,000,000. The remainder of the government's great income is made up principally of internal revenue taxes and postal receipts.

New Bill Summarized.
A brief summary of the new tariff law as prepared for the senate follows:
Average percentage of tariff rates as compared with the value of all imported merchandise: Old law, 37 per cent; new law, 27 per cent.
Value of annual imports added to the free list, $147,000,000.
Estimated revenues from all import rates: Old law, $305,000,000; new law, $249,000,000.
Estimated revenue from corporation and income taxes: Old law, $37,000,000; new law, $122,000,000.

Altogether, consumers in the United States probably will receive from abroad, free from all tariff, more than $1,000,000,000 worth of merchandise during the next year. During 1912 the amount of "free imported" was more than $89,000,000, when the tariff is entirely removed from wool, sugar, iron ore and cheap iron and other important items, the total is expected to increase notably. Under the old law more than 83 per cent of all goods brought to the United States from all parts of the world paid no tariff, and that proportion will be increased by the new law.

The free wool provision of the new law takes effect December 1, 1913, and the free sugar provision May 1, 1915.

Congress at Work Nine Months.
The new tariff law, passed four years after President Taft signed the existing Payne-Aldrich law, is the result of more than nine months of work in congress. Hearings were started January 1 by the house and the senate committee. Chairman Underwood introduced the tariff bill April 7, immediately after President Wilson had convened the new congress. It passed the house May 8, and the senate September 8.

National Capital Revivited.
June 1 has been designated as Pathway day, in a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Moore of Pennsylvania. He would make the "rose emblem."

A bill for the creation of a public land court is to be advocated in congress by Senator Walsh of Montana. The court is designed to save time in land cases and to decide all points of law at issue.

Representatives of small banks of the middle west and south protested against the currency bill before the senate banking and currency committee. The chief objection was against the provision preventing the smaller banks charging for the collection of out-of-town checks.

Don't miss reading the new tariff bill on page 5. Everyone is interested.

Mr. Shork has been a finisher in the Elgin watch factory for a number of years and understands the business thoroughly. He expects to open a store and repair shop at Uniontown as soon as arrangements can be made, where he will undoubtedly build up a good business as there is no question but that the people of Uniontown will appreciate a first-class workman along this line.

have all crossing drains and gutters cleaned off refuse as soon as possible in order that they may be ready for the winter and spring rains.

It was also decided to furnish the Genesee Improvement society half a ton of coal for their reading room, and an order was entered to that effect.

There being no further business the council adjourned to meet again the first Monday in November.

Open Store At Uniontown

The city council met in regular session Tuesday evening at the office of the city clerk, with Mayor Nelson in the chair and all members answering to roll call except Alderman Rach.

Minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read and approved by the finance committee and warrants ordered drawn for the several amounts: J. W. W. P. Co., city pumping, 75.00; W. W. P. Co., city lights, 30.00; J. F. Stewart, sprinkling, 68.00; Jas. Montague, labor, 1.50; A. E. Carlander, making park benches, 8.95; Thos. H. Herman, mds, 1.25; Genesee News, printing, 10.00.

The city clerk reported that the holders of the city water bonds had been notified that the city would be in position to take up three bonds of $1000 each and the council authorized the payment of these bonds on November 1. This will make a total of $4000 that has been paid on the waterworks, one bond, No. 10, having been taken up August 9, 1909, upon which a bonus of $57.50 was paid. In addition to the $4000 which has been paid on the bonds there has been expended for maintenance and additions to the system $3,542.50 which has been paid from the receipts of the waterworks, and which shows very plainly that the system is self-sustaining and will easily maintain itself besides paying off all bonds as they in some become due, but which may be paid at any time, at the option of the council whenever $1000 has been accumulated.

Following is a brief summary of the cost to date of the entire system: Buildings, fixtures, grounds, $4188.20; Pumping station equipment, 2000.00; Water mains, 7608.55; Service pipes, 1666.00; Hydrants, 1050.00; Meters, 596.00; Miscellaneous, 1950.00.

The city was originally bonded for $15000.00, to which is added the $3,542.50 which has been added and paid from receipts since that time, making the total $18542.50, as stated above.

Water mains laid and now in use, in various parts of the city are as follows: Eight-inch mains, 2710 feet; six-inch 3800 feet; four-inch 9430 feet, at a cost of $7608.55, as stated above.

It has been stated by those in a position to know that the condition and kind of waterworks system Genesee possesses is far above the average and that the early payment of bonds is a rare procedure in cities many times the size of Genesee, where the income is much greater.

Tuesday, October 14, was named as "clean-up day," in accordance with the request of the Genesee Improvement society that such a day be named, and it is requested that all residents of the city have their trash—old cans, yard refuse, etc.—in readiness for the dry to haul away at that time.

The city marshal was instructed to

Some Buy At Home Ideas

The average consumer believes that the catalog house's "cost of doing business" is proportionally less than that of the local dealer. As a matter of fact it costs the mail order houses from 20 to 22 per cent to do business, while the merchant's expense of doing business will not exceed 17 or 18 per cent.

A retail mail order house has just confessed that it requires one thousand employees annually to handle a business of $5,000,000. That is $5,000 for each employee.

Suppose for the moment that the average wage of this body of workers is $15 a week or $780 a year. That's a reasonable supposition isn't it? Fifteen dollars a week or $780 a year.

Seven hundred and eighty dollars is 15.6 per cent of $5,000 (the amount of sales per employee). To pay wages alone therefore, the profits on each five thousand dollars worth of goods sold must be 15.6 per cent.

How much more profit must be added to cover city rental, city insurance, delivery, freight, city taxes, heat and all the other operating expenses.

Now go to your local dealer, and ask him without letting him know why, how much it costs him to do business. If he is a good merchant he'll probably say 18 per cent, since that is about the average operating cost in an ordinary store.

Then after securing this last statement turn to your favorite mail order catalogue, read a statement like this: "Cut out the middleman's profit. Buy from us and save the money your local man gets."

Now marshal all the facts in this article, and see if they jibe. Carefully now, does that mail order quotation sound as truthful as it did before?

The managers of the Grangeville Border Days celebration are so elated over the success of their recent celebration that they will start at once on enlargements of the celebration a year and will make the celebration a bigger and better each year. It is planned to incorporate the stockmen and agriculturists in future celebrations and it is presumed it will be arranged to show the products of that section as well as a border days celebration.

Ladies' Aid Society
The ladies' aid of the Congregational Church was entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred K. Bressler, Mrs. J. H. Jackson and Mrs. Jos. Hirscheberger were assistant hostesses.

After roll call a short business session was held at which it was decided that the ladies would give a six o'clock chicken supper in the church basement on Thursday, Oct. 16.

The ladies then busied themselves with fancy work until 5 o'clock at which time a dainty luncheon was served by the hostesses.

The next social meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. F. Burr.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

Harry Ostle, former manager of the Spokane Indians, and later an umpire in the Northwestern league, spent several days at Kellogg during the week, looking over the field with a view of engaging in business if suitable accommodations could be made.

The first double funeral, led by two horses and two sets of pallbearers, in the history of Grangeville, was held when Mrs. Mary E. Myers and her 24-year-old son Charles were buried. They were killed in an accident on the Harpater grade.

Teachers of the panhandle of Idaho had an opportunity for institute instruction under the auspices of the state department of education. The institute was held in the northern part of the state when the tri-county institute met at Coeur d'Alene on Monday.

Preparations are being made at Weiser for the entertainment this month of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows. Together with the Rebekahs and other affiliated orders it is expected that the Odd Fellows gathering will bring at least 1000 delegates here.

George A. Day, state land commissioner, and Benjamin Bush, state land appraiser, held a sale of state lands located in Bonner county at the court house in Sandpoint, selling 16 40-acre tracts in various parts of the county, and also the timber in section 36.

The northwest potato deal, negotiated by the North Pacific Fruit Distributors, chiefly in southern Idaho, will mean $700,000 extra in prices to the growers this season, so W. N. Yost, treasurer from southern Idaho, believes.

Governor Haines believes that economic betterment at home, and he has therefore set an example for other state departments by effecting a saving in the expense of conducting his own office. During the quarter just passed the governor's office operated on $172,779 less than the quarterly allowance.

High grade lead and zinc ore has been discovered in Cougar gulch on the claims of the Gold Back Mining company. Only a little of the capping has been removed and shows a ledge of fine shipping ore four feet wide, but it is believed the deposit will be much more extensive when reached by an open cut now being dug.

Changing conditions necessitate an amendment to the Idaho constitution which restricts the sale of school lands to not more than 16,000 acres annually, and the amount disposed of should be made optional with the state land board. In the opinion of George A. Day of Boise, state land commissioner.

After a contest in the courts for six years, Emma Jones of Sandpoint, wife of Francis Jones, deceased, will be able to get an accounting with John Marshall, her husband's law partner. The supreme court so decrees in an opinion made of record by affirming the judgment entered by Judge Flynn of the eighth judicial district court.

The Bank of Nampa, the oldest bank in Nampa, capitalized at $100,000, closed its doors Friday and is now in the hands of the bank examiner. The closing of the bank was due to the fact that the reserve was below the legal requirements. No statement of liabilities or resources could be obtained, but it is known the bank had been heavily in long-time real estate paper.

Under the statutes of Idaho power is conferred on municipal corporations in respect to streets within their limits. It is their duty to keep them in safe condition for travelers; they are liable for damages for injuries resulting from neglect of such duty, and this rule extends not only to the surface of the street or sidewalk, but also to structures over them. The supreme court thus interprets the law in the case of Charles M. Balle against the city of Wallace.

Failure on the part of President Roosevelt of the Boise Baseball association, which financed the Boise club in the Western Tri-State league this season, to secure the consent of other directors of the league for Boise to withdraw and to relinquish the local territory, has resulted in a decision on the part of the league directors to meet and decide the destiny of the organization. If the Western Tri-State league at this meeting, it can be said that with every degree of certainty that Boise will not hold a franchise.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences of The Past Week From Cities In Our State

Highway Commission Meets.
Boise.—The state highway commission completed a two days' session by adopting a highway system for the state on which work is to commence immediately to make surveys and prepare for actual construction. Edward St. Clair Smith was employed as state highway engineer for three months at a salary of $250 and $1500 expenses per month. The expenses cover team hire, etc. He is authorized to commence work forthwith on the survey of that portion of the north and south road between New Meadows and Grangeville, on the east and west road from Olds Ferry to Montpelier, on the panhandle national highway link from Spokane Bridge to Regis Pass.

Cattle Will Be Provided.
Caldwell.—A formal announcement made by Henry W. Dorman contains cheering news to farmers in southern Idaho, who desire to feed the corn and alfalfa they raise to stock. Mr. Dorman has just returned from Portland, where he has succeeded in financing a $30,000 corporation, the object of which is to assist popularizing the shorthorn or dual purpose cow. The announcement declares that the new corporation is prepared to place beef cattle among such farmers as possess the feed and the ability to care for the animals, giving two years' time for payments.

Pardon Not Up to Board.
Boise.—Idaho's most notorious prisoner, Harry Orchard, murderer of ex-Governor Frank Steuneger, who had confessed assassin of 17 other men, failed to file his application for an absolute pardon with the state prison board, and the act is said to preclude possible consideration of it at the present board's meeting. The Metropolitan Church association of Waukegan, Wis., was behind the Orchard pardon movement and ordered and paid for the legal publication notices.

Patent Granted for Valuable Land.
Coeur d'Alene.—The local land office has been notified by the interior department that a patent has been granted to Charles Molde to a valuable homestead practically adjoining the town of Plummer. Molde filed on the land in November, 1910, following the allotment of lands on the reservation, but the question of his citizenship was raised.

TO RESIST "DRY" ELECTION

Legality of Call in Kootenai County to Be Contested.
Coeur d'Alene.—The calling of a special election in Kootenai county to vote on the prohibition question will probably be resisted in the courts upon at least two grounds.
It is claimed that under the new law requiring the commissioners to make and publish an estimate of expenditures for each ensuing year the board cannot appropriate in excess of the estimate; that the election will cost some $5000 or $6000; that no provision was made to meet it in making up the budget for the present year, and therefore the commissioners have no power to incur such indebtedness. Containing 200 signatures, the local option committee was filed with the county auditor. The document contains 245 names more than required by law.

Forests Enrich Idaho.

Boise.—The public school and road funds of this state were enriched $78,163.90 by the United States treasury, for a check for that sum was received by Governor Hines, as representing 25 per cent of all money received from forest reserves in this state through the sale of timber by the federal government. The fiscal year in which the timber was disposed of ended June 15, 1913. The law provides that the share allotted to Idaho can only be used by schools and for good roads in the counties in which forest reserves are located.

Forest Fires on Pine Creek.

Wardner.—One of the worst forest fires of the season in this vicinity is now raging on Pine Creek, and a large area has been burned over. The timber is in the Coeur d'Alene national forest and crews of men are at work fighting the flames, under the direction of the forest officials.

Blackfoot Draws Baptists.

Blackfoot.—Delegates and visitors came from all over the state and from Philadelphia to Los Angeles and even from across the waters to attend the Baptist convention.

Wallace Mines Levy.

Wallace.—Several local mining companies have levied assessments on their property for the last few days to complete annual assessment work and finance further development.

MURDERER ADMITS KILLING 14 PEOPLE

Slayer of Chicago Woman Dancing Teacher Confesses to Many Crimes.

Chicago.—Mrs. Mildred Allison Roxroat, dancing teacher who was shot to death at Wheaton, Ill., a week ago, was the victim of a murderer, who, according to his own confession, had killed 13 others in as many years. Henry Spencer, arrested in a room near the south side levee district, confessed that he not only killed Mrs. Roxroat, but that he has slain 14 persons in all.

He was positively identified as the mysterious "Mr. Spencer" with whom Mrs. Roxroat left Chicago on the night she was killed. Mrs. Roxroat's blood-stained suitcase was found in his room, as was the revolver with which he said he had killed her.

The police, while in doubt as to the full truth of Spencer's story, are confident that they have found a whole sale murderer, and that he will be proved to have killed at least seven persons, described in a long confession.

CHIP NEAR CAUSES TRAGEDY

Trouble Due to Bit of Wood Holding Sea Cock Open.
Seattle, Wash.—The steamship Spokane, which went out frantic distress signals while the was off the east coast of Vancouver island, arrived here undamaged and with all her passengers well.

She did not run aground as reported, but narrowly escaped turning turtle from an inrush of water into the hold from her main discharge because a chip of wood caught and held open the sea cock. The steamship was stopped to plug the tubes in the main condenser. She suddenly took a violent list to port, when a distress signal was sent out.

Municipal League After Humphries.
Seattle, Wash.—Without one dissenting vote among the 300 members present, the municipal league adopted a resolution to appoint a committee to investigate the conduct of Judge John E. Humphries, of the superior court of King county, who during the past week sent 54 men and women to jail for terms ranging from one day to 11 months on contempt charges.

MUST DENUDE HATS OF FOREIGN PLUMAGE

New York.—With the passage of the new tariff, the customs officer has had thrust upon him a new and disagreeable office. He must tear out the aigrettes and plumage of foreign birds that come in passengers are wearing in their hats when they arrive in American ports.
When the Underwood bill went into effect a score of women on the French liner Lorraine were subjected to this treatment. Their indignation was so great they could not contain themselves.
The plumage seized will be turned over to the appraisers, who will set a price of each piece and send word to the owners, who will be required to return them to the dealer from whom they were bought.

FRUIT SPRAY IS BLAMED

Physicians Think They Have Found Cause of Children's Deaths.
Bellingham, Wash.—An unusually large number of deaths of children here, it is believed, have been caused from poisoned fruit. Physicians at first were of the opinion that an epidemic of cholera infantum had developed, but it is now thought that death was due to fruit which had been sprayed with arsenic and lead. Within a week 10 have succumbed in one district of the city.
On account of drouth in the interior of the state, it is believed that poison used in spraying fruit trees was not washed off before the fruit was picked and that enough adheres to the skin of peaches to poison a child. The health department is investigating fruit shipments.

Roosevelt Sails for Untrod Wilds.

New York.—Theodore Roosevelt and party bound for South America, where the colonel will first lecture and then explore portions of the continent hitherto untrod by white man, sailed on the steamship Van Dyck.

Miller Would Succeed Gronna.

Fargo, N. D.—Andrew Miller, attorney general of North Dakota, will be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Gronna, according to his announcement.

London Likes Tariff Bill.

London.—The newspapers here are a unit in praising the new American tariff bill.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1271, calves 26, hogs 2120, sheep 1478.
A very unsatisfactory trade in cattle this week from a seller's standpoint. There has been a very slow demand for beef, especially the half fat stock being marketed. Outlet for any quantity in large incapaacitated. Prime steer top at $7.65 shows the weakness. Good cows at $6.85 featured, but bulk of the stuff was sold $6 to 6.50. Butcher trade generally a shade firmer than steers.

Market for well finished swine has been a degree firmer this week, and $8.50 to $8.60 was bid freely for this class, with a few extra choice loads going at $8.75. Much flabby pork is being liquidated and killers manifest slight interest. Receipts were larger than for last week. $8.60 can be considered extreme top at week's close.

Pine Grove News

George Whitted joined the beginners class in school this week.
The district disposed of several extra desks on Monday. The Jain school is being the buyer.

Henry Whitted and family attended the Lewiston fair last week and report having had a good time.

Fred Miller left on Thursday with his household goods, for his homestead in Oregon. He was accompanied by Fred Dehlie who is going in quest of a homestead.

Mrs. Fred Miller and children are visiting at the Arthur Butzian home this week.
A social dance was given at the Snowden home last Saturday night.

The Natural Son

The above caption is the title of the leading picture of Fred G. Helm's picture show which will be here Saturday afternoon and night. It is a story of love and devotion, both of a mother and sweetheart; of where the young man goes west and becomes rich; later sees in a newspaper where the old home is to be sold, returns, pays off the mortgage and starts things right once more and finally marries the girl who refuses to give him up on account of the former's misfortunes and happenings in the family.

This with several other interesting subjects make up the show for Saturday matinee and night.
From West of Town
Johnnie Broemmeling was a business visitor in Uniontown Saturday afternoon.

Chas. Grieser and Louis Scharnhorst drove to Uniontown Saturday.

The auction sale of Pete Younger was well attended. The weather could have been a little better.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scharnhorst spent Sunday with the Schlee family at Uniontown.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Younger expect to leave for the east in the near future.

One of Latach county's prominent farmers made an excellent suggestion to the News early in the week. He proposed that we publish a request to the farmers living in this vicinity to cut and remove the weeds and brush from the sides of all roads. If cut and removed at this time comparatively little snow will collect along the highways, the delivery of mail will be facilitated the coming winter, and there will be a saving in the road work next spring. We publish the request gladly, and hope to see his suggestion generally carried out.

J. S. Larrabee and Peter Jackson returned Wednesday from a hunt in the mountains above Kamiah, bringing with them some fine deer meat to show that their hunt was not in vain.

The joint teachers' institute for Latach and Nez Perce counties will be held in Moscow on October 20 instead of October 6, as previously announced.

Robt. Emmett is disposing of his household goods and expects to leave for Los Angeles, Calif., as soon as arrangements are completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lewis have a new boy baby at their home, who arrived on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Kries are the proud parents of a baby girl, born on Monday.

N. J. Hasfurther who has been quite sick for some time is convalescing.

CAMPAGNES FOR ALFALFA

Object of the Work and Results Obtained—Some of the Prominent Features.

GOING TO THE FARM HOMES

Nineteen Campaigns Have Been Carried on in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois, Alabama and Mississippi—Holden's Plan Means Warm Reception With the Farmers.

Prof. F. G. Holden, director of the Agricultural Extension Department of the International Harvester Company of New Jersey, has planned and put into operation a new method of extending agricultural knowledge.

Holden was originator of agricultural demonstration trains, of agricultural short courses, and of many other effective plans, through the agencies of which millions of dollars have been added to the agricultural wealth of this country.

The latest plan of Holden is to take alfalfa to every farm. There are three prominent features in his plan:

(1) The introduction of a comparatively new crop into the Corn Belt, Southern and Eastern states and the Pacific Northwest.

(2) Going direct to the homes of the farmers, where meetings are held in the fields, and success and failure discussed according to local conditions.

(3) Taking the most modern vehicle—the automobile.

Purpose of Campaign.
The primary purpose of the campaign is to show the American farmer how to grow alfalfa. It can be grown profitably on every farm; that it enriches the soil; increases farm values; stimulates live stock growing and dairying; produces double that of other hay crops, and is better feed.

Nineteen campaigns have thus far been successfully conducted in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois.

Some of the Results.
For example, some of the results of the Kent county (Mich.) campaign are:

(1) Six thousand farmers visited at their homes during a five-day campaign.

(2) Three hundred and seventy-five miles traveled by the Alfalfa Auto.

(3) One hundred and thirty-six alfalfa talks made by the Holden staff of alfalfa lecturers.

(4) Many applications for similar campaigns made from all parts of the United States.

The Kent county campaign has been followed by campaigns in Allegan, Barry, Grand Traverse and St. Clair counties, Michigan; Van Wert, Marion, Fulton, Williams, Paulding, Delphos, Belmont, Richland, Aglaize and Champlain counties, Ohio; and Sangamon, Stephenson, DuPage and Kane counties, Illinois, and several counties of Mississippi and Alabama.

At one meeting in Ohio upon the farm of Joseph E. Wing, near Mechanicburg, nearly 4000 people gathered from all parts of Ohio and adjoining states to learn more about alfalfa. At this great meeting the Ohio State Alfalfa Growers' association was organized. Over 300 automobiles made up the alfalfa train. It is recorded as the largest agricultural assemblage in the history of Ohio. Other Ohio alfalfa meetings have been taken up report success on every hand.

Sangamon and Kane counties, Illinois, have had both campaigns. At one meeting in Williams-ville, Ill., over 1,200 farmers came to hear the alfalfa lecturer.

In all of these campaigns which were conducted within a period of about two months nearly 100,000 farmers have been reached with the gospel of alfalfa.

As a result also of the campaign work it is conservatively estimated that 200,000 acres of alfalfa will be sown during this and the coming season.

Such is the result of the initial work of campaigning for alfalfa, but vastly more than this tangible result has been accomplished. Every farmer throughout the region where the work was conducted is talking about alfalfa. The cooperation of the schools in the territory is a very important and effective feature.

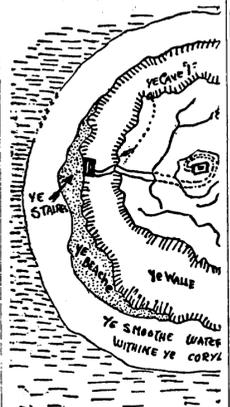

Professor Holden has expressed himself as considering it the most wonderful experience and the most efficient work from the farm standpoint that he has ever undertaken.

But this is not all—wherever the farmers of any community are interested in the growing of alfalfa, when possible a follow-up man, thorough in his knowledge of alfalfa culture, will be sent out to assist them in getting a start. He will live with the farmers and aid them in solving the problems at home. He will go from farm to farm upon request and study success and failure.

Before the coming of 1914, campaigns will have been conducted in every part of the United States and Canada. Interest is growing so rapidly that many counties have organized campaigns and undertaken the work without assistance from the outside.

According to the newspapers Teddy Roosevelt left New York on Saturday bound for South America. It is presumed he had the "big stick" under one arm and an automatic rifle on the other. With the former he played many an obstreperous one into line and with the latter it is presumed he will line up some of the "wildier" ones in South America.

According to reports sent out from Washington "dirty" money is again being put into circulation. We are perfectly willing to take the chance if any one wants to apply it on their subscription.

The people of the New Grey Eagle school district, No. 28, announce that they will hold a basket social in the school house Saturday evening, October 11, the object of which is to assist in raising funds for a school library. Verge Sampson, Dick Vandenberg and Chester Cole left Tuesday morning for the North Fork of the Clearwater, where they expect to bring down many specimens of big game. ### Believe President Will Ask Congress to Repeal Canal Tolls on American Shipping

Washington—Reports published in London that President Wilson soon would ask congress to repeal the exemption of American shipping from tolls in the Panama canal brought from the white house the brief statement that any announcement of the administration's policy on that subject at this time was unauthorized. Officials declined to amplify that statement.

In other administration quarters, however, the belief was expressed that later such a repeal would be recommended to congress, but those who spoke disclaimed any official knowledge of President Wilson's intentions. Those closest to the president predicted that any announcement of policy would not be made until the legislative situation in congress was opportune.

A GOOD ARGUMENT FOR A GOOD TOWN

"A Booster" Again Suggests Cleanliness—Commends the G. I. S.

How many persons living in this town realize that the town's appearance is a vital point in its commercial life? Every one will admit that a man will be more likely to become successful if he is well groomed. What is true of a man is true of a town. It is not good policy to be so wrapped up in the quest for the dollars that we neglect to keep the town in order. Physiology and hygiene teach us that to keep the body healthy we must keep it clean, and this applies with equal force to the town or, in fact, to every town. It is just as necessary to keep the town clean and to give the buildings a new dress occasionally as it is for a person to have clean laundry and new clothes.

Why does the rising generation prefer the progressive city? Of course there may be several reasons, but prime among them, standing head and shoulders above the others, is the fact that the town becomes distasteful if it has a slovenly appearance. If your boy goes away to college—and we will suppose, for the sake of comparison, that the college town is a progressive one—what is his impression of this town, his home town when he returns after four years or more, after four years of his life when his mind is in the most receptive mood for bigger and better things? Does he like the old town? He is proud to bring his chums of the campus home with him? Will he be willing to come back here to make his start in the business world? There may be much truth in the expression, "what we have never seen, we never miss," but your boy had four years in a progressive town and he is going to miss the clean streets, the neat lawns and the well kept homes if they are not here.

If you keep your boy here in your town, your only salvation lies in your helping to make this a better town in which to live. Don't wait for some one else to make the start and set the pace, but get busy with a rake, a hammer and nails and some paint. Don't put it off until a more convenient time that time never comes. Of course, you are not responsible for the condition of your neighbor's buildings and lawns, but by making him a start you will be doing him a favor and indirectly a favor to the town. If your neighbor has pride he will want his place to look as well as yours. If no one breaks the ice the town will have a decidedly rusty and ill-kept appearance.

The semi-annual clean-up day as adopted and urged by the Genesee Improvement society is indeed a move in the right direction and will have a decided influence for a cleaner and better town.

In the second annual school exhibit held in Pullman recently it remained for a 12-year-old boy to walk away with first place for cake baking, and you can hear women and girls say that a man or boy can't boil water without scorching it.

Holden Well Received

It may seem like carrying coals to Newcastle by advocating alfalfa in many parts of this state. But the Holden party is receiving so much praise from communities visited where a great deal of alfalfa is raised it is evident that a want is being filled. Other communities that were not fortunate in being on the route of the special train are clamoring for a visit from the party. In the Yakima valley and other districts where enormous acreages are devoted exclusively to alfalfa Prof. Holden is talking corn. He advances the theory that it is illy advised to raise alfalfa exclusively in the districts as it is to raise nothing but corn in Iowa and Illinois and just wheat in the Inland Empire.—Pullman Tribune.

Tax Expert Busy

F. D. Kaufman, special examiner for the Idaho tax commission, was in Moscow the first of the week checking over the books of the county assessor's office. Mr. Kaufman is in charge of the work in the eight northern counties of the state and has just recently visited Kootenai, Bonner and Shoshone counties. His duties are largely in checking up assessments made in all classes of property but at the present time is investigating assessments against public utility corporations operating in the north.

Mr. Kaufman is now in Washington, D. C., appearing before the interior department with a view of facilitating the movement looking toward the rushing to patent of Northern Pacific scrip lands so that the state may add the land to its tax rolls. While absent he will attend a session of state tax commissioners at Rochester. Mr. Kaufman will remain here several days later visiting Nez Perce and other counties.

Loose Smut Becoming Prevalent

In view of the fact that the loose smut of the grains is becoming more and more prevalent each year it has been considered advisable to present to the grain growers of the state a short statement concerning it, says John G. Hall, pathologist of Washington experiment station.

This smut is different from the stinking smut, in that the plant is not infected in the seeding stage, but gains admittance to the host at blossoming time. The head also appears different. The smut does not remain within the membrane of the kernel, but early breaks out and for a short time shows as a black powdery mass of smut spores. These soon disappear, leaving only the stem of the head with a few smut spores attached to it.

The smut can be prevented by the treatment of the seed, but the procedure of the treatment is so complicated and delicate that it is not practical for the ordinary grain grower.

On account of these facts and with the hope that the disease may be kept out of the fields of the state, it is most urgently recommended that every grower be exceedingly careful in the selection of his grain for seed. Be sure that the seed comes from a field that was free from smut and, if possible, was not threshed by a machine that had handled grain containing the loose smut. If these suggestions will be carried out the spread of the smut will be stopped and its introduction in new territory prevented.

That the work of installing democrats in federal offices in place of republicans is proceeding at a rapid rate is shown by the nominations which have been sent to the senate since President Wilson took office. These nominations number approximately 3000 and of these about 2000 are postmasters.

For Poultry Raisers

The comb is the chicken's health indicator. The merits of the scratching shed are shown during bad weather. Good development before beginning to lay is best for the pullet.

The nearer square you build a poultry house, the less the cost of construction. Overcrowding is one of the worst and most frequent mistakes made by poultrymen.

Shade must be provided for fowls and little chicks during hot weather. The old hens, especially those older than 2 years, should be fattened and sold.

Some of the causes of roup are sudden and extreme changes in temperature, damp houses and drafts.

A small, well kept flock may prove a profit where a flock of twice the size might show a distinct loss.

If your flock is properly managed and cared for there will be little or no use for medicines and tonics.

Eggs ought to weigh one and a half pounds to the dozen or 22 pounds net to the 30 dozen eggs.

Some tell the sex of the guinea fowl by its wattles. Those of the male are double the size of the female.

Experiments show that chickens with strong vitality and plenty of masculine characteristics make the largest gains.

It is a poor policy to change the quarters of hens or pullets while laying, for it usually checks or stops egg production.

The Maine experiment station tonic for fowls is as follows: Pulverized ginger, one pound; pulverized ginger, one fourth pound; pulverized saltpeter, one fourth pound; iron sulphate, one half pound. Mix thoroughly, and use two or three tablepoons in 10 parts of mash.

IS "EVERYMAN" SELFISH

And Should He Entertain His Wife and Make Home Pleasant

Mr. "Everyman" goes home at night, greets a tired wife with supreme indifference and eats his supper in silence. He then retires to a corner where he thinks over his day's work, crushing all attempts on the part of his wife to hold a domestic or general discussion. The Editor of the Pictorial Review thinks that type of man is an ingrowing and utterly hopeless individual. He says:

"Man's selfishness springs from various sources including heredity, environment and training, and more often from unwise, abnormal wifely devotion during early years of marriage. To show men the dangers that follow on the trail of indifference and discourtesy is the surest way to effect a cure. Yet even this method panders to his selfishness, for his conversation becomes a matter of self-protection."

One of the most uncomfortable moments of my life was that in which I congratulated a wife on her husband's winning an important lawsuit. Instantly the words were spoken, I realized that she had not yet heard of his success, and in breaking the news to her I had stabbed her pride and self-respect. She wanted to be the first to hear of her husband's good fortune. No doubt he meant to telephone her, but he forgot. He loves her. He considers her the one splendid woman among women. Yet he has the trick of regarding her principally as the mother of his children.

She need not know his business secrets. It is enough that she profit by his success.

But is he right? No! The modern broad-minded woman is more interested in ways and means than in profits. She has something of a business head. She could support herself. She has shown her ability to support others dependent on her. When she marries, she wants what the wages of her hands could not earn—comradeship. To have and to hold that, she gives up what might be a brilliant career. She is quite eager to be the mother of his children, but she is not willing to be placed on what might be called the maternal shelf, where mental dry rot will set in. She righteously insists upon keeping in touch, through the husband, with the world where she might have shown. And she cannot do this if he buries himself in the evening paper and a cloud of smoke.

When a man tries these tactics with a modern, intelligent woman, he runs into one of two dangers. "If she is childish, she will turn restless and resume her career. If her life is narrowed by the routine of household and domestic duties, her active mind will seek satisfaction in a friendship with some man who has time and the taste to answer its call.

In the old days, the neglected wife yearned for a man who "would understand her." To-day she demands what she calls a "mental stimulus." In either form "the other man" is equally dangerous to matrimonial peace. Physically, mentally and spiritually, men and women were created the complement of each other. Let one of the forces die and the marriage relations suffers precisely as the human body suffers when deprived of certain properties in the daily diet.—From Pictorial Review, October 1913.

Intensive Farming IS URGED BY BANKER

Reasons Given Why Intensive Farming Should Be Practiced—Poor Roads a Menace

Eight years ago, B. F. Harris, a man 25 years old, became the president of a bank in his home city of Champaign, Ill., in which the deposits were $1,000,000. At the same time he succeeded to the management of the 30,000 acres of land held by the Harris family in that state.

Of course, he knew something about farming, but not much. He studied his land and the crops and then made a success in farming which surprised the old farmers of Illinois. In addition, he increased the deposits in his bank four-fold.

Last week in Kansas City he was elected president of the bankers' committee on agricultural development and the question as to whether or not the most advanced ideas of rural education and county uplift.

"Abraham Lincoln once said," Mr. Harris said after his election, "that it takes more labor to produce 50 bushels of wheat on one acre than it does to produce 10 bushels, but does it take more labor to produce the 50-bushel yield on one acre than to produce it on five acres?" That made me a scientific farmer.

"The problem of the farm today is to produce more on fewer acres, using the extra acres for other production. Missouri owns an average of three cows on each farm, and the value of the dairy product is $49. Wisconsin has eight cows for each farm and the dairy products are worth $304. Missouri, then, is producing less on more acres."

"The investment in implements in Kansas is about $1 per acre; in Missouri it is a little better. It is triple that in Illinois and quadruple in Massachusetts. Your Kansas and Missouri farmers are failing to produce the crops and raise the livestock they should."

"The total value of crops and livestock produced on the improved acre in Kansas is $13. In Missouri it is $17.40 and $20.81 in Illinois. My state has no better land, it is no better situated toward markets as your two. It simply cultivates better with better equipment and methods."

"Missouri lost population in 61 per cent of its counties between 1900 and 1910. I cannot help but feel that the lack of permanent roads, good through all seasons, has much to do with this. The tremendous aid to commerce, which really begins in the country by way, is not the most they do for a marvelous boost is given to school attendance and the literacy of the people whose horizon and vision is broadened immeasurably—when they may come and go widely and as they will."

Mr. Harris has one other plank in his rural uplift platform. It is the degree of intensity—raise more corn on each acre, raise more wheat and alfalfa on each acre, and then sell the surplus on the market. Buy poultry, buy horses, fatten cattle, sell sheep—the intelligent farmer can do all this, he says, and 10 acres will return the profits formerly credited to 50.

Important Occurrences of the Past Week From Cities In Our State

Parents Fight, Son Shot.
Boise.—The net result of a quarrel between Thomas D. Meyers and his wife at their home in "tent town" is that their 10-year-old son, Harvey, is hovering between life and death at a local hospital. He received the discharge from a scalpel which his father was attempting to take away from his spouse. The shot entered the boy's stomach and perforated the intestines. The father has been placed under arrest awaiting the outcome of his son's condition.

Weiser Valley Corn Crops Profitable.
Weiser.—Corn, equal in quality to the best in Iowa or Nebraska and far greater in per acre yield and of every variety, can be grown on western irrigated lands. This has been demonstrated with increasing satisfaction in the Weiser valley during the last three or four seasons.

TEAL AGREES WITH BORAH

Portland Man Favors Idaho Senator's Homestead Bill.
Washington.—J. N. Teal of Portland had a conference with Senator Borah and agreed with him that recent regions of the interior department for the enforcement of the three-year homestead bill are not practicable and must be revised. Mr. Teal believes congress should pass the pending Borah bill which permits a homesteader in lieu of cultivation, to make improvements to the amount of $1.50 per acre a year on his lands whenever the settler has taken lands difficult to bring under cultivation.

Shoots Runaway Horses.
Sandpoint.—Shooting one of a team of runaway horses was the expedient resorted to by James Wilcox, owner of the Wisconsin hotel here, to save himself and wife and Lee Allen. The party was hunting near Park river, about 10 miles north of here. They had a heavy wagon, without brakes, going down a steep hill. One of the reins broke. The team plunged wildly down the hill.

Idaho Gets Two Elections.
Boise.—Local option elections will be held in two counties in this state this fall, one in Bannock county, now "dry," but to which the "wets" are determined to give back the saloon, and the other in Kootenai county, where the "drys" are seeking to turn the county back to the "dry" column.

Timber Tract on Big Creek Sold.
St. Maries.—Several million feet of timber belonging to the Milwaukee Lumber company, situated on Big Creek have been purchased by G. A. Branson, who has also leased the logging railroad of the lumber company from Herrick to Big Creek.

TO PROTECT STATE FUNDS

State Institutes Suit to Enjoin Them From Disposing of Property.
Caldwell.—Management of the affairs of the Bank of Nampa, Ltd., the paying of dividends when the condition of the bank did not warrant same, and taking paper of little value as security, are included in the general allegations made by the state of Idaho in a suit instituted in district court in Canyon county.
The action is brought against the directors of the defunct institution, and is a secondary proceeding started by the attorney general to protect the deposit of $45,500 of state funds in the Bank of Nampa at the time it was closed by the state bank examiner, September 27.

The United States Fidelity & Guaranty company of Baltimore, surety for $15,000 of the $45,500 deposited by the state of Idaho in the Bank of Nampa, now defunct, has notified State Treasurer Allen that it is ready to pay the amount of its surety bond at any time the treasurer wishes to draw upon it. He will do so immediately.

State Sues Bank Men.
Boise.—Dr. J. W. Givens, medical superintendent of the north Idaho insane asylum, at Orofino; J. A. Givens, Raymond L. Givens, E. Emerson and C. L. Lore, C. L. Robbins and C. R. Hickey, directors of the defunct Bank of Nampa, are made defendants in a suit instituted by the state of Idaho to recover from them the amount of the state's deposit, $45,500, placed in the bank.

Lassooes Bear.

136 LIVES LOST ON BURNING STEAMER

Terrific Storm Prevents Other Vessels Rendering Much Assistance.

Liverpool.—One hundred and thirty-six persons lost their lives when the steamer Voltorno of the Uranium line was destroyed at sea after having been on fire for 24 hours.
Ten steamships called by wireless to the burning ship surrounded the Voltorno for 16 hours while the fire raged at its height, but none of the rescue fleet was able to lend assistance owing to the terrific storm.
The Voltorno sailed from Rotterdam for New York via Halifax on October 2. She carried 24 cabin passengers, 540 steerage and a crew of 95. Of the 627 known to have been on board, 521 have been reported saved by the 10 vessels.
The greatest loss of life occurred when four of the Voltorno's six lifeboats were dashed to pieces against the side of the vessel a few moments after they were launched. Other lifeboats launched from the rescue fleet were also crushed by the waves.
Never before has such a disaster been witnessed by so many spectators. Huddled on the eight coal liners, a German tramp and a Standard Oil tank steamer which heard the Voltorno's "S. O. S." distress call by wireless, unmindful of the biting cold of the gale and the danger from the huge waves which crashed over the vessels, those on board the waiting ships remained on deck throughout the afternoon and night watching the fire.

Along Route Three

Roy Evans has completed a large addition to his ranch home.
D. A. Cheyney has removed to the Cline ranch, on route three, from the Hataway.
Jesse Talent has moved from the Vollmer ranch to Lewiston and will have charge of the lower ferry, which he and his half brother, John Emmerson, purchased early last spring. Wm. Emmerson has taken the ranch vacated by O. M. Collins, living about 2 1/2 miles southwest of the city had the misfortune on Sunday evening to lose about 45 tons of grain hay. Mr. Collins had set fire to a strawstack some 40 or 50 rods distant a few days before, which had nearly all burned out. He had intended plowing around the old stack, but had neglected doing so until it was too late. The high wind of Sunday evening and night blew the dead ashes from the top of the smoldering strawstack, the sparks and live coals set fire to the stubble which led the flames to the hay, which was entirely consumed.

Liquid Mud Delays Canal Work.

Panama.—The Panama canal is giving the engineers no end of trouble to work a cutting through it to let the water from the filled section of Culebra cut into the unwaterted section south to the Pedro Miguel locks. ## ATHLETICS ARE CHAMPIONS

Eddie Plank Opposes Mathewson in Final Game and Wins 3 to 1.
New York.—The Philadelphia Athletics won the baseball championship of the world for 1913 this afternoon by defeating the New York Giants, 3 to 1, in the fifth and deciding game of the series.
Connie Mack, anxious to finish the struggle on the final day of the week, sent Eddie Plank, his veteran south paw, to the mound and John McGraw, his back to the wall, called upon Christy Mathewson to check the victorious rush of the Athletics and thus gain for his team a breathing spell.
Both old masters of the art and craft responded nobly to the call of their manager and club; but the Giants, unable to help Mathewson by even mediocre batting, fell victims to the vicious hitting, fast fielding combination which has again raised the standard of the American League over that of the National organization.

Death of Miss Ivadell Byrnes

The funeral of Miss Ivadell Byrnes, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Byrnes, was held last Friday forenoon, from the family residence on South Jefferson street. The deceased was sick about a month with typhoid fever of malignant type. She was born in Iowa in February, 1899, and came west some years ago with the family. After living some time at Lewiston where they have lived for about six years, Ivadell was popular with the many friends she had made, as was shown by the attendance at the funeral by her high school class which marched from the school building in a body. Her Sunday school class also marched together, having special place reserved for them at the service, which was conducted by the Rev. D. H. Hare, pastor of the Presbyterian church of which the deceased was a member.—Star Mirror.

How the Campaign is Organized and the Manner in Which the Work Will Progress—Of Lasting Benefit to People of North-West—Means More Live Stock.

By EARL CONSTANTINE.
Beginning on September 23 and lasting for a period of over forty days, there is to be held, under the auspices of the commercial, civic and agricultural organizations of the Inland Empire, one of the most remarkable agricultural campaigns ever undertaken. While popularly talked of as the "Holden Alfalfa Campaign," it is to be distinctly a popular campaign of the whole people of this "Inland Empire."

Spokane's part in the work is not proportionately any greater than that of any of the smaller towns. Because of Spokane's central location and large resources and facilities, her business men have been called upon to handle the preliminary correspondence and arrangements. Once the campaign has started, the success of the work is in the hands of the other towns as the train moves from one point to another.
The correspondence of the past three months has shown a very general and intense interest in this movement. Letters have poured into headquarters from farmers, professors and business men. All men throughout the surrounding territory are welcoming the movement.
Of Great Benefit to People.
From the standpoint of Spokane, the alfalfa campaign is certainly one of the most valuable undertakings for this part of the country. While we shall not benefit as directly as will the smaller towns to be visited, still,

William Galloway, who was arrested recently at Bovill on the charge of having shipped liquor into a dry territory, the railroad records showing that he had shipped 67 barrels of beer and 27 gallons of whiskey into Bovill in 90 days, was given a preliminary hearing on Saturday and bound over to the district court. Fifty-five bottles of beer and two gallons of whiskey were found on his premises when he was arrested.

Winter's Coming On
The right of a wife to warm her "tribbles" in the small of her hubby's back was recently sustained by Judge Preble in the Superior court at North Yakima when one Harvey William Heath was sued by his wife for divorce when the judge agreed with the wife that it was an act of cruelty not to allow her to thus warm her "footies" on his back.
Judge Thomas Grady, who says the point was a mooted one in his family for many years and is agnostic at the audacity of his colleague and differed decidedly on the question.
It was not stated, but it is presumed the wife must be a follower of the Panik-hurst idea of militancy and had undoubtedly been out long after the hubby had turned in.
There are many hobbies who would be unwilling to concur in the findings of Judge Preble and would be sure to reverse the judgment were it left to them.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 984, calves 30, hogs 4740, sheep 8582, horses 10.
Beef liquidation this week has fallen off considerably, and prices are a shade steadier. Bulk of business was transacted Monday and Tuesday, as receipts since then were insignificant. Prime steers sold in bulk $7.50 to $7.65 and cows $6.50 to $6.75. A lot of medium grade stuff was offering at the usual discount on choice beef prices.
Swine trade conditions are an uncertain quantity at present and values fluctuated easily. Tops ranged from $8.70 to $8.80 with tendency downward. Outlook is fair for good light hogs, and smooth heavy weights, but size of receipts during the next six days will be the most influential factor on the market.

The Tax Question

Notice to pay personal taxes within ten days having been received by a number of citizens of Genesee has caused the question of tax collection to arise and many are wondering why it is they have been called upon to pay so promptly.

The fact is, the assessor has the power and is required to collect personal taxes at his option, or, if there is no real estate owned by the assessed which may be taken as a lien for the taxes, may see fit, with real property it is different, and they are collected the same as always, which may be paid in two installments as in the past.

There has always been some speculation as to the levy of 10 mills on city property the assessed valuation etc. The assessed valuation of the city of Genesee is $200,045, and which on a 10 mills levy will bring in a revenue of $3,006. The estimated expenditures are $4,000, and there being $1,000 available for general fund, the levy was placed at 10 mills, which will bring in the necessary amount for city purposes.

Approves to the complaint of some that the city taxes in Genesee are rather high: The city council of Palouse Wash., has made a levy of 13 mills and the school board of that city recommends a levy of 11 mills to which must be added the state and county tax. There are more expensive places to live than in Genesee.

DON'T MISS THE HOLDEN ALFALFA SPECIAL OCT. 23

Prof. P. G. Holden and Corps Have Message for Farmers, Large and Small

C. H. Allen, advance guard for the Holden Alfalfa and Corn special was in Genesee Wednesday afternoon making and completing arrangements for Prof. Holden and party, who will be here on Thursday, October 23, from 8 to 10 a. m., and he heartily urged that every effort be made to induce the farmers to be at one of the meetings to be held at different farms in this part of the country, which were decided upon as follows, providing the roads will permit of automobile travel at that time, the parties leaving Genesee upon arrival of the special at 8 o'clock.

Pine Grove school house, in charge of Henry Whitted.

Jos. Kraut ranch, north of town.

Jno. Hove ranch, northwest of town.

J. P. Michaelson's, south of town. Genesee opera house.

Besides these meeting places, two men from the special will be left at Leo, where they will address farmers upon their return trip.

There is no question but that the farmers will become very much interested in the talks by these men who have made a life study of farming and soils and they will undoubtedly be able to tell something of interest to every one.

Remember the date and places of meeting, and also in case the roads are not in condition for automobile travel that there will be held one large meeting in the opera house, rain or shine. So make arrangements to attend for you will be sure to be interested in what they have to say.

A Relief

It was a train belonging to a certain railway in this section of the country (we leave it to you to guess) which is noted for its rough road bed.

Just as the train struck one of the rare smooth stretches in the track a passenger was heard to exclaim.

"Thank heaven, the train is off the track!"

We print butter wraps.

G. A. Bumpass had what might have been a serious runaway the first of the week when he was driving in the north part of town. A tug came unfastened allowing the pole to come down, which caused the horses to run, at the same time the horses broke loose from the buggy, pulling Mr. Bumpass out over the dash but not seriously hurting him. Mrs. Bumpass, with her young baby, was in the buggy with her husband but was cool enough to keep her seat and neither was harmed.

The Progressive Needle Work club will meet with Mrs. Jno. Hall on Thursday, October 23, at which time definite arrangements will be made for the annual Banquet of this organization, which is held the last Thursday in October.

Remember the library donation party, Monday, October 20. Bring your books and magazines.

"Earthquake shocks spread terror on Panama canal" according to some of the newspapers, while the whole country, from east to west, is "shocked" by the appearance of the silt skirts and the X-ray governor. Policemen in some of the cities have been "shocked" by the latter. It must be something "terrible."

It is presumed that the few people over the country who have fasted all the way from 50 to 65 days are trying to reduce the cost of living. It is not recommended, however, as a regular thing. There is very little danger from gout as an after-result.

Washington—President Wilson has further cleared the path for currency reform in the senate through conferences with the Republicans of the senate committee now in charge of the bill. As a result of a conference with Senator Nelson, the president has received assurance that the Republican members are not trying to induce action on the currency bill in the senate.

Democratic leaders expressed confidence that the senate committee would be able to come to such an agreement on the currency reform measure as would insure its unanimous support by both Republicans and Democrats.

If the house approves the measure it will put rigid limitations, not only on the activities of general political interests, but also on the work of such organizations as the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Federation of Labor and the National Association of Woman's Suffrage.

The bill prohibits the carrying or sending of funds from one state to another to be used in the election of a president, vice-president, presidential electors or members of congress.

The proposed new law would not prohibit the present work of national political committees, so long as they make public reports of all contributions received and expenditures.

Hurrah for the library committee! The library committee is to be congratulated upon its introduction to the public. There was a splendid crowd both afternoon and evening, which shows the appreciation the people have for this effort of the G. I. S. Many were surprised at the success of the movement. Upon arrival at the top of stairs the words "Public Library" on the door ahead greeted you, and as you paused for breath the soft hum of voices came to you. You listened, someone came into the hall and greeted you and through the door you were really surprised to see a room crowded with men and women busily engaged looking over books and magazines which had been brought as gifts to this new enterprise.

Upon entering one found just the most comfortable place imaginable—such a nice large room, large south windows to which had been hung white curtains; large tables filled with magazines, some pictures on the walls, and quite a large book case partially filled; also one case of the Idaho Traveling Library.

At the far end of the room the ladies were serving to the delight of the visitors a delicious punch and wafers, as well as some splendid sweet cider— which added to the conviviality of the guests. From this table it was just a step into the rest room, with its big stove, comfortable rockers and convenient mirror, coat hooks, etc.

The visitor was impressed not only with what the ladies have accomplished but with the possibilities. # Deceased Never Fatally Sick

Of hundreds of death certificates handled annually by the state board of health in making its classification of diseases many cause interesting remarks as to the cause of death.

Some of the "causes," as found in the reports by Chief Statistician L. W. Hutchcroft at Madison, Wis., follow: A mother "died in infancy." "Went to bed feeling well, but woke up dead." "Died suddenly at the age of 103. To this time he bid fair to reach a ripe old age." "Do not know cause of death, but patient fully recovered from last illness."

"Kilowatt Hour" Defined
The question, What is a kilowatt hour, is asked frequently in connection with rate discussions in Spokane and is little understood by the average layman. A kilowatt hour is the current produced by one horsepower and one-third, in use, for any purpose, one hour, said an official of the Washington Water Power company yesterday.

You Can Buy Cheaper IN GENESEE

We have heard this remark several times this fall by people who have been to other towns and have compared prices.

The reason is easily accounted for. Where it is costing us one dollar to do business, it is costing merchants in larger places "where rents and taxes are double what they are in Genesee" double that amount. Somebody has to pay this extra expense.

We carry the same class of merchandise that is carried by the best dealers in Idaho, and in many, many cases the same numbers, so it is easy to compare prices.

We have sold more Ladies' and Misses' Suits and Coats this fall than ever before, and mostly to people who have been to other towns and compared prices. We have new Coats and Suits coming nearly every day. If you haven't bought your new fall coat, come in and look at ours.

THE ISLAND OF THE STAIRS

Being a True Account of Certain Strange and Wonderful Adventures of Master John Hampdon, Seaman, and Mistress Lucy Wilberforce, Gentlewoman, in the Great South Seas.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Copyright, 1912, by Cyrus Townsend Brady

"Why not? I asked. I scarcely know. It was valueless. I attached no special importance to it. But now, how?"

"It is a miracle," I said, "that the two pieces should have come together in your hands."

"I don't yet understand what it all means," she said, "but I will try to suggest that you get the other piece and let me look at it."

"You are finished out in one of those sudden changes of mood, some times so delightful and sometimes the reverse."

"I am a seafaring man, as you know, mistress," said I humbly, "and I am accustomed to study maps and charts and left the room. I sat dumb and silent during the whole interview, although I had listened to everything with the deepest interest. As usual, it was she who broke the silence when we were alone again."

"Master Hampdon," she began, "what a sorry pass am I reduced! What shall I do now?"

"I am a seafaring man, as you know, mistress," said I humbly, "and I am accustomed to study maps and charts and left the room. I sat dumb and silent during the whole interview, although I had listened to everything with the deepest interest. As usual, it was she who broke the silence when we were alone again."

"I must go and get ready to go to Master Pickin's in the town," she said softly. "You know the house."

"I added, "Come to me there tomorrow and we will talk further about the project."

"When we reached the subject to Master Pickin the next day at his house, he would not hear of it. He examined the parchment with interest, but postponed the tale because, for sooth, it had no legal backing and was void in the phrenology of the sea rather than in the dry verbiage of the law. He pointed out that he had only succeeded in saving this last £2,000 of his fortune because he had skillfully concealed its existence from Sir Geoffrey. He asked pertinently what would happen to her when all was gone and she had to return to her father's house, which he had just discovered to be a walled garden, perhaps two acres in extent, which ran back from the house to a little brook which bounded the village."

IDAHO WEATHER

Condensed Summary of Weather Conditions for September—Temperature, Precipitation, Etc.

The month, as a whole, was about normal, the temperature being slightly above average and the precipitation somewhat below. The temperature was above normal, except in the extreme eastern and northern counties and in parts of Twin Falls and Washington counties. The highest temperatures for the month mostly occurred on the 2nd, 8th and 12th. Most of the stations reported minimum readings during the period embracing the 22nd and 26th. Blackfoot, Bingham county, recorded a temperature of 18 degrees on the 25th, which is the lowest temperature on record for September at that place, that station having a record of 15 years. Killing frosts were of general occurrence during the month, only the most sheltered spots being exempt. The precipitation was moderately heavy for the season along the main range of the Rocky Mountains, the heaviest falls being reported from the northern part of Fremont county, while it was correspondingly light in the middle and lower stretches of the Snake River valley. At Kilgore, Fremont county, 1.5 inches of snow fell on the 22nd.

The mean temperature was 58 degrees, which is 0.2 degrees above normal. The highest monthly mean was 66.6 degrees at Garnet, Elmore county and the lowest was 48.8 degrees at Pierson, Custer county. The highest temperature recorded was 100 degrees at Indian Cove, Owyhee county, on the 2nd. The lowest was 11 degrees at Pierson, on the 24th. The greatest daily range was 69 degrees at Mountain-home, Elmore county, on the 26th. The greatest monthly range was 78 degrees at Glenns Ferry, Elmore county. The average precipitation was 0.82 of an inch, which is 0.03 of an inch below normal. The greatest monthly amount was 5 inches at Kilgore, Fremont county, and the least was a trace at Sunnyside, Elmore county. The greatest amount in 24 hours was 2.25 inches at Kilgore, on the 8th. The average number of days with a measurable amount of precipitation was 4. The total movement of wind, in miles at the regular Weather Bureau stations was as follows: Boise 3,520; Lewiston 2,303; Pocatello 5,723. Highest velocities in miles per hour were as follows: Boise 23 from the northwest on the 21st; Lewiston 30 from the northwest on the 21st; Pocatello, 36 from the southwest on the 22nd. The prevailing direction of the wind was southwest.

There was an average of 19 days clear, 7 partly cloudy and 4 cloudy. The percentage of the possible amount of sunshine was as follows: Boise, 83; Pocatello, 70; Spokane, Wash., 68.

Portland Markets
Receipts for the week have been: cattle, 1921; calves, 412; hogs, 3151; sheep, 3921; horses, 42.
Optimism has come to the cattle market this week and prices are five to ten cents higher than they were six days ago. Prime steers and cows were in demand and sold quickly. Best load of steers averaged $8 early in the week. Other top sales were $7.75 to $7.80 and $7.90 in small quantities. Butcher stuff had a good outlet and buyers filled orders with some choice cows, bulls and stags. Bulk cow top was $6.50 and $6.75 with one load at $6.90. Steer range closed $7.50 at $7.75 and bulls $5 and $5.50. A slight flurry on Thursday eased prices off about a nickel but the stock offered was not extra choice. By and large the beef situation has been very favorable.
Portland's swine market can always be depended upon for surprises. It sprang a new one this week by advancing a full dime to $8.75 and this advance was made notwithstanding a total receipt as large as that of last week. Outlet has greater capabilities than the trade anticipated and the run was disposed of at sellers' prices. Swine weights were better also, and quality averaged high. Bulk of light swine sold at $8.25 to $8.65. Heavy weights $7.25 to $7.80.

Filling The Silo

Corn is ready to be cut for silage when the grain is in the dent and glazed but can still be broken with the thumb nail. At this stage under normal conditions, the two or three bottom leaves will be turning brown and the sheaf will be turning yellow at the end. There is greater danger of putting up silage too dry than too moist. In a stave silo the staves should be tightened up to exclude the air and generally loosened a little after the silage swells the staves. The inside wall of a concrete silo should be washed with a thin mixture of cement and water every two or three years. This fills the pores and keeps the air from the silage. It will take at least six teams to keep the average silage cutter busy. Corn should not be cut down too much. Two men should work in the silo distributing the silage with forks. Where a silage distributor is used one man is sufficient. They should keep the silage higher at the walls than in the center and should continually tramp the silage next to the walls. The tramping is especially to keep out the air. When possible allow the machine to stand two or three days and refill to make use of all the capacity. Finish filling the silo by running in a load of grass or weeds. This will rot and seal the top and prevent having to throw out the same amount of spoiled silage. The silage should feel wet after it is cut in the silo. If the corn is very mature when cut, and is therefore too dry, add water. A small stream may be run into the blower from a barrel or tank. It is especially important that the silage be well tramped. The blower should be run a few minutes every morning in order to clear the atmosphere before any enters the silo.

Corn Can Be Raised Here

As a demonstration of the fact that good corn can be grown in this part of the country Wells Bros. have received notice from the Latah County Fair that they have been awarded second premium for the second best ten ears of Yellow Dent corn and third premium for the third best ten ears of White Dent corn, which is an indication that good corn can be raised here. The corn not picked from any amount that had been shucked but was picked at random from the field.

A man who came from a corn country and who went over the field, pronounced it a good yield and of an excellent quality. The time is not far distant when there will be many acres of corn planted in this part of the country and it is not unlikely that the acreage will be considerably larger the coming year than it has ever been—and the sooner it comes the better off the ranchers of this community will be, according to those best informed.

Washington.—Official Washington awaited with keen interest the outcome of elections in Mexico under supervision of the Huerta provisional government, the recognition of which has already been denied by the American government. Significance was attached to the dispatches from abroad, coming on the heels of the reports from Washington that the president and secretary of state were at work on a pronunciamiento which would define this nation's attitude with relation to the policy in Mexico of the foreign nations and also to the statement issued in Philadelphia by Senator Bacon, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, to the effect that the interests of the United States in Mexico are "infinitely greater" than those of the other powers.

The Alfalfa Weevil
The weevil passes the winter as an adult insect, having gone into hibernation in late summer and early fall. The time of entering hibernation varies greatly in different years and in different localities. If the summer is long and warm and sunny weather throughout the latter part of the season, the weevils enter hibernation late and many of them perish before the summer ends. On the other hand if the late summer is rather cool and cloudy, they will go into hibernation earlier and apparently more of them pass the winter successfully. The place of hibernating is as varied as the regions where it occurs. Many secure a shelter under dead weeds and dead grass along ditch banks, fence rows and around trees. Others crawl under old stack bottoms, piles of hay left in the fields, under bark of fence posts or dead trees, under bands or orchard trees under sticks, stones and almost any debris that may be found on the ground around buildings and in the fields.

By far the larger number of weevils appear to hibernate in the fields. They do not burrow far beneath the surface unless the ground is very loose and soft and then they may go down three or four inches into the ground.

To destroy the hibernating places as far as possible should be the aim of the careful farmer. This means clean up the weeds, grass and all rubbish along ditch banks and fences. Burn old piles of hay in the fields. Destroy or plow under all dead vines, weeds, stalks, etc., left in the garden at the close of the season. Do not leave large manure piles or other unnecessary materials around the barns or outbuildings. Cut and remove the alfalfa along the borders of the fields as well as you do that in the center.

Some Fine Corn
The Clearwater Ranch Company may well be proud of the amount and quality of corn raised this season. It is stated that they have more than 200 acres, and Mr. Chamberlain, of the Holden, party made the statement that the quality is excellent. While there are portions of the lower ground where corn cannot mature on account of the early frost, yet there are many places where corn can be matured and the yield up to that in many so-called corn states. There is no questioning the fact that silage corn can be raised anywhere in this part of the country, and there is no questioning the fact that ensilage is the best food procurable for cattle and hogs during winter months, and especially dairy cattle for milk production. More corn and alfalfa will be the salvation of the farmer in the great Inland Empire.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Official Washington Takes Keen Interest in Mexican Presidential Election

Washington.—Official Washington awaited with keen interest the outcome of elections in Mexico under supervision of the Huerta provisional government, the recognition of which has already been denied by the American government.

Significance was attached to the dispatches from abroad, coming on the heels of the reports from Washington that the president and secretary of state were at work on a pronunciamiento which would define this nation's attitude with relation to the policy in Mexico of the foreign nations and also to the statement issued in Philadelphia by Senator Bacon, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, to the effect that the interests of the United States in Mexico are "infinitely greater" than those of the other powers.

President Opposes Single-Bank Plan.
Whether there shall be one federal reserve bank with branches throughout the United States or several banks as provided for in the administration bill promises to be the chief issue of the final currency reform fight in the senate committee.

The president made it known in emphatic terms that he was opposed to the central bank plan as suggested by Frank A. Vanderlip of the National City bank of New York and as favored informally by many members of the senate committee. He reiterated through Secretary Tamm that the Glass-Owen bill, with its system of 12 regional reserve banks related only through the functions of one federal reserve board sitting at Washington, was "admirably suited" to the needs of the country.

The president made it clear to the senate leaders that he did not believe the senate committee should allow to disturb the foundation of the bill that passed the house to the extent that it would have to be remodeled to provide for a single bank.

Seamen Get Relief.
The La Follette substitute for the "seamen's servitude" bill, so amended as not to affect the treaty relations of the United States until the president has had an opportunity to readjust them, passed the senate.

The La Follette substitute differed in many respects from the original bill which passed both houses of congress, but which automatically met with the approval of President Taft. Its chief provisions would require improved working quarters and working conditions on ships; increase the requirements for safety appliances and efficiency of coastwise vessels; release from some of the stringent regulations that compel them to remain with ships when in foreign ports and direct the abrogation of any treaties that prohibit the enforcement of the provisions against foreign ships coming into American ports.

National Capital Events.
Senator Chamberlain has been designated by the floor leader, Senator Kern of Indiana, to act in that capacity during his absence from the city.

President Wilson has commuted the sentence of Frederick A. Hyde from two years, and that of Joost Schenck from 14 months, to 366 days' imprisonment. He did not remit fines of $10,000 and $1000 respectively assessed against Hyde and Schneider. The two men were convicted of land frauds in Oregon and California.

Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark, retired, commander of the battleship Oregon when she made her famous trip around Cape Horn at the opening of the Spanish war, today accepted the invitation of Secretary Daniels to be on the bridge of his old ship to lead the international fleet through the Panama canal early in 1915.

Including the practical completion of the Panama canal among the marks of "beneficent providence" which the nation, he says, has engaged in the past year, President Wilson issued his first Thanksgiving proclamation, naming Thursday, November 27, Thanksgiving day.

The big express companies have advised the interstate commerce commission that they have decided to abandon their opposition to the commission's recent order radically reducing express rates. It also was announced that the commission's black system of rates would be established immediately.

From Canada

Lethbridge, Canada, Oct. 8, 1913
To The News:
I have been in Canada all right and found the weather fine. The country looks good to me. It is very level and the crops were good this year and the grain looks good. Wheat went from 25 to 50 bushels and oats from 80 to 100 bushels to the acre and of a better grade than they raise in Idaho—no wild oats in it at all.

Land sells from $25 to $35 per acre within twelve miles of Lethbridge. The water here is good, coming from drilled wells and is as soft as rainwater. Crops are not as good every year as they have been this year and they tell me this is the first good crop they have had here for four years, but this country is new and will get better right along; we all know that.

The farmers up here do not use sacks but handle their grain in bulk. They have large tanks that hold from 180 to 200 bushels. I am running one of them myself just now with four horses. Thrashing is about all done, or will be in another week or so. The roads are as fine as can be and are as smooth as paved streets. I will send you a card so you can see for yourself.

I don't know how long I will stay here but if I go away from here, think I shall go to Calgary.

They had about an inch and a half of snow here before I arrived, but it is all gone when I got here. They don't usually get much rain here, and that is the reason they don't have any better crops, but this past summer they had plenty of it and that surely accounts for the heavy yield of it—more grain than they had room for and in some places they are running it on the ground.

Anton Fischer.

Students Judging Contest
Students judging teams from the horticultural departments of the northwestern colleges are expected to compete in an apple judging contest in connection with the sixth National Apple Show and Fruit Products congress in Spokane November 17 to 22.

At least three teams of three students each will participate for a silver cup and $25 each offered by the show. Washington State college and University of Idaho have announced they will be represented, and Oregon, Utah and Montana agricultural colleges are expected to enter teams.

President Wilson has issued a proclamation setting apart Thursday, November 27, as Thanksgiving Day. There are many things the people of this country have to be thankful for and no doubt the day will be properly observed with thanksgiving and feasting, as is the usual custom. The pessimist will probably say it's all a farce—that we have nothing to be thankful for while the optimist will smack his lips and enjoy roast turkey and cranberry sauce.

It would seem that Sheriff Brown and his deputies are having quite a "run" in the catching of insane men, the latest catch being made at Pocatello on Monday. "Our own" Olaf Pearson is said to be well satisfied with his present surroundings at Orofino and it is likely that he will remain in that city until wanted elsewhere.

More organizations and societies have decided to hold congresses and conventions at San Francisco in 1915 than at any other exposition at a corresponding time before its opening. Up to October 13, 1913, 176 such conventions had been arranged.

SELECTING SEED CORN

It will soon be time for selecting seed corn, if the best seed is to be secured. Some delay the selecting of their seed corn till hushing time or till late in the winter. This is not good practice, as seed corn, left out till after cold weather sets in, is very apt to be damaged by freezing. New corn, when fully matured, contains a comparatively large amount of moisture. When new ears of corn freeze before they have become well dried and cured, the germs are injured and often entirely killed.

By selecting ears of corn for seed early in the fall before freezing weather and drying the ears, there is no danger from freezing. They should be gathered, husked and hung up in a well ventilated room for quick drying before cold weather.

Different farmers have different ways of selecting seed corn. The worst way is to wait till the following spring and select from the crib. Corn stored in a crib over winter may have the germs injured by either heating in the mass or by freezing. Some select ears during the winter, but with this practice the same objection holds. Others select their seed ears while husking out fodder in late fall or early winter, or as the gathering is done with a wagon from the standing stalks in the field. This last method is good if the husking is done early enough in the season, and the seed ear properly cared for after being selected.

The best way to select seed corn is to go over the best field in the fall after the corn has matured, and choose the ears from standing stalks. If only a small amount of seed is required, it can be gathered and carried home in sacks. If more is desired, a wagon may be taken to the field. Where a stalk bears two or more good ears, select the top ear, as seed from such ears has a tendency to increase the number of ears to the stalk. Select uniform ears well filled at butt and tip.—W. C. A.

A Unique Building
An army of laborers is working a transformation in the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition and in view of the progress that is being made in the construction of the exhibition palace, it is certain that the work will be completed several months in advance of the opening of the great fair. One of the most interesting pieces of construction work now going on is in Machinery Hall. The huge structure is crossed each way by a series of lofty naves, 128 feet high while the height of the building from the floor to the roof is 135 feet. The ornamentation is being made in the construction of Machinery Hall. It consists of a cement like composition called imitation Travertine stone. It is a faint ivory yellow in color, several shades from white, and at a distance presents the appearance of white. In the brilliant sunlight this shade will not be as glaring upon the eyes as pure white is.

Fleets of steamers are unloading lumber at the exposition docks. More than 40,000,000 feet of lumber have been delivered of the required amount of 70,000,000 feet. As many as nine steamers discharge cargoes at one time.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

The postoffice department has changed the name of the office at Reynolds to Brunzell.

The car shortage on the Mindoka branch is becoming pressing. It is said there are 1000 carloads of perishable stuff in Twin Falls waiting for immediate transportation.

The state of Idaho may co-operate with the government in finishing reclamation projects which are under way but which have failed for various reasons.

Starting in with 11 cents and a span of mules and a wagon, a homesteader named Janssen of Caldwell, who filed in 1910, now values his place at $10,000.

Idaho and Washington should follow the example of Oregon and complete its reclamation projects, in order to attract new settlers, says Director Newell.

There is more cash in the banks of Warmer and Kellogg than ever before, according to figures resulting from the call of the comptroller for a statement of condition on October 21.

Senators Borah of Idaho and Cummins of Iowa have been added to the list of members congress who are to speak for the Republican party in the Maryland, New Jersey and Massachusetts state campaigns.

Mrs. Mary S. Darby of Boise is preparing to contest the will of her brother, Thomas Huffman, who cut her of $100,000 and left property valued at $100,000 to Albert Hindman, a wealthy rancher of Baker county, Oregon.

Idaho's production of gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc during the year 1912 was $21,466,521, as against $19,100,894 for 1911, an increase of $2,365,627, as shown by the annual statistics compiled by the United States geological survey.

A detailed account of the work done by the reclamation service in Idaho during the past month is contained in the October number of the Reclamation Record. It shows no startling development, but steady progress on projects now in course of construction.

The Boise office of the department of the United States geological survey devoted to the measuring of streams, under the direction of T. C. Baldwin, has installed during the summer automatic gauges on the upper Snake for the purpose of more accurately measuring the flow of the river.

The railroads make the published estimate that the amount of seed peas shipped from Idaho Falls, St. Anthony and the Twin Falls section this fall will amount to the great total of five million pounds, for which the producers will receive about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in cash, and the seed pea industry is just in its infancy.

The Nampa chamber of commerce has pledged its support to the extension department of the University of Idaho for a week of farmers' institutes to be held in this city in December. All the expenses will be paid by the chamber. Only 12 institutes will be held in the state this season, two of which will be in Canyon county, one at Nampa and one at New Plymouth.

In view of the fact that the west will ask a great deal of congress at the coming regular session, and in addition to legislation will seek assistance from the administration, Senator Brady of Idaho believes the time is ripe for the organization of the western contingent in congress to press matters in which the entire west or any state of the west may be interested.

Efforts are being made for the organization of a North Idaho Debating League, with Valles, Wardner, Kellogg, Mullan and Coeur d'Alene. The new league is in line with the organization of such leagues throughout the state among the high schools, two already having been organized in the southern part of the state, known as the southeastern and southwestern leagues. It is also desired to organize a league of the high schools in the central part of the state to co-operate with the North Idaho league. The two winners from the north and central leagues will meet the southern champions at Moscow during the inter-cholastic track meet for the championship of the state.

Ask Pardon for O'Neil

Petitions asking a pardon for B. F. O'Neil convicted banker of Wallace, Idaho, are being circulated in Lewiston. The petition recites that O'Neil had served over one year in different jails before being taken to Boise, and that he was the only officer of the defunct bank to be prosecuted. The petition further recites that O'Neil had a wife and child who are without means and dependent upon him for support.
Since ex-Governor Sulzer left the executive mansion at Albany another huge "graft" has been uncovered and laid at his door. It has been discovered by those auditing the ex-governors books that he has purchased and his dog consumed, dog biscuit to the amount of 35 cents, which Mr. Sulzer wired the Albany officials would be settled by him. The ex-governor says the little dog should be impeached. It is presumed the Tammy Tiger was lurking around after this same biscuit and the little dog beat him to it.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Esther Orth

Mr. Bold told the High School Monday morning about the institute last week at Moscow. He said one of the things that impressed him most was the strict way in which the teachers had to behave. We wonder how they like their own medicine.
During vacation week the assembly hall and two recitation rooms were fitted with new black boards. This is a great help to the teachers and pupils.
The law concerning the noon hour has been changed and the pupils are allowed to enter at any time but must remain on the first floor.
Fred Berahaw, Carl Tideman and Amand Kern are new pupils in the High School.
Agnes, in Geometry examination: "I can prove all these propositions all right but never get any where near the point."
The High School lost one of its best students last Monday when Mabel Emmett went to Lewiston to attend the normal.
George Post has been absent this week from school.
Friday night the High School will give a Halloween carnival at the school house. An excellent program will be given; also your fortune told and other stunts. The girls will sell home made candy. Every one should come and bring ten cents for admittance and a few more for candy.
The teacher of the first grade wishes that the parents would try and send their children more regularly and send them on time.
Walter Curran entered the third grade Monday. Miss Costello's room is the first to receive their quarter holiday for having a ninety percent attendance.
Bertha Jacobs is a new member of the sixth grade. The attendance so far this week has been excellent in this grade. During the past month not one fourth grade girl was absent.
Rose Jacobs enrolled in the eighth grade Monday morning. There has been a nearly perfect attendance in the seventh and eighth grades since institute.
Miss W.—Nettie, by what name was J. Adams called?
Nettie—"Old Man Elephant!"
Miss W. misunderstanding, answered, "Yes."

The Youth's Companion in 1914

Seven college presidents and a number of college instructors, including ex-President Taft, will contribute to The Youth's Companion during 1914. Then there is Gene Stratton Porter, whose stories of Indiana woods and swamps have made her famous, and Kate Douglas Wiggin, who never wrote a dull line in her life, and Mrs. Burton Harrison, who remembers when conversation was really an art as practiced in Washington and in the manor houses of Virginia. And this is just a beginning of the list.
If you know The Companion, you have a pretty clear idea of what is in store for next year's readers. If you do not know, ask us to send you sample copies—for instance, those containing the opening chapters of Arthur Stanswell's fine serial—"His Father's Son." Full announcement for 1914 will be sent with the sample copies.
For the year's subscription of $2.00 there is included The Companion Practical Home Calendar for 1914, and all the issues of the paper for the remaining weeks of 1913, dating from the time the subscription is received.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1788, calves 57, hogs 5347, sheep 2558.
Reaction in the cattle market set in Wednesday after an auspicious opening Monday. Receipts have been abnormally large and killers are temporarily well supplied. Prime steers dropped to $7.50, cows $6.50 and trade was slow the last half.
Market sharply lower this week; outlet narrowed at midweek and swine values were shaded from $8.75 to $8.50. By Friday the trade was very sticky, buyers indifferent and $8.35 was the limit of bids; a liberal quotation was $8 at $8.25.
A very slow and uninteresting sheep trade. Sales for the most part being in the lamb section, owing to very poor quality these did not bring more than $5.10. Generally the mutton and lamb markets are steady to firm.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Senate Banking Committee Likely to Report Four Bank Plan

Washington, D. C.—When the senate banking and currency committee ended its first week of deliberations it appeared certain that the bill to be reported to the senate would contain certain provisions for a four regional reserve, government controlled bank system, the $100,000,000 stock of which will be offered to the public.
With progress on the fundamentals of the senate measure just begun, only the framework of the Glass-Owen measure has been retained. The most radical change in the administration measure has been the complete removal of the regional reserve banks from bank control. Briefly, the following were the provisions of the measure, which it was believed would govern its final drafting.
Four regional reserve banks with a total capitalization of $100,000,000, divided according to the financial location of the center from which the banks will operate.
Absolute control of the banks by the government, and regional reserve boards, to be appointed by the president.
The regional reserve bank stock to bear either 5 or 6 per cent interest and to be sold to the public by subscription, the balance, if any, to be taken up by the member banks. This stock will have no voting power, and will not share in the surplus. That will accrue to the government.
Co-operation With States Proposed.
If congress, at the regular session, will authorize an additional loan of $100,000,000 to the reclamation fund, in accordance with the recommendation to be submitted by Secretary Lane, the interior department will undertake, in co-operation with the several states, to redeem those Carey act projects which have proven failures, and which threaten, without some such aid, to entail heavy loss on settlers who have undertaken to establish homes under their canals.
The plan of the interior department is to have the federal government join with the states in completing Carey act projects which have fallen into disrepair through the failure of contractors or from other cause.
Members Lose Mileage.
Senators and representatives will be obliged to forego the mileage bill at the coming regular session of congress, much as they may dislike to do so. The fact that the special session is to run into the regular session without substantial break makes it impracticable for congress to pass the mileage appropriations this winter, and if any attempt is made to put such a bill through it will be killed by public opinion.
Senators and members have received mileage for the special session.
Mail Efficiency Is Aim.
Postmaster General Burleson has decided to standardize the entire postal service, so far as possible, with a view to greater efficiency. To this end the department will operate several model offices, "dynamos" from which to charge the entire system of offices throughout the country.
These offices will be used to discover the best practical way of administering the postal facilities and to test out devices and methods that may prove of value.
National Capital Brevities.
The secretary of war is urged to modify the examination required for students desiring to enter West Point. The plan is made that 80 per cent of the applicants fail. A government preparatory school is suggested as one remedy.
The constitution limiting the membership of the house of representatives to 450 has been commenced by Representative Cardell Hull of Tennessee, author of the income tax provision of the Underwood tariff bill.
In transportation of stocks, bonds and other securities, the interstate commerce commission held that a carrier is responsible, in case of loss for the market value of the securities only and not the par value.
By direction of President Wilson, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Osborne instructed collectors throughout the country that the recent action of congress in removing deputy collectors from the protection of the civil service did not mean a return to the spoils system and was taken only for efficiency.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE URGED BY SUPT. HOV

Industrial Work in School and School Credit for Home Industrial Work
An educational revolution, or evolution is on throughout the whole United States. The theoretical is giving way to the practical; in place of preparing only for colleges and universities, the public schools are beginning to realize that they must also prepare their students for life. Hundreds of schools have therefore, within the last five years, changed and modified their courses of studies in such a way that the practical subjects have been placed side by side with the theoretical. The commercial branches, agriculture, manual training and domestic science have been added to the old courses of studies.
How fast the old order is giving way to the new is perhaps best shown in Minnesota. Four years ago there were just ten agricultural high schools, including either manual training or domestic science or both, and today there are 140 such schools in Minnesota. What is just as noteworthy as this increase in number, is the extension of the work from the high school down through the grades, down to the fifth and fourth grades. Another remarkable thing is the change in the work itself that is undergoing within these departments. At first agriculture was chiefly a book study with very little of practical application. Today practically every such school has a demonstrating farm or plot, where real agriculture is taught. In connection with this work comes the industrial clubs and agricultural clubs of both adults and school children. In the sewing department, the change from fancy work to the plain simple sewing to begin with is taking place. Manual training and cooking are undergoing similar changes.
The necessity of beginning this work in the lower grades is evident when one considers that 85 per cent of all school children in the United States drops out of school before they reach the seventh grade and another 25 per cent drops out before they reach the high school; and for what reason? Our common schools are too one sided. They have been designed chiefly for what we term the brighter children, children that can easily learn from books, while no provision has been made for the other half, for children, who are usually termed dull, because they cannot so easily learn from the printed page. But give them manual training, agriculture or domestic science and they will develop perhaps just as fast as the brighter ones. The only difference in these two classes of pupils is that they learn through different courses; and who shall say which is the best, or who shall criticize the last class, because they have not the ability nor inclination to learn only from the printed page. They find school studies different and tiresome, nothing to hold or interest them, and therefore, leave school as the age when they most need the right instruction and guidance of the school and teacher. Shall we continue to plan and conduct our courses for the benefit of the 50 per cent abstract minded

Some Fine Hogs
E. M. Becker on Tuesday delivered at the stock yards 14 head of eight-month-old pigs which averaged over 270 pounds each and brought him $20.75 per head. Mr. Becker says he has 34 of the same kind left which he will deliver within a week or two. He is one of the ranchers of this part of the country who believe that hog raising is profitable. He says he has paid for his 120-acre ranch in the past five or six years and has just recently completed a $2,000 residence (thirty-two logs) which he credits to the raising of hogs. Mr. Becker has clover and alfalfa pastures and plenty of room for his pigs and he supplements the forage with a ration of ground wheat and barley, and the net result is some as fine porkers as have ever been delivered in Genesee.
Mrs. Reesore, living north of town, had the misfortune to break one of her limbs last Saturday night. The fracture was reduced and she is resting as well as could be expected.

AN OLD INDIAN LEGEND.
The incidents that led up to the naming of Poughkeepsie.

During the days when the Indians still held sway on the banks of the Hudson there was a fierce battle between the Delaware and the Pequot tribes. The former won, and among their captives was a handsome young Pequot brave. He was offered his life if he would swear allegiance to the Delawares and be branded with their tribal mark—the turtle. He refused, and preparations were then made to kill him. As his enemies were on the point of doing this a young Indian girl broke into the circle and begged for his life. She had at one time been a Pequot, but had been captured by the Delawares and forced to join their tribe. Her appeals were so touching that the warriors were debating the matter when the party was attacked by still another enemy, the Huron Indians. In the excitement the girl cut her lover's bonds, but the two found themselves in the midst of a fierce battle and eventually became separated. The young warrior escaped, but the girl was captured by a Huron chief. Determined to rescue him at any cost, the Pequot brave disguised himself as a medicine man and entered the camp of the Hurons. By some pretext he gained admission to the tent where the girl was kept prisoner, and late at night they managed to escape in the darkness. Their flight was soon discovered and pursuit began, but the young couple reached the river far enough in advance of their pursuers to embark in a canoe and push off to shore. They were still followed, but the warrior was young and strong and succeeded in getting his little craft safely into a cove at the junction of the great river and the stream entering into it between two high, projecting banks, where they hid, and later found a friendly tribe.

Reflecting that the place had been a "safe harbor" for the girl and her lover in time of peril, it was so designated in the Pequot tongue, the Indian equivalent being "Aps-keep-stick," today, after having filtered through the Dutch and English tongues, it is known as Poughkeepsie—Ladies' Home Journal.

CURIOUS HERMIT CRABS.

They Keep Housemaids, and Also Use Sponges For Protection.
It has been said that crabs are as artful as "a barrow load of monkeys," and no one who has read Professor Edward Step's "Blessings: A Book of Strange Computations," "Nature," will deny that there is considerable truth in the remark. Amazing indeed are some of the revelations which the professor makes regarding crabs.

He relates, for instance, how the common hermit crab actually keeps a housemaid to clean out his house. When he first starts life this particular species of crab hunts for some large shellfish's shell in which he can live at ease, rent free. He usually chooses a large whelk shell and introduces a large seaworm, belonging to what is known as the "hermit" family, and which grows to a length of six or eight inches, to keep the interior of the shell clean. The crab feeds heartily on sea anemones that protrude themselves into the shell and throws the indigestible parts of them about the floor. The hermit worm promptly consumes these remains and keeps the shell as clean as a new pin.

The artfulness of this crab, too, is strikingly illustrated by the ingenious manner in which he protects himself against the large fish which look upon him as an excellent article of food. Sometimes he induces a sponge to grow on his shell. Sponges in a living condition give out a strong odor, which is distinctly unpleasant to fish, and even a dogfish will not attack a crab protected in this manner.

V. W. Flint, receiver of the defunct state bank of Idaho, is sued by representatives of the state and depositors for $26,000 for alleged failure to perform his official duties.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES
By Miss Esther Orth

The High school is planning an afternoon program a week from Friday, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, speaking and a debate.

The new scholars in this week's enrollment are, Second grade, Walter Curran, Martin Kimberling; Fifth, Mabel Kimberling, Johnnie Kimberling; Seventh, Beryl Nave, Eighth, Matt Burns; Ninth, Ben Johann.

Katherine McMahon of the second grade was absent this week on account of illness.

The primary room was visited by the second grade last Friday afternoon. Singing, speaking and apple-bobbing were enjoyed by all the little ones.

Miss Baxter, teacher of the fifth grade, regrets that she has lost two of her most industrious pupils, Pansy Smith and Esther Gage.

Several pupils of the eighth grade received 100 in grammar, physiology and arithmetic examinations last month.

Miss W.: "Rupert, what can you tell me about the cattle raising of Africa?"

Rupert (absent-mindedly): "Why, they have lots of pygmies there."

The seventh and eighth grades were presented a large basket of lovely apples on Friday last week.

The sixth grade had no tardiness and but one absence this month. We hope they will be able to win the quarter holiday.

Friday afternoon the curtains were drawn and Jack-o-lanterns lit in Miss Doty's room. Then thrilling ghost stories were read by the teacher. The pupils breathed a sigh of relief when the shades were again raised, admitting the sunlight. Their hair fell gently back into place and a healthier color flooded their ghastly faces as they were dismissed.

A little Episcopalian girl from one of the lower grades copied the poem, "Autumn," from the board as she was requested to do. Upon looking it over the teacher admitted the neat handwriting, but to her amazement at the end of the poem was written a large "amen."

In a spelling match between members of the fifth grade, Anna Scharnhorst succeeded in carrying off the honor of spelling her schoolmates down.

A meeting of the Senior class was called and elected officers as follows: President, Harold Haymond; vice-president, Gladys Larrabee; secretary, Esther Martinson; treasurer, Esther Orth; senior advisor, Miss Olsten.

Ghosts, goblins and witches haunted the premises of the High school on Halloween. It was a scene of ghostly and witch-like revelry. In spite of the disagreeable weather, the charms of Halloween brought out a large and enthusiastic crowd. Upon entering the guests were met by ghost-like forms and escorted up to the higher regions, which were artistically decorated with cornstalks and Jack-o-lanterns. Among the curiosities were the picture show, which afforded a great deal of amusement for the children; the witches' den, where all went to learn their past, and the apple bobbing.

The candy table could not meet the demands of the people. However, a neat little sum was taken by the girls at this booth.

At 8:30 a program was given, consisting of the following: Instrumental solo, by Faith Follett. Witches' chorus, by eight witches. Recitation, by Clara Kern. Violin solo, by Frances Orth. Vocal solo, by Irah Larrabee. Reading, by Mahlon Follett. Shadow pantomimes.

In noting the arrivals last week Miss Anna Malone's name was accidentally printed "Mrs. Anna Maloney." She says she is neither "Mrs." nor needs the "y" on her name, hence the correction.

The United States court for this district convened on Monday, at which time the grand jury was called. The trial jury reported for duty on Wednesday.

The committee appointed last month to draft a suitable ordinance covering the hog situation within the city limits more thoroughly, reported, and after some considerable discussion it was read the first time.

The object of revising the ordinance is that it was passed some 20 years ago and is at the present time discriminatory, owing to the growth of the town since its passage, it allowing hogs to be kept in some portions of the city, while in other portions it forbids the keeping of hogs and as there has been some complaint the council is seeking to adjust matters so that all will have the same privileges under the ordinance. The matter will come up for further discussion at the next meeting of the council when the new ordinance will be read the second time.

The Washington Water Power company asked the city council to take up the question of renewing the contract for pumping and lighting the city. While the present contract does not expire until next July, the company is figuring on putting in a different system from what has been in use in this city, and which will undoubtedly give better service. The new plan is to place all street lights on an independent circuit and so arranged that one switch will be used for turning on and off the lights.

The new arrangement contemplates the placing of 30 100-watt Tungsten lights with reflectors, which would give the city much more light at no greater expense than when the old arc lights were in use.

There being no further business the council adjourned.

A card party, musical program and box supper will be given in the opera house on Wednesday evening, Nov. 12, under the auspices of St. Mary's church. From 7:30 to 9 o'clock, card party; accommodation for 100 players; game; progressive high five. From 9 to 10:15, musical program by members of the choir of St. Mary's church. At 10:15, sale of baskets. Each lady attending is kindly asked to bring a basket. A prize will be given for the basket bringing the highest price. 17-1

That Bingville Party
"One of the 'funniest' things ever pulled off here," as one of those in attendance said, just about tells the story of the "Bingville Fete" which was given Tuesday night by the Rebekah lodge of this city.

If the bonfire residents of Bingville had been present at the "fete" they would have wondered how the people of two places could be so near alike and never had "met up" with each other.

The first thing on the program was the grand march, which was joined in by those who had come from Bingville for this "ostentatious occasion."

There were songs, recitations, choruses, remarks, and a wedding, when "Sam Miller and Mollie Underwood" were married by the co. seat, and were made "man and wife, and may God help you," was the admonition of Parson Moore, who tied the knot.

Taken from a social and financial standpoint the entertainment was a decided success, as well as from every other angle.

Don't forget the projectoscope entertainment for the children, at the library rooms, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p. m. Admission, 5 cents.—Advertisement.

You Can Buy Cheaper IN GENESEE

We have heard this remark several times this fall by people who have been to other towns and have compared prices.

The reason is easily accounted for. Where it is costing us one dollar to do business, it is costing merchants in larger places "where rents and taxes are double what they are in Genesee" double that amount. Somebody has to pay this extra expense.

We carry the same class of merchandise that is carried by the best dealers in Idaho, and in many, many cases the same numbers, so it is easy to compare prices.

We have sold more Ladies' and Misses' Suits and Coats this fall than ever before, and mostly to people who have been to other towns and compared prices. We have new Coats and Suits coming nearly every day. If you haven't bought your new fall coat, come in and look at ours.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

Farmers and orchardists in Idaho are affected by a shortage of cars. Speculators are blamed for getting a corner on the cars and an investigation may be made.

The "blue sky" law in Idaho is attacked by R. C. Beach, president of the Idaho state league of commercial clubs. He said that Kansas, which first adopted the act, has repealed its most stringent clauses.

The new Idaho Northern extension up the Payette river from Smith's Ferry to the new town of Cascade, in the lower end of Long Valley, has just been taken over by the operating department of the railroad.

Charles Windsor, chauffeur for the Lewiston Taxi-car company, and Miss O. Ingram, his passenger, escaped death when, in crossing the railroad track, the taxi was struck by a string of box cars.

The largest stock shipments in one train from the Camas Prairie district was assembled at Grangeville and Cottonwood. It was composed of 24 cars, of which four were consigned to Spokane, 14 to Portland and six to Seattle.

Active construction work has been resumed on the electric loop being built by I. B. Perrine on Twin Falls to the Shoshone falls. A force of 30 men is working fast laying the rails and Mr. Perrine states that unless the weather hinders them they will reach the falls on or before Thanksgiving day.

A fish hatchery with a capacity of 10,000,000 fry annually will be built next spring at the mouth of one of the small streams tributary to Lake Coeur d'Alene, near Coeur d'Alene city. The hatchery will equal the one on the Spokane river. It will supply fry for all streams tributary to the lake and for the lake itself.

A commercial club or chamber of commerce is to be started at Kellogg a number of the business men having informally taken up the subject. The matter was brought to the attention of merchants recently when visitors from Boise arrived to call upon the business men and no arrangements had been made to welcome them, no organization having this in hand.

L. L. Haynes, formerly manager of the Idaho Brick company, who filed information in the Lewiston district court asking the removal of the county commissioners, claiming they had violated their oath of office by lowering the assessment on the plant and property of the brick company without giving notice to the owners, must again amend his complaint and was allowed until November 15 to do so.

The state board of education plans to publish a series of bulletins containing information concerning national matters in the state, which will be of special assistance to local communities in building up their schools. The first bulletin will probably cover a clear and brief statement concerning all the state schools, from the university down, for the guidance of young people seeking a higher education and their parents.

The joint recommendation of J. W. Robinson, of Boise, for director of the mint by Democratic National Committee Eider, King and Pattison, of Idaho, Oregon and Washington, respectively, has caused a stir in Idaho politics. It is believed that if the democrats can get together on Mr. Robinson, vice-president of the Union Savings & Trust company, of Boise, they may be as easy matter to settle some of the other perplexing political problems that exist in this state in the filling of federal offices.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

Dating back practically to the first settlement of this continent, the custom has prevailed of setting aside one day in each year as a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God for his manifold blessings to our people.

We should pray to be delivered from that spirit of extravagance which affects not only our individual but also our collective actions, and which yearly adds to the cost of living. In its place we should seek to have inculcated that spirit of thrift which characterized our forefathers, and upon which the permanent prosperity of the individual and of the State must ever rest.

By the Governor: Attest: WILFRED L. GIFFORD, Secretary of State.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1143, Calves 35, Hogs 3901, Sheep 4873.

Although cattle liquidation has been a third less than total for some period last week, beef values have not been lifted appreciably, so demoralizing was the condition of the market ten days ago.

Catholic Social Entertainment. The social entertainment given by the people of St. Mary's church on Wednesday evening proved a very decided success, more than two hundred people being present.

Inoculating Alfalfa. Last year, in New Zealand, they grew three plots, one of which was uninoculated, one inoculated with soil from a field which had been three years in alfalfa.

Deputy Shot by Captive. Boise.—Deputy Sheriff Clawson was shot through the jaw here by Clarence Roush, an ex-convict, on whom he had just served a warrant charging forgery.

Idaho Farmers Busy. Troy.—With the advent of the fall rains the farmers have been working overtime doing their fall plowing and seeding.

LATAH COUNTY HAS LOWEST TAX LEVY

Comparison Shows Other Counties Much Higher—No Bonded Indebtedness

County Auditor Homer E. Estes has completed a statement showing the comparative levies made for taxes in the 31 counties of the state, which shows that the finances of Latah county are in such splendid condition that it was possible to make the lowest state and county levies of any county in the state this year, as was also the case last year.

Latah county boasts not only of the lowest tax levies for the past two years but also of the fact that she is one of the very few counties in the state that is entirely free from debt. No comparison has yet been made this year of the indebtedness of the various counties but in last year's comparison Latah and Washington counties were the only ones in the entire state that were free from debt.

The comparison of the tax levies made this year, all of which are based on the 100 per cent valuation is as follows:

Table with 2 columns: State and county, Tax Levy. Includes entries for Ada, Adams, Bannock, Bear Lake, Bingham, Blaine, Boise, Bonner, Bonnerville, Canyon, Cassia, Clearwater, Elmore, Franklin, Fremont, Gooding, Idaho, Kootenai, Latah, Lemhi, Lewis, Lincoln, Minidaka, Nez Perce, Owyhee, Power, Shoshone, Twin Falls, Washington.

Catholic Social Entertainment

The social entertainment given by the people of St. Mary's church on Wednesday evening proved a very decided success, more than two hundred people being present.

Cards were played the fore part of the evening and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Joe. Bernshaw who received a fountain pen, Mr. Hammond, receiving the booby prize, was presented with a small bag of tobacco and a pipe.

After this all partook of the good eats which were then disposed of, the highest price received for any one basket being eleven dollars, the basket represented the ship La France and was donated by the Sisters of St. Joseph's school. The basket showed that much skill had been used in the make-up.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Wells, the primary teacher, was sick last week, so Gladys Larrabee substituted. She reported a very good attendance, especially among the girls, who were neither absent nor tardy.

One boy's tardiness has deprived the third grade of their quarter holiday. Mildred Bumpass returned to the fifth grade this week after an absence of a week or more.

The sixth grade reports a fairly good attendance and no tardiness for this week. Raymond Edwards and Lola Bumpass have reentered the eighth grade.

An eighth grade pupil describes the hair as a thread having one loose end and one tight end. The program to be given by the High School Literary society Friday p. m. November 14th is as follows:

Instrumental Duet by Veronica Hausfather and Faith Pollett. Reading, by Esther Orth. News, Cuvier Ehlen. Vocal Duet, by Ada Schooler and Norma Jackson. Charades, Gladys Larrabee.

Debate: Resolved, That the United States is justified in invading Mexico to restore order and peace. Affirmative, Esther Martinson, Agnes Magee, Negative, Ben Jain, Harold Haymond. Vocal Solo, by Irah Larrabee.

The entire school is rejoicing over a new student which John Vandenberg brought to school Tuesday. Marching is much more enjoyable than formerly.

Northwest Livestock Show. The Moscow Chamber of Commerce, with their characteristic energy, have decided to attend almost en masse the Northwest Livestock show at Lewiston and arrangements are being made to that end.

While Genesee will be well represented there will not be so many from this part of the country as the roads will not be in shape for automobile and it makes a rather long and out-of-way trip via Pullman.

A special invitation has been received by the Genesee Commercial club to attend the Livestock show at Lewiston, later to participate in an excursion to Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and return.

The invitation received is for both ladies and gentlemen, as the ladies of Lewiston have made all necessary arrangements to see that the ladies who attend are cared for in a social way and will do everything in their power to make their stay pleasant.

German Club Closed. There is at least a temporary drought at Lewiston on account of the closing of the German club in that city last week.

WORK OF STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

(Continued from first page) ducted the affairs of the institution with admirable skill and energy; but in justice to the exceedingly important work of his own department, the College of Agriculture, and for the sake of the institution as a whole, the Board earnestly desires to fill the vacant place.

As soon as he was appointed, Dr. Sisson began an extensive correspondence with the educational leaders throughout the country; by this and other means a large number of available names have been collected.

The Board plans to publish a series of bulletins containing information concerning educational matters in the state which will be of special assistance to local communities in building up their schools.

The Idaho plan of state educational administration is attracting wide-spread attention. Other states are watching developments here, and some will certainly follow Idaho's lead in the near future.

Frank Jones, Bert Gardner and Bernie Brigham left on Wednesday for the North Fork of the Clearwater for a hunt, where they expect to bag anything from a cottontail to a bear.

Leon Larrabee returned on Friday of last week from the mountains near Weippe, where he succeeded in bringing down a fine deer and all the birds necessary for the larder.

Frank Jones, Bert Gardner and Bernie Brigham left on Wednesday for the North Fork of the Clearwater for a hunt, where they expect to bag anything from a cottontail to a bear.

The firm of Follett & Scholer will send to the Northwest Livestock show at Lewiston, which commences on Monday, December 1, and runs till the 6th, eleven head of thoroughbred horses and one grade team leaving next Monday for Lewiston.

This firm is known throughout the Northwest as having a fine string of horses as can be found anywhere, their sole object in the horse business is to have nothing but the best, and from the fact that they sold a team of mares last spring for $1,750 shows they have the best procurable.

It is expected that the horses of this firm will bring home their share of blue ribbons.

G. I. S. News

The special meeting of the Genesee Improvement society last Saturday culminated in an organization of eight or ten women who volunteered to assist the teachers to introduce sewing into the school.

It has been arranged that the girls shall be dismissed at 3:30 and go to the homes of the ladies, where they shall receive instructions for one hour each week.

The fact that the school board appreciates the efforts the ladies are making is an inspiration and encouragement to them, and they in turn appreciate the gifts from the school board, of the stove in the library rooms.

Pullman is rejoicing over the fact that a well has been opened there which sends forth 2,400 gallons of water per minute, and it is a thing of which any town in the universe might well be proud as there is no better asset, to a town or city especially, than an abundance of good pure water. Genesee hasn't any flowing well, but she has as pure water as is found anywhere, and plenty of it.

This is the season for energetic agents to get busy. You can make good money handling our proposition, all or part of your time. Experience not necessary. Write for full particulars. Western Service Company, Box 127, Spokane.

THE ISLAND OF THE STAIRS

Hampden publishes the duke for insult. Lucy, Hampden and Lucy start in ship for the island of the Stairs.

Tampson steals the map and Lucy has him imprisoned in a cabin. Desperate men, Pinball and Gibby demand the map of the island of Hampden, who pretends to join the mutiny. Hampden demands possession of Lucy.

CHAPTER VIII
Wherein I Make All Clear to My Little

MY pistol was still in my hand, and she made a clutch at it. "But I was too quick for her. I caught her by the wrist. The spell she laid came upon us by her sudden entrance, her beautiful presence, her proud, brave demeanor, was broken by that touch. The men laughed. The remembrance of that laugh makes my blood boil even now."

"I wish you joy of her," said one. "You will have a time taming her," cried a second.

"Ah, you think so," I cried, determined to carry out the deception to the bitter end and to leave no chance for the least suspicion to arise. I stepped her by the shoulders, secretly praying God to forgive me for what I was about to do, and shook her violently back and forth. It was easy enough. A lady in my hands would not have been helpless. "Silence, you fools!" I cried as the men began to laugh again, and she came rushing to me, woman. Do you hear? I've bought you. I am your master! Get back into your cabin. I will have speech with you later!"

Helpless, she thrust her into the cabin, shut the door and faced the men. "Will you gentlemen leave me alone to tame this devil for a little while, and I will be on deck presently," I panted out.

"Very well," said Pinball, "but before we go let me point to a heavy bottle in the rack—"I propose that we drink the health of the new navigator and his lady."

"Right—" said I. I reached for the glasses that were in the rack and poured out a stiff drink for each man and added mighty little water to it. The men drank with health and happiness. I drank with the rest, although I would rather have swallowed poison. They went out by one, Pinball last.

"I wish you joy of your woman," he sneered.

"You will see how tame she is to-morrow," I laughed as she stepped the ladder and soon disappeared.

To throw open the door of the cabin was the work of a minute. There she stood. She had tucked some kind of a rope out of the sheets which she had hastily torn up. Her purpose was plain. She laid intended to end her life by hanging herself from the beam in the deck beam above to which one end of her rope was secured, and she would have done it, too, if I had not come in in the nick of time.

I started at her for a moment and then reached forward and tore the plaited strands out of her hand and drew around her neck and drew them to the deck. It was evidence to me of the deepness of her despair that she had attempted such a thing. It showed me for one thing the excellence of my acting. I had convinced even her of my villainy. I realized with a sudden pang.

Hard as I stared at her, the glance that she shot back at me in intensity, that no expression, matched my own. I moved want to see such longings, such contempt, such scorn on a human countenance again. It cut me to the heart.

"A moment," she said wildly, "and I had done it, traitor!"

"Nay, nay," I protested, "I am a man I didn't make any doubt but that was the island which we had been seeking these weary months at sea.

"The whole crew was on deck. I didn't see any signs of captain Mat thews' body, although I looked lastly about for it. I learned later that they had trampled him overboard without a trace, or word after they had knocked him on the head. Pinball, Gibby and one or two others of the older seamen were on the quarterdeck, the rest being strung along the leeward in the waist staring at the island. Two hands were at the wheel. The ship was pitching and laboring heavily, and it required two hands to hold her up to it.

During the night they had taken a second reef in the topsails. A whole deck was now blowing. Everything above the tops' yards had been furled of course. The Rose of Devon was a wet ship in a sea-way, and she was making heavy weather of it.

I noticed one thing with satisfaction. They had evidently not thought it worth their while to attempt to land. They or to force the key from me, which they could easily have done, and none of them was armed.

"It took like a lead," I chuckled over the hatch-cumling and turned aft.

"I sent for you, Hampden," began Pinball insolently, and his failure to do so was objection to my taking a portion to my lady in the stateroom below, where she kept close and remained out of the way by my urgent entreaty.

"It is I, Hampden," I answered. "I have never been in these seas before."

"How my heart leaped at that assurance and I saw that she had indeed forgiven me."

"I shall leave everything to you, Master Hampden," she continued. "Do you tell me what to do, and I will do it."

"I know you will. I could not ask a braver or more loyal man. I answered heartily.

"At that moment I heard a step on the ladder. Somebody was coming. Quick as a flash I snatched up my pistol and stepped into the cabin and carefully closing the door after me. "It is your wife alone that I seek. I will not naturally bring none the sweetest of my life here."

"Hear me," I interrupted in turn. "Not a word."

"But indeed you must," I persisted, stepping within her cabin and carefully closing the door after me. "It is your wife alone that I seek. I will not naturally bring none the sweetest of my life here."

"There is land not a league and a half under our lee. It seems to be the most easterly of a cluster of islands."

"It is the island we seek. Do you think?"

"We are in exactly the latitude and the longitude of the chart if my calculations are correct."

"The island was uninhabited when my ancestor was cast away upon it."

"Yes," said I, "but there may be natives there now, but no savages of the south sea kind could be more cruel and ruthless than the men on this ship."

"Let us go," she said, shuddering. "What is your plan?"

"I wish you to dress yourself in your stoniest clothes, with your heaviest shoes, wrap yourself up in a boat cloak like mine, and take a change of clothes and some few necessities for your comfort. I will go and rummage the lazarette for provisions, and I will see if I can turn up any more weapons in the captain's room. I dare not go to the arm's chest—it was below in the hold anyway, and I could not waste the time to hunt it out—"we must hurry."

"Why, you said they were insensible."

"They'll recover their senses before we know it. I want as long a start as possible."

"Wait a moment," she said. She opened a drawer under her berth and drew out a leather case, which she opened and placed before me. There were two ivory-handled silver-mounted pistols in it. "They belonged to my father," she said. "With one of them he shot the Heron's crew. I nodded. I knew who he was, and I had seen anything about weapons of fine workmanship and strength with his little staid work of a few minutes. I thrust my hand into the leather case and seized the pistols. "This was your father's?" she asked. And I recognized it also. It was that I had taken from Arcester.

Here is a list of good bone-building feeds: Wheat middlings, bran, soybeans, cowpeas, linseed, all meal, tankage, dairy by products, etc. This should not constitute over one-fourth of the feed applied. Or others cheaper in price: Legumes, alfalfa or clover, or rape pasture. The balance may be corn, barley, wheat, kaffir, milo, etc. This should keep the pigs thrifty and gaining with the pasture cheapening down the cost. In reply to a party's question, "What are legume seeds?" Cowpeas, Canada peas, soybeans and peanuts are the legume seeds that are of importance which are used for swine feeding. They furnish nitrogenous matter in great abundance and some carry considerable fat. While the starchy cereal grain are the great fattening concentrates, the leguminous seeds furnish nitrogenous matter for building the muscular tissue and organs of the body. The legume forages such as alfalfa, clover, vetch coverps, soy bean and peanut vines, either fed as pasture in the summer or from cured hay in the winter, are not only furnishing protein but are an aid to health and cheapening of cost of production.—American Swineherd. Lining Land Benefits Soil When we apply lime to our soil we look to its effect upon the soil rather than its direct influence upon the plants. While many plants contain sufficient deposits of lime, it is also true that many soils are deficient in this element. Lime has various functions. It corrects soil acidity, thus stimulating the action of the bacteria that assist in making plant food available and gather nitrogen from the atmosphere. It changes dormant plant food into active plant food by absorbing the soil water and makes it a more powerful solvent. It improves the physical condition of the soil by making a heavy soil more friable and a loose soil more compact. On some plants it is needed as an actual plant food, for such crops as alfalfa and clover. There are various kinds of lime used for agricultural purposes and each kind has certain advantages, but any experience has led me to believe that it is much safer to use the carbonate, or ground limestone, because it does not have a tendency to destroy the humus in the soil, especially if large quantities are used at one time. On heavy soils that are inclined to be wet, the caustic lime will have more beneficial effects and liberate more plant food. Such land requires a more powerful agent to tear apart and improve its physical condition. For sweetening the soil the carbonate, or ground limestone, is equally valuable. Lime should be applied early in the spring, when it has not been applied the previous fall, and should be applied a number of days before fertilization and should be thoroughly incorporated with the soil. If fertilizer containing nitrogen is applied where it comes in contact with the caustic lime, there will be a waste of ammonia and a consequent loss of fertility. The great question is how much shall we use. I believe that one ton of caustic lime is an adequate amount to supply at one time. If the ground limestone is applied, we may safely double the amount. A moderate application every four or six years is more desirable than a heavy application less frequently. Have you ever tried a want ad? Typoid at Moscow Moscow has been suffering an epidemic of typhoid for the past few weeks and a great many more are reported as now existing in that city, the source of which has as yet not been located. It was at first thought the city water was the direct cause upon analysis it was found to be pure and free from typhoid germs. Prof. Wright bacteriologist at the University, who analyzed the city water; is making a second analysis to make sure that the germs do not come from the city water. He is of the opinion that the fever is the direct result of many flies and is an advocate of "swat-the-fly" method as a preventive. Dr. W. L. Carlyle of the U. of I. was recently elected a director of the Idaho State League of commercial bodies of Boise, and R. C. Beach of Lewiston was elected president. NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Plan to Revise National Banking Laws to Meet New Currency Laws Washington.—With the administration currency bill to be reported to the senate this week after long delay, a plan to revise the national banking laws to meet the new currency system has made its appearance in legislative circles. It will include important questions originally contemplated as a part of the currency bill, but set aside until the next session of congress, when a general revision of banking laws has been promised by the administration. In connection with this proposed revision congress will take up the far-reaching question of rural credits. One of the provisions which probably will be inserted in the new law will forbid interlocking directorates in national banks. An effort has been made to put this prohibition in the pending currency bill, but the administration has maintained that it should go into the new banking law to be drafted by the administration. The senate banking and currency administration supporters have declined to consider a scheme for guaranteeing national bank deposits, with the understanding that that question would be taken up next session. Advocates of the bank law revision plan are seeking to place their projects ahead of the proposed anti-trust legislation in the administration program.

UNIVERSITY DEMONSTRATION TRAIN HERE DECEMBER 20 University of Idaho Heads Will Lecture—Horses, Cattle, Etc., Exhibited

A livestock special demonstration train, or animal husbandry school on wheels, will be run over the Northern Pacific lines in central and northern Idaho from December 15 to 23. The purpose of the train will be to give impetus to the movement for diversified farming in the sections visited, to urge more and better live stock on the farm, to demonstrate by means of outstanding specimens from the university herds and breeds of farm animals and to exhibit to farmers stock of approved types for northern Idaho. The train will consist of two automobile cars with end doors and a flat car between on which the live stock will be exhibited to the crowds at each point. In addition to these there will be a chair car to be used by representatives of the university for lectures, a sleeping car, a baggage car and a car to be used by the home economics department in demonstrating to lady visitors the train the relative cost and relative food values of various cuts of beef and to offer receipts for properly making use of the cheaper cuts. In the live stock cars will be found the Percheron mares, Amoretta and Fashion, a university bred two-year-old Shire and a yearling Clydesdale filly, a Aberdeen-Angus heifer, outstanding specimens of the Jersey, Holstein-Friesian and Guernsey breeds of dairy cattle; Poland China, Duroc-Jersey, Berkshire and Chester White hogs and cross-bred, and Shropshire wethers and Southdown, Shropshire, Cotswold and Rambouillet sheep. This demonstration train will be an improvement over any similar train that has ever been run before under the auspices of the university, not only in its superior equipment, but in the fact that a greater length of time will be given at each stopping place. Instead of the customary stops of from one-half hour to an hour, which have always resulted in more or less dissatisfaction, the train will be stopped this year from one to seven hours at each point on its schedule. This extension of time will make it possible to conduct meetings which will compare favorably with those conducted in farmers' institutes, the same live stock being used as is employed in instructing university students on the campus. The lecturers who will accompany the train will be Acting President W. L. Carlyle; Professor W. H. Olin, of the agricultural extension department; Professor E. J. Iddings, head of the department of animal husbandry; Professor E. V. Ellington of the department of dairying; E. F. Rinehart, live stock field man for Idaho; Miss Jessie M. Hoover, head of the department of home economics and Miss Amy Kelly of the home economics extension department. The train will leave Moscow on Monday evening, December 9, going to various points on all the branches of the

INVESTIGATE BEFORE BUYING CANADA FARM In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor writes the following warning to American investors proposing to put their money into the Saskatchewan farms. The writer of the letter, John D. Stewart, went to Canada from Iowa. The editor of the Farm and Fireside says that the value of Mr. Stewart's contribution lies in the fact that it brings out again the old truth that the farm across the road looks far more prosperous than ours until we know that farm. Mr. Stewart says: "Some of the necessities for a farmer in Saskatchewan are high here. We cannot borrow money at present, but last year the bank charged 10 per cent and wouldn't loan longer than three months at a time. The land companies bring in people from the United States and charge them from $6 to $10 per acre more than they could get the same kind of land for back in the states. I paid $22 per acre, and I could have got land just as good for $14 an acre. "In some places the land is very stony. The stones are just under the surface, and one cannot see them easily, but when plowing is started the stones are very much in evidence. Then, too, the land companies tell the Americans they can raise flax on the new breaking. Most of them try it and fail. I have seen a great deal down in this way, but have never seen any cut. "I came in here from Iowa, and although I expect to try and make it pay out, there are lots of Americans here and they are all dissatisfied. But when someone talks of reporting the true conditions here most of them say, 'Don't say anything until you get rid of your land. And we can't do that at our price we paid for it.' "I wouldn't advise anyone to leave Iowa or any good farming locality and come here, even if I do have land for sale. Many of the farmers here are in debt for more than they are worth."

ARE FARMERS HAVING TOO MUCH PROSPERITY? A Missouri man with characteristic pessimism opines that the exorbitant prices that the farmer is getting for his grain and livestock will eventually lead to his destruction. This sign reader says the products of the farm were selling too low for the producer to make a living a few years ago. Now, the prices are at the other extreme and he fears for the prosperity of the man of the soil. Our Missouri pessimist bases his gloomy predictions on the inability of the city man to eat 40 cent eggs, 32 cent bacon, 45 cent butter and 30 cent beefsteak. He declares that salaries have not increased as rapidly as the price of the things he must eat and he must, therefore, reduce his expenses by cutting down the grocery bills. This means that if the price of meat keeps up Americans will cease to be meat eaters, and the Missouri prognosticator declares that no nation having once ceased to eat meat has ever been known to return to the habit. With nobody to eat meat, farmers will find it unprofitable to raise it, the packing houses will go out of business and agriculture will sink into a state of decay. It seems to us that the Missouri man has overlooked the fact that even if people do stop eating meat they must eat something else and as the farmer is the only man who grows things to eat, he will turn his attention to growing the things that city people want and his destruction will, therefore, be postponed. At any rate we do not believe that the farmers of this country are losing much sleep over their present prosperous condition but will continue to produce whatever the people want whether it be meat, fruit or vegetables and abide by the principle of the law of supplying the man, taking their chances of poverty or richness along with their folks.

Idaho Eleven Wins Idaho again on Friday of last week showed that she has some football players when Whitman was almost kept out of the game entirely, the score standing 29 to 3 in favor of the U. of I. team. While Whitman put a hard game, she was no match for the Idaho boys from the start. Herbert Martinson of Genesee substituted for Fave as right guard. All "Hot" needs is a little practice to make a good one. He has the weight and strength and the time is not far distant when he will be among the best.

Northern Pacific will arrive in Genesee at 3:15 and remain until 5 p. m., on Saturday, December 20, and it is hoped that every one interested in livestock in any way will be on hand to hear what these men who have made a study of live stock will have to say. It is also a good thing to know just how to cut meat properly as well as to know what you want when you go to the butcher shop to buy, and the best way to find this out is to be at the depot when the demonstration train arrives and stay till it leaves. Don't forget the date—Saturday, December 20, and the time—3:15 till 5 p. m. It will be worth your while.

Birthday Surprise The home of Mrs. A. Springer was on Tuesday evening the scene of a very pleasant birthday surprise, when six of her grandchildren gathered at the home to remind her that she had passed the sixty-first milestone on life's journey and to help her celebrate the event. A splendid supper was served at 6 o'clock, each plate was marked with a tiny candle and the large birthday cake which had been prepared for the occasion, was completely surrounded by candles, and on the top of the cake "61" had been placed in chocolate. Several huge chrysanthemums also adorned the table. The guests and boarders at the Springer home enjoyed alike the banquet, for it was nothing less than a banquet. Mrs. Springer received many substantial and useful presents from her children, grandchildren and friends as mementos of the occasion.

Peter Jackson and Carl Omsundson returned Tuesday morning from Bovill, where they had been for the past two or three weeks. They had expected to remain longer, but from some unaccountable cause returned to Genesee. Carl says he was tired by a wild cat while there, and that he killed several ferocious snow-shoe rabbits and was glad to again be back from the wilds. Pete doesn't have much to say.

Justice Steele of the Supreme Court has held an opinion denying the appeal of Etta Dearing against J. W. Hocksmith, the Drangville Savings & Trust company, and F. L. Leonard, cashier. The opinion is written by Justice Stewart and concurred in by Justice Sullivan. Chief Justice Allshie sat in the hearing, but took no part in the decision. Hocksmith was trustee for the estate of Robert J. Dearing, deceased, who was Etta Dearing's husband. Mrs. Dearing charged that, in connection with the settlement of the estate, Hocksmith and Leonard had conspired to cheat her out of $625.

The war between the stockholders of the Idaho-Oregon Light & Power company, in which the majority seeks to foreclose, the minority wanting a receiver for the property, has been temporarily halted by Judge Dietrich of the federal court. He has issued an order appointing W. J. Ferris, of La Crosse, Wis., to make an inventory of the holdings of the company for the benefit of the court and the stockholders. His selection was agreed on by both factions. Judge Dietrich has also issued an injunction against both the Idaho-Oregon Light & Power company and the Idaho Railway company officials, restraining them from changing or modifying present conditions of either company relative to each other.

Madison and Jefferson counties have been properly created under the enabling act of the last legislature and will begin their careers as separate communities on the first day of January, 1914, as provided for in the special act. Governor Haines has issued two proclamations setting forth these facts. The proclamations are alike except that one refers to the creation of Madison county and the other to the creation of Jefferson. It will be noted that the new officers appointed by the governor to assume office in the new counties will not assume their duties until the beginning of the new year. This will give the governor abundant time to canvass the situation and pick the men he considers best qualified for the jobs.

Life is full of trouble, most of which never happens. The Knights of Pythias will give another of their popular dances on Thanksgiving night in the Genesee opera house. The music will be furnished by Sampson's three-piece orchestra, which is one of the very best dance orchestras in this part of the county.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State A new Masonic lodge is planned for Idaho. A. W. Debolt, former sheriff of Douglas county, and mayor of Cootee City, died at Orofino. A man was found dead in the grain elevator at Warwick, about 12 miles from Lewiston. His name is apparently Andrew Neslund, but he has no relatives here. Lucy Johnson, aged 18, of Burke, was committed to the state asylum at Orofino. The girl, who is suffering from melancholia, is a native of Finland and is a recent arrival in this district. Former Governor James H. Hawley, of Idaho, practically declared himself in the United States senatorial race next year, when, in answer to a question whether he would be a candidate in the democratic primaries, he replied: "I think very likely I will." Notice to the depositors and creditors of the State Bank of Murray of its voluntary liquidation has just been given. The action is taken by the directors and as soon as obligations have been met and the depositors paid the institution will be closed. No reason is given in the notice to the depositors for the closing. A special Pullman train will be chartered to carry the Portland jobbers and manufacturers to Lewiston, Idaho, for the livestock show to be held there December 1 to 6, if enough of them can be found who wish to attend the show. It is proposed to have the train leave Portland at 3 p. m. December 3 and leave Lewiston at 4 p. m. December 4. John A. Blomquist, president of the Public Utilities Commission, has returned from Salt Lake satisfied over the arrangements he was able to make there to relieve the car shortage in this state. Not only has the Oregon Short Line promised activity on the part of the Pacific Fruit Express but cars are coming into Pocatello via Ogden and Green River. Commissioner Blomquist is inclined to the belief that there will be no further shortage in the southern part of the state this season. Holding with Judge Steele of the Second Judicial district, the supreme court has held down an opinion denying the appeal of Etta Dearing against J. W. Hocksmith, the Drangville Savings & Trust company, and F. L. Leonard, cashier. The opinion is written by Justice Stewart and concurred in by Justice Sullivan. Chief Justice Allshie sat in the hearing, but took no part in the decision. Hocksmith was trustee for the estate of Robert J. Dearing, deceased, who was Etta Dearing's husband. Mrs. Dearing charged that, in connection with the settlement of the estate, Hocksmith and Leonard had conspired to cheat her out of $625. The war between the stockholders of the Idaho-Oregon Light & Power company, in which the majority seeks to foreclose, the minority wanting a receiver for the property, has been temporarily halted by Judge Dietrich of the federal court. He has issued an order appointing W. J. Ferris, of La Crosse, Wis., to make an inventory of the holdings of the company for the benefit of the court and the stockholders. His selection was agreed on by both factions. Judge Dietrich has also issued an injunction against both the Idaho-Oregon Light & Power company and the Idaho Railway company officials, restraining them from changing or modifying present conditions of either company relative to each other. Madison and Jefferson counties have been properly created under the enabling act of the last legislature and will begin their careers as separate communities on the first day of January, 1914, as provided for in the special act. Governor Haines has issued two proclamations setting forth these facts. The proclamations are alike except that one refers to the creation of Madison county and the other to the creation of Jefferson. It will be noted that the new officers appointed by the governor to assume office in the new counties will not assume their duties until the beginning of the new year. This will give the governor abundant time to canvass the situation and pick the men he considers best qualified for the jobs. Life is full of trouble, most of which never happens. The Knights of Pythias will give another of their popular dances on Thanksgiving night in the Genesee opera house. The music will be furnished by Sampson's three-piece orchestra, which is one of the very best dance orchestras in this part of the county.

GENESEE SECOND LOWEST IN COUNTY

Village of Bovill Taxes Highest The residents of Genesee may be thankful—from a tax standpoint—that they do not live in at least five other places in Latah county. The village of Deary is the only one in the county to have a lower tax rate than Genesee, and taking all advantages into consideration, Genesee is by far the lowest in the county. The following lists show the rate of taxation in the seven incorporated cities and villages of Latah county, giving the State and County, the City and Village, and the School District levies separate and the total amount of all levies based upon the $100.00 valuation: City of Moscow: State and county levy . . . . . $2 State and county levy . . . . . $2 City of Moscow levy . . . . . 1.60 Moscow school district levy . . . . . 1.00 Total tax levy in Moscow . . . . . $3.42 City of Genesee: State and county levy . . . . . $2 City of Genesee levy . . . . . 1.00 Genesee school district levy . . . . . 1.00 Total tax levy in Genesee . . . . . $2.82 Village of Kendrick: State and county levy . . . . . $2 Village of Kendrick levy . . . . . 1.50 Kendrick school district levy . . . . . 1.00 Total tax levy in Kendrick . . . . . $3.32 Village of Troy: State and county levy . . . . . $2 Village of Troy levy . . . . . 1.30 Troy school district levy . . . . . 1.00 Total tax levy in Troy . . . . . $3.12 Village of Juliaetta: State and county levy . . . . . $2 Village of Juliaetta levy . . . . . 1.50 Juliaetta school district levy . . . . . .80 Total tax levy in Juliaetta . . . . . $3.12 Village of Bovill: State and county levy . . . . . $2 Village of Bovill levy . . . . . 2.00 Bovill school district levy . . . . . .90 Total tax levy in Bovill . . . . . $3.72 Village of Deary: State and county levy . . . . . $2 Village of Deary levy . . . . . .75 Deary school district levy . . . . . .90 Total tax levy in Deary . . . . . $2.47 The above lists showing that while the rate of taxation in all the incorporated cities and villages of the county is going to be high this year, yet the rate of taxation in the state and county which levy is the only one authorized by the County Commissioners, is the lowest of any county in the state, and in all cities and villages less than one third of the total levies and in most cases only about one fourth of the total levy, or less; the same comparisons holding true in a number of the county school districts of the county.

At any rate we do not believe that the farmers of this country are losing much sleep over their present prosperous condition but will continue to produce whatever the people want whether it be meat, fruit or vegetables and abide by the principle of the law of supplying the man, taking their chances of poverty or richness along with their folks.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences of the Past Week From Cities in Our State

Bush Talks in Boise.
 Boise.—President Benjamin F. Bush of the Western Pacific, and party, arrived here after a hard two days' trip by automobile, team and interurban car from Winnemucca, Nev. In his address President Bush made no late announcement of any action the directors and stockholders of the Western Pacific might take relative to the Winnemucca Northern Railroad which it is proposed to build from Winnemucca to Boise. Mr. Bush left the impression, however, that the survey appears feasible, that the territory has the necessary tonnage, and that the road will be built.

Lewiston Citizens Hear Lectures.
 Lewiston.—George B. Irving, called "The Better Town Promoter," of Chicago, known throughout the East and West as an industrial lecturer and promoter of commercial club work, gave four lectures in Lewiston Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the Lewiston Commercial Club. Two of these were given to the students of the state normal and the high school. The other two were delivered to the citizens of Lewiston.

Takes Acid, Then Whisky.
 Kellogg.—After taking a portion of carbonic acid, Archie S. Dyer, age about 27 years, walked into the bar of the Page hotel and laying the bottle which had contained the acid for a drink of whisky. "I have just drunk enough of this stuff to kill me," he said. He then opened his mouth and exhibited the burns. In a few minutes he was dead.

Dwellers No Longer Lonesome.
 Salmon.—Forty-seven cats of assorted sizes, sexes, color and quality formed part of a cargo taken down the river by Captain Guleke. Guleke has been engaged for some time past in managing boat trips for down river tourists. The cats are destined to be taken to the homes of dwellers in the wilderness along the river banks.

SPECIAL SESSION LIKELY

Idaho Legislators May Be Called Together in Spring.
 Boise.—That Governor Haines, of this state, is seriously considering calling a special session of the 12th Idaho legislature to convene early next year became known here. Governor Haines, however, refused to affirm the probability of this being done.

The condition of some of Idaho's irrigation projects through failure of promoting companies to complete them, the need of a workmen's compensation act and the necessity of remedying the law passed by the last legislature to permit the organization of districts to drain North Idaho lands are being urged in support of an extra session.

Check Suspect Is Arrested.
 Coeur d'Alene.—Arrested on suspicion of being the man who passed an alleged bogus check for $5 on the Spokane and Eastern Trust company of Spokane, a man giving the name of the Rev. Dr. Herbert Stanley is in jail here. The prisoner was scheduled to speak at the Fort Grounds chapel and is said to have come here to found a Congregational church.

Claim Homestead for Minerals.
 Sandpoint.—Depositions were taken before United States Commissioner Wall in the contest of the Black Bear Mining company against Charles W. Shipley. It is claimed that most of the land that Shipley seeks to homestead near Hope is more valuable for mineral than for agricultural purposes.

Steel Taken From Man's Head.
 Gem.—George Walker, a driver for the United States company, has just had a piece of steel removed from above his eye. The steel has been there 13 years and Mr. Walker has suffered no inconvenience from it until the last two weeks.

Critic Sentence Is 90 Days.
 Lewiston.—Harry Critch, convicted by a jury in Judge Steele's court on the charge of maintaining a nuisance in violation of the local option law, was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail and pay the costs of action amounting to $141.

World's Champion Athlete Dies

Ralph Wadde Rose, world's champion athlete, died at the McNutt hospital in San Francisco on Thursday, October 16, of typhoid fever.

Mr. Rose held world's championships for putting the shot, which were made during the period from 1907 to 1912, and which were as follows:
 The 8-pound shot put, made at New York, in 1907. Distance 67 feet 7 inches.

The 12-pound shotput, made at New York in 1908. Distance 57 feet 3 inches.
 The 14-pound shotput, made at New York in 1907. Distance 51 feet 6 inches.

The 16-pound shotput made in San Francisco in 1909. Distance 51 feet even.
 The 28-pound shotput made in New York in 1907. Distance 34 feet 5 1/2 inches.

The right and left-hand 18-pound shotput, made in Oakland in 1912. Distance 91 feet 10 1/2 inches.
 Rose stood over 6 feet 6 inches in height. When in condition his weight was 310 pounds, with his average poundage being somewhere in the neighborhood of 350.

In Europe he was hailed as one of the greatest athletes ever developed in the United States.
 He still held and beyond contradiction that even these world's records would be beaten by himself in the years to high school. At the time of his death he held more of the world's championships than any living man.

R. F. Lambert of near this city, was well acquainted with Mr. Rose's father and knew young Rose when he was a youngster.
 The dance given at the home of Mrs. John Gherke on Tuesday night was well attended and a splendid time was had by those in attendance. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The Rebekah lodge of this city wish to thank those who in any manner contributed to the success of the Bingville party held recently by that lodge.
 Rader & Westensee shipped two carloads of stock to Spokane on Tuesday afternoon, including one car of hogs and one car of mixed cattle and hogs.

H. A. Gehrke who has been suffering from blood poisoning in his right arm for the past week, is getting along nicely.
 Carranza Demands Huerta's Removal. Nogales, Sonora.—General Venustiano Carranza will not consider any means of accomplishing peace in Mexico not predicated on the absolute elimination of Huerta. The constitutional political and military leader issued the following announcement: "We will recognize nobody who succeeds Huerta by the power which he has usurped."

The condition of some of Idaho's irrigation projects through failure of promoting companies to complete them, the need of a workmen's compensation act and the necessity of remedying the law passed by the last legislature to permit the organization of districts to drain North Idaho lands are being urged in support of an extra session.
 Letters are pouring into the Governor's office from Shoshone, Bonner and Kootenai counties urging the session, so that vast areas of swamp land there may be reclaimed through drainage. Lieutenant Governor Taylor of Sand Point, and Roy Black, of Coeur d'Alene, have been here several days urging the session.

TO BOOST DOUGLAS FIR
 Manufacturers Plan to Form Exploitation Company for That Purpose.
 Portland.—Lumber manufacturers of Oregon and Washington for the export trade are about to organize the Douglas Fir Export & Exploitation company, a corporation in which the stock will be held by sawmill manufacturing for the foreign trade. The organization will represent an output of approximately 500,000,000 feet a year.

The principal purpose, it is understood, will be to make Douglas fir known and famed throughout the world. This campaign will devolve upon the exploitation department of the company. Its efforts will be directed to every corner of the globe, to increase the trade volume in old markets and develop new ones. It is the belief that the opening of the Panama canal to commercial traffic will open vast opportunities in this line.

Foot Ball Scores.
 Portland.—Gilmour Doble's great Washington football team is six times a champion because little Smith shot the ball squarely between the goal posts from a 20 yard placement and big Penton failed on a 40 yard effort, a last desperate effort to tie up a 10 to 7 score.

Oregon Agricultural College defeated the Washington State college eleven by the score of 10 to 2 in the hardest fought game played on the campus in a long time.
 New Haven, Conn.—The Yale football team held Princeton, 10 to 7 favorites, to a tie score game at 3 to 3 in the 29th annual contest.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Football honors of the Western Intercollegiate conference for 1913 rest with the University of Chicago by virtue of its 13 to 7 victory over the University of Minnesota.

Read the Advertising

Newspaper advertising is so generally scrutinized, that some people will say this suggestion is unnecessary. Still there are some people who would not discover a notice that $10 gold pieces were being given away, even if prominently printed in the newspaper. There are some who pay needlessly high prices because they do not pay careful attention to the newspaper trade announcements.

The publisher does not consider that when his readers have seen every news item, they have by any means exhausted the publication has to give them. One of the greatest services the newspaper renders is providing an avenue by which merchants and tradesmen can give information about their offerings. Only by keeping track of these things can the public know where the values are to be obtained. This newspaper hopes that none of its readers is paying needlessly high for living costs, by failing to learn about the buying opportunities which these columns report from issue to issue.—Ex.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 338, calves 1, Hogs 2727, sheep 2429.
 Cattle liquidation has been somewhat less this week than it was a week ago, but the arrivals did not furnish a very large number of prime head. Killers are not very keen for the half-fat grade and prices are generally lower on this class; $7.25 to $7.50 was bid for the early part of the week with the bulk top at $7.40. Sixteen head of steers sold Friday morning for $7.60, the extreme top for the week. Much of the stuff arriving shows shrinkage in transit from being fed short grass.

Butcher stock was in fair demand during the entire session. Cow stuff was the only kind to suffer price declines and this occurred only when quality averaged poor; $6.50 was bid freely for smooth fat she stuff, but there was a short supply. Bulls and stags held steady at firm prices.
 Swine values lowered 20 cents from the old price Monday. The first half of the week furnished big receipts, Monday having one of the largest totals generally good and pork is being finished more carefully; $8.00 as a light hog quotation has stood the test right through the week. Good demand prevailed at the lowered prices, market closing steady to firm.

The Toll of War
 The above is the title of the very thrilling war drama which will be presented by Fred G. Helm in motion pictures at the local opera house. It is a story of unusual interest as it deals with the time of history making in this country.
 It is the story of a girl who undertakes to enlist with her brothers in the Confederate army; the burning of her home and death of her father at the hands of the Union forces; she turns spy for the Confederates; goes to the Union lines, feigns illness and is taken in and cared for at the Union camp; undertakes to secure an outline map of the Union fortifications. In the meantime young Lieutenant Phillips falls in love with the "spy", which gives her better opportunity to secure the necessary information. She is later captured as a spy.
 The story carries the girl and lieutenant to Washington where the girl is pardoned by President Lincoln; the assassination of President Lincoln by Wilkes Booth, and ends as all good stories end—she became the wife of Lieutenant Phillips.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

The High School program last Friday afternoon proved to be very successful. Two programs are to be given every month, one every second Friday afternoon and every fourth Friday evening. The public is welcome to both. No admission will be charged at the afternoon programs.

The orchestra music has arrived and the enthusiasts will begin in earnest to conquer the latest selections. However, no public appearance is promised until later on in the year.

The grades are busy sewing this week under the instruction of the ladies club. The ladies claim that they promise to become renowned seamstresses ere long.

The sixth grade lost their holiday by two cases of tardiness.

Our second grade is busy with the preparation of a Thanksgiving program and ask the public to come and enjoy next Wednesday afternoon with them.

The High School will give a program next Wednesday evening, November 26. An interesting evening is promised to those of the public that wish to see a play of three acts, a courtship pantomime and to hear music of various kinds.

O. Olson Leaves Genesee

O. Olson, one of Genesee's foremost business men for more than nine years, left Genesee Wednesday morning for Joel, Idaho, where he will visit with his brother. From this point Mr. Olson and family will go to Spokane and Odessa for a visit with relatives before going to California for the winter. From California Mr. Olson expects to go to Sweden for an indefinite period.

Mr. Olson sold his jewelry business about a year ago to C. Shork, and only recently traded two of his residence properties here for Canadian land and he still owns a residence property here.

In the departure of Mr. Olson Genesee loses one of her staunch citizens and one who has made good, and he and his family leave behind many warm friends who wish them the best of everything in this life wherever they may choose to cast their lot.

Booster or Knocker, Which?

"A booster is a man who does all the good he can to all the people he can, and then leaves the rest to God,"—Hugh Chalmers

The Knocker "After God had finished the rattlesnake, the toad and the vampire. He has some awful substances left, with which he made a knocker. A knocker is a two-legged animal with a cork-screw soul, a water-sogged brain and a combination backbone made of jelly and glue. Where other people have their hearts he carries a tumor of rotten principles. When the knocker comes down the street, honest men turn their backs, the angels in heaven take precipitate refuge behind their harps and the devil has-locks the gates of hell."—Missouri Brunswicker

THE ISLAND OF THE STAIRS

Being a True Account of Certain Strange and Wonderful Adventures of Master John Hammond, Seaman, and Mistress Lucy Wilberforce, Gentlewoman, in the Great South Seas.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Copyright, 1912, by Cyrus Townsend Brady as to the northeast end of the island, around which I intended to sail, but I was hidden from the ship at daybreak.

I told her after awhile that she was safe. No sound had come from the island, and I had no fear of the natives. I was not alone, and I had my rifle with me. I had no fear of the natives. I was not alone, and I had my rifle with me.

SYNOPSIS

The body of Sir Geoffrey Wilberforce, refined gambler and suicide, is found by Hammond, a sailor, in Hampton quarrels with the Duke of Arosator.

In Which We Pass the Barrier.

THE lazarette was well provided, and I stocked the boat handsomely, not forgetting an ax, a lantern and tinder box. There was not much water, but I emptied some bottles of wine and filled them, although I did not much worry on that account because there would be plenty of water undoubtedly on the island. The boat was provided with a compass and a mast and sail. I got into her as she swung at the davits and overhauled spar and gear. Then I shipped the tiller, and presently everything was ready. A final search was made for the lazarette, and the captain's room, which I forced open and which I found to contain a few fowling pieces, a double barreled shotgun and a tin of powder and ball. These I passed into the boat also.

"Have you got now what you wish to take?" I asked when all my preparations were completed.

"A change of linen, some toilet articles and necessities, brush and comb, needles and thread," she answered, holding up her bundle.

"God," said I. I judged it was about 10 o'clock at night. "Now, do you get into the boat, mistress."

"I will have to go up on deck for that," I said.

"I don't think so, but whether they do or not we must chance it, but if anything should happen to me, I'll cut the boat adrift, and you will be in God's hands."

Silently I assisted her to take her place in the stern sheets. It was not a large boat. On the contrary, yet she made but a small figure sitting there. Then I went on deck. I had a can of oil with me to oil the blocks. It was fastened by the tiller, and I took the oil on the ship was as steep as a drunken stupor. The ship was deserted so far as human supervision was concerned.

"I will have to go up on deck for that," I said.

"I don't think so, but whether they do or not we must chance it, but if anything should happen to me, I'll cut the boat adrift, and you will be in God's hands."

something to eat, but Mistress Lucy took that upon herself. What we had was cold, but there was plenty of it, and at my urgency, when she asked, "For myself I needed no stimulus but my raging hunger. I wanted her to be in a better for whatever might happen."

We had not much conversation the while, but I do remember that she did say she would rather be alone with me than on the ship, when she was at heart pained, but I had sense enough to say nothing. Her loneliness and helplessness appealed to me. I might have had her and other circumstances, but not now.

Well, we coasted along that barrier reef a good part of the morning until we had reached the other end of the island and discovered to our dismay that there was absolutely no opening, no break in it through which we could make our way. When we reached the lower end of the island, but for sailing around on the other side, but this I did not do. We had heard nothing of the ship or her boats, and I didn't propose to arouse any pursuit by coming within possible range of her glasses. I did not know where the Tose of Deas was.

"Madam," I said at last, "there is much to be said for my going over the reef in some fashion. As I examined the island yesterday through the glasses I couldn't see any opening in the reef, but I saw a hole, although I never saw or heard of a cave like this before. I make no doubt but what the reef is continuous and there is no opening in it through which we could make our way. land until another day and go back to our landing place. If I know the land on that ship they will guess that we have escaped to this island and they will bring her round to this side, where we may have them under way and they die."

"Think you that they can come at us?" she asked, in sudden alarm.

"I think not," I answered confidently. "I still think we should like to have them under observation."

"Well, to make a long story short, we retraced our steps over the broken path until we reached the stairs on the other side. The descent of them was much easier than the ascent, and by 2 of the clock we stepped on the sand on the port quarter. There before us lay a quarter of a mile away from the reef, perishingly near, I thought, and we could mark them crowding the rail and staring inland. We could see them brandishing their weapons and we could imagine the yells which must have arisen from the decks when they caught sight of us."

"The ruffians aboard the ship did not content themselves with simply staring at us, for presently they assembled on the port quarter—the ship was under all plain sail on the starboard tack at the time, the wind having fallen to a gentle breeze during the day—and climbed over the cutter, swinging at the davits. As she was lowered into the water, fully manned, Mistress Lucy drew closer to the side, seizing my arm with both hands.

"Let us fly! They are coming to take us!" she cried in great alarm.

"But they are on a vain errand," I reassured her composedly. "I answered confidently enough."

"God?" asked she.

"His handwork," I replied as I indicated with a gesture the barrier reef over which the waves were breaking.

"Yes, in a light dingy, and you remember the difficulty and danger. They will never surround it in the heavy cutter. They will not attempt it, trust me."

"But if there should be an opening?" she asked, her eyes were wide.

"My reassuring reply. 'I have no fear that they can get at us.'"

"And we can't get to them," she answered more composedly.

"I have no wish so to do," I laughed.

"You don't understand me," she persisted. "What keeps them out is the barrier reef."

"Yes," I admitted, "that is true, but for the present I don't intend being kept in so long as they are kept out."

"She looked at me quickly and confessed afterward that my words bestowed some quick suspicion which she abandoned unwisely of her own accord, but I looked so plain that it soon passed from her mind. As a matter of fact, I had not appreciated the significance of my words. I should have been perfectly willing, I should be still, to pass the rest of my life alone on that island, but my words also with my little mistresses only. I was happy then. I had got her to myself, she must look to me for everything. The hungry little queen of the mistresses was now the humble dependent by my side.

Winter Eggs—How Obtained

To get a good supply of winter eggs, we must make conditions for the hen as favorable as we can. In years gone by, when egg production was not carried on so scientifically as it is today, Biddy just stopped her laying during the winter months because she could get only the necessities for keeping body and soul together. Since then we have found out that the hen needs food not only for herself, but also for producing eggs. Watching the hen in the spring, summer and fall has taught us many of her requirements.

We know that she needs warmth and at the same time plenty of fresh air. We know that we must supply her with substitutes for the insects and the worms she gets in plenty during the warmer seasons. We know, too, that she cannot get green food, so that must be supplied. And if we treat her according to her requirements she will do her part. In fact, in most cases, she can help herself. With her body well kept, her strength maintained and an extra supply of ash, protein, carbohydrates and fats, some fibre to aid her digestion, and a good supply of fresh water, she will give nice, large eggs that are worth in the neighborhood of 5 cents apiece.

Of course she will not do as well as she does naturally in the spring and summer, but if we can get her to do only half as well, our profits will be much larger proportionately.

The first essential is comfortable quarters. If she is kept in good health through an abundance of exercise in the scratching pen she will be able to stand cold weather. But if she gets her food without exercising for it she will hardly have the strength to keep herself warm during the winter nights, let alone produce eggs.

A flock of birds on roosts will back from the front of the coop will generate sufficient body heat to keep them quite comfortable. But the utmost care must be taken that no draughts sweep over them at night. Cracks in the build-up should be effectually closed. The building should be air tight on three sides, and on extremely cold nights muslin curtains should be placed in front of the roosts, or dropped over the glass windows. The muslin curtains should be in place over the windows a little before the sun sets, so that the sun's heat does not quickly leave the coop. If you place a thermometer in the coop before sunset you will notice that where the curtains are not used the temperature will drop quickly. So rapid a change tends to make the coop damp. Dampness is almost as bad as draught.

Patronize Local Newspaper

No paper can be published without home patronage and every man is interested in keeping up the home paper. If a railroad or a factory is wanted, the newspaper is expected to work for it. If a public meeting is wanted, the newspaper is called upon for a free notice. If any of the societies have a supper or reception of any kind, the newspaper is expected to give the necessary notice. The newspaper must puff the school and every thing else to advance the interests of the business men of the place and then give them a handsome notice when they pass away, and yet some of them do nothing to keep up a home paper. And this is not all. Money paid for judicious advertising in a local paper is a good sound business investment, as enterprising and successful business men fully realize. And if a person of subscribing to any citizen of a community, unless he be a "dead one," then we'll confess we don't know anything about the law of values. You get full value received for the money you spend with a local newspaper.—Exchange.

Self-Supporting School

Vocational training took a step in a new direction in Wisconsin last summer through the initiative of the manual training students in the Waukesha High school, says the November Popular Mechanics Magazine. Sixteen of the students organized themselves into a cooperative company and turned the manual-training rooms of the high school into a manufacturing plant during the summer vacation. The plan was originated and carried out by the students under the advisory supervision of the city superintendent of schools. They furnished their own materials and paid rent for the use of the manual-training quarters. Their training thus became not only self-supporting, but yielded a small profit for the students. The work carried on consisted in building furniture along mission lines, doing odd jobs as carpenters, and taking contracts to build sheds, chicken coops, farm gates and other small structures.

Senate Committee Presents Substitute for Administration Currency Bill

Washington.—The final legislative fight for President Wilson's currency bill began in the senate with the presentation of reports from the divided banking committee. The bill submitted by Chairman Owen and five other democrats of the committee follows closely the lines of the house measure and contains only such amendments as President Wilson was willing to accept.

Senator Hitchcock, democrat, and the five republicans submitted a draft materially changing the bill and proposing four reserve banks owned by the public and controlled by the government.

Both sections of the committee agreed on concentration of reserves, their volume and location. The republicans, promotion of an open discount market, provision for elastic currency, the issuance of federal reserve notes, that the federal notes should be obligations of the United States, that the system should be a regional federal reserve bank system, instead of a central bank, and on the control of the system itself by the government.

White House to Be Closed New Year

President Wilson has decided not to hold a public reception in the white house on New Year's day. The official announcement of his intention was couched in this language:

"The usual New Year's reception will not be held on January 1, 1914. The departure from custom on this occasion is due to the fact that the president will not be in Washington at that time. Owing to the long session of congress, the president has had no vacation since his inauguration. As the approaching session of congress will be the long session, the only opportunity for the president to secure a rest will be during the usual holiday recess of congress."

In this the president has shattered a long established custom and attention will be resented in Washington is certain.

"Circular 8" is Upheld

The legality of "Circular 8," putting into effect the Dick law for the reorganization of the militia, was upheld in an opinion by Brigadier-General Enoch H. Crowder, judge-advocate-general of the army, made public by Secretary Garrison.

The circular, the legality of which was challenged by the National Guard Association, holds that the federal government will recognize national guard officers and organizations only when requirements of the regular army are complied with as to organization, equipment and discipline.

Election Chasm Bridged

Temporary laws for direct election of senators were endorsed by the senate elections committee. Senator Poindeexter's bill providing that senators shall be elected under present laws governing the selection of representatives-at-large or governors until each state has made provision for elections under the new constitutional amendment was recommended for passage.

National Capital Events

A large number of republican members of congress favor Washington, D. C., as meeting place for the special republican convention next year.

President Wilson has perhaps the most important task he has confronted since his inauguration, in the selection of three new members of the interstate commerce commission.

The nomination of Alex Sweek, of Portland, to be minister to Siam has been held up by the foreign relations committee of the senate owing to charges of unfitness being filed.

John Bassett Moore will not resign as counselor for the state department March 1. He denies friction between himself and Bryan. He was advisor on the Mexican situation until Taft's act in the same capacity under President Wilson.

Democratic senators friendly to the appointment of H. M. Pindell, the Peoria publisher, as ambassador to Russia, let it be known that they would make an extreme effort to secure the confirmation of his nomination before the end of the week.

Mrs. B. H. Jutte, who has been quite ill, is convalescing.

INLAND EMPIRE SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

General Secretary Knapp Makes Brief Report on Condition

E. C. Knapp, general secretary of the Inland Empire Sunday school association who has just completed a tour of speaking at 14 county Sunday school conventions this fall, reports that they were unusually well attended.

"These conventions had a total representation of 229 schools at the roll call," said Mr. Knapp "and the 881 delegates present traveled a total of 15,687 miles. They represented a total average attendance in their schools of 16,816. In 25 of the 27 counties which have held conventions during the present year, 418 schools have been represented at the time of the roll call and the delegations represented a combined average attendance of 28,542. Since the last year book reports an average attendance of 53,000, in Inland Empire Sunday schools more than 50 per cent of the schools were represented at the time of the roll call which was at the day sessions while many more schools were represented at the night sessions. The business committee is now conducting a campaign to obtain personal gifts for the work."

Mr. Knapp has sent letters to the county presidents and treasurers of the association, showing them their standing and the amount of unpaid pledges. Announcement is made that the future progress of the work depends much on the receipts for November.

More basketball material will be on hand this year than has been at the disposal of Coach Griffin for a number of years and the university should turn out a winning team. Some of the old players who were not in college last year have returned while the present freshmen class has brought more promising candidates for the university team than have been seen here for several years.

County Jail Repaired

The old county jail at Moscow has been renovated and renovated is again occupied as a "hostelry" by the prisoners of Latah county. While the jail is far from what it should be it is more sanitary and is reasonably safe for the "storing" of prisoners. Baths have been installed and a new system of ventilation had been put in, and while the prisoners may not have all the home comforts, they will at least have fresh air and a bath as often as required. The Latah county prisoners were brought from the Lewiston jail last Friday and will in the future be boarded at the "Hotel de Brown" in Moscow.

On last Friday night the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer was the scene of a very merry and pleasant gathering, when their daughter, Miss Freda, entertained the Lutheran League. While not all the members were present some twenty-four responded to the invitation. The evening was spent in games and music, both vocal and instrumental, and at the proper time a splendid lunch was served.

NO DUTY ON "SPUDS" UNDER NEW TARIFF

The new tariff law grants free potatoes. Don't get the idea, however, that this will mean lower tuber prices for tubers all over the country. It won't. Except in a few sections of the country and except when the housewife buys by the barrel, removal of the former duty of 25 cents a bushel will not cut the retail price at the family grocery store. Democrats figure that Americans residing along the Canadian border may save the full 25 cents. And they may feel the reduction this winter. So may residents along the Atlantic seaboard.

But folks in interior cities will pay the same old retail prices—50 cents to $1 a bushel—depending almost entirely on the home crop.

Imports from Canada, Scotland and the Bermudas duty free may cut retail prices in New York, Boston, Baltimore, Detroit, Duluth, Chicago and Portland, Maine. But the imported tubers probably can't meet in successful competition with the home grown products elsewhere. Freight rates will limit shipment from the immediate district of importation.

The habit of American housewives in buying potatoes in small quantities is another factor in making the 25 cent tariff reduction of little value in reducing the cost of mashed, baked and other potatoes on the family table.

Inter-Class Basketball

Arrangements are being made by the various classes at the university to enter teams in the annual inter-class basketball series which will open at the close of the football season. There is always keen competition for the class championship.

More basketball material will be on hand this year than has been at the disposal of Coach Griffin for a number of years and the university should turn out a winning team. Some of the old players who were not in college last year have returned while the present freshmen class has brought more promising candidates for the university team than have been seen here for several years.

Sanatorial Candidates

The Idaho Post last week presented the names and pictures of four Idaho Republicans who would like to be United States Senator, and will make a strenuous effort to land the job. However it is very evident that about three of the four will have to seek some other occupation. The aspirants are Hon. Burton L. French, Hon. James H. Brady, Hon. Frank R. Gooding and Hon. James P. Alishire. All these have been in the public eye more or less for a number of years and of course all have their political friends and enemies, but their past records as public officials will be well looked into and aired, be they good or bad.

Heavy Snowfall

The first snowfall of the season occurred in this section on last Thursday night and Friday when about three inches of snow covered the ground. Pullman had about six inches, while Moscow reports a total fall of about eleven inches. The storm was general throughout the Palouse and Prairie sections.

A long, hard winter has been predicted by all prognosticators and if we get all that has been promised by these weather prophets, we will have plenty and to spare.

Boarding house keepers in the neighborhood of Elberton, Wash., are wearing a smile that won't come off. It is announced from the town that the evaporator in that city has completed the season's run and has turned out 1,500,000 pounds of dried prunes. It is very evident that some one will be "full of prunes."

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

It is reported that Senator Borah will vote for the currency bill in the form in which it passed the house, nor at all unless it is materially amended.

Judge Davis of Boise in a recent divorce decision held that a mother could not resume her maiden name. This was done for the protection of the children and to save the mother embarrassment.

In the past two weeks there has been a shortage for the currency bill in the form in which it passed the house, nor at all unless it is materially amended.

Seed peas are a paying crop for southern Idaho. Prof. J. M. Maxwell reports a yield of 22 bushels from the acre from a 20-acre field on his ranch south of Piler. The crop sold for $751 after the seed was returned to the contracting company.

The Ferguson Consolidated Mining company has mortgaged its property in the Summit mining district, above Murray, to the Capital Trust company of St. Paul, Minn., for $100,000, to secure the issuance of bonds of the company in that amount.

At the joint request of Senator Brady and Dean Carlyle of the university of Idaho, the department of agriculture is sending Marion F. Donk to Idaho to co-operate with the state university in seeking to devise methods of obtaining the by-products of burned stumps.

Practically all legal obstacles to the completion of the Big Lost river irrigation project were removed when word was received that the United States court of appeals at San Francisco had handed down a decision in the litigation which has involved the project since 1910.

The Boise county commissioners by refusing to grant licenses for saloons at Van Wyck made that city dry.

That the Hagerman Valley & Twin Butte irrigation project has been financed and that work will be begun on the road as soon as possible is the news that reaches Boise.

It is probable the acreage of fall grain in the central Idaho country will be larger next season than ever before, but there is evidence that the farmers are preparing for a material change in their plans, and that diversified farming will be taken up extensively as soon as the necessary change can be made.

E. Grandjean, supervisor of the Boise forest, is mounting 100 more specimens of wild flowers for the government collection. He will forward a number of specimens for identification. This present lot, when mounted, will make 300 different specimens of Idaho wild flowers which Mr. Grandjean has found in the Boise forest.

Comparisons of the Boise forest products with that of other great mining districts and states is interesting. For instance, over 12 years' production, $156,000,000, almost exactly equals that of the entire production of the Black Hills district since its discovery in 1876. The same figures almost equal the total mineral production of the territory of Alaska.

The entrance of Idaho potatoes into the San Francisco market this season has been a real hard blow to Willamette valley stock. The Idaho growers are going real hard after the California trade and they are putting up a very fancy potato to capture the business. The stock is being graded according to the wants of the southern trade.

It is the claim of those in charge of the state land department that the department is now doing a large financial business that may have in Idaho. The total is now adding to aggregate $10,000,000. Upward of 1500 collections are made each year, and upward of $2,000,000 belonging to the state is now outstanding in the form of farm loans.

The constitutionality of the corporation license law of this state is upheld by the supreme court of Idaho in an opinion handed down in the case of the Northern Pacific railroad company against W. L. Gifford, secretary of state. The railroad paid its 1912 license to the state under protest and then brought action to recover it, attacking the constitutionality of the license act.

"These conventions had a total representation of 229 schools at the roll call," said Mr. Knapp "and the 881 delegates present traveled a total of 15,687 miles. They represented a total average attendance in their schools of 16,816. In 25 of the 27 counties which have held conventions during the present year, 418 schools have been represented at the time of the roll call and the delegations represented a combined average attendance of 28,542. Since the last year book reports an average attendance of 53,000, in Inland Empire Sunday schools more than 50 per cent of the schools were represented at the time of the roll call which was at the day sessions while many more schools were represented at the night sessions. The business committee is now conducting a campaign to obtain personal gifts for the work."

Mr. Knapp has sent letters to the county presidents and treasurers of the association, showing them their standing and the amount of unpaid pledges. Announcement is made that the future progress of the work depends much on the receipts for November.

More basketball material will be on hand this year than has been at the disposal of Coach Griffin for a number of years and the university should turn out a winning team. Some of the old players who were not in college last year have returned while the present freshmen class has brought more promising candidates for the university team than have been seen here for several years.

Sanatorial Candidates

The Idaho Post last week presented the names and pictures of four Idaho Republicans who would like to be United States Senator, and will make a strenuous effort to land the job. However it is very evident that about three of the four will have to seek some other occupation. The aspirants are Hon. Burton L. French, Hon. James H. Brady, Hon. Frank R. Gooding and Hon. James P. Alishire. All these have been in the public eye more or less for a number of years and of course all have their political friends and enemies, but their past records as public officials will be well looked into and aired, be they good or bad.

Heavy Snowfall

The first snowfall of the season occurred in this section on last Thursday night and Friday when about three inches of snow covered the ground. Pullman had about six inches, while Moscow reports a total fall of about eleven inches. The storm was general throughout the Palouse and Prairie sections.

A long, hard winter has been predicted by all prognosticators and if we get all that has been promised by these weather prophets, we will have plenty and to spare.

Boarding house keepers in the neighborhood of Elberton, Wash., are wearing a smile that won't come off. It is announced from the town that the evaporator in that city has completed the season's run and has turned out 1,500,000 pounds of dried prunes. It is very evident that some one will be "full of prunes."

NO DUTY ON "SPUDS" UNDER NEW TARIFF

The new tariff law grants free potatoes. Don't get the idea, however, that this will mean lower tuber prices for tubers all over the country. It won't. Except in a few sections of the country and except when the housewife buys by the barrel, removal of the former duty of 25 cents a bushel will not cut the retail price at the family grocery store. Democrats figure that Americans residing along the Canadian border may save the full 25 cents. And they may feel the reduction this winter. So may residents along the Atlantic seaboard.

But folks in interior cities will pay the same old retail prices—50 cents to $1 a bushel—depending almost entirely on the home crop.

Imports from Canada, Scotland and the Bermudas duty free may cut retail prices in New York, Boston, Baltimore, Detroit, Duluth, Chicago and Portland, Maine. But the imported tubers probably can't meet in successful competition with the home grown products elsewhere. Freight rates will limit shipment from the immediate district of importation.

The habit of American housewives in buying potatoes in small quantities is another factor in making the 25 cent tariff reduction of little value in reducing the cost of mashed, baked and other potatoes on the family table.

Inter-Class Basketball

Arrangements are being made by the various classes at the university to enter teams in the annual inter-class basketball series which will open at the close of the football season. There is always keen competition for the class championship.

More basketball material will be on hand this year than has been at the disposal of Coach Griffin for a number of years and the university should turn out a winning team. Some of the old players who were not in college last year have returned while the present freshmen class has brought more promising candidates for the university team than have been seen here for several years.

News Snapshots Of the Week

The engagement of Vincent Astor, the richest youngest man in America, to Miss Helen Dismore Huntington, a New York society girl, was announced. A terrific storm caused the lives of over 200 in ship disasters on the great lakes. A blizzard hit Cleveland surrounding country with great fury. Jesse Wilson, daughter of the president, who will marry Francis B. Sayre at the White House on Nov. 25, put the finishing touches to her trousseau. Two of the big football games of the season were scheduled for Nov. 15—namely, Yale-Princeton at New Haven, Conn., and Dartmouth-Carlisle at the Polo grounds, New York city. Commodore Al Brown, champion long distance swimmer of the country, left for Colon, at the Atlantic entrance of the Panama canal, to try to swim through the canal.

BUY YOUR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS AT HOME

Genesee Merchants Have Large Lines of Christmas Goods at Low Prices

An argument in favor of patronizing home industry is to be found in one of the farm journals—an advertisement of one of the largest mail order houses in Chicago. The advertisement is embellished with a picture of the plant of the big mail-order concern, and the caption is "The House That You Built." Here, in five words, is the best possible demonstration of the evil of buying from mail-order houses, from the standpoint of the farmer or anyone else who is interested in building up his own community.

The home merchant can back up his own arguments on this score by pointing out that the resident of his town or county who sends money away from home is consciously enabling big buildings and expensive plants to be maintained hundreds of miles away. There is no getting away from it; the mail-order house says so itself.

This step by this mail order house seems to be far in advance of anything ever done in an advertising way by such concerns. The advertisement is well equipped with "backfire." It goes to farmers and as they gaze upon it and realize that the "dollars earned by the sweat of their brows" have gone to help build up what they will not be directly influenced to send a great many more dollars to the Chicago mail-order house.

We ask that all citizens of this part of the country patronize home merchants. The merchants of Genesee are just as ready to make good any and all articles of merchandise sold by them as are the mail-order houses. When you trade at home you know just what you are getting and it is of mutual benefit to yourself and the merchant who has made it possible for you to have a place near home where you can purchase the necessities of life when you need them.

Watch next week's News for Christmas bargains. The merchants of Genesee have laid in a large supply of Christmas goods of all kinds and will have them on display within a few days. Buy where you can see what you are getting. Read all the advertisements, make up a list of what you want and then come to the merchants in Genesee and get it as good as can be procured for the money in any town or county.

May Ballast Genesee Branch

Wm. P. Clough, chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific railway, passed through Pullman on Friday morning last on a tour of inspection to ascertain the needs of the road preparatory to making up the budget for 1914. He went up the Genesee line to inspect that part of the system, as an urgent appeal has been made by the western officials to have that line ballasted and placed in good condition. It is believed that 1914 budget contains provisions for the construction of a new depot for Pullman.—Pullman Tribune. Comment unnecessary.

POSTOFFICE OFFICIAL STAMP LICKER PLAN

Postmaster General Burleson has decreed that during the coming Christmas season the offices in the big cities will have an official "stamp licker" to take one less worry off the minds of the busy patrons of the government at that time.

This dignitary, who at other times is known only as a stamp clerk, will do nothing but "lick" stamps. All you have to do if you can find the right window, beginning about the first of December, will be to find out what it costs to send the package, pay the stamp clerk the amount and go away.

Orders have been issued to postmasters to affix pre-cancelled postage when required on mail of the second, third and fourth class, the latter being parcel post matter.

This order is designed to prevent waste of time experienced by postoffice patrons while waiting in line to buy postage and mail their packages.

"Under such authorization," declared the postmaster general in his order, "when a package is presented for mailing, the clerk receiving it, after collecting the required postage, may indorse on the package the amount of the postage, which later will be affixed by an employe of the postoffice." (This is the official "licker.")

Postmaster Burr has not as yet made an official appointment and it might be well for some one who is always hunting trouble and wanting to work off their surplus energy to apply for a job of "licking" stamps. The assistant at the postoffice claims to be entirely too peaceable for the position.

A Record Yield

With a corn crop of 2,463,000,000 bushels, or 200,000,000 bushels larger than the earlier predictions, and a yield of winter and spring wheat of 763,000,000 bushels, touching a new record mark, the indications of a heavy falling off in grain output for this country during the season has not materialized.

The aggregate yield of six leading cereals this year was 4,560,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 17.9 per cent from 1912, a record year in most crops, but a gain of 6.4 per cent over 1911. Wheat, alone of the leading crops, has this year scored a record yield, surpassing that of 1901—a dozen years ago—by a few million bushels. Yields of corn, oats, barley and potatoes are each about one-fifth less than a year ago.

A special train will be run from Pullman on December 3 to the Northwest Stock show at Lewiston, leaving Pullman in time to reach Lewiston not later than 10 o'clock. While there are a great many people on the Genesee branch who would like to attend the show on that day—parade day—no provision has been made for their accommodation.

Mrs. B. H. Jutte, who has been quite ill, is convalescing.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Important Occurrences Of The Past Week From Cities In Our State

Fair Officials Meet.
Boise.—The Idaho Inter-mountain Fair association will sell 35 acres of the 83 acres in the plot of ground and attempt to finance the fair for another year until the legislature meets in 1914 and secure the aid of the state in making a state fair was part of the business that came before the stockholders at their meeting here. Although no definite action was reached on the matter it was given a thorough discussion and will probably be acted upon later.

Pea Culture Is Explained.
St. Maries.—The farmers' movable school from the university of Idaho listened to instructions from Professor Kammard and Professor Olin here. The principal topics were the raising of peas and strawberries and a chemical analysis and preparation of soil for diversified farming. Professor Kammard said that this consumed can be made into a great pea and hog producing country.

Protection Asked For Breeders.
Caldwell.—Declaring that under existing state laws but little assistance can be given swine breeders in their effort to suppress hog diseases now prevalent in the state, the Boise Valley Swine Breeders' association in meeting here passed resolutions urging Governor Haines to call a special session of the legislature for the enactment of laws necessary for the eradication of hog cholera.

Great Crop of Wheat.
American Falls.—The production of wheat in this section will exceed 2,000,000 bushels this year. Of this 1,000,000 bushels will be shipped east. The balance will be consumed at home and used for seed. Last month 126 carloads were shipped. Thus far this month 1109 carloads have been shipped while fully 250 carloads are stacked up on the ground in American Falls awaiting cars.

APPROVE SPECIAL TRAIN
Committee Will Work With South Idaho Clubs.
Lewiston.—The executive railroad committee of the Lewiston live stock show met and officially approved the tentative schedule for the special train to be operated over the Northern Pacific from Lewiston to Portland via Spokane, Seattle and Tacoma, returning over the S. P. & S.

The committee will, in conjunction with the south Idaho commercial clubs and the O. W. R. & N., the latter noting a large excursion from south Idaho points via the O. W. R. & N. to Lewiston for stock show week.

Governor Haines of Idaho will be present, and as Thursday is Spokane day a large attendance is expected. President E. A. Bryan of Washington state college will be toastmaster.

Mothers Visit Kellogg Gym.
Kellogg.—Students designated as mothers' day at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, at which time the mothers of the boys in the junior gymnasium class were invited to be present and inspect the progress made. The purpose is to interest the mothers in the work being done and show the progress made by the youngsters.

Idaho Chickens the Best.
Salmon.—Mrs. Haynes of Shoup has a pen of White Wyandotte hens at the international egg laying contest at Storrs, Conn., which is leading the field. Her five hens have averaged more than 200 eggs apiece. The hens have been sold for $75 to an eastern buyer.

Lewis County Bond Election Set.
Nep Perce.—At a special meeting of the county commissioners of Lewis county they decided to call a special election on February 23, 1914, to vote $40,000 bonds to build a courthouse and jail. About 50 representative citizens from different sections of the county were present and all were in favor of calling the election.

First Snow Falls at Wallace.
Wallace.—For the first time this winter snow has appeared in the streets. While less than an inch fell in the city it is reported that several inches fell on the higher points. The lateness of the first fall is almost a record in this district.

Test Case of Liquor Law.
Caldwell.—That Jacob Forch, a Nampa druggist, violated the law in filling prescriptions for intoxicating liquors, and that his $500 bond should be forfeited to the state, is the basis of an action filed in district court in this county.

TWISTING THE LANGUAGE.

English Has Received Some Severe Joins In The Philippines.
Baby talk is a highly developed language compared to the jargon American housewives talk to their Filipino house boys. But it usually conveys the meaning when accompanied by expressive gestures. At best, however, the performance of the command speaks well for native instruction.

Spanish construction of English words is another twist that our poor language gets in the Philippines. "No got" in the islands is the most common used expression for "I haven't any." Similarly "no can do" means "I can't," and "no want" means "I don't want it."

Not only between American and Filipino, but among Americans themselves, this twisted construction has largely supplanted the legitimate one. With the soldier anything that belonged peculiarly to the Philippines was described as "bamboo." Now all colonials use the term. The "bamboo diet" is the one assigned to Philippine waters, and the "bamboo government" is the Philippine civil government in distinction from the United States military.

Among other "soldierisms" (if I may be permitted this contribution to the new language) were certain pure Malay words. The list of these words is growing and now there are dozens of Tagalog and Moro expressions in constant use among the Americans. For example, there are the Tagalog words "baguig" meaning "storm," "carabao," meaning an animal; "palay," meaning "rice," and "tuo," meaning "man." Moro terms in common use are "amok," meaning "wild," "dato," meaning "chief," "kris," meaning a way edged knife, and "sarong," meaning a garment.—Review of Reviews.

BOATS GROW ON TREES.

West Indian Boys Can Get All of Them They Want.
When a West Indian boy wants a toy boat all he has to do is visit a coconut tree. These trees bear great bunches of nuts among their drooping green leaves, and when the bunch of nuts sprouts out in the form of a big bud it is inclosed within a hard, tough, woody case or spathe two or three feet long. The nuts are in inches in diameter and tapering to a point at one end and to a slender stem at the other. In fact, it looks very much like a large wooden club.

As the buds and flowers develop the spathe splits open, and the flower bud continues to grow out beyond it until the nuts begin to ripen. By this time the spathe has become dry and hard and break off and drop to the ground of their own accord.

It is the spathe and coverings that the West Indian boys use for toy boats, and, while the dry and fallen ones will answer, but better boats are made from the more flexible and partly green spathe still clinging to the flower stem.

The spathe as gathered from the tree is almost in the shape of a boat and all that is necessary to transform it to a very seaworthy and fast sailing toy canoe is to sew the open end together and fit rudder, sail and seats or thwart.

When this is done the boat is almost an exact model of the boats that are used by the boys' fathers in fishing. In fact, these dugouts were in being copied from one of the tree grown boats.—From Harper's Book For Young Naturalists.

A Perpetual Error.
A printer's error in perpetuity! How many know that when joining in the "Te Deum" they are carrying on. In one phrase of that song of praise, an ancient blunderer "blended" the "Te Deum" with the salutes. So it runs. And so when manuscript copies are typed into printed books it is rendered in the medieval Latin then in use, "nummerari"—"to be numbered," as we say in English. Transpose the first and third letters and you get "numnerari," "to be rewarded," which is what all prayer books would be printing today and congregations singing were it not for that fifteenth century printer's error.—London Tattler.

Wrong Hunch, No Lunch.
"Here, my boy," said his new employer, "take this quarter and go out and get three bananas sandwiches."
"The boy vanished and did not return for half an hour," said the employer.

"See here. Where have you been loitering," demanded the boss, "and where are my sandwiches?"
"See-saw!" gulped the boy. "I thought they were for me!"—New York World.

Uprising.
"Aren't you having your daughter taught to play or sing?"
"No," replied Mrs. Plimthigh. "I have decided that she shall have no accomplishments whatever. Instead of striving for approval I want her to have the superior pose that enables her to observe the efforts of others with tolerant interest."—Washington Star.

WILSON-SAYRE WEDDING SOCIAL EVENT

Marriage Ceremony Performed in Historic East Room of White House.

Washington.—Occupying first place in the important events of the week at the nation's capital was the wedding Tuesday afternoon of Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter of President and Mrs. Wilson. The ceremony was performed in the historic East room of the white house, on the very spot where Miss Nellie Grant married Algernon C. F. Sartorius on May 31, 1873, and where later Miss Alice Roosevelt was joined in wedlock to Nicholas Longworth.

An altar had been erected before the broad window at the east side of the room, as was done for the Roosevelt wedding. Before the altar was a broad table, on which the bridal party stood.

Miss Wilson, attended by her maids, entered the East room through the main doorway, from the inner apartment, leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Sayre, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, of the Labrador mission, the best man, and the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, awaited her at the altar. To one side were the diplomatic corps. Opposite them were the guests of the senate and the house and in another group the personal friends of the Wilson family and the representatives of Washington residential society.

OPPOSE INSURANCE CURB

Fraternities Congress Disturbed by Policy of Wisconsin.
Chicago.—Condemnation of activities of state insurance commissioners in the internal affairs of fraternal insurance orders was expressed in resolutions adopted here by the executive board of the National Fraternal Congress.

The resolution resulted from reports of officials of the Independent Order of Foresters of Toronto that the insurance commissioner of Wisconsin had demanded changes in plans for a special assessment of 80,000 members which the order's constitution does not call for. The resolution asserts that such a policy "finds no warrant in the laws of any state and if successfully pursued will be destructive to the fraternal insurance system."

Washington University Regent Names.
Olympia, Wash.—Eldridge Wheeler for many years head of the schools of Montezano and now mayor of that city, a prominent democrat, was appointed a regent of the university at Washington and chairman of the board of regents of the late Governor Cogrove, son of the late governor who resigned recently.

HUERTA WILL NOT RELINQUISH OFFICE

Mexico City.—Resigned, apparently to those conditions which make it necessary to carry on a dictatorial campaign against his enemies, President Huerta and his official dependents appear serene.

It has been rumored that congress would not continue to meet; that it would be automatically dissolved and that General Huerta was about to quit office. All these reports have been disproved. Congress has launched into a new campaign to be a prolonged session.

According to his intimates, no one realizes more fully than he the desperate straits of his government, but he has reiterated his intention of pounding away at his enemies until he or they have won.

The army levy has caused some thing like a panic among men and women of the lower classes, since even women are being forced into military service as "soldaderas." The streets of the city at night are practically deserted. Workmen resort to innumerable subterfuges to escape the clutches of the drafting agents.

Race for Senate Intent of Alliance.
Boise, Idaho.—Chief Justice James F. Allshie intends to become a candidate for United States senator, subject to the will of the republican primaries. This is settled with the friends of the chief justice, who have been circulating the information in the state.

4 Cavalry Troops Go After Navajos.
Albuquerque, N. M.—In two special trains four troops of the Twelfth United States cavalry, passed through here on the way to Gallup, where they will detain and march 100 miles overland to Shiprock agency, on the Navajo reservation to quell an incipient uprising among the Indians there.

UNCLE SAM READY TO AID

Communities or Individuals in the Work of Building Good Roads

So far has the Government advanced in the problems connected with road construction that efforts are now being made to teach the country that the expenditure of large sums of money on certain types of roads may result almost in a total waste. A road built of materials which would be ideal in one locality may not serve the purpose at all elsewhere and the money expended may bring scarcely any result in reducing the cost of hauling or making it easier for the farmer to get to the shipping point with his crops.

In order to aid farmers who want to build their own roads and to assist various communities that desire to improve the roads nearby, the Office of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture has employed experts to test all materials and study their usefulness on roads subjected to certain traffic conditions. The Office of Public Roads is now acting in an advisory capacity to many States and counties, giving a most practical form of national aid.

On roads where there is a very heavy traffic, it has been found that certain kind of materials are better than others, and that while one kind of binder may not serve the purpose at all another kind is ideal and preserves the road indefinitely. Millions of dollars doubtless have been wasted in the past because of the absence of the scientific knowledge which is now being obtained.

There is no longer any excuse for any community building the wrong kind of road, as the Office of Public Roads stands ready to furnish any information that may be desired, and to the course that should be pursued.

In discussing the new scientific movement in road improvement, Director Page, of the Office of Public Roads, says:

"There are two ways in which the engineer may avail himself of the information necessary to a proper selection of road material. The first and only certain one is to make an actual service test on the material under observation, and under the same conditions of traffic and climate to which the proposed road will be subjected. This method, however, is impractical except in certain rare instances, due to the lapse of time which must elapse before definite results can be obtained.

The second method, by means of short-time laboratory tests, to approximate as nearly as possible the destructive agencies to which the material will be subjected on the road, supplementing the knowledge thus gained by a study of the results already obtained in practice on material of a similar nature."

The Office of Public Roads constantly uses both methods. At Chevy Chase, near Washington, D. C., a model road has been built in sections made of different materials, and the effect of the traffic of the office tests are constantly being made with scientific accuracy to determine the exact value of certain materials under certain traffic conditions.—R. F. D. News.

Dr. C. F. Tuomy has discovered that it isn't half as easy to wash a mule as it is in an automobile and that the shearing process is a slow and laborious one. However, the Doctor said he would share that mule or -well, doc and the mule are both in reasonably good repair so it is presumed the task was accomplished.

Ten high school boys were suspended from the Moscow High school last week for joining a "frat." Some of the boys have agreed to withdraw from the organization and return to school. The superintendent has made it plain that they must either withdraw from the "frat" or remain away from school.

Fred Dicus (alias Marcus Bogardus, the man with a gas-pipe gun), Rev. A. P. Orth, W. H. Cook and Leon Eollett were out in the canyon Tuesday after game of any and all kinds. They report very good success, bagging about a dozen quail, a snipe and two or three pheasants.

A Chicago beggar pawned his wooden leg for $5 in order to buy whiskey. He probably figured that a man with $5 worth of whiskey in him couldn't walk anyhow.

Cause of Insomnia.
The most common cause of insomnia is disorders of the stomach and constipation. Chamberlain's Tablets correct these disorders and enable you to sleep for sale by all dealers.

School Entertainment

Literary programs, suitable to the Thanksgiving season, were rendered in the various grades Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Doty's room, having the fourth and sixth grades, gave their program first. Most of the boys wore Indian costumes and had their faces painted in true Indian fashion.

The visitors were next entertained in room two, where the first, second and third grades gave their program. The little folks showed careful training by their teachers, Miss Wells and Miss Costello.

The fifth grade, of which Miss Baxter has charge, also had a nice program. Here, too, "Indians" were much in evidence.

The teachers are to be congratulated on the way in which the children handled the various parts. Each room had its full quota of visitors, who were well entertained.

The program given by the High school Wednesday night proved a great success. All members on the program were encored, which showed the appreciation of the audience. The Indian war dance and courtship pantomime were well received and thoroughly enjoyed.

The candy booth was the busiest place about the building, the candy melting away like magic.

The high school students feel very grateful to the grade pupils for assistance rendered.

Last week a small lot of 12 years, called at Larrabee's Store and wanted a made-to-measure Suit.
The clerk took the required measurements and then asked, "Son, do you want the shoulders padded?"
The lad looked up quizzically and replied, "Naw! pad the pants."

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

Supt. Hoy gave an interesting talk on "Home Industry" in the seventh and eighth grade rooms. All the pupils are very enthusiastic over this new feature.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades gave a very interesting program Wednesday p. m. as follows:

Song by School.
Recitation by Rosa Jacobs.
Vocal Duet by Ida Scholer and Lola Bumpass.

Recitation by Beryl Nave.
Recitation by Frank Lawen.
Song by School.

Reading by Amel Jain.
Coronet Solo by William Carrick.
Dialogue, "Castles in the Air."
Recitation by Alta McCracken.
And a number of other selections.

There were 18 cases of tardiness in the primary room last month. Miss Wells begs the parents to send their children on time.

Last month in the fourth grade there were four pupils tardy twelve times: Cecil Gray four, Alfred Cann two, Robert Poplin three, Paul Poplin three.

The fifth grade reports an attendance of 98 3/4 per cent.

A little grade girl, one of the industrious busy-bodies of the sewing classes, "Sat so long over her work that she got a cricket in her neck."

The High School boys practiced basket ball last week and we are very enthusiastic over the promising Champion team. The schedule is being filled for this winter and a game is planned for next Friday night with an outside team.

Adding Value to Christmas Gifts.
The joy of receiving Christmas gifts is intensified a hundredfold when they are attractively wrapped and decorated. Stickers, cards, seals, tags, etc., while small matters in themselves, certainly enhance the value of the Christmas gift. They breathe sentiment. We are this year offering to our subscribers a limited number of Christmas packages containing all these essentials to the proper dressing of packages. This package we present them with a year's subscription to this paper, The Chicago Weekly Inter Ocean and the Farmer and Farm and Home. See our announcement on page six.

Smolt and Son on Wednesday morning received some fine new show cases, which will add very materially to their already attractive place of business. The new cases have marble bases and are glass from the floor up, the only wood being the doors at the rear. These cases will be installed as soon as room can be made for them, after which the whole interior will be rearranged. They expect to have their new candy kitchen in working order within a few days.

J. S. Larrabee, in company with Geo. and Ben Mochel, has again "taken to the woods." This time the hunters have gone to the Salmon river country, where they expect to get the limit of black-tail deer, which are said to be numerous in that part of the country. They left overland last Saturday and will be absent two or three weeks.

The Elite Candy Kitchen has moved into their new quarters, where they will have more room for their business. They are prepared to do a general short order business, as well as serve hot and cold soft drinks. While the interior of their new place is not yet completed they expect to have everything in shape within a few days.

Moscow citizens have gotten busy and repaired some bad places between that city and Uniontown "in order that the people of Uniontown" may have a better road from that little city to Moscow. A good road is also sometimes necessary in traveling from Uniontown "home" to other towns.

If you have anything for sale or rent, try a "Want Ad." They bring results, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Chase of Spokane arrived in the city Sunday afternoon to spend Thanksgiving at the home of their daughter, Mrs. F. S. Casebolt, and family.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

Plans have been made for taking over the Lewiston-Clarkston interstate toll bridge December 4, to be operated free in the future. Asotin county will, it is proposed, be reimbursed for the $40,000 spent on the bridge.

Nez Perce county, Idaho, will hold an election February 23 in the matter of a bond issue of $40,000 for the purpose of building a new court house. Nez Perce was recently made the county seat.

Mrs. Louisa Charlton, wife of the manager of the Melba-Kubelik concert tour, who lives in New York, where she is known in social and musical circles, is taking a course in poultry raising at the University of Idaho.

Word comes from Goodrich, ten miles southwest of Council, that gold in paying quantities has been discovered near there. It is said that assays of some of the rock show values in gold and silver as high as $400 per ton.

The Oregon Agricultural college won a close game at Corvallis, Oregon Thanksgiving day from the University of Idaho eleven by a score of 2 to 0. The winning score was made after a few minutes of play in the first period by Blackwell, who kicked a field goal.

The big 40-acre raspberry "patch" near Twin Falls is now being harvested. The berries are allowed to dry on the vines, and then are taken off, cleaned and packed. The crop this season is yielding about 1000 pounds per acre. The dried berries sell for 25c a pound, or $250 per acre, making the crop worth about $10,000 a year.

Petitions for the pardon of B. F. O'Neill, former Wallace banker, which are being circulated throughout Idaho, were also circulated among the county officials in Spokane. George H. Crandell, prosecuting attorney, signed the petition and also secured the signatures of many other officials in the county building.

Idaho was distinctively honored at the conference held at Washington, D. C., between the federal and state and drug officials, by the unanimous choice of Commissioner James H. Wallis of Idaho to preside over its important deliberations. This conference was the most valuable in the interests of pure food products than all the rest put together.

The construction of the Northern Pacific bridge across the Clearwater river at Spalding is being carried forward by a large crew, the installation of the concrete piers receiving the attention of the contractors at the present time. The abutments and three piers on the south bank of the river are completed and the work is well advanced on the north bank.

S. H. Forve of Nampa, who has been a member of the order of Elks for 39 years, has probably the finest elk tooth charm in Idaho. While handling cattle in the upper Weiser country a few years ago, a man named Welsh found an Indian grave. He dug it open expecting to find some trinkets, but found a string of elk teeth 31 in number that the brave had worn about his neck. They had probably been buried a century, as the teeth were a seal brown in color, and the skeleton was badly decomposed.

It is not a matter of general information that Idaho has the most remote smelter in America. It is the plant at the Lost Packer mine in Custer county, located 135 miles from the railroad at Mackay. The Lost Packer has produced over $1,000,000 in five years of active operations. In September the output was $201,000. The smelter division, coming as a sort of a Thanksgiving offering, was 25 cents a share. The mine is worked continuously, but the climatic conditions make it impossible to run the smelter more than three or four months a year.

Cottonwood Gets New Lodge Hall
Cottonwood—Expectation for the new Knights of Columbus hall has been commenced. The building will be two stories, with concrete foundations and frame superstructure. The upper floor will be for lodge purposes, while the lower floor will be used as a public hall. The estimated cost of the entire building will be $6000.

The News wishes each of its readers a very happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Sixty-third Congress Convenes in Regular Session Monday Day Noon

Washington.—The first regular session of the Sixty-third congress convened in Washington at noon Monday, at which time the life of the special session, the longest continuous extraordinary session in the history of congress, expired by constitutional limitation. As the two houses already were organized and the legislative machinery in running order, the regular session will lose little time in getting down to business.

Two great projects have held the attention of congress and the country throughout the work of the year. One of these, tariff revision, crystallized into law in September.

Throughout the contests on tariff and currency the session has been marked by solidification of the democratic ranks. Demands of the democratic leaders that the currency bill be passed at once, during the extra session to a stirring close, day and night sessions of the democratic currency conference having marked the last week, and day and night sessions of the senate are general in importance were considered. One important legislative act was the so-called Newlands law for mediation and conciliation in labor disputes.

Commerce Court Abolished.
Although President Wilson urged congress to hold itself to the two chief projects, tariff and currency, several matters of general importance were considered. One important legislative act was the so-called Newlands law for mediation and conciliation in labor disputes.

The abolition of the United States commerce court also was accomplished, through an amendment to the deficiency appropriation bill. Another appropriation bill "rider" took out of the classified civil service most of the deputy United States marshals and deputy collectors of internal revenue. Exemption of labor unions from prosecution under the anti-trust laws so far as certain funds were concerned also was accomplished.

Trusts Next Big Question.
Naturally the trust question looms up as the thing in the program to enlist special attention following the tariff and currency. The administration trust program in its entirety, however, is not likely to be presented to congress at the beginning of the regular session. One reason is that President Wilson seems to believe that the way to make progress is to do one big thing at a time. Another is that the president himself has not fully worked out his trust legislation policy.

At the outset he will ask for an appropriation to enable the bureau of corporations to make the exhaustive investigation of facts bearing on economy of production and with respect to the question of competition versus monopoly, which has been outlined heretofore. The ultimate program with respect to trusts cannot be presented until the investigation is completed. In the meantime, however, the house will give attention to some phases of the problem on which investigations already held have thrown sufficient light.

Storage To Be Regulated.
An elaborate anti-high cost of living bill, not only to resist cold storage of food, but to penalize agreements for storage, pooling, division of territory, interference with competition or other restraint of trade in foodstuffs, was introduced by Representative McKellar, of Tennessee.

The new bill, which will be urged immediately before the house committee on commerce, would make the maximum period of storage on beef or its products seven months, veal two months, pork four months, sheep or goats four months, lamb or kids three months.

Free Bullets Provided.
War department officials who have been preparing, with Representative Kahn, a bill to distribute 800,000 Krag-Jorgenson rifles now stored in government arsenals to civilian rifle clubs in order to promote citizenship throughout the country, have decided to include free ammunition with the rifles. It has been decided that school cadet organizations also will be supplied with free rifles and ammunition.

NEWS NOTES OF IDAHO

Doctor K. A. MacLean, formerly head of the university of Idaho, was inaugurated as president of the Manitoba university.

By a new rule of the general land-office all settlers under the reclamation act will be required to grow a satisfactory crop upon their entry for two successive years.

Canyon county has on her pay rolls 238 teachers, and is divided into 66 districts, of which nine are independent; six concrete and 56 frame school buildings.

Six tons of potatoes from one acre of ground is the record reported by George Stephens, who is harvesting that yield on an acre patch on his Grangeville farm.

Abolition of political bosses and the general condition of the democratic party were among the subjects discussed at a conference between President Wilson and William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Portland Markets

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle 1190, calves 65, hogs 4328, sheep 6862.

A large proportion of the week's cattle business has been on a lower basis, due to the general inferiority of the stuff marketed. When an occasional prime load of steers or cows appeared in the yards, order buyers snapped them up quickly at top prices. A steer sale Monday at $7.75 and a load or two at $7.40 and $7.50 is an example, but the bulk of sales were at $7 and $7.25. The poorest lot of cows and heifers seen here for weeks caused the session to drag. Killers are simply oversupplied on poor beef quality. Other butcher lines were steady.

The hog market faltered on Tuesday when the trade weakened about ten cents, but during the remainder of the period $8 proved to be a substantial price basis for choice lightweight swine. A big volume of business was transacted Monday and Wednesday. Monday had the second largest single day's run of the year, but live pork outlet seems to be broad enough to absorb liquidation to date.

Home From College

Chas. Gray, Robert Montague, Anthony Kambridge, Jno. and Andrew Wandrobe, Herbert Martinson and Miss Ruth Martinson arrived in the city Wednesday afternoon to spend Thanksgiving at their various homes.

DISTRICT COURT

Judge Steele Began The Fall Term In Latah County Monday Morning

Monday morning at 10 o'clock Judge E. C. Steele opened the fall term of the district court and immediately set to business announcing that he expected to dispose of all matter of issue during the present term with the least expense to the county. He asked the cooperation of attorneys in the dispatch of court business, declaring that the handling of misdemeanor cases should not require extended time and urged attorneys to help the court in dispatching such cases to the number of at least three each day. The court stated that the cost of holding the session approximated $200 per day during the jury term and for this reason he desired to cut the jury term as short as would be consistent in handling the business.

The court announced that he would issue an order for the calling of the trial jury for next Monday. According to the cases on the calendar there appears to be at least two weeks of jury cases. Monday morning the time of the court was devoted to the reading of the calendar, the arraignment of prisoners on the criminal docket and the disposition of demurrers. County Attorney Nesbit filed information in nine criminal cases and stated several more would be filed. But three of the defendants were in court when called for arraignment.

Several other arraignments were perfected among some of which Ed Montag, charged with forgery, and E. Smith, charged with burglary, were called. Sam Puckett, charged with burglary, did not respond to the call of his name, and is alleged to have fled the country. He was out of bonds.

An appeal of the lower court was recorded in the case of the state versus Stafford, the porter on the dining car of the Northern Pacific, convicted of violating the local option law. The appeal is for the purpose of having the case tried on the old liquor law violation of the county.

The Country Town Weekly

Concerning the small town weekly newspaper, a well-known metropolitan publication recently said:

No daily newspaper, however well edited can take the place of a small town weekly, if the publisher knows his business. The latter has a hold on the hearts and lives of the people that cannot be loosened by any outside newspaper, daily or otherwise. It's the personal friend of every man, woman and child in the community. It furnishes the first reading lesson for the toddler who has just learned the alphabet. In its columns are recorded the child's progress through school, his departure for college and the record he made while there, his marriage and his business career in the distant city. It tells the tragedies and comedies in the lives of those who are neighbors and acquaintances. It gives the gossip of the hour and the news of the day, and discusses subjects that are of interest to all who scan its pages. Its editor is a sort of father confessor to everybody!

The home town newspaper is as essential to a town as the retail merchant. The extent of the prosperity of the town depends upon how well the merchant and editor pull together. Once in a while the remark is heard that the life of the small town weekly or the life of the small town merchant is threatened by interests now centralizing in the large cities, but this is not true. The community is safe, the local merchant is safe and the editor is safe as long as we are alert and alive to our neighborhood interests and do the things that should be done to promote community welfare.—Ex.

Diversified Farming

Diversified farming provides: A more economic and profitable division of labor throughout the year. A rotation of crops. A more certain and continuous income.

More Livestock.
Smaller Farms.
More people on the land.
Better roads, better schools and better social conditions.
More intensive and profitable cultivation of the soil.
Increasing productive capacity of the land.
More and better farm homes.

The Farmers' union of Whitman county, Wash., held a two-day session at Palouse on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The Tuesday session was held as a secret meeting, but on Wednesday an open meeting was held which the general public was allowed to attend. State President L. C. Crow was one of the principal speakers.

AN OLD TIME CHRISTMAS.
The dame donned her kirtle sheen,
The hall was dressed with holly green,
Forth to the wood did merry men go
To gather in the mistletoe.
Then opened wide the baron's hall
To vassal, tenant, serf and all,
Power laid his rod of rule aside,
And ceremony doctored his pride.
The heir, with roses in his shoes,
That night might village porter choose;
The lord, under a mistletoe,
The vulgar game of post and pair,
All hallooed with uncontrolled delight
And general voice the happy night
That he had cost a year's salary
Brought tidings of salvation down.
The fire with well dried logs supplied
Went roaring up the chimney wide.
The huge hall table's oaken face,
Scratched till it shone, the day to grace,
Bore then upon its massive board
No mark to part the squire and lord.
Then was brought in the lusty dray
By old blue coated serving men;
Then the grim boar's head frowned on high.
Created with bay and rosemary.
Well can the green earbed ranger tell
How, when and where the monster fell;
What dogs before his death he tore,
And all the battling of the boar.
The waasal round in good brown bowls,
Garbed with ribbons, blithely trowls,
There the huge stolon reeked; hard by
Plum porridge steamed on Christmas pie.
Nor failed old Scotland to produce
At such night this her savory goose.
Then came the merry maskers in
And carols roared with blitheome din.
If unmelodious in the morning
Who lists may in the evening see
Traces of ancient mystery.
White shirts supplied the masquerade,
And snuffed cheeks the visors made.
But, oh, what maskers richly dight
Can boast of bosoms half so bright?
England was merry England when Old Christmas brought his sports again.
Twas Christmas brought the merriest tale,
A Christmas gambol old would cheer,
The poor man's heart through half the year.
—Sir Walter Scott.

AN UNORTHODOX CHRISTMAS.
I WENT to spend the day with Rose,
And then
A Christmas evening passed between us two,
But 'twas not "Peace on earth, good will to men."
We only said: "Good morning!" "How do you do?"
AND then to her I offered smilingly
The present she expected me to bring.
There were no hanging hoes, no Christmas tree,
The box was tied in paper with a string.
WE didn't sit beside the Yule log's blaze,
We just turned on the radiator's steam,
And dinner, unlike those of other days,
Gave no plum pudding, but some blisque ice cream.
WE didn't hear the church bells' solemn toll,
And when we had our Christmas evening luncheon,
We didn't have a steaming wassail bowl,
But just a jug of simple claret punch.
WE tramped on traditions, I suppose,
Yet one rite we observed with care—
but, no,
Although I will remember kissing Rose,
It wasn't under the mistletoe.
—Life.

A WONDERFUL TREE.
THERE'S a wonderful tree, a wonder,
Spreading its branches year by year,
It comes from the forest to flourish here,
Oh, this wonderful tree, with its branches wide,
Is always blooming at Christmas-tide!
But not for us children did this tree grow,
With its strange, sweet fruit on each laden bough.
For those we love we have made with Each pretty thing we see hanging there,
May this wonderful tree, with its branches wide,
Bring joy to our friends at Christmas-tide!
For a voice is telling its boughs among
Of the shepherds' watch and the angels' song,
Of a holy babe in the manger low—
The beautiful story of long ago,
When a radiant star threw its beams so wide
To herald the blessed first Christmas-tide.
Then spread its branches, wonderful tree,
And bring the pleasant thought to me
Of him who came from his home above,
The joy of his Father's love.
He came to show us how to spread far wide
The joys of the holy, sweet Christmas-tide.
—Songs and Games For Little Ones.

The Universality of Christmas.
Primarily, of course, Christmas is a religious festival. In the Christian, with a sincere belief in the Christ, who is the foundation rock of his religion, the words of priest and pastor, exhorting his flock to observe the day with ceremonial observances, find a fervent response. From every pulpit is told anew each year the story of him without whom Christmas had never been. But Christmas appeals also to the nonbeliever in Christ, to the man and woman who cannot subscribe conscientiously to the doctrine of his divinity. It is true, perhaps, to say that as Christmas approaches the Christmas spirit is "in the air," but it is true none the less, "Peace and good will" pervade the air that is breathed alike by churchgoer and nonchurchgoer.
In the big cities Christmas is celebrated by Christian and Jew and Mohammedan as well as by those with no religion. In the outmost corners of the earth, wherever men of Christian faith have borne the standard of civilization, the native heathen in intimate contact with them feel the coming of the spirit and rejoice.
It is well that this should be so, for the spirit of Christmas is the spirit of help that not only in Christ, but in one's fellow men. Every one may share in it if he will. Every one may find in the story of the life that was lived in Palestine nineteen centuries ago, and the death that was met on the cross and of the resurrection that followed, something of personal application, something of uplift.

She Learned to Keep a Bank Account

By OSCAR COX

"My dear," said Robert Read, "what is this nonsense about your joining the suffragists?"
"Why, it's no nonsense at all, Bob, I've joined."
"Will you kindly tell me your object?"
"Well, you see, there are lots of women who own property, and they are interested in making the laws that govern that property. They should have a voice in electing the right officials."
"But you have no property?"
"Haven't I a husband who has? And mayn't he die and leave it to me?"
Mr. Read found this argument too much for him. He thought awhile.
"What you have said," he remarked later, reminds me that I being liable to die before you do, you will need some knowledge of taking care of property. I think I had better give you a few instructions in that direction, else a vote will do you no good, for you won't know enough to use it."
"No fear of that. However, I am ready to be instructed in teaching you to keep a bank account. Ever since I went away and left orders with the bank to honor your checks and to deposit so that her balance would be always before her. He wrote "For deposit" on the check and told her to sign her name under it, explaining that the words were to indicate the purpose for which it was indorsed and that it was not to be paid to any one. Then he made out her deposit ticket for her, put it with the check in the pass book, and the lesson was ended.
A few days later he came home and found his wife in tears.
"What is it, sweetheart?" he asked anxiously.
"I dare not tell you!" she moaned.
"Anything happen to the children?"
"No."
"Don't keep me in suspense."
"I've lost the hundred dollars you gave me for the bank."
"Why, I didn't understand that you were going to draw it."
"I didn't put it in."
"Oh, well, if you've only lost the check it doesn't matter."
"I haven't lost it!" Fresh tears started.
"Well, what became of it?"
"I was cleaning out my desk and burning the old papers in it. I threw a lot of things into a wastebasket and dumped them into the kitchen range. The check and the little book it was in are all burned up."
She sobbed as though her heart would break.
Her husband looked at her pityingly in place of the one she had burned and gave her another lesson on the subject. She was sure she understood him perfectly. The lessons were continued for many months and Mr. Read became convinced that his wife had learned all about banking. At an ante, she made deposits and drew checks as well as any body.
Then one day when Mr. Read went into the bank he was called in to the office of the cashier, who gave an "them" and said:
"Your wife, who has an account with us, needs some explanation of banking methods."
"What's she been doing?"
"Nothing of any importance; nothing wrong. It is simply a matter of ignorance of banking. We notified her a few days ago that her account was overdrawn, and she sent us her check on our own bank to cover the delinquency."
"Humph!" grunted Mr. Read. "How much is it?"
"Two hundred and forty dollars."
Mr. Read drew a check for the amount and gave it to her in the evening, kissed his wife as usual and began reading the evening paper.
"Anything new in town today, dear?" asked Mrs. Read.
"Yes, it is reported that a new banking law has passed congress."
"Indeed? What are its main features?"
"It will make paying an overdraft with a check of the person overdrawing, drawn on the bank where the overdraft has occurred, illegal. You can't do that any more."
"Isn't it fortunate that I paid up before the law was passed?"
"Very. If you're tired of the trouble of keeping your account suppose you put yours in with mine."
"I think I will. You know I only did it to learn how, and now that I have learned, I don't need to bother with it any more."
"Just so. Let's go down to dinner."
"Bob," she said a few days later, "I've been thinking that if you should die before me how nice it will be now that I've learned business and will be able to take care of my own affairs."
"You won't need another husband will you?"
She looked at him reproachfully.

Christmas Not a Humbug

"Christmas a humbug, uncle?" said Scrooge's nephew. "You don't mean that, I'm sure."
"I do," said Scrooge. "Merry Christmas! Out upon your Merry Christmas! What's Christmas time for you but a time for paying bills without money, a time for finding yourself a year older and not an hour richer, a time for balancing your books and having every item in 'em brought against you? Month in month out you protest and brag about it, but you will every idiot who goes about with 'Merry Christmas' on his lips should be boiled with his own pudding and buried with a stake of holly through his heart. He should!"
It is many years since the conversation of old Scrooge from the error of his ways by the three ghosts of Christmas past, Christmas present and Christmas yet to come.
Mr. Read found this argument too much for him. He thought awhile.
"What you have said," he remarked later, reminds me that I being liable to die before you do, you will need some knowledge of taking care of property. I think I had better give you a few instructions in that direction, else a vote will do you no good, for you won't know enough to use it."

A REAL SANTA CLAUS.
SANTA CLAUS, I hang for you
By the mantle stockings two—
For me and one to go
To another boy I know.
There's a chimney in the town
You have never traveled down,
Should you chance to enter there
You would find a room all bare;
Not a stocking could you spy,
Matter not how you might try,
And the shoes you'd find are such
As no boy would care for such.

There's a broken bed you'd see
Some one just broken like me
Dreaming of the pretty toys
Which you bring to other boys,
And to him a Christmas seems
Merry only in his dreams.
All he dreams, then, Santa Claus,
But the stockings withered
When it's filled up to the brim
I'll be Santa Claus to him!
—Frank Dempster Sherman.

A QUESTION.
If there isn't any Santa Claus, who is it turns your feet Toward the shop where gifts are smiling as you walk along the street?
Who is it sets you thinking, though you're busy as can be,
About the songs and laughter round
the children's Christmas tree?
Thought you saw "this Christmas business is a nuisance anyhow."
There's an influence at work that clears the frowning from your brow.
The small tin trumpet sounds a blast that wakes your soul serene
To homage for the doll who is a lady and the once prosaic world where it has been as well as anywhere.
Is a realm of fascinations 'neath some mystic fairy spell,
If there be any?
That's what you're thoughts to Christmas, strive to shun it as we may?
Who comes at this bleak season armed with reasonable arts
And by generous suggestion dominates our minds and hearts?

CONSTANT CHRISTMAS.
Oh, never falling splendor,
Oh, never silent song,
Still keep the green earth
fonder,
Still keep the gray earth
strong!
Still keep the brave earth
dreaming
Of deeds that shall be done
When children's ill-voiced strawning
Little sunbeams from the sun!
Oh, angels, sweet and splendid Throng in our hearts and sing
The wonders which attended
The coming of the King!
—Brooks.

CHRISTMAS TIME.
PAGE and good will toward men!
Best Christmas time
That brings to famished thousands a good meal.
While even those, immured in cells,
From others—make their livelihood in crime.
Now sit at tables with the best of fare,
Children, unused to luxuries and joys,
New have abundance, are won blessed with toys.
For did not Christ take such unto his care?
The laborer sick, his family hungry, cold, is now remembered; food and coal and rent
And of hour and meal and wood to heat are sent
By them that know the genuine use of gold.
Whose eyes have seen the shepherds watch
by night,
Who've read the sermon on the Mount aright
—Edward S. Creamer in Brooklyn Eagle.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Esther Orth

The pupils of the primary department are the proud owners of a new picture, "The Madonna."

Imogene Gardner was absent the first part of this week on account of illness.

Emma Scharnhorst on Thanksgiving treated the fourth and sixth grades to a lovely basket of apples and all the popcorn they could eat.

Miss Costello was ill Tuesday and Gladys Larrabee substituted for her.

Esther Martinson taught the fourth and sixth grades Monday for Miss Doty, who was ill.

Felix Stevens enrolled in the eighth grade Monday.

Beryl Nave has gone to Colton, where she will attend school the remainder of the year.

The work is up to a better standard this month. Basketball seems to be a great inducement.

While discussing the freezing of water, etc., Prof. Bold asked a brilliant pupil of his class "Whether the coldest water of a stream was on top or below and which froze sooner." The attentive listener answered that "the cold froze quicker." "If that is the case," answered Mr. Bold, "the fish would all be frozen in the bottom of the stream." Then the bright scholar answered, "Probably they might go to California for the winter."

A meeting of the orchestra was held Monday night, at which time the music was distributed. The constitution was accepted and the first practice was planned for next Monday night.

The game of basketball which was scheduled to be played with Uniontown tonight (Friday) was cancelled on account of the prevalence of smallpox in that vicinity and arrangements have been made for a game with Johnson on that date. It promises to be a good game as Johnson has their old team of heavyweights, who defeated our second team last year. The lineup will probably be as follows: Right guard, C. Nagel; left guard, A. Kern and F. Bershaw; center, D. Springer; right forward, H. Mochel; left forward, D. Wardrobe. Although we have a light team, it proves to be a fast one. Every one is needed at the game to root for the home team.

MUTUAL BENEFIT PLAN HELPFUL TO COMMUNITY

Buying at Home Is Economical—Genesee Merchants Can Supply Christmas Wants

Nearly everyone realizes, or is beginning to realize, that money spent at home will be useful to home people, while if spent abroad it has little chance of getting back to the place from where it started. The phrase, "Patronize home industry" means something, and a little campaigning on this basis will convert some of the "doubting Thomases" who still help to fill the coffers of the mail-order houses.

If the large cities find it advantageous to advertise "home-made" products, setting aside a week or two weeks for displaying them and directing the consuming public toward a better understanding of the qualities and values of goods to be had at home, why not the small towns and villages? In Chicago the business men of various sections of the city have their associations and once a year, or oftener, have a "booster" week. They use inducements to show

A Tragedy of Naples

By F. A. MITCHEL

I was spending some time in Naples. Nearly all the curiosities in that city except those of nature are contained in the museum, and when one has "done" the museum and the buried cities he must confine himself to looking out upon the beautiful bay. One morning I climbed the high ground back of the city to get a more comprehensive view, including Vesuvius and the islands of Capri and Ischia. Coming to a suitable spot, I threw myself on the grass to regard myself in what to me is the most attractive view in the world.

Presently I heard a voice behind me, which I took for that of a woman's deep contralto.

"Parley vous Francis, monsieur?" I turned, and there stood a young man apparently about twenty years old. He was evidently not Italian, for his hair bespoke one of the north. I speak French indifferently and appraised him of the fact. He asked me to what country I belonged, and I told him America.

"You are the very man I wish to see," he said, "an thinking of going to America, and you can tell me how to get there."

"The shortest way is to sail from this port of New York or Boston."

"Do steamers go from here direct without stopping at any European port?"

"I think not. Some of them go to Genoa before turning westward, and I think nearly all stop at Gibraltar. Then there are the Azores and Madeira, out in the Atlantic."

He seemed disappointed at this—at least he looked so, though he did not express his disappointment in words.

"When does the next steamer sail?" he asked.

"I don't know. One sails a week from today. I go in her myself."

"A week from today," he said, evidently thinking of something else besides the starting. "At what hour?"

I told him that I had not yet learned the sailing hour; he could find out by applying at the offices of the line. He asked what stops the steamer made, and I told him only one on the European mainland—Gibraltar. When inquired if he would be a passenger with me he said he couldn't tell; he didn't know if he would be ready. After some information gave him about America, to which he did not seem to be listening, he made an abrupt adieu, with thanks, and went on his way down the declivity.

The houses along the steep hills back of Naples. Sometimes the front door on the street is in the second or third story. It made me dizzy to look down into the back yard of my neighbor. Beneath me was a hotel with a yard in the rear of the fourth story. A walkway—evidently of light rank, judging from his attendants—used to go every afternoon about 3 o'clock in this yard. He appeared to be an invalid and those that hour because he got the sunshine, for the shade in Italy is very chilly. I noticed that he was quite regular in taking his outing, and I used to watch him and the attention he received from his servants.

The afternoon of the day I sailed I was sitting at my window enjoying the view of the bay when I heard a part of a gun or pistol. Leaning forward and glancing down into the yard of the hotel, I saw the invalid lying on the ground. Then a dozen persons ran out the hotel to where he lay. Presently two servants took him up and carried him into the hotel. His fall, coming so soon after the report, caused me to think that he had been shot, as could easily have been done from any of the back windows of houses on the street above the one on which the hotel faced.

I called the same evening without getting an explanation of what I had seen. I was inclined to think that the contention had existed in the yard of the hotel, and I could read Italian sufficiently well to extract the gist of an item and took a newspaper aboard the ship with me. Before getting into my berth I looked it over. One of the first articles I read stated that a Russian nobleman who had been the governor of Finland had been shot and killed in the yard of the hotel of which the invalid was supposed to be a Russian. The deceased had been proscribed by the republicans, and was shot by a Russian from which the shot was fired, excepting the assassin was not.

I had seen a Russian political assassination without even suspecting it. Somehow the matter got on my nerves. After passing the Azores, where we made our last stop, I noticed sitting on a steamer chair on deck a girl whose face was familiar to me. Where had I seen her? I was sure I had seen her somewhere and that very readily. While passing her I scrutinized her, she returning my gaze with a stony stare. The next morning, lying awake in my berth, when after a good sleep the brain is in perfect working order, it suddenly came to me that the young man with whom I had conversed on that hotly back night was the same girl whose face was familiar to me. What should I do in the matter? Nothing I had no right for mixing myself in a foreign affair that might bring me no end of trouble. When I passed the girl again I did not look at her, nor did I mention the occasion to any one. She never knew that I could have seen her to Siberia.

A CLEVER SWINDLE

Working the Game at an English Watering Place.

Milady's Mirror

A Good Complexion.

In making up her mind that she wants to have a clear and beautiful complexion the average girl does not always think just what this means in the way of regular treatment. Of course when starting in she thinks she is going to take real care of her skin, and soon it will look like the other girls whose complexion she so envies. Perhaps all goes well for several nights until one evening, feeling especially tired, little Miss Would-Be-Beautiful thinks that it won't matter if she jumps into bed just this one night without first washing her face clean of all the day's dust and grime and of then rubbing cold cream into her cheeks to nourish them. She will do it all tomorrow night, and with this thought she contents herself as she slips between the snowy sheets.

But what a real mistake the girl is making! How can she expect to have a strawberry and cream complexion if she will not take the trouble to apply the treatment each night? It is every thing in being on time all through one's whole life, and perhaps in nothing does this regularity mean so much as in the care of one's general looks. If a girl neglects her complexion or hair for one night the results are sure to be disastrous. Wake up, then, little girl, if you want to have that beautiful complexion that you envy in other girls. If a treatment is decided on it must be regular or no good results will come from it. Be true to the treatment and create the face at a regular hour each and every night, the girl who has a pasty complexion should look into the matter for her general health. It is impossible without perfect health, for health is the one great beautifier of even the plainest featured girl. It gives her that rosy flush of perfect health which is beauty—real, true beauty.

The girl, who has a muddled complexion can help matters along by taking a better proportion of sleep, half an hour before each meal and one before going to bed at night. This water should be hot, but not too hot (extending to the temperature of the face and the stomach is the weak point of the girl with a poor complexion), and yet not lukewarm either. Choose the happy medium and you will be safe in your beauty drink.

This, too, if good results are to come of it, must be taken regularly at the same hour each and every day.

Let it be understood, then, from this little talk that it is not so much what a girl does every other night or so, as what she does to improve her complexion, but what she does each and every night, that counts in this great fight for beauty, which is the righting of every mistake she has ever made. Seek health, then, and seek it regularly, and this beauty will be yours.

The Beautiful Mouth.

To begin with, beautiful lips are mobile and flexible. No matter how perfect the lips are, if they are not mobile and light are never attractive. Then, too, holding the lips in a fixed position quickly ages the face and induces lines in it even less attractive than the fixed position. Persons who make constant use of their lips—in laughter, conversation or singing—preserve the charm of youth and mobility to their lips. Laughing is essential to those given to silence. This alone indicates the necessity for exercise, and will be sufficient to preserve a youthful face and keep the mouth flexible and attractive.

Marie Montaigne makes this point in an article in Harper's Bazar, and she writes:

"Odd as it may seem, it becomes quite impossible to cherish brilliant thoughts when the corners of the lips are turned up. It is essential to a pretty mouth—not the constant laughter that stretches the lips and lines the cheeks, but that merriment which keeps the lips flexible and drives away frowns of care."

Exercise to Keep Young.

Marcel Prevost, the French novelist, in an excellent book on the most fashionable woman recently, said that the best method of combating advancing age was to develop muscle.

As Louis de Broglie only told them that sport was good for health women were indifferent, he said, but as soon as some one asserted that sport meant beauty, the women took it up with impetuous enthusiasm.

Prevost enthusiastically condemned the practice of attempting to refine the face by means of the light and the tight lacing or dieting. He also criticized the use of rouge, with which women colored their lips, saying that it had nothing in common with the bloom of the natural lips, while the carmine and beauty lotions they put on their cheeks produced an unnatural bluish-slate colored complexion.

To Bring Roses to the Cheeks.

Rosewater, four ounces, and a third of an ounce of tincture of benzoin have been found to be the most effective surface of the skin and giving it a delicate pink color. This is a perfectly harmless way of gaining color.

Coming to a suitable spot, I threw myself on the grass to regard myself in what to me is the most attractive view in the world.

Presently I heard a voice behind me, which I took for that of a woman's deep contralto.

"Parley vous Francis, monsieur?" I turned, and there stood a young man apparently about twenty years old. He was evidently not Italian, for his hair bespoke one of the north. I speak French indifferently and appraised him of the fact. He asked me to what country I belonged, and I told him America.

"You are the very man I wish to see," he said, "an thinking of going to America, and you can tell me how to get there."

"The shortest way is to sail from this port of New York or Boston."

"Do steamers go from here direct without stopping at any European port?"

"I think not. Some of them go to Genoa before turning westward, and I think nearly all stop at Gibraltar. Then there are the Azores and Madeira, out in the Atlantic."

He seemed disappointed at this—at least he looked so, though he did not express his disappointment in words.

"When does the next steamer sail?" he asked.

"I don't know. One sails a week from today. I go in her myself."

"A week from today," he said, evidently thinking of something else besides the starting. "At what hour?"

I told him that I had not yet learned the sailing hour; he could find out by applying at the offices of the line. He asked what stops the steamer made, and I told him only one on the European mainland—Gibraltar. When inquired if he would be a passenger with me he said he couldn't tell; he didn't know if he would be ready. After some information gave him about America, to which he did not seem to be listening, he made an abrupt adieu, with thanks, and went on his way down the declivity.

The houses along the steep hills back of Naples. Sometimes the front door on the street is in the second or third story. It made me dizzy to look down into the back yard of my neighbor. Beneath me was a hotel with a yard in the rear of the fourth story. A walkway—evidently of light rank, judging from his attendants—used to go every afternoon about 3 o'clock in this yard. He appeared to be an invalid and those that hour because he got the sunshine, for the shade in Italy is very chilly. I noticed that he was quite regular in taking his outing, and I used to watch him and the attention he received from his servants.

The afternoon of the day I sailed I was sitting at my window enjoying the view of the bay when I heard a part of a gun or pistol. Leaning forward and glancing down into the yard of the hotel, I saw the invalid lying on the ground. Then a dozen persons ran out the hotel to where he lay. Presently two servants took him up and carried him into the hotel. His fall, coming so soon after the report, caused me to think that he had been shot, as could easily have been done from any of the back windows of houses on the street above the one on which the hotel faced.

I called the same evening without getting an explanation of what I had seen. I was inclined to think that the contention had existed in the yard of the hotel, and I could read Italian sufficiently well to extract the gist of an item and took a newspaper aboard the ship with me. Before getting into my berth I looked it over. One of the first articles I read stated that a Russian nobleman who had been the governor of Finland had been shot and killed in the yard of the hotel of which the invalid was supposed to be a Russian. The deceased had been proscribed by the republicans, and was shot by a Russian from which the shot was fired, excepting the assassin was not.

I had seen a Russian political assassination without even suspecting it. Somehow the matter got on my nerves. After passing the Azores, where we made our last stop, I noticed sitting on a steamer chair on deck a girl whose face was familiar to me. Where had I seen her? I was sure I had seen her somewhere and that very readily. While passing her I scrutinized her, she returning my gaze with a stony stare. The next morning, lying awake in my berth, when after a good sleep the brain is in perfect working order, it suddenly came to me that the young man with whom I had conversed on that hotly back night was the same girl whose face was familiar to me. What should I do in the matter? Nothing I had no right for mixing myself in a foreign affair that might bring me no end of trouble. When I passed the girl again I did not look at her, nor did I mention the occasion to any one. She never knew that I could have seen her to Siberia.

A Tragedy of Naples

By F. A. MITCHEL

I was spending some time in Naples. Nearly all the curiosities in that city except those of nature are contained in the museum, and when one has "done" the museum and the buried cities he must confine himself to looking out upon the beautiful bay. One morning I climbed the high ground back of the city to get a more comprehensive view, including Vesuvius and the islands of Capri and Ischia. Coming to a suitable spot, I threw myself on the grass to regard myself in what to me is the most attractive view in the world.

THE ISLAND OF THE STAIRS

Being a True Account of Certain Strange and Wonderful Adventures of Master John Hampton, Seaman, and Mistress Lucy Wilberforce, Gentlewoman, in the Great South Seas.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Copyright, 1912, by Cyrus Townsend Brady

SYNOPSIS

The body of Sir Geoffrey Wilberforce, ruined gambler and suicide, is found by Hampton, a sailor, on the island of the Duke of Arceater.

Hampton breaks the news to Lucy Wilberforce and delivers a letter found on her father's body.

It contains half of a map of a treasure island. Lucy already has the other half. There are directions for finding the treasure.

Hampton pushes the duke for insulting Lucy. Hampton and Lucy start in a ship for the island of the Duke.

Hampton steals a kiss, and Lucy has him imprisoned in a cabin. Desperate man in the crew mutiny.

Pemball and Gibby demand the map of the island of Hampton, who pretends to have it.

The mutineers become intoxicated, and Hampton and Lucy leave the ship for the island, which is nearby.

They are carried over a coral reef to the island, where they find rude statues and mount a gigantic structure of stone.

The mutineers pursue them, but are stopped by the reef, and Hampton and Lucy make a search for the hidden treasure.

They pass a strange altar surrounded by names of human beings and find the cave mentioned on the map.

CHAPTER XIV.

In Which We Find the Treasure and Are Attacked.

WE did not need to go further into the cave, for there before us lay a number of large wooden boxes or chests, moldy and ancient. The boxes had once been iron strapped, but the iron had rusted and the wood had rotted. I lifted the lid, which crumbled at my touch, and there was the treasure—bags of gold and silver! Thousands of pounds lay to our hands! The old buccaner had told the truth. The story of the parchment was not a romance; the plunder of the ancient galleon was there. For my part I would gladly have exchanged it all for a stout boot and a clear passage through the reef, with a chance for freedom.

"Well, your great-great-grandfather, for how many generations back I know not, was right," I said at last. "The treasure is here and we have found it. It is yours."

"Yes," she said, to whom the same thought had come, "but now that we have found it of what value or use is it?"

"None," I admitted, "that I can see."

"And what may be its value, think you?"

"It would make good ballast for a ship," I answered lightly.

"But if we could take it hence to England?"

"Millions I can only guess."

"I will give you one-half of it for your share," she said, laughing softly.

"I want none of it," I returned seriously enough.

What possessed her to do it I know not, and she since confessed she knew not either. We stood there, looking down upon the useless treasure, when she turned to me on a sudden.

"Now that you have seen it are you still of the same mind?" she said eagerly.

"That you would give to me your portion of the treasure—for me?"

"Great God!" I cried, moved beyond measure by her imprudent remark and thrown off my balance by her—dare I say—coquetry. "I would give up the world itself for you. Don't you know that?"

And I made a step toward her, but she put up her hand.

"Hush, hush, Master Hampton!" she said, frightened at the consequences of her pleasantry, and I could swear she turned crimson in the candlelight.

"This is not the place now. Remember that I am alone and that I am at your mercy."

"I shall never forget that again," she said grimly. "This treasure removes you further away from me than ever."

"What mean you?"

"I know not, but I shall do it."

"And with the treasure?"

"With the treasure, but at least a sufficient of it for all your needs."

"And when you have done this amazing thing for me you expect to disappear from my life, Master Hampton?"

"Aye, if I need be."

She laughed and I did not understand the meaning of that laugh either.

"Let us search and see if there be anything else. Your ancestor spoke of jewels," he said.

"Yes," she said, "there should be a smaller casket. Let us look further."

There were perhaps a dozen large boxes. I opened them all. Some were quite empty, with a little pile of dust in them and a few shreds of color here and there which indicated silk and as I stirred one of them with my sword I struck something more solid.

I brushed aside what seemed to be the decayed remains of coriander and canvas and finally came upon a smaller casket bound, linged, and cornered with some kind of metal which I afterward found to be silver, for iron would have rusted away long since.

The casket was about a foot long by six inches wide and six inches deep. The metal which completely covered it was curiously chased. The casket was locked. I crumbled the wood in my hands, but could not open the lock.

The edge of my ax, however, proved a potent key, and at last forced it apart, and as I did so out fell a little heap of what I judged to be precious stones. There were green, red, blue and white ones, among them many pearls sadly discolored and valueless. The stones glistened with an almost living energy. My mistrust was more familiar with these things than I, and I presented a handful to her.

"Why, they are precious stones!" she cried in an awe-struck whisper.

"Look!" She held up a diamond as big as her thumb nail. It sparkled like a sun in the candlelight. "And there is an emerald," she cried, picking up one of the green stones. "This blue one is a sapphire, this ruby. Why," she exclaimed, "here is a fortune alone. These jewels must be of fabulous value. The gold and silver we might leave behind, but these we can carry with us."

"In my heart I was sorry we had found them, yet I had the grace immediately to say—"

"I am glad for that. We must gather them up, but where shall we put them?"

"In the pockets of your coat for the present," she answered.

Now there were not so many of them—perhaps three or four handfuls—not nearly enough to fill the casket. I figured that it had been a jewel box with little trays or drawers and that the stones had been wrapped separately, but had all fallen together when the partitions rotted away. I easily found room for them in the capacious side pockets of my coat, and then we hurried back to the outer room. Passing by the hideous altar, we gained the light. It was now late in the afternoon, we found to our surprise.

We had spent hours over the treasure and we had just time to retrace our steps and get back to the boat on the beach and partake of our evening meal when night fell. As we sat by the fire that night I made little bags out of a piece of canvas taken from a tenting bag and we put the jewels into them, dividing them into equal parts. One bag she wore constantly thereafter on her person and I the other. She insisted that the rough and ready division we had made was permanent; that the bag I carried belonged to me and the bag she carried belonged to her. But I refused to have it so in spite of her argument, and there we left it.

During the next two or three days we leisurely explored the island. There was nothing else on it to see which merits any particular description. We did not again visit the central hill, nor did we enter any other caves. We did not even go near the treasure cave again. On the contrary, we kept to the open. We chose to live near the sea on the beach, which was high above all tides and which was removed from the channel spots which made a mockery of the sylvan groves within the walls. The island was well provided with tropical fruits, many being good for food, as I knew. We caught fish in the lagoon and turtle on the sand. We lacked nothing to make us comfortable, even happy, except the means of escape.

We spent our days in trying to devise some means of getting across the reef and back home again—that is, when I was not idly lying at the feet of following the footsteps of the woman I loved. I didn't want to get away, so far as I was concerned. I didn't care whether we ever got away. I had wit enough not to let her see, not to let her suspect that for a moment, however, and I tried to convince her by my conduct toward her that my kissing her on the ship had been but momentary madness, but I learned later that I failed lamentably. She says now that a baby could see that I was trying to seduce her, and I suppose he is right, but at least I didn't say anything. After that outbreak in the cave I kept a head.

Late one afternoon we stood at the head of the stairs looking seaward. We had come from a long ramble throughout the cup of the island, and as we stood on the top our gaze was usual instinctively turned toward the sea, perhaps seeking for the sail of some resending ship. The water was black with great savage war canoes. "Great God," I cried, "look yonder!"

"I see, I see," she cried in terror. "Who can they be?"

"Dwellers from the other islands to the westward," I answered.

"They could not see us yet, fortunately; but, after all, that mattered little. My little lady did not seem to be nearly as disturbed as I."

"The reef will protect us," she said at last, looking at me confidently.

"Not for a moment," I answered.

"They will ride that reef in those light canoes more easily than we did."

"And you think"—she instantly began.

"Our lives are in God's hands. If I know anything these will be ferocious, bloodthirsty savages. See! They are armed."

"But where? They will search the island."

"In the treasure cave," she answered.

And indeed that was the most likely spot. We had brought but little with us that afternoon. I had thrust a brace of pistols in my belt, and she herself, by my advice, always carried her two small ones, and I had my sword and ax, but everything else was in the boat on the beach. For a moment I thought of running down there and getting some of our things, but as I half turned to descend the stairs she detained me, dividing my purpose.

"No, no," she urged, clasping my arm with both hands. "We must make shift with what we have. Perhaps they may not discover us, and we can hide safely until they depart. Come! Let us go."

There was sense in her remarks. It might be that after performing their awful worship these most unwelcome visitors would return as they came, and by keeping closely hid we might escape an encounter with them. They would certainly find all our goods as soon as they crossed the reef and landed. But there was no help for that now. We had to make the best of a bad situation.

We turned and ran down the path across the reef. I had forethought to gather a number of coconuts and some other fruits as we passed. I filled my own pockets, and then she made a bag out of the skirt of her dress and carried the rest. Presently I reflected that we had no need of such haste. There would be plenty of time for us to reach the cave and conceal ourselves long before they landed, so we progressed more slowly.

It was almost dusk when we reached our shelter. I uprooted a small tree just as we started to climb the pile of stones, which I used as a lever to push down the heap in every direction as we climbed, so that it would be impossible for any one else to enter the cave without piling up the stones again. We passed by the stone altar and its skeletons, crept into the inner room, flung ourselves panting upon the sand, and there we waited.

In that secret and secluded shelter I thought that we were safe for the time being. Especially was I sure that they would make no effort to find us at night, as the place had anciently been some sort of a shrine. And in the morning I did not think that the would chance upon that particular cave out of the many in the coral walls without a long search, unless they had proposed coming just then for us to reach the cave and conceal ourselves long before they landed, so we progressed more slowly.

In that secret and secluded shelter I thought that we were safe for the time being. Especially was I sure that they would make no effort to find us at night, as the place had anciently been some sort of a shrine. And in the morning I did not think that the would chance upon that particular cave out of the many in the coral walls without a long search, unless they had proposed coming just then for us to reach the cave and conceal ourselves long before they landed, so we progressed more slowly.

It was almost dusk when we reached our shelter. I uprooted a small tree just as we started to climb the pile of stones, which I used as a lever to push down the heap in every direction as we climbed, so that it would be impossible for any one else to enter the cave without piling up the stones again. We passed by the stone altar and its skeletons, crept into the inner room, flung ourselves panting upon the sand, and there we waited.

MEXICAN REBELS TO MARCH ON CAPITAL. General Villa Says That Three Armies Are Working Together to That End.

Juarez, Mexico.—Northern Mexico, embracing the states of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Laredo and Tamaulipas, and including the territory from the border to a line 500 miles southward, will be wholly under the authority of the rebel forces within two weeks. The forces which are fighting Huerta will then join at Guadalupe, with a view of marching on to Mexico City. This is the rebel plan of campaign, General Francisco Villa, the rebel leader, asserted. This campaign, Villa said, contemplated not only the capture of Chihuahua city, but also the spreading of the rebel or constitutionalist authority farther south. In this Villa is to be joined by General Carranza, the head of the revolutionary movement. "We will move right on to Mexico City," said Villa. "This is our destination. Our forces are working together. The troops now in Sonora will move southward, attacking Guaymas on the way. Those in the east now centered around Victoria, will move southwest, while I will go right down through the heart of the country. On the way I will take Chihuahua, where I will be in command within ten days. Then I will join the eastern and western wings of the army at Guadalupe. Combined we will march to Mexico City."

GOVERNMENT SUES TRUST Concern is Accused of Acquiring Monopoly and Fixing Prices. Baltimore.—Suit was filed here in the United States district court to dissolve the American Tin company, the so-called tin can trust which the department of justice alleges controls a large percentage of business of the United States in tin cans, containers and packages of tin. The American Sheet & Tin Plate company was made a defendant because of an agreement it is alleged to have with the American company to sell it tin for cans at a preferential rate. In its complaint the government alleges practices in restraint of trade agreements by other concerns not to enter the field, contracts by consumers to buy from the trust exclusively, and arbitrary fixing of prices. Attorney General McReynolds asked in the bill for a dissolution other than on a pro rata basis, by asking for a separation into units of different ownership, to insure the restoration of competition.

INDIANAPOLIS UNION TEAMSTERS STRIKE Indianapolis.—The Teamsters' Union voted unanimously to go on strike. The union, which includes the commercial chauffeurs, has between 1500 and 2000 members. An order was issued Saturday preventing the congress of crowds and the police were told not to "hesitate to use other means" if persuasion failed to disperse the gatherings. In addition to the extra policemen, 500 business men were in a reserve force. These men were provided with uniforms and guns and are quartered in Tompkins Hall, where they will be held until the strike is settled. The men are commanded by officers of the Jackson National Guard. For four months Indianapolis has been agitated with labor troubles which have resulted in the resignation of Mayor Shank, Superintendent of Police Hyland and W. E. Davis, president of the Board of Public Safety, and a general shakeup in the city administration. During the last streetcar strike there was so much rioting that the entire state militia was called out by Governor Hylan.

42,000 Watch Army Defeat Navy. New York.—Forty-two thousand persons saw the navy go down to defeat in the Army-Navy game on the polo grounds. The multitude that crowded the stands included President Wilson, the secretaries of war and navy, other cabinet officers, senators, congressmen and the flower of the military and naval service. Last of the Jacksons Dies. Durand, Mich.—The family of President Andrew Jackson passed from earth with the death here of Mrs. Sarah Jane White Chambers, granddaughter of General Jackson. Mrs. Chambers was 93 years old and was born in West Virginia. Animal Exhibit Valued at $2,000,000. Chicago.—Valued at $2,000,000, approximately 11,000 animals were placed on exhibition at the opening of the annual International Livestock Exposition at the stockyards.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Parcel Post Weight Limit Again Extended and Rates Are Reduced

Washington.—The interstate commerce commission approved decreases in parcel post rates in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth zones, and an increase in the maximum weight limit to 50 pounds in the first and second, and to 20 pounds in the remaining zones. The approved changes in rates and weights, to be in effect January 1, 1914, follow: To reduce the rates in the third zone from 7 cents for the first pound and 5 cents for each additional pound to 6 cents for the first pound and 2 cents for each additional pound. To reduce the rates for the fourth zone from 8 cents for the first pound and 6 cents for each additional pound to 7 cents for the first pound and 4 cents for each additional pound. To reduce the rates for the fifth zone from 9 cents for the first pound and 7 cents for each additional pound to 8 cents for the first pound and 6 cents for each additional pound. To reduce the rates for the sixth zone from 10 cents for the first pound and 9 cents for each additional pound to 9 cents for the first pound and 8 cents for each additional pound. It is provided that the rate of postage on parcels containing books weighing 8 ounces or less shall be 1 cent for each two ounces or fractional part thereof, and on those weighing in excess of 8 ounces the zone parcel rates shall apply. This is to be effective March 16, 1914.

Wilson's Views on Trusts Sought. President Wilson's views on trust legislation are to be sought this week by congressional leaders. The last week has developed a pronounced view among democratic members of the senate that the anti-trust acts of the present session of congress should be few and should affect only the more obviously needed reforms in the field of combination and corporation activity. The demands of democratic leaders for speedy action on the currency reform bill have had a marked effect on the senate. Confident predictions are now made that the bill will pass that body before December 20 and that an adjustment of differences between senate and house can be reached shortly after that time. Republicans Will Not Delay Bill. Republican members have made it clear they do not wish to be charged with delay of currency reform. The house will have before it this week Alaska railroad legislation; the Hensley "naval holiday" resolution, immigration regulation, high cost of living investigations, the lobby committee's report and numerous other matters of compelling interest. The early trust bills probably will be aimed at the abolishment of interlocking directorates and holding companies, and possibly of voting trusts. "Fiscal" legislation strengthening the rights of minority stockholders will also be asked for, and attempts will be made to strengthen.

Senate Will Work 13 Hours a Day. Democratic senate leaders, with the aid of 10 republican votes, succeeded in forcing a programme of 13-hour-day sessions for the currency bill. Two hours' recess, from 6 to 8 o'clock in the evening, will be the only break in the daily work from 10 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night. Senators Borah, Brady, Brandegee, Cummins, Gronna, Kenyon, La Follette, Norris, Perkins and Smoot, all republicans, joined the democrats voting for the long daily sessions. National Capital Activities. Without amendment the Hatch Hetchy bill, providing a new water supply for San Francisco, passed the senate. The treatment of migratory tuberculosis patients is being investigated by the public health service. With a view to legislation or interstate quarantine regulations. Rivers and harbors will be developed to meet needs of all, and not for any special community nor interests, says Secretary of the Interior Lane. T. N. Carver of the United States department of agriculture declares farmers would get better prices if they had a uniform plan of grading their products, thus eliminating, largely, the middlemen's profits. Early abandonment of coal as fuel for the battleships of the American navy, and the substitution of oil is foreshadowed in the annual report of the chief of the bureau of steam engineering. Secretary of the Navy Daniels announces that up to date he has saved $750,000 on contracts for new battleships by cutting estimates and in making purchases of supplies. Moose in their wild state have been seen on Snake river, near Huntington, Idaho, for the first time since the winter of 1883, when fierce blizzards drove the animals down from Canada in great numbers.

Share Your Fortune MID all the happiness and joys of the merry Christmas season think of those less fortunate—of those on whom the sun of plenty has failed to shine during the past twelve months. Think of the heartaches that will be theirs on Christmas morning; think of the tear stained eyes of the little children weeping because Santa Claus could not call at their homes. Half of your pleasure at Christmas will be derived from making others happy, from sharing your good fortune and sowing seeds of kindness wherever you happen to be on Christmas day. Give something, be it ever so trifling, to the little child to whom Christmas otherwise would mean nothing. You can keep tears of sorrow from those eyes and brighten the day a hundredfold for yourself. Try it.

California Progressives Meet. No More Vaul on Hotel Menu. St. Marie's Bird Show Opens. St. Marie's.—The second annual poultry show opened here with 400 birds on exhibition. This is twice as many as were entered last year. Birds of all standard varieties and from all over the part of the state are on exhibition. Pens from Spokane, Tekoa, Rose Lake and Coeur d'Alene are among the entries. The reason we don't profit by the other man's experience is because we think we are so much sicker than he is.

Entries at Stock Show Nearly 900. Portland, Or.—With nearly 900 entries, the Pacific International Live-stock exposition opened Monday morning at the Portland union stockyard, to continue throughout the week. The number of entries is three times as great as have ever been made in a similar event in Portland, and this is the first show that includes dairy stock, fat stock, swine, sheep and goats.

Horsemanship Brilliant. Lewiston.—One of the most notable gatherings ever assembled in Lewiston saw the first horse show held here including the prize winners collectively and in classes and the entertainment given by Captain Ball and Lieutenant Porter of the United States cavalry and artillery respectively. The latter, including fancy riding, hurdle jumping and a talk on riding horses by Captain Ball, was a fine feature.

Get No Trace of Lost Tailor. Spirit Lake.—No trace of O. T. Lindstrom, tailor, lost in the woods, has been found yet. A report came in from Harlam, a small town near, that a man answering the description was seen several times in the woods near there and seemed to be in a demented state, but upon investigation it was found that it was not Lindstrom.

Go Home for Christmas

SCOP at this busy Christmas season and think for a moment of the folks back home. Consider how much happier they will be if you are with them on this Christmas day. Perhaps your parents are getting very old now—perhaps they have only a few more Christmases to spend here. Certainly your presence at the old home place would add greatly to their joy. Think of the days when you were a child—of the Christmases, now gone forever, when your father and mother did so much to make you happy. A man's mother is the best friend he ever had or ever can have. One owes it to her to spend Christmas at her side and to devote the day to making her happy. But if we have no mother what would be prettier, what sentiment or act could be more beautiful, than to visit her grave and make it green with wreaths and flowers on Christmas day?

People in the News Suit for divorce was filed by Mrs. John D. Spreckels, Jr., one of the beauties of San Francisco society. Andrew Carnegie's secretary figures that the iron master has given away $365,225,000 out of a fortune originally of $360,125,000. Ex-President Taft explained the reason he did not go back to Cincinnati to live was that he didn't want to practice law before judges he himself appointed, when president. The release of ex-President Zelaya, who was arrested in New York, charged with murder in his own land, was authorized by order of the department, on condition that he sail on the first boat for Spain. Indictments charging graft in connection with building highways in New York have been returned by the special grand jury against Arthur McLean, treasurer of the democratic state central committee. Colonel David Galliard, aged 60, one of the chief engineers engaged in the work of building the Panama canal, died at Baltimore. He suffered from hardening of the arteries of the brain, brought on, physicians said, by his work in the Culabra cut of the canal. Boys and girls are advised to stick to the farm by Champ Clark, speaker of the house, addressing a meeting of corn growers. Senator Fossombers says, if he were a girl, he would rather bake a good loaf of bread than dance the tango. Two cowboys, suspected of robbing the Verde Valley bank at Blythe, of $500, and killing Charles A. W. Bowles, were arrested at El Centro, Cal. The suspects had in their possession between $4500 and $5000 in gold. Bryan will not be opposed by the anti-saloon league forces of Nebraska, who know of his grape juice record, despite the fight waged on him by the national league, because he stood sponsor for a United States senator from Maryland who was objected to by the national.

Brief News of the Week The radicals ruled the New York republican state conference and forced the approval of a direct or state-wide primary law. For the first 10 months since it has been running, the San Francisco municipal street railroad has made each month $18,300 more than the operating expenses. There is a well-authenticated report that President Huerta has been assured a loan of $750,000 pesos by an American corporation with Mexican connections. Because they had hidden Mrs. John Richardson on a raft following the linking of her name with that of her brother-in-law, five gray haired women of Waukegan, Ill., were convicted and each may be fined $200 and sentenced to six months in jail. There is a well-authenticated report that the hotel owners of San Francisco, representing more than 1200 hostelerias, have agreed with the Panama-Pacific exposition officials that prices for rooms will not be increased over those of the present, on account of the 1915 fair. Telephone securities were given a jolt in the stock market when Wall Street heard the report that Samuel H. Hildreth, president of the Home Telephone company of Portland, Or., was actively engaged in merging the independent telephone companies of the United States with the Postal Telegraph company. Declaring that intimately personal subjects should be taught to children at home by their parents, the Parents Rights League of America, organized in San Francisco to combat the introduction of "moral" instruction and medical inspection in the public schools, will issue a call to all mothers.

Christmas Cheer Fund at Kellogg-Kellogg.—A Christmas cheer fund was started here under the auspices of the board of trade with the result that over $75 was raised in 20 minutes from among the business men. The same plan was carried out last year and a number of needy families were taken care of, the children receiving toys, candy, fruit and warm clothing, while the families received liberal supplies of flour, potatoes, bacon and orders on the stores for clothing for parents and children. Idaho Rests for Multnomah Game. Moscow.—Coach Griffith has suspended football practice until after the Christmas vacation, which begins December 18.

Get No Trace of Lost Tailor. Spirit Lake.—No trace of O. T. Lindstrom, tailor, lost in the woods, has been found yet. A report came in from Harlam, a small town near, that a man answering the description was seen several times in the woods near there and seemed to be in a demented state, but upon investigation it was found that it was not Lindstrom.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

Elias Bowman, convicted of introducing liquor on an Indian reservation by the federal officials, and who later had his sentence commuted from three months in the county jail at Lewiston and a fine of $100 to 30 days in jail, the pardon being signed by President Wilson, was released from the county jail. The three counties of Ada, Canyon and Washington shipped a total of 1791 cars of fruit and other produce in the period from August 1 and December 1; the fruit going to the eastern markets via the Oregon Short Line. The total value was $1,143,670. The largest shipment was of apples, of which there were 784 cars. Prunes were a close second, with 714 cars. Potatoes were third, with 162 cars. There were 54 cars of peaches, 12 cars of pears, 11 cars of honey, 162 cars of onions, 5 cars of turkeys, 7 cars of broilers, 21 cars of watermelons and 14 cars of cantaloupes. The Idaho-Continental mine, 28 miles from Porthill, Idaho, near the international boundary, will be shipping concentrates soon after January 1, unless unforeseen delays occur in completing the concentrator. The mill, of 200 tons daily capacity, is nearing completion rapidly. The building practically is finished and the mill was finished a few days ago, all of which is on the ground, installed. The hydro-electric power plant on Boundary creek, 14 miles from Porthill, is completed and ready for service and the transmission line to the mine was finished a few days ago. It has become reasonably certain that some of the state officials will not be candidates to succeed themselves and that a large number of new candidates shortly will be in the field seeking those offices. Governor Haines will be a candidate for reelection. Whether or not he will have opposition within his own party at the primaries remains to develop. The names of two other men prominent in the republican party have been linked with the governorship by their friends. They are D. W. Davis of American Falls, state senator from Oneida county, and Charles L. Holtman, of Burdick, former republican state chairman, Attorney-General Peterson and State Auditor Huston will be candidates to succeed themselves. Like Governor Haines, they are first-term officials. Secretary of State Gifford will not be a candidate for reelection, it is said by those in a position to know. State Treasurer Allen is serving his second term and his friends assert that he will be a candidate for a third term. The last legislature created a state board of education to have supervision over all state educational institutions, this power having been conferred to the legislative body through the approval by the electors of a constitutional amendment. This board in turn elected a commissioner of education. The purpose of this amendment and the laws enacted by the legislature was to transfer educational supervision to a board and virtually to eliminate the superintendent of public instruction. The name of the present mine inspector is linked with that office for another term, while the question of filling the term of Chief Justice Albright is creating not a little interest. Charles F. Heitman of Rathdrum is spoken of as a possible candidate.

Officers Under Arrest. Boise.—Several of the new officials of Minidoka county may be ousted from office while disbarment proceedings probably will be instituted against three attorneys as the result of entrance into the county jail at Rupert and taking out a large quantity of liquor which had been confiscated by the court from bootleggers. Charles Hancock, sheriff, is under arrest, charged with bootlegging, and warrants were served on Attorney E. R. Dampier, City Attorney W. R. Hyatt, Probate Judge Peebles, County Clerk Butler and J. W. Voorhees, who were charged with burglary. Hyatt, Dampier and Butler later were dismissed. It is alleged that these men raided the jail after picking the lock and procured the liquor. Minidoka county is "dry" under the local option law.

O'Neill is Seeking Pardon. Coeur d'Alene.—Two applications for pardons of men convicted of felonies in Kootenai county will be presented to the state board of pardons at its meeting January 7. One is by B. F. O'Neill, the well-known banker and politician, formerly of Wallace, who was convicted of making a false report of the condition of the State Bank of Coeur d'Alene, and sentenced to serve an indeterminate term of from two to 10 years, and the other by William A. Fondron, convicted in March, 1912, and sentenced to from 10 to 25 years for the murder of Isaac N. Coplen, the tragedy resulting from a contest of Fondron's homestead, located near Anawaco, Coplen being the contestant.

The Giving of Gifts One is going to give a Christmas present it should be with a cheerful heart. If you can't give in this spirit do not give at all. We give presents to our friends at Christmas because they are our friends and because we derive pleasure from such giving. In the giving of Christmas presents there should be none of that spirit which suggests commercialism. There should never be any expectation of reciprocity. The giving of a Christmas present should be from the heart. The present itself counts for little. The spirit and motive which prompt the giving are all important.

WHAT shall I send you for Christmas, dear?
 What can a penniless rimeaster send?
 But the wish that when skies are filled with gloom
 For you blithe and lowly may bloom
 And that every thro' of the heart of you
 Any whisp' of days when the skies were blue?

What shall I send you for Christmas, sweet?
 What can a friendless minstrel send?
 But the prayer that when days drag drear
 Your heart will sing snatches of sweetest song
 And that every flake of the Yuletide's snow
 May speak of the dreams of the long ago?

What shall I send you for Christmas, my own?
 What can a lonely harding send?
 But the wish that when life grows dark
 And in moods when the fond old dreams
 Still cling to you
 That the birds may return, my sweet, and sing to you?

AUNT LOU'S FUNNY PRESENT

FREDDIE was very fond of Aunt Lou and had been saving up his pennies to buy her a Christmas present. He had five when he climbed into his mother's lap to consult as to how the money should be invested. After the conference it was agreed that Aunt Lou's present should be a rose.

The florist's was only five blocks down the street. In front of the little corner grocery store stood Bobbie, Freddie's chin, studying the wonderful things in the window.

"Hello," said Freddie. "Have you got a copper?"

Bobbie displayed two, and Freddie asked what he was going to buy.

"Don't know. Come on; let's go in," said Bobbie.

On the counter was a box of white clay pipes with funny faces on them. Bobbie's bright eyes spied them at once. "How much is the bubble pipe?" he asked.

"Just a cent," said the man behind the counter.

Bobbie bought one, and Freddie looked up from her sewing and asked, "How many would five coppers buy?"

"Six," Freddie bought six.

"Did you get it?"

"Six, mamma, six beautiful ones!" he cried excitedly.

"Why, Freddie, you couldn't get six for five cents," said his mother.

"Yes, I did," said the little boy.

"Just look here!"

"Why, Freddie, they're pipes, and Aunt Lou doesn't want pipes. Where is the rose?"

Freddie stood before her, speechless. He had forgotten the rose—forgotten

The Day After Christmas.
 A graceful finish is one of the most essential touches of any successful venture. The plant does not drop his hands abruptly from the keys as soon as he has played the last note, but holds them there a moment longer until the music dies away. Diners out would be indignant if the table were whisked clear the moment the last mouthful was swallowed. They find the lingering on a little while over the coffee and nuts most delightful.

Christmas is too beautiful and too solemn a festival to drop in this hasty fashion the moment the clock strikes midnight, for any occasion which needs special preparation also needs an adequate closing, and particularly is this true of those things whose value lies in looking back.

There are many things to be done after Christmas. There are letters to be written, houses to be put in order, gifts to be arranged, and every one of the countless details may be done either with grace or without it. In the theater the final curtain falls with fitting dignity or appropriate gaiety. It has all been a play; but, even so, the actors do not walk off after the last word is said and allow the stage hands to rush on. That would offend the mood of the audience. How much truer this is of something which is not a play, but a very real part of life!

The days after Christmas should be as quiet as the days before. The ornaments that decked the tree should be put away with the same care and pleasure with which they were brought out, the presents do not with the same fervor that accompanied their going up. The afterglow is sometimes the most beautiful part of the sunset, and sometimes it is even more beautiful than the sunset itself.

"BUBBLE PIPES!" SHE CRIED.

all about Aunt Lou's Christmas present! He was a very little boy, but not too little to be ashamed.

"Did you spend all of your coppers?" mamma asked gently, and Freddie nodded his head and gulped.

"I don't think Aunt Lou will like pipes quite well as a rose, do you?" mamma asked. "Never mind, dear; wrap up the pipes for her."

"But Aunt Lou doesn't want pipes," Freddie said chokily.

"Didn't you buy them for Aunt Lou, dear?" mamma asked.

"They are for me," said Freddie in a low voice.

"And what have you got for Aunt Lou, who always gives you such a new Christmas present?"

Freddie crept very close and asked, "Will you please give me five cents?"

"That would be mamma's present, dear, and not yours. You saved the coppers for Aunt Lou, and if you have bought pipes with them you must give her the pipes."

Christina, who Freddie gave the pipes to Aunt Lou. His papa laughed. His mother smiled, and a merry twinkle appeared in Aunt Lou's eyes. She could stand a little red, mortified face with two blue eyes brimming with tears. That was too much for Aunt Lou. Not for worlds would she nod to Freddie's distress.

"Bubble pipes!" she cried joyously. "Now, isn't that splendid? Why, bubble pipes are all the rage now. I'll be able to give a party myself tomorrow afternoon, and you must all be sure to come."

A little smile was beginning to dimple around Freddie's lips, and he was blinking away the tears that had gathered. "One's broke," he said in a little wavering voice.

"It's why, yes! And right close to the bowl! Isn't that fine? Why, lots of girls I know always curl their hair on pipestems and think they're far shyer than curling tongs."

After Freddie had gone to bed mamma told papa and Aunt Lou all the story about Aunt Lou's present.

"You're a darling, Lou," papa said as he kissed his sister. "I'm really ashamed of myself for laughing."

Aunt Lou smiled. "Why you come to my bubble party," she said.

"I'll do more than that," papa answered; "I'll buy the pipe for it."

THE CHRISTMAS LOVER.
 'Tis love that makes the stars revolve;
 'Tis love that makes the world go round.
 This Christmas purpose I resolve
 On earth to make love more abundant.
 On me, dear maid, thy love bestow,
 And make my full heart's overflow.

NOR gains nor dear to thee I bring,
 Love's offerings I may not sting.
 But love itself I have to spare,
 In boundless store, and all for thee.
 If but thy heart responds to me.

LIVES OF FOREIGNERS TO BE SAFEGUARDED

Mexico City.—Foreigners must not be interfered with if fighting occurs in the federal district. This indication is contained in the general army orders. These orders specifically say that in case of fighting, the officers in command of the government troops must understand that the lives and property of all foreigners are to be respected; that no moneys or supplies are to be exacted from them and that they must be permitted to leave the scene of the fighting at any time. The Mexican public in general appears apathetic with regard to the advance of the rebels. The press of the capital gives preference to news of the federal victories and minimizes or eliminates all stories favorable to the rebels. The financial situation has not changed.

Guessing as to what President Huerta will do virtually has ceased. The public has accepted as true his statements that he will not resign.

No More Arms for Ireland.
 London.—Taking official notice for the first time of the anti-home rule preparations in progress in Ulster, the government issued an order prohibiting further importations of arms into Ireland.

Ex-Train Robber Would Be Governor.
 Oklahoma City, Okla.—Al Jennings, reformer, hand and train robber, is now a respected attorney at law, will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma next year.

The following record of home credit work was written by a little second grade girl. "Made my bed four times. Wiped the dishes three times. Went after the milk five times. I sat the table three times. Swept the floors. Set the chairs to the table to time. Slept with my window open. Went to bed before nine."

NEWS NOTES OF IDAHO

Mayor Hodges, of Boise, is out for governor, and has issued a statement which, it is believed, is meant as a "feeler" of the pulse of the voters in his state.

Oregon, Idaho and Washington creamery men, butter and cheese makers who are members of the butter and cheese associations of these states, held their annual convention at La Grande.

The remains of a man, believed to be Charles Martin, who disappeared in March, 1910, from the sheep camp of Tex Riley, were found about four miles from Reverse, by a Greek, who was crossing that section.

A campaign extension and organization will be inaugurated by the North Pacific Fruit Distributors after the first of the year. The movement will cover Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Montana, and all districts now organized. A field committee, headed by H. C. Sampson, secretary-treasurer, will go into the various districts for a systematic working of the entire northwest territory.

One of the justices of the supreme court is authority for the statement that 45 per cent of the business that gets into the supreme court has its origin in the north end of the state and a large part of this percentage comes from Kootenai county.

Representative Smith, of Idaho, will urge an appropriation to reimburse the mail carriers on star routes for the losses which they sustain by reason of being compelled to carry parcel post packages without additional compensation.

G. I. S. News

The Genesee Improvement society met Saturday afternoon in the library rooms. Owing to the near approach to the holiday season the attendance was small and but little new work was undertaken.

In behalf of Miss Marie Tobin, Mrs. Hirschberger presented the society a beautiful motto, to be hung in the library rooms. It is a piece of Miss Tobin's own handwork and is greatly appreciated. A vote of thanks was extended for the gift.

It was also decided to place a box in the postoffice for Christmas donations to carry on the work of the society.

The next meeting will be held in the library rooms on January 3. Suggestions from outsiders as well as members for carrying on the work will be greatly appreciated.

Faulkner-Moore
 Miss Katherine Faulkner of Genesee and C. B. Moore of Pomeroy, Wash., were quietly married at Lewiston on Wednesday, December 3, at the Methodist parsonage, the Methodist minister of that city officiating.

The newly-married pair came to Genesee Thursday for a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Boggs, leaving that afternoon for Altoona, Pa., where Mr. Moore will engage in the picture show business. Mr. and Mrs. Moore are both former residents of the east.

Miss Faulkner came to Genesee more than a year ago and has been engaged in teaching music. She leaves behind a host of friends who wish both she and her husband a long and happy wedded life.

OUTLAW KILLED BY COWLITZ OFFICERS

"Pat" of Dead Man, Who Escaped, Thought to Be an Ex-Convict.

Chehalis, Wash.—Deputy Sheriff Kirby and Howell, of Cowlitz county, killed an unknown desperado just north of Toledo, 32 miles south of Chehalis, on the Cowlitz river. The dead man was one of a pair which, it is alleged, robbed the Castle Rock hardware store of Wehltje & Gehman. The second man, believed possibly to be Mike Donnelly, a mulatto, a paroled convict from the state penitentiary at Walla Walla, made his escape.

The Cowlitz county officers trailed the two men up the river to Toledo and apparently had lost track of them. He Ritter went into town shortly after the noon hour and gave them the information they wanted, which led to the battle.

The details of the immediate events leading up to the shooting are said to have been that when the sheriff's posse approached the outlaws the latter were on a level place at the top of a small hill and had their campfire in the middle of the trail. Salai several feet high surrounded the place. Gladys Jain and her posse approached the two men to throw up their hands, and apparently they did so, stepping back out of sight and opening fire on the posse. The deputies began firing about the same time, and eight or ten shots were exchanged in all.

MANY DEAD IN TEXAS FLOODS

Estimated Loss Is $4,000,000, and Thousands Driven From Homes.
 Bryan, Tex.—Sixty-one persons are known to be dead and scores of others are reported to have lost their lives in the floods which have swept the valleys of the Brazos and Trinity rivers in Central and South Central Texas since early in the week. Three thousand persons were driven to the upper floors of their homes by the rising waters or compelled to seek refuge in trees, where they remained for hours, in some cases for two days, before they were rescued.

Estimates place the damage at $4,000,000.

Sayre Are in London.

London.—Mrs. and Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre have arrived in London where they will join the American ambassador and Miss Page, and were driven to the ambassador's residence, where they will stay while in London. Mrs. Sayre, who was Miss Jessie Wilson until a few days ago, is said to have proved a poor sailor and to have had an unenjoyable voyage.

NEEDLE ATTACKS ON WOMEN TO BE PROBED

Newark, N. J.—Federal authorities probably will join state officers in an investigation of the poison needle mystery growing out of the experience of Mrs. Marjorie Graft in a moving-picture theater here. So far the only arrest is that of Armand Magaro, a young South American, who is held in $20,000 bail on an assault charge made by Mrs. Graft after a man seated near her in a box jabbed a needle into her arm and she was seized with drowsiness.

The cases of five young women reported to have been victims of experiments similar to those of Mrs. Graft are being investigated by the police, and the attention of the federal authorities has been brought to the Graft case in connection with their inquiry into several white slave cases.

The needle used on Mrs. Graft had not been dipped in poison, so far as the microscopic examination showed. There will be an effort to obtain the nature of the drug used.

BRYAN OUTWITS WOMAN

Secretary Escapes Ambush by Delivering Curt Evasive Answer.
 Washington.—Secretary Bryan narrowly escaped a suffrage ambush at a meeting of the national popular government league, where he spoke on popular government. A delegation of woman suffragists took places in the hall, at which it had been advertised the secretary of state was to speak, and near the conclusion of his address Miss Helen Todd, a California suffragist, arose and called out:

"And how about popular government for women, Mr. Secretary?"

With flashing eyes, the secretary said: "Madam, in your work you doubtless have followed your judgment and conscience. In my work, I have followed mine."

The suffragists made no further efforts to secure an expression from Bryan and the secretary immediately hereafter left the hall.

FARMERS UNION MEETING

Two Days' Session at Moscow— Favor Good Roads—Officers Elected

The county convention of the Farmers' union of this county was held in Moscow on last Friday and Saturday, with 100 delegates in attendance.

President L. C. Crow and other prominent speakers were in attendance and addressed the convention, which was conceded to be one of the best and most beneficial held thus far.

They condemned the legislatures of Idaho for useless waste of state funds in having doubled the number of officials and assistants in the state during the past 12 years and resolutions were adopted urging that convicts be worked on public highways, that justices of the peace be given more power in settling smaller cases and that there be no appeals where the fine does not exceed $25; that all property should be assessed at prices that it would sell for at public auction, and that senators and representatives be urged to dispense with gambling in futures on farm products, and that unnecessary laws, officials and assistants be dispensed with.

War! War! Bloody War!

Volunteers are called for a grand coyote hunt at the Clearwater ranch, to be held in the near future.

Coyotes have become so numerous in the Rimrock section that they are a menace to young pigs in particular and it has been decided to inaugurate a war that will bring the pests to account.

For particulars and plans of the campaign, those who are willing to take part are requested to consult D. Scharnhorst or "Hank" Herman, captains in charge.

Norby Brothers last week received three fine blooded Duroc Jersey hogs which had taken first and second premiums at Boise and Caldwell. The animals were taken to the Norby ranch.

And now comes a report from "Old Maggie So-Happy," an old squaw who has been a resident of the Kittitas country ever in Washington for so long that no one has any idea of her age, and says there will be a mild winter, with only one or two real cold snaps, which will be of short duration.

She related her ideas to a citizen of Ellensburg, Wa. ... the other day, setting forth her reasons why the winter would be mild. She held up a bag of camas roots, saying, "I got these on snow this winter. Squirrels and mice have little food in their nests in the ground and are not dead. This winter not very cold; all the same as the Sound. There will be no cold much before Christmas, but when it comes it will be very cold for a little time; then warm again; then more cold; but not so bad. Not much snow this winter. Snow will be deep in mountain tops but not much in valley. This does not exactly agree with the weather prophets in this part of the country as they have reported that the winter would be long and very cold. That the fur-bearing animals were put on an extra heavy coat and that the squirrels had laid up large stores of nuts for the winter, and that the ground squirrels had burrowed extra deep in the ground.

Dr. C. F. Tuomy last week received a new X-ray machine for use in his hospital. It is one of the most powerful machines of its kind made and is capable of taking a picture of the working parts of the human organism in 120th part of a second. In other words, a snapshot of the heart or lungs can be taken the same as any other picture. Heretofore this has been impossible on account of the length of time required for the exposure.

Watch for our clubbing offers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Spurbuck are the proud parents of a nine-pound baby boy, born Monday evening, December 8.

The buttonhook brigade was out in Catholic gulch—"one day the first of last week"—hunting coyotes, and from all accounts it was some hunt.

Quite a number of the sneaking animals were seen and each took turns taking a shot at them. Finally Heinie Herman took revenge and turned his artillery on one with the result that he crippled it so badly it took to a hole under some rocks. The brigade immediately assembled and a council of war was held to find out the best way to get the coyote out of the hole. It was finally decided that they would twist the animal out, so Jesse Gage took up a collection of buttonhooks, tied them on a stick and tried to persuade the animal to dislodge. Failing in this a few "blind" shots were taken in the hole. Then Jesse Gage was selected, by lot, to board the animal in his den.

Jesse having had a previous accident when he slid about twenty feet down the side of the gulch, was somewhat reluctant about entering the cave, but finally agreed to do so. Just what happened, no one seems to have a clear idea, but the boys got the coyote and took his scalp.

It is also reported that this same coyote ate the lunches from the backs of Glenn Sampson and Ray Priest while they were shooting at another of his kind across the gulch.

The brigade was composed of Tug Carlander, Heinie Herman, Dick Vandenberg, Ray Priest, Jesse Gage, Bill Cook and Glenn Sampson.

Why Christianity Triumphed." In the evening the subject will be—"Some of the Real Reasons why not more men are in the churches." All who have been present at previous services and have heard reasons given by the men themselves, should not fail to attend the service next Sunday night. Some of the men have done some hard hitting and we were glad to get their views and have been charitable enough to read their letters publicly to the church, and now we hope that they will treat us fair by coming out to hear what the pastor and the church has to say in reply, and we believe that if they are "in the square," they will do so. Come with the expectation of hearing plain words. Every question has two sides, let us have the other side of this one. We shall have good music and a half hour of enthusiastic and honest heart to heart talk on this great subject. All the men of Genesee are requested to come out and see whether or not the pastor tells the truth.

Some of the teachers had signified a desire that there be only one week's vacation at this time and another in the spring, but owing to the fact that Christmas comes on Thursday this year and the New Year holiday comes just one week later, it was decided that it would be best to have the full two weeks at this time.
The board inspected the finishing process of the basement rooms and found everything progressing nicely. When finished it will add three fine basement rooms to the building, which can be used for any purpose for which they may be needed.
There being no further business the board adjourned.

Genesee Horses Win at Northwest Show—Several Good Sales Are Made

Follett & Schooler have returned from the Northwest Livestock show at Lewiston and are well pleased with their success there in both premiums and sales.
In premiums they received first on their Shire colt, which animal also carried off the junior grand championship; second on black Percheron colt, second on two-year-old filly, which is considered a very handsome winning, taking into consideration the number in competition.
They sold a span of two and three-year-old colts to E. S. Sweet of Grangeville for $1,420.00; a span of two and three-year-olds to Robt. T. Sloan of LaCrosse, Wash., who also purchased one of their fine stallions; a two-year-old filly to Jno. Wilkes of Grangeville for $2,000.00.
This leaves this firm only four thoroughbred horses, but it is expected Mr. Schooler will again go east in the spring and bring back another carload of the same quality as was purchased last spring—than which no finer have ever been brought to this part of the country.
D. R. Davis also received some first, second and third premiums on grade horses.
Fred Perkins also carried away several premiums and made some good sales, particulars of which we were unable to get in time for use this week.

Cow Creek Items

Our Saviour's Lutheran church and Trinity Lutheran church have decided to have a union Christmas tree festival. Rev. Breivik left for Spokane last Tuesday and will remain there over Sunday.
There will be no services in Our Saviour's Lutheran church on Sunday as the pastor will preach in one of the Lutheran churches in Spokane on that day.
Mrs. James Huntback, nee Johnson, is going to California shortly. She has been visiting with her parents for some time. Last Sunday evening her friends came to bid her good-bye and wish her good luck in her new home.

Board of Equalization Adjourns

The members of the county board, who had been sitting for some time as a board of equalization, finished their work and adjourned on Friday, after having ordered rebates amounting to $10 for an error in the assessment of W. O. Cox.
The tabulations submitted the board by Assessor Martinson, and which were approved by the board, showed that he had collected $19,545.66 as personal property taxes in Latah county not charged against any real estate to secure its payment.
In addition to this there were $5,946.99 transferred to the real estate assessment rolls and charged against other assessable property. There appeared also an item of $3717.79 assessed as personal property tax against the First National bank, which is now in litigation, making a grand total disposed of by the board of $29,209.93.

Class Reception

On last Saturday night the Philathea and Baraca classes of the Congregational Sunday school held a joint reception in the basement of the church, with a number of prospective members present. About 20 in all were in attendance to enjoy the evening.
At 8 o'clock an elaborate supper was served, followed by games of various kinds. Two guessing contests were had in which Dr. McCoil and Laura Phipps took the first prizes and Melvin Wardrobe and Jewel Swenson took the booby prizes. All present report a fine time.

IDAHO UNIVERSITY

LIVESTOCK SPECIAL

Will Be in Genesee for Two Hours December 20—Of Interest To All

The University Live Stock Special will consist of two Automobile cars with end doors opening upon a flat car for exhibiting the livestock placed between the auto cars; a lecture car; a home economics car, where relative food values of the various butchers cuts of meat will be shown and receipts given for making cheaper cuts palatable and appetizing; a sleeper and a combination office car for use of representatives of the Railroad and University.

In the auto cars will be found the following animals: The Champion Percheron mare Amoria, a university-bred 2-year-old Shire, a yearling Clydesdale filly, a Shorthorn steer, a Hereford heifer and a representative Angus. Outstanding specimens of the Jersey, Holstein-Friesian and Guernsey breeds of dairy cattle; Poland China, Duroc-Jersey, Berkshire and Chester White hogs; Shropshire, Southdown, Cotswold and Rambouillet sheep.

These individuals from the University here will be used to illustrate the possibilities of live stock breeding and feeding in Idaho and to show what great returns will come to our commonwealth when feeders as well as breeders give their attention to raising and keeping better live stock.

This train seeks to show that livestock may be used as a means of marketing the larger part of the grain and forage crops and thus adopt factory methods on the farm. Thus the Live stock specialists seek to give an impetus to the movement for diversified farming in north Idaho by making livestock the universal basic crop of the farm.

The special will arrive in Genesee on the afternoon of December 20, at 3:15 and will remain here until 5:15, which will give two hours for lectures and the exhibition of stock, and each and every farmer, whether he expects to raise stock this year or not, should be present and hear what these men who have made a study of stock conditions, have to say regarding the raising of livestock in Idaho and how it may best be done.

Some Bear—Also Coyotes

The Kendrick Gazette reports that a "large bear was killed on 'Big Bear' ridge"—a very fitting place for a big bear. One of the hunters who gave chase to bruin did not shoot at the animal because he was afraid his gun was not large enough. He was finally brought down by a shot from a 30-30 rifle. The animal is reported as being white and weighing 500 pounds. It would seem that this part of the country is a little far south for Polar bears, but one may be gotten away from it this year or not, should be present and hear what these men who have made a study of stock conditions, have to say regarding the raising of livestock in Idaho and how it may best be done.

Carlson Found Guilty

Dr. H. P. Carlson, whose trial for the cutting up of Olaf Pearson was held the latter part of last week, was found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon by the jury who had heard the case. At the time of going to press, sentence had not been passed upon Carlson, but it is more than likely he will be sentenced this week.
Olaf J. Pearson, the man whom Carlson assaulted, was produced in court, but was not allowed to testify on account of being an inmate of the asylum at Orofino.

THE ISLAND OF THE STAIRS

Being a True Account of Certain Strange and Wonderful Adventures of Master John Hampdon, Seaman, and Mistress Lucy Wilberforce, Gentlewoman, in the Great South Sea.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Copyright, 1912, by Cyrus Townsend Brady

SYNOPSIS
The body of Sir Geoffrey Wilberforce, ruined gambler and suicide, is found by Hampdon, a sailing ship. Hampdon quarrels with the Duke of Arondeur.

Hampdon breaks the news to Lucy Wilberforce. Lucy already has a letter from her father's body.

It contains a map of a map of a treasure island. Lucy already has the other half. There are directions for finding the treasure.

Hampdon punishes the duke for insulting Lucy. Hampdon and Lucy start in a ship for the island of the stairs. Hampdon is imprisoned in a cabin. Desperate man in the crew mutiny.

Pimball and Gibby demand the map of the island of Hampdon, who promises to join the mutiny. Hampdon demands possession of Lucy.

The leader's her with respect and offers to save her from the mutineers. The pair escape to the island of the stairs. The mutineers become intoxicated, and Hampdon and Lucy leave the ship for the island, which is nearby.

They are carried over a coral reef to the island, where they find rude stoves and mountaineers pursue them, but are stopped by the reef, and Hampdon and Lucy make a search for the hidden treasure.

They pass a strange altar surrounded by human bones and skulls and find the cave mentioned on the map.

They discover a vast quantity of gold, silver, and precious stones. War canoes of savages approach the island. Hampdon and Lucy flee to the treasure cave.

CHAPTER XV.
Wherein We Are Bequeathed in the

It did not occur to us for a single moment that the savages had any knowledge of the treasure and that they could be after that. Not for the thousandth part of a second did I dream that the savages were led by Pimball, Gibby and most of the other seamen of the Rose of Devon. I did not know then that the Rose of Devon had gone ashore in the terrific storm I have described, or that there had been a battle with the savages, who sought to plunder the ship, but were prevented at frightful loss to the islanders, who were unable to contend successfully against the firearms with which the ship was abundantly provided. A means of communication between the ship and the shore had been found, and I had seen the greater part thereof, but toward morning my head dropped back on the pile of furs, and I fell asleep. Yet I did not relax my grasp upon the sleeping figure lying upon my breast. It was as the wind that sifted through the trees outside, which penetrated faintly into the cave, and at frequent intervals the cry of some night bird came to me, but there was no sound of humanity.

How long we sat there I know not. It was my purpose to keep awake the night through, and I think I must have kept awake the greater part thereof, but toward morning my head dropped back on the pile of furs, and I fell asleep. Yet I did not relax my grasp upon the sleeping figure lying upon my breast. It was as the wind that sifted through the trees outside, which penetrated faintly into the cave, and at frequent intervals the cry of some night bird came to me, but there was no sound of humanity.

"Why did you not awaken me?" she asked reproachfully. "I don't know. I must have" — I began in great confusion. "You must have gone to sleep yourself," she laughed. "I am ashamed," I replied, "that I should have failed in my duty to keep good watch. I didn't awake you when I might because you needed sleep your self, and then, like a big animal, I went to sleep myself."

hands. Save for the stiffness of the constrained position and some slight pain caused by the damp we were both fit for any adventure.

"Well, we should have need of our strength. When we finish our meal and our refreshing ablutions, she looked at me inquiringly. "Well, what next?" "The best thing," said I, "is to see what is toward."

"You won't leave the cave," she said, catching me by the shoulder. "I should find it difficult were I so minded," I answered, smiling and thrilling to her touch again, as always. Indeed, I have never got used to it even after all these years. As I look back at it now I do not think I have ever had happier moments in my life than those in which she clung to me and was dependent upon me.

"Why not?" she asked. "You forget that we broke down the way last night."

"But you are a sailor; you might make shift."

"Yes; but not you," I answered. "Without you I go nowhere."

"Come," said I, "let us go into the outer room. We may find out something."

I had wound my watch in the dark and looked at it now as we came into the light. My watch showed that it was the morning watch, or about half after 9. We went past the altar with its grim, bony circle of attendants and stared through the entrance. There was an open space in front of the cliff forty or fifty yards wide perhaps. After looking some time and seeing nothing, I foolishly went on and saw that there was no difference in the end-stopped out upon the shelf which made a sort of platform in front of the cave, and Mistress Lucy fearlessly came with me.

We had scarcely appeared in view when to our astounded surprise we heard the report of a firearm and a heavy bullet struck the coral wall just over our heads. I had just time to mark the spot whence it came by the betraying smoke as I leaped back into the shelter, carrying my precious charge before me. I was puzzled beyond measure. I was certain that the sea knew nothing about firearms, and I could not account for it. The shower of arrows and spears that came through the opening and fell harmlessly on the sand I could easily account for, but not that shot.

"That," said I solemnly, "was a narrow escape."

"Do these islanders have firearms?" she said, the same thought in her mind. "I never heard of it. I cannot account for it."

"I can, though," she said. "Just before the discharge of that gun I caught the sight of a man in clothes such as you wear. Could it be possible that it was some one from the ship?"

I nodded my head. "It is quite likely," I answered. "At this moment conversation was interrupted by a hail. I heard in that lonely island my own name called. "Master Hampdon," the cry came to us, "will you respect a flag of truce? If so show yourself at the opening, and I shall do the same."

"Don't go," cried my little mistress, hearing all; "they are utterly without honor and!"

"I think it will be best for me to go," I said. "Stand clear so that if any treacherous movement be made I shall have space to leap backward, and meanwhile look to your weapons."

I examined my pistols and then calling out that I would faithfully observe the flag of truce I stepped out into the open. There below me on the edge of the glade, convenient to a tree behind which he could leap, for the rescue!

PROTECT MIGRATORY BIRDS

Federal Inspector Visits Idaho to Look After Enforcement of New Law.
Boise.—It is the daily closed season between sunset and sunrise, as there has been no law applying to night shooting in Idaho heretofore. It is very important from the standpoint of the sportsman that this law be enforced, as there is nothing which drives the water fowl out of the country as quick as night shooting. The old-time market hunters realized this, and it was their practice to quit shooting just as soon as it made it possible to see the flash from their guns.

Idaho Lumbering On.
Boise.—Few deals closed in this state have been considered of more importance than the one that has just been consummated here by the state land board in disposing of 15,000 acres of timber in the Boise basin to the Barber Lumber company, which, with the holdings of the Fayette Lumber & Manufacturing company, has been merged and incorporated in a new $7,000,000 lumber corporation, the second largest in the United States, now known as the Boise-Payette Lumber company.

Idaho Man Nabbed At Ogden.
Pocatello.—Facing a charge of arson, made by P. D. Smith, prosecuting attorney of Bannock county, Walter Grant was arrested as a fugitive from justice at Ogden as he was stepping from an Oregon Short Line train. The prosecuting attorney says that Grant is to be tried on the charge of hiring a negro named "Frisco," a Pocatello character, to set fire to the Smith home on July 23, following prosecution of Grant on the charge of bootlegging.

Negro Accused As Lewiston Slayer.
Lewiston.—The coroner's jury drew to investigate the killing of B. B. Morgan Thanksgiving eve, returned a verdict "that B. B. Morgan came to his death from gun-shot wounds from a weapon in the hands of Arthur Barker. William Anderson, who was shot through the thigh by Barker, a negro, at the same time Morgan was killed, is in a serious condition. Barker collapsed after being taken to the county jail.

New Depot For Kellogg Assured.
Kellogg.—A new depot is assured, but actual work will not begin on it until the spring weather permits, according to announcement received by the city council Tuesday. The railroad officials state that a modern $9,000 building will be put up here early in the spring and that every convenience for the traveling public will be afforded.

Pocatello Route Caldwell Team.
Caldwell.—The Academy of Idaho football team from Pocatello defeated the College of Idaho team on its own grounds here by a score of 13 to 3. Pocatello scored the first touchdown after four minutes of play by straight formations and a cleverly executed forward pass. Goal was kicked.

Company Heads Are Dined.
Sandpoint.—Clerks and heads of departments of the Humbird Lumber company, with their wives and friends were entertained at dinner at the Hotel Idaho by T. J. Humbird.

No More Passes For R. R. Officials.
Philadelphia.—President Samuel Rea, of the Pennsylvania railroad, cannot ride on his own railroad in this state after January 7, free of charge. An order abolishing all passes for officers, employes and their families was announced at the general offices here.

Burns Gets $10,000 For McNamara Job.
Sacramento, Cal.—A warrant for $10,000 reward for the capture of John J. and James B. McNamara, dynamiters of the Los Angeles Times building, was drawn by State Controller Chambers.

NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Literacy Test May Bar Out Foreigners Ineligible to Naturalization

Washington.—The long struggle over currency reform is expected to come to an end in the senate next Sat.

Important changes in the railroad laws, a comprehensive study of the trust question and a reopening of the fight over a literacy test for immigrants are dividing attention of the house with the new economy program that was launched by the "economy conference" of house leaders.

Speaker Clark, Democratic Leader Underwood and Chairman Fitzgerald, of the appropriations committee, sponsors for this latter movement, have called a second conference for next Saturday to ascertain what progress has been made in reducing the proposed appropriations for the year.

May Impose Literacy Test

The house will soon be in the thick of its fight for immigration reform. The immigration committee probably will report a bill which would impose a literacy test, bar out foreigners ineligible to naturalization and not provided for by treaties, strengthen the prohibition against aliens who advocate the unlawful destruction of property and increase the head tax per immigrant to $5.

The proposed literacy test will be open debate on the feature which led President Taft to veto substantially the same bill last winter.

Non-Resident Law Aided

Non-resident enlarged homesteads will be permitted in Oregon, Washington, California, Montana and several other western states, if congress passes a bill recently introduced by Representative Taylor, of Colorado. Under existing law, non-resident homesteads may be made in Utah and Idaho, but nowhere else.

The Taylor bill provides that the secretary of interior may designate for non-resident entry, under the enlarged homestead law, not to exceed 2,000,000 acres in each of the states named, when he finds that areas settled on do not have sufficient land supply for domestic purposes, such as would make continuous residence possible.

Entrymen who avail themselves of the non-residence homestead law, however, in making proof must show that they have cultivated one-sixteenth of the area of their entry beginning the second year, and one-eighth of the area for the third and successive years until final proof is made, and they must also reside within such distance of their land as to enable them to farm it personally.

Congress Favors Presidential Primary

A careful poll indicates a clear majority of the senate and house favors presidential preference primaries.

Only a small minority is outspoken in its opposition to anti-trust legislation with the candidates formulating the platform upon which they will appeal to the people for election. President Wilson has adopted the plan.

The sole obstacle in the way of prompt action by congress on this matter is the doctrine of states' rights. It is the excuse which those really opposed to the primary principle will offer.

National Capital Brevities.

President Wilson, who has been suffering from a severe cold the past week, was able to be out of bed Sunday.

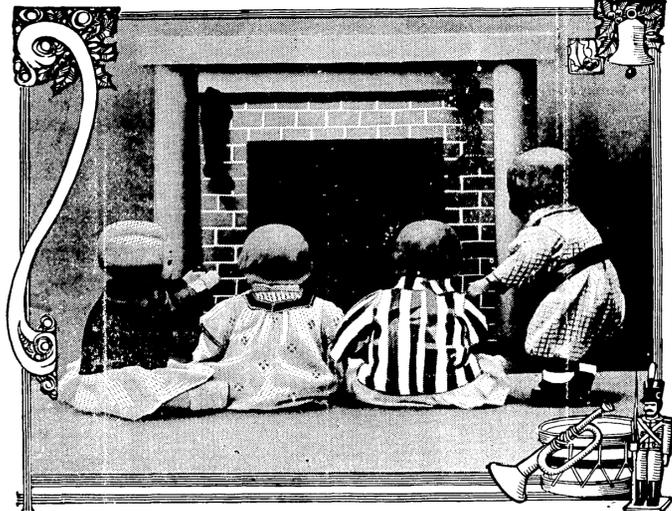

Secretary of War Garrison told the house committee on military affairs that the total authorized strength of the army was 85,000, against a total population of 100,000,000 people under the American flag and that he could not see how the government could get along with less than that number of soldiers in times of peace.

Resolutions were adopted by the senate calling on the agricultural department to investigate complaints of western cattle men that Argentine meat without proper marking as such, is being sold in the American markets.

Secretary Houston conducted a public hearing at the offices of the department of agriculture, Thursday, in order that all persons interested in the importation of the common, or Irish potato from Canada and Europe may have a chance to be heard concerning the establishment of a quarantine, to be effective January 1, 1914.

FEEDING TESTS FOR DEVELOPING PIGS

That pigs with the greatest food capacity are the most economical pork producers seems to have been conclusively shown in a series of feeding tests at the Oregon Agricultural college station, conducted by Professor G. R. Samson. The profit of feeding 100 pigs of the best feeding type for 61 days would be $297.50 while the profit of feeding the same number of the poorest feeders for the same time would be but $115.65. As these profits are exclusive of labor and investment, the feeding operation with the poorest pigs would be impractical.

In the test, 30 pigs of different litters were divided into lots of 10 each, evenly as to weight, sex and parage. The litters were also divided as evenly as possible among the three lots.

All the lots were fed rations of 90 per cent barley and 10 per cent tankage. Lot 1 was fed dry rations, by hand; lot two by a self feeder, and lot 3 soaked rations by hand.

For each 100 pounds of grain, lot 1 consumed 462.5 pounds of feed, lot 2 consumed 418.2 pounds, and lot 3 consumed 449.8 pounds.

The difference in daily gain among the litters of pigs was from 1.42 to 1.86 pounds, while the difference between the lots varied only from 1.47 to 1.84 pounds. It is thus seen that the variation among the lots was less than among the litters, the poorest lot being better than the poorest litter and the best lot being poorer than the best litter.

The best individual pig gained 2.44 pounds daily during the 61 days while the poorest gained but 1 pound during the same time. The individual litters gained 1.42, 1.43, 1.67, 1.85 and 1.86 pounds, respectively.

As to self feeders, these tests confirm previous tests carried out at the station which showed that they are economical factors in pork production. The labor of feeding is cut down more than one half by their use, while the daily gains are greater per 100 pounds of feed and more rapid. Of course great care was exercised in getting the pigs accustomed to eating from the self feeders, but no difficulty was experienced.

While results as to the value of soaking the feed are not at all conclusive, it appears that soaking the barley for 12 hours before it is fed gives the best results.

Dr. W. L. Carlyle has again been elected president of the Latah County Fair association. M. E. Lewis is vice president and H. Melgard was elected treasurer. The grandstand will be enlarged and the grounds improved before time for the holding of the next annual session of the fair.

A Feel In the Christmas Air

By JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

THEY're a kind o' feel in the air to me
When the Christmas times sets in That's about as much of a mystery
As ever I've run ag'in.
Fer instance, now, whilse I gain in weight
And general health, I swear
They's a goneness somers I can't quite state—
A kind o' feel in the air.

They's a feel in the Christmas air goes right
To the spot where a man lives at!
It gives a feller an appetite—
They ain't no doubt about that!
And yit they's somepin—I don't know what—
That follers me here and there
And ha'n't and worries and spares me not—
A kind o' feel in the air.

They's a feel, as I say, in the air that's jest
As blamed-on sad as sweet.
In the same r-asho as I feel the best
And am the spryest on my feet
They's allus a kind o' sort of a ache
That I can't locate nowhere.
But it comes with Christmas, and no mistake—
A kind o' feel in the air.

Is it the racket the children raise?
Why, no!—God bless 'em, no!
Is it the eyes and the cheeks ablaze,
Like my own wuz long ago?
Is it the bleat o' the whistle and beat
O' the little toy drum and blare
O' the horn? No, no! It is jest the sweet—
The sad-sweet feel in the air.

Complaint Made

Complaint is still being made of the quality of eggs that are being sold on the market, the merchants receiving many complaints of bad eggs from consumers. There is a very strict pure food law regulating the quality of eggs, as well as other foods, and in case the pure food inspector should find bad eggs in the possession of the grocer, he is the man who will have to suffer and pay a fine if they are being offered for sale.

The time is not far distant when eggs will come under the same regulation as butter—labeled and the date placed thereon—the same as is done in some other states, thus insuring good eggs as no rancher would want his name on an egg that was not perfectly good.

Boys often chase the cows, not realizing the great danger and even cruelty they cause. They should be taught gentleness toward all animals, and particularly toward horses and cattle.

A Good Recommendation

In his recent address before the National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry the Secretary of Agriculture made the following reference to seed distribution: You may be interested to know that in the estimates just submitted to Congress it has been recommended that the distribution of ordinary vegetable and flower seeds be discontinued and that part of the $300,000 heretofore devoted to this purpose be used to procure, propagate and distribute among the people, new and valuable seeds and plants. If Congress sees fit in its wisdom to accept the recommendation, particular attention will be given to the distribution of new and valuable seeds, whose character and quality will be thoroughly known and tested; and pains will be taken in every instance to see that a sufficient supply is sent to make it worth while for the individual farmer to make an experiment.

SILO SAVES TEN CENTS PER DAY PER HORSE

In the current issue of the Farm and Fireside, in the "Livestock and Dairy" department, Ralph Brown writes an article showing how silos are a great farm economy. After writing specifically on the subject, he goes on to make the following general summary: "A silo will put the small farmer on his feet. Silage makes possible a saving of 10 cents a day on a cow's ration. If you feed 10 cows for 200 days, you will have saved $200 on your feeding bill as compared to other rations. Ten cows feeding for 200 days will require a 40-ton silo. A concrete silo of such capacity can be built for about $1000. That means something to a farmer. But that is not all of the problem. It has been proven by test that corn cut and stored as silage will yield 13 per cent more milk and 11 per cent more butter-fat than an equal amount of corn cut and fed as dry forage."

Who is Studying Agriculture

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears an editorial which raises the question as to who is studying agriculture. It appears that although our agricultural colleges are crowded with boys from the city and towns, less than a third of them are from the farm. The editorial goes on as follows: "Agricultural education is becoming fashionable. Young men without any call to the gospel of farming are in the agricultural courses, because they think it is good course, or because they swim with the current and take what the other fellows are taking."

"The boys on the farms are not many of them taking the agricultural courses for the purposes of fitting themselves for farm life."

"For that reason the true policy of the states is to ruralize the rural school fill them with vocational studies, train common school teachers for the teaching of rural schools which are correlated with farm life, and thus make sure that the boy or girl who goes to school at all will have a practical education—whether he goes to high school or college or not."

Contents of Eggs

Hens' eggs contain 50 per cent water, 16 per cent protein, 33 per cent fat.

Ducks' eggs, 46 per cent water, 17 per cent protein, 36 per cent fat.

Crow's eggs, 44 per cent water, 19 per cent protein, 36 per cent fat.

Turkeys' eggs, 48 per cent water, 18 per cent protein, 33 per cent fat.

Protein, as is generally known, is the substance that goes to make muscle and blood. Fat, of course, is fuel for running the body machine. Thus, it will be seen, eggs, though half or nearly half water, are extremely nutritious, containing all the elements required for the building up and support of the human body.

The Chicago and Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will build a line from Coeur d'Alene through the Fourth of July canyon to Wallace. That work will begin in the spring is indicated by the fact that a map of definite location of the route between Coeur d'Alene and Wallace has been filed in the land office at Coeur d'Alene by the Spokane, Wallace & Interstate railway, a subsidiary of the Milwaukee.

Coeur d'Alene is to have a fish hatchery in full operation by the middle of January. The hatchery is the result of the united efforts of the progressive citizens near the Coeur d'Alene lake who have contributed $3000 for its building. When completed the hatchery will be turned over to the state and will be operated under the direction of the state fish and game warden.

The total mineral production of Idaho in 1912 was $2,116,390, according to E. W. Parker, of the United States geological survey. The increase over 1911 was $3,274,845. Lead constitutes about 60 per cent of the total mineral output of the state, the production for 1912 being valued at $1,783,355, an increase of $523,311 over that of 1911. About 94 per cent of the refined lead came from the Coeur d'Alene district, in Shoshone county, the center of the mining industry of the state. As a lead producer, Idaho ranks second among the states, Missouri being first. Second in importance in the mineral products of the state is silver, the value of which in 1912 was $5,101,285, the increase over 1911 being $1,783,315 over the value in 1911. Shoshone county yields 91 per cent of the silver output.

Little Jack Horner and His Christmas Pie

With Variations in the Style of the Poets

By CALLY RYLAND

LITTLE Jack Horner sat in a corner
Eating his Christmas pie,
He put in his thumb and pulled out a plum
And said, "What a good boy am I!"

If Edgar Allan Poe had written it,
See Jack Horner in his corner
With his pie,
Where's his name? Will no one warn her?
He will die!
With a thimble that is doing
While he's gloating, gloating, gloating,
He is fishing for the floating
Plum, oh, my!
All his boast of being good,
Careful of his daily food,
Faintles merrily within his saucy eye,
Eye, eye.

This Would Be Walt Whitman's Style
I sing the Christmas pie,
The flour, the lard, the butter that compose it;
The richness of its stuffing,
A divine nimbus exhales from it.
It attracts with force, undeniable attraction,
I am drawn by its breath no less than Jack Horner, who holds it upon his knees.
I am one with the plum concealed in its manly vastness.
I loosen myself, pass freely and am at the door of Heaven,
To taste its ingredients.
But he does not know how to get at you, pie.
He sits, steeply considering the pose of his head, his buffed-out lips, betraying his gluttony.
Presently a fine smile comes on to his firm thumb. Its crust yields.
He presses through it, you are all Oh, young men, I would not have you sit in a corner considering pie stuffings
I loved a certain Christmas pie ardently, and it gave me indignation.
Yet out of that I have written this song!

In the Great William Shakespeare's Style
Sweet pastry, do not scorn me, do not gibe
And scorn at me with crusty surliness
I know that in your flaky depths is hidden
A mammoth plum, which, 'Ods my little life!
I'll have it if I must swing for 't!
Jacques,
While thou art, with swathing stab of the thumb,
Smote through the crispy lid, which erst held light,
And with triumphant shout, "Ods boddy!"
A good lad!" withdrew the sought-for plum.

Algeron Charles Swinburne's Style
Here where the world is quiet,
Here upon Christmas day,
With plum and a pie for diet,
In a corner sat Horner,
He ate and drank and was merry,
No finger was ever flexed
To snank a plum with glee
To mouth that plum away.

SNAPPING THE CRANBERRY.
Dinner Game Suggested, but Not Recommended.
This is a game to be played at the Christmas table. When the cranberry sauce is brought on each guest must place a cranberry on the end of a knife, holding the knife in the left hand with the right hand close behind the cranberry. At the word "snap," the hostess, the cranberry should be snapped with the first finger of the right hand at the target. The game shall be continued until each player has snaked away all of his cranberries. The score is counted thus: Hitting the hostess with a cranberry counts one.
Hitting grandpa counts two; grandpa, three; Uncle Will, four; Uncle Tom, five, and so on, depending on whom the guests and those around the table are.

A cranberry that goes on the floor is out of play, but one that falls in any person's lap or sticks in the hair or on a coat or dress can be picked up and played again. Anybody that hits anybody else separately on the nose counts fifty to the lucky player's score. This is a highly exciting game and one that all will enjoy, especially the hostess.—New York World.

Saddening.
"What makes little Tommy so sad on this happy Christmas day?" asked Fossilie.
"His presents are all unbreakable," replied Keeblee.—Town Topics.

A Fin de Sicile Catastrophe.
"Twas the night preceding Christmas,
And Santa far away,
He lacked enough of gasoline
To run his dearest sleigh.

TREASURY RELICS

Historical Treasures on File in the Auditor's Office.

ACCOUNTS OF G. WASHINGTON.

These Cover a Period of Eight Years and are in the Handwriting of the Great Patriot—Receipts Signed by Daniel Webster and Henry Clay.

The archives of the United States treasury are rich with relics. In the files of the auditor of the treasury department may be seen the canceled check showing the payment to Lafayette in 1824 of $200,000 by the United States "in consideration of his services and sacrifices in the war of the Revolution." William H. Crawford, then secretary of the treasury, signed the warrant, and in the characteristic French handwriting on the reverse is the indorsement of Lafayette. A canceled check or warrant for $15,000,000 represents the payment for the Louisiana purchase under the treaty of 1803.

The purchase under the treaty, characterized at the time as "Seward's folly," of Alaska is evidenced by a warrant for $2,000,000, signed by F. E. Seward, who at the time was secretary of the treasury. The wording of the warrant begins and runs, "Pay to the undersigned envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of His Majesty the emperor of all the Russias." This warrant called for payment in coin and was so paid through the Russian minister at that time.

The purchase of the Philippine Islands from Spain is represented in the important financial transactions of the government by four warrants of $5,000,000 each. As a treaty cannot be entered into by one country directly with one with which it is at war, the warrants were indorsed by Jules Cambon, the French minister, who had deputed authority to represent the Spanish government.

The Panama canal purchase represented the largest financial transaction of the government. The payment was made by a common draft, payable to J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., special dis-bursing agent through whom it was paid to the French company, the former owner. The late J. Pierpont Morgan himself indorsed the draft. A short time previous there had been issued a warrant for $10,000,000, covering the cost of the canal zone, an area of ten miles on each side of the canal. As those canceled checks are held as receipts, it could happen, in case of their loss, that the government might not be able to show that the moneys were actually paid.

Not less interesting as relics are "Accounts—G. Washington with the United States, commencing June, 1775, and ending June, 1782, and covering a space of eight years." Under the caption are three or four dilapidated calligraphic account books in the handwriting of the great American patriot. These accounts were mostly kept while he was on the march, but they were brought up with great accuracy from day to day.

At the end of each book there is a comprehensive recapitulation. Individual monies and funds of the government expended by him are specifically indicated. In a footnote he calls attention to a particular item which he appeared to have paid, but for which he had no voucher. He deduced the amount of the item from his credit until the matter could be definitely settled. All of his accounts are expressed in English money.

A contemporaneous account book kept by Caleb Gibbs shows the personal expenses of Washington and his military "family," meaning, no doubt, his usual staff. The entries are usually headed, "Headquarters, on the march." For the most part they refer to purchases of food supplies, but now and then are such entries as:
"To cash for a broom that Peter bought some time ago, six pence."
"Cash paid for mending the chariot, 1 shilling."
"Agreed with Pezzy for 4 shillings and 4 shillings per dozen for the gentlemen of the family."
Among the things of interest in the auditor's office are books showing allowances to members of congress and from Washington. In the "Third year" the score is counted thus: "Rejected in a fault, uncertain land 'D. Webster'." A payment of $500 for 111 days' attendance is shown to have been made to Henry Clay.—Harper's Weekly.

The Christmas Spirit.

Christmas is a good institution, be it examined from any angle. The Christmas spirit is one to foster and encourage. It means unselfishness, charity, peace, liberality, good cheer, all desirable traits in themselves and all tending to make the world a better place.

While the Christmas holiday is a Christian institution in name, no one religion holds a monopoly of the Christmas spirit. It is common to all religions. It means a striving to make others happier, an effort to better conditions for mankind. It means sharing your good fortune, no matter how small the portions may be. It is the essence of the Golden Rule.

While one can do much good to others by the radiation of the Christmas spirit, the greatest good is done to oneself. No man can bestow a gift, either material or spiritual, on another without benefiting himself. He must elevate himself by the exercise of the emotions that Christmas calls forth, and this elevation must be more or less permanent. No man can be much different one day in the year from what he is the other 364 days.

So blessed be the spirit of Christmas! Exercise it during the closing days of December and you can't help but be the better for it, and you can't help but continue its benevolent influences during the months that follow.

A CHRISTMAS DREAM.
DREAMED a dream one Christmas eve,
The strangest one, you may believe.
'Twas of a world divinely fair
Beyond the blue, far off, somewhere.
There grief and tears were all unknown,
And love supreme reigned on the throne.
We such a joyful, glad world,
Where sorrow's bolts were never hurled!
Here faces glowed with poverty
And the rich in misery.
All equal there were each to each,
The best within a pauper's reach.
No squalid, crowded, downy masses;
No proud, elite or clan made classes;
No social lines, no class distinctions;
In this fair realm beyond the blue;
No stinking rent with piteous voice;
No poor to feed, all had their choice
Of that which seemed just and good.
All things were rightly understood,
No broken hearts or racking pain;
No wretchedness and thoughtless
No grasping, greedy, selfish greed
That others' welfare doth not heed.
All things were perfect to the love
That ruled this spotless world above.

DAD AND MOTHER AND ME.
NODDY Claus
With his red and jolly face
There's not another around the globe
Can travel so swift and so free.
His twinkling eyes and his merry laugh,
His cheeks of budding rosy red,
Nobody else is so dear by half
To dad and mother and me.

He doesn't forget the baby sweet,
As she tucks in her cradle white,
He has time to wait for the lagging feet
Of the old folks in their slippers.
He has gifts and gifts for the young and old,
Who exult the Christmas tree,
And he has the love to his latest day
Of dad and mother and me.

What of Your Christmas Spirit?
The spirit of Christmas, as the idealists have it, is not recognizable by the real thing, according to modern methods.
Theoretically everything is bright, gay, full of peace for oneself and good wishes for the rest of the world.
Actually Christmas may mean anything like this:
Grudging giving and discontented receiving.
Spurning on one's pink friends and settling where it is not likely to be.
Overgenerosity to the point of extravagance.
Fussing until you detest Christmas and everything connected with it.
Overworked nerves and overwrought tempers from a false conception of Christmas giving.
A generous spirit for your own immediate circle and utter indifference to whether any one else has a happy day.
Gorging oneself in the interest of Christmas cheer with no thought of a tortured diet and rockiness of the day after.

A Christmas with not one thought to the real meaning of the day and which the world would have been had there been no "Merrily of a king" to celebrate.

CHRISTMAS.
THE world is his cradle,
The stars his swaddlers,
His "own mother's" kiss
On lips now pressed to hers.
For she alone to him
In perfect light appears,
The one he looks to,
With penitential tears.
—John B. Tabb.

Teachers Are to Meet.
Moscow.—A preliminary program for the three days' session of the Idaho State Teachers' Association has been perfected and the attention of the officers of the organization is now being turned in the direction of an extensive publicity campaign in an effort to attract every teacher in the state to Boise on December 29, 30 and 31. Professor Soulen, president of the association, has announced that a number of sweeping changes in the school system of the state will be considered.

Poison Testimony Given.
Boise.—That William Tracy, held by the police as a suspect and believed by them to have killed Fred Wallace and Thomas Brown by poisoning whiskey, did put a drug in the bottle, which he later asked a bartender to fill with whiskey, was the testimony given to the coroner's jury. Owing to the fact that the state chemist will be unable to complete his analysis of the stomach and liver taken from Brown's body until January 1, the jury took an adjournment to that date.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST IN IDAHO

Chautauqua Is Assured.
Caldwell.—The feature of the week's conclusion here is the successful conclusion of a campaign inaugurated to get together the necessary guarantee to insure the holding of a Chautauqua here in July. On account of the high cost it has heretofore been beyond the reach of the city.
A new co-operative Chautauqua plan, it is said, has made it possible to include in the circuit such towns as can raise a guarantee of from $1500 to $3000. Caldwell has succeeded in this effort, and the list of attractions will include the Spirella brand, Dr. Green, Dwight Hillis, Chapin, Kramer and other entertainers.

Sandpoint To Advertise.

He figures that the money will provide employment for 500 men at $2 a day and that the work will be of advantage to the state by hastening improvement of thoroughfares.
The decision to call the meeting was reached by the governor after C. C. McCulloch, state senator, Mr. West's representative at the meeting of the unemployed in Portland, had made his proposal. Senator McCulloch said that the meeting was orderly and he was convinced that the men actually deposed road work is undertaken if the money is to be done in the regular way through the state highway commission.

In the evening the sixth sermon in the series to men will be given and the subject will be—"Why some men are in our churches." This should be the most helpful sermon of the series and all the men in the community not going elsewhere are especially invited to this service. Come and hear about some of the good reasons men have who are going to church. Perhaps you will enjoy belonging to the pastor's bible class—we have some interesting lessons on live topics and we believe you would find the Bible study both interesting and helpful.

DEMONSTRATION TRAIN HERE TOMORROW—DEC. 20

Of Special Interest to the Rancher and Stockraiser—Large Attendance Expected

Word is being received almost hourly up to time of going to press, that coyotes are very plentiful and that they are being slaughtered in various ways—some shot, some run down, and still others being killed with an ordinary pair of pliers.

While driving up from Lewiston on Saturday, J. P. Michelson saw a large coyote coming his way and, having no other weapon with which he might take a shot at the animal, he picked up a pair of ordinary pliers, which he happened to have with him, and as the animal came within range he led the animal pair of pliers, hitting the nerve and flooring him, when he jumped out of his rig and finished the animal.

D. Scharnhorst also has a scalp dangling from his belt. When going to the country on Wednesday morning he took his rifle and had gotten no further than the W. E. Tipton ranch when he came across one of the sneak-thiefs and shot a bullet through him.

There were also various parties out hunting coyotes last Sunday and all report fairly good luck, some four or five having been killed, and in at least one instance, if reports are true, one of our animals was re-killed by one of our most daring sportsmen.

A LETTER FROM MEXICO

Giving Some Idea of What Americans and Others are Passing Through

The following clipping is handed us by F. J. Cornish, it being a letter published in an Iowa paper and is from Mr. Cornish's brother-in-law who has spent many years in Mexico. It will be interesting to local people from the fact that it gives an insight as to real conditions in the battle-torn country:

"Tuleta, Texas, Nov. 28, '13.

"I arrived home last night after a long journey. I left Matehula, Mexico, October 17 and went to Monterrey expecting to get out by Laredo, but the road was all torn up and we could not get on nor back, so we were in Monterrey for three weeks. We were there when they had the fight. Seven cannon balls went through the hotel I was at and bullets came in by the hundred, but no one was shot; after the battle we went out on the street and counted the dead rebels and heroes. We were at the depot and saw several crippled rebels shot. This was the second battle I was in. I was in one at Matehula before I left. At Matehula a lot were shot and most of the prisoners were hung up in the trees by the dozen.

"Well when the road was opened up again we went south through Saltillo and San Luis Potosi to Tampia where we stayed one week, then sailed for Port Arthur, Texas, on the train following us to Monterey all the soldiers, passengers and train men were blown up with dynamite and killed. Also on the train following the one we went south on many were killed and crippled and on the train from San Luis Potosi to Tampico, rebels at in the mountains and shot at the train as it went by. We left Tampico on an oil boat and were three days and nights crossing the gulf. I went from Port Arthur and down to Buemont then to Galveston, then to San Antonio and home. I saw a good lot of country and water. I did not get a bullet, only missed two mammals, but some were sick all the way across.

"We saw many sights in Mexico and had a hard time to get out. Many shots were near us and two cannon balls went right by me."

RAILROADS MAY FIGHT TAX

Washington Will Have to Stamp Warrants if Contest Results.

Olympia, Wash.—The reported determination of the five great railroad systems to refuse payment of their 1913 taxes, and contest what they consider unfair assessments, is causing some worry to state officials.

The total is estimated at between $4,000,000 and $5,250,000. That the state may have to stamp warrants for approximately $1,125,000, if the railroads refuse to pay, is regarded as likely.

The cases of all the railroads are said to have been placed in the hands of F. V. Brown, general counsel for the Great Northern.

The railroads have filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent the state from stamping warrants for the taxes. The petition is now pending in the state supreme court.

WALLACE POSTOFFICE ROBBED OF $17,000

Wallace, Idaho.—Without leaving as much as a finger print as a clue, burglars robbed the local postoffice of a little more than $17,000 and apparently made good their escape.

When the postmaster and clerks arrived in the morning nothing unusual was noticeable around the office. The safe being locked apparently the same as it had been left the night before. Postmaster Presley quickly noted the disappearance of the three registered packages and a hurried investigation followed, revealing that they were gone. The robbery had been committed. A thorough search of the office and all doors and windows did not reveal a single clue, as apparently they had not been molested. The safe had been opened without a scratch being made and had been as carefully locked, the only thing noticeable being that the inner door had not been locked.

THE ISLAND OF THE STAIRS

Being a True Account of Certain Strange and Wonderful Adventures of Master John Hampden, Seaman, and Miss Wilberforce, Gentlewoman, in the Great South Seas.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

SYNOPSIS

The body of Sir George Wilberforce, ruined gambler and suicide, is found by Hampden, a sailor. Hampden quarrels with the Duke of Arceuth.

Hampden breaks the news to Lucy Wilberforce and delivers a letter from her father's body.

It contains half of a map of the treasure island. Lucy already has the other half.

There are directions for reaching the treasure.

Hampden punishes the duke for insulting Lucy. Hampden and Lucy start in a ship for the island of the Stairs.

Hampden steals the map and Lucy has him imprisoned in a cabin. Desperate men in the crew mutiny.

Hampden and Gibby demand the map of the island of Hampden, who pretends to join the mutiny. Hampden demands possession of Lucy.

He treats her with respect and offers to save her from the mutineers. The pair plot to escape to the island of the Stairs.

The mutineers become intoxicated, and Hampden and Lucy escape to the island, where they find a coral reef to land, which they reach after a storm and a gigantic staircase of stone.

They are carried over a coral reef to the island, where they find a treasure chest and a gigantic staircase of stone.

The mutineers pursue them, but are stopped by the coral reef and the staircase. Lucy makes a search for the hidden treasure.

They pass a strange altar surrounded by masses of human bones and skulls and find the cave mentioned on the map.

They discover a vast quantity of gold, silver and precious stones. War canoes are sent to the island, and Lucy flees to the treasure cave.

They are attacked by the savages, led by Pimball and Gibby. Lucy saves Hampden to kiss her goodbye.

"Get back," cried harshly.

"I stay where you are and I am not going to be killed," she answered.

"See, too an arrow!" Her little hand lifted a heavy pistol.

"I can talk with the two of you just as well as with one," she said.

"Talk on and be brief," I returned, seeing that there was no use arguing with my little mistress.

"You have found the treasure," he began; "there is no denying it. We have it from our savage friends that the things are there. In years gone by they sacrificed here and on our coast yonder; but for generations the island has been taboo. The white man has broken the ban and here we are to take the treasure."

"Indeed!" I said sarcastically, whereat he turned pale with anger but still mastered himself.

"We offer you," he continued, "safety. We cannot take you with us, but we will leave you here on the island after we have taken the treasure, and if you ever return to your own country, if you are willing to give up the woman I will enroll you with our following and we will all get away together on the Rose and the Devon."

"What of the ship?" I asked.

"It was a hard thing to control my temper, but I wanted the information."

"She was badly stove up but not entirely wrecked. We fought the savages, conquered them, made them our friends. We can get away by her and you can navigate her or we can do without you for that matter and make shift to get back to the South American coast at least."

"So you offer me free passage and my share of the treasure if I will give up Mistress Wilberforce, do you?"

"That is it," answered Pimball, "ph. nates" whereat a deep chorus of approval came from Gibby and the men.

"And this is my answer," I said furiously, leveling my pistol at him. "Get back, you villain, or you will have looked your last on life."

"But the flag of truce?" he cried, dropping his weapon.

"It is not meant to cover such propositions as yours. As for the treasure you shall have it when you can get it."

"As I spoke he sprang behind the tree and motioned to his men to fire, but I was too quick for him, and we were safely within the cave when the sound of the reports came to us.

"Now great as it is to be done," said my little mistress.

"The next move," I answered, "is with them."

"Then we go further back into the cave?"

"No," I replied. "We will stay here for the present, not long till I suspect for I could hear them breaking through the woods and rushing toward the opening. Mistles in the way of weapons there were none in the cave, but I picked up a skull that lay on the floor and hurled it out of the opening into the open air. They had not expected that I had hit some one, but I saw at once that the game was one I could not play. The white men were working hard, filling up the stones to enable them to get at us, while back of them stood others with drawn bows and presented weapons.

I did not wait, unsheathed, for a spring back after having thrown an arrow hit me in the fleshy part of the arm. My mistress noticed it instantly. The stone had broken off, and it was the work of an instant to draw out the slender wood shaft. It was not a bad wound, but it was painful. The next thing she did amazed me beyond measure, for she did prevent it. She had put her lips to the wound.

"What next, my dear?" I cried, when I could recover myself.

"It might have been poisoned," she said, quietly looking at me with luminous eyes. "and I cannot have you like that."

I was amazed, astonished even, at her hardness in sucking any possible poison out of that wound in my arm at that moment, but I had been so weakly and so feeble, and I was most profoundly touched too. But I had had my lesson. I viewed it as a great act of courage, humanity and to preserve a life useful to her—nothing more. Meanwhile, in my turn, I took my weapon and held the one who had just been so kind to me. I held her close to my mouth thoroughly with cold water and then with the strong spirit of which I still had in my flask.

CHAPTER XVI

In Which We Fight For Life in the Cave of the Treasure.

WE had withdrawn by this time to the back of the cave, as we had no other place for us, for a constant succession of weapons was thrown through the opening, and we were obliged to keep out of reach. Master Pimball was showing himself something of a general. He was keeping us away from the cave, and he was holding the men at his command he was building up the broken down heap of stones which would presently enable them to come to us.

"I considered what was to be done. I had four loaded pistols and, therefore, four lives in my hand. No man could shoot at me from the cave, and I could account for a few more, perhaps, with sword, or a naked fist, but in the end they would inevitably master me. Unfortunately, the entrance was broad enough for three or four, or even more, to enter abreast."

"Should I open the cave to let them retreat into the inner cave and wait? Was the question that had to be decided."

Perhaps the latter would be the safer plan, but I had a strange unwillingness to adopt it. It would be like burying ourselves, for once we were in the inner cave, we would be prisoners, so long as they had the outer cave. And I could never dislodge them from it. There was no such thing as a spring trap, and I knew not the outer cave, for that matter, but still it seemed so. We could at least see the sky and the sunlight. Should we stay there or go further into the well?

I decided upon the former course. I explained to my mistress that I would keep the outer cave as long as I could, begging her to retreat to the inner chamber. She demurred at first, but when I spoke to her purpose of staying there, she said she would succeed to my request humbly enough. I thrust the best pistol into her hand and told her to reserve it for herself in case her captives were mistle, but not to pull the trigger until the last moment; and I promised her faithfully that I would not foolishly or uselessly jeopardize myself, but that after I had made what I could I would join her, if it were in any way possible. She hung in the wind awhile, seeming loath to go when at last she consented to my plan. Finally she approached me, laid her hand on my arm, and looked up at me.

"Master Hampden," she said softly, "here we be, a lone man and woman among these savages and murderers with but little chance for our lives. I take it I am sorry that I am not on the ship, and you may—kiss me good-by."

With that she pressed her lips to my cheek, and I kissed her in return. She was smiling, and I saw that she was not afraid of me. I took her hand and kissed it, and she smiled again.

"You were overjoyed once to take from me what I now offer you willingly," she said, half smiling away.

With that I caught her to me and once again I drank the sweetness of her lips. I forgot the savages and the danger of the entrance. I held her in my arms and without resistance. I could have sworn that my kisses had been returned, but she was not. She was smiling, and I saw that she was not afraid of me. I took her hand and kissed it, and she smiled again.

to kill the man and yet leave me able to recover myself without delay, and when three heads had been knocked off, my legs are crushed, but no more damage to me than a trifling spear cut on the ankle, the battle stopped for a moment. I laughed.

"You were overjoyed once to take from me what I now offer you willingly," she said, half smiling away.

With that I caught her to me and once again I drank the sweetness of her lips. I forgot the savages and the danger of the entrance. I held her in my arms and without resistance. I could have sworn that my kisses had been returned, but she was not. She was smiling, and I saw that she was not afraid of me. I took her hand and kissed it, and she smiled again.

LATE FALL PLOWING WILL KILL THE PESTS

Very often the first pests in the field in spring are the ones that are most to be feared. With many species of destructive insects, the overwintering individuals come out with the first warm weather and lay eggs for a host of destructive progeny later.

IDAHO STATE NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

Short Items of Interest Gathered From Various Parts of the State

The Duroc Red grand champion sow Ewaldine, owned by the E. N. Peaselee company, Clarkston, Wash., became the mother of 18 pigs recently. This is a record in this line.

The Sandpoint chamber of commerce voted unanimously to cooperate with the Harriman railway system in carrying out its plans for publicity for the state of Idaho extending over the next five years.

J. C. H. Reynolds, of Spirit Lake, chairman of the Idaho commission preparing the industrial insurance law, states that the meeting date of the commission has been changed from January 15 to January 21. It will be held at Boise.

Barney O'Neil will be a free man in less than two months if the efforts of his friends avail. Monster petitions signed by 5000 Idaho and eastern Washington citizens, including many influential men, have been assembled. It is stated, and the circulators expect to add 5000 more names by January 1.

The Idaho Mining Association holds its annual meeting at Boise on January 20. The mining and lumber industries represent the two largest employers of labor in the state, and the meeting date was changed to let the commission take advantage of the opportunity to hear from the mining men.

The annual convention of the Idaho Wool Growers' association will be held at Boise January 12 and 13. A large attendance is expected. The meeting will be one of the most profitable to the sheepmen of the state, it is said, of any held in recent years.

The Oregon Short Line has authorized a rate of one and a third fare for this meeting.

That Idaho with her $15,000,000 building will have as dignified and beautiful a building as New York, with her $300,000 building, was the statement of Fred R. Reed, executive commissioner of the Idaho Panama-Pacific exposition, who returned to Boise from a trip covering three weeks on the coast, during which time the commission let the contract for the erection of the Idaho building.

George H. Black president of the Lewiston state normal school, has submitted the budget for 1914 to the state board of education and Dr. Sisson, commissioner of education. A large part of the budget, which in all probability will be approved, follows: Available balance in state funds, January 1, 1914, $87,152.52; estimated income during 1914, $17,674.39; total available funds, $104,826.91; total budget appropriations for 1914, $73,668.93; unappropriated balance for contingent fund, $1169.82.

It will be possible soon for any citizen or young person in Idaho to get better information about all the state educational institutions in one small bulletin, one to be published by the state board of education. The bulletin will tell the essential facts about the university of Idaho, normal schools, the Lewiston and Abbot, the academy of Idaho, the school for the deaf and blind, and the industrial training school.

The sweeping victory, the third successive one for the boys, in Hancock county, has raised the cry of statewide prohibition among prohibition leaguers. Hancock county went prohibition by 400 majority. Pocatello was carried by the vote by a majority of 600, the prohibition vote from the country precincts offset this majority. The assertion is now made that not a member to the next legislature will be elected from southern and southeastern counties who is not opposed to statewide prohibition and that there will be a comfortable majority in that body to make Idaho dry.

The Mindoka irrigation project, according to revised plans, including the pumping units, was $1 per acre computed on June 30, 1913, as shown by the annual report of the reclamation service. The total expenditure on the project up to that date was $5,236,439, and an additional expenditure of $415,200 for miscellaneous work was found necessary and will be made during the present fiscal year. There have been 63,288 acres of land opened to entry on this project under the reclamation act, in addition to $100 million of state lands, 369 acres in private ownership, leaving 324 acres still subject to entry. About 32,000 acres in the south side pumping unit were irrigated this year on a rental basis.

The News is under obligations to Andrew Rekdal for as fine, fat duck as one would care to see—or eat. Mr. Rekdal is getting pretty well along in years but is very progressive in his ideas and still attends to his ranch duties on the Henry Meyer place. He was accompanied home by Jas. E. Robinson, who is his guest.

GRIPPED BY A LION

Livingstone's Fearful Ordeal and His Narrow Escape.

A BATTLE WITH A MANEATER.

The Wounded and Maddened Monster, Paralyzed by Being Bitten, Caught the Explorer in His Jaws and Shook Him as a Terrier Would a Rat.

David Livingstone, the famous African explorer and missionary, once had a singular encounter with a wounded lion that almost cost him his life.

The people of Mabotsa were troubled by lions, which leaped into the cattle pens and ate the animals.

It is well known that if one in a troop of lions is killed and the others see that part of the country, they will go out with the people to help them destroy one of the man-eaters.

Mr. Beckman stated that the company could not afford to go to the expense of installing this system on less than a monthly rate of $75.

Mr. Beckman will mail contracts for examination and if the city and the company can agree the system would be installed this winter.

The pumping contract can be renewed on a much better basis than before, which will give an additional saving to be applied on the bonded indebtedness.

The city decided to purchase a 7 1/2 horsepower motor for the pump station, as the company has a new motor at Spokane which has been used only three days.

Some of our citizens seem to think a new rate for private lighting can be gotten at this time, but as a matter of fact the franchise was given for 25 years and has run only 10 years, while the city lighting and pumping contract was for 10 years and will expire as stated above.

The rate at Moscow is the same as here.

WOMEN WARRIORS.

One That Was Made a Heroine in Sight of Herself. There are few countries that have at one time or another had women soldiers in their ranks.

England, France and Germany have all had military heroines. Germany, which has the most famous, has women only soldiers and domestic troops.

Another girl, Anna Lahring, only sixteen, was tried and claimed by her father after she had enlisted, but her captain refused to dismiss so fine a soldier.

Johnna, a young woman, who was promoted to be a sergeant, although she remained a private.

An amusing contrast to these genuine gallant women is afforded by Johanna Stegen, who quite by accident won a reputation for heroism.

Her apron was tied to a staff and borne proudly at the head of the regiment during the battle of Lüneburg.

I saw the lion's tail erect in anger and said, "Stop a little till I load again." I was in the act of rammung the bullet into the barrel when the lion leaped away, broke through the circle and escaped.

When the circle was reformed we saw two other lions in it, but dared not fire lest we should shoot some of the people.

The visitors presented Mrs. Hall a half dozen salad forks and the same number of orange spoons.

At the same time the junior department of the Sunday school surprised Constance Hall by gathering at her home to spend the evening. They presented the little hostess a handsome gold ring as a remembrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall left this (Friday) morning for Long Beach, Calif., where they will make their home. They leave behind them many warm friends, who bid them the best of everything in their new home.

A farewell party was given last Tuesday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Larson in honor of Miss Lena Grove, who is to be a December bride. ### ENCOURAGE PRODUCTION OF BETTER SEED

On January 19-20-21 at Pocatello the Annual Convention of Idaho Seed Growers and the State Seed Fair will be held.

It is the purpose of these events to give a New Year's impetus to the campaign for better seed in Idaho. It is a well known fact and one which is fully recognized by the seed markets of the continent, that the quality of Idaho grown seed of all kinds is the highest. Nature has endowed the farmers of our state with all the conditions of soil, sunlight and climate to give plumpness and equality to all their farm seeds. It is the farmer's part to see that his crops are free from weeds, that they are improved by selection and that they are marketed to the best advantage. These questions will be discussed at the Seed Growers' convention by men who have made themselves famous by their investigations and teaching. Solutions will be offered for many of the farmers' problems and an opportunity will be given for all to present their seed grain and weed difficulties before a body of persons deeply interested in these things.

All concerned in better seed and better markets for the same are earnestly invited to send exhibits to the Seed Fair and attend the Convention.

For further information and premium lists address, J. W. Sessions, Vice-President, Pocatello, Idaho, or R. B. Cogdon, Secretary, Boise, Idaho.

A basket social will be held at the Lincoln school house, District No. 39, six miles northwest of Genesee, on Friday evening, January 2, benefit of the school. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Frank Schooler, who has been in the Sacred Heart hospital in Spokane for several weeks, was able to be taken to her home on Monday.

MONROE DOCTRINE QUESTIONED IN CHILE

Colonel Roosevelt and Chilean Ex-Diplomat in Heated Argument.

Washington.—Members of the diplomatic corps, especially representatives from the South American countries, were greatly interested in a report reaching Washington that ex-President Roosevelt and Dr. Marshall Martinez, at one time Chilean minister to the United States, clashed in Santiago de Chile on account of divergent views on the Monroe doctrine.

The reported debate attracted unusual interest here because both of the prepared speeches were reviewed before delivery by the Chilean foreign office.

In his address at the Roosevelt review the Monroe doctrine as a dead issue and arguing that the conditions which gave rise to its promulgation by President Monroe in 1823 have almost entirely disappeared.

This statement is said to have aroused the ire of Colonel Roosevelt, who replied with some heat, holding that the Monroe doctrine still was a vital principle of the foreign policy of the United States.

He is said, too, to have suggested to the Chilean diplomat incidentally that it was ill-advised on such an occasion to inaugurate a controversy.

Nothing official has reached the Chilean legation here concerning any phase of what diplomats are inclined to consider a delicate situation.

A. Woodworth, of Whittier, Cal., has been insured for $30,000 against fire or frost. The tree last year netted $3206 in fruit and wood.

Let's Get Acquainted

If we knew you and you knew us, 'Tis seldom there would be a fuss; But, never having clasped your hand, We sometimes fail to understand That both intend to do what's right, And treat each other "honor bright".

If you should order by mistake, Or we perchance, an error make, You would not jump into a stew If you knew us and we knew you. Or when some goods you "fire back", With a letter as sharp as a carpet tack, We'd take it in good part you bet, If we and you had only met.

With customers some thousands strong, Occasionally things go wrong— Sometimes our fault, sometimes theirs— Patience by both would relieve our cares. How pleasant and agreeable, too, If you knew us and we knew you.

So let no doubting thoughts reside, But have good faith on either side; Confidence to each other give, Living ourselves, let others live; And any time you come this way That you'll be welcome we need not say When face to face we shall easily prove To know each other was a mighty good move. And wishing you all this very night A MERRY CHRISTMAS is our delight.

GENESEE WINS

Local Basketball Team Plays Good Game With Lapwai—
Score 51-25

The Lapwai Indian basketball team came to Genesee last Thursday and met the local high school team that night. When the Indians arrived there was considerable comment as to the size of the players, but when the game started the high school boys came out and proved that they did not count much. The game ending 51 to 25 in favor of Genesee.

The game started with fast work. Genesee shooting three field goals in rapid succession and before Lapwai made a point the locals had their score up to nine. Lapwai never had a chance for the game from beginning to end; the high school boys were too fast and played rings around them in team work. The first half ending with the score 32 to 19 for Genesee.

Meyer played the star game for Genesee, but the work of the entire team can be highly complimented. The game was unusually clean and free from roughness. M. Wardrobe also deserves credit for his excellent work as referee. Following is the lineup of the teams:
Genesee: Meyer, 11; Wardrobe, 5; Springer, 4; Wilson, 2; Wilcox, 1; Jackson, 3; Lott, 3.
Lapwai: Meyer, 11; Wardrobe, 5; Springer, 4; Wilson, 2; Wilcox, 1; Jackson, 3; Lott, 3.
Fouls: Meyer, 11; Wilcox, 7.
Referee: M. Wardrobe.
The high school will go to Lapwai for the return game tomorrow (Saturday) night. We hope our boys will do as well down there.

Brooks Starnes, who has been ill of inflammatory rheumatism, for several weeks is convalescing. He is at the home of W. R. Hickman.

SYNOPSIS

The body of the Countess Wilberforce, ruined gambler and sailor, is found by Hampton, a sailor. Hampton quarrels with the Duke of Armeret.

Hampton breaks the news to Lucy Wilberforce and delivers a letter found on her father's body.

It contains half of a map of a treasure island. Lucy already has the other half. There are directions for finding the treasure.

Hampton punishes the duke for insulting Lucy. Hampton and Lucy start in a ship for the island of the stairs.

Hampton steals a kind of Lucy has him imprisoned in a cabin. Desperate they start the mast and improvise a raft with the boat plank and the painter.

The breeze blew softly. We passed the island and then set our course by the compass to the westward, headed for the great South American coast some miles away.

We had gone through many perils, but had sustained them all. Fortune, as if ashamed of her allotted trouble, made it up to us in the end. For in a few days we fell in with a Spanish ship of war in the service of the viceroy of Peru, which had been exploring the south seas and had been driven far out of her course by the storm which had wrecked the Rose of Devon. Commander Don Antonio Regarded us as a prize. He ordered us to be taken aboard his ship, and we were treated as prisoners. He treated us with respect and offered to save her from the mutineers. The price was to escape to the island of the stairs.

The mutineers became intoxicated, and Hampton and Lucy leave the ship for the island, which is nearby.

They are carried over a coral reef and land, where they find the stairs and a magnificent staircase of stone.

The mutineers pursue them, but are stopped by the sea. Hampton and Lucy make a search for the hidden treasure.

They discover a vast quantity of gold, silver and precious stones. War canoes of savages approach, and Hampton and Lucy flee to the treasure cave.

They are attacked by the savages, led by Pimball and Glibby. Lucy asks Hampton to kiss her goodby.

They are saved by an earthquake, which routs the savages and mutineers, but closes the mouth of the cave.

They escape from the cave and the island, and are picked up by a ship, and Hampton wins the love of Lucy.

CHAPTER XVII.
In Which We Win Light, Life, Liberty and Love.

WE were down the cave, to find the water was easy. Sure enough, it led away through a narrow rift in what direction we could not tell, although its tendency was downward, and I knew it would come out upon the beach somewhere. It had not seemed to me as if I had been in the cave for a long time, but the earthquake that had opened the rift was more than enough to carry the water, but it had probably opened wider by the shock, and so we could not tell, although sometimes the walls closed over the water course, making tunnels, we managed to force our way through them.

We went in the advance, Lucy to the rear, and I stayed in the rear, but I could not present little difficulty for her. We wandered in and out among the coral until it seemed to us that we had gone miles, although in reality it could have been but a few hundred yards.

At last we came to a place too low and too narrow for me to pass, although I might, perchance, have thrust her through.

"You see," she said, "this is the end."
"No," said I.

I still had the ax with me and the sword which I had thrust into my belt. The rock seemed soft, lying down upon my head and covering my eyes with one hand, I struck at it with the ax, thus enlarging the passage. The water beneath me was bubbling, and the candle in the lantern was burning lower and lower, but I hung on. Never did I work so in all my life as then. At last I loosened a huge rock, which fell suddenly upon me. Had I not seen it coming and dropped the ax and stayed its progress with both upraised hands it might have crushed me. As it was, it struck upon my breast. I could not throw it aside; the way was too narrow. I held it up in my hands and forced my way through, although what I should meet or where I should bring up on the other side I knew not. I thrust hard and harder with my feet and presently my way was clear. I shoved myself through the opening. With one great effort I rolled the rock aside and fell upon my back on the sand, breathless, exhausted.

She dragged herself over my body and through the passage I had thus made and then knelt by my side, kissed me, murmuring words I did not dare to dash to pieces and their keepers killed. The survivors were prisoners on the island unless their friends come to their aid and save them. A company could devise some way of getting down the cliff. And we, too, were prisoners. Some of our gear, the compass, some provisions which I had stored in the granaries of the rock were still there, but they were useless to us. Something else had happened. The earthquake had broken the vast barrier reef. Before us was a practicable passage to the sea!

If we only had a boat! I turned to the canvas hopeful of finding one seaworthy, and as I did so my little mistress caught me by the arm.

"Look!" she cried, pointing far up the horizon.

I turned, and there, bottom upward, floated the dinghy. The sight of her was like a draft of wine. I turned and ran up the sand, followed by my lady. When opposite the boat I kicked off my shoes—I had no little else but ah! and I turned back to my mistress, who swam to the dinghy and towed her ashore. Assisted by Mistress Lucy, I turned her over. I then hunted up the few things which I had stored in the store of cocoanuts which we had accumulated in one of the caves, shipped the stores, which, being tied to the rocks, had not been washed away, and shoved off.

The mast was still lashed to the thwart, and a boat creak had been cut under the forward thwart. The painter was still fastened to a ring bolt in the bow, and as soon as I had rowed through the narrow entrance I started the mast and improvised a mast with the boat creak and the painter.

GOVERNOR URGED TO PARDON

Women Protest Hanging of Own Sex in Connecticut.

Hartford, Conn.—Governor Baldwin of Connecticut is being deluged with petitions from every part of the United States urging him to extend clemency to Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, who has been sentenced to hang March 4 for the murder of her husband.

The petitions are for the most part women, although there is a sprinkling of men. These appeals vary in tone. Many argue the case opposing hanging in general or hanging women in particular. Many appeal to the governor's sense of chivalry. A large percentage make the assertion that to hang a woman will be to disgrace the state. Some threaten.

Mrs. Wakefield is only 26 years old. She was convicted of killing her husband, William Wakefield, largely as a result of the testimony of her accomplice, James Plew, a farmhand. Plew also has been convicted and sentenced to death.

Tide Lands Belong to People.
San Francisco, Cal.—Affirming the doctrine that the tide lands of California belong to the people of the state in their sovereign capacity and that the legislature or other official bodies have no power or authority to sell them, the supreme court returned a sweeping decision that will affect the titles of millions of dollars of water front property.

Wisconsin Eugenic Law Receives Blow
Milwaukee.—The eugenics marriage law, which will go into effect January 1, received a blow when Horace B. Walmesley, an attorney, issued a statement that a marriage ceremony in Wisconsin was unnecessary and therefore the eugenics measure was useless.

"All that is required in this state is that two persons who are not married at the time agree to accept each other as mates," said Mr. Walmesley. "No ceremony is necessary and the physical examination required by the late law cannot be enforced."

The contention of Mr. Walmesley is based on a decision of the state supreme court, April 8, 1913. The decision holds that any man or woman not married at the time may make a legal and valid contract of marriage without any license, medical examination, priest, clergyman or magistrate.

His written statement nor writs are required, but the court suggested that for the benefit of both parties it would be well to sign an agreement.

On the Track of the New Year

NEW YEAR'S was a long time in settling upon Jan. 1 as the proper time for its celebration. Even now, in Greece and Russia, where the Julian calendar is in force, New Year's does not arrive until twelve days after the year is upon its way in the rest of the civilized world.

The ancient Egyptians and Persians began the new year at the autumnal equinox, Sept. 22, and the Greeks of Solon's time at the winter solstice, Dec. 21, but in the time of Hercules the date was changed to the summer solstice, June 21. The Romans began the year from the winter solstice until Caesar changed it to Jan. 1. With the Jews the new year began in September in civil affairs, but in their ecclesiastical reckoning the beginning of the year dates from the vernal equinox, March 22. And, as this is astronomically the beginning of spring, the date is a logical one, and that of the 25th of March is still a more fully rounded number, was accepted generally by Christian nations in medieval times as New Year's.

In England Dec. 25 was New Year's until the time of William the Conqueror. His coronation happened to fall on Jan. 1, and accordingly the year was ordered to commence on that day. But the English gradually fell into union with the rest of Christendom and began the year on March 25. When in 1582 the Gregorian calendar was promulgated and definitely adopted by New Year's on Jan. 1 most Catholic countries adopted it at once, but England did not acquiesce until 1752.

In ancient Rome New Year's day was given up to feasting and frolicking. Sacred fire was kindled in the city on the first of the twelve gods. All litigation and strife were suspended.

reconciliations took place. New Year's feasts were made and New Year's gifts bestowed. There also originated the New Year's resolution, for every Roman received on New Year's day a request by his conduct that every word and act should be a happy augury for all the days of the ensuing year.

It was the custom of the ancients which marked the New Year's arrival not only among the Romans, but among the Teutonic races, the early Christians looked with great favor upon the whole season. By the fifth century, however, Dec. 25 became the fixed festival of the Nativity, whereupon Jan. 1 assumed a special sacred character as the octave of Christmas day.

The giving of gifts on New Year's day has been superseded largely in America by the custom of the giving of Christmas gifts, but the custom still is retained in France. This custom was one of the most ancient and universal observed of New Year's day.

The druids distributed branches of the sacred mistletoe. The Roman emperors exacted gifts, and so did the English rulers down to the time of Cromwell.

"The world over on New Year's it is custom to drink to the health of one's friends."

"The custom of making New Year resolutions and turning over a new leaf" is universal and, like political platforms, is as much honored in the breach as in the observance. But the temptation which surrounds frail humans before the year is over is many and manifold.

What a chance to our comfort, the republicans will unite before the next presidential election, and republicans will get in control again, says United States Senator James H. Brady.

The First Christmas

It often has been stated that the birth of Christ must have occurred four years before the date fixed on for the current chronology and that it is probable the event fell at some other time in the year than a few days after the winter solstice. The reason for the confident assertion is the ascertaining of the fact that Herod died about four years B. C. The basis of this supposition is the report that at the time of the birth of Christ "there were shepherds abiding in the field, watching their flocks by night," a circumstance not natural in the latitude of Bethlehem near the shortest day. That is the height of the rainy season in Judea, and the date does not appear to have been observed generally before the fifth century.

Many students of Biblical history have argued that the story about the star of Bethlehem points to a date for the Nativity not later than May 8, B. C. 6. On that date the planets Venus and Jupiter were so closely in conjunction as seen from the earth that the apparent distance between them was equal only to the breadth of the full moon. These planets were then visible in the east a couple of hours before sunrise and must have produced a strikingly beautiful appearance and have been spoken of as one object. That was about fifty days less than two years before the death of Herod, a fact which harmonizes well with other conditions of the narrative, for it is probable that the mandate for the slaughter of all the children two years old and under was issued some months before his decease, and the limit of two years would leave an ample margin for any uncertainty as to the time of the appearance of the star, as related by the magi; also there were no paschal full moons on a Friday between the years B. C. 6 and A. D. 38 and no other following that till A. D. 60.

From this it would seem to follow that Christ was thirty-eight years old at the time of the crucifixion, and this would vindicate the sagacity of the Jewish doctors who affirmed that he was not yet fifty (forty?) years old. It is remarked, too, that in the spring of the same year there was a triple conjunction of planets—Saturn, Jupiter and Mars—and that the first two named were in conjunction as seen from the earth no less than three times in the year preceding—that is, R. C. 7.

Another theory about the star of Bethlehem which has been advanced is that the star seen by the magi is Spica, the leading brilliant in the constellation of Virgo, the Virgin. For many years before and after the Christian era the star was changing its place until it was then literally a "star in the east," and its movement in that direction may have been the very fact noticed by the wise men of some centuries preceding who expected that the prophecy about the Virgin would be fulfilled when its principal star reached the position noted. If this were so the visit of the magi from Bactria, in the far east, is easily explained, and the chief difficulty attending the explanation lies in the fact that such an important search as they undertook is noticed by only one out of the four evangelists.

The uncertainty of the centuries in regard to the date of the Nativity in year and month may never be cleared up. Its existence has been unfairly cited as reason for disbelieving the whole narration. The people of 2,000 years ago attached little importance to dates, except current ones, and it may be remembered that the destruction of Jerusalem occurred between the time of the Nativity and the writing of the gospels, at least in the shape in which it has come down to us.

THE STORY THAT NEVER GROWS OLD.

Like the songs that are sung in the twilight,
Like all tales that are tenderly told,
Like the memories of loved ones
That hallow our hearts,
There's a story that never grows old.

Lo! The angels first sing it in chorus,
And the watchers with wonder behold.

They feel the first thrill of the beautiful truth
In the story that never grows old.

Round the Christ Child of Bethlehem's cradle
Are clusters of apples of gold,
And pictures of silver adorn every page
Of the story that never grows old.

It gladdens the hearts of all children,
And millions of manlier mold
Are happier, holier, better by far,
For the story that never grows old.

—Franklin Trusdell.

The Christmas Guest,
Whose shall come any way this night,
By moor or hill or shore,
For him the blessed candles' light,
For him the open door,
(Oh, Mary, this for thy Son's sake, Though mine comes in no more!)

My hearth is swept, my Yule logs burn,
My board is decked and spread;
For any who may seem in turn
Are warmth and wine and bread.
(Oh, Mary, grant my son this night
Be housed and comforted!)

Bid, banned or beggared come for guest,
My heart shall share his woes,
And on his head my hand shall rest
To bless him ere he goes.
(Oh, Mary, grant my son this night
That blessing and repose!)

This night, for thy one Son's dear sake,
Wait light and warmth and wine,
Oh, Mary, we are mothers both!
Take these my tears for sign,
And this I do for thy sweet Son,
Wilt thou not do for mine?
—Theodosia Garrison.

A Song of Christmas

TWINE the bitter-sweet and holly
Arched above the hearthstone's glow,
Joy, not melancholy,
Come, inditing with the snow.
In each face the frost's a-tingle,
And afar on flying wing
Comes the sleighbell's rhythmic tinkle
Through December journeying.

Set the board and ask the blessing
For the bounty amply spread,
In the simplest words expressing
What a loving Father said—
"Peace on earth"—for this is nearest
When the snows with us abide
And the winter air is clearest
In the hush of Christmastide.

Bring the old musician's fiddle,
Relic of the bygone days,
Send the farest down the middle
While the lilt'ing music sways.
Light of foot and quick of laughter,
Swing the dancers, toe and heel,
As they pass or follow after
In the quaint Virginia reel.

Make a welcome for the stranger
Should his footstep cross the door.
By the memory of the manger
And the Christ that was of yore
Gather children's faces round you,
As he gathered them long syne,
If it be the years have crowned you
With their radiance divine.

Deck the tree and light the candles,
Let the stockings all be hung,
For a saint with furry sandals
O'er the housetops high has swung,
And his reindeer steeds are prancing
Through the star bespangled rime,
And the moonbeams pale are glancing
In the merry Christmas time.

—Ernest McGaffey.

Two Kinds of Snobs.
An interesting sense history is that of the word snob, a term of obscure origin, in its earliest use, in 1871, meaning a shoemaker or cobbler. Now there is a distinction between the English and the American use of snob—a distinction due to the influence of aristocratic as compared with democratic traditions. An English snob is a man who falls short of the perfect aristocrat through a taint of democratic vulgarity. An American snob is a man who falls short of the perfect democrat through a taint of aristocratic exclusiveness.—New York Post.

Ancestry of Santa

WHAT is Santa Claus' age?

The jolly, rollicking, pot-bellied, ever young old fellow that we know has made his appearance on earth in so many guises that the secret of his first coming threatens to remain forever veiled in the midst of antiquity. No one can say with any certainty just when he first made his appearance among prehistoric men, for merry old Santa in one form or another delighted children's hearts in many a pagan household centuries before the commencement of the Christian era and prior to any recorded history.

The name of Santa Claus, by which he is known in America, is the Dutch pet name for St. Nicholas. The name Kriss Kringle, by which he is known in England, is a corruption of Christ Kindeln or the Christ Child. But the festivities that distinguish Christmas existed long before Christianity, and a jolly god of good cheer appears as the personification of the period from the earlier pagan times. Now the Santa Claus of today is simply that old jolly god sobered up, washed and purified.

The Dionysia of the Greeks, the Saturnalia of the Romans, the Twelve Nights of the old Norsemen and of the Teutons all celebrated the coming of the winter solstice. People then gave themselves up to all sorts of revelry and excess. In the Dionysia the representative figure was not the young Dionysus or Bacchus, but the aged, cheery and disreputable Silenus, the chief of the Satyrs and the god of drunkards. In the Saturnalia it was Saturn; in the Germanic feasts it was Thor, both long bearded and white haired gods like Silenus.

Now, although the central figure of the Christian festival is the child God, the Christ Kindeln, the influence of long pagan custom was too strong within the breasts of the early Christians to be easily superseded. The tradition of hoary age as the true representative of the dying year and its attendant jollifications still remained smoldering under the ashes of the past. It burst into new flame when the past was too far back to be looked upon with the fear and antagonism of the church and there seemed no longer any danger of a relapse into paganism.

At first, however, the more dignified representative was chosen as more in keeping with the occasion. Saturn was unconsciously rebaptized as St. Nicholas, the name of the saint whose festival occurs in December and who as the patron of young people is especially fitted for the patronage of the festival which has come to be looked upon as especially that of the young. At first St. Nicholas did not supersede the Christ Child, but accompanied him in his Christmas travels, as, indeed, he still does in certain rural neighborhoods of Europe where the modern spirit has been least felt.

St. Nicholas, according to the hagiologist, was a bishop of Myra, who flourished early in the fourth century. He is the patron of children and schoolboys.

It is strange that everywhere St. Nicholas is most honored and his feast day most observed the most pious and instructed among the common people know little of the legend of the saint. He is treated with that mixture of seriousness and frivolity which becomes a dying myth.

In southern Germany and Austria a youth garbed as St. Nicholas and accompanied by two angels and a whole troop of devils in hideous masquerade, with blackened faces and clanking chains, on Dec. 5 (St. Nicholas' feast day) makes a round of certain houses where the little ones of the village have been collected. To the good children he brings gifts of nuts and apples, while the naughty ones are left to the devices of the satanic followers in his train.

In many places the bugbear overshadowed in importance both the Christ Child and St. Nicholas. He appears under different names and in different guises. In Lower Austria he is the frightful Krampus, with his clanking chains and horrible devil's mask, who, notwithstanding his gilded nuts and apples, gingerbread and toys, which he carries in his basket, is the terror of the nursery. In Hannover, Holstein and Mecklenburg he is known as Claus. In Silesia his name is Joseph.

Sometimes the bugbear was a female. In Lower Austria she was called the Budeifrau. In Suedia it was the Berchtel who chastised children, that did not spin diligently, with rods, but rewarded the industrious with dried pears, apples and nuts.

The female bogey survives especially in Russia and in Italy. In the former place she is known as the Baboushka. In the latter as the Befana. Befana is a corruption of Epiphania or Epiphany, for it is on Epiphany, Jan. 6, that the Italians make presents to their children in commemoration of the gifts given by the three wise men to Christ on that date.
