

PLAIN FIGURES ON LATAH COUNTY TAXES

County Assessor Martinson Shows How Money is Derived and Where It Goes

Because of the close proximity when taxes are due and because of the special interest that the general public has in this matter, Theo. E. Martinson, county assessor, has prepared an extended article on the tax problem as applies to citizens of Latah county, as follows:

As you are all very much interested at this time of the year in taxes and assessment and I know that you are anxious to know just what you are paying for and what makes your taxes higher this year than they were last year or the year before, I wish to present to you for your careful consideration some figures, facts and comparisons. So much complaint is made because of high taxes and mostly attributed to the state and county, "Expensive Government," but you will find that if you will study the following segregation of the various levies and taxing districts that it is not the state and county government tax that is to blame, but in every instance it is the local special levies that are so much in excess of what they were last year. I wish to say this, too, that when you hear any one attributing the high taxes to the state and county government, they are doing that for political purposes and we have had too much of that in the past which has kept our revenue law in a turmoil, one year assessing on a 40 per cent basis, then the next on a cash basis, etc. Until we get politics out of taxation and begin to regard this great problem as a business problem purely, and get your cooperation in its solution, we will have the same contention.

This year we have as low a state and county levy as you will find in the majority of the states, the older states not excepted. I have written for the segregation of levies and taxes of several states and find that we are below the average. Our state and county tax for each $1000 of valuation is $4.50 that is for the maintenance of the state and county governments.

I wish to ask that you take your own valuation and by use of the following segregations, figure out exactly how much you are paying into the various funds and learn where your money goes, if you are not satisfied come in and allow us to show you by use of the records and figures just how your taxes are apportioned.

The following is segregation of our state and county tax on a valuation of $1000 for 1913:

State tax, current expense	2.30
County tax, current expense	2.20
General school fund	2.00
General road fund	1.10
County bridge fund	.60
Total state and county tax	8.20
Special school levy for Moscow
10 mills	10.00
City of Moscow levy 16 mills	16.00
Total tax in Moscow for 1913	34.20

The following is the segregation of the state and county taxes for 1912 on $1000 valuation:

State and county current expense	4.24
General school fund	2.00
General road fund	.96
County bridge fund	.40
Total state and county tax	7.60
Special school tax for 1912	8.00
City of Moscow tax for 1912	10.00
Total tax in Moscow for 1912	25.60

From the above segregations you will note that the state and county tax for 1912 was $4.24 whereas this year it is $4.50, an increase of only 26 cents for each $1000 of valuation; no increase in the general school, 14 cents in the general road, 20 cents in the county bridge, an increase of $2.00 in the special school tax in district No. 5, and an increase of 6.00 in the city of Moscow tax.

The following are the taxes for each $1000 of valuation in the other towns and villages of the county, for town or village and school:

Town of Kendrick for 1913	15.00
School district No. 24, Kendrick	10.00
Total state and county tax	8.20
Total tax in Kendrick, 1913	33.20
Town of Kendrick for 1912	8.00
School district No. 24, Kendrick	5.20

MONDAY LAST DAY

Taxes Will Be Delinquent After Next Monday—Property Will Be Sold

On and after, Monday, January 5th, all taxes, real and personal will become delinquent and property which they stand against will be sold in accordance with the law. Under the new revenue law it is not required that delinquent taxes be advertised as formerly.

After the time during which they can be paid has expired a delinquency certificate will be issued against the property and it will be sold according to law. The owner of the property is then given two years from the second Monday in January in which to redeem from the tax sale.

If the property is not redeemed before the expiration of the two-year period the sale is treated as a mortgage and foreclosure proceedings are instigated against it. The owner then has a year in which to redeem the property from the mortgage sale.

The Christmas entertainment at the Church of Christ was attended by a large and appreciative audience. The cantata "Santa Claus and Co." was well rendered, each taking their part perfectly. The cantata consisted of solos, choruses, recitations and dialogues. The tree was beautifully trimmed and the room was also hung in garlands and wreaths appropriate for the season. Every body in the house received a treat and all expressed themselves as having attended an excellent entertainment.

County Board Will Convene in Regular Session on Second Monday in January

On the second Monday in January the board of county commissioners will convene in regular session to adjust all claims against the county, check up the annual reports of the various county officers, appoint road overseers for each of the 60 road districts in Latah county and to consider all other county matters that may properly be brought to their attention.

At the January meeting the county board will also draw a list of 150 names from the various precincts of the county for the 1914 jury panel. Owing to the vast amount of business that is expected to come before the board the session will probably be a long one.

Soon after their arrival the ladies began preparations of a most delicious dinner, which proved in the eating that the ladies are deserving of the title of "Domestic Science club."

Those present were Mesdames F. C. Shork, Leon Follett, W. E. Smith, W. M. Herman, Ira Hanson and daughter, Rowena.

GROVE-JACKSON

Popular Young Couple United in Marriage on Sunday Afternoon

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized Sunday afternoon, December 28, at 4 o'clock, when at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Grove, their daughter, Miss Lena B., was united in marriage to Lester F. Jackson of Lewiston, Rev. Grimsrud of Moscow performing the ceremony in a very impressive manner.

After the ceremony congratulations and good wishes were showered upon the happy pair and a sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

The bride is a very popular young lady, not only in her immediate circle, but wherever she is known. The groom is a rising young business man of the Lewiston country, having charge of field operations for the Lewiston Land and Water company.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will reside at the Lewiston Orchard Tracts, route 2, where they will be at home to their friends.

The News joins their host of friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous New Year and a pleasant journey through life.

Many Hogs From Palouse Country

A report published in the Spokesman-Review on Sunday stating that one of the largest packing houses there had made the statement that they were receiving many hogs from the Palouse country, which shows that the farmers of this, the greatest section of the Northwest, are turning their attention to livestock more each year. The report says:

"The hog market is steady. There is not likely to be any large droves until early spring, when we confidently look for a large supply. Our supply of hogs comes from western Montana, Idaho and Washington and has this year increased about 100 per cent. Our largest supply at present comes from the Palouse country. The supply from our home territory is satisfactorily and constantly on the increase."

Sewing Class Entertained

Monday afternoon the hospitable home of Mrs. F. S. Casebolt was opened to the entertainment of her sewing class. Each member of the class was allowed to invite one guest, and the invitations were from 2 to 5 o'clock, and not a moment of pleasure was wasted.

The fun began with a guessing contest in which the advertisements of the various firms appearing in the News, with the names removed, were placed around the walls. Miss Ruth Wheeler guessed the highest number of firm names correctly and was given a neat prize.

The girls played finch until 4 o'clock, when a nice lunch was served. The rest of the time was spent in music.

Rig Overturns

While on his way from Moscow to Genesee on Wednesday of last week, G. Fischer and wife met with what might have been a very serious accident not far west of town. In making a turn with their rig, which was mounted on runners, the horses ran one side of the sleigh up on an embankment, then turning short, causing the rig to tip over, the horses dragging it about a hundred feet. The glass doors were broken from his medicine case. Mr. and Mrs. Fischer and their baby were in the rig, but none of them were seriously hurt, Mr. Fischer receiving a few cuts and scratches about his forehead.

At weaning time colts should be taken away entirely out of sight of the mothers.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Mary Hordemann Dies at Age of Sixty-Four—Burial Tuesday Morning

Died, at her home, seven miles northwest of Genesee, on Saturday, December 27, 1913, at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Mary Hordemann, wife of Wm. Hordemann, aged 64 years.

Mrs. Hordemann was born at Burlington, Racine county, Wisconsin, in 1847, where she resided until 24 years of age, when she was married to Wm. Hordemann. Soon after their marriage they removed to Indiana, where they remained until 1877, when Mr. Hordemann came to this vicinity, he sending for his wife 18 months later. They took up a homestead on the Thorncreek road, which was their home until 1906, when they removed to the present home, where they had since resided.

Mrs. Hordemann was a consistent member of the Catholic church, living as near as one could to its precepts.

She leaves, besides her husband, two daughters and two sons, Mrs. George Schmel, Mrs. Ernest E. Miller, John Hordemann and Chas. Warnake, a son by a former marriage, all of whom reside in or near Genesee.

The funeral was held in the Catholic church Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Fr. J. M. Haegy officiating, with interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Special Council Meeting

A special meeting of the city council was held Tuesday evening for the purpose of discussing contracts presented by Mr. Beckman for the Washington Water Power company, for renewal of agreement concerning city lighting and pumping.

Quite a number of citizens were present and took part in the discussion. No action was taken as the city wanted more time in which to examine the contracts.

The new lighting contract calls for a series of 34 100-candlepower Tungsten lamps, to be placed in different parts of the city, at a rate of $2.25 per lamp per month for a period of ten years, or $2.50 per lamp per month for a period of five years.

The pumping contract provides for a rate of $5 per horsepower per month, with a minimum of $25.

The contracts will be taken up again at the regular meeting of the council next Monday evening.

G. I. S. News

The regular monthly meeting of the Genesee Improvement society will be held Saturday afternoon, January 3, from 3 until 4 o'clock. Let us start the New Year right and not only be prompt in attendance but bring some suggestion or New Year's resolution for the good of the society or our little city with you. It is to be hoped that we can accomplish more in the present year than in the past and if there seems little to be done now let us lay our plans for the future, and work with that end in view.

The Congregational Sunday school gave a cantata, "The Holy One of Israel," on Christmas eve. The program was exceptionally well rendered and those who had charge of the training of the children deserve great credit. The more difficult musical numbers were given by the church choir, but nearly all the children in the Sunday school had some part on the program. A good crowd was in attendance. After the cantata Santa Claus distributed gifts of candy and nuts from a beautiful Christmas tree. It was an enjoyable time for the little folks.

Mrs. Fred Scharnhorst, who has been quite ill is greatly improved and her friends are glad to see her out again.

PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW

All Previous Records Beaten—Idaho Fat Stock Praised—Good Sales

The Livestock Exposition held at the Portland Stock yards December 8 to 13, inclusive, was a great object lesson for the farmers and stockmen of the Pacific Northwest. This year the show at Portland beat all past records, both from the standpoint of attendance and number of exhibits. This year the exhibit of fat stock excelled in quality and number any like show of its kind seen west of the Rockies.

The carload lots of cattle, hogs and sheep showed careful feeding and proper fitting; especially was this true with the first prize winners in their respective classes.

Two fat steers that were champions, entered by the University of Idaho, were in the best of condition, showing good breeding and feeding. We have never seen at any show greater attention given to a champion fat steer than that accorded the Shorthorn that carried off the champion ribbon for Idaho.

The holding of the Dairy show in conjunction with this year's exposition showed the wisdom of the management. The entries of all dairy breeds brought out the winners of state fairs and the competition was exceptionally strong.

The Holstein sale held on the 12th was well attended. The consignments were made from the herds of the leading Holstein breeders of Washington and Oregon. The sale was a good one and the distribution of these individuals among new breeds means a boon to the dairy industry of the Northwest.

Professor G. P. Grout, of Minnesota, one of the judges of dairy breeds, said: "Your dairy breeders of the Northwest have drained the East of much of her best stock and your breeding of record animals shows that you are leaders and not followers in the dairy development. I am surprised at the quality and the vastness of the Portland show."

The good prices paid at the auctioneering side for fat stock and breeding animals is worthy of most favorable comment. It was an education for all in attendance and showed the possibilities in the livestock industry. It was the means of driving home more clearly the fact of the world-wide shortage of livestock and the field for the farmer in the future, if he but take up this line of work.

Portland is the logical place for just such a show. Its well equipped stock yards, sale barn and office equipment afforded unusual facilities for carrying on the work each day with dispatch.

Date for next year's show is December 7 to 12.—Western Farmer.

Favors New Assessment Plan

County Assessor Theo. E. Martinson, who attended the meeting of assessors held at Boise recently, recommends a change in the manner of making tax levies for roads, school districts, towns and villages.

The change would provide that road, district and town officials shall make up a budget for the coming year and submit it to the county commissioners for adoption in the general levy instead of making levies without knowing what the assessed valuations might be. Last year property was assessed on a 40 per cent basis and levies made accordingly. This year many of them adopted the same levy notwithstanding that the assessment under the new law fixed values at 100 cents on the dollar.

Knights of Pythias Elect Officers

At their regular meeting on Tuesday night, December 23, the Knights of Pythias elected the following officers for the ensuing term:

C. E. Vandenberg, C. C.; Walt Jain, V. C.; P. C. McCreary, prelate; J. M. McColl, M. of W.; F. J. Cornish, K. of R. and S.; F. E. Dicus, M. of W.; J. T. Nelson, M. of E.; J. H. Gage, M. at A.; Ed Abernathy, I. G.; Bert Gartner, O. G. Installation ceremonies will take place the first Tuesday in January.

The Eastern Star members and their husbands were invited to spend Thursday evening at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Woodley. It was in the nature of a sleighting party and a most enjoyable time was had.

The banking and currency bill is the second large legislative undertaking of the Wilson administration and the first revolutionary banking law passed to date.

Diplomatized, the new plan of currency regulation as prescribed by, and the salient features of, the act may be stated as follows:

Issue of currency, guaranteed by the government, based upon notes and bills representing commercial transactions and backed by a gold reserve.

The new currency expected to contract and expand to meet the varied demands of trade.

Concentration of the bank reserves of the country in regional institutions capitalized by the banks and controlled by the directors elected by the banks.

Creation of a market for the negotiable commercial paper which forms the bulk of the assets of the banks, where, in time of stress, those assets may be easily and without loss transformed into cash.

Establishment of from eight to twelve regional banks, which will issue currency, rediscunt paper and control the local banks.

Formation of a Federal Reserve Board of seven members, appointed by the president, with final powers of control and supervision over the entire system.

The new system will not actually be in operation before the autumn of 1914. The transfer of bank reserves cannot be completed, according to best authorities, before January 1, 1915.

The next step now will be the appointment of members of the Federal Reserve Board by President Wilson.

These officials, with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, will organize the new system.

CHURCH SERVICES

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
A. P. ORTH, Pastor

Preaching services at 11 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Young peoples meeting at 7 o'clock, which lasts but one-half hour. Teachers' training class every Thursday evening.

The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning will be—"True Greatness." In the evening the pastor will begin another series of sermons to men, the object of which shall be to dispel some common errors in our belief regarding the Bible, the church and the Christian life and to give us a more correct and intelligent view of the real meaning of these things. The older the pastor of this church becomes the more he believes that not more men are in the churches largely because they have not a true conception of the real meaning of the Bible, the Church and religion.

The object of these sermons will be to give us a clearer idea of what Christianity is and what it aims to do for the race, and to build from the very foundation an intelligent faith. No man in Genesee, not a member of a church can afford to miss a single sermon, for if you are interested at all in the things that pertain to man's higher nature, we are sure you will be interested and helped.

The subjects to be discussed are as follows:
How we got our Bible.
Is the Bible Inspired and if so? How?
What is Sin and what is Salvation?
What is true Christianity?
How to be a Christian, and Why.
Can one be a Christian without belonging to church?
The foolishness of many sects and the wisdom of Christian unity.
Was Jesus a socialist?
This course will begin next Sunday night and the subject will be—"Is the Bible Inspired and if so in what sense." There will be earnest preaching and good music, come and enjoy the service with us.

METHODIST CHURCH
J. G. CARBICK, Pastor
The services at the Methodist church next Sunday will start with a rousing sermon at 11 o'clock by the pastor on the subject of—"Some of the things which will keep us from doing Christian duty during the year of 1914." We are determined to make the Methodist church a help to Genesee in solving some of its moral and social questions. So the first thing is to point out some of the things in the way.

The night service will be given to the discussion of the question—"Some things I can do to make my church a blessing." We are going to work on the theory that when men and women get what they want or get what they think a church should give, they will come without resorting to any eccentric methods. We always believe that a boarding house that sits on their tables eatables well served the public wanted, would never have to resort to any other means of getting boarders. So our motto is, "The best none too good for the people of Genesee."

Will you come and help us, or will you stand aloof and criticize us and make it just as hard on us, who do try, as you can.

Choose your this day whom you will serve in 1914. If God be for us, we will win. If Baal, then serve him.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Has come and gone. To many persons, and sections of the country, it has been a very satisfactory year. To our immediate section the past year has been a little unkind—not a failure, by any means—but a little short of what we are used to. People who have lived in this country 25 or 30 years can look back and truthfully say that this county NEVER had a failure, something no other county on the face of the globe can say. Therefore we should not complain if once in a great while our crops are a little short.

In our opinion, promises to be a very active year. We firmly believe that the new currency system just enacted, will bring great prosperity to the country. Every one should read it and familiarize themselves with it. Confidence in our government and in one-another goes a long way toward helping prosperity along.

Our confidence in 1914 is such that we have ordered a larger stock of goods than in any previous year, and firmly believe we are going to sell them, and also firmly believe that you will have ample means to buy them, and to spare, when the coming crop is harvested.

Coasting Accident. Nettie Burns, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. A. Murphy, was quite severely hurt New Year's night while coasting on what is commonly called the church hill. While coming down the hill at a terrific speed she ran into the rear end of a hauled which was standing just west of the Driscoll Hardware store, striking it with such force as to move the sled with her. Other coasters were rushed to her and found that she was unconscious, she having struck her head just above the right eye, cutting it quite severely, as well as otherwise bruising her face and scalp. She was taken to a physician's office where her wound was dressed after which she was taken to the Murphy home. She remained unconscious for some five or six hours, but is getting along nicely at present and no bad results are feared. The Hill is a very dangerous one on account of its being quite steep and the path crossing the main street, where teams are apt to be encountered at any time when crossing the street. Several accidents have been narrowly averted on this hill and this should be a warning to coasters to be more careful in future.

FARMERS' WEEK AT UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO. Devoted to Subjects of Interest to the Farmers. Preparations have been completed and the final program drawn for the six days' lectures and demonstrations which are to open at the University of Idaho on January 12 for the farmers, orchardists and stock raisers of the state. The work of the week will include a special course of studies in livestock, dairying, horticulture and home economics and articles and other publicity material are being extensively sent throughout the state tending to farmers, orchardists and livestock men in all sections of Idaho an invitation to avail themselves of the opportunity of studying the best methods of selecting, breeding and feeding the different classes of livestock and the best practice in orcharding and gardening. The farmers' wives and daughters are also invited to attend and for them a special course of lectures and demonstrations in home economics, including cooking, sewing and home-making has been arranged. The week's work will be conducted by members of the university faculty assisted by several members of the university field staff and a number of the most successful stockmen, farmers and orchardists of the northwest. Only the most practical work along the lines above indicated will be given. Special rates have been secured on all railroads of the state leading to Moscow and arrangements are being made to accommodate as large a crowd as may attend. The Farmers' Week was suggested to Acting President W. L. Carlyle and Professor W. H. Olin by the great interest that was taken in the recent livestock demonstration train that toured northern and central Idaho. It would be the first enterprise of a similar character that has ever been attempted by the University of Idaho, but it is the plan of Dr. Carlyle to make it an annual affair.

First Permanent Road. To Astin county will come the honor of the first permanent modern highway construction in the territory embracing that rich portion of the Northwest, including Astin county in Washington, Idaho and Latah counties in Idaho. This work is to be started in the early spring and the first section will extend from Clarkston to the town of Astin, about six miles. The fund had been created by bond issue voted last fall for a system of road work that reaches practically all parts of the county. The Astin-Clarkston section of the Astin-Clarkston link will comprise a concrete roadway.

Adjust Heirship Lands. The appearance at Lapwai of J. W. Holcomb, special agent of the Indian department, is a welcome development to many residents of the country upon and tributary to the Nez Perce Indian reservation. He has been assigned the work of definitely studying out titles as to Indian heirship lands, statement of which there are probably 350 cases requiring attention. Uncertainty as to these titles has embarrassed the leasing and handling of the lands as well as tied up money that should accrue to the Indian beneficiaries.

A Fine Entertainment. A most interesting program was rendered at the Congregational church Saturday evening by the Philatheas, Mrs. A. P. Orth's Sunday school class of young ladies. The church was beautifully decorated with pots and festoons of evergreen and winter berries. A large and appreciative audience was in attendance and the entertainment furnished was of high order. Almost without exception the several numbers on the program were well rendered and several eulogies were responded to. Those taking part were: Misses Mary and Esther Markinson, Myrtle Peterson, Miss Olson, Dr. McColl, Rev. Orth, John Wardrobe, Emery Vandenberg and Arthur Carlander.

CHURCH SERVICES

CHURCH OF CHRIST
FRED M. KINCAID, Pastor

The revival meetings advertised for some time, began last Thursday evening at the Church of Christ and have increased in interest and fervor.

Evangelist McConnell said in introducing himself: "The one theme that will be proclaimed from this pulpit during the series of meetings will be Christ and Him crucified. To many this will seem a narrow theme, but a close study reveals it to be the broadest theme mind can consider. It is broad because it is the one theme of the Bible. Take Christ away and you have no New Testament. The prophets lose their melody and message, the tabernacle loses its significance, God's dealings with a special nation, protecting them by forty years of miracles and the preserving of a royal line becomes silly and nonsensical if Christ is not the end of the law."

"It is broad because the cross has influenced history. It has built nations and torn down kingdoms.

"It is broad because the principle of the cross applied to all national problems solves them as nothing else can.

"It is broad for it saves men of all types and classes; of all nationalities; rich and poor; high and low, and causes them to be cemented into one great Brotherhood of man."

Mrs. McConnell is assisting in the music. A rousing song service begins at 7:30. The sermons begin at 8:10.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
A. F. WOLFF, Pastor

Preaching services at 11 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Young peoples meeting at 7 o'clock, which lasts but one-half hour. Teachers' training class every Thursday evening.

The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning will be—"The Nazareth of Human Life."

In the evening the topic will be—"What is Sin and what is Salvation?" The purpose of this sermon will be to explain the origin of evil and the nature of it and the way in which we can get rid of it.

Many people are puzzled in their attempt to figure out how an all wise and all powerful Creator could admit evil into the world to spoil his plan for the future, and having allowed or admitted it, why he did so. It is simple enough. Come out next Sunday night and hear about it. It may be a new idea to you but we believe it is the truth.

GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH
A. F. WOLFF, Pastor

German services will be held in the German Lutheran church on Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. There will be Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. and Lutheran League at 7:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH

There will be no preaching services at the Methodist church next Sunday or the Sunday following on account of the absence of the minister.

OUR SAVIOUR'S CHURCH
G. L. BREVIVIK, Pastor

Norwegian services in Our Saviour's Lutheran church, north of town, on Sunday at 11 a. m.

Miss Pauline Steltz Sunday School class spent New Year's day at the beautiful ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nixon. The children were taken to the ranch in a big bobbed and they enjoyed the sleigh ride and the day-as-only children can. Those present were: Irma Lambert, Margaret and Gertrude Sampson, Maxine Ehlen, Maggie Schooler, Ruth and Imogene Gardner, Catherine McMahon, Hazel and Mildred Michaelson and Frances and Grace Nixon. The children were chaperoned by Miss Steltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Gage are the parents of a baby girl, born Friday morning, January 2.

Best Cough Medicine for Children

"I am very glad to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Lida Dewey, Milwaukee, Wis. "I have used it for years both for my children and myself and it never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. No family with children should be without it as it gives almost immediate relief in cases of croup." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is pleasant and safe to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by all dealers.

CHURCH SERVICES

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
A. P. ORTH, Pastor

Preaching services at 11 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Young peoples meeting at 7 o'clock, which lasts but one-half hour. Teachers' training class every Thursday evening.

The regular Children's service will be held next Sunday morning from 11 to 12 o'clock. The pastor will preach on "Little Foxes," and all the members and friends of the Junior church are cordially invited to the service. In the evening the subject will be "What is sin, how it came to be and how we may get rid of it." This subject was to have been treated last Sunday night but owing to the request for another sermon on "Inspiration" was deferred to next Sunday night.

As it will be impossible for all who wish to worship to find room in the Christian church, we will have our regular service each sabbath during the week. The pastor hopes that all of our people who can will attend the evangelistic meeting through the week. Our audience Sunday night practically filled the house. So if you can not find a seat in the Christian church, come up on the hill where you will also hear good music and earnest gospel preaching.

Baptism will be administered to children at the morning service.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
FRED K. BRESSLER, Pastor

Church of Christ Bible school at 10 a. m. and Junior league at 6:30 p. m. The Revival meetings at the Church of Christ will continue for another full week at least.

Mr. McConnell is speaking to a crowded house every night. Mrs. McConnell is ably assisting with her solos each evening. The following will be some of the subjects used during the coming week:

"The meekest thing in Genesee," "The Conversion of a nobleman," "The great Judgement Day," "Almost Persuaded," and others. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock a children's meeting will be held. Children are being drilled for the song service.

GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH
A. F. WOLFF, Pastor

English services will be held in the German Lutheran church on Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. There will be Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. and Lutheran league at 2:00 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH
J. G. GARRICK, Pastor

There will be no preaching services at the Methodist church next Sunday or the Sunday following on account of the absence of the minister.

OUR SAVIOUR'S CHURCH
G. I. BREVIK, Pastor

Norwegian services in Our Saviour's Lutheran church, north of town, on Sunday at 11 a. m.

A surprise party that had the meaning of the word to the full was given Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Broemmeling in honor of Joe and Gerhart Broemmeling, who recently returned to this part of the country from Canada. The evening was spent playing progressive high five, the first prize being captured by George Bershaw, while the booby prize was carried away by Miss Bertha Lorang. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served. A very large crowd was present and the time had was in like proportion.

The L. H. M. S. of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. E. J. Cornish Friday afternoon. A large majority of the members were present and discussed the business for the year's work. After the business meeting Mrs. Cornish served an elaborate three-course luncheon.

Best Cough Medicine for Children
"I am very glad to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Lida Dewey, Milwaukee, Wis. "I have used it for years both for my children and myself and it never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. No family with children should be without it as it gives almost immediate relief in cases of croup." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is pleasant and safe to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by all dealers.

Washington.—In deciding Monday that Blair Lee, democrat of Maryland, should be seated as United States senator to succeed Senator Jackson, republican, and that Frank P. Result West Virginia Flood. Cumberland.—The flood which swept down the Stony creek and upper Potomac valley recently as a result of the breaking of the great dam at Dobbins, Va., has killed hundreds of refugees who fled to the hills on the first warning have returned home.

An examination of the wreckage at Alabama shows that the foundation was intact except only 125 feet of the superstructure went out. The breast of the dam was 1075 feet long. There were three different breaks, each less than 100 feet in length, which lessened the force of the flood.

ANTI-TRUST REFORM YEAR'S WORST STORM

PRESIDENT WILSON, IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS, TUESDAY, OUTLINES HIS IDEAS.

MANY NEW POINTS ARE MADE PLAIN

Both Legislative Committees of Congress and members of His Cabinet Express Approval of the Plan Not to Rush Change.

Washington.—President Wilson read his message on anti-trust reform to a joint session of both houses of congress Tuesday.

The president had shown the document to democratic leaders in congress, members of the two congressional committees in charge of legislation and to members of the cabinet.

The president dealt with those general principles which he believes are essential to the reform. He emphasized that a spirit of friendliness, rather than hostility, should characterize the method of approaching the work of reform.

To this end the president himself has announced the program of public hearings on proposed bills.

The president has left the task of framing the detailed reforms to congress.

New Features Announced. The three hitherto announced features of the president's plan are:

1. The prohibition of holding companies in the form of trusts.

2. Empowering the interstate commerce commission to regulate and supervise the issuance of securities by railroads so that the public would exercise, through the commission, a certain control over the future use of the money obtained from such securities.

3. Wherever at the instance of the government, either in civil or criminal proceedings, the courts have rendered judgment on the lawfulness of any combination, individual or non-competitive concerns would be possible only with the consent of the Interstate commerce commission or the proposed Interstate trade commission.

4. Convictions in Evidence. The president has again made it plain to the public that the commission should have the power to bring into evidence the records of any individual or non-competitive concerns.

5. F. M. (Borah) Smith, of San Francisco, one of the amazing number of multimillionaires who have become rich through the sale of raw wool, has had his troubled financial affairs capitalized at $200,000,000, taken out of his hands recently by syndicates.

The property loss is estimated at nearly a million dollars. Only one life was sacrificed, while 161 persons were brought safely to shore.

ATLANTIC COAST STREWN WITH WRECKAGE CAUSED BY FIERCE BLIZZARD

CREW RESCUED FROM SINKING SHIP

Schooner Fuller Palmer Goes Down 154 Miles Off Coast of Cape Cod—Storm Caused Property Loss of Over a Million Dollars.

Baltimore, Md.—Rescued from their ice-battered, sinking ship after they had given up all hope, the 13 members of the crew of the five-masted schooner Fuller Palmer arrived Sunday aboard the steamer Marina.

The rescue was made by the Marina about 154 miles southeast of Cape Cod.

Since January 13, when the gale had battered the schooner, the crew had been trying to keep down the sea and to keep her afloat. With sails whipped into shreds by the winds and rigging broken and so heavily coated with ice that it could not be hauled, the Fuller Palmer had practically drifted at the mercy of the raging seas.

Day and night the men labored at the pumps, trying to keep down the surging water as the awful pounding covered the seams and the leaks grew larger. Tons of water flooded her decks, and, turning to leeward, she was unable to hold her own.

"I am very glad to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Lida Dewey, Milwaukee, Wis. "I have used it for years both for my children and myself and it never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. No family with children should be without it as it gives almost immediate relief in case of croup." Gage-Rader

Miss Pearl Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gage, and Oscar F. Rader, both of this city, were united in marriage on Tuesday, January 20, at high noon, at the ranch home of the bride's parents, the ceremony being performed in a very impressive manner by the Rev. A. F. Wolff of the German Lutheran church.

E. W. Gage, brother of the bride, was best man, while Mrs. Jesse Gage, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid. About twenty relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony, immediately after which the happy pair, accompanied by the guests, drove to the home of Mrs. J. H. Rader, in this city, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was in waiting.

The bride and groom are well and favorably known, having grown to manhood and womanhood here. Mr. Rader is connected with the firm of Rader & Westensee, meat dealers.

The newly married pair will make their home with Mr. Rader's mother, Mrs. J. H. Rader, for the present. Early in the evening small boys began a tin-can serenade, which was augmented by older ones and the charivari was kept up for several hours, Mr. Rader responding generously to their demands.

Special Council Meeting

At an extra session of the city council, held Monday night, the new lighting and pumping contract was taken up and read the second and third times and placed on its passage, the complete text of which may be found in another part of this paper. Read it, in order that you may know just what the city council has done with this very important matter.

The recent installation by the city of a five-horsepower motor to take the place of the old 20-horsepower motor will save the city $50 per month on the cost of pumping, and under the new system of lighting the city will have more than twice as much light at the same figure the old contract called for and, taken as a whole, it would seem to be a very wise move on the part of the city officials.

A very pleasant dancing party was given at the home of Gerhart Broemmeling last Friday night, which was attended by a goodly number of the followers of Terpsichore. A splendid time was had by all present. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The hardware store of Fred Lambert is undergoing some interior changes, Mr. Lambert transforming some of the shelving into wall cases, which will add very materially to the appearance of the store.

A Small Blaze

The home of Jesse Gage, in the north part of town, was partially destroyed by fire early Tuesday evening. The alarm was turned in just after 6 o'clock, to which the local fire department responded immediately, making good time, taking into consideration the fact that the streets are very rough and just enough snow to make hard traveling. However, the boys were soon on the ground and in a few minutes had a stream of water playing on the blaze, which had evidently started in the attic from a defective flue.

Willing helpers soon had the contents of the house removed to a safe distance and little damage was done to the household goods, everything having been handled very carefully, which is unusual in a case of this kind.

Mr. Gage removed his furniture to a work just across the street. The house of repairing the damaged house will be begun at once. The property belongs to Mrs. T. J. Keane of Moscow and the loss, which which is estimated at about $200, is fully covered by insurance.

The Sick List

Patrick Ryan is reported on the sick list. Grandmother Broemmeling is suffering from a slight attack of bronchitis. Jim Whitted is under a physician's care, suffering from an abscess on the side. Frank Lawen, who went to Portland some weeks ago to enter a hospital, was operated on last Saturday for bladder trouble, from which he rallied nicely and there is every reason to believe that he will recover fully from the trouble.

New Picture Show

F. M. Malcolm of Pomeroy, Wash., has leased the Genesee opera house for a term of four months and will conduct a picture show therein each night during that time, beginning next Monday night. Mr. Malcolm says he will use only licensed pictures and will give a complete change of program each night. The show will consist of four reels.

A dancing party was given last Friday night at the home of Jake Frizzell, which was largely attended and the good time was in proportion to the size of the crowd. Quite a number were present from Genesee. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Nearly a car load of merchandise arrived in Genesee from wholesale houses Tuesday morning, and will soon be placed on sale in the various mercantile establishments. This will give the people of Genesee a nice line of up-to-date goods to choose from.

secretary of the western district, Y.
M. C. A., addressing the conference of secretaries and faculty members of the universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, said that the progress of inventions, especially of automobiles, had much to do with the growth of vice among young men.
"Their use makes vice easier," he said.
The growth of large cities, where perserted, also caused the downfall of many university students.

The county commissioners of Kootenai during the week completed the ing $34,691 for the preceding quarter college of liberal arts in the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks, was recently elected president of the Uni-over a long list of distinguished educators.

The new president was born in Indiana of Scotch-Irish ancestry. He was graduated at Wabash college in 1889, studied at Marine Biological laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass., and later attended the University of Chicago, which

During the summer of 1911, while engaged in examining supposed coal lands in the Snake River valley, C. F.
Bowen of the United States geological survey and C. T. Kirk made an investigation of the coal beds of Horseshoe Bend and Jerusalem valley, on Payette river, Idaho. So far as surface indications go, the coal is of sufficient thickness to justify development at only two locations. The area underlain by coal at each of these localities is probably small. The coal at the Henry mine has a pitch-black color, vitreous luster, black streak, and dense structure.

The Kootenai County Farmers' Union owners and is especially unfair and unjust to the tillers of the soil.

Passenger Rate War on Atlantic.

Bremen, Germany.—The transatlan-

Sunday with an announcement by the North German-Lloyd that its steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse will be placed at the exclusive disposal of Third-class rates will entitle passengers on this ship to the same accomprovided for first-class passengers.

Assistant Postmasters Safe.

Washington.—A point of order struck out of the annual postoffice appropriation bill the "rider" to exempt all of the country's 2400 assistant postmasters from the civil service law. Advocates of this provision, which had drawn emphatic disapproval from President Wilson, made an ineffectual attempt to have reported a special rule to head off the point of order.

South Americans at Fair.

patrolman, active in investigating illegal sales of liquor by drug stores, was

FORESTREPORTREADY

SECY. OF AGRICULTURE TELLS OF NATIONAL FOREST ACTIVITIES
DURING LAST YEAR.

MONTANA AND IDAHO ARE IMPROVED

First Part of Route From Mount Idaho to Elk City Undertaken—Policy is to Benefit Settler Rather Than Automobiles—States Help.

The secretary of agriculture recently issued a statement showing the receipts from the national forest activities for the year ended June 30, 1913, and the proportion of such receipts which have been returned to the states within which the national forests are located. The total net receipts from all sources was $2,391,920, and $586, 596 was returned to the several states for schools and roads under the 25 per cent clause. Two hundred thirty-four thousand six hundred thirty-eight dollars was available under the 10 per cent item for the construction of the roads.

The total receipts for Montana amounted to $312,655; $65,233 was available to the counties within which the national forests are located for school and road purposes; $26,095 was available for the construction of wagon roads in the state of Montana. This fund was handled directly by the forestry service in cooperation with the state and the several counties.

The total net receipts for Idaho amounted to $312,655, $70,163 being returned to counties in the state for school and road purposes under the 25 per cent item, and $31,265.56 being available under the 10 per cent item for the construction of roads. Of this road fund for Idaho approximately $14,000 was handled from the Missoula office and is being expended in northern Idaho.

Idaho's Most Important Project.

The most important project undertaken in northern Idaho is the construction of a wagon road from Mount Idaho, east of Grangeville, to a point on the south fork of the Clearwater river, 13 miles east of Mount Idaho.
This road will cost approximately $30, 000 and will give a good wagon road to about 20 or 25 ranchers who now have little more than a trail upon which to travel. This is an integral part of a larger project which will undoubtedly be constructed at a later date. This is the long-talked-of wagon road up from Mt. Idaho to Elk City.
The continuation of the road up the south fork of the Clearwater river will be exceedingly expensive. The next 20 miles will probably cost at least $100,000 and will require the cooperation of the mining interests and must secure the cooperation of federal, state and county authorities.

In Bonner county, Idaho, the most important work so far completed is the construction of the Moyie river road between Addie and Eastport. The further construction and improvement of this road will be continued in the spring. It is the intention to connect Eastport and Bonners Ferry. In this work the county and forest service shared the expense equally. In the Priest river country a number of the roads were greatly improved through the same means. Next spring some work will be done on wagon roads near the south end of Lake Pend Oreille.

An Important Park-to-Park Link.

In Montana the largest and probably the most important project undertaken is the construction of the Bitterroot-Big Hole road. When completed this road will connect the Bitterroot valley with the Big Hole valley and at the same time will form an important connecting link in what is known as the western route of the park-to-park highway. A contract has practically been let for the construction of all but about nine miles of this road for $30, 000. The balance of the road will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. Private citizens in the two valleys, Bitterroot and Ravalli counties, and the forestry service have cooperated and each has borne a share of the expense. If present plans do not miscarry this road will be completed before snow falls next fall. This project has been agitated for two years.

Work on a section of the interstate highway in northwestern Montana known as the Troy to Libby road is progressing nicely. This section of the road will be completed before next summer and through travel from Kal-ispell to Libby has been well laid out and the road has been well constructed. It follows through Pleasant Valley around by Loon Lake and Fisher river, crosses the divide into Libby creek and follows this stream to the town of Libby. From this point the road follows the south side of the Kootenai river to the town of Troy.
Between these two points is the Kootenai gorge and canyon and the stretch is the most expensive piece of road construction on the entire route.

New Supt. at Naval Academy.

Captain William J. Fullam, Secretary Daniels' aide for personnel, it is announced, will become superintendent of the naval academy at Annapolis, relieving Captain John H. Gibbons, who on February 7 will assume command of the battleship Louisiana. Captain Gibbons, who has been at Annapolis since May, 1911, asked for sea duty.

ON PACIFIC COAST

The seismograph at Chabot observatory, Oakland, showed a slight vibration traveling from east to west Saturday evening.

Governor West of Oregon in a letter to Dr. C. J. Smith, former state senator from Pendleton, declares he will not be a candidate for reelection.

J. H. Muir, a solicitor for a San Francisco hotel, was ground to pieces beneath the cars of the Portland express at West Berkeley, Cal., Saturday.

Big tides in San Francisco bay that were caused by the high water in the rivers and streams emptying into it have done considerable damage to the wharves and piers.

The British Columbia legislature, at the present session, purposes to pass legislation providing for the collection of a special tax against Hindus, Jap-

One man is believed to have been killed Sunday when the Third avenue hotel, a three-story structure at Fairbanks, Alaska, was destroyed by fire, with a loss of $25,000.

Charged with having defrauded many women through promise of marriage and many men in other ways, C. H.
Knight, promoter of what is called a "million-dollar Pan-American recreation tower," to be erected in San Francisco, was arrested recently at Los Angeles and lodged in the county jail.

Dr. John Grant Lyman, the convicted Panama land promoter, who claimed once to have been a millionaire, took the pauper's oath in the United States district court Saturday at Los Angeles, preparatory to asking the government to pay for his appeal to the higher courts from his conviction.

Estimates place the California orange shipments at 40,000 cars, more than double that of a year ago, and more than has been sent east in any year in the life of the industry. The 40,000 cars would average 400 boxes each, and every box would contain between 90 and 100 oranges, making approximately a billion and a half oranges.

Charged with working firemen and policemen of Portland more than eight hours a day in violation of the state law, Mayor Albee was recently arrested by State Labor Commissioner Huff.

Police touring car going at a high rate of speed in answer to a burglar call crashed into a Southern Pacific freight train at Portland. Sheriff Tom Word sustained a broken rib and badly cut face.

Baron Makino, Japanese foreign minister, made a supplementary statement to the Japanese parliament regarding California land legislation intended to show that, according to the Japanese understanding, there is perfect harmony of purpose between the United States and Japan in the negotiations to settle the question, and that the Japanese government is relying on assurances to that end from Washington.

THE WORLD OWES OVER 42 BILLION DOLLARS NOW

French Loans the Greatest—Interest and Other Annual Charges
$1,732,000,000.

Washington.—The national debts of the world now aggregate $42,000,000, 000, being increased 20 per cent in the last decade and doubled in the last 40 years. The interest and other annual charges amounted in 1912 to $1,732,000,000, or an average of slightly more than 4 per cent, though in many cases, especially those of the stronger nations, the interest rates are materially below that figure, according to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The largest national debt is that of France, $6,284,000,000; the next largest being Russia, $4,553,000,000; the United Kingdom, $3,486,000,000; Italy,
$2,707,000,000; Spain, $1,815,000,000;
British India, $1,475,000,000; Japan,
$1,242,000,000; and the United States,
$1,028,000,000. The debt of the German empire is stated at $1,178,000,000, and of the German states, $3,730,000, 000; that of Austria, $1,434,000,000, and of Hungary, $1,268,000,000.

Interest rates, as above indicated, vary greatly, the stronger nations obtaining lower rates for their securities; the average annual rate upon the indebtedness of the United States ranging from 2 to 4 per cent; in the case of the United Kingdom 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 per cent; Russia, from 3 to 6 per cent; Japan, from 4 to 5 per cent;
the German empire, 3 to 4 per cent;
China, 4 to 5 per cent; Nicaragua, 6 per cent; Panama, 7 per cent; Ecuador, 4 to 10 per cent, and Honduras, 5 to 10 per cent. These figures of interest rates do not, however, fully indicate the actual rates paid, since in a large proportion of cases the securities in question were sold by their respective governments at less than par, the United States being one of the few nations which have declined to sell their securities at less than their face value.

The statement of annual revenues and expenditures of the seventy-odd countries included in the list shows total expenditures of $12,308,
000,000 and total revenues of $12,179,
000,000, the figures relating in all cases to the latest available year, chiefly 1912 or the fiscal year 1913.
Their expenditures in 1902 aggregated
$7,985,000,000 and their revenues $7, 101,000,000, national expenditures having thus increased over 50 per cent during the 10-year period, while national indebtedness increased about 20 per cent during the same period.

OUR FUTURE NEEDS

DEVELOPMENT AND PROSPERITY OF OUR TOWN DEPENDS ON MODERN METHODS.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING A GREAT HELP

Encourage Farm Institutes in Town and Let Our People Cooperate With Them to Solve Soil Problems and Marketing.

The further development and prosperity of the towns and rural communities of the Inland Empire depends largely upon more diversified farming and better farming methods.

Soil does not wear out—is not exhausted—if it is tilled right. Some of the best agricultural lands in the world have been farmed almost continuously for many hundred years and are today as rich as ever. Nature supplies in the elements, in inexhaustible quantities, all the essentials of farming, but man must use them right and it is known that tilling the soil and stock raising must eventually go hand in hand; the permanence and success of each branch of farming depends upon the other.

The under-production of cattle is one of the big reasons for the high cost of living. With the rapid disappearance of the large western ranges, it should be evident to every thinking farmer that there is good money to be made in live stock.

The continual cropping of wheat takes the life out of the soil and must ultimately leave it impoverished. Not only that but the tendency to large farms means fewer owners and resident families and smaller population.
Because it is a profitable crop in itself, because it is a soil-enricher and drought-resister and because of its high feeding value, alfalfa seems to point the way, especially in this Inland Empire section, to better and more diversified farming.

Results of Alfalfa Campaign.

In the recent Holden campaign in the Inland Empire, the experts emphasized the fact that the continual cropping of wheat will ultimately exhaust the soil and that it is necessary to rotate some leguminous crop with it. The more general growing of alfalfa was urged both on its own merits and because it will in turn stimulate the live stock and dairying industries and bring about more diversified farming practices.

The Holden experts not only preached alfalfa but studied Inland Empire conditions and at the conclusion of the campaign made the following summary of the important agricultural needs of this section:

- First, smaller farms and greater diversity of products.
- Second, conservation of moisture by the deep humus of alfalfa.
- Third, raising of hogs, cattle, sheep and chickens for home food consumption.
- Fourth, greater production of butter, cheese and eggs.
- Fifth, a more profitable crop than wheat and a more constant revenue than orchards.
- Sixth, building of silos for winter preservation of green fodder.
- Seventh, increased soil fertility.
- Eighth, resulting improvement in farm values.

The campaign also resulted in the creation of a representative permanent publicity committee to keep alive the interest in alfalfa and to advance the cause of more diversified farming generally.

Importance of Silos.

- The western farmer is rapidly coming to a full appreciation of the economic value of a silo on the farm and with a little more publicity as to their construction, operation and relative merits, they are likely in a few years to be in pretty general use. The department of agriculture has recently issued a bulletin on the making and feeding of silage which gives ten strong reasons for the increasing popularity of the silo:
1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than in the form of fodder or hay.
  2. There is a smaller loss of food material when a crop is made into silage than when cured as fodder or hay.
  3. Corn silage is a more efficient food than corn fodder.
  4. An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same area can be husked and shredded.
  5. Crops can be put in the silo during weather that could not be utilized in making hay or curing fodder.
  6. More stock can be kept on a given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.
  7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed.
  8. Silage is very palatable.
  9. Silage like other succulent feeds has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.
  10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use.

Let us in this community all help boost for the growing of more alfalfa, for more diversified farming and better farming methods generally. It

TRANSPORTATION NOTES.

New express rate tariffs effective
February 1, make material reductions in territory tributary to Spokane.

al Business League of America passed a resolution at a meeting in Chicago favoring a five per cent advance in freight rates.

the contract for the construction of 16 bridges between the east line of Montana and Wenatchee, to McCreary &
Willard of Spokane.

The state commission of Montana has granted a rehearing on the new distributive rates promulgated recently and in the meantime the order is suspended for a period of 20 days.

General Trade Conditions.

Dun's Review says: Changes in business conditions have been mainly in the direction of improvement and confidence is further strengthened.
The first real cold snap of the winter was decidedly favorable to these branches of retail trade largely dependent upon the weather, while the demand for fuel was also accelerated by the exceedingly low temperature.

A significant feature is the revival of activity in commercial paper, merchants and manufacturers finding it possible to provide for their requirements at considerable easier terms than heretofore.

Almost without exception reports from the leading sections of the country indicate that mercantile and industrial enterprises are being undertaken with increased vigor and it is gratifying that signs of improvement are clearly apparent in iron and steel.

Bradstreet's says: Improvement is the keynote of this week's dispatches.
Much of the betterment is sentimental in character, but at the same time substantial. Foremost in the budget news is the better state of employment incident to the resumption of operations in plants that had closed down over the holidays, particularly in the iron and steel industry; the freer buying of commercial paper, with banks seeking desirable grades and reporting supplies not equal to demand; the all-around ease in money following months of restricted credits and stringency and betterment in demand for spring and beyond.

means a more prosperous community and a better town. The merchant, banker, editor, lawyer, doctor and citizens generally should be just as much interested in this movement as the farmers. Encourage the holdings of farming institutes in your town and let the people of the town cooperate with the people of the country in solving problems connected with the tilling of the soil and the economic marketing of the products thereof.

ALASKA BILL A LAW

IT DIRECTS THE PRESIDENT TO SECURE SOME WAY 1000 MILES OF RAILROAD.

COST NOT TO EXCEED $40,000,000

Broadest Powers Conferred on President Wilson in Carrying Out Plans—Summary of Law Given—Many Amendments Failed

Washington.—By a vote of 46 to 16 the senate Saturday passed the Alaska railway bill directing the president to purchase or construct 1000 miles of railroad in Alaska as a cost not to exceed $40,000,000.

The bill places upon the president responsibility for the selection of the route from tidewater to the interior of Alaska and the construction, equipment and operation or leasing of such lines as he may construct or buy to constitute this route. The broadest powers are conferred upon the president in carrying out his duties.

Machinery utilized in the construction of the Panama canal is made available for the construction work.

Provide Redemption Fund.

The bill provides for a redemption fund into which shall be paid 75 per cent of all money derived from the sale of public lands in Alaska or of the coal or mineral contents thereof.

Unavailing efforts to reduce the $40,000,000 appropriation authorized for the work were made during the closing hours of the debate. Senator Hoke Smith sought to have the appropriation reduced to $25,000,000 and Senator Smoot to $35,000,000.

Among other amendments defeated were the Norris amendment for government steamships to Alaska; the Pointed amendment for the sale of Alaska coal at cost to Pacific coast points and the Cummins substitute, limiting the construction to one main line.

Three Democrats Oppose.

Fifteen republicans and Senator Poindexter, progressive, voted for the bill. Senator Bacon, Hoke Smith and Williams democrats, voted against it. With the consent of the territories committee the bill was amended before passage to require the senate's approval of the appointment of civil engineers receiving over $3000 per annum; to forbid any payment for the good will of existing railways; giving insured employes the right to sue the government and limiting the government's defense to those provided for in the federal employers' liability law of 1908.

A similar bill is pending in the house.

Lane Is Exultant.

"This is the greatest encouragement the west has received in many years," Secretary Lane said when informed that the senate had passed the Alaska bill.

Colonel Goethals is the unanimous choice of the senate territories committee as builder of the Alaska railroad.

GERMAN COUNT KILLS HIS WIFE

Found in Young Nephew's Arms Is Report—Woman of Rare Beauty—Husband Tried to Shoot Himself.

Berlin.—A double tragedy occurred at the castle of Dakowymokre, near Posen, when Count Matthias Brudzewo von Mielzynski, a Polish aristocrat and a member of the reichstag, shot and killed his wife and Count Alfred von Mianzynski, her 24-year-old nephew, whom he found alone together.

The countess is said to have been found dead in the arms of her nephew, who was shot in the neck. After the affair the count retired to his study and wrote letters to his relatives explaining his act. He took a few hours sleep and then gave himself up to the authorities. Being a member of the reichstag, he enjoys immunity from arrest except by the consent of parliament, so he was permitted to remain in the castle throughout the day under nominal surveillance by the police.

Accounts differ regarding the exact circumstances of the tragedy.

Portland.

Portland Union Stock Yards Co. reports receipts for the week: Cattle, 1,758; calves, 11; hogs, 6,742; sheep, 8,195.

That cattle prices did not break badly and cause a panic this week is the remarkable feature to the trade. Following the depression a week ago Monday came forth with a veritable deluge of cattle and buyers prevented disaster by cleaning up the supply and relieving the congestion. Beef outlet, however, has been narrow ever since, and a very poor demand rules. Killers got some good hay-fed steers at prices ranging from $7 to $7.40 and cows $6 to $6.50.

Hog trade was steady to firm during the entire period. Monday's run broke all records, the total being 2,950 head. Receipts during the other four days added approximately 4,000 more. Packers seemed to welcome this big run as it contained many cars of firm, smooth stuff, for which they bid $8 and $8.10, with the bulk price at $8. The market closed a shade weaker with best top hogs going at 8c.

Mutton and lamb markets have maintained former price levels easily, especially for the choice grain-fed varieties. Prime wethers sold at $5.75 and ewes at $4.50, but medium quality was cut sharply. Fancy lambs were not offering freely, the best ones selling at $6.75 at the close of business. Sheephouse liquidation large.

The following sales are representative: Steers, $6.75@7.60; cows, $5.50@6.60; bulls, $5.50; heifers, $6.50; calves, $9; stags, $5.50; hogs, $7.15; lambs, $6.50@6.75; ewes, $4.75; wethers, $5.85.

Tacoma.

Wheat—The market is without animation or notable developments. At the moment California appears to offer the only outlet for representative dimensions for the wheat produce of the North Pacific coast, with scattering buying in a small way by some of the mills. Japan is apparently taking on some stock, as usual at this season, from Australia, and present quotations here are not attractive, while the figures at which wheat is held are a shade above the European export level, restricting demands from that source. Holders are not offering, however, and there is no element of weakness in the local situation, as stocks carried over into the new year were in strong hands and held distinctly for a rise, with the result that a stationary market is not likely to jar loose in considerable quantities. Bluestem is relatively stronger, owing to the shortage of that variety, and is quoting up to 96c with club holding as heretofore at 86c.

San Francisco.

Butter—Fancy creamery, 29c; seconds, 27c.
Eggs—Fancy ranch, 38c; store, 37c.
Silver bars, 57 1/2c.
Sterling in London, 60 days, 483 3/4; sight, 486 1/2.

Wheat steady. Spring, $1.55@1.57 1/2.
Millstuffs—Bran, $23.50@25.

SPOKANE'S MARKET REPORT

Locally the jobbers report an active demand from the standpoint of the business interests, in fact the volume of trade is more than meeting the expectations. The following advances are noted for the week: Mica axle grease, cheese, bran; declines, lemons, grapes, pineapples, butter, sweet potatoes, cauliflower.

Provisions.

Butter—The soft weather of the past week and the further approach of spring has had a weakening effect on the butter situation and as a result the wholesale price is off 2c this week, the quotations being 33c and 35c for Washington creamery and 34c and 35c for eastern. At Chicago the butter market was fairly healthy in shape so far as fancy creameries were concerned, but medium grades were slow and inclined to accumulate. There was a downward tendency in prices the fore part of the week at New York, but was later checked, probably due to the cold weather that prevailed.

Eggs—While the mild weather has further stimulated the output of ranch eggs the price remains the same as last week so far as the wholesale market is concerned, the quotations being $10.50 to the producers and $11@12 wholesale. Eastern stocks are off the local market. At Chicago the cold weather at the beginning of the week placed the market in a stronger condition and there was some advance in price, both fresh and storage. New York also experienced a raise in price, due to the cold weather, but later in the week it dropped back 1c.

Fruits and Vegetables.

Apples—The local apple situation is practically colorless from the standpoint of the wholesale view, just the normal trade contingent upon the usual demands to supply the normal consumption. At Chicago the market was still steady and dealers continued to hold stocks at former firm prices. The cold weather at New York had a tendency to interfere with the apple market and for at least two days it was dangerous to move stocks. Prices are about unchanged.

Other Fruits—The coming to hand of lemons in freer quantities has eased off the price another half dollar this week, the quotations being $6@6.50. Emperor grapes in kegs are also a little easier this week at $3, and pineapples are down 1c per pound at 8c.

Potatoes—There is nothing new in the local potato market as far as the Irish variety is concerned, but sweets are down a little in price this week at $2.50. At New York the extreme cold weather has hurt the spud trade and business is at a standstill on account of the frigid wave. The market is therefore firm and higher than at the close of last week. The Chicago market shows a drabby character, but prices have not changed.

Other Vegetables—Dry onions are a little firmer in price at $3.50, as is also cabbage at $3. Head lettuce is holding firm at 85c and cauliflower is a little easier at $1.75.

Grain, Flour and Feed.

Wheat—There has been practically no movement of wheat during the past week and as a consequence the price is advanced another cent all along the line, the quotations being 85 1/2c for bluestem, 75 1/2c for club and 74 1/2c for red Russian. In other quarters it is asserted that the advance is due to the manipulations of speculators. Mills seem to have all the wheat they need for present needs, and as to futures it is only problematical what the trend will be. European markets are dull and no offers of cargoes have recently been made.

Feed—Bran is a little firmer as to price this week, the quotation being $20, while corn is a little easier at $36 @38. Otherwise there is no change and there is very little movement either way, due to the fact probably that the weather has remained open.

NORTHWEST MINING NEWS.

A strike of gold bearing ore has been made on a group of claims owned by Mrs. Georgia Loudggin, near Chasaw.

As a result of tests made on a small scale at the mine of the Chewelah Copper King the company has decided to build a 100-ton smelter. The money for the enterprise will be derived from the issuance of bonds to the amount of $50,000.

Extensive development work has been carried on at the United Copper Co. mine near Chewelah, Wash., during the past year and it is expected to result in the opening up of a large ore body by April 1. Some of the work done consists of the driving of tunnel No. 2 to a depth of 3,700 feet and the installation of 12 stamps in the mill, thereby increasing the capacity.

JEALOUS OF NEW CAMEL

Elephant in Jardin des Plantes Punished His Former Admirers for Their Fickleness.

At the Jardin des Plantes in Paris there occurred recently an incident that showed that animals are subject to feelings very like those which occasionally ruffle the bosoms of men.

A large elephant, formerly the center of attraction, found itself supplanted in public favor by a new arrival—a young camel. The camel was the latest acquisition, and very naturally engaged the attention of visitors.

The elephant for a long time showed signs of dissatisfaction, and at last its jealousy reached a point where it must find expression. When the usual crowd gathered about the camel, the elephant prepared for action. It filled its trunk with water, and with deliberate aim discharged the water all over the people who stood looking at the baby camel.

This method of throwing cold water upon the admirers of a rival brought a laugh even from its victims.

In certain parts of India railroad engineers have many difficulties to encounter, some of them more amusing to read than to experience. The following is one such difficulty:

A freight train was lumbering along when a big elephant came out of the woods and undertook to butt the engine off the track. The engineer did not like to charge the beast, for fear of an upset, and several times reversed the engine, in the vain hope that the elephant would take that as a sign of surrender and retire.

Finally the elephant backed into the engine, and setting its forefeet firmly between the rails, endeavored to push the train backward with its hind quarters.

The engineer promptly put on all steam, toppled the elephant over a small embankment, and before it could recover its senses, the train passed on.

There was a cat that chose a peculiar spot for a bed. Comfort was the cat's object, and the chosen spot did not seem to be calculated to afford it. The cat was found fast asleep in a large ship-building yard, lying on what seemed to be a very muddy path.

It was found, however, that the spot chosen by the cat for its couch was the point at which a hot steam-pipe passed under the road, so that the mud was baked into a warm, dry clay.

Sir Walter Raleigh's Pipe.

A pipe with a history is to be offered for sale in London. It was once the property of Sir Walter Raleigh and is not unlike the letter "Y" in shape and for centuries now has had its home in an ancient inn called "Anno 1527." It is constructed in four pieces of wood, rudely carved with dogs' heads and with the faces of red Indians.

On the bowl there is a cap about as large as the bowl itself, and attached to the stem is a string of beads made of the same wood as the pipe. In this stem a powerful whistle has been cut, and the suggestion is that Sir Walter Raleigh used it to summon his servants.

The Archaeological Society exhibited it at the Guildhall in the '50s of the last century, the inscription accompanying it bearing these words: "The original pipe of the above celebrated 'Historian of the World,' and who first introduced tobacco and potatoes into England. Tradition corroborated by a parchment in the possession of the owner states that this pipe was used by Sir Walter Raleigh on the scaffold just previous to his execution and handed to one of his relatives as a memento of him."—London Telegraph.

Gold Revealed by Dream.

Wye Mills, a small village in Talbot county, Md., is excited over the realization of a dream of buried treasure. Some gold has been found and with it directions for digging for more. The dream came to Rachel Stansbury, a colored woman, at her home in Philadelphia, and was followed, she declares, by a visitation from her dead uncle, John Scott, who urged her to act upon the hint.

She and her uncle, Emery Stansbury, went to the spot described in the dream, near their old home at Wye Mills, and began digging. Three feet under the surface they found a box containing three gold tokens of irregular shape, each about the size of a silver quarter. In the box was a paper, falling to pieces from age, in which was written: "More money buried here deeper down. Dig fast and get it."

Stansbury and his wife are doing their best to "dig fast" and want help, but the negroes of the neighborhood are superstitious and will not approach the place.

Getting in Touch.

Congressman William F. Murray of Massachusetts related an amusing incident which took place during his newspaper days. Assigned to cover a case out of town, Mr. Murray called his office up on the telephone late at night and asked for the city editor. This gentleman, who was a trifle absent-minded, picked up the receiver and said: "Well, Murray, how near are you to a telephone?"

Realistic.

"You have too much rouge on, my dear, to enact properly a milkmaid." "Have I, sir? But I thought a milkmaid should be rosy cheeked." "On the contrary, a milkmaid is naturally a pall girl."

POSTAL MEN REPORT

ASK CONGRESS TO BUY TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE LINES FOR FEDERAL CONTROL.

COMMITTEE HAS BEEN INVESTIGATING

Monopoly of Wire Communication is the Only Logical Cause—Government Should Operate All Telephones, Grant Permits.

Washington.—Postmaster General Burleson submitted to the senate Saturday the recommendations of his department committee appointed by him to investigate the practicability of government ownership of telephone and telegraph lines.

The report declared that "the only way to afford to the people the complete and modern postal facilities that are being furnished by the government to provide," is by carrying out these suggestions:

His Three Recommendations. "One—That congress declare a government monopoly over all telegraph, telephone and radio communication, and other means for the transmission of intelligence as may hereafter develop;

"Two—that congress acquire by purchase all approved wire communication lines, except the commercial lines, except the telegraph lines.

"Three—that congress authorize the postmaster general to issue in his discretion, and under such regulations as he may prescribe, revocable licenses for the operation, by private individuals, of telegraph, telephone and other means for the transmission of intelligence as may hereafter develop;

By which congress acquire by purchase all approved wire communication lines, except the commercial lines, except the telegraph lines.

ON PACIFIC COAST

Extreme cold weather is reported from Alaska. At Nome Sunday the mercury fell to 38 below zero.

Maury I. Diggs, former California state architect, sought by the police for a week, was arrested charging an offense against a 17-year-old girl first year, gave himself up Sunday.

By an agreement entered into by the steamship companies operating from San Francisco, the rate for flour and wheat shipments to the Orient will be reduced $1 per ton, effective March 1. The rate will be $1.00 for Japan, $3; Hong Kong and Manila, $4; Shanghai, $4.50.

The application of the Standard Oil company of California for authority to issue $4,500,000 worth of stock at par was granted Saturday by the state railroad commission. The money is to be used in the extension of the company's manufacturing business, but not any of it will be spent on the pipe lines, it was announced.

Governor Hiram Johnson at Sacramento, civic bodies of the state and persons, including Robert W. Harney, a young newspaper man, now a prisoner of Mexican federal soldiers in Lower California, have joined in sending messages to officials at Washington asking that an investigation be made into the cause for his arrest.

Richard (Blackie) Ford, and H. D. Suhr, charged with the murder of well known hop picker, J. W. Durst at Durst brothers' ranch at Wheatland, California, August 3, last, were found guilty in the second degree of murder and William Suhr who stood trial with them on the same charge, were acquitted.

So far as topography, soil and climate determine the matter Alaska has probably 100,000 square miles of area on which there are possibilities for farming and grazing. The largest portion of the farming land is in the interior, in the Yukon drainage, according to the department of agriculture's new bulletin, entitled "Possible Agricultural Development of Alaska."

Exhaustive investigations. The recommendations were signed by Daniel C. Hooper, first assistant postmaster general; Merritt O. Chance, chief clerk, postoffice department, and John C. Koons, superintendent division of salaries and allowances, comprising the committee. They were accompanied by statistical information collected after one of the most exhaustive investigations undertaken by the postoffice department in its history.

The report states that the United States "is alone of the leading nations which has left to private enterprise the sale and operation of the telegraph and telephone facilities," and that practically all of the economic, telegraph and telephone facilities should be controlled by the government.

It declared further that Theodore Tilton, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, by his statement that the telephone business must be "under complete control" of the government, is practically one system, inter-communication, inter-dependence, universal," has himself pointed out that the most efficient telephone service can be obtained only under a condition of monopoly.

"According to the best available data the capitalization of the long distance city of Billon represents approximately $200,000,000 and the capitalization of the entire commercial network approximately $900,000,000. This is less than the appraised value, since it would be undesirable for the government to purchase the real estate holdings of the city of Billon, which could be leased until accommodations could be provided in the postoffices and stations."

The report was sent to the senate in response to a resolution.

WANTS BIG DAMAGES

CAPTAIN OF SHIP SUNK IN COLLISION CLAIMS OTHER SHIP WAS TO BLAME.

40 LIVES LOST OFF VIRGINIA COAST

Heavy Fog Compelled Slow Going, but Steamer Nantucket Heeded It Not and Plowed into the Monroe, Sinking Her.

Norfolk, Va.—Asserting the loss of his vessel Jan. 29 was due to the carelessness of the commander of the steamer Nantucket, Captain E. B. Camp, of the steamer Monroe filed a libel against the Nantucket Saturday claiming $1,000,000 damages. Action was filed in the United States district court and papers were served on the officials of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Co., owners of the Nantucket, at Baltimore and Norfolk.

In his complaint Captain Johnson alleges that the Monroe was proceeding at half speed or less before the accident, that the Nantucket was in the fog whistles. He says the Nantucket came upon him at such speed that a collision was unavoidable, although he had ordered his ship ahead at full speed to avoid the blow.

Officers in the Pilot House. Investigation of the sinking of the Old Dominion liner Monroe by the steamer Nantucket, with a loss of 41 lives, was completed Saturday by United States steamboat inspectors.

It is said that the testimony shows that Captain Berry, the second officer of the Nantucket, was in the pilot house when the two vessels came together, and the lookout on the Monroe saw the lights of the Nantucket about two minutes before the crash.

The Monroe met light fog intermittently after passing out of the cape and had stopped frequently while she had surrounded the ship. The Monroe was equipped with an automatic time whistle and that was blown at intervals of one minute.

When the heavy fog wrapped the vessels near Winter Quarter Lightship the Monroe, it is said, stopped, and gave two blasts upon which the Nantucket plowed its way into the Monroe's starboard side, about 45 degrees. The Nantucket then backed away.

Minister of War, Gen. Blanquet, Had Detectives, Operating as Rebels, in Order to Discover the Plot—Many Arrests Follow.

Mexico City.—With the arrest Saturday of Jose Luis Requena, chief of the Felix Diaz political organization, and two of three other men who were also prominent in his support in the late race for the presidency, and the discovery of 500 rifles stored in the capital, the war department believes it has well in hand the plot, which it is alleged, had as its object an attempt to overthrow the government.

Cow Creek Items

Assessor Theo. E. Martinson is making his round in this neighborhood. He meets with the property owners in the school house of each district and gives everybody a voice in deciding the value of both real and personal property. Everybody seems to be well pleased with his way of assessing. In this way he can visit all parts of the county himself and thus be able to procure a more just assessment than if the assessing was done by different parties.

The wires were all hot last Sunday night as Mr. Lange was entertaining the agog populace of Cow Creek, Genesee, Lewiston, Spokane and other cities with some choice music on his phonograph.

We are beginning to wonder how soon we shall have those good roads for which we are paying our special road taxes.

If the county commissioners would be brave enough to venture upon the Cow Creek road when it is at its worst, instead of running over the road when it is in shape for their pleasure cars, they would probably decide that there are other roads besides those around Moscow that could stand some improvement.

Dinner parties have been quite common of late.

Joel Franz of Lewiston is at present visiting with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. Smith.

Ida Peterson, Irene Mulally and Flora Alber received an average above 95 per cent in spelling last month.

Teacher—"What is ivory, Leslie?"
"Soap," promptly replied the small scholar.

The Freshmen dedicated their class pennant Monday. Every one agrees that it is a "stunner" and very appropriate with its two shades of green.

At the Opera House
On tomorrow (Saturday) night, Manager Malcolm of the opera house has consented to give the local High school basketball team 25 per cent of the proceeds of the evening's entertainment, which will consist of 5,000 feet of the very best pictures Mr. Malcolm can procure. It is up to you to come out and give the boys a boost.

On Monday and Tuesday nights of next week the management will present features in high-class vaudeville, consisting of singing, talking and dancing. The company comes under the head of "Master Joe Harrity & Co.," and is highly recommended from places where these people have appeared.

There are two juveniles with the company which are said to be of a very high class, Little Dainty Marie, toe dancer, and Master Joe, the little boy who sings, and their dad, who dances any old way imaginable, and some ways not imaginable.

The price of admission will be 10 and 20 cents and you are assured your money's worth, or your money back.

In addition to the vaudeville acts, Mr. Malcolm will give 4,000 feet of new pictures.

If you have anything for sale or rent, try a "Want Ad." They bring results.

It has been stated that a man's stomach is his boiler; his body is his engine and his mouth the fire box. If you have any trouble with your stomach, Chamberlain's Tablets do you good. They strengthen and invigorate the stomach and enable it to do its work naturally. ### BEST WREST WAS CHARITY Pharmaceutical Philanthropist Willing to Help Provide Ninety-nine Other Men Did Likewise.

"It is a very worthy charity, sir, and the need is immediate," said the member of the collecting committee...

"The famous philanthropist frowned with surprise."

"Ten dollars?" he repeated. "Put my name—my name—down for such an insignificant sum—No, no, that would never do. I can give a thousand dollars, or nothing."

"Oh, thank you, sir! I am sure—"

"Don't thank me—I could do no less. A thousand dollars, on condition that you get ninety-nine other men to do the same."

"The famous philanthropist frowned with surprise."

"Just a hint."

"The culprit had before a police magistrate one Monday morning the case of an Irishman who had been charged on a complaint of the Saturday night preceding."

"The magistrate regarded the prisoner with mingled curiosity and indignation."

"So you're the man that gave the officers so much trouble?" the magistrate asked.

"Yes, your honor," responded the Celt, with a broad grin.

"Well, you're a good fellow, but it would take only ten minutes to get you out of the cell."

"I'll bet she will," began the rash youth.

"Don't bet that she will, or you'll never see her again."

"But," protested the young man, "I was going to bet that she would do the unexpected."

"How do you get your commitments so thoroughly acquainted with implicit reliance on your word?"

"Well," replied Senator Borghum, "I made ten wagers of that kind, and they didn't accept my statements they'd have to listen to a long string of statistics."

"In Later Life."

"Do you have to be born with all these bumps?"

"No," said the philanthropist, "some bumps are acquired. A man often gets a bump of caution through being kicked by a horse."

"THE PROPER OUTCRY."

"What do you suppose the infant Hercules calculated when he saw the big serpents coming to his cradle?"

"He said nothing. I suppose it was 'Great snakes!'"

"A Misfortune."

"Did you hear that poor Jimmie had lost his grip?"

"No, indeed. How did it happen?"

"The man he came in to carry to the train, went off with it."

"You said you were in sympathy with me in this fight?"

"I was," replied the man whose mind was evidently not very sharp, "but they are in every way amply for the purpose."

BESTOW PRAISE NOW

Nothing Gained by the Putting Off of Timely Word.

Greatest as Well as Lowest of Men Kind Welcome the Spoken or Written Phrase That Shows Enthusiastic Appreciation.

How often after a play, a sermon, a concert that has stirred us we feel the impulse to make a known to actor, preacher or musician what it has meant to us!

It is so easy to let the world of enthusiastic appreciation remain unspoken—perhaps by a trivial accident, such as the absence of pen and ink to scribble an inscription.

We think the eminent man and woman so strongly poised, so independently secure, so braced and fortified by their own achievements that it is not so.

CITY PEOPLE BUYING FARMS

One Man Spared No Expense in Stocking Place With Animals and Machinery, but Made Failure.

City people with money are pretty keen after good farms these days, and some have made money by being invested in land with a view of having a pleasant country home that will pay for its keep.

I know a man with plenty of money who thought he would like to see a farmer die the lockets over all of the likely land near his city, finally selecting one that suited him.

He had to pay a pretty stiff price. Then he ordered the best equipment put up. He did not care for the cost as long as the barn and the other buildings were of the most approved pattern.

HAS ITS DARK SIDE

Life of Opera Singer Not Always a Rose-Strewn Path.

Some Earn Small Fortunes, but the Famous Operatic Artists are Not Always Rich. Many of Them Are Many and Little Can Be Laid Away.

What becomes of the big salaries paid opera singers? Surely the fortunate warriors must find it difficult to dispose of even a small fraction of their enormous incomes.

One big singer's explanation is particularly illuminating: "You hear," she says, "of this great tenor who last night received a $10,000 salary, but you are not told how few performances a star gives at this rate."

Winning Dorothy "The Only Fortunate One" By CLARISSA MACKIE

Bert Chesney arose from his seat at the head of the table and lifted his glass. "Gentlemen," he said with flashing eyes. "I propose the health of the loveliest girl in the world!"

"The toast was drunk in silence. It was a singular coincidence that each one of the seven friends who had gathered to celebrate Chesney's birthday was already drinking the toast of the beautiful Dorothy Fair. Perhaps Chesney himself guessed the fact. At any rate, his black eyes gleamed triumphantly as they rested on one face after another until they lingered on the homely, rugged countenance of Jasper Dane. Jasper's blue eyes were still tender with thoughts of Dorothy when Chesney's voice cut into the silence again.

"The health of the future Mrs. Robert Chesney!" Again the brimming glasses were drained and the toast was drunk. The second toast following so closely upon the first suggested that Bert Chesney had won in the race for Dorothy Fair's hand and heart.

Pine Grove Items The following communication was received on Thursday last week--too late for publication: On the first of last week a large crowd of young people visited Coverdale Bros. ranch during the dead hours of night and charivariated Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Coverdale, who recently returned from their wedding tour. The usual commotion outside soon brought them to the door, when they invited the crowd in and royally entertained them for some time.

All the class pennants have been received and they now adorn the walls of the assembly room.

The classes in political economy and advanced physiology are enjoying these subjects very much and are taking a great interest in them.

One of the high school girls while debating in English class, led her "Exposition" a clever chase.

Ten of Genesee's young people made up a sleighing party Sunday night to the ranch home of D. Nebelsieck, where they spent the evening playing games and otherwise enjoying themselves.

Oysters and the necessary trimmings were served, which naturally added to the pleasures of the evening.

Thompson's Photo Studio is always open. Any wishing enlargement of photos, we can make you a first-class photo and frame for $5, or photo without frame $2.50. All work guaranteed first class.

K. of P. Party

One of the most enjoyable informal parties that has been held in Genesee in many a day was given in the Knights of Pythias hall last Friday night, when about 40 of the members of the order and their wives, sweethearts and friends gathered to spend the evening. Dancing, pool, billiards, cards, etc., were indulged in until about 11 o'clock, when all were invited to the banquet hall, where covers had been laid for 100—all the places were taken—and justice done to the menu, which consisted of clam soup, pickles, sandwiches, cake and coffee.

All present expressed themselves as having had "the time of their lives," upon leaving for their homes.

The proceeds of the evening will be applied on the remodeling of their club rooms, in which bowling alleys are being placed, which will add one more pleasure for those who gather there.

Catholic Card Party

The card party given by the Catholic ladies on Wednesday evening was both a social and financial success. About one hundred and fifty people were present, and high five was played until 10:30 o'clock, after which a short musical program was rendered and refreshments served.

The Gentlemen's first prize, a luxurious smoking set, was awarded to Chas. Griese, who lost but one game during the evening, and the lady's prize, a cut glass bowl, was won by Mrs. Otto Kretschmer. Mrs. Joe Bershaw and Ernest Miller received the consolation prizes.

The ladies hope to make these card parties a regular institution in the future.

Two bob-sled loads of young people went Sunday to the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Koster, near Pine Grove where they spent the afternoon and evening enjoying themselves generally.

The first thing on the program was a feast fit for a king, which the young people thoroughly enjoyed after their ride. The afternoon was spent in music and games of various kinds, but not least, a fine luncheon was placed before them before the return journey was undertaken. The day was thoroughly enjoyed by the youngsters.

County Assessor Theo. E. Martinson seems to be having great success with his new plan of assessing and from all reports the people are well pleased with the results. It at least gives the farmers of their immediate community an opportunity to compare values and assessments, which has been impossible in the past.

G. I. S. News

The Genesee Improvement society met at their club rooms last Saturday afternoon, where some very interesting work was taken up for this coming summer. One of the first things in view is the observance of "Home Industry Week," which takes place from the 13th to 18th of April. This originated and was carried to successful completion by the club women of Idaho, assisted by the merchants and manufacturers.

Most of the cities and small towns in the state in the past two years have observed Home Industry Week and Genesee will join the ranks this year, with the able help of all her women and the merchants. Now all get busy and find out what this Home Industry is, and you will hear more about it from us later on.

A Sweet Pea and Nasturtium show is also one of the plans for midsummer, at which time prizes will be offered for the finest varieties, most artistic arrangement, etc. So we hope that every one will plant sweet peas and nasturtiums as soon as the frost is out of the ground and try for the prize—as well as to beautify your yard. Any one wishing information on this subject, call up Mrs. A. Hanson, who has this work in charge.

There will also be a sewing and fancy work and canned fruit exhibition. This will take place on Stock show day and at the sweet pea, nasturtium exhibit, and if we are able to make a successful showing we will take our exhibit to Moscow to the County fair.

Mrs. John Kempf has the fancy work in charge and Mrs. Ben Phipps has the canned fruit. There will be prizes offered at these exhibits.

No one can know better than club women the necessity of money to carry on effective work, so we are requested to ask the club ladies to pay in their dues. At present we have about 50 members, which is a very good showing for we are only in our infancy. The club hopes to do a good work this present year, so all members try and be at the meetings, which are held every month on the first Saturday afternoon, at 8 o'clock, in the Library rooms in the Volmer block.

This club is not only for the ladies of the town, but for the country as well, so we would like to see more women from the country at our meetings.

PRESS COMMITTEE.

Members of the Rebekah lodge to the number of 14 were on Thursday last week conveyed in sleds to the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Davies, where they spent a very pleasant evening. The merry-makers left town about 6 o'clock and soon after their arrival they were invited to partake of a banquet, such as are famous on the Davies ranch. It being "apple day" in Idaho, Mrs. Davies had prepared, among other inviting eatables, an apple sauce cake, which was thoroughly appreciated by the guests. Music and amusements of various kinds were indulged in and all had a royal good time.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schluter was on Saturday evening the scene of a very pleasant birthday surprise, in honor of Mrs. Schluter's thirty-fourth birthday anniversary. Her daughter, Miss Lillie, planned the party and invited in some 25 or 30 friends and neighbors, who brought well-filled baskets to add to the feast of oysters in various styles. It is always a pleasure for their friends and neighbors to gather at the Schluter home as they are always assured a royal welcome.

John Nisbet has been informed that he was, at the regular annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company, held in Troy on January 15th, elected as director for another three years, to succeed himself, his time having expired at that time. The company is in a flourishing condition at this time.

Yourself and ladies are invited to attend the Spring opening of Wearing apparel; woollens, suits, coats, shoes, dress goods of all kinds, Shepherd checks, Ratines, Brocades Lawns, etc. Get in line, be satisfied customer, why not be up to date on these things, it costs no more. Our line of "Crepes" is sure a hit. J. S. Larrabee.

The occasion was the thirty-fifth birthday anniversary of Mr. Becker, and Mrs. Becker invited the Knights to come out and help him celebrate the event. Progressive high-five, music and singing was the order of the evening until 12 o'clock, when Mrs. Becker served one of her famous luncheons and the Knights are anxiously awaiting another invitation to the Becker home.

MISTOOK POWDER FOR BEER

Unconscious Extinguished by Tramp Who Extinguished Fire Approaching Giant Explosive.

It wasn't a safe thing to store 30 kegs of explosives under the residence of the superintendent, but it was the only safe and convenient place for the wildness where the railroad construction gang was blasting its way through a mountain.

The tramp turned, and paused before the cellar's open hatchway, into which autumn leaves and various combustible litter was blowing.

With an energy truly remarkable in a person of such apparent placidity, he bent and snatched the force blaze to death, not conquering until the staves of the kegs were actually scorched.

Buried and weary, he leaned against a keg, until the superintendent, alerted by the unusual noise below, came running in the morning light.

With an energy truly remarkable in a person of such apparent placidity, he bent and snatched the force blaze to death, not conquering until the staves of the kegs were actually scorched.

UNKNOWN TO SCIENCE

STRANGE ANIMALS BELIEVED TO EXIST IN AFRICA.

Particulars Have Not Been Made Public, But Professors of Natural History Are Inclined to Credit the Report.

Dr. Africa's semper aliquid novi. The proverb of the ancient world still holds good in the bustling days and amid the undagging activities of the twentieth century.

The latest report from what used to be known as the Dark Continent appears in a contemporary, the London correspondent of which records a report of the discovery of "yet another strange and unknown beast" in East Central Africa.

Particulars are said to have reached the Natural History museum at London of the existence of an animal about the size of a bear, tawny color, with very shaggy long hair.

The interesting creature is also described as "short and thick-set in the body, with thick neck, small ears, and a stumpy nose," and "its existence is vouched for by more than one official."

Inquiry at the museum by a representative of the Pall Mall Gazette fails, however, to confirm these attractive details. In the eyes of the authorities, the creature is "one of the 'lars' of such discoveries have to be of a definite and material kind in the shape of some portion of the animal, for example, or a piece of skin."

Nothing of that sort is at present forthcoming. Rumors have, however, reached the official department of the existence of a hitherto unknown animal, possibly such as is described, but which has not been made public.

HOW AN ONION CURES A COLD

Oil Contained in Useful Vegetable Destroys Certain Bacteria, Says a Physician.

Most persons know that eating a raw onion "drives out a cold," but why the onion should possess this beneficial power not only is a mystery to many, but those who were cured would be able to say.

The oil contained in the onion, chives, radish and horse radish, the New York American states, is an oil that belongs in the category of spices, and this oil has a deadly effect upon certain bacteria, the bacteria that may be harmful bacteria flourishing in various organs of the human body.

The interesting point is that the oil which destroys the bacteria is also the oil which causes colds is quite annoying. According to Doctor Hage, the great urea acid specialist, all colds are due to the existence of a bacterium which is called the "urea acid bacterium," and this bacterium is the cause of colds.

Among the germs to which the oil of the onion is a deadly foe is the cold germ, which is called the "urea acid bacterium," and this bacterium is the cause of colds. The oil of the onion is a deadly foe to this bacterium, and it is this oil that drives out a cold.

Properly speaking, the onion is a vegetable, but because of its strong odor it is considered as a spice. There are other spices which have just as good an effect upon the human system. According to Dr. Hage, the great urea acid specialist, all colds are due to the existence of a bacterium which is called the "urea acid bacterium," and this bacterium is the cause of colds.

The following conversation was recently overheard, if we are to believe the man who tells it, upon the stairs of the Berlin elevated. It could never have taken place in New York, for there would not have been time. The parties to it were a gentleman and a lady. She began it:

"Are you talking about me?" "Am I just you? You jabbed me with your umbrella. I never did it. I did not jab you with my umbrella." "But you did. Exactly that. Jabbed me with your umbrella. I never did it. I did not jab you with my umbrella." "But you did. Exactly that. Jabbed me with your umbrella. I never did it. I did not jab you with my umbrella."

When you dine with King George. Dinner at Buckingham palace is never later than eight. King George, the king of the Britons, is a listener rather than a talker at the dinner table. The rule that no guest should talk on a subject of talk that has not been introduced by the royal host and hostess is now out of date. At a private dinner party the king and queen are addressed as "sir" and "madam" and never as "your majesty."

A rather curious rule that concerns the service of wine at a dinner party is contained in the king's dinner table. The name of the grower or shipper of the wine is always removed from the bottle before the wine is served. The reason of this is to avoid giving the grower or shipper the credit of the wine. The name of the grower or shipper is always removed from the bottle before the wine is served.

When a man is asked to give a speech, he should not be asked to give a speech. When a man is asked to give a speech, he should not be asked to give a speech. When a man is asked to give a speech, he should not be asked to give a speech.

Wonderful scenery abounds on that magnificent highway that regal road of Hawaii which leads to the great crater of Kilauea.

There are scores of lunatics who are "great in their own minds" and who make good incomes by their art. Several years ago an exhibition of pictures, the work of insane patients at the Bethlem Royal Hospital, was open to the public, and I can assure you many of them are beautiful works of art.

BRAIN NOT INACTIVE

Remarkably Clever Work Done by Insane Persons.

Many of Those Confined in Asylums. Without Hope of Permanent Cure, Earn Large Incomes by Producing Works of Art.

"I am sure," said a well known mind doctor to a New York Press writer, "you would be amazed at the clever work that is done by hundreds of mad and women who are hopelessly insane; some of it at least as good as that done by sane people who earn large incomes."

"Among my patients today is one man whose skill with the brush would almost surely qualify him for high rank in the art world, but his insanity is so great that he is unable to do any work. There are few of the great exhibitions which do not contain one or more of his canvases, and he has often received $100,000 for a picture. And yet this man is as 'mad as a hatter,' the victim of terrible delusions and subject to violent homicidal attacks."

"Naturally, his work is unreliable. One week he will produce a masterpiece, and the next week he will produce a work of art which is so bad that it is almost impossible to believe that it was done by the same man. The next he will paint the most weird picture, a perfect nightmare in color, which, curiously enough, he always considers a masterpiece."

"And this man is no exception, for there are scores of lunatics who are 'great in their own minds' and who make good incomes by their art. Several years ago an exhibition of pictures, the work of insane patients at the Bethlem Royal Hospital, was open to the public, and I can assure you many of them are beautiful works of art."

WHY WIDOW WAS ANNOYED

Bandmaster's Tune as Funeral Passed, to Say the Least, Some-what Inappropriate.

Two or three years ago, says Charles Harrell, bandmaster of the Irish Guards, in the London Strand, we were engaged to play on the occasion of some athletic sports in a public school near London, the grounds of which overlooked a high road close to a cemetery.

It was a glorious day, a hot Saturday afternoon. The sun shone, and everyone was in the highest spirits, but there was one thorn in what was otherwise a bed of roses.

That afternoon seemed to have been selected for an extraordinary number of funerals! The first was that of a young man who had been killed in a motor car accident. The funeral was held in the morning light, and the band was playing a march which was very appropriate for the occasion.

It was a glorious day, a hot Saturday afternoon. The sun shone, and everyone was in the highest spirits, but there was one thorn in what was otherwise a bed of roses.

Woman, Heavily Laden With Bundles, Transferred to Another Train When He Insisted on Ticket.

She had come from out in the state for a day's shopping in Detroit, and she had shopped until the last minute. She was well loaded down with packages as she boarded a car by the Detroit Free Press.

"Oh, please let me through quick," she gasped to the gate man. "I must make the train."

"Two minutes yet, lady," was the calm reply. "Your ticket, please."

"It's in my purse and I just can't get it out," she pleaded.

"Sorry, but I can't let you through," he said. "I guess you'll have to hold these things for me."

And before he reached the platform to him the astonished man found his arms encircling a large consignment of "things."

"You exclaimed the woman, triumphantly after fumbling in her purse until she found the ticket. 'What good is it? You can't punch the ticket after all.'"

"Well, I guess you have it on me this time," laughed the man. "Come on, or you'll be late."

VICTIMS OF MEXICAN BANDIT ARE BURNED

Fifty or More Passengers and Crew Believed to Have Perished in Tunnel.

Cumbre, Mexico.—Nothing but charred bones and buttons were found by the rescuing party which, by the aid of oxygen helmets and pumps, succeeded in penetrating the Cumbre tunnel from the south portal as far as the locomotive and first two cars of the passenger train. They were probably killed when the engine of the passenger train crashed into the burning freight train, which had been pushed into the tunnel by Castillo's bandits several hours before.

It is now believed that every one of the 50 or more passengers and the crew aboard the train when it dashed into the tunnel are dead.

Railroad men are furious at Castillo's act. Last week 22 of his men were captured and executed by the rebels and the next day, apparently in revenge, he captured the freight train, ran it into the south end of the tunnel about 300 feet and set fire to it. Castillo's failure to send back warning of his act is regarded as the most cruel and murderous act of his career of outlawry and there is a disposition here to criticize General Francisco Villa for not having crushed him long ago.

CELILO CANAL NEARS FINISH

Big Blast Removes Last Obstruction to Flow of Water.

The Dalles, Or.—About 80 per cent of the work on the Dalles-Celilo canal was completed when 10,500 pounds of powder were exploded by the pressing of an electric button. The last obstruction to water flowing from end to end was blown out.

The completion of this important improvement will give a large portion of the Inland Empire the benefit of water transportation. It will open up steamboat navigation the Columbia river from Priest Rapids to the sea, a distance of 400 miles, and bringing the greater portion of the rest the Snake river from Lewiston to the sea, a distance of about 465 miles.

AMERICAN-JAPANESE RELATIONS IMPROVED

Washington.—Notable improvement in the relations between the United States and Japan is believed to have resulted from the events in the house of representatives last week connected with the passage of the Burnett immigration bill. Reports from Tokio are to the effect that a profound impression was caused in the Japanese capital, not only by the refusal of the second cabinet to sign the proposed prohibition against the entry of Japanese into the United States, but even more by the non-partisan appeal of Representative Mann.

The Japanese statesmen are declared to have been much pleased by the house's reception of the appeal for fair treatment of aliens and for abstention from legislative interference with the executive department in its efforts to arrive at a settlement of the open issue between the two countries.

Why Silage is Popular

1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than in the form of fodder or hay.
2. There is a smaller loss of food material when a crop is made into silage than when cured as fodder or hay.
3. Corn silage is a more efficient feed than corn fodder.
4. An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same area can be husked and shredded.
5. Crops can be put into the silo during weather that could not be utilized in making hay or curing fodder.
6. More stock can be kept on a given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.
7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed.
8. Silage is very palatable.
9. Silage, like other succulent feeds has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.
10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use.
11. Silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can silage crops, because it requires less labor, and silage is more palatable.
12. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land and leaves it ready for another crop.

"Hides Tanned"
If any one wants their hide tanned all they will have to do is to call on Ray Priest, at the Grand Central hotel, who will do the job in first-class order. If you don't believe it, just call at his place of business and he will show you some of the finest coats of hides you have ever seen, the property of the "Buttbook Brigade," who have succeeded in pling up about 16 hides of various sizes. He has one of the largest coyote hides there that has ever been seen in this part of the country, measuring five feet eleven inches from tip to tip, which beats by nine inches the largest one that has been brought into Spokane, where they are supposed to have big hides.

However, the boys have a fine lot of skins on hand and when the final summing-up is made they will at least have enough money left to keep Captain Sampson in chop.

Shade and Forest Trees

Desiring to encourage tree planting about the homes of Idaho, the department of Forestry has been for the past five years experimenting with the various forest and shade trees suitable for ornamental planting, windbreaks, posts, fuel, etc., in different parts of the state.

This department now has several thousand trees, representing some fifteen species, which it can recommend and which the people of the state may secure at the cost of growing.

RAPID RIVER M. & M. CO. HAS FINE PROPERTY

Company is in Prosperous Condition—Water Power Worth Fortune—Engineer's Report

A meeting of the board of directors of the Rapid River Mining and Milling company was held at the office of Meyer & Flomer Tuesday afternoon, at which time general business matters of the company were discussed and plans laid for the coming year.

August Hotel, who has charge of the company's work at the mines, was present at the meeting and gave a very comprehensive account of what had been done and explained in detail what will be necessary for the coming year in order to get the best results not only from the mining property but the valuable water power site the company owns adjacent to the mine.

A committee was appointed to at once purchase and install an air compressor for use in the mine, at the same time developing the water power to an extent necessary for the purpose of running the compressor. It is estimated that more than $2000 will be used in the development of the water power, which is in excess of 28,000 horsepower, the river having a drop of 400 feet on the company's property.

A committee was also appointed to ascertain the cost of erection of an electric smelter on the property for the purpose of milling the ore at the mine.

Mr. Hotzel reported that the tunnel is at the present time in more than 285 feet, at a perpendicular depth of 400 feet, and that the ledge at the present time shows a depth of 28 feet of ore, the width of which is unknown on account of not having made a cross-cut.

There is also an incline shaft of 180 feet in depth which is showing up splendid ore. The ores from the recent mining is now being assayed and will be ready for publication within a short time.

The company, in addition to the purchase of claims, etc., has expended in excess of $5000 in developing the property and water site, which is conceded to be one of the most valuable in this part of the county.

Surveyors have recently been at work locating a highway along the Salmon river and a railroad has already been surveyed within a few miles of the property, which will add very materially to the value of stock. The property is located six miles above Pollock at the junction of the West fork and Rapid river and consists of seven claims, one of which the Big Boathead was recently secured at a cost of $5000, and it is from this claim that the best ore is being taken. The value, as a rule found in quartz, in copper and silver. The following assay, made by C. M. Fasset of Spokane, shows values of from $15.00 to $132.50 in gold, $1.85 to $7.50 in silver, $9.90 to $21.90 in copper.

The following report by Chas. W. Luck, the well-known mining engineer, (now state senator) shows that the power owned by the Rapid River Mining and Milling company is alone worth a fortune. His report is as follows:

"For many miles in all directions I have traveled over this country for years and I do not know of another place where so much power can be developed at so little expense. Of course there are places where many times more power can be developed but at much heavier cost per horse power. Many other sites can be found where a small power can be developed very cheaply. But yours is the only one I know where a large power can be had at a small outlay.

"The diversion weir needs to be only high enough to turn the water into the power ditch. It can be cheaply constructed and securely too in the narrow opening through the rocks at the head of the cascades. Hence the ditch will run along the mountain side to a convenient point above the site for the power house. From that point the water will drop to the wheels through a series of cascades and rapids 403 feet in less than a half mile.

"It is a grand sight in the spring and early summer. The water is a tumbling sheet of foam, clouds of spray drift out in the air and the roar is deafening. Unlike many small streams this one maintains a strong flow throughout the year. It drains not an extensive water shed but a high one, the eastern slope of the Seven Devils. Way up there the snow falls deep and packs the canyons with great masses that melt slowly and furnish water throughout the year.

"The mining industry in the Seven Devils and along the Salmon river requires power that could readily be furnished from your proposed plant. You've long and expensive transmission lines would be required. It is reasonably sure that a railroad will be built down the Salmon river within a few years and another down the little Salmon. The latter will pass within about seven miles of your plant. That part of the country is bound to develop rapidly.

News Snapshots Of the Week

The Monroe is shown; also the Nantuxet in dry dock, her bow battered in, and Captain Johnson of the Monroe, who was saved. ## RESULTS OF TESTS IN ALFALFA SEEDING

It is often recommended that alfalfa be seeded with 20 pounds to the acre in order to insure a good stand of plants, yet experience of many farmers shows that splendid results have been secured from only 10 or 12 pounds of good seed. A great deal depends on how much of the seed germinates in either case, and the question is how much seed would give the best yields of hay, if different rates of seeding were tested under uniform conditions. Ten rates of seeding were made at Rocky Ford, Colo., on the experiment station farm.

The lowest seeding was two pounds per acre, with an increase of two pounds per acre up to 20 pounds. The seed was sown under ideal conditions on a very uniform field. The test was made in duplicate, one series with common alfalfa and another with Baltic alfalfa. Records have been completed on four cuttings of hay during the season. There is very little difference in the tons of hay per acre, and the records should be continued for several years before the results will indicate what rate is best.

The thin rates of seeding made coarser, more stemmy hay, while the very thick seedings have very fine leafy hay, almost too fine to get the maximum yield. The thin stands were more weedy the first and second seasons, while the thick seedings were almost free from weeds the second year. Plots seeded with 8 to 10 pounds of seed per acre were the best, all points considered. If conditions are good for germination, 10 to 12 pounds of good alfalfa seed should give satisfactory results, and if conditions are not good, 20 or even 30 pounds will not insure a stand.

The Progressives Entertained

The Progressive Needle work club was most pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. C. F. Toumy. The ladies occupied most of the afternoon with fancy work for which this club is well known. A short business session was held and a paper read by Mrs. F. S. Casabell, editor for the club, which caused much merriment. At 5 o'clock a delicious three-course luncheon was served by the hostess. The dining table was lighted by silver candleabra. The guests, as seated at the table, made the "hoodoo" number until the "hoodoo" was broken by the hostess. It was a delightful club session. Messdames, Wm. Smolt, Glenn Sampson, J. E. Reilly and P. C. McCreary were visitors.

A. E. Rosenu on Sunday received a pair of fine Pekin ducks from a fancier at St. Paul, Minn., which will be added to his already fine collection of fowls. Mr. Rosenu is one of the ranchers of this part of the country who is turning his attention to diversified farming, as well as fancy chickens and ducks.

On Thursday night of last week a party of ten young people took a sleigh ride to the ranch home of Miss Kate Magee, where the evening was very pleasantly spent in music, singing, and a general good time. At the proper hour a fine luncheon was served, which was very much enjoyed by the guests. Cut their places throughout the district plan large cuts.

K. C. BANQUET

Annual Banquet and Entertainment Held Wednesday Night—Large Attendance

On Wednesday night of this week was held the annual banquet of the Knights of Columbus, which was one of the pleasant features of the season in this organization. Progressive high five was played until 9 o'clock, when prizes were awarded. Miss Agnes Magee capturing first prize for the ladies, and Miss Veronic Has-further was given the consolation prize. For the men, John Lorang was awarded first prize and Nick Kries was given the consolation prize.

After the awarding of prizes Rev. Fr. Benora delivered the address of welcome, after which the following program was rendered: Recitation by Frank Broemmeling. Bass solo by Geo. Ebel. Recitation by Marguerite Tobin. Vocal solo by Helen Kries. A banquet was served by the Knights at 10:30, to which all did ample justice and was pronounced to be one of the best the guests had had the pleasure of testing for many a day.

The closing address of the evening was delivered by Jos. Hasfurther, after which the guests departed for their homes about 12 o'clock.

The music during the evening was furnished by the Broemmeling orchestra.

Farmers' Union Meeting

At a special meeting of the Farmers' union, held in this city on Saturday of last week, it was unanimously decided by that body, in conjunction with a delegation from the business men of this city, to organize a new telephone company for the purpose of building a new telephone system in Genesee and the surrounding country.

After some considerable discussion as to ways and means, a subscription paper was passed among those present and $80 shares were subscribed for at that time. In addition to this number 37 shares had been subscribed for among the business men and others of the city. Committees were appointed by the chairman for the purpose of seeing other farmers in the interest of the proposed company and to ascertain the number of shares it will be possible to place at this time. A committee of business men is also at work in the city for the same purpose.

Big Lumber Cut

Conditions indicate a lumber cut throughout the Inland Empire of unusual magnitude this year. The plant at Winchester, Idaho is finishing large logging contracts and estimate is made the cut there will reach 16,000,000 feet. Other plants throughout the district plan large cuts.

The outside talent includes Superintendent J. H. Francis of the Los Angeles schools, who will deal with problems in city schools, laying stress upon vocational training; United States Commissioner of Education Philander P. Special attention will be given in a preliminary meeting to fiscal problems connected with schools, and Chairman Black states that a committee will be appointed to make a careful study of the relation between taxation and education in Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, the four states which belong to the association. Forenoon will be spent in general discussion, and the public will be given an opportunity to hear all the notable speakers. The early afternoon will be occupied in section meetings and the late afternoon sessions in round-table discussions.

Dr. E. O. Sisson, commissioner of education for Idaho, is expected to be added to the program for special treatment of the financial and business side of educational matters.

The committee on resolutions is composed of Mrs. Josephine Preston, state superintendent of public instruction for Washington and Miss Grace M. Shepherd, J. H. Churchill and H. A. Davey, who are superintendents respectively of Idaho, Oregon and Montana.

The list of departments to be included in the convention follows: Elementary graded schools, county superintendents and rural schools, city superintendents and high school principals, English and history in high schools, mathematics and physical sciences in high schools, biological sciences and agriculture in high schools, foreign languages in high schools, home economics, manual training and applied arts, physical education, education of special classes and medical inspection, fine arts and music, higher education.

Conditions indicate a lumber cut throughout the Inland Empire of unusual magnitude this year. The plant at Winchester, Idaho is finishing large logging contracts and estimate is made the cut there will reach 16,000,000 feet. Other plants throughout the district plan large cuts.

THE HEAVY HORSE AS A BIG MONEY MAKER

For both farm work and for sale, the heavy horse is a good money maker. In past years the so-called "fast horse" was the ideal animal, but now the automobile on the farm has driven the running horse out of business. The carriage horse of today is a heavier animal than in days gone by.

The farmer now who goes to work in the field, or who hauls loads on the road, cannot afford to spend his time with a light team that can draw only a small load. Labor is too scarce and high priced. Deeper plowing and more work must be done on the same average. It is imperative that heavier teams must be used.

For a number of years the weight of best horses on city markets has steadily increased. Only a few years ago horses weighing from 1200 to 1400 pounds each were considered large enough for heavy teaming. Now the demand is for horses weighing from 1600 pounds to a ton. No city company can afford to hire an expensive man to drive a light team.

Increased supply and commercial products has brought this condition. For these reasons the heavy horse has risen in value of late years and the importing and breeding of heavy horses has been taken up on a large scale. But the demand for heavy horses has always exceeded the supply. Good heavy drafters weighing around 1800 pounds find ready sale at over $300 and real choice ones of this class in the largest cities bring from $400 to $500.

There is every evidence that the heavy horse is in the coming work animal for both farm and city and that good prices will hold, if not increase, for years to come.

The farmer who is in the field for making side money from his horses will be wise to breed for weight and finish.

At a special meeting of the Farmers' union, held in this city on Saturday of last week, it was unanimously decided by that body, in conjunction with a delegation from the business men of this city, to organize a new telephone company for the purpose of building a new telephone system in Genesee and the surrounding country.

In addition to this number 37 shares had been subscribed for among the business men and others of the city. Committees were appointed by the chairman for the purpose of seeing other farmers in the interest of the proposed company and to ascertain the number of shares it will be possible to place at this time. A committee of business men is also at work in the city for the same purpose.

The Genesee Improvement society have taken it upon themselves to see that "Home Industry Week" is properly observed in Genesee and the merchants of our little city have consented to aid them in every way possible by making displays of Idaho products during that week, which is from April 13 to 18, inclusive.

It is now up to the people of Genesee and surrounding territory to boost for Idaho and its products--not only from the 13th to the 18th of April, but all the time--and not only for the products of the state, but boost for your home town, the farmers and their products. All work it once and see how well it works.

FARMERS' ANNUAL DINNER

Music by Broemmeling Orchestra and Catholic Choir--Address by President L. C. Crow

One of the most representative gatherings of farmers that has ever been in Genesee assembled here last Saturday to attend the annual dinner and entertainment given by that organization, when some 200 members and their families and friends gathered at the opera house to partake of the splendid dinner and hear the program.

The Farmers and their families began gathering about 10 o'clock, each bringing with them well filled baskets which were delivered at the opera house, where the good wives and daughters of the members prepared the feast, which was later served to all who cared to partake.

At 1:15 State President L. C. Crow delivered a very interesting address to those assembled, setting forth the advantages to be derived by organization among the farmers; giving facts and figures to substantiate his statement.

He said the farmers' union was first organized in Texas some ten years ago and had grown until at the present time it has a membership of more than 350,000, divided among 207 localities, which shows that the farmers are not slow at grasping the benefits to be derived through organization.

After the address by Mr. Crow, beginning at 2 o'clock, the choir finished their program, which was as follows:

Chorus--"Come to the Dance,"--Choir.

Recitation--"Little Orphan Annie,"--Master Frank Broemmeling.

Tenor solo--"My Wild Irish Rose,"--Doreal Springer.

Reading--"A Dark Brown Diplomat,"--Miss Edna Driscoll.

Duet--"Our Farm,"--Miss Dorothy Driscoll and Geo. Johann.

Contralto solo--"Aloha Oe" (Farewell to Thee)--Miss Adelaide Johann.

"America"--Audience and choir.

2:30--Music by Broemmeling orchestra.

Immediately after the program a moving picture show was given for the benefit of those in attendance, the Farmers' union footing the bill.

The members of the union wish to thank Miss Edna Driscoll for the very unselfishly arranged programs which she presented them, also the Broemmeling orchestra for the splendid music furnished, both of which were duly appreciated.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS GOLDEN JUBILEE

Held in Honor of Founding of Lodge--Banquet Served--Splendid Program

Star Lodge No. 5, Knights of Pythias on last Thursday evening celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the order in a manner fitting to the occasion.

No special ritualistic work was carried out--but a splendid banquet was served at 6:30 o'clock, after which the members and their families went to the lodge room where a very interesting program was rendered.

It was just fifty years ago last Thursday night that Justice Henry Rathbone, founder of the order, called together twelve of his most intimate friends and organized what is known as the Knights of Pythias lodge. The lodge is founded on the ancient Greek story of the unyielding friendship of Damon and Pythias, the basic principle of the order being friendship, and is closely coupled with the principles--charity and benevolence, each of which principles each and every member of the order strive to disseminate and emulate.

The Genesee lodge is in a flourishing condition at the present time, having in excess of 70 members with several more awaiting initiation and it is of special mention to say that when the Knights gather in their hall for the purpose of having a good time and something good to eat there is nothing left undone to make it complete, and last Thursday night was no exception.

Covers were laid for 110, and all were occupied, with a goodly number at the second stew, with all the "raws" one could take care of on the side. There was chicken, roast pork, and all the trimmings for both, salads of various kinds, as well as the always necessary spuds, pies, cakes, and almost everything else that would tempt the appetite of man, and plenty of as fine coffee as was ever made.

It is hardly necessary to name all those who assisted with the banquet, but Chief Fred Deus is deserving of special mention in the connecting of the delicious oyster stew. The rest of the material was furnished by the members and their wives, who have the hearty thanks of all who were fortunate enough to be at the banquet table.

The program, given in the lodge room, was also a very pleasing part of the evening, and was as follows: Male quartet--J. D. Adams, J. M. McColl, W. E. Smith and J. T. Nelson.

Violin solo--Miss Frances Orth.

Vocal solo--Miss Laura Phipps.

Address on "Pythianism"--Rev. A. P. Orth.

Ladies' quartet--Miss Laura Phipps, Miss Esther Orth, Mrs. J. T. Nelson and Miss Mary Wardroe.

While the program was not of great length it was thoroughly appreciated by all present and each and every number received an encore.

After the program the younger members of the lodge cleared the floor and indulged in dancing--and it might be stated that a few of the older members also tripped the light fantastic to the splendid music furnished by Miss Dorothy Driscoll.

Taking it all in all it was one of the most pleasant affairs that has taken place under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias for many a day, and that is setting it strong for their affairs are always informal and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Rapid River Mining and Milling Co., Ltd.

HOME OFFICE, GENESEE, IDAHO

J. B. DAVIES, Pres. L. A. MURPHY, V.-Pres. JOHN NISBET, Sec. JOHN MEYER, Treas.

ORGANIZATION

The Company is organized under the laws of the State of Idaho, with a capital stock of $1,500,000.00, represented by 1,500,000 shares of a par value of $1 each. The stock is fully paid, and ample provision has been made for the completion of the development of the property by a treasury fund of 1,000,000 shares of stock, the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to the work remaining to be done.

THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY

The property of the Company consists of seven (7) claims. Also a mill site and a water power situated on Rapid river, six miles from Pollock, in Idaho county, Idaho. It is estimated that from 10,000 to 28,000 horsepower can be developed from this water power at a very small expense. The amount of water is 50 second feet, which has a fall of 403 feet in less than 2,000 feet.

DEVELOPMENT

About $5,000.00 have been expended in the development of the property, besides the purchase of one claim for a consideration of $5,000.00.

From the upper line of the ledge, which is about 1,500 feet above Rapid river, a shaft of 180 feet in depth has been sunk. Here the ledge shows a depth of more than 20 feet.

One assay, made by J. A. Peck of Boise, Idaho, on August 26th, 1908, gave the following values: Gold, $95.09; silver, $0.46; copper, $5.40; making a total of $100.95.

Other assays made by C. M. Fassett of Spokane, Wash., are as follows:

Assay No.	Copper	Silver	Gold	Total
Assay No. 1	$ 12.90	$ 7.50	$132.50	$152.90
Assay No. 2	21.60	2.25	49.40	73.25
Assay No. 3	21.90	2.45	86.40	110.75
Assay No. 4	9.90	2.45	84.75	97.10
Assay No. 5	16.20	1.85	15.09	33.14

The last assay of the ore at the shaft, which has an average of a 20-foot ledge, was $7.85 in gold and small quantities of silver and copper.

This ledge has been opened about 150 feet above the river, on the west fork of Rapid river, by a tunnel which is now in 285 feet. The last 150 feet in the tunnel have shown a steady increase of the ledge, the width of which is unknown, as no cross-cut has as yet been made.

The latest assay of the ore at this place, made by the State University, at Moscow, showed $9.60 in gold and small amounts of silver and copper.

At the last meeting of the board of directors it was decided to immediately install an air compressor and power drills for use in the mine. It is the intention of the company to expend in the neighborhood of $4,000.00 during 1914 in the development of the water power and mine, which is the object of disposing of a limited amount of stock at this time, which will be sold at

Prohibition Lecture

James H. Woertendyke of Los Angeles will give a lecture in the opera house on Friday evening at 8:30, on "What shall be done with the liquor traffic?" There will be a moving picture show from 7:30 to 8:30 and Mr. Woertendyke will speak immediately after the show. He comes highly recommended and if you fail to hear him, you will miss a good lecture.

Mr. Woertendyke has a national reputation as a speaker and will give us some pointers that will help us on the greatest question before the American people. "Settle the liquor question right," said Mr. Gladstone, "and every other question will be easily settled." Don't fail to hear him. The high school orchestra will play and there will be other music. Seats free. Committee.

As a warning to some of our hunters who have been in the habit of taking a ration of chop with them on their rambles, a recent dispatch from the Big Bend country states that a boy was severely poisoned by eating chop. It might be well for some of them to bear this in mind.

The subject will be—"Six good reasons why every one should be a Christian," and every body in Genesee not a Christian should hear this sermon. Young people especially invited.

Don't forget the midweek service on Thursday night in the main auditorium which is also evangelistic.

Be sure to remember the pastor's Bible class from 10 to 11 a. m. We are just beginning a new and interesting study on "Land marks in Christian history." If you are not in some Sunday school come and join us.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

FRED M. KINCAID, Pastor

Preaching services next Lord's day at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning subject, "A Parable." Evening subject, "The Tabernacle."

Bible school will meet at 10 a. m. Every officer and teacher are expected to answer roll call with a verse of scripture. Last Lord's day the attendance was good, nearing the 100 mark. If you are not enrolled in any school and want to get into a live one come to the Christian Bible school. There is plenty of work for all willing workers. Junior Endeavor at 6:30. This branch of the church work is growing rapidly. The young people are gaining valuable missionary information together with the Bible study that tends to influence these boys and girls to live better and nobler lives.

METHODIST CHURCH

J. C. CASPER, Pastor

Subject at the Methodist church next Sunday morning will be, "What is it to be Saved?" Several questions will be answered. 1, What makes the world stand aloof from the church when it contains the only answer to the longing of a human soul. 2, What constitutes the main objection to the world's indifference to christianity? And several other questions of equal importance will be answered.

We will give the evening service to an evangelistic service, to point men and women to the Saviour.

Sunday school will be at 10 a. m.

"The night is far spent and the day is at hand. Let us cast off the works of darkness and let us walk as children of light."

You will be welcome at all these services.

GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH

A. F. WOLFF, Pastor

The pre-Lenten dance given at the opera house Monday night was well attended and very much enjoyed by those present. The music was furnished by the Johanni-Broemmeling Trio and was exceptionally good. This is another "Idaho product" that might be made use of by those wishing high-class music.

At a meeting of officials of the different fair associations of the Inland Empire, held in Spokane last week, the dates for the different fairs were set: The Spokane Interstate fair will be held September 12 to 20, the Latah County fair will be held September 22 to 26, the Lewiston fair September 29 to October 2.

A negro wished to deposit some money in the postal savings bank, and the clerk asked his age. "Well, boss," he replied, "I don't know jus' how old I is, but I was born in March an you kin count it up for yo'self."

FIRE LOSS SMALL

Forests of North Idaho Suffered Little—But 28 Acres Burned Over During 1913

The fire loss in the northern Idaho forests during the year 1913 was so small that it was a very brief report that was made to the recent meeting at Vancouver, B. C. of the forest fire conference of the Western Forestry and Conference association by A. W. Laird, president of the North Idaho Forestry association and vice president and general manager of the Potlatch Lumber company. His brief report, full of interest is as follows:
"Our fire loss was so small last season, in the territory embraced within the boundaries of the four local fire associations operating in northern Idaho, that I shall not need half the time allotted me by your program committee in which to make my report."
"Our four associations employed an average of 125 men during June, July and August, or one man to 25,000 acres."
"We spent $37,000 in covering over 3,000,000 acres of land and in protecting 30,000,000,000 feet of saw timber from forest fires."
"At the close of the season we find that we had 28 acres of merchantable timber burned over, lost 124,000 feet of saw timber which is so inessential that it cannot be saved, and had 19,800 feet of saw timber fire-killed, every foot of which will be logged without appreciable loss."

Find Medicated Clay Bank

P. I. Pierce of the Kamiah section and T. A. Haselbrook, owner of Walla Walla, discovered a bank of peculiar clay some time ago while prospecting in their mine holdings about 13 miles from Kamiah, and through an injury sustained by Mr. Pierce to one of his hands it was discovered the clay had extraordinary medicinal properties.
The curative power of the mud has since been tested and the result has proven so wonderful that a corporation has been formed to thoroughly demonstrate and exploit the find. Samples have been sent east for expert chemical analysis. The deposit is said to contain many thousands of tons, and it should continue to prove the balm to hurts of man and beast that tests have already shown it, it is certainly a much more valuable proposition than any gold mine.

Would Help Rural Carrier

There is no doubt that the rural carriers in all parts of the country will in future have a very kindly feeling for Representative Addison T. Smith of Idaho, who on January 23 introduced a bill in congress asking "That each letter carrier in the Rural Free Delivery Service shall receive, after July 1, 1914, an allowance equal to 25 per cent of the salary he now receives, to be paid each month, for providing and maintaining the equipment used by him in transporting the mails in the discharge of his official duties as such carrier."

The Washington Water Power company is pushing to completion as rapidly as possible the new lighting system which they are installing in Genesee. The company has a large crew of men at work and have the poles all in place. When completed Genesee will have a splendid system of lighting and one that will cost no more than the old one. The contract for the new lighting is for 100-watt tungsten lights distributed over the city, which will give more than four times the amount of light that has been had heretofore.

FOLLOW-UP CAMPAIGN ASSUMING PROPORTIONS

Seed Corn is Being Received and Will Be Distributed Among Schools of Three States

By the middle of March between 125 and 150 sacks of selected seed corn, acclimated to various Inland Empire conditions, will have been received by the Spokane Chamber of Commerce for distribution.
Interest displayed in the Holden follow-up campaign throughout the Pacific northwest has caused the Holden Improvement committee to make arrangements on a comprehensive scale for the work during the coming year.
Three thousand sets of charts of 15 pages each, eight feet square, have been ordered for distribution by county superintendents of Washington Oregon and Idaho. Five thousand stereopticon slides and 2,000 lantern slides have been ordered, and will be ready for distribution either at the close of the spring term of school or early next September.
An edition of 50,000 booklets dealing with corn raising in the Pacific northwest, and like quantities of booklets on poultry and dairying also are being prepared under the direction of Charles W. Farr, secretary of the Holden Improvement committee. "All these booklets," says Mr. Farr, "deal accurately with local conditions in the Pacific northwest."
"We find remarkable interest in the follow-up work to be held in the schools of the three states commencing March 15," states Mr. Farr. "Twenty-five county superintendents have sent in hurry-up requisitions for additional supplies of the dog roll seed corn testers, although an edition of 5,000 was distributed only four weeks ago."
"The school superintendents are co-operating to make the campaign a success, and they are very much interested in this move to secure a closer cooperation between the school and the home."
"In the collection of seed corn received at the Spokane Chamber of Commerce is some from Oroville, Wash., which has been placed beside some of Illinois' best products and examined by experts. They declare it is almost impossible to distinguish any difference between the two. This shows conclusively that the Pacific northwest has possibilities as a corn section."

Cow Creek Items

The Ladies Aid of Our Saviours Lutheran church met Wednesday afternoon, February 18 at the home of Mrs. A. Johnson. There were many present and a good time was had by all. A fine luncheon was served. The next meeting will be next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tom Anderson.
The Ladies aid of the Trinity Lutheran church met Thursday afternoon, February 19, at the home of Hans Iverson. There was the usual good attendance and Mrs. Iverson knows how to entertain.
Arthur Grove was pleasantly surprised last Friday evening by some of his young friends who called on him unawares. They had a pleasant evening together.
Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Miller and their daughter, Mrs. Martinson, came back from Soap Lake last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Miller did not find the health she went in search of.
Mrs. J. T. Tonnig of Genesee is at present staying with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Halverson. She is taking treatments with Dr. Brevik.
The Meadow Lark has appeared with the good tidings of spring.
We are glad to report that Miss Nora Hanson is improving.
The roads need no sprinkling in Cow Creek at present.

"Sold" and "Stung"

Back at Schneetzky, N. Y., recently at a "fad" held by the ladies aid of the Baptist church of that place an entirely new feature was pulled off which proved very remunerative. On a large tent at one end of the hall was displayed a large sign which read: "Miss Emily Lawson will sell kisses, price 25 cents each." It is needless to say a thriving business was done and the kisses were sold in long lines. But the limit was reached when, on the second day of the affair, one young man paid a dollar for four osculations, and later whispered to a friend, "Joe, there's only one trouble with that girl's kisses. She needs a shave." A raid was made on the tent and the handsome young girl who had been reaping the reward proved to be a good-looking young man.

It is not even hinted that such a thing could possibly occur in Genesee, but it is well to remember that "things are not always what they seem."

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

The Sophomore pennant has returned once more from the Veterinarian hospital where several deformities were entirely cured. The numbers were upside down and the frightened sophs were uncertain as to the year of their graduation. It again looks down upon the school with a "bright" countenance.
Olive Jain has been absent from school during the past week on account of sickness.
Miss Gladys Larrabee substituted for Miss Wardrobe Friday afternoon.
Because of illness at the Casebolt home, Mrs. Schooler is acting as substitute for Mrs. Casebolt's sewing class.
The Freshies and Sophs received their armlets last week and considerable class spirit and athletic ability were displayed. However no one received more or less than a few braids.

HOLDEN COMMITTEE BUSY

Seed Corn Will Soon Be Distributed—Much Good Will Be Ultimate Result

Seed corn sufficient to plant 200,000 acres will be tested by pupils in 1,200 schools of Washington, Oregon and Idaho next week as a part of the follow-up work of the Holden corn and alfalfa campaign in the Pacific northwest.
At the Spokane headquarters of the Holden Crop Improvement committee, Secretary Charles W. Farr has been busy for six weeks making plans for next week's work in the schools. He reports everything in good shape, with the three state superintendents of public instruction and the county school superintendents doing all in their power to make the event successful.
Mr. Farr has sent 5,000 "rag doll" seed corn testers to the schools, and each one is expected to be utilized for five separate tests, using 20 ears of corn for each test. He estimates this corn, thus scientifically tested, will plant approximately 200,000 acres.
The seed tested will be planted this spring by the boys and girls. The young farmers will cultivate, select plants for next year's seed, harvest, store and sow. Next winter the selected ears will be tested, and the best planted the following spring.
In addition, 300 bushels of corn have been received by the committee in Spokane from various parts of the Pacific northwest. This week it is being tested by the agricultural classes of the Spokane high schools, following which it will be distributed in two-pound packages to farmers. Probably 2,500 patches of corn will be planted in the three states with this corn.
Ten thousands scientifically prepared corn booklets have been sent to the county superintendents and farmers for distribution. Later on instructions for harvesting will be sent to the pupils.

Auto Tax Held Valid

A recent dispatch sent out from Boise states that in a recent opinion handed down by the supreme court the Idaho automobile tax law is held valid. The decision was written by Judge Alfred Budge who sat during the absence of Justice Stewart and is concurred in by Chief Justice Albright and Justice Sullivan. The petition for a writ of mandate to compel the board of county commissioners of Ada county to assess all motor vehicles in the county that escaped taxation for 1913, under the highway commission act, was denied. The case was up on appeal from the court of Judge Davis.
"Held that it was the intention of the framers of the constitution to confer upon the legislature the sole right to determine what property should be exempt from taxation, and the legislature having provided such exemption in the highway commission act with reference to automobiles, motorcycles and motor vehicles, such property was not subject to taxation in Ada county for the year 1913, and the county commissioners and assessor of said county properly refused to cause such property to be assessed."

State-Wide To Be Issue

The "dry" forces will hold a state-wide prohibition convention in Boise March 25th, 26th and 27th. This convention promises to be the greatest gathering of "drys" ever held in the state. One thousand delegates are expected. One of the features of the convention will be the running of a special Anti-Booze train from Weiser to Boise. The convention is held under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of the state.
State-Wide Prohibition will undoubtedly be one of the leading issues of the coming campaign. The following declaration has been made by the Anti-Saloon League:
"With 21 of the 33 counties voted dry, with 275,000 of the 325,294 people living in dry territory, with only 200 saloons remaining, the temperance forces of Idaho will demand the passage of a state prohibition law in the coming session of the Legislature and at the same time, the submitting of a Constitutional Prohibition Amendment."

Prohibition Lecture

James H. Woertendyke, who is traveling in the interest of State wide prohibition, visited Genesee Friday, and gave an interesting lecture at the opera house that evening. He is a man of national reputation and his lecture was well received by the large audience in attendance. What is known as the "Shaw Voter's Pledge" received 30 signatures. Something over $120 was received to forward the work in Idaho.

On being placed under the X-ray, the break was located in the humerus, just above the elbow joint and is considered, on account of the location, a very bad break. The fracture was reducing and the swelling is very severe, and the little fellow has been quite restless, but is feeling some better at the present time.

SWEET PEA EXHIBITION

Genesee Improvement Society to Hold Exhibit Early In Fall
In order to encourage an interest in the growing of sweet peas, Genesee will hold a sweet pea exhibition this year, which will probably be held early in August, the exact date to be decided later. The exhibition will be under the auspices of the Genesee Improvement society.
It is recommended that prospective growers obtain catalogs and make their seed selections at the earliest date in order that they may be ready when the planting time comes. The Spencer variety is considered the most satisfactory, and it is advised that all who can do so plant this variety. It is hoped that every flower lover in this vicinity will take an interest in the cultivation of a flower so well suited to our climate and which gives such generous returns for the time and effort given to its culture.
Pamphlets can be secured with minute directions for sweet pea culture, but good results can be obtained if a few general directions are observed. The soil should not be wet and heavy and if possible slightly sloping, so as to give natural drainage. The ground should be well fertilized and thoroughly spaded and the seed planted early. Sweet peas should be where they will get constant sunlight or a limited period of shade each day.
Any information desired can be secured from the committee, having direct supervision of the work, which is composed of the following: Mrs. I. Hanson, chairman, Mrs. F. C. Shork, Mrs. W. A. Nixon and Mrs. Jas. Niabet.
The following prizes will be awarded: $2 for the best display of five or more colors by a single exhibitor. $1 for the second best display of five or more colors by single exhibitor. $1 for largest number of blossoms on fifteen stems. 50 cents for best bunch of red sweet peas. 50 cents for best bunch of pink sweet peas. 50 cents for best bunch of lavender sweet peas. 50 cents for best display of common varieties.
A prize of $1 will also be awarded for the best display of nasturtiums, in order that those who can not compete for the sweet pea prizes will still have something beautiful to grow.

Hog Ration Must Be Balanced

If hogs are to make the most profitable gains, the rations must be properly balanced. There is, on the average farm, too much of a tendency to make the ration unbalanced by feeding too much corn in proportion to the protein feeds. Corn, while one of the most important hog feeds, is unbalanced. There is too high a proportion of carbohydrates to the protein present. A pig fed on a ration of corn and water gained just eleven pounds in 180 days. The ration must build the hog in flesh and size at the same time, for it must have a good framework to carry the load of meat that is necessary to pay a profit at selling time. To build this framework a proportion of carbohydrates is required, and one of the cheapest and best of these is alfalfa. Clover is a close second, and cowpeas take a high rank.
Hogs can be fed alfalfa just as profitably in winter as in summer. Experiments seem to indicate that the proportion should be about nine parts of corn to one of alfalfa. This proportion of protein feed is enough to keep the animals growing well, and forming the framework that is essential for profitable pork production. Ash is a material which enters largely into bone, and corn is deficient in this material; and the ash corn does contain is not especially available for the use of the hogs. About 40 per cent of the dry matter in the bone is lime, and corn is very deficient in this material. The grain contains .15 of a pound of lime in every 1000 pounds.

"CANNONBALL" OFF TRACK

N. P. Train and Wrecker in Ditch—Nothing Better in Sight—Much Delay

The Northern Pacific "Cannonball," due here at 8:25 each morning, failed to put in an appearance Sunday morning, likewise Monday morning, the cause being a derailment of a few cars and the engine.
The first derailment took place at Chambers on the Sunday morning trip toward Genesee. In order to facilitate matters a wrecking crew was called out, the train getting back on the track and proceeding in the direction of our little city, but when near Johnson the thing got balky again and jumped the track. In the meantime the wrecker had neared the scene of the first accident, but it also jumped the track and crashed it down in the mud, tearing up some six or seven lengths of rails. It was finally hauled "on agin" and proceeded to fix things up as best they could to let the other train by—which failed to put in an appearance. In the meantime most of the siding at Busby was transferred to Chambers to repair the main track. The "wrecker" managed to get back to Pullman Sunday night and again started for the trouble Monday morning, and was soon "off agin," causing a great deal of annoyance.
While all this was happening the regular train, which had been in trouble at Johnson, got the engine on the track and brought that much of the train to Genesee, where it tied up for the night, waiting for the remainder of the train Monday morning, and finally made its way back to Pullman. In the meantime there were a number of Genesee people and others waiting as patiently as possible at Pullman for the return of the unfortunate, belated train, finally arriving in Genesee about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, weary and very much disgusted.
For some unaccountable reason—on which no one would hazard a guess—the railroad company had laid off all section men during the latter part of the week, and at the time of the wrecks there was not a single section man on duty. Of course every one fully realizes the fact that it is little use to waste the time of one or two section men on the Genesee branch, as it is hopelessly beyond the work of a few men to repair it. However, the railroad company figures that it is cheaper to clean up a few wrecks each year than it is to make a permanent road bed, and have about the same opinion of the people of the Genesee branch as P. T. Barnum said of the public, but some of these times they are going to snuff out a life and then perhaps the people of this part of the country will raise in their might and demand that the Northern Pacific company do something to relieve the situation, or will petition the building of a road into Genesee that will have a better conception of what the people of this, the cream of the Palouse country, are entitled to.

"Profits" OF WHITE SLAVERY That Reason is Given for its Existence. Boston.—The financial profit of the business of prostitution is the principal reason for its existence. No form of criminal activity is more flagrant and open and so harmful to the community would be tolerated for a day in this state.

These declarations are made in the report submitted to the legislature Saturday by a commission appointed last year, which has conducted an investigation in 79 Massachusetts cities and towns.

The report says millions of dollars are invested in the business of prostitution for immoral purposes, and that "prostitution in all its ramifications constitutes a vast business extending all over the state."

The report emphasizes the danger of unregulated lodging houses, public dance halls and recreation parks.

"The fact that one-half of the women examined were actually feeble minded," the report says, "clears the way for successful treatment of a portion of this class."

"While the officials in no city in the state have openly adopted the policy of segregation, it is nevertheless a fact that in certain cities there are streets where the business is conducted much as a matter of official policy."

"In the larger cities the most flagrant expression of commercialized prostitution is in connection with certain cafes and saloons. The police take the position that they have no objection if the letter of the law is observed."

HEAVY SNOW IN EAST

ALL DAY SUNDAY, ALONG ATLANTIC COAST, STORM RAGED TO AND FRO.

Three Lives Reported Lost in N.Y. Telegraph Wires Down and R.R. Traffic Stopped—Ships Unable to Land—Property Damage Enormous in Several States.

New York.—A northeast storm, sweeping to the northwest, which brought rain then snow, raged Sunday over New York and vicinity, cutting the city almost completely off from the rest of the world by communication.

Three deaths due to the storm occurred here, two of them when a roof collapsed under the weight of wet snow, and another when a man, blinded by snow, was killed by a train.

Wet snow snapped telegraph and telephone wires, and a gale blowing at 72 miles an hour at times toppled over many poles. On some lines the poles fell across the railroad track, blocking traffic.

MOTHER TO DEATH

OVERTURNING OF DITCHER ON S. N. NEAR NEWPORT, WASH. GUNDAY, KILLED 3 MEN.

WERE CLEARING AWAY A LANDSLIDE Had No Chance to Jump and Were Buried in Mud With Machine on Top of Them—Steam Poured Over Bodies.

Albion Falls, Wash.—The overturning of a ditcher at a landslide on the Great Northern main line here, two miles east of Newport, Sunday, crushed out three lives. J. E. Calhoun, engineer of the ditcher; Thomas Kanahau and Sanberg were in the cab.

Frederick Hilliard, was instantly killed. The ditcher was located on a flat car and the operator had grabbed the lever of the ditcher to swing it out of the track when the machine became unbalanced, both the ditcher and flat car turning over.

Calhoun and Sanberg were in the cab and Kanahau was in the engine room. They had no opportunity to jump, and were buried in the soft mud with the weight of the machine on top of them, crushing and suffocating them.

The steam pipes broke and poured a cloud of scalding steam onto the bodies. Death was instantaneous.

The ditcher was about 100 yards east of the bridge across the Pend Oreille river. At this point the track bank is high and the ditcher is about 200 feet long and from 4 to 16 feet deep.

It came down February 23, and is a very old ditcher. It is a very old ditcher. It is a very old ditcher.

SUBSTANCES IN PERFUMERY

The principal solid substances entering into the manufacture of perfumery are of course, ambergris, musk and civet. Concerning these and some others, the New Standard Formulary says:

A number of interesting and important solid substances are used in making handkerchief perfumes, toilet soaps, sachet powder, toilet powders, etc.

The most important, interesting and valuable of these are the substances of animal origin, and these are used generally not for their own odor, but for their peculiar property of imparting persistence to the perfume.

For this purpose only very small amounts are required. Only a trace of civet is needed to impart to a perfume a character and the difficulty of detecting impurities, they are subjected to the grossest adulteration.

The adulteration is so expertly carried out that it is almost impossible to detect it. The adulteration is so expertly carried out that it is almost impossible to detect it.

Musk is the most extensively employed of the animal substances mentioned. There are two principal varieties, the tongue, or so-called "Chibetan" or "Chibetan" musk, and Siberian musk. It comes into the market in two forms, pods and "grain."

Both of which are adulterated sadly and in diverse ways. The first form is the pods as they are removed from the animal, the musk deer, but it is not practicable for the adulterator to buy this form. It is frequently adulterated with lead or pieces of stone to increase the weight.

The adulteration of musk is a grievous crime, when the name, it is adulterated with pieces of dirt, dung, and other objectionable matter, and sometimes consists almost entirely of foreign animal matter, with a little musk added to give it a name.

The Studebaker Six, being a manufactured car, places every "Six" made of purchased parts on the defensive. The reasons underlying the "Six"--its marked advantages--depend absolutely upon its precision--its accurate functioning--due to the nice relation of its parts. This can only be secured by Studebaker methods: a system of manufacturing that is all Studebaker from the raw material to the last touch of the skilled Studebaker artisan.

Fourteen great plants--six thousand Studebaker manufacturing operations--are required to produce this beautiful car, which has yet to meet a serious rival on the score of efficiency. Yet its price is lower than that of any other "Six" ever built.

New Continued Story

In this issue of the News will be found a new continued story--"Going Some"--by Rex Beach. You all know Rex Beach's writings and it is unnecessary to comment on "Going Some"--the title is sufficient, and if you miss reading it you will miss one of the best stories that has yet been published in this paper, and that is making a broad assertion. You will find it on the sixth page of this issue.

The farmers of Nez Perce county are raising money to secure the services of a farmer adviser. The amount necessary to secure the services of a competent man will be $3,000. Of this amount the agricultural college will donate $1,000, the county commissioners will be asked to contribute a like amount and the farmers of the county will have to raise the remainder, which will be $1,100, $400 of which had been raised last week. It is not likely the farmers of that county will allow the opportunity to go by, thus securing the services of an expert to advise them how to get the best results from their farms.

Horticultural inspectors of Washington are getting busy and warning orchardists of the necessity of ridding their trees of all blight, and asks that they attend to it immediately--before the sap begins to flow. It is also stated that all scabby and wormy fruit offered for sale this year will be condemned and destroyed. It behooves the people of Idaho as well to look after their orchards, for they will surely be inspected and trees that are affected with blight will be cut down.

Over at Toppenish, Wash., it is said that every vacant lot in the city will be utilized as a garden plot or flower garden by the pupils of the public schools of that city. The school authorities will have the ground plowed and the boys and girls will plant and care for the gardens and flowers under the direction of experts. Prizes are to be given for the best results from a lot of a given size.

The Junior Philatheas of the Congregational church were chaperoned by Miss Costello on Monday evening at a box party. All pronounced the movies very fine.

The Forty Year Test

An article must have exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief--it cures. For sale by all dealers.

CHURCH SERVICES

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
A. S. SMITH, Pastor

Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. and Christian Endeavor at 7 p. m. Prayer and song service on Thursday evening at 7:30. Junior church meeting every first and third Sunday in the month at 2 p. m. Junior preaching service the second Sunday in every other month at 11 a. m. Ladies aid meeting every two weeks on Wednesday afternoon.

The subject of the sermon for next Sunday morning will be--"Acting Wisely Toward the Future." In the evening the usual evangelistic service will be held and the subject of the sermon will be--"What Christ Meant by the Term, LOST."

Large audience and good interest last Sunday night. If you have not been going to church regularly you can't afford to miss these meetings. Come out next Sunday night and enjoy the half hour song service and get the inspiration and help the sermon will seek to bring you.

More important questions cannot be discussed than those we are now considering at our Sunday evening services. We were glad to see the large number of young people at our service last Sunday night. The pastor of this church has always been in deepest sympathy with the young people of the community who have their problems and perplexities and they are most cordially invited to these Sunday evening services.

METHODIST CHURCH

J. C. CARBON, pastor
The subject of the Methodist church next Sunday morning will be, "The Baptism of the Holy Ghost and Son of God." You should hear this subject discussed as it is of the most importance and to your salvation.
Sunday school at 10 a. m. and preaching again at 7:30 p. m.; subject will be evangelistic as usual. You will find plenty of gospel in any of our services to assure every man and woman who will obey it. We are not here to condemn any man in his wrong doing, but are here to bring every person face to face with his Lord and his duty, then he must settle his account with his Lord without the aid of priest or prophet. "For the word of God is quick and powerful and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart." and this is the word which by the power of the gospel is preached unto you at the Methodist church.
Special music at both services. All are welcome.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

March is the fickle month. You can never tell what a day will bring forth in storm or sunshine, wind or flood.

It is typical of the uncertainties of life, against which you can guard in no better way than by a bank account.

If you have a growing bank account you can rest assured that, come what may, you will always have the best and most practicable "friend in need."

It adds to your independence and puts opportunity within your grasp.

Others have tried it successfully, why not you?

W. M. Meyer Making Good

Word has been received from W. M. Meyer, who has charge of the Colville band, that he is meeting with great success in his band and musical work in Colville and has closed another contract with the chamber of commerce of that place for furnishing concerts, etc.

In a recent issue of the Colville Examiner Mr. Meyer is very highly spoken of as an instructor, stating that "under the efficient direction of Prof. Meyer the band has made great progress, and is one of our strongest civic assets." Prof. Meyer is not only instructor of the band but also has an orchestra of twelve pieces.

The Colville paper further says: "Prof. M. W. Meyer, the present instructor, is the right man on the job, and the results show for themselves. He is a capable instructor in brass and on stringed instruments, and has made particular progress in securing results from the younger material." "By reason of many solicitations Prof. Meyer has consented to give another band concert in the opera house in a few weeks."

"Prof. Meyer states that as soon as the weather permits the band will give open air concerts on the streets on Thursday evening of each week."

At 2 p. m. there will be an open conference and inspirational addresses on our work as Congregationalists, closing with a question box.

Division No. 1 of the Ladies Aid will serve a cafeteria supper in the basement of the church at 6 o'clock, to which every one is invited.

Chronic Stomach Trouble Cured. There is nothing more discouraging than a chronic disorder of the stomach. It is not surprising that many suffer for years with such an ailment when a permanent cure is within their reach and may be had for a trifle? "About one year ago," says P. H. I had previously used any number of different medicines, but none of them were of any lasting benefit." For sale by all dealers.

Much Land Not Assessed

County Engineer Booth of Nez Perce county has submitted a report to the board of county commissioners in which he estimates that there are 15,000 acres of land in Nez Perce county that has escaped taxation due to deficient descriptions as given to the county assessors. He explains that frequently quarter sections contain as much as 200 acres. It is stated that investigation would likely disclose similar conditions in practically all Northwest counties where no accurate survey has been made.

The Senior Philatheas of the Congregational church were royally entertained last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Bolton.

"Off Agin—On Agin"

Practically the same performance that was given by the local train on Saturday and Sunday a week ago, was pulled off last Friday afternoon near Busby station, when the train headed for Pullman dumped three cars in the ditch, including a car of hogs, the consequence of which was that the Saturday morning train did not arrive until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, having to wait until the wrecker went out from Pullman Saturday morning to clear the track.

Again on Sunday morning a few minutes' delay was caused by one of the cars jumping the track (from force of habit), but the train crew are getting pretty handy with frogs and jacks and only about twenty minutes were consumed in getting the car to rights again.

The railroad question is getting to be a pretty serious one with the Genesee branch. It is becoming a standing joke that when the train happens to be a few minutes late that it is off the track, and one man was mean enough to remark that he thought the whole 27 miles is a huge joke.

Work was begun on the topping and trimming of the trees in the City park Tuesday morning. This will be a great improvement in the appearance of the park and will also be of lasting benefit; as it will cause the trees to branch out instead of going to tops, as the trees there are inclined to do. This little park bids fair to become a very popular place of amusement, especially for the younger children, as there is no doubt but that the ladies of the G. S. will again inaugurate the play afternoons for the youngsters, who thoroughly enjoy the little social gatherings for their benefit.

It was decided to tender Miss Doty the seventh and eighth grades as it was learned that Miss Wardrobe, who has taught these grades for the past two years, had applied elsewhere.

Miss Costello and Miss Baxter were also tendered their present positions for another year.

A great many other things for the good of the school were discussed and will be taken up later, among which is manual training and domestic science. While the board does not feel that they would be justified in doing anything in that line at the present time, these things were discussed and it is probable that these two very important items will be taken up at no distant date.

Supt. Hov is competent to take charge of the manual training department and the domestic science part as yet not been figured out, but a combination teacher will be sought.

According to the weather prognosticators we are yet to have a deal of bad weather—especially rain. Some make the statement that just as soon as the moon tips far enough there will be a deluge equalled only by the flood, while others say the croaking of frogs indicates "weather" of some kind, but it must be remembered that all signs fail in dry weather.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Supt. Hov Re-elected for Another Year—Other of Present Teachers Offered Positions

The regular monthly meeting of the Genesee school board was held Monday night, with all members present and President Follett in the chair.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved, after which the following bills were allowed and warrants ordered drawn for the amounts:

F. E. Lambert, mds. $ 5.25
Standard Lbr. Co., lbr. 17.90

Communications were next in order, for positions in the school for the coming year were read. The position of superintendent was first taken up and some two or three applications were read and considered. While Supt. Hov had made no formal application for the position, the board seemed to be of one mind and he was the unanimous choice of the board at an increased salary.

They felt that Mr. Hov had done good work and were appreciative of this fact and also felt that he would be able to do even better work another year, having become acquainted with conditions and needs of the school.

M. C. Bergheim of Lambert, Minn., was selected for principal of the high school. He is a young man and from those who know him, he has all the qualifications necessary for the position. Prof. Bold, the present principal, did not make application for the position, but he has decided to return east.

Miss Orlston, who has given universal satisfaction in the high school, was re-elected to her present position at an increased salary.

It was decided to tender Miss Doty the seventh and eighth grades as it was learned that Miss Wardrobe, who has taught these grades for the past two years, had applied elsewhere.

Miss Costello and Miss Baxter were also tendered their present positions for another year.

A great many other things for the good of the school were discussed and will be taken up later, among which is manual training and domestic science. ### Finish Canal in February

Captain S. V. Winslow, master of the United States Dredge Boat Wallaw, engaged in the improvement work on the Snake and Columbia rivers, was at Callo February 5 when the last blast on solid rock in the construction of the Cello canal was set off, and he predicted today that the canal would be completed and ready for operation in February, 1915. The finishing of this work will afford an open waterway to the sea for the inland empire region, reaching as far as Lewiston. The opening of the canal will be marked by an all-water excursion from Lewiston to San Francisco. The late Senator Heyburn of Idaho had foreseen this development and in a speech in the United States Senate designated Lewiston as "Idaho's seaport."

The health officer of Lewiston has already served notice that all waste and rubbish must be removed and asked that all cans and such rubbish be cleaned up and placed in boxes and the same will be removed by the city. Isn't it getting about time to figure on something like that in Genesee? The sooner these things are attended to the sooner they will be out of the way. Let's all get busy.

Our New Lighting System

The new electric lighting system was put in operation for the first time Monday night and many were the favorable comments heard regarding the splendid lights, some remarking that it made Genesee look like a regular city.

The city council thought and figured long and hard before making the present contract with the Washington Water Power company, but when they found that by the purchase of a smaller motor with which to do the city pumping they could save $50 per month on that one item alone that it was worth doing, as well as the letting of a contract for more and better lights at a very slight increase over the former contract for lighting. The following table will show the difference between the two contracts and the net saving on the new combination contract entered into by the city council:

5 acres and 15 32-candlepower lights. . . . . $72.50
Pumping (old motor) . . . . . 75.00
$147.50

New contract—
$4 100-candlepower tungsten lights. . . . . $75.00
Pumping (new motor) . . . . . 25.00
$100.00

It will be seen by these figures that the city is actually saving $45 per month over the old contract and are getting just as much water and a great deal more and better light.

A carload of clover seed has been shipped into Nezperce for use in that community by members of the Nezperce-Rochdale company, a cooperative farmers' organization, and that this is one of the results of the Holden campaign for "more, corn, more alfalfa and more livestock." It is stated that there will probably be more alfalfa sown than clover, and that this amount does not include what will be sown by any others than the members of the Rochdale company. Verily the amount of alfalfa is having its results and later those who sow it will reap their reward.

There have been instances not far from Genesee where the eggs were of ancient vintage, and where butter was short of the required weight, and it is just these things that Commissioner Walls and his deputies are looking after these days.

A. E. Rosenau shipped on Sunday from the Genesee Valley Stock farm, five Poland China male hog to H. S. Reese of Lamont, Wash., and also two blooded Plymouth Rock cockerels to C. M. Daily at Garfield, Wash. Mr. Rosenau is doing a good business in the fancy stock line, which shows it pays to handle nothing but the best, be it chicken, hog or horse.

The Ladies' aid of the Congregational church was entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. K. Bressler. ### No More Canada for Him

It would seem that Canada is not all sunshine and flowers, as some of the boosters for that part of the world would have every body think.

The following extracts, taken from a letter recently published in the Grangeville Globe, while of a humorous nature, has more truth than poetry between the lines:

"We got back home from Canada last week and I want to inform you that things look good to us now. When we left here two years ago we could not see anything around worth while, but after reaping wheat two seasons behind a snow plow and staking out the cow with an icicle all one summer, we are glad to get back into a land where post holes can be dug without training a badger to do the work.

"They told us that we could pick dollars off every little bush up in Canada, so we took some grain sacks and went up. We have not got even the sacks now. Of course we did not know much about their way of farming, and we did not find out until we had decided to leave.

"We have rented a farm here and if we can get used to the warm climate again, we will buy a lot in the cemetery and settle down, for we shall never wander from this goodly land again to seek our fortune in a foreign country."

Commissioner Walls Busy

State Pure Food Commissioner Walls has been busy recently in the northern part of the state looking after the interests of the pure food law, and incidentally after the health of the general public. At Potlatch a short time ago he seized 343 sacks of misbranded flour which had been shipped to that place from various mills in this part of the country. He is also looking after the butter and egg question—seeing to it that these special articles are not too ancient—and also that butter requires the full amount of net weight stamped on the label.

There have been instances not far from Genesee where the eggs were of ancient vintage, and where butter was short of the required weight, and it is just these things that Commissioner Walls and his deputies are looking after these days.

A. E. Rosenau shipped on Sunday from the Genesee Valley Stock farm, five Poland China male hog to H. S. Reese of Lamont, Wash., and also two blooded Plymouth Rock cockerels to C. M. ### HOME PHONE COMPANY

New Telephone Company Formally Organized—Officers Elected—By-Laws Adopted

At a mass meeting of farmers and business men held in the Farmers' union hall Tuesday afternoon a new telephone company was formally organized, officers were elected, articles of incorporation and by-laws were read and adopted.

The meeting was called to order by John A. Nibbet, who read a paper prepared by a committee, setting forth the aims and objects of the new company, after which Arthur C. Linehan was chosen chairman and Chas. P. Whalen secretary.

Next in order was the reading of the minutes of the last mass meeting, which were approved. The articles of incorporation were then taken up and discussed, as were also the by-laws as prepared by the committee, which were later adopted.

Nine directors were chosen, as follows: For a term of three years—C. P. Whalen, Jas. Nibbet and John Meyer. For two years—Anton Borgen, A. W. Beachler and D. Scharnhorst. For one year—Jas. Tobin, J. P. Michealson and Christ Lange.

The board of directors met immediately after the mass meeting had adjourned and elected the following officers of the company: A. W. Beachler, president; John Meyer, vice-president; Chas. P. Whalen, secretary and treasurer.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. Con Steltz was tendered a most delightful surprise, Wednesday evening when the Rebekahs gathered at her home to help her celebrate her 53rd birthday anniversary. The surprise was planned and carried out very successfully by her daughter, Miss Pauline Steltz, assisted by Miss Ruth Martinson.

There were twenty-four Rebekahs present and the evening was spent with vocal and instrumental music and a general good time. At 10 o'clock a dainty lunch was served by Miss Steltz and Miss Martinson. The Rebekahs presented Mrs. Steltz with a half dozen cut glass water glasses. She was also the recipient of a number of pretty and useful gifts.

Mrs. Steltz has the best wishes of the Rebekah lodge for many more happy birthdays.

The girls of the second and third grades of the public school, were entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leon Follett. Misses Faith Pollett, Frances Orth and Norma Jackson acted as hostesses for the little girls. The afternoon was enjoyed in a way in which only little folks know how, and the young hostesses proved excellent leaders in the plays.

Recent pictures being published of the blizzards they have been having "down east", and especially in New York city, are in marked contrast to the fine weather we have been having here. If some of those people back there had any idea of what we have here there is no doubt but that they would "hitch their wagon to a star," and make sure that star was headed toward the Genesee country.

Have you read the "want ads?"

Celebrate Golden Wedding

On Friday, February 27th, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tice, former residents of Genesee, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. G. H. Raymond, with whom they make their home in Spokane, in a very happy manner, and which was attended by some sixty invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Tice were residents of Genesee for twelve years, but went to live with their daughter some two and a half years ago and have since made their home there.

Invitations for the event were sent to quite a number of friends, which included a large number of Genesee people, and also to former residents who make their home in Spokane.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with gold streamers and jonquils. The golden color was also carried out in the refreshments, which consisted of yellow and white ice cream, cake, oranges, and coffee, served at small tables during the afternoon and evening.

A number of beautiful gifts were received, among which were three five-dollar gold pieces, sent by Genesee friends. Mrs. George Follett was in attendance from this city.

Splendid music was furnished and made the time more enjoyable, if possible. One son, who resides in Seattle was unable to be present.

Commercial Club Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Genesee Commercial club on Monday evening, March 16, at the Grand Central hotel, which all members are requested to attend. Supper will be served. All who can attend please notify F. E. Lambert at the earliest possible date. Business of importance will come before the meeting.

Miss Hattie Botjter returned Tuesday afternoon from an extended visit with her brother, John Botjter, and sister, Miss Margaret Botjter, at Potlatch.

We take orders for engraved cards.

Rapid River Mining and Milling Co., Ltd.

HOME OFFICE, GENESEE, IDAHO
J. B. DAVIES, Pres. L. A. MURPHY, V.-Pres. JOHN NISBET, Sec. JOHN MEYER, Treas.

ORGANIZATION

The Company is organized under the laws of the State of Idaho, with a capital stock of $1,500,000.00, represented by 1,500,000 shares of a par value of $1 each. The stock is fully paid, and ample provision has been made for the completion of the development of the property by a treasury fund of 1,000,000 shares of stock, the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to the work remaining to be done.

THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY

The property of the Company consists of seven (7) claims. Also a mill site and a water power situated on Rapid river, six miles from Pollock, in Idaho county, Idaho. It is estimated that from 10,000 to 28,000 horsepower can be developed from this water power at a very small expense. The amount of water is 50 second feet, which has a fall of 403 feet in less than 2,000 feet.

DEVELOPMENT

About $5,000.00 have been expended in the development of the property, besides the purchase of one claim for a consideration of $5,000.00. From the upper line of the ledge, which is about 1,500 feet above Rapid river, a shaft of 150 feet in depth has been sunk. Here the ledge shows a depth of more than 20 feet.

One assay, made by J. A. Peck of Boise, Idaho, on August 26th, 1908, gave the following values: Gold, $95.09; silver, $0.46; copper, $5.40; making a total of $100.95.

Other assays made by C. M. Fasset of Spokane, Wash., are as follows:

Assay No.	Copper	Silver	Gold	Total
Assay No. 1	$ 12.90	$ 7.50	$182.50	$152.90
Assay No. 2	21.60	2.25	49.40	73.25
Assay No. 3	21.90	2.45	86.40	110.75
Assay No. 4	9.90	2.45	84.75	97.10
Assay No. 5	16.20	1.85	15.09	33.14

The last assay of the ore at the shaft, which has an average of a 20-foot ledge, was $7.85 in gold and small quantities of silver and copper. This ledge has been opened about 150 feet above the river on the west fork of Rapid river, by a tunnel which is now in 285 feet. The last 150 feet in the tunnel have shown a steady increase of the ledge, the width of which is unknown, as no cross-cut has as yet been made.

The latest assay of the ore at this place, made by the State University, at Moscow, showed $9.60 in gold and small amounts of silver and copper.

At the last meeting of the board of directors it was decided to immediately install an air compressor and power drills for use in the mine. It is the intention of the company to expend in the neighborhood of $4,000.00 during 1914 in the development of the water power and mine, which is the object of disposing of a limited amount of stock at this time, which will be sold at

BIG FIRE IN ST. LOUIS

MISSOURI ATHLETIC CLUB BUILDING CONSUMED BY FIRE EARLY MONDAY MORNING.

MORE THAN 100 PEOPLE PERISHED

Whole Block Soon a Seething Mass of Fire—Escaped Impossible—Several Jumped to Streets Being Killed—Fire Department Helpless.

St. Louis—More than 100 people are believed to have perished in a fire discovered bursting Monday morning from the windows of the lower four stories of the Missouri Athletic club at Fourth and Washington avenues. The fire was so hot that it destroyed the building occupied by the club and the Boat Men's bank.

The fire drove scores of roomers at the club into the street in their night clothes.

At 2:30 o'clock every fireman in the city was on the scene but the blaze spread in all directions and was far beyond the control of the firemen. The entire block bounded by Fourth street Broadway, Washington avenue and Lucas avenue seemed doomed.

Of 135 roomers of the club, not more than 20 were accounted for an hour after the alarm was given. The remaining men are believed to have been trapped on the floors above the fourth.

The entire building was soon a seething mass of fire. The roof of the massive structure occupying half a city square, and extending down the river with its several floors, and it is believed more than 100 persons are dead. Every available ambulance and police car in the city was called to the scene.

A careful census of those who escaped from the building was taken by the police and an officer of the club and the other two dozen men were accounted for.

It is almost certain all the others were burned to death. At 3 o'clock the bodies of seven men were found on the sidewalk where they had jumped from the fourth floor. One of these was identified as that of John Martin Ricker of Chicago.

Later Report. St. Louis.—That from 30 to 35 per cent of the Missouri Athletic club perished in the flames that destroyed the building early Monday morning.

Seven bodies have been recovered and from 23 to 29 occupants of the structure still are unaccounted for.

The blaze was the fourth serious fire in the downtown district of St. Louis in eight days and the most serious as regards fatalities of any fire in the city's history.

The fire started at 1:50 a. m. Monday, wrecked the seven-story building, occupied by the Missouri Athletic club and the Boatmen's bank.

The Studebaker Six, being a manufactured car, places every "Six" made of purchased parts on the defensive. The reasons underlying the "Six"—its marked advantages—depend absolutely upon its precision—its accurate functioning—due to the nice relation of its parts. This can only be secured by Studebaker methods: a system of manufacturing that is all Studebaker from the raw material to the last touch of the skilled Studebaker artisan.

Fourteen great plants—six thousand Studebaker manufacturing operations—are required to produce this beautiful car, which has yet to meet a serious rival on the score of efficiency. Yet its price is lower than that of any other "Six" ever built.

Sewing Class Entertained

Monday afternoon the first division of the fifth grade sewing class entertained the second division at a play hour at Mrs. P. C. McCreary's home. A lunch was served by the girls, then the fun began. There was a contest to see who could sew the most buttons on in a given time. Elva Fitz succeeded in winning the prize. Then each girl was in turn blindfolded, and a large drawing of the March hare placed on the wall and each attempted to pin bunny's tail in the proper place. Susie Alber came nearest and was awarded a prize. Then a peanut hunt took the girls outside and the rest of the time was spent in games.

Mrs. W. E. Esser, Mrs. J. G. Carrick, Mrs. W. H. Ehlen, Mrs. Eliza Gray, Mrs. Herman and Miss Pearl Baxter were guests of the club.

A son was born Sunday night to Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brune of Odessa. Mother and babe are reported as doing nicely.

Chronic Stomach Trouble Cured

There is nothing more disconcerting than a chronic disorder of the stomach. It is not surprising that many suffer for years with such an ailment when a permanent cure is within their reach and may be had for a trifle. "About one year ago," says F. H. Beck, of Wakelee, Mich., "I bought a package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using them I have felt perfectly well. I had previously used any number of different medicines, but none of them were of any lasting benefit." For sale by all dealers.

School Entertainment

The ladies and teachers that have had charge of the sewing classes this winter have done a great work, not only in the fact that the sewing is progressing very nicely, so they themselves as well as others, can see the fruit of their sacrifice and labor, but more so perhaps in the fact that they have demonstrated how industrial work can be introduced into the public schools and carried out successfully with little or no expense to the district. We all begin to realize what these ladies and teachers have done and are doing and ought to be anxious for an opportunity to show our appreciation. To further encourage the pupils in their work, the grade teachers will give an entertainment at the opera house Friday evening, March 20, to raise funds for premiums to be offered for the best work in sewing and other school work to be exhibited at the close of the school year. Let every one turn out to this entertainment and thereby not only encourage the pupils, but also show the proper appreciation of what these ladies are doing.

Yours for the best of education.

Equals the Denver Mud

So strong is the belief of a company of Kamiah, Lewiston and Walla Walla citizens that a clay deposit a few miles from Kamiah has remarkable medicinal curative properties, the product has been put on the market following a number of experiments made by two miners who discovered it. These tests, it appears, quickly cured bad cuts on the leg of a horse, removed eczema in a bad case and accomplished other results along the line that brought the "Denver Mud" into much prominence a few years ago. A sanitarium has been established for the application of the clay. It is found in immense banks, as though powdered in a mortar.

Down at Caldwell they have been having what they called a "Traders' Day" and it is reported as a great success. The idea is that all farmers and others who have anything to sell bring it into the town and offer it at public auction to the highest bidder. It has proven a great success at different points where it has been tried and there is no good reason why such an arrangement should not be made in Genesee. Has it ever been tried here? Well, why not try it?

SAVED BY A CAMERA.

A Photographer's Narrow Escape From an Enraged Orang.

As a rule, orang outangs are caught young and tamed before they are shipped to Europe. Mr. W. P. Dando tells in "Wild Animals and Cameras" of such an animal that arrived in London with him. He was a docile, steady-going thing, and Mr. Dando was engaged to photograph him. One day he had entered some of the orang's cage as it had not been properly secured. He had not exposed many plates before I saw that the animal was intent on mischief. He was a very powerful beast, and I should have stood no chance at all if he had attacked me.

My only chance was to use the camera as a weapon. Making a sign to the keeper to keep silent, I pointed my hand camera at the orang and with quick and steady steps approached him. The keeper was outside the door, ready to open it, but neither of us uttered a word. I was relieved to see the orang retreat gradually and at the same time slowly rise from the crouched and menacing position he had taken. Once he was on the move, I knew I had a chance. I succeeded in working him round to the corner farthest from the door, which the keeper had silently and slowly opened.

Still pointing my camera at the orang, I very slowly backed out of the cage, the door was slammed to, and I was safe. Even when I was partly through the door opening my quick movement on the other side would have been a fatal mistake. The animal could have reached me in an instant.

An Estate in the Moon.

After the Franco-German war, in which Captain Flammarion, the famous astronomer, fought as a captain, he settled down to his astronomical labors in Paris and later founded an observatory at Jersey specially to study the planets. On the occasion of his scientific jubilee he was presented with a silver medal depicting him standing on a globe, which was flanked on one side by the planet Mars and on the other by his Jovian observatory. A region on the moon has been named after him, but in whispering this fact to an interviewer M. Flammarion hoped it would not be published. "The budget commission," he added humorously, "may want to tax it as being landed property."—Westminster Gazette.

His Golden Rules.

A Toronto banker hangs up these golden rules of conduct:

"Have something to say."
"Say it."
"Stop talking."

These are the rules for special occasions and places, but not for general application. They make no allowance for the necessities of conversation nor for the helpfulness of intercommunication.

They recall with their tactful suggestion the golden rules that hung over the desk of a western mine owner:

"State your business."
"Shut up!"
"Get out!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wanted Them All.

Julia Ward Howe was once talking with a dilapidated bachelor, who retained little but his conceit. "It is time now," he said pompously, "for me to settle down as a married man, but I want so much. I want youth, health, wealth, of course; beauty, grace."
"Yes," said Mrs. Howe sympathetically, "you poor man, you do want them all."

Meat Stolen

On Tuesday night Wm. Inglo's smokehouse was entered and three hams, two shoulders and two pieces of side meat were taken therefrom. This makes two or three times Mr. Inglo has lost meat in the same way and he is getting pretty tired of furnishing some sneak thief with meat and has decided to take steps that will probably put a stop to the pilfering. It is very evident that some one likes the quality and cure of the Inglo meat and makes it a rule to get it from the same place in order that there may be no mistake about the quality.

Mr. Inglo is in the habit of keeping his smokehouse locked, but on this occasion had accidentally left the key in the lock and it is very evident the thief had been watching for just such a chance.

Last Friday evening the Junior Philatheas of the Congregational church presented Della's Dream. It was so out of the ordinary and so well rendered that the casts have been asked to repeat it. The tableau and setting of the play were specially beautiful. All who missed seeing it will have that privilege some time in the near future. The musical numbers were greatly appreciated and excellently rendered.

Mrs. Swenson entertained the senior Philatheas on Monday evening of last week. Music and a general good time were in order. The hostess served dainty refreshments, after which the class left for their homes. All hope to go again some time in the near future.

As another indication that spring is upon us it is that tennis enthusiasts are having the tennis court enlarged and placed in condition for the opening of the season. There will be three courts instead of two, as last year.

The seventh and eighth grades are spending considerable time practicing for the entertainment to be given this (Friday) evening.

The annual Senior banquet was given at the home of Mrs. George Follett. The senior color scheme violet and green was carried out in all the articles of the table as well as set for fifteen. Dainty place cards and menus were at each place, while in the center of the table was an immense bouquet of violets, with streamers tied to each individual bouquet and leading to each place, acted as toastmaster. A number of toasts and a few musical numbers were given which were thoroughly appreciated by all. The Misses Norma Jackson and Frances Orth furnished music throughout the evening. Much praise and credit are due the Juniors for the delightful evening shown their guests.

Don't forget the School Entertainment tonight at the opera house. Every one's company will be enjoyed and greatly appreciated. Admission will be charged.

The event was in honor of Mrs. Phipps' birthday anniversary, and she was presented a pretty well set by the ladies. They took a nice lunch with them and a grand good time was had.

The members of the Thursday club, together with their husbands, were royally entertained at the home of Mrs. W. M. Herman Wednesday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner. Six couples were served and those fortunate enough to be present thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment.

The ladies of the C. W. B. M. will hold a bazaar and lavender sale during the afternoon and evening, on Saturday April 4, in the basement of the Christian church. Ice cream and cake will be served during the afternoon and hot waffles and syrup, fruit salad and coffee from 5 to 7. 36-11

It is typical of the uncertainties of life, against which you can guard in no better way than by a bank account.

The up-to-date gardener now buys seed on a spool like thread. He no longer gets a package of this, that and the other seed. He goes to his grocery store and orders 90 feet of tape assorted. He digs a trench, lays the tape and his garden is made. The advertisement assures us that you simply unwind the tape from the spool. The seeds are as usual, placed the proper distance apart and carry with them the proper fertilizer. There will be no spading, thinning, weeding or wheel barrowing. Everything is done in an eastern fashion. You stretch out your tape in the backyard and old Sol will do the rest. Everybody should have a little garden this year. You can get 50 feet each of red and white radishes, Boston and curly lettuce, onion, spinach, beets, turnip, carrots and cabbage for $1.00. If that don't knock the high cost of living into a cocked hat we don't want a cent.

Every year makes living easier and better. There is no reason why the tape idea should not be a great success in reducing the labor and bother incident to raising a garden. You do not have to spend a quarter section in order to prepare the soil for a family garden. You need not haul tons of fertilizer; break your back thinning the plants or acquire curvature of the spine bending them. We believe that we will raise a garden this year. If we do the high cost of living is settled and the yellow peril is simply a bygone dream. What can the Japs and Chinamen find to do as soon as every man has his garden? And who would not have a garden when you can get one ready-made at a third of a cent a yard?—Caldwell Tribune.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The annual Junior-Senior banquet at which the Juniors entertained the Seniors and High School faculty, was given at the home of Mrs. George Follett, Saturday, March 14th. The girls of the Junior class received the guests. The rooms were beautifully decorated with green and violet ribbons, the Senior class colors.

A five course banquet was served at 6:30 o'clock. In the center of the table, there was a large bowl filled with individual bunches of violets as souvenirs with violet ribbon leading to each place attached to hand painted menu cards. The place cards were carried out so far as possible in the menu.

A program was given between courses. George Post of the Junior class acted as toastmaster and presided in a very pleasing manner. Music was furnished throughout the banquet by Norma Jackson and Frances Orth, Adah Schooler and Adeline Bressler assisted in the serving.

Another item was the most successful Junior-Senior language quiz ever held and the Juniors deserve much praise for the creditable way in which it was carried out.

Pythian Sisters' Dance

One of the most pleasant informal social affairs of the season took place Tuesday night when the Pythian Sisters gave a dancing party and luncheon in the Knights of Pythias building.

The ladies had decorated the upper room very appropriately with green, blue and white, being St. Patrick's feast that of course being St. Patrick's feast. Streamers of crepe paper were hung across the hall, from which were suspended innumerable bouquets of shamrock (home-made, of course), which gave the room a very pretty appearance.

Pool, billiards, bowling and dancing were indulged in until about 11 o'clock when supper was announced, and all gathered around the tables to do justice to the splendid repast. After all had been satisfied, the amusements were again indulged in until an "early" hour. As a whole it was indeed an enjoyable evening to all present.

There will be a basketball game in the opera house Saturday night between the U. of I. and the Alumni team of this city.

"Overworked"

Husband—What did the doctor say, Henry?

Wife—Not much. He asked me to put out my tongue.

Husband—Yes.

Wife—And he said, "Overworked."

Husband (with a long breath of relief)—All then, you'll have to give it a rest. I guess that doctor knows his business.

A loamy soil is naturally rich in plant food, hence it will need little if any manuring in its preparation. But it should be deeply stirred and thoroughly broken up by subsoiling. This loamy soil is what is termed free soil, as it seldom becomes compacted, even by abusive treatment.

A Hearty Eater

For many years James Clark, a one-legged vendor of lead pencils, was a familiar figure on the streets of San Francisco. He was taken ill with chills on January 7 and removed to the city and county hospital, where his case puzzled the doctors.

There was a tender region on the right side, pronouncedly rigid, but when it moved to the left side the surgeons decided it was not appendicitis. Before the puzzle was solved Clark died. An autopsy was performed and this is what the surgeons found today in his stomach:

One open pocketknife with a blade 4 1/2 inches long.

One jagged piece of metal 3 1/2 inches long by half an inch wide.

One joint of a ramrod 10 1/2 inches long, which still retained a leather swab.

One pencil, 7 1/2 inches long.

One whiststock, 7 inches.

American Field Fence, 20-inch, 23 cents a rod; 26-inch, 26 cents a rod. Driscoll Hardware Store.

Seeds by Tape

The up-to-date gardener now buys seed on a spool like thread. He no longer gets a package of this, that and the other seed. He goes to his grocery store and orders 90 feet of tape assorted. He digs a trench, lays the tape and his garden is made. The advertisement assures us that you simply unwind the tape from the spool. The seeds are as usual, placed the proper distance apart and carry with them the proper fertilizer. There will be no spading, thinning, weeding or wheel barrowing. ### Rebuke by Sarcasm

About the Poorest Place to Use It is in the Classroom.

In a well known Boston school there was a boy conspicuously dull as he Latin. He was a straightforward fellow and a gentleman by birth and breeding, but he was a bungler at syntax.

One morning he had tangled himself in a simple phrase. The teacher asked a question that should have cleared him. The poor lad did not know the answer.

"Then the teacher leaned back in his chair, rolled his gray eyes to the ceiling and said for all the class to hear: "I have been told that it is a hard thing to stuff a wildcat with butter, particularly if you have to do it with a hot ax, but that is child's play compared with putting Latin in a boy like this."

"Sarcasm," said Carlyle, "is the language of the devil." Be that as it may, it has turned many a schoolroom into a place of torment.

A boy may be too dull to be in school, but with a little more of the kind of sarcasm that you can get one ready-made at a third of a cent a yard?—Caldwell Tribune.

HE DIDN'T LIKE DRIPPING.

And No Wonder, After He Had Read About Its Strength.

What is dripping? Everybody knows that dripping is supposed to be the juices, the savory essence, that fall from roasting meats. That is the supposition. But what really is dripping—the dripping that the cook pours over the meat by the pound and smear upon their bread in lieu of butter?

"The question perhaps will never be answered, but a partial solution is given to it by the fact that a London housewife recently bought at $7 a ton thirty-two tons of dripping from a soap works.

"Alfred Noyes used to tell a dripping story. "A little boy," he would begin, "complained bitterly about the bread and dripping that formed his daily breakfast. " "Kill me," he would say, "I don't like it." "Why, I've been feeling pretty bad lately, and now I know it's all this dripping that's the cause of the trouble. I read it in a book."

"Some pure food rubbish, I dare say," And what, precisely, did you read in this little book, silly?" "I read," whined the urchin, "that constant dripping wears away a stone."—Exchange.

HUMOR OF A CANNIBAL

He Enjoyed It Himself, but It Didn't Tickle the Victim.

A number of natives came to greet us when we landed at Iliou. A Fijian island, among them a few who the consul seemed to know. They volunteered to set as escorts for us and by various expressions tried to convey the idea that they were glad to see us.

A school forms one side of the square. In excess of this stands the council chamber, built on the trench where the bodies were roasted for their former feast. The old headstone against which Crookes used to dash the brains of his victims still stands, and the anchor and rudder of a French ship wrecked near Iliou lie beside it.

Being in a picture of Queen Victoria I saw an old sword swinging. Examined it and found it was a French weapon, no doubt the arm of the unfortunate French vessel's commander. During the time this was going on Jim, Ratu Kadavu's servant, who is a particularly good type of a large, muscular man, approached me, ran his hand around my waist and slowly down my thigh and smacked his lips with a wicked smile. I laughed at this display of aboriginal humor, but not very heartily, for the sword of the French captain still swung before my eyes.—Christian Herald.

Time For the Actor to Stop.

On the subject of playing the same part over an indefinite number of times, the late Mark Twain says: "There is no such thing as playing a part too long. The mellowing process should never cease until it does, if spontaneous falls. If the actor feels that he is becoming at all mechanical in the part, he should abandon it at once—for his own salvation."

"The sun-dial signal is half hoisted applause. From this the actor knows that he has lost an essential quality of the character, and the tragedy of it is he cannot tell what that quality is or how he lost it. An actor may tell a joke a thousand times and never be laughed at, but suddenly it fails of response. That's the time for him to stop."—American Magazine.

A Cure For Mosquitoes.

The people of London have learned of an agreeable way to keep their houses free from flies and mosquitoes. "What's that terrible racket in the hall, Martha?" "One of the children just fell downstairs." "He replied, turning over another page of the paper, "you tell the children if they can't fall downstairs quietly they'll have to stop it."—Lippincott's.

Showing Him How.

"You young scoundrel!" said the father, seeing his disobedient son by the hand. "I'll show you how to treat your mother!" And he gave him several bangs on the ears and then took him until his hair began to fall out.

Her Little Slip.

Departing class—We've had a simply delightful time! Hostess—I'm so glad! At the same time I regret that the storm kept all our best people away.—Brooklyn Life.

The Centipede crowd took their defeat badly on Frontier Day, and swore to get even.

"And was Humphrey Joe defeated?" asked Helen.

"Yes he was. Still Bill took his head and went home with a third time. He looked like he was running backward, Miss Blake."

"That really he was only beaten, then? It was a wonderful race, I saw," said Jean.

"It made me think of the races at Colchester," said Miss Blake, who was running backward, Miss Blake.

"That really he was only beaten, then? It was a wonderful race, I saw," said Jean.

"It made me think of the races at Colchester," said Miss Blake, who was running backward, Miss Blake.

"I'm not thinking of the other, I'm thinking of myself," declared the young man boldly. "I don't want you to go before I return. You must not. If you go, I—I shall follow you." He glanced at her indignantly.

"Oh!" exclaimed the chaperon. "This makes it even more impossible. Go! Go!" She pushed him away, her eyes flashing. "Go to your old blues X Ranch right away."

"But I mean it," he declared, earnestly. "Then, as she retreated farther, it was as if she were shouting to him: 'You have known me less than a week!'"

"It is long enough, Roberts!" Mrs. Keap spoke with honest embarrassment. "Listen! Don't you see what a situation this is? If Jean and Helen don't say anything, I will."

"Jean planned it all; even this," Mrs. Keap stared at him in horrified silence.

"Do love me, Roberts?" Chapin undertook to remove the girl's hands from her face, when a slight cough in the hall behind caused him to turn and see the time to see Berkeley Fresno passing the open door.

"There! You see!" Mrs. Keap's face was tragic. "You see!" She turned and fled, leaving the master of the ranch in the middle of the floor, bewildered, but a bit inclined to be happy. A moment later the puppy face of Berkeley Fresno appeared cautiously around the doorjamb. He coughed again gravely.

"What do you want?" Mrs. Keap asked.

"This is the most thickly settled spot in New Mexico!" Chapin declared with an artificial laugh, choking his indignation.

Fresno slowly brought his round body out from concealment.

"I want to be made after you put the cake in pan for the last raising, and when made up it is a cool place just ready to use."

"Strained Mixture—One-eighth of a pound of granulated sugar, one-eighth of a pound of flour, one-eighth of a pound of butter, one teaspoon cinnamon, one ounce of almonds cut up small. Stir sugar, flour and cinnamon together; add butter cut into dry ingredients with a knife until it is crumbly, then add nuts. Mix up well. (The butter should be left in the kitchen so it is not hard when ready to use.) When the mixture is ready, bring cup and spoons. I am very exact in measuring. You can make jelly doughnuts by cutting two forms as follows: One, putting a little jelly on each, and putting the other on top, pressing edges down firmly."

"Where does this fellow think he is?"

"Here's a postscript," added Chapin. "I have a velvet who does not seem to enjoy the trip. Divide a kiss among the girls."

"Well, well! He's stinging his kisses," observed Berkeley. "Who is this humorous party?"

"He was a Freshman at Yale the year I graduated," explained Jack. "Too bad he never got out of that class!" It was evident that Mr. Speed's levity made no impression upon the Glee Club tenor. "He hates to talk about himself, doesn't he?"

"I think he is very clever," said Miss Blake, warmly.

"How well do you know him?"

"Not as well as I like to," Fresno puffed out his little pipe with out remarking at this.

"Well, who wants to go and meet him?" asked Jack.

"I can't. I've just got word from the Eleven X. I'm wanted. The Stover's lips are grimly. 'I don't reckon you have, Miss. Since that race he has been hard to stave. He passed from view hurriedly, so to speak, headed toward the hills and leaping from crag to crag like the hardy shamoak of the Swiss Alps.'"

"Miss Blake giggled. 'What made him hurry so?'"

"Us!" Stover gazed at her solemnly. "We ain't none of us been the same since that foot-race. You see, I ain't the financial value of that Echo Photograph, nor the 'double crutch' that hurts; it's the fact that the greatest outfit in the Territory has creamed us out of the one thing that stands for honor and excellence and 'scientific attainment,' as the judge says when we were in court."

"I'll see that you are safely started," said the young widow; and leaving the trio on the gallery, they entered the house.

"When they had gone Jean smiled wisely at Helen. "Roberts' such a thoughtful chaperon," she observed, whereupon Miss Blake giggled.

"I don't think you were inquiring of Jack with genuine solicitude."

"Do you really mean that you may be gone for some time?"

"I do. It may be a week; it may be longer; I can't tell until I get over there."

"I'm sorry," Mrs. Keap's face showed some disappointment.

"So am I."

"I shall have to look out for these young people when you are away."

"What queer little way you have of talking, as if you were years and years old."

"I feel as if I were. I—I—well, I have had an unhappy experience. I know unhappiness builds months into years."

"What do you get up this honest party," young Chapin began, absently. "I thought I should be bored to death. But I haven't been. You know, I don't think I'm any more bored than I should be. He nodded vaguely toward the seat.

"I thought perhaps it suited your convenience." His companion watched him closely as he spoke, sure that your state's guests have not had something to do with this sudden determination."

"That you understand, I never liked the old Flying Hunt so much as I do today. I never regretted leaving it so."

"This here is a real foot-runner," said Stover.

"Really?" agreed the other. "Where is he?"

"He'll be here this afternoon. Nigger Mike's bringin' him over from the ranch. He's a guest."

"Oh!"

"Yep! He's intercollegiate champion of Yale!" repeated the near-sighted man. "Don't know I ever been there. Much of a town?"

"I ain't never traveled east myself, but Miss Jean and the little yellow-haired girl say he's the fastest man in the world. I figured we might rib 'em some."

"Still Bill winked sagely.

"See here, do you reckon he'd run?"

"Sure! He's a friend of the boss. And he'll run on the level too. He can't be nothin' like Humphrey."

"If he is, I'll give him," said the cowboy. "Oh, he'll give him sure, guest or no guest. But how about the photograph?"

"The Centipede will put it up quick enough, there ain't no sentiment in that outfit."

"Then it sounds good."

"An' it'll work. Gallagher's anxious to run again. Some folks can't stand that."

Willie spat unerringly at a grasshopper. "Lord!" said he, "it's too good for me."

"Well, it is, and our man will be here this evening." Watch out for Nigger Mike, and when he drives up let 'em know you're here and that 'Nigger Mike' like a good impression."

"But I state right here and now, if we do get a race there ain't a-goin' to be no change over our loss' for a second time."

And Stover went on his way to spread the tidings.

CHAPTER III.

"I was still early in the afternoon when Jack Chapin and the youthful chaperon found the other young people together on the gallery."

"Here's a telegram from Speed," said Mrs. Keap.

"It's terribly funny," said Mrs. Keap. "That Mexican brought it to us down at the spring-house."

Miss Blake lost her bored expression, and sat up in the hammock.

"Mr. Jack Chapin is here," said the young man to the other young people.

"Dear Jack! I couldn't wait for Covington, so meet with brass-band and fireworks this afternoon. I have flowers in the little park beside the depot, and that the daisies nod to me—J. Wallingford Speed."

"Thank you," said Fresno, dryly. "Telegraph office, water-tank, and a

"I'm not thinking of the other, I'm thinking of myself," declared the young man boldly. "I don't want you to go before I return. You must not. If you go, I—I shall follow you." He glanced at her indignantly.

"Oh!" exclaimed the chaperon. "This makes it even more impossible. Go! Go!" She pushed him away, her eyes flashing. "Go to your old blues X Ranch right away."

"But I mean it," he declared, earnestly. "Then, as she retreated farther, it was as if she were shouting to him: 'You have known me less than a week!'"

"It is long enough, Roberts!" Mrs. Keap spoke with honest embarrassment. "Listen! Don't you see what a situation this is? If Jean and Helen don't say anything, I will."

"Jean planned it all; even this," Mrs. Keap stared at him in horrified silence.

"Do love me, Roberts?" Chapin undertook to remove the girl's hands from her face, when a slight cough in the hall behind caused him to turn and see the time to see Berkeley Fresno passing the open door.

"There! You see!" Mrs. Keap's face was tragic. "You see!" She turned and fled, leaving the master of the ranch in the middle of the floor, bewildered, but a bit inclined to be happy. A moment later the puppy face of Berkeley Fresno appeared cautiously around the doorjamb. He coughed again gravely.

"What do you want?" Mrs. Keap asked.

"This is the most thickly settled spot in New Mexico!" Chapin declared with an artificial laugh, choking his indignation.

Fresno slowly brought his round body out from concealment.

"I want to be made after you put the cake in pan for the last raising, and when made up it is a cool place just ready to use."

"Strained Mixture—One-eighth of a pound of granulated sugar, one-eighth of a pound of flour, one-eighth of a pound of butter, one teaspoon cinnamon, one ounce of almonds cut up small. Stir sugar, flour and cinnamon together; add butter cut into dry ingredients with a knife until it is crumbly, then add nuts. Mix up well. (The butter should be left in the kitchen so it is not hard when ready to use.) When the mixture is ready, bring cup and spoons. I am very exact in measuring. You can make jelly doughnuts by cutting two forms as follows: One, putting a little jelly on each, and putting the other on top, pressing edges down firmly."

Sagawana—Scald one cup milk, put into mixing-bowl with one-eighth pound or one-fourth cup of butter, one-half cup sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. When cool add one large egg (beaten). Now add two and one-half level cups of flour, one teaspoon salt three times, dissolve one-half yeast cake in one-tenth cup of cold water, add yeast to mixture, then gradually mix in sifted flour and stir well. Put into a warm place to raise one hour. Let rise again. Bake with indicator 150 degrees. This is a fine foundation for any raised cake. You can make apple cake, plum cake, cinnamon cake, doughnuts (by adding a little more flour).

Strained Cake.—Put mixture in shallow pan, just spread it on bottom of pan same as you would apple cake and always butter on top of cake just before you put in oven. Whatever you put on top of cake put it on just before putting in oven.

BRITISH SOCIAL REFORM LEGISLATION

It is a significant movement in British life today. The question was asked of Aaron Watson, veteran liberal and journalist at the National Liberal club, of H. A. White, editor of the London Morning Post, and of Robert Donald, editor of the London Daily Chronicle, "What is the chief liberal journal?"

FARM PRODUCE, PARCEL POST

Rural Postoffice Carriers Will Call for Better Eggs and Vegetables.

Washington.—Preliminary steps have been taken by the postoffice department to perfect its plan for reducing the cost of rural products of the farm directly to the door of the consumer.

Ten cities were selected to begin the work of establishing direct delivery from the farmer to the consumer. Postmaster General Burleson having already issued an order permitting the use of crates and boxes for butter, eggs, poultry, produce and fruit shipped by parcel post.

Orders have gone out to the postmasters at Boston, Atlanta, San Francisco, Detroit, Los Angeles, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Chicago, and Washington, directing them to "receive the names of persons who are willing to supply farm products in retail quantities by parcel post."

Printed lists of these names, showing kind and quantity of commodities available will be distributed among town and city patrons.

"By the use of the lists," First Assistant Postmaster General Hoyer said, "the city consumer will be able to get in touch with a farmer who will fill his weekly orders for butter and eggs and other farm products. The consumer will receive the produce fresh from the country, and the personal relationship established will no doubt tend to improve the quality."

"The farmer will be relieved of carrying his produce to market, as the rural carrier will make daily collections at the farmer's door and deliver retail shipments to city consumers."

New York.—Under a silken black banner bearing in gilded letters the inscription "Demolitions," 1000 men and women anarchists and members of Industrial Workers of the World marched up Fifth avenue for miles Saturday without waiting for the permission of the police.

Clouds obscured the sun and made the thoroughfare a canyon of gloom as the "army," led by Alexander Berkman, swept northward unrestrained. It was not a symmetrical line of formation, but a motley, noisy crowd that jostled fashionably clad women and men from the sidewalks.

A protest from Norway and Sweden against the cold storage measure has been filed with congress by John Bate Moore, solicitor for the state department. The bill would make it impossible to keep fish in storage for longer than three months.

In such a form this bill would embrace not only fresh fish, but also salt or otherwise preserved fish. As, however according to a statement furnished me by experts, the last named two kinds of fish may well be kept in storage for a year or longer without suffering any deterioration whatever, these products could subsequently be exempted from the prescription of the bill.

As my country exports on a rather large scale, salt and preserved fish to the United States, and as it is preferable that the fish should be sold in its own country, it is especially important that the fish should be exempted from the prescription of the bill.

POLARIZED LIGHT.
Why the Rays of the Moon May Chemically Affect Foodstuffs.
Moon rays are said to make men go blind and mad, and to turn foodstuffs into poison. There is even quoted by the London Lancet a death of the cause of which was officially stated to be exposure to moonlight. It is generally believed that the moon's rays are the food most seriously affected by the moon's radiations is fish, and seemingly trustworthy statements have been made as to the ill effects produced in persons who had partaken of fish which had been freely exposed to moonlight.
E. G. Bryant, writing from Port Elizabeth, South Africa, suggests that a possible explanation might lie in the well known fact that the light of the moon, being reflected light, is more or less polarized, and possibly polarized light may exert a peculiar chemical action. Polarized light was obtained by him from a powerful metallic filament lamp, the light being polarized by means of a pile of sheets of plate glass backed with silver and placed at the correct angle.
The experiments showed certain marked results when fish were submitted to this light. When two slices cut from the same fish were hung, one in the direct light and the other in the polarized beam of light, the latter invariably began to decompose before the former, though the temperature of the polarized light was several degrees lower than the direct light.—New York Press.

TWO FACED RONCONI.
He Could Depict Tragedy on One Side and Comedy on the Other.
In "The Memoirs of an American Prima Donna," by Clara Louise Kellogg, there is a good story of Ronconi, who played second cobbler, "Crispino e la Comare." We are told that he was one of the finest Italian baritone voices that ever lived and succeeded in getting a degree of genuine high comedy out of the part that has never been surpassed.

"He used to tell of himself a story of the time when he was playing the Royal opera at St. Petersburg. The czar—father of the one who was murdered—said to him once: "Ronconi, I understand that you are so versatile that you can express tragedy with one side of your face when you are singing and comedy with the other. How do you do it?" "Your majesty," rejoined Ronconi, "when I sing 'Maria de Rohan' tomorrow night I will do myself the honor of showing you."

"And accordingly the next evening he managed to turn one side of his face into a mask of grief, to the audience, while the other, which could be seen from only the imperial box, was excessively humorous and cheerful. The czar was greatly amused and delighted with the exhibition."

Pelicans and Their Pouches.
The pelican is not an attractive bird. He offends both the eye and the nose. But he is commendably regular in his habits. The parent birds catch fish and after cutting their bill deposit the others in their pouches under their bills and carry them to their young. These pouches will hold from three to eight pounds of fish. They are elastic and when distended to their utmost nearly touch the ground. When empty the pouches rise up under the bird's bill and are merely a mass of wrinkles. It is this pouch that gives the pelican his characteristic and disagreeable odor, caused by the presence of decaying fish. The pelican's feet are short and strong, and its legs have large webs. It is not a fast swimmer or a rapid flier, but it is a practical diver in both air and water. On land it is awkward and unwieldy.

The Actress' Retort.
Georgette LeBlanc, the actress, wife of Maurice Maeterlinck, was out in a French town, where the local company "supported" her in one of her husband's plays.
But the support was weak and halting. The poet's lines were mangled, and several characters seemed unable to understand what they were saying. Mme. LeBlanc sought out her manager and spoke to him.
"A writer like Maeterlinck should be treated with more respect."
"Madame," he answered, "M. Maeterlinck is not the first to suffer. Sophocles, Moliere, Racine, Shakespeare, Goethe and other great dramatists are daily murdered in the same way."
"Possibly, but they are not murdered alive—at any rate."

Anything to Please.
Speaking of accommodating hotel clerks, the best I ever saw was in a certain small town. I reached the hotel late in the evening. Just before I retired I heard a scurrying under the bed and saw a couple of large rats just outside the door. I called the clerk. The clerk was as serene as a summer breeze.
"I'll fix that all right, sir," he said. "Front. Take a cut up to room 23 at once."—Exchange.

Expensive.
"No, I've decided never to accept friendly advice any more."
"Why not? It doesn't cost you anything."
"Well, I've found out that it almost invariably costs you your friends."—Exchange.
No Rehearsals.
Wife: (pouting) You have ceased to love me. Hub: Enjoying cigar and newspaper.—No, my dear, I've only ceased making love to you.—Boston Transcript.
Brave actions never want a trumpet.—Italian Proverb.

SETTING THE TABLE.
It Was Akin to a Religious Ceremony in Queen Bees' Court.
The setting out of the dinner of Queen Elizabeth was a ceremonious function. There is even quoted by the London Lancet a death of the cause of which was officially stated to be exposure to moonlight. It is generally believed that the moon's rays are the food most seriously affected by the moon's radiations is fish, and seemingly trustworthy statements have been made as to the ill effects produced in persons who had partaken of fish which had been freely exposed to moonlight.
E. G. Bryant, writing from Port Elizabeth, South Africa, suggests that a possible explanation might lie in the well known fact that the light of the moon, being reflected light, is more or less polarized, and possibly polarized light may exert a peculiar chemical action. Polarized light was obtained by him from a powerful metallic filament lamp, the light being polarized by means of a pile of sheets of plate glass backed with silver and placed at the correct angle.
The experiments showed certain marked results when fish were submitted to this light. When two slices cut from the same fish were hung, one in the direct light and the other in the polarized beam of light, the latter invariably began to decompose before the former, though the temperature of the polarized light was several degrees lower than the direct light.—New York Press.

EARTH EATERS OF SIAM.
Among the Loas Dirt Is Considered a Great Delicacy.
The Loas of Siam, it is said, eat earth and ants. The American wine man drinks beer, the Frenchman wine and the Englishman his ale. No one knows exactly where they contracted their habit, but perhaps the cause of great famine when there was nothing else to devour. At any rate, the habit is strong, and rich and poor alike indulge in it.
They prefer it when it is procured near waters so that it has the taste of fish. It is prepared into a juicy substance and dished in the queen in a hot fire. It is sold in the markets and stores and is served at dinners and big functions of all kinds. Children, women and men eat it together.
Of course it is dreadfully hard on the digestion and in time produces in some cases a fatal disease. Hut, like the opium eater, the dirt eater will beg for his food even at death's door.
In some parts of the kingdom the dirt is sold in the shape of apples and oranges, and all kinds are given out—yellow dirt, brown dirt, gray earth and pinkish variety, too, which is considered a great luxury indeed.—Portland Oregonian.

A Puzzle in Figures.
Take a number of three different figures, as 471, under it place the same figures in reverse order, subtract the lesser number and you will find that the middle figure of the result is invariably 9. Why it is so is something that only the most learned mathematician scholars can explain. Here is our case worked out:
Taking any number, say..... 471
Reversing figures..... 174
Subtracting, we have..... 297
Further still, we can reverse the number 297 in the same way and add the two numbers, and the result will always come 1089. Thus:
Taking..... 297
Reversing..... 729
Adding, we have..... 1026
Why should the answer always come out the same? Here's something for you to work over.

Two For a Quarter.
He was smoking a fine, full flavored Havana when he met his friend.
"Have a cigar?" he inquired, very politely.
"Thanks," said the other gratefully, taking and lighting the proffered weed.
After a few experimental puffs, however, the friend removed the cigar from his lips and, looking at it doubtfully, said, with a very evident abatement of gratitude in his tone:
"What do you pay for these cigars?"
"Two for a quarter," said the original proprietor of both weeds, taking his own cigar out of his mouth and looking at it with considerable satisfaction. "This one cost me 20 cents and that 6."

Link's as Applied to Golf.
Speaking of games, how many know the origin of the word "links" as applied to the field on which golf is played? The dictionary says that "links" means stretch of sandy soil, interrupted by heather. The word comes from an old Saxon word "hlink," which means a ledge, an embankment, a boundary. Matern link and the links of St. Andrews were there at the same body invented a game to go with them.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mixed.
"How do you like my biscuits, bubby? I got the recipe out of a paper."
"Well, my dear, I found a button in one and a feather in another. Maybe you got the cooking recipe mixed with the fashion hints."—Louisville Courier Journal.

The progressive needle work club was delightfully entertained, Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Jno. Kempf. There was almost a full attendance of club members and the afternoon was spent with needle work and social intercourse. A club paper was read by the editor, Mrs. F. S. Casebolt, which created a good deal of movement. At 5 o'clock, a three course dinner was served by the hostess. Altogether, it was a most enjoyable club meeting. The next club meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred C. Perkins.
P. J. Rogers of this city was on Tuesday afternoon married to Miss Pearl Andross of Meade, Idaho. The ceremony took place in Spokane and was performed by Elder Cotton of that place. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have gone on a honeymoon trip to the southern part of the state. They are undecided as to where they will locate. Mr. Rogers is the son of Mrs. Phoebe Rogers of this city. A brother, F. M. Rogers attended the wedding from Genesee.
Meyer & Flomer on Saturday sold two '15' automobiles, one to Al Peterson. This fine spring weather is thawing out the pocket-purse for some of his machinery in a hurry.
Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Braun have added a fine new soda fountain to their equipment and will be able to serve any of the soda fountain drinks. It is one of the latest fads, freezing its own ice for soft drinks. All of the receptacles are porcelain lined with German silver fittings, the most sanitary in use. There are two receptacles for ice cream, two cooling closets, besides a number of other conveniences.
O. M. Plummer, secretary of the Portland Union Stockyards company, was in the city Sunday, leaving for Pullman Monday morning. He was the guest of Dr. J. D. Adams while here. Mr. Plummer is visiting all the colleges in the northwest, interesting them in swine and cattle clubs. He came from Walla Walla to Genesee.
Olaf Pearson, who was sent to the asylum from Genesee last summer, was released a few weeks ago. He went to the home of his mother, Mrs. Shostrom north of Troy, and it is reported that he drove her and the children off the farm, and it was necessary to have him taken in charge. He was returned to the asylum to Orofino.
Genesee is to have a spring clean up day, the date will be announced soon, but each one should be getting his premises cleaned up and the trash to be hauled away, placed in receptacles in a convenient place. Let us leave nothing undone that can be done to make our town a "clean town".
Rev. J. G. Carrick, attended the Methodist conference at Lapwai last week. The conference was presided over by Bishop Waterhouse. There was a large representation of pastors and delegates present and the reports show the church work to be in good condition.

Winter Wheat Doing Well

According to reports by prominent farmers of Latah county the wheat which is in the section is regarded as in fine condition at the present time, however, it is stated that the acreage sown will fall off by 15 per cent owing to more grass than in previous years. Farmers are paying attention to forage crops in this vicinity and clover and timothy have been sown freely by those who feel that alfalfa will not bring as good returns, though some of the land has been sown.

The past winter has been a splendid one for crop conditions. The ground is full of moisture and the prospects seem bright for a splendid yield of all crops. Spring plowing in this locality and farmers generally report the ground in excellent condition. Altogether the conditions have been ideal for good crops, no bad frosts or other serious difficulties attending. The prospects for a good bean crop are also bright.—Mirror.

Northwest Livestock Show

The date of the annual Fat Stock show at Lewiston has been set for November 30 to December 5, inclusive. The date formerly selected conflicted with that of the Pacific International Stock show to be held in Portland.

It was deemed advisable to make the change so that stock men could exhibit their stock at both shows.

There have been but a few days of unpleasant weather this far during March, while reports from the east tell of snow and winter conditions as being prevalent generally. Spring plowing and seeding are going forward in a very satisfactory manner. A few early gardens are being planted and lawns and alleys in town are being cleaned up and added air of prosperity seems prevalent.

Follett & Schooler sold another horse last week, when they delivered one of their famous Shires to F. F. Fetter, who resides near Garfield, Wash.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Esther Orth

Those receiving highest honors in home credit work for this week are: First grade, Adeline Murphy, 546 minutes; Second grade, Mary Sampson, 385 minutes; Third grade, Olive Mullaley, 410 minutes; Fourth grade, Elizabeth Sampson, 1185 minutes; Fifth grade, Mable Kimberling, 1460 minutes; Sixth grade, Wilhelmus Sampson, 1620 minutes; Seventh grade, Bruce Armstrong, 1560 minutes; Eighth grade, Ida Scholer, 1875 minutes.

A Senior class meeting was held last week, at which the commencement invitations were chosen and a speaker decided upon. They also decided to give a Senior play, and with the help of a few outsiders it is hoped it will be a success.

The second year German class have begun translating Goethe's "Hermann and Dorothea" and find it exceedingly interesting.

The regular monthly examinations were given this week.

Esther Martinson was excused Tuesday last week on account of sickness. It is thought that it might result in "infant" paralysis.

The programme given last Friday night proved a decided success. Everyone was pleased with the entertainment given by the little folks. The drills were very pretty and the costumes and colors harmonized beautifully. Everything was done remarkably well and much praise is due the little actors and actresses for the parts they rendered so well.

Bulk Grain Means Big Saving

That a saving of $660,000 annually would accrue to the farmers of the North Pacific coast through the bulk handling of grain is the opinion given by the press by R. C. Armstrong of Colfax, who were appointed a committee by the Whitman county farmers' union to investigate. According to the report on board ship is 27.7 cents per bushel, while by handling in bulk this cost is reduced to 22.6 cents per bushel, a difference of 5.1 cents. From this difference is deducted 4.4 cents per bushel, the amount returned for the sack, leaving a net difference of 1.1 cents per bushel in favor of the bulk system. The average North Pacific wheat crop is 50,000,000 bushels.

The figures of the committee show the cost of threshing sacked grain, including cost of sack, to be 15 cents per bushel, while the cost of threshing bulk grain is given at 9.3 cents per bushel.

Delivery, based on a five-mile haul, is figured the same, 2 1/2 cents per bushel, for sacked and bulk grain.

Handling sacked grain through the warehouse costs the producer 1.4 cents per bushel, while the cost of handling bulk grain through elevators is given at 1 cent per bushel. In the freight item the figures are the same, 10 1/5 cents per bushel, based on 17 cents the hundredweight. The terminal warehouse charges on sacked grain are given at 1.4 cents per bushel, while on bulk grain 11-15 cents per bushel.—Palouse Republic.

At a meeting of the board of directors and manager of the horse show on Wednesday night it was decided to make the show cover two days instead of two, June 11, 12, and 13.

Cow Creek Items

Chronic Stomach Trouble Cured

There is nothing more discouraging than a chronic disorder of the stomach. It is not surprising that many suffer for years with such an ailment when a permanent cure is within their reach and may be had for a trifle! "About one year ago," says P. H. Beck, of Wakelee, Mich., "I bought a package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using them I have felt perfectly well. I had previously used any number of different medicines, but none of them were of any lasting benefit." For sale by all dealers.

March is the fickle month. You can never tell what a day will bring forth in storm or sunshine, wind or flood.

It is typical of the uncertainties of life, against which you can guard in no better way than by a bank account.

If you have a growing bank account you can rest assured that, come what may, you will always have the best and most practicable "friend in need."

It adds to your independence and puts opportunity within your grasp.

Others have tried it successfully, why not you?

MOODS OF THE RHINO.

Emotions It Exhibits at the Sight and Smell of Men.

The recaptured presence of men rouses in the rhinoceros several emotions, which in the order of their intensity should be as bewilderment, fear, dull curiosity and truculence. It does not merely snuff usually the only emotions aroused are bewilderment and fear, but in certain cases it is so much so that it settles down to a senseless rage.

Some rhinos are always cross and evil tempered, but many others which are normally good natured now and then have fits of berserker fury. Anything conspicuous which arouses their interest may also arouse their hostility. White has an evil attraction for them. My friends the 3-M rhinos while traveling through a rhino country found that the two white horses of their caravans were so frequently charged that they finally painted their horses grey. I have never seen them charge of other color, and gazelles and hartebeests fed in their immediate neighborhood with indifference, yet I have been informed by trustworthy eyewitnesses of one rhinoceros charging a herd of zebra and another some buffalo.

The rhinoceros usually gets out of the way of the elephant. It will not intentionally on occasion charge man and domestic animals entirely unprovoked. It is a very dangerous animal charging an oxen wagon. In one case an ox was killed, in the other the rhino charged in the yokes and trunks, and the driver, an African, was lashed by the with his great whip until it broke loose and ran off, leaving the driver in a state of confusion.

A Sailor's Yarn

It Involves a Strange Coincidence

By F. A. MITCHEL

I'm a plain seafaring man, and I have no objection in making up this yarn or any part of it. I know that a sailor's yarn is generally well stretched, and I don't deny that many a time on the fo'c'sle I've made up things myself that were to help my mates pass the time. We didn't have any story books, and some of us couldn't read 'em if we had, so we just made up stories of our own.

But this is different. There are things about it too serious for a made up yarn. I'll tell you that none of the happenings I ever told of or listened to on the fo'c'sle were harder to believe than this one, but since I won't make it up I'm not responsible for it.

Jannie Kline and I were brought up at the same place on the coast, and both of us were used to boats from the day we were born. Our parents were able to send us to school, and since we were about the same age we went to school together. No such thing as love occurred to me till I was sixteen years old—Jannie was fifteen—with indifferent results from a war-cruise dressed in sailor togs and was a mighty fine looking fellow. He was twenty-one years old, and since Jannie had been a sailor, I knew my glass had to be a fancy to her. He was the first man who ever paid her any attention, and she was mighty well pleased.

I complained to her about her going so much with Hobson, and yet it was the same old story. Mr. Hobson hadn't appropriated her. True, she hadn't seemed to belong to either, but there was no reason why it should all be so. I didn't know what was coming, but I was sure that I was going to get a better. She knew that a change had come over the boy and girl condition of things, and she was entering upon something different.

Hobson stayed ashore for some time, during which there was a sort of quarrel between him and me. Jannie's remarks about it were still entering upon something different.

When my rival went to sea again it was as third mate of a vessel. The night before he sailed he was with Jannie. I didn't know what passed between them, but after he had gone Jannie seemed very much changed. Whether she had known what passed, she was pining for him, whether she didn't know if she wanted to be up to him or not I couldn't find out. If she knew what was going on, she kept it to herself. I've often thought that was a kind of deception.

After three years of being ingenious with me, as she had been, she was free. Sometimes she would be very friendly, or affectionate, rather, and sometimes she would be the reverse. My father about this time told me that it was time for me to be doing something, and since the only thing for me to do was on a voyage, I said good-bye to Jannie she held on to my hand a long while, and she seemed that she couldn't bear to part with me. I asked her if she would be the same to me when I came back that she had always been, but she didn't give me any answer whatever.

From this time Jannie had an easier job of it, since Hobson and I were not at home at the same time. When I came back from my first voyage I heard that he had been there and that he had been with her for a great deal of time. I was now Captain Hobson, while I was plain Mr. Gibbs he was twenty-four years old, while I was only twenty-one.

I fancy it was Hobson's higher and more lucrative position that induced Jannie's family to bring their influence to bear upon her to marry him. At any rate when I sailed the next time she threw her arms around me, and it seemed she would never let me go. I took it for granted that I had won and went away very happy. Alas, it was a good-bye! She had promised her parents that she would say yes to Hobson when he returned from his next voyage. Jannie kept her promise, and when Captain Hobson sailed on his next voyage he took her with him as his bride. I learned of my loss at Bombay, where we received letters. It gave me the shock of my life. I didn't blame Jannie. She had been placed when very young between two loved and during the transition period between child and woman had been in a state of uncertainty. I had decided at last in favor of my rival, and I had no more cause to complain than he would have had if he lost her.

During the next two or three years I shipped from other ports than my home. I couldn't bear to go there and find Jannie possessed by another. The bridal voyage was a short one, after which she went to her mother's home. I met her from my mother informed me that Jannie had settled down ashore. Mother knew of my disappointment and seldom wrote me a letter without mentioning my lost love. She has said since that she had a feeling that Jannie would yet some day be mine.

I became master of a vessel and I was sailing between Japan and San Francisco. On one of my return voyages when out on the Pacific ocean one morning, seeing a dark object on the horizon, I raised my glass and discerned a ship rising and falling with the waves. I could discern no masts; I could see a smokestack. Curious, yet I was unable to make out whether she was a sailor or a steamer. We were heading a few points south of her and when we had come nearer I was still puzzled as to what she was. I directed that the ship be pointed directly toward her.

"I believe she is," I replied. "It's lucky we met her by daylight and so near on her course. We must sink her."

As we drew near the vessel we saw that she was a sailor, or rather, had been, for every mast was gone. With nothing to steady her, she was rolling, rolling, sometimes on her beam ends, yet sometimes riding over a wave—deed, helpless. We saw no one on deck and had no idea that there was twenty-one years old, and since Jannie had been a sailor, I knew my glass had to be a fancy to her. He was the first man who ever paid her any attention, and she was mighty well pleased.

A Story of Russian Nihilism

By PAUL SZENSKY

I was about twenty years old when the organizations which developed the late revolution began to exert an influence on Russian affairs. It is the young who are caught in such movements, and I was captivated especially by the secrecy assumed by the nihilists. I applied for admission in a circle of the brotherhood and was duly received as a member. The nihilists fulfilled the meaning of their name by assassinating those in power who stood in the way of their object. If a person was to be received into the circle, he must first be hunted out by the members and sent either to Siberia or the gulags. When this move was decided upon and it was announced that one of our number was to be selected by lot to dispatch the minister I first fully realized that I had not got into a society of mystics, but one of death, and when I drew the fatal number that compelled me to become an assassin, in all probability sacrificing my own life as well as that of the man I was appointed to kill, I saw that a choice of two methods of death was permitted me—either to die doing my work or to be hanged by an ensnaring of the society and killed.

name of Peter Michalowski, entering my residence as Warsaw, in Russian Poland.

It had been agreed between my father and myself that he was to write me from time to time, provided he could do so without giving a clue to my whereabouts. His first letter was to be addressed to me as Peter Michalowski at the post office, 1111 1/2 St. Petersburg. He informed me that inquiries had been made for me at home by strange persons and that the nihilists had been watching my father's mail—doubtless having confederates in the postoffice—and had secured my letter.

I now say that I must never the last link that bound me to the past—the link between myself and my father. I had by this time learned a little English and changed my name to one that would not betray my Russian origin. Since I spoke French quite well, I chose Antoine in Bois, though I seem to have learned the name from the Antoinette in Anthony, leaving my quarters at dead of night. I was never again seen there, but in a few days disappeared in the city of Denver as in Idaho.

For several years I lived a nomadic life. The money my father had given me had been exhausted, and I had myself out wherever I could find work to do. Sometimes it was clerical, sometimes manual. At one time I drove a cab and stayed in a place till I met some one whom I had known in Russia or, pretending to be a secret agent of the nihilists, not in Russia, but in some real agents and discover that they had my real name and were ordered to inform upon me if found. Under such circumstances I found it difficult to get employment. Hearing of new discoveries of gold in the west, I begged and worked my way to the west, where I became a prospector of a gold mine has nothing to do with this story. I sold it and, putting the money into thousand dollar ledgers, placed them in pockets in my clothing, which I arranged myself and went east.

Five years and now passed since I left Russia. The nihilist movement was still in progress, having not yet led up to the revolution. I was tired of this life of hiding, and, having the wherewithal to enjoy life, determined to change my outward appearance before the new world and live in accordance with my means. This, of course, laid me more liable to detection by my enemies, but I preferred to take the risk rather than to be continually trying to avoid some one. I lived in New York at myself and went east.

I had realized there about a year ago when creating a servant appeared to me with a card, saying that a lady was waiting for me in a private parlor. The name on the card was Sophia Poloff, and the card was written "a friend of your sister's." The temptation to speak with a connecting link with dear ones at home was too great for me to withstand. I found it for a few minutes, then yielded. Going to the appointed place, a young lady named me, addressed me by my real name and said that before leaving Russia she had been informed by my sister that she had a brother who had emigrated to America. She had given the lady a photograph of me, with the request that if she met me to beg me to come back to my family.

It seemed from this that my sister, having never been informed by my father as to the cause of my disappearance, had been waiting for me. Had she done so, or had the nihilists got it out of her?

Sophia was my confidence. I was hungry for the society of some one who knew me by my real identity. I did not let her know that I was a fugitive under a ban of death. I told her that I had left Russia with a view to making myself independent of my father and pledged her to write nothing to Russia concerning me. She believed, or pretended to believe, my story and made the promise.

With Sophia Poloff for a constant companion, I drifted gradually back into the routine of a life of ease and being with her continually, came to love her. One evening I drove her out in my car, and when we were passing through a wood I told her of the ban that rested upon me and begged her to help me bear it as my wife. I could see that she was moved by some powerful emotion.

"If I do," she said, "there will be two of us under sentence of death instead of one."

"What do you mean?" I inquired.

"I was sent to America by the nihilists to kill you."

"That was many years ago, Sophia, and I have been living together since then as man and wife. For many years we succeeded in losing ourselves in the heart of South America, when the revolution took the place of our ban. The letter in its earlier form passed away. During the last few years we have not scrupled to show ourselves in our true identity to the world. But we are now old. The best part of our lives was passed in hiding."

Death of Mrs. Catharine Montague

Mrs. Catharine Montague, wife of James Montague, died at her home in this city at 10:30 o'clock Friday night, March 27, of peritonitis, aged 56 years.

Mrs. Montague had been in ill health for a number of years, but nothing really serious developed until recently. She was taken ill very suddenly Friday evening and grew steadily worse until the end, which came within a few short hours.

Deceased had been a resident of Genesee about seven years, having come here with her husband and family from Julietta, engaging in the restaurant business and continuing in that line until last fall.

She leaves, besides her husband, four children—Robert, James, Jr., Frank and Mary, all living at home.

The funeral was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Bonora officiating, with burial in the Catholic cemetery.

JEFFERSON DAY DINNER

Latah County Democracy Will Gather at Moscow on April 14

On this day a grateful nation will pay tribute to the memory of one of the fathers of the Republic. To Democrats the day has a peculiar significance, for our party creed found its birth in the genius of the illustrious American, whose natal day we desire to commemorate.

Thomas Jefferson was the greatest constructive statesman whom the world has ever known; the grandest warrior that ever battled for human liberty; he quipped from the mountain of eternal truth the four pillars upon which all popular government must stand.

In the Declaration of Independence, without which there cannot be "a government of the people, by the people and for the people." It dismembered an empire and founded a nation upon the immutable principles of human freedom and equality; it gave us character and pride and inspired resolution and confidence in all our people at home.

After a long career of political triumphs and political disasters, our party stands today at the end of the old and the beginning of a new era, looking forward with hope and backward with pride, for more than a century has elapsed since Thomas Jefferson proclaimed the principles, which are today being put into operation in a practical way by his distinguished follower, Woodrow Wilson.

Desiring to make this day of dedication, a day of consecration to the best there is in our party creed, we are going to assemble, at least, two hundred men and women, representing a loyal united democracy of our County and State.

The achievements of the Democratic Party will be reviewed and its principles discussed by some of the foremost speakers of the state.

Patriotic, inspiring music will be furnished by Carey's famous orchestra.

Henry Flomer has his right eye draped in mourning as a result of trying to handle an obstreperous automobile, which he recently purchased from Rev. A. F. Wolff. Mr. Wolff did not seem to have much trouble with the little fellow, but when new hands took the wheel Mr. Flomer had been out exercising the machine and when he returned to his place of business to house the thing it refused to enter the driveway and cavorted and careened off to one side, striking a post supporting an upper platform, tore its way under, letting the entire load down on Mr. Flomer. When the debris had been cleared away Mr. Flomer crawled out somewhat the worse for wear—but he was on the job Monday morning as usual, refusing to sell the machine for the $1.50 offered him.

W. E. Smith is making quite a few improvements around his home place, having added a new inclosed porch on the north, as well as making other changes. A. J. Fitz is also fixing up the place he recently purchased in the north part of town and will later remove to it. He has recently fenced the premises and built two new porches, which improve the appearance of the place very materially.

A. E. Rosenau and his hired men on Sunday dug out a den of young coyotes on the Dick Scharnhorst farm. There were four of the little fellows and the diggers made short work of them. It was a good find and one that is remunerative as well as exciting.

A. E. Rosenau on Monday shipped two thoroughbred Poland China male hogs to Richfield, Idaho, one going to H. F. Coffman and the other to Norman Cole of that city. Mr. Rosenau has been doing a good business in the hog and chicken lines this spring.

Home Industry Week

The committee on Home Industry week has things started for the busy week of April 13-18.

A number of people are making inquiries as to just what Home Industry week is—the main thing is to buy at home and to buy things that are made in Idaho, Wash., Ore., or Calif. Or in other words keep your money in the West and invest for the West. There are things made out West that you would think—but inquire of your merchant and find out just what they are, and make a resolution to buy home-made products of home merchants.

So far the merchants who have offered inducements for buying home products are:

J. S. Larabee—a sack of Idaho flour for the girl under the age of 16 years, who will make the best cake from Idaho flour.

Pollett Bros. Mercantile Co.—a sack of Idaho flour for the girl under 16 years of age who will bake the best loaf of bread from Idaho flour.

J. Rosenstein—a dress pattern for the lady bringing in the best roll of butter during that week.

The banks will combine and offer a cash prize for the farmer bringing in the largest load of marketable hogs.

The other merchants will offer inducements for trading at home, which will be announced later.

At the Opera House

Manager Malcolm of the opera house has secured an extra good bunch of films for Saturday night and all who attend will be assured of an evening's entertainment worth the price.

The following five-reel program will be given:

"The Favorite Son", a splendid two-reel production (drama) "Man's Duty", a stirring war picture; "Plans of the House", comedy; "The Battle of Who Run", a comedy that is a scream from start to finish.

If you miss seeing this program you will have missed one of the best of the season.

Matinee Saturday afternoon at 2:30, 10c and 15c; night, 15c and 25c.

Inland Empire Teachers' Ass'n

Philander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, has announced that he will be in Spokane for the annual convention of the Inland Empire Teachers' association, April 15-17. Dr. Claxton will be the principle speaker and will deliver an address each day of the convention. J. F. Francis, superintendent of schools of Los Angeles, and A. E. Bostwick, superintendent of libraries of St. Louis, also are on the list of speakers. Among distinguished visitors will be W. T. H. Foster, president of Reed college, Portland; Norman F. Coleman, also of Reed college; L. R. Alderman, superintendent of Portland schools; F. B. Cooper, superintendent of Seattle schools; W. W. Kemp of the University of Montana; D. Craighead, president of the University of Montana; Dr. E. A. Bryan, president of the Washington State college, and Dr. Brannon, newly appointed president of the University of Idaho.

Highest Mountain in Idaho

Idaho has only one named peak higher than 12,000 feet, that is Hyndman Peak, near the Blaine-Custer county line. The elevation of this mountain is 12,078 feet. There are, however, several unnamed peaks near Hyndman Peak which elevations are greater than 12,000 feet. Miss Boardman, a teacher in the Moscow Schools, is in Genesee holding the 8th grade County examinations. There are about seventeen pupils taking the examinations, which will extend over the day. The number includes several from the 8th grade in the Genesee schools and the remainder are from the rural districts.

The ladies' aid of the Congregational church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leon Pollett. A good attendance is desired.

Miss Maggie Nisbet, who is employed as a teacher in the Moscow schools, is spending her spring vacation with her parents.

Miss Elva Gray, a teacher in the Moscow schools, is spending her spring vacation with her mother.

HON. JAMES H. HAWLEY

Announces His Candidacy For U. S. Senate—Independent In All Respects

Boise, Idaho, March 21, 1914.

To the People of Idaho:

My name will be presented at the primary election to be held on September 1, 1914, for nomination as the candidate of the Democratic party for the United States Senator. A lifelong Democrat, I am in full accord with the national platform of my party and the policies inaugurated and continued by President Wilson.

In length of residence one of the oldest pioneers of Idaho, I am familiar with and have been part of the early history and subsequent development of the Democratic party. I believe I understand the needs and requirements of its every section.

I have been honored in the past by selection for several important public positions and invite the closest scrutiny of my past official acts in connection with my present candidacy.

I will enter upon and continue the preliminary campaign independent in all respects, without collusion with other candidates for the various official positions, and absolutely untrammeled by assurance made or promise given by any person whatsoever upon any subject directly or indirectly connected with the office which I aspire, except the promise and pledge I now most solemnly and earnestly make to the people of the state to conscientiously and faithfully enter upon and discharge the duties of the office in the event of my nomination and election, and to give in such event my entire time and best ability to further the advancement and development of every section of Idaho.

Respectfully yours,
James H. Hawley.

The Camas Prairie Chronicle is agitating a creamery for Cottonwood in order that the creamery at that section may get a better price for their cream and milk. The time is not far distant when this part of the world is going to have double and treble the amount of dairy cattle it now has and the creamery in a productive neighborhood is a good investment. The "gospel of alfalfa," as advocated by Prof. Holden is causing the ranchers in every part of the country to turn their attention to more alfalfa, more hogs and more cattle, and the result will be a greater and richer country.

One can scarcely pick up the paper now-a-days that he does not see the admonition, "Swat the fly." This is indeed timely advice and should be heeded. Candidates for the various state and national offices are also becoming very tickle and it will be a great while until General Public will be in favor of swatting some of the candidates in order to try and thin them out, but the public pie counter draws a great many of them.

The regular monthly meeting of the Genesee Improvement society, will be held Saturday April 4, at 3 p. m. at the Library rooms. This is the time designated by the constitution and by-laws for the annual election of officers. Each member who is in any way, interested in the work of the society, is urged to attend this meeting and help in the selection of officers and chairmen of the standing committees for the year.

O. G. Ballard, who has been an employee of the Genesee News for nearly two years past, left Tuesday afternoon for his home at Newberg, Ore. Mr. Ballard has made many friends in Genesee who were sorry to see him leave our little city, but who wish him every success in future.

No more certainly than bank deposits bring the flowers of business happiness.

Have you ever stopped to think that the habit of setting aside a part of your income and entrusting it to a bank, there to thrive and increase, is watering the soil of the future years so that they will be productive of the good things of life, instead of a barren waste.

Rapid River Mining and Milling Co., Ltd.

HOME OFFICE, GENESEE, IDAHO

J. B. DAVIES, Pres. L. A. MURPHY, V.-Pres. JOHN NISBET, Sec. JOHN MEYER, Treas.

ORGANIZATION

The Company is organized under the laws of the State of Idaho, with a capital stock of $1,500,000.00, represented by 1,500,000 shares of a par value of $1 each. The stock is fully paid, and ample provision has been made for the completion of the development of the property by a treasury fund of 1,000,000 shares of stock, the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to the work remaining to be done.

THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY

The property of the Company consists of seven (7) claims. Also a mill site and a water power situated on Rapid river, six miles from Pollock, in Idaho county, Idaho. It is estimated that from 10,000 to 28,000 horsepower can be developed from this water power at a very small expense. The amount of water is 50 second feet, which has a fall of 403 feet in less than 2,000 feet.

DEVELOPMENT

About $5,000.00 have been expended in the development of the property, besides the purchase of one claim for a consideration of $5,000.00.

From the upper line of the ledge, which is about 1,500 feet above Rapid river, a shaft of 180 feet in depth has been sunk. Here the ledge shows a depth of more than 20 feet.

One assay, made by J. A. Peck of Boise, Idaho, on August 26th, 1908, gave the following values: Gold, $95.09; silver, $0.46; copper, $5.40; making a total of $100.95.

Other assays made by C. M. Fassett of Spokane, Wash., are as follows:

Assay No.	Copper	Silver	Gold	Total
Assay No. 1	$ 12.90	$ 7.50	$132.50	$152.90
Assay No. 2	21.60	2.25	49.40	73.25
Assay No. 3	21.90	2.45	86.40	110.75
Assay No. 4	9.90	2.45	84.75	97.10
Assay No. 5	16.20	1.85	15.09	33.14

The last assay of the ore at the shaft, which has an average of a 20-foot ledge, was $7.85 in gold and small quantities of silver and copper.

This ledge has been opened about 150 feet above the river, on the west fork of Rapid river, by a tunnel which is now in 285 feet. The last 150 feet in the tunnel have shown a steady increase of the ledge, the width of which is unknown, as no cross-cut has as yet been made.

The latest assay of the ore at this place, made by the State University, at Moscow, showed $9.60 in gold and small amounts of silver and copper.

At the last meeting of the board of directors it was decided to immediately install an air compressor and power drills for use in the mine. It is the intention of the company to expend in the neighborhood of $4,000.00 during 1914 in the development of the water power and mine, which is the object of disposing of a limited amount of stock at this time, which will be sold at

Speed beheld an underlined man of indeterminate age, whose chest, thin-faced, gravely benignant. It was not alone his glasses that lent him a scholarly appearance; he had the stooped shoulders, the thoughtful intensity of gaze, the gentle, hesitating backwardness of a book-ridden man.

WHAT TO DO WITH LEFTOVERS

Hash More Palatable, Though Less Economical, Than Meat Brought to the Table Cold.

I suppose that in most households a dish of hash comes to the table at least once a week. Hash is very nice, and many people prefer it to cold meat.

But it is one of the least economical things going, because half a pound of meat cuts up into very little hash, and people take a larger helping of some other things than they would of cold meat in slices. Therefore, if you want to be economical, don't have hash.

But, if you are going to have it, you might as well make it properly. Do it in the following way and it will be perfectly delicious:

Remove all fat and gristle from your meat. Chop it by hand, or put it through a machine. If you use a meat chopper you must put a crust of bread through afterwards, in order to clean out all the little bits of meat which have stuck to the works.

If you don't do this you will have quite a lot of meat on the knives, and it will be all wasted.

Melt one ounce of butter in a pan. When this is melted, stir into it one ounce of flour, and add half a pint of stock or milk. Cook the mixture for ten minutes, stirring it very carefully all the time, making sure that it does not turn lumpy. When it is done it will be a very thick sauce.

Take the pan off the fire, stir the minced meat into it and add a whole with parsley, herbs or tomato sauce.

Put the pan back on the fire, and stir the contents till it is quite hot. Don't let your mince come to the boil on any account, though, or it will be spoiled. Take it off, turn it out on a hot dish, and decorate it with strips of potato. It will be firm enough to stand up in a pile. A good cook will garnish the dish with nice, pretty little bits of meat, and easy to serve and enjoy.—Exchange.

CURRY SAUCE WORTH TRYING

Approved Recipe, Not Especially Difficult to Make, Will Be Found to Give Satisfaction.

Curried meats and vegetables are delicious. Here is a recipe for a good curry sauce that is not especially difficult to make. It can be served with left-over chicken, cut in little strips, and heated in the curry, then put on a platter with a ring of mold of hot butter.

It can be served with other meats, such as mutton or lamb, cut in dice or thin slices. It can be served with several vegetables. To make it, slice a medium-sized onion, and chop it fine. Add a dessertspoonful of curry powder. Let it cook a minute or two and then add a little of the fat from the mutton or lamb. Stir for a few minutes, and then add a little of the fat from the mutton or lamb. Stir for a few minutes, and then add a little of the fat from the mutton or lamb.

THE NEW ECONOMIC IRELAND

Bray, Ireland. 27 per cent of the emigrants from Ireland remained under the British flag.

Improvement in the land situation besides checking emigration, has promoted the economic and social welfare of the people. Wise use of self-help agriculture, under the leadership of Sir Horace Plunkett, is making a new Ireland, agriculturally, returning from ranch life in the United States in 1885, instead of entering politics as the most useful sphere of activity, this great Irishman devoted himself to the social and economic regeneration of rural Ireland. Around him gathered men of all creeds and every party. Catholic bishops and Presbyterian preachers, Unionists and Nationalists, landlords and tenants, soon enlisted in the work. It was difficult, if not impossible, to make the theological or even a political controversy about better bread and more eggs.

Self-Help and Cooperation Winning.

"Self-help was first in the program. Education must precede self-help. You can not have a nation without the elements of a nation," said another great Irishman, Thomas Davis, "and one of the first elements of a nation is an educated democracy." As everywhere education was slow and difficult. The Irishman, not different from others, preferred to be flattered rather than to be bettered. Gradually, however, self-help doctrines had their fruition in better agricultural methods, in larger crop yields and in more desirable rural life.

The Irish Agricultural Organization society was formed to teach self-help and aid in the second step toward rural regeneration, rural cooperation.

"Cooperation," said its promoters to the peasants, "will help you to reduce your personal expenses, to dispense with middlemen, to be your own bankers and your own insurers. Isolated, you are powerless against competition.

Land Situation Improving.

The spade is doing mightier work than the sword. Impassioned oratory in Sackville street is futile compared with the use of fertilizer in the field. Ireland is pre-eminently agricultural and the chief emphasis in the island's renaissance has rightly been upon the use of the land. Progress has been made toward the transfer of ownership of land from the absentee landlord to the resident peasant. Progress has been made in blotting out the established tenancy of the Ulster custom of free sale, sixty of tenure and fair rent. Considerable progress has been made in blotting out the plague of rack-renting, where more protection for the tenant is needed, is shown in the picture, with one of the fine, black lace veils thrown over it. For northern tourists, where more protection for the tenant is needed, is shown in the picture, with one of the fine, black lace veils thrown over it.

There is a wreath of standing fancy feathers almost concealed by the draping about the crown, and a little bouquet of small flowers at the side, set flat against the velvet, near the brim. This is a beautiful model and a sensible one for midwinter. For early spring, the chances are that the hat will run more to brim, and that the pose on the head will be changed in the event of eccentric brims becoming the vogue.

If at this season it is necessary to supply oneself with a new hat, the pattern hat shown in the picture may be faithfully followed for design, and an up-to-date and up-to-the-minute style be assured to the wearer.

Many smartly dressed women are wearing soft, light falling veils such as are pictured here. They are made of black, and often they are in colors. A trimmed over the forehead—and sometimes the brow is left uncovered. One may arrange the front hair to suit individual taste and in the manner that is most becoming. The light fringe is fashionable and if well managed, it is pretty. Nothing is so beautiful as a smooth and uncovered brow, but beautiful brows are rather rare. Many new brows are rather rare, and short curls are coming in. With the advent of new styles there is more opportunity than for some time past, and no one can tell which style will prove the popular favorite.

Favorite Among French Coiffures is the Casque

Among these coiffures which are the fashion in Paris, the "Casque" is illustrated here which seems to be much favored by French women. It is a good choice for the woman who has only a scanty supply of hair; but is by no means confined to women with whom nature has failed to be generous in this particular. For the casque style, which is styled that is liked for itself and not because it gives the effect of abundance where there is really dearth.

Where there is not much hair all of it must be waved to dress it in this style successfully. Otherwise the hair is to be parted off and combed away from the crown of the head, all around, and the hair parted off is waved.

Waving may be accomplished in several ways, the curling iron being one of those who have time is most comfortable. It will not hurt the hair unless done too frequently. A second good method is that of rolling strands of hair, slightly dampened on rollers over night, and a third is to wave it back and forth on a heavy hair brush, which has only a few purpose. But it may prove somewhat uncomfortable also in this way.

If the hair is clean, well brushed and slightly dampened in a wave setting, it will usually stay in wave for several days, so that one must be willing to spend time with the curling iron or roller to one of the other methods occasionally. Curly hair will keep in wave a week.

When the hair has been waved, a portion of it is laid in a wave that will set at the top of the crown and pinned to place. The remainder of the hair is combed over this, and all the other fastenings are at the base of the skull. There is no chignon.

Some of the most popular styles are the "Casque" and the "Bouffant." The "Casque" is a smooth and uncovered brow, but beautiful brows are rather rare. Many new brows are rather rare, and short curls are coming in. With the advent of new styles there is more opportunity than for some time past, and no one can tell which style will prove the popular favorite.

Fashions and Fads.

The gold filled box purses is very much in vogue.

Printed and Plain cotton crepes are much liked.

Little silk vests are seen in the new children's blouses.

Narrow effects at the foot of the skirt are in vogue.

Yoke effects are much in evidence in the new suit coats.

A few of the new coats flare slightly below the waist.

Broadtail is to be infinitely popular, combined with velvet.

Some of the most popular styles are the "Casque" and the "Bouffant." The "Casque" is a smooth and uncovered brow, but beautiful brows are rather rare. Many new brows are rather rare, and short curls are coming in. With the advent of new styles there is more opportunity

ALFALFA AND CLOVER

STATE COLLEGE ISSUES BULLETINS ON IMPORTANT CROPS THAT CAN BE GROWN.

FOR THE INLAND EMPIRE ESPECIALLY

Farmers of Inland Empire Are Requested to Co-operate With the College in Testing Out These Crops—Advantageous to All.

The State College of Washington has just published two posters on the growing of alfalfa and clover. The poster was written by Professor Geo. Severance and embodies the essential principles to be followed in growing these crops as follows:

Alfalfa Without Irrigation. The queen of agriculture plants one of the very best crops. It is one of the great soil improving crops, and one of the richest feed crops.

1. Secure high grade seed, dry land seed if available, but pure seed of high vitality in any event. If in doubt send sample to the Department of Botany, State College, Pullman, Washington, for examination.

2. Do not attempt to seed in soils that are not underdrained.

3. In localities with less than eighteen inches of rainfall, seed on well prepared summer-fallow. When the rainfall exceeds eighteen inches, plow deep in the fall, and leave rough. Next best, sow as early as possible in the spring, harrowing at once.

4. Harrow fall-plowed land as early as possible in the spring to hold moisture and prevent crusting and baking. Work either fallow or spring-plowed land four to six weeks before seeding to clear out weeds, warm soil, and give the soil a good, vigorous start of alfalfa.

5. If alfalfa has never been grown in the locality, inoculate the soil by scattering and harrowing about one hundred pounds per acre of soil transported from old alfalfa fields, or inoculate seed with pure culture. This may be secured with directions for use from the Bureau of Plant Industry, Washington, D. C.

6. Seed during May (earlier, if on summer-fallow in semi-arid region). Seed with a drill, set to run in rows eight inches apart, and stopping up two-thirds of holes seeding in semi-arid regions.

7. Sow without nurse crop. Examine alfalfa seedlings, and with a nurse crop, but results are not uncertain.

8. Do not practice clipping young alfalfa. If seedling bar mow with cutter bar set high. Do not pasture until alfalfa has become well established.

9. Cultivate each spring as soon as the soil is fit to work, using top best adapted to local soils. If seeded in rows and not irrigated, use a separate to admit cultivator, cultivate whenever weeds or the soil condition would justify the cultivation of any alfalfa crop.

10. Manage herd of blood in pasturing may be reduced (a) by seeding orchard grass with the alfalfa; (b) never allow alfalfa to be grazed by sheep; (c) by first turning onto alfalfa when stock has been given full feed, keeping stock on alfalfa constantly; (d) by turning them in; (e) by providing some dry hay or other supplementary feed.

11. Do not pasture too late in the fall or too early in the spring nor too close at any time. Give the alfalfa a rest.

Write to the State College for Extension Bulletin No. 1 on "Growing Alfalfa."

Grow Red Clover. Well adapted to Washington where annual rainfall is twenty inches or more.

1. Better adapted to short rotation than alfalfa.

2. Enriches the soil; adds humus.

3. Yields large first cutting and fair second cutting.

4. Rich in protein—hence, splendid crop for balance ration.

5. Its introduction on the moist soil of the Inland Empire, where richer soil, heavier yields of grain, less waste lands, more and better farm homes.

How to Grow Red Clover. 1. Plow deep in the fall. Leave the ground rough to increase moisture. Allow it to weather and settle.

2. Harrow fall plowed ground early in the spring as possible, or as soon as the soil is fit to work.

3. For next four or five weeks work soil to prevent crusting and keep down weeds.

4. Prepare fine seed-bed with very shallow, mellow surface.

5. Secure clean seed of high vitality. If in doubt, send samples to Pullman, for free test.

6. Sow the seed in May. Seed with drill set to seed shallowly. Sow six pounds to the acre.

7. Do not sow with a nurse crop. Good stands have been secured with alfalfa.

8. Do not practice clipping nor pasturing till the clover is well established. If weeds are bad, mow with cutter bar set high.

9. The season of seeding, only a

Spokane Weekly Report. Already advance arrivals are noted of what promises to be a record volume of immigration of the Russian colony in the Big Bend is but one of the developments of the season in the improvement of agricultural areas in eastern Washington.

Provisions. Butter—The butter market has a very firm tone. The market for mixed feeds and middlings. Bran has been in good demand. Milled feed is in demand.

Stocks and Crop Notes. Reports state that there are but 10,000,000 bushels of wheat existing in the western Washington, as compared with 20,000,000 boxes a year ago, and that the Puget Sound company has reported a reduction of its property which was $10,000,000 in excess of its cash investment. Evidently the claims of the different railroads as to their income unproductive weight rates need to be carefully investigated before any advances are permitted.

French For U. S. Senate

The Genesee News tries to give its readers an honest report of the affairs of the community as it goes to their homes every week. For the most part we have maintained our independence from personal partisanship and have labored for the advancement of the community. In the coming campaign, we shall endeavor to adhere to the policy that the News has followed for many years, but it is only fair that we express the approval of the people of this community of Burton L. French as a candidate for U. S. Senator.

Mr. French is recognized everywhere as one of the most faithful and hard working members in Congress from the Northwest, and he is natural that the people of Latah county should feel proud of his record in the national capital. North Idaho is certainly entitled to recognition and there is no doubt but that Mr. French will make a strong showing in the final test.

Grangeville has just completed a handsome new school building. It is a $60,000 structure well fitted with modern inventions and is a splendid monument to the enterprise and progressiveness of the community. The building was formally taken possession of last week.

HOME INDUSTRY WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Much Interest Manifested—Several Prizes Offered—$10 For Six Best Hogs

The big Home Industry week is next week, April 13-18, so everyone try and make a purchase of something made or grown in Idaho. The West, and let the slogan be "Keep your money in the West!"

All our young girls have been busy practicing on the art of fine bread and cake making, so there will be a fine display of bread and cakes.

Follett Bros. Merc. Co. will give a sack of flour of the brand chosen by the best loaf of bread baked from their bread flour. F. J. Cornish will give a sack of Big Loaf flour from the one making the best loaf from that brand. The bread will be displayed in Follett's store window.

Larrabee's will give a sack of Idaho flour for the best cake made of that brand.

These contests are open to any girl under 16 years of age. The bread and cakes will be displayed in the store windows, Friday and Saturday.

Go to Rosenstein's store for the women butter makers are going to try and win that beautiful dress pattern offered for the best roll of ranch butter.

The Driscoll Hardware store will give a beautiful three piece cut glass berry set to the farmer making the largest cash purchase of field or garden seed.

Our men are not going to be slow in hustling for a prize—our largest prize will be the combined prize of $10 offered by the two banks for the head of six of the best fattened hogs for the market, weighing under 300 lbs. and over 240 lbs. So Genesee will see Friday, April 17, the biggest hog market day ever held in this section. The head of the finest porkers in the Palouse country up to here, for the prize.

All the stores will have attractive window displays and there you will see the prizes or inducements.

There will be competent judges for the different departments.

GOOD TEAMS NEEDED FOR GOOD FARMING

Good teams are essential in good farming. Without efficient animals it is difficult to prepare the land well and cultivate it economically. Light teams and not enough animals to draw efficient implements have caused much poverty among the farmers, and this condition should be changed.

One of the cheapest ways of providing cheap teams is to keep two or three good mares than raise colts—horses and mules—to supply the farms with suitable teams. With a few acres of pasture and plenty of feed it should not cost much to raise two or three colts every year. The mares will almost pay for their own feed, and that of the colts with their work.

Brood mares, when properly handled, lose little work on account of the colts. Care must be taken, however, not to let the mares get too warm or require them to draw too heavy loads; they should not exert themselves too severely or become too excited when late in the period of gestation.

The colts will thrive with little feed, but they should have the right kind, with shelter in severe weather, and shade in hot weather.

Sunday School Association

Between 1,500 and 2,000 persons are expected at the annual convention of the Inland Empire Sunday School association in Spokane May 12-15. For several weeks committees have been making arrangements for the meeting under the direction of J. F. Giboney, chairman of the general committee, and E. C. Knapp, secretary of the association. For the first time in the history of Sunday school work in the Pacific northwest, leaders of the Inland Empire Sunday School association will hold a conference to consider problems that have arisen in this new, but rapidly developing field. These leaders also will participate in the convention program, which will be made notable by the presence of John L. Alexander, the Chicago "Teen Age Specialist," at whose suggestion the convention has been lengthened to four days to permit of having a boys' congress on the fourth day. Mr. Alexander will have charge of this congress, which will be for boys from 16 to 20 years of age. B. F. Kurlmer of North Yakima, president of the Inland Empire Sunday School association, will preside over the sessions.

Rural Carrier Ten Years

J. I. Mitcham of Kendrick has been a rural carrier out of that town for ten years and has a record that any one might well be proud of. Following is a short summary of the work Mr. Mitcham has done during his time of service, as published in the Kendrick Gazette, the date of the statement being April 1:

"I have to-day completed ten years of service as a rural mail carrier on a trip not been completed to turn back. After deducting all Sundays and legal holidays I find that I have carried the mail 3140 days, my route is 17 miles long and 17 times 3140 equals 53380 miles actual travel or more than twice around the world.

I have delivered to the patrons on route one, in ten years, 396,000 pieces of mail, this includes letters, cards, newspapers, circulars and packages. I have collected 96,000 pieces of mail on the route in ten years, this includes letters and cards and packages. I have on an average issued 30 money orders per month which makes 3600, in ten years."

Progressive Club Entertained

The Progressive club was delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon, April 2, at the ranch home of Mrs. Fred C. Perkins, near Genesee. The ladies were taken out in automobiles. There was a splendid attendance of the club members and every minute of the time was enjoyed by all present. At 5 o'clock a delectable five course dinner was served by the hostess.

The club will be entertained Thursday, April 17, at the home of Mrs. Walter Jain. This will be an all-day session and a ranch dinner will be served at noon.

The fine showers and especially the fine rain of Saturday night and Sunday morning were "worth a million" to the Palouse country," according to the statement of a rancher who has lived in this country for many years and who knows the value of rain at this time. The fall grain is in fine condition and every indication points to a bumper crop in the Genesee country and it would be a disaster if it were a pessimist to be found loose in these parts just now.

OFFICERS ELECTED—COMMITTEES APPOINTED AND WORK PLANNED FOR ENSUING YEAR

The Genesee Improvement society held their regular monthly meeting in the Library rooms Saturday afternoon.

A vote of thanks was extended to the City Council for the splendid new lighting system just installed. The better lighting of Genesee is greatly appreciated by the ladies. A vote of thanks was also extended to Mrs. J. M. Kemp for the nice library clock, and F. C. Shork for adjusting the same.

After the reports of the retiring officers and chairmen of the various committees were given, the election of new officers was held, and the following were elected: Mrs. P. C. McCrery, president; Mrs. E. H. Schuler, vice-president; Mrs. D. C. Burr, secretary; and Mrs. M. J. Nisbet, treasurer. The chairmen of the various committees are: Mrs. W. H. Herman, library; Mrs. J. J. Hirsberger, cleanliness; Mrs. Fred Follett, finance; Mrs. Leon Follett, music; Miss F. Nichols, church membership; Mrs. Walter Jain, cemetery.

Mrs. B. F. Phipps, who has charge of the canned fruit exhibit during horse show, asks each lady interested in this work to look over their fruit and choose the best of choice of fruits, jellies and vegetables for this purpose.

The cemetery committee of the Genesee Improvement society are working toward cleaning up the cemetery before Decoration day, and ask anyone interested in this work and willing to aid them in any way to meet with them in the Library rooms Tuesday afternoon, April 21, at 2:30 o'clock.

Farmers' Institute at Pottlatch

Probably one of the most important farmers' institutes that will be held in the northern part of the state this year is being held at Pottlatch today and will continue tomorrow.

It was expected that fully 1000 delegates from different parts of the county would be in attendance to discuss subjects of general interest to the farmer in the Inland Empire. An interesting program has been prepared and among those who will take part are Dean W. L. Carley, Attorney W. M. Morgan, J. F. Nichols, and the appearance of a delegate from "Hog Raising and Livestock on the Farm," P. P. Peterson on "Soil Fertility," E. V. Ellington on "Dairying in the Palouse," J. F. Nichols and P. P. Peterson on "Poultry Raising."

All of these subjects are of vital interest to the rancher and stock-raiser and there is no question but that those attending will be amply qualified to instruct the farmers in the things they want to do and should know regarding stock and how to raise it successfully.

Another Rumor Escapes From N. P. Railway—Cannot Be Confirmed

It is reported that the Northern Pacific Co. has appropriated the sum of $75,000 for the purpose of ballasting the Genesee branch, and it is rumored that this branch is to be extended into Lewiston and will be used as the main line to Spokane. The ballasting is certainly needed, and the main line idea is not a bad one if true. "Colton News-Letter." The above is too good to be true. This small amount of information has been handed out each and every spring for so long that it has become threadbare. General Agent W. J. Jordan became very "sour" when the writer suggested last spring that rock ballast would be a very material help to this part of the Northern Pacific system, and asked, "Do you have any idea what it would cost to ballast this 27 miles of track?" and intimated that it might be a good idea to post up on figures before making such an expensive suggestion; that the passenger service on several thousand dollars worth of ballast the company could not afford to ballast the Genesee branch.

Volmer Urged For Governor

Prominent progressives continue to urge J. P. Volmer for Governor in the coming election. Recently George W. Perkins, chairman of the progressive national committee, sent a telegram to Mr. Volmer expressing the hope that he would become a candidate. To this telegram Mr. Volmer sent a reply in effect that unless the condition of his health denied the step, he would become a candidate. Yesterday the following telegram came from Mr. Perkins to Mr. Volmer:

"Your message reached me here and is most gratifying and encouraging in every way. I am writing our Idaho friends, and we will one and all feel honored to have you actively associated in this movement that means so much to our whole country.

Paul Clagston, former speaker of the Idaho house of representatives and prominent as a candidate for the nomination of governor on the republican ticket in 1910, is among those urging Mr. Volmer's candidacy.—Lewiston Tribune.

At the Opera House

F. M. Malcolm has some splendid bookings that will be presented at the opera house this week. Friday night the great earthquake and tidal wave that destroyed Messina, will be featured. This is the greatest disaster the world has ever known, 300,000 were injured. The world's largest buildings that have stood for centuries were destroyed in the twinkling of an eye. A lecture will be given by the author of the book "The Boomerang," a big three-act war drama, "The Jealous Waiter," and "The Stolen Purse," comedies.

F. M. Malcolm, has secured one of the highest class entertainers ever brought to Genesee, in the person of Thomas Elmore Lucey. He is a member of the regular Lyceum Bureau, is a famous impersonator, song, humor, and actor and chalk talk artist. He has traveled in many lands and embodies the best he has seen and heard in his charming lectures. He impersonates such celebrities as Riley, Poe, Twain, Alva and many others, and is considered a past master in this art. He has been secured at a very heavy expense to Mr. Malcolm and it is seldom the people of Genesee have an opportunity to see such a noted actor and it was only through conflicting dates in Moscow, that he was able to secure him.

The Josephine Deffreys Co., which played at the opera house last week, was well received and enjoyed by those who attended. In addition to the vaudeville attraction Manager Malcolm gave 5000 feet of pictures, which gave the price of one. Another very pleasant feature of the evening's entertainment was the splendid music furnished by the Johann-Brommeling Trio, which was duly appreciated by the audience.

The Ladies' aid of the Congregational church will hold an Easter bazaar in the Pickering building Saturday afternoon, April 11. Home cooked foods and gifts suitable for Easter will be on sale. Division number 2 will serve ice cream and cake.

The Josephine Deffreys Co., which played at the opera house last week, was well received and enjoyed by those who attended. In addition to the vaudeville attraction Manager Malcolm gave 5000 feet of pictures, which gave the price of one. Another very pleasant feature of the evening's entertainment was the splendid music furnished by the Johann-Brommeling Trio, which was duly appreciated by the audience.

The Ladies' aid of the Congregational church will hold an Easter bazaar in the Pickering building Saturday afternoon, April 11. Home cooked foods and gifts suitable for Easter will be on sale. Division number 2 will serve ice cream and cake.

At the Opera House

F. M. Malcolm has some splendid bookings that will be presented at the opera house this week. Friday night the great earthquake and tidal wave that destroyed Messina, will be featured. This is the greatest disaster the world has ever known, 300,000 were injured. The world's largest buildings that have stood for centuries were destroyed in the twinkling of an eye. A lecture will be given by the author of the book "The Boomerang," a big three-act war drama, "The Jealous Waiter," and "The Stolen Purse," comedies.

F. M. Malcolm, has secured one of the highest class entertainers ever brought to Genesee, in the person of Thomas Elmore Lucey. He is a member of the regular Lyceum Bureau, is a famous impersonator, song, humor, and actor and chalk talk artist. He has traveled in many lands and embodies the best he has seen and heard in his charming lectures. He impersonates such celebrities as Riley, Poe, Twain, Alva and many others, and is considered a past master in this art. He has been secured at a very heavy expense to Mr. Malcolm and it is seldom the people of Genesee have an opportunity to see such a noted actor and it was only through conflicting dates in Moscow, that he was able to secure him.

ADDITIONAL ALFALFA AS A SOIL BUILDER

The great virtue of alfalfa is its ability to increase the nitrogen content of the soil. About 77 per cent of the air is nitrogen. It is estimated that there are 35,000 tons over every acre of land, worth, at the present rate of 18 cents a pound, over $100,000. If it could be used, it is taken out of the air into the soil by very minute plants called bacteria, which live in the little nodules found on the alfalfa roots. These nodules contain 25,000 bacteria to measure an inch.

They take the nitrogen from the air and use it in their life processes and then give it up to the alfalfa plant in another form. Alfalfa plants remove a large amount of nitrogen from the soil, but the bacteria collected is such that a portion is left for other plants that follow.

If the soil is too wet, the bacteria cannot work, and if too hard the air containing the nitrogen cannot get to them.

All plants which have the ability to add nitrogen to the soil, like alfalfa, are called legumes. Some legumes, closely related to alfalfa are sweet, red and white clover; some more distantly related are beans and peas.

Volmer Urged For Governor

Prominent progressives continue to urge J. P. Volmer for Governor in the coming election. Recently George W. Perkins, chairman of the progressive national committee, sent a telegram to Mr. Volmer expressing the hope that he would become a candidate. To this telegram Mr. Volmer sent a reply in effect that unless the condition of his health denied the step, he would become a candidate. Yesterday the following telegram came from Mr. Perkins to Mr. Volmer:

"Your message reached me here and is most gratifying and encouraging in every way. I am writing our Idaho friends, and we will one and all feel honored to have you actively associated in this movement that means so much to our whole country.

Paul Clagston, former speaker of the Idaho house of representatives and prominent as a candidate for the nomination of governor on the republican ticket in 1910, is among those urging Mr. Volmer's candidacy.—Lewiston Tribune.

Orilla's Burglar

She Was Equal to the Occasion

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Orilla Payne felt very lonely indeed as the carriage rolled away from the door and she realized that she was all alone in the big house save for the three servants in the basement. A sprained ankle had prevented her from accompanying her cousins to the opera that evening, and she would not listen to the girls when they offered to remain with her.

"Of course I shall miss the pleasure of going, but as for feeling lonely with all these wonderful books about me," Orilla smiled indulgently, for, poor little country mouse that she was, the Maynards' beautiful home and well-stocked library represented a wealth of enjoyment.

"Nothing to be afraid of," murmured Orilla, settling herself on the wide leather couch before the library fire and looking dreamily into the glowing mass of coals in the grate. "Of course I've heard of burglars in the city, but one would not dare enter with policemen at every corner and three servants in the house. Fool!"

Orilla's beautiful dark eyes grew dreamy and then drowsy and finally closed altogether, and her charming head, crowned with golden curls, was pressed against the yellow satin pillow while she slept.

Of course she did not know that the library door opened ever so little and that the sharp face of the housemaid, Jane, was thrust inside an instant before the door closed.

"Jane, Jane, Jane," she murmured to herself as she saw the door close. "Jane, Jane, Jane, she is a little amusee at the moving picture show."

So presently the big house was all alone save for Orilla sleeping on the couch in the library.

Somewhere in the house a clock was chiming ten when Orilla opened her eyes and looked up to the face of a man bending over her. She put her hand over her head and she came to a sudden scream, for the man wore a white handkerchief tied over his face, so that all she saw was two blue eyes sparkling beneath the visor of a cap and the square outline of a chin below the mask. He was a tall, slenderly built man, and his hands were thin and white.

For a few never to be forgotten moments the man and the girl stared at each other, and then Orilla's hand dropped and she asked with a little tremor in her sweet voice:

"I suppose you're a burglar?" The blue eyes darkened.

"I am, now," breathed the man sharply. "You mustn't interfere with me," he went on in a crisp, business-like tone. "I'm not here to steal—understand, steal! I'm not going to have any one stand in my way."

Orilla shuddered.

"I suppose you've just got to do it," she said pitifully. "I suppose you're starting."

"Yes, and what's more, some one I love better than life or honor or anything else is starting—a weak, helpless little motherless boy. That's why I'm stealing, for Don." He threw a sharp glance against his eyes as if to shut out the sight of a strange house into which he had entered. "I had to come," he added wistfully.

"Why did you come to Uncle Peter's house?" asked Orilla, thrilling strangely at this unexpected encounter with a burglar.

"Why? Because Mr. Maynard cheated my father out of what little money he had, and saw my father grow poor and disappointed old man because he had foolishly invested in Peter Maynard's glided wildcat mining ventures. I'm here to take something that should be mine. I don't call it stealing."

"It is, just the same," remarked Orilla calmly. "Two wrongs never did make one right, and if your mother was here she would say so, and that dear wife of yours, who is dead," she added as the man winced at her words.

His eyes stared at her dully now, and his hands gripped the edge of his coat.

"But little Don," he muttered brokenly. "I've been sick for weeks and lost my position in the office, and I can't get another one, and my little Don is starving. What would you do?" he demanded fiercely.

Orilla's face flushed beautifully and her eyes shone like twin stars as she made eager response to his inquiry.

"What would I do?" she repeated. "Why, I'd go to somebody, some woman who understood and loved little children, and I'd tell her all about poor little Don and ask her to help me. Then if she wouldn't and stay until I'm in the country, where Don could have plenty of fresh milk and eggs and play about in the lovely sunshine and tumble in the snow, why, she would ask Don to come there and stay until his father got another job. And the father could come down and see Don every week. If he won't, why, I don't know why, he could pay a few nice folks on Don's board after he got on his feet again."

The intruder drew a deep breath and smote his hands sharply together. "That would be very nice," he said dryly, "but such things only happen in books. A woman of the sort you describe would be one in ten thousand, and I don't know where to look for her. My little boy is hungry, starving! Do you understand me?" he ended fiercely. "Don't interfere with me, please, I'm going to take something. Almost anything will keep the wolf from the door, and it will be mine by rights."

"With a moment," said Orilla, sitting up among the cushions and growing very animated. "Oh, please pick up the rug and put it over my sprained ankle, I'm chilled off. Thank you. Now about the little boy. Have you ever stolen before?"

"Of course not," came indignantly from under the white handkerchief. Orilla smiled wisely. "I'm very glad of that, and I'm very sorry you are so skeptical, because there really is such a woman as you describe, only she's a girl yet. She's right here, I'm Orilla Payne, and I live in Roscoe, on the loveliest farm, and I am visiting my cousins, the Maynards. I'm going home tomorrow, and I'll take Don with me if you will trust me, and it can all come out as I have planned."

"I have the dearest mother in the world, and she will just love little Don, and there's Lydia, our old nurse, who doesn't have half enough to do, and who grumbles all the time because there are no children in the family to cuddle, and there's everything to make a little boy happy."

"Now, will you give me a trial and give little Don a chance to start life fair? You don't want him to be ashamed of his own father," pleaded Orilla.

The man lifted his head and tore the handkerchief from his face and the hat from his head. He stuffed them in his coat pocket and stood looking down at her from shining eyes.

"Ah, you are kind," he breathed brokenly. "If there were more like you I could bridge over this difficulty."

Orilla smiled understandingly.

"I know life is made up of crossing bridges," she said quietly, then she listened.

"Uncle Peter is coming," she said quietly. "I hear his litchkey. He will come late, but he will be here. You are staying a visit, although you are paying rather late. What is your name—quick?"

"Donald Findlay," he gasped, sinking into a big chair.

The door opened, and the kindly face of Peter Maynard appeared. "In here, Orilla," he asked pleasantly.

"Yes, Uncle Peter. Come in and meet my friend Mr. Findlay," said Orilla quickly.

"Peter," repeated Mr. Maynard as he came forward with outstretched hand. "The name is familiar, sir, and your face—your face is familiar too."

"Perhaps you know his father, Uncle Peter?" dared Orilla.

Peter Maynard's eyes narrowed as he scanned the young man's pale countenance.

"I knew a Dr. Findlay," he said reminiscently.

"My father was Dr. Findlay. He is dead," said Donald abruptly.

"Pardon the question, Mr. Findlay, but did your father suffer hardship?"

"He died of a heart ailment," said Orilla helplessly.

Donald's handsome face was proudly aglow. "If there was anything I could do, I should have done it."

"I think if you could give my friend some work to do," suggested Orilla practically, "it would be worth more than anything else. He really is very expert—in office work—and he's been ill a long time, and he has a little motherless boy to take care of. Somebody has to give him a start, you know."

"Just the thing!" cried Maynard, turning about with gleaming eyes. "How about it, Mr. Findlay? I need a private secretary, and I'm sure you'll do. Does it appeal to you?"

"Thank you, Mr. Maynard," he said gravely. "If you will permit me, I will call at your office tomorrow and I will present my credentials. After that, if you care to employ me, I shall be very grateful."

Peter Maynard sighed with relief. "Whatever feelings of conscience he may have had concerning his sharp dealings with Dr. Findlay now, thought he, could be appeased by this kindness to Findlay's son. The elastic conscience of the financier relaxed a little and he gloved with all the warmth of a good deed done, of a wrong righted.

After a little general conversation Maynard left the room for a few moments, and Donald Findlay arose to take leave of the girl who had changed the whole course of his life.

"What can I say to you?" he whispered brokenly. "What can I do for you in return for your great goodness to me this night?"

Orilla opened a dainty satin work bag and slipped it into his reluctant hand.

"That is for little Don," she said soberly. "Please don't let me see him. And you will let him come to the farm for a few weeks?" she pleaded.

He looked down at her with that rare smile in his eyes, and then he said: "As if I could refuse you anything after this evening's adventure," he said softly. "Good night, best and kindest of girls. May God guard you. That will be the prayer of Don and his father." He bent swiftly and kissed her hand. He left the room by the front door, openly and honestly as was his right. He blushed as he remembered that the girl there on the sofa was the one who had saved his soul.

"She's something to be proud of," he murmured as he trudged home to little Don and the beginning of a new life.

An Easter Morning

By DOROTHY CUMMINGS

It was Easter Sunday morning when the train stopped at a little country station, a single passenger wagon.

He went on and the man stood looking down upon a broad valley dotted with farms. The sun poured forth a genial warmth; the air was balmy; chirping birds were hopping about among the trees on which the buds were swelling, the more advanced bursting their leaves.

Twenty-five years have passed since the man, then a boy of fifteen, had looked upon that valley, in which he had been born and up to that time had lived. During those two and half decades it had not changed. Here and there was a house which had gone up since his departure, but he counted not more than half a dozen of them.

Down there to the left was his father's farm, the same as he had left it, except that it had lost its apple and pear trees. The apple trees in the orchard had grown, and forest trees near by had been saplings when he left. The woodhouse, where he had worked, was there, but they looked dingy.

The man seemed to hesitate at leaving the station, but he had been grasping and had quarreled with his father because that father would not give him what money he wanted to spend and had not a dozen of them. Down there to the left was his father's farm, the same as he had left it, except that it had lost its apple and pear trees. The apple trees in the orchard had grown, and forest trees near by had been saplings when he left. The woodhouse, where he had worked, was there, but they looked dingy."

The Mullah of India. A mulah, or, as it is more properly written, molah, is a title given in India and throughout the east generally to a religious leader of any description. Thus the sultan of Turkey is a molah, because he is the supreme head of the muslim world. (There are hundreds of others. To most of the more conspicuous among them is prefixed the adjective "mad." This, however, must not be taken to mean that they are insane, the word being used rather in its original significance of "inspired.") The person of the molah is sacred. Not even the mighty Habiullah himself would care to lay a sacrilegious finger on one of these suitably personages. If he were to venture such an unheard of thing venture would surely overtake him. For it is the cardinal principle of the Ullan—that the molahs are collectively termed—that an injury purposely caused to one of their number can only be atoned for by the death of the individual inflicting it.

Rapid River Mining and Milling Co., Ltd.

HOME OFFICE, GENESEE, IDAHO

J. B. DAVIES, Pres. L. A. MURPHY, V.-Pres. JOHN NISBET, Sec. JOHN MEYER, Treas.

ORGANIZATION

The Company is organized under the laws of the State of Idaho, with a capital stock of $1,500,000.00, represented by 1,500,000 shares of a par value of $1 each. The stock is fully paid, and ample provision has been made for the completion of the development of the property by a treasury fund of 1,000,000 shares of stock, the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to the work remaining to be done.

THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY

The property of the Company consists of seven (7) claims. Also a mill site and a water power situated on Rapid river, six miles from Pollock, in Idaho county, Idaho. It is estimated that from 10,000 to 28,000 horsepower can be developed from this water power at a very small expense. The amount of water is 50 second feet, which has a fall of 403 feet in less than 2,000 feet.

DEVELOPMENT

About $5,000.00 have been expended in the development of the property, besides the purchase of one claim for a consideration of $5,000.00. From the upper line of the ledge, which is about 1,500 feet above Rapid river, a shaft of 150 feet in depth has been sunk. Here the ledge shows a depth of more than 20 feet.

One assay, made by J. A. Peck of Boise, Idaho, on August 26th, 1908, gave the following values: Gold, $95.09; silver, $0.46; copper, $5.40; making a total of $100.95.

Other assays made by C. M. Fassett of Spokane, Wash., are as follows:

Assay No.	Copper	Silver	Gold	Total
Assay No. 1	$12.90	$7.50	$132.50	$152.90
Assay No. 2	21.60	2.25	49.40	73.25
Assay No. 3	21.90	2.45	86.40	110.75
Assay No. 4	9.90	2.45	84.75	97.10
Assay No. 5	16.20	1.85	15.09	33.14

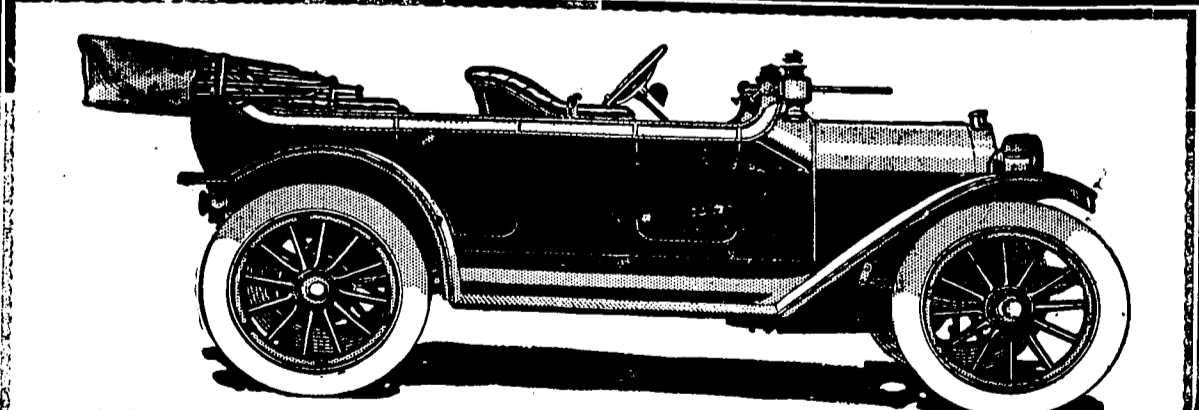

The last assay of the ore at the shaft, which has an average of a 20-foot ledge, was $7.85 in gold and small quantities of silver and copper.

This ledge has been opened about 150 feet above the river, on the west fork of Rapid river, by a tunnel which is now in 285 feet. The last 150 feet in the tunnel have shown a steady increase of the ledge, the width of which is unknown, as no cross-cut has as yet been made.

The latest assay of the ore at this place, made by the State University, at Moscow, showed $9.60 in gold and small amounts of silver and copper.

At the last meeting of the board of directors it was decided to immediately install an air compressor and power drills for use in the mine. It is the intention of the company to expend in the neighborhood of $4,000.00 during 1914 in the development of the water power and mine, which is the object of disposing of a limited amount of stock at this time, which will be sold at

PIONEER GATHERING

During Industrial Week—April 13-18

NOTICE TO OLD-TIMERS

During the week commencing Monday, April 13, in the City of Genesee will be held one of the most unique reunions in the history of the Palouse country. Now please do not misunderstand us. This is not to be a reunion of the old-timers themselves, but a great reunion or gathering together of articles bought by them at Herman's many years ago and still in active use.

The proposition is this: You undoubtedly have some article of hardware, furniture, or household goods bought at Herman's in pioneer days that is still in active use. If so, bring it to our stores during the above-mentioned week, stating the year you purchased same. We will display the articles in our big windows, and the two articles that are the oldest "pioneers" will receive prizes.

Your prize will be—We will replace the pioneer article with a brand-new article, as near like it as possible, up to a valuation of $10.00, and you may have the old articles after exhibition if you want them.

THE DARDANELLES.

Changes in the Name of the Famous Two Mile Strait. The Dardanelles, which is so familiar today, meant to our grandfathers not the Hellespont, but merely "two ancient and strong castles of Turkey, one of which is in Roumania and the other in Asia Minor."

THE ARAB'S HORSE.

How He is Treated and Why He Excels at Long Journeys. It is most interesting to note the way the Arab treats his faithful friend, the horse. So inured indeed is the Arab pony to long and arduous desert to the manner of life in the desert that even my own pony positively improved on the treatment, and I never saw him so fit as when he came back from the trip.

Perhaps one of the principal reasons why the Arab so excels at long journeys is that he never worries himself, nor does he ever distress his mount unless there is real cause to do so. He simply continues a steady walk all day and hardly ever gallops in the wild way in which our often see him depicted by artists.—London Field.

The Tall Chimney. It might puzzle the ordinary mortal to state in legal form just how much time and how much money he would require to take down a tall brick chimney. The contracting engineer would make it take itself down. After doing a small sum of arithmetic on his cuff he would direct certain portions of the base removed. In the spaces thus left he would fit a lot of very stout timbers, then remove the bricks which remained between them. They he would set fire to the timbers and, watching from a safe distance with a camera, would take a snapshot of it as it fell.—Scraper.

Grouchily. "There is a movement on foot," said Mr. Snoope, "to prevent the marriage of weak-minded persons. What do you think of it?"

An Easy Stunt. "I see a premiere danseuse is advertised to dance with five snakes twisted about her."

The Want of It. "The love of money," quoted the moralizer, "is the root of all evil."

Safe. Hicks—You were dreadfully indiscreet to mention that important detail of ours to your wife. Wicket—Oh, it's quite right! I didn't tell her it was a secret.—Boston Transcript.

Possibly the chap who grows out of the bush on any dinner would have found it more pleasing to his taste if he had done the washing.—Success.

Ton of Booze Destroyed

Approximately one ton of liquor from beer to champagne was publicly destroyed by Sheriff McCabe and his deputies under an order of the district court in the presence of a large audience at the city dump grounds. The liquor was confiscated by the sheriff in his raid on the Ponzeiti saloon at Enaville last October and filled a large drey.

Automobilists and others are complaining of the condition of the roads in different directions from town, and especially that near the Christensen ranch, southeast of town, where it is reported a very bad ditch has existed for the past year or two. It is reported to be dangerous not only for automobilists but for teams as well, especially after dark.

Farmers as well as town people use the roads and complaints are coming from both alike, and it is said a small culvert will remedy the present bad condition of the ditch referred to.

The primary department of the Congregational church gave an entertainment at the church, Wednesday evening. The program consisted of songs, recitations, and drills by the little folks, and each number was well given, the tiny tots being especially entertaining.

A number of the ladies of the Catholic church met recently at the home of Mrs. Jno. Kambitsch for the purpose of discussing plans for giving a bazaar in the near future. A light lunch was served during the afternoon. Another meeting will be held on Wednesday of next week at the home of Mrs. W. M. Smoot. All Catholic ladies and young ladies are invited to be present and bring their sewing.

Mrs. Leon Follett was hostess to the members of the Ladies' aid of the Congregational church, Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance of members and a number of visitors. The time was devoted to sewing for the Easter bazaar. A delightful lunch was served by the hostess at 4 o'clock. The next regular meeting will be held with Mrs. George Follett.

The merchant who sings the 'sweet buy and buy' in proper form will be picking profits when his neighbor who overdoes the stunt is advertising his 'closing out' sale.

ESSENTIALS OF EGG PRODUCTION. A good breed of fowls properly bred is the first essential of successful egg production. For egg production alone the White or the Brown Leghorns are unsurpassed. For the general farmer and others desiring both meat and eggs, White or Barred Rocks, White Wyandottes and Rhode Island Reds head the list.

Improvements are being made at Recreation Park in preparation for the big horse show to be held in Genesee June 11, 12 and 13. New seats are being erected which will furnish room for about 1100 people, which will add materially to the comfort of those attending the amusements to be pulled off at the park—and there will be a great many of them, such as ball games, bucking and roping contests, in fact, all sorts of wild west stunts will be on the program and the three big days will be chock full of amusements of all sorts, in addition to the big horse show, the main portion of which will be on Thursday—the first day.

There will be a big automobile parade—and when they say a "big parade" they mean just what they say, for there are enough autos in this part of the country to make a fine showing, in addition to those that will come in from other towns and there have already been promises made of a number of automobiles "trains" from other places, and there is every reason to believe that Genesee will have one of the largest crowds that has ever been assembled in the history of the city.

There will also be a cowboy and Indian parade which will be unique as it is expected that there will be cowboys and Indians from all directions in attendance. It is probable the Nezperce Indians will again be on hand to give their war dance and entertainment, which proved very interesting last year.

Exhibitors have already spoken for room for their horses and men. J. V. Mayer of Untown being one of those who have already spoken for quarters. Mr. Mayer has a fine string of thoroughbreds which will bring here and there are many others who will also have a large string for exhibition purposes.

Everyone has the horse show spirit and are looking forward to one of the biggest and best shows held in Genesee in its history. The board of directors are arranging every detail in preparation for the coming event.

Applies to Genesee Too. It's the early fly that should get the swat. Every fly swatted now means millions less to swat next summer. A pair of flies starting housekeeping now can have 125,000 descendants by September, barring accidents. Now is the time to do away with the fly breeding filth. Nothing more forcefully affects a city's reputation than its outward appearances. Dirt and litter detract from the city and its cleanliness enhance. All eyes are turned toward Poacello. Thousands will visit this city during the next few months with a view of locating here. Let every good citizen set an example for his neighbor and spend a few hours each day removing every breeding place for flies on his own property. It will do more toward increasing the value of property than any other improvement of like cost.—Poacello Chronicle.

At the Opera House. The special show and program given at the opera house on Wednesday night for the benefit of the Tennis club was of a high order and attracted a larger audience than was accorded it. The singing between acts was of a high order and was very much enjoyed.

There will be a game of baseball on Sunday afternoon at Recreation park between Genesee and Pullman. This will be the first real game of ball this season and the boys asked for a return to the better of the worm-raising out west from an Indian, and has since been raising the wrigglers for sale to fishermen. He sells them in oiled paper packages, each containing one dozen worms.—Farm and Fireside.

Thirty-three United States senators are to be elected this year under the change from the legislative to the direct vote method when the latter will have its first practical test. We believe the result will prove the superior advantages of the method. The senate was patterned after the English house of lords and had about it an air of rascality which was not exactly in tune with our form of representative government.

Prizes for Improved Lots. The Genesee Improvement society will give a first prize of $5 and a second of $2.50 for the best cared for vacant lots. These lots may be put in grass, or silage, or flowers. The only conditions are that the lot must be in the city limits and that notification must be given the society by leaving word at the Exchange Bank, stating the location of the lot and the kind of cultivation. A committee will then visit these lots during the summer and on October 1, the awards will be made. The society is doing this in order that the better care may be given the vacant lots, and it is sincerely hoped that every one owning or caring for such a lot will enter the contest and have the lot registered at once.

Cows will give a full flow of milk, which is impossible for any cow to do on dry feed. Silage, made from nearly all kinds of farm forage. I have tried in my silo, alfalfa, field peas and oats mixed, with the best results.

"Fully one-fourth of the food elements of the corn crop is wasted by feeding out of the shock, by the use of the silo there is no waste whatever."

In addition to his fine bunch of dairy cattle he has 12 or 15 head of other breeds than Holstein, which he will dispose of later, turning his attention entirely to thoroughbreds. He also has some 75 or 100 head of pigs and sows which he will feed on skimmed milk, thus making use of all of his ranch to the best advantage.

A mixture of coffee grounds and cornmeal is said to be the balanced ration for earthworms, sometimes known as anglers. At least, J. C. Moon, formerly of Wyoming and now of Michigan, is using that ration on his worm farm. He learned worm-raising out west from an Indian, and has since been raising the wrigglers for sale to fishermen. He sells them in oiled paper packages, each containing one dozen worms.—Farm and Fireside.

A well-developed bump of determination and stick-to-it-iveness is a better asset than a whole mountain of the clay from which get-rich-quick Charleys are moulded.

J. S. Larrabee returned Sunday afternoon from a short business visit to Spokane.

FEEDS SHEEP ON WEEDS

A PALOUSE FARMER CARED FOR SEVERAL HUNDRED HEAD ON AUSTRALIAN SALT BUSH.

OTHER FARMERS CAN DO THE SAME

Experiments Show That the Dried Weed Is Really of Value—Makes Good Wood, But Not of Much Account for Fat.

The remarkable success recently achieved by Mr. Y. C. Mansfield, of Endicott, Wash., in fattening several hundred head of sheep on the Australian salt bush has created an interest in the weed among farmers on the rapidly spreading throughout the Northwest states.

One result of Mr. Mansfield's experiments was that the weed grows so rapidly across the weed grows have come to look upon what was formerly considered absolutely worthless land as a real bonanza, and they are now preparing to turn their attention from the raising of hogs and wheat to sheep, with the assurance that under ordinary conditions they can hardly fall short of Mr. Mansfield's success.

They are opened before them what is practically a virgin field of sheep raising, offering wonderful possibilities. As soon as the value of the salt bush as a forage crop becomes generally known, it will probably be widely distributed in other sections of the country.

As a matter of fact, it is now found along the highway from the coast to the interior, and a few people know its true name and few know that it is a valuable plant. In California, with perfect power, the weed varied little throughout the course save for the sprouting start, the northerners, near the end of the first of the three miles, the weed was cut and increased the gap between them and Stanford, their closest contender, until they crossed the finish five lengths ahead of the cardinal city. California finished about the same distance behind Stanford. Half an hour before had seen the Stanford freshmen crew win over Washington by almost two lengths, with California finishing two lengths in the wake of the northerners.

Delegates of the Christian Science church from all parts of the state, including 50 persons from New York city, asked his approval of the measure.

The principal objections voiced were that there were no provisions in the measure for any educational, technical or professional requirements for practitioners, but also a vast horde of hypocrites, who would use the bill as a pretext to inflame their alleged heresies and wars upon hysterical women and weak-minded men."

GUNMEN CONFESSED

NOTORIOUS FOUR MEN OF NEW YORK PAY THE PENALTY FOR MURDER.

ROZENHATZ, GAMBLE, KILLED YEARAGO

Harry Vallon Accused—"Dago Frank" Avers He Was Away, and "Whitey Lewis" There but Didn't Shoot—"Lettie Louie" Dies Last.

Albany, N. Y.—Shortly before "Dago Frank" Crofetti went to the death chair in Sing Sing prison Monday he told the warden, Clarence that "Gyp" the blind "Horowitz," "Lettie Louie" Rosenthal, for which crime the four gunmen paid their lives.

"So far as I know Becker had nothing to do with the case," the gunman also asserted. "It was a gambler's light."

Crofetti avowed he was five miles away at the time the crime was committed, and that "Whitey Lewis" said he was not present at the scene of the shooting, did not fire any of the shots.

Was in Original Plot.
Crofetti made no attempt, however, to deny that he was included in the original plot to slay Rosenthal, even admitting that he and other gangsters had sought Rosenthal two nights before he was shot. He was frightened away from Rosenthal on that occasion by men they thought were detectives. The confession was given after the killing he was in the gray "insider car" with the gunmen, but he was not present at the time before they shot the gambler.

Terrible Lesson.
From the shadow of death "Lettie Louie" said:
"Add what I said about bad company. A fellow who extra six dollars a week honestly is better off than he who gets one thousand a week if he does not get it straight. We were supposed to have as many as five fellows from the East Side. But when it came to a showdown it was only three that showed up. One was killed by outside of our parents. Sick to the 'shoot' and your parents. If I had life to live again I should surely follow this advice."

The car you have been looking for. The best car on the market for the money—with all the good points that you will find on a high-priced car. Timken bearings, full floating rear axle, electric lighted throughout, quick detachable tires—a car with more horsepower per 100 pounds than any car on the market. Will run more miles per gallon of gasoline than any car built—which we will prove to you—and we will show you the reason for this in a way that is sure to convince you. It has steering gear that is perfect—one that will hold the car exactly in the same direction no matter how rough the ground. Let us convince you of these facts.

The Detroit is not an assembled car, but A MANUFACTURED CAR—all parts being manufactured by one of the best factories in existence, and all extras can be bought in Spokane at any time. The Detroit factory was formerly a part of the Chalmers factory and is today a complete factory in itself, where each part of the Detroit is made. We are here to serve you, and serve you well. We can furnish you the best tires on the market at as low, or lower, price than you can get anywhere. Do not fail to see us for Automobiles, Tires and Sundries.

Bring May Flowers

No more certainly than bank deposits bring the flowers of business happiness.

Have you ever stopped to think that the habit of setting aside a part of your income and entrusting it to a bank, there to thrive and increase, is watering the soil of the future years so that they will be productive of the good things of life, instead of a barren waste.

April is a month of promise, but always remember that the chill of December is coming.

A bank account will temper the chill and rob the future of its somber aspect.

Desire Cemetery Improvement
To the Citizens of Genesee:
On investigation, the cemetery committee of the Genesee Improvement society finds the cemetery very badly in need of attention. Many of the members have joined the society with the intention of devoting some time to this much needed improvement and many outsiders have expressed a willingness to aid in all its branches. On talking the matter over, we have decided to undertake some improvements, by way of cleaning up the cemetery, poisoning the squirrels, filling in the graves, straightening of the monuments and rearing old graves. We would like to undertake this work and have it completed before Decoration day.

In order to make some definite plans for this work, we urge all those interested to meet us in the Library rooms, Tuesday April 12 at 2:30 o'clock. Come and bring your suggestions and encourage us by your presence.

115 Lives Lost. On last Sunday, just about the noon hour, one of the most destructive fires—in point of number of lives lost—that has ever visited Genesee occurred at the home of John Meyer, while the family was at church. Mr. Meyer and family had left their home to attend church at the Lutheran house of worship, leaving everything seemingly good shape and little dreamed that upon their return home they would find such an awful destruction of life had occurred at their place. Then 115 little lives were sacrificed to the flames. They had left a brooder full of little chicks in a house arranged for that purpose, which caught fire from the lamp used for heating the brooder, burning up the 115 little biddies confined therein. Mr. Meyer says he is going out of the chicken business and that in future old Mother Hen will not look after the chickens raised on his place.

Deep Plowing. Speaking only in general terms, it is safe to advise deep plowing as a rule. Deep plowing will enter a considerable rainfall without any run, and if thoroughly compacted at time of plowing and the surface broken up whenever feasible, should a downpour of rain come, the soil particles together and form a crust, it will, to a great extent, prevent evaporation. Deep plowing also affords a corresponding larger feeding space for the roots of growing plants. The frequent cultivation recommended for the purpose of conserving moisture tends to destroy weeds which do more toward producing droughty conditions than is generally realized.

WAS GREAT SUCCESS. MANY CONTESTANTS. Industrial Week Observed in Genesee—Several Prizes Awarded—Much Interest Shown.

Industrial week, as advocated by the Idaho Industrial league, was generally observed throughout Idaho. This is the third year it has been observed and this year found Genesee one of the towns added to the list of home boosters. The work was carried on under the direction of Mrs. C. F. Tuomy, and consisted of displays of ranch and Idaho manufactured foods and several contests. The cut glass berry set, offered by J. N. Hasfurther of the Driscoll Hardware, to the purchaser of the largest bill of inland empire seeds was awarded to J. N. Kries. The Industrial week was also the time when the Industrial League of Genesee was organized. The first meeting of the league was held on Monday night, April 13, at the Arlington Hotel. The meeting was held in the dining room, where they did justice to the ample meal prepared for them. After supper had been finished the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as well as the report of the financial condition of the club, which showed a small balance on the right side of the ledger. Next on program was the election of officers for the coming year. The old officers (who were reelected without a dissenting vote) scarcely had time to realize just what had been done. But owing to the fact that all had performed their duties to the entire satisfaction of the club and eminently fitted to their respective offices, the club did well in taking the action they did. After the election of officers the horse show was taken up, Manager Lambert stating that everything had looked very favorable to one of the biggest and best shows yet held. It was decided to issue a premium list and program combined, in booklet form, instead of undertaking to put all information on posters as had been done heretofore. A large colored poster was also prepared for the near future as a reminder of the dates of the biggest and best horse show to be held in this part of the country—June 11, 12 and 13. A number of attractions have already made applications for concessions and every indication is that there will be plenty of amusements of all sorts to fill the three big days from the opening to the close of the show. There being no further business to come before the meeting adjournment was taken subject to call.

Black Elected President. George H. Black, of Lewiston, Idaho, president of the state normal was elected president of the Inland Empire Teachers' association held in Spokane last week. The next association will be held in Spokane in 1915. The association closed Friday night. Many resolutions were adopted, one favoring state-wide prohibition. The association also adopted what is known as the "six and six" plan of education whereby six years are devoted to the elementary schools and six to the high schools. The high school period being divided into two sections of three years each. The first section to be designated as the junior high school and the second as the senior high school. J. G. Eldridge of Moscow was elected a member of the executive committee.

Buried His Money. Martin Olson, a native of Sweden, who resided near Deary, declared on his death bed that he had hid his money under stumps on his ranch, which would never be found. His statement has partly been corroborated, $142 having been found in his cellar where he had hid it for safe keeping. This short story in itself is a splendid bank ad. It would have been better could his savings and savings, which were made, secured honorable mention. These are owned by Frank Lambert. A flexible flyer owned by W. J. Herman, one of the first shipped into the state is still in excellent condition and is now being coasting races. A chair owned by W. M. Herman which was found in an abandoned cabin in the mountains and is supposed to be about 30 years old. This is carved from a Idaho tree trunk and is certainly an interesting relic. A number of other interesting things are to be seen in this window. Their large center show window was filled with Idaho field pea seeds and Idaho corn both valuable but rather recent additions to Idaho farm products. The combined price of $10 offered by the Exchange bank and the first Bank of Genesee for the six bushels between 240 and 300 pounds, was awarded to George Blume. The hogs were brought to Genesee for shipment and were judged Friday morning.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING. Annual Meeting Held Monday Night—All Old Officers Re-elected—Horse Show to be Pushed.

The regular annual meeting of the Genesee Commercial club was held at the Grand Central hotel Monday night. About 40 members and others gathered at the hotel at the appointed time, 7 o'clock, to attend the meeting and partake of the splendid supper prepared by the hotel management. After all had assembled supper was also the report of the financial condition of the club, which showed a small balance on the right side of the ledger. Next on program was the election of officers for the coming year. The old officers (who were reelected without a dissenting vote) scarcely had time to realize just what had been done. But owing to the fact that all had performed their duties to the entire satisfaction of the club and eminently fitted to their respective offices, the club did well in taking the action they did. Confer on Live Stock Show. Guy F. Wetzel, secretary of the Northwest Live Stock association, and Bert Ganfield of Montana, who, last year, was in charge of the big street parade and the society horse show, were in Lewiston recently and conferred with D. C. Wallace and C. R. Beach of the executive board, committee will be named by President Sheppard of the Lewiston Commercial club to make arrangements for additional buildings at the show grounds, and decide on a definite plan for another society horse show this fall.

Applies For Franchise. The Home Telephone company of Genesee has made formal application to the county commissioners for a franchise, granting the use of the roadway of the county for the erection and maintenance of a telephone line. There is no doubt but that the request will be granted. It has been made to the public utilities commission for permission to erect and maintain a complete telephone system in Genesee and surrounding territory.

The citizens of Cottonwood have given very liberally toward a fund for the purpose of improving the roads leading to that thriving little city. Some $400 was subscribed recently to the fund and work will begin in a short time with the object of making over the roads leading into Cottonwood. There is also talk of paving the streets later in the season. It is a very laudable enterprise and one that might well be followed by other communities.

It would seem that residents of Moscow are having all the troubles of some of the larger cities in producing pure milk and cream. It is alarmingly strange how quick some of the vendors in the smaller places catch on to the milk can stand under the hydrant too long. City officials and State Food Commissioner Wallis have been notified and steps are being taken to put a stop to the practice. The woman's auxiliary of the Moscow chamber of commerce, had decided on April 25th as Dandelion Day, and on that day will buy all the dandelions they can secure at 10 cents per sack. Should such a move be inaugurated in Genesee, the small boys would be able to reap quite a harvest. Rev. J. H. Dills returned to Spokane Monday morning, after holding quarterly conference at the Methodist church on Saturday and Sunday.

NOXIOUS WEEDS. Moscow Local of Farmers' Union Starts Fight—Genesee Should Follow.

The Moscow local of the Farmers' union has taken up the noxious weed question not only in their meetings, but have taken the matter before the county board and asked that all real estate owners and section men be notified to destroy all weeds, especially the Jim Hill mustard and the Russian thistle. This is a step in the right direction and each and every farmer should cooperate with the road overseers and section bosses in the extermination of the pests. It was stated that these weeds had not secured a foothold in Latah county. There are a great many places near Genesee where both these pests have secured hold of the land and last year almost destroyed several pieces of wheat, while down on the reservation the bushes along the road assume the proportions of young trees, and their growth is unhindered. It is certainly time that something should be done to at least retard the spread.

At the Opera House. Don't forget that on to-night (Friday) Thos. Elmore Lucey, the entertainer, will be at the opera house and will furnish an evening's amusement that you will not regret the opportunity of hearing again for a long time. Mr. Lucey is with the Dennis Lyceum Bureau of Wash, Indiana, and is conceded to be one of the best entertainers on the road today. The usual good program of "movies" will be given Saturday night when Manager Malcolm expects to have some of the very best comedies to be shown together with other entertaining subjects.

To Form Joint District. A meeting of the trustees of the Juliacta school district and the four surrounding districts was held at the club rooms last Friday. The object of the meeting was to endeavor to start the movement to form a joint high school in these districts, with Juliacta as the center, the money for high school purposes being placed to the credit of this joint district. This would provide a way to maintain a full four year high school eligible from the four outside districts would be admitted. The following committee was appointed to look into the feasibility of the proposition: Columbus Clark, Wm. Scheltz, Al Heimgartner, D. W. Whybark, W. I. Williams. President Black, of the State Normal, made a lengthy address in favor of the joint district.—Juliacta Sun.

To Buy Registered Cattle. John and Will Platt of the Salmon river country, who have been in Genesee for the past several days looking after business matters, left Tuesday evening for their home where they expect to buy several carloads of stock and dairy cattle, which they will ship to Genesee. The cattle will be quartered on the Platt ranch, near town, where they will dispose of at least a part of the dairy stock, taking the stock cattle to their large ranch on the Salmon river. The Platt brothers are experienced stockmen, having made a business of raising and feeding stock for a number of years and it is safe to say that when they bring in a bunch of cattle they will be of the very best breed. It is their intention to buy stock cattle of the Hereford breed which are well known as among the best beef cattle. The bringing in of registered stock to this part of the country will be welcomed by all ranchers, a great many of whom will turn their attention to dairying and stock raising, not only cattle, but hogs as well, which will make this richer and better country in a few short years.

WARSHIP'S GUNS THUNDER VERA CRUZ TAKEN. Mexico Calls For Troops To Repel American "Invasion"—Declaration of War May Follow.

Three thousand men, marines and sailors of the United States navy, including reinforcements from the squadron which arrived with Rear Admiral Badger, today took possession of the entire city of Vera Cruz. The advance of the American forces was covered by firing from the warships upon buildings in the southern part of Vera Cruz, where sharpshooters of the Mexican army still lurked. The seizure of the city is believed to have been made without loss of life on the American side. The White House gave out the following statement: "Dispatches received from Consul Canada at Vera Cruz at 1:10 p. m. announced that the American forces are now in complete possession of the city; that apparently no fatalities among Americans and foreign non-combatants had occurred and that firing had ceased, except for occasional picket shots." While the orders of the president were being carried out to the letter, it was made apparent in conference at the White House that the United States will "sit tight" at Vera Cruz and that no further steps of pacification will be taken at this time. For the present it was declared on high authority that the forces at Vera Cruz hold the city to convince Huerta that this government means business and that no action would be taken at Tampico unless there are retaliatory actions on the part of the Huerta government. No orders, it was stated, have been sent to the American officers with reference to landing at Tampico, the only orders being sent there referring to directions for ships sent to Vera Cruz. Admiral Badger will remain at Vera Cruz until further notice. No advancement further than Vera Cruz on the part of the United States forces, it was made plain, would be undertaken unless some overt act on the part of Huerta and his followers should precipitate further trouble and make more aggressive action necessary.

REFUSES TO SALUTE

HUERTA TELLS UNITED STATES THAT THEY WERE NOT INSULTED.

THEREFORE WE MAY SEE REAL WAR

Congress Quick to Back Up President Wilson in His Demands on Mexico—Recognition of Huerta and Party Will Never Come.

Washington, April 19.—General Victoria Huerta, provisional president of Mexico, flatly refused tonight to accede to the unconditional demands of the United States that he salute the American flag.

Congress will be asked by President Wilson for authority to use armed force to uphold the honor and dignity of the nation.

Negotiations with Huerta over the demand for a salute in preparation for the arrest of American bluejackets at Tampico on April 10 came to a close Sunday night at 6 o'clock, the last hour given by President Wilson for a favorable response from the Mexican dictator.

The final word of Huerta to Charge O'Shaughnessy was a refusal to comply with the United States demand for a salute in writing that his salute be returned.

To Call on Congress.

President Wilson Monday sent a message to congress in joint session. American war fleets are moving westward from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific coast to carry out the president's plans for reprisal.

The crisis just reached does not mean that there will be a formal declaration of war, because the United States could not declare war against a government which it does not recognize. President Wilson will seek authority, however, to send his army forces into Mexico to seize first the ports of Tampico and Vera Cruz and the railroad trestle leading from Vera Cruz toward Mexico City.

Foreigners Care for Selvas.

The heads of the Selvas have come with Mexico will make it impossible, it is declared on high authority, for the United States to further protect foreigners in that republic, and foreign governments have been notified of the situation in this regard.

Militia in Reserve.

The president probably will ask further that the senate pass the volunteer act, which already has passed the house, providing for pressing into regular service the militia regiments in the various states.

Mexico's Version of Insult.

Mexico City.—The Mexican foreign minister, on Monday, 17th, announced tonight it would be impossible to agree to the demand of the United States that the flag be unconditionally saluted because that flag was not saluted as it was being flying from the launch, and because the marines were not even before an investigation, and the officer responsible for the arrests was himself arrested and held for trial.

OUR PEOPLE IN PERIL

PRESIDENT WILSON IS NOT DEALING WITH HUERTA AS A RULER.

WE HAVE NO IMMEDIATE PROTECTION

All Immediately Ordered to Leave Mexico—American Sailors Not Required to See Them Safely Away Under Present Conditions.

Washington, April 20.—President Wilson's policy of dealing with Huerta as an individual and not as a ruler in the present crisis has put a charge of Shuangnessy and the American consular officials, as well as all American citizens now in Mexico, in grave peril.

The president apparently desires to make Huerta the aggressor in a case where there should be actual hostilities. In carrying out this program he has placed within the dictator's hands means to humiliate this country by having the United States flag in the hands of Huerta to exercise his power over the lives and liberty of the American officials now in Mexico, instead of the United States flag.

Monday's Developments.

Tampico will reach Tampico Tuesday. Plans for the arrest of Huerta are being made. This now is to seize customs house at Vera Cruz and Tampico.

House passes resolution empowering president to use armed force to eliminate Huerta as a personal issue. Senate holds speculative mid-night session.

Moctezuma Huerta issues a statement declaring that all foreigners, including Americans, will be protected. He declares emphatically that there was no violation of the United States flag, which the bluejackets were taken at Tampico.

HOTEL EXPLOSION KILLS NINE

Gas Plant at Macoun, Saskatchewan, Deals Death to Innmates. Macoun, Saskatchewan.—Nine persons were killed and nine others seriously injured in the explosion of the gas plant of the Macoun hotel Monday.

The floors of the dining room collapsed, carrying the victims to the basement and burying their under tors of burning debris.

The dead: Mrs. Hochbus and daughter, Mrs. Dunger, George Grant and Harold Clark of Estevan; Tom Drake of Moose Jaw; Cliff Bender, Fred Schmidt and Mrs. Peterson of Macoun, Trinidad, Col.—After an all-day battle between armed strikers and small detachments of state troops, the Lullwater strike Monday night, practically isolated with the exact toll of the day's battle still in doubt.

Huerta Sympathetic Man.

Mexico City.—General Huerta offers all guarantees to foreigners, Americans included, who will remain in Mexico, and have the United States government and Mexico are moral and civilized.

This statement President Huerta dictated.

3000 Cattle Trapped in Fire.

Peoria, Ill.—Fire Monday night broke over three blocks, destroying the cattle feeding barns and a block of baled hay belonging to the Nelson Morris Packing company. Six thousand cattle were housed in the shed, and it is estimated that 3000 burned, the loss is estimated at $400,000.

Highest Hotel.

The highest hotel in the United States will be erected in California at an elevation of 12,000 feet above sea level.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Esther Orth
Those receiving honors in home credits are: First grade, Adeline Murphy, 620 minutes; Second grade, Mary Sampson, 395 minutes; Third grade, William McCreary, 335 minutes; Fourth grade, Elizabeth Sampson, 1225 minutes; Fifth grade, Ruth Wolf, 365 minutes; Sixth grade, John, 2030 minutes.

One teacher was heard to remark that she thought the school children should be extended a vote of thanks, by the town, for raking the park and improving the appearance of our little city.

War has been declared in the grades between the Americans and Mexicans. Many skirmishes and hard fought battles have been won by each side without many deaths or serious wounds.

Howard Smith and Louisa Herman received a perfect grade in spelling last month.

Elvora Breivik entered the 8th grade last week Monday.

County Convention

The county Sunday school convention held in Troy, April 21-22, was very successful. The following officers were elected: J. G. Eldridge, Moscow, president; F. C. McGowan, Deary, vice-president; I. C. Peterson, Genesee, secretary-treasurer; Miss Challis Thomas, Princeton, elementary department, Mrs. A. J. Darr, Moscow, secondary department; Rev. J. N. Departhe, Juliaetta, adult department; Mrs. D. McClain, Potlatch, home visitation.

The Christian Sunday school of Genesee, was the only Sunday school of Genesee represented. Mrs. E. J. Fleiman, I. C. Peterson, Miss Grace Trail and Miss Amsel Jain, were the delegates. It was one of three Sunday schools of the county to gain the 20 efficiency points, and will rank as a front line Sunday school for 1914.

The next county convention will no doubt be held in Genesee next April.

The ladies of the Catholic society held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Hammond, Wednesday afternoon. The ladies spent the time in social converse and sewing preparatory for the mid-summer bazaar. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. A. Murphy.

Bring May Flowers

No more certainly than bank deposits bring the flowers of business happiness.

Have you ever stopped to think that the habit of setting aside a part of your income and entrusting it to a bank, there to thrive and increase, is watering the soil of the future years so that they will be productive of the good things of life, instead of a barren waste.

April is a month of promise, but always remember that the chill of December is coming.

A bank account will temper the chill and rob the future of its somber aspect.

Be Sanitary

There is no excuse for being unclean, either physically or mentally. If your neighbor is not up on the health schedule and possesses unclean premises it may be unpleasant to call his attention to the fact that he should be disinfected, but he will appreciate it later in the game. He likes to clean up but he gets a touch of it. And therein is a problem. A good many people seemingly don't know how to keep their places clean. They don't understand what the destruction of filth, decayed matter, old bones and dead items amounts to. An hour's work with some chloride of lime, kerosene or formaldehyde, mixed with a medium of deadly intent against the fly, will bring great interest in the way of satisfaction later in the season.—Poacello Tribune.

Congregational Ladies' Aid

The ladies aid of the Congregational church were entertained at a Silver tea, Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. George Follett. The ladies busied themselves with social needlework. The next regular meeting will be an all day session, and the ladies will do quilting. A pick-up lunch will be served. This meeting will be held in the church basement. There are many who will agree with the commissioners of Kootenai county.

Monday afternoon, the school children from rooms 1, 2, 3 and 4 were taken to the park, and under the direction of the teachers, raked and cleaned up the city park. This is quite an improvement. The trees in the park were recently trimmed and altogether the park presents a much neater appearance than last year.

The Ladies' Aid society of the German Lutheran church has purchased what is known as the X. Henry property adjoining the church at a consideration of $925. The house will later be torn down and the grounds added to that of the church, which will make one of the nicest church yards in the city.

The tennis grounds have been put in fine condition and the nets are being placed in position. The first game was played Tuesday afternoon and practice games will be frequent from now until time for the horse show in June, when it is hoped the club will be able to put on a good tennis tournament.

Tuesday afternoon, those interested in making some improvements in the cemetery, met in the library rooms, and decided to increase the number of members of the cemetery committee and arrange for some cleanup work to be done before Decoration day.

The Kane school house will be dismantled and removed to a new site some two miles southwest of the present location, where it will be more centrally located. It will also be built according to the specifications requiring that all school houses must be made square.

Word has been received from A. D. Charlton, assistant general passenger agent for the Northern Pacific at Portland, that a rate of a fare and a third would be granted for the horse show. This will guarantee cheap travel for all who desire to attend the big show.

Davidson Hickman entertained his Sunday school class Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 11. There were 12 present and all had a pleasant time. Refreshments were served and all hoped to be invited again in the near future.

Mrs. H. Moerschek was taken to Tuesday afternoon for medical treatment. Mrs. Moerschek has been sick for several months and her friends hope the change will be beneficial.

Catherine McMann is on the sick list.

Sells Fancy Cattle

M. L. Hastings, of this place, on Tuesday of this week, shipped to a cattle company at Night Hawk, Wash., five of his young pure bred Hereford bulls, the price of the bunch being $1100. Mr. Hastings is gaining quite a reputation throughout the Northwest as a breeder of pure bred Herefords, and incidentally, Kamiah valley is an ideal place for cattlemen. Kamiah Progress.

Latah County Gets Dances

Hans Hanson, a pioneer, returned from a six months' visit to his home in Denmark and brought with him 16 of his friends and relatives, who expect to make their future homes in Latah county. Mr. Hanson also brought back a bride and will reside on his farm in the Blaine district.

The new cement cross-walk from Smolt's to the post office will be laid this week.

Growth of Sunday School work

F. C. Knapp, secretary of the Inland Empire Sunday School association, which will hold its annual convention in Spokane May 12 to 15, Sunday school work in this district has resulted in an enrollment of 974 scholars, comprising 10,770 teachers and officers from 28 counties in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, British Columbia and Alberta. These schools have 76,215 scholars, 9,233 members of "cradle rolls," 3,954 home department members, a total enrollment of 100,220 and an average attendance of 56,034. In the last year, 2,505 students were enrolled in teacher training classes and 3,292 scholars were united with the church. Both Secretary Knapp and B. F. Kanner of North Yakima, Wash., president of the association, expect this year's convention to be the largest in the history of the association, their expectation being based on reports from Sunday schools in all parts of the Inland Empire. An additional feature will be a boys' congress on Friday, May 15, under the direction of John L. Anderson of Chicago, known as the "Teen Age Specialists". In connection with this division the Spokane boys are arranging a banquet for the evening of May 15.

THAT TUG OF WAR

Lewiston Thinks She Can Beat Moscow—Moscow Don't Think So—Horse Show June 11, 12, 13

One of the leading features, aside from the exhibition of fine horses at the big horse show to be held in Genesee on June 11, 12 and 13 will be the tug of war between the Lewiston and Moscow commercial clubs. Both clubs will undoubtedly come with a good bunch of rosters for their respective sides. A good strong rope has been ordered and if there is any give from either side it will be a case of "lift" and not break.

The following regarding the event appeared in the Lewiston Tribune of last Saturday:

"It is now up to the Commercial club to show the Moscow Chamber of Commerce that the latter's boast that the organization comprises a splendid bunch of men is fiction—at least that the Palouses have superiors in Commercial club men pulling the ropes. The Genesee Horse Show management has stated the trouble by arranging a tug-of-war contest which will bring together the Lewiston club's ten strong men and the ten giants of the Moscow organization. The winners will receive $200 in cash, the equivalent of forty glasses of beer at the nearby town of Uniontown.

"The information relative to the pending battle came yesterday to the Commercial club in the following communication from F. E. Lambert, Secretary of the Genesee Horse Show:

"In behalf of the Genesee Commercial club, the Genesee Horse Show extends to your honorable body an invitation to attend the Horse Show, June 11, 12 and 13, and to meet with the Moscow Chamber of Commerce Friday, June 12, in a tug-of-war—ten men on a side—for a prize of $200.

"Genesee long has been in doubt regarding the relative strength of these two organizations and this contest doubtless will settle the question to the entire satisfaction. Trusting we may receive your favorable acceptance at an early date, we are,

"Yours respectfully,
"GENESEE HORSE SHOW,
"F. E. Lambert, Secretary."

"The Genesee communication will be presented to the governing board of the Commercial club at its meeting Tuesday, when it is assured ten men will be designated for immediate training."

Receiving Home Dedicated

The officers of the Children's Home, which the Aid Society of Idaho dedicated their beautiful receiving home in Blanchard Heights, Lewiston, Wednesday afternoon. A reception was held at the home from 4 until 10 p. m., and during the time a fine showing of the various parts of the city to the home. It is stated that all bills are paid and the home is out of debt, which is certainly a fine showing of the promoters and friends of such a worthy institution.

It is said to be one of the finest receiving homes in the United States—there being no better, and that in Kentucky, which was built by state money, while this one was purchased and paid for by friends of the work in north Idaho.

It is included an institution that the people of the north part of the state and the citizens of Lewiston may well be proud.

Brady Sends For Carlyle

At the request of Senator James H. Brady and Acting Secretary of Agriculture Galloway, Dean W. L. Carlyle will leave tomorrow evening for Washington, D. C. to use his influence in securing the passage of the amendment offered by Brady to the general agriculture appropriation bill carrying a large appropriation for the establishment at the University of Idaho of a mammoth plant for the manufacturing of hog cholera serum with which to supply the states of Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Utah. Senator Brady's amendment provides for the appropriation of $500,000 with which to assist more than a dozen states in which cholera has gained a strong footing, in stamping out the disease. It is proposed to place government experts in one county of each state covered by the bill and to make of that county an object lesson for the remainder of the state.

Celebrate 95th Anniversary

Monday evening, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, celebrated the 95th anniversary of the founding of the order. The Genesee lodge had a most pleasant gathering, in which the Odd Fellows and families and Rebekahs and families were the participants. The banquet was held at 6:30 and covered were laid for over 100 guests. A splendid menu had been prepared by the ladies, and certainly none of the good eats were left out.

After the banquet an entertaining program was rendered, which consisted of vocal and instrumental music and recitations. Dancing was then indulged in for several hours. It was a very enjoyable evening for all in attendance.

The Fourth Dimension

The following pathetic piece of poetry was contributed to the News by J. H. Jackson:

Oh, a wonderful bird is the pelican
His beak will hold more than his
He can hold in his beak
Enough for a week—
I don't understand how the helican.

The man who belittles his own town is an enemy to the community.

Security of Spuds

The department of agriculture has made a special appeal to the growers of Michigan to plant a heavier acreage of potatoes this spring. A potato shortage is staring the country in the face, and in the last twelve months we have imported 17,000,000 bushels of spuds from abroad. And yet, we would ask in a faint whisper, why is it that Idaho growers cannot get more than 50 or 60 cents for their crop—admittedly the finest tuber grown upon the face of the globe? Will someone explain?—Kemberly Call.

Arrangements are about complete for the holding of the great Norwegian festival to be held in Moscow on May 17th, when it is expected that more than 1,000 people of this nationality will gather to celebrate the event.

Late war news on the inside.

Send Exhibit On To Chicago

C. H. Shattuck, head of the forestry department at the University, has prepared an exhibit which is to go to the Forest Products Exhibit held in the Coliseum in Chicago from May 1 to June 9. The exhibit consists of crude and refined distillation products of western yellow pine and red fir, white fir, and tamarack lumber.

Lumber that has been devised by Mr. Shattuck in his laboratory becomes very light and easily worked, and takes on a stain, the shade of which can be varied from the natural wood color to a very dark brown. The natural grain of the wood is brought out beautifully by the process. The material for the display has all been prepared in the forest byproducts laboratories at the university. The U. S. Bureau of Chemistry cooperates in the work, and the Western Pine Manufacturers association furnished the lumber for the display and paid for the finishing of the specimens. This is the only forest school in the country that has been asked to send an exhibit. After the exhibition is closed in Chicago it will be removed to New York City and will be on display there until September 1.—Mirror.

Off For Norway

Dr. Smith left Thursday morning for Spokane, where he will be joined by his wife, Mrs. Dr. Smith, and Rev. Martin Christensen, and the three will journey to New York, from which place they will sail on May 7th for Christiania, Norway, to attend the big celebration to be held there on May 20th.

Mr. Smith made the journey from Norway to this country in 1866 in an old sailing vessel, it taking 22 days to make the voyage. On this trip he was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Dr. Smith, and his son, Dr. D. Dr. Smith.

The Midsummer Convention of the Farmer's Educational and Co-operative Union of Latah County, will be held in the Union Hall at Moscow on the 22nd and 23rd of May, 1914. A full delegation is promised besides a good many individual members, who are interested in questions of importance to be discussed. State president L. C. Crove will be in attendance.

The Committee on Good Roads, will meet prior to the convention to discuss said question; and possibly recommend a plan of action for delegates to consider.

Will Build Permanent Roads

In addition to eight and three-tenths miles of state road to be built by the state of Washington in Whitman county, the county commissioners of that county have let the contract for construction of nearly six miles of permanent roads at a cost of $85,000, which shows very conclusively that the people of that county are in favor of permanent roads, which are by far the cheapest in the long run. It is high time Latah county was taking at least a few steps in the same direction.

A Runaway

The team of Rader & Westense indulged in their semi-occasional runaway Thursday morning about 8 o'clock, when they came tearing down the street and headed for the park but were checked in their flight when they collided with the telephone pole at the corner, striking it as squarely as if the center had been measured and marked. The pale and red of the team, which had seen better days, was made into splinters, but aside from this no particular damage was done.

Damage Slight

The weather was quite varied on Monday, snow, rain and hail were general throughout this section. It was certainly unusual to see the pink buds peeping through the snow that have quite heavy on the fruit trees. This was followed by heavy frosts and light freezes on Monday and Tuesday nights and it is feared that much damage has been done to early gardens and fruit trees.

Lator reports from the fruit districts are to the effect that little damage resulted from the recent frosts except to tender garden truck such as tomatoes and lettuce. Smudge pots were used by some of the fruit growers. Reports from Grangeville and the prairie sections are to the effect that little damage was done owing to the fact that the snow that prevailed. About two inches of snow covered the ground, Tuesday morning at Grangeville.

N. P. Gives $15 Prize

Word has been received from the Northern Pacific Railway company that they will give a cash prize of $15 for the best getting, one year old or over on January 1, 1914, to be exhibited at the horse show to be held here June 11, 12 and 13. Last year the Northern Pacific gave a cash prize of $25. However, the management of the show is very appreciative of the prize offered by this road and it will be featured in the premium list to be gotten out in a short time on May 17th. The company has been very liberal at all times with the horse show and the people of this community appreciate their liberality as well as the efforts of W. E. Smith, their local agent.

Indications Good That Genesee Branch May Be Put In Condition

The Northern Pacific Railway Company is preparing to ballast the Genesee branch at an early date, and if a suitable quarry can be secured somewhere in the vicinity of Colton, crushed rock will be used instead of gravel as first planned. A quarry was located at Colton, but it is reported that when the owner ascertained that the railway company wanted it an outrageous valuation was placed upon it. The company ballasted the Grangeville line with crushed stone, using about 12,000 cubic yards to the mile. This was found to be more economical than gravel which had to be hauled a long ways. The nearest gravel banks tributary to the Genesee branch are located at Marshall, Pullman Tribune.

Quite a number of the higher officials of the Northern Pacific Railway company were in Genesee last week on another tour of inspection. While no definite promise was made, it was stated by one of those whose word will have weight, that he would recommend that the Genesee branch be ballasted.

There will be general rejoicing all along the line, and from Genesee especially if it should come to pass. While the people of this end of the line are generally satisfied with the train service they are not satisfied with the condition of the road bed between here and Pullman. They will greatly appreciate any improvement made for the betterment of the service and the general comfort of the traveling public.

Some Ball Game

The baseball game pulled off at Recreation park Wednesday afternoon between the business men and the High school team was a lively one from start to finish—some very brilliant plays being made, one of which was one of "Jack" Van der Vast's famous bunts, which made the vast assemblage sit up and take notice. When the smoke of battle cleared away it was found that the business men had beaten the high school boys by a score of six to nine.

Whalen and McCull were the pitchers for the business men—doing some sensational work. Dr. McCull getting his famous Waterbury movement in operation which caused many a batter to "go way back and sit down." Smolt and Sencenbaugh were the receiving battery, taking some hot ones from the bat.

Hayward and Wardrobe were the pitchers for the High school and Amond Kern was the catcher.

The proceeds of the game went to the athletic association.

GENESEE SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Esther Orth

Frank Lawen has been absent from the eighth grade for three weeks.

Mrs. Babcock and Mamie Schlerth were visitors last week.

Louisa Herman of the fifth grade received 100 in spelling every day last month.

During the American-Mexican controversy in the park, last week, several little fellows disagreed and a fight ensued. When they were lined up before the teacher, they trembled with fear. When asked the reason for becoming angry and fighting, the sobbing reply came from one disgruntled little soldier: "Aw! I killed him and then he jumped right up and hit me." The punishment was postponed.

This being the last month of school, everyone is working hard, especially the seniors.

School was dismissed Wednesday at 3:15 because of the big base ball game.

Last Friday the sewing club girls of the sixth grade served lunch at Mrs. Sampson's and last Monday the fourth grade girls served lunch at Mrs. Leon Follett's. A lovely time was reported by both classes. Those receiving highest honors in home credit are:

First grade, Adeline Murphy, 625 minutes; Second grade, Isabelle Springer, 381 minutes; Third grade, Jessie Gray, 240 minutes; Fourth grade, Albert Steltz, 1200 minutes; Fifth grade, Ruth Wolf, 5315 minutes; Sixth grade, Ollie Steltz, 2160 minutes; Seventh grade, Alta McCracken, 2530 minutes; Eighth grade, Ida Schooler, 7190 minutes.

The war waged on dandelions by the women's auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce of Moscow, was a grand success. April 25, had been designated as Dandelion day, and 10 cents a sack had been offered for them. Over 500 bushels were delivered at the two stations and the funds set apart for this purpose were exhausted by noon. The matter of the fund shortage for afternoon payments was taken up with B. T. Burns, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who ordered that every sack delivered by the children be paid for at the stipulated price.

It has been suggested by some of the farmers that Genesee should look after some very bad pieces of streets and roads within the city limits, as well as the country roads. This is merely a suggestion, apropos to the recent road meeting.

In the evening the subject will be—"God's call and the heart's response". Young people are especially invited to the evening service.

The bible class topic for next Sunday morning will be—"The Martyrs"—a very interesting lesson and all the members of the bible class are urged to be present with a studied lesson.

The evening service will be evangelistic and will last but one hour. The pastors of Genesee are making arrangements for a "go-to-church-Sunday", to be observed in the near future, May 24, will probably be chosen.

The regular monthly meeting of the Genesee Improvement society will be held Saturday, afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the library rooms. A number of things are being planned and a good attendance is desired.

The Ladies aid of the Congregational church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Follett. This will be a social afternoon and the ladies will bring their own work.

One qualification is essential, if you would be a social favorite or a successful politician. You must have "winning ways".

The Knights of Pythias will give a social dance in the opera house tonight (Friday) to which the general public is invited. The Johann-Broemmeling Trio will furnish the music and a splendid time is expected. 42-11

During the American-Mexican controversy in the park, last week, several little fellows disagreed and a fight ensued. When they were lined up before the teacher, they trembled with fear. The punishment was postponed.

This being the last month of school, everyone is working hard, especially the seniors.

School was dismissed Wednesday at 3:15 because of the big base ball game.

The war waged on dandelions by the women's auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce of Moscow, was a grand success. April 25, had been designated as Dandelion day, and 10 cents a sack had been offered for them. Over 500 bushels were delivered at the two stations and the funds set apart for this purpose were exhausted by noon. The matter of the fund shortage for afternoon payments was taken up with B. T. Burns, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who ordered that every sack delivered by the children be paid for at the stipulated price.

It has been suggested by some of the farmers that Genesee should look after some very bad pieces of streets and roads within the city limits, as well as the country roads. This is merely a suggestion, apropos to the recent road meeting.

Indians Can Vote

At the last local option election held in Lewiston two years ago, the wets laid their defeat to the fact that the Nez Perce Indians were allowed to vote and this year raised the question of their eligibility as voters and handed out the information that if they voted they would have to pay taxes the same as white men.

According to an opinion filed by Prosecuting Attorney Miles S. Johnson the Indians are citizens and have a right to vote. Regardless of the fact that most Indians like "fire-water", they are credited with putting Nez Perce county dry and the wets undertook to head them off this year. And the outcome is yet in doubt.

Before adjournment on Saturday, April 25, the board of county commissioners fixed the salaries of the following county officers: Auditor, $2000; sheriff, $1800; treasurer and tax collector, $1500; assessor, $1500; probate judge, $800, and coroner, $200. There was only a few slight changes made in this list from the salaries allowed the same officers last year. Expenses were also allowed.

Loyalty is one of the cardinal virtues.

Kendrick Wins

The Genesee baseball boys went to Kendrick Sunday morning, where they crossed bats with the Kendrick team and were taken into camp to the tune of 3 to 4.

The boys left here about 9:30 Sunday morning in automobiles, landing in Kendrick just before the noon hour. The game was called at 2:30 and the playing was fast and furious from the start. The Kendrick infield did some splendid work, brilliant plays being made. The Genesee team played a good game, T. Carlander and Halvorsen doing the best work at the bat. Several bad errors were made by other members of the team, but taken as a whole the game was a good one, as is indicated by the close score.

Kendrick will come to Genesee Sunday for a return game and the next game of the season is expected at the home boys' work vengeance for the defeat of last Sunday and say "never again"—it now remains to see if they can make good.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Several Matters of Importance Discussed—Bills Allowed—Estimates Submitted

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held Monday night. All members were present and Mayor Nelson presided.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved, after which the following bills were approved by the finance committee and warrants ordered drawn for the same:

W. W. P. Co. lights. $76.50
W. P. Co. pumping. 25.00
C. F. Burr, supt. water. 10.00
C. F. Burr, city clerk. 20.00
A. J. Fitz, city marshal. 75.00
Jas. Montague, road work. 4.00
Otto Stucker, road work. 4.00
Robt. Beecher, road work. 4.00
J. R. Wells, drayage. 1.00
Chas. Westness, road work. 4.00
Geo. Bershaw, road work. 4.00
A. Mayer, road work. 9.00
John Jacobs, packing pump. 5.00

A request was received from G. I. S. for a donation toward putting swings in the park and otherwise fixing it for a play ground. While the council were of the opinion that it would be a fine thing, no action was taken at the time.

The question of repairing sidewalks was discussed at some length. It was reported that some complaint had been made regarding charges made for repair work. The city does the repair work at actual cost—or below, and would be very glad if property owners would make their own repairs. The city is responsible for any injury sustained from a bad walk, hence their activity in the repair work.

A. E. Carlander submitted estimates on the covering of the reservoir, the present roof being in very bad condition. While the roof is almost a necessity, the council decided to look further into the matter with a view to later re-roofing the reservoir.

Sever "rather matters of more or less importance" were discussed among them the securing of a pound keeper. Some complaint has already been made of stock running in the street, which will in future be taken care of by the marshal.

There being no further business to come before the council, adjournment was taken.

SILAGE FOR HORSES, CATTLE AND SHEEP

Farmers' Bulletin No. 556 is a valuable compilation of our existing knowledge in feeding silage to horses, beef cattle and sheep, together with a general summary of making silage and feeding it to dairy cattle. It treats of silage crops such as corn, the sorghums, clover, alfalfa and cowpeas; methods of harvesting, such as cutting in the field, hauling etc., cutting in the silo, power cutting, length of silage packing, building water, covering and labor. There is a chapter on the feeding material in the silo, and then follows the feeding of dairy cattle, horses, beef cattle and sheep.

In summing up the points in favor of silage the author says:

1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than in the form of fodder or hay.
2. There is smaller loss of food material when a crop is made into silage than when cured as fodder or hay.
3. Corn silage is more efficient feed than corn fodder.
4. An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same area can be husked and shredded.
5. Crops can be put in the silo during weather that could not be utilized in making hay or curing fodder.
6. More stock can be kept on a given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.
7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed.
8. Silage is very palatable.
9. Silage, like other succulent feeds, has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.
10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use.
11. Silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can silage crops, because it requires less labor, and silage is more palatable.
12. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land and leaves it ready for another crop.

VALUE OF POTATOES FOR FATTENING HOGS

To determine the value of potatoes as a pig feed, according to report received by the department of agriculture two lots of 33 pigs each were fed 114 days with the following results: Lot 1, fed potatoes in addition to corn meal, pollard and skim-milk, made on an average gain per head of 1.41 pounds costing 5.15 cents a pound. Lot 2, fed an extra quantity of corn meal, pollard, insect cake and skim-milk, made a corresponding gain of 1.42 pounds per head at a cost of about 14 cents. It was concluded that pigs may be fattened successfully without potatoes and that it is doubtful whether it is economical to feed pigs salable potatoes if they can be sold for one-fourth of the value of meal.

Comparing barley meal and maize meal as a feed for pigs, two lots of 37 3-months-old pigs were fed 92 days. The difference in gains made and the cost of gains was slight, although it was concluded that maize is worth approximately $1.25 per ton more than barley for pig fattening. Regarding the quality of the pork, barley meal seems to be slightly superior to maize meal.

Fruit Distributors Association Will No Longer Handle Tubers—Too Much Fruit

Because of the prospect of an enormous increase in the fruit tonnage of the Northwest and a correspondingly large increase in the number of affiliated growers associations, the North Pacific Fruit Distributors today formally announced that it would wind up its Southern Idaho potato business by May 1. This action was taken in such a way as to be agreeable to the potato growers.

The continuance of all last season's affiliations and the addition of new local associations this season give the big central selling agency almost absolute domination of the fruit market this year. Such control should operate to increase the benefit of the Distributors to the growers, and the organization's machinery will thus be left free to make the most of this advantage.

In view of this situation the Distributors took the initiative in proposing a separation between itself and the Southern Idaho Potato Growers' association, suggesting the continuance of the latter as a separate organization with headquarters in the center of the potato growing district at Pocatello, Idaho.

"The Distributors' trustees believed that the Southern Idaho potato growers should be given the privilege of electing whether they preferred to build a separate organization for the exclusive use of their own separate industry," said General Manager J. H. Robbins of the Distributors, today. "Although the withdrawal period had passed, we proposed to release them, provided we understood that the action was voluntary on the part of the Distributors. The Southern Idaho Potato Growers' board accepted this proposition, passing a resolution of appreciation of the Distributors' work in pioneering the field and giving the Distributors full credit for placing the Southern Idaho potato growers on their present effective, operating basis."

When the potato shipments are ended within the next few weeks, an itemized statement of all transactions will be rendered the growers this being the policy of the Distributors in its fruit operations as well.

The decision to cease handling potatoes has no bearing whatever on the fruit operations in Southern Idaho, where a substantial increase in both tonnage and local affiliations is promised.

DISCONTINUE SPUD BUSINESS

When the potato shipments are ended within the next few weeks, an itemized statement of all transactions will be rendered the growers this being the policy of the Distributors in its fruit operations as well.

A Good Ball Game

The Kendrick baseball team came to Genesee last Sunday, where in the afternoon they met the Genesee team of "stragglers" who took them into camp "to the tune of three to two."

The game was a good one from start to finish and the result was in doubt through the center with the first three feet apart and bolted rigidly would make a cheap and serviceable road grader, has been in southwestern Idaho the past week giving lectures on how to keep a farm. Mr. King's method has been officially adopted by several states. It is the cheapest road implement that can be made, the cost ranging from 65 cents to five dollars, and every farmer would run one in the first and one in the fifth inning, which was as far as they could get.

Halvorsen, for Genesee, struck out ten men, while Brown, for Kendrick, struck out seven men.

The Kendrick Gazette made the statement that the game won by Kendrick two weeks ago was the first in 14 years the team had won from neighbors, and yet some of the Kendrick boys thought they got the worst of the deal here last Sunday—and they did, but it wasn't the umpire's fault.

There will be no game of baseball Sunday as advertised by hand bills, because the Moscow team and the Genesee boys. The Moscow nine were unable to fill the engagement.

April is War Month

April has been a war month through the history of the United States. Four of this Nation's great wars, and four smaller ones, have begun in April. The revolt of the Colonies began on April 19, 1775. The war with Mexico started on April 24, 1845, 69 years from last Friday. Hostilities in the Civil war broke out on April 12, 1861, with the firing on Fort Sumpter. The Spanish-American war began on April 21, 1898. Of the lesser wars the Black Hawk Indian war, the Apache, Navajo and Utah war, and Seminole Indian war all started in April. The Philippine insurrection came to a head in April, 1899.

Aid Boys' and Girls' Clubs

The department of agriculture, on recommendation of Senator Brady, has agreed temporarily to contribute $100 per month to the Boys' and Girls' clubs of Idaho to enable them during the present season to contribute their agricultural experiment and demonstration work. This advance is only temporary, however, for it is anticipated that some time this session congress will pass the Lever extension bill, and when that measure becomes law the clubs will be taken care of on a permanent basis under appropriations authorized by congress.

Light Snowfall

A light fall of snow Monday morning was followed by a heavy frost Monday night. It is thought that the late frosts following as they did the warm spring weather have destroyed the strawberries and most of the fruit in the lowlands except apples. On the hills the strawberries were frozen but the cherries are reported in good condition. The garden truck suffered, but there is still plenty of time to replace this, but the loss of the strawberries is very much regretted.

Mothers' Day

Sunday, May 10, is the day set aside as mother's day. It is a beautiful custom and should be prominent in the list of days worthy of observance. Plan to remember the mother at a distance with a thoughtful letter, the one at home with some special thoughtful deed, showing her many kindnesses are appreciated. The wearing of a flower on this day is to be commended. If the mother is living wear a red flower, if dead a white one.

There are none in all the world we should wish so well or so lovingly to remember as our parents.

Prings In Car of Holsteins

P. P. Puyar arrived on Wednesday evening from Wisconsin with thirty head of Holstein dairy cattle which he will place on the market. There has been an insistent demand for more and better dairy stock and Mr. Puyar has made a good move by bringing to these interested in dairying in good condition. These are a start of well bred stuff.—Stites Enterprise.

Rapid River Mining and Milling Co., Ltd.

HOME OFFICE, GENESEE, IDAHO

J. B. DAVIES, Pres. L. A. MURPHY, V.-Pres. JOHN NISBET, Sec. JOHN MEYER, Treas.

ORGANIZATION

The Company is organized under the laws of the State of Idaho, with a capital stock of $1,500,000.00, represented by 1,500,000 shares of a par value of $1 each. The stock is fully paid, and ample provision has been made for the completion of the development of the property by a treasury fund of 1,000,000 shares of stock, the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to the work remaining to be done.

THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY

The property of the Company consists of seven (7) claims. Also a mill site and a water power situated on Rapid river, six miles from Pollock, in Idaho county, Idaho. It is estimated that from 10,000 to 28,000 horsepower can be developed from this water power at a very small expense. The amount of water is 50 second feet, which has a fall of 403 feet in less than 2,000 feet.

DEVELOPMENT

About $5,000.00 have been expended in the development of the property, besides the purchase of one claim for a consideration of $5,000.00.

From the upper line of the ledge, which is about 1,500 feet above Rapid river, a shaft of 180 feet in depth has been sunk. Here the ledge shows a depth of more than 20 feet.

One assay, made by J. A. Peck of Boise, Idaho, on August 26th, 1908, gave the following values: Gold, $95.09; silver, $0.46; copper, $5.40; making a total of $100.95.

Other assays made by C. M. Fassett of Spokane, Wash., are as follows:

Assay No.	Copper	Silver	Gold	Total
Assay No. 1	$ 12.90	$ 7.50	$132.50	$152.90
Assay No. 2	21.60	2.25	49.40	73.25
Assay No. 3	21.90	2.45	86.40	110.75
Assay No. 4	9.90	2.45	84.75	97.10
Assay No. 5	16.20	1.85	15.09	33.14

The last assay of the ore at the shaft, which has an average of a 20-foot ledge, was $7.85 in gold and small quantities of silver and copper.

This ledge has been opened about 150 feet above the river, on the west fork of Rapid river, by a tunnel which is now in 285 feet. The last 150 feet in the tunnel have shown a steady increase of the ledge, the width of which is unknown, as no cross-cut has as yet been made.

The latest assay of the ore at this place, made by the State University, at Moscow, showed $9.60 in gold and small amounts of silver and copper.

At the last meeting of the board of directors it was decided to immediately install an air compressor and power drills for use in the mine. It is the intention of the company to expend in the neighborhood of $4,000.00 during 1914 in the development of the water power and mine, which is the object of disposing of a limited amount of stock at this time, which will be sold at

A Close Call

What might have proven a very serious accident happened at the J. E. Hall home a few days ago. George Whitted, the seven year old son of Henry Whitted, was a visitor at the Hall home. Zeke Hall, son of J. E. Hall, left his rifle resting against a wagon in the yard while he went to the smokehouse to take down a piece of meat for his mother. When he returned the little fellow had picked up the gun and with the remark "I will shoot you," pulled the trigger, and shot the hat from young Mr. Hall's head. He was in no way injured but it is an experience he does not wish repeated.

Rapid River Mining and Milling Co., Ltd.

HOME OFFICE, GENESEE, IDAHO

J. B. DAVIES, Pres. L. A. MURPHY, V.-Pres. JOHN NISBET, Sec. JOHN MEYER, Treas.

ORGANIZATION

The Company is organized under the laws of the State of Idaho, with a capital stock of $1,500,000.00, represented by 1,500,000 shares of a par value of $1 each. The stock is fully paid, and ample provision has been made for the completion of the development of the property by a treasury fund of 1,000,000 shares of stock, the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to the work remaining to be done.

THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY

The property of the Company consists of seven (7) claims. Also a mill site and a water power situated on Rapid river, six miles from Pollock, in Idaho county, Idaho. It is estimated that from 10,000 to 23,000 horsepower can be developed from this water power at a very small expense. The amount of water is 50 second feet, which has a fall of 403 feet in less than 2,000 feet.

DEVELOPMENT

About $5,000.00 have been expended in the development of the property, besides the purchase of one claim for a consideration of $5,000.00. From the upper line of the ledge, which is about 1,500 feet above Rapid river, a shaft of 180 feet in depth has been sunk. Here the ledge shows a depth of more than 20 feet.

One assay, made by J. A. Peck of Boise, Idaho, on August 26th, 1908, gave the following values: Gold, $95.09; silver, $0.46; copper, $5.40; making a total of $100.95.

Other assays made by C. M. Fassett of Spokane, Wash., are as follows:

Assay No.	Copper	Silver	Gold	Total
Assay No. 1	$ 12.90	$ 7.50	$132.50	$152.90
Assay No. 2	21.60	2.25	49.40	73.25
Assay No. 3	21.90	2.45	86.40	110.75
Assay No. 4	9.90	2.45	84.75	97.10
Assay No. 5	16.20	1.85	15.09	33.14

The last assay of the ore at the shaft, which has an average of a 20-foot ledge, was $7.85 in gold and small quantities of silver and copper.

This ledge has been opened about 150 feet above the river, on the west fork of Rapid river, by a tunnel which is now in 285 feet. The last 150 feet in the tunnel have shown a steady increase of the ledge, the width of which is unknown, as no cross-out has as yet been made.

The latest assay of the ore at this place, made by the State University, at Moscow, showed $9.60 in gold and small amounts of silver and copper.

At the last meeting of the board of directors it was decided to immediately install an air compressor and power drills for use in the mine. It is the intention of the company to expend in the neighborhood of $4,000.00 during 1914 in the development of the water power and mine, which is the object of disposing of a limited amount of stock at this time, which will be sold at

Didn't Like the Job

It has been said that "any fool can run a newspaper", which saying may be true to a certain extent, but there are times when one would rather be most anything else, or have any other kind of a job than pushing a pencil. A very able man was once called upon to edit a paper during the sickness of the job as follows:

"I wish the editor of this paper would take care of himself, get well, and come back and do his job. I'm not coward, neither am I nervous or superstitious, I simply don't like this editing business. I am no stranger to danger, as you will acknowledge when I tell you that I've sat down on scorpions, got up, and over it like a man; have slept in peaceful slumber among tarantulas and poisonous snakes in the eyes of rattlesnakes just to see them get on their ear and wiggle their tails. I have handled firearms all my life and looked down sixshooters and apologetic in swimming with alligators and enjoyed their company; have rolled across river on ice that bent under me like mattresses, and felt confident the rocking of an earthquake, and have drilled out the tamping over a charge of dynamite without sweating, I have been in Jordan waist-deep in time, and when everybody said "Adam is gone this time," I smiled to myself and waded back to shore; and yet I never felt fear or shelt danger until I sat down to this editor's chair.

"No, gentle reader, I'm no coward; but I realize that my posterity will be happier and more numerous if I drop this pen and get a job in a powder mill."

Between Ulsters and petticoats England appears quite capable of keeping its head continually.—Houston Chronicle.

Claude Edwards, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Edwards was taken quite ill last Friday with an attack of vomiting, but a physician was not called in attendance until Sunday. When the case was diagnosed, it was found to be a case of appendicitis. Conditions were such that an immediate operation could not be performed. On Monday he was taken to Moscow and placed in the Inland hospital. He will be operated on as soon as his physical condition will warrant.

Musicians who are to take part in the musical program of the horse show are practicing diligently and are preparing to furnish those in attendance upon the show all the music they want—and when we say music, music it will be. Genesee has some old-timers who know what a horn is made of and how to use it and there is no question about the quantity or quality of music that will be furnished.

The little eighteen months old son of Christian Peterson was brought to the local hospital on Wednesday. The little fellow is suffering from pneumonia. Christian Peterson and family were among the recent arrivals in Latah Co. from Denmark. He is a brother of Peter Peterson.

Miss Mildred Thornborg will be at the Driscoll Hardware store on Friday, May 15, for the purpose of demonstrating Chinamel varnish. She is a native of Sweden and will witness this demonstration, which will be held in the large front window.

Master Albert Scharnhorst, the 12-year-old son of Fred Scharnhorst, had the misfortune to break his arm, Tuesday. This is the same arm that was broken several weeks ago, but he had just recovered from the first accident. The lad was going from the barn to the house with his father when he slipped and fell, fracturing the arm a short distance from the old break. Dr. W. H. Ehlen reduced the fracture and the lad is doing nicely.

Preparations are being made for laying a cement walk in front of the Driscoll business block. This will be 75 feet long and will add much to the appearance of these neat and substantial buildings.

SCHOOL NEARING CLOSE

Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday, May 17—Graduation Exercises Saturday, May 23

Baccalaureate service will be held next Sunday evening, May 17, at the Congregational church. Rev. Carriek will preach the sermon and other ministers will take part in the service. Everybody is most cordially invited to attend.

Saturday evening, May 23, the High school graduation will take place at the Opera house, at 8 o'clock and the public is kindly requested to be present.

Friday afternoon, May 22, is School Exhibit Day and each and everyone who is in any way interested in our school and its work should visit the different rooms on the first floor and examine the work done by the pupils. Miss Bryden and Miss Hoover of the Domestic Science department at the University of Idaho are expected as judges, and over fifty dollars will be given as premiums. To continue the work started clubs have been organized and exhibits will be sent to both the county and state fairs next fall. The boys have also organized clubs in potato, corn and alfalfa and much interest and enthusiasm are shown by the boys.

It is now up to the parents to help to keep up this interest and not to throw cold water on their enthusiasm. It is not only what they actually accomplish in these clubs, but more the real interest they take in this kind of work.

The young must be busy at something and it is up to the teachers and parents to provide for them, healthy, wholesome occupations for both hand and head. Give them an encouraging word now and then and watch the result.

The following are the clubs organized:
Eighth grade, sewing, Mary B. Wardrobe, club advisor; Rose Jacobs, president; Hattie Scharnhorst, secretary. Sena Erickson, Laura Rosenau, Ida Scholler, Bessie Herman, Mary Burr, Norma Moore, Selma Tidemann, Rose Jacobs, Nettie Burns, Henrietta Meyer, Eleonora Breivik, Ruth Wheeler, Hattie Scharnhorst, Olive Jain, Ruth Morgan, Hazel Hallman, and Alta McCracken.

Eighth grade, cooking, Mary B. Wardrobe, club advisor; Ida Scholler, President. Ida Scholler, Amsel Jain, Hazel Hallman, Ruth Morgan, and Mary Burr.

Sixth grade, sewing, Miss Baxter, club advisor; Wilhelmina Sampson, president; Louisa Herman, secretary. Louisa Herman, Anna Scharnhorst, Maxine Ehlen, Katie Esser, Susie Albert, Ruth Wolff, Myrtle Moore, Irma Lambert, Lucile Gray, Lillie Schleuter, Ruth Gardner, Martha Hasfurth, Ollie Steltz, Wilhelmina Sampson, Beatrice Armstrong, Isabel Edwards, Elizabeth Sorenson, Flora Albert, Irene Mulalley, and Frances Geltz.

Fifth grade, potato, Prof. Hov, club advisor; Armand Nelson, president; Robert Post, secretary. Benjamin Scholler, Victor Cesebolt, Arthur Mayer, Alfred Cann, Frank Lawen, Johnnie Vandenburg, Howard Smith, Harold Jackson, Fred Meyer, Robert Post, Armand Nelson, and Vernie Wells.

Fifth grade, corn, Mr. Hov, club advisor; Johnnie Vandenburg, president; Arthur Mayer, secretary; Johnnie Vandenburg, Arthur Mayer, Fred Meyer, Orlan Meyer, Bennie Scholler, Edwin Peterson, Chester Mochel, Victor Cesebolt, Arthur Smith, Carl Steltz, and James Swenson.

Fifth grade, alfalfa, Mr. Hov, club advisor. Rube was also a member of the business men's group on Wednesday afternoon between the "North" and "South" sides, and as usual, the south side took the northers into camp to the tune of "Two of the clearest" and used up all the available paper and then lost track of the scores made by the south side. The most interesting part of the game was the rag-chewing match that took place between the contending sides—all same like Potlach. However, no one was hurt in the contest of either bats or otherwise, and all is well that ends well.

There will be a ball game at Recreation park Sunday afternoon between the Colton club and Genesee. The game will be called at 2:30.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet Friday afternoon, May 22, with Mrs. J. G. Carriek.

Go-to-church Sunday—May 24

Northern Pacific to Ballast

It is an old saying that dreams go by contraries—but in the present instance there is a pretty good chance of its coming true. The people of Genesee have been hoping almost against hope that the long-dreamed-of ballasting of the Genesee branch of the Northern Pacific railway might some day come true and the road bed be put in ridable condition, as well as avoiding many wrecks.

A steam shovel was brought to Colton the first of the week and will be used for widening and otherwise preparing the road for the ballast which the company expects to spread on this branch. There is general rejoicing all along the line.

J. L. DeFore, who has been superintendent of this division only since the first of January, had been going over the different sections of the road with a view to finding their needs and supplying the wants of the people to the best of his ability, and it was his recommendation more than any other one thing that will get for the Genesee branch what the people here are most anxious to get, Palouse country, are entitled to and have been needing for many years. We all take our hats off to Mr. DeFore.

Priest-Malone

Miss Anna Malone and Ray Priest were married, at Columbia Falls, Mont., at 10 o'clock, Thursday, April 30. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Presbyterian minister of that place.

Miss Malone made her home the past winter at the Grand Central hotel and made many friends while here. Ray Priest is the son of J. H. Priests, proprietor of the Grand Central and a young man of worthy qualities.

From Columbia Falls, the young couple went to Glacier Park, Mont., where they will make their home. Here they were met and welcomed by a number of friends. They, with a company of friends, are at present enjoying a bear hunt of two weeks in the mountains near Glacier Park.

The News joins with their many friends in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Mochel-Jones

Miss Pauline Jones of Ontario, Calif., and Chas. F. Mochel of Medical Lake, Calif., were united in marriage, May 6. The wedding was solemnized at 5 o'clock in the Congregational church at Ontario, after which a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride.

It was in the nature of a honeymoon trip and are expected to visit Genesee in the near future. Both bride and groom are well and favorably known here and will be welcomed by a host of friends and relatives. Chas. Mochel is the son of G. Mochel of this place, and Miss Jones' parents formerly resided on a farm near here. She attended the Genesee public school for several years and is a bright and attractive young woman.

The groom is a pharmacist at Medical Lake, Calif., where they will make their home.

Genesee "Skinned"

The game of ball pulled off at the Recreation park last Sunday between Clarkston and Genesee was a rather tame affair and created very little enthusiasm, although there was a fairly good crowd in attendance.

While the Clarkston team did no brilliant work, they succeeded in rounding the diamond five times to Genesee's two—and the less said about it the better.

Rube was also a member of the business men's group on Wednesday afternoon between the "North" and "South" sides, and as usual, the south side took the northers into camp to the tune of "Two of the clearest" and used up all the available paper and then lost track of the scores made by the south side. ### K. C.'s To Lewiston

About 50 members of the Knights of Columbus lodge motored from Genesee to Lewiston, Sunday, where some 30 candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order, seven of whom were from Genesee.

The gathering was said to be one of the best ever held in this part of the country. The first degree was conferred by the Moscow team, the second by Genesee and the third by the Lewiston and Spokane teams, all from all reports the boys got the worth of their money.

A big banquet was served by the Ladies of Isabella and covers were laid for 200, who did ample justice to the spread.

Interesting and instructive talks were made by George E. Erb, state deputy, Chas. L. McDonald and others, which were duly appreciated by the Knights.

Delegates were present from Spokane, Cottonwood, Pomeroy, Genesee, Moscow and Colton, quite a number of whom went to Cottonwood to attend the state convention, which will be held on June 12th, Tuesday and Wednesday. Those representing the lodge from this city were Jos. Hafstuder, state warden, and A. J. Primus and Edwin Smolt as delegates. Quite a number other than the delegates were in attendance at the convention.

Cemetery Committee Busy

The cemetery committee of the Genesee Improvement society have been busy laying plans and soliciting aid for doing clean-up work in the cemetery. They have met with good success, both in securing financial help and in contributions of labor.

Friday afternoon, May 15, has been selected as work day and all those who have contributed work will be taken to the cemetery, where the work will be looked after by Fred Mochel. Everyone who has the possibility of doing so is urged to come out and give what assistance they can. A later date will be appointed for those unable to work on Friday.

Anyone who has been unable to see, who will assist in this much-needed work will confer a favor by communicating with Mrs. Walter Jain, chairman of the cemetery committee.

A Birthday Party

Mrs. J. S. Larrabee's home was the scene of a merry gathering of friends, Friday evening, when the members of the Rebekah lodge to the number of twenty-six gathered there. It was in the nature of a surprise for Miss Gladys Larrabee and in celebration of her birthday anniversary. She has been a member of the order for two years.

Miss Gladys was presented a napkin ring of silver design and beautifully engraved, by the lodge members, and with it went their hearty wishes for many more happy birthdays. Miss Mary Wardrobe presided over the evening.

The evening was spent with music and in playing games. The guests were favored with several pleasing solos by Miss Larrabee accompanied by Miss Gladys.

At the close of the evening's entertainment, Mrs. Larrabee assisted by her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Brune, served the guests with dainty refreshments of cake and punch.

Will Quit Business Here

The Kerr-Gifford has torn down the shed at the east end of their warehouse which has been used for the storing of grain in years past. The warehouse proper has been sold to a Genesee man who will remove it to his ranch later in the season. A. J. Primus, local manager for the company, estimates that it will take about two months to wind up the business here, after which it is expected that Mr. Primus will locate on the coast, taking charge of one of the company's houses at some western point. The company will do terminal work of a kind and are winding up their business, and disposing of their warehouses as rapidly as possible.

Boosters Advertise Horse Show
A delegation of from six to ten automobile lots of boosters for the Genesee Horse show left Genesee this (Friday) morning on an advertising trip. They went to Uniontown, Colton, Johnson, Pullman, Moscow, where they will present lists and programs of the big show will be distributed.

Get enthusiastic yourself if you hope to inspire enthusiasm in others

GENESEE'S HORSE SHOW

Preparations are going forward for the big Horse Show to be held in Genesee, June 11, 12, and 13, which will be bigger and better than ever before. The management has gone to no pains to make the event a grand success, and aside from the regular exhibition of fine horses, there will be three big days of amusements of all kinds.

The most important feature of the show will be the plans of the Fifth Genesee Horse Show have been made on a larger scale than ever, and the cost of the coming event will be more than double that of any of its predecessors.

Among a few of the most important features are:
The first automobile congress to be held in the United States, will be held in Genesee on June 12th. Since automobiles have become one of the very important factors in the welfare of the country, this congress will attempt to settle some of the more important questions which are confronting the people.

Car dealers and owners from every section are invited to be present, and such problems as good roads, best makes of cars, best kind of tires, etc., will be dealt with.

At 10 o'clock a. m. all the different cars assembled will join in a great parade, and to determine which factory is considered to produce the most important automobiles, a duplicate of which will be placed in a box. Later a blindfolded boy will draw from the box ten numbers, and each auto holding a duplicate of the numbers drawn will secure 10 gallons of gasoline.

Good Roads Day

Friday, May 22, has been formally set aside in Washington as "Good Roads Day" and the Spokane County Good Roads association is working out a plan whereby they expect to combine work with pleasure that day. It has been suggested that a picnic be held in each road district at or near some big piece of road; that the women prepare the lunches and the men take their tools and equipment to the picnic. The women should spread lunch and all take their dinners in the picnic style. A fair sized gathering could clean up a bad piece of road in a day, and have a good time while doing it.

Those present were: Victor Casbolt, Armand DeBow, Cecil Gardner, Johnnie Everling, Martin Kierling, Jesse Gray, Leslie Conrad, William McCreary and Neil Caldwell.

Bit By a Tick

Don Jain, the ten-year-old son of Walter Jain, has been having quite a painful experience, resulting from the bite of a tick, the little creature fastening itself in the side of his neck, and which he did not tell his parents for sometime afterwards, when his neck became sore and slightly swollen. Before medical attention was received the tick had fastened itself especially effecting his throat and tonsils, which became badly swollen, causing him much pain. We are glad to report he is improving at the present time, but Don does not care for a further acquaintance with wood ticks.

Miss Dora Burr, who has been absent from the city for some months, returned home Thursday afternoon. She is looking well and says she is feeling fine. Her many friends are glad to see her again in the city.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Full Corps of Teachers Selected—Manual Training to Be Added

The regular monthly meeting of the school board was held Monday night. All members were present except Director Meyer, and President Leon Follett presided.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved after which the following bills were read and approved by the finance committee and ordered paid:

Cann & Steltz $6.80
F. E. Lambert 1.35
Follett Bros. Merc. Co. 1.35

After some discussion regarding the installation of domestic science and manual training in the school, President Follett appointed a committee consisting of J. T. Nelson, H. Martinson and F. E. Lambert, to investigate the probable cost of adding these two very important courses to the school. It is more than likely manual training will be the first to be added, as will also sewing, but the domestic science course will be reported on later.

All the teachers have been employed for next year, the list being as follows: Prof. I. S. Hov, superintendent; Ernest Norgaard, principal; Miss Anna Olson, assistant principal; Miss Mahel Doty, seventh and eighth grades; Miss Pearl Baxter, sixth grade; Miss Anna A. Schlosser, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Reta Costello, second and third grades and Miss Mildred Waterman, primary.

There are only three new teachers in the school this year—all coming with the very best recommendations and the board and patrons are ever-ready to believe that the coming year will be one of the most successful in the history of the public school of this city.

Prof. Norgaard is a graduate of Chicago university and is highly recommended for the position to which he has been assigned. Miss Schlosser is from Mayville, N. D. and is experienced in teaching. Miss Waterman is a graduate of the Lewiston normal and will assist in domestic science and sewing as well as teach the primary grade.

Our stock of the latest styles is very complete, and we defy competition, no matter from what source.

Road Drag Day

Next Tuesday has been designated as the time when D. Ward King, inventor of the "split-log" drag, will be in Clarkston and will deliver an address on good roads, and in the meantime tell those who gather how to get best results from his famous drag. The split-log drag has been used in various parts of the country for many years and has solved the dirt road question as nearly as it is possible to solve it. James Lytle of Grangeville will also be on hand to demonstrate a drag of his invention, which he claims to be superior to the King drag. There is no doubt but that road makers can get many valuable pointers from either or both of these gentlemen.

GOATS MAY BE MADE VALUABLE FOR MILK

In the "Live Stock and Dairy" department of the current issue of Farm and Fireside, from Matthews, who lives in Pasadena, Cal., says that many families there supply themselves with milk by keeping one or more goats. She herself was induced to try it, and following is part of her account of what she has learned about goats.

"First, goats' milk is sweeter than cow's milk and therefore more palatable. It contains a greater amount of butyric acid, and is more easily digested. The fat does not separate as quickly as it does in cow's milk, taking nearly twice the time for cream to rise.

"Physicians recommend it for invalids because of its being being successfully raised on it after everything else has been tried and proved a failure. For a tubercular patient it is far superior. People have just begun to find out the part played by cow's milk in the spread of the tubercular germ, and the milk of the goat seems to be immune from this terrible disease.

"Our milk goats are as dainty about their eating as the most fastidious of spring blossoms, and they are also nearly as pretty. Those kept here are mostly Toggenburgs or Spanish.

"Cow's milk sells here for 10 cents a quart and goat's milk, if obtained from the goat dairy, is 25 cents. The woman who owns the goat dairy is at present supplying the milk for 25 babies.

"It costs by actual test about five cents a day to keep a goat. It is fed on alfalfa, with half a pint of rolled barley and a pint of bran night and morning at milking time.

ALL IN READINESS

For Arrangements Are Completed All Arrangements—Rules and Regulations

All arrangements have been completed for the holding of Genessee's big horse show on June 11, 12, and 13, and if the weather does not interfere there will be the largest crowd in attendance that has ever assembled in Genessee.

The Bauscher-French Carnival company will be here during the show—in fact, they will pitch their tents here on Monday, June 8, and will remain here during the entire week. The attractions consist of six shows, the Ferris wheel in the United States, and a merry-go-round, which will certainly furnish visitors all the amusement necessary for the occasion.

Other attractions have been secured and there are still more to be heard from. There will be another merry-go-round on the grounds during the show (the same one that was here last year). Buckaroos are being heard from and it is expected to have some of the best riders in the Northwest here during the three-day show and big time.

Following are the rules governing concessions and other items of interest to exhibitors:

1. All exhibitors, concessionaries and judges shall subject to the control and regulation of the Genessee Horse Show.
2. Entries—Entries for the Horse Show and all prize competing events will be received after May 15. Please enter early.
3. All entries will close Wednesday, June 10th.
4. Regular entry cards will be furnished on request and must be used in making all entries.
5. Right reserved to reject any entry offered.
6. Where there is but one exhibitor competing for a premium, the judges may award no premium, second or first premium as merit may warrant.
7. No entry fee will be charged.
8. Concessions—Concessions will be on sale after May 15th.
9. The Genessee Horse Show reserves the right to determine the various concessions which will be allowed on each location.
10. All entries competing for premiums must enter into any parade formed from the classes to be entered.
11. Premium lists and programs have been printed and are in the hands of Manager Lambert, where anyone interested in any way may secure them. Come in and get one and make arrangements to be on hand during the entire time.
12. Weather prognosticators of various degrees of accuracy have predicted fine weather, so all we will have to do is await the time when people for miles around will gather here for the biggest time that has ever been in this part of the country.

Cloudburst

A cloud-burst occurred near Juliaetta last Friday evening that was very destructive in its effects. Woven wire fences, road culverts and other movables were washed away. The storm seemed to center at the Al Whitted farm, midway between Genessee and Juliaetta. A 25-acre field of beans owned by the Heimgartner brothers was entirely destroyed and will have to be replanted. At Juliaetta the rain was very heavy but very little damage was done. S. L. Ericsson and Frank Lambert who were fishing over in that neighborhood (one day the first of the week) saw the results of the terrible downpour. They said the water was so muddy in all the streams that they had to take up their fishing pole and make a hole in the water before they could get their hook down.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Sweet, living on the Fred Miller place, near Genessee, being destroyed by the flood, the side of the house being caved in. Mrs. Sweet and baby stayed in the house until the side caved in and then she sought higher ground. She had to wade in water knee-deep before reaching higher ground and safety.

Origin of Decoration Day

With the approach of Decoration, or Memorial Day, perhaps a brief note of its origin will be interesting. It is, as every school child knows a day set apart in the United States for the decoration of the graves of soldiers who fought in the Civil war. The custom originated before the close of the war when the women of the south went to the graves of the fallen soldiers and decorated them with wild flowers. At about the same time a similar custom arose in the north, and on May 5, 1868, General John A. Logan, then commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, fixed May 30 of that year as the day upon which the graves of soldiers should be strewn with flowers. Since that time, though there has been no federal legislation, most states have appointed May 30 as a holiday for this purpose. In the south, this day is generally called Memorial Day; in the north, Decoration Day.

Triangular Track Meet

A triangular track meet will be held here Friday, May 22, commencing at 1:30 p. m. The event will take place at Recreation park and will be participated in by teams from Lewiston, Pullman and Genessee.

The following are the events: 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 200-yard dash, 400-yard dash, 880-yard run, 1 mile run, 1 mile relay race, 220-yard hurdle race, 120-yard hurdle race, shot, put, javelin throw, discus throw, high jump, broad jump and pole vault.

Lewiston and Pullman will both send strong teams.

It is estimated that 5000 people participated in the Norwegian Centennial held in Moscow last Sunday. This was in celebration of the adoption of the Norwegian constitution and freedom from Danish rule. About twenty-five residents of the Lewiston Orchards, who made the trip in a big auto truck, passed through Genessee Monday, on their return trip. The big truck had been equipped with a sight-seeing deck and comfortably seated, and the passengers had a most enjoyable trip.

W. F. Dolan, of Epise Idaho, organizer of an Institute of the Knights of Pythias order, was in the city Tuesday night and visited the lodge here. He came as a representative of the grand chancellor. From here he will visit the lodges at Potlatch and Wardeur, Idaho.

Death of Dennis Sullivan

Dennis Sullivan died at his home in this city Tuesday morning at 12:55, of stomach trouble, aged 75 years.

Mr. Sullivan was one of the pioneers of this part of the country, having first come to Genessee from California in 1878. After landing here he took up a homestead near Moscow, which he later sold, moving to this city.

Mr. Sullivan was never married and has no relatives in this country nearer than niece, one of whom, Mrs. Kate Aspin, of Chehalis, Wash., was his best friend when the end came. Other relatives from Chicago arrived here to attend the funeral.

Deceased had accumulated much of this world's goods, having at the time of his death much property and chattels. He was a consistent member of the Catholic church and was a man well thought of in the community where he had resided.

The funeral was held this (Friday) morning from the Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Bonora officiating, with interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Booster Boost Horse Show

Friday morning seven automobiles carrying their full quota of members of the commercial club left Genessee on a boosting trip for the Fifth Annual Horse Show to be held here, June 11, 12 and 13. The rain the night before made the start somewhat uncertain but after the start was made there was no turning back. Stops were made at Uniontown, Colton, Johnson, Pullman, Moscow, and Troy. After the first few stops were made there had been little rain and the roads were in fine shape adding much to the pleasure of the trip.

Literature advertising the horse show and the premium lists, which include many hundreds of dollars for premiums for blooded and other stock, were distributed at the various places visited. The members of the commercial club, commission agents and duplicating officials, and less surplus help in State affairs; for simplifying the work of the government and eliminating expensive fads and frills; for the shorter ballot, and better making the most of the ability and accountability of the officials under the re-call; and for greater publicity in affairs of government.

Idaho Lumber Exhibit

P. M. Lachmund, general sales manager of the Potlatch Lumber company, has gone east to represent the company at the Forest Products Exhibitions at Chicago and at New York. The Western Pine association will have as the principle feature of its exhibit a partly finished bungalow showing the different framing and exterior and interior woods of the Inland Empire. These woods, being less showy than the decorative hardwoods of the east and the enormous timbers of the coast, will interest principally practical builders and painters, patternmakers and the like.

The exhibit is a fine one, and it is believed to reach consumers and the retail dealers and contractors, who are not as a rule acquainted with the cheapness, utility, beauty and durability of the many commercial woods of the country.—Palouse Republic.

Audience Well Pleased

The opera house was well filled last Saturday evening when a home talent playlet was staged. The playlet was a comedy entitled, "The Burglar's Mistake", in which Miss Edna Hays appeared as the lady and Emory Vandenberg as the burglar. It was well played and gave the audience some good hearty laughs.

The special musical numbers were under the direction of Miss Dorothy Driscoll and consisted of instrumental music, a vocal solo by Miss Adeline Johann and a selection by the male quartet.

In addition to the home talent features, 5000 feet of moving picture films were shown several being comedies, making a splendid evening's entertainment.

A Parcel Shower

Miss Mabel Kennedy gave a parcel shower this afternoon in honor of Miss Margaret Keane at the home of Mrs. Tim Keane. The color scheme was white and the house being decorated with cut flowers, cupid and hearts. Miss Irene Beardsley, as Miss Cupid, "let the cat out of the bag"—Saturday Star-Mirror.

Mrs. J. D. Reilly and Mrs. D. C. Burr of Genessee were in attendance. Miss Kennedy is a sister of Mrs. Reilly. Among the Moscow ladies present were a number of former Genessee residents.

Date Changed

On account of memorial services being held at the date of the Genessee church Sunday has been changed from May 24 to May 31, just one week later. Let each person in the community remember that he is expected to be an attendant at some church service on May 31. Make this day worthy of the efforts of the various pastors and earnest church workers by filling the churches to overflowing. Remember the date—May 31.

The Commencement exercises of the Genessee High school will be held Saturday, May 23, at the Opera house commencing at 8 o'clock. An interesting program will be given. The address of the evening will be delivered by Prof. Hulme of Moscow.

J. H. Smart of Spokane arrived Sunday afternoon for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Abernathy.

Wants To Be Governor

To the people of Idaho: In announcing my candidacy for the nomination for Governor of Idaho on the Republican ticket at the coming primary election, it is but right for me to state briefly what I will do and favor if elected.

I have served the State almost continuously for ten years, as State Senator, as State Road Commissioner, or as Regent of the University. I have been in every county of the State but two, and know their conditions and needs. I am operating farms in Latah, Canyon and Gooding counties.

I stand for the law, will obey it and make it respected by the high and low. I stand for efficiency in public service, and think the tax dollar should buy as much as the private dollar. I stand for economy of the commercial club, commission agents and duplicating officials, and less surplus help in State affairs; for simplifying the work of the government and eliminating expensive fads and frills; for the shorter ballot, and better making the most of the ability and accountability of the officials under the re-call; and for greater publicity in affairs of government.

I believe in Idaho, in her people, and their ability to make this a prosperous state. I believe in supplying our home markets, as far as possible, and in uniting our water powers and raw materials into manufacturing communities. I believe in protection, and in adjusting freight rates so as to protect Idaho manufacturers instead of destroying them. I believe in home Building and Loan Associations, and in changing the investment of outside money instead of repelling it. I believe in long time farm credit, and that the State Land Board should try to secure for Carey Act settlers. I believe in long time terms on all State land contracts. We want interest, not principle payments. I believe in simplifying education, and reducing the cost. In short, I believe in a good business administration of Idaho's affairs, not only for the present but for twenty years hence at least. The prosperity of a State is its best advertisement.

M. E. LEWIS.

Altar Society

Mrs. Jas. Tobin and daughters were hostesses to the Altar society of the Catholic church on Wednesday afternoon. The members of the society were made most welcome to Mrs. Tobin's home, this country home. The afternoon was devoted to society needlework and a large number of articles were completed for the coming bazaar.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses and a splendid social time was had by those in attendance.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Broemmeling.

The Ladies Aid of the Congregational church were delightfully entertained, Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Ira Hanson. The ladies were taken out in autos. The afternoon was given over to fancy work and a good social time. Daily refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Senior class of the High school entertained the Junior class at a bonfire social Wednesday evening in A. A. Haymond's orchard. A picnic lunch was served by the Seniors and a splendid good time was had by those fortunate enough to be present.

The first Clarkson strawberries were marketed last Thursday and brought 35¢ per crate. The strawberries were given over to fancy work and a good social time. Daily refreshments were served by the hostess.

Everybody "rubbers" at a striking price. The office of the Idaho Telephone Company is now in the office of the face of your store books, or whether you advertise or not. People are in a hurry these days and the man who properly advertises and shows his goods, and who is going to reap the golden harvest.

The decorators have completely refurnished the interior of the F. E. Dicus drug store. It is quite an improvement and will add much to the appearance of this popular pharmacy. The man who knocks his country is an undesirable citizen.

At the Opera House

The California Jubilee quartet—four noted colored entertainers—will be at the opera house tonight (Friday) and will give one of their famous entertainments, consisting of plantation melodies, jubilee songs, sacred numbers, popular airs and classical selections.

With the quartet is John C. Payne, the double-voiced concert singer, who sings everything from baritone to lyric soprano. This entertainment will be the very best thing that has appeared at the local opera house for several seasons and if you miss hearing these fine singers you will miss a rich treat.

J. T. Hill, basso, reader, soloist—not only sings the most difficult classes and plantation melodies, but is a pleasing reader. His negro dialect readings are a special feature of the program and are well worth the price of admission alone.

This company of entertainers come well recommended from places where they have appeared in concert.

Don't forget the date—Tonight, May 22.

Decoration Day

The people of Genessee are requested to assemble at the City Park, Saturday morning, May 30th, to escort the old soldiers to the cemetery where they will plant flags on the graves of their departed comrades, after which they will be strewn with flowers by the school children.

After the exercises at the grave of the Unknown dead at the cemetery the return will be made to the City Park, where the following program will be rendered:

Music by the Genessee Cornet Band.

Invocation by Rev. A. P. Orth.

Song by Male voices.

Recitation, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, by Amsel Jain.

Music by the Genessee Cornet Band.

Address by Rev. Fowler of Moscow.

Song, America, by Audience.

All business houses are requested to close during the exercises.

Sunday's Ball Game

Excitement did not run very high at the ball game Sunday afternoon, but there was quite a large, good-natured crowd in attendance, which proceeded to have a lot of fun. No one got sore except Emory Vandenberg, who was hit in the ear with a ball during practice before the game. He has a very bad ear, which he keeps wrapped in tire tape.

Just before the game almost any play would have given odds on Colton as Genessee was shy three of her best players, including the regular pitcher and catcher. But as things warmed up, it was soon evident that Genessee had a walk-away, even with some of the men playing in new positions, and some of them new men. However, the home boys managed to pull nine runs over the home plate while Colton could get around only five times.

Some of the Colton boys said the town was too dry and dusty for them.

The many friends of Dan Healey were smoking good cigars at Dan's expense on Wednesday, the occasion being his sixty-eight birthday anniversary. Mr. Healey is hale and hearty and is good for many years yet. The News joins his friends in extending their congratulations and thanks for his. The meeting of the Missionary society of the Methodist church has been postponed from Friday afternoon, May 22 to Friday, June 5. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. G. Carriek. A good attendance is desired. Announcements have been received by friends of the birth of a son, Alfred Berton, to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Peterson of St. Paul, Minn. Mrs. Peterson was Miss Leta Snyder and was a teacher in the Genessee high school for two years. J. A. Sanford returned to his home at Pullman Wednesday morning, after a visit at the home of Mrs. L. Fincham. Don't fail to make your plans to attend religious services somewhere on "Go-to-church Sunday". You will like it. Everybody is expected to go to church somewhere Sunday May 31.

Assessor Finishes Work

Theo. E. Martinson, finished his work assessing this school district on Saturday, returning that afternoon. The taxpayers generally are well satisfied with the system adopted by Mr. Martinson this year, it giving an equal chance, and each one knows what his neighbor is assessed at, which makes it reasonable that there will be no over or under valuation on property.

While here Mr. Martinson made the statement that he would again be a candidate for the office of assessor. While there was a good deal of criticism last year regarding the extremely high taxes, Mr. Martinson was not wholly to blame, as the change in the assessed valuation made the difference, and in accounting for the surplus of taxes over any previous year, the statement was made that more property had been found and assessed than ever before, and would naturally leave more surplus in the treasury.

Home Telephone Company Takes Over Local Company—Possession June 1

At a meeting of the board of directors of the newly-organized Home Telephone Company Saturday night of last week, a deal was closed with H. A. Morgan, manager of the Genessee Telephone company, whereby the property of the Genessee Telephone company, the price paid being $8055. The new company will take possession June 1.

The new company will employ a competent and thorough telephone man, who will have full charge of the lines, instruments, etc., and will at once proceed to place the present system in first class condition—or as good as possible as rapidly as possible.

Three competent operators will be employed, which will guarantee the best of service at all hours—day and night. An office manager will be at the central office, where all minor matters and office work will be attended to, which will guarantee all subscribers prompt attention.

It is stated that it will take some little time to place the lines, instruments and subscribers as they are asked to be patient until things can be gotten into working order and all adjustments made, which will be done as rapidly as possible after the new management takes over the system.

The new concern is a stock company and all subscribers and others who may wish to take one or more shares can do so by seeing C. P. Halen, secretary-treasurer, at the Genessee Exchange bank. The necessary purchase money has been subscribed and things look bright indeed for the new company, which has conservative business men at the head of it—men who have made a success of their own affairs and business and are fully qualified to make the Home Telephone company a success in every way.

Farmers' Union Meeting

A meeting of the local Farmers' union was held in their hall last Saturday afternoon for the purpose of naming delegates to the county and state conventions, the former to be held in Moscow today and tomorrow while the state convention will be held in Spokane May 26-28.

The delegates appointed to attend the county convention are: Frank Grieger, Geo. Abel, John Lorang, L. A. Dehle, A. E. Rosenau, Theo. Koster, Anton Bergen, Jas. Nisbet, Martin Hasfurth, D. Scharnhorst, Dan Healey, Theo. Schleuter, John Cunningham, Arthur Fogland, H. J. Herman, Jas. Tobin and Albert Carburn. State President L. C. Crow will deliver the principle address at this meeting.

Some of the members to attend the state convention at Spokane is J. Knapps, with Jas. Tobin as alternate. C. S. Barrett, national president of the union will be the principle speaker at this meeting.

Some of the members who possibly can be urged to attend either or both of these meetings, where many things may be learned, not only regarding the workings of the union but about proper farming.

DE LAVAL Cream Separators ARE TIME TESTED

Every little while you hear of some brand new cream separator, claiming to be a "world beater" and just as good as the De Laval but a little cheaper. These "mushroom" machines stay in the limelight only until they are "found wanting" by the users and in a short time drop out of sight.

It takes years of experience to build a "good" cream separator. More than 30 years of experiments and experience have made the De Laval pre-eminently the best machine on the market for the separation of cream from milk.

If you buy a De Laval you run no risk of dissatisfaction or loss. It's time tested and time proven. Why experiment? Why take chances with an inferior machine when you know that the De Laval is the best machine for you to buy.

If you are thinking about buying a separator we will consider it a favor if you will permit us to set up a De Laval for you on your own place and have you give it a fair trial.

Good Work Done

Last Friday afternoon about twenty persons went to the I. O. O. F. cemetery to do clean-up work. The party left town early and were soon joined by others near town. Work was done every minute of the time and the improvement in the appearance of the cemetery at the close of the afternoon's work was very noticeable. Friday afternoon, May 22, has been appointed by the cemetery committee to do similar work. It is hoped all those who do not have their graves cleaned up as possible before Decoration day, and their desire is that a grave shall have a neglected appearance at that time.

Thursday, May 28, has been selected by the Rose society as the date for the rose carnival at Lewiston. According to the committee selected to see the date the rose will reach the highest development at this time. No pains will be spared by the committee having the work in charge to make this the most successful rose carnival ever held. The parade will be an important event and it is planned to again feature the school children. Many prizes will be awarded.

Attention Members Farmers Union
The program outlined for our next regular meeting, May 30, should appeal to every lover of good stock or those who may have the up building of the interests of this community at heart.

Preliminary steps will be taken leading to the formation of some sort of an association for the purpose of improving the Best and Dairy interests in this vicinity. The importance and relation which this question bears toward every phase of better farming methods must be obvious to all observing progressive farmers. Be sure and come. Your President.

If it is painting, papering or plumbing, see Moore & Erickson. 37-tf.

Has Valuable Agency

Dicus and Co. have the Genesee agency for the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerin, etc., known as Adleri-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. This simple remedy has powerful action and drains such surprising amounts of old matter from the body that JUST ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. The QUICK action of Adleri-ka is astonishing. (1)

Don't forget that May 31 is "Go-to-church Sunday."

Health a Factor in Success

The largest factor contributing to a man's success is undoubtedly health. It has been observed that a man is seldom sick when his bowels are regular—he is never well when they are constipated. For constipation you will find nothing quite so good as Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They are sold by all dealers.

It's the last word in motorcycles. The two-speeds are selective, and the rider can shift from high to low or low to high or neutral while the machine is standing still or in motion.

The step-starter does away with the machine on the stand to start. The rider may sit in the saddle with both wheels on the ground and give either a downward push, engaging the step-starter and starting the motor.

Mechano-Therapy

By Dr. G. I. Breivik

Mecoano-Therapist and Psycho-Therapist

The work of the Mechano-Therapist is to bring about by purely natural agencies the restoration of health. By manipulation he makes it possible for the body to readjust its functions and become normal. Freedom from pain is the natural condition of the body. Nature loves harmony, but disease is discord. Nature intended to produce normal organisms only, but disease is an abnormality.

My business is to help nature to dispose of this unwelcome abnormality by means of a system of manipulation of the body which, by accelerating the circulation, increases combustion and so facilitates the natural elimination of a diseased condition. In short, I make it possible for the body to purify itself by improving the circulation of the blood.

A very complicated chemical operation goes on in the body. If the blood has all its normal constituents and flows unimpeded, the body is healthy. The body requires proper food, pure air, adequate clothing, cleanliness and exercise. Given these the blood will perform its functions naturally and continue uninterrupted and health will result. But deprived of one or more of these necessities the delicate balance of the body is disturbed, the waste is not all eliminated, the blood cells below standard, and the manifold ailments at once exposed to bacilliferous infection.

With most of us it is not so difficult to obtain proper food, pure air, adequate protection and cleanliness, but proper exercise is not so easily available.

Many forms of exercise are more harmful than beneficial, because they are inexact and haphazard, they benefit parts of the body at the expense of other parts.

I supply you the exercise to order. I furnish physiological exercise, that is a passive exercise of every muscle and fibre of the entire body so apportioned that all receive their just share of relaxed vital force and profit accordingly without detriment to any member.

My work has one object, the correction of irregularity in the circulation, the absorption of diseased conditions of the body by the circulation and their consequent elimination from the body by means of the natural channels.

I use every natural weapon nature requires in a mild and safe manner. The attention adequate to their relative physiological importance. The result is increased combustion, greater freedom for the elimination of waste and a consequent relief of both body and mind. The tone of the system improves from the first. Hence, I can always undertake to give relief where I can predicate a cure. But in this manner the curative process is hastened and it is brought to a successful conclusion by specific centripetal manipulation of the diseased portions of the body. I have cured infantile Paralysis, Neurasthenia, Neuritis, Rheumatism, Prostatitis, Anemia, Hysteria, Neuralgia, Constipation and other diseases. It would take too much space to describe all the methods employed by me in the treatment of disease, so I shall just mention those most commonly employed. The manipulations are given on the operating couch. The treatments consist of scientific physiological exercises, such as: rubbing, kneading, percussion, Swedish movements, etc. The time required for a complete treatment varies from one-half to one hour.

The charge for treatment is reasonable. Consultation is free. I may be seen any time during the day, and I respectfully invite you to call and talk the matter over with me at my office in the Nebelsieck Block.

Let me add the following recommendation given me by a regular physician:

Winchester, Ida., Mar. 5, 1913.

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that the bearer, G. I. Breivik, had charge of a nervous case that I had under observation at the time; that the improvement under his treatment was very rapid, steady and permanent and that I believe him competent and worthy of patronage.

Respectfully,
J. E. McLaughlin, M. D.

CLOSE OF PUBLIC SCHOOL

Work Exhibited, Prizes Awarded and Promotions Made—No Programs

Friday morning the grade pupils returned to their various school rooms, where short sessions were held and the grade cards given out. Those who had done good work were smiling faces for their grade cards read, promoted to "next grade". This closed the school year for the youngsters.

Friday afternoon was parents day, when all parents and those interested in the welfare of the school received a welcome. A large number of ladies and a few gentlemen attended the exhibit of school work. In room 1, there was an interesting display of writing, map weaving, card sewing and illustrated work done by the first grade pupils. In room 2, the sewing done by the 2d, 3d, and 4th grades was attractively displayed, together with rug weaving, doll hammocks, map drawing and writing done by these grades.

In room 3, the 5th and 6th grade sewing was on display and made a splendid showing for girls in these grades. Here also were specimens of writing and map drawing. ## "Thirteen To One"

The local baseball team went to Uniontown, last Sunday, where they met the local team of that place. A good crowd accompanied the Genesee boys and the result was that Genesee had about as many on the ground as did Uniontown. The affair was billed as a baseball game but the name was a misnomer for it was far from a game.

The "game" started out rather lively and Uniontown succeeded in making a score in the first inning which was the only one they could pull across during the entire nine innings. The fact was the only man they had who was capable of making a run was so excited over his first score that he ran himself down and was unable to make another one.

The Genesee team started playing in good form, but they soon found that it was nothing more than a practice game so slowed upon their playing and the result was that they secured only 13 scores, which was a plenty for one time.

There will be a real game of baseball at Recreation park on Saturday afternoon when Lewiston will be here for a game with the local team. The bunch from down the hill are said to know the game and play it and it behooves the local team to be doing their best to hold their side of the score book out of the red.

Troy Bank Changes Hands

This week a deal was consummated whereby a big change will be made in the ownership of the First Bank of Troy. As it has been, the bulk of the stock was owned by parties living in Spokane, Genesee and other places, but since the change has taken place, practically every share will be held by local citizens, making a home investment which should be advantageous to the community. A meeting will be held immediately to elect new officers and to appportion the stock among the new stockholders.

The citizens who have gained control of the bank are those who made application for a national bank charter, but we understand that the institution will continue as a state bank since there is to be but one bank here.—Troy News.

The exhibit spoke for itself and needs no comment. We feel proud of what has been accomplished in sewing and we all ought to feel thankful to the ladies who so faithfully and ably have carried on this work.

We are also pleased with the Home Credit work, much has been done and more can be done next year now that everybody knows and understands our plan and purpose with this work.

The high school has been rather quiet and so has the athletics, as compared with former years, but there is reason for it.

Scholarship is perhaps not what one should like to have, yet there are many hard faithful workers.

The following may be called the roll of honor: as their standings were so high that they were exempt from the final examination:

Esther Martinson, Gladys Larrabee, Irah Larrabee, Agnes Magee, Ruth Ekum and Cuvier Ehlen were exempt in everything. Esther Orth, Clara Kern, Genevieve Gaselchen, Mamie Hasfurther and Ada Schooler were exempt in all but one. There were several that were exempt in one or two subjects.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Held in Opera House—Three Graduates—Address by Prof. Hulme of Moscow

The annual commencement exercises of the Genesee High school were held Saturday evening, May 23, commencing at 8 o'clock, at the Opera house.

The opening number on the program was a well executed duet by Faith Follen and Norma Jackson. While this was being played the Junior class of the High school, stretched streamers of violet and green, Senior class colors, making an aisle through which those occupying positions on the stage passed. The graduating class came first followed by the High school faculty, Prof. Edward Hulme, Rev. Barstow and members of the school board. The class was composed of Misses Esther Martinson, Gladys Larrabee and Esther Orth.

The stage, banked with potted plants and vases of cut flowers and hung with the pennants of the different high school classes furnished a most appropriate setting.

The program was well rendered and was carried out with cleverness and precision that greatly pleased the friends and proud relatives that filled the auditorium.

God's divine blessing was invoked by Rev. Barstow. Gladys Larrabee delivered the Salutatory address. Derval Springer sang a vocal solo in his pleasing voice.

The lovely and fruitful valley of the Genesee was the subject of a violin solo by Frances Orth followed. Esther Martinson had the honor of delivering the valedictory address, which she did in a well chosen and timely way. Irah Larrabee sang a solo in her charming voice. Miss Anna Olson acted as accompanist for the singers.

Prof. E. Hulme was then introduced by J. T. Nelson. Prof. Hulme has changed the history of the department of the state University of Idaho. He delivered the address of the evening, taking as his subject, "History of Social Progress". He handled the subject in a way that showed much research, care and careful thought. It was delivered in a pleasing way and was a subject well fitted to the occasion.

At the conclusion J. T. Nelson briefly addressed the class and pronounced the diploma. Rev. Barstow then pronounced the benediction.

Art Exhibit

Arrangements are being made by the Genesee Improvement society to hold an art display in the library rooms during the horse show dates.

There will be splendid work and fancy work which will be in charge of Mrs. Jno. Kempf.

At the Opera House

The people enjoyed a rare treat in the entertainment furnished by the California Jubilee singers at the Opera house, Friday evening.

The company was composed of a colored quartet of male singers accompanied by a lady pianist.

The program consisted of plantation melodies, jubilee songs, sacred numbers and popular airs, with a reading in negro dialect by one of the company.

There will be a special program of five reels of photo plays given in the opera house on Decoration day, afternoon and evening. The program will be a special one and it will deal with Decoration day subjects.

One of the hardest rains and thunder storms of the season visited this section last Friday evening, when the heavens seemed to open and the rain came down in torrents for several minutes. No damage is reported as the result of the downpour.

WILL ATTEND HORSE SHOW

Moscow Will Send Large Delegation Over During the Big Show

Doubtless, in response to the invitation of divers persons by representative citizens to attend the Genesee Horse Show in June, Moscow will send down a large delegation on the appointed days. Nearly everyone enjoys a good horse show, and many persons will be glad of the chance to see such excellent exhibits of fine blood stock as Genesee can be thoroughly depended upon to assemble. To those who are not especially interested in looking at the horse show, the ample provisions for other forms of entertainment guarantee sufficient repayment for the trouble of the journey. If there were nothing else, Genesee itself would be well worth going to see. It is one of the best towns in the county and is located in the heart of an agricultural district which in the quality of its people as well as of its soil can not be surpassed.

The lovely and fruitful valley viewed from the top of one of our ridges is calculated to inspire the beholder with a wish to get a nearer view of the both country and town; and the cordial hospitality for which Genesee is so widely known will be sure to the visitor not only immediate pleasure but a lasting enjoyment in the discovery of the altogether admirable qualities of our neighbors.—Star-Mirror.

Grading Crew Busy

The people along the Genesee branch are very much elated over the prospects of having a good road bed from Genesee to Pullman junction, from which point grading and widening the road bed was begun some time ago. The track will be put in first-class condition and when completed it will no longer be necessary to hold the seat of the car from being dumped upon the floor of the car.

It is expected that the local Sunday freight will be taken off within a short time in order to give the work crews more time on the main track, but due notice will be given of the time, intention, etc.

A Model Barn

Jos. Moersch, an enterprising farmer living near here, is building a barn on his place that will be a model of durability and convenience. The barn will be 44 by 64 feet on the ground and will be 49 feet high, with rounding roof. His stock will drink from a central trough and the water will be pumped from the barn and one half will extend outside for convenience in watering the stock in the barnyard. This will be constantly supplied with fresh water, which is under pressure. It will also be supplied with every convenience for the feeding and care of the stock and will be one of the most complete in this neighborhood.

There is no enduring foundation but Jehovah. Through Jesus Christ he gave the only true standard of ethics. Law and custom based on pagan or infidel standards have always been and will be, unavailing. A nation's religion makes the nation's conscience.

The first story is the home. The home has the first chance with every boy and girl, and from the boys and girls of the nation, reformers, educators, artisans, prostitutes and criminals of the nation. The home is the unit of the nation, and the nation can be no better than the home. The foundations of character are laid there.

The second story is our educational institutions; the church, the public school and the press.

The church educates the conscience, the school trains the intellect, the press keeps all in touch with the world's life and progress. No one of these can rise to its best independent of the others.

The third story is the government. This is for safety. We want the titles to our homes

TRIED TO ESCAPE PEN

GUARDS AT STATE JAIL ARE TOO GOOD WITH RIFLE FOR PRISONERS TO GET AWAY.

TWO ARE SHOT, ONE DIED HOUR AFTER.

Convicts Make Ladder of Bedsteads and Swiftly Escape Over Wall—At 250 Yards Guard Peterson Puts Bullet into Bearup.

Boise, Idaho.—Two prisoners were shot, one fatally, by guards of the Idaho state penitentiary Saturday when they attempted to escape from the institution.

The convicts are: U. G. Bearup, serving a life sentence for murder, shot in the spine. Died some time after.

C. A. Allers, serving an indeterminate sentence for forgery; shot in arm, which had to be amputated.

How Affair Was Planned. The break for liberty was made while half of the guards on the prison wall were having lunch. It was believed a dozen or more men were concerned in the plot to escape. It is evident that it had been carefully planned.

On Saturday morning convicts take their wooden bedsteads from the cell houses to the yard and clean them. It was two of them nailed together that afternoon and used to scale the wall. Allers got over, but the ladder broke and Howard dropped back into the prison yard.

Guard Howard winged Allers. Jones carried with him a bottle of the disinfectant solution the prisoners were using on their bedsteads. That evening men intended to use it to escape through the window of the cell.

Guard Is Good Shot. It was the deadly accuracy of Guard Peterson's shot that ended the chase. Allers fell at the prison tower house, 300 yards from the wall. Bearup and Jones kept on and gained the corner of the normal wall. The bullet struck Bearup in the chest.

When Peterson reached the knoll the men were 250 yards distant, running at full speed. He stopped and fired. His first shot fatally wounded Bearup. Seeing his companion fall, Jones dropped to the ground. Just as he dropped Peterson fired again. The bullet struck Jones in the chest.

The state board of prison commissioners made an investigation of the escape. The normal wall, which is 10 feet high, is made of concrete blocks. The prisoners were seen to scale the wall by means of a ladder made of bedsteads.

Ask Your Neighbor About his DE LAVAL

All the farmers to whom we have sold De Laval are boosters.

The De Laval satisfies, pleases and makes money for its more than a million and a half owners the world over.

If you expect to buy a separator it will be worth your while to find out what some of your neighbors who use De Laval think of their machines. If the evidence of your neighbors who use and recommend the De Laval is not enough to convince you of De Laval superiority we will put one in on trial for you and you can try any other machine you want to alongside of it. Then you can see for yourself which machine you like the best.

We have an arrangement whereby you can make a partial payment at time of purchase, and pay the balance on such liberal terms that your De Laval will more than save its own cost while you are paying for it.

CHURCH SERVICES

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. and Christian Endeavor at 7:30 p. m. Junior church meeting every first and third Sunday in the month at 2 p. m. Junior preaching service the second Sunday in every other month at 11 a. m. Ladies' Aid meeting every two weeks on Wednesday afternoon. Choir practice every Thursday night.

Next Sunday is "Go-to-church Sunday", and everybody, Catholic and Protestant, is expected to go to church on May 31st. Be sure and make your plans to be at both services, for I am sure you will like it.

This church is arranging for two popular services. In the morning we will observe "Mothers' Day", as we did not observe it at the proper time earlier in the month. The morning service, in fact, will be in honor of the fathers and mothers, and the fathers and mothers, sons and daughters, of the community are cordially invited to this service.

All those attending the service are requested to wear a flower in honor of father and mother; a red flower if parents are living and a white one if dead—if you like you may wear a flower for each. The subject of the sermon will be—"Mothers' worth", and the male quartet will sing a home song.

In the evening another service will be held, that we are sure will appeal to the popular mind. The choir and quartets of the church will assist at the service.

Because of the fact that this Sunday is in the month of May, when every minister in America is expected to preach on "International Peace and Brotherhood", and also because this Sunday is in such close proximity to Decoration day, a national theme has suggested itself to the pastor and he will preach on—"International Arbitration and Peace and our relations with Mexico". Come prepared to hear plain words about war and filibustering.

We invite those especially who seldom, if ever, go to church to attend next Sunday. We are sure that you will be interested and profited.

The pastor of this church very much regrets that on account of an accident he was not able to hold his service last Sunday night but he is improving and will be at both services next Sunday. We expect large audiences and will have extra chairs to seat all available space but we suggest that you come early if you want to be sure of a good seat.

churches, but be there. You can get along without any other institution, but you can not get along without the church; so rally to them next Sunday.

At the Methodist church Mothers' day will be observed in the morning with an appropriate sermon and special music. The orchestra will play a selection also. At the evening service we will have the regular evangelistic service. Our Sunday school will be at 10.

Now don't be like the man who sheared his sheep backwards because he said he never could dare look a sheep in the face since he voted for free wool. Don't have to walk up the street backwards, or slip across the street when you see the preacher coming, because you are ashamed to meet him, but come to church, have a good countenance and a clear conscience. You will find a cordial welcome at all or any of the churches, so come—everybody come.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

At the Christian church the services for next Sunday are: Bible school, 10 a. m. Worship and preaching, 11 a. m. Christian Endeavor, 6:30 p. m. Evening service, 7:30 p. m.

Go To Church Every Sunday

Doubling one man's power is the same as employing two men. Any church can do it. It can be done by making it a matter of conscience to attend all public services. Empty pews take the heart out of the speaker. If those whose business and duty it is to be at the services are conspicuously absent, his power is reduced one-half. It may be that members are weary or troubled or careworn. It is always easy to find a plausible excuse for remaining away. One should not harbor such a thought for an hour. He should go without respect to his feelings. It will do him ten times as much good to go as to stay away. The exertion approaches negligible and brings reward. If they went and helped attract the outside community there would be no lack of auditors and no need of a change of ministers. There are few ways in which a people can do so much to multiply their preacher's usefulness as by standing by him in all the services. Without their presence and co-operation he is a shorn Samson. Christian people should not only come to church, but come prepared to enter into the spirit of services.

Fine Cattle Arrive

Platt Brothers arrived in Genesee Saturday morning from Marshalltown, Iowa, with a carload of registered Hereford cattle, the load consisting of 21 cows and heifers, two bulls and seven calves. While they had been on the road for two weeks they came through in fine shape. They will be placed on the Platt ranch, near town, where they may be seen by those interested in good cattle. They are all registered and are the kind of stock this part of the country needs.

It costs no more to raise registered cattle than scrubs and as all know a scrub is poor property at any price. Of course there are a great many good grade cattle in this part of the country, but the general tendency is to improve both the dairy and stock cattle of this section and just such cattle as these are the ones that will go a long way in that direction.

Monday morning about 2 o'clock the N. P. section house was burned to the ground. The origin of the fire is unknown. The house was occupied by the family of John Winterfeld. Only a part of the contents of the house were saved.

It is estimated that about 5000 acres of beans have been planted in the Kendrick section, the little navy bean is the popular variety. The Bostonians should come to this part of the country to secure the beans for their favorite dish.

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED

Exercises Held in City Park—Address by Rev. Fowler of Moscow

Decorations day was properly observed in Genesee, Saturday, May 30. The few remaining old soldiers, their friends and quite a number of school children assembled at the City park at 9 o'clock. They were taken in automobiles to the cemetery where the graves of the dead were decorated, and appropriated exercises held. These were in charge of the old soldiers.

The return was then made to the City park and an excellent program given. This consisted of a selection by the band, invocation by Rev. A. P. Orth, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" by male chorus, "Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech" by Amiel Jain, selection by the band, followed by the address of the day which was delivered by Rev. Fowler of Moscow.

This was a most excellent address, paying just tribute to our past heroes and especially to the soldiers of the Civil war to whom we owe the inheritance of an undivided country and through whose sacrifices we enjoy our present liberties. He stated his belief that Decoration day was one of the most appropriate of the many holidays kept by the American people, and that it should be observed in a reverent manner, just as it was observed here.

He closed the address with some splendid advice to the people and especially the young people of the country who hold the continuance of such liberty given us as a heritage by the fallen heroes. This we must do by education and personal thought along economic lines and by the proper exercise of the ballot. That we must as one people rise and free ourselves from industrial slavery and be in truth free.

The rendering of "A Star Spangled Banner" by male voices and the song "America closed the program.

The old soldiers asked that parents instruct their children to please not remove the small flags placed on soldiers' graves at the cemetery. This has been done in years past and they ask that those removing the flags desist.

Home Telephone Company

The newly-organized Home Telephone company is now in full control of the Genesee Telephone system the transfer having formally taken place last Monday, when the new officers and manager took charge.

Mr. Ballard is an experienced telephone man and expects to follow up every line, first putting the instruments in good working order, then resetting poles and making other necessary changes in the lines and instruments.

St. Joseph's School Entertainment

The pupils of St. Joseph's school gave a very interesting entertainment in the Opera House, Thursday, May 28.

The program consisted of a flag drill of boys and girls, "A Chinese Dummy" a playlet with an amusing twist to it, an interesting story told by little boys, "The Great Medical Dispensary" by six boys, in which the boys carried their respective parts exceptionally well; "A Dream of Fairyland," a complete and small girls closed the children's part of the program. In this the principal parts, that of May and Neva, were taken by Mary Krier and Bernadine Hasfarther. Both little girls carried their parts very creditably. Little girls representing good fairies, evil fairies and sprites added beauty and variety. The splendid music furnished by Miss Dorothy Driscoll aided very materially in making the entertainment the success it undoubtedly was.

Rev. Fr. Purcell did not make a set address but gave an interesting talk on the "Value of Education".

"ALL SET" FOR BIG SHOW

Everything in Readiness for the Horse Show—Many Entries For All Events

Barring bad weather, Genesee expects to see one of the largest crowds ever assembled here when the time arrives for the Big Horse Show—June 11-13. Assurances have been received from every corner of the county that many places without the county, that record-breaking crowds will arrive from all points at least one day of the three, and from many places they will come and spend the entire time.

F. E. Dicus, who has the entries in charge, states that every event will be filled and that from present indications the exhibitors and contestants will be more numerous than ever before. In fact, entries have already passed any mark heretofore set.

Manager Lambert states that everything is in readiness—that all arrangements have been completed for the handling of the large crowd which will be in attendance. He asks that the good people of Genesee who want to see the show a success open their homes and help care for the people who must have a place to sleep. If you have a spare bedroom you will rent, notify F. J. Cornish, who will list it and direct those who are seeking sleeping quarters of the visitors to the city.

Bids for the sprinkling of the streets of the city of Genesee were opened and were as follows:

Frank Bershaw, $85.00 per month straight time, or $4.00 per day.
Christy Stucker, $95.00 per month for three months, and $4.00 per day thereafter.
J. E. Moore, $86.50 per month, or $4.50 per day.
Genesee, $100.00 per month, or $4.50 per day.
S. A. Stucker, $95.00 per month, or $4.00 per day.

The city park will be mowed and put in condition so that all who wish to pitch tents there, or those who wish to have a picnic dinner are invited to use the park for that purpose. All public grounds within the city will be for the use of the visitors and the only request is that they be kept as sanitary as possible.

A cordial and hearty welcome is extended to all far and wide—to attend the Genesee Horse Show, which will be one of the biggest events ever attempted in Latah county. So come and have a good time—your are more than welcome.

Progressive Club Entertained

The hospitable ranch home of Mrs. Ira Hanson, was the scene of a most pleasant gathering, Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. Hanson acted as hostess to the Progressive club. When the roll was called just one club member was absent.

It was a delightful afternoon and the ladies were taken out in automobiles. The time was spent in the Genesee opera house. He spoke in the interests of state-wide prohibition in Idaho. He is a forceful and interesting speaker and predicted that state-wide prohibition would be in force in Idaho in 1916.

Messrs. J. T. Nelson, F. O. Shork, D. C. Burr, J. D. Keilly, J. C. Hanson and Anna Hanson were guests of the club.

Mrs. J. Red Dicus will be hostess to the club June 18.

Manager Malcolm wishes to announce that he will have a special program Saturday night, which will be of the usual high standard of his photo-plays.

Hon. W. H. Mason a Benedict

Announcements have been received in this city of the marriage of Hon. W. H. Mason, editor of the Deary Enterprise, and Miss Margaret Keane of Moscow.

The wedding was solemnized at 10 o'clock Monday morning in the Catholic parsonage at Moscow, with only relatives and a few close friends present, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Pecoul of that city.

The following account of the wedding is taken from the Moscow Mirror:

"The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Nellie Keane, as bridesmaid while the groom was attended by K. Balch, of Potlatch as best man.

"The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Keane of Moscow, pioneer residents of Latah county. The bride is a native of Latah county and has a very wide circle of friends in every section, being extremely popular with the younger set. She is highly educated and accomplished and for the past two years, following her graduation at the Lewiston, Normal she has taught school.

"The groom is not unknown in Latah county. His parents are residents of Nampa from which point he came to Moscow. He is a graduate of the university and subsequently completed a law course. He is a young man of sterling qualities and has a wide circle of warm friends. He has enjoyed a successful practice of law and is a member of the last legislature from Latah county. At the present time he is engaged in the practice of law at Deary where he is also engaged in the publication of the Deary Enterprise, a weekly newspaper.

"Following the wedding ceremony this morning the bridal party enjoyed a wedding dinner at the home of the bride's parents at Seventh and Harrison streets. The bride received many valuable and handsome gifts from friends. The young couple left at noon on a honeymoon trip to the coast after which they will take up their residence at Deary."

Miss Keane is a cousin of Mrs. D. C. Burr and has many warm friends in Genesee. The news joins with their friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Confirmation Services Held—Rev. Geo. Weibel, S. J., of Gonzaga College Delivers Sermons

Last Sunday was a red letter day in the history of St. Mary's church. Whit-Sunday marked the solemn closing of the Forty-Hours' devotion and was the first communion for over a dozen children.

The Forty-Hours' devotion began on the preceding Friday morning with the solemn mass of exposition of which the Rev. Thos. Purcell of Coueur d'Alene was the celebrant. The inspiring services came to a solemn close Sunday evening. The Rev. Geo. Weibel, S. J. of Gonzaga university, Spokane, preached on the three days, morning and evening. The Reverend speaker gave a plain and solid explanation of the Catholic doctrine of the real presence, holy communion and the sacrifice of the mass.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday special services were held twice a day for the children to prepare them for their first communion.

The following children of the parish received their first communion:

Broemmeling, Veronica Dwyer, Helene Griesser, Julia Hasfarther, Leo Broemmeling, William Gunther, Vincent Hasfarther, Lawrence Kimbel, Lawrence Kraut and Arthur Parslow.

The members of the choir did their part in a very creditable manner and by their efforts added to the beauty of the ceremonies.

The attendance at all the services was most gratifying, especially on Sunday at the three masses in the morning and at the closing service in the evening. Extra chairs were required to seat all those present. It was indeed a "Go-to-church Sunday" for the Catholics of Genesee.

STEAMERS COLLIDE: 969 MET DEATH

CANADIAN PACIFIC BOAT SUNK IN ST. LAWRENCE RIVER, NEAR OCEAN

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATES

Coal Collier Rammed the Empress of Ireland, in Dense Fog, Pulled Away and Let Her Sink—Empress Captain Freed of Being at Fault.

Rimouski, Quebec—On a total of 1387 persons on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Ireland when she sailed May 28 from Quebec to Liverpool, 964 were lost when the liner was rammed by the Danish collier Storstad and sank off Father Point, in the St. Lawrence river, before daylight May 31. In the latest estimate of figures issued by the Canadian Pacific railway the total number of dead is 964. Of this number 763 were passengers and 21 crew. The 403 survivors of the passengers numbered 201, crew 27.

Looking up through the river mists as the Empress of Ireland was lying dead in the water, waiting for the day to break, the Danish collier Storstad crashed bow-on into the side of the big Canadian liner, striking her about midway of her length and tipping her side open clear to the stern.

In Sight of Land. The crash occurred not far from the shore of Father Point, 150 miles from Quebec, which the Empress of Ireland had bound for Liverpool, and 10 miles from this point on the St. Lawrence. In reality, therefore, although the liner was heading for the sea and the collier coming in from the master's cabin was not one of the ocean, but of the river. Unlike the Titanic's victims the Empress of Ireland's lost their lives within the sight of shores in land locked waters.

Immediately the ship's crew recovered from the shock of the collision and it was seen the liner had received a vital blow a wireless "S. O. S." call was sounded.

The hurried prayer of the sea was picked up by the government mail steamer Lady Evelyn here and the government pilot boat Eureka at Father Point. Both sped to the rescue. So deep was the wound of the Empress that she was unable to make headway. Wreckage strewn the St. Lawrence for a long distance near where the Empress sank.

Twelve bodies with faces covered lay side by side on the wharf. They were passengers who had made the liner their home and were found by the government pilot boat Eureka at Father Point. Both sped to the rescue. So deep was the wound of the Empress that she was unable to make headway. Wreckage strewn the St. Lawrence for a long distance near where the Empress sank.

Investigating Tribunal Named. The public is awaiting the result of the government's inquiry to fix the responsibility for the disaster that resulted in the loss of nearly 1000 lives on the Empress of Ireland. A royal commissioner of three was appointed on Tuesday to investigate the cause of the disaster. The three men who will compose the investigating tribunal are Sir Adolph Roper, chief justice of the court of admiralty of Quebec; the Hon. Ezekiel McLean, chief justice and judge of the admiralty court of New Brunswick; and the Hon. J. C. D. Van der Vliet, chief justice of the court of admiralty of the British board of trade.

Big Wind in Milwaukee. Milwaukee, Wis.—A severe wind and electrical storm, resembling a cyclone, struck Milwaukee and western suburbs Sunday and Monday, doing a score of buildings. The damage may run to $500,000. No lives were lost.

California Lessons. Redding, Cal.—Honor Lesson, the southern terminus of the Cascade range, was quiet Tuesday night after throwing out smoke, steam, rocks and volcanic ash for 18 hours.

M. F. Fenenga, for 15 years president of Northland college, at Ashland, Wis., announces his resignation. He will engage in educational work in Oregon this fall.

Rescued Only to Die. Only a few persons were picked up by the Storstad, which was badly crippled in the collision. The Danish collier was still two miles away, but the liner had kept on through the fog which settled down soon after the two vessels collided. The Danish collier was still two miles away, but the liner had kept on through the fog which settled down soon after the two vessels collided.

Accounts agree that in the brief space of time—not more than 14 minutes—between the shock of the collision and the sinking of the liner there was little chance for systematic marshaling of the passengers. Everything indicates that hundreds of those on the steamer probably never reached the decks.

So quickly did the Empress sink that those passengers fortunate enough to get into the lifeboats found themselves garbed only in their night clothes. No baggage was saved. The condition of the survivors was pitiable. Some had broken arms and legs and all had suffered terribly from the cold. The bodies of the survivors were found by the government pilot boat Eureka at Father Point. Both sped to the rescue.

OUTLINES HIS PLAN ON WHICH TO SETTLE AFFAIRS DOWN IN MEXICO.

WOULD HOLD ELECTIONS IN JULY

President Down—Covering Entire Nation—Admits Right of Reba at Conference.

Mexico City—President Huerta, with regard to the settlement to which the Niagara Falls peace conference is directing its efforts, according to persons close to him, has proposed that the elections for president, vice president, senators, deputies and state governors should be held on July 5 next, as decreed by congress.

The president is desirous that these elections shall be free and legal, the constitutionalists having the right to exercise supervision in those portions of the republic now controlled by the government and the government agents the same right to supervise the returns in those parts of the country now in the hands of the constitutionalists.

Huerta, according to the same authority, has made solemn promises to stand over the executive power to the president elected. He objects to the appointment of a new provisional president, because it would have the effect of depriving the national sovereignty.

STEAMERS COLLIDE: 969 MET DEATH

CANADIAN PACIFIC BOAT SUNK IN ST. LAWRENCE RIVER, NEAR OCEAN

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATES

Coal Collier Rammed the Empress of Ireland, in Dense Fog, Pulled Away and Let Her Sink—Empress Captain Freed of Being at Fault.

Rimouski, Quebec—On a total of 1387 persons on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Ireland when she sailed May 28 from Quebec to Liverpool, 964 were lost when the liner was rammed by the Danish collier Storstad and sank off Father Point, in the St. Lawrence river, before daylight May 31. In the latest estimate of figures issued by the Canadian Pacific railway the total number of dead is 964. Of this number 763 were passengers and 21 crew. The 403 survivors of the passengers numbered 201, crew 27.

Looking up through the river mists as the Empress of Ireland was lying dead in the water, waiting for the day to break, the Danish collier Storstad crashed bow-on into the side of the big Canadian liner, striking her about midway of her length and tipping her side open clear to the stern.

In Sight of Land. The crash occurred not far from the shore of Father Point, 150 miles from Quebec, which the Empress of Ireland had bound for Liverpool, and 10 miles from this point on the St. Lawrence. In reality, therefore, although the liner was heading for the sea and the collier coming in from the master's cabin was not one of the ocean, but of the river. Unlike the Titanic's victims the Empress of Ireland's lost their lives within the sight of shores in land locked waters.

Immediately the ship's crew recovered from the shock of the collision and it was seen the liner had received a vital blow a wireless "S. O. S." call was sounded.

Twelve bodies with faces covered lay side by side on the wharf. They were passengers who had made the liner their home and were found by the government pilot boat Eureka at Father Point. Both sped to the rescue. So deep was the wound of the Empress that she was unable to make headway. Wreckage strewn the St. Lawrence for a long distance near where the Empress sank.

Investigating Tribunal Named. The public is awaiting the result of the government's inquiry to fix the responsibility for the disaster that resulted in the loss of nearly 1000 lives on the Empress of Ireland. A royal commissioner of three was appointed on Tuesday to investigate the cause of the disaster. The three men who will compose the investigating tribunal are Sir Adolph Roper, chief justice of the court of admiralty of Quebec; the Hon. Ezekiel McLean, chief justice and judge of the admiralty court of New Brunswick; and the Hon. J. C. D. Van der Vliet, chief justice of the court of admiralty of the British board of trade.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS ARE EASIEST TO WASH

The construction of the De Laval bowl is such that it can be completely taken apart for washing. The discs, bowl parts and tiarware have no tubes, crevices, holes or corrugated surfaces such as are found in other machines and which are very hard to clean. The De Laval discs are washed as a single piece and the whole machine can be thoroughly cleaned in five minutes.

There is no part of the De Laval bowl which cannot be easily reached and seen, so that the operator can always tell whether or not every part has been properly cleaned. The ease with which the De Laval can be thoroughly washed and kept in a sanitary condition is one reason why creamerymen prefer De Laval to other separator cream, and is likewise one of the reasons why butter made from De Laval cream has scored highest at the National Dairy Show for over 30 years.

Sunday's Ball Game

One of the cleanest and best ball games of the season was pulled off on the local diamond last Sunday afternoon, when Lewiston and Genesee met in combat. While the game was a little one-sided from the score standpoint, yet it was a good game and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The game started off with a rush, which was kept up all the way through, Tagland getting in a score in the first inning, Tug Carlander and Lester Gray each bringing in one in the fourth, and to make things good and safe Will Gray knocked a home run in the sixth, which wound up the score business for the day. Lewiston played hard and played good ball but were unable to pull a run across the home plate, which left the score standing 4 to 0 in favor of the Genesee boys. The local team will go to Colfax on Sunday, where they will meet the local team of that city.

The Knights of Pythias gave one of their enjoyable informal dances in the Pythian hall last Friday evening. The attendance was not so large as some of their previous dances, but the good time enjoyed by those in attendance made it quite as successful socially. Dainty refreshments of ice cream, punch and wafers were served during the evening. Splendid dance music was furnished by Miss Adaline and George Johann.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat.
There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

Life's "Commencement" Is Now Upon You

All over the country thousands of young men and women are being graduated from high schools and colleges in this glorious month of June.

This is "commencement" month, the month when young people, the thrift of whose parents have permitted them an education, are beginning life in earnest.

To wage the battle successfully requires capital, and there is no better, surer way of getting capital than to save a margin of your income every month and put it beyond the reach of chance or caprice.

Put it in this bank, where both your efforts and ours will add to its steady growth and where it will always be ready for you when the "big chance" comes along.

It's a safer way for the present and a happier way for the future

GENESEE HORSE SHOW A HUMMER

Assurances of Large Delegations—Program Completed—Carnival Company Arrives

Everything augurs well for the opening of Genesee's Fifth Annual Horse Show, which started today (Thursday). All events are filled and everything is starting off with a snap that makes everyone—young and old—sit up and take notice.

The big carnival company arrived Sunday afternoon and has its tents—some ten or a dozen in number—set up along the street leading to the depot, and will furnish amusement of all sorts to those who care for those things.

The baseball boys have their large bowery all ready for operation, where dancing will be the order during the day and night. The boys have taken every precaution to see that no objectionable characters shall be admitted and those who are fond of dancing are assured a pleasant time.

By referring to the program and premium list those interested will be able to tell just what is going on—place and hour. The first event will be on Thursday morning, beginning at 9:30, when the most interesting events of the day. Another ball game will be played by the contending teams for the $100 purse. And in the evening the big D. O. K. K. parade will take place, which none can afford to miss.

Saturday morning beginning at 10 o'clock a wild west and pioneer parade will take place which has as a top prize a purse of $25 for the best pioneer outfit, the exhibit to consist of wagon and team, pack outfit or any rig common to pioneer days. In the afternoon at the park will occur the cowboy races, bucking contests, calf riding, bull riding, steer race—in fact everything along that line for the amusement of those who care to witness these events.

The bucking contest has as a top prize a $20 purse for riding a wild bull, which promises plenty of excitement.

In addition to all these events other stunts and amusements of various kinds will be scheduled from time to time which will guarantee three days of amusement of a variety sufficient to please each and everyone.

Assurances have been received from diverse and numerous towns, cities and villages that large delegations will be present to help make the biggest and best horse show that has ever been attempted in this or any other county a success.

Lewiston has assured the management that the city will be here in force and that their "tug of war" team is in daily training, making ready to put Moscow "out of business" when the time comes for the big pull.

The Lewiston Tribune has this to say regarding their part of the event: "Yesterday the Commercial club committee recently appointed to arrange for a tug of war to go to Genesee on June 12 to meet a team from Moscow as a feature of the Genesee horse show celebration, held a meeting and took initial steps in organizing a line-up that gives assurance of making a joke of the best Moscow effort. The club committee comprises Storey Buck, Fred A. Butler and Mark Donaldson, and the preliminary team selected for workout, comprises the following: "P. W. Malarkey, F. N. Finch, County Commissioner Green, Commodore Nelson, C. L. McDonald, A. M. Vandye, Eugene Gasser, Jack McCormack and Horace Nelson. The tenth man is yet to be selected. C. L. McDonald was chosen captain of the team. William Dwyer was selected for coach, the view being that there would be sufficient poetry in his work to inspire the team to best effort. The workouts of the team will be conducted daily and eliminations made will be announced until the lineup is definitely selected.

A big delegation of Commercial club men will accompany the team to cheer them on in the contest."

Moscow has not been heard from directly for the past few days, but "tug of war" team was putting his mettle through all sorts of stunts and tricks in order that they may be able to hold their own against the strong team from Lewiston.

While Pullman is not represented in the try-out for muscular honors they have signified their intention of being here in force and will come over on Friday to help make that day a grand success.

The Pullman Tribune has the following to say regarding the delegation: "E. O. Cathcart, chairman of the committee from the Chamber of Commerce having in charge the arrangements for the excursion to Genesee on Friday next, announces that it is the program to have all autos leave Pullman at 8:00 o'clock in the morning. Everybody is urged to resurrect as many log show pennants as possible for decorative purposes. The Pullman Citizens' Band will be taken and stops will be made at Johnson, Colton and Uniontown where short concerts will be given. A large delegation is expected to attend."

ENCOURAGE LARGER AND BETTER HORSES

The man with the stallion can do much to encourage the production of better and larger horses. It is not enough that he stand a stallion; he should judiciously exploit the good qualities of his horse. Colt shows help to do this. Working the stallion also serves to modify. A stallion that is worked regularly in harness attracts more attention than one that is hidden away in a dark stall and tight-fenced pen, and he is also more likely to fulfill expectations in breeding.

When a man owns a high class draft stallion he is in a position to argue consistently and convincingly in favor of larger and better mares. In order to get all the mares that he can he must be able to furnish a good reputation for his horse as a sire. The sire and not the dam is commonly mentioned by farmers in indicating the parentage of a grade colt. With an inferior class of mares even the best stallion obtainable could not show a very desirable class of offspring.

The owner of a good stallion must accomplish some difficult work as an educator. Farmers must be made to see that an extra spent in the service fee of the right kind of a horse is well invested. There is a persistent tendency to hold a dime so close to the eye as to hide the sight of a dollar in the distance.

Costs 55 Cents to Raise Wheat
American wheat growers and farmers will be interested in a report made by a commission appointed by the government of Saskatchewan "to examine into the ways and means for bettering the position of Saskatchewan grain in the European markets."

In this investigation the commission looked into the cost of producing wheat under present conditions in that Province of Canada. The wheat producers of various sections of the province are reported to be interested to know that under present conditions the cost of producing wheat as determined by the commission is reported to be 55 cents per bushel on the farm and 62 cents per bushel at the elevator and at the points. According to the report, the cost of production has increased 12.15 per cent since 1909, while, on the other hand, the price of what to the Saskatchewan farmer has decreased from 1.55 cents per bushel in 1909 to 66 cents per bushel in 1913, leaving a net return on this basis, of 4 cents per bushel to the farmer.

It is possible that the interesting figures which have been developed by the grain commission will account for the fact that a large number of American farmers who have, in recent years, left the States to engage in farming in the territory are now asking for a certificate which permits the return of household effects to the United States. If the above statement is not the cause, perhaps it may be found in the long and rigorous winters characteristic of this section as compared with those in the leading farming districts of the States.

Tennis Club Entertained
One of the pleasant social functions of the season was that given by the social committee of the Tennis club, when they entertained the members of the club and a few invited friends, Saturday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Martinson.

The rooms were fragrant with bouquets of cut flowers. The evening was spent with music, playing charades and giving a musical romance. At the close of the evening dainty refreshments were served.

Attend Pioneer Picnic
T. Driscoll, Jos. Hasfurth, Geo. Meckel and C. H. DeBow went by auto Friday to Pomeroy, Wash., and on Saturday attended the Reunion of Pioneers at that place. They met many old friends and reported fine time and nice trip home. While there, Mr. DeBow visited a brother, the other gentlemen spending the time with old friends.

GROWING SOY BEANS IN THE NORTHWEST

I have grown soy beans in an experimental way for a number of years. When they were planted in a fertile soil they made a very good crop, but unless the soil was good they did not do much and in neither instance did they develop any or scarcely any tubercles upon the roots.

I sent to the department of agriculture and got bacteria culture for soy beans and used it on my seed, but this was a failure and I had about decided that from some cause it was not suited to the soy bean bacteria.

However, I decided to try again. I procured some seed, gave my soil a good dressing with stable manure, plowed it under and then broadcasted a 14 per cent available acid phosphate at the rate of 400 pounds per acre over the land and harrowed it in.

I planted my soy beans in drills run between the rows with a one horse cultivator two or three times. The beans made a very good crop and upon examining the roots I found that they were very well covered with large tubercles. Many of the tubercles were as large as the well matured seed. The plants produced a very good crop of soy, with the earlier variety especially.

This fall I took a special course of instruction on the pipe organ. The recital Monday afternoon was her graduation recital and was given in the College auditorium. She was assisted in the recital by Miss Victoria Strong, soprano. There was a splendid attendance of those who wished to hear Miss Bressler's final recital, and a splendid musical program was rendered.

We Should Worry
It is always the one who can not write a four line local and spell every word correctly, who makes fun of the errors in the newspapers. It is usually the fellow who could not write two weeks without going into bankruptcy, who feels competent to give the merchant pointers on how to conduct his business, and it is folks who could not make a push sales even if their lives depended upon it, who find fault with the ministers' sermons. The reason is not hard to find: No man knows how much brains it takes to do these things until he tries it himself. If we do our work as hypocrites, if we remain at the office we ought to be out looking for news; if we go out in our old clothes they laugh at us; if we wear good clothes they say we have a pull. Now what are we to do? Just as likely as not which someone will say we stole this from the man who has made his money in an exchange. So we did, but Dr. McCall's name from the club is more truth than poetry in the locate at Troy, Idaho.

Destroy "French Weed"
A weed pest commonly known as the "French weed" or penny cress, has become very numerous in various parts of the Nez Percé reservation. Becoming alarmed at the rapid spread of the pest, Superintendent Theodore Sharp asked the Bureau of Plant Industry at Washington the best method for eradicating it. The following reply was received: "The botanical name of this plant is Tropaeolum and it is also commonly known as 'French weed'. It is an annual weed, that is, it has the ability of living through the winter and producing seed early the following year. In order to kill it out it is merely necessary to prevent it from going to seed. In order to do this it will be necessary to keep a close watch on account of new seedlings springing up through a period of years from seed in the soil. It is very difficult to advise the best way of seed prevention. Cultivation early in the year before the weed has started to blossom is one of the best means. The seed of this weed commonly occurs in clover and grass seed and care must be taken that only pure seed of grasses and clover are sown."

As we are very close to the reservation it might be well for ranchers to look after this pest, as well as the many other weeds that are rapidly securing a foothold in this part of the Inland Empire.

Confirmation Services
Confirmation services were held in our Saviour's Lutheran church, north of town, on Sunday last, when the following appointments were received into the church: William Hove, Allen Bennet Sather, Eleonora Margreta Breivik, Agnes Theresa Danielson, Agnes Joanna Eikum and Borgitta Johnson.

The church was filled to its capacity and the services were very much enjoyed by those present.

Home Talent Play
The society comedy, "Miss Doulton's Orchids," will be given by local talent in the opera house on Thursday evening, June 11, for the benefit of the Genesee Improvement Society.

This is one of the best short plays that has ever been staged in the local opera house and is in the hands of competent people and there is no doubt that those who attend will be amply repaid for the time spent. Not only is a good evening's entertainment assured, but when you attend you are helping the ladies of this city in their praiseworthy work of improving our little city. They have done much and hope to do more, but it takes money to carry on any kind of work and this play is given for the purpose of raising money to further the work.

Tickets are on sale at Dicus' drug store and the price will be 50 cents for reserved seats and 25 and 35 cents for general admission.

Miss Bressler Graduates
Miss Mrs. F. K. Bressler, Misses Adaline Bressler, Mary Scroggin, of Spokane, Gladys and Irlah Larrabee went by automobile to Pullman, Wash., Monday afternoon and were in attendance at the pipe organ recital given by Miss Caroline Bressler.

Miss Caroline Bressler has been an attendant at the Washington State College and has taken a special course of instruction on the pipe organ. The recital Monday afternoon was her graduation recital and was given in the College auditorium. She was assisted in the recital by Miss Victoria Strong, soprano. There was a splendid attendance of those who wished to hear Miss Bressler's final recital, and a splendid musical program was rendered.

It is always the one who can not write a four line local and spell every word correctly, who makes fun of the errors in the newspapers. It is usually the fellow who could not write two weeks without going into bankruptcy, who feels competent to give the merchant pointers on how to conduct his business, and it is folks who could not make a push sales even if their lives depended upon it, who find fault with the ministers' sermons. The reason is not hard to find: No man knows how much brains it takes to do these things until he tries it himself. If we do our work as hypocrites, if we remain at the office we ought to be out looking for news; if we go out in our old clothes they laugh at us; if we wear good clothes they say we have a pull. Now what are we to do? Just as likely as not which someone will say we stole this from the man who has made his money in an exchange. So we did, but Dr. McCall's name from the club is more truth than poetry in the locate at Troy, Idaho.

Destroy "French Weed"
A weed pest commonly known as the "French weed" or penny cress, has become very numerous in various parts of the Nez Percé reservation. Becoming alarmed at the rapid spread of the pest, Superintendent Theodore Sharp asked the Bureau of Plant Industry at Washington the best method for eradicating it. The following reply was received: "The botanical name of this plant is Tropaeolum and it is also commonly known as 'French weed'. It is an annual weed, that is, it has the ability of living through the winter and producing seed early the following year. In order to kill it out it is merely necessary to prevent it from going to seed. In order to do this it will be necessary to keep a close watch on account of new seedlings springing up through a period of years from seed in the soil. It is very difficult to advise the best way of seed prevention. Cultivation early in the year before the weed has started to blossom is one of the best means. The seed of this weed commonly occurs in clover and grass seed and care must be taken that only pure seed of grasses and clover are sown."

As we are very close to the reservation it might be well for ranchers to look after this pest, as well as the many other weeds that are rapidly securing a foothold in this part of the Inland Empire.

The church was filled to its capacity and the services were very much enjoyed by those present.

Home Talent Play
The society comedy, "Miss Doulton's Orchids," will be given by local talent in the opera house on Thursday evening, June 11, for the benefit of the Genesee Improvement Society.

This is one of the best short plays that has ever been staged in the local opera house and is in the hands of competent people and there is no doubt that those who attend will be amply repaid for the time spent. Not only is a good evening's entertainment assured, but when you attend you are helping the ladies of this city in their praiseworthy work of improving our little city. They have done much and hope to do more, but it takes money to carry on any kind of work and this play is given for the purpose of raising money to further the work.

Tickets are on sale at Dicus' drug store and the price will be 50 cents for reserved seats and 25 and 35 cents for general admission.

The recital Monday afternoon was her graduation recital and was given in the College auditorium. She was assisted in the recital by Miss Victoria Strong, soprano. There was a splendid attendance of those who wished to hear Miss Bressler's final recital, and a splendid musical program was rendered.

Meriel Elenor McGlothness was born in Monroe Co., Iowa, May 26, 1848 and remained there until 10 years of age when her parents and family removed to Lucas Co., Iowa. On September 19, 1867, she was married to J. S. Rogers. They made their home in Iowa until 1880 at which time they moved to Washington Territory. In 1893 they moved to Jackson, Co., Oregon, and in 1904 came to Genesee, where they have since resided.

Mrs. Rogers joined the Christian church in 1872 and was a consistent and loyal member of that church until death.
A husband, J. S. Rogers, two sons, George and Charles E., three daughters, Mrs. O. F. Stucker, Mrs. L. A. Edwards and Mrs. J. F. Ramsey and seven grand-children are left to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother.

Along Route Two

James Nelson is remodeling and building an addition to his ranch home which will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000. When finished Jim will have one of the finest ranch homes in the county. He believes in building up to the minute in improvements.

Louis Anderson is building a large machine shed on his ranch, six miles north of town. Mr. Anderson believes it is cheaper to house his implements than to allow them to stand out in the weather.

John Hove has put a new iron fence in front of his handsome ranch home which improves the appearance of his place very materially. He also has a fine lawn started which everyone could have with a very little labor—and what is nicer than a pretty lawn?

As an indication that a silo will hold and the benefits derived from it, J. P. Kraut is still feeding his dairy cattle and hogs from his 100-silo. Mr. Kraut is very enthusiastic over the benefits and results of the silo.

During the electrical disturbance last Sunday evening three electric light poles were shattered near the Nebelsieck ranch. Several other poles were more or less damaged by lightning.

G. I. S. Meeting

The G. I. S. held their regular monthly meeting in the library rooms, Saturday afternoon.
Mrs. Walter Jain as chairman of the cemetery committee made an excellent report on the work done by that committee. Quite a good deal of clean-up work has been done and more will be done in the future. A considerable sum of money has been donated for this work by those directly interested in the cemetery.
Three new members were added to the G. I. S.
The vacant room formerly occupied as a jewelry store was secured as a rest room for the ladies and it is hoped visitors will make use of this privilege.
Arrangements were completed for the art display to be given by the society during the horse show. All the committee having a part in charge report excellent progress and there will certainly be an interesting display of fancy work, fruit and curries. The sewing done by the pupils of the public school in which the teachers were aided by members of the G. I. S. will be on display and should be quite interesting to all mothers.

Card of Thanks

J. S. Rogers and family wish to thank the friends and relatives who so kindly assisted them during the illness and after the death of their wife and mother.

Life's "Commencement" Is Now Upon You

All over the country thousands of young men and women are being graduated from high schools and colleges in this glorious month of June.

This is "commencement" month, the month when young people, the thrift of whose parents have permitted them an education, are beginning life in earnest.

To wage the battle successfully requires capital, and there is no better, surer way of getting capital than to save a margin of your income every month and put it beyond the reach of chance or caprice.

Put it in this bank, where both your efforts and ours will add to its steady growth and where it will always be ready for you when the "big chance" comes along.

It's a safer way for the present and a happier way for the future.

Is There Money in Dairying?

There is, and here is the answer: Cooperate with your neighbors in the ownership of a Babcock testing outfit. Weigh the milk of each cow at each milking and test once a week. This will enable you to brand the cow or cows which are not paying for their place in your herd.

Dispose of the cow or cows which have failed at the end of the year to pay what the best market would give you for her feed.

From those which have returned most in the production of milk and butterfat, raise heifer calves; feed them liberally, and milk them regularly.

Breed these heifers at the age of fifteen to twenty months to pure bred dairy sires from cows whose records show large and profitable productions of milk and butterfat.

Feed one pound of grain daily for every pound of fat produced weekly and with this, 30 to 35 pounds of good clean corn silage and all the clover or alfalfa they will clean up.

Keep these cows in clean, light stables with plenty of fresh water. Possible brush the cows each day for it pays better than does the grooming of your horses.

Water your herd two or three times daily and if the water has ice in it, warm it up with a tank stove. Do not expose your sensitive dairy types to cold stormy weather. Allow your cows two months rest between lactation periods.

Obtain bulletins and literature from your agricultural college or the government department of agriculture and keep posted on the best and most modern methods of managing your dairy herd.

Assistant in Dairying, Idaho Experiment Station.

FIFTH ANNUAL HORSE SHOW A GREAT SUCCESS

Largest and Best Show Ever Attempted—Many Fine Horses—Record Attendance

Genesee's Fifth Annual Show has gone down in history as one of the largest and best shows and entertainments ever attempted in a town many times the size of Genesee in this or any other county in the great Northwest—or any other part of the country, for that matter. In fact, a number of people who have traveled the country over and attended many shows, fairs and entertainments of various kinds in all parts of the United States said they never saw anything like it attempted before in a community of this size, and Genesee and her people, and especially the promoters, manager and all who had to do with the success of the undertaking, have reason to be proud of the grand success the horse show was, and already plans are being talked of for a "bigger and better" show next year, after each succeeding show it is easily seen where improvements can and will be made the next year.

People were astir bright and early Thursday morning making arrangements for the big parade which was scheduled for 9:30 o'clock, and shortly after that hour exhibitors began forming in line on the main street, fully 200 registered and grade horses and colts being brought out, aside from saddle and other horses, which would bring the total to better than 250 in all, which is by far the largest showing ever made in any of the parades during the past five years.

Immediately after the parade the horses entered in competition were lined up on the main street, where W. L. Carlyle of Moscow, who acted as judge, decided the merits of the horses entered in the various classes. These winning prizes and ribbons are as follows:

HOME TALENT PLAY

One of Best and Highest Ever Staged in Local House—Large Crowd

The home talent play staged by the Dramatic club at the Genesee opera house, Thursday evening, June 11, for the benefit of the Genesee Improvement society was very successful. The play was entitled "Miss Doulton's Orphans," a real comedy in two acts, without a dull moment from beginning to end. It was a clean, bright, well-staged comedy, such as to furnish a fitting climax to the day's entertainment.

The cast of characters were all represented by home people and were happily chosen. Those taking part were: Herbert Martinson, Enya Martinson, Edna Martinson, Edna Driscoll, Ruth Martinson and Frieda Meyer.

Friday evening proved to be very interesting, especially to the boys, who were all made application to become members of the D. O. K. K. order, which put on a ceremonial in the Knights of Pythias hall during the evening. Some 30 volantes of the order were made up. The first of the evening was the parade, which was led by the parade committee and Clarkston for the purpose of taking the tryos across the hot sands, and from all reports right well they did their work. A light supper was first served in the hall after the parade was over. The boys who were interested in going to the hall where the work was put on, did not witness all the fun, there being a large number of those who were interested in going to the show in Genesee.

Saturday's program was no less interesting than had been the ones on the previous days. The first thing on the program was the wild west and pioneer parade, which was participated in by Indians, cowboys, pioneer outfits, etc., and was one of the most interesting parades held in Genesee. A prize of $25 was hung up for the best pioneer outfit, the exhibit to consist of wagon and team, pack outfit or any rig common to pioneer days. There were a number of entries, and the prize was thoroughly appreciated by all, especially those who had witnessed such in early days. The prize was awarded to John Platt of the Salmon river country, who has the outfit on his own property, and who is not only in pioneering in that country, but who uses the outfit at the present time in going to and from their ranch on Salmon river.

For the best cowboy outfit, Oran Head was awarded the prize. Best Typical Indian garb, Jane Li and Amelia Mox Mox.
Oldest mounted riders, Sam Wilson and Peo-peo-talic (Indians).
Saturday afternoon the sport began at the park with a cowboy race, which was won by McGinnis, first, and Mustard, second.

The bucking contest for a purse of $50, E. W. Potech was given first place, while Eugene Nibbler was given second place.
Calf riding, by boys under 20—Mustard, first; second prize, second.
For the best bucking horse, Chas. Henderson had no competition. While there were other horses on the ground that did a pretty fair job of bucking, the sorrel horse owned by Henderson was by far the best. He bucked in Genesee—or any other place outside of Pendleton—for that matter, as a young lady bought some of our paper to curl her hair, and now she has a little of this kind left. By using our statements a person can collect old accounts, tell fortunes, cause rain, change the color of the hair, find out the name of your future wife or husband, be successful in your calling, and get elected to office. Give us a call.

FIVE ACCIDENTS

Three Days of Horse Show Brings Grief to Five—None Seriously Hurt

The three days of the horse show brought forth five accidents, any of which might have proven more serious than they really were.

The first on the list occurred Thursday afternoon during the cowboy race, when the horse ridden by Otis Smith collided with another horse coming from the opposite direction, precipitating Smith to the ground, breaking his right collar bone near the shoulder. He was taken to the office of a physician where the fracture was reduced.

The next, and perhaps the most serious of the day, occurred early Friday morning to Geo. Fox of Vollmer. In a horse trade with a man who was desirous of securing a very gentle animal, Fox sought to demonstrate the gentleness of the animal he was trading and in so doing, turned the horse loose and was attempting to crawl between its forelegs, when the animal thought to go out and get a little grass, turned and started away, and in so doing trampled upon the calf of one of the boys, causing the bone to be broken and otherwise bruising and lacerating the limb. It took 20 stitches to close the wound.

Clarence Huffman had a very serious accident on the morning of the horse show when he was run down by a horse driven to a buggy. The lad was struck in the left temple and rendered unconscious. He was removed to a doctor's office where he was kept all possible aid and was soon able to be removed to his home, where he rapidly recovered.

Just after the pioneer parade Amelia Mox Alox, one of the Indian boys, was thrown from his horse and severely bruised, but no bones were broken.

Jackson Sundown, the Indian who took part in the bucking contest had his left ankle and leg severely bruised when the outlaw sorrel horse which he was attempting to ride, reared and fell upon him. Sundown was put out of business for the rest of the day and in the evening sought a physician who dressed the bruised ankle and limb.

Planning Highways for Efficiency

Many roads should be completely relocated, so as to run around hills, instead of directly over them or through them, and to make the climbing easier. A hill limits all the road; a team can draw to market only what it can take over the hill. There is a great waste of energy in pulling a load up a hill, and it is painful to climb over needless hills. Many roads also are needlessly long and should be straightened.

We have only begun to use our country. For a hundred years we have made some sort of shift at occupying it, but here remains some thousands of years ahead of us. Think of those years and all the weary beasts and men that must use these roads in mortars. Come, then before making them permanent set that they are rightly located. There will never be a time when changes can be made easier or cheaper than now. Every bit of permanent work done tends to fasten the road where it is. Let us plan that permanent road for efficiency and for a long time to the owners' expense. Milling to lessen grades and make easier the curves, and these changes save coal and time and prevent wrecks. In the long run, they get back that expenditure, with profit added.

Some Things We Do

Stationery printed at this office is giving satisfaction. Last week we printed 500 statements for a man, and by their aid he collected a majority of 22, which will give the residents of Lewiston an opportunity to lead the best down in the busy, bustling town. It is probable that Lewiston will be the only "oasis" in the county as the sentiment seems to be against the liquor traffic in most of the other towns and villages that in all probability the county commissioners will refuse to grant licenses to them.

According to all reports, the wet and dry issue in Nezperce county has been settled, for a time at least. The latest count gives the wets a majority of 22, which will give the residents of Lewiston an opportunity to lead the best down in the busy, bustling town. ## GENESEE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY ART DISPLAY

Society Awards Ribbons For Best Displays of Fruits and Fancy Work

The art display given by the Genesee Improvement society was one of the real attractions during the horse show dates. The exhibit was held in the library rooms and was well attended.

The fancywork section was under the direction of Mrs. Jno. Kempf, assisted by Mrs. F. E. Lambert and Miss Pauline Steltz. The display in this section would have done credit to places many times the size of Genesee. Here were beautiful hand embroidered articles, knitted and crocheted work, handkerchiefs, battenberg and all kinds of hand work. The work was judged Thursday morning by Mrs. C. J. Abrams of Hillary, Wash., and J. L. Davis of St. John, Wash., and blue and red ribbons were awarded in the different classes.

The following is a list of those receiving ribbons:

Pillow case, first and second, Mrs. B. P. Phipps.
Towel, first, Mrs. W. M. Herman; second, Mrs. B. F. Phipps.
Handkerchief, first, Mrs. S. Casebolt; second, Miss Pauline Steltz.

Pin cushion, first, Mrs. Maggie Meyers; second, Sarah Martin.
Chenille rug, first, Mrs. A. N. Coverdale.

Owing to the time of year being unfavorable for a canned fruit display this section was small, but nevertheless creditable and it is hoped this will be only the beginning of preparations during the coming season for a fine fruit display for the county fair this fall. Mrs. B. F. Phipps and Mrs. Walter J. Gunther had charge of the fruit.

Those receiving ribbons on fruit were:

Mrs. Jno. Kempf, first, bees, first, cucumber pickles, first, corn.
Mrs. J. H. Hirsberger, first, strawberry jelly.
Mrs. Jas. Nisbet, first, pepper-hash.
Mrs. M. W. Herman, first, beans, first, gooseberries.
Mrs. L. Jain, second, peaches.
Mrs. P. C. McCreary, first, peaches, second, cherry pickles, first and second, quince preserves.
Mrs. F. E. Lambert; first, cherry pickles.

Mrs. Patrick; second, beans.
Mrs. Walter J. H.; first, strawberries.
Mrs. B. H. Schooler, second, strawberries.
Mrs. Bolton; first, huckleberries.
The sewing done by the school children of the different grades was on display and created much favorable comment. This was in charge of Mrs. J. Hirsberger and Mrs. James Nisbet.

The curio was an interesting part of the display. Curios gathered from many countries were to be seen, among them, needlework done by Spanish and Indian women of South America, many Mexican and Indian curios, a hand made German bird wagon, grape shot from a Mexican battle field, fine Mexican drawn work, curio from the Philippines, etc. Mrs. F. J. Cornish and Mrs. J. S. Larrabee had charge of this section.

ATLANTIC LINER RAMMED

Passengers Given Shakeup and Scare, But No One Is Injured.

While the American liner New York westbound, was motored in a heavy fog 400 miles east of Atlantic City, the ship, New York Saturday, the Hamburg-American liner Pretoria, bound east, ran into her and ripped a hole 12 feet high and 32 feet long in her port side.

The hole is flush with the main deck and is 15 feet above the water line. So great was the force of the collision that the Pretoria's anchor was torn from her bow and left hanging inside the gap that had been torn in the New York's side.

Practically all the passengers on board both ships were asleep. Immediately after the collision the engines on both ships were ordered to stop and passengers came hurrying to the deck.

The passengers of the New York were able to reach the main deck and the Pretoria as she pulled away from the dangerous position. There was no panic.

Captain Roberts and Chief Officer Turner were both on the bridge at the time of the collision. They assured the frightened passengers, many of whom murmured in their cabins that they anticipated a list to port, that there was no danger. Members of the crew also went among the passengers to assure them that there was no danger. Fortunately the watch which occupied the quarters behind that part of the ship which was crushed in was on duty in the stokehold. Had the collision occurred while this watch was off duty a number of lives probably would have been lost.

The Pretoria was less damaged by the collision with the New York. Several of the plates at her bow were sprung and twisted. After the passengers had been assured that there was no danger they began to laugh and joke over the queer costumes in which some of the travelers appeared on deck. The passengers refused to return to their cabins until daylight. After it was determined that neither of the ships were in danger of sinking they were on their way.

CARRANZA'S MOTIVATION OCCURS AT BUTTE

MEXICO MEDIATORS REFUSE TO LET HIS DELEGATES ENTER THE CONFERENCE.

WOULD NOT SIGN AN ARMISTICE MEMBERS OBJECT TO ASSESSMENTS

United States and Huerta Still Disagree on Man for Presidency—Continue the Meeting Friday—Rehe Short on Timber.

Niagara Falls, Ont.—The three South American mediators formally advised General Carranza by telegraph Tuesday they would not admit his delegates to the conference here unless an armistice were declared, and internal as well as international phases of the Mexican problem accepted as the scope of mediation.

This action followed the receipt of a note from Rafael Zubarran, special representative of Carranza, at Washington, announcing the appointment of Fernando Iglesias Calderon, Luis Cabreria and Jose Vasconcelos as constitutional delegates to the mediation, which according to the view of the constitutionalist chief, "it is sought to settle the international conflict which has arisen between the United States and the Mexican republic."

Can't Agree on President. The Carranza communications were barely mentioned at the conference Monday, which was devoted to the question of selecting a provisional president to succeed General Huerta.

The four men, who were in discussion, and was as fruitless as previous meetings.

During the next three days there will be formal sessions of the mediation, as the informal parties were officially designated, will be held, but it is becoming more apparent daily that the two sets of delegates are insisting that a "neutral" be named.

Senior Rabasa intimated that he did not believe the constitutionalists had the ability to carry out the wishes of many people in the territory controlled by Huerta, but nevertheless showed a willingness to consider all who may be suggested.

Roding, Cal.—Fire, Smoke, steam, volcanic ashes, rocks and deadly gases belched Sunday night, not only from the crater which opened up near the summit of Mount Lassen May 30, but also from two new craters that burst into existence before dark more than a mile from the first of the new craters, making this the newest active volcano in the world.

Flames were seen shooting from the mountain at the time during the seventh eruption of the volcano, which occurred at 7 o'clock Sunday night. The fire was visible from the tops of taller buildings in Redding and from the power station at Eola.

IMMIGRATION TOPIC

MAKING THE MANY CHANGES IN PAST FEW YEARS IN OUR LAWS BE HELPFUL?

FROM AN INDUSTRIAL VIEW POINT Effect Upon Wages Largely Depends on Two Main Factors: Standard of Living and Efficiency—Common Labor to Be Protected.

The change in the character of our European immigration, the proposed literacy test, effects of the Chinese exclusion problem, California's anti-land law and the effects of the Panama canal are some of the interesting developments which have been introduced into this country. But, before endeavoring to discuss any of these specific problems, it is well to bring up the general question of the social effects of immigration and in so doing the writer will simply set down fundamental principles of more or less general application to the nationality of immigrants or to any special economic conditions.

One of the most important questions to consider is that of the immigrant worth to us commercially? The amount of actual money he brings with him is probably of least importance. It is rather the quality of his training or securing a more important factor. It is a question of their earning capacity or industrial standing.

There is a healthier tone to the iron and steel situation is the recent buying of pig iron by leading concerns. The market is estimated that 100,000 tons of pig iron were sold in the first week of the month. In regard to copper, the demand has been forced to lower levels.

Bradstreet's says: "Sentimentally and fundamentally, trade conditions are better, even though irregularly in the economic situation provided we have, and so long as we have, the material and opportunity of setting the immigrants to work."

Only a small per cent of immigration is of economic value. Approximately 75 per cent is unskilled or common labor and a large part of this has not had the education and training that our own laborers have. Naturally the unskilled laborers compete more or less with our own laborers, so the effect of immigration upon the standard of living is a matter of concern.

It is evident that a modification of wages may be necessary in order to maintain the relation between the supply of labor and the amount of work to be done. Any modification in wages also depends on the character of the labor force. So long as the labor force is unskilled, and the general standard of wages cannot be pressed materially below what the average man can get for his own labor, immigration will not affect wages and undoubtedly contributes to the development of the country.

In this condition of the tillable land is nearly all taken up and we are approaching a time when we may seriously consider the effect of immigration upon wages. At that point, place greater restrictions upon immigration, even if it means a reduction in the standard of living, if itself, tend to check immigration and to check the progress of the nation in the character of immigration during recent years.

Provided the foreign laborers come in the right proportions as to skilled and unskilled labor, and that the labor force is properly distributed and assimilated, the effect upon wages depends upon two main factors:—(1) standard of living, and (2) efficiency. The standard of living is the result of the carrying capacity of the land, and the efficiency is the result of the assimilation of the labor force.

First, where the immigrants have the same standard of living and same degree of efficiency as our own labor, and the nation is enriched in labor power and indirectly in wealth if the labor is utilized.

Second, where the immigrants have a lower standard of living and lower efficiency. Provided this condition were to continue we would undoubtedly face a displacement of American labor, but the most important thing which we can do nothing to prevent is the raising of the immigrant's standard of living. But this result does not follow in the case of oriental immigration.

SEE and TRY a DE LAVAL

We do not believe that a farmer who knows anything about farm machinery could be induced to buy any separator other than a De Laval after he had seen the latest improved De Laval machine and had given it a trial.

It is a fact that 99% of all separator buyers who do SEE and TRY a DE LAVAL machine before buying, purchase the De Laval and will have no other. The 1% who do not buy the De Laval are those who allow themselves to be influenced by some other consideration besides real genuine separator merit.

If you are thinking about buying a cream separator we will consider it a favor if you will permit us to set up a De Laval for you on your own place and have you give it a fair trial.

You will be under no obligation to buy the machine if it does not make good all our claims, and should you decide to keep it and cannot conveniently pay cash, you may do so on such easy terms that it will actually save its cost while you are paying for it.

Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

of the show. While there were those in the crowd who said they could ride who failed to do so, and those who tried him once were not anxious to again try their luck. This last event closed the program so far as the horse show was concerned and all who were in attendance expressed themselves as more than satisfied with the entertainment given them and were loud in their praise of the Fifth Annual Genesee Horse show.

Horse Show Notes
Fully 5000 people were in attendance at the horse show on Friday. More than 50 of Lewiston's business men were in attendance at the horse show on Friday.

It was one of the most orderly crowds, for the size, ever gathered together in this or any other town. Genesee is justly proud of the horse show just closed and are more than willing to join in boosting the "biggest ever" for next year.

The Moscow Mirror said: "Moscow visitors returned home late last night from the Genesee Horse show and the hospitality of the Genesee Knights of Pythias".

The Lewiston Tribune said: "The visiting Dokes all had a good word to say for the Genesee Horse show and the hospitality of the Genesee Knights of Pythias".

The big bowery dance given by the baseball boys in their pavilion was one of the drawing cards during the evening, some of the dancers forgetting to go home until breakfast time.

Al Whitted as marshal did himself proud and the only thing that kept him from being a "Kentucky Colonel" was the absence of the necessary hirsute appendage of the upper lip and chin.

The oldest automobile in the parade of Friday was a 1906 Ford, owned by J. A. Adams of Moscow, which has a record of 76,000 miles and Mr. Adams claims he will run it as many more and from all appearances he will make good.

Splendid music was furnished during the three days by the Genesee band, assisted by a few outside musicians. The management and directors are justly proud of the music furnished. Pullman also furnished some splendid music during Friday.

Tom Bills says he rode the outlaw horse owned by Henderson, at Culdesac but that he didn't have his bucking habits on like he did at Genesee. Tom measured his length on the ground at the third jump of the horse. The animal is 10 years old and is just getting into good bucking trim.

The numbers which were good for 10 gallons of gasoline are Nos. 55, 49, 23, 62, 86, 69, 48, 82, 19, 78. Manager Lambert would like to have those who hold any of the foregoing numbers, and who have not already gotten their gasoline, to call at his place of business and get an order for the same.

W. J. Jordan, general agent of the Northern Pacific railway, with his office at Lewiston, after returning to his home city from the horse show had this to say: "The event today was one of the biggest of its kind I have ever seen, and the people of Genesee are to be congratulated for being so much royal entertainers".

Jackson Sandown, the Indian broncho buster, is one of the best riders in the Northwest and has as white a heart as was ever concealed beneath a red skin. There are those who say he would have ridden the sorrel horse had the animal not fallen upon him. One thing is sure, if the outlaw can be ridden Sandown can come as near it as any one.

The Bauscher-French Carnival company, which pitched its tents in Genesee the first of last week, did a very nice business and all are loud in their praise of the way in which the shows and other attractions on the ground were conducted, there being nothing of the least objectionable character tolerated by the management.

Manager Fred Lambert has the thanks—which hardly repays him—for the time and energy expended—of the citizens of Genesee and the Commercial club in particular, for the grand success he made of the Fifth Annual Horse Show, for it was due to his efforts, more than any other one man (or bunch of them) that the show was such a grand success. We all take our hats off to Fred.

Pullman was well represented in the automobile parade, both by autos bearing banners advertising their coming horse show and by autos which they may well be proud of. Many people of that city were in the city during the day and speak highly of the horse show and their treatment while here, but some few were disappointed on account of not seeing the parade of horses, which occurred on Thursday morning.

Life's "Commencement" Is Now Upon You

All over the country thousands of young men and women are being graduated from high schools and colleges in this glorious month of June.

This is "commencement" month, the month when young people, the thrift of whose parents have permitted them an education, are beginning life in earnest.

To wage the battle successfully requires capital, and there is no better, surer way of getting capital than to save a margin of your income every month and put it beyond the reach of chance or caprice.

Put it in this bank, where both your efforts and ours will add to its steady growth and where it will always be ready for you when the "big chance" comes along.

It's a safer way for the present and a happier way for the future

The Harley-Davidson Two-Speed WITH STARTER

It's the last word in motorcycles. The two-speeds are selective, and the rider can shift from high to low or low to high, or neutral while the machine is standing still or in motion. The step-starter does away with the necessity of dismounting and placing the machine on the stand to start. The rider may sit in the saddle with both wheels on the ground and give either pedal a downward push, engaging the step-starter and starting the motor.

The Idaho climate, especially on the table or medium altitudes, is especially adapted to seed growing and farmers will do well in this part of the state to work into raising grass seed. ### MUST DESTROY WEEDS

Extracts From State Law Regarding Noxious Weeds Where Petitions Are Filed

Some are of the opinion that a trustee or his authorized agents have no right to enter upon private property for the destruction of noxious weeds after an order has been received from the county commissioners, upon petition of 25 per cent of the real holders in said district, and as there have been some one or two such cases, the News has been asked to publish extracts of the state law bearing on the subject, which are as follows:

Sec. 3. And it shall be the duty of every road overseer, upon receipt of such order, to proceed to destroy all the noxious weeds, of the kind included in the order, growing in the highways of his district, within the time fixed by the notice provided for in Section 1 of this Act, and after the expiration of the time fixed in said notice, it shall be the duty of every road overseer to proceed to destroy all such noxious weeds in his district outside of public highways, and for that purpose has the right, either by him or his order, to enter upon the premises of another. And he shall have the right to employ such help as may be necessary to complete said work within such time as will prevent such weeds from maturing and seed, and the cost of such additional help, together with his own compensation as now fixed by law, shall be a legal claim against the county and paid out of the current expense fund.

Sec. 4. It is the duty of every road overseer, immediately after the work required of him by this Act is complete, to render to the county auditor of his county a true and correct statement showing in detail the total cost of destroying noxious weeds on any piece of land or railroad right-of-way in his district, outside of the public highways on which noxious weeds have been destroyed by him or under his direction. And the county auditor shall under a proper heading enter the same on the tax list as a charge against said land or right-of-way, and against the owner thereof and that the charge shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as general taxes and when collected shall be turned into the general county fund.

To Protect Forests

According to advices sent out from Missoula, Mont., more than $300,000 will be spent in the protection of North Idaho forests during the period between July 1, 1914 and June 30, 1915. The allotment is made in accordance with the appropriation bill for the department of agriculture.

It behooves every one who goes to the forest to be careful of fire never leaving camp until the last particle of fire is extinguished. Last year comparatively few forest fires were reported and it is hoped to keep them down to a minimum this year. The light snowfall and the absence of moisture are conducive to fires and all campers are warned to take extra caution in extinguishing their camp fires before leaving them.

Grain Prospect Good

The Genesee country has never had a finer prospect for a heavy yield of grain of all kinds. The fall barley and wheat is in fine condition and will make a heavy crop without further moisture but the spring grain is needing a badly. If a good rain comes within the next few days there will be one of the heaviest yields known in this part of the country for many years of spring grain.

There are also a number of fine fields of corn out on the rim—which is one of the best parts of the country for corn. Out on the Reuben ranch there is about 50 acres of fine corn as yet uncut. It is a good look at and while a rain would help it is not suffering at this time.

There are also a number of other fine fields along the rim that are said to be in excellent condition. Herman Moerscheck has about 30 acres of fine corn which would be hard to beat in any of the so-called corn states—which is another demonstration of the fact that corn can be profitably raised in this part of the country.

Moscow Chautauqua

The Moscow chautauqua will be held this year from July 8 to 13. It will give those who appreciate and enjoy those entertainments an opportunity to satisfy their desire in that line as the program is varied and is composed of some of the very best attractions in the chautauqua line including the famous Cirio Italian band which is conceded to be one of the very best musical organizations on the road, lecturers, glee clubs, entertainers, jubilee singers, orchestras, etc. The chautauqua spirit is catching and when you attend one day you will attend the entire series and when you attend one year you will be a regular attendant in future. The entertainers are not only for pleasure but are educational, therefore you are assured the worth of your money two-fold.

The white winged dove of peace is still hovering over Niagara, but it is some weary.

Fisheritis

The air we breathe, the food we eat, and all we drink is "pizen." And how we live from day to day is really quite surprising!

Malaria rages in the South, and North and East and West Pneumonia shows us down like grass and Typhoid does the rest. But of all the microbes, great or small, That Nature sends to fight us, The worst that ever that struck a man, Is the germ of Fisheritis. When this disease gets hold on you, Your name is "Dennis Muc." For it is working When it once gets in your blood. So when the thing gets chronic It simply can't be broke, You've got to go and fish it out. Or else lie down and croak. But when it's cured it won't stay cured Like any other sore, And when the thing breaks out again You've got to fish some more.

Pay Your Taxes

The attention of those who have not already paid the second installment of their 1913 taxes, is called to the fact that on and after Monday, July 6, the second installment of taxes will be due and delinquent after that date. Your attention to this matter may save a good many dollars for those who have not already paid after the matter. Better do it now.

Even the extreme heat of summer has its good points—it boils the cussedness out of some people.

K. of P. Grand Lodge

The twenty-third annual convention of the Knights of Pythias of the domain of the state of Idaho, and the sixteenth annual convention of the Pythian Sisters was held at Weiser, Idaho, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 17, 18 and 19, and was in point of attendance the largest gathering of Pythians ever held in the state of Idaho. The report of the grand chancellor showed that this organization is making rapid gains in this state, the increase being almost 10 per cent during the past year. On Thursday night, the D. O. K. K. held a ceremonial and took a large class across the burning sands of the desert and on Friday afternoon the team left for Gooding, where another ceremonial was held last night, and on Monday another large class will be initiated in this rank at Blackfoot. The officers selected for the ensuing year are as follows: Grand chancellor, Frank P. Hess, Wallace; grand province chancellor, Charles E. Harris Montpelier; grand prelate, Frank E. Smith, Weiser; grand keeper of the keys, P. C. Hahn Coeur d'Alene; grand master of exchequer, Charles W. Culp, Rathdrum; grand master at arms, Thomas R. Jones, Warden; grand inner guard, J. N. Nankley, near Moscow; grand guard, H. V. Williams, Sandpoint; grand tribune, three-year term, Finis Bentley, Lewiston; grand trustee, three-year term, H. C. McCain, Cottonwood.

"DOC" IS A BAD ONE

Throws all Riders In Try-Out at Cullidesa—Will Be at Lapwai July 3-4

In years gone by some have said that there had been no bucking horses at the "buckaroo" shows in Genesee, but as an evidence that they had the real thing this time, the following from Cullidesa, and printed in the Lewiston Tribune, will give you the real thing, with some of the sorrel horse which many tried to ride here and failed, was the "real thing":

"Doc" the horse that proved "unriddable" at the Genesee horse show on June 13 when he tossed off a half dozen buckaroos, was again in the limelight today when he vanquished Ed. Gaskill, known as "Red" Gaskill. The event occurred at an informal program given here today at the round-up grounds. So soon as Gaskill was in the saddle, "Doc" gave a "bully-bawl" and then started jumping high and hard with a side twist that landed Gaskill the ninth jump. "Doc" is owned by Dr. Clark, the well-known veterinarian, who secured the animal by trade, the consideration being a span of horses high and hard with a side twist that landed Gaskill the ninth jump. "Doc" is owned by Dr. Clark, the well-known veterinarian, who secured the animal by trade, the consideration being a span of horses high and hard with a side twist that landed Gaskill the ninth jump. ### Moscow Delegation Appreciated

In writing up the horse show last week the News inadvertently failed to mention the fact that the Moscow band, accompanied by some 25 or 35 automobiles was in Genesee on the second day of the show and took part in the festivities, that the band was overbooked was due to the fact that the delegation did not arrive here until about 1:30 o'clock, hence was not in the parade. We had no intention of slighting Moscow or her splendid band in giving the proceedings of the big show and take this method of rectifying the oversight.

Genesee and the horse show management appreciates the fact that as large a delegation was present as the band, there is none better in the state which has been brought to its present high state of perfection under the instruction of Prof. Carey, their leader.

Large Bean Yield Looms

The villages of Juliacta and Kendrick, for long ago apart at opposite edges of the hub of the largest and most productive bean "wheel" of the Inland Empire if not in the entire northwest. Within a radius of 15 miles of the above named towns there will be raised this season 6500 acres of beans divided as follows: Big Potlatch ridge, 3000 acres; Fix Ridge, 1000 acres; American ridge, 1000 acres; Burnt ridge, 500 acres; Little Bear ridge, 500 acres; Big Bear ridge, 500 acres. The yield is expected to run from 700 to 1200 pounds per acre. If growers get the average yield of 950 pounds the total would be 6,175,000 pounds of beans from the above area, which at 3 cents a pound the prevailing price during the last three years gives $185,250 as the result of a single season's crop. The price named is for the crop just as it comes from the machines without being cleaned.

Balanced Ration Saves Feed

A balanced ration is "one in which each of the different food materials or nutrients is present in just the right proportion and amount to meet the needs of the animals," says bulletin 159 of the Illinois agriculture experiment station. Tests conducted by the station showed that a ration of 100 parts of balanced ration yielded a pound of butter fat for each 17 pounds of total nutrients consumed, while 21 pounds were consumed to a pound of butter fat when an unbalanced ration was fed.

Lewiston Chautauqua

The Lewiston Chautauqua opens July 7 and will continue for six days. The program will include as one of the best attractions ever brought to the Pacific coast. The central idea of a chautauqua is to provide high-class entertainment at a minimum cost, and the Lewiston Chautauqua will fill both requirements.

Dr. C. F. Toumy, A. A. Raymond and A. Lindquist composed a fishing party that motored to Dent, last Saturday. From Kendrick, the party were piloted to the fishing grounds by Dr. and Mrs. Hoyt.

Joe Meersch's large new barn is about completed and when done he will have one of the largest and best in this part of the country, and that is saying a lot, for there are some barns in the Genesee country as one will find in any part of the country, east or west. The loft has a hay capacity of 110 tons, with everything else in proportion—figure it out for yourself.

Mel Smith has recently purchased the property just east of the Christian church from Mrs. Laura E. Gobel. Mr. Smith has donated this property to the Christian church, and which will be used as a parsonage by that denomination.

OLD RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. G. N. Hollister, Genesee Pioneer Passes to Great Beyond

Mrs. G. N. Hollister was born in Silvertown, Oregon, July 13, 1855. In 1884 she moved with her parents to Waitsburg, Wash., where on Nov. 5, 1872 she was married to George Newton Hollister. In 1877, Mr. and Mrs. Hollister moved to Genesee where together they lived the life of the early pioneers and they made their home until the time of Mrs. Hollister's death, which occurred June 18, 1914, making her age 58 years, 11 mo. and 5 days.

Mrs. Hollister had been in poor health for a number of years and often expressed the desire to leave her earthly home and go to her eternal rest. This desire was granted her last Thursday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, when our kind and merciful heavenly Father liberated the imprisoned spirit from the frail and feeble earthly house, to return to God who gave it.

She leaves to mourn their loss, besides her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Fred K. Bressler of Genesee, Mrs. E. T. Jacob of Lewiston and Mrs. E. E. Carter of Boise. Also one brother, Ben C. Camp of Kettle Falls, Wash., and five sisters, Mrs. Lena Favor of Kettle Falls, Wash., Mrs. Villa Conn of Portland, Oregon, Mrs. C. G. Gies of Spokane, Wash., Mrs. Versa Tubbs and Miss Beulah Camp of Chicago. There are fourteen grandchildren.

The funeral services were held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. K. Bressler on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the services being conducted by Rev. A. P. Orth of the Congregational church. The music was furnished by the Congregational choir, and the hymns were "Face to Face," by Miss Laura Phipps. The selection, "Lead Kindly Light," was a favorite of Mrs. Hollister's.

The pall bearers were, L. Jain, J. S. Rogers, Patrick Ryan and Joe Kambitsch, all members of the G. A. R., Otto Krethmer and Walter Jain.

The floral pieces were numerous and beautiful and included and especially beautiful wreath, the gift of the Misses Edna and Dorothy Driscoll.

The remains were laid to rest in the I. O. O. F. cemetery, where the quartet sang another of Mrs. Hollister's favorite hymns, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Model Dairy at Deary

Deary is to have a model dairy, known as the University Stock farm. While it carries the name "university" it is owned and will be operated by private parties—J. S. Perry & Son—who have purchased 170 acres of good land there. They purchased from a South Dakota breeder 60-head of full blood Holstein cows and a like number of "mule-footed" hogs with which they will stock their farm as a starter.

They have erected a large modern dairy building which has room for 60 head of cattle and 50 head of horses as well as other necessities in their business. Thus it will be seen that stock men and ranchers are grasping the idea that this is one of the best dairy sections in the northwest. While pasture cannot be used the entire year, ensilage can be raised and fed to good advantage, as those who raise silos and have used ensilage will testify.

If one does not think dairying can be carried on here at a profit, all they have to do is to ask one of the many ranchers here who are getting cream checks every week or month. If it did not pay they would not do it, and if it will pay on a small scale, why not on a larger?

Things Doing at St. Maries

The following paragraphs taken from a St. Maries correspondent indicate that that bustling little city is doing things and that business is picking up:

"The St. Maries post office has been raised to the second class. The record has installed a linotype machine.

"Logging is to start soon on Tyson creek and Harrison flats.

"The Milwaukee Lumber company has put on a night shift.

"The creamery is receiving good patronage and support."

Spokane Chamber of Commerce Seeking to Bring In Settlers for Inland Empire

W. P. Romans, traveling secretary of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, was in the city Monday in the interests of that organization, which is seeking the cooperation of all towns in the Inland Empire in bringing more people to the Northwest.

Mr. Romans said: "Agricultural immigration into this territory has been largely at a lull the past three or four years. Canada, with easy land terms and Eastern Montana with government land, have been getting the bulk of immigration. We need the benefit of that movement in our own farming districts, but the problem is to develop the ways and means of getting it.

"The immigration department of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, after studying the situation for several months, has decided that the people of the Inland Empire must unite in doing two things:

First—Quantities of land of all classes must be definitely listed at reasonable prices, with those prices good for 18 months, unless sooner sold to a bona fide purchaser by the owner, with the agreement that the land can be sold on the ten-year payment plan with interest on the deferred payments at 6 per cent.

Second—Classified lists of thousands of farms must be printed and must be circulated through the railroad and other agencies, giving details about each farm and the name and address of the agent or owner.

The Spokane Chamber of Commerce is willing to the leadership in such a campaign. It is willing to bear the expense of classifying and printing them. But to make a success of such a work the Spokane Chamber of Commerce must have the active co-operation of every commercial organization of every banker and of leading business men in the communities that vitally need agricultural immigration.

For the purpose of deciding upon practical means of carrying out this plan through the Spokane Chamber of Commerce wishes to invite the business men and the farm land owners of Eastern Washington, Northern Idaho and Western Montana to an Immigration Conference to be held at Spokane, Monday and Tuesday, June 29 and 30.

Catholic Bishop of Spokane

With the Most Rev. Alexander Schriber, archbishop of Portland, presiding and assisted by priests and bishops from eastern Washington, Idaho and Montana, the Right Rev. Augustine Francis Schinner was pronounced the Catholic bishop of Spokane June 18. The ceremony was most elaborate and was participated in by all of the dignitaries of the Catholic church in eastern Washington. The new bishop will have in his jurisdiction all of the territory east of the Columbia river and in addition the counties of Benton and Ferry.

The new bishop was presented with a purse of $1,000 for his personal use, at the conclusion of the installation ceremonies. The bishop has designated Our Lady of Lourdes church as the cathedral in Spokane. Mrs. F. B. Bonora, pastor of St. Mary's church in this city, attended the ceremony and took part in the proceedings, which proved to be very enjoyable to all in attendance.

Nearly 100 Bodies Now Recovered

Fire Halted Rescue—Male Population of Hillcrest Camp Practically Wiped Out—Bodies Found Standing Erect With Tools in Hand.

Hillcrest, Alta.—The bodies of 94 of the 197 miners entombed when a terrific explosion wrecked the interior workings of mine No. 29 of the Hillcrest colliers, limited, June 19, had been removed to the surface Sunday.

All hope of rescuing alive any of the remaining 103 members of the ill-fated crew that entered the mine has been abandoned.

The work was retarded temporarily by a fire that broke out in the mine. That the explosion was due to the forming of gases in the lower levels of the mine has been generally accepted.

Two hundred coffins have been ordered from Winnipeg. Practically the entire male population of the little mining town was wiped out by the disaster.

Bodies Badly Mangled. The mangled bodies of many bodies recovered makes it imperative that interment should take place without delay.

There are several instances where practically the entire male members of families are wiped out. The wife of a miner from Bradshaw are en route from Montreal to job father and husband, who is now numbered with the dead.

Herbert Aslam, well known in the Crow's Nest Pass, particularly in football circles, has been working in the lampshade until the day of the disaster, when he was making his first shift inside the mine.

Union Hill Mortuary Chamber. The work of recovering the bodies proceeded steadily. Those brought to the surface were not badly figured. Ninety-four were laid out in the union hall, which is used as a mortuary chamber.

Explosions by rescuers indicated the miners had no warning of death as several bodies were found standing erect, with tools in hand, planned to walls by timbers and rocks.

As most of the miners were working in the vicinity of the mine when the explosion occurred, the rescuers do not expect to recover all the bodies for several days.

The ensuing engagement resulted in a complete rout of the federals, who were obliged to abandoned all of their equipment and provisions. The federals were reported to have lost heavily.

It was learned from the many prisoners taken that the federals did not know of the presence of the Villa troops and that it had been the plan of General Medina Barron, commanding the federals at Zacatecas, completely to isolate the forces of General Natera and if possible to annihilate the entire command.

VILLA HIRES PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT Tells Our People He Has Made Gen. Angeles for the Big Job—Mediators Hopeful that Further War Will Not Be Needed.

Niagara Falls, Ont.—Instead of adjourning abruptly Saturday as had been expected, the mediation proceedings will be prolonged for perhaps another week.

The change was brought about as a result of the visit of Minister Noan of Argentina to Washington, where he conferred with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. Dr. Noan brought back a spirit of optimism and some new ideas which he imparted to Ambassador da Gama of Brazil and Minister Suarez of Chile.

Executive Material Sought. The Argentine envoy reiterated the hopefulness he had expressed earlier in the day.

The determination which seems to have been reached is to keep the mediation board from formal adjournment, though there may be recess in another week or so, while the work is continued for persons eligible for provisional president, according to the ideas set forth in the conferences.

The Mexican delegation Sunday received a message from the consul of their government at El Paso, Texas, that General Villa has issued a statement addressed to the American people in which he proclaimed General Felipe Angeles as provisional president of Mexico.

Dr. F. Newcomb proposed a new course of action Monday, which not only will prolong the proceedings, but may eventually work out a solution of the Mexican problem.

The plan contemplates separate conferences between the American delegates and representatives of the constitutionalists.

Lehmann would continue their dealings with the Huerta delegates through the mediation board, but would have no direct contact with the constitutionalists.

His father a standpatter. "Well, my little man, I see you are carrying a flag. Do you know why we are celebrating today?"

"Yes, 'Cause Huerta didn't bust the country."

NOT WORRYING. "My goodness! I shouldn't think you'd worry your little boy to have such big freecrackers. Aren't you at all afraid?"

"No, no, no a bit. I'm only his step-mother."

HUMOR OF THE DAY

The "Glorious Fourth" Considered in Lighter Vein.

Looking into the Future of Willie and Johnny—Some Thoughts of the "Celestial"—Safe and Sane Father.

ALL USED UP WHERE, OH, WHERE? Willie has his pistol ready. Willie's heart is full of glee; He has bought a little cannon and he'll fire it off.

Willie counts the passing moments as they go by. He's so excited, he's all a-tremble. Where, oh, where, will little Willie be in two weeks from today?

Johnny's little bank is empty, he has squandered it all. With a giant cracker Johnny will begin the merriment.

He possesses all the fingers and the toes he should—but, stay! Where, oh, where, will Johnny's digits be in two weeks from today?

His safe and sane father. "Father, didn't you ever shoot off freecrackers when you were a boy?"

"Never. I did my celebrating in a safe and sane way."

"How was that?" "Well, I used to get a piece of gas pipe, one end of it, fill it with powder and then touch a match to it. Talk about noise. It beat any toy cannon I've ever heard of."

His father a standpatter. "Well, my little man, I see you are carrying a flag. Do you know why we are celebrating today?"

"Yes, 'Cause Huerta didn't bust the country."

NOT WORRYING. "My goodness! I shouldn't think you'd worry your little boy to have such big freecrackers. Aren't you at all afraid?"

INDEPENDENCE.

This is the day on which the average man shows his independence by doing foolish things without having gained his wife's permission.

as our national symbol, but it was not long after the signing of the Declaration that John Hancock began to talk of a sign. Benjamin Franklin had no liking for Audobon's "bird of Washington," considering it "a bird of bad moral character, and which does not get its living honestly." But the eagle is the King of birds.

They are wildfully strong birds, having been kept in aviaries, which shows their milky grasp and two.

On the fourth day of July the scream of the American Eagle can be heard from coast to coast, from lakes to golf, over hills, valleys, plains and mountains, and "we, the people of the United States," pay homage in one way or another to the brave men of 1776, who dared defy King George and the British lion.

Three cows and a DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATOR

will make more money than four cows with gravity setting

If you are selling cream or making butter, and have no separator, or else an inferior machine, we know if we could put a De Laval on your place we would be doing you a personal favor.

If you haven't a separator don't make the mistake of starting with a "cheap" or inferior machine. When you do buy a separator as soon as you can you will be sure to get the best—the De Laval. Remember, you can't make money by trying to save money in the purchase price of a cream separator. A De Laval costs only a little more than the cheapest and will save you twice as much and last five to ten times as long as other separators.

The picnic held at Unintown last Saturday was well attended by people from all sections of the country Genesee sending her portion of the crowd. Sports of various kinds were indulged in, among them being a tug-of-war between the business men and farmers in which the latter won the event. It had been planned to make the creek the dividing line between the contestants but the business men backed out for fear they would get a ducking, which they would have surely gotten and not being used to water it was a good thing they backed down at the proper time.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat.

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

Along Route Two

J. P. Kraut is putting his first cutting of alfalfa in his large silo. He has one of the largest silos in this part of the country.

Our friend Anton Jutte has started to raise bees. He has three shut up in a cigar box and says by the time he gets a wife he thinks there will be honey for all. Good luck Tony.

A. S. and J. P. Anderson have finished putting up their alfalfa hay. While not quite so heavy as last year it is of good quality. They stored it in their barn for winter use.

W. J. Tierney has just about completed the addition to and the remodeling of his ranch home which, when completed, will cost in the neighborhood of $1,500, and will be one to be proud of.

Wm. Schleuter has about finished putting up his alfalfa hay. His crop, too, is a little light but the quality is good. He has a piece of about 30 acres. Will be one of the pioneer alfalfa raisers of the Palouse and his stock shows the results.

Christ Lange has finished painting his barn, which helps the appearance of things very materially. Mr. Lange is one of our progressive farmers who believes that improvements should pay in the Palouse. He has his own elevator for the storage of grain, which he built last year. He also has a chop mill for his own use—as well as his neighbors.

Moscow is very much excited over the possible extension of the O. W. R. & N. from that city to Bovill to connect with the St. Maries branch of the Milwaukee road. It would undoubtedly be a great thing for Moscow and it would help the people—especially those who go to the Elk River country to fish, for, according to late reports, there are a number of the finny tribe up there that have "got away."

The Nezperce livestock show opened in that city today, and all preparations have been made for one of the best shows of its kind ever held in that part of the country. In addition to the exhibition of livestock of various kinds an entertaining program has been prepared and a large crowd is expected.

The Harley-Davidson Two-Speed WITH STARTER

It's the last word in motorcycles. The two-speeds are selective, and the rider can shift from high to low or low to high or neutral while the machine is standing still or in motion.

The starter does away with the necessity of dismounting and placing the machine on the stand to start. The rider may sit in the saddle with both wheels on the ground and give either pedal a downward push, engaging the starter and starting the motor.

Life's "Commencement" Is Now Upon You

All over the country thousands of young men and women are being graduated from high schools and colleges in this glorious month of June.

This is "commencement" month, the month when young people, the thrift of whose parents have permitted them an education, are beginning life in earnest.

To wage the battle successfully requires capital, and there is no better, surer way of getting capital than to save a margin of your income every month and put it beyond the reach of chance or caprice.

Put it in this bank, where both your efforts and ours will add to its steady growth and where it will always be ready for you when the "big chance" comes along.

PRICES PAID FOR BUTTER, EGGS AND CHICKENS, MAY 1

The crop reports of the Bureau of Statistics Crop Estimates of the department show the average prices paid to the farmers in various states for butter, eggs, and chickens on May 1, 1914, and as compared with similar estimates on May 1, 1913. Apparently farmers are obtaining on an average less for their butter and slightly more for their eggs and chickens.

Butter—The average price paid to the farmer for butter on May 1, 1914, was 23.8 cents, or 3.2 cents less a pound than the average price paid on May 1, 1913. In the New England States farmers of New Hampshire seem to have received on an average 33 cents, or one cent more a pound, while in Connecticut they were paid 30 cents, or 8 cents less a pound; in Vermont 29 cents and Rhode Island 32 cents, or 6 cents less a pound; in Massachusetts 33 cents, or 3 cents less a pound; and in Maine 30 cents, or 1 cent less. In New York and Pennsylvania and adjoining States the average price was 28 to 32 cents, or from 7 cents to 4 cents less. On the coast from Maryland to South Carolina the prices were either the same or 1 cent higher, ranging from 25 to 28 cents. Georgia farmers, receiving 26 cents, seem to have gained 1 cent, while the Florida farmers received 2 cents a pound less, or 33 cents. In the balance of the States, with a few exceptions where the price was stable, farmers apparently were receiving from 1 cent to 5 cents less a pound except that in Montana the price was 1 cent more, in Arizona 6 cents less, and in Oregon 7 cents less.

Eggs—The farm prices on May 1 were 16.8 cents a dozen, or about 0.7 cent higher on an average for the country than on May 1, 1913, or an increase of about 4.3 per cent. In most of the States the price was the same, or varied only by 1 cent one way or the other. In Montana, however, eggs on May 1, 1914, were 16.8 cents, or 45 cents cheaper than the preceding year, while in New Mexico they were 23 cents, or 4 cents higher on an average.

Chickens—The price paid to farmers for chickens on May 1 was 12.5 cents, or about 0.7 cent a pound higher in 1914 than in 1913, or an increase of about 5.9 per cent. The variation in the price of chickens was commonly less than 1 cent per pound. The principal variations from this were Delaware, where there was a decrease of 1 1/2 cents a pound to 14.5 cents; West Virginia, where there was an increase of 1.2 cents to 13.4 cents; North Carolina, an increase of 1.5 cents to 12.5 cents; and South Carolina, an increase of 2.3 cents to 15 cents.

The Christian church is having the committee rooms of that edifice remodeled, which will make the interior more to the liking of the congregation. Rev. Barstow is doing the work.

The fore-runner of that "million dollar rain" is here and is a welcome visitor among the ranchers. While it will put down some fall grain it will help the spring grain very materially.

Theo. Schleuter has completed the foundation and is now erecting the walls of a fine new granary at his ranch home. He expects to later build a large new barn.

JESSE McMAHON SHOT

Nine-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McMahon Receives Painful Wound

Word reached Genesee several days ago that Jesse McMahon, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Con Steltz, had been accidentally shot while up in the mountains. It was impossible to get any authentic information regarding the accident until within the last day or two.

Thos. Herman returned from an outing in that part of the country on Wednesday afternoon, bringing the first particulars of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McMahon (father and mother of Jesse,) Geo. McMahon and Thos. H. Herman had left the McMahon home for Whitebird, Mr. Herman intending to come home. When they reached Whitebird they received a telephone message of the accident. Mr. and Mrs. McMahon and George secured a physician and immediately started on their return home, reaching their ranch, some 30 miles south and west of Whitebird, about 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon had left their three children at a neighbors, where they were to stay during their absence. During the afternoon a young man employed on the neighbor's ranch had been shooting with a 41-caliber revolver and after his return he was either cleaning the gun or ejecting the shells, when it slipped from his hand and fell to the floor, striking the hammer in such a manner as to discharge the weapon, the ball striking Jesse, who was standing several feet distant, in the groin, penetrating the bladder and intestines and lodging in the opposite hip.

Immediately upon the arrival of his father and mother and the physician an operation was performed, the little sufferer standing the ordeal in good shape, and at last reports, received Monday, he was resting as easily as could be expected under the circumstances and the physician thought he had a fair chance for recovery if complications do not set in. Mrs. Con Steltz left Monday for the scene of the accident.

It is hardly probable that all of that "million dollar rain" has arrived as yet, but we can give old Jupiter Pluvius considerable credit on the right side of the ledger just the same.

Don't Get Impatient

Some of our residents are inclined to become impatient about the "cannonball" being late nearly every day, but they should remember the lateness is caused by the graveling of the roadbed and that as soon as this part of the work is completed it is expected the Northern Pacific will give better service than ever before. Many of us made a fuss before the ballasting started because nothing of the sort had been done for the betterment of the road, but now that the work is progressing rapidly, let us not get "fussy" about something we have been "fussing" so long about.

The gravel train is working all the time—Sunday included—and has spread gravel to within a few miles of Genesee, so if you will just be patient for a short time longer the long-asked-for ballast on the Genesee branch will be a reality.

According to the Juliaetta Sun the canning factory in that busy little city began operations last Monday, starting with cherries, and will continue throughout the season, later taking care of various kinds of vegetables, etc. The Juliaetta cannery has the reputation of putting out good stuff and as it is a Latah county concern the people of this county especially should call for the Latah county product.

Big Barn Dance

One of the most successful social functions of the season for the young people was the barn dance held last Saturday evening in Joe Moersch's fine new barn. The one given there a short time before proved so enjoyable that the young people asked Mr. Moersch for the privilege of holding another which was readily granted. It was estimated that almost 200 young people were in attendance, coming from Pullman, Moscow, Colton, Uniontown, Fix Ridge and Genesee. About 60 teams and quite a number of autos were used to convey the young folks to the ranch.

Splendid dance music was furnished throughout the evening by the Johann-Broemmeling four-piece orchestra. A nice cafeteria lunch was served by Mr. Moersch's daughters, Misses Frances and Louise, assisted by their brother.

After the dance everyone thanked Mr. Moersch and family for their splendid hospitality the only regret was that the barn is being filled with hay and will prevent a repetition of such an enjoyable occasion.

"Doc" Still Unridden

The outlaw horse, "Doc" is still able to unseat all riders, having thrown Jackson Sundown last Monday at Culdesac at a try-out ride. "Red" Gaskill, who succeeded in staying on the animal for nine jumps, was in Genesee Tuesday morning on his way to the Big Bend country. He said the animal was the toughest specimen of horse-flesh he had ever tackled and that he doubted if there is a man in this part of the country who is able to stay with the outlaw to a finish.

It is more than likely that "Doc" will still have his own way after the celebration at Lapwai tomorrow as Sundown is reported to have said he would quit riding as he is getting too old—and if Sundown can't ride him, who can?

The Inevitable Silver Cup

The Northern Pacific Railway company has receded from the position taken late last fall by some of its officials who made the statement that that company would give no more silver cups as premiums at fairs or other places where they were called upon to make a donation of some sort, but would give something useful instead—such as farming implements, etc. But again this year the inevitable silver cup is up as a trophy, which must be won three times before it is the property of any individual, corporation or company.

There is method in their madness and business foresight for instead of having to give some farmer a good piece of machinery each year a silver cup at the same price will last three years, and no doubt will make a fine ornament which will last for many years, while a good piece of machinery of some kind would last only a few years and the donor would be forgotten—hence the cup.

Of Interest To Women

Among the latest ribbons are several of waterproof variety for millinery purposes.

The draping of the new skirt is to be dropped sufficiently to make it perfectly even around the hem.

There is a rumor that the vogue of the frill of the open neck will be supplanted by the flaring collar.

Honey and glycerine, mixed in equal proportions, is an excellent remedy for cracked lips. It should be applied every night until the cracks are thoroughly healed.

To clean a gold chain, place for a moment in a solution of ammonia and water, using three parts water to one of ammonia. Polish finally with a clean chamois leather.

Have you seen the new beaded heel? Little tiny beads of different colors are used side by side. For instance, two shades of pink and white, or blue, yellow or white.

The odor of printer's ink and cedar is not at all agreeable to moths. An ordinary trunk lined with clean newspapers, under which a number of small pieces of wood from cigar boxes have been laid, makes almost as safe a storage place for clothing as an expensive cedar chest.

A very convenient article to have in a house is a smooth, strong stick, about forty inches long, with a deep notch in one end. With this, pictures may be lifted by the wires from their hooks, cleaned and replaced, thus saving the climbing up and down on a stepladder, which is so tiresome to a woman.

Get The Habit

Get the habit of looking before you buy. Get the habit of knowing when to look, and where to look. It is a habit that will save you many dollars in the run of a year. As a habit, it is one of the principal aids to success in life.

Study the advertising pages of the local paper each week. Study them with a two-fold purpose—the determining of what goods to buy, and where to find them. If a local merchant spends money in advertising his wares, it is safe to assume that he is able to make good on every statement that he makes.

It is also safe to assume that the home man will do more for you than a stranger will do. It is his way, and it is a way which should appeal to you.

Get the habit of giving the home man the first chance. It is a habit of which any person should justly feel proud. It is a good habit.

It is stated that a deep cut has been made in the gas rates at Lewiston. It would be a great place for the gathering of politicians who can lay in a supply for campaign purposes at a reduced rate.

SWEET PEA EXHIBIT

Will Be Held In Near Future—Funds Voted For Playgrounds

The Genesee Improvement society met Wednesday afternoon in the library rooms. There was a fair attendance of members and considerable business was transacted.

A vote of thanks was extended the committees who had charge of the art exhibit during the horse show dates for the successful manner in which it was conducted. The society wish to express their appreciation to the young people who composed the cast of the home talent play given June 11, and a vote of thanks was extended to the Misses Edna and Dorothy Driscoll and those who assisted them in making the play the signal success it undoubtedly was.

Funds were voted to Mrs. Leon Follett, Chairman of the park committee, for play ground apparatus for the park.

Plans were also formulated for the sweet pea exhibit to be held within a few weeks and all those interested in the culture of sweet peas and the beautifying of country and town lawns are asked to assist in making this, the first flower show, a successful one. The exhibit will be free to everyone. The date will be set as nearly as possible when the sweet peas are at their best.

The date and place of holding the exhibit and the list of prizes will be published later.

Miss Emma Scharnhorst, who has been in the Inland Hospital at Moscow for the past four weeks, was able to be brought home last Sunday. She underwent two operations while there both of which were successful and her friends hope for her complete recovery.

"The Famous Ford"

$625.00 Delivered In Moscow

Why pay more for a car when you can buy the FORD, which has proven to be the most abused and STRONGEST light car in the world. At the great Automobile Congress held in Genesee on June 12 there were as many Fords as all other makes put together.

They are on every highway in every country on the globe—and the service is great. You can buy the parts, one at a time, for what the entire car costs, right here at home. The simplicity of this car has won it favor everywhere, and during the great steel test held in France by the government, the Ford steel won first honors.

The best evidence of the justness of our claim is the number of them on the highways. They are unquestionably the most economical car that can be bought. Just the price of a team, buggy and harness, therefore in buying an automobile, consider two things—COST and SERVICE.

Down at Lewiston it is claimed that chicken thieves have been carrying chickens in a suit case, first killing them and placing them in the case. Not so in Genesee. When a man is caught carrying a suit case he is immediately accused of having been to Uniontown, and in place of having "dead" ones they are generally supposed to be "live" ones.

It's the last word in motorcycles. The two-speeds are selective, and the rider can shift from high to low or low to high or neutral while the machine is standing still or in motion.
The step-starter does away with the necessity of dismounting and placing the machine on the stand to start. The rider may sit in the saddle with both wheels on the ground and give either pedal a downward push, engaging the step-starter and starting the motor.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Miss Zenna Hampton Becomes Bride of Floyd F. Pinkerton—Leave for New Home

A pretty romance, begun at Columbia College, Milton, Oregon, had its consummation at high noon yesterday, July 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Hampton, four miles south of Genesee, when their oldest daughter, Zenna Lee, was married to Mr. Floyd Franklin Pinkerton of Athena, Oregon. Dr. James Crutchfield, president of the college for the last three years, performed the ceremony. The ring service was used, the bride party entering the parlors to the strains of Giannini's Wedding march, played by Miss Olive Jain of Genesee.
Miss Minnie Hampton, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Louis Dillard of Santa Rosa, California, served as best man. Misses Alfrida and Genevieve Hampton were flower girls. The bride party stood beneath a canopy of greenery from which was suspended white wedding bells. The gentlemen were dressed in the conventional black. The bride's dress was white crepe de chene with net flounce, and the bridal veil was caught with orange blossoms. The bride bouquet was of white roses. She wore the present of the groom, a platinum ring pendant with diamond center and small diamonds inwrought in the leaves. Her going away gown was a tailored suit of clematis purple worsted with motor cap and veil to match.
The bride's maid wore a dainty costume of forget-me-not blue charmeuse, veiled with overdress of white lace and she carried crimson roses.
Immediately following the ceremony an elaborate dinner was served and covers were laid for fifty. The house was decorated with flowers from friends of the bride and roses sent by the groom from Walla Walla. The going away party consisted of the groom's family, Mr. Morris Frazier of Milton, and the happy couple who left by auto for their home, at Athena, Oregon.

Many beautiful wedding presents were received, consisting of cut glass silver, china and table linen. The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pinkerton, Dr. and Mrs. Jas. Crutchfield, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Casbolt, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. S. Casbolt, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Carrik, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Qualley, Mr. and Mrs. T. Driscoll, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Dye, Mr. and Mrs. S. Stucker, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rader, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Bressler, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Babcock, and Mrs. Dave Sampson.

After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all dealers.

Registration of voters for primaries must close 30 days before the primary election registration. After the primary election registration will again be resumed till 30 days before the general election.

What Our Fathers Did and Are Doing

1776 on July Fourth 1914

We all know what our forefathers did, but there are a few who do not know what our fathers are doing, or should be doing, this Fourth.

The first thing in the morning father gets up and feeds the stock from a load of chop he had rolled at Spurbek's Feed Mill, he wouldn't have any other, and I don't blame him, for it is sure fine. Next thing was to milk the cows; the milk was then separated on a Great Western Cream Separator (which father said he wished had been made a few years ago, instead of so many of them other durned separators) and I agree with father there again, for he could surely have saved the cost of the separator several times over in the last two years, on what our old separators wasted. Oh, yes, I oiled the separator this morning with oil from Spurbek's Feed Mill. I like to go to Spurbek's for I can always get what I want so quickly. Does your father trade there? If not, he is missing it. Oh, yes, I forgot to tell you that Spurbek sells the "GREAT WESTERN CREAM SEPARATOR."

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY

SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED

Annual Exhibits and Judging of Stock Big Help to Breeders and Ranchers

On returning to Lewiston from the Nezperce stock show, W. J. Jordan, general agent of the Northern Pacific road, with offices at Lewiston, when interviewed by the Lewiston Tribune representative, had a few things to say regarding the different stock shows held in this section of the country and the resultant good from these shows:

"There has been wonderful improvement in the livestock on the farms in central Idaho and eastern Washington since the organization of the Northwest Livestock show and the smaller shows held in various parts of the country," said Mr. Jordan. "Two years ago it was difficult to interest the prairie farmer in the big livestock show at Lewiston and he regarded purebred stock as something intended for some person other than himself. There was enough pure-bred stock sent into the upper country that it was a good thing to have them and they have grown each year in exhibits and attendance until now practically every farmer in the entire region has either horses, cattle, sheep or pigs to exhibit and he gives the attention to breeding and which he is anxious to exhibit.

"The annual stock show at Genesee and the annual hog show at Pullman with the livestock shows in the local stock shows, the district fairs have rendered a most valuable service in the improvement of the stock on the farms and I believe the attendance at the Northwest Livestock show at Lewiston has been larger than ever. It is this evidence of results that has encouraged the business men at the several show points to subscribe the money and undertake the labor necessary to holding such exhibitions but there is evidence throughout the country that the farmers themselves desire to become identified with the making of these shows and this alone is a most favorable indication as to the future of such shows.

"The people at Nezperce, Genesee and Grangeville should be congratulated upon the fine shows they have conducted in the past and the people to whom the livestock industry is a business should give these communities every possible encouragement."

Progressive Club

Mrs. F. E. Dicus was hostess to the Progressive club on Thursday afternoon, June 25, from 3 to 6 o'clock. There was a good attendance of club members and the afternoon was a most enjoyable one, being devoted to fancy work and social converse. At 5 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mrs. G. W. Martin of Spokane was a guest of the club.

Moscow merchants were on last Saturday treated to a "shower" of counterfeit five and ten-dollar gold pieces, which were scattered broadcast in that city. The coins bear the date of 1906 and are pronounced by the banks to be the rankest kind of counterfeit, but during the rush of the Saturday trade the circulators managed to get rid of a goodly number on the merchants.

Harry Vandenburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Vandenburg, who has been working in Seattle for the past two years, is expected to open a barber shop in Lewiston, taking charge on Monday. Mr. Vandenburg's shop is located on Main street, opposite the depot, where he will be glad to see all of his friends when they go to Lewiston.

C. J. Hall of the Snake river country recently sold 40,000 pounds of wool for 17 cents a pound. Not so bad for a free-trade year.

Along Route Two

Having commenced in earnest along the route, several of the farmers are cutting around their fall grain, which does away with much waste as a four-mo-ham and a binder can flatten and waste much grain in going around a large field.

The recent rain has done much good all along the line and the ranchers are feeling quite jubilant over the prospect of a splendid crop of all kinds of grain. The rain was especially beneficial to the spring grain of all kinds.

A dance was given Saturday night at the ranch home of K. K. Uhr and a fine time is reported.

Mr. Uhr has just completed a fine new house and the dance was in the nature of a "house warming."

Mat Kammich has finished painting his large barn, which adds very much to its appearance.

Nels Laving has finished raising his windmill having taken out his gas engine. Nels claims that wind is cheaper than gas.

Pete Steltz has finished moving a granary for H. A. Kahler on the Ingwall Smith ranch. Mr. Kahler is a new settler to this part of the country, having just come last spring. He expects to make many more improvements in the near future.

Money Saving Ads

The man or woman who makes a weekly practice of reading the advertisements in this paper is the one who knows where to shop economically, where the best values are offered for the least expenditure of money.

Our merchants are not spending their money for advertising space in this paper without having something enticement to offer you.

They are not spending this money with the expectation of making a few sales at large profits, but they do not survive under such conditions.

They have marked their goods down to the lowest possible margin of profits, and are desirous of their advertisements to bring their offerings to the attention of the great mass of the people. It is the most effective method of publicity they can employ.

They are depending entirely upon the up to date mercantile policy of many quick sales at small profits. It will more than pay you to read the advertisements carefully every week.

It Will Be Hot

Delegates who are planning to go to Boise for the platform convention would do well to remember that it is going to be exceedingly hot down there, and they are likely to feel it keenly. It will be no idle matter for them to dress for the occasion, and the thinnest things they can wear will be too warm when the time comes out a fellow who is accustomed to our cool weather shall get down there with a comfortable spring suit on and think there is any show for him to be comfortable for a minute. He has another guess coming. On such occasions many men suffer a while and then go out buying thinner clothing. We suggest that they do a little thinking before they start. Home dealers will appreciate it and they will make the trip in comfort.--Blackfoot Republican.

INDIAN THROWN FROM HORSE AND KILLED

Billie Carter Has Skull Fractured--Fourth Death in Four Years--Indians Superstitious

A special to the Lewiston Tribune gives the following account of the accident which resulted in the death of Billie Carter, a well-known and highly respected Indian, which happened in connection with the celebration at Lapwai, July 6.

"Billie Carter, one of the best known Indians on the Nez Perce reservation, was instantly killed this morning while engaged in training his horse. Carter was in charge of the Indian features in the Indians with the celebration and the Indians have continued the racing and other sports. He was engaged in training a race horse for a match scheduled for this afternoon and instead of using a saddle and reins he was riding the body of the horse and was riding in truly Indian fashion. The horse stopped suddenly and the surcingle parted which resulted in Carter being thrown over the horse's head and he fell in such a manner as to fracture his skull.

"The death of Carter caused an immediate abandonment of the celebration plans and during the afternoon the Indians were actively engaged in packing their belongings and leaving the camp ground. This is the fourth tragic death in connection with the Fourth of July celebration held here and the Indians are firm in the belief that a medicine man has bewitched their celebrations at Lapwai. The first death was three years ago when Mrs. John Loring died of a fever, the result resulting from eating canned goods. Two years ago an Indian dropped dead on the celebration grounds and last year a young Indian ended his life by suicide. The sudden death of Carter, who was a leader of the old superstition of Indians and the folding of the tepees followed by the quiet departure of the Indians, has shown that they were deeply moved by the happening.

"Carter was about 27 years of age and resided with his family on Tom Beall creek. He was an Indian and enjoyed the confidence of a large number of white people. He was classed as one of the most responsible Indians in this section and his word was never discounted."

MAKERS ON THE FARM

The hog is an economical cog in the farm operation. He is a conservator of waste, a gleaner in the fields, a helper of the farmer in feeding his bank account.

Because of his saving qualities he has been dominated "The gentleman that pays the rent for the holder; the mortgage lifter for the farmer."

In the past he was adopted by the farmers of the corn and hog belt as the only feasible way of marketing the corn crop. Being turned into the field and fattened, this was known as "hogging the corn," thus saving the labor of gathering, storing and feeding out again.

At times when the wheat crop was an overproduction and the price was down below the 50 cent mark at the farm, the hog was used to market wheat.

He has done his part in converting the by-product of the dairy and creamery into a merchantable article using a saddle and reins, a breeder of a bunch of steers follows with a drove of hogs that are fattened on the undigested corn feed the steers. Hogs take care of the surplus of the country, the garbage of the cities and of many other factories where food products for human beings are manufactured.

The hogs can convert Kafir corn, milo maize, cow peas and soy beans into choice pork that can be cashed every day in the year. Then again, he is a forager; he can grow on alfalfa and clover and several other kinds of pastures, but especially is he adapted to convert alfalfa into lean pork, and when balanced properly makes one of the ideal feeds for pork production at the cheapest possible cost.

Then again, while the sheep, cows, and horses will increase from 60 to 100 per cent annually, the hog will increase from 500 to 2000 per cent annually. He can be turned into the market as quick as a crop of grain.

These are some of the reasons why we claim that the hog is the greatest money maker of the farm animals.

Destructive Fire at Bovil

Bovil suffered from a destructive fire that occurred early on the morning of the Fourth when an entire block of that town was destroyed, causing the loss of two lives and property valued at from $100,000 to $150,000.

Joe Schaefer was one of the victims and the other man is unknown. Both were sleeping in the Sherman house, a two-story hotel, in which the fire started.

The cause of the fire is unknown. It broke out soon after 1:30 in the morning. Those who tried to stop the flames had only small fire extinguishers with which to work. Their efforts were unsuccessful and it was not until only when it had burned itself out.

Among the buildings destroyed were the Sherman house, the Spokane hotel (three stories), the Post office, the Bovil State bank, the market general store, the Anderson store, two barber shops, the Bovil drug store, a restaurant, livery barn and two empty buildings.

Several persons were injured in getting out of the buildings and in trying to save others. The flames had gained considerable headway before the little town was awakened and there were many narrow escapes.

Nezperce County Is Wet

Judge Steele last week decided that Nezperce county is "wet" by 22 votes, the number claimed by the general store, the Anderson store, two barber shops, the Bovil drug store, a restaurant, livery barn and two empty buildings.

Several persons were injured in getting out of the buildings and in trying to save others. The flames had gained considerable headway before the little town was awakened and there were many narrow escapes.

There With Bells On

"A big home grown, corn fed girl may not be able to tango as gracefully as her slenderer hot-house sister," declares a Denver Democrat. "But she is there with bells on when it comes to doing the kitchen scrub, and the dusting dip, and the broomstick balance, and the cooking canter."

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Boesche of Spokane are the proud parents of a baby boy, born Monday, July 6. Weight 7 1/2 lbs. Mrs. Boesche is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Steltz.

Driving Team Stolen

On Monday night of this week city constable Harry Wilson's stable on Grand street and took his two sorrel driving horses and carefully led them on the grass for some distance that no trace of the direction of their flight could be ascertained. Saddles and a pair of chaps were taken from another barn and the youngsters started out to see the world. They were picked up at Albion by the constable and returned to the city. The animals were until ridden hard, and held them until Sheriff Cole, who had been notified of the theft, was able to reach Albion. Mr. Wilson, upon receiving word that the horses were found, left for Albion and returned with them. The culprits were released inasmuch as they are of too tender years to fully understand and realize the enormity of their offense.--Pullman Tribune.

It is very evident that these small boys had indulged in the reading of "dime novels." While they undoubtedly did not realize the enormity of their offense, they had certainly gotten their idea from older heads and the act is very much like those read about in the trashy yellow-backed novels which so many children are so fond of reading. The fact of such boys should be made a penitentiary offense, for more than one boy owes his first offense to the reading of the dime novel. While prohibition is an excellent thing it will extend beyond the liquor traffic.

"Brown's Left Town"

The candy kitchen and restaurant of T. J. Braun and wife is no more--that is, there is no one left to run it--the fixtures are still there and the mortgage is left holding the sack.

T. J. Braun and wife who have been running a restaurant and candy kitchen here for the past eight or nine months, have left town and their personal effects passed through the city enroute from Alberta to the Palouse country. They had previously emigrated to the Canadian province but found conditions in that country less desirable than the good old Inland Empire. And still there's more to follow.

Just before you finally decide that you cannot afford to take that vacation this year, as you probably did last year and the year before that, just look at the reverse side of the proposition and see if you can afford not to. If your vacation doesn't bring you to the city, it will bring you to it, in which case it would doubtless be willing to pay you for the time off.--Ex.

They All Come Back

A news dispatch from Coeur d'Alene of recent date states that ten wagons loaded with farmers and their personal effects passed through the city enroute from Alberta to the Palouse country. They had previously emigrated to the Canadian province but found conditions in that country less desirable than the good old Inland Empire. And still there's more to follow.

Just before you finally decide that you cannot afford to take that vacation this year, as you probably did last year and the year before that, just look at the reverse side of the proposition and see if you can afford not to. ### A PLEASANT PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. John Loring Entertain Old Neighbors and Friends on Sunday

On Sunday last the handsome country home of Mr. and Mrs. John Loring was the scene of one of the most pleasant gatherings that has occurred there in many a day, when they entertained some ten families of their old-time neighbors and friends from Uniontown and a few relatives and close friends from Genesee, the company comprising about 50 people in all.

As is always the case at the Loring home, the guests were all made doubly welcome, the host and hostess sparing no pains to see that all enjoyed themselves in every way. The day being all that could be desired, the hostess was converted into a large sitting room and there, principally, the guests were entertained, gathering around the fine fountain under the trees where it is cool and the warmest day. At the noon hour a splendid dinner was served, to which all did justice, after which they again gathered in the yard, the older folks talking over old times when the young and young were present, and when they did not have the comforts of life that they now all enjoy, while the younger ones played games and otherwise amused themselves.

The street committee was ordered to inspect crossings in the various parts of the city and report to the city council. The committee will be on the eighth page of this paper.

RELATION OF SHAPE OF EAR TO YIELD OF CORN

The superintendent of the Texas substation at Temple, after a careful study of the relation of shape of ear to yield of corn, concludes that the slightly tapering parent ears give the highest yield. This is in accord with the results of experiments at the Ohio Experiment Station, in which a broader tapering ears gave slightly higher result than cylindrical ears. High yields were associated with comparatively smooth kernels of slightly more than average depth and of medium hardness. The yield increased with an increase in the total weight of the ear as determined by the slight increase in length, amount of grain, and rather marked increase in weight of cobs.

In experiments at the Ohio and Nebraska experiment stations it was found that the highest yield were obtained with medium long ears. The ears which were supplied by the U. S. Weather Bureau soon measured them that the threatening high pressure in Western Canada had split into two areas and the danger was for a time averted. Nevertheless all patrol forces are being rapidly recruited for the season and about 2,000 men will be on duty in a few days in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. About 500 patrolmen are employed in the states by the timber owners' protective associations, nearly 200 by the states and the Government jointly outside the National Forests, and the others by the Forest Service within the National Forests. The British Columbia Government also has 225 men on duty.

July hazard to be guarded against, other than from campfires, is reaction of the fire in slash burning to clear land and rights of way and in leaving fires thus started to smoulder in logs and stumps to break out later when the inevitable hot and windy weather arrives. The Forest officers announce that state laws regarding burning without permit and precaution will be enforced rigidly and also warn summer camping parties to be extremely careful with camp fires.

Save Seed For State Seed Show

The Idaho Seed Growers' Association, composed of Idaho farmers who are raising seed, will have a State Seed Show and Seed Growers' Convention in Twin Falls, December 1st, 2nd, and 3rd of this year.

An excellent premium list has been put out and it is hoped that every seed grower in the state will send his best seed to the show at Twin Falls. The last show, held at Pocatello under the auspices of the Seed Growers' Association, was one of the largest and best of its kind ever held in the Northwest. The winning seed from Pocatello was taken to the National Show at Dallas, Texas, and there won many prizes in competition with seed from all over the world. The winning seed of this year will probably be exhibited in competition with seed from all over the world at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco next year.

There is no question as to the adaptability of Idaho soil, climate, and other conditions to seed production, the only question is the farmer seizing the opportunity. One of the primary requirements of the Seed Growers' Association for seed to be exhibited at Twin Falls is that it be free from weed seed, especially those defined as noxious. This state of purity can be best attained by pulling weeds from the seed field before the seed is ripe.

The Idaho Seed Growers' Association invites you to send your best seed to the Twin Falls Show. For further information write to R. B. Cogle, Boise, or D. C. MacWatters, Milner. See a copy of the premium list at the office of this paper.

All For Prohibition

The republicans, the democrats and the progressives have all adopted platforms at their Boise conventions pledging themselves to support a constitutional amendment to the voters of this state for their ratification or rejection. The difference between the three parties is in the matter of time and the manner of handling the issue.

The democrats pledge the next legislature if they are in power to submit a prohibition amendment to the voters at the next general election, which is well worth ones time to look at, which the guests of last Sunday enjoyed and appreciated.

Mr. Loring took several pictures of the part of the country and he takes a just pride in keeping it in fine condition. His home is modern in every way--or as nearly so as is possible to make a country home, adding as the comforts possible to be had as they come within reach. He also has within his home what might well be termed a "museum," a room containing many rare specimens from this country and Europe which he shows to his guests and which is well worth ones time to look at, which the guests of last Sunday enjoyed and appreciated.

Two thousand patrolmen on the alert--Extinguish All Fires Is the Command

Two convictions in Washington for burning slash without permit from a fire warden, damage amounting to perhaps $5,000 to logs and logging equipment in the same state through fires in slashings, but no loss of green timber, is the Pacific northwest record for June, the first month of the 1914 fire season, according to bulletins received from several states by the Western Forestry & Conservation Association.

All protective agencies were placed on the alert at the close of June by the prospect of a drying interior wind, but the new forecast service especially for forest fire conditions which is supplied by the U. S. Weather Bureau soon reassured them that the threatening high pressure in Western Canada had split into two areas and the danger was for a time averted. ### Basket Dinner

There was a basket dinner and all day picnic in the grove at the corner ranch last Sunday. About 50 persons were in attendance and included old friends and neighbors. The day was spent in the quiet enjoyment of the cooling shade and picnic surroundings and the pleasure of conversing with friends.

At noon, a splendid basket dinner was served which included all the good things for which the country ladies are noted with plenty of ice cream and dessert. It was a most enjoyable day for all in attendance.

The latest news received relative to Jesse McElhannon, who was accidentally shot and seriously wounded, and that he was able to sit up and is improving nicely.

A Perfect Separator Oiling System

The new system of De Laval automatic oiling provides for a constant and liberal supply of CLEAN oil to every wearing surface of the machine at all times. There are no oil holes to fill up with dirt or perhaps to be neglected altogether, and every part is supplied with clean oil from the oil reservoir automatically and constantly. In other, so-called, automatic oiling systems some of the parts have to be oiled by hand and no provision is made for getting rid of dirt that may get into the oil from the outside or of small particles of metal which come from wear, so that after a short time the oil supply becomes foul and injurious to the finely adjusted wearing parts.

DE LAVAL

CREAM SEPARATORS have the only automatic oiling system which provides for a constant supply of fresh oil and, at the same time, the constant discharge of the used oil together with all worn metal particles or dirt which may have gotten into the used oil.

What of The Future Crop

The story of fertility has always been the same. In the beginning, a period of supposedly inexhaustible fertility. Then comes a steady decrease in crop production, a period of poverty, and finally a long, hard struggle with the soil which has been wasted. All the older countries have experienced these stages. Many of them, notably England and Germany have lately been going through the last stage, and now have their farms up to their original fertility. New England is now in the midst of the disheartening up hill pull. The south is just beginning in it.

Some people in Idaho still maintain that our soils are inexhaustible, but most people can easily see the steady decline. We have the great advantage of the experience of the older sections. Will we profit by it? Why not maintain our fertility and forego the task of replacing a stolen heritage. Why not keep our soil fertile and avoid the days of poverty?

There are several ways we can set about this. Many of us are not yet willing to invest in commercial fertilizers, and indeed, it may be even inadvisable. However, there are some simple practices which are too often neglected. The saving of manure and refuse is one of these. Harvest time sees the pleasant evenings lighted by many burning straw-stacks. In the burning, farmers are criminally wasting valuable fertilizer gathered by the crop during a third of the year. It may be incalculable the amount of fertilizer to apply this as straw to the fields. In such a case most farms, especially Palouse farms, can afford a spot for its rotting.

Another danger waste is observed on the garden refuse. This is often left in the garden till spring and then burned. We do not care to use it as garden fertilizer on account of its tendency to harbor insect and disease for garden truck. Then why keep it in the garden for these to winter on? But why burn it? It can be utilized by composting during the winter and applied to a field crop in the spring, or if it is in such shape may be applied in the fall to a field crop.

Tests for Cloth
When our grandmothers went shopping they used to pinch the linens, woolsens and other fabrics between a discriminating thumb and forefinger to see if they were "firm" and would "wear well." This simple method probably served their purposes well enough, but some more accurate, more thorough test is needed in these days, when so many manufacturers are adulterating their goods, and when the variety of fabrics has increased to bewildering proportions.

There are many simple tests for purity which may be applied in exactly the same way to both silk and linen. One is to try to tear the fabric both ways; that is, with and across the weave. It should resist the effort and not look pulled, except in case of sheer goods.
Moisten a tiny spot; if the linen is pure the moisture will go right through the material. Rub the material slightly between the fingers and scratch it lightly; if the threads separate easily rest assured the weave is poor and will not wear well. Threads drawn from the edge of linen will ravel or fray, while those taken from cotton will snap in two.
For silk, linen or wool ravel and burn some threads; pure threads ignite and burn slowly; impure threads light quickly, then smolder. Wool has an unmistakable odor, silk another, and cotton always betrays itself by burning easily.
All wool material is soft to the touch, while half wool or cotton has a hard surface. Worst goods will roughen when rubbed between the hands or with a piece of material.

A young woman went into a store the other day to buy a shirt waist. "What bust" asked the clerk. "Blessed if I know sir," said the young woman and looking nervously around. "I didn't hear anything".

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble
When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stangle, Plainfield, N. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. ## Ballasting Nearly Completed

The ballasting of the Genesee branch of the Northern Pacific is rapidly nearing completion, the ballast being spread within a little more than a mile from Genesee. While the track has yet to be raised for a longer distance, it will not be a great while until this part of the N. P. system will be in first-class condition, something the people have been waiting for many years and which is now a reality.

Supt. J. L. DeForce was in the city on Wednesday afternoon in his private car. He said he was very much pleased with the progress of the ballasting and that within a short time everything would be in ship shape and that a little later the Sunday trains would again be put on the old schedule, giving us two trains each way on Sunday the same as heretofore.

SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are broken up by the death of their chief, the Centipede ranch. The Flying Heart ranch, near the town of Centipede, is a famous place. Its owner, John Glass, is a man of great wealth and influence. He has a large family, and his death has caused a great deal of trouble. The Flying Heart ranch is now in the hands of his widow, Mrs. Glass, and her children. The Flying Heart ranch is a famous place, and its name is well known. CHAPTER XIV.—Continued.

Daring one breathless instant the wisened man stood as if disbelieving his ears, the enormity of the insult robbing him of speech and motion. Then he uttered a snarl, and Stover was barely in time to intercept the backward fling of his groping hand.

"No voice, Willie! There's a lie present!"

Stover's captive cowered with his teeth and struggled briefly, then turned and made for the open prairie without a word.

"It's his first love," said Stover, simply. The other foreman exploded into hoarse laughter, saying:

"You're treadin' on the toes of no herafed relafifs, but them church tunes ain't my style. However, we're waitin' time, gentle where's that bunkhouse? We'll get away in company with the cowboys."

"I never," said Glass, "seen so many tough guys outside of a street-car strike."

Gallagher has been in prison, Jean informed him. "He's a wonderful shot."

"I know it!"

Speed spoke up brightly: "Well, let's go back to the house and wait for Covington."

"But you were getting ready to go running," said Helen.

"No more running for me! I'm in good enough shape, eh, Larry?"

"Great! Bang!"

"What's that?" queried Fresno.

"A little trouble with one of his servants, that's all, but he's afraid it got worse during the night. Covington could run the race for him."

The Californian started. At last all was plain. He had been told the first, now he was certain; but with understanding came also a menace to his careful plans. If Covington ran in Speed's place, how could he expect his rival's exposure? On the way back to the house he had to think pretty rapidly.

Mrs. Keap was pacing the porch as the others came up, and called Speed aside; then, when they were alone, broke out, with blazing eyes:

"You said you had stopped him!"

"And I thought I had. I did my best."

"But he's coming! He'll be here any minute!"

"I suppose he learned you were here," Wally laughed.

"Then you must have told him."

"No, I didn't."

"Mr. Speed"—Roberta's cheeks were pallid and her voice trembled—"you didn't send that telegram to"—"No, I didn't."

"Yes, I stopped off between trains to view the city, and took a 'Boeing Omaha' that the rag wagon upset, and—I broke my toe."

"You left Chicago ten days ago," said Speed necessarily.

"Of course, but when I broke my toe I had to stay. It's a beautiful city—lots of fine buildings."

"How did you like the jail?"

"What in the world are you boys talking about?" queried Miss Blake.

"Mr. Speed seems amused at Culver's accident."

"No, he's not," said Helen. "Now, let's better let Culver go to his room and freshen up a bit. I want to talk to you, Helen, and Speed dropped at the meaning he blind her words. But it was time for a general conference; events were shaping themselves too rapidly for him to cope with. Once the throes were alone he lost no time in making his predicament known, the while his friend listened in amazement."

"But is it really so serious?" the letter asked, finally.

"It's life or death. There's a homicidal maniac named Willie guarding the dardness, and a pair of ransackers who keep watch at my window all night. The cowboys bathe me in ice-water, and they feed me raw meat fully; in a daze, he shook his hand. Subconsciously he beheld Lawrence Glass, and painting over his face a sort of criminal feign he broke into the room to shoot me if I break training, and when he saw me, he threw up his hands at sight of Covington, and cry out in a strange tongue. When he regained his faculties he broke into the conversation harshly."

"What have you done to yourself?"

"I broke a toe," explained the athlete.

"You broke a toe?"

"He broke a toe!" wailed Glass, faintly.

"It's nothing but a toe, it won't hurt your running." Speed seized eagerly upon the faintest hope.

"No, I'll be all right in a few weeks." Covington spoke carelessly, his eyes bent upon Jean Chapin.

"You've got to run to-morrow."

"Covington fringed his glance away from the cheeks of his sweetheart."

"I'm sick. You'll have to."

"Don't be an idiot, Wally. I can't walk!"

Helen explained, with pride of one displaying her own handiwork:

"Then he uttered a snarl, and Stover was barely in time to intercept the backward fling of his groping hand."

"No voice, Willie! There's a lie present!"

"I'm not going to box. It's a foot race. I'm training—been training ever since I arrived at Centipede."

"Where in Roberta?"

"In his bewilderment the late-comer might have unwittingly betrayed his friend had not Jean suddenly inquired:—

"Roberta!" Covington tripped over one of his crutches. "Roberta who?"

"Why, Roberta Keap, of course! She's chaperoning us while mother is away."

"You and she are old friends, I believe?"

Helen interposed, frowning his chum a look of dumb entreaty, but Speed was staring round-eyed into space, and the future.

Helen started to fetch her just as the pallid captives was entering the door.

"The shock hands with Covington, she observed that he was too deeply affected at sight of her to speak, and it awakened fresh misgivings in her own mind."

"How'd you do! I didn't know you were here!" he stammered.

"I thought it would surprise you!"

"I have, eh? Well, I didn't break them apart, but let me tell you the less said about that jail the better. I'm in trouble myself."

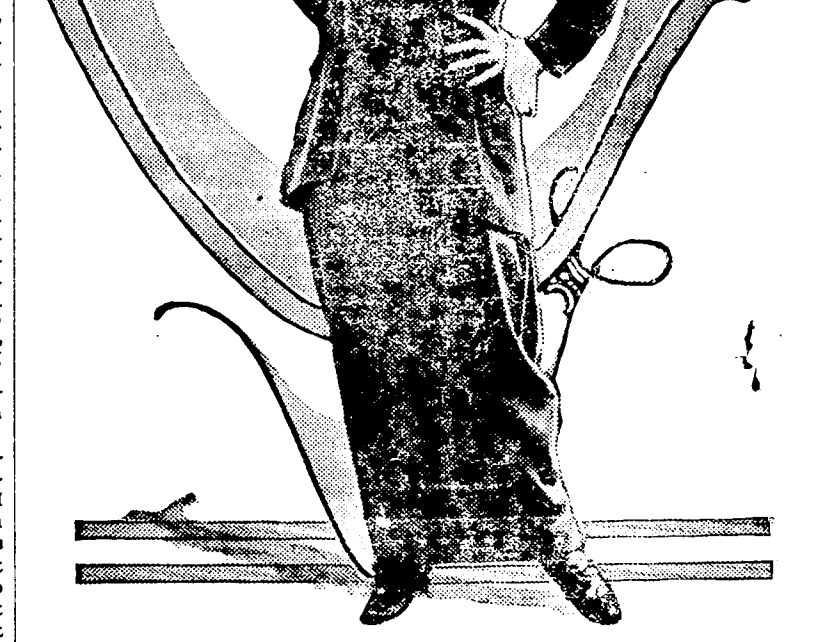

Speed might have explained that his day on the way to market, when a pompous individual in the corner turned to him crossly and said:

THE GENEESEE

GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1914.

VOL. XXVI.

INDEPENDENT IN POLITICS

GRAIN FIELDS RIPENING

Record Yields of Grain Reported—Barley Being Harvested

question uppermost in the mind of everyone, at this time is, "What will be the yield of the merchant, banker and professional men all interested in present crop outlook. The conditions certainly seem very ideal for the successful growing of grain. Latah county soil always makes good, but this year it is going to do better. Ask the farmer what he thinks of the prospects and he will certainly tell you the outlook is good.

On one subject at least, that of the barley yield, old timers agree in saying it has never been better. The barley fields are ripening in fine shape and in a number of fields especially those south of Genesee the report fields of excellent quality. Some report fields of excellent oats, others not quite so good.

Wheat is considered a good average crop, better than the ten year average and at least one-half more grain than last year. Considerable complaint is heard relative to the damage done by smut in some fields while others report slight damage from this source.

In sections where corn is being grown, it is reported of splendid color and in fine growing condition and prospects are the best for corn that will equal or possibly exceed that grown in corn states of the west.

The rain on Monday did slight damage to fields of hay in the shocks but was of inestimable value to other crops.

Harvest is earlier by a week or two this year than has ever been known in this section. Harvest hands are arriving daily and it is hoped there will be sufficient help to handle the work. Threshing will probably begin next week and the threshing machines will undoubtedly tell a story of a grain yield above the ten year average.

Sad Tidings

Last week, J. J. Hirsberger received the sad news of the death of his father, Jean Joseph Hirsberger of Alsac, Lorain, France, which occurred July 6th.

Mr. Hirsberger was 86 years old at the time of his death and had always made his home in France. He leaves a widow and sons and daughters in France, besides J. J. Hirsberger of Genesee and a daughter who resides in South America, to mourn the loss.

There was a good attendance of the members of the church and Sunday school. The little folks enjoyed the day to the fullest.

Geo. H. F. Barstow and family will be at home after this week in the property purchased for a parsonage just east of the Christian church.

Teeters and swings have been built for the older children. All children are free to amuse themselves in the park, but are cautioned against injuring anything that is placed there.

NAME ONE OF THE NEW BATTLESHIPS "IDAHO"

The following correspondence dealing with giving the name of Idaho to one of the new dreadnaughts has been made public today:

"House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., July 3, 1914.

"To the President, the White House:

Dear Mr. President—Inasmuch as the battleship named for my state 'Idaho' is about to be disposed of by sale and a new ship of the dreadnaught variety is to be constructed, I urgently request that all fairness to the people of my state be observed in the naming of the vessel, or at least one of the new battleships, should be named 'Idaho' in advance of giving a different name to any other vessel.

As an evidence of the interest of the people of my state have taken the battleship Idaho in the state legislature made an appropriation of $7,500 for the purchase of a silver service which was presented to the officers of the ship about two years ago. The people have taken great pride in this vessel and in the navy, and will feel very much disappointed if the name 'Idaho' is not given to the next vessel that is named.

"Sincerely yours,

"ADDISON T. SMITH,"

The White House, Washington, July 7, 1914.

Dear Mr. Smith: Permit me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of July 3, and to say that I shall bring it promptly to the attention of the president.

"J. P. TUMULY,"

"Secretary to President,"

The Secretary of the Navy, Washington, July 7, 1914.

My Dear Congressman Smith: I have your esteemed favor of the 3rd instant relating to naming one of the new battleships after your state. I shall be glad to bear in mind your interest in the matter when considering the subject of names for new ships, and assure you that what you say will be given every consideration.

"With kind regards, believe me, Sincerely yours,

"JOSEPHUS DANIELS,"

"Secretary"

Bovill Will Rebuild

Since the recent disastrous fire at Bovill the city council adopted a stringent fire ordinance prohibiting the erection of any building except substantial ones of brick, stone or cement, within the business section and also a large area that may become so. Plans are being formulated for rebuilding most of the business blocks in brick and stone and the replacing the frame buildings destroyed by fire with good substantial ones shows the progressive spirit of our neighboring town.

Sunday School Picnic

The Lutheran Sunday school held a very enjoyable picnic last Sunday on the church lawn. A basket dinner with plenty of ice cream cake and lemonade, was served on the lawn by the ladies of the church. There was a good attendance of the members of the church and Sunday school. The little folks enjoyed the day to the fullest.

NEW PRECINCTS ESTABLISHED

Filing—New Law in Force

Much interest is being shown in the new primary election law of Idaho, effective for the first time this year, which provides that names of candidates to appear on the official primary ballot must be filed at least 30 days prior to the date of the primary election. August 1 is the last day for filing.

County Attorney John Nisbet, whose nomination for reelection was filed today by W. A. Laufer, said: "Three or four days more for candidates to file or have some one file for them. Another provision of the new law is that where some one relates to county offices. For state offices they have 10 days in which to file acceptance of nominations. Filings are being made in a number of the county offices and soon the political pot will be boiling in earnest."

Two new precincts have been established by the county commissioner for Latah county, one at Helmer and one at Texas Ridge, both on the east side of the county making 28 precincts. A little more than one-third of the vote of the county is in the five Moscow precincts, the next largest being Polk.

The boundaries of the various precincts and the voting places established by the county commissioner will be found in this issue of the News.

Civil Actions Filed

That editors are not always at liberty to express themselves as they wish has been evinced by the recent filing of civil actions against P. L. Orcutt, editor of the Clearwater Republican, published at Orofino, Idaho. J. W. and P. H. Blake, president and cashier of the Fidelity state bank of Orofino are the complainants, and each seeks damages to the amount of $25,000. The filing of these suits has grown out of the criminal libel proceedings instituted previously against Orcutt.

Former Genesee Boy

In the swimming race, which was one of the attractions of the Regatta at Coeur d'Alene Saturday, July 4, H. H. Keller, a 16-year-old Coeur d'Alene boy won second place and received the ovations of the crowd in attendance. He was a former Genesee boy having resided here with his mother and sister. He bore the reputation, when a mere lad, of being able to swim and dive exceedingly well.

New Photoplay House

Frank M. Macdon, has rented the Sullivan building on the north side of Main Street and has fitted it up for a moving picture show house. It was his intention to open this little play house last Saturday evening but was unable to do so. The initial performance will be given Saturday evening, July 18.

As long as a dollar is spent in this town it stays here—spend it in another town and it stays there.

CORN SILAGE AS A SUPPLEMENT TO PASTURE

Green crops fed as a supplement to pasture may be fed in the pasture or in the barn lot but as a rule are fed most economically in the barn. The cows remain inside long enough at milking time to eat their portions.

As a rule the most economical method of supplying feed to help out the short pastures of midsummer and fall is to feed corn silage. Silage will keep in good condition for summer feeding with no loss except on the surface. If it is not needed during the summer, it may be covered with the silage and kept until wanted. Corn furnishes a larger yield of dry matter per acre than any crop that can be ordinarily grown for summer feeding, and has the further advantage of being on hand as early as wanted.

It is handled more economically also than soiling crops since it is cut all at once and not every day as is necessary with soiling crops. It should be remembered that it is only possible to feed a bunch of cows economically when they are fed as individuals and not as a herd. A too common practice, even here, is to feed all animals to be fed the same amount of grain, regardless of the time they have been in milk or the quantity of milk the individual cows are producing. Such feeding always lacks economy, as the high producing cow does not get enough, and while she may milk very well for a time, she soon comes down to the amount of $25.00. The following cow usually gets too much and accumulates fat.

Camping Party

The following crowd of young people returned Wednesday from a very pleasant eleven days' camping trip to Elk River and various points: Misses Clara Halverson, Agnes Danielson, Ethel and Hattie Johnson, Melvina and Martha Thorsen, Mrs. Albert Halverson, O. Knut, Knut Hovsice, William and Clarence Danielson, J. Thorsen, published by Mr. and Mrs. Thorsen.

The party went by way of Latah and Boulder Creek country, returning through Bovill and Denary. Deliciously prepared speckled trout and huckle-berry sauce was indulged in during the trip.

The Latah county commissioners sat as a board of equalization in Moscow last week. They personally examined and compared the assessment rolls of property in all parts of the county that were submitted by the county assessor. They are in session this week hearing the petitions in regard to the construction of roads and bridges, establishing herd districts and disposing of the work that has accumulated during the past six months.

Mail visited several sections in the Lewiston country last week destroying considerable grain and doing damage to the amount of $5,000 in the Lewiston Orchard Tracts.

F. E. Lambert and family are enjoying the pleasures of automobilizing, he having purchased a five-passenger Ford car from E. E. Miller last Friday.

Cutting and binding barley is being carried on at several ranches some of those noted being Hampton and Driscoll, John Gibb and Robert Gray, Jr.

Brought Down from Home of Grandparents

Jesse McMahon, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William McMahon, who was accidentally shot by a bullet as could be expected considering the seriousness of his wound, was brought to the hospital at Pullman, where he was taken to the hospital at Pullman, Wash. There are only rough trails leading into the section, and the boy had to be carried 20 miles on a stretcher, 12 men worked in relay to get the boy to the outside.

He was then taken by automobile and train to the hospital at Pullman, but after an examination by surgeons there, it was decided an operation was not necessary. After a few days rest he was brought to Genesee to the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Steltz.

Physicians state it is the most remarkable case in their experience and surprise is expressed that the boy has survived his injuries. The courage and grit of the lad has aided greatly in carrying him through so far. Jesse has many friends here who wish sincerely for his ultimate recovery.

The following crowd of young people returned Wednesday from a very pleasant eleven days' camping trip to Elk River and various points: Misses Clara Halverson, Agnes Danielson, Ethel and Hattie Johnson, Melvina and Martha Thorsen, Mrs. Albert Halverson, O. Knut, Knut Hovsice, William and Clarence Danielson, J. Thorsen, published by Mr. and Mrs. Thorsen.

The party went by way of Latah and Boulder Creek country, returning through Bovill and Denary. Deliciously prepared speckled trout and huckle-berry sauce was indulged in during the trip.

The Latah county commissioners sat as a board of equalization in Moscow last week. They personally examined and compared the assessment rolls of property in all parts of the county that were submitted by the county assessor. They are in session this week hearing the petitions in regard to the construction of roads and bridges, establishing herd districts and disposing of the work that has accumulated during the past six months.

Mail visited several sections in the Lewiston country last week destroying considerable grain and doing damage to the amount of $5,000 in the Lewiston Orchard Tracts.

F. E. Lambert and family are enjoying the pleasures of automobilizing, he having purchased a five-passenger Ford car from E. E. Miller last Friday.

Cutting and binding barley is being carried on at several ranches some of those noted being Hampton and Driscoll, John Gibb and Robert Gray, Jr.

Co-operation Helpful

There isn't the slightest question in the world as regards the effectiveness, the desirability of the co-operation. The only difference of opinion possible is as to whether it shall be constructive or destructive. When any body of people employ co-operative effort for the betterment of their own conditions by the use of their own power, it is a whole some movement destined to deserving success. When one class utilizes its powers for waging warfare upon other, the ultimate end is destined to produce an unnatural condition, a dissipation of effort, financial loss and no real improvement in conditions—West Coast Trade.

The "Protective-Tariff Cyclopaedia"

prepared and published by the American Protective Tariff League, New York, will be ready for distribution on or about August 1st. The Cyclopaedia will contain the official text of the Underwood law, the Underwood and Payne-Alford laws compared, giving every detail of duty on articles in both laws; what one hundred and fifty-two United States Senators and Congressmen said for and against the Underwood bill; and a copious index of over 8,000 citations. The volume will consist of about nine hundred (900) pages and will answer all questions on the Tariff Question.

It is not now necessary that one marry an Indian maiden in order to get a piece of land, according to a recent ruling of the United States land office providing for the land of your choice has taken a girl of your choice before it has been homesteaded.

General Rosalia Jones and "Colonel" Ida Craft, two noted New York suffragettes, are in Billings, Wyo., in the interests of their movement. The general and colonel should be classed with the I. W. W.'s and told to move on. The recent demonstration at the White House is sufficient to convince the thoughtful that some of the American women are not far removed from the tactics adopted by the militants in this country. The time to stop the hatch is to crush the egg.

No, not necessarily, if you use a Great Western Cream Separator—the only successful cold milk skimmer on the market. A few reasons WHY it is the best: Imported ball bearings, self-draining and perfect flushing, slow speed bowl, low down tank, gears, low self-oiling and increased, this one and is noticeable in operation—strictly SANITARY in every detail. Blame Storstad for SMASH. Canadian Commission Blames Third Officer of Collier as Negligent.

Quebec.—The collier Storstad is held to blame for the Empress of Ireland disaster in the fact that he was in charge of the collier at the time.

The Empress was sunk in the St. Lawrence May 29, with a loss of more than 1000 lives.

The inquiry into the disaster was begun in Quebec June 16, by a commission composed of Lord Mealy, formerly presiding justice of the British admiralty court; Sir Adolphus Routledge of Quebec, and Chief Justice McLeod of New Brunswick.

The collier's third officer found responsible is Alfred Tuffeneau. He was on the bridge when the crash occurred and the report holds that he was wrong and negligent in keeping the navigation of the vessel in his own hands and failing to call the captain when he saw the fog coming on.

OFFICIAL REPORT MADE TO PRESIDENT WILSON AS TO WHO IS IN CONTROL.

TWO OWN HALF IN S.W. WASHINGTON. In North Central Idaho Four Holders Have 50 Per Cent—About 1694 Owners Hold One-Tenth of the Land Area of U. S.

Washington.—Concentration of timber lands in the United States in the hands of a few owners is discussed at length in the second and third parts of the report of the interstate commerce commission on the timber industry submitted to President Wilson by Commissioner Sisson.

Two men hold 49 per cent of the timber in the most important Washington report says; five men hold 36 per cent in western Oregon; six have 40 per cent in northern California; 10 have more than 20 per cent in the redwood area, and in north central Idaho four holders have 50 per cent.

Timber in Big Holdings. "The control of our standing timber in a comparatively few enormous holdings, speculatively held for an advance in its use, and the great increase in the value of timber, resulting in part from such speculative holding, are underlying facts that will be taken into account in the present department in determining the price of lumber as the supply of timber diminishes," says the report.

The main fact in the report is that 1694 timber owners hold in fee over one-twentieth of the land area of the entire United States from the Canadian to the Gulf of Mexico.

These 1694 holders own 105,000,000 acres, this in the most important of the timber states of the United States; or more than two and one-half times the land area of the six New England states. Sixteen holders own 47,800,000 acres, or nearly two times the land area of New Jersey. Three land-grant railroads own enough of the timber to give every male of voting age in the nine western states where almost all their holdings lie.

Not All Can Be Farmed. "Not all this land is suitable for farming. In the south, and in the lake states, the timber is so valuable a large portion of it can be used for agriculture after the timber is removed; but in many parts of the west the land is mountainous and adapted chiefly to reforestation. Much of the railroad-owned land outside the timber regions is arid or semi-arid.

Now, keep your timber clear, and let us reason together. If Montana, Idaho, Utah, and Colorado are to be developed, the land must be cleared. The land must be cleared. The land must be cleared. The land must be cleared.

Bomb in British Church. London.—A bomb was discovered Sunday night in the famous church of St. John the Evangelist, Westminster, and Anna Bell, a woman who has figured several times in militant acts, was arrested. This church was damaged last March by a bomb which the suffragettes placed beneath the seat in the gallery above the pulpit. The suffragettes had been Sunday noticed a light flickering in the rear of the church and found a fuse connected with a can of gunpowder.

Uster Men Recapture Guns. London.—The Londonderry correspondent of the Daily Mail sends a report that a party of 100 Uster volunteers on Saturday morning captured the Enniskillen station a consignment of arms and ammunition that had been seized at Londonderry by the customs. The consignment was being conveyed from Londonderry to Dublin under an armed guard of 10 policemen.

Better For Farmers' Unions. Individuals, granges and farmers' unions have a much better opportunity of winning their case in the Spokane Interstate fair this year as a result of a new ruling setting aside a portion of the $100 prize money for their benefit. The new ruling will be put into effect at the Spokane Interstate fair.

Second-hand thoughts are sometimes put in general display cases.

MINES AND MINERS

It is reported that two feet of high grade ore has been encountered in the 400-foot shaft of the Joe Buckley mine near Copper Mountain, B. C. About $25,000 has been expended in developing work on this property.

The capital stock of the Gertie Mining Co. of Burke, Idaho, has recently been increased from 1,500,000 shares to 2,500,000 shares, and A. A. Booth, one of the stockholders, has announced that development work will commence on the same at once.

An option for $100,000 has been taken on the Republic Mines operation properties at Republic, Wash., by A. B. Willard of Tekon, Wash., and A. Laughton, an attorney of Republic. It is stated that George S. Bailey, the federal receiver, will be made manager.

Increased shipments of ore from the Rossland, B. C., district to the smelter of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. have recently been made, the additional tonnage being from 600 and 700 tons to 1,000 to 1,100 tons per day. This extra tonnage is the result of the opening of a new copper furnace, which makes four available for use.

The value of the gold, silver, copper and lead produced at mines in Washington during the first nine months of 1914 is $1,053,135, compared with $1,200,000 in 1913, and $1,057,017 in 1911. The 6 per cent decrease in value resulted from lower prices of gold and silver, and a reduction in the production of silver and copper.

The Caaba mine, near Oroville, Wash., recently taken over by the United Mines Co., composed of Oroville and Spokane mines, is being operated extensively and the management contemplates increasing the output to 100 tons daily and increasing this to 100 tons daily within the next 30 days. The Caaba mine was first located in 1874 by "Okanoan Smith."

Does it assume that the American farmer is the subject of wrecking the mercantile establishments of his own town by mail order buying that he will also wreck the industry? Will Montgomery Ward & Co. succeed in proving that the March and April grocery list of Montgomery Ward & Co. is a drilling?

You might ask the farmer: If this sort of "saving" of the farmer's money is not a conspiracy with the mail order houses, is it not a conspiracy with the sugar trust to restrain trade to the extent of wiping out the American beet sugar industry?

SAY HUERTA RESIGNS TRY HUERTA'S TEST

THIS PLAN BEING URGED AS A CORRECTIVE MEASURE TO IMPROVE IMMIGRATION.

Accustomed at Home to Very Low Wage and Corresponding Mode of Living—Steampship and Railroad Cos. Fight Proposed Law.

It is because of the change in the character of the European immigration that we have been getting during the past years that the literacy test is being urged as a corrective.

Now there are just as many people in the countries of southern and eastern Europe as there are in the countries of northern Europe, but we do not get more of them among our immigrants.

From the northwestern countries we get a good average class of immigrants, but the average of employment are absorbing a larger percentage of our population than the United States. There is an evident purpose on the part of merchants, manufacturers and other classes, and as a general proposition it is mostly only the lower classes that emigrate to this country.

Moreover, these immigrants are accustomed at home to an extremely low scale of wages and living. They are largely and inherently illiterate and lacking in aspiration. Sentimentalists and those who have been their intention in emigrating to found a new home or better their condition, intellectually, socially or politically, are a small minority.

This statement was made Monday by Roberto Esteve-Ruiz, Mexican secretary of foreign affairs, who recently visited the United States and returned to Europe. Huerta, he said, will surrender the government to Francisco Carral, the new minister of foreign affairs, and will leave Mexico.

A movement is on foot to build a $1,500,000 canal between the United States and Mexico. It will have a seating capacity of 1,200, according to the plans drawn.

It is reported that the Mount Vernon Cream Co., Mount Vernon, Wash., will increase the capacity of its plant from about 75,000 cans of the Chicago wholesale price of eastern cream granulated was 4.12 1/2 cents per pound, less 2 per cent, and the "standard" price of the Chicago wholesale price of eastern cream granulated was 3.97 1/2 cents per pound, less 2 per cent, or 4.04 1/2 cents per pound.

"You say that you understand that one concern in Chicago is selling 35 pounds of granulated sugar for $1.00 or 2.87 cents per pound, or 1.04 1/2 cents per pound. Is that right? Is it right that they are losing 1.18 1/2 cents per pound according to 1.063 cents per pound according to whether this sugar is cane or beet, or whether it is granulated or powdered? Are they securing sugar rebates from the government?"

Now, keep your timber clear, and let us reason together. If Montana, Idaho, Utah, and Colorado are to be developed, the land must be cleared. The land must be cleared. The land must be cleared. The land must be cleared.

As they holdly announce, "We do not handle beet sugar," we must take their word for it that they are sending out cane sugar, trust sugar, and refined sugar. If this is so, they are therefore losing, if they are losing anything, 1.18 1/2 cents per pound, or the lesser loss of 1.063 cents per pound that would be the approximate loss on beet sugar.

Assuming that they have the choice of cane or beet, do they take the greater? It seems to me that they are answer obviously is, that they are probably not losing anything on sugar, but that, to quote the sugar expert: "they are securing sugar rebates from the government refiners."

Assuming this to be so, what object can the cane sugar refiners have, what return can they receive for the rebate given? Is it unfair to assume that the object is to injure, to decrease the use of and confidence in American beet sugar?

Agree not the heralded statement, "We do not handle beet sugar," is that the recompense for the rebate? Now think politics for a minute. Do not bother about party. Think about what others said.

In the arguments for reducing the rebate to the beet sugar, the most affirmative arguments were chiefly that a reduced tariff on sugar would benefit all, for these reasons: That as the sugar is used, the lowering of tariff would increase importations and automatically lower the price. That while one state, Louisiana, raised sugar roots torn off and a blacksmith shop roof fell, the cane sugar was used up. The cane was torn off a church and the large stone cross of the Romanist church crashed to the street. It is said that corn has been seriously damaged.

Better For Farmers' Unions. Individuals, granges and farmers' unions have a much better opportunity of winning their case in the Spokane Interstate fair this year as a result of a new ruling setting aside a portion of the $100 prize money for their benefit. The new ruling will be put into effect at the Spokane Interstate fair.

The pole stands 222 feet above the ground, and is the largest flag staff in the world. Ten feet of the butt is set into a solid block of reinforced concrete weighing 220 tons. The pole itself weighs 35 tons, the log from which it was trimmed having weighed 50 tons.

Mrs. A. J. Primus and Miss Anna Michels were visitors at the ranch home of Joseph Moersch, on Tuesday afternoon, and brought in some fine samples of Royal Ann and Bing cherries, grown on his ranch. There were a half dozen branches that were just about as full as it is possible for cherries to grow. One branch 9 inches long contained 60 cherries in a space of four inches. He has plenty more just like the samples. Can you beat it?

Gathering Agricultural Exhibits

At a meeting of the Moscow chamber of commerce, Tuesday, A. W. Laird, vice-president and general manager of the Potlatch Lumber company, donated $100 toward the expense of securing an agricultural exhibit. A movement was immediately started for the gathering of samples of horticultural and agricultural products suitable for exhibition purposes.
Such a movement was recently started in Pullman. What is the matter with the Genesee Commercial club starting such a movement here? Surely we grow as fine fruits, grains and grasses as many other places that will collect such exhibits. Why not talk it over and begin now while suitable samples can be secured?

Variations in Cream Fat Tests

Why does the percentage of fat in your cream vary, Mr. Farmer? It certainly does after a fashion, when the test drops 4 or 5 per cent. The reasons for these variations, you should know, and control of them becomes part of your business. The most important cause of variation follows, with suggestions for their control.

1. If you use the gravity system it is impossible to skim the cream, or draw off the skim milk at the bottom of the can in exactly the same manner each day, and so the test will vary.

2. With the separator, your fat percentage will vary because check (a) The percentage of fat in the milk varies with the seasons, change of milk or time of milking, with excitement of the cows.

(b) The temperature of the milk varies. The warmer the milk, the more fluid it becomes and hence the easier to separate the fat globules from the serum. Have your milk at 60 degrees to 63 degrees F. which is the temperature of the milk fresh from the cow.

(c) The separator is not balanced. Level the bowl exactly. If the bowl does not run smoothly, it will hinder the skim milk and cream from finding their respective outlets, some of the skim milk will mix with the cream and the result will be uncertain.

(d) The speed of your separator is not right or constant. Time the crank with a watch and turn it the number of revolutions called for in the directions. The slower the speed, the thinner the cream and more fat will appear in the skim milk. Do not run too fast, as you may damage the bowl or spindle.

(e) The amount of water or skim milk for flushing varies. Do not use too much. Turn off the intake valve when the cream discharge appears watery.

Potatoes 48 Per Cent Higher

According to figures published by the Bureau of Statistics (Crop Forecasts), in the recent Agricultural Outlook, the prices of potatoes paid to the farmer on May 1, 1914, averaged 71.4 cents a bushel, which is 23.2 cents higher than the average price for May 1, 1913 or a gain of about 48 per cent.

In Maine where the price this year was 64 cents there was a gain of 24 cents per bushel over the price of May 1, 1913; in Vermont with a gain of 10 cents the price was 77 cents. In Massachusetts there was a gain of 21 cents, New York, 23 cents, New Jersey 13 cents, Pennsylvania 27 cents, West Virginia 30 cents, in Virginia and North Carolina there was an increase of 14 cents per bushel, the prices on May 1, 1914, in those States being 88 cents and 97 cents, respectively.

South Carolina and Louisiana were the only States showing a decrease, but with a decrease of 14 cents in South Carolina and 10 cents in Louisiana, the prices this year were $1.31 and $1, respectively. In Mississippi, where the gain was 7 cents, the price was $1.12, and in Alabama, with a gain of 3 cents the price was $1.18.

A Little Mixed

Tommy Mulligan was absent from school one day. It would appear that he had played truant, for, unknown to Tommy, his teacher had seen him trudging homewards with his pockets bulging suspiciously when she, too, was homeward bound that afternoon.

But Tommy brought a note of excuse next morning. The writing was hardly that of a feminine hand and appeared much blotted; the penmanship also appeared strangely familiar to his teacher. The note read as follows:

"Dear Teacher—Please excuse Tommy for not coming to school yesterday, he cud not come, I tore my pants.—Mrs. Mulligan."

How to Keep Cool

In the summer we have two kinds of heat—inside heat from the burning up of the food by the tissues and the outside heat of the sun. If you want to stand the outside heat well, put out your inside fire; keep your body cool by eating only small amounts of heat-making food. If you do this the hottest day will not be uncomfortable.—Dr. R. R. Daniels, in the Hygienist.

The boy who makes the best use of his time requires the least attention to what he shall do with his money.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble
When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stengle, Plainfield, N. Y., writes, "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all dealers.

Your Highest Patriotism

Should ever be shown to those dependent upon you. The lesson of July 4th teaches this, for our fore-fathers' first thought was to defend their firesides. Else we would not have a July 4th to celebrate.

How many men there are who fail to protect their families by trusting to uncertain speculation rather than to the certain method of a bank account. Many of them shoot to the front in spectacular fashion and win the public's acclaim.

AND THEN THEY FALL and when their affairs are cast up, it is found that their failure involves those dearest to them.

The best plan is always to have the bulwark of a bank account behind you.

Play safe, rather than spectacularly

Ballasting Finished. The ballasting of the Genesee branch of the Northern Pacific railway was finished last week and with a few more finishing touches to be given portions of the road bed it will be as good as any portion of the road, barring, of course, the main line, which has a better bed and heavier steel, but it is hoped that what has already been done will eliminate the delays caused by small wrecks which have occurred semi-occasionally, and sometimes often, on this branch. The crew has been surveying the canyons and have made preliminary surveys up Murphy and Machine canyons. In case they succeed in finding the necessary grade five per cent it is likely the road will run toward the Washington road near the angle school house, some 2 1/2 miles from Genesee. After the survey has been completed, in order for a county to secure the road it will be necessary to raise an amount equal to $2 to $1 which the state will furnish out of the auto tax fund, which is being used for that purpose. Enormous Crops in Sight. A trip through the country southwest and south of Moscow extending beyond Genesee to the breaks of the Clearwater river tells a powerful story of the magnitude of the grain crops of the Inland Empire. For miles and miles as far as the eye can reach in all directions may be seen countless stands of growing grain, some golden yellow, just turning ready for the harvest while the less ripened grain of greenish hue tells the tale of wealth given by the soil of the Inland Empire. Oats, barley, wheat and alfalfa abound in wealth and beauty. Everywhere farmers tell the same story. Never in the history of the country has the yield been as heavy. Evidence bearing out these statements may be found in any wagoner's chances to view the thick mass of grain in many places standing above the fence post and hiding them from view.—Moscow-Mirror. "Refused". "Refused". Every editor has received them. The postmaster sends them to the editor. For instance, there is a man by the name of John Blank, who refused to take his paper out of the postoffice. He did not want it any longer, and wondered what was the matter. Upon investigation of our subscription book, we found that John was not sent $5.70. He stopped the paper as a matter of economy to us. One evening we went to a church and John's melodious voice rang out loud and clear in that soul stirring song, "Jesus Paid it All". We might have been mistaken but his conduct was reprehensible. The day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing he had made arrangements for his liabilities in that manner. Ex. Merchants Busy. For the past several days the merchants and implement men of this place have been kept very busy putting up supplies for the threshing crews and furnishing repairs to the farm machinery and threshing machines and Genesee takes on the appearance of a very lively little city which it is especially at this time of the year. "Need a Rest". A great many politicians who are now in congress at Washington are beginning to feel that they need a rest, and there are those who contend that some fields have a great deal while others report almost a total absence from their crops. Booze on Whiskey Creek. All indications point to the fact that the thirsty of Clearwater country will have to do thirstily for some time as the board of county commissioners of that county has adjourned and no one seems to be justified in thinking that the county is not on dry territory, having accounts to reports there are at least a few there who are very "dry". Orofino being on an Indian reservation places it without the possibility of being wet, but reports say that perhaps a few "high ones" in his machine, poured the contents in the radiator for cooling purposes, which was said to work very well, the driver managing to keep the machine in the road by the way. Who knows what might happen between here and Uniontown if the chauffeur happened to forget the water but not the beer?

Should Make New Laws. False Advertising Has Induced Many Farmers to Leave States For Canada. It is a well-known fact that many farmers have been induced to leave their homes in the states to go to Canada by false advertising by the Canadian government and others in the land schemes in the different provinces of Canada. The following will convince those in doubt as to the methods employed and that all is not a bed of roses in the Canadian country and we would advise all who are contemplating emigrating to Canada to "look well before they leap". In an address delivered before the senate lobby probe committee at Washington, Cortland Smith, New York, president of the American Press association, which supplies several thousand daily and weekly newspapers with plate matter, charged the Canadian government with paying $250,000 a year for "false advertising matter," to induce farmers to emigrate from the United States to Canada. "Most of the matter, Mr. Smith said, is furnished in the form of 'patent sheets'." He declared that J. A. Joslyn of Omaha, president of the Western Newspaper Union, which furnishes plate sheets to 5000 weekly papers, could corroborate his statement, as his association uses the Canadian matter. Mr. Smith said his own association had been offered the Canadian government matter. He produced a copy of a weekly paper printed in the United States carrying a column story containing the "story" of an Iowa farmer who had "almost starved in America and is now hoarding wealth". States to permit the mails to carry such false matter," said Mr. Smith. "Canada would suppress such a paper if it were printed there, and here in that way about Canada. It has been running for 15 years." He said 300,000 farmers had been induced to go to Canada by such advertising matter." Senator Nelson declared 6000 farmers had gone from Minnesota, but many of them are coming back. The following letter received recently by J. S. Larrabee, is self-explanatory and will add further weight to the above statements. There can be no doubt as to the authenticity as it is from one whom most of the people of this section know and is as follows: Dear friend: As there is no crop here I am requested by some to find out how crops are in Idaho this year and what is the chance for business in general. I have been here in every line and no crop makes it look serious. Please write as soon as convenient. Yours very truly, L. G. Evans. M. Alexander Visits Genesee. M. Alexander of Boise, democratic primary candidate for governor, was in Genesee Tuesday evening interviewing the business men and citizens of this place, having come over from Moscow during the afternoon and returning to that city in the evening. Mr. Alexander is well and favorably known in Latah county and has many friends here. He has not entered upon an active campaign as yet, but is simply around "visiting" and getting acquainted with people and conditions. During a conversation he said: "I have a very friendly feeling for the Latah county people. When I made my last race for the governorship I carried Latah county by a handsome majority." He was accompanied to Genesee by J. H. Forney, candidate for congress on the democratic ticket. Postmaster F. E. Cornwall and J. J. Keane of Moscow, having driven over in Mr. Cornwall's auto. The quarry at Julietta is expected to soon be in full blast, which, in connection with the Niles packing house will furnish employment to some 200 persons, principally women and girls, which will give them a chance to work an opportunity to make a nice sum during the season. MANY BLIGHT CURES ARE FAKES

Director of Experiment Station Declares Surgery is Only Remedy.

Dr. Ira D. Cardiff, director of the state experiment station at Pullman, Wash., has sounded a warning to horticulturists throughout the state to beware of "cures" for blight which are being advanced, branding them a grave menace to the fruit industry.

The experiment station desires to call the attention of horticulturists to the grave danger menacing the fruit industry in the numerous and sundry alleged cures for blight (pear blight) which are being advertised.

"The blight disease and its characteristics are well known to plant pathologists and horticulturists throughout the country. It is well known that the methods of combating it are well known. There is, therefore, little excuse for making mistakes in regard to combating this disease.

"The only way to cure a tree of blight, once it is affected, is to cut out the infected portions. There is no patent cure. From the very nature of the disease it is improbable that there will be, and any one who takes advantage of people in this respect, works off a patent cure, or promises to work off patent cures or panaceas for the blight, is, to say the least, a most undesirable citizen. It is unfortunate that our laws are not drastic enough to prevent the activities of these blight nostrum fakers.

It is especially necessary at present to call attention to this matter, as there is being exploited certain tree plants which are being advertised as being absolutely certain in regard to these 'tree plants', namely, that if they will kill the blight bacteria in the tree they will kill the tree, or, if they are not killed, they will be cured, or, if they are not cured, they will be cured, or, if they are not cured, they will be cured.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BETWEEN AUSTRIA AND SERBIA ARE BROKEN OFF.

KING PETER LEAVES BELGRADE

Wild Demonstrations Held Throughout the Country—Germany Declares War News—Italy Against Austria—War Seems Sure.

Vienna—Diplomatic relations between Austria-Hungary and Serbia were formerly broken off Saturday night. War is regarded by the public as almost a certainty.

The Serbian government waited until the Austrian ultimatum and the Serbian premier appeared at the legation and presented his government's ultimatum to the Austrian legation. Details of the tenor of the reply were stated in a statement which was "unsatisfactory."

City All Excitement. The portentous news of Serbia's decision was made known to the public by extra editions of the evening papers, and at 8 o'clock the population of the city began to fill the streets. JAPS IN CALIFORNIA

PASSAGE OF ANTI-LANL AND BILL BY THE STATE WAS DELIBERATE.

MET INDUSTRIAL CONDITION

Demand for Relief From Their Own Lands Had to Be Met—One Town Has Four Times as Many Japs as Whites.

The passage of the anti-alien land bill by the legislature of California in May of last year and the international conditions that resulted therefrom are still fresh in the memory.

The act of the California legislature had nothing directly to do with our immigration or exclusion laws and regulations. It concerned merely the rights of aliens who have already been (or may be in future) admitted into this country.

Nevertheless, the causes that led to this action and the growth of similar conditions elsewhere upon the Pacific coast are likely to have considerable bearing upon future changes in our laws respecting Asiatic immigration.

And let us not assume that California acted hastily or was in any sense "playing to the galleries." The Webb bill simply met an industrial and social condition which had for several years been growing more serious and acute and was passed in response to a unanimous and irresistible demand for relief from the Japanese.

Chronicle, one of the few papers that carried the bill, was impelled to say: "With perfect friendliness to the Japanese, the people of this state are overwhelmingly opposed to their, or any Orientals' owning our land."

The demand for this legislation proceeded from the fact that the Japanese action of the state senate in passing resolutions demanding anti-alien legislation, against which not one single vote was recorded.

A New Garage

A. Murphy has purchased from Follett Bros. the old warehouse which has been standing near the track for many years and is having it removed to his lot near his blacksmith shop, where it will be transformed into a garage, which will be occupied by W. C. Jenkins. Pete Steltz is doing the moving act and expects to have the house in position within a short time.

Mr. Jenkins recently came here from Lewiston, where he had been engaged in auto repair work for a number of years, and as soon as he is settled in his new location will be prepared to do any kind of auto work, including the welding of castings, which is unusually difficult work.

Application Rejected

The board of county commissioners has rejected the application of the Potlatch Lumber company, Milwaukee Land company, Edward Rutledge Timber company and the Northern Pacific Railway company which submitted petitions and arguments against the assessments made on their timber and land by Assessor Theo. E. Martinson, alleging that the assessments were above the cash value of the timber and land. The board decided to let the values stand as originally fixed by the assessor, determining that the "assessed value is not above the cash value of such lands and timber."

After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all dealers.

Barn and Stock Burned

The barn of John D. Maynard, lying a few miles southwest of Colton, was destroyed by fire Monday, together with eight head of horses, which were in the structure, as well as other things which are ordinarily kept in a barn. Twenty-five tons of grain hay, stacked near the barn, was also destroyed. No insurance was carried. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is believed to have been caused by the careless dropping of matches by smokers.

BOYS AND GIRLS AT SPOKANE FAIR

Education and Amusement of Children Strongly Considered in Arranging Program For Nine Days.

Education and amusement for the child at the Spokane Fair go hand in hand with the endeavor to produce better farmers and efficient farm workers. The 1914 Fair promises more ideas and more fun for the children than ever in the history of the institution. A liberal list of prizes in all departments and contests, amusement and athletic features make the children's departments at the fair very inviting for youths of all ages.

Among the departments where prizes are offered at the fair this year are the School Garden Contest, which is under the direction of Professor Thomas A. Hensler, E. 142; the children's exhibits must be in place at the fair grounds by noon, Sept. 12, and all children bringing work or products for display purposes will be admitted free that morning. There are over $300 cash prizes offered in this department, and the entire contest has been arranged in connection with the Northwest State Boys and Girls' Agricultural Contest. One of the special prizes offered in this department is a registered Jersey bull calf to the person exhibiting the best Jersey heifer calf, grade or pure bred, over three months and under a year in age. The calf must be registered and intended to exhibit by the exhibitor.

Three Children's Days. There will be three Children's days during the fair—Monday, Sept. 14, and Saturday, Sept. 19. On all these days the admission charge for children will be 10 cents, and in order to further interest the children, the management this year will sell a season ticket for 50 cents. This will admit them every day in the week.

Fund children as well as the adult visitors to the fair. The management this year will offer an annual show, which will be entertaining for every child. The show will be given with the Patterson show, Captain Webb's performing seals, which are by far the most clever and interesting of all animals, and the famous Dutton show, which will furnish three acts which the children will thoroughly enjoy. Added to these will be the feats of the cowboys and cowgirls that accompany the Irwin show, which are always put on "Frontier Days" every evening during the week. These are only a few of the special stunts that will be offered for the entertainment of young and old.

Surprises Many in Genesee

The QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerin, etc., as mixed in Adler-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis, is surprising Genesee people. Many have found that this simple remedy drains so much foul matter from the system that A SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, soothes stomach and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. Adler-ka is the most thorough bowel cleanser ever sold. Discuss and Co. [5]

The Best Medicine in the World

Vacant Land in Latah

A recent report from the Lewiston land office shows that there are still more than 2,500 acres of land in Latah county subject to entry. While there is very little of it that would be tillable, yet the most of it is excellent for grazing purposes and its with some timber. There is also large amounts of surveyed and unsurveyed land in Clearwater, Idaho, Nezperce, Lewis and Shoshone counties, according to the report recently made to the general land office at Washington, the lands being divided as follows:

Clearwater—Surveyed, 28,290; unsurveyed, none; total, 28,290.

Idaho—Surveyed, 138,580; unsurveyed, 9,600; total, 142,180.

Latah—Surveyed, 1,302; unsurveyed, 1,280; total, 2,582.

Lewis—Surveyed, 9,696; unsurveyed, none; total, 9,696.

Nezperce—Surveyed, 53,203; unsurveyed, 10,680; total, 63,883.

Shoshone—Surveyed, 3,245; unsurveyed, none; total, 3,245.

The acreage included in the national forest reserve is not included in the above list.

Many Machines Destroyed

Up to last Saturday, of the 26 threshing machines which had started operation near Colfax, Wash., 13 were destroyed by smut explosions, which is said to be an unprecedented loss. Up to date the machines have been destroyed in this vicinity, so far as known, although there is a considerable amount of smut in some fields.

The foregoing goes to show that there is smut in other portions of the Palouse as well as around Genesee, and the next thing is to find a remedy or preventive of the smut nuisance. Many think the only solution is in diversified farming, but the coming of a different wheat on some of which wheat has been raised periodically for the past 30 years, with little or no other crop change.

Since the above was put in type it has been reported that a total of 19 machines have been destroyed in Whitman county and in some instances the explosion was followed by fire which destroyed much grain.

Water System For Bovill

Bovill, at a recent special election, decided to vote of 51 to 3 to install a water system for general use and fire protection. The recent burning of a large portion of that village has awakened the citizens to the need of fire protection and bonds will be issued and sold and work begun at once on the installation of the new system. This is a good deal on the order of locking the barn after the horse is stolen, but it will more likely prevent a recurrence of great property loss such as recently occurred there. A good water system is a good investment.

No Bull Moose Ticket

The report comes from Moscow that ticket placed in the field in Latah county regardless of the fact that strenuous efforts were put forth by party leaders to get the moosers together. While there are a great many "progressives" in the county in both the republican and democratic parties, there are few who care to identify themselves with the bull moosers. Paul Clagstone, the leader of the party, is reported to have said that he has "returned to the republican party".

The threshing of barley has about been completed in this neighborhood already, some wheat has been taken care of. The hum of threshing machines can be heard in almost every direction and on account of the early ripening of the grain the harvest and threshing season will be one of the earliest ever known in this part of the country.

The Latah County Fair association has offered a purse of $150 for the best district exhibit of grains and grasses to be exhibited at the coming fair this fall, the exhibit to become the property of the association, which will later send it to San Francisco to be exhibited at the world's fair to be held in that city next year.

The National Cash Register company was recently fined $10,000 in the state of Michigan under the anti-trust law for restraint of trade. It will now be necessary for that company to ring up a red tag under the head of "paid up".

Jesse McMahon, the lad who was accidentally shot on the dry docks weeks ago, is not getting along as well as his relatives and friends would like to see, the hot weather being very hard on him, although he seems quite well at times.

It may be expected now that Dan Healy, Pat Ryan and other natives of the "old sod" will soon be making their way across the pond to help settle the difficulty over there.

High Praise For Wallis

The representatives of manufacturers of the United States attending the eighth annual meeting of the National Association of Food and Drug officials, held in Portland recently, passed resolutions commending the high character and its officers for their fairness in giving the industries a chance to be heard.

Particular praise was accorded the president, James H. Wallis, commissioner of Idaho, being stated under his administration the "get together" thought originated. A high personal tribute was paid Commissioner Wallis who was commended as an official who always strictly enforced the law, but did it in a spirit of fairness and the light of reason. Following are some of the signatures attached to the resolution: United States Chamber of Commerce, National Confectioners association, Flavoring Extract Manufacturers' association, Curtice Brothers company, American Feed Manufacturers' association, American Can company, American Specialty Manufacturers' association, Millers' National Federation, Armour and company, Reid, Murdoch and company, Sprague, Warner and company.

Beachy at Lewiston Fair

The management of the Lewiston-Clarkston fair has about completed arrangements for securing Lincoln Beachy, the most daring of all aviators, to give daily exhibitions at the fair where he will put on all his hair-raising stunts such as looping-the-loop flying upside down, etc. This is expected to be the big attraction of the fair but other amusements will also be put on, such as polo games, tag races, smut races, etc. It is their intention to make the coming fair different from any other that has ever been held. There will be no livestock or poultry exhibits, and the management hopes that by eliminating these two former features to be able to give more and better amusements as well as increase the agricultural and horticultural exhibits and they expect the school exhibit to be bigger and better than ever before, which will be a drawing card in itself.

About Berry Boxes

More than 1,000,000 short weight berry baskets have been confiscated and destroyed by state inspectors of weights and measures in Ohio this season. A member of the commission in charge of the bureau said that these baskets contain but seven-eighths of a quart. Under the new law berries must be sold by dry measure and not by weight. The department has succeeded in persuading the manufacturers to make baskets of the capacity prescribed by law. Manufacturers outside of the state are shipping short weight baskets into the state and are causing the department trouble. There is a fine of $10 to $50 for using these baskets.

The Harley-Davidson Two-Speed WITH STARTER

It's the latest word in motorcycles. The two-speeds are selective, and the rider can shift from high to low or low to high or neutral while the machine is standing still or in motion.

The starter does away with the necessity of dismounting and placing the machine on the stand to start. The motor is driven by a belt, both wheels on the ground and give either pedal a downward push, engaging the motor-starter and starting the motor.

REGARDING ASSESSMENTS

The Numerical System and Field Plats Used Appear to Be Quite Satisfactory

Editor Genesee News: Having read the very interesting articles on taxation, assessment of property, etc., which have appeared in your paper at various times and being somewhat interested in the matters of this nature both from the standpoint of taxpayer and as one who has helped with the work of assessing, having done both office and field work, I feel that I am in a position to reasonably discuss this matter and shall greatly appreciate your kindness by allowing me the space in your valuable paper in which to give an outline of some of the work which has been accomplished by the present assessor and his deputies and will, I am sure, be of interest to every one who is in the least concerned regarding the assessment of property.

The Numerical system which is now being employed in the assessment for real estate is in my opinion the only scientific method of listing land. Under this system each forty acres of land is described, assessed and listed separately and therefore errors in description and the failing to assess all property is practically eliminated, and such a thing as double assessment of any piece of land is utterly impossible. The numerical system gives a double check on the work; makes location of land on Records easy and rapid as the books are self indexing, and makes comparison of one piece of land with another convenient and thus adding materially in equalizing values of land and improvements. Odd tracts have all been abstracted and given tax numbers. This does away with the old way of describing such land by metes and bounds and lessens the possibility of errors in description and also saves time and expense.

The old method of assessing and listing of real estate which was used previous to this administration was defective and very unsatisfactory due to the fact that a property owner's entire holdings were usually bunched together and assessed and listed under a single description, and naturally such a manner of assessing would be open to many mistakes which would be very difficult to detect.

Permanent field plats of the entire county have been made and an additional expense to the County as the present officers of the assessor's office have been qualified to do this work themselves. Upon these plats are classified the various kinds of lands together with their values and also the values of improvements. If desired, assessment of real estate may be made from these plats next year and this will mean the saving of a vast sum of money to the county as it would be unnecessary to send out of field men to get these values. Furthermore, these plats are of great benefit in equalizing property and which as you all know is one of the most important factors of taxation.

The office plats too have been corrected and much improved upon and Messrs. Martinson and Randall have made numerous new ones which in value can best be appreciated when outside draftsmen quote their prices on this class of work.

Early last spring when preparations were being made for the strenuous task of taking up the assessment for this year it was very evident that Mr. Martinson was not at all satisfied with having the work done in the same unsatisfactory manner in which it had been done in previous years and I know that he was working on a new plan for the taking of the assessment in the rural districts. He did not, however, make known his plan to any of us until after he had seriously considered the same as to its practicability in this county and it was not until after he had consulted some of the best authorities on matters of taxation that he decided to use this system of assessing.

As the manner of assessing by school districts has been explained in the columns of your paper before, I will not now undertake to explain this very satisfactory method of taking assessments but will only state that at every school district which I helped to assess I was able to note a general feeling of satisfaction among all of the property holders as they knew that all were being treated alike and also say that these meetings in the school

FOR A DAIRY SILO

T. E. Woodward of the dairy division in Farmers' Bulletin 556, furnishes 12 good and well considered reasons for the farmer providing himself with a silo. Every one of them touches some spot of vital importance to the larger profit of dairy farming. Here they are:

1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than in the form of fodder or hay.
2. There is a smaller loss of food material when a crop is made into silage than when used as fodder or hay.
3. Corn silage is more efficient feed than on fodder.
4. An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same area can be husked and shredded.
5. Crops can be put in the silo during weather that could not be utilized in making hay or curing fodder.
6. More stock can be kept on a given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.
7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed.
8. Silage is very palatable.
9. Silage, like other succulent feeds, has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.
10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use.
11. Silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can soiling crops, because it requires less labor, and silage is more palatable.
12. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land and leaves it ready for another crop.

Annual Picnic

A number of former Geneseeites met at Natarotium Park, Spokane, last Saturday evening for the annual picnic. The affair was in the nature of a miscellaneous shower for Miss Louisa May Herman, whose engagement to Mr. Victor Shave of Prineville, Oregon, has been announced. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

A picnic supper was served at 7 p. m. and was equal to the usual Genesee spreads. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Power, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Pickering, Mrs. M. S. Brant, Mrs. Selma Owen, Mrs. Mary Walsh, Mrs. H. Hodgins, Mrs. Emma McMahon, Mrs. J. W. Keane, Mrs. Geo. Gordon, Mrs. Geo. F. Ingraham, Mrs. Emma Long, Mrs. W. D. Lloyd, Misses Louisa May Herman, Mollie G. #### Plan for Northwest Livestock Show

A meeting of the executive board of the Northwest Live Stock association was held in Lewiston, August 1, at which plans for the holding of the coming livestock show in December. The auctioneering firm of Linbarger, Ralph and Gue was awarded the contract to cry all sales during the stock show week. It was also decided to hold the night horse show a feature and O. Canfield of Gibbons, Mont., will again be in charge. Several gaited horses from the Coast will be exhibited at the night show.

A meeting of the full executive board will be held in Lewiston in September to complete arrangements for financing the 1914 and 1915 shows, and for completing preparations at the grounds for caring for the stock. Pres. Fred reports that new entries are being received all every day.

Smut Freaks

R. F. Lambert brought to this office last week some samples of wheat that were freakish in their way—one side of the well-developed head being affected by smut while the other side had good wheat in them, showing that at some particular time something had occurred which had caused the smut while the other is filled with as fine wheat as one would care to see.

The smut proposition is one that has made all guess—not only the ranchers, but learned men of the colleges have been unable to find either the cause or the cure, and in the meantime crops are damaged and threshing machines are being destroyed by explosions said to be due to this same cause.

Death of Mrs. Crooks

The sad news reached Genesee early Tuesday morning of the sudden death of Mrs. J. D. Crooks, wife of Rev. J. D. Crooks of Troy, Idaho. Her death was caused by a heart failure and occurred about 5 o'clock Saturday morning.

The funeral was held at Troy, Tuesday morning and the services were conducted by Rev. E. J. Conner, assisted by Rev. J. H. Dills. The body was shipped to Spokane, Tuesday, for burial.

Mrs. Crooks was well known here. Rev. Crooks having been presiding elder of this district for four years. Rev. J. C. Wheeler, wife and Mrs. C. H. Wheeler attended the funeral.

Monday afternoon, sparks from the locomotive on the N. P. set fire to dry grass on the O. M. Collin's ranch. The grain was so green that it did not take fire and consequently the damage was slight. The ranch is farmed by Herman Nordby.

There is no definite action was taken at this time, the matter will be looked into and the city will be represented at a meeting of the commission to be held in Boise on August 17.

The street sprinkler was ordered stopped for ten days, the cause being a shortage of water on the hill near the reservoir, the residents of that part of town being unable to get water for household or other uses. It was not according to failure or shortage of water in the wells, but on account of inability to pump it as fast as it was being used.

There being no further business the council adjourned.

Announcement of Candidacy

I hereby wish to announce my candidacy for nomination on the republican ticket for County Assessor. If the people see fit to renominate and elect me to the office, I shall continue to give my entire time to the duties of the office. I have worked as earnestly and conscientiously as though the duties of the office were my private affairs. I ask your support on the following grounds: I feel that with the careful study of the work and the experience of the past two years I can give to the people more satisfactory and economical service the next two years. This is an office unlike the other county offices in that it demands a thorough knowledge of the property and the conditions of the county which takes some time and careful study, and I have spent a great deal of personal effort, as you know, in getting out over the work myself to learn these things, which is of great importance to all of the taxpayers of the county. I have equalized the assessment of the different classes of property, on the basis of the actual cash value of each class regardless of the ownership, in the hope of giving Latah County taxpayers an honest and equitable assessment.

Remarkable Cure for Dysentery
"I was attacked with dysentery about July 14th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers.

"ROSLYN"
The word "Roslyn" means the best steaming coal mined in the west. It will produce more steam to the pound than any other coal, and sells at the same price. Just the kind of coal you ought to use in your threshing engine. It is used exclusively by the Northern Pacific Railway Company in all their engines. There's a reason.

Farm WAGONS Again

We are talking on this subject because your heavy hauling season is at hand and you will need good, strong wagons with which to deliver your grain to the warehouses. The earth is full of wealth waiting for some one to dig it out, but you will never pry it loose with bare hands or the old-time tools—nor can you get your grain to market with an old, rickety wagon. If you saw a dollar in the road you would pick it up. Our wagons mean a good many dollars "picked up" for you. Better start "picking" now. We sell only the best makes of wagons.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel trouble, he should be cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as it is often the case that the ailment is not natural, but should be remedied, and especially in this case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by all dealers.

Children to Attend School

Section 160—In all districts of this state, all parents, guardians, and other persons having care of children shall instruct them, or cause them to be instructed, in reading, writing, spelling, English grammar, geography and arithmetic. In such districts, every parent, guardian or other person having charge of any children between the ages of eight (8) and eighteen (18) years shall send such child to a public, private or parochial school for the entire year during which the public schools are in session in such district. Provided, however, that parents shall not apply to children over fourteen (14) years of age, where such child shall have completed the eighth (8) grade or may be eligible to enter any high school in case of a child, or where its help is necessary for its own use or its parent's support, or where for good cause shown it would be for the best interest of such child to be relieved from the provisions of this chapter; Provided, further, that if a reputable physician within the district shall, in writing, certify that the child's bodily or mental condition does not permit its attendance at school, such child shall be exempt during such period of disability from the requirements of this chapter. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of the school district if there be such superintendent, and if not, then the county superintendent of schools, to hear and determine all applications of children desiring, for any of the causes mentioned here to be exempted from the provisions of this chapter, and if upon such application such superintendent, hearing the same, shall be of the opinion that such child for any reason is entitled to be exempted therefrom, then such superintendent shall issue a written permit to child, stating therein his reason for such exemption. An appeal may be taken from the decision of such superintendent to the probate court of the county in which such district lies, upon such child making such application and filing the same with the clerk of said court, within ten days after its refusal by such superintendent, for which no fee to exceed the sum of one dollar ($1.00) shall be charged, and the decision of the probate court shall be final. An application for release from the provisions of this chapter shall not be renewed oftener than once in three months.

Juvenile Disorderly Conduct Defined

Section 161—Every child within the provisions of this chapter who does not attend school, or who is in attendance at any public, private or parochial school, or who is incorrigible or immoral in conduct, or who is a habitual truant from school or who habitually wanders about the streets and public places during school hours, or who is employed, or who habitually wanders about the streets in the night time, having no employment or lawful occupation, shall be deemed a juvenile disorderly person, and be subject to the provisions of this chapter.

There has been some considerable talk and a great many questions asked recently regarding the Genesee school being on the accredited list as a preparatory school. The school authorities wish to have it understood that the school has the same standing in that regard as it has had for several years and that graduates of the Genesee high school may enter the U. of I. or the W. S. C. without examination upon presentation of proper credentials.

Grouse Season Opens Sept. 1

Reports have come from various parts of the country to the effect that grouse are being killed out of season and the game wardens and sportsmen are on the alert for evidence to that effect. There is no doubt but that many birds are killed out of season and many put forth the argument that the principal reason for this violation of the game law is the fact that the birds are all gone from this section of the country by September 1 and there is no opportunity for killing them after that time, thus giving the game raised in this part of the country those residing in the other country where the birds congregate during the winter.

Destructive Forest Fires

Forest fires carrying destruction and death in their wake, raged in numerous parts of the northwest last week and only by the greatest efforts of the forest rangers and fire fighters were the majority of them brought under control. The continuing hot dry weather occasioned numerous severe electric storms with the result that fire broke out almost everywhere at nearly the same time and for a time it looked as if the experience of 1910 was to be repeated.

FIGHTING UNABATED

GERMANS ART BEATEN BACK IN EVERY ASSAULT ON THE BELGIAN POSITIONS.

GERMAN LOSSES ARE HEAVY

Belgian's Fire Well Placed—German Artillery in Badly Supported—The German General Demands Surrender, Which is Refused.

Paris—While the battle between the German forces and the Belgians is still in progress around Liege, and the official outcome is not yet known, an official detailed account of the engagements covering a period between August 3 and 5 has been issued. In summarizing the operations the account says:

"The Germans lost 5000 dead. Twenty-four guns were captured, and one general was made prisoner. German losses in the battle were estimated at 120,000; the Belgian defenders 40,000.

"The German attack lacked cohesion. On the contrary, the Belgians utilized the advantage of their position. The German artillery in general was badly supported by dense attacking columns. The guns were badly served and inaccurate.

"The Belgian forts are intact. Not one soldier was killed and not one wounded during the three hours' bombardment of Fort Evigneux, the steel cupola of which was not damaged.

"The Belgian fire was well placed and accurate, proof of which was the destruction of two German heavy artillery pieces and the burning of a German tank. The Belgians, carried Belgian flags.

The German columns crossed the Belgian frontier during the night between August 3 and 4. "German cavalry came into contact with the Belgian advanced posts to the east of the forts at 10 o'clock in the afternoon of August 4.

"The plan of attack developed during the day of August 5. Each German column had different objectives. Forts Fleron, Barchon and Evigne, constituting the northeastern section, being the first point, while the second was the Forts Fleron and Barchon, which the city of Bozeman receives its supply of water, was named in honor of her father, who is still living in Bozeman. She was unable to come to this celebration.

"The operations of the Germans were of a hasty and uncoordinated nature. Consequently they were organized with little regard for provisioning the army. The Belgians retarded the advance for 7 hours, with a replaced the Belgian official, who was arrested.

"The French nation offer them, and in the folds of their flag are inscribed the magic words: "Liberty and Liberty; long live Alsace; long live France."

WHITES FORCED OUT

CALIFORNIA FOUND THAT ONCE THE JAPS GOT HOLD OF LAND THEY WON OUT.

THEREFORE, ANTI-ALIEN LAW

Their Hope is Immigration of Farm Labor From Europe via Panama Canal—Japs Evade Law by Incorporating into Companies.

California's experience demonstrates that, once a foothold on the land is gained, Japanese colonization operates to the exclusion of the whites by forcing the whites out of employment on the soil and by the social incursions of the Japanese.

The farmer was the source of an acute and irresistible demand for a law prohibiting Japanese from acquiring agricultural lands. To such a protection, there must ultimately be a law forbidding him to lease agricultural land, but to give the farmer the right to operate under conditions that must come, the right to make leases for not more than three years was provided for in the bill.

HON. M. E. LEWIS
Candidate for the nomination of Governor on the Republican Ticket

Lewis says: "Governor's business is to enforce the law and make it respected. The best governor is the one who obeys and respects the law himself. A governor who places himself above the law is dangerous, and a menace to good government. Such action by men in high places excite anarchy and socialism. The law should be for all alike."
"Pride goeth before a fall. In our pride of state we thought we needed all the fancy fads and frills of government that belonged to a state of four million population. We have got them. Now comes the fall. Let us take it gracefully, get rid of the fads, and return to simpler governmental methods."

Farm WAGONS Again

We are talking on this subject because your heavy hauling season is at hand and you will need good, strong wagons with which to deliver your grain to the warehouses.

The earth is full of wealth waiting for some one to dig it out, but you will never pry it loose with bare hands or the old-time tools---nor can you get your grain to market with an old, rickety wagon.

If you saw a dollar in the road you would pick it up. Our wagons mean a good many dollars "picked up" for you. Better start "picking" now. We sell only the best makes of wagons.

ALL HAVE CHANCE AT SPOKANE FAIR

Small Exhibitors on Equal Basis With Large.

Each Class of Agricultural Products to be Judged Separately—Granges and Farmers' Unions Have Same Show as Large Districts and Counties Exhibits Must Be In Place by 11 a. m. Sept. 12.

With $1,500 cash prizes for agricultural exhibits and the classification arranged to give the small individual exhibitor and the local Granges and Farmers' Unions an equal chance with the large districts and counties, the general agricultural fair which is being held at the Spokane Fair has much more to offer the growers of the Inland Empire than ever before. The fair now gives an opportunity to participate in the prize money to all, whether they want to exhibit in a small or large way.

The general agricultural displays at the Spokane Fair have long been a feature of the exhibition, and each year the management has endeavored to make it more worth while for the small exhibitors. The district displays have been made by counties or district organizations, and individual and smaller societies have complained that they could not compete with any fair success. This year each section to be divided according to the nature of the products, and the exhibits made by individual Granges and Farmers' Unions will be added to their own exhibits. By this plan a small exhibitor can get the same quality of prizes as the large exhibitor. Every exhibit entered is practically sure to win some money. The general display money, $1,500, will be divided as follows:

- A—$300 for display of grain and stored grain.
- B—$200 for display of grasses and forage crops.
- C—$400 for display of fruit.
- D—$200 for display of vegetables.
- E—$200 added for displays by local Granges or Farmers' Unions.
- F—$200 added for displays by individual exhibitors.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhea or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially in this case of a severe attack when life is threatened. It never fails. In need of such a remedy.

THE QUICK action of Adier-ika is astonishing.

NOTICE TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS

Children to Attend School

Section 160—In all districts of this state, all parents, guardians, and other persons having care of children shall instruct them, or cause them to be instructed, in reading, writing, spelling, English grammar, geography and arithmetic. In such districts, every parent, guardian or other person having charge of any child between the ages of eight (8) and eighteen (18) years shall send such child to a public, private or parochial school for the entire year during which the public schools are in session in such district; Provided, however: That this chapter shall not apply to children over fourteen (14) years of age, where such child shall have completed the eighth (8) grade or may be eligible to enter any high school in such district, or where its help is necessary for its own use or its parent's support, or where for good cause shown it would be for the best interest of such child to be relieved from the provisions of this chapter. Provided, further, that if a reputable physician within the district shall, in writing, certify that the child's bodily or mental condition does not permit its attendance at school such child shall be exempt during such period of disability from the requirements of this chapter. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of the school district if there be such superintendent, or if not, then the county superintendent of schools, to hear and determine all applications of children desiring, for any of the causes mentioned here to be exempted from the provisions of this chapter, and if upon such application the same, shall be of the opinion that such child for any reason is entitled to be exempted as aforesaid, then such superintendent shall issue a written permit to child, stating therein his reason for such exemption. An appeal may be taken from the decision of such superintendent so passing upon such application to the probate court of the county in which such district lies, upon such child making such application and filing the same with the clerk of said court, within ten days after its refusal by such superintendent, and we find that the sum of one dollar ($1.00) shall be charged, and the decision of the Probate court shall be final. An application for release from the provisions of this chapter shall not be renewed oftener than once in three months.

Announcement of Candidacy

I hereby wish to announce my candidacy for nomination on the republican ticket for County Assessor. If the people see fit to renominate and elect me to the office, I shall continue to give my entire time to the duties of the office. I have worked as earnestly and conscientiously as though the duties of the office were my private affairs. I ask your support on the following grounds: I feel that with the careful study of the work and the experience of the past two years I can give to the people more satisfactory and economical service the next two years. This is an office unlike other county offices in that it demands a thorough knowledge of the property and the conditions of the county which takes some time and careful study, and I have spent a great deal of personal effort, as you know, in getting out every work myself to learn these things, which is of great importance to all of the taxpayers of the county. I have equalized the assessment of the different classes of property, on the basis of the actual cash value of each class regardless of the ownership, in the hope of giving Latah County taxpayers an honest and equitable assessment.

THEO. E. MARTINSON.

Encouraging Delinquency a Misdemeanor

Section 159—In all cases where a child or juvenile delinquent person, or a juvenile disorderly person, as defined by this act, the parent or parents, legal guardian, or person having custody of such child, or any person responsible for, or by an act encouraging, causing or contributing to the delinquency of such child shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and upon trial and conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not to exceed three hundred dollars ($300), or imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not exceeding six months or shall suffer both fine and imprisonment the court may impose conditions on appeal to the county court. If the person found guilty under this act, and so long as such person shall comply therewith to the satisfaction of the court, the sentence imposed may be suspended.

Commissioner Second District

Arnold S. Lyon, chairman of the Republican county central committee, was in the city from Moscow on Friday last week in the interests of his candidacy as candidate of the county commission of the second district.

Mr. Lyon has been a resident of Latah county the major portion of 27 years and was at one time a resident of Genesee. He is well known as a conservative business man, has much good in his private business affairs and there is every reason to believe he would use the same good judgment in the handling of the county's business should he be nominated and elected to the position to which he aspires.

His announcement will be found on the last page of this paper.

J. S. Nelson for Commissioner

J. S. Nelson of Kendrick, republican primary candidate for county commissioner of the third district, was in Genesee last Friday interviewing his friends and making new ones, as well as looking after his political interests.

Mr. Nelson is a man particularly fitted for the position of commissioner, having had considerable training along such lines while a member of the seventh and eighth sessions of the state legislature, to which position he was elected by a handsome majority.

He is a farmer of the Big Bear ridge country and knows the needs of the farmer and the importance of handling the money economically.

His announcement appears on the last page of this paper.

J. A. Harsh Announces

J. A. Harsh of Deary republican candidate for county commissioner from the first district, was in the city last evening looking after his political interests.

Mr. Harsh is well and favorably known in his county, having been a resident of the county for many years. He is making a strong campaign for the office, and is expected to poll a strong vote at the coming primary election, as he will undoubtedly do at the general election should he receive the nomination at the hands of his party, but fair, and want a man acquainted with the Northern conditions as governor oftener than one in eight years.

"In offering Mr. Lewis to the voters of the state this year as their choice for Governor, the people of the north are not sectional. His record proves that he is not a sectional man. He understands the conditions and needs of this end of the state, and through his investments he is familiar with the other sections of the state as well. He is not a sectional man, but a state-wide man. In addition to this record in public and private life he has a strong record in the state who will register for the vote for him at the primary election, and again at the general election should he receive the nomination which he seeks.

May Yet Register

While the New Registration Laws provide that no registration can be taken by any regular Registration Officer for a period of Thirty Days next preceding any election, it was as a candidate for the office of United States senatorship on the democratic ticket.

Mr. Hawley was Governor of Idaho during the term of 1911-12 and has many warm friends throughout the state who will register for the vote for him at the primary election, and again at the general election should he receive the nomination which he seeks.

David S. Reeves for Probate Judge

David S. Reeves of Moscow was in the city from Moscow Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning looking after his interests as candidate for the nomination of probate judge on the republican ticket.

While Mr. Reeves is not so well known in this part of the county he has many friends in the more thickly settled portions near Moscow and Kendrick and other portions of the county. He will no doubt make a strong race for the office to which he aspires should he receive the nomination at the coming primaries.

Can You Do It?

A reward of $100 is offered by Irwin Bros., who are coming from Cheyenne, Wyoming to put on the wild west features at the Spokane Interstate Fair this year, to anyone who can find a horse that can bring a horse to the Inland Empire which their men cannot ride. Irwin Bros. are bringing 100 cowboys and cowgirls to Spokane and they claim there is no horse that they cannot ride. The crack riders and ropers will put on the big night show at the fair and also show some of their stunts every day before the grandstand.

Complaints are made from various towns throughout the Inland Empire of a shortage of water for city and general use. Genesee has an unfailing supply of the best water in this part of the state, from deep wells and absolutely pure.

M. E. LEWIS IS GAINING GROUND

Mr. E. Lewis is a man particularly fitted for the position of commissioner, having had considerable training along such lines while a member of the seventh and eighth sessions of the state legislature, to which position he was elected by a handsome majority.

He is a farmer of the Big Bear ridge country and knows the needs of the farmer and the importance of handling the money economically.

His announcement appears on the last page of this paper.

Why Lewis Should Be Elected Governor

F. C. McGowan, manager of the Lewis gubernatorial campaign, was in Genesee Monday evening for a short time looking after Mr. Lewis' political interests in this territory. A short meeting was held in the library rooms where Mr. McGowan explained Mr. Lewis' position on many matters. He feels very sanguine about Mr. Lewis' election if the people of the north part of the state will come forward and do their duty. In this regard Mr. McGowan had this to say:

"North Idaho has not had a Governor for eighteen years. It is entitled to one this year. South Idaho has had a Governor for the last two or three elections, and have asked us to unite on one candidate so they could support him with us. We have now placed one candidate from this end of the State before the people. Places received indicate that the other portions of the State concede us the nomination of this person if we want him. They insist that we must win the election, but show this in an unmistakable way. That way is by uniting in the support of Lewis for Governor.

"The wish for a northern Governor does not spring so much from sectionalism as that our conditions and interests are so different from those of the south end that the people here feel that Governors from other sections of the state do not sufficiently understand and appreciate the different conditions and interests. There have been times when this idea seemed borne out by facts, and by the actions of those in office. This has appeared in times past in the qualification of the state in the operation of the game department, in the neglect of the state officials to visit and appreciate our State institutions, and in other matters. Our people do not wish to see a Governor who is not familiar with the conditions as governor oftener than one in eight years.

"In offering Mr. Lewis to the voters of the state this year as their choice for Governor, the people of the north are not sectional. His record proves that he is not a sectional man. He understands the conditions and needs of this end of the state, and through his investments he is familiar with the other sections of the state as well. He is not a sectional man, but a state-wide man. In addition to this record in public and private life he has a strong record in the state who will register for the vote for him at the primary election, and again at the general election should he receive the nomination which he seeks.

Why Lewis Should Be Elected Governor

F. C. McGowan, manager of the Lewis gubernatorial campaign, was in Genesee Monday evening for a short time looking after Mr. Lewis' political interests in this territory. A short meeting was held in the library rooms where Mr. McGowan explained Mr. Lewis' position on many matters. He feels very sanguine about Mr. Lewis' election if the people of the north part of the state will come forward and do their duty. In this regard Mr. McGowan had this to say:

"North Idaho has not had a Governor for eighteen years. It is entitled to one this year. South Idaho has had a Governor for the last two or three elections, and have asked us to unite on one candidate so they could support him with us. We have now placed one candidate from this end of the State before the people. Places received indicate that the other portions of the State concede us the nomination of this person if we want him. They insist that we must win the election, but show this in an unmistakable way. That way is by uniting in the support of Lewis for Governor.

World's Record Dairy Cows and Herds at the Spokane Fair

The educational functions of the Spokane Interstate Fair have been and are being each year and have been factors of the strongest nature in the upbuilding of the agricultural interests of the Inland Empire. Dairying—modern dairying—has been the talk of the empire builders for years, and each year the Interstate Fair has been the one exposition in which all the new herds and appliances for dairying have been gathered together for the education of the people.

The dairy display at the Spokane Fair this year will see five of the old herds that have previously displayed and at least three new herds from the Inland Empire. The Spokane country now has two cows that hold world's records, and one herd has already carried off the sweepstakes at the Chicago exhibition. Northwest breeders have no fear these days when they are placed in competition with the world on milk cows.

One of the best educational features for the dairyman at the Spokane Fair will be the large exhibit of dairy appliances which is promised by the manufacturers this year. Not only will the producers exhibit, but both the Washington State college and the University of Idaho will show the most approved and sanitary methods of caring for milk and producing butter products. The model creamery, which has become a feature of the Spokane dairy exhibit, will be operated again this year.

The second annual Dairy Congress at the Fair grounds has been arranged for Thursday, Sept. 17, and a long list of noted speakers and demonstrators will be present to explain modern methods of culture and management. George W. Sisson of Potsdam, N. Y., will inaugurate the dairy exhibit at the Fair this year and will be one of the speakers at the Dairyman's congress. He is one of the best known dairy experts in the United States and is judged at the National Dairy Show and the Minnesota State Fair last year.

All Men Are Not Bad

A young man living in suburb of New York was retained at business one Saturday night later than usual. He reached home nervous and tired from long hours at his desk. His wife, her mind poisoned by the doctrines of extremists, questioned him about his evening move. The young husband stood on his dignity and refused an accounting of time spent in earning money for the support of their home. The wife fretted over it for two days and then calmly suggested leaving a note that will shadow the young husband's entire life.

A young couple appeared in a court of domestic relations. The wife was demanding separate maintenance. Another case of business absorption on the part of the husband, wrestling with the problem of increased cost of living and suspicion on the part of the wife. She had returned to her mother who had fostered her suspicions.

In neither case did the wife have evidence, nor did she seek to establish her charges. She became morbid on suspicions, fed by the doctrine of innate ingrained masculine wickedness, exploited by misrepresentatives of feminism. Today many wives are looking for evil in their husbands and too many men are on the defensive, a state of affairs which will never be in sex-equality.

Women there are who seem to charge their faithful, plodding, tick-tock husbands with infidelity, but they do not hesitate to hold them up to scorn in public meetings. In this connection it is well to remember that we have not yet developed financial economic equality in the home. The average woman is still dependent upon the man who loves and spends the major portion of his earnings for the pleasure and pursuing her pleasure. It becomes such women to be smirch the hands that feed and clothe them. It shows no progress but ingratitude.

Saddest of all, these dull women make statements which arouse the amused if not ribald comment of the public.

"Why should there be a Fathers' special observance?" "Paternal demands one woman's club." "Paternalism is a class, do not stand on the same level as mothers. Fathers are very defective." "Defective?" "yes, but still willing to support clubs at which such silly theories are advanced!" Pictorial Review for September.

This town would move faster maybe if you did.

The smaller the town the bigger the possibilities.

Speak Well of Your Town

There are few things more discouraging than to hear a person disparaging and criticizing the town in which he lives. Loyalty to the home town is one of the prerequisites of good citizenship and it is true almost everywhere that the best citizen, the one who is most valuable to the community, is not the one who is constantly complaining and criticizing, but is the one who, with a cheery smile and pleasant word of greeting for all, always has a good word to say for the town and if some things are displeasing, puts forth his best efforts to correct the faults. The knocker is a mighty poor asset to the community, even though he may boast, day in and day out, who forgets the disadvantages of his home town, is the one who is helping to make the town better and brighter and to add to its attractiveness, even though his bank account be helping in a financial way be limited. Let's all boost for our town and let the world know that we not only think it is the best town in the West, but that it actually is the best.

School Election

Your attention is called to the fact that there will be a school election on Tuesday, September 1, for the purpose of electing two trustees for a term of three years each. The polls will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. and it is your special duty to come out and cast your ballot for your choice of directors.

Few people realize the importance of a school election—do not take enough interest in it to go and cast a ballot for some one whom they are sure would make a good director. Go on election day and show our preference. Too many people complain after the election is over and not enough on election day. Do it now!

Farm WAGONS Again

We are talking on this subject because your heavy hauling season is at hand and you will need good, strong wagons with which to deliver your grain to the warehouses.

The earth is full of wealth waiting for some one to dig it out, but you will never pry it loose with bare hands or the old-time tools—nor can you get your grain to market with an old, rickety wagon.

If you saw a dollar in the road you would pick it up. Our wagons mean a good many dollars "picked up" for you. Better start "picking" now. We sell only the best makes of wagons.

Moscow Has Had Fire

About noon last Saturday, the Moscow fire department was called out to check a blaze that had started in the David warehouse in the rear of the David store and through prompt work in getting two heavy streams of water centered on the fire was kept from spreading to the business structures adjoining.

It is thought that the fire originated in a straw pile in the warehouse where men had been engaged in unpacking goods. The interior of the warehouse was soon ablaze and burned furiously. The Cornwall block and the David store were threatened from the rear and the fire was so warm that both buildings smoked badly. Within ten minutes after the fire department arrived the flames were under control. The loss is estimated at $3,000 fully covered by insurance.

GENESSEE HAS FIRE WHICH THREATENS TOWN

Five Dwellings and Methodist Church Go Up In Smoke $10,000 Loss

Shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon smoke was seen issuing from the Chas. P. Whalen home. The fire alarm was promptly turned in and the local fire department and townspeople were soon on the scene, but before any thing could be done the house was in flames. The house was owned by Mrs. Carrie Platt and occupied by Chas. P. Whalen, assistant cashier of the Exchange bank, and family, who were absent at the time and the origin of the fire remains a mystery, as there had been but little fire in the house during the morning.

The flames quickly spread to the home of F. E. Dicus and from there soon swept the entire one-half block with the exception of one small barn. Besides Mrs. Platt's residence, the dwellings burned included the F. E. Dicus home, a house owned by Mrs. F. F. Burdic, a small house unoccupied, the Methodist parsonage occupied by Rev. J. G. Carrick and the family and the Methodist church. The loss is estimated at $10,000, with insurance of only $700 on Mrs. Platt's residence, and $3,000 on the church and parsonage.

The houses of all were saved, with the exception of those of Mr. Whalen and family who lost all their personal effects. $400 insurance was carried on Mr. Whalen's household goods.

The scene of the fire was in the central part of town and with a fierce west wind raging it seemed certain for a period that the entire business part of the town was doomed.

A call was sent out for help and the Uniontown fire department responded promptly with men and fire hose and rendered valuable assistance. A large number of men employed in the harvest fields responded to the call and by their coolness rendered efficient help. The fire fighters made a brave stand back of the row of high trees in front of the David residence and in a measure shielded them from the fierce heat. The church and one house were dynamited in an effort to lower the blaze. After about two hours of hard fighting the fire was brought under control. Had the flames crossed the street east or across the alley on the south nothing could have saved the town. At no time was there a shortage of water there being 15 feet of water in the reservoir at the time of the fire, the maximum being 14 feet.

Quite a number of families moved their household goods out preparatory to taking them to a safe distance should the flames spread further and a number of business houses moved their valuables and prepared to take out a part of their stock. A number of small fires were started in the dry grasses and rubbish piles but by quick watching these were soon extinguished.

The farther a man goes from his home the nearer it gets to his heart.

If you are going to live here, give here.

Costly Treatment
"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. A. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. I went to a St. Louis hospital, also to a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers.

GROWING ALFALFA WITHOUT IRRIGATION

- Secure high grade seed, dry land seed if available, but pure seed of high vitality in any event. If in doubt, send sample to the department of botany, state college, Pullman, Wash., for examination, before purchasing.
- Do not attempt to seed in soils that need under-drainage.
- In localities with less than 18 inches of rainfall, seed on well prepared summer fallow. When the rainfall exceeds 18 inches, plow deep in the fall and leave rough. Next oest, plow as early as possible in the spring, harrowing at once.
- Harrow plow land as early as possible in the spring to hold moisture and prevent crusting and baking. Work either fallow or spring plowed land four to six weeks before seeding to clear out weeds, warm the soil, and promote the development of available plant food, thus providing conditions for a quick, vigorous start of alfalfa.
- If alfalfa has never been grown in the locality, inoculate the soil by scattering and harrowing about 100 pounds per acre of soil transported from an old alfalfa field or inoculate seed with a pure culture. This may be secured with directions for use from the bureau of plant industry, Washington, D. C.
- Seed during May (earlier, if on summer fallow in semi-arid region). Seed with a drill, set to run shallow, six to eight pounds per acre, stopping up half or two-thirds of holes seeding in semi-arid region.
- Seed without nurse crops. Excellent stands have been secured with a nurse crop, but results are too uncertain.
- Do not practice clipping young alfalfa. If weeds are bad, mow with cutter bar set high. Do not pasture until alfalfa has become well established.
- Cultivate each spring as soon as the soil is fit to work, using top best adapted to local soils. If seeded in rows in semi-arid region far enough apart to admit cultivator, cultivate whenever weeds or the soil condition would justify the cultivation of any tilled crop.
- Danger of bloat in pasturing may be reduced (a) by seeding orchard grass with the alfalfa; (b) by seeding suddenly to alfalfa from a nurse pasture; (c) by first turning out alfalfa when stock has been given full feed, keeping stock on alfalfa constantly after first turning them in; (d) by providing some dry hay or other supplementary feed.
- Keep stock off the alfalfa during the winter.
- Do not pasture too late in the fall or too early in the spring, nor too close at any time. Give the alfalfa a chance to breathe.

PIONEER RESIDENT PASSES TO GREAT BEYOND

Mrs. George W. Follett, Sr., Dies at Ripe Old Age of 83 Years

Mrs. Geo. W. Follett, sr., a well known and prominent pioneer woman of Latah Co., died at her home in Genesee, Monday, Aug. 17, at 6 p. m.

Her death came as something of a surprise to her family, for only the day previous she was stricken at 6 p. m. with apoplexy, becoming unconscious. On Monday she regained consciousness and conversed with her family and immediate friends, but at 6 p. m. Monday, a second stroke came and she passed quietly to the great beyond.

The members of her immediate family were at her bedside when the end came. Her death brought a great weight of grief to her stricken family and cast a gloom over the entire community where she was so well known and universally loved.

Her hospitality was a noteworthy trait of this noble Christian mother, always finding a place in her home for the entertainment of friends and neighbors. She was very charitable and liberal in her views. She united with the Congregational church at Genesee, when Rev. Fowler was the pastor, eighteen years ago, and has been identified since that time with the church work.

Her religion was of the practical kind.

Ellen C. Wilson was born in St. Lawrence Co., New York, June 5, 1813, and died Aug. 17, 1914, being 83 years two months and 12 days old at the time of her death.

She was married at Potsdam, N. Y., in 1848 to Geo. W. Follett and they went immediately to Walworth County, Wis., where they made their home for seven years, going to Illinois, where they lived for about a year. From Illinois they removed to Dodge County, Minn., in 1856, where they made their home for 20 years. In 1876 they removed to the extreme west, first to Idaho and then to Genesee, where they made their home for three years in San Jose, Calif. From there they moved to Oregon and settled near Salem, where they remained two years. In 1880 they came to Idaho and settled on the old homestead, six miles east of Genesee. This home still remains in the Follett family, being owned by Geo. W. Follett, jr. They came to Genesee to reside 18 years ago. Mr. Follett died 16 years ago, since which time she and her son John have made their home with her son Leon, and family.

Seven sons were born to this union, the oldest, Mahlon, died at the age of six years; the others sons are Edwin R., of Seattle; John W., Geo. W. jr., and Fred, of Genesee; Clayton, of Seattle and Leon of Genesee. There are eight grandchildren.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the home, Rev. W. C. Fowler of Chatteray, Wash., a former pastor here conducted the services which were simple but impressive. For scripture reading a scene at a hall in the late thirties when a deputation of ladies begged the hostess, Mrs. Spencer Stanton, to allow the polka to be danced by six ladies who understood it. Permission being accorded, the six stepped out with their partners, all of them, curiously enough, dressed in black, which caused people to say it was a chimney sweep's dance. Extraordinary excitement was created by the innovation, Lady Jersey, the Duchess of Bedford and a number of other women clambering up on the chairs and benches to gain a better view.

The polka excited almost as much controversy as the waltz on its first introduction into England. Lady Dorothy Nevill recalls a scene at a ball in the late thirties when a deputation of ladies begged the hostess, Mrs. Spencer Stanton, to allow the polka to be danced by six ladies who understood it. Permission being accorded, the six stepped out with their partners, all of them, curiously enough, dressed in black, which caused people to say it was a chimney sweep's dance. ## TALES OF TWO DANCES.

London Society at First Rebelled Against Waltz and Polka.

When the waltz first appeared in London it raised a social rumpus. The dance came from Poland to London by way of Portsmouth, where its advantages were at once apparent to the women, though the men did not much like seeing other men clasping their wives. It was first danced at Almack's in London by Lady Jersey and two or three of her friends, and Society was given from top to bottom the waltz and anti-waltz. In spite of Lady Jersey's powerful influence the waltz had a little chance of the acceptance of the waltz. In 1816 the allied sovereigns came to London and the waltz and removed it from the realm of discussion. The waltz needed but three sovereigns to make it respectable.

A large concourse of relatives and friends followed the remains to the I. O. O. F. cemetery and after a short song and prayer service, "Grandma" Follett was tenderly laid to rest.

The family desired to thank all those who assisted them in any way in the recent illness and death of their mother and especially those who so generously offered the use of their automobiles for conveying their friends to the cemetery.

Misses Kate, Alice and Margaret Tobin gave a slumber party at their ranch home Tuesday night. Misses Nell Brandt, Mollie Keane and Nell Reed of Spokane, Misses Ilena Wood, Gladys Larabee and May Herman of Genesee were their guests.

LUCK AND LOVE.

First He Won the Father, and Then He Captured the Heiress.

A dozen years ago, fresh from the school of Versailles, came a young uniformed officer returning from Normandy, where he had been to see his brother. On the train the young officer found the girl he had loved since childhood. He entered into conversation. An amiable intimacy was established between the two. He was a soldier, but the girl was a girl, and the girl was the daughter of a young officer, said, "I need a son-in-law like you."

Three months later the officer returned to Normandy. He narrated the incident of the journey to his brother and questioned him about the strange companion.

"I know this old fellow," responded the brother. "Do you know that he offered you a very pretty partner? His daughter possesses an income of 100,000 francs."

"Where is she? I'll go after her," said the officer.

"The brother made a little gesture. "Alas you are a little late. "Eh, what? Is the young girl to be married?"

"No; her father was buried eight days ago."

"The lieutenant was silent for a moment. "But I knew her father. A visit of condolence is imposed upon me."

It was his best uniform, he called upon the lady. He spoke in the most tender terms of the old gentleman, there was not without effect on the young provincial, and the story as in the pleasant drama, ended with a marriage. The lieutenant is now a prominent member of the chamber of deputies.—Cri de Paris.

On the train the young officer found the girl he had loved since childhood. He entered into conversation. An amiable intimacy was established between the two. He was a soldier, but the girl was a girl, and the girl was the daughter of a young officer, said, "I need a son-in-law like you."

Three months later the officer returned to Normandy. He narrated the incident of the journey to his brother and questioned him about the strange companion.

"I know this old fellow," responded the brother. "Do you know that he offered you a very pretty partner? His daughter possesses an income of 100,000 francs."

"Where is she? I'll go after her," said the officer.

"The brother made a little gesture. "Alas you are a little late. "Eh, what? Is the young girl to be married?"

"No; her father was buried eight days ago."

"The lieutenant was silent for a moment. "But I knew her father. A visit

Polo—Six Days of Sport—at the Spokane Interstate Fair

POLO, which became so deservedly popular with thousands of citizens of the Inland Empire after being witnessed for six days straight at last year's Spokane Interstate Fair, will again be given to the public this year, when the second annual northwest tournament will be held on the fair grounds during the annual exhibition, Sept. 12 to 20. There will be six days again, and six teams at least will battle for the northwest championship and the Thaddeus S. Lane trophy cup.
 Portland, with the Corbates, Spokane, with a new but strong team; Boise and Canada, represented by at least three teams from Vancouver, Cochrane, North Fork, McLeod, Cowley or Plucher Creek—these will make up the personnel of the championship matches. Polo experts from all over the country have pronounced the Spokane Fair grounds one of the best fields for the accomplishment of fast polo matches to be found any place in the country—Meadowbrook, in the east, and the California fields excepted.
 Exactly 106,371 people saw the polo matches last year, and every one had only words of praise for the exciting events. With Spokane and Boise as polo centers for the title this year and Portland defending the cup, the Inland Empire enthusiasts have much of local interest. The Canadian teams will have a tournament preceding the fair dates, and the best that western Canada can offer will be brought to the Spokane grounds. One and possibly two games will be played each afternoon, and on several days attractive programs of gymkhana events and novelty races will be put on between the different cities.

Judge, Second Judicial District:
 Needham, Daniel, Lewiston, Idaho
 Steele, Edgar C., Moscow, Idaho
 The polls in the several election precincts on the day of the said primary election shall be open from Ten o'clock in the morning until Eight o'clock in the evening.
 Dated at Moscow, Idaho, this 14th day of August, A. D. 1914.
 HOMER E. ESTES,
 County Auditor, Latah County, Idaho

The Truth About HARDWARE

In the consideration of Hardware one fact stands out above all others—either it is GOOD, or it is BAD—VERY BAD!

Good hardware has the temper, the keenness, the lasting and sustaining quality because of the purity of the metal which enters into its composition.

The other kind is made to sell—to wear out and pave the way for another sale. One sale may be a few pennies cheaper; but the second one, which is always necessary, makes it a very dear purchase—a waste and an aggravation.

The hardware we sell is GOOD—and we guarantee our words.

Farm WAGONS Again

We are talking on this subject because your heavy hauling season is at hand and you will need good, strong wagons with which to deliver your grain to the warehouses.
 The earth is full of wealth waiting for some one to dig it out, but you will never pry it loose with bare hands or the old-time tools—nor can you get your grain to market with an old, rickety wagon.
 If you saw a dollar in the road you would pick it up. Our wagons mean a good many dollars "picked up" for you. Better start "picking" now. We sell only the best makes of wagons.

Much Grain Coming In. There have been several statements made from various would-be wheat sections of the Palouse and Big Bend country, but we have yet to hear of a yield greater than that of Oscar Norby, of 57 bushels to the acre. While there may have been years ago when there was more wheat raised and the general average greater than it is this year, yet the ranchers are very well pleased with their yield, which taken with that of another, will go from 30 to 35 bushels to the acre. There was brought to Genesee last week 53,202 sacks of grain, which makes daily average of 5,867 sacks. It is expected the average will run fully 10,000 sacks per day this week. It is estimated that about one-third of all the grain had been delivered at the warehouse on Saturday. The owners of the houses have already begun the shipment of grain. On an average of 200 tons of hay is coming in each week, which, taken all in all, is a very fair record and the warehousemen are just about as busy as they will be can. Genesee has the cream of the Palouse country and the ranchers are busy taking care of the cream.

Among the Sick. A. C. Butzine fell from a threshing machine last week and injured his knee. He is seriously ill at the local hospital.

Rev. Fr. Frei is suffering from sciatic and is under the care of a physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Trautman's little two-year old girl is seriously ill.

Albert Anderson, who has been sick for several weeks is reported as doing nicely.

Reports received at Orofino on Monday night from the fire district on the North Fork are to the effect that conditions are bad there and that the fires are far from being under control. It is estimated that about 500 men are now fighting fire in that district but there are so many different fires that little or no head way can be made. It is said the forestry department has the fires in good shape at the various national forests.

Costly Treatment. "I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. A. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. ### Whole World Is Planning to Visit the Greatest of Universal Expositions at Which Uncle Sam Will Celebrate the Opening of the Panama Canal.

THROUGHOUT the world millions of people are planning to visit the Panama-Pacific Exposition, which opens next year in San Francisco. Railway and steamship agents report extraordinary advance bookings. Steamships and railroads are planning low round trip rates, with privileges of routing never before enjoyed. And while millions are preparing to visit the vast Exposition, which opens on Feb. 20, 1915, preparations for the Exposition itself are far advanced, and it has attained a stage of development unequalled by any universal celebration in the history of the world. The vast exhibit palaces are completed, and the installation of the world's marvels has begun. This unparalleled progress is not confined to the huge exhibit section, for the state and foreign sites and the great concession area, "the Zone," are being crowned by completed structures that leave no doubt as to the preparation made for this magnificent Exposition.

A TRIP TO THE MOON. A DIP INTO SPACE. JAPAN IGNORES TIME.

One Scientist at Least Thinks It Will Be Made Some Day. Jules Verne was a scientific man, and many regard his fiction stories of submarine and aerial flight—which at the time were regarded as mere wild dreams—as a serious prediction of what he believed would be accomplished. As a matter of fact he did live to see the submarine, the arm of two navies, and the Wrights were well advanced toward success before he died.

It is worth while making an effort to picture to ourselves the vast extent of the stellar system, which we inhabit. Having gained some faint notion of the extent of the lesser solar system, which occupies a small corner of the stellar system, we must work outward from that beginning. Let us take for our unit of measurement the space which separates the earth from the sun and let this distance be represented by a single inch. In proportion the sun itself must be pictured by a tiny ball less than the diameter of a pinhead in diameter, while our earth must be just an inch asunder.

Following out the same idea, Mercury and Venus, being closer to the sun than the earth, will be ten inches off. Saturn will be five inches off. Uranus will be over a dozen inches off. Neptune will be almost thirty inches off. Then the solar system as a whole, leaving only out of the question certain comets which are but a few miles in diameter in a circle less than two yards in diameter.

STATIC ELECTRICITY.

It is All Around Us Always and Plays Queer Pranks at Times. Static electricity seems to be everywhere. We are quite surrounded by it on all sides. It is in the clothes we wear in our clothes, on the books, the rug and the walls. It sticks the papers together, makes the hair stand on end, and bits of lint to metal and glass. It leaps from our fingers when we touch metal objects. Now and then a crackling noise may be heard when a coat is being taken off. A woolen skirt or sweater drawn quickly over the body makes a crackling noise. By shuffling the dry feet over the carpet a considerable spark can be obtained from the fingers.

It is not the kind that is used to light the electric lamps in the house. Very little static has ever been found for static electricity. It is a worthless vegetable delighting in mud pranks. In the form of lightning it dashes down from the dark, stormy clouds, bringing death, often doing considerable damage. It frequently visits the press room in large printing establishments and makes the sheets of paper together until the presses have to be stopped. It gathers on the yarns and threads in textile mills, knotting and tangling them, and it is a nuisance in the mill.

It is easy enough to prove the presence of static electricity. Rub a bit of amber, glass, hard rubber or sealing wax with the handkerchief or a piece of woolen cloth, and it will attract bits of paper and small particles of dust. Rub the rubber with the cat's paw and it will attract the same things rapidly. It snaps and crackles and flashes as it discharges between our fingers and the stove's fur. This display of static electricity is nothing more or less than a miniature thunder shower without the rain. From Harper's "Electricity," by Don Cameron Shaffer.

Quality of Humor. A famous definition of the quality of humor is this: "For this humor is an adjunct divine; it is a value of life; it makes for greater things than clean laughter from the lungs. It is the root of tolerance, the proof of patience; it suffers long and is kind; serves to tune each little life harmony with the world harmony about it; keeps the heart of man sweet, his soul modest, and at the end, when the light thickens and the dust grows thick, humor can shape the suffering vigils of the sleepless, can soften pain, can brighten the saddest road to death."

Hard to Say. "If your mother bought four baskets of grapes, and the dealer's price being a quarter a basket, how much would you pay for the purchase cost her?" asked the new teacher. "I never saw a girl," answered Tamm, who was at the head of the class. "Ma's great at bargaining!"—Ladies' Home Journal.

What He Imagines. "I wouldn't put it that way. But I do know that every time he writes a check he imagines that the grocer is going to have it framed and hung up just to show his signature."—Detroit Free Press.

Puzzled. "Six—Can you lend me $5 for a month?" asked a young man. "I can't," answered the old man. "I can't lend you a month old boy worth $5."—Boston Transcript.

There is nothing more frightful than ignorance in action.—Gethse.

Immediately. There May Mean New or Next Month. Impudence among the Japanese is a thing you will rarely observe as you travel about through their strange and beautiful country. If on the other hand you yourself in touring might, upon occasion, grow somewhat impatient, you will only become the quiet laughing stock—behind your back—of the little Japs themselves. An hour, or even a day, more or less in this oriental country is of little account, and matters cannot be made to move any the quicker because of any irritability. In fact this latter acts as an obstacle to your progress as well as to one's peace of mind. If, for example, your Japanese coolies wish to stop for a meal just after you have started on a trip, you will find it expedient to accept the delay philosophically. "Starving" will not mean matters in the least. If you might chance to be in a large Jap town with its steamship docks jacked up a little, you will find you naturally would expect to receive reliable information as to the dates and hours of sailing for the steamships. You will find that the old man in the hotel offices—and in perfectly good faith, too—the steamers leave daily. Upon arriving at the vessel you sought left yesterday. Getting excited will not remedy the situation in the least. The Jap word "tadama," meaning immediately, may in reality mean any time between now and next month. To all of your queries the natives will say "shikataganai."—"It can't be helped"—which brings an end to the matter. If you are the native in question. Incidentally, you might as well initiate his example. It will save you much waste of energy and loss of comfort, and if you are to enjoy your travel in Japan you will readily learn the art of "resignation" to your fate, and you often-times will have many good opportunities of studying Japanese life in its natural pictorial setting. Don't get annoyed, either, if nearly every casual Jap acquaintance you meet asks you a lot of personal questions. To ask personal questions is the Jap way of showing kindly interest in your welfare.—Clyde Winter in Philadelphia North American.

Got Her Three Wishes. But They Sank Her Beneath the Waves of the Social Sea. The late King Edward of England, while a very gracious and genial man, could be very severe with those who overstepped the rules of etiquette, and Frederick Townsend Martin in "Things I Remember" recalls what happened to an American girl who offended him when he was Prince of Wales. At a society bazaar the winner of a lucky ticket had the privilege of asking three wishes from the Prince of Wales, and she had favored a young lady from the United States. "What is your first wish?" asked H. R. H. "Oh, sir; it is to have your photograph." The prince beamed. "Granted," he said. "And the next?" "I would like you to bring me the photograph in person." H. R. H. hesitated, frowned and, recovering from his surprise, answered: "That shall be done. Now, what is the last?" Never was the truth of the saying so apparent that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread." The young lady disregarded the warning look from those around her. "The third wish, sir, is that you will present me to the Princess of Wales." "Granted," he said and walked away without a word. The silly girl realized that she had asked for a young lady, which never forgives fools. She made a hasty exit, and the waves of the social sea closed over her forever.

Great Lovers of Water. The Siamese are more devoted to the water than any other nation in the world. They are nearly always bathing, generally with their clothes on, and they never go anywhere by land if they can possibly go by water. The streets of Bangkok are like those of Venice, and the inhabitants say that their idea of paradise would be a town with canals where there were currents in both directions, so that they might be spared the effort of rowing.

Love's Awakening. "When a man has his babies on his chin and who smells like an old pipe is the greatest thing ever invented—that is love."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The PLACE of LIONEL MOON'S HAROLD MAC GRATH Pictures by C.D. RHODIS

SYNOPSIS.

Eleonora de Toscana was singing in Paris, which, perhaps, accounted for Edmond's interest in her. She was a beautiful, blonde, and was wandering about where some of the most famous artists of the day and Kamachia the next. Following the opera he was in a car.

The "chaperon" was a woman of the unknown's nose; the shadow of a frown. "She is very beautiful." "Thank you," she said. "I am glad to hear that. Give me your address. I will come all the way from Burma to see you, Eleonora."

"What is her name?" She unguardedly clothed the question with contempt, but she instantly forced a smile to neutralize the effect. Concerned with the subject of the unknown's nose, she forgot the fine ironic bitterness that was in the man's voice.

"Yes, indeed," she said. "Beautiful as Venus, as alluring as Phryne, I want nothing so much as to see her. To look into her eyes, to hear her voice."

"It is jealousy? I hear the tragic note." The certainty of her ground became a morass again. In his turn he was gasping.

"Tragedy? I am an American. We do not kill our singers. We turn them over to the critics. I wish to see the beautiful Flora, to hear her sing. If she has sent you after me, her dress, my dear young lady, has been destroyed."

"I am afraid," she said. "This wasn't the tone of a man madly in love. It was wild anger."

"You." "I will give you a hundred francs." He produced a crisp note. "Do you want it?"

She did not answer at once. "Presently she opened her purse, found a stubby pencil and a slip of paper, and wrote: 'There it is, monsieur.' She held out her hand for the banknote which, with a sense of bafflement, he saw her, she folded and stowed it away with the pencil.

"Thank you," said Courtland. "Odd paper, though." He turned it over. "Ah, I understand. You copy music."

"Yes, monsieur." "This time the nervous flicker of her eyes did not escape him. You are studying for an opera, perhaps?"

"Yes, that is it." "Good night." He rose. "Monsieur," she called. "I was in my youth," he replied, putting on his hat.

The bald rudeness of his departure did not disturb her. She laughed softly and relievedly. Indeed, there was in the laughter an essence of mischief. However, if he carried away a mystery, he left one behind.

The young woman waited five or ten minutes, and making sure that Courtland had been completely forgotten, she engaged a carriage. So that was Edgard Courtland? She liked his face; there was not a weak line in it, and his stubbornness could be called such. But to stay away for two years? To hide himself in jungles, to be heard of only by his bareheaded exploits? "Follow him; see where he goes," had been the command. For a moment he had rebelled, but her curiosity was not to be denied. Besides, of what use was friendship if not to be tried? She knew nothing of the riddle, she had never asked a question openly. She had accidentally seen a photograph one day, in a trunk tray, with this man's name scrawled across it. She had not been able to read it, but a dozen romances, each of which she had ruthlessly torn down to make room for another, had been scattered about her. She had thrown a riddle upon the conversation many a time, as one might throw a bomb into a crowd which had no chance of escape. Fizzles! The man had been calmly discussed and calmly dismissed. At odd times an article in the newspapers gave her an opportunity to discuss the matter. She had vacillated, but she had not wavered. Perhaps he had not understood; perhaps neither of them had.

And yet, he sought the Calabrian. Here was another blind alley out of which she had to retreat her steps. Both! What fool of Shakespeare's was right? What fools those mortals be! She was very glad that she possessed a true sense of humor, spiced with the most harmless and unobtrusive wit it must be to those who did not know how and when to laugh! They talked of the darling of the American woman; who but a Frenchwoman could market what she had thought of that night? The taxicab! She laughed. And this man was wax in the hands of any pretty woman who came along! So rumor has it, but she knew that rumor was only the attenuated ghost of Anatolia, doomed forever to remain on the lips of the singer, the most accurate of whippers. "Vax! Why, she would have trusted herself in any situation with a man with those eyes and that smile. It was all very mysterious. 'Follow him; see where he goes.' The frank discussion, then, and the calm dismissal were but a woman's dissimulation. And he had gone to Flora Desmonno's.

The carriage stopped before a handsome apartment house in the Avenue de Wagram. The unknown got out, gave the driver his fare, and rang the concierge's bell. The sleepy guardian opened the door, tucked his gold braided cap in recognition, and led the way to the small electric lift.

The young woman entered and familiarly pushed the button. The apartment to which she lived was on the second floor; and there was luxury everywhere, but luxury subdued and chained by taste.

"She there, but her hat and wraps with that manner of inconsequence which distinguishes the article term of the fashion of the thirty one, and passed on into the cozy dining room. The maid had arranged some sandwiches and a bottle of light wine. She ate and drank, with intermittent smiles across her merry face. Having satisfied her hunger, she opened her eyes, and she saw a young woman. She smoothed it out and laughed aloud.

"Oh, if only he had taken me by a ride in the taxicab!" She bubbled again with merriment. "Suddenly she sprang up, as if inspired, and dashed into another room. She returned with a small box, and with a celerity that came of long practice, drew five straight lines across the faint-colored face of the paper. The dots at the top and bottom of the lines were perpendicular strokes, and the angles were sharp. She drew a few more, and then she looked at her work with a smile. "It is not a very good drawing, but it is a drawing."

"It is jealousy? I hear the tragic note." The certainty of her ground became a morass again. In his turn he was gasping.

EARLY METHOD OF CLEANING

Use Sawdust for Glassware—Mixture of Salt and Vinegar the Best for Decanters, Etc.

If you would get the neatest carpenter to give you a painful sawdust you could make your cut glass dishes, and even your fine pressed glass, dazzling bright.

First wash each dish thoroughly with warm soapuds and then, without drying it, bury the dish in the sawdust.

Leave each piece until it is perfectly dry and then brush it with a soft brush, taking care to reach all the crevices.

You can clean decanters, carafes, wineglasses, etc., by using a mixture of salt and vinegar. To a wineglass of vinegar allow a handful of salt. Put some of this in the bottles, shake it about well and the stains will disappear.

If you have pudding or meat pie dishes that have a yellowish brown, burnt and generally disgraceful looking by baking in the oven, you can almost always remove the stains by soaking them for several hours in strong borax and water.

Greasy pots and kettles, that betwixt the owner of the woman who does her own cooking can be cleaned with little difficulty by letting them get warmed through on the stove, then throwing in a handful of corn meal and rubbing them well with this.

BURLAP AS A DECORATION
Can Be Put to Almost Innumerable Uses in the Making of a Tasteful Home.

The woman who is eager to have a tasteful home at small cost should remember that burlap is an excellent material for interior decoration. A couch that has become worn and faded, but does not require re-upholstering, can be made over by covering it with burlap, using the widest obtainable in a tan or other good shade, and cutting this sufficiently long to hang entirely over the furniture. The burlap is merely a foundation of the figured net over a fine wire support, and is bound with ribbon like that used in the matinee. Ruffles of finishing braid or embroidery are used along the seams joining the front piece to the sleeves and neck.

There are many materials which may be used for this pretty set. Printed velvets and lawns, waxes, shadings, lace, and the lightest chailies are all available. Lace and ribbon are the most appropriate of all decorations.

If a material not transparent is preferred wash silks and crepe de chine will make neckties almost as airy and dainty as those already described in thinner stuffs.

Rhubarb Pie.
Cut the large stalks off where the leaves connect, strip off the outside skin, then cut the stalks into pieces half an inch long. Line a pie dish with paste rolled rather thicker than a dollar pie, put a layer of the rhubarb over it, rub with sugar; to a large teacupful of sugar; strew it over with a tablespoonful of salt and a little nutmeg crumb with a rich pie crust, cut a slit in the center, trim off the edge with a sharp knife and bake in a quick oven for one hour. The rhubarb pie made in this way is altogether superior to those made of the fruit sweetened.

Braised Sweetbreads.
Use little individual baking dishes for these. In the bottom of each buttered dish put a slice of onion, a few peas and a slice of salt pork. Place a parboiled sweetbread on top of the vegetables. If the sweetbread is small, the parboiled fish is used as an entree. Cover with good clear stock and bake slowly for forty-five minutes to an hour. Garnish with the sliced onion and vegetables over the sweetbreads to garnish.

Tricot.
This calls for neck, although any other fresh meat may be used. Chop one pound raw fresh pork very fine, and one teaspoonful salt one fine spoonful pepper, teaspoonful onion juice and one-half cupful salt bread crumbs. Beat two eggs and mix all thoroughly. Shape into small cakes, pan, boil slowly to thoroughly cook. Serve with baked or fried potatoes, and garnish with parsley and lemon.

King's Jam.
Four pounds of cranberries, two pounds of sugar, three-quarters pound of raisins, one-quarter pound of English walnuts, and two ounces of currants, one-half pound of figs, seed grapes, cut nuts and figs in small pieces, str all together and cook until thick. Put in a jar, and seal. This is a delicious conserve.

To Keep Celery Fresh.
To keep celery fresh and crisp, so that it will last for days, treat it in the following manner and find it excellent: Prepare it as you would for use, but do not cut it into pieces. Clean lines in ice-cold water, place the celery in it and lay on the ice.

Scotch Cakes.
One pound dark brown sugar, half pound butter and lard, two eggs, one tablespoonful soda dissolved in lukewarm water, one ounce cream, one pound flour. Roll out rather thin and bake in a moderate oven.

Pineapple Sherbet.
Grate two pineapples and mix two quarts of water and a pint of sugar; add the juice of two lemons and the rinds of two lemons. Place in a freezer and freeze.

Negligee and Morning Cap

ONE of those fascinating sets, complete with a negligee and cap, which look so cool and dainty, is so faithfully reproduced in the picture given here that a written description of it seems hardly to be needed. The cap is merely a foundation of the figured net over a fine wire support, and is bound with ribbon like that used in the matinee. Ruffles of finishing braid or embroidery are used along the seams joining the front piece to the sleeves and neck. Point lace, in a vandyke pattern, is used for the wide val, the deep points extending over the finishing braid.

The under-bodies of plain net extend to the waist line and the bangles is set on to it. There are three pieces in this, joined with fine beading, to shape it easily to the figure. The bodies in kimono shape with the sleeves of plain net finished with wide lace edging.

A scarf of figured net is draped over the bodice. It is caught up on the shoulders under a loop of ribbon. The same ribbon appears in a bow at the waist line. It is a wide satin meshwork in light blue.

In the details of putting the garment together fine lace heading is used in the basque skirt of the bodice, in a tan or brown burlap has been selected a pretty stencil design in a border of pine trees done in greens and browns. Burlap also makes beautiful portieres, and is excellent for upholstering chairs, making boat or porch pillows and may even be used as a floor covering.

Julia Bottomley.

Recently Designed Tunic Dress

The tunic dress is a simple, elegant design. It features a high collar, long sleeves, and a fitted bodice. The fabric appears to be a light, possibly silk or cotton, material. The dress is shown with a belt, and the overall style is characteristic of the early 20th century fashion.

THE POPE IS DEAD

Pope Pius X. died at 1:20 o'clock Thursday morning.

The cardinals had been notified of the pope's grave condition and some of them who entered the sick room describe the impressive and heartrending scenes, especially when the pope leaves himself from time to time, spoke. He once said:

"In ancient times the pope by a word might have stayed the slaughter, but now he is impotent."

The dying pope, in a moment of lucidity said:

"New I begin to think as the end is approaching, God's forgiveness for the sins which the te-tor may have committed, especially as pontiff."

The body of the pontiff lies in a cypress wood coffin on which rests a gold cross. This is encased in zinc and finally in an oak casket. On the casket is the inscription:

"Here lies the Body of Pius X. Born June 2, 1835; Died August 20, 1914."

The coffin was placed within the tomb, while Cardinal Della Volpe recited prayers for the dead, accompanied by all present, kneeling.

A monument to Pius X. will be erected in the crypt.

The patriarch's relations with the house of Savoy were always most cordial. He was the candidate of Leo XIII, as an emperor, but he left Venice in July, 1903, for the conclave in Rome he bought a return ticket.

Qualified by 12 years' experience on the district bench in the Sixth Judicial district, to cope with the great legal problems involved in the adjudication of rights in the enterprises of the state. French Stays With His Job Within the last few weeks, the language of the French bill for the surface entry of phosphate lands became a law, making available for entry more than seven and one-half million acres in the West. Within the last few weeks, Representative French led the fight in the House successfully for an appropriation of $100,000 annually for survey of grant lands, that these lands may be taxable. Ten or twelve surveying parties are today at work in Idaho. Within the last few weeks, Representative French helped to pass the twenty-year extension bill upon reclamation projects through the House. This in part is why Mr. French could not personally campaign the state.

Stevens Coming North Boise, Idaho, August 27, 1914.—Judge J. M. Stevens of Blackfoot, one of the candidates for the republican nomination for Governor, has just spent several days in this city meeting his many friends and supporters. He plans to start North in a few days continuing his campaign. Judge Stevens' supporters in this town feel very confident that he will win the nomination. They say that his genial personality is making him many friends. The last few days a large number of people from all parts of the State have been congregated in Boise, and it has been a busy time among the various workers for the many candidates in the field. The Stevens supporters claim they have added great strength to his candidacy during their stay here, and are making claims that his nomination is already assured.

Announcement of Candidacy I hereby wish to announce my candidacy for nomination on the republican ticket for County Assessor. If the people see fit to renominate and elect me to the office, I shall continue to give my entire time to the duties of the office. I have worked as earnestly and conscientiously as though the duties of the office were my private affairs. I ask your support on the following grounds: I feel that with the careful study of the work and the experience of the past two years I can give to the people more satisfactory and economical service than the next two years. This is an office unlike the other county offices in that it demands a thorough knowledge of the property and the conditions of the county which takes some time and careful study, and I have spent a great deal of personal effort, as you know, in getting out over the work myself to learn these things, which is of great importance to all of the taxpayers of the county. I have equalized the assessment of the different classes of property, on the basis of the actual cash value of each class regardless of the ownership, in the hope of giving Latah county taxpayers an honest and equitable assessment. THEO. E. MARTINSON.

TUESDAY'S ELECTION Light Vote Polled In Both Genesee Precincts—Little Interest Taken A very light vote was polled in both the east and west Genesee precincts at Tuesday's primary election. For the most part the ranchers were busy with their grain and many others were not enough interested to care who secured the nomination. The following table will show the east and west Genesee precinct vote as the ticket was printed, no second choice votes being given. There were also quite a number of scattering votes for local men for various places, all of which are omitted as there were not enough to nominate.

TROXY MINISTER RELEASED Accused Is Overcome by Emotion—Judge Morgengrade's Decision Rev. James D. Crooks, the aged Troy minister, accused of the murder of his wife on August 1, was released from custody on Thursday last week after a trial lasting eight days. Immediately following the court's order, the crowded courtroom burst into a prolonged demonstration of approval. The Rev. Crooks was overcome by emotion. For a time he could only greet those who met him by a handshake while tears filled his eyes. "I wish to thank my friends," he said, "and I hope the good Lord will forgive those who have so cruelly wronged me." He stated that his arrest had disturbed the peace of his family and that the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, at Weston, Ore. In rendering his decision, Judge Morgengrade said: "This has been, I think, one of the important, if not the most important, preliminary examinations ever conducted in Latah county. It has attracted and held the attention of a very large company of people; not only the men, but the women, and men and women who have come to hear and know because they were deeply interested from a high and honorable sense of motive. I have been pleased at the class of witnesses made up of men and women of the very best of the citizenship, not only of this county but of the surrounding country, and coming to this moment, the most critical in my public career. I shall assume that I held three important positions: as a committing magistrate clothed with certain powers by the state of Idaho; as an officer to do all within my power to protect society, and in addition to those two, I must go in to this case with every atom of manhood that I possess, and assumed together with the official position which is mine, as an officer, the responsibility of the decision that I am about to make. "I shall assume that there is no middle ground, that there is evidence sufficient to believe that a crime has been committed, and that this defendant is guilty of the crime, or I shall assume that he is innocent. "This matter has claimed my undivided attention for eight long days, and for that length of time I have gripped and controlled my life largely until at this moment I feel that I can safely say to myself that I began at my very foundation and have felt my way step by step to this conclusion. "I find in summing up all of the evidence that to me there is not sufficient evidence to believe that a public offense has been committed; neither do I find in the probable cause to believe that this defendant has committed a public offense, and my judgement, which I render at this time, is this: There being no sufficient cause to believe James D. Crooks guilty of the offense charged, I order that he be discharged."

Double Wedding A wedding that will be of interest to many people of Genesee, was the one that occurred in Pullman, Tuesday evening, August 25, when the 24th Nina Goswede was wed to Wilfred C. Knorr, son of Miss Thea Goswede to William J. Goswede. The ceremony was held on the brilliantly lighted lawn at the home of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Goswede. Each bridal party was complete, and the double wedding service was used in each instance. Rev. Harley Jackson of the Christian church performing the ceremonies. Miss Gladys Larrabee accompanied the soloist and also played the wedding march, "Ashes of Love". The Misses Nina and Thea Goswede are well known in Genesee the family having resided here several years ago. Mr. Knorr is well known in Pullman being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Knorr of that place. Mr. and Mrs. Knorr will make their home near Pullman, where Mr. Knorr is cashier of the State Bank at Gilford, Mont., and after a short honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll will make their home there.

Duck Season Opens September 1 In reply to a communication addressed to the state game warden relative to the opening of the duck and goose season for 1914, the following reply has been received, which will set at rest any speculation regarding the new federal law relative to migratory birds: "Dear Sir: "Replying to your letter of the 24th I beg to advise that the season for ducks, geese and other water fowl will open under the Federal Regulation for the year 1913, which is September first, and will close January sixteenth, if the President signs the proposed amendment to this Regulation. If he does not sign the season will close as it did in 1913, on December sixteenth. "There was some little discussion regarding the date on the question of when such shooting was to close last year. Upon inquiry the Department at Washington informed us that its ruling was that shooting might start on the morn of September first and must cease in the evening of December first. "Please give this letter publicity. "Yours truly, "J. B. Gowen. "State Game Warden."

Had Good Time Rev. A. P. Orth returned Saturday morning from a month's outing at Priest Lake. Rev. Wilder and family of Wallace, Idaho, old friends of Rev. Orth's accompanied him. They made their camp at a beautiful spot called Huckleberry bay at the north end of Priest lake and fished in the mountain streams in their own use, securing plenty for their own use and to spare. Huckleberries were also plentiful at this party enjoyed them along with the mountain trout. Chipmunks, deer, black bear and cougar were seen on different fishing expeditions indicating that game was plentiful. It is a beautiful wild country affording an ideal place for a summer's outing. According to a recent publication of the Tribune, Ora Roderick, aged 11 years, son of Ed Roderick, formerly of Genesee, and Edward Stranahan, a lad of 12 years, left their homes in Lewiston on Thursday of last week, presumably to get a larger view of the world. They left home about 4 p. m. and were later seen in an orchard from which place all trace was lost of the lads. As nothing further has been heard, it is presumed the boys have returned to their homes and are now probably in school and wiser than before their start. "J. B. Gowen. "State Game Warden."

Young Thoma Makes Good T. Driscoll has received a letter from John Thoma, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Thoma, telling of his advance in his line of business, and which should be an incentive for other young men who have perhaps traveled the same road young Thoma has traveled. John Thoma will be remembered by most people of Genesee who have been here for many years. He first went to school at Olympia, where he met with the same obstacles that many another young man has encountered. From the school he made his way to a lumber camp, where he began piling lumber, and has worked his way steadily upward until after six year's service with one company he has become secretary-treasurer of the company. In speaking of the company and the rise of young Thoma, the Stayson Mail has the following to say: "The newly incorporated Brown-Petzel Lumber Co. held a meeting Monday in the rooms of attorney Metzger of this city and adopted a charter and elected the following directors: G. L. Brown, C. E. Brown, Wm. Petzel and Jno. Thoma of Stayton and Dr. A. F. Petzel of Portland. "Immediately the directors elected the following officers: G. L. Brown, Pres., Wm. Petzel, V. Pres., Jno. Many Fires Throughout Northwest—Small Damage to Green Timber A complete report from the Portland office of the Western Forestry and Conservation association sums up the fires during the month of August of the northwest, in the following manner: "Extremely dry weather, innumerable fires from various causes but comparatively small damage to green timber, and only normal loss of logging equipment and ranch improvements, due to prompt action on the part of patrolmen, sums up the fire season up to this time in the Pacific Northwest, according to reports received by the Western Forestry Conservation Association. The absence of future damaging fires will mark 1914 as the most successful season, taking conditions into account, that has ever been experienced by fire protection agencies. Cooperative patrol has everywhere shown its efficiency and preparations to meet a bad year which have been going forward the past two favorable seasons, have helped during the present dangerous year. Comparative absence of East winds has been the only factor favorable to the work of fire suppression this season, which in many sections has been the driest since Weather Bureau records have been kept. Cost of protection will, of necessity, be high in most localities. Washington had over 100 fires during August. Some logs have been burned but very little damage to settlers has resulted, and only a small amount of green timber has been damaged. The chief danger until rains come is high winds. Fires started during the season are being carefully guarded but unusually bad conditions might result in their breaking out and causing damages as well as heavy expense to fight them. Over 200 wardens, Association and State guards, are on duty. No rain has fallen since June, and the woods are extremely dry. Idaho associations have had unusually bad and expensive fires to contend with. Prompt action and the employment of a large number of fire fighters has, however, prevented great loss of green timber. Not less than 200 fires have been handled during August, the bulk of these having been caused by lightning. Practically no green timber has been destroyed, the fires for the most part being confined to old burns. Loss of logging equipment has been sustained in a few cases. The most common cause of fires is reported to be campers and ranchers burning slashings. Lightning also has been responsible for some fires. The country is very smoky in some localities rendering the lookouts useless. As a result reports that hunters were leaving camp fires extinguished and because of the long dry spell, Governor West, on August 17th declared a closed season on hunting until fall rains occur. There are approximately 400 private State and Government wardens guarding the area outside the National Forests. Incomplete reports from California indicate that conditions continue more favorable than last year, and that fire losses have been light. Word has been received here of the purchase of the White's drug store at Pullman by Otis Pinkley and Geo. McMahon. Mr. Pinkley had recently sold his interest in the store to the Whites and was looking for a new location. Mr. McMahon had been employed in the store as a pharmacist, but had recently secured a position in the Owl drug store at Spokane. The new firm will take immediate possession.

Surprise Party

The ladies of the Christian church and a few invited friends comprised a party of about 30, who tendered a delightful surprise to Mrs. J. R. Wells at her home Thursday afternoon of last week. The surprise was complete. Mrs. Wells suspecting nothing until the arrival of the guests in a body, but the welcome extended was just as cordial.

As a diversion for the afternoon an informal program was given, in which slips of paper were passed to each one and on this was written the part on the program each was expected to fill. As there had been no previous preparation on the part of any one a great deal of merriment was the result.

The ladies took plenty of delicious home baked cakes and ice cream with them. The afternoon was very much enjoyed by all those in attendance.

The Truth About HARDWARE

In the consideration of Hardware one fact stands out above all others—either it is GOOD, or it is BAD—VERY BAD!

Good hardware has the temper, the keenness, the lasting and sustaining quality because of the purity of the metal which enters into its composition.

The other kind is made to sell—to wear out and pave the way for another sale. One sale may be a few pennies cheaper; but the second one, which is always necessary, makes it a very dear purchase—a waste and an aggravation.

The hardware we sell is GOOD—and we guarantee our words.

Saturday night the Rebekah lodge gave their annual slumber party at the Hanson ranch near town. Or as one of the members expressed it trying to sleep, for all admit there is little real sleeping done. After a much enjoyed ranch breakfast, the ladies departed for their homes.

Farm WAGONS Again

We are talking on this subject because your heavy hauling season is at hand and you will need good, strong wagons with which to deliver your grain to the warehouses.

The earth is full of wealth waiting for some one to dig it out, but you will never pry it loose with bare hands or the old-time tools—nor can you get your grain to market with an old, rickety wagon.

If you saw a dollar in the road you would pick it up. Our wagons mean a good many dollars "picked up" for you. Better start "picking" now. We sell only the best makes of wagons.

Martin Still at Large

George Martin, formerly a resident of Genesee, who is alleged to have held up and robbed the Spokane State bank on Friday of last week, was, at last accounts, still at large, although detectives are looking for him in every part of the country.

A man, supposed to be George Martin, alighted from a taxi near the Spokane State bank, entered the institution and handed the bookkeeper, the only man on duty, the following note, at the same time drawing a large gun to make sure that the request was complied with in due haste:

"Don't Make any noise nor tutch any thing. to signal. Or you Die. I've got you covered Nitro. Glyseene Will drop. Open the door to let me in there then Walk in the Vault. Step lively. Watch my gun. Am a Desperate Man."

After the bookkeeper had been fastened in the vault the robber took all the gold and bills in sight, said to be $700 or $800, leaving the silver behind, it presumably being too bulky. Going again to the street the reentered the taxi and was driven to the business district, where he was lost in the crowd.

George Martin arrived in Genesee Friday night about 10 o'clock and went to the home of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Phipps, where he spent the night. Saturday morning he secured H. A. Morgan to take him (ostensibly) to Moscow, but after getting a few miles in the country he changed his mind and said he wanted to go to Troy.

But when near that city he again changed his mind and asked Morgan to take him to Bovill, which he says he did, since which time nothing has been heard from Martin.

In case Martin is the guilty man he will most certainly be brought to justice as he is well known throughout the country.

Mrs. Martin and her parents are well known and highly respected residents of Genesee and they have the sympathy of the entire community in their hour of trouble.

Lucile Mulhall, the Oklahoma cyclone, the girl who put the buck in buckaroo, and the most talked of woman wild west rider in the world, proposes to surpass even her former efforts in the coming Frontier Days at Walla Walla, September 17th to 19th inclusive.

In a letter to Secretary Johnson, dated July 15th, she says, among other things:

"I have boosted your Fair lots and in all papers I am mentioned to rope in Walla Walla this year. I will defend my title against any woman on earth at your fair and bet any part of $5,000. It would be a shame to break the world's record this fall at Walla Walla. I do not like to attend it on account of the many boys who make their living and take such a pride in this work, but I believe I can rope and tie a steer in fifteen seconds in September.

"Respectfully,
"LUCILE MULHALL."

Miss Mulhall and her company of cowboys and cowgirls and bucking horses are new features on the Pantages Vaudeville Circuit. At the "STAMPEDE" in Winnipeg last year, Miss Mulhall made the world's record in roping and tying a steer in 33 4/5 seconds. She also performs many clever tricks with the rope, and when it is taken into consideration that she works in a limited space on the vaudeville stage, her open air performance is all the more wonderful. She presents not only a refined, realistic wild west act, but one that never fails to create admiration and applause from the grandstand.

Cattle to Chicago

On Friday of last week eleven cars of fat cattle were sent out of Lewiston for Chicago, which is the first shipment to the Windy city for a long time. The shipment was made up of Salmon river and Craig mountain animals and is said to be one of the finest and largest bunches of cattle ever sent out of that city.

The shipment amounted to approximately 300 animals and John Platt is named as one of the principal shippers and the sellers expect to net at least one cent per pound better than the coast market. It is expected to make the trip to Chicago in 102 hours.

FOR SMUT PREVENTION

Meeting Called for Saturday, September 12 at the University of Idaho—All Invited

A smut convention has been called for Saturday morning, September 12, at 10 o'clock at the University of Idaho, to which have been invited farmers, business men, grain experts and college experts from all parts of the Pacific Northwest and it is anticipated that because of the intense interest in the subject the attendance will be extremely large.

The arrangements for the convention were completed by Arnold Lyon, president of the local farmer's union, and President M. A. Brannon of the university. It is planned to hold three sessions on that day in the event those present become sufficiently interested, one in the morning, one in the afternoon and another during the evening.

The purpose of calling the convention at this time is to hear authorities on the prevention of smut, relative to the best method of combating the evil before the farmers begin the fall sowing. It is announced that experts from Washington State College at Pullman will be in attendance besides other students of the pest and besides lectures and treatises on the prevention of smut, the lectures will be illustrated with lantern slides.

There will also occur a general discussion, prominent farmers relating experiences by which they secured actual results and at this meeting it is expected that some solution may be advanced as to the causes leading up to the many smut explosions in the Inland Empire the present year.

"Everybody who may be interested in the subject is cordially invited to be present," said Arnold Lyon. "We hope that the coming meeting will be of great educational value to the farmers together with talks from experts who have studied the matter of smut prevention, we expect to be able to early begin a fight against the pest."—Star-Mirror.

Barrett and Crow will Speak

Farmers unions and granges will have outings at the Spokane Interstate fair, September 12 to 20, and to be given programs of much worth to all the producers in the Inland Empire. The farmers unions have C. S. Barrett, national president of the unions and L. C. Crow, state president, as their speakers on Friday, September 18. The granges will hold their meeting on Tuesday, September 15th, and a strong program will be given the visitor on that day.

The rulers of Europe are linked together by marriage, which is proof positive that a family jar is about the worst brand of scrap on record.

Drought at Last Broken

Old Sol has at last given way to the entreaties of Jupiter Pluvius and the latter has been trying his best to open the flood gates, beginning Monday afternoon, when the first shower of any consequence since July 13, fell, laying the dust in good shape, since which time the rain god has been trying to get things started and in good working order in order to stop the demand for rain to settle the awful dust.

Practically all the grain of this section is in the warehouses—that is, all that could be gotten in—for there is outside a considerable pile on the quays of some of them. In addition to this there have been a number of cars shipped each day since hauling began. On many roads the dust was many inches deep, but the recent rains have "settled" that part and all are extending a welcome to Jupiter Pluvius, the god of rain.

Rev. Carrick to Prescott

At the Methodist conference held at Pullman, and which completed its work on Monday, Rev. J. G. Carrick, pastor of the Methodist church in this city for the past three years, has been assigned to the pastorate of the Methodist church at Prescott, Wash.

The recent destruction of the local Methodist church by fire leaves this pastor here. Rev. Carrick and family have made a host of warm friends during their stay who are sorry to see them leave Geneese but who wish them godspeed in their new field of labor.

Idaho Commercial Schools

A report just issued by the Federal Bureau of Education shows that there are three commercial schools and business colleges in Idaho. The 1913 enrollment was 443 pupils. It is estimated that more than half this number completed commercial courses and a large number are now employed in Idaho business institutions.

In the entire nation there are 614 business colleges and commercial colleges and they accommodate 160,557 students annually. This is an average annual attendance of 206 pupils per school.

K. C. Lecturer Here

W. J. Moriarty, national lecturer for the Knights of Columbus, was in the city and lectured to the Knights here Thursday night. He is a very interesting talker and held the large audience in attendance spellbound for more than two hours. Edwin Smolt delivered the address of welcome and there was short talks by other members of the local lodge.

After the meeting those in attendance went to the Smolt restaurant where a splendid banquet was served.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

New Cover to Be Put On Reservoir—Regular Grist of Bills Allowed

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held Monday night, with all members present except Mayor Nelson, who was absent from the city, President Martinson presiding.

Minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read and approved, after which the following bills were allowed and warrants ordered drawn for the amounts:

C. F. Burr, expenses to Boise	$ 47.00
Thos. H. Herman, mdse.	6.25
W. R. Hickman, feeding stock	6.50
John Kimble, watchman at fire	8.00
J. E. Moore, sprinkling	140.00
Potlatch Lbr. Co., lbr.	12.90
Standard Lbr. Co., lbr.	21.10
Home Tel. Co.	1.40
First Bank, one-fourth cement sidewalk	42.61
Geneese News, printing	7.00
Driesoll Hdw. Store, mdse.	22.75
W. W. P. Co., lights	26.50
W. W. P. Co., pumping	75.00
C. F. Burr, salary city clerk	20.00
C. F. Burr, water sup.	10.00
A. J. Fitz, salary, etc.	75.00

At this time discussion of the reservoir was taken up and it was decided that it is necessary that a new roof be placed over the entire water area as the old one has become so rotten that it is no longer of any good. The new roof will be of corrugated iron, which, when properly put on and painted, will last for many years.

There being no further business the council adjourned to meet the first Monday in October.

Look Yourself in the Face

The reaper of death sweeping over Europe brings to our mind a thought worthy of more than casual consideration. Let us look ourselves in the face, and think—think for the benefit of humanity, for the weal of posterity.

In all parts of the country schools are opening for the fall and winter terms, and much of the future will depend upon the training of the youth of today.

Never in our history was there a time when it was more imperative that hasty passions and vindictive temperaments be curbed and eradicated. Never was there a time when the inculcation of brotherly love and a consideration for others was more urgently required.

The youth of today will be the men of tomorrow and as we train them now so will they be then. The burden rests heavily upon us. We expect the teacher in the school to transform our child into a man of learning and honor and integrity, but do we stop to consider that more depends upon the parent than upon the educator? The one cannot succeed without the cooperation of the other, but the two working earnestly and jointly will accomplish wonderful results.

We should think before speaking. Harsh words and family jars in the presence of a child give it its first lesson in unruliness and puts a sharp edge to an awakening temper. It is natural for the infant to copy the example of the parent. As we expect much from the teacher, let us give equally of our own store of patience and consideration.

Infancy demands kindness, gentleness and sympathy—not the austere aloofness of age, or the coldness of indifference. A child is susceptible to training, but when it reaches man's estate opportunity has passed it by. Shall we heed the lessons of a world calamity and face the duty that confronts us?

Shall we look ourselves in the face?

Much Livestock

The 21st annual Spokane Interstate fair opens Saturday, September 12th and will continue for nine days, closing the evening of September 20th. The fair this year is far ahead of any other exhibition in the display lines and the entry lists are nearly double those of any previous years. The livestock section this year is particularly strong, having 884 head of cattle, swine, sheep and horses listed for the exhibit. The fair has had to build two new barns 50 by 150 feet each in order to accommodate the great influx of cattle.

$80,000 IN PURSES

Great Wild West Show Includes Roping, Riding, Harness Races, Grand Pioneer Parade

So many new and attractive features have been added to Frontier Days big show at Walla Walla, Wash., that there is no question but that it will eclipse anything of like feature ever before attempted in the entire country. The purses will amount to over $20,000.

Great preparations are being made by the hotels and the people of Walla Walla to entertain friends and visitors who will be here for this occasion. The directors of the association are determined to make it an event long to be remembered by those who witness it.

Every one of the attractions booked, relate in some way, to life on the frontier, and the story of the great west will be pictured in an amazing and realistic manner. Every part of the early life of the frontier will be enacted by men and women of world fame. No expense will be spared to secure the best possible performers.

About thirty events will take place each day and every one of them will be interesting and thrilling.

The official program can be obtained by addressing the secretary of the association, Mr. R. H. Johnson, Walla Walla, Wash.

Low excursion rates will be in effect on all railroads.

Nation Facing Meat Famine

Economic experts of the Federal Government are giving the high cost of living their thoughtful attention, and are investigating the high prices of meat. The Department of Agriculture has just completed a census of the meat producing animals of the United States and finds that there has been a decrease of 41,833,000 head and an increase of $176,530,000 in value during the past year. On January 1, 1914, the herd numbered 144,507,000, compared with 148,690,000 head a year ago.

The bulk of the nation's decrease in meat supply is in the swine herd. Compared with last year the number of hogs in the United States has diminished 2,185,000 head; cattle 175,000 head and sheep 17,63,000 head. The major portion of the increased values is credited to the beef animals. The value of all cattle, excluding milk cows, when compared with last year, shows an increase of $116,868,000; swine have gained $9,842,090 in value, while sheep have depreciated $1,476,000.

Peas Worth $50 per Acre

J. P. Dunn has completed the harvesting of his 20-acre tract of Canadian peas at Moravia. The tract yielded between 500 and 600 bushels of peas and would have yielded some 800 bushels but for the dry season in July and August. Mr. Dunn is having the peas shipped here and will hold them for seed. He advocates the raising of peas in this district and states that the soil and climate are admirably adapted for their growth and that crop failure is impossible, while the peas also serve to improve the land upon which they are planted. Mr. Dunn figures that his peas cleared for him $50 per acre. Bonners Ferry Herald.

A man was mean enough to remark in our hearing that they were still using Confederate money as legal tender at Moscow. No self respecting man would even suggest that Moscow is that far behind the times. However a fellow was mean enough to pass a Confederate "twenty" on a woman and a man who would do that well, the county jail is too good a place for him.

H. J. Herman on Wednesday morning started filling his two silos with corn, of which he has 160 acres as fine as one will find anywhere. Each silo has a capacity of 187 tons, which will furnish winter feed for a large amount of stock. Mr. Herman has always been an advocate of ensilage for stock and just recently added a new silo of the latest approved type.

Moscow has finally decided that they want some more paving and have asked for bids for construction of a pavement from the depots to the university campus, the kind of material to be used to be selected after bids have been opened. They have asked for information regarding 29 different kinds of pavement.

Letter from French

Arnold Lyon of Moscow, chairman of the Latah county republican central committee, has received the following communication from Hon. Burton L. French, in which he expresses his gratitude to his friends in this county and thanks them for their loyal support. The letter follows:

Hon. Arnold Lyon, Chairman, Republican County Central Committee, Moscow, Idaho. My dear Mr. Lyon:

I have received word of the magnificent vote that was given to me in my campaign for United States senator by the people of Latah county and I want to express through you to my many friends throughout the county, my assurance of heartfelt gratitude and appreciation.

I prize the approval of those who know me best as I am able to prize few things in this life, and the repeated assurances of approval upon the part of my home county, is a matter which touches me very deeply.

I believe I could have done good service as a member of the United States senate, but as the choice of the people has fallen upon Senator Brady, I can only wish him the greatest success and I am confident that he will give to the state and to the country such a measure of good service as will reflect distinct credit upon the citizens of the state what he represents.

I shall look forward with deep pleasure to the opportunity of again meeting my friends and neighbors and telling them personally of my gratitude on account of their loyalty to me.

With kind regards,
Yours very truly,
(Signed) Burton L. French.

Lewiston Sapatkine

The Lewiston-Clarkston Sapatkine will open in Lewiston on September 29 and continue until October 2, inclusive. T. T. Maroney, a birdman, has been secured and will make daily flights during the fair. In addition to this there will be horse races, auto races, polo games, bucking contests, motorcycle races and other athletic contests of various kinds. There will also be many free events in front of the grandstand each day, all of which go to make up one of the most interesting fairs, from an entertainment standpoint, that has yet been held in Lewiston.

The board of county commissioners met last Friday as a canvassing board for the purpose of canvassing the votes cast at the recent primary election. So far as learned there has been no change in the count that would affect the totals as given out to any very great degree, which leaves the nomination of candidates the same as published last week in the News.

KRIES-BROEMMELING Popular Young Couple United in Marriage at St. Mary's Church Tuesday Morning

One of the prettiest weddings that has taken place in Geneese for a long time was solemnized Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock at St. Mary's church, when Miss Mary Anna Kries and Gerhard Broemmeling were made husband and wife, the Rev. Fr. F. Bonora performing the ceremony in a very impressive manner. Miss Helen Kries, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, while Joe Broemmeling, brother of the groom, was best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom and invited guests departed for the ranch home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Kries, where a splendid wedding dinner was served at 1 o'clock.

The afternoon was spent in social converse, games, etc., the men busying themselves outdoors while the women folk entertained themselves with music and other amusements.

During the evening a splendid supper was spread before the guests, after which orchestral music and dancing was indulged in.

The bride received many beautiful and useful presents from relatives and friends.

Mr. Broemmeling is the son of John Broemmeling, a prominent rancher of this section and is well and favorably known, having grown to manhood here. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Kries, who are also among the older residents of this part of the county, and has a host of friends here who were loth to give her up but who wish them the very best of everything in life.

The News wishes their many friends in extending congratulations and good wishes.

The newly-married pair left Wednesday morning for Cadogan, Alt., Can., where they expect to make their home. They were accompanied by J. N. Kries who will spend a couple of months in that part of the country.

Postmaster General Bursleson has again demonstrated that he is the best end of the postal department by revoking the order basing the compensation for rural carriers on the amount of mail carried and has ordered that the carrier's pay shall be in proportion to the distance traveled regardless of the number of pieces handled during the year. This will make a change in the pay envelope of a great many carriers.

The Grangeville Border Days opened yesterday and from all reports it promises to be one of the biggest and best entertainments of its kind ever pulled off in that city.

What's The Harvest To Be

September usually gives us a pretty good idea of what the year's material harvest is to be. We begin to cast up our crop accounts.

If you were to stop now and figure up your standing, to use a baseball term, what would your average be?

And if the prospect doesn't appear roseate, just remember that it isn't too late to remedy the fault. Start a bank account with a part of September's income and you will be gratified to see how soon the clouds will begin to scatter.

The Truth About HARDWARE

In the consideration of Hardware one fact stands out above all others—either it is GOOD, or it is BAD—VERY BAD!

Good hardware has the temper, the keenness, the lasting and sustaining quality because of the purity of the metal which enters into its composition.

The other kind is made to sell—to wear out and pave the way for another sale. One sale may be a few pennies cheaper; but the second one, which is always necessary, makes it a very dear purchase—a waste and an aggravation.

The hardware we sell is GOOD—and we guarantee our words.

Normal Opens September 15

The next regular session of Lewiston State Normal School will open Tuesday, September 15, at noon. All regular courses heretofore offered will open for regular work on that date. The faculty list for the coming year is complete and has been strengthened in some departments. Miss Elsie Kirk, of the Lewiston district, of Kirkville State Normal School in Missouri, has been elected Dean of Women and has already arrived to take charge of her work in the interests of the young women students. The school has engaged two private dormitories and several rooms near the campus to take care of the overflow from Lewis Hall. Dining room facilities have been enlarged to now accommodate 125 day boarders in Lewis Hall, and as many more can be accommodated in the student canteen if necessary. President Clark has spent the summer vacation making preparation for the coming year, which promises to be much the largest in the history of the school. Last year the school sent out 180 qualified teachers to teach in the various counties of the state, and a large number goes out each year. Last year's graduating class of 54 members, was the largest graduating class from any of the normal schools of the northwest. For the convenience of students from South and Eastern Idaho, a special sleeping car will be attached to train Number 9 Westbound on the Oregon Short Line, leaving Pocatello September thirteenth, at 9:35 a. m., and going direct through to Lewiston without change.

STANDARD LUMBER CO.

E. ABERNATHY, Mgr.

The idea has been suggested that it would be a fine thing to have a sales day in Genesee—that is, all farmers who have a quite a lot of odds and ends that they do not need but which some of their neighbors would like to have and could use to a good advantage, but do not know it is for sale. There also has been quite a number of ranchers that have said they had more tools and livestock than they needed for their business, but did not have enough to pay them to have a sale. The proposition has been made by an auctioneer that if the ranchers would like to pool their stuff, he would come to Genesee and make the sale free of charge, just to show them he can do the work and to help the rancher who has only a small amount of stuff for sale. If there are sufficient ranchers who will get together and pool their stock, implements, etc., the News will communicate with the auctioneer and arrangements made for the sale. You will never have a chance to dispose of your stuff at less expense and it will not only help you but it will be an advertisement for Genesee. Think it over.

THE ONION SMUT IS SPREADING FAST

During the last five years this disease has spread rapidly, the smut probably being conveyed from field to field upon farm implements and with manure containing smutted onion refuse, as discarded onions are usually deposited upon manure piles. In some sections the losses resulting from this fungus have been so great that the growers, in some cases, no longer find the crop profitable. The severity of the disease in different localities is variable. It appears at first in isolated spots here and there in a field, and from these spreads in all directions until the whole piece becomes affected, and the cultivation of onions upon it has to be discontinued. Short crops of onions have been produced in the amount of smut; in a particular field badly smutted and the order of planting had been clover for two years, corn one year. A five-year rotation will not, from the expert opinion of growers, eliminate the disease. It appears reasonably certain that the disease is not generally spread by the seed. It may, however, occasionally be introduced into a field from an infected locality. It is also certain that the smut is spread with plows, weedeas, harrows, rakes and hoes, by spores clinging with infected earth to the implements. When to be affected, one pound 40 per cent formaldehyde to 25-33 gallons of water should be applied with a drip attachment to a seed drill at the rate of 500 to 700 gallons of solution per acre. This has been used with success by several large growers. In one instance the treated part of a field yielded over 500 bushels per acre, while the untreated plot yielded only about 100 bushels of inferior onions to the acre.

Canvass Is Completed

The board of county commissioners has completed the work of canvassing the returns of the recent election and have made a report to the proper officials. The completed returns, while a few figures have been changed, the result is the same as has been published heretofore. The poll lists of the primary election show that a total of 2965 votes were cast, the official returns as canvassed by the county board showing that the highest vote cast for any candidate on the republican ticket was for Homer E. Estes, candidate for clerk of the district court and ex-officio auditor and recorder, his vote being 1808. The next highest vote cast on the Democratic ticket, and the third highest vote cast for any one candidate was for Burton L. French for United States senator on the republican ticket. The highest vote cast on the Democratic ticket was 414, for Frank L. Moore, candidate for Prosecuting attorney. The socialist ticket reached 98 ballots for the highest number and the progressive ticket receiving only 20 votes for the highest man.

Demand For Fertilizer in Idaho

There are 1,237 farms in Idaho that use fertilizer, and the annual purchases amount to $20,737, according to a recent report of the United States Department of Agriculture. The annual expenditure for fertilizer in this State was $17,150. Fertilizer purchases in Idaho have increased $3,587 or 21 per cent during the past decade. Less than one per cent of the farms of this state use fertilizer, and the average for the United States is 29 per cent. In the entire nation there are 1,823,000 farms that use fertilizer and the present annual expenditure is $115,000,000. Ten years ago it was $53,000,000 for the entire nation.

Birdman at Latah Fair

T. T. Maroney, the birdman, will be one of the drawing cards at the Latah county fair. While a great many people have seen different sorts of aircraft, there are yet more who have not, especially in this part of the country, and this will be an opportunity you can not afford to miss—whether you have ever seen one or not. Mr. Maroney uses a Curtiss machine and will take a young lady passenger with him on his flights. It is understood a number of applications have been made for the privilege and no doubt he will be able to get all the passengers he wants during his flights at Moscow. In addition to these flights, the fair will be bigger and better than ever before. If you fail to attend you will miss seeing some of the finest exhibits of all kinds that have ever been offered.

High Price for Apple Tree

Probably the highest price ever paid for an apple tree was the $600 which was paid to an Oregon farmer for a 13-year-old seedling which grew in a fence corner on his farm. The worth of the tree to the purchaser lay in the fact that it yields ripe apples every month from May to November, the fruit being rich in quality and prodigious in quantity.

Ownership of Latah County Homes

The United States Census department at Washington has just issued a bulletin dealing with the ownership of Latah county homes. The important facts contained in the bulletin relating to this county are as follows: There are 4038 homes in Latah county. Of this number 1868 are farm homes; 1081 of the farm homes are owned by their occupants and are free of mortgage incumbrance. The mortgaged farm homes number 467. Renters occupy 313 farm homes in this county. Out of a total of 4,038 homes in the county, 2,170 are urban homes. There are 1041 urban homes owners in the county. Of this number 166 are mortgaged and 875 are owned homes and are free of incumbrance. There are 985 rented urban homes in the county. The census enumerators were unable to secure data pertaining to the ownership of a small percentage of both the rural and urban homes in this county. Idaho Homes Worth $96.00 Each. The Idaho home is only worth $96.00 per head, according to a report just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, while a year ago its value was $100. There are 234,000 horses on the farms of this state, and they are valued at $22,464,000. In 1910 the number of horses in this State was 198,000 and had an aggregate value of $20,196,000. In the entire United States there are 20,962,000 horses and they are worth $2,291,638,000 or $109.32 each.

There will also be many new and novel features, as well as 14 different events which will take place in front of the Grand Stand daily. You Will Miss It If You Miss It

Genesee Has Another Fire

The old hotel known as the Genesee House was burned to the ground Tuesday night, together with the contents. The house was the property of Colburn Swenson and had been unoccupied for about a year, but had just been rented to a family by the name of Nelson, who had taken possession on Tuesday and Mrs. Nelson was in the house alone at the time of the fire, her husband having gone to Astoria. The origin of the fire is unknown but is supposed to have started from a defective stove. The alarm was sounded shortly after midnight and within an hour it was a heap of ashes. Weather conditions favored the firemen and they had no trouble confining it to the one building. It is stated there was a $1,000 insurance on the building and $200 on the contents, which consisted of bedsteads, mattress and other hotel equipment. It is seldom a man looks as handsome as his photograph. And it is much the same way with mail-order furniture. Read each page this week.

Commerce and Guns

The press and commercial associations of the United States are making much ado over the opportunity afforded for an expansion of the commerce of the United States by the United States department of Agriculture. The total production is approximately 911,000,000 bushels; nearly 150,000,000 bushels more than any previous crop produced in the United States. At least 250,000,000 bushels of wheat which are not needed for consumption at home or for feed. The surplus production of the United States usually goes to Europe, but under present conditions, caused by the European war, this cereal cannot cross the ocean. About 75,000,000 bushels have already been taken for export, but most of it is being held at the ports of departure. The surplus across the water are not so encouraging. War in Europe tends to prevent the shipment of wheat from surplus European countries to those which need it—France, for example, and Russia and France, and a famine there seems inevitable.

No Bread Famine in U. S. This Year

There will be no bread famine in the United States this year. The largest wheat crop in history has just been harvested and according to the United States department of Agriculture the total production is approximately 911,000,000 bushels; nearly 150,000,000 bushels more than any previous crop produced in the United States. At least 250,000,000 bushels of wheat which are not needed for consumption at home or for feed. The surplus production of the United States usually goes to Europe, but under present conditions, caused by the European war, this cereal cannot cross the ocean. About 75,000,000 bushels have already been taken for export, but most of it is being held at the ports of departure. The surplus across the water are not so encouraging. War in Europe tends to prevent the shipment of wheat from surplus European countries to those which need it—France, for example, and Russia and France, and a famine there seems inevitable.

Genesee Has Another Fire

The old hotel known as the Genesee House was burned to the ground Tuesday night, together with the contents. The house was the property of Colburn Swenson and had been unoccupied for about a year, but had just been rented to a family by the name of Nelson, who had taken possession on Tuesday and Mrs. Nelson was in the house alone at the time of the fire, her husband having gone to Astoria. The origin of the fire is unknown but is supposed to have started from a defective stove. The alarm was sounded shortly after midnight and within an hour it was a heap of ashes. Weather conditions favored the firemen and they had no trouble confining it to the one building. It is stated there was a $1,000 insurance on the building and $200 on the contents, which consisted of bedsteads, mattress and other hotel equipment. It is seldom a man looks as handsome as his photograph. And it is much the same way with mail-order furniture. Read each page this week.

Commerce and Guns

The press and commercial associations of the United States are making much ado over the opportunity afforded for an expansion of the commerce of the United States by the United States department of Agriculture. The total production is approximately 911,000,000 bushels; nearly 150,000,000 bushels more than any previous crop produced in the United States. FARM FACTS

By Peter Radford, National Lecturer, U. S. and C. U. of A.

The need of the rural communities today is intelligent and consecrated leadership.

The farm is the power house of all progress and the birthplace of all that is noble.

The farm is the nursery of civilization and the paragon of all religious denominations.

The farmer asks no special privileges. The business of farming only wants the same opportunities afforded other lines of industry.

It is as much a duty of the country pastor to exhort us to own a home while on earth as it is to inspire us to build a mansion in the skies.

The rural press, the pulpit and the school are a trinity of powerful influences that the farmer must utilize to their fullest capacity before he can occupy a commanding position in public affairs.

Pullman's third annual hog show will be held November 27 and 28. A good list of premiums has been hung up for practically all breeds of hogs. Interest in hogs is growing from year to year and there is no doubt that this will be the biggest and best show ever pulled off in this section of the country.

I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Hill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." Chamberlain's Tablets are for sale by all dealers.

Are you good at figuring out conundrums? If you are, here is your chance to try your luck. It is not hard and the Lewiston-Clarkston Spatkin offers to make it worth your while as the first three correct answers will receive a reward: My first three we all like on a nice breakfast ration, The next two when young you learned first to spell, The next three abbreviates every one's relations.

The last one comes fifth wherein first it did dwell.

Address your answers to R. C. Peterson, Lewiston, Idaho.

Ed Putnam is suffering with a broken foot, caused by a horse he was riding falling on him. Mr. Putnam was trying to catch another horse when the one he was riding slipped on some straw, falling on his left foot, breaking the bones badly. He is getting along as well as could be expected.

Tug Carlander is again confined to his bed, having suffered a relapse. He had been ill of typhoid fever for some time and had gotten well enough (so he thought) to come up town. The trip was too much for him, with the result he is again very ill.

European War Affects Wool and Cotton Business

The steady advance in prices of wool and cotton may call a halt in prices later. The result is that now in the face of scarcity of many desirable lines of goods and of extreme demands in prices of many things both foreign and domestic, we are supplied and at prices prevailing before the war.

We advise our patrons to anticipate their needs for fall and winter and do their trading now while stocks are complete, for it will not be long before many stocks are badly depleted and when exhausted cannot be renewed at present prices.

And if the prospect doesn't appear roseate, just remember that it isn't too late to remedy the fault. Start a bank account with a part of September's income and you will be gratified to see how soon the clouds will begin to scatter.

SCHOOL NOTES

By Irah Larrabee
School has been in session two weeks and the results so far are very pleasing. A prosperous and happy year is anticipated.
The enrollment in High school at present is 38. There are 10 seniors, 8 juniors, 8 sophomores and 12 freshmen. The enrollment for the grades is as follows: Primary and first grades, 22; second and third grades, 35, and perfect attendance was reported last week. Fourth and fifth grades, 45, with a perfect attendance record. Sixth grade, 27. Seventh grade, 15, with no tardy marks. Eighth grade, 20, with no tardy marks.

The readers of the News will probably be glad to learn that the members of last year's graduating class have shown a desire to further their education by entering higher institutions of learning. If we may judge from their past record, there is no doubt about their future success. During the four years in High School Esther Martinson had an average of 94.1-4. For the same number of years in High School Gladys Larrabee had an average of 93.1-4. Esther Orth's record for the past two years in our High school has been good but having spent the first years of her High school in another school it is impossible to give her average. Esther Martinson is to take up a general course at the University of Idaho, Gladys Larrabee the normal course at the Lewiston State Normal and Esther Orth is specializing in music at Whitman college, Walla Walla.

Zoology and Physics are new branches of study offered for High school students this year.
The sewing classes under the direction of Miss Scholten began work Monday afternoon. The junior and senior girls meet on Monday and Wednesday afternoons. The sophomore and freshmen girls meet Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. All are very much interested in the work and much is expected to be accomplished.
A number of the freshmen, sophomore and junior girls spent a very pleasant evening on the lawn party given by Faith Pollett at her home last Friday evening.
Jessie Wardrobe and Gladys Larrabee were High school visitors last Friday morning.

The young folks are thoroughly enjoying the swings and teeter-totters, which the Improvement society have so kindly placed in the park for their use. The lower grade girls make use of them in the afternoon and the boys in the afternoon. It is left to the people of the community to surmise when the High school pupils enjoy the play ground apparatus.

The seniors held a class meeting in the recitation room Monday morning and the following officers were elected: President, Irah Larrabee; vice-president, Irvin Scholten; secretary and treasurer, Mahlon Pollett; class advisor, Miss Olston.
Manual training has been added to our course of study and seems to be popular among the boys. Although it is not compulsory, every boy in High school and grades has enrolled for the work.

Willie Flomer entered the eighth grade last Monday morning. Carrie and Frank Koen enrolled in the seventh grade on Monday.

Carl and Selma Tidemann entered High school this week. The former enrolled as a sophomore and the latter a freshman.

A meeting of the Athletic association was held Monday evening and the following officers were elected: President, George Post; vice-president, Carl Nagel; secretary and treasurer, Dewey Wardrobe; manager of basketball team, Irvin Scholten. Mr. King will coach the basketball boys.

The assembly room has a changed appearance since last Thursday, when the various classes decorated the walls with their cherry pennants. One pennant is still lacking, for which a place is reserved. We hope to see the vacant space occupied in the near future.

Glenn, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sheets, of Moscow, was injured last Saturday afternoon as the result of injuries received several days before when a team he was driving became frightened and ran away. The direct cause of his death was tetanus, caused by severe cuts received by coming in contact with a barbed wire.

The Progressives have completed their itinerary and have announced that some of the leading men of the party will be in Genesee on Sunday, October 18. Just where or at what time they will be here is not known, but it is presumed this information will be handed out in due time for all who care to be present at the meeting.

The World's Greatest Financier
The world's greatest financier is the ideal farmer's housewife. Her daily investments exceed in shrewdness the clever transactions of Wall Street and no business concern or corporation, however ably officered, has ever been able to approach her in credit standing. She is the nation's ablest trader and her transactions more nearly reflect the progress and prosperity of the country than the reports of our clearing houses.

All legislation, financial or otherwise, ought to be plain, that the housewife can understand it. Our legislators, state and national, shoot so far over the head of the average citizen that those who are unable to employ an attorney and who are in a state of blindness, must for ever remain in ignorance of the laws. Of course we have so many laws that no human can expect to read them and survive the ordeal, but any person who feels an irrational impulse to legislate should try his proposed law on his neighbor and get it down where the common people can understand it before attempting to put it on the statute books.

Ability, Not Quantity, in Farming
No farmer gets rich by the quantity of production. It is the price he gets for his products, and economy and business judgement employed in management that makes the farmer wealthy.

We cannot pass a law that will increase the price of products or reduce the cost of plowing the land and marketing the crop. We must depend upon factories and transportation facilities for marketing our products and upon improved mechanical appliances and the business ability of the farmer to reduce the cost of production, and to more intelligently market his products.

Thrashing in this section of the wheat belt is all finished and most of the grain has been delivered to the warehouses and it is estimated that this section has yielded her share of the wheat of the county and which will amount to about a million bushels. With wheat at the present price the ranchers are feeling jubilant and are well satisfied with the fruits of the past season.

ASSESSOR AND COMMISSIONERS NOT SATISFIED

Enter Protest Regarding Action of State Tax Commission and Board of Equalization

The following communication has been received from Moscow, signed jointly by County Assessor Martinson and the board of county commissioners protesting against the action of the state tax commission and the state board of equalization against the equalization given Latah county.

Following is their statement: "Taxpayers—As your assessor and commissioners, we wish to state, and very emphatically, that we are not satisfied with the equalization given Latah county by the state tax commission and the board of equalization at Boise, on corporation property, especially on the timber lands. As you all know we secured a partial cruise on our timber lands this year that we might be in a position to assess this class of property on an equitable basis with all other property in the county. Not having, however, a complete cruise of all the timber lands we made a very conservative assessment upon this class of property that we might not incur upon the timber companies and individuals owning timber an injustice, this year.

"Never has there been a tendency on our part to hit a corporation any harder than an individual, but on the other hand we have tried hard to place all classes of property on an equitable basis for assessment purposes, regardless of the ownership. "Our cruise this year resulted in an increase in the timber companies' assessed valuation over previous years, which was due to the finding of more assessable property than we had estimated in our report on the timber. The state tax commission, in arriving at the basis for their equalization, did not consider our cruise, which is a county record and a true estimate of the amount of timber in the county as far as it has been completed, and should have been, had they wished to be fair with us, the best of data upon which to have based their equalization, but they disregarded this information and because there was an increase over previous years they asked the state board of equalization to order a cut of fifteen per cent on all of the timber lands in the county. The state board, without any further investigations, ordered the fifteen per cent reduction as asked for by the commission. "We feel that the reduction on the timber lands of the county in copper which does not give off sparks even when struck by stone. The supply of powder to be used during the day is brought to the filling rooms each morning where it is emptied into a long wooden trough. Over half of the smokeless powder used here is manufactured at the proving ground at Indian Head, Md., while the rest is supplied by private firms at the rate of 70 cents a pound."

Genesee Has Windstorm
On last Friday the Genesee country was visited by one of the worst wind and rain storms it has experienced in a long time. About noon the wind reached a tremendous velocity, making it almost impossible for one to walk without having their feet blown from under them. During the storm, John Buttjer's windmill, on Thorn creek, was blown down and other minor damage done. However, no very serious damage has been reported.

All candidates before the primaries have filed their returns of expenses during the campaign. The largest sum expended was that by Assessor Theo. E. Martinson, which amounted to $102.20, while the lowest sum was $2 Geo. W. Lowry, socialist candidate for corner, and E. W. Porter, republican candidate for the legislature. There were several others whose expenses were less than $3—no chance for the printer to get much of a rake-off there.

The supreme court has again postponed the hearing of the writ of mandamus asked by the dries of Nezperce county for a recensus of the votes cast at the recent local option election of this year. The management and the people of Lewiston are springing no pains or expense to make this one of the biggest and best ever.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitted are the parents of a baby girl, born Tuesday afternoon.

Arthur Butzian is improving slowly from a bad case of blood poisoning.

MAKING AMMUNITION FOR NAVAL GUNS
Close by the west bank of the Hudson River in the lower passage to the Highlands, and lying between Stony Point and West Point in a region made famous by the Revolutionary War is Lone Island, the ammunition base of the United States Navy. Describing this spot and the work that is carried on there, the October Popular Mechanics Magazine says: "At this little-known place, a reservation of slightly more than a hundred acres, several hundred men are employed in the preparation of ammunition for the guns of our warships. Bare of the mill with secluded most of the island from general view are magazines and storerooms holding approximately 3,000,000 lb. of smokeless powder, 1,000,000 lb. of black powder and tens of thousands of shells. "Skirting the island joining its laboratories and storage places and connecting with the land pier is a small railroad the locomotive of which is operated by the state. This is used in the transportation of the deadly cargoes from one building to another and in carrying ammunition to the dock where it is received for the warships. The same day Pollett & Scholter sent over a string of their fine horses, consisting of two 4-year-old mares, one 3-year-old mare, one 2-year-old mare, two suckling colts, one stallion, one saddle horse and one driving horse, all of which they entered in the competitive classes. On Thursday it was expected that some 20 or 25 automobiles, conveying members of the commercial club and others would leave early in the morning for the races, and on Friday about the same number of machines would be chartered to take the school children to the fair. Besides this number, there will be a great many more, but they have been driven over from time to time making a pretty good total from this part of the county.

Candidates Getting Ready
Now that the platforms of all political parties have been made—and each one claims there is not a bare word in their platform and none that will get down to business and will be looking after their political fences. There are good men on all tickets and it will behoove many of them to be ready to go to the polls. The fact that they may be on one of the stronger tickets, for it must be remembered that at the general election a voter can mix his ticket to suit himself, and from all reports some of the tickets are being ready for the ballot box, will look like a speckled pup in the fall of the year—just a little fire-bitten. Over in Idaho county many of the candidates have already placed their announcements in the papers and are working in a way that would press-gage success.

Social Centers
The crying need of rural Idaho, is social centers where our young people can be entertained, amused and instructed under the direction of cultured, clean and competent leadership, where aesthetic surroundings stir the love for the beautiful; where art charges the atmosphere with inspiration and power, and innocent amusements instruct and brighten their lives. To hold our young people on the farm we must make farm life more attractive, as well as the business of farming more remunerative. The school house should be the social unit, properly equipped for non-parochial and building character, so that the best of our people can properly function around it and become supplied with the necessary elements of human thought and activity.

Northwest Livestock Show
Arrangements are being completed for the big Northwest livestock show, which will be held in Lewiston November 30 to Dec. 5, inclusive. It is expected to have the biggest turnout ever. The show will be pulled off in the Northwest—not taking a backseat for the annual Portland event. The Lewiston show is one that has been in existence for many years and is made here for the first time. The management and the people of Lewiston are springing no pains or expense to make this one of the biggest and best ever.

EVERYBODY WANTS A GOOD TOWN
Towns and communities have personalities and individual characters just the same as do the citizens of which they are made up. In fact the character of a community is precisely determined by the character of its citizens. Hence when a citizen finds something wrong with his community and wishes to correct it, he must first correct himself. The community has no existence independently of the citizens of which it is composed. Every defect in it if pursued to its ultimate will lead right up to the front doors of its citizens. Talk about "kicking oneself"; that is exactly what a citizen does when he "knocks" his town and community. The city that is the "knocking" and "knocking" are not actual instead of metaphorical. There is nobody so stupid as to prefer a good town to a bad town or no town at all. But there are many people who do not know, or care, what they must do to make their town a good town; and they do not seem to realize that by a little knocking of one kind or another their citizens can kill it almost beyond resurrection.

Let any man ask himself what makes a town and he is bound to answer, "Trade—business!" Take away the trade of a town and you take away the life of a town. The air it breathes, the food it consumes. The avenues of trade are to the town and community exactly what the blood vessels are to the human body. On every hand are examples to illustrate the importance of trade in the life of communities and the life of the nation itself. The retail store as a way station in the channels of trade is an indispensable factor in perpetuating the commercial life of a community. With the destruction of the commercial life of the central town or city of a community all other forms of retail life must cease to exist because they all depend upon commerce and trade. For this reason the citizen needs the town fully as much as the town needs the citizen. Let him not suppose that in the new packages he carries home from the local store are contained all the things he receives for the money he passes over the counters of the local merchants. Substantially all the comforts and conveniences of modern civilized society are passed out to him in return for his patronizing his home merchants. The surest way to deprive himself of those facilities and environments that make life worth living is to withdraw his patronage from the local town.

Emergency Statute to Aid Farmers
When Governor Colquitt, of Texas, signed the emergency warehouse bill, which provides for a system of state-owned cotton warehouses, he gave to Texas the distinction of being the first and only state in the Union to aid her farmers by legislative enactment during the present European crisis. The legislature was called together in extraordinary session to consider this one measure and the bill was promptly passed by both houses. It is necessary in that state to enact an emergency law. The emergency bill became a law when signed by the Governor, but it will probably be substituted by a permanent statute when the Legislature meets in regular session next January. The act is of vital importance to the Texas farmers, as it will enable them to hold their cotton until it can be profitably marketed. Wheat, oats, corn and other non-perishable farm products can be stored, but the law was enacted primarily to meet the cotton situation, as this staple constitutes 74 per cent of the value of the annual agricultural production of this state and 25 per cent of the world's cotton crop is raised in Texas.

Uncle Sam Tears Up a Railroad
It is reported that the tracks of the Arkansas Southern railway company are to be taken up and sold for scrap iron. The Federal court ordered the receivers to discontinue running trains on the road last June, as there was no way of taking care of the deficit resulting from its operation. This sale of the railway defect problem is a new one and authoritatively demonstrates Uncle Sam's method of dealing with business problems as relates to railroads.

MANY ATTEND FAIR

Several Hundred In Attendance From Genesee and Surrounding Country

Genesee has certainly been well represented at the Latah county fair, being held in Moscow this week, and all report a splendid time and that the fair is a success in every particular.

Beginning with Tuesday morning, John and Henry Meyer, Dr. W. H. Ehlen, Rev. A. F. Wolf and Albert Fremont over Mr. Meyer's automobile to assist in the big musical program scheduled for that day, when it was expected 250 musicians would play as one band.

The same day Pollett & Scholter sent over a string of their fine horses, consisting of two 4-year-old mares, one 3-year-old mare, one 2-year-old mare, two suckling colts, one stallion, one saddle horse and one driving horse, all of which they entered in the competitive classes. Besides this number, there will be a great many more, but they have been driven over from time to time making a pretty good total from this part of the county.

Genesee cannot help but know that Genesee and her citizens are more than willing to play fair when it comes to sending a crowd to in a measure make up for Moscow sending a good crowd here to attend our fair.

Money Tied Up So It's Available

is the way wise builders put theirs into a home. To have it available in a home, you've got to build of material that permits of occasional refreshing, so that when you want to realize your cash you can deliver your house as good as new. Lumber is the only building material that offers the solution. It can be painted and made to look like new, and "looks" sells property these days. In addition to looks, however, there are many other reasons why lumber is preferable. Come in and we will elucidate and give you facts backed with figures.

FARM FACTS

By F. W. RAYBURN, National Lecturer F. E. and C. U. of A.

Get the difficulties out of the farmers way and the farmers' problems will solve themselves. The increase in prices of farm products has not kept pace with the increased cost of living. The farmer can produce without organization, but to successfully market he must unite with his neighbor.

The farmer is the directing head and operating hand of his business. He combines, directs and carries all responsibilities.

The farmer cannot be helped until he organizes and the government cannot help the farmer except through organization.

The farmer sells at prices fixed in free trade markets and buys everything he wears and uses in a high protective market.

The value of farm crops is determined not only by the market but by labor necessary to produce them but by having them on the market when needed.

The Model Cleaners are now located in the Pickering building, one door west of the shoe shop, and are prepared to do cleaning and pressing for ladies and gents. Satisfaction guaranteed. 10-11

I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 125 pounds. I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." The Knights of Pythias gave one of their informal dancing parties last Friday night which was attended by a goodly number of young people—as well as by some who were not quite so young, all of whom enjoyed the evening thoroughly. These parties are given semi-occasionally—or oftener—during the fall and winter months and are always a source of great pleasure to those who are fortunate enough to be present. Refreshments were served during the evening.

J. P. Kraut last week began filling his 100-to-150 acre corn, which will be used for feeding his fine dairy herd. Mr. Kraut has always been an advocate of ensilage for stock, especially for dairy cattle, of which he has a goodly number, mostly Holsteins, which he brought in the east last fall. Mr. Kraut is one of the foremost dairymen in this section of the country.

The Monday bunch were conveyed by "shanks horses" to the home of Mrs. Ira Hildebrand Monday afternoon where a very pleasant time was had. One of the members told us confidentially that they had cider on tap during the afternoon. However they managed to get back to town by the same conveyance.

European War Affects Wool and Cotton Business

The steady advance in prices of wool and cotton may call a halt in prices later. The result is that now in the face of scarcity of many desirable lines of goods and of extreme demands in prices of many things both foreign and domestic, we are supplied and at prices prevailing before the war.

We advise our patrons to anticipate their needs for fall and winter and do their trading now while stocks are complete, for it will not be long before many stocks are badly depleted and when exhausted cannot be renewed at present prices.

What's The Harvest To Be

September usually gives us a pretty good idea of what the year's material harvest is to be. We begin to cast up our crop accounts.

If you were to stop now and figure up your standing, to use a baseball term, what would your average be?

are all combined in the popular-priced, perfect-fitting MUNSING UNDERWEAR for men, women and children. We believe in Munsing underwear, that's why we sell it, and the reason we believe in it is because we know positively that it is honestly made, well finished and reasonably priced. Those who wear it believe in it because they know it really fits the body, really wears long and well, really feels good to the wearer, because you can "forget you got it on." None of the bunchy, distressing feeling about Munsing. None of the annoyance due to imperfect making, and you get a real fit, even if you are longer, broader or flatter than ordinary people. It was not chance or luck that caused us to tie up with the Munsing line. It was a decision reached after a careful test and investigation of different kinds of underwear, and we wish to offer our trade only the kind which proved its worth. Ask any Munsing wearer if he or she would wear any other kind, and then get into the great Munsing family of satisfied wearers of the best underwear at any price. Why experiment with the unknown when the proven best is ready to hand? We have laid in a full line, including your size, at the price you feel able to pay.

ARMIES FIGHT HARD

FRENCH AND BRITISH TROOPS FLOODED BY HEAVY RAINS IN TRENCHES.

RESULT BATTLE NOT KNOWN

Conflict Goes on Night and Day With Terrible Losses—Airsman Captured

London, Sept. 20, 9:45 p. m.—A correspondent of the Times sends the following dispatch from "behind the British lines," dated September 19:

"The great battle draws to a close. Exhaustion, rather than shot and shell, has brought a truce among the armies. The river banks—peace which my experience of the last few days leads me to believe may be the herald of victory, at least, is how I read the situation.

"I have seen our troops and the French go on night and day, but I am not sure that the fighting has been as hard as it has been reported. The British have learned that lesson—and then we go on fighting and fighting until the moment comes when we are forced to retreat. We are now again, and dig ourselves in, and so on.

"At the end of it, of course, comes a lull. We are all right there."

Valley a Blaze of Light. The scene on the river at night was magnificent and appalling beyond words.

"The whole valley was swept with a blaze of searchlights from darkness until dawn. Great beams moved up and down, searching the skies and trenches, and the air was filled with the hum of aeroplanes and the roar of machine guns.

"Here and there a lurid flash revealed the bursting of a shell or a volley of fire, a volley from some concealed position, and over all rolled the peal of a machine gun, a fierce and thrilling accompaniment."

"An incessant rain flooded the great river, making the work of the heroic engineers a task of Herculean proportions."

"This was a battle to the last ounce of strength, in which man and horse poured out their whole lives in a few hours. The fighting was a continuous ebullition and flowing like the tide, seeking high and low, and night and day, until the water until all small boats floated on the surface. These should be skimmed off."

Fashion "Academy" Proposed. Chicago—An American "academy" of fashion design, to establish a national standard of women's fashions, with its headquarters in Chicago, is the plan advanced by manufacturers of women's wear.

The first session of a conference of style "builders" of Chicago, Cleveland and other cities took place during the home exhibition, which opened at the Coliseum Sept. 16.

Officials of the National Coat, Suit and Dress Manufacturers' association are planning to hold a convention at Chicago to fill the vacancy of the national standard of women's fashions, which will direct a display of American-made and Chicago-designed fashions on living space at the exposition.

The problems of the conference embrace not only the standardizing of ornamental suggestions but the grading of styles within the limitations of the standard of charges unequalled in the history of the industry.

The Home exposition is affiliated with 10 of Chicago's women's philanthropic organizations.

STORM WRECKS SHIP

ABOUT 60 MILES SOUTH OF COLUMBIA RIVER OFF THE PACIFIC COAST.

OVER 70 LIVES LOST, TWO SAVED

Terrific Seas Tore Ship to Pieces—Life Boats Forward Soon as They Struck the Water—Captain Jensen Proved a Hero.

Astoria, Ore., Sept. 20.—Between 70 and 80 lives were lost, and only two were rescued, when the steam schooner Francis H. Leggett of San Francisco sank Sept. 18, sixty miles south of the Columbia river.

The steamer sank on one survivor, who told a harrowing tale of how the vessel was torn by terrific seas until suddenly she turned turtle and plunged to the bottom.

The Leggett sank at about 3:15 p. m. Friday 20 miles northwest by north of the Yaquina light off the Oregon coast. Alexander Farrell of Sacramento, the only passenger who was rescued, was a story of brave deeds by passengers and crew in the face of certain death.

Warned by Japanese Cruiser. Captain Mason of the steamer Beaver, who brought in one of the two survivors, says the first he heard of the disaster was about 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning searched by the Japanese cruiser Izumo sent a wireless saying the Leggett had sunk, but did not give the location.

Mason tried for several hours to halt the cruiser to secure further particulars, but the latter would not reply to his wireless calls. However, Captain Mason received a wireless from the Associated Oil tanker Frank H. Buck, saying that he was at the scene, and had rescued one man. The Beaver hastened at once to give assistance, if possible, and from 12:30 until 6 o'clock Saturday morning searched for survivors, but found none. The only things in sight were small pieces of lumber and other debris.

Survivor Is Rescued. While the Beaver was there a small life preserver was seen floating over to the Beaver. The Northland, the Daisy Putnam and El Segno were also in the vicinity, but it is not believed they picked up any one.

The other rescued passenger was George Pullman of Winnipeg, Canada (taken aboard the Buck).

Captain Jensen Was a Hero. Captain J. Jensen of San Francisco, who lost his ship, the Nokomis, off the Mexican coast last spring, was one of the heroes who perished. According to the captain, the crew of the Leggett directed his efforts to try to save the ship. Captain Jensen was delegated the task of controlling the passengers and preventing panic. It is believed that Captain Moro was washed overboard shortly before the ship sank. It was Captain Jensen, Farrell said, who was in charge of a futile attempt to launch two lifeboats, which foundered as soon as they struck the water.

Farrell said that the Leggett carried a full list of passengers, about 40 or 50, while the crew numbered about 25.

Among the passengers were six women, a girl and a boy, including the captain's wife, the mate's wife and the wife of Captain Anderson of the schooner Carrier Dove.

MANY SCHOOL CHILDREN ATTEND COUNTY FAIR
Genesee Sends Large Delegation—Held First Place in Big Parade

In response to an invitation from the fair management and the Moscow Chamber of Commerce, the Genesee schools were adjourned last Friday and all children desired were taken to Moscow in automobiles—the delegation consisting of some 150 children and their teachers, 25 automobiles being chartered for the trip.

The children assembled at the school house at 8 o'clock and the start for Moscow was made as soon thereafter as the machines could be loaded. From the school house the children were taken through town, headed by T. Driscoll, after which the start was made for Moscow, after that place was reached a parade was made over the streets of the city and the machines headed for the fair grounds where the children were unloaded, the majority of them being taken charge of by their teachers.

The children of the various school clubs, were taken to the University, the girls in charge of Miss Baxter and the boys in charge of Supt. Hov. Corn club and heard an address by Dr. Brannon, president of the U. of I. After dinner had been served they were taken to the Chamber of Commerce building where they were met by the children from the fair grounds, where they formed in line for the monster parade of school children in this section of the country.

The parade left the Chamber of Commerce building about 1:30 o'clock headed by the Moscow juvenile band, which was immediately followed by the Genesee school, the Moscow school coming next, and so on down the line many schools being represented. Genesee was given first place in the line on account of it being the largest school and is easily entitled to the prize, although no mention has been made to that effect in the proceedings. After the parade had been finished the children went to the fair grounds where they had the time of their lives. They and the teachers were shown every courtesy by the fair management, which they duly appreciate.

At about 4 o'clock the children assembled at a given point and made ready for the return trip, which was accomplished without accident to any of the children, they reaching home at a good hour in the evening.

Supt. Hov and the teachers of the Genesee school, as well as the children, wish to thank the owners of automobiles who so generously used their cars for taking the children to the fair.

As Brady Sees It
"There is absolutely no reason why Congress should levy a war tax upon the people of the United States at this time, when the United States is not at war, but enjoys peace and prosperity on earth," declared Senator J. H. Brady of Idaho, in commenting upon the Underwood emergency bill, now pending.

A Clean-Up Campaign
Utah has started a "clean-up" campaign and imported State Sanitary and Pure Food Commissioner James H. Wallis of Idaho to start the thing along and advise them how it should be done. It might be a good idea for Idaho to follow suit as soon as Mr. Wallis gets back. While Genesee is all right in its present condition, there are places which might be improved upon. The campaign in Utah is to embrace all the small towns and includes vacant lots, alleys and general clean-up work. The effort to make that state as sanitary as it is possible to do.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING
Miss Frances Moersch and Gus Fickens Married Tuesday at St. Mary's Church

A very pretty church wedding took place at St. Mary's church Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock when Miss Frances Moersch and Gus Fickens were made husband and wife. The Rev. F. F. Bonora performing the ceremony in a very impressive manner, the ring service being used.

It means that more attention must be paid to the problems of the organization of industry—particularly to the distribution of labor; that where the human interests involved are so large the old haphazard methods will not answer.

It means that industries must be encouraged, enterprise rewarded, that these millions of people are to find the work they need; that manufactures must reach out and find foreign markets—in South America and elsewhere.

It means that the population of the United States, increasing at the present rate, should soon fill up and develop all the waste places of the continent; that the era of intensive cultivation and higher efficiency in industry is becoming an economic necessity; that the conservation policy of the government, wisely applied, is likely soon to feel the strain of a great Western population.

It means that big capital and big industries are needed to supply the demands of these millions as economically and as quickly as possible; and that we have the greatest domestic market in the world, all at the disposal of the American producer.

It means democracy on trial on a scale big enough to stagger the imagination—big enough to make its failure a world catastrophe, its success man's greatest political triumph.—Chicago Herald.

LAND HOLDING IN UNITED STATES
If one may believe some figures given out at Washington, Mexico is not the only country in which the land question presents a problem of great difficulty, says the Philadelphia Record. There are parts of the United States in which the situation already seems to have become acute, notably California. Large holdings of land are so rare in the Eastern States that it is difficult for us to realize how far the policy of concentration has been carried in the West.

Under the head of special premiums they captured the John Friedman prize for the best draft horse of the year. There were two prizes in this class, both of which they were awarded.

They also drew down the Geo. W. Fickens prize for the best pair of draft horses shown in harness.

And last, but not least, they were awarded the O. W. R. & N. Railway company's special prize of $25 for the best general display of all classes of livestock exhibited by an individual owner or firm.

EDWARD STELTZ, JR., SEVERELY INJURED

Falls Into Combine—Left Leg Badly Lacerated and Broken—May Save Foot

Edward Steltz, Jr., the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Steltz, was severely injured on Tuesday by falling into the cylinder of a combine thrasher.

It seems that Mr. Steltz was hauling his combine to the shed where it is sheltered during the winter, and as is natural with all boys, young Edward wanted a ride and he climbed upon the machine. During the pull to the shed one of the horses slipped and fell, causing the machine to stop very suddenly, the lad lost his balance and was thrown upon the draper leading to the cylinder. The machine happened to be in gear and the little fellow was carried into the cylinder and his left leg badly mangled and the bone broken squarely off near the ankle before the horses could be stopped.

The flume was shredded from the hip to the knee, skipping the knee, and from just below the knee to the ankle, making a very ugly and dangerous wound. It was thought at first the foot would have to be amputated, but it was decided to wait a few days for developments in the hope that the foot of the unfortunate lad may be saved.

Dr. Tracy was summoned and dressed the wound and Miss Wahl, a trained nurse, is in charge of the case and the little sufferer was made as comfortable as possible under the circumstances.

Death of H. W. Kimbrough
H. W. Kimbrough, father of Mrs. F. E. Lambert, died at his home in Lewiston on Friday morning of last week of heart trouble which had not been in good health for the past few months, no one had any suspicion the end was so near. He had worked as usual on Friday, and while coming home slightly, was feeling as well as usual.

Deceased had always been in the habit of getting up early, but when Mrs. Kimbrough awakened and found that her husband had not yet risen, she thought she would build the fire and allow him to rest, but when later he failed to put in an appearance she went to the room and found him dead, life having been extinct but a short time.

Hawley Speaks at Moscow
Ex-Gov. Hawley, Democratic candidate for United States senator, spoke to a very enthusiastic audience Monday night in Moscow, where it was estimated some 450 voters were in attendance.

Gov. Hawley is a very able lawyer and is considered one of the foremost legal lights in the state and if elected to the position to which he aspires will no doubt fill it with credit to himself and his constituents.

Genesee Wins From Moscow
In the tug-of-war pulled off at the Moscow fair last Friday between picked teams, Genesee had a practical walk-away with their end of the rope. While those from here taking part had no coaching, they won from Moscow easily and walked off with the prize—twenty big, round dollars.

Genesee naturally feels just a little proud this week after the success it had in Moscow. They carried off more than 60 school prizes, won the tug of war against Moscow, and demonstrated the fact that there are some of the best home men to be found in the inland Empire.

Money Tied Up So It's Available

is the way wise builders put theirs into a home. To have it available in a home, you've got to build of material that permits of occasional, refreshing, so that when you want to realize your cash you can deliver your house as good as new. Lumber is the only building material that offers the solution. It can be painted and made to look like new, and "looks" sells property these days. In addition to looks, however, there are many other reasons why lumber is preferable. Come in and we will elucidate and give you facts backed with figures.

Practically all ranchers who have spuds are now busy engaged in digging them. In many places the yield is rather light, due to the extremely dry weather of the past summer.

This part of the country is being treated to as fine weather just now as one could ask for, but the farmers are beginning to wish for more rain in order that they may begin their fall plowing.

The Model Cleaners are now located in the Pickering building, one door west of the shoe shop, and are prepared to do cleaning and pressing for ladies and gents. Satisfaction guaranteed. 10-1f

An easy way to increase the value of your property is to encourage others to increase the value of theirs.

I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 168 pounds. I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." Chamberlain's Tablets are for sale by all dealers.

Affects Wool and Cotton Business

The steady advance in prices of wool and cotton may call a halt in prices later. The result is that now in the face of scarcity of many desirable lines of goods and of extreme demands in prices of many things both foreign and domestic, we are supplied and at prices prevailing before the war.

We advise our patrons to anticipate their needs for fall and winter and do their trading now while stocks are complete, for it will not be long before many stocks are badly depleted and when exhausted cannot be renewed at present prices.

are all combined in the popular-priced, perfect-fitting MUNSING UNDERWEAR for men, women and children. We believe in Munsing underwear, that's why we sell it, and the reason we believe in it is because we know positively that it is honestly made, well finished and reasonably priced. Those who wear it believe in it because they know it really fits the body, really wears long and well, really feels good to the wearer, because you can "forget you got it on." None of the bunched, distressing feeling about Munsing. None of the annoyance due to imperfect making, and you get a real fit, even if you are longer, broader or flatter than ordinary people. It was not chance or luck that caused us to tie up with the Munsing line. It was a decision reached after a careful test and investigation of different kinds of underwear, and we wish to offer our trade only the kind which proved its worth. Ask any Munsing wearer if he or she would wear any other kind, and then get into the great Munsing family of satisfied wearers of the best underwear at any price. Why experiment with the unknown when the proven best is ready to hand? We have laid in a full line, including your size, at the price you feel able to pay.

SCHOOL NOTES

By Irah Larabee

Chester Rogers and Susie Winter enrolled in the Primary room last Monday.

Laura Phipps was a High school visitor on Monday afternoon.

Floyd Rogers entered the fifth grade last Monday.

The regular monthly examinations are being held this week. One month's work has been completed.

The Misses Baxter and Doty returned from Moscow last Saturday afternoon. Miss Waterman arrived Sunday afternoon after a few days' visit with relatives in Moscow. Miss Costello drove overland from Moscow Sunday evening.

Steven Kamibeth entered the Senior class last Monday.

The High School students find the recitation room much more pleasant and comfortable since the arrival of the new recitation benches.

Student translating German: (Let's start with the German and then Grosvenor.) I have a large mother and a large father.

Teacher (in Botany): "Name a seed that contains proteid."

Student: "Egg."

Teacher: "I don't hardly think you'd consider an egg a seed!"

Francis Orth has been absent from school for several days on account of sickness.

The joint institute of Nezperce and Latah counties, will be held at Lewiston next week, during which time the teachers will be absent from the students will enjoy a vacation.

About 150 pupils of the Genesee school enjoyed themselves at the county fair at Moscow last Friday. This was the largest representation the Genesee school has had at the county fair for many years.

The Genesee school was given first place in the big parade, which was considered an honor.

In addition to this over sixty prizes were awarded our pupils.

We extend our heartiest thanks to the citizens who so kindly offered the use of their automobiles to convey the children to and from the fair.

BANKERS AND BETTER FARMING

The average yield per acre of corn in Arkansas has increased 40 per cent in the last few years and the president of the Arkansas Bankers' Association believes this is largely due to the efforts of the banks in encouraging scientific agriculture.

For some years the banks in Arkansas have been offering prizes for boys' corn and potato clubs and girls' tomato clubs. The Bankers' Association gives $150 to the state champion in each of the clubs, and the money is used toward securing an education in one of the four agricultural colleges of the state. One year a crippled boy won the prize, having grown 172 bushels of corn on one acre. Last year a 16-year-old county girl won the tomato club prize. Her record showed that her tomato crop cost her $31.15 her sales amounted to $183.97; her net profits were $152.82. Last year 150 boys attended a tomato school for two weeks in Little Rock, all the expenses being paid by banks, corporations and business firms.

The Arkansas Bankers' Association, its president is quoted as saying, expects to conduct the good work already started, and hopes to produce in the future even more favorable results than in the past. Nothing contributes so much to the general prosperity as good crops, and the banks, no less than other lines of business, are affected seriously by agricultural depression. A realization of this fact has induced many of the banks throughout the country to cooperate cheerfully in movements, for better farming. The American Bankers' Association, through its Agricultural Commission, is lending assistance in practical plans for rural betterment.

Green Feed For Poultry

A supply of green feed for the winter should be looked after now, as eggs and a dry brood crop can be bought cheaper now than later.

Cabbages, beets, and mangels make ideal greens for hens during the winter. Small potatoes are also raised, particularly when the fowls are confined to their indoor quarters.

As soon as it becomes necessary to confine the flock to the house most of the time, provide a deep litter of straw or leaves. Eye straw is best as it is tough and lasts a long time. If nothing else is available corn stalks can be used.

A Chicago paper says South America is sending up a cry for machinery. Good. Do more shipping and less gabbling.

The Opportunity Utilized

"Prisoner," said the judge, "have you anything to say before the sentence of the court is passed upon you?"

"I have, your honor." (Turning to his lawyer.) "You slick fingered, smooth jawed puddin' head! You billy-be-dad-dammed hunk of soap fat! You said you could clear me for $25, and took your money in advance. You ain't got sense enough to be assistant janitor in a corn crib, you don't know as much law as a Texas horned frog; you haven't the moral principle of a owl. Go ahead, judge."—Chicago Tribune.

"Peace is in sight!" says a local prognosticator. Of course. We can see a long ways these days.

Supt. Hov said there had been some criticism because some of the Genesee teachers were not in the parade with their pupils, and he wishes it stated that he himself excused them from taking part on account of having done considerable needed work at the booths and the teachers were tired and did not feel equal to the task, which seems sufficient reason.

It might be stated that Ida Scholer won the championship of Latah county for having taken five first prize on her school work and be entitled to make the usual trip to the state fair at Boise, as has been done in past years, were there going to be a state fair.

Many were the compliments heard in Moscow regarding the splendid exhibit of school work from this city and the splendid showing made by this school in the parade. This is indeed a high compliment to the teachers and pupils of the Genesee school, of which we are all justly proud.

A vote of thanks, signed by the children of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, addressed to Supt. Hov and the school board, has been handed Supt. Hov, thanking them for affording them the splendid trip to Moscow. There is no doubt but that all others who made the trip are fully as appreciative of the trip as those who signed the petition.

This is the most thorough bowel cleanser known and JUST ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. You will be surprised at the QUICK action of Adler-ika. Discuss with Druggist.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

City Fathers Met in Regular Session Monday Night—Routine Business

The regular monthly meeting of the Genesee city council was held on Monday night with all members present and Mayor Nelson in the chair.

Minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read and approved, after which the following bills were audited by the finance committee and warrants ordered drawn for the several amounts:

W. W. P. Co., lights . . . . $76.50
W. W. P. Co., pumping . . . . 30.85
C. F. Burr, suit water . . . . 10.00
C. F. Burr, city clerk . . . . 20.00
A. J. Fitz, salary . . . . 75.00
Louis Steltz, road work . . . . 6.00
J. E. Moore, sprinkling and road work . . . . 42.00
Standard Lbr. Co., lumber . . . 7.65
Follett Bros. Merc. Co., mdse. 15.00
J. R. Wells, drayage . . . . 6.70
W. B. Armstrong, watchman at fr. . . . 3.00

The improvement society asked the city to donate a ton of coal, which request was complied with.

The question of roofing the reservoir with galvanized iron was again taken up and discussed and it was finally decided to ascertain the amount of iron needed, and ask for bids on same. The work will be taken up just as soon as the necessary arrangements are completed as the reservoir is badly in need of a new covering. Genesee has the reputation of having the very best water in this part of the country and it is the desire of the councilmen to keep the water as free from foreign matter as is possible, thereby retaining its purity.

After discussion other matters of importance to the city the council adjourned.

Quiet Church Wedding

On Tuesday morning at 6.30 o'clock, at St. Mary's Catholic church, occurred the marriage of Miss Bertha Baumgartner and John Kluss, Rev. Fr. F. Bonora performing the ceremony the ring service being used.

Miss Kluss, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, while George Baumgartner, brother of the bride, was best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy pair and invited guests went to the home of Grandma Baumgartner where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served.

The bride and groom are both young people of fine character and have innumerable friends who, with the News, wish them health, wealth and happiness through life.

The newlywed pair left early this morning for Spokane and other points on a short honeymoon trip.

Name Your Home

Isn't it embarrassing to be advertising some other fellow's home every time you see the name come in the News office and get some neat stationery printed. Our job department is ready to turn out some of the nicest letterheads and envelopes you ever saw for our farmer friends, and at reasonable prices, too.

Progressive Speaking

There will be a public speaking at the Ingles school house on Wednesday evening, October 14, under the auspices of the progressive party of Nezperce county. A Mr. Terry will be the speaker of the evening and will be followed by others from Lewiston and other points. The Progressives are advocating a wide prohibition and county government. All are cordially invited to attend and hear what these gentlemen have to say.

G. I. S. Meeting

The Genesee Improvement society held their regular monthly meeting Saturday afternoon, Mrs. B. H. Scholer, vice-president, presided. The regular monthly bills were allowed and a few plans were discussed but nothing definite was done at this time. The next regular meeting will be held Nov. 7, at which time it is hoped some definite plans for the winter's work will be formulated.

The fellow who has nothing to lose is always losing something.

"DON'T DO THAT"

How many times have you heard a father or mother command a boy in the words "Don't do that!" How often our fathers and mothers prohibited us from doing this and that? And right away the desire to do the prohibited thing grew stronger than ever. It's human nature. We don't change much in this respect even when we grow older. That, perhaps, is why it is so hard to completely enforce certain laws against habits, such as cigarette smoking or the use of liquor. Shortly after the anti-cigarette law was passed in Indiana many persons began smoking cigarettes just because the state's command "don't do that" lent a certain piquancy to the satisfaction of smoking. And everyone has heard of the persons who, never really feel that they want a drink, but who, the moment they come into dry territory become seized with a parching thirst.

But parents are learning. So are governments and lawmakers. The world moves on. The part that is moving fastest is the rural district. The young man on the farm is being given his chance.

The Federal government—Old Uncle Sam, himself—is looking out for the farmer boys and girls and paying big salaries to experts and specialists who know how to make country life interesting as well as profitable. Nowadays the farmer boy seldom hears the common "Don't do that." He is told to DO and shown how to do it. His education is being turned into a game which he plays with almost the same ardor as he used to play hockey in the old "don't do that" days. In the last generation a boy who might want to build a bird-house, for instance, would be bidden to exercise his budding architectural genius in constructing the woodpile. Now the federal government encourages him to build bird-houses and will show him how. The Department of Agriculture's farmer's bulletin 609 is entitled "Bird Houses and How to Build Them." It is as fascinating as any of the how-to-do-things articles we read in Golden Days. The Boy's Own Book, St. Nicholas or Harper's Young People when we were youngsters. Send for it—or better yet—let your boy send for it. It's free—and let him build his bird-houses this winter. The importance of birds as insect destroyers is supreme. And there is a decided movement to make neighbors of them. Many birds, if furnished with a safe retreat, will more than pay their rent to their landlords.

Ever Try It

A farmer tells us that he practically rid his farm of gophers by the use of gasoline. He carries a bottle of kerosene in a tin can, and when he sees a gopher running in a hole he pours some gasoline upon a wad of cotton and places it at the mouth of the hole. The gas fumes are heavier than air and go to the bottom of the hole. In an attempt to get air, the gopher comes to the top of the hole and the gas does the rest. Remove cotton in about half an hour and Mr. Gopher will be dead. The plan will apply to many other burrowing animals.

At The Opera House

On Wednesday night Helm showed to a good-sized audience, giving them five reels of good pictures at mid-week reduced price.

On Friday night (tonight), occurs the big "Stormy Weather" dance, which is something new and novel. Mr. Helm has arranged for special electrical effects during the evening. The general public is invited.

On tomorrow (Saturday) night the big 1914 Walla Walla Frontier Days picture will be presented. This is one of the best of the "roundup" pictures being exhibited, and shows the festivities complete. Seeing this picture is equal to having been on the ground and witnessed the performance itself. There will be no advance in prices for this big feature show—Saturday night.

There will be a home-talent play given in the opera house on Friday night, October 16th.

The Musical Shirleys will appear here on October 19th. This company of musicians is one of the best independent ensembles traveling.

There will be a big dance on Halloween night for the benefit of the local fire company, the proceeds to be used in buying new paraphernalia.

Alexander and Others Will Speak

Hon. T. A. Walters, democratic candidate for attorney general, and Hon. Frank L. Moore, democratic candidate for prosecuting attorney, will speak at the Genesee school house on Monday night, October 12, beginning at 7:30, to which meeting the general public is cordially invited. These men will speak on national, state and county issues and will expect to have something of interest to say to the people.

On Monday afternoon, October 19, beginning at 2 o'clock, Hon. M. Alexander, democratic candidate for this community and asks that all come out and hear something of interest to them. Mr. Alexander has a remedy for high taxation which he wishes to explain at this time.

Short Course In Dairying

The University of Idaho, in addition to the four years course in Dairying, is offering a six months' course in practical dairying, beginning October 12 and closing March 12, 1915. This course is especially planned to meet the demand of those who wish to acquire a knowledge of practical dairying. Instruction will be given in Butter and Cheese Making, Factory Management, Dairy Engineering, Dairy Bacteriology, Testing Dairy Products and Milk production. The University of Idaho is in operation throughout the year and offers splendid laboratory facilities for the student. By special arrangement the work will be arranged with students coming in from other parts of the state as soon as convenient. Bulletins of this course may be secured by writing to the Department of Dairying, Moscow, Idaho.

E. V. LILLINGTON,
Professor of Dairying,
University of Idaho.

Very Much Related

When Mrs. Katie M. Welsh, 42 years old, of Pontiac, Ill., became the wife of Luther G. Welsh, 66, of Littleton, father of her divorced husband, she started a new middle in relationship. By her first marriage she had a son, Jay Welsh, now married and the father of a daughter, Viola. By her second marriage Mrs. Welsh became step-mother to her divorced husband from whom she got a decree two years ago. She is step-grandmother of her own son, step-mother if herself, grandmother of her step-grandmother of Viola Welsh, daughter of her son by her first marriage. If she has any children by her recent marriage she will be not only their mother, but also their sister-in-law.

Gatherings That Pay

A new kind of farm activity has come into being and it bids fair to push the big time of threshing meetings into the discard. It is the picnic of filling the silo. The silo cutting and filling requirements of several men and already we see how our neighborly farmers will in a few years be trading work in silo filling while the farm wives will each conspire to build a new hat. It is pleasant in the memories of the silo men. Such filling is going to fit into that play spell time of the farmer that comes after harvest and "afare corn shuckin'."

Teachers Entertain Parents.

Last Thursday evening the teachers gave a party for the parents of all the school children in attendance at the public school. Over 200 invitations were sent out. The parents were made most welcome and an interesting program was carried out in the high school auditorium.

Supt. Hov made an informal talk on cooperation of parents and teachers, making an earnest plea for the parents to visit the various school rooms and become better acquainted with the work being done there. In this way only can parents really come in touch with the class room work. The musical numbers on the program were rendered by the Misses Ada and Ida Scholer, Miss Frances Orth and Miss Irah Larabee. Miss Orth, who has charge of the primary grade, gave an entertaining reading. After the program delightful refreshments of cake, wafers and coffee were served in the main hall by Miss Costello and Miss Schloser.

It was a most enjoyable and profitable evening for all those in attendance, and the teachers are deserving of much credit for the way in which the entire program was conducted.

A Factory On The Farm

A silo is a factory on the farm and the more ready to co-operation of the farmer and agricultural interests. The farmer gets the profit of both producer and consumer.

We need more of these twin agencies of prosperity on the farms of Idaho and business men cannot render a better service to their communities than in encouraging the building of silos. The silo is a great business educator. It arouses the spirit of enterprise, develops business ingenuity and awakens the joy of ownership.

A farmer can build a silo for two or three times as much as he can buy a dividend of 40 per cent where it is run to capacity.

Drag The Roads

Reports come in that where the roads have been dragged they are in excellent condition, but that where they have not been dragged they are in rather a rough and rutty condition. It is up to the ranchers as well as the road overseer to see to it that the roads in front of his ranch are dragged at the proper time. It is money in his pocket to do so, for the more they are dragged at the proper time the better they will be during the winter and spring, when good roads are a necessity.

It should be remembered that it is necessary to keep the roads in a passable condition on rural routes as they are dragged at an angle of about 45 degrees. The driver should ride on the drag and should not drive faster than a walk. One round trip, each trip straddling a wheel track, is usually sufficient to fill the ruts and smooth the surface. If necessary, the road should be dragged after every bad spell of weather, when the soil is in proper condition to pull well and not adhere to the drag. The road is very bad, it may be dragged when very wet and again when it begins to dry out. A few trips over the road will give the operator an idea as to the best time to drag. Drag at all seasons, but do not drag a dry road.

The slope or crown of an earth road should be about 1 inch to the foot. If the crown becomes too high it may be reduced by dragging toward the ditch instead of from it. If the drag cuts too much, shorten the hitch and change your position on the drag. If it is necessary to protect the face of the drag with a strip of iron, it should be placed flush with the edge of the drag and not projecting. A cutting edge should be avoided, as the main object in dragging is to smear the damp soil into position.

If Turkey gets too promiscuous in this international wallow she may find herself furnishing the spread for some other nation's Thanksgiving dinner.

The youngest daughter of Percy Kincaid, who resides near Lenville, fell from a horse she was riding, Sunday, breaking one of her arms.

Arthur Butzlein, who has been suffering with blood poisoning for several months, is improving slowly.

New Dray Line

George Bershaw and Ray Edwards have started a new dray line in Genesee, with headquarters at Edwards & Son. Messrs. Bershaw and Edwards are two well known young men of this community. They have secured good teams and wagons and are prepared to do a general dray business.

The new cut-off through the Taylor place has been opened to the public. While the probability of the road will be a little soft for a while, it will eventually become hardened and will be a big improvement over the old road, which was several feet lower than the fields on either side.

Watermelons

Tuesday night the Rebekah order received a special invitation from Mrs. Fred Lambert to be in attendance at the lodge session, as she was to be hostess and intended serving refreshments. "The last of the season". Much curiosity was aroused and as Mrs. Lambert's ability as a hostess are well known, all attendance of lodge members resulted. They were not disappointed either for luscious watermelons grown on Frank Lambert's ranch, equalling those grown in the sunny south, were served in abundance.

IMPORTANCE OF ROAD MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR

There is no phase of the road problem more important than that of maintenance. The general impression that there are certain types of roads that are permanent is erroneous. No permanent road has ever been constructed, or ever will be, according to the road specialists of the department. The only things about a road that may be considered permanent are the grading, culverts and bridges. Roads constructed by the most skillful highway engineers will soon be destroyed by the traffic, frost, rain and wind, unless they are properly maintained. But the life of these roads may be prolonged by systematic maintenance. A poor road will not only be improved by proper maintenance, but may become better in time than a good road without it.

The first and last commandment in earth road maintenance is to keep the surface well drained. To insure good drainage the ditches should be kept open, all obstructions removed, and a smooth crown maintained. Except for very stony soil the road surface or crown may be used very effectively for this work. The machine should be used once or twice a year, and the work should be done when the soil is damp so that it will not become too hard and crust. Wide and shallow ditches should be maintained with sufficient fall and capacity to dispose of surface water. These ditches can be most effectively maintained and repaired with a ditch machine.

All vegetable matter, such as sods and weed, should be kept out of the road, as they make a spongy surface which retains moisture. Clods are also objectionable, for they soon turn to dust or mud, and for that reason roads should never be worked when dry or hard. Boulders or loose stones are equally objectionable, as a smooth surface is to be secured.

A split-log or some similar device is very useful in maintaining the surface after suitable ditches and cross sections have once been made. This drag can also be used to advantage on a gravel road as well as on an earth road. The principle involved in dragging is that clays and most heavy soils will pull when wet and set very hard when dry. The little attention that the earth road needs must be given promptly and at the proper time if the best results are to be obtained. In dragging roads only a small amount of earth is moved, just enough to fill the ruts and depressions with a thin layer of plastic clay or earth which packs very hard so that the next rain instead of finding ruts, depressions and clods in which to collect runs off, leaving the surface but little affected.

The drag should be light and should be dragged at an angle of about 45 degrees. The driver should ride on the drag and should not drive faster than a walk. One round trip, each trip straddling a wheel track, is usually sufficient to fill the ruts and smooth the surface. If necessary, the road should be dragged after every bad spell of weather, when the soil is in proper condition to pull well and not adhere to the drag. The road is very bad, it may be dragged when very wet and again when it begins to dry out. A few trips over the road will give the operator an idea as to the best time to drag. Drag at all seasons, but do not drag a dry road.

MANY YEARS SERVICE

C. F. Burr Has Served As Notary Public for Twenty-four Years

C. F. Burr is perhaps the oldest notary public in point of service in Latah county, he having served continuously for 24 years, and will, if nothing untoward happens, serve out another four years, having been recently reappointed for that length of term by Gov. Haines, his new commission dating from October 8, 1914.

Mr. Burr has a collection of commissions that will compare well with many collections of other curios and of which he is justly proud. His first commission was issued by George I. Shoop, then governor of the Territory of Idaho, and bears the date of September 25, 1889.

The next was issued by Gov. W. J. McConnell, and bears the date of September 22, 1893; the third commission was issued by Gov. Frank Steunenberg on September 20, 1897. Ex-Gov. Steunenberg is perhaps one of the best remembered governors the state has ever had on account of his having been assassinated by Harry Orchard.

The fourth commission was issued on October 8, 1902, by Gov. Frank W. Hunt; the fifth by Gov. Frank R. Gooding on October 8, 1906, the sixth by Gov. James H. Brady, now candidate for the United States senate, on October 8, 1910, and the last, as stated, by Gov. Haines, dated October 8, 1914.

Along with his record as a notary public, Mr. Burr has a few other evidences of his staying qualities. He has occupied the building he now uses as an office for the past 26 years (and expects to occupy it for at least 26 years longer.) He has been a justice of the peace for 25 years, a city clerk of the City of Genesee continuously for the past 14 years. At the time of the organization of the town of Genesee, in the fall of 1889 he was elected city clerk.

While Mr. Burr is no spring chicken, he is perhaps the youngest man in Latah county for his age—at which we do not even guess. However, we might state that no gray hairs adorn his head.

European War Affects Wool and Cotton Business

The steady advance in prices of wool and cotton may call a halt in prices later. The result is that now in the face of scarcity of many desirable lines of goods and of extreme demands in prices of many things both foreign and domestic, we are supplied and at prices prevailing before the war.

We advise our patrons to anticipate their needs for fall and winter and do their trading now while stocks are complete, for it will not be long before many stocks are badly depleted and when exhausted cannot be renewed at present prices.

are all combined in the popular-priced, perfect-fitting MUNSING UNDERWEAR for men, women and children. We believe in Munsing underwear, that's why we sell it, and the reason we believe in it is because we know positively that it is honestly made, well finished and reasonably priced. Those who wear it believe in it because they know it really fits the body, really wears long and well, really feels good to the wearer, because you can "forget you got it on." None of the bunchy, distressing feeling about Munsing. None of the annoyance due to imperfect making, and you get a real fit, even if you are longer, broader or flatter than ordinary people. It was not chance or luck that caused us to tie up with the Munsing line. It was a decision reached after a careful test and investigation of different kinds of underwear, and we wish to offer our trade only the kind which proved its worth. Ask any Munsing wearer if he or she would wear any other kind, and then get into the great Munsing family of satisfied wearers of the best underwear at any price. Why experiment with the unknown when the proven best is ready to hand? We have laid in a full line, including your size, at the price you feel able to pay.

USELESS AND EXPENSIVE

Present Primary Law Is Drain on County and State

While politicians of the various parties are making the rounds telling how taxes will be reduced should their particular party be placed in power—or by continuing to remain in power—there has been never a word said regarding the repeal of the present primary law, the repeal of which would save the taxpayers of the state many thousands of dollars.

Have you ever for a moment figured the expense of holding a primary election under the present law? The chances are you have not. If not, get a copy of the report of the session of the board of county commissioners held on September 15 and look it over.

It cost a little better than $150 a vote for each one cast in the two Genesee precincts, and there are places in the county where the cost ran up to two or three dollars for each vote cast.

It would seem that if some real long-headed politician would pledge the repeal of this useless and expensive law and could accomplish the feat he would really be saving the county and state many thousands of dollars which the taxpayers must pay and would receive the everlasting gratitude of those who have to foot the bill.

Word has been received at this office from the Hon. Burton L. French that he will be unable to stamp the state as he had previously planned on account of the continuation of congress longer than had been anticipated.

Mr. French's letter follows: "It is now very apparent that I shall be denied the opportunity of making a personal trip through the state in behalf of the Republican state ticket, before the general election in November. While not successful in my candidacy for United States Senator, I am deeply interested in the success of our ticket and would like to have had the opportunity of canvassing the state in its behalf as well as to advocate the election of the successful senatorial candidate, Hon. James H. Brady.

"Senator Brady has worked earnestly and faithfully to represent the state during the two years that he has been in the Senate and occupies a conspicuous place, even at this time, upon committees of the Senate and in the estimation of his colleagues.

"I am dropping you this line that you may remind any who may be interested that the reason why I am not campaigning the state is because of the prolonged session of the Congress."

Later advices have been received from Washington that Mr. French is ill of kidney trouble in Washington, and while no definite word has been received as to the seriousness of his illness, his friends in Latah county are very much concerned as to his condition and will anxiously await the outcome of his present illness.

Nels Flamee has purchased 80 acres of land five miles north of Genesee of Adolf Carlson for a consideration of $6,000.

Spoke Monday Night
Hon. T. A. Walters, democratic candidate for attorney general of Idaho, and Frank L. Moore, democratic candidate for prosecuting attorney, were in the city and delivered addresses at the opera house Monday night to a fair-sized audience.

Mr. Walters took up the subject of state and national policies while Mr. Moore handled the county end of the program. Mr. Walters is a pleasing speaker and handled the state issues without gloves, declaring for lower taxes, stating that if the party is put in power the drain on the state treasury will be lessened to a great degree.

While Mr. Moore had very little to say regarding the present republican office holders, he did state that if his party were put in power the county taxes would be very materially reduced. The exact remedy was not given but it was presumed he had some sort of scheme figured out whereby the county expense would be reduced to a minimum.

Don't Hold Eggs Too Long

The department of agriculture advises the farmer who specializes in marketing eggs to market his products frequently. The farmer of one makes use of an egg case in which to keep his eggs and carry them to market. Sometimes he owns the case and sometimes it is furnished by the storekeeper. Often the case is one holding 30 dozen eggs, and as there is a tendency to wait until the case is filled, which takes considerable time with the average-sized flock, before taking it to market, the quality of some of the eggs will have suffered appreciably. Fifteen-dozen size cases are also used for this purpose and are much preferable, as they encourage more frequent marketing.

Another factor which influences the frequency of marketing is the distance of the farm from the village or country store. The greater the distance, the less often are the trips made, and consequently the less convenient it is to market eggs frequently.

The department has made investigations on 90 Kansas farms to discover how the distance from the village influences the frequency of marketing eggs. Twenty six of the farmers sent their eggs twice a week to market, 61 sent them once a week, and 3 only once in two weeks.

EDWARD STELTZ SUCCUMBS

Little Boy Passes To Great Beyond After Week of Suffering

One of the saddest deaths that has ever occurred in this vicinity was that of little Edward Steltz. The little fellow could not withstand the shock of the serious accident that befell him six days before when he fell into the cylinder of a combine thrasher. On Monday morning at 3 o'clock he passed quietly into the presence of Him who said "Suffer little children to come unto me for of such is the kingdom of heaven". Edward Steltz jr., was born February 4, 1909, and died October 5, 1914, making him 5 years, 8 months and 1 day old at the time of his death. His sunny disposition and winsome ways endeared him to all who knew him. His last illness was borne with childish fortitude. Being an only child his loss will be all the heavier to the bereaved parents.

The funeral was conducted from the home on Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Rev. A. P. Orth officiating. Beautiful flowers were sent by sympathizing friends in such abundance that the entire casket was covered and it was lowered into a flower lined cemented vault. Interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the friends and neighbors who so liberally furnished automobiles, beautiful flowers and rendered assistance in any way during our late bereavement.

FACTS ABOUT STATE BEE INSPECTOR

In his speech at Montpelier recently, Mose Alexander, in his effort to make it appear that the Republican "machine" at Boise had created the office or the sole purpose of filling the vacant office rooms in the new capitol building, declared that a Republican legislature had created the office of "state bee inspector" and gave him a salary and expense account of something like $5,000 a year.

Now let us see what the facts in this case are. By referring to the revised statutes of the state, we find that the legislature of 1905 (that was long before the new capitol building was finished) passed a bill making the state horticultural inspector ex-officio state bee inspector. So we have had a bee inspector for the past nine years. Coming down the line we find among the bills passed by the Eleventh session of the legislature, one providing for the appointment of deputy bee inspectors at salaries of $5.00 a day for each day actually and necessarily employed.

That bill was passed by a Republican legislature, it is true, but who signed it? Why, James H. Hawley a Democrat, who was then governor. Furthermore, among the appropriations of the Eleventh session of the legislature, we find this item: "For other expenses of the state board of horticulture of every kind whatsoever, including expenses of deputy bee inspectors, $20,000." Who signed that appropriation bill? James H. Hawley, a democrat, who was then governor.

It is true Hawley vetoed some of the bills of the legislature, but the legislature, but the item of $5,000 for bee inspection evidently met with his favor as he failed to strike it from the bill at the time he was vetoing other items.

So the facts in the case are, a Republican legislature did not create the office of bee inspector just to fill up a vacant room in the new capitol building. "Y" understand. The state bee inspector is also state horticulture inspector and has been ever since the passage of the law in 1905. "Y" understand.

With reference to the deputy bee inspectors they can only be employed upon "application of the president or secretary of any bee association, if there be one, or upon the petition of three bee keepers of any county".

And they are paid only for days which they are actually employed. "Y" understand.

Mose Alexander knows what the law is on this question, and he is cunning enough to know that the average citizen doesn't know the provisions of the law, so with his characteristic waving of hands he tells his audience that the Republicans created the office of state bee inspector, and gives that as one of the causes of our present high taxes.

There is no doubt chuckles inwardly with glee while he is parading this bugaboo before the people, for he knows that he is fooling most of them, but it is votes that Mose wants and he is using with which to catch flies, or in other words, to catch the uninformed and unthinking voter.—Montpelier Examiner.—Paid advertisement.

School work is again resumed after a week's vacation which was enjoyed by all.

The first parents and teachers meeting was held at the school house a week ago Thursday evening.

A short program was given consisting of musical numbers, readings and informal talk. After this, a delicious lunch was served by the faculty. The manual training and reception rooms were visited by the parents and all spoke highly of the appearance of the rooms.

Henry Esser, Mabel and Johnnie Kimberling entered the 6th grade Monday morning making a total enrollment of 31.

Twenty-one pupils in the 6th grade received their quarter holiday last month.

Paul Hanson received the highest number of hours in home credit work, having a total of 29 hours and 45 minutes.

Ella Rasmussen entered the Primary room Monday morning. Fifty-two pupils from the primary department received their quarter holidays last month.

The third grade boasts of two new pupils, Hazel Halmann, Kimberling and Alfred Heppner. In the second and third grades 15 quarter holidays were granted. Twenty students in the fourth and fifth grades received their quarter holidays.

Mr. J. T. Nelson visited the manual training classes Monday and seemed very much pleased with the work that is being done.

Steven Kambing entered the Senior class last week. Lewis Comb enrolled in the Sophomore class on Monday morning.

Lola Bumpass and Frank Lawton entered the 8th grade Monday of this week.

At the county fair in Moscow two weeks ago, Gertrude Sampson was awarded first prize on needle case, Alta McCracken, third prize on sewing bag, Hazel Halmann, first on stocking and second on darning patch, Amsel Jain, third on gingham patch, Ruth Wheeler, first on stitches, Hattie Schornhorn, first on towel, second on pillow case and second on stitches, Norma Moore, first on stitches and second on towel.

Gladys Jain, the Freshmen president, presented their class pennant at the High school assembly last Monday afternoon.

Louise Jacobs has resumed her school work after a week's visit with her parents at Lewiston.

Irma Lambert spent last week visiting relatives at Lewiston.

The first month of this school year has been very good. The attendance has been large and exceptionally regular. Very few tardiness and absences.

Miss Doty has had but one case of tardiness and the percentage of attendance for the whole month was 97 per cent. Only five pupils received below 90 in department.

Miss Baxter has had five cases of tardiness and 97.08 per cent attendance.

Miss Schlosser had five cases of tardiness and a perfect attendance of 37.

Miss Costello has had an attendance of 97 per cent and three cases of tardiness.

Miss Waterman has had almost perfect attendance and two cases of tardiness.

Only seven of the tardiness cases have been caused by town pupils.

Basket ball practice for both boys and girls teams began in earnest last Tuesday, Mr. King acting as coach. The schedule for games is already being made out.

Senator Brady Expected

Senator James H. Brady, republican candidate to succeed himself in the United States Senate, will address the people of Moscow and vicinity on Thursday, October 13, when it is expected he will explain many things the voters of this county would like to know. In all probability Mr. Brady will come to Genesee for a short time on that day but will be unable to make an address here, much as he would like to. His time is short and he expects to cover a large portion of the state.

JUDGE EDGAR C. STEELE

Who has been Presiding Judge of this district for sixteen years and who is a non-partisan candidate for re-election as district judge.

Names of candidates for judicial office do not appear in any party column on the official ballot, but in a separate column, headed: "Non-partisan Judicial Candidate."

The voter, after voting his or her party ticket, should, in order to vote for the re-election of Judge Steele, pass to this separate column and place an (X) in the circle following his name.

"War Taxes," No War—Brady

Even the most casual observer of conditions, when he begins to pay "war taxes" without any war in his own country to back them up, will find with more appreciation and understanding the portion of Senator Brady's address at Twin Falls in which he said:

"The Democratic party told the people of Idaho that they were going to practice economy and reduce the high cost of living. The only thing they have reduced is the revenue of the United States government. The revenue has fallen off at a rate as high as $19,000,000 a month before the European war commenced and they were facing a deficit of $100,000,000 even if there had never been a war on the other side of the ocean. Leaders of the Democratic party commenced to talk war tax, and the first gun had scarcely been fired before they proposed a revenue bill—they call it a war tax; they are attempting to saddle an additional burden of $100,000,000 on the people of this nation under the name of a war tax."

It is not a war tax, it is a Democrat's tax, and those taxes will be shown so plainly to the voters of this country that the stamp of disapproval will be placed upon the Democratic party in November for their incompetency and extravagance.

To All Parties

The News wishes to impress upon the minds of candidates and others that its columns are open for the announcement of political meetings of all parties, for which there will be no charge. Being the only paper published in Genesee we do not wish to antagonize any one and are trying to make the News as nearly independent in politics as it is possible to do.

It is quite natural that readers of all papers expect something to be said about politics at this time, but being a stranger to Idaho politics and to many of the candidates we have nothing to say against any one—no matter what we may say in favor of others.

If you have any announcements for political meetings of any kind, bring or send them to this office and they will be published free of charge.

Alexander to Speak Monday
Hon. M. Alexander, democratic candidate for governor, will speak in the opera house on Monday afternoon at 2:30. Mr. Alexander is a very pleasing speaker and is a man who makes friends wherever he goes. He says he has many things to tell the republicans as well as the democrats of this county.

Will F. Morgareidge and others will also address the public in the opera house on Wednesday night, October 21, beginning at 7:30.

If you must talk—talk about the weather—not your neighbors.

HAS MADE GOOD RECORD IN OFFICE

Postmaster General Burleson Would Change Rural Routes To Star Routes

Washington, D. C., October 14—The announcement that Postmaster General Burleson favors a change in the rural delivery system whereby carriers will have to bid for the work and obtain it by bidding lower than any one else, is causing great apprehensions among rural carriers all over the country. This is the old star-route system revived. Under it, the bidder would no doubt be allowed to take on as many contracts as he could handle, and every rural carrier would become the employe of the contractor, instead of Uncle Sam as he is now.

In time, the contractor would become a big corporation which would fix the compensation of the men who do the work $800 to $850 a year, instead of $1,000 to $1,200 which the Government now pays them direct, and the contractor would get rich on the work of the carriers. The contractor would come into the automobile, horse or wagon and the carrier would become a mere driver.

Postmaster General Burleson is doing his best to transfer the parcel post into a freight post. Mail-order houses under such a rule would soon be delivering a bundle of shingles by mail. The weight of the parcel has already been raised to 50 pounds for certain zones, and Mr. Burleson now wants to raise the limit to 100 pounds.

The threatened change to 100 pounds, postal experts say, would certainly not be a move to bring the farmers nearer their market, but one to build up the big cities at the expense of the country districts.

Many Candidates In Town

Aside from the speakers at Monday night's meeting—Hon. T. A. Walters, democratic candidate for attorney general of Idaho, and Frank L. Moore of Moscow, democratic candidate for prosecuting attorney, Mrs. Rosalind A. Childers, candidate for county superintendent of public instruction, Miss Ruth C. Broman, candidate for county treasurer, Jasper J. Campbell, candidate for Sheriff, and P. P. Nolan, candidate for county commissioner of the First district—all democrats, were in the city looking after their political fences and attended the democratic meeting.

Another delegation—all republicans—consisting of W. S. Robbins, candidate for sheriff, Ernest Randall, candidate for county treasurer, Theo. E. Martinson, candidate for assessor, Homer E. Estes, candidate for recorder and Harry A. Thatcher, were in the city interviewing friends and incidentally electing a little.

Those out "gunning" for candidates had no difficulty in locating their game.

Dray Line Changes Hands

Follett & Scholer have purchased from J. R. Wells his dray line and business and will in future operate same from their barn in this city, the change of business having taken place on Thursday of this week.

The new owners will thoroughly overhaul the equipment and put everything in first-class shape for the proper handling of all classes of dray and delivery work. Any comment as to their reliability, etc., is unnecessary as they are among the best known business men of the town.

Mr. Wells has been in the dray business here for many years and retires feeling that he has served his time in the business. Just what he intends doing in future is not known at this time.

In this issue of the News will be found the announcement of Hon. James H. Brady for United States Senator. While this is no news to the general public, your attention is respectfully called to the fact that Mr. Brady is now within the state looking after his political interests having gotten leave of absence from his duties at Washington.

Surveyors from Lewiston last week made a preliminary survey for a new road on the reservation which will connect with the main road near the New Gray Eagle school. This road, if laid out according to the survey, will accommodate some ten or twelve ranchers, giving them a much needed outlet for their hauling.

There are none so blind as those who cannot see their own faults.

The steady advance in prices of wool and cotton may call a halt in prices later. The result is that now in the face of scarcity of many desirable lines of goods and of extreme demands in prices of many

We advise our patrons to anticipate their needs for fall and winter and do their trading now while stocks are complete, for it will not be long before many stocks are badly depleted and when exhausted

"In the receiving of awards made by the Latah County Fair in which the public school of Latah county competed, the fact was emphasized particularly in the splendid showing made by the Genesee school on Friday of fair week, not alone in its participation in the exhibits but likewise in number. The Genesee school sent 25 automobiles loaded with school children, representing comprising 75 per cent of its public school attendance, its entire corps of teachers, its entire board of trustees, all the school children club advisors including the members of the boys and girls' clubs numbering 200 which were entertained by the domestic science department of the university under direction of Miss Hoover.

HOME TALENT PLAY

One of the Most Pleasant Entertainments of the Season

The entertainment given by the young people in the Opera house Friday evening was a decided success both financially and as furnishing an evening of first class entertainment. The entire program was in the hands of home talent players.

The first part of the program was of a musical nature and was made up of the following numbers: Vocal solo, Laura Phipps, vocal solo, Derald Springer, a song by a trio composed of Laura Phipps, Irah Larrabee and Adah Scholer, a violin solo by Frances Orth and a vocal solo by Fred Bayless. This was followed by a catchy song and led given by a chorus of young ladies costumed in clown suits.

Colored lights were used in the presentation of this drill. Little Miss Laura Martin followed this drill by a catchy song and dance. A vocal solo by Edwin Smolt closed the musical part of the program.

Last but not least was one-act farce, entitled "A Case of Duplicity". The characters in this were well represented by Misses Frieda Meyer and Ruth Martinson and Edwin Scholer.

All together the parts were well taken and the young people are deserving of much credit for the high class entertainment furnished.

M. Alexander Addresses Public

Hon. M. Alexander, candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, spoke to a fair sized audience at the Opera house in Genesee, Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. On Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, he spoke to a large audience at the fair grounds.

He spoke to the early hour, the audience being but as large as it should have been but it was a fair representation of business men and taxpayers.

Mr. Alexander was introduced in a very happy manner by John Larson. Before the reading of the question of taxation and presented his views in a clear and comprehensive manner. It had been six years since he was here before and he complimented the taxpayers of Latah county, in that it was one of the few counties in Idaho that had voted for lower taxes, while the state taxes had been increasing 40 per cent annually.

The speaker urged that the time had come when the question of state taxes must be made the paramount issue and the state taxes returned to a level in line with the other counties, towns, road and school districts follow the same example in practicing economy and thus furnish relief to the taxpayers.

"This in Dinwiddie County, Va., for example, where peanuts are one of the staple crops, the average load for two mules on a main road was about 1,000 pounds before the road was improved. After its improvement the average load was found to be 2,000 pounds, and the time consumed in hauling the larger load to market was much reduced. In other words, one man with a wagon and two mules could do more than twice as much work with the improved road than with an unimproved road. This is the explanation of the extraordinary rise in the total output of agricultural products in a county with a good road system.

Mr. Alexander was hostess last Thursday afternoon to the Progressive Needle Workers club. Every club member with the exception of Mrs. Ed Abernathy, who is out of town, was in attendance. The ladies spent the afternoon with fancy work any to social converse. A splendid three course luncheon was served by the hostess. Miss Louisa May Herman was a guest of the club. The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. M. Herman on Thursday afternoon, October 29.

Mrs. W. E. Smith was hostess to the Monday afternoon club. The members are reading and reviewing "In the Eyes of the World" the latest book by Harold Bell Wright, and find it very interesting.

Mrs. L. B. Duvall who has been a visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Adams, for the past three weeks returned Thursday to her home at Bonners Ferry, Idaho.

Your attention is called to the ticket as it will appear on the official ballot at the coming election. You will find it on page 4 of this issue.

GOOD ROADS AS CROP PRODUCERS

That an improved road will increase vastly the productiveness of the area through which it runs has now been satisfactorily demonstrated by studies conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture in Virginia. Conditions in Spotsylvania County were investigated in particular care, and the results have proved surprising. In 1909 the county voted $100,000 to improve 40 miles of roads. Two years after the completion of this work the road took over 12 months from Fredericksburg, the county seat, 71,000 tons of agricultural and other products hauled over the highways to that town. Before the improvement of the roads this was only 49,000 tons annually in other words, the quantity of the county's produce had risen more than 45 per cent. Still more interesting however, is the increase shown in the quantity of the dairy products. In 1909 these amounted to 114,815 pounds, in 1911 to 273,208 pounds, an increase of practically 140 per cent. In the same time shipments of wheat had increased 59 per cent, tobacco 31 per cent, and lumber and other forest products 48 per cent.

In addition to this increase in quantity the cost of hauling each ton of produce was materially reduced. In other words, farmers not only produce more, but produce more cheaply, for the cost of transportation to market is of course an important factor in the cost of production. From this point of view, it is estimated that the roads in Spotsylvania County saved the farmers of that county $41,000 a year.

In the past two years the traffic studies of the Federal experts show that approximately 140 million 65,000 tons of outgoing products were hauled over the improved roads in the county an average distance of 8 miles, or a total of 520,000 "ton-miles." Before the roads that proved it was estimated that the average cost of hauling was 20 cents a "ton-mile" after the improvement this fell to 12 cents a "ton-mile" or a saving of 8 cents. A saving of 8 cents per mile on 520,000 "ton-miles" is $41,000 a year. The county's investment of $100,000 in other words returns a dividend of 40 per cent annually.

Because this saving, in case of this character, does not take the form of cash put directly into the farmer's pocket there is a widespread tendency to believe that it is fictitious profit, while as a matter of fact it is just a real source of profit as an increase in the price of wheat.

"In Dinwiddie County, Va., for example, where peanuts are one of the staple crops, the average load for two mules on a main road was about 1,000 pounds before the road was improved. After its improvement the average load was found to be 2,000 pounds, and the time consumed in hauling the larger load to market was much reduced. In other words, one man with a wagon and two mules could do more than twice as much work with the improved road than with an unimproved road. ## MORGAREIDGE AND OTHERS ADDRESS MEETING

A democratic speaking was held at the opera house Wednesday evening. A fair sized audience greeted the speakers, who were introduced by John Lorang. Wm. Hunter and Jody Long, candidates for state representative, and Rosalind Armstrong, children, candidate for county superintendent of schools each made short talks in the interests of their candidacies and of the Democratic party.

Probate Judge Will F. Morgareidge was then introduced. He has served the county well and faithfully for the past six years and presented facts and figures to substantiate his statements. He gave a brief resume of the duties and responsibilities connected with the office of probate judge, dealing as it does with the interests of widows and orphans and the care of delinquent children. At the end of his present two year term it is estimated that $1,000,000 of real and personal property will have been handled by this office.

He spoke in particular of the care of delinquent children and of the success in placing and keeping them in the care of their rural school districts. This is a very important work.

He has performed 160 marriage ceremonies during his six years in office, and has been successful in clean politics and has record to stand behind that he may well be proud of. He made one of the most interesting and concise political speeches ever made here in the present campaign and left splendid impression on those who heard him.

The average pig may enjoy a dog as a playmate and some say a boy that cannot play with a dog is not a boy that John Jones Jr. will learn more and get a better standing in life with a pig.

It is about a draw as to the amount of care, time and feed that it requires to grow either pig or dog. It is a dog or hog. It is a draw in favor of the pig, for when he is a hog he will draw a huge amount of care, time and feed, and the animosity of the neighbors by stealing meat, chasing stock and other mean tricks.

The pup needs shelter, so does the pig.

The pup will eat refuse from the table, so will the pig and pay for it.

If anything, the pup is filthier than a pig, he drags in bones and other junk that litters a yard and breeds flies and disease.

The pup tears up clothes, carries away your shoes, chews up anything he finds for you and the neighbors.

He barks at you on the road, for chases stock and chickens and does much damage. Two dogs destroyed $1500 worth of sheep in a single night.

The pig may have to be kept in a pen and fed regularly, but he pays for it. He is better at teaching honesty than anything. A boy may be able to make his teacher or another child honest, but the pig and if he does not feed the pig and do it right the pig will "squall on him" and there is no denying the truth of the sequel.

A Pleasant Party
Saturday afternoon, Mrs. D. C. Burr was hostess to a number of old friends and neighbors in honor of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Mulalley, who will spend the winter at the home of Mrs. J. E. Reilly and Mrs. J. E. Reilly and went in a body to the home of Mrs. Burr, taking Mrs. Mulalley entirely by surprise but her welcome was as cordial.

The ladies brought their fancy work and spent the afternoon in a very pleasant manner. This being Mrs. Mulalley's 72d birthday she was presented a nice umbrella by the guests in honor of the occasion.

Mrs. F. B. Burdick made the presentation with words to the effect that it was for many more happy birthdays.

The parlors were decorated with bouquets of cut flowers, asters being used in one room, and an exquisite basket of sweet peas in another.

Delightful refreshments were served at small tables by the hostess who was assisted in serving by Mrs. J. E. Reilly and Mrs. A. A. Burr. At the table with the guests of honor, Mrs. Mary Mulalley, were seated Mesdames F. F. Burdick, Mary Cunningham and W. J. Herman.

A number of changes and improvements will be made at the grounds and it is expected these contracts will be made soon. The preparation of the program will receive immediate attention and the program features will be announced at an early date.

Secretary Carlyle announces that the reports of entries from all sections of the west are most encouraging, there being at present a third more stock entered than last year and it is expected the attendance will be greatly increased.

Plans will be made on the program for more entertainment of visitors from out of town. The large residence at the grounds will be furnished as a rest room for visiting ladies and tea and refreshments will be furnished free by a committee of Lewiston ladies.

Total State and County.....$9.20

Total Tax in Genesee.....$23.20

From the above tabulation you will note that the county current expense is $2.20 for every $1000 of valuation for both years.

When you consider that this year is an election year, which adds an expenditure of $7000 for each day you will at once see that the county affairs have been handled more economically this year than last year and previous years. You will also see from the tabulation that there is a reduction in the total tax for Genesee of $5.00 for each $1000 of valuation this year as compared with last year, and generally speaking, the taxes are lower over the entire county, notwithstanding the fact that our necessary expenditures are greater, this being election year.

It has been stated that it takes something over $7000 for each day in the year to run our county government. This is a false statement. On page four of the County Auditor's report for 1913 you will find that for the year 1913 the county current expense, including the new addition to the court house and other improvements in the building, $48,410.98. This, when you use 312 working days for the year, gives you an average of $156.86, the cost of running our county government last year, in place of $1000 as they would have you believe.

I invite you to verify these facts and figures and my statements by the county records which are open for your inspection at all times.

Think twice before you consider any of the statements made by a politician and remember that the records do not lie.

Respectfully,
THEO. E. MARTINSON,
Assessor.

BRITISH WANT FACTS

DOZEN QUESTIONS ADDRESSED TO MINISTERS ON REASSEMBLING OF PARLIAMENT.

ARMY DOINGS KEPT SECRET

High Canteen Prices—Uniforms of Inferior Material—False Attack Rumors—Royal Family's Members Are With the Enemy.

London, Oct. 19.—Notice has been given that the following questions, among others, will be addressed to the ministers on the reassembling of parliament:

1. Whether the large number of military and naval officers employed in the press censor's department can not be replaced by trained journalists, thus enabling the officers to place their experience at the disposal of recruits?

2. How many months have elapsed since the committee on imperial defense held a meeting, and whether, in view of the rumors of a possible invasion, a meeting is planned?

3. What authority had the secretary of the board of trade for stating Zeppelin dirigibles to be a danger to London at the end of October, and whether he is aware that his statement caused an increase in insurance rates and because of the easy manner in which the fortified positions between the river Nethe were carried October 6 and 7.

The French war office also claimed gains in the fighting between Arras and Roye and near St. Mihiel on the right bank of the Meuse, while the German statement was silent on operations in these areas.

ANTWERP CITY RUINS

POPULACE HAS FLED AND THE STREETS DESERTED, WITH GERMANS ON PATROL.

SMOKING DEBRIS ALL OVER

Millions of Dollars Worth of Merchandise Destroyed in Wholesale District—Main German Army Passed On—Capture of City Easy.

Antwerp, via London, Oct. 20.—Antwerp is a dead city. The populace has fled, and the streets are deserted. Smoking ruins still mark the havoc wrought by the German shell fire. The thoroughfares are piled with wreckage, millions of dollars worth of merchandise having been ruined in the wholesale district.

The invading host, however, has passed on. Only bluejackets and marine infantrymen from the German stations at Kluken and Ghent, and the Belgian navy guard the city.

The German staff officers give assurance that the German commander, General von Beseler, has found it very easy in his campaign where hard fighting was expected, and desperate resistance where little trouble had been anticipated. The German staff officers had fallen eight days earlier than expected, the Belgians evidently being rishattered by their nine weeks of defeat, and because of the easy manner in which the fortified positions between the river Nethe were carried October 6 and 7.

The French war office also claimed gains in the fighting between Arras and Roye and near St. Mihiel on the right bank of the Meuse, while the German statement was silent on operations in these areas.

At The Opera House

Fred G. Helm will give his usual big eight-reel show on Saturday night, at which time it is expected to have something good on the program.
The Shirleys, who appeared in the opera house Monday night, gave one of the best musical entertainments that it has been the good fortune of Genesee people to hear for a long time and it was duly appreciated by those in attendance.
The rains of the past few days have left the ground in ideal condition for fall plowing and the farmers are taking advantage of the fact. Much of the seeding of fall grain has been completed and will be in a short time if present weather conditions continue. A few fields that were sown early are showing a fine growth. Reports are that the wheat acreage will be greatly increased owing to the prevailing prices of wheat and the war conditions that exist in Europe.
Mrs. H. J. Herman has some fine apples on display at this office, raised on the Henry Herman, Jr., ranch. They are of the Jonathan, Roman Beauty and Spitzenberg varieties. They are free from worms and of splendid color and flavor, comparing well with apples grown in the much landed apple sections of the northwest.

Wheat Rising in Price

Owing to the war conditions existing in Europe and the buyers in the market for European countries, the rise in the price of wheat in the Northwest has been steady for the past ten days until the price of all grades, except Red Russian, is quoted above 90 cents. At the present time the market shows no increase in price, but it is reported as holding firm. The wheat stored in the warehouses here is finding ready sale and is moving quite freely. It is estimated that the wheat shipments along the Genesee branch will amount to several hundred cars this month.

The Ladies Aid of the Congregational church assisted by the other ladies of the church will serve dinner on election day, Tuesday, November 3, in the Sullivan building formerly occupied by the Brown candy store. A fall bazaar will be held in connection with the dinner.

Oversmith Here Last Saturday

A. H. Oversmith, who has been a member of the state senate for the past term, was in Genesee and made a short talk in the opera house Saturday night. He took up the various phases of the political situation as seen from a republican point of view, touching on national, state and county issues, and especially the tax question, which he made very clear to those who heard him. He stated that according to the county records it cost only a trifle over $150 per working day to run the county, instead of in excess of $1,000 per day as had been said by a democratic speaker. Mr. Oversmith is a very pleasing speaker and handled his subject in a very comprehensive manner.

Mrs. J. H. Jackson was hostess Wednesday afternoon to the Ladies Aid of the Congregational church. A business session was held at which time several plans to aid in church work were discussed and it was decided that a church dinner and bazaar would be given on election day, and committees were appointed to arrange for the same. After the business meeting a short social session was enjoyed after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, who were assisted in serving by Mrs. B. H. Schooler. At the next meeting Mrs. F. E. Lambert will be the hostess.

Verge Sampson, Jimmy Mann and Ernest Gage returned last week from a hunting trip of two or three weeks, but failed to bring back the trophies sought, with the exception of young Gage, who succeeded in getting a deer after the party had broken up and started home. Verge said it was not the fault of the deer that he did not get any as he saw them all right, but from some cause or other the sights of his rifle were not in good working order. They were probably set for shooting around trees and when the deer came in a straight line of course were not in "focus".

European War Affects Wool and Cotton Business

The steady advance in prices of wool and cotton may call a halt in prices later. The result is that now in the face of scarcity of many desirable lines of goods and of extreme demands in prices of many things both foreign and domestic, we are supplied and at prices prevailing before the war.

We advise our patrons to anticipate their needs for fall and winter and do their trading now while stocks are complete, for it will not be long before many stocks are badly depleted and when exhausted cannot be renewed at present prices.

October's Falling Leaves

Would present a gloomy picture if we did not know that nature's all-wise plan provides for the return of foliage with the spring.

Have you provided for next year, and the years thereafter with the same wisdom that nature displays? If a season of misfortune came upon you, if you were nipped by the frosts of adversity, as the tree's foliage is nipped, could you rehabilitate yourself as the trees?

The answer lies in what you have laid by. If you are using up every day what you make in that day, you could never recover from misfortune, but if, by means of a bank account, you are making every day provide for itself and PART OF A FUTURE DAY, then you can weather any storm that comes.

Get All The Cream Why Lose Dairy Profits?
Suppose there was a hole in your pocket that lost 5 to 20 cents every day. Imagine how quickly you would stop that loss. Unless you get all the cream, your dairy has the same kind of a loss. For every 20 pounds of butter you sell, you may be losing from one to four pounds. That means that for every dollar you now get, you should be getting a dollar five to a dollar twenty cents. You can stop every possibility of such a loss by using a Great Western. It gathers all the cream because it follows Nature's laws. It delivers the cream from the top and milk from the bottom. It's the only separator we know of that will successfully skim cold milk. In addition to the saving you make in the increased amount of cream and butter, you have a separator that is easier to run and easier to care for. An exclusive feature of the Great Western is that it is equipped throughout with imported ball bearings. This makes it light running and, consequently, adds to the life of the machine. Years of service prove it the one separator that doesn't wear out. A simple chain drive, few working parts, and superior construction, make the Great Western easy to care for. It's easy to clean and keep clean. That's why it's supreme in giving sanitary service. It's a pleasure for us to show this high class separator. Come and let us demonstrate it to you. It's yours to interest. Let us show you how to stop the profit leaks in your dairy.

Democratic County Candidates' County Platform, 1914
The candidates for office on the Democratic ticket in Latah county, Idaho, hereby promulgate the following platform:
We approve and commend to the voters of Latah county the Democratic State platform, adopted July 1st, 1914.
We pledge our candidates for the State Senate and the House of Representatives to vote and work for the submission of an amendment to the State Constitution, to prohibit the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, throughout the entire State, and to work for the enactment of a statute prohibiting the sale and manufacture of such liquors within the State. Also to vote and do all in their power to remedy the inequalities of the present taxation laws and to bring about such legislation that will make each county bear its just proportion of the burden of state government and that all property within each county may be equitably assessed for the purposes of taxation. To obtain, if possible, a just Workmen's Compensation Act, in order that a working man and his family may secure just compensation for any injury received during the course of his employment. To try to obtain the passage of an effective Corrupt Practice Act. A practicable initiative, referendum and the recall of all elective officers, including judges. Seek the enactment of proper legislation to strengthen and make operative the noxious weed laws, the pure seed laws and to correct the evils of present bounty laws. Also to work for the enactment of legislation so that the grain commission may work to the benefit of the grower as well as the dealer, and for legislation to safeguard and protect depositors in banks to the fullest extent. And to work for and obtain, if possible, amendments to the present statute regarding taxation on automobiles so that the proceeds of such taxation may go to the benefit of the roads of the county where such automobiles are owned. Also for legislation providing that prisoners serving time in county jails may be worked on the public highways of the counties in which they are confined, to the end that such prisoners may not be a useless burden on the taxpayers.
We pledge our candidates for the office of County Commissioners to open to the public all roads necessary for the rapid development of our county and to see that the money in the road fund is economically expended, to devote enough time to the performance of their duties, that the interests of the taxpayers may be safeguarded, and as a board of equalization, to give each person desiring a hearing fair treatment and especially pledge them to continue the policy inaugurated by the Democrats of Latah county in 1909, in refusing to issue license for the opening or conducting of any saloon for the sale of intoxicating liquors.
We hereby approve of the present method of handling juvenile delinquents and believe that the statutes providing for not handling juvenile delinquents as the ordinary or hardened criminal is handled by courts and officers, are the result of the most advanced thought on this subject, and pledge our candidate for Probate Judge to carry out in letter and spirit all of the laws relating thereto.
We pledge our candidates for the offices of Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney, if elected, to a strict enforcement of all laws prohibiting the sale and importation into this county of intoxicating liquors of every kind, and the enforcement of such and all other criminal laws without fear or favor and without undue or avoidable expense to the tax payer, and that our candidate for the office of Sheriff, if elected, will appoint as deputies only men of the highest type of citizenship.
We direct the attention of the voters to the efficient manner in which Ruth W. Broman, the present treasurer, and candidate for re-election, has fulfilled the duties of her office and pledge her to conduct the affairs of her office in the future as she has in the past.
And we point with pride to the fact that every pledge made by the Democratic party of Latah county has been faithfully kept and performed, and on the faith of such past performance, ask for the votes for our candidates of all good citizens, irrespective of party.
Adopted this 15th day of September, 1914.
Attest:
W. F. MORGAREIDGE, Secretary. FRANK L. MOORE, Chairman. Adv.

Everybody Reads
Everybody reads the newspapers these days. We are a nation of readers. We read the daily papers for the world's news of the day, for the market reports, for the works of our legislators in national and state capitols. But we read the local paper for the news which comes straight home to us—the news which is necessary to our growing intelligence—which is an essential part of our being.
We read the local paper because it always can keep us in close touch with local affairs of moment, with our neighbors and the community—with conditions which are of prime importance to us.
We read the local paper because without it we would be practically strangers in our own homes, because we would be living in ignorance of those happenings of which local conditions make it imperative that we be constantly informed. Present day necessity requires that we read the papers, especially the local paper.
Secures Major League Game
According to advices sent out from Potlatch, baseball fans of this part of the country will have an opportunity of witnessing a "sure-nuff" ball game in that little city on October 26, when an all-star team from the American National League and one from the National League will cross bats for honors and gate receipts.
The list of players on both teams comprises some of the very best players of the major leagues and will undoubtedly be well worth the trip for those who are interested in the game.
Fully one-half the distance from Colfax to Uniontown already has been made and it is said the Idaho highway commission and Lewiston will take care of the road theron the Idaho loop down the Uniontown hill through Lewiston, all of which they claim will make a great saving in the expense of building the highway.
A modern battle line beats even an American football game. Unesly lies the head that follows the head that wears a crown.
President of the United States of Europe wouldn't sound so bad, and is quite within the possibilities.
Molting Hens
The critical time in the life of every fowl is the molting season. Nature has provided that they change their feathers once a year, and the time of change is late summer and fall. The time depends largely upon the performance of the hen.
Heavy laying hens usually molt late. Early molters have but little else to do; they lay but few eggs while the late molter spends her time and energy producing eggs and her feathers do not ripen till late fall. These late molters are the fowls that require much attention and should be prized very highly for they are the birds that make the flock profitable and should be the breeding stock to reproduce the flock.
They should be provided with comfortable, clean quarters but allowed the liberty of the yards. Clean straw should be on the floor and plenty of green food should be provided. Housing principles should be very carefully applied in general. Nourishing feeds, clean water, grit, charcoal, bone and plenty of green food should be provided.
Forced molting is not a good practice. Look well to the wants of nature and results will be much more satisfactory.

The department of Forestry at the University of Idaho is offering a three-year forest rangers' course designed to prepare young men to pass the forest rangers' examination. Any able-bodied man with the equivalent of an eighth grade education will be eligible for entrance into this course. High school preparation is highly desirable, but not absolutely necessary.
The work of the entire course will consist of practical laboratory and field exercises and lectures by the forestry faculty, forest service officials, lumbermen, and others. The work is so arranged that much benefit may be derived by taking a single year's work. If the entire three years' work is taken a certificate of graduation will be issued by the Department of Forestry. The courses offered are:
First year—English composition, General Forestry, Dendrology, Forest Mensuration, Drafting and Lettering, Forest Law, Second year—English composition, General Botany, Silviculture, Forest Protection, Telephone Construction, Forest Physiography, Wood Work. Third year—Lumbering, Forest Utilization, Forest Engineering, Timber Physics, Forest Management, Forge Work.
The term for this course begins November 2nd and closes April 2nd. Expenses—Deposit and fees $5.00; books (approximately) $5.00; board and room per month $20.00; expenses for field trips about $5.00.
For further particulars address C. H. Shattuck, Moscow, Idaho.

JOHN NISBET
Candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Latah County

The people in the county feel that they have received a square deal and that the Prosecuting Attorney is continually working to the best interests of the tax payers.

When an officer keeps the expense of his office down to the minimum and gives the people the best of service, he should have the support of all the people, regardless of their political affiliation.

THEO. E. MARTINSON
Assessor Latah County

Candidate on the Republican Ticket for re-election.

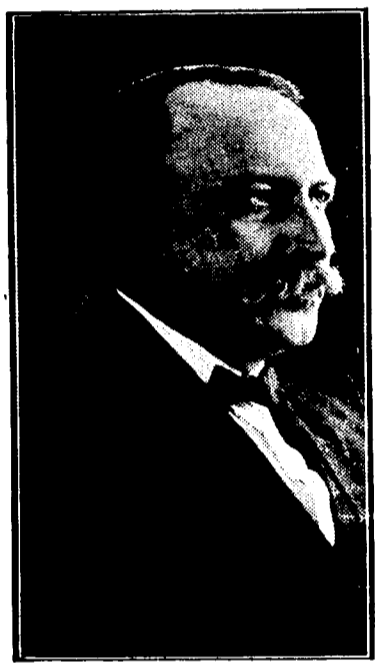

I ask your support for the following reasons: I feel that with the careful study of the work and the experience of the past two years I can give you more satisfactory and economical service the next two years. This is an office unlike the other offices of the county in that it demands a thorough knowledge of the property and conditions of the county which takes time and study, and I have spent a great deal of personal effort, as you know, in getting over the work myself to learn these things, which is important to all taxpayers. I have equalized the assessment of the different classes of property on the basis of actual cash value of each class regarding the ownership, in the hope of giving Latah county taxpayers an honest and equitable assessment.

If I am re-elected I pledge myself to continue the assessment upon the plan used this year, using the consensus of the different communities in arriving at the valuations of the property for assessment purposes.

I also pledge myself to make every dollar used in my office from the current expense fund of the county but as much for you as I would were it my own business.

HOMER E. ESTES

Candidate for Clerk of the District Court and Ex-Officio Auditor and Recorder, Republican Party Latah County

JUDGE EDGAR C. STEELE

Who has been Presiding Judge of this district for sixteen years and who is a non-partisan candidate for re-election as district judge.

Names of candidates for judicial office do not appear in any party column on the official ballot, but in a separate column, headed: "Non-partisan Judiciary Candidate."

The voter, after voting his or her party ticket, should, in order to vote for the re-election of Judge Steele, pass to this separate column and place an (X) in the circle following his name.

OUR CANDIDATE

The choice of the people at the polls on two tickets.

A resident of Idaho for nearly 29 years; has received his education and thorough business training in Latah county. Is a taxpayer of the county and has taken a strong stand in the conduct of his office for reducing the burdens of taxation.

Has served the people of the county one term in this capacity and stands on his record as follows for re-election: A reduction from 7.8% to 5.7% in the valuation of the property of the office, and this accomplished in the face of heavy increases in the work and duties of the office; a reduction of 15% in the rates of assessments; (in other words, a decrease of more than 10 per cent in the rates of assessments of the office and an increase of 15 per cent in the revenues from the office).

Has kept all work of the office up to date, and has turned out work from the office with much more promptness and efficiency than has ever been done before.

Has brought about the above results by diligent and efficient application to his work, by keeping business hours for office work, and fewer deputies and clerks.

Has released every promise made the people, and from the experience gained from his term in said office, will be in position to give the taxpayers of the county, if re-elected, even more efficient service in the coming term.—Advertisement.

Harry K. Thaw is again in the limelight. This time he is asking for his complete liberty and the United States supreme court will hear a motion to that effect. Somehow Harry "Thaw" got out about every so often. He should have put it off for a while yet as it will be impossible for him to get a front page position in the big dailies, at this time.

The new concrete bridge near the Peterson school house has been finished and the approaches put in place and it is now ready for travel. More of such bridges in this part of the county would save much work and expense in the long run.

The best way to obtain the greatest amount of nourishment from eggs is to eat them.

ERNEST RANDALL
Republican Candidate for County Treasurer and Tax Collector.

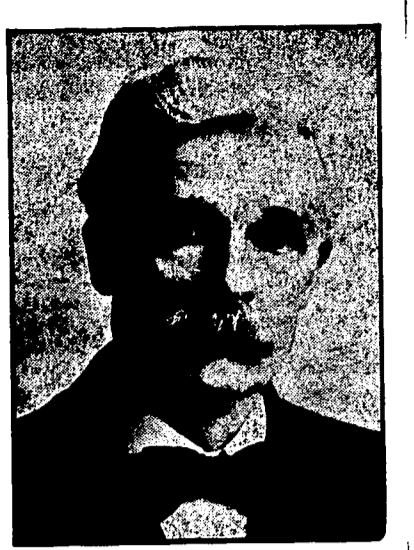

Mr. Randall has been a resident of Latah County for 32 years and was raised on a farm. He has a thorough business education and for the last two years has worked in the assessor's office and is thoroughly conversant with the duties of Treasurer and Tax Collector. He believes that he is especially fitted to run the office with the minimum of clerical help and that the same care should be used in handling the taxpayer's money as in handling private money.

He stands for economy, efficiency and accuracy.

Where is Hell?
By Major F. W. Barber

Since the advent of Christ we have been taught to believe that hell is the worst punishment that can be inflicted upon an erring people. It may be so, but the hell of Europe casts a shadow of doubt. Men whose vocation in life is the redemption of souls are warning us against the terrors of hell. Yet our brothers across the seas are plunging into a conflagration of destruction which puts even hell itself to shame.

The hell of Biblical conception is pictured as a place of torment, inhabited by the souls of sinners to whom the gates of heaven are closed. The hell of Europe is a furnace of destruction for the good and the bad, the innocent and the guilty, for women and children and babes of a day. As the devil wields his fork over the denizens of the fiery pit, so do the kings and emperors of Europe wield the sword of compulsion over the heads of their subjects and force them into the jaws of an earthly hell.

The patriotic spirit which permeates every human breast has taught us to respond to the call of country whether that call be just or not. And this national spirit has permitted the rulers of the old world to launch the foregoing tabular destruction which is shattering the very world to its foundation.

Have we two hells? Or has the hell of tradition been transferred from the regions of satan to the blood soaked battlefields of Europe? We are solemnly warned to repent of our sins or suffer the eternal torments of hell. Be it even so. But what of this hell on earth? What of the mighty engines of destruction which are devastating a fair land and sweeping a once enlightened people into the presence of their Maker? What of the changing of an area of civilization into a congested mass of suffering and pain, destroying human beings but solely upon the annihilation of one another? What of the tremendous explosives hurled into cities and destroying soldiers and civilians alike? What of the torrid bombs dropped from the warhounds of the air into the midst of innocent and helpless women and children, taking the lives which God bade men to protect and cherish?

What of the explosives lurking in the bosoms of the seas and perking the existence of ships loaded with non-combatant? What of the broken and grief-stricken women and young girls who must toil in the fields that men may have bread while doing their utmost to obliterate the human race? What of the widows and orphans who must suffer through life because war has robbed them of a protector? What of the wretched who must go through life maimed and twisted with pain? What of the gaping holes in human breasts, of limbs torn from their sockets, of mangled forms which even hell itself, but this hell in Europe has the traditional hell backed into insignificance.

Whatever it is—wherever it may be—hell is hell, but this hell in Europe has the traditional hell backed into insignificance.

What is hell? Where is hell? Whatever it is—wherever it may be—hell is hell, but this hell in Europe has the traditional hell backed into insignificance.

Valuation real property tax rolls, 1914: .....	20,162,588
Decrease in valuation, 1914 .....	$ 990,147
Distribution of taxes on the rolls as follows:

State tax $48,551.29 $48,890.21
County, current expense, 46,536.01 442,357.69

City and village tax, 48,816.80 38,892.70
Total $357,680.45 $316,776.49

A total decrease in amount of taxes to be collected of $40,903.96. The foregoing tabular shows a decrease of amount to be levied for every fund and for every purpose with the exception of the fund for general school purposes, which fund shows an increase of $18,182.19. This increase is caused by reason of the fact that the board of county commissioners made a levy for general school purposes of three mills, as against two mills for 1913. This action on the part of the board caused the large reduction in this special school district tax of $38,101.66, relieved 33 school districts of the necessity of making any levy for this purpose and reduced the levy of the remaining 61 districts to a minimum. The administrative officers of the county consider themselves fortunate in having accomplished a total reduction of taxes in the sum of $40,903.96.

Pleasant Event
Tuesday, October 27, being the tenth wedding anniversary of Supt. and Mrs. I. S. Hov, the teaching faculty conceived the idea of celebrating the event. They went in a body to the home of Supt. and Mrs. Hov, taking them entirely by surprise but a most cordial welcome was received.

Gifts appropriate to the occasion were presented to them which were greatly appreciated. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served and a delightful time was had.

Should Be Retained

There is probably no office which the people will be required to fill at the coming election that is more important than that of District Judge. It is one with which they cannot afford to try experiments.

The expense of holding court is one of the greatest expenses of State government. Judge Steele has always kept court expenses down to the minimum and the proper decision of contested matters involving property right and involving the enforcement of the criminal laws is very important to all people.

The records show that Judge Steele has been affirmed in more cases in proportion to the number of cases tried than any other District Judge in Idaho. The criminal laws have been upheld and enforced, and the civil litigation has been so satisfactory to the litigants that out of more than eight thousand judgements rendered in cases during the last sixteen years, less than 100 have been modified or changed by the decisions of the Supreme Court.

This paper believes it to be the interests of the people of this district to re-elect Judge Steele to the District bench, and no doubt when the votes are counted, he will have a large majority.

Republican Rally
A republican rally was held at the opera house Tuesday evening, Hon. F. C. McGowan, republican candidate for state representative, County Commissioner Woody and Assessor Theo. Martinson made short talks in the interests of their respective candidacies and of the republican party. W. S. Robbins' candidate for sheriff accompanied the party.

A fair-sized audience listened to the speech making and were impressed with the straight-forward manner of the speakers and of the facts as presented by them. The fact that was especially impressed upon those who heard them was that the talks were plain politically and the voters were advised to vote for the man that they thought would best fill the office and represent their interests in state and county.

Embezzles State Funds
Former state treasurer O. V. Allen who was arrested recently on a charge of embezzling state funds in excess of $70,000, pled guilty to the charge. On Thursday last week he appeared before Judge Bryan of Canyon county and a sentence of from five to ten years at present. The evening of the charge, Allen was immediately committed to the state penitentiary.

Proceedings were at once commenced against deputy treasurer, Fred M. Coleman, who is held as a default on a bond of $10,000, by the bonding company that they will cover any shortage as soon as they have been definitely decided upon. The state treasurer's office will be vacant until a successor can be appointed by Gov. Haines.

Death of Mrs. Winnie Whalen
C. P. Whalen was called to Spokane Friday morning by the death of his mother, Mrs. Winnie Whalen, which occurred that morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Sacred Heart hospital, following a surgical operation a few days previous. The body was taken to Cheney, Wash., for burial and the funeral services were conducted at the Catholic church at that place Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. C. P. Whalen and mother, Mrs. Jno. Lorang, of Genesee, were in attendance at the funeral.

False and Misleading
Why charge every dollar collected through the taxcollector's office and distributed by the taxcollector to the state, to the cities, to the special school districts and to the special road districts, to the board of County commissioners when the levies are made by the taxing districts over which the Board has no control?—Adv.

The Genesee Improvement society will hold their regular monthly meeting in the library rooms Saturday afternoon, November 7, at 3 o'clock. A good attendance is desired.

The Altar society will hold a bazaar, Saturday, November 14. Anything to be donated toward the bazaar can be left with Mrs. C. P. Tuomy.

The Flamco school has been closed for a week, as the teacher, Mrs. M. N. Creckmur, is engaged in electioneering for his candidacy of

SCHOOL NOTES

By Ith Larrabee

In the first basket ball game of the season for the local High School team, the Alumni defeated the High School boys by a score of 48 to 18. With the exception of a few minutes in the last half, the game was hotly contested and the ex-stars of the Genesee High school succeeded in making their goals only after the greatest efforts. The high school boys are working hard in practice and will soon have at their command a number of plays which will puzzle even the old-time stars. With the addition of Meyer at forward, who entered school this week, the team is much strengthened and expected to reverse the score on the Alumni next time they meet the veterans. No game is scheduled for this week.

A basket social was held immediately after the game. Those who brought baskets and those fortunate in buying them, report a lovely time.

Clyde Meyer entered the Junior class this week.

Miss Costello visited relatives in Moscow, last Friday and Saturday returning home Sunday afternoon. Miss Ruth Martinson acted as substitute during Miss Costello's absence, Friday afternoon.

This is examination week and the pupils having an average of 90 per cent will be exempt.

Watch for "Mr. Bob".
Gerhard Breivik is in school again after a absence of two weeks on account of sickness.

The seventh grade boasts of having no tardy marks all this month. The eighth grade had two tardy marks this month.

Bessie Herman has been absent for a couple of weeks on account of tonsillitis.

Tuesday, the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades were interested in examining some blood corpuscles, under the microscope.

Mary Mullahey has gone to the country for a couple of weeks.

Roy Harris has been absent a couple of days because of sickness.

At the reception room in the school building, last Saturday evening the Sophomore class, aided by the Juniors and Seniors, gave a party in honor of the freshmen. The members of the faculty were also present. The evening was enjoyably spent in various games. The initiation of the freshmen occupied the greater part of the evening's entertainment. The initiation consisted in "eating bread and milk," "going to bed with a candle" and "joy riding in the elevator."

The rooms were decorated with the freshmen class colors, old brown and gold. At an appropriate hour a delicious lunch was served.

All present, especially the "Freshies," voted the sophomores royal entertainers.

I. O. O. F. Delegates Return
The I. O. O. F. delegates to the state convention at Boise last week have returned home. Fred Folkert was in attendance at the all-star baseball game at Lewiston, Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Ehlen left Wednesday for their ranch at Granite, Idaho, where they will look after their extensive ranch interests for a few days, but will return home before leaving.

E. P. Martin of Portland, Oregon, deputy head consul, and Alex Pollock of Spokane, district manager, were here the latter part of last week in the interests of the Woodman of the World.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand Marion of Portland, Oregon, who were in Genesee for a short time looking over the country, left Thursday morning. They were favorably impressed with the farming land here.

Mrs. H. L. Vale and little son, Wilford, and niece, Miss Liza Hilton, returned home to Kootenai, Idaho, Thursday morning, after a visit with the family at Lewiston. Mike Kasper, a brother of Mrs. Vale accompanied them home.

Peter Hellen left Tuesday morning for his home at Seattle, after a visit at the home of Mrs. Maggie Lawen. He had been traveling and visiting in the old country having spent six months in Germany but left here last April. He has been a resident of this country for over thirty years and is a prominent business man of Seattle.

GERMANS FORCE WAY ACROSS AND TURNED INLAND WEST OF DIXMUDE.

GERMANS' REINFORCEMENTS

Kaiser Rushes Reinforcements to Maintain Advantage—Violent Battle at River Yser—British Lose 500 Prisoners—Rain Pours.

London, Oct. 25.—Hurled back from the coast by the fire of the French and British warships, the German troops, after a week of the most violent fighting, have turned inland and are forcing their way across the Yser canal, west of Dixmude.

Pressing their advantage, the Germans in a mighty effort to gain a victory, continue rushing forward all their reinforcements that can be spared, and in their official reports claim to be slowly, but definitely pushing the allies back.

Of the gains claimed by the Germans, the French reports confirm the crossing of the Yser canal, but declare a very violent battle still in progress between Nieuport and the river.

Lys. At this point the Germans claim to have taken 500 British prisoners. Of the battles on the Yser, the left wing, the German report does not speak, but the French declare they are maintaining their positions in the Argonne and on the heights of the center and right.

Many of the German soldiers at Dixmude have come from Berlin within the last few days. Arriving at the scene of battle they have been sent to another downpour of rain which will convert the lowlands of Flanders into great lakes.

Many of the German soldiers at Dixmude have come from Berlin within the last few days. Arriving at the scene of battle they have been sent to another downpour of rain which will convert the lowlands of Flanders into great lakes.

Advances of Allies Encouraged. The fact that the allies have advanced appreciably east of Dixmude, as officially announced, has helped to reassure them, since in this vicinity the British naval guns hardly could continue to attack across an advancing ground. The slight retrogression at other points, which it is considered was counterbalanced by progress elsewhere, was not considered as inevitable in a great conflict of this kind, and apparently it did not cause the slightest discouragement.

The strategic consequence of this battle in the north, it is felt in some quarters, will be greater to the Germans than to the allies. If it should be necessary for the latter to withdraw, it would be upon the normal lines of the allies without risk, it is declared, and the bending of the left flank would compromise the situation in general.

British Banks Protect Selves. Amending licenses have been issued to each of the British establishments of German and Austrian banks, the effect of which is that no liabilities will be recognized by the London branches except such as in the opinion of the controller, Sir William Fenwick, are out of the transactions which have been entered into by or on behalf of these branches. This excludes all liabilities which originated with, or arose out of, transactions with the head office or other branches which are not liabilities of the London branches.

The office of Governor Haines will appoint Allen a successor to fill out the term. Allen has been state treasurer four years, and was the republican candidate for reelection. The embezzled money, it is said, went into poor business schemes and also for gambling.

WORLD'S AIR CRAFT STRENGTH CUT DYKES DROWN GERMANS

Henry Woodhouse, editor of Flying, estimates the comparative strength in aircraft of the warring European nations approximately as follows:

France	31	1200
Great Britain	15	500
Belgium	18	800
Russia	2	40
Servia	0	40
Germany	35	600

But while the aeroplanes may have been at the opening of the war, they quickly became obsolete, for the aircraft factories of Great Britain, France, Germany, and Russia immediately began working under greatly increased pressure, turning out aeroplanes with great rapidity, the entire output of machines being taken over by their respective governments.

The hard usage which the machines are receiving in the war service, however, keeps the total number of aeroplanes from rising to any great extent. It is said that Zeppelins are being turned out at the rate of six a month.

AS WAR PROGRESSES

WEEK OF OCT. 24 SEEMED TO SHOW UP BETTER FOR THE ALLIES.

GERMANS' FIGHT IN FRANCE

Have Been Unable to Make Advances There or in Belgium—Great Armies of British, French and Russians Growing Daily.

The week that ended October 24 was a good week for the Belgians, British and French and not a bad week for the Russians. The temper and language of the French and English announcements about the progress of the campaign in the north-west of France led them to feel that they were making a winning battle, but those of the German communications were those of men who fear that their campaign against the allies has been frustrated and becomes futile.

In the battle of Flanders, as the fighting in western Belgium and northwestern France may be named, the German losses there at 5000 killed and wounded, besides 30,000 killed and wounded. This, as you give me hint, the dispatch adds, as to what is meant when it is declared that the fighting in this region is the most desperate of the entire war thus far.

ATTACK ON NIEUPORT

GERMANS TURN BIG GUNS ON CITY, BUT LITTLE PROGRESS MADE AGAINST ALLIES.

RESISTANCE TOO STRONG

Character of Country Around Yser River Prohibits Rapid Movement Toward Dunkirk—German Infantry Very Active.

Paris, Oct. 26.—The smashing tactics of the Germans along the North sea coast line continued incessantly today, when the big guns were turned on Nieuport, and the allies had to withstand constant attacks of masses of troops. Very little progress, however, was made by the Germans, who were faced with the strongest resistance.

Yesterday's crossing of the Yser apparently had only a moral effect, as the Germans were confronted by solid lines of allied troops and were prevented from advancing toward the channel ports. The character of the country prohibits a rapid movement, as the land is cut up by canals, and two strong series of defensive works separate them from Dunkirk.

The German infantry executed a number of night attacks, not only on the extreme wing but also in the vicinity of Lille, where they encountered a most obstinate resistance. The allies are displaying wonderful energy in this region, and the Germans are springing their men many hardships and are able to give constant reliefs to the troops on the firing line.

It is true that A. B. McIntyre and John L. Woody were not members of the Board of County Commissioners in 1909 and 1910; but a full Democratic Board and a Democratic Assessor were in control of your finances. THEY CREATED A WARRANT INDEBTEDNESS DURING THOSE YEARS OF $41,041.24. WERE THEY PLAYING POLITICS?

This political game cost the taxpayers of the county principal and interest the total amount of $47,822.95 and was PAID by the present board in 1911 which accounts for the extraordinary heavy tax that year.

Had the Democratic Board in 1909 complied with the express provisions of the Law in the payment of their bills in full the expenditures would have been $76,795.99 plus their deficit of $41,041.24 or a total of $117,837.23--the most expensive year in the number of years compared.

Deduct the burden handed down by the Democratic administration from the amount provided by the present Republican Board, whose policy has always been to keep the county on a cash basis. For the year 1911 and you will have the normal expenditure of $109,912.31.

The apparent increase for 1913 was due to the appeal of the taxpayers for special improvements of the county roads and bridges and increase in the efficiency of our public schools and which appeal cost as the Records show, the sum of $20,751.50 which if deducted from the 1913 amount will leave the normal expenditure of $110,499.31.

Mr. Taxpayer--Whose record will you believe, that of the agents of corporations or that of your elected public servants?

AN OCULAR DEMONSTRATION OF HOW YOUR TAXES GROW!

As published in the Star-Mirror on October 24th and without the signature of the demonstrator.

ASSESSED VALUATION OF PROPERTY IN LATAH COUNTY FOR YEARS SHOWN
(Scale $8,000,000 per inch)

1909	$ 6,918,558.00	$17,296,395.00
1910	6,640,230.17	16,600,575.43
1911	17,532,352.00	17,532,352.00
1912	19,616,065.00	19,616,065.00
1913	22,245,902.00	22,245,902.00

Below are the correct figures taken from the County Records:

TAXPAYERS: The Ocular Demonstrations, to the left just as it was published in the Star-Mirror, without the signature of the demonstrator, is on file in the Auditor's office as a part of the complaint of the Potlatch Lumber Company filed before the Board of County Commissioners. The demonstration was drafted by Fancher of the Milwaukee Lumber Company and not for your benefit, but for use by the Potlatch and other lumber companies, in an attempt to secure a reduction in their assessment. Phone the Auditor's or Assessor's office and verify these facts, and do not be deceived by these statements which are published for the purpose of defeating the men who have stood for YOU and who have equalized all property regardless of the ownership.

EXPENDITURES OF LATAH COUNTY FOR YEARS SHOWN
(Scale $80,000 per inch)

1909	$197,324.44	$ 76,795.99
1910	227,832.07	102,259.54
1911	291,441.58	150,953.55
1912	277,652.88	100,678.87
1913	401,643.14	131,250.81

As the valuation increases, your expenditures increase

WHY? A. B. McIntyre and John L. Woody are members of the board and control the expenditures. Theo. E. Martinson is the officer who makes the valuation.

The following are extracts taken from the complaint of the Potlatch Lumber Company before the Commissioners, asking for a reduction of $482,064.00 in their 1914 assessment, which complaint was denied by the Board. The complaint is on file in the Auditor's office and we invite you to see it and know that these men have served you faithfully and are being attacked by the corporations because they have refused to do their bidding.

Part of Article III of the Potlatch Lumber Company's complaint--"That said Theo. E. Martinson in the discharge of his official duties as Assessor of Latah County has assessed all of the property of the Potlatch Lumber Company. That in the assessment of this property the said assessor was not governed by the mandates of our statutes in that he knowingly, wilfully and fraudulently assessed all of the property of the said Potlatch Lumber Company, greatly in excess of the cash value thereof, etc. Wherefor the said Potlatch Lumber Company prays for a reduction of $482,064.00 in their assessment."

In their figures they included the expenditures of cities, towns, and villages, the state, and all special road and school districts. Do not take this eleventh hour stuff which comes to you unidentified and too late to be properly answered. You have the record of your present assessor and commissioners and they would be glad to have every voter and taxpayer look them up carefully.

When you read "ocularly" that the expenditures of Latah county for 1913 were $401,643.14, it is nothing less than a falsehood. The expenditures for that year were $131,250.81, and for that sum, and for no higher or other sum, is your county board of commissioners responsible.

Why the deceptions in presenting the valuations for the years 1909 to 1913, inclusive? But we forget the demonstrator is the political artist and it is not for him to explain the difference between the assessment made on 40 per cent of the cash value of property and the assessment made at cash value.

For less laws and more sensible ones, vote the Republican legislative ticket--C. J. Munson, Senator; Ole Bohman, W. H. Mason and F. C. McGowan, Representatives

October's Falling Leaves

Would present a gloomy picture if we did not know that nature's all-wise plan provides for the return of foliage with the spring.

Have you provided for next year, and the years thereafter with the same wisdom that nature displays? If a season of misfortune came upon you, if you were nipped by the frosts of adversity, as the tree's foliage is nipped, could you rehabilitate yourself as the trees?

The answer lies in what you have laid by. If you are using up every day what you make in that day, you could never recover from misfortune, but if, by means of a bank account, you are making every day provide for itself and PART OF A FUTURE DAY, then you can weather any storm that comes.

LATAH EXPENDITURES INCREASE
Go Up In Proportion With Assessed Valuation
Moscow, Idaho, Oct. 25.—The taxpayers' league of Latah county yesterday issued a statement in which it is asserted that the assessed valuation of Latah county has steadily increased from $6,918,558 in 1909 to $22,245,902 in 1913, and that as the valuation increased the expenditures increased in proportion. Expenditures in 1909 amounted to $197,324 and in 1913 to $401,643. During these years there have been no extensive or expensive improvements nor costly prosecutions of criminal cases, the league officers assert.—Clipping from Spokesman-Review, Oct. 26, 1914.

Don't be flim-flammed by evasions! These figures are from the county records. Verify them yourself. Then vote for lower taxes. Are you getting value for your money? Is your tax dollar earning as much as the dollar you are spending for yourself? Make these officers explain. Ask them to deny that these figures are correct.
In 1913 Latah County's board of county commissioners levied state taxes in excess of amount charged in the sum of $1,840.31. (Report of Idaho tax commission, page 10). What became of the money? Have they paid back your share of it?

Get All The Cream—Why Lose Dairy Profits?

Suppose there was a hole in your pocket that lost 5 to 20 cents every day. Imagine how quickly you would stop that loss. Unless you get all the cream, your dairy has the same kind of a loss. For every 20 pounds of butter you sell, you may be losing from one to four pounds. That means that for every dollar you now get, you should be getting a dollar five to a dollar twenty cents. You can stop every possibility of such a loss by using a

It gathers all the cream because it follows Nature's laws. It delivers the cream from the top and milk from the bottom. It's the only separator we know of that will successfully skim cold milk. In addition to the saving you make in the increased amount of cream and butter, you have a separator that is easier to run and easier to care for. An exclusive feature of the Great Western is that it is equipped throughout with imported ball bearings. This makes it light running and, consequently, adds to the life of the machine. Years of service prove it the separator that doesn't wear out. A simple chain drive, few working parts, and superior construction, make the Great Western easy to care for. It's easy to clean and keep clean. That's why it's supreme in giving sanitary service. It's a pleasure for us to show this high class separator. Come and let us demonstrate it to you. ## Democratic County Candidates' County Platform, 1914

The candidates for office on the Democratic ticket in Latah county, Idaho, hereby promulgate the following platform:
We approve and commend to the voters of Latah county the Democratic State platform, adopted July 1st, 1914.
We pledge our candidates for the State Senate and the House of Representatives to vote and work for the submission of an amendment to the State Constitution, to prohibit the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, throughout the entire State, and to work and vote for the enactment of a statute prohibiting the sale and manufacture of such liquors within the State. Also to vote and do all in their power to remedy the inequalities of the present taxation laws and to bring about such legislation that will make each county bear its just proportion of the burden of state government and that all property within each county may be equitably assessed for the purposes of taxation. To obtain, if possible, a just Workmen's Compensation Act, in order that a working man and his family may secure just compensation for any injury received during the course of his employment, without deduction, because of the expense of unnecessary litigation. To try to obtain the passage of an effective Corrupt Practice Act. A practicable initiative, referendum and the recall of all elective officers, including judges. Seek the enactment of proper legislation to strengthen and make operative the noxious weed laws, the pure seed laws and to correct the evils of present bounty laws. Also to the enactment of legislation so that the grain commission may work to the benefit of the grower as well as the dealer, and for legislation to safeguard and protect depositors in banks to the fullest extent. And to work for and obtain, if possible, amendments to the present statute regarding taxation on automobiles so that the proceeds of such taxation may go to the benefit of the road fund in the county where such automobiles are owned. Also for legislation providing that prisoners serving time in county jails may be worked on the public highways of the counties in which they are confined, to the end that such prisoners may not be a useless burden on the taxpayers. We pledge our candidates for the office of County Commissioners to open to the public, all roads necessary for the rapid development of our county and to see that the money in the road fund is economically expended, to devote enough time to the performance of their duties, that the interests of the taxpayers may be safeguarded, and as a board of equalization, to give each person desiring a hearing fair treatment, and especially pledge them to continue the policy inaugurated by the Democrats of Latah county in 1909, in refusing to issue license for the opening or conducting of any saloon for the sale of intoxicating liquors. We heartily approve of the present method of handling juvenile delinquents and believe that our statutes providing for not handling juvenile delinquents as the ordinary or hardened criminal is handled by courts and officers, are the result of the most advanced thought on this subject, and pledge our candidate for Probate Judge to carry out in letter and spirit all of the laws relating thereto. We pledge our candidates for the offices of Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney, if elected, to a strict enforcement of all laws prohibiting the sale and importation into this county of intoxicating liquors of every kind, and the enforcement of such and all other criminal laws without fear or favor and without undue or avoidable expense to the tax payer, and that our candidate for the office of Sheriff, if elected, will appoint as deputies only men of the highest type of citizenship. We direct the attention of the voters to the efficient manner in which Ruth W. Broman, the present treasurer, and candidate for re-election, has fulfilled the duties of her office and pledge her to conduct the affairs of her office in the future as she has in the past. And we point with pride to the fact that every pledge made by the Democratic party of Latah county has been faithfully kept and performed and on the faith of such past performance, ask for the votes for our candidates of all good citizens, irrespective of party. Adopted this 15th day of September, 1914.

Attest: FRANK L. MOORE, Chairman. Adv.
W. F. MORGAREIDGE, Secretary.

The Fool Hunter's Prayer

These are the golden autumn days; the rich, full, six-cylinder, 40-horse power October days. These are the days when every man with red blood in his veins yearns to get out into the glorious woods and shoot a hunter or a guide. Let the indolent sedentary loll in his office chair. Let the devotee of indoor sports push the balls around the pool table, but as for us, give us a gun and a belt full of buckshot shells and turn us loose. Turn us loose where the underbrush is good and thick and let us pepper the festive hunter in his hunting pants. Or, if the pants be so kind, let us shoot a guide on the wing, or on the left cavalee, or even on the run. What cares a good sportsman when he shoots a guide as long as he shoots him? He cares naught. He little reckes. So hail, mighty Nimrod! Hail Diana, hail! Also snow. And if the fates and the gods and goddesses of the hunt prove unkind, then lead us to the cheerful and romantic rail fence and inspire us to climb over and drag our gun after us. And then, Oh Spirit of the chase! sic the coroner on us quickly, that we may not remain too long and tuck muss up the three glorious golden October landscape.—Ex

Smut

The State Experiment Station at Pullman has for several years been investigating the troublesome smut problem of the wheat growers. This question is one of the most important agricultural problems of the state. The farmers of the wheat belt lose millions annually from this pest. The Experiment Station has just published a popular bulletin, setting forth some of the results obtained in the investigations of the last two years. Many of the results from the very nature of the problem, cannot be conclusive. All are very suggestive and some of them will be found very helpful to the farmers at the present time, especially some of those with reference to seed treatment. The Experiment Station recommends: First—That seed be treated with copper sulphate (bluestone), one pound plus sodium chloride (common salt), one pound, to five gallons of water. Treat in this solution 10 minutes. Second—It is recommended that this treated seed be tested for germination in order to ascertain the amount to be sown, as seed which has been machine threshed is likely to show a large percentage of injury. Third—That, if formaldehyde is used, it be used in proportion of one pound to 40 gallons of water for 30 minutes. Fourth—That in either case of treatment the grain should be immersed in an open tank and thoroughly stirred in the water until all smut balls float to the surface to be skimmed off. The bulletin in question may be obtained by addressing the State Experiment Station, Pullman, Wash.

Why Silos Fall Down

It is about time for someone to start an investigation to learn the reason why so many silos are falling down. Anyone who has occasion to read the various country weekly newspapers is astonished at the number of wood and concrete silos that are reported as falling over. It would be found perhaps that the reason in most cases embraced the old causes, cheap labor and cheap materials. The farmer should know that he cannot get good work and good goods unless he pays for them. If he intends to invest in a silo let him get the best that money can buy and let it be erected by the most responsible man in the business. In such a case the farmer will never be sorry. The best is the cheapest, in the long run.

Will Jones and Will Platt were in town the last of the week on business. The former is building a new house and a barn on his place across the Salmon river and has six men at work. Will Platt went on to Genesee and Moscow where he secured a fine Hereford bull to add to the Jones & Platt herds in the Plains country.—Grangeville Globe.

The Clouds Rolling By

Business is improving. Men are being hired. It isn't so hard as it was to borrow money—on good security. Ever see an ice jam in the spring? At first it looks as if it couldn't possibly be budged. Even dynamite doesn't faze it. But by and by the warm sun gets in its work; and then folks worry lest the jam should move too quickly and do as much damage by going as by staying. We don't say that the business problem is like an ice jam in every particular but there are resemblances. What saves the down country from being flooded by the spring thaw is that the melt by day is checked a little by the freeze by night. The derangement of the world's credit machinery, the conservatism of bankers and the war uncertainties now guarantee us against a flood of speculation. But to keep things moving in the right direction and at the proper pace, we need more sunshine. It is a time for courage, confidence, optimism. Not splashes, not splurges, not yet pinch-penny caution, but manly gumption, grit and go-ahead. Still superior to war news as a topic of interest, in the American home is where good values can be found in buying for home necessities at fair prices. We can't let eating and living lag until Europe moves for peace. The ordinary processes must go on—they are going on but slightly affected, save as we have allowed ourselves to be scared before we are hurt. Now that this great nation is regaining its wind and its poise, turn on more sunshine—give hope a shove.

The prices offered for wheat are the best since 1909 when wheat reached $1 per bushel but not until almost 30 per cent of the crop had been sold. Many growers expect to hold and hold for $1.25 per bushel, selling the next year for 60 cents.

Why the Youth's Companion Should Be in Every Family

"If I could take only one paper," said the late Mr. Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court, "it would be the Youth's Companion—a little of everything in a nutshell, and unbiased." The Companion is a family paper in the completest sense. It provides reading that, without failing to interest the young, still interests the mature. It unites young and old through their common enjoyment of delightful fiction, agreeable miscellany, and the clear exposition of public questions.

So carefully is it edited, so wisely are its contents, that it would easily supply a family with entertaining fiction, up-to-date information and wholesome fun, if no other periodical entered the house.

If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is today, let us send you sample copies and the Forecast for 1915.

New subscribers who send $2.00 for the fifty two issues of 1915 will receive free the remaining issues of 1914, besides a copy of The Companion Home Calendar for 1915.

That was a good audience we had last Sunday night, considering the rain and storm at the time of the evening service, and we are sure the audience will be much larger next Sunday night so come early and get a good seat. You cannot spend an hour more profitably on Sunday evening anywhere than in one of our churches and this church gives a cordial invitation to everybody. Always a special invitation to strangers and to men.

Thanksgiving

You may feast well on Thanksgiving day and pride yourself on your ability to set a good table, but unless you are able with your present enjoyment to look ahead and see that the future well spread table is assured, you have not the highest cause for thanksgiving. A bank account, persistently tended, means that you can have cause for giving thanks every year.

The big thing is not in being able to lay aside a considerable sum every month, but in persistently putting by a small amount. Sticking to it is what counts.

We make the account grow. So begin now, or keep on if already started, and have a continuing cause for thanksgiving.

Jimmie Winterfelt entered the 4th grade on Wednesday of this week. In the fourth and fifth grades last month 34 pupils received their quarter holidays. Last week the fourth and fifth grades had a perfect attendance of 35.

For home credit work in the 7th grade last month Wilhelmina Sampson received 85 hours and 40 minutes.

The seventh grade had no tardy marks all month and the eighth grade had only two.

Teacher trying to make clear the meaning of the word "mount" meaning to mount a horse. "Charles, what would you do if I told you to mount a horse?" Charles—"I'd stuff it!"

Mrs. Horace Sampson of Eureka, Montana and Mrs. Glenn Sampson were high school visitors last Monday afternoon.

The third and fourth year English is now studying "The Idylls of the King" by Wm. Shakespeare. The second year English is studying Tenneyson's "Idylls of the King".

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the faculty at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hov last Tuesday evening in honor of their 10th wedding anniversary. The time was pleasantly spent in music and conversation.

Mr. Bob has arrived and will make his appearance before the public in the near future. Watch for him.

Thursday evening the Faculty was very pleasantly entertained at some of the parties by the parent members of the Christian church.

Upon entering the guests thought Alladin and his wonderful lamp must have been employed for, where as they had been grown-ups they now found themselves transformed into children.

In a twinkling, the scene was changed into a schoolroom, after which, each responded to roll call with an appropriate quotation from Mother Goose. The opening exercises followed with a song "Twenty Frogs," which seemed to be a general favorite with all as it was sung with a great deal of spirit.

The subjects studied were geography, arithmetic and spelling, in which most proved themselves proficient. A great deal of enjoyment was derived from the guessing games and the spelling match was especially exciting. If one does not know the fun to be had from spelling, let him supply "buzz" for every vowel and then spell.

Altogether it was one of the most enjoyable affairs the teachers had attended for some time and each extends a hearty vote of thanks to the members of the Christian church.

How to Prevent Croup
It may be a surprise to you to learn that in many cases croup can be prevented. Mrs. H. M. Jones, Ellida, Ohio, relates her experience as follows. "My little boy is subject to croup. During the past winter I kept a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and when he began having that croupy cough I would give him one or two doses of it and it would break the attack. I like it better for children than any other cough medicine because children take it willingly and it is safe and reliable." Obtainable everywhere.

Chamberlain's Tablets
This is a medicine intended especially for the treatment of biliousness and constipation. It is meeting with great success and rapidly gaining in favor and popularity. Obtainable everywhere.

GENESEEE LIGHTING RATES TO BE REDUCED

Public Utilities Commission Has Ordered W. W. P. Co. to Reduce Rate

According to a recent ruling of the public utilities commission at Boise in the lighting rates for domestic purposes a material reduction was secured which will go into immediate effect. Such reduction will effect Moscow, Troy and Genesee. C. F. Burr represented Genesee in the hearing before the utilities commission.

The complaint against the Washington Water Power company was filed by the commission several months ago and recently a hearing was held at Boise. At that time the company offered to fix a rate of 12 cents per kilowatt hour maximum if the commission would accept it and dismiss the complaint. The commission refused to accept the tender and took the matter under advisement until further data could be secured.

The new rates as just announced are the first 8 kilowatts or less is $1 per month, with a graduated scale of the next 12 kilowatts 11 cents, next 10 kilowatts 10 cents, and all over the 30 kilowatts is 8 cents per kilowatt. An approximate reduction from 15 cents to 12 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 8 kilowatt was secured for Genesee.

It is estimated that the new rates will effect a saving of about $25 per month in the cost of the city lights.

Shipping Flour by Mail
The Cottonwood Flour Mill company will ship 400 barrels of flour by parcels post to Riggins, on the upper Salmon river and the saving effected over the regular freight charges will amount to $672. The shipment will be made in 40-barrel lots and the first shipment will be sent out in the next few days.

The flour will go from Cottonwood to Granby, by train and from Granbyville to Riggins is a two-days' stage route over rough roads. The regular freight charge from Cottonwood to Riggins is 2 cents per pound or 96 cents for the 48 pound sack used while the parcels post rate from Cottonwood to Riggins for this freight is 54 cents. ### INTERESTING SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Many Things of Importance Discussed—Routine Business Transacted

The regular monthly meeting of the school board was held Monday night with all members present except Directors Lambert and Meyer, and with President Martinson presiding.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved, after which the following bills were allowed and warrants ordered for the amounts: John W. Graham Co., supplies $31.50; Follett Bros. Merc. Co. .... 1.75; A. Murphy ..... 3.75; J. R. Wells ..... 20.30; Postlath Lbr. Co., lumber ..... 75.00.

Two important results have followed: thousands of people, largely of foreign birth, accustomed to send their savings abroad, are now patrons of our postal-savings system; the school board has made small repairs on the playground apparatus; the society had placed in the park for the children. The tetter-totters were in bad condition, as were also the swings, the rings having become so worn that they are no longer safe. The cost will be very small and the board consented to have the work done.

There was some considerable discussion regarding some pupils who are within school age not attending school, it being stated that proper reasons for their non-attendance had not been given by parents and that unless such reasons could be given the compulsory school law must necessarily be invoked.

It was decided by the board that there would be no school on Friday after Thanksgiving and that it would not be necessary to make up the time as the teachers had taught on Columbus day, which is a legal holiday. This arrangement will give the teachers an opportunity to go to their homes for Thanksgiving.

Superintendent Hov mentioned the fact that there would be a parent-teachers meeting held in the school building on Friday night of next week—November 20. He asked the opinion of the board regarding the matter, stating that it is absolutely necessary to have the cooperation of the parents in order to make the school a success.

It is the intention at this time to hold these meetings at stated intervals during the school year in order that matters of vital importance to both pupils and teachers may be discussed that all may understand what is necessary to make our school a success.

There has been considerable "cold water" thrown upon the school in the past and those who are not satisfied with the present conditions are invited to attend this meeting that they may see what is actually being done. The manual training department, recently installed, is in itself a revelation to those who have no idea what is going on there. The equipment is inexpensive, but good, and the boys are spending many profitable hours there—and not only there, but at their homes along the same line.

POSTAL SAVINGS NOT AFFECTED BY WAR

The war in Europe is proving a big boon to postal-savings in this country. From the very day hostilities opened across the seas postal-savings receipts began to increase by leaps and bounds and withdrawals fell off, a result entirely contrary to the predictions of many well-informed persons who, in their imagination, saw lines of feverish depositors at postoffice pay-windows anxious to again return their savings to the savings and bond-belt depositories where they came before in trusted to Uncle Sam.

But the forecasters failed to reckon on the absolute confidence of the American citizen, regardless of the flag that first met his eyes, in the ability and purpose of the Government to carry out its obligations not only among the nations of the earth, but with the humblest citizen of our land.

Two important results have followed: thousands of people, largely of foreign birth, accustomed to send their savings abroad, are now patrons of our postal-savings system; the school board has made small repairs on the playground apparatus; the society had placed in the park for the children. ### AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITS

Some Fine Varieties of Spuds and Corn on Display at the City Banks

The banks have on display a number of prize winning agricultural exhibits grown by the farmers of Genesee.

At the Exchange bank are four very large potatoes of the Burbank variety grown by John Krier. Nine fine smooth potatoes weighing over 10 lbs. were grown by Jack Jones. Four fine smooth ones of the Russet variety not quite so large but an excellent table variety, grown by John Friedrichs. Probably the three largest potatoes on exhibition were grown by A. A. Haymond. A turnip that would make several meals for the average family was also shown and was grown by B. H. Schooner.

At the First Bank are exhibits of corn and potatoes. The Dent corn and Burbank variety of potatoes are in the lead. An exhibit of six ears of yellow and white Dent corn by W. J. Patrick, eight miles southeast of Genesee was planted May 15, and picked between the 20th of August and September 1. Two ears of white amber-tipped corn by W. J. Patrick, eight miles southeast of Genesee was planted May 15 and picked August 1 and 2. Also four ears of yellow Dent were grown by Mr. Geer. The ears of corn on exhibition are small but are well-filled and the kernels are hard and of uniform size. All of the corn on exhibition is of the 90-day variety and demonstrates the fact that corn when acclimated can be grown with considerable success in this section.

Besides the corn are several creditable exhibits of potatoes. Two large potatoes of the Burbank variety grown by Sam Stucker, weight 58 oz. One potato weighing 3 lbs. and 10 oz. raised by Jacob Tonning is quite a curiosity. Three very large potatoes of the 90-day variety are also on exhibition here.

Coyote Pelts Prime
The following clipping from the Spokesman-Review will no doubt be of interest to coyote hunters in the United States, is being built by W. H. Jones of Duggar, Indiana, on his 1800-acre ranch near that city.

The barn is to be 365 feet long and 24 feet wide. When completed it will hold 400 head of cattle. A car load of telephone poles and three car loads of cement were used in the foundation. The silo adjoining the barn is filled with corn from 145 acres of corn. The silage is said to be the largest in the United States.

It is very evident that Mr. Jones believes in ensilage and cattle. While this is rather a large scale operation, it is a combination that is hard to beat. "Ask the man who owns one."

Rural Telephones
The telephone is one of the most profitable business agencies that the farmer can employ. It affords him facilities for keeping in constant communication with the markets, provides a sitting room for the community where the families can assemble and discuss the events of the day without the inconvenience of travel or loss of time, and in sickness and emergencies, it renders a divine service.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Not Expected to Interfere With Northwest Livestock Show at Lewiston

The ravages of the foot and mouth disease among cattle, sheep and hogs in the middle states has reached immense proportions, the quarantine in Chicago and having Illinois as a center, has spread until now fourteen states are under quarantine and Mississippi is being watched. All shipments from Canada are being prohibited and the disease will spread to the northwest. The Chicago markets are being supplied with shipments of dressed meats from Kansas City.

Grave fears are being expressed by Latah county stock men that the disease will spread to the northwest. It is said that so far the disease has not prevented entries at the Northwest Live Stock show at Lewiston as no stock will be admitted that is under quarantine and must pass four inspectors before it can reach here.

The seriousness of the disease is due to the extreme ease in spreading it. In fact, the symptoms of the disease are ulcers in the mouth and around the hoofs which is seldom fatal but is said to decrease the commercial value of stock 50 per cent.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent the disease reaching the Northwest.

At The Opera House
Fred G. Helm presented "David Copperfield," a motion picture play in seven reels at the opera house, Saturday evening. The pictures were exceptionally good and were viewed by a fair-sized audience, but all who witnessed it were well pleased. The pictures were clear and closely connected and each motion picture plays as "David Copperfield" tend to educate and uplift besides furnishing an evening's entertainment.

"Joan of Arc," a historic motion picture play of five reels will be presented Saturday, November 14.

The Ladies Aitar society of the Catholic church will give an entertainment in the opera house Friday evening, November 13, beginning at 8 o'clock. The program will consist of four reels of motion pictures, "The Blue Danube," a chorus by the Catholic choir, and more. Adeline Johnson, an Edwin Smolt and a playlet, "Cousin Jerusha" by home talent players. Dancing will follow the show and a general good time is assured. The following day the ladies will hold a bazaar in the Sullivan building.

The Farm Boy's Creed
"I believe that the country which God made is more beautiful than the city which man made; that life out of doors is more healthful than the natural life of man. I believe that work with nature is more inspiring than work with the most intricate machinery. I believe that the dignity of life depends on the work you do, but how you do it; that opportunity comes to a boy on the farm as often as to the boy in the city; that life is larger and freer and happier on the farm than in the town; that my success depends not upon my location, but upon myself; not upon my dreams but upon what I actually do; not upon luck but upon pluck; I believe in working when you work, and in playing when you play, and in giving and demanding a square deal in every act of life."

SEVENTH NATIONAL APPLE SHOW

APPLE SHOW—SPOKANE
Monday morning, November 16, the Seventh National Apple Show and Fruit Products Congress will open in Spokane with displays of the finest apples from practically every district in the Pacific northwest. Manager Gordon C. Corbally announces that all plans are practically completed for what he believes will be the most important event in the history of the northwestern orchard industry.

The fruit products congress will commence Monday morning, November 16, in the big apple show auditorium and will continue until Saturday evening with at least two evening sessions. More than 100 leading fruit growers and marketing experts will lead the discussions and approximately 400 other practical orchardists from the different districts will be present to participate and to give their experiences.

Six men from the United States department of agriculture will be on the program as will also the horticultural commissioners of Washington, Idaho and Montana. The horticulturist of the department of agriculture of British Columbia will be in attendance all week, accompanied by the commissioner of markets and twelve or fifteen district leaders from across the line.

The program will begin Monday morning in the big apple show auditorium, followed by a full discussion of pruning the bearing trees to increase the yield and the quality of the fruit. The results to be gained from scientific thinning will close the first day.

Tuesday will be devoted to diseases and pests and the program is so full that it will almost certainly run into the evening. There will be enough fire blight authorities in attendance to take up the larger part of the day.

Wednesday will consider the general handling of the orchard with special reference to cover crops of alfalfa, clover and peas. The afternoon will consider picking, grading, packing, shipping and the general handling of the fruit for market. Some action toward demanding more exact grading rules and more perfect packing is expected to come out of these meetings.

Thursday will be the by-products congress called for the purpose of endeavoring to perfect an organization that will systematically take hold of the general problem of utilizing the low grade fruits.

On Friday and Saturday the general subjects of orchard accounting and growers' organization and marketing will hold the floor.

WASHINGTON GOOD ROADS MEET

State Association Convenes at Spokane November 18-19

The maintenance of roads throughout the state will provide the big theme for discussion at the fifth annual convention of the Washington State Good Roads association to be held in Spokane, November 18 and 19.

"At this meeting," states Secretary Frank W. Guilbert of the Spokane County Good Roads association, "an effort will be made to have the contribution of the permanent highway fund so that 7 1/2 percent will be used for maintenance. We also will endeavor to see that state road funds set aside for maintenance will be expended for that purpose and not for construction of new roads."

Charles McMullen, D. W. Roderick, C. S. LaForge, W. O. Dow, George W. Coburn, John Scott, James Cowan Williams, J. M. Wade, H. E. Crowl, P. S. Darlington, O. T. Clawson, C. A. Leedy and George Scheidtmann have been chosen to represent the fruit growers of the Wenatchee district at the seventh National Apple Show and Fruit Products congress to be held at Spokane November 16 to 21.

Corrected returns on the Washington legislative election for the year 1915 were valued at $11,112,224, as compared with $15,294,858 last year in the like period. Total imports for these three months in 1914 were $19,054,670, as compared with $14,782,134 in the corresponding period of 1913.

Big Wheat Increase. The following is a comparison of the principal foreign exports of Puget Sound for August, September and October this year and last:

Wheat, bushels, 1913, 1,007,809, 1914, 3,017,726; flour, barrels, 1913, 436, 199, 1914, 377,266; cotton, bales, 20, 128, 1914, 11,380; humber, 1000 feet, 1913, 117,529, 1914, 78,977; canned salmon, lbs., 8,089,706, 1914, 5,938,892.

Tax Imports Gains. Japan promises to take as much cotton as usual. Puget Sound is now the principal tea port of the United States, with nearly 4,000,000 pounds last month. This increase, due to the other increase of imports, is due to the commanding of the Canadian Pacific liners by the British government. As arranged by the executive committee between British Columbia and the orient, and the north Pacific commerce goes to the Japanese steamships plying to Puget Sound.

CANAL GREAT BOON

GRAIN EXPORT TRADE THIS YEAR FROM PACIFIC COAST BEST IN YEARS.

PRICES GO UPWARD ALSO

Portland and Seattle, Owing to World War, Are Principal Tea Ports of United States—Japan Takes Our Cotton as Usual.

Portland, Ore.—The Panama canal has been the salvation of the Pacific coast's grain export trade this year, according to a statement compiled by the Merchants' exchange of Portland, based on reports from local exporters. In spite of a decided falling off in the wheat demand and the fact that no cargoes were dispatched for the European continent for several weeks after the war broke out, total shipments for the months of August, September and October were only 74,177 bushels short of the total exportation for the corresponding period last season. This, exporters declare, could not have been possible had it been necessary to route grain via Cape Horn or the straits, with attendant loss of cargo in the southern waters by hostile warships.

Big Jump in Values. Within the three months of the grain exporting season already passed Portland exported 2,533,633 bushels of wheat, valued at $2,532,125, and the same amount in the same period last year valued at 2,630,480 bushels, but valued at only $2,880,389. The climb in the market is responsible for the increased value of grain exports and in that respect the September comparison of exportations has been issued. For August during August the average was 97 1/2 cents and last August it was 83 1/2 cents, the September average was 97 1/2 cents and last August it was 83 1/2 cents, with $1.06 again prevailing in October, as against 88 1/2 cents the same period in 1915.

Steamers that have sailed for Europe via the canal with grain cargoes, those in the river to load and others listed number 15. Thirty-three sailing ships have been chartered to transport grain, either en route or in port, bringing the total of vessels in the grain fleet to date to 48, with the season less than half over.

Atlantic Trade Increased. Besides affording a safe route for ships carrying cargo to the east, the canal has increased Portland trade with the Atlantic coast to a remarkable extent.

Double Puget Sound Trade. Seattle.—The opening of the Panama canal has more than doubled the water traffic between Puget Sound and Atlantic coast ports.

Total foreign exports for August, September and October of this year were valued at $11,112,224, as compared with $15,294,858 last year in the like period. Total imports for these three months in 1914 were $19,054,670, as compared with $14,782,134 in the corresponding period of 1913.

Belgian Committee of New York Asks All Americans to Give Aid.

New York.—An appeal to the American people for food and money to relieve the distress of Belgians who are homeless and starving as a result of the war has been issued by the Belgian relief committee in New York, which, in cooperation with the Rockefeller foundation, has arranged to send food direct to Belgium as rapidly as full cargoes can be secured. Full quantities of food must be imported from America in order to meet absolute necessities of the famine-stricken non-combatants, according to representatives of the American committee in Belgium.

In order to avoid competition in the purchase of supplies and the consequent increase in prices, the relief committee urges that citizens of the commerce, boards of trade, women's clubs or other organizations throughout the United States send money contributions or non-perishable foods to the Belgian relief committee here. All supplies go to Belgium free.

On account of private business Judge D. W. No appointment is announced to fill the vacancy on the commission as yet. The two remaining commissioners, constituting a majority, are J. B. Holmquist of Boise, president, and Axel P. LIVE STOCK DISEASED HOOF AND MOUTH AILMENT CLOSES THE STOCK YARD AT CHICAGO.

MANY STATES QUARANTINE

Stock Valued at Several Million Dollars Under Treatment of Federal Officers at Chicago—Annual Big Show Called Off.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Disinfecting at the Chicago union stockyards, which suspended business on account of the hoof and mouth disease, continues in the expectation that the place would be in a thoroughly sanitary condition by Nov. 14.

Dr. O. E. Dyson, state veterinarian, said that although the quarantine had been ordered to run until November 16, it would be lifted before that time if it were shown that the yards were in a fit condition. Every confidence that the disease is well under control here was expressed after it was found that only a few more suspected cattle have developed cases.

The new cases were among prize cattle recently exhibited at the national dairy show here. About 30 of the 800 prize bulls and cows were condemned, but were not killed. The owners, who valued the cattle at several million dollars, appealed to the department of agriculture at Washington that special efforts be made to secure the removal of the infected stock to special treatment for experimental purposes.

Trace Every Shipment. With the federal quarantine against the foot and mouth disease covering practically every suspected cattle market, officials of the bureau of animal industry have organized a force of inspectors to trace every shipment of cattle made from the infected area during the last two months.

Outbreak Worst Known. Secretary of the department of agriculture Houston said Monday this epidemic was "one of the most contagious and destructive diseases of cattle and sheep and exceeded in area affected any of the five previous outbreaks in this country."

Unless the infection can be immediately localized and quickly eradicated, he said, it threatened untold losses among live stock.

Nebraska Order Issued. The Nebraska sanitary live stock commission issued an order of quarantine against cattle, sheep and swine shipped from Chicago to the state since October 1.

The same rule also applies to many other states.

Stock Show Cancelled. Kansas City.—Directors of the American Royal Live Stock Show met here today to announce the postponement of the show for this year because of the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease.

The union district Sunday school convention which was held in the Christian church Tuesday afternoon and evening was only fairly well attended. The address of the afternoon and evening was made by Rev. Pendleton of the Inland Empire Sunday School association and was considered fine by those fortunate enough to hear it. The Sunday school work carried on by this association is entirely interdenominational.

Pound Social
The members of the Christian church perpetuated a very pleasant surprise on Rev. H. F. Barstow and wife last Friday evening. It was in the nature of a pound social. Each one came with a package and not many were confined to the pound, but many pounds there being gifts of flour, potatoes, sugar, coffee, fruit, etc. The evening was spent in a very pleasant manner. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the ladies.

J. S. LARRABEE

afternoon it was for my benefit. If you do not go, I shall expose you." Courtlandt opened the gate.

"Why, in that case, being the American that I am, without any particular reverence for royalty or nobility, as it is known to you, I shall go to bed soundly tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, in the dining room, in the bust in the hand upon, wherever I may happen to find you."

Courtlandt turned on his heel and hurried back to the villa. He did not look over his shoulder. It had been might have felt pity for the young man who leaned heavily against the gate, his burning face pressed upon the rain-soaked sere.

When Courtlandt knocked at the door and was admitted, he apologized. "I came back for my umbrella."

"Umbrella!" exclaimed the padre. "Why, we had no umbrella. I shall not look over his shoulder. It is probably waiting for us this very minute by the porter's lodge."

"Well, I am certainly absent-minded."

"Absent-minded!" scoffed Abbott. "You never forget anything in all your life, unless it was to go to bed. You were waiting for me to come back. In any case, I think we'd better be gone, Padre. And by the way, Herr Rosen has not been brought to the gate. He is leaving Bellagio in the morning."

Nora turned her face once more to the window.

CHAPTER XII.

The Ball at the Villa.

"It is all very petty, my child," said the padre. "Life is made up of bigger things. The little ones should be ignored."

To which Nora replied: "To a woman the little things are everything; they are the threads of the tapestry of life, the necessary things. What you call the big things in life are accidents. And, oh! I have pride. I am proud of my dress, of my hair, of my room; for the padre's dressiness this morning had stirred her deeply. He called her a callow girl, a novice, and a stammerer. But you know, as well as I do, that yours is resentment, anger, indignation. Yes, you have pride. It has not been brought to this affair. Pride is that within which prevents us from doing mean or sordid acts; and you could not do one or the other if you tried. It is the barrier in you which should be developed."

"No mercy!"

"No mercy, the patience to weigh the right or wrong of a thing."

"Padre, I have eyes, eyes! I saw!"

"Does the dog bark at an eagle that permitted the rain to beat squarely into his face. The next turn in the road that they both sought. But Nora did not stir."

Herr Rosen stopped and turned.

"You called?"

"Yes," Courtlandt had caught up with him just as Herr Rosen was about to open the gate. "Just a moment, Herr Rosen, with a hand upon the bars. I shall not detain you long. There was studied insolence in the tones and the gestures which accompanied them."

"Be brief, if you please."

"My name is Edward Courtlandt, as doubtless you have heard."

"I shall not detain you. It is difficult to remember all the introductions."

"Precisely. That is why I take the liberty of recalling it to you, so that you will not forget."

A pause. Dark patches of water were spreading across their shoulders. Little rivulets ran down their arms, raised as it was against the bars. "I do not see how it may concern me," replied Herr Rosen finally with an insolence more marked than Courtlandt's.

"In Paris we met one night, at the stage entrance of the Opera. I pushed you aside, not knowing you were there. You had offered your services; the door of Miss Harrigan's limousine."

"I apologize for that. Tomorrow morning you will leave Bellagio for Varenna. Somewhere between nine and ten the first train leaves for Milan."

"Varenna! Milan!"

"Exactly. You speak English as naturally and fluently as if you were born to the tongue. Thus, you will leave for Milan. What becomes of you after that? Is it of no consequence to me. Am I making myself clear?"

"Verdamp! Do I believe my ears?"

"Turly. Are you telling me to leave Bellagio tomorrow morning?"

"As directly as I can."

Herr Rosen's face became as red as his name. He was a brave young man, but there was danger of his being involved in the blue eyes boring into his own. It came to a physical contact, but he realized that he would get the worst of it. He put his hand to his throat; his very impotence was choking him.

"Yes, Highness..."

"Highness!" Herr Rosen stepped back.

"No. Your Highness will readily see the wisdom of my concern for your hasty departure when I add that I know all about the little house in Varenna, that you are to be married by the chief of the Patrian phalanx and the minister of war. If you annoy Miss Harrigan with your equal attention."

"Got! This is too much!"

"Wait! I am stronger than you are. Do not make me force you to leave me to the traitor and murderer about this intrigue like a blackguard, and that I know your Highness not to be. The matter is in my hands, you have already had your way, you may not learn restraint. Your presence here is an insult to Miss Harrigan, and it is as pleasant to my taste it possible that Nora may care a little for me?" He turned his head toward her eagerly.

"Who knows?" She wanted him to have it over with, to learn the truth that to Nora Harrigan he would never be more than an amiable comrade. He would then have none to turn to but her. What mattered it if her own heart ached so she might soothe the hurt in the hand upon, wherever I may happen to find you."

"It's a rummy old world. Here I've gone all getting nasty years."

"Twenty-six!" smiling.

"Well, that's a long time. Never bothered my head about a woman Selig?"

"Had a good time. And then I met Nora."

"If only she'd been stand-offish, like these other singers, why, I'd have been all right today. But she's such a brick! She's such a good fellow!" She treats us all alike; sings when we ask her to; always ready for a romp. Think of her making us all take the Knickerbocker and we marched over to the fountain singing 'Mary had a little lamb.' Barefooted in the grass! When a man marries he doesn't want a wife half so much as a good comrade; somebody to slap him on the back in the morning to hearten him up for his work, and to cheer him up when he comes home tired, or disappointed, or unsuccessful. No matter what mood he's in. Is my English getting nasty years?"

"No, I understand all you say," Her hand rested a little heavier upon his shoulder.

"Nora would be that kind of a wife. Honor, anger, valor, fire, as Stevenson says. Hang the picture; what am I going to do with it?"

"Honor, anger, valor, fire," Celeste repeated slowly. "Yes, that is Nora." A bitter little smile moved her lips as she recalled the happenings of the last two days. But no; he must find out for himself; he must meet the hurt from Nora, not from her. How long, folded about her arms, you know your friend, Mr. Courtlandt!"

"Boys together," playing a light tattle with his mahaback.

"How old is he?"

"About thirty-two or three."

"He is very rich?"

"Once he was. He throws it away, but not fast enough to get rid of it."

"He is what you say in English..."

"Well," with mock gravity, "I shouldn't like to be the tiger that crossed his path. Wid; that's the word for it."

"Nora laughing. Ah, I know! I should say dissipated."

"Courtlandt? Come, now, Celeste; does the dog bark at an eagle?"

"No."

"He drinks when he chooses, he fits with a pretty woman when he chooses, he smokes the tobacco there is when he chooses; and he gives them all up when he chooses. He is like the seasons; he comes and he goes, and nobody can change his habits."

"He has had no affair?"

"None, Courtlandt, as you say heart. It's a mechanical device to keep his blood in circulation; that's all. I am the most intimate friend he has, and yet I know he has a woman who lives and where he goes."

She let her hand fall from his shoulder. She was glad that he did not know her relation to the man who were two actors from one of the theaters. He did not come to Varenna, but he was being watched. He was found and sent home the night before your release."

"I'm sorry. But it was so like him. He was a man of his word. He was a woman who had of modifying either good or bad impulses! It would have been fine of you to have stopped when you had had the last of it."

"Padre, one would believe that you had taken up his defense!"

"If I had I should have to leave it after following a situation row and shall not see you again before you go to America. I have bid adieu to my return to Rome tomorrow, my last admission is, be patient; observe; guard against that impulse born in your blood to move hastily to form any accusations."

The artist enatched up his brushes, and ruined the painting forthwith, for all time. The foreground was, in his opinion, beyond redemption; so, with a savage humor, he rapidly limned in a score of impossible trees, turned midday into sunset, with a riot of color in a minute. A diplomat at the dinner in Washington took down the season's bill. "You ravish all hearts," the diplomat said to her. "You make me feel in a minute, you are a diplomat and the belle, and slaves for the master."

"They Looked Dangerous."

A little three-year-old boy, who from time of infancy had been under the care of his father and nurse, was visiting his grandmother after convalescence from tonsillitis. An open fire attracted him. After watching the flames for a moment, he suddenly uttered a cry, "Grandma, are those red spots germs?"—Christian Register.

MOST REMARKABLE OF CITIES

Small California Metropolis Used Only As Medium of the Photography Productions.

America, the home of the moving-picture industry, possesses a city that it always on the move. It is known as Universal City, and is situated in far-away California. It is one of the most remarkable cities of modern times. It has streets and houses and institutions, a mayor and corporation, and the usual civic equipment, but it is razed and reconstructed maybe a hundred times in a year, assuming a different form at each removal. It is ancient and modern, at one and the same time. Elizabethan houses face a Norman stronghold, the wigwags of a tribe of marauding Indians stand in front of a typically English country home, and a Roman forum vies with a sprawling commercial factory.

"Universal City," writes William B. Pittuck in the Millgate Monthly, "covers an area of over 600 acres and contains a community of over 1,000, all of whom, from the oldest to the youngest, find their livelihood depend on this moving-picture production. A single house, or a series of houses, may be erected for pictures one day and be dismantled the next, so that a small village of a hundred or more is always sedulously engaged; while the various costumes and uniforms a contingent of 80 seamstresses are kept busy making up the wardrobe of the general wardrobe of the city contains over 9,000 varied types of wearing apparel."

Coiffure From the Days of the Empire

THOMAS SANTSCHI

If you are looking for something in a style of hair dressing consider this revival of one of the fascinating achievements of the time of the Empire. After due consideration one is constrained to ponder as to whether we have ever had anything better since then. A century and more has faded into the past since this coiffure played its part, along with other super-excellent modes, which helped the illustrious Napoleon's time to immortalize their charms.

This pretty arrangement of the hair in waves and short curls is not intended to be worn with everyday clothes in the prosaic business of everyday living. It is an affair of evening dress, when satins and laces and jewels and flowers bespeak the occasion. Such a style of hair dressing so remarkably good that it challenges the classic models of the Greeks and divides honors with them.

Made the Actors Work.

"Under Arizona Skies" is the title of a frontier drama just finished by Director William Selig. The picture requirements in the story is the burning of a shack by Indians. This was successfully done, but the neighboring vegetation had to be destroyed and the tire company—directors, actors, and all—was forced to take a hand in fighting what might have resulted in a very serious fire. The picture was finished hours before the flames were finally subdued and the work had been so strenuous that several of the actors fainted.

Will Show Arizona Scenes.

Webster Cullison is getting along so well with the officials at Tucson, Ariz., where his company's western studio is located, that he has entered into an agreement to film the numerous points of interest in and about the picturesque town. Among the pictures will be views of the historic San Xavier mission, and the reclamation project of the Tucson Farms company.

Has Her Own "Animal Farm."

Helen Holmes, the lead who plays opposite J. P. McGowan at Glendale, is going to add to her own "animal farm" in the large grounds of her home. The carpenters are busy making a series of cages to hold her pets, and a special home is being constructed for "Stripes," a big side winder snake presented to her by an old prospector from Death Valley.

Popular Novel Serialized.

Harold MacGrath's novel, "The Man on the Box," has been serialized in the Selig Western. The story, set in New York, was a great success. The story, you remember, is built on the old but favorite plot of a hero discovering the identity of a man who is supposed to be near his lady love. Max Fligman and Lolita Robertson play the leading roles.

Gaby Deelya On Screen.

Provided the war does not interfere, the motion picture art will soon be enriched by the screen appearance of Gaby Deelya. The International art started work two weeks ago in London on a production. The picture is an original conception, entitled "The Triumph."

Movie Showed Him Misfortune.

A farmer in the county of Kent, England, went to a moving picture show in that town during a visit and learned by a picture shown on the screen that his cow had been destroyed the stables and sheds at his farm.

Nora, without retaining the false smile, suddenly found emptiness in everything.

"Selig!" said Herr Rosen.

"I am too tired. Some other time. He did not press her. Instead he whispered in his own tongue: "You are the most adorable woman in the world."

And Nora turned upon him a pair of eyes blank with astonishment. It was as though she had been asleep and he had rudely awakened her. His infatuation blinded him to the truth; he saw in the look a feminine desire to throw the others off the track as the sentiment expressed in his whispered words.

The hour passed tolerably well. Herr Rosen observed the padre, rose and excused himself. He took the steps leading abruptly down the terrace to the carriage road. He had been by the other way, the marble stone stairs which began at the porter's lodge, back of the villa.

"Padre," whispered Courtlandt, "am I going. Do not follow me. I shall explain to you when we meet again."

The padre signified that he understood. Harrigan protested vigorously, but smiling and shaking his head, Courtlandt went away.

Nora ran to the window. She could see Herr Rosen striding along, down the winding road, his head in the air. Presently, from behind a cluster of mulberries, the figure of another man came into view. He was going at a dog-trot, his hat settled at an angle that permitted the rain to beat squarely into his face. The next turn in the road that they both sought. But Nora did not stir.

Herr Rosen stopped and turned.

"You called?"

"Yes, Highness..."

"Highness!" Herr Rosen stepped back.

"No. Your Highness will readily see the wisdom of my concern for your hasty departure when I add that I know all about the little house in Varenna, that you are to be married by the chief of the Patrian phalanx and the minister of war. If you annoy Miss Harrigan with your equal attention."

"Got! This is too much!"

"Wait! I am stronger than you are. Do not make me force you to leave me to the traitor and murderer about this intrigue like a blackguard, and that I know your Highness not to be. The matter is in my hands, you have already had your way, you may not learn restraint. Your presence here is an insult to Miss Harrigan, and it is as pleasant to my taste

THOMAS SANTSCHI

Made the Actors Work

"Under Arizona Skies" is the title of a frontier drama just finished by Director William Selig. The picture requirements in the story is the burning of a shack by Indians. This was successfully done, but the neighboring vegetation had to be destroyed and the tire company—directors, actors, and all—was forced to take a hand in fighting what might have resulted in a very serious fire. The picture was finished hours before the flames were finally subdued and the work had been so strenuous that several of the actors fainted.

Will Show Arizona Scenes

Webster Cullison is getting along so well with the officials at Tucson, Ariz., where his company's western studio is located, that he has entered into an agreement to film the numerous points of interest in and about the picturesque town. Among the pictures will be views of the historic San Xavier mission, and the reclamation project of the Tucson Farms company.

Has Her Own "Animal Farm"

Helen Holmes, the lead who plays opposite J. P. McGowan at Glendale, is going to add to her own "animal farm" in the large grounds of her home. The carpenters are busy making a series of cages to hold her pets, and a special home is being constructed for "Stripes," a big side winder snake presented to her by an old prospector from Death Valley.

Popular Novel Serialized

Harold MacGrath's novel, "The Man on the Box," has been serialized in the Selig Western. The story, set in New York, was a great success. The story, you remember, is built on the old but favorite plot of a hero discovering the identity of a man who is supposed to be near his lady love. Max Fligman and Lolita Robertson play the leading roles.

Gaby Deelya On Screen

Provided the war does not interfere, the motion picture art will soon be enriched by the screen appearance of Gaby Deelya. The International art started work two weeks ago in London on a production. The picture is an original conception, entitled "The Triumph."

Movie Showed Him Misfortune

A farmer in the county of Kent, England, went to a moving picture show in that town during a visit and learned by a picture shown on the screen that his cow had been destroyed the stables and sheds at his farm.

CHAPTER XI—Continued.

Nora, without retaining the false smile, suddenly found emptiness in everything.

"Selig!" said Herr Rosen.

"I am too tired. Some other time. He did not press her. Instead he whispered in his own tongue: "You are the most adorable woman in the world."

And Nora turned upon him a pair of eyes blank with astonishment. It was as though she had been asleep and he had rudely awakened her. His infatuation blinded him to the truth; he saw in the look a feminine desire to throw the others off the track as the sentiment expressed in his whispered words.

The hour passed tolerably well. Herr Rosen observed the padre, rose and excused himself. He took the steps leading abruptly down the terrace to the carriage road. He had been by the other way, the marble stone stairs which began at the porter's lodge, back of the villa.

"Padre," whispered Courtlandt, "am I going. Do not follow me. I shall explain to you when we meet again."

The padre signified that he understood. Harrigan protested vigorously, but smiling and shaking his head, Courtlandt went away.

Nora ran to the window. She could see Herr Rosen striding along, down the winding road, his head in the air. Presently, from behind a cluster of mulberries, the figure of another man came into view. He was going at a dog-trot, his hat settled at an angle that permitted the rain to beat squarely into his face. The next turn in the road that they both sought. But Nora did not stir.

Herr Rosen stopped and turned.

"You called?"

"Yes," Courtlandt had caught up with him just as Herr Rosen was about to open the gate. "Just a moment, Herr Rosen, with a hand upon the bars. I shall not detain you long. There was studied insolence in the tones and the gestures which accompanied them."

"Be brief, if you please."

"My name is Edward Courtlandt, as doubtless you have heard."

"I shall not detain you. It is difficult to remember all the introductions."

"Precisely. That is why I take the liberty of recalling it to you, so that you will not forget."

A pause. Dark patches of water were spreading across their shoulders. Little rivulets ran down their arms, raised as it was against the bars. "I do not see how it may concern me," replied Herr Rosen finally with an insolence more marked than Courtlandt's.

"In Paris we met one night, at the stage entrance of the Opera. I pushed you aside, not knowing you were there. You had offered your services; the door of Miss Harrigan's limousine."

"I apologize for that. Tomorrow morning you will leave Bellagio for Varenna. Somewhere between nine and ten the first train leaves for Milan."

"Varenna! Milan!"

"Exactly. You speak English as naturally and fluently as if you were born to the tongue. Thus, you will leave for Milan. What becomes of you after that? Is it of no consequence to me. Am I making myself clear?"

"Verdamp! Do I believe my ears?"

"Turly. Are you telling me to leave Bellagio tomorrow morning?"

"As directly as I can."

Herr Rosen's face became as red as his name. He was a brave young man, but there was danger of his being involved in the blue eyes boring into his own. It came to a physical contact, but he realized that he would get the worst of it. He put his hand to his throat; his very impotence was choking him.

"Yes, Highness..."

"Highness!" Herr Rosen stepped back.

"No. Your Highness will readily see the wisdom of my concern for your hasty departure when I add that I know all about the little house in Varenna, that you are to be married by the chief of the Patrian phalanx and the minister of war. If you annoy Miss Harrigan with your equal attention."

"Got! This is too much!"

"Wait! I am stronger than you are. Do not make me force you to leave me to the traitor and murderer about this intrigue like a blackguard, and that I know your Highness not to be. The matter is in my hands, you have already had your way, you may not learn restraint. Your presence here is an insult to Miss Harrigan, and it is as pleasant to my taste afternoon it was for my benefit. If you do not go, I shall expose you." Courtlandt opened the gate.

"Why, in that case, being the American that I am, without any particular reverence for royalty or nobility, as it is known to you, I shall go to bed soundly tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, in the dining room, in the bust in the hand upon, wherever I may happen to find you."

Courtlandt turned on his heel and hurried back to the villa. He did not look over his shoulder. It had been might have felt pity for the young man who leaned heavily against the gate, his burning face pressed upon the rain-soaked sere.

When Courtlandt knocked at the door and was admitted, he apologized. "I came back for my umbrella."

"Umbrella!" exclaimed the padre. "Why, we had no umbrella. I shall not look over his shoulder. It is probably waiting for us this very minute by the porter's lodge."

"Well, I am certainly absent-minded."

"Absent-minded!" scoffed Abbott. "You never forget anything in all your life, unless it was to go to bed. You were waiting for me to come back. In any case, I think we'd better be gone, Padre. And by the way, Herr Rosen has not been brought to the gate. He is leaving Bellagio in the morning."

Nora turned her face once more to the window.

CHAPTER XII.

The Ball at the Villa.

"It is all very petty, my child," said the padre. "Life is made up of bigger things. The little ones should be ignored."

To which Nora replied: "To a woman the little things are everything; they are the threads of the tapestry of life, the necessary things. What you call the big things in life are accidents. And, oh! I have pride. I am proud of my dress, of my hair, of my room; for the padre's dressiness this morning had stirred her deeply. He called her a callow girl, a novice, and a stammerer. But you know, as well as I do, that yours is resentment, anger, indignation. Yes, you have pride. It has not been brought to this affair. Pride is that within which prevents us from doing mean or sordid acts; and you could not do one or the other if you tried. It is the barrier in you which should be developed."

"No mercy!"

"No mercy, the patience to weigh the right or wrong of a thing."

"Padre, I have eyes, eyes! I saw!"

"Does the dog bark at an eagle that permitted the rain to beat squarely into his face. The next turn in the road that they both sought. But Nora did not stir."

Herr Rosen stopped and turned.

"You called?"

"Yes," Courtlandt had caught up with him just as Herr Rosen was about to open the gate. "Just a moment, Herr Rosen, with a hand upon the bars. I shall not detain you long. There was studied insolence in the tones and the gestures which accompanied them."

"Be brief, if you please."

"Varenna! Milan!"

ONE 10c. pouch of "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew, lasts longer than twice the money will buy in the old kind.

A new blend of mellow, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough. That's what makes it taste so good and why it gives you such comfort and satisfaction.

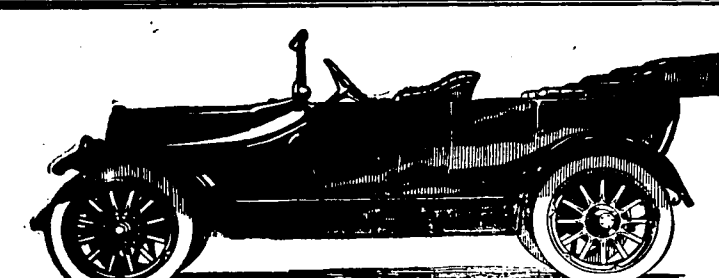

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. That's all right. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

Take a chew and chew about as you would have a good old one with your pipe. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco is a waste of time and money.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

The problem of dress for the Seattle high school girls is about to be solved.

The cooperation of the girls has been obtained in their efforts to get their work progressing toward an improvement in the situation. In general, dress should be suitable to the occasion, inconspicuous in line and color, simple as to trimming and expensive as to material. The best styles are middie blouses, or plain waists and dark skirts or Peter Thompson suits, also, one piece dresses of wool or cotton of simple line. The waist should be dressed simply and neatly without too large ribbons. Paint, earrings and conspicuous jewelry should not be worn. It is further suggested as desirable that a pocket be provided for lunch money and keys, as it would save loss of both property and time.—University of Washington Daily.

Meat Shortage Discussed

Addressing an audience composed of stock-raisers from practically every state in the Union, at the National Dairy Show convention recently held in Chicago, Secretary Houston of the United States Department of Agriculture declared the short meat supply to be one of the most serious problems confronting the country.

Mr. Houston approved the plan of cattle raising on large ranches and declared that no effort would be spared by the Federal government in furthering production from this source but insisted that the proper solution of this problem depended on an increased interest in livestock raising by farmers and in a more systematic control and eradication of hog cholera, cattle tick and tuberculosis.

Figures were quoted from government reports, showing that the production of meat in the United States during the past 14 years had fallen off 3,000,000,000 pounds and that the population of the nation during this time has increased 22,000,000.

COMPLETE VOTE IN LATAH COUNTY

Homer E. Ester is High Man— Fewer Votes Cast Than Two Years Ago

Below we give the total vote of all State and County Candidates, as determined by the official canvass of Latah County, for the general election, November 3rd.

The totals show a very close race between several candidates, and especially several of the legislative aspirants, Mr. Bohman and Mr. Green being tied for the third member of this body, and the tie will have to be broken by the state board of canvassers, by lot.

The total vote cast for governor, as determined by the sum of all candidates, was 4,459, or 497 votes less than the total vote cast for governor two years ago. The very noticeable decrease in this vote is due to the fact that a total of 1,555 for governor two years ago to a total vote of only 245 for governor this year. Also the socialist vote for governor has decreased from a total of 1,000 to 245. This decrease will bar both progressive and socialist parties from taking part in the primary election two years hence, as a party. In order to be recognized as a regular political party, they must cast at least 10 per cent of the total vote.

The largest vote received by any one candidate was 2,674, for Homer E. Ester, for Auditor. His majority was 22,216 votes, which is the largest majority ever received by a candidate in Latah county. The United States Senator

HOW WAR TAXES WILL AFFECT LOCAL BUSINESS

Chewing gum will cost a little bit more, tobacco will come higher, and cosmetics and intoxicating liquors, seats in the theaters and other luxuries or amusements will feel the effects of the special, war tax while almost every industry or line of business will have to bear slight additional expenses.

A theater seating 250 or less pays $25 a year tax, while seating from 250 to 500 cost $50 a year and from 500 to 800 cost $75 a year, and so on.

For every $500 transferred by sale of real estate, exclusive of encumbrance, the tax is 50c. Banks pay $1 for each $1,000 capital and surplus and undivided profits for the preceding year.

Promissory notes must carry 2c in stamps for every $100 or fraction thereof. All accumulations of any company, association or corporation as shown by certificates of profits and all transfers are taxed.

All tobacco dealers pay a tax of $4.80 a year up. Pool tables, billiard tables and bowling alleys are taxed $6 each per year. Each seat sold in a parlor car and every berth sold in a sleeper pays one cent. A dollar package of chewing gum carries a 4-cent stamp. The last of the war taxes affecting local interests take effect December 1.

Is Appreciative

The following letter from Assessor or Martinson is self-explanatory and needs no comment:

Dear Sir: I wish to say to my many friends in and about Genesee: Many thanks for the splendid vote which was given me. I certainly appreciate it very much and it makes me feel that my efforts have not been in vain. I have been generally appreciated and that my administration has been heartily endorsed. I wish to say that I shall continue to administer the office of Assessor in the same impartial, careful, and economical manner which has been pursued during my past term.

If at any time anyone feels that he has a grievance or that there is a mistake or something wrong I shall be glad to have them come in that I may be given an opportunity to correct any error or to right any wrong, if possible to do so. All I ask is to be given the same consideration which is given their own individual help in their store or on their farms, whichever it may be.

Very sincerely yours,
THEO. E. MARTINSON

Wheat Prices Fall Slump

Wheat prices fell about 3 cents a bushel Thursday and Friday. Blouses were quoted at $1.04 at interior points, with fortyfold and club about 5 cents less, while the red varieties were hovering around 90 cents, although in some instances higher prices were still quoted on all varieties for choice lots.

An unusual situation prevails in northwestern grain buying circles and for the first time since the season opened buyers are unable to purchase or growers desirous of selling. The former are holding out of the market in the hope that heavy December deliveries will depress the price further, and the latter are holding out in the hope that another advance, that it is predicted will carry quotations above the recent record mark, is due in the next few weeks.

Veteran dealers are of the same opinion as the farmers, but contend that the rise in prices will not materialize until after the first of the year, and that in the interim there will be a further break.

A Fine Program

The benefit program given at the opera house Friday evening for the Altar society was presented to a well-filled house and furnished an evening of fine entertainment.

The first part of the program consisted of a chorus, "The Blue Danube" by the Catholic choir, followed by vocal solos by Edwin Smolt and Adelaide Johann and each had to respond to a vigorous encore with a second selection, "Cousin Jerusha" a comedy playlet was well enacted and the parts happily taken by home talent. Miss Johanna Johann and Miss Veronika Hasfurther, Tony Bielenberg, Edwin Smolt and Jim Magee took part.

During the intermission splendid refreshments were furnished by Miss Dorothy Driscoll, George Johnson and Clyde Meyer. Four reels of motion pictures closed the program. Dancing furnished the entertainment for the rest of the evening.

The day following the Altar society held a bazaar in the Sullivan building. Mrs. Andrew Hasfurther guided the nearest to the number of beans in a glass jar, the exact number being 3315, and was awarded the silk quilt. Mrs. M. Carburn guessed the nearest to the number of seeds in a squash, the exact number being 2275, and was awarded the hand painted chocolate set donated by Fr. Bonora.

The ladies feel that there is cause for congratulation at the splendid patronage accorded them.

GOVERNMENT PROCLAMATION

Gov. Haines Issues Annual Proclamation in Accordance With Established Custom

As the years roll by, Divine Providence bestows abundant favors upon the American Nation. The year 1914 has been no exception. When we contemplate the conditions of the nations of the Earth, no people have been so blessed and so favored as have the people of the United States of America. Our people have been blessed with a peaceful and happy home, when their daughter Miss Louisa Mae Herman was united in marriage to Victor L. Shaw of Prineville, Oregon.

The contracting parties were unattended and took their places in the archway between the parlors.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. A. P. Orth, the beautiful ring service being furnished by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Herman, when their daughter Miss Louisa Mae Herman was united in marriage to Victor L. Shaw of Prineville, Oregon.

Only immediate members of the family, close relatives and friends were present, those present being Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Herman, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Herman, Henry Herman, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Herman, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hickman, Miss Jane King, Mrs. Spokane and George McMahon of Pullman, Mrs. Carrie Platt, Mr. and Mrs. John Platt and Will Platt, relatives of the bride who live on the Salmon river were unable to be present.

The ceremony was held on the afternoon of Thursday, November 19, 1914, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Herman, where they will visit for a few days and will then go to Portland and Bend, Oregon. They will make their home at Prineville, Oregon.

The bride is a young woman of sterling qualities and has grown to womanhood in Genesee. For two years she was a teacher in the Prineville County high school, having been the class valedictorian and higher mathematics. The groom is county supervisor of the Crook county, Oregon, schools.

The wedding presents were many and beautiful, a large number being received from friends from out of town.

A family dinner party was tendered their Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Herman and on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Herman.

IDAHO NEWS NOTES

The official count of the vote of Idaho is to be made November 21.

The grip of king winter has held off longer this year than any fall in the history of the state.

Allan McKinnon, for six years agent for the Interior Warehouse company at Cottonwood, was arrested recently by warrant issued at Grangeville charging embezzlement.

Jacob L. Gross, ex-convict of Koonick, convicted of introducing liquor on the Nez Perce reservation, was sentenced to eight months in jail at Lewiston and fined $750.

Oliver Harrison, 12-year-old son of Enoch Harrison, living five miles south of Kendrick, was shot and instantly killed by his brother, two years younger, while playing with a repeating rifle.

Moses Alexander, democrat, our newly elected governor, has started on a tour of the state to meet the people of the different sections and ascertain their needs. Starting in the north, he expects to tour the entire state.

Word from the southern part of the state indicates that Victor O. Johnson of Shoshone may be appointed by Governor Haines to the state public utility commission to take the place formerly occupied by Judge Standrod.

Midst Stirring Times In 1621

the same Pilgrim Fathers who set the example of building homes of wood gave to us the Thanksgiving habit. That both should have endured so long proves conclusively they met with public favor. Fact is, even today more homes are built of wood than any other material, and if our forefathers could return and see the finished lumber we supply you today they would of one accord say, we all should be doubly thankful for the opportunities we have to build cheaply and permanently.

And ready to feast on turkey, duck or goose.

But Listen Friend

What means this Thanksgiving day? It is not simply a day for feasting and revelry, but a day set aside when everyone who has the least thing to be thankful for can open up his or her heart to Almighty God for the blessings they have received.

The members and employes of this firm, at this opportune time, wish to express their thanks to their many appreciative customers and friends, and we want them ALL to feel that they are—each and every one—partly responsible for our expressions of thankfulness. And we sincerely hope that we are to blame for a portion of your thankfulness.

Car of Poultry Supplies
Wednesday Herman's Hardware Shop received a car load of poultry supplies. An order for supplies in such a large quantity is very unusual in a town the size of Genesee and shows the progressive spirit of the merchant in getting together enough orders to justify him in shipping in a carload of such supplies.

Misses Edna and Dorothy Driscoll entertained Tuesday evening at cards. Max Senenbaugh was successful in winning the most games and was awarded the gentlemen's prize and Mrs. Wm. Smolt won the ladies' prize. Mrs. George Ebel won the consolation prize. Edwin Smolt won the first prize in the picture guessing contest. Dainty refreshments were served by the Misses Driscoll, assisted by their mother, Mrs. T. Driscoll.

The meetings which are being conducted by E. N. Sargent in the old post office building, are increasing in interest. Next Sunday night the subject will be one which is attracting world wide interest just now. "The Eastern Question" will be shown from the Bible that the fate of the world will be decided in Turkey.
Meetings will continue during the coming week.

W. M. Post had the misfortune of having the second and third fingers of the left hand severely crushed last Saturday while engaged in sawing wood at the woodyard. He was handling a large stick of wood and when the wood passed into the saw his left hand was caught between the stick and the framework of the saw. His heavy gloves kept the first and fourth fingers from being injured. The injured fingers seem to be healing nicely.

A large carrot was brought to the News office last week. It was grown by C. M. Odenburg and tipped the scales at 6 lbs. 10 oz. Mr. Odenburg had less than a half acre that he planted to stock carrots and raised 12 tons. At $10 per ton the crop of carrots will more than twice pay for the ground upon which they were grown.

Thanksgiving

You may feast well on Thanksgiving day and pride yourself on your ability to set a good table, but unless you are able with your present enjoyment to look ahead and see that the future well spread table is assured, you have not the highest cause for thanksgiving.

A bank account, persistently tended, means that you can have cause for giving thanks every year.

The big thing is not in being able to lay aside a considerable sum every month, but in persistently putting by a small amount. Sticking to it is what counts.

We make the account grow.

So begin now, or keep on if already started, and have a continuing cause for thanksgiving.

You owe this duty to others even more than to yourself

ILLUSTRATING THE REAL JOY OF THE DAY

Lord, we, thy children, small and great, While thy grace we supplicate, Give thanks to thee.

—Clinton Scottard.

Besides, I am far too modest to boast of myself.

So I had Gwendolyn read a composition on "The First Thanksgiving," in which she told all about the hardships of the poor Pilgrims who came over in the Mayflower with Lord Baltimore to Plymouth, and how they sat down to their first "Thanksgiving dinner" of homely and codfish balls, and gave thanks because they hadn't been scalped or burned as witches.

Then Wood had her bird every state in the Union and told what it is in the Scandianavian peninsula, when it is six o'clock here. Then she showed all of her beautiful sketches and the birds that she had seen.

Yes, yes, indeed! We would have had a perfectly lovely time at our house on Thanksgiving if it hadn't been for an accident that happened at the dinner table.

At the time I felt terrible misanthropic about my really had a very bad moving quarter for a minute, but I soon consoled myself by recalling dear Robert Burns' precious words, "The best lads o' plans o' mice and men gang a'bye awa'."

We only had a small dinner party, just the Bollwicks and Wood's sister and her husband and their little boy, Harold. Did you ever meet Wood's sister? My dear, between you and I—remember this strictly sotto voce and to be ignorant and unskillful such a talker! Wood himself acknowledges that she would surely explode if she ever got tetanus, and ever since she was abroad she holds her head as high as Marie Antoinette going to the guillotine.

the same Pilgrim Fathers who set the example of building homes of wood gave to us the Thanksgiving habit. That both should have endured so long proves conclusively they met with public favor. Fact is, even today more homes are built of wood than any other material, and if our forefathers could return and see the finished lumber we supply you today they would of one accord say, we all should be doubly thankful for the opportunities we have to build cheaply and permanently.

Thanksgiving

You may feast well on Thanksgiving day and pride yourself on your ability to set a good table, but unless you are able with your present enjoyment to look ahead and see that the future well spread table is assured, you have not the highest cause for thanksgiving.

A bank account, persistently tended, means that you can have cause for giving thanks every year.

The big thing is not in being able to lay aside a considerable sum every month, but in persistently putting by a small amount. Sticking to it is what counts.

We make the account grow. So begin now, or keep on if already started, and have a continuing cause for thanksgiving.

You owe this duty to others even more than to yourself

HELP FOR BELGIANS

FIRST SHIP OF SUPPLIES FOR THE NEEDY FROM THIS COUNTRY RECEIVED.

ONLY A STARTER WAS SENT

Must Send 25,000,000 Pounds More of Foodstuffs for Holiday Season—Northwest Supplies Soon to Go From Puget Sound.

New York.—The Rockefeller foundation, in a recent statement, says it has received from its war relief commission, which already has reached Rotterdam, a very favorable report on the efficiency of the organization for the distribution of food and clothing for the needy Belgians.

Wyckliffe Rose, chairman of the foundation's commission, reports that the need of additional supplies still is most urgent and that contributions of 30,000 tons in addition to the cargoes already assured must be shipped during December.

25,000,000 Pounds More Going. Arrangements have been made, the foundation says, for the transportation of 25,000,000 pounds of food, to reach the Belgians before the first of the year. In addition to the steamer Masapequa, which is returning to New York for a second voyage, after carrying the first cargo of food from the Rockefeller foundation, the Agamemnon, Neches and Ferrona have been secured for the foundation and are to be loaded within a few days, the Agamemnon with a cargo entirely contributed by the Belgian relief committee, and the other ships with cargoes supplied by the foundation. Arrangements also are being made for other ships.

Special Relief Cargoes Many. The American commission for relief in Belgium has also arranged for the dispatching of several steamers with relief cargoes. The first early shipment will be on the steamer Bastian, which sails from Philadelphia December 5, carrying a cargo of 280,000 bushels of wheat, valued at about $300,000. Other ships listed for early sailing include the Hannah from New York, the John Hardie and the Lynora from Baltimore and the Kentigern from New York.

Ships from San Francisco and Puget sound carrying Pacific coast donations also are to leave soon, steaming through the Panama canal.

The commission Monday received a cablegram from H. C. Hoover, chairman of the commission in London, emphasizing the fact that unground wheat and corn sent into Belgium could be ground there, as there are flour mills in several Belgium centers in full working order, affording immediate employment to Belgians.

NEW PRESIDENT IN MEXICO.

Gonzales and a Force of 8000 Men Claim to Be "It."

Washington.—Advices received at the state department Monday from Aguas Calientes said that General Pablo Gonzales, now at Pachuca with a force of 8000 men, had declared himself provisional president of Mexico. Gonzales, who was one of the foremost leaders of the constitutionalist army in the campaign against Huerta, had been supposed to be unwaveringly loyal to Carranza. After the Aguas Calientes convention, however, he disappeared southward with his army and his whereabouts has been more or less of a mystery.

The reports from Aguas Calientes threw little light upon the latest complication in the Mexican situation. It is not believed here that Gonzales, with his comparatively small force, will be able to interfere with the forces of Provisional President Gutierrez and General Villa for the joint triumphal entry into Mexico City.

This Preacher a Winner.

Worcester, Mass.—The Rev. Frederick Nicholson, pastor of the First Spiritual church, has appealed to the chief of police for protection against "lovesick maidens and scheming mothers." For weeks, he said, his life has been made unhappy by love letters and telephone calls. He turned over to the police a package of letters, some of them daintily colored and richly scented. Police officials subsequently visited one home and advised that attentions to the pastor cease.

St. Louis, Mo.—Bids for 1,700,000 flannel army shirts for the allied army were submitted by several local firms to representatives of the British war department here. Representative Gardner Has Resolution in Congress to Find Out How Strong We Stand in Military Way—To Discuss Matter.

Washington, Dec. 1.—While President Wilson is not expected to seek to mold the position of congress on the resolution of Representative Gardner for an investigation of the military strength of the United States, officials close to the White House say he would oppose the investigation if asked for an opinion. The president is understood to think such an inquiry is untimely and would not disclose any information not already in hand.

The president's position was made clear Monday night by administration officials after it became known that he had written Mr. Gardner a letter saying he was ready to discuss the question with him at any time. Mr. Gardner will be at the White House tomorrow to make an engagement for an interview within the next few days.

Neither Side Wins as Yet.

London, Dec. 1.—Another day of the crucial battle between the Russians and the German allies in Poland has passed without news of a decisive result. The Berlin official statement tonight says that there is nothing of importance to report from Poland, while the Russian government rests upon its warning against over-optimism.

The facts, as gleaned from various messages of correspondents, appear to be that three semi-independent engagements are progressing between Thorn on the north, and Cracow, on the south, in which both combatants have achieved local successes, without a distinct victory for either arms.

YES, a small chew of "Right-Cut" satisfies. It's the Real Tobacco Chew.

The right blend of rich, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

That's why it gives you the tobacco comfort and solace that you like so well.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.
It is a ready, chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary cut tobacco makes you spit too much.
The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."
One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

A Merry Christmas

Happy Santa Claus!

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in her 'kerchief and I in my cap
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap,
When out on the lawn there rose such a clatter,
I sprang from the bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
To open the shutters and throw up the sash,
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
Gave the luster of mid-day to objects below,
When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Dunder and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch! to the top of the wall!
Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas too.

And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was truning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes-how they twinkled! his dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face and a little round belly,
That shook, when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself;
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread;
He spoke not a word but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose;
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all and to all a goodnight."

—Clement Clarke Moore.

Merchants Buying Large Quantities
As another indication that the Genesee merchants are preparing to supply the needs of the people of Genesee and vicinity and obviate the necessity of their going or sending to some other town for their groceries and other things, most of them have been buying merchandise of various kinds in carload lots which is also a guarantee that they can sell to you just a little cheaper than you can buy the same grade of goods elsewhere.
J. S. Larabee is one of the latest to receive a full carload of canned goods of various kinds.

Ship Hogs
The Farmers' union shipped two carloads of hogs to Spokane Wednesday afternoon, and Buyer Raymond states that he has two more cars already listed for next week, with a possibility of another at that time.
There are perhaps more hogs in the Genesee country at this time than there has been before and every indication points to more and more each year, and not only more hogs, but a better grade, as the ranchers of this section are securing pure-bred stock as rapidly as possible.

The Follett Bros. Mercantile store is being decorated and the Christmas goods placed on display preparatory to the coming holiday season.
Be sure to visit the opera house Saturday night.

Latah county will receive $609.13 as her share of the national forest reserve fund, which has recently been apportioned. The total amount of the fund is $69,227.81 and was apportioned among the 23 counties having forest reserves.

It is the only safe remedy for Catarrh that is sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and acts in the blood. It is sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

County Board Meets December 7

On Friday of last week H. Manderfeld purchased from the State University at Moscow a fine male registered Berkshire hog which he took to his ranch west of Genesee. ## NATION'S LABOR PROBLEM

OVER A MILLION AND A HALF WOMEN WORK AS FARM HANDS IN THE UNITED STATES.

By Peter Radford Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

Our government never faced so tremendous a problem as that now lying dormant at the doors of congress and the legislatures, and which, when aroused, will shake this nation from center to circumference, and make civilization hide its face in shame. That problem is—women in the field. The last federal census reports show we now have 1,511,000 women working in the field, most of them south of the Mason and Dixon line. There were approximately a million negro slaves working in the fields when liberated by the emancipation proclamation. We have freed our slaves and our women have taken their places in bondage. We have broken the shackles of the negroes and welded them upon our daughters. The Chain-Gang of Civilization. A million women in bondage in the southern fields form the chain-gang of civilization—the industrial tragedy of the age. There is no oversexed girl named as that of unrestrained greed, no whip that stings like the lash of unborn destiny, and no auctioneer's block quite so revolting as that of organized avarice.

The president of the United States was recently lauded by the press, and very properly so, for suggesting mediation between the engineers and railroad managers in adjusting their schedule of time and pay. The engineers threatened to strike if their wages were not increased from approximately ten to eleven dollars per day and service reduced from ten to eight hours and a similar readjustment of the overtime schedule. Our women are working in the field, many of them barefooted, for less than 50 cents per day, and their schedule is the rising sun and the evening star, and after the day's work is over they milk the cows, slop the hogs and rock the baby to sleep. Is anyone meditating over their problems, and to whom shall they threaten a strike?

Congress has listened approvingly to those who toll at the force and behind the counter, and many of our statesmen have smiled at the threats and have fanned the flame of unrest among industrial laborers. But women are as surely the final victims of industrial warfare as they are the burden-bearers in the war between nations, and those who arbitrate and mediate the differences between capital and labor should not forget that when the expenses of any industry are unnecessarily increased, society foots the bill by drafting a new contingent of women from the home to the field. Pinch no Crumb From Women's Crust of Bread.

No financial award can be made without someone footing the bill, and we commend to those who accept the responsibility of the distribution of industry to the harvest field, and our mothers dear to be driven from the old arm chair to the cotton patch? We beg that they listen to the scream of horror from the eagle on every American dollar that is wrung from the brow of tolling women and the Goddess of Justice hiss at a verdict that increases the want of woman to satisfy the greed of man. The women behind the counter and in the factory cry aloud for sympathy and the press thunders out in their defense and the philanthropists for mercy, but how about the woman in the field? Will not these powerful exponents of human rights turn their talent, energies and influence to her relief? Will the Goddess of Liberty enthroned at Washington hold the lashed hand and soothe the feverish brow of her sex who sows and reaps the nation's harvest or will she permit the male of the species to shove women—weak and weary—from the bread-line of industry to the back alleys of poverty?

Women and Children First. The census enumerators tell us that of 1,514,000 women in the fields as farm hands 409,000 are sixteen years of age and under. What is the final destiny of a nation whose future mothers spend their childhood days behind the plow, pitching hay and hauling manure, and what is to become of womanly culture and refinement that grace the home, charm society and entice man to leap to glory in noble achievements? If our daughters are raised in the society of the ox and the companionship of the plow? In that strata between the ages of sixteen and forty-five are 950,000 women working as farm hands and many of them with sucking babes tugging at their breasts, as drenched in perspiration, they wield the scythe and guide the plow. What is to become of that nation where poverty breaks the crown of the hero on the home; despair hurls a mother's love from its throne and hunger drives innocent children from the schoolroom to the hoe?

The census bureau shows that 155,000 of these women are forty-five years of age and over. There is no more pitiful sight in civilization than these saintly mothers of Israel stooped with age, drudging in the field from sun until sun and at night drenching their dingy pillows with the tears of despair as their aching hearts take it all to God in prayer. Civilization strikes them a blow when it should give them a crown, and their only friend is he who broke bread with beggars and said: "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest."

Oh, America! The land of the free and the home of the brave, the world's custodian of chivalry, the champion of human rights and the defender of the oppressed—shall we permit our maidens fair to be torn from the heartstrings by the ruthless hand of destiny and chained to the plow? Shall we permit our faithful wives, whom we covenanted with God to cherish and protect, to be hurled from the home to the harvest field, and our mothers dear to be driven from the old arm chair to the cotton patch?

In rescuing our citizens from the forces of civilization, can we not apply to our fair Dixieland the rule of the sea—"women and children first?" There must be a readjustment of the wage scale of industry so that the woman can be taken from the field or given a reasonable wage for her services. Perhaps the issue has never been fairly raised, but the Farmers' Union, with a membership of ten million, puts its organized forces squarely behind the issue and we now enter upon the docket of civilization the case of "The Woman in the Field" and demand an immediate trial.

In every field of human activity the demand for more competent men and women is growing every day. Especially so in agriculture.

Home pride is a mighty valuable asset, and the farmer who has none is carrying a heavy handicap on the road to success.

Work is the salve that heals the wounded heart.

THE PATRIOTIC DOLLAR

CONGRESS DECREES DOLLARS INCLUDING IN LUXURIES MUST FIRST SALUTE THE FLAG.

War Revenue Tax of $105,000,000 Levied—Beer Bears Brunt of Burden.

Congress has levied a war tax of $105,000,000 to offset a similar amount of loss on import revenue due to the European disturbances and of this amount beer is the heaviest contributor, having been assessed approximately $10,000,000; a stamp tax on negotiable instruments, it is estimated, will yield $31,000,000; a tax on the capital stock of banks of $4,000,000 and a tax on tobacco, perfumes, theater tickets, etc., makes the remainder.

Congress has decreed that the brewer, the banker and the investor must shoulder the musket and march to the front; that milady who would add to her beauty must first tip Uncle Sam, and a dollar that seeks pleasure must first salute the flag; that Pleasure and Profit—the twin heroes of many wars—shall fight the nation's battles and by an ingeniously arranged schedule of taxation congress has shifted the war budget from the shoulders of Necessity to those of Choice and Gain, touching in its various ramifications almost every line of business.

All hail the dollar that bleeds for its country; that bares its breast to the fortunes of war and risks its life to preserve the stability and integrity of the nation's credit.

The market place has always been a favorite stand for war revenue collectors. The trader is a great financial patriot. His dollar is the first to rally around the star-spangled banner and the last to hear the coo of the dove of peace. He is called upon to buy cannon; to feed and clothe the boys in blue and each month cheer their hearts with the coin of the realm. Men can neither be free nor brave without food and ammunition, and money is as important a factor in war as blood. Many monuments have been erected in honor of heroes slain in battle, poems have been written eulogizing their noble deeds and the nation honors its soldiers while they live and places a monument upon their graves when they die, but very little has been said of the dollar that bears the burdens of war.

Honor to the Dollar that Bears the Burden of War.

All honor to the dollar that answers the call to arms and, when the battle is over, bandages the wounds of stricken soldiers, lays a wreath upon the graves of fallen heroes and cares for the widows and orphans.

All honor to the industries that bend their backs under the burdens of war; lift the weight from the shoulders of the poor and build a bulwark around the nation's credit.

All honor to those who contribute to the necessities and administer to the comforts of the boys who are marching; cool the fever of afflicted soldiers and kneel with the cross beside dying heroes.

A dollar may fight its competitor in business, industries may struggle for supremacy in trade and occupations may vie each other with envy or suspicion, but when the bugle calls they bury stripes and glory around the flag, companions and friends, mess mates and chums, all fighting for one flag, one cause and one country.

PLANT A CHRISTMAS TREE.

A correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer offers a timely and pertinent idea that should commend itself to many readers. It refers to the use of Christmas trees after the day's festivities are over.

In explanation of her plan she offers the following clipping from Good Housekeeping: "An eastern city carried out an idea last year that might well be imitated by any progressive organization of women. After New Year's wagons went from house to house to collect all the Christmas trees. These were taken to the public squares. Surprised on the ends, they were thrust into the ground in artistic groups and clumps of varying heights. In some cases they are used as wind shields for the growing shrubs and evergreens. In every case, though but temporary tenants, they make attractive, restful beauty spots for the eye. Compare this with the fate of Christmas trees in your neighborhood. After a short week of thoughtless squandering they are often left in the back yard or litter up the block.

This interesting question is added: "Certainly the Christmas trees in the southwest corner of the square are a great improvement to it, and no one who sees them can help wishing that they might grow there all the year round. They talk of improving this corner. Why not plant some little evergreen trees?"

With a consideration, isn't it?

Beautiful girl blackmailer.
Under Arrest at Chicago for Trying to Miss $50,000.

Chicago.—Miss Jessie E. Cope, accused of Colonel Charles Alexander, a Providence, R. I., millionaire, author of political romances, under the white slave act, was arrested here Saturday charged with attempting to bribe government officials in Chicago to aid her in blackmailing her former husband, Alexander, 65 years old, and married, was arrested at Providence Saturday.

The public had its first view of the woman when she was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Mason, who held her on the bribery charge and also as a witness against Alexander. She is 22 years old and a brunette, described by one of the government agents who resisted the bribe as a "brilliant brunette beauty." She is of medium height and weight, and as she appeared in court was handsomely dressed.

Bench and bar, it was said, have been clamoring for years for more or a more careful consideration of the case behind complaints under the Mann act to discourage use of the law by unscrupulous women for blackmailing purposes.

District Attorney Cliney is quoted as attaching great importance to this case because of the beauty of Miss Cope, her reputed social position in California, where Alexander is alleged to have met her and the wealth and prominence of the man in the case.

The Ryan for many years conducted a string of clairvoyant parties, out of which it is alleged they fleeced victims out of tens of thousands of dollars. The indicted men are charged with protecting them in return for money contributions.

CONGRESS CONVENES

OUR NATIONAL BODY MEETS FOR THIRTY TIME DURING THE SIXTY-THIRD SESSION.

TRY TO ADJOURN BY MARCH 4

While Democratic Members Favor That Date Many Republicans Think Extra Session Likely Through Spring and Summer.

Washington, Dec. 7.—At noon Monday convened the third session of the sixty-third congress, for which members of both houses flocked to Washington, ending their holiday recess of six weeks.

Democratic leaders in informal conference before the opening of the session, which is destined to be devoted chiefly to appropriation measures, have been expressing the hope that the legislative program of necessities could be concluded by March 4 next, when the present congress automatically expires.

Many republican leaders, however, have stated that there were many important measures which they would urge for passage, and some indicated that supply bills might be delayed to such an extent that an extra session next spring and summer would be necessary.

Administration leaders awaited eagerly the annual message of President Wilson, delivered in joint session on Tuesday, for a definite outline of the president's wishes for legislation.

NORTH ATLANTIC HIT BY STORM
New York Badly Battered and Record Tide Stops Shipping.

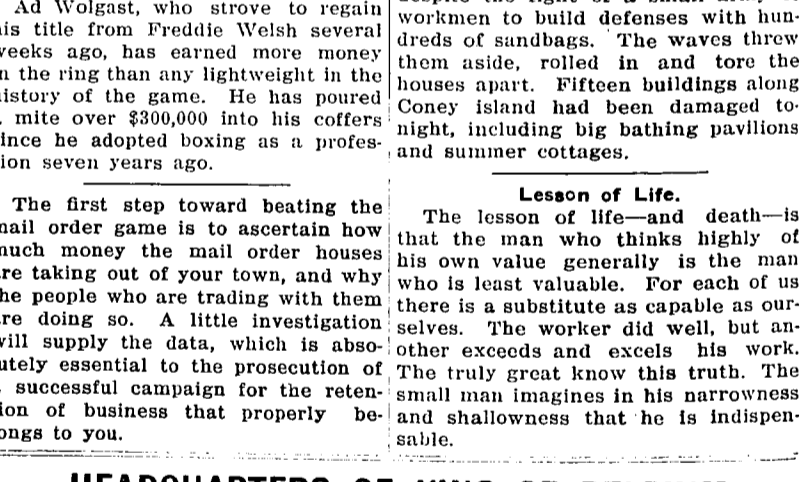

New York.—Huge seas, backed by a mighty tide and a howling northeast gale, battered the coasts of New York Monday and Tuesday, smashing houses, wrecking boats, flooding villages, devastating summer resorts and forcing transatlantic and coastwise steamers to remain outside Sandy Hook and fight the storm.

At Sandy Hook the wind attained a velocity of 68 miles an hour, driving in a record-breaking tide and making it impossible for pilots to board incoming vessels. In New York harbor the tide was the highest in 13 years, and the waves drove the New Jersey ferry boats to cover and strewn the shore of Staten Island with the wrecks of scores of small craft. In New York city the wind blew at 48 miles an hour—diminishing to 26 miles on Tuesday night, with a forecast of a shift in the gale, attended by more rain or snow.

The worst damage in this vicinity was suffered at Coney Island, where the loss within the last 24 hours is estimated at $200,000. Two or three fine houses at Sea Gate were wrecked despite the fact of a small army of workmen to build defenses with hundreds of sandbags. The waves threw them aside, rolled in and tore the houses apart. Fifteen buildings along Coney Island had been damaged to night, including big bathing pavilions and summer cottages.

Lesson of Life.—The lesson of life—and death—is that the man who thinks highly of his own value generally is the man who is least valuable. For each of us there is a substitute as capable as himself. The worker did well, but another exceeds and excels his work. The truly great know this truth. The small man imagines in his narrowness and shallowness that he is indispensable to business that properly belongs to you.

Berlin, via London, Dec. 8.—It is officially announced that the Germans occupied Lodz Sunday.

Petrograd.—The Novie Vremya's correspondent at the front, in a dispatch to his paper, tells of the bombardment of Lodz. He says: "The shelling of Lodz began a week ago and grew heavier and heavier until the shells were landing in the town at five-minute intervals, setting many fires."

"From the battlefield the town appeared enveloped in flames. On Wednesday the Germans attempted to storm the city, but were driven back by the Russian bayonets."

Their wedge, which already has been driven into Russian Poland, is being pushed with tremendous reinforcements. The base of this wedge is Thorn and Kalisz. The apex is Lodz. This gives the Germans control of all railroad lines in this triangle. They are using the railroads to pour in an unceasing stream of fresh troops and engines of war."

Loz Industrial Center.
Loz, a city of 415,804 population, is the chief manufacturing center of Russian Poland. It has numerous textile mills, the majority of them for the manufacture of cotton goods. In addition it has four large machine tool establishments, brickyards, machinery plants and breweries. The population is made up of Poles, Germans and Jews.

State Investigating Committee Finds Liquor and Poorly Lighted Parks Aid to Evil.

Madison, Wis.—Together with the use of intoxicating liquor, poorly lighted parks and lack of public amusement and recreation facilities, the automobile was held as one of the greatest contributory causes of commercial vice, in a report filed here by the secretary of state by the legislative anti-vice committee.

The report was the work of 15 months investigation and proposes radical changes in law enforcement and social conditions. The committee found that the wage question has no material relation to commercialized vice. The greatest cause, the report says, is the use of intoxicating liquor, and among contributory causes given are public dance halls, roadhouses, lack of responsibility by parents, nonenforcement of laws by public officials.

SCHOOL NOTES
By Ith Larrabee

The Genesee H. S. basket ball team won its second game over the Clarkston five by a score of 22 to 14.
Handicapped by a small floor the boys found hard work holding their own in the first half, but during the second half piled a substantial lead by the Wardrobe-Haymond route. Nagel and Mochel holding the side down to a low score, Springer did his part by getting the tip off the Clarkston center most of the time. The floor was too small for the team work which the Genesee boys have been working on. It was a clean and fast game time out being called only once and then to repair one of the benches.
Much credit is due to the loyal little bunch of Genesee rooters who made themselves heard above the roar of the Clarkston supporters. The Clarkston plays here Friday, December 11. Everybody come out and see us win by a big score.
The following pupils in the seventh grade were neither ardy nor absent last week: Gladys Barstow, Martha Hasford, Wilhelmina Sampson, Gertrude Sampson, Emma Scharnhorst, Lily Schleuter, Ollie Steltz, Cecil Bolio, Walter Casebolt, Donald Jain, Kenneth Sampson, John Trail, George Rader.
The following pupils in the eighth grade had perfect attendance last week: Hazel Hallman, Bessie Herman, Amsel Jain, Olive Jain, Edna Moersch, Norma Moore, Hattie Scharnhorst, Lola Burman, Frank Broemmeling, William Plomer, Edgar Hall, Carl Greiser, David Hickman, Armand Nelson, Bruce Wardrobe, Anthony Weber, Vernie Wells, Frank Lawren, Raymond Edwards, Eugene Bershaw.
Laura Martin was visiting in Moscow last week for a few days.
Last Saturday evening a number of Junior girls were entertained at a dinner given by Miss Louise Jacobs. Dinner was served at 5 o'clock in the evening, the table being decorated with a large floral centerpiece. The guests were directed to their places at the table by unique place cards symbolizing the Juniors graduating number. After the dinner the evening was spent in playing whist and other games.
On Friday, December 18, the basket ball team will journey to Pullman, where they will play the Pullman high school and Saturday night will play Johnston High school returning home Sunday.
In home credit work in the third grade last week, Mary Sampson had 640 minutes. In the second grade Marion Mayer had 330 minutes.
Robert Harris has been absent from school on account of sickness.
Violet Bumstead has been absent from school for several days.
The net proceeds from the play festival given some time ago was $13.10. The candy booth at the door brought $2.10, making a total of $15.20 deposited in the bank for the school fund.
The freshmen-sophomores point of view: The freshmen royally entertained the sophomores and faculty at a "four course banquet" last Friday evening.
Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Hoy, the Misses Watermann, Schlosser, Olston, Costello, Ada Scholler, Francis Orth, Johanna Sweeney, Ruth Eikum, Mamie Has-further, Messrs. Springer, Ehlen, Jain, Kempf, Christenson, Archibald, Nixon and Tideman.
The Juniors and Seniors feeling keenly their disappointment in not being included endeavored by force to attend, but the school house proved too strong a barricade. The assembled guests voted it time for a try out of the fire hose and if any one doubts the efficiency of our fire protection ask the juniors and seniors. The guests departed voting the freshmen splendid entertainers.

DELIVER THAT PROMPTLY ITS A MIGHTY IMPORTANT PACKAGE
DON'T I KNOW IT—ITS THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW
THE DRAYMAN ASSURES THE GOOD JUDGE
A little of "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew, gives you the tobacco comfort you are entitled to. Satisfies you better than any of the old kind. Richer, finer flavor. Lasts longer. Pure, rich, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.
It is a ready chew, cut fine and short so that you can't spit it and it will melt in your mouth. Grind on ordinary tobacco makes you spit too much.
The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and sugar. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."
One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

THE HOME OF GOOD MEATS

The junior-senior point of view: At the freshmen sophomore banquet last Friday night the entertainment for the evening was furnished by the juniors and seniors from the "balcony". After painting the town red with their class numbers and enjoying the apparatus in the city park, the juniors and seniors serenaded the guests at their "royal four course banquet". Vain efforts were made to stop the bombardment by the use of the fire hose, but not understanding the mechanism of the equipment, flooded their own stronghold. The rest of their evening's entertainment consisted in mopping the floor. Although we did not have the privilege of sharing the hospitality of the freshmen the two classes enjoyed a "spread" of their own.

DEATH OF MRS. CANN

Passed to Great Beyond Monday at Noon, Aged Forty-seven Years

Mrs. Paul L. Cann passed quietly to the Great Beyond about noon Monday from dropsy of which disease she had been a sufferer for a number of years. Her immediate family was at her bedside when she died.

Emma Roderick was the daughter of Edward and Sarah Roderick and was born in Wayne County, Iowa, June 6, and died December 7, 1914, aged 47 years 8 months and 1 day. When still a young woman she came west with her parents, residing for a short time at Dayton, Wash., coming to Genesee in July 1888, where she has since made her home.

She united with the Seven Day Adventists at the age of 20. About 10 years ago she united with the Methodist church and has since been a faithful and consistent member. She was a member of the Rensselaer lodge for a number of years.

She was united in marriage to Paul L. Cann July 5, 1891, the ceremony was performed by C. F. Burr. She has been a faithful wife and Christian mother. Her husband and four children, Ruby, Walter, Alfred and Freddie are left to mourn their loss.

Edward Roderick, family her father, resides at Roderick of San Diego, Calif., and three brothers, Ed Roderick of Lewiston, Idaho, Elmer and Will Roderick of Ogden, Utah, survive here.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the home, Rev. A. P. Orth of the Congregational church conducting the services. The music was furnished by a quartet of singers.
A number of beautiful floral pieces covered the casket.
Interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during our late bereavement.

Paul Cann and Family.

TELEPHONE MEETING

Annual Meeting of Home Telephone Company Held Saturday Directors Re-elected

The first annual meeting of the Home Telephone company was held in the Nesbit hall Saturday afternoon with a good representation of the stockholders present.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved, after which general business was taken up.

The secretary presented his report, which showed the company to be in a splendid condition, taking into consideration the fact that there has been heavy expense rebuilding and putting the system in good working order. The board of directors and stockholders were very much pleased with the outlook for the future and there is no question but that the service has been wonderfully improved since the Home company has taken over the system.

The question of rates was taken up and discussed and it was deemed best to let the present rates stand for the present, at least. Secretary Whalen had received communication from other points and there are none as cheap as the Genesee rates, the lowest at any point heard from being $1.50 per month for residential phones, while the rates here are only $1.40 per year.

Another important point discussed was the length of time the phone might be used, and it was decided that the limit for ordinary commercial use should be placed at three minutes providing the line was needed for business or long distance calls.

The directors whose terms of office had expired—J. P. Mitchell, Christ Lange and Jas. Tobin—were re-elected by acclamation and will serve for another three years.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Genesee vs. Clarkston
The following is an account of the basket ball game between the Genesee high and the Clarkston high as reported in the Clarkston department of Sunday's Lewiston Tribune.

The Genesee high school basketball team defeated the Clarkston high school team this evening by a score of 22 to 14. The Genesee players were accompanied by a company of 10 rooters and the home players were given support by a large attendance of Clarkston and Vineland people. It was a clean, fast game and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Both the regular forwards for Clarkston were out of the game this evening and this weakened the team considerably. The Clarkston team will play at Genesee next Friday evening. The lineup of the teams was as follows:

Genesee—Wardrobe and Haymond, forwards; Springer, center; Nagle and Mochel, guards.

Clarkston—Bodine and Bullfinch, forwards; Stanley, center; Steele and Davis, guards.

Hunters Return Home
George, Henry, and Ben, Mochel and J. S. Larrabee returned Friday from a hunting trip in the Rapid river country. They were gone 18 days and report a good time but failed to bring home venison, and only one deer, there being too little snow to make hunting good.

Emery Vandenberg returned Saturday from a three-week hunting trip, having secured the limit, two deer, a five point buck and one doe. All the members of the party had secured five deer and intended remaining until they have secured the limit. The party hunted in the Big Meadows above the Big Island country. Emery says there was but little snow and that they saw no signs of bear or cougar. All the members of the party were well and having a fine outing and they will no doubt be home in a few days.

Grant Clark, Arthur Potsch and A. A. Gustafson returned Sunday from a month's hunt on the North Fork of Clearwater in what is known as the Big Island country. They were unsuccessful in bagging deer, due no doubt to the small amount of snow encountered. Mr. Clark is considered one of the best hunters in this section and had the deer been there he would no doubt have brought home his share. He has gone on an annual hunt for the past 11 years and this is the first time he has failed to bring home venison.

The senior Philatheas were entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. F. S. Casebolt. The young ladies spent the time embracing and with selections of vocal and instrumental music. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. F. S. Casebolt, Miss Pauline Steltz and Miss Ruth Martinson.

There will be an entertainment and basket social at the Jain school house on Friday night, December 18. Everybody invited.

War Creates New Demands

The European war has created a demand for many things unthought of before and a great number of new industries are appearing in the United States. Recently the packing houses of the Northwest have been advised by an Eastern manufacturer of dairy and food preparations that it is in the market for rennets, or the stomachs of young milk calves.

These rennets are used in the production of rennet extract for cheese making, and heretofore the material has been obtained exclusively from Europe. Owing to the war the domestic article must be depended upon.

The growers of livestock will be especially interested in this new feature which will aid in the disposal of a heretofore almost unused by-product.—Idaho Club Woman.

Basket Ball

The basket ball team of the Clarkston High school will play a return game with the Genesee High school team Friday (tonight) at the Opera house. The game is called for 8 o'clock sharp and promises to be an interesting one as the teams are evenly matched.

The Genesee team played the Clarkston team at Clarkston last Friday night and won out by only three field throws. The boys play a good clean game and are worthy of a good patronage.

It is reported that Chinese phonographs are becoming so thick down in the Parma country as to bother the telephone systems by flying into the wires and causing short circuits.

Bohman Declared Elected

When an official canvass was made of the votes cast at the regular election in Latah county on November 3, it was found that Ole Bohman, republican and F. M. Green, democrat both of Troy each received 1945 votes for state representative. In cases of this kind the law provides that the state board shall settle the tie by lot.

This was done last Thursday evening at the state house at Boise. The two names were placed in a box before the board, the box was shaken, opened by Gov. Haines and the drawing done by Miss Izora Laudson, employed in the office of the secretary of state.

The election of Bohman evenly divides the representation of Latah county at the next state legislature, the republicans are represented by Ole Bohman and F. C. McGowan in the lower house and the democrats elected Jerome J. Day to the senate and William Hunter to the lower house.

Genesee Stock Sent to Lewiston

Monday afternoon Follett & Scholer shipped to Lewiston the horses that are to show at the Northwest Livestock show to be held at that place December 14 to 19 inclusive. The shipment included: one Percheron stallion, two Shire mares, two Percheron mares, one two-year-old Percheron mare and two suckling colts.

Platt Bros. also shipped in the same car five registered Hereford cattle.

As these two firms have some of the finest blooded stock to be found in the Northwest, it is expected they will win their share of blue ribbons.

Dixie Jubilee Singers Coming

The second number of the Lyceum course of three attractions secured by Fred G. Helm will be the original Dixie Jubilee Concert company, which will appear at the opera house Friday evening, December 18. This company has been under the present management for fourteen years and represents the highest and best in the line of negro entertainers. There are but few good negro concert companies on the road and there are only four classed as having real merit the Dixies, the Williams, Troubadours and the Hahns.

MAIL GIFTS EARLY

Postoffice Department Makes Request to Avoid Delays and Congestion of Packages

The post office department has sent out notices to be posted in the various postoffices over the country. They contain the brief admonition, "Mail early, wrap securely, address plainly". And if only the public will heed the admonition only a small number of any Christmas packages will fail to reach the proper destination.

It is a disappointment to the sender as well as the one for whom the Christmas package is intended if it fails to reach them before Christmas, so be sure to mail Christmas gifts in time for early delivery.

It is also suggested that the package bear the inscription "Not to be opened until Christmas." "Mail early" will also insure early shipping when the merchants stock is complete and a more careful selection can be made.

"Wrap securely and address plainly" contains the advice that will aid postmasters, mail clerks and carriers to safely deliver every package entrusted to their care. For it is a well known fact that a large number of packages and letters fail to reach their proper destiny each year on account of incorrect or insufficient address.

The parcel post as applied to bundles calls for a delivery of a 50 pound limit within 150 miles of the sending office and a 20-pound limit everywhere. Mail will be accepted to all the foreign countries and the parcel post rate is 12 cents a pound or fraction thereof.

Not Always to Blame

It has not been a long time ago when the high cost of living was discussed that the farmer got the causing for it. Recently before the farmers had a chance at it and the warehouses, cold storages, etc., were full with all sorts of food stuffs the prices went up like a sky rocket. Investigation showed that speculators were the guilty ones. They advanced prices without good reasons. Haven't heard any complaints about farmers raising prices lately. The speculators are hot at him though because he does not run all at his wheat to market and give them a chance to corner and squeeze the public.—The Farmer's Guide

IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Idaho Automobile Tax Declared by Judge Davis In Test Case

In a recent decision handed down by Judge Carl A. Davis of the third judicial district at Boise, the automobile license law enacted by the state legislature two years ago is declared unconstitutional and therefore null and void. This decision was reached in a test case in which Harry S. Kessler submitted to arrest.

The question was raised squarely upon the constitutionality of the license levied as a tax and not as a license merely as a police regulation, and as a tax it violates that provision of the constitution that declares all taxes shall be levied upon the value of property, whereas the present automobile tax is placed upon the horsepower of the machine and varies according to Judge Davis' decision declares that the law is defective in this respect and that it is in violation of sections 2 and 3 of article 7 of the state constitution.

Library Makes Creditable Showing—More Funds Needed to Carry on Work

The Genesee Improvement society met in regular monthly session at the library rooms Saturday afternoon and an especially good meeting resulted. The society was organized by Mrs. Warren Truitt of Moscow one year ago last July and all the work done by the society has been along municipal and school lines. The report of the work accomplished will compare favorably with that done by any organization of this kind in a town of the size of Genesee.

Besides a number of other worthy enterprises a free public library has been maintained and two cozy well lighted library rooms have been opened for the reading public three afternoons and evenings each week. Miss Pauline Steltz, as librarian, has been very painstaking and has given entire satisfaction.

Besides the case of books received every three months from the state traveling library a goodly number of books have been donated and loaned by those interested in this work and a creditable number of new books have been added by the Evangeline Vollmer, trustee of the Vollmer benevolent fund, asking that the city release them from payment of the usual amount the coming year in order that the $40 usually given Genesee each year might be given the war sufferers in Europe. The council granted the request.

A communication was also received from the Public Utilities commission regarding the hearing to be held on the reduction of lighting and power rates for Genesee and other nearby towns and cities. The communication is addressed to the city clerk and is signed by the attorney general, and as follows:

"On October 30th last, we mailed you a copy of our order No. 165, dated the 29th day of that month, in the case of Joseph H. Peterson, Attorney General, against Washington Water Power Company, which order directed the defendant to put into effect in your city certain Residence and Commercial Lighting Rates, or failing so to do, to show cause on or before December 12th why such rates had not been established.

"The defendant has failed to comply with said order in so far as the filing of rates is concerned and this is that a hearing on the order to show cause why such rates have not been made effective will be held at this office at 10 a. m. December 15th, 1914.

"This is for your information in case your city or any representative thereof would desire to be present at the hearing and take part therein."

Bids for the purchase of the old lumber which was torn from the roof of the reservoir were received as follows: Chas. Komenda, $17.00 A. J. Fitz, $15.00

Mr. Komenda's bid being the higher, he was declared the purchaser of the material.

There being no further business the council adjourned.

Try This on Your Ford

A horse, hitched to a carriage which contained a woman and a little girl, became frightened the other day and ran away. A farmer dashed into his barn, cranked up his automobile and gave chase. The story is that he overtook and passed the horse, then slowed up and as the frightened animal tried to pass the rancher grasped the bridle with one hand and, steering with the other, soon stopped the horse and auto, with no damage to the horse, occupants of the carriage or auto.

New Use for Silos Over in Ohio a rancher was seen to drain several gallons of grain juice from his silo and for fear that he might be drawing it for another purpose than feeding stock, detectives were set to watch his movements and arrested him for making whiskey. He declared he had been drawing the juice from his silo for the past ten years and would contest the case. Silos may have a boom in Washington a year hence.

So far almost the entire support of the library has been derived from the dues of club members and benefits given by the young people for the club work with the result that the society finds their finances almost exhausted. At the present time the members are trying to devise some method by which they will be able to continue the good work, for next to schools in every progressive town must stand the public library.

A good demand for books has been created in Genesee for the librarians' report shows that a creditable number of books are kept in circulation, and the demand would be greater had the society the finances to add new books and yearly subscriptions to standard magazines.

Several windows of the library rooms are filled with beautiful blooming plants and hanging baskets. Some especially beautiful yellow and white crysanthemums are blooming in the south bay window at the present time.

Country people as well as town-people are invited to visit the rooms and make use of the library privileges.

J. H. T. Smith Succeeds Carlyle

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Northwest Livestock show the latter part of last week, J. H. T. Smith of west of Pullman was elected secretary to succeed W. L. Carlyle who resigned to accept a position at the Oklahoma agricultural college. Mr. Smith, at the time of election, was a member of the board of directors and has been since the inauguration of the show and is this year general superintendent. Mr. Smith began his duties at once and is busily engaged in arranging matters for the opening of the show on Monday, December 14.

The board of directors of the Northwest Livestock show did well in selecting J. H. T. Smith for the position of secretary. For 20 years he has been identified with the movement to improve the breeds of livestock and is well versed in all branches of the industry. He is energetic and vigorous and will devote much time towards making anything he enters into a success. With Mr. Smith at the helm the success of the show is assured.—Pullman Tribune.

Homes Solicited for Unemployed

The Spokane Chamber of Commerce has started a movement toward the solution of the unemployment problem by sending men who want work to Inland Empire farms. Warren Latham, manager of the Christian Home for Men, states that many of the men at his institution are willing to do farm work during the winter for their board and keep.

In a statement outlining the plan, Thomas S. Griffith, president of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, says: "The Spokane Chamber of Commerce is making earnest efforts to relieve the situation, and we believe that the best and most practical way of caring for unfortunates is to give them something to do. These men, if placed on the farms of the Inland Empire, where many of them are willing to work for their board during the winter, can be made of positive good to all of us."

"We hope that farmers who can use these men will notify the Christian Home for Men in Spokane."

New Style Ideas

At the 25th annual convention of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' association held recently at Toledo, Ohio, several new style features for the coming year were adopted. The tight skirt must give way to fullness below the waist line. The coats and skirts are to be shorter, and almost entirely it will be a tailor-made season in 1915 for American women.

In working out the styles the idea is to have more sense in the fashions. All is modest and conservative, foreign suggestions of color or style being eliminated.

Dobbin as Cannonfood

Within a few months thousands and thousands of American horses and many of them family pets, will be galloping into the shrapnel and bayonets of German soldiers tugging and straining at the traces as they drag heavy artillery over the half-frozen roads or lying wounded, helpless and dying on some French, Belgian or German battle field. For, despite the peace talk, despite the humane sentiment of our people and despite everything, trainload after trainload of American horses are leaving Chicago every day, for Canada, to be shipped to England.

Other trains leave St. Louis, Kansas City and Louisville, daily for New Orleans, whence the horses are shipped to France. These horses are being bought now, today, in the rural districts of the middle-west, as well as from the ranges further west. Many a family pet will be bullet-shattered and will die a lingering death in the cold of the coming winter, for there are no Red Cross societies to care for wounded horses.

War Weary

The obligation that rests upon decent newspapers to tell the truth is ever a sacred and responsible one. At no time should it be more honored in observance than during the continuation of the tragedy that is being enacted upon the European continent. A period like the present stiffens the demand for veracity made by a public that takes journalism seriously.

Right-minded people have wearied of the unending procession of tales of horror, cruelty and destruction. They are eager, even anxious, to address themselves to the constructive policies of peace. The distorted perspective presented them by many newspapers gives them just offense. The plain truth is, the reading public is sick and tired of the monotony of the war diet served up to them.

Yet how many sensational newspapers disregard their duty to their readers, and careless of their obligation, deliberately invent horrors for the sole purpose of claiming supremacy in the publication of exclusive news.

Never in the history of the newspaper has there been such a demand for truth; yet never in the history of the newspaper has truth been so carelessly handled.

No wonder the reading public is weary of "War News".

CHRISTMAS AFTER ALL
By Clarissa Mackie

It did not seem like the 24th of December. Instead of snowy streets filled with eager Christmas shoppers and bright eyed children there was the bleak and straggling Chinese thoroughfare. In place of the suggestive spicy scents of spruce trees and evergreen wreaths and the perfume of holly berries there were the multitudinous odors of the oriental city and the gleam of swinging red and gold signboards overhead. The weather was cold and the sun was hidden by clouds.

Benny Farwell felt very homesick as he went back to the wharf where lay the big river steamer of which he was the second officer. Benny had an especial grievance. It had been promised that he could return to the United States and marry Ethel Lister, and it had been his unpleasant duty to write and tell his sweetheart that the wedding must be postponed until spring because of certain changes in the management of the steamship company that quite unceremoniously transferred him to another steamer plying up the Yangtze river. The only consolation was that the change meant promotion for Benny. He had not heard from Ethel since sending his letter early in October—and everything was wrong.

"Confound it all!" he yelled desperately when he reached the wharf and discovered that the Chino had sailed without him. He looked at his watch and found that there was two hours to spare before the announced sailing time of the big steamer. Why had Captain Davies sailed without him?

He asked questions of the coolies grinning at his predicament, and, of course, none of them knew anything beyond the fact that the steamer had suddenly drawn in her gangplank and departed without stopping to take on the remainder of her cargo of tea.

Benny looked dazedly at the piles of straw covered boxes with the black markings that splashed the name of his ship. What could have happened to send the Chino down the river so suddenly? There appeared to be no friendly demonstration among the natives on the wharf.

He remembered with a feeling of uneasiness that it had been Captain Davies who had suggested that the second officer should go ashore to discover a few foreign dainties for the Christmas dinner. "Get a wedding cake if you can," the captain had added with grim humor, and although the jibe hurt, Benny had grinned good naturedly. He had been successful in his search (except for the cake) as was testified by the well filled baskets borne by the coolie who was at his heels.

Benny looked up from the muddy river and frowned. "There is only one thing to do," he declared, "and that is to go up to the mission, spend Christmas there and make the best of a bad job."

At the mission house Dr. Blake welcomed him with open arms. It was a bachelor's paradise, he explained as all the ladies had gone down to Shanghai to spend the Christmas holidays.

"And they left you alone?" said Benny disapprovingly.

The doctor laughed genially. "It was my wish. I am going to have a Christmas tree for some of my boys here and you can help me if you will."

"Of course," said Benny with what enthusiasm he could muster, but he could not help adding dolefully, "seems like a farce trying to celebrate Christmas in this heathen country."

Dr. Blake nodded kindly. "I understand, my lad," he said sympathetically. "Some day you will discover that just as true as the saying, 'home is where the heart is,' is another 'Christmas is in our hearts.'"

"I expect I'm making a fool of myself," growled Benny sheepishly, "only tomorrow was to have been my wedding day."

"Tell me about it," ordered the doctor.

After that Benny Farwell felt better. He even began to take interest in the missionary's preparations for the Christmas tree in the little chapel. Time honored traditions of Yuletide were to be carried out, although the celebration was to be early in the morning.

"Why not wait until evening and have the tree lighted up? It will be jolly," suggested Benny Farwell, from the corner where he was fil-

O, Santa, can't you come again?
Just see the dolly that you gave!
She's gone and slipped out of my hands—
Her head is all that I can save!

My daddy says that you can't come
Until another year has passed,
But years are very, very long—
Just think how long a year can last!

I loved my dolly—oh, so much!
My heart most broke when down she fell.
But Santa—let me whisper it—
Another doll might do as well.

Benefit of Good Roads

The road-building specialists of the department of agriculture, in Bulletin No. 136, entitled "Highway Bonds," have the following to say about the benefit of a well constructed highway to property owners whose property is not directly on the road to be improved:

In planning the highway system or the main market roads it will be found necessary to omit many roads the improvement of which is greatly desired by adjoining landowners. The fact that such property holders must pay a tax for the bond issue is only an apparent injustice, for if the highway system is well planned the entire county will feel the benefits of the improvement. As a rule, main market roads reach the majority of producing areas, and when they are improved all land values tend to increase.

The fact that cities and larger towns are frequently taxed for bond issues to build highways outside of their town limits is sometimes made a point of debate in bond elections. It is argued that because a large part of the county wealth is within the corporate limit of such cities and towns highway bond money should also be used to construct their streets. It is even urged that the expenditure should be made proportionate to the assessed valuation within the city limits. If the proceeds of highway bond issues were distributed in this way, their purpose in many cases would be defeated. The primary object of the county highway bond issue is to build county market roads and not to improve city streets, although a high percentage of the assessed valuation may be city property. It is now known that the expenditure of city taxes on country roads is a sound principle and that it is one of the best features of State aid for highways. In Massachusetts the city of Boston pays possibly 40 per cent of the total State highway fund, but not a mile of State-aid highway has been built within its limits. New York City also pays about 60 per cent of the cost of the State highway bonds. Some State laws prohibit the expenditure of proceeds of highway bonds within corporate limits of cities or towns.

The improvement of market roads results in improved marketing conditions, which benefit the city. Most cities are essentially dependent upon the surrounding country for their prosperity and development. The development of suburban property for residence purposes is also dependent upon highway conditions, and it is becoming evident yearly that what ever makes for an increase in rural population must be encouraged. Since the introduction of motor traffic county highways are used to an increasing extent by city residents. In fact, the cost of maintaining many county highways has been greatly increased by the presence of city-owned motor vehicles.

The general advance in facilities for doing country business from town headquarters when roads are improved is no inconsiderable factor in the commercial life of the community.

Some Hiker

G. L. Rosenblum, a hiker, who claims to have left New York during 1911 for a hike around the world, was in Genesee on Friday of last week and called at the News office.

According to his records he had hiked 17,372 miles from the time he left home until he had reached Genesee, having gone around the world, walking all the way, where possible. He carried a pack of 45 pounds on his back, also a mandolin, upon which he is an artist, and which he uses for making his necessary expenses.

He says he was not making the trip on a wager, neither is there a girl awaiting his return to New York but that he started out to see the world and had succeeded in doing so. He was on his return to his home city when he passed through Genesee.

He said he had 37,000 pages of diary. He writes each day's happenings and then goes to the post office and has the postmaster stamp the name of the town and date thereon, which makes his record authentic and complete.

The ability to successfully reason with a person who never reasons with himself, is a little short of the power to work miracles.

The man who can shoulder responsibility is destined to carry the load of many of his fellows.

Everybody nowadays, farmers and townsmen, are working together in preserving and developing their communities. This is a logical result of modern conditions, for there has hardly been a time in the history of the United States when this kind of cooperation has been more needed than at present. In the pioneer days the town was little more than a place to trade, but it was indispensable for that purpose alone. The modern town is not only the trading center of the community but it is its social and educational center as well.

Some citizens have sometimes overlooked or underestimated the importance of the social advantages afforded by the small country town that would be wholly unspiced if not cultivated by the town. Local trade and commerce produce and maintain wealth and prosperity where that trade is carried on—in the rural community. As wealth accumulates in a community every citizen in the community—but especially the property owner—is benefited. Where money is in circulation money may be acquired, wealth may be accumulated.

Town and community are not made prosperous by the money that is sent away, but by the money that is spent at home. The best possible way, in fact the only practical way to make this community more prosperous is to make it more populous—we must have more people right here to consume what we produce and sell. So far as the wealth and prosperity of the community are concerned, they will be promoted as directly by the purchase and consumption of what is sold as by the consumption of what is produced here.

In other words, things must be bought here and the money produced in the community must be spent and used here if the community is to prosper as it should.

Town and community are not mere accidental features of the landscape; they are indispensable factors in producing not only the highest but the only known civilization. The human race as a consequence is inseparable with houses and communities. Man is a social animal and the community is but a development of man's social instincts. Of course the community can be destroyed, the rural town can be wiped off the map; but not without a serious loss to civilization.

The fact that some persons are so shortsighted as to ignore the necessity of the community organization, does not make the necessity any the less urgent. Nor does it make injuries to the community any the less vital because the persons inflicting the harm are ignorant of the harm they are doing. A community gives to each of its citizens a great many things that they would sorely miss if deprived of them. In return and for its own preservation the local town—the nucleus of the community, without which it would not exist—demands something from the citizen—his trade.

We sometimes wonder how many citizens use this town to the greatest possible advantage to themselves. Suppose everybody looked upon the town as an organization designed especially to contribute to his comforts his progress and his happiness. What has it to offer that he must have in order to be happy and contented, and that he can not secure elsewhere? How often does the citizen farmer or townsman—as he goes to the bank to cash a check or to the post office to mail a letter, think of what conditions would be without bank or postoffice? Can he imagine bank and postoffice without a town? Can he imagine a town without stores and other places of business? Can he imagine the existence of stores without patronage? Let him for a moment consider the intimate relations and connections that exist between local populations and the patronage of local merchants the supporting and maintaining of schools, churches and places of amusement, the performing of governmental functions, and indeed the maintenance of civilization. Though he may shut his eyes to the connections and ignore his duty in the premises, the connections none the less exist and the duty is none the less obvious.

TOWN IS COMMUNITY CENTER

ing American folding boxes with American candy for the little Chinese Christians.

"I shall be busy all afternoon. I have to perform a marriage ceremony and I shall take you along with me," explained the doctor.

"All right. I've always wanted to see a Chinese wedding," said Benny absently.

There dawned a gray, bleak Christmas day. Benny Farwell awoke himself to the tune of dismal thoughts and refused to believe that back there in America they were celebrating the birthday of the king of kings.

After breakfast they went into the little chapel where a crowd of excited Chinese, large and small, clamored for admittance.

In the excitement of distributing gifts as Dr. Blake called Chinese names in rapid succession and then identified the mysteriously marked packages Benny Farwell forgot for a while his discontent.

He managed to pull himself together so that when tiffin was over the time came for the wedding ceremony. Dr. Blake found him an apparently light-hearted companion.

Two sedan chairs swung up to the door, and Benny managed to cramp his long legs into one of them, and he was glad when his bearers carefully closed the sliding doors, leaving him in the dim seclusion of the vehicle.

Trat, trat, trat, went the bearers, and the chairs went tipping up and down in gentle rhythm. After awhile they paused, and the chairs proceeded with slow caution for a few paces, turned, went down a flight of stairs and finally came to rest.

The doors slid back, and Benny's legs shot out onto the red carpeted floor of the Chino's saloon. He stood looking around at the familiar furniture, not noticing that the chair bearers had backed out and that Dr. Blake was there regarding him quizzically.

"What's it all about?" burst forth the amazed Benny at last.

"Wait and see, my lad," smiled the missionary with a hand on the young officer's shoulder. "There's to be a wedding aboard now, and I am afraid Captain Davies didn't take you into his confidence."

"Well, rather not," muttered Benny smoothing down his hair and brightening his blue necktie. "These are hardly wedding garments, eh?"

"They'll do. They won't look at any one except the bride," laughed Dr. Blake.

To Benny's surprise, a quietly dressed little woman slipped into the saloon, nodded to the missionary, and smiled at him. She sat down before the antiquated piano in the corner and played a wailing melody.

When Benny glanced around he noticed that Dr. Blake, in his surprise, was standing before a little table with a prayer book in his hand. On the table were scattered orange blooms. A lump came into Benny's throat. It was hard to officiate at another fellow's wedding when he and Ethel—

The lump disappeared, for the bride had stepped down the passage. There was a glimmer of white garments, and the music burst forth triumphantly as the bride stepped into the saloon and approached the table where Dr. Blake stood. Benny quite forgot that he, too, was standing close to the table where the bridegroom should have waited.

They were coming toward him—that mysterious veiled form, slender, with drooping head. His eyes wandered to the one beside her, and his knees fell to shaking.

The dignified, white-haired lady in gray satin, to whom the bride was clinging was—Mrs. Lister of San Francisco.

"Then—then—the bride must be—would she lift her head?" She did and smiled at him through a mist of tears and the blur of her lace veil.

It was Ethel. It was her wedding—could it be his too?

"Back up, my lad," whispered Captain Davies' gruff voice in his ear. And with a deep inward breath of amazed happiness Benny Farwell stepped forward to greet his bride, who had come across the Pacific to him.

He never remembered one word that followed. The words of Dr. Blake rang through his ears—"Christmas is in our hearts." Would he ever forget it—forgot his utter despair of the day before, forgot the loving thoughtfulness of his shipmates who had turned the Chino's head south to meet the transit-

The official reporters for the Coyote club have failed to make a report to the News for two weeks. Some of the members lay it to one cause and some of them to another—but the underlying fact is that they haven't succeeded in getting any game—not even a sparrow.

The last trip out all were very sanguine that they would bring back the "limit" and from all reports, they did, for they have been limited to nothing recently.

Glenn Sampson says he has been in charge of the commissary wagon and has had no opportunity to run down any of the coyotes. In all likelihood if they don't bring in more "game" than they have lately their hunting licenses will be taken away from them and given to some one who can hunt.

A Unit of Progress

Men move forward intellectually and socially, and they make progress in all the important concerns of life, in small groups. In general the local community may be considered as one of these units of progress. The unity of the rural community is clearly so, for its people unite in promoting its schools, its churches and its public utilities, through local action and expression the local community is indispensable in our form of government. In fact our government is based upon and is framed in conformity with the theory that citizens shall consider and act upon political questions in small groups where free oral discussions may be indulged in.

NORTHWEST LIVESTOCK SHOW

Largest and Best Ever Held—Genesee Firm Wins Prizes—Student Judging
All directors of the Northwest Livestock association agree that the interest which the stock shows have awakened among the youth of the Pacific northwest in better stock is worth in itself what the shows have cost. In all meetings that are held, and usually where a few are gathered together, gratification over this result is spoken. More than 90 boys and girls took part in the judging contests, besides over 30 in the contests which were only open to agricultural college students.
No class of visitors at the fair grounds has shown more interest in the show than the students and firm boys and girls. George M. Wilson brought out the importance of this work in the association meeting last night and said that it takes a lifetime to make a good stock man, and the boys and girls are the ones who will be greatly benefited.
High scores were given the students in the awards that were given yesterday, the highest of all being that of 91-2 points made by Jeanette Collins, of the Lewiston Normal, in the special premium given for the best boy and girl judge between 18 and 20 years of age judging in the dairy department.
Carl Johnson, of the University of Idaho, won one of the most prized awards, being the gold medal donated by W. L. Carlyle to the best student judge of livestock, the student to be regularly enrolled in some regular course in an agricultural college and officially representing that college. Johnson scored 554 points in a possible 600.
Miss Olga Mohl, by virtue of her success as a youthful judge of livestock, has several victories to her credit. By virtue of her work in the Lewiston Normal team in the association judging class, she will receive $20. She wins two boar pigs each worth at least $25, because she was the best boy or girl judge of livestock and also the best girl judge of livestock, she entering in both contests. She also appeared as a winner of the handsome $50 clock offered by the Northern Pacific for the best boy or girl judge, under 18, of dairy livestock.

Genesee H. S. defeated Clarkston H. S. for the second time. Score 33 to 19.
On the home floor the local H. S. basketball team administered a second defeat to the Clarkston five last Friday evening to the tune of 33 to 19. The game was fast and clean and in the first half was hotly contested. During the second half the lead gained by the Genesee boys gave several of the second team a chance to get in the game.
The line-up was as follows—Clarkston: Bullfinch, and Davis, forwards; Standley, center; St. ole and Chapman, guards; Bodine and Zimmerman, subs. Genesee: Wardorbe and Meyers, forwards; Springer, center; Hayward and Mochel, guards; Post, Kern and Schooler, subs.
"Mel" Wardorbe refereed the game very satisfactorily to both sides.
From a financial standpoint the game was a disappointment. On account of the crowd being so small the team was unable to make expenses. It is hoped that in the future the people of the town turn out and help a winning team with both their presence and their financial support. Carl Nagel was out of the game on account of having stepped on a nail. He will be in the line-up at Pullman next Friday.
Next game with Pullman H. S. at Pullman Friday, December 18.
Faith Follett and Francis Orth have been absent several days from H. S. on account of sickness.

More Hunters Return

Hunters in various directions have returned home, and while some are exhibiting trophies of the chase, others have been forced to return home empty-handed.
Among those who have been able to show something for their time and fun (not labor, as some call it) were the Scharnhorst-Steltz party who returned last week from a three week's trip to the Rapid river and Devils country, where they succeeded in bagging two fine deer, and report that they were the only deer to be found in that entire region. While we know nothing of the number of deer there we do know that the meat is of a very fine quality as Messrs. Scharnhorst and Steltz each donated the writer with a fine roast of venison which was duly appreciated.
The Carlander and John Wardrobe returned the first of this week from a hunting trip among the "tall uncut", but failed to bring anything home to show their prowess along those lines. Yag says he would rather hunt with the coyote club which organization is figuring on giving him the position of driver of the commissary wagon.
There have been several other hunting parties out whose names we have failed to get, but it has been reported that some of them got deer but that a very few reached the limit.
Be sure and read the markets.

A Vagrant Christmas Gift

By ALBERT EDWARD CONVERSE
(Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.)

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Smith understood each other perfectly on the Christmas present proposition. This satisfactory state of affairs did not come about until the first year of their wedded life, nor even the second. The third Christmas was almost at hand before Mr. Smith discovered by the American commission from Henry W. Diederich, the United States consul general at Antwerp, who appeals for food for his family, for his consular staff and for himself.

THEY GET SUPPLIES THIS SIDE

Newspapermen and Teamsters Favored With Passes—Snipers Active—President Carranza Does Not Want Us to Stop Fighting.

Naco, Ariz.—Partial blockade along the Mexican border has been established by Brigadier General Tasker H. Bliss, commander of the United States troops guarding American territory, in revoking all passes previously issued to many persons for crossing the international lines. Later communication into Mexico was limited to newspaper men and teamsters actually engaged in hauling.

This action was taken by General Bliss, it was said, as a result of the reported efforts of both Mexican factions to send agents into Arizona for recruits, supplies and other purposes.

Several agents of both General Hill, the commander of the Naco (Sonora) garrison, and Governor Maytorena, whose forces have been besieging the town since September, were refused passes into American territory.

Snipers continue to be active in exchanging shots. General Hill has received two 75-millimeter Maxim guns, which were placed in position after dark.

Sees U. S. Unfriendly. Vera Cruz.—If the United States employs force to stop the firing by Mexicans across the international boundary line at Naco it will be considered an unfriendly act, notwithstanding the friendly motive cloaking the act.

In this manner General Carranza made answer, in a statement, to the formal notice served by the United States on both Provisional President Gutierrez and General Carranza, that unless such firing ceased force would be employed to protect American territory.

Santa Claus as much—and be worth it.
Do not be satisfied with wishing people a "Merry Christmas," help make it one.
Lots of men put on long white whiskers and think they look like me when they look more like a goat—and perhaps they are.
If Willie wants to see what is inside the drum for goodness sake let him.
You are living in God's own country. What more do you want for Christmas?
It is a wise Santa who keeps his whiskers away from the candles.
Keep up the good will to make part of it right through until next Christmas.
It is more blessed to give than to receive, except in the matter of gifts.
Fortunately for most of us, we won't get what we deserve on Christmas.
When Christmas giving becomes a necessity it ceases to be a virtue.
There is more joy in heaven over a ton of coal given to the poor than a ton of diamonds given to the rich.

Song of the Christmas Tree

By Gene Morgan

I come from northern forest lands where men would tarry never. The seasons come, the seasons go, but I am green forever.

The flowers of spring bloom at my feet. The shadows always spreading. Near by there runs a forest path where merry folk are frolicing.

The summer people visit me here. Poor flowers, they wither, droop and die amid the woodland life.

Searching First Calmly and Then With Apparent Annoyance.

And searching first calmly and then with apparent annoyance. "By George! It isn't here," he announced in a surprised tone.

"Well, I've had just about the most strenuous time I've experienced in many months," said Smith. "I came out all right though."

"I'm so sorry," said Mrs. Smith. "Now I hope you won't be angry, Jack, but you hadn't been gone but a few moments when I discovered that you hadn't sent Mrs. Snively's book, after all. I found her book lying on the floor by the center-table, where, in some way, it had been knocked off."

"The only book that is missing is the one that Mr. and Mrs. Perkins sent us, so that must have been the one that you sent to the Snivelys."

"Mr. Smith collapsed into the near est chair."

"Ding-a-ling-a-ling," went the telephone.

Mr. Smith, still in a dazed condition, rose and answered it.

"Hello, is that you, Smith?" said a voice. "This is Perkins."

Smith braced himself for the worst. "I don't understand about that present you gave me down at the office. When I got home I found that it had Snively's name on it."

"I thought there must be some mistake about it, so I didn't open it."

"Thank Heaven!"

"What do you say?"

"I wish you'd open it right. It was just a little joke on Snively's part."

"Is that so? Well, I'll bring the package down to the office with me in the morning."

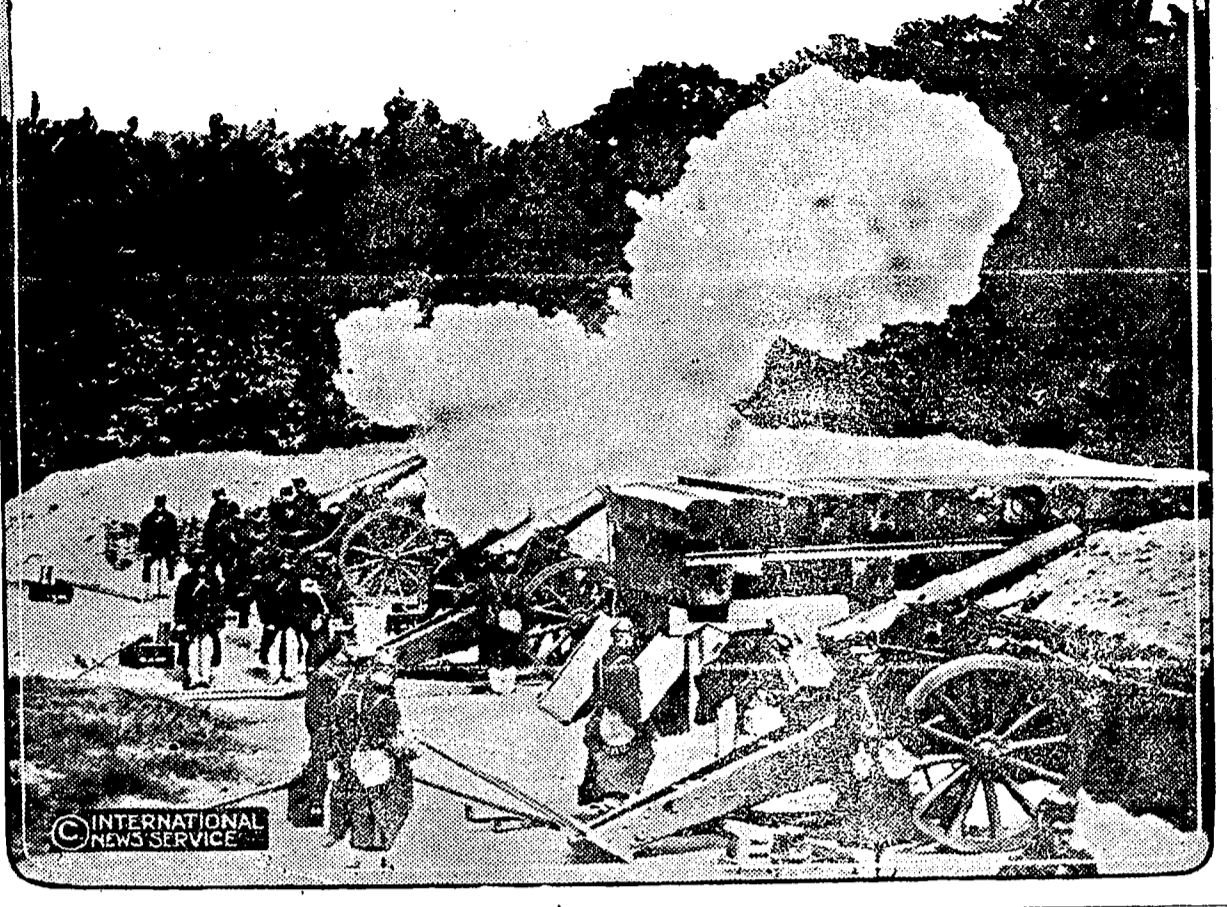

"Thank you, good-bye."

"Thank heaven," said Smith as he hung up the telephone and went back to his desk.

"Christ mas came and it was a merry one."

POSTMASTER GENERAL RECOMMENDS ACQUISITION OF THE PHONE SYSTEMS.

DEPARTMENT SELF SUSTAINS

Washington.—Further development of Postmaster General Burleson's recommendations for government acquisition of the telegraph and telephone systems is proposed in the postoffice appropriation bill reported to the house. It is said to carry approximately $325,000,000.

Efforts to extend the civil service to third class postmasters failed and no civil service extension is provided. The office of assistant postmaster, however, for many years a fixture in the larger cities throughout the country, would be abolished by the bill.

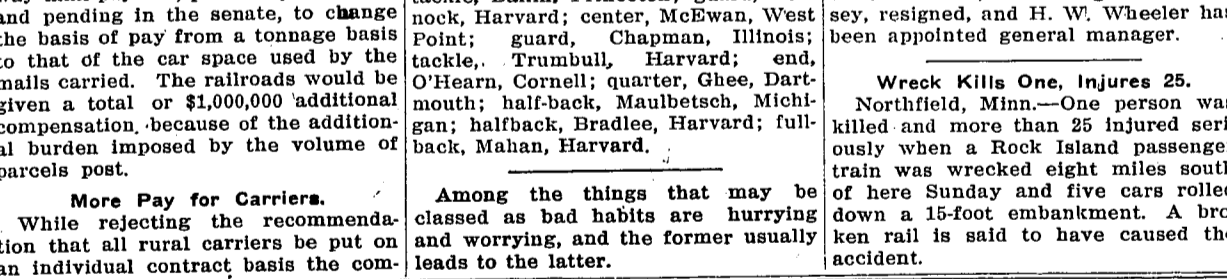

In first class offices all activities would be regrouped, so as to concentrate all supervisory authority in each postoffice under a postmaster, superintendent of finance and superintendent of mails.

Raising of the maximum balances acceptable at postal banks from $500 to $2000, the interest to be payable only on deposits up to $1000 would be authorized by the bill. Rearrangement of the salaries of superintendents, their assistants, cashiers and others, would be provided for.

The All-American football team selections of Walter Camp as announced recently: End, Hardwick, Harvard; tackle, Ballin, Princeton; guard, Penick, Harvard; center, McEwan, West Point; guard, Chapman, Illinois; tackle, Trumbull, Harvard; end, O'Brien, Cornell; quarter, Ghee, Dartmouth; half-back, Maubetsch, Michigan; half-back, Bradlee, Harvard; full-back, Mahan, Harvard.

Among the things that may be classed as bad habits are hurrying and worrying, and the former usually leads to the latter.

The bill would allow the increase of $100 annually until the maximum is attained.

PATROL THE CANAL

HOUSE HONORS SERENO PAYNE

Washington.—With solemn ceremony the house of representatives on Sunday mourned the death of Sereno E. Payne, for 30 years a member of the house. It was the first time in 15 years that the house held a public funeral, paying final tribute to a dead member lying in state in the hall of the house. Nelson Dingley, Jr., was given a state funeral in 1923.

The president and his cabinet, the vice president and the senate, the supreme court, the diplomatic corps and the high officers of the army and navy were invited to join the house in mourning its dead. The senate had appointed a committee and arranged to attend the ceremony.

The services were entirely religious in character, and were conducted by the Rev. D. C. Cason, chaplain of the house, and the Rev. Samuel H. Greene of the Calvary Baptist church, which Mr. Payne attended in Washington.

The choir of Calvary church sang and a section of the marine band played appropriate music.

Death of Former Resident

Mrs. L. Linehan received a message last Thursday of the death of her sister, Mrs. Mike Driscoll of Kennewick, Wash., which occurred December 10, as a result of asthma from which disease she had been a sufferer for a number of years, having been an invalid for the past eight years. Burial was made at Walla Walla, Wash., Saturday, December 12, beside a son, who was buried there two years ago.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Frank and William, and daughter, Hattie, all of whom are at home.

Mrs. Driscoll was well known here having been a resident of Genesee for twenty years. The family left here eight years ago, since which time they have resided at Kennewick. Mrs. Linehan was unable to be in attendance at the funeral services.

Win Championships and Contests

Students from the U. of I. carried off a major portion of the honors in the hog-judging contest at the Pullman hog show last week, when Idaho students carried away first, second, third and sixth places in the contest, while W. S. C. students captured fourth and fifth places. The show was said to have been one of the best ever attempted in the Palouse country.

At the International Livestock show at Portland, Idaho University students succeeded in carrying off only second place in the judging contest, but the university made practically a clean sweep of livestock awards in all classes in which entries had been made, they having carried away six firsts, six championships and six other awards, which goes to show that Idaho has some of the very best stock in the Northwest.

The town was full of farmers Saturday and the merchants enjoyed a brisk business. The roads are in fine condition and with the good weather that is prevailing, the trade conditions are of the best.

Death of George Kays

George Kays, sr., a former resident of the Pine Grove neighborhood and a pioneer in this vicinity passed to the Great Beyond at the hospital in Pasco, Wash., last Thursday. He had undergone an operation for appendicitis about a week previous when death suddenly came, probably brought on by an attack of heart failure. The remains were brought here Saturday morning for burial. Simple funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at the undertaking rooms by Rev. A. P. Orth and interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

George Kays and his family left here something over eight years ago since which time he has resided at Pasco, Wash. Besides a widow he leaves three sons, George, jr., of Republic Wash., Charles of Los Angeles, Cal, and Grover of Santa Barbara, Cal, and one daughter, Mrs. Oscar Niles of Juliaetta, Idaho.

Are you reading the continued story begun in last week's issue of the News? If not you should do so as the contents of the first chapter foretell an interesting continuation. It is entitled "The Governor's Lady" by Gertrude Stevenson and is a novelization of Alice Brady's play.

Owes Her Good Health to Chamberlain's Tablets

Accidental Fire

What came near being a serious fire occurred at the home of Dr. W. H. Ehlen, Monday night. Dr. Ehlen had just installed a new plumbing system and the pipes had not been properly covered. About 11 o'clock he took a torch under the porch to thaw out the frozen pipes and it is supposed a spark was left that later ignited the sawdust used to protect the pipes. Between 1 and 2 o'clock, Mrs. Ehlen was awakened by a suffocating smoke that filled the house. On investigation it was found that holes were burned entirely through the bathroom floor and the fire had been so intense as to melt the lead pipes, entirely burning away the goose necks in the plumbing. The fire was extinguished with very little difficulty, but it was certainly a close call.

Do not wait until just before train time for mailing parcels. Mail parcels early.

The Ladies aid of the Congregational church held their Experience social at the church Wednesday evening. A nice little program had been arranged and each member told how she had earned her experience money. Pop corn and apples were served, the men had charge of the popping of the corn. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all present and several dollars were added to the right side of the Ladies aid ledger.

Genesee is experiencing some real winter weather just now and the thermometer is hovering just a few degrees above zero. As to just how many degrees thermometers vary in different localities, but the one at the bank corner has registered just 12 degrees above zero at seven o'clock each morning for the past three or four. But the cold is a quiet cold unattended by wind or storm of any kind.

City Market Changes Hands

(A Christmas Suggestion)

Now, dear citizen, shame on you
Because you're doing as you do.
For I know it, and so do you,
To your own town you are not true.
You take an auto, car or bike
And to another town you hike
And lay your hard-earned money down.

To some guys in that other town—
That money you should spend right here,
And thereby give our merchants cheer.

I know it, and so do you;
Now, dear citizen, shame on you.

You send off for your coats and pants
And send the money in advance,
And when received by you, by heck,
You find you got it in the neck.
The legs too short, the waist too small,

Won't fit a man like you at all.

Would like to see a merchant here
Hand you a package thus, so dear,
The howl you'd raise, and every word
Would over this whole town be heard
I know it and so do you;
Now, dear citizen, shame on you.

You too, send off for furs and cloaks
Way off to them there other bloaks,
Who do not care a snap for you,
They only want to get your dough.
Your groceries, too, you get from there.

And other things you can buy here.
By sending money out of town
You're throwing your own merchants down.

Some day, by doing thus, you see,
You'll find your merchants up a tree.
I know it and so do you;
Now, dear citizen, shame on you.

Our merchants here cater to you
And always see what they can do.
They try to please you every time
With anything that's in their line.
They're always courteous, kind and true;

I know that they are honest, too.
You have no cause to send your chink

To other towns, to other ginks.
Don't you consider the expense?
If you do not, you have no sense.
I know it and so do you;
Citizens, I'm ashamed of you.

Hereafter, I will tell you what,
You spend your money on the spot
Where you do earn it, and do not Send it off for that other rot.

When pay-day comes and you do see
That it's not what it ought to be,
Our merchants are then good enough
To let you have all kinds of stuff
And wait until another day,
Until you draw another pay.
I know it, and so do you;
Citizens, I'm ashamed of you.

We have here just the finest town
Of any you can find around,
But if you all will traitors be,
You can't expect prosperity.

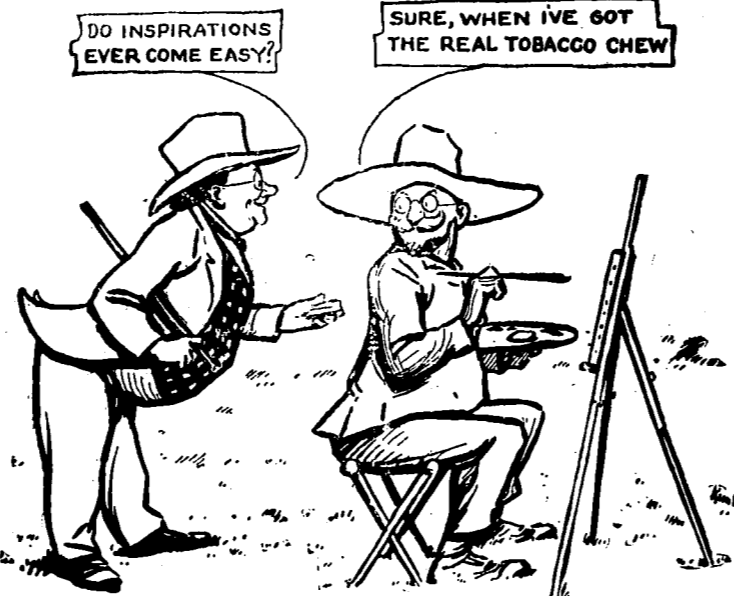

Take it from me and put it down,
And never do forsake your town.
If you do you will soon find out
That we will all be down and out.
The merchants here all know it, too.
That you are doing as you do.
I know it, and so do you;
Citizens, I'm ashamed of you.

No Message on Belgian Gifts

Not even the words "Merry Christmas" may be written on packages of supplies sent to the starving Belgians. The American commission for relief in Belgium announced that the placing by donors of an inscription of any sort inside or outside the packages might subject the entire consignment to confiscation by officials suspicious of a military code message. The prohibition extends to expressions of sympathy and even initials of senders. The neutrality conditions under which the goods go from Rotterdam into Belgium are that positively no mark or message of any description is permitted to which German officials could object.

When the editor of a country paper starts in on Monday morning to get up something for his paper in the way of interesting local news and finds, after nosing around, that nothing has happened in the town or

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW

THE GOOD JUDGE LEARNS FROM THE ARTIST

TOBACCO satisfaction—a chew of "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew. The comforting taste of rich, mellow, sappy tobacco comes—and it lasts. Made of ripe, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

"Right-Cut" goes twice as far as any other tobacco for the same money. Get a pouch and see for yourself.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is ready chew, cut fine and short so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit so much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and sweetener. Hence the soft brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

The Governor's Lady

A Novelization of Alice Bradley's Play

By GERTRUDE STEVENSON

Illustrations from Photographs of the Stage Production

Copyright, 1918 (Publication Rights Reserved) by David Belasco.

SYNOPSIS.

Daniel Slade suddenly advances from a penniless miser to a millionaire and becomes a power in the political and business world. He has his eye on the governor's chair. His simple, home-loving wife fails to rise to the new conditions.

CHAPTER I—Continued.

"Dan," she said, "I'll tell you something. These expensive laundries ruin your shirts right off, and when I washed 'em they lasted a whole year. They ain't ironed right, either."

"Oh, my God!" groaned Slade, helplessly, pitying her lack of understanding rather than being angry with her. "I wish you'd forget, Mary, that I had to let you wash and scrub once. We're up now. Let us kick the ladder out from under us and stay up—forget how we got here."

"But I don't want to forget," remonstrated the little wisp of a woman opposite him. "I was perfectly contented those days. I ain't now. I hate this house. I hate it. It's too big. The help scare me, so many of 'em. I'd like just one hired girl and my old sitting-room set." She stopped meditatively, her thoughts wandering back to the early days when her husband took his pick and dinner pail and tramped off to the mines, and she sang as she bent over the washtub and busied herself at the kitchen stove.

Her husband sat with face averted, his imagination carrying him far into the future—a vision of honor as chief executive of the state and power in keeping with the untold riches he had accumulated.

"That's it," he finally exclaimed, "I want to go ahead and you want to stick over your washtubs. I need the support of big people—got to mix with 'em, and be one of 'em. And you want."

"No, I don't have to," replied Mary. "I needn't."

"You don't see the necessity of joining me?" he asked, testily.

"I don't know how."

"Do you want to know how?" he persisted.

"No," came the provokingly indifferent answer.

"You're putting the bars up in the middle of the road," he continued, "and I'm making up my mind to change things."

Suddenly Mary's lips quivered and a hurt look showed in her eyes behind the misty tears as she realized that whatever she did irritated her husband. She started to speak, but was interrupted by the entrance of a servant, who announced that Senator Strickland and his daughter had just phoned to say that he and his daughter would call on their way to the opera.

Slade's face flushed and paled at the thought—flushed at the pleasurable surprise at this unlooked-for attention from the senator, and paled as he thought of the senator's stunningly gowned daughter arriving to find his wife in a cheap, ill-fitting dress that would have looked badly even for morning wear.

"Mary, you look like a steerage passenger," he exclaimed suddenly, turning on the flustered little woman, who was aghast at the very thought of a call from the senator and his daughter. "Go upstairs and dress. I'll make excuses and hold them till you come down."

"I can't," she gasped. "I ain't got time, anyway, and I haven't anything to go to the opera in."

Slade leaned forward and struck the table with his clenched fist. "Don't you understand? You must see these people. Tonight's paper names me for governor. Strickland's influence is more necessary to me than any other man's in the whole state. He controls the party. He's bringing his daughter to my house. You're meeting them socially. Come on, now, come on—he became persuasive—"put on a nice little gown and come along and show them you can do something. We'll hold a reception here and it'll be a direct answer to Wesley Merritt's slur on you in tonight's paper."

Go to the opera with Katherine Strickland—with a woman who had just returned from Europe—the woman who had dined with a queen and been feted all over the continent. Hold a reception—hostess in this house where she felt, save for her Dan, a stranger. Meet people who spoke in what to her was a strange and altogether unmanageable fashion.

Mary caught her breath with a sob of dismay. The very thought paralyzed her. "I can't, Dan," she finally managed to blurt out. "I'd do anything else for you—but not this."

"I'll not ask you again," replied Slade, ominously, and poor Mary, too excited to interpret the threat, picked up her sewing and her newspapers and made for the door.

"Tell them," she exclaimed breathlessly, "tell them I had a headache—that's a fashionable enough excuse, anyway." And, terrified, she fled out of the room as Katherine Strickland and her father were announced.

CHAPTER II.

As Slade turned from the frightened, insignificant figure of his wife, ing wife, he saw a woman of perfect poise and queenly carriage, a woman a trifle haughty and insolent in her youth and beauty and assured command of all the intricacies of social grace and charm. Her wide, full eyes met his with an engaging, frank curiosity to see this new factor in the political world. Her gown was a triumph of soft, shimmering silk and alluring chiffon—a gown that emphasized the charm of her proud, statuesque figure. She was the sort of woman that makes a man glow with pride to present as his wife or daughter. She was all that Mary Slade was not.

Slade stood looking at her, fascinated, forgetting for the moment the man she was with, remembering nothing but the magnetic personality of the woman whose reputation for doing big things in a big way was already known to him—a woman whose eyes meeting his gave back flash for flash and understanding for understanding.

Almost mechanically Slade found himself acknowledging Senator Strickland's formal presentation of his daughter. Hesitatingly he offered his hand, which the girl, perfectly at ease, grasped with a cordial, sympathetic pressure. Her eyes were looking critically into his, much as if she were trying to read him through and through and take his measure for future use.

Her easy, graceful acceptance of the situation, her thoughtful inquiry for Mrs. Slade's health, prompted by well-bred sympathy rather than any curious interest, and the cultured modulation of her splendid voice, charmed him as no woman had ever done before.

There was nothing of the shy, retiring ingenue in Katherine Strickland's makeup. She was a woman of splendid physique and wonderful mental development. Her appeal to a man was that of a dominant intellect as much as of a lovely woman. She immediately impressed Slade as being keen-witted, strong-minded and clever. His admiration displayed itself in his shining eyes and his unusually affable, attentive manner.

Suddenly he found himself comparing his own little old-fashioned wife with this handsome, self-possessed woman before him. What a wife Katherine Strickland would be for the governor of a state! What a picture she would make presiding at the head of a millionaire's dinner table! How wonderfully such a woman would adorn the richly furnished rooms of his newly built mansion! Instead of the work-worn fingers of his wife, continuously fumbling with darning threads, he saw, in a mental vision, this woman's lovely hands constantly engaged in unwinding the threads of problematic political tangles. Here was a woman who would be a man's wife and comrade—the very antithesis of the household drudge his own wife was content to be, with no interest outside of the four walls of her home and no desire for anything bigger in life than the daily routine of breakfast, dinner and supper, washing on Monday, ironing on Tuesday, and so on to the end of the week—week after week in the same deadly rut. Here was a woman who would "go along with a man"—possibly a step ahead, blazing the way for new and greater glories and recognizing no limit.

Slade brought his reflections to a sudden halt as he remembered the girl's father.

"Why, what has happened to you, senator? Your face looks different than it did this afternoon."

"Her fault," replied the senator, with a smile of tolerant affection, indicating his daughter. "She made me cut my beard this way. It's French."

Katherine laughed a delightful, throaty little laugh.

"Nonsense, father," she protested. "Of course, I like the West, but I don't believe in being absolutely typical. I was horrified when I got back and found you so blatantly the typical, much-cartooned Westerner."

"Mr. Slade," resumed Strickland, "a few influential men from different parts of our state are having a meeting in town tomorrow, and I want you to meet them. I'm arranging a little impromptu dinner, and thought Katherine might be able to persuade Mrs. Slade and yourself to join us."

"Oh, father, tell the truth," Katherine interrupted. "These gentlemen want to meet you, Mr. Slade. I hear we're to expect great things of you. You see, I've been mixed up in politics all my life, and I do love to have a hand in them."

"She'd run for president if they'd let her," teased her father.

"Indeed I would," the girl admitted, brazenly. "I've got politics in my blood, and home doesn't seem like home unless politics are being brewed in our dining-room. So you'll both come, won't you—you and Mrs. Slade."

Slade was stammering his acceptance when Strickland interrupted abruptly.

"How'd you like to be governor, Slade?"

Slade threw back his head with a laugh that was intended to denote complete unconcern.

"Oh—that talk! Did the evening papers put that into your head or— and he paused significantly, "did you put it into the evening papers?"

Strickland's laugh was a practical admission.

"It would mean a hard fight, Slade. The water-front crowd's against you, and you can't get on without their influence."

"Not in this town, at least," amended Katherine.

"You've got to have Wesley Merritt, his paper, his highfaluting editorials and his speechmaking—and his wife," Strickland explained. "He and his crowd run the town."

"Oh, you mean my neighbors?" asked Slade. "They'll come around," he finished, meaningly.

"But, man alive! Only today Merritt's attack on you was scurrilous. I remonstrated with him myself. He's your out-and-out enemy. I've tried to get him—to come over and shake hands, but he swears he'll never cross your threshold—"

"I guess they'll come when I want 'em to come," Slade interrupted, with an assurance his auditors could not understand. "In fact, I'm looking for 'em any minute now," and he consulted his watch.

"You're looking for them—here—tonight?" gasped Strickland, showing plainly he thought Slade was making a joke of the matter.

"Yes, tonight," replied the would-be governor, quietly, and turned to Katherine.

Strickland subsided, a question growing in his mind as to whether he had fully measured the man he expected to use for his own political and financial ends. There was in Slade's method of fighting a direct and open quality that would make him hard to handle in the crooked and indirect ways of political life.

Katherine Strickland's eyes narrowed as she met Slade's gaze. Her quick, calculating mind saw in this man the possibility of realizing her highest hopes and ambitions. With such a man a woman could scale any heights—reach any goal. He was hard—yes! But a man needs to be hard in these days and times if he is ever to accomplish anything. In her fertile brain smoldered ambitions as great as his ambitions that she now realized would never be attained unless she made some great, radical change in her life.

She had pushed her father as far as the man would—could go. She had outdistanced every girl in her circle. She had reached high, but she had triumphed. Now she was at the end of her tether. It was a matter of making some one huge stroke or sinking back into stupid obscurity, a situation all the more bitter because of her previous successes. The thought of settling down into the everyday life of the western city where she was born made her very soul squirm. Surely there was something more in life for her. Surely there were bigger goals to be gained.

She had never realized how empty the old home life was until now, when she suddenly found herself a part of it again after the brilliant European season and the stimulating, exciting life in diplomatic circles at the capital. The thought of remaining in the West, a big frog in a little puddle, had grown positively hateful to her. Big or little herself, she wanted a big puddle. She was quite satisfied in her own mind that no puddle would be so big that she couldn't become a frog of considerable size in it.

Now, as her restless brain and soul clamored for higher goals and a wider field, the thought of Slade's millions, Slade's dominating, forceful personality, Slade's reputation for sweeping everything before him, Slade's probable governorship, flashed through her mind like a burning streak of electric fire. With him, with his weapons, what a career lay before a woman!

Just as suddenly she found herself wondering what sort of a woman had been a mate to this man for so many years. She was conscious of a poignant pang of envy—jealousy almost—against this woman who had the opportunity which was denied her.

"Well, what do you think of your own country, now you're back?" she heard Slade's voice saying. "Seem big to you?"

French Temperance Society.

An organization for the promotion of temperance in France has been founded by M. Schmidt, deputy for the department of the Vosges. A feature of the new body is its catholicity. It includes every shade of political and religious belief, and all classes of society—politicians, professional men and workmen. A meeting, addressed by doctors, lawyers and a deputy, has just been held in Bordeaux. The new association, which is called "L'Alarme," justifies its name by calling attention to the rising flood of alcoholism in France.

Remembered Instructions.

She was a little girl and very polite. It was the first time she had been on a visit alone, and she had been carefully instructed how to behave.

"If they ask you to dine with them," papa had said, "you must say, 'No, thank you; I have already dined.'"

It turned out just as papa had anticipated.

"Come along, Marjorie," said her little friend's father, "you must have a bite with us."

"No, thank you," said the little girl, with dignity; "I have already bitten."

To Make Whitewash Stick.

To keep whitewash from rubbing off easily make a thin cooked paste of one pint of wheat flour and add to each pailful. A little carbolic acid added to the whitewash will help prevent the places where it is used getting musty.

VETCH IS IMPORTANT CROP

Its More General Growth Would Aid Materially in Live Stock Industry—Also Improves Soil.

(By A. SMITH.)

Vetch should occupy an important place in the agriculture of those states where it can be raised with success. In four years' comparisons on over 800 fields, vetch has consistently made heavier growths and greater yields than crimson clover, red clover, or bur clover, although under favorable conditions these have done well.

Vetch is high in protein content, is a good hay, pasture, and soiling crop, and its more general growth would aid in the development of the live stock industry and remove much of the existing necessity for buying hay. Vetch is used as a cover crop to prevent the leaching and washing of soils. Like all legumes, it improves land by adding nitrogen and organic matter to the soils. As it grows through the winter and spring and may be harvested in time to plant corn or cowpeas on the same land, it should be used in building up impoverished soils and in maintaining the productivity of the land. The vetch crop does not require horse or man labor at any time when this is needed for the cowpea crop, except possibly at the harvest time of cowpea hay.

RETURNS FROM WORK HORSES

Many Little Points Are Enumerated That Will Lessen Cost of Animal Labor on the Farm.

(By A. H. BENTON, Assistant Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.)

One of the most frequent sources of loss on the farm is insufficient return from work horses.

Have you satisfied yourself on the following points?

Do your horses earn enough to pay for their feed and care, and enough to meet the interest, depreciation and other expenses, as harness costs and shoeing?

It costs $100 annually to keep the average horse, in Minnesota, but this horse works only a little more than three hours each working day. This makes the horse labor cost approximately ten cents an hour.

Do you handle the horse labor on your farm so that the annual cost of keeping your horse is less than the average, or so that the number of hours worked is greater? Both methods will reduce the cost of the horse labor, but the latter offers by far the greatest opportunity.

Can you revise your cropping system so that fewer work horses will be needed, or so that the work will be more equally distributed and thus make it possible to employ them more hours each year?

Can you raise colts and thus reduce the cost of keeping your horses?

Can you arrange to use your work horses for outside work when not busy on the farm?

Can you reduce the cost of keeping each horse by feeding less feed or cheaper feed and still give a proper ration?

Farm work done with fewer horses means a saving of $100 a year for each horse not needed.

Humus Needed.

The amount of water a soil will hold against gravity depends upon the type of soil. A clay soil composed of fine particles with very small spaces will retain more water than a coarser, sandier soil composed of larger particles and larger spaces. Also, the amount of humus, or decomposed organic matter, in the soil influences the water holding capacity. The more humus in the soil, the more water it will hold, providing the soil particles are of similar size.

Alfalfa Causes Scours.

Alfalfa fed too liberally to very young calves will cause scours. It is very rich feed and the amount given must be limited, especially when the calf is young and before it has a chance to adjust itself to alfalfa hay. In short, whenever there is a change made in the feeding of animals it should be done gradually or there is danger of digestive troubles.

Waste of Food.

Food is wasted when the animal is exposed to excessive cold; when it is deprived of sufficient water; when it is compelled to drink ice cold water; when it is worried, driven about.

Mulch the Celery.

Do not delay applying the manure mulch to the celery. It conserves moisture better than any kind or amount of tillage. Use three to four inches of manure.

Plain, Tailored Utility Coats

THE long, protecting "rain or shine" coat, made to meet the exigencies of travel or life in the out-of-doors, is cut on simple lines.

One of the most practical of these coats is pictured here. It hangs straight on the figure. The needed fullness at the bust line is provided for by two small plaits on each shoulder. This is taken up from the swell of the bust down in a stitched-in plait at each side of the front, the plaits extending below the normal waist-line for at least six inches.

The coat is open at the throat, but without revers. The neck is finished with a small sailor collar and the sleeves with turnback cuffs. Bone buttons are used for fastening and as a decorative feature on the cuffs.

Coats of this kind are made with skirts to match. The latter, severely plain and straight, are worn with blouses of thin wash silk, pongee or sheer wash fabrics. These coats and skirts require firmly woven rainproof goods in quiet staple colors. Either can be worn without the other, and the coat is designed to do duty wherever a separate coat is needed.

In some of the new models these coats are cut with a flaring skirt set onto a shorter bodice in the style of the Russian coat. Others, of heavier fabrics, are cut double-breasted, in long-waisted designs having an inverted plait at each side to give a slight flare to the skirt part. In these the sleeves are large and straight with turnback cuffs. Turnover collars that may be brought up snugly and tightly about the neck make this a warmer garment than open-throated models. This is best for the automobile.

One of the most modish of coats belongs in the redingote class. It is constructed with an easy-fitting long-sleeved jacket to which a plaited skirt is set on. This terminates at each side three inches, or a little more, from the front of the jacket, to which it is attached under a belt of folded satin. There is a rolling collar of velvet and narrow cuffs of it, both finished with a silk braid. The jacket is fastened with large barrel-shaped buttons at the front. When a skirt to match any of these utility coats is needed it is cut in the straight-line style and the requisite fullness given with inverted plaits.

Small Girl's Outfit for Cold Weather

SHOPPING for the requirements of the little girl develops the knowledge that she may be provided with almost as many dress accessories as are designed for her mother.

In anticipation of wintry weather the little maid in the picture is about to be outfitted with warm clothing in which she may defy the cold for one thing and look pretty and well cared for, for another.

In outside garments she is first supplied with a heavy, close-knitted sweatercoat. It is finished with turn back collar and cuffs and a knitted belt and is almost as warm as fur. The color is a rich red, about the best choice and the most pleasing to the little wearer. The collar may be rolled up about the neck and the cuffs brought well down over the hands to protect the wrists. For daily wear this is the ideal garment.

The little Scotch cap to be worn with this or any other coat is of black and red velvet bound and trimmed with black silk braid. The crown is a long puff of black velvet, and the bands about it at each side are of red lined with black and finished with a binding of black silk braid. These bands are extended at the back, where they are cut into two tabs which are turned down and fall over the hair. At the front the bands are also turned back and the points tacked down. Small bows of the black silk braid used in the binding are placed at the middle of the front and back.

Knitted caps or hoods for school and for outdoor play and mittens to take the place of the muff, are to be provided. Freedom to play keeps an active child warm in ordinary cold weather without the fur sets which are not expected to stand a great deal of hard service.

Along the Meuse River

MEUSE RIVER AT DINANT

THE Meuse is a river singularly symbolical of, and wedded to, the three groups of peoples through whom the three great phases of its life as a river run. Its part in war also has corresponded to all three, and since it first entered recorded history, 2,000 years ago, till today, when it is so apparently the obstacle surmounted by the German invasion of France, it has checked or aided 50 generations of soldiers. All its first course goes through that essentially Gallic country of Lorraine, of the Three Bishops and of the countryside that bound the Barrois. On its very upper waters, where it is no more than a clear meadow stream, you will find Domremy and the house where Joan of Arc was born.

In the midst of that same stretch—where already the Meuse is a river—stands the great Gallic fortress of Verdun, the town upon whose fortunes so many invasions have depended. Further upon its course see the somber name of Sedan; and in all this long French rising and flowing of the river there is upon either side that mass of rich meadowland and vineyard, low, rounded hill and strictly ordered woods, which make up a French landscape. It is this stretch, too, that runs—all the earlier and higher part of it—along and behind these "Cotes de Meuse" which are the stretched line of defense between Toul and Verdun; which make a wall of forts from Commercy at the gates of Toul to the Verdun ring.

Merges Into Dutch. Similarly, all the lower reaches, from the Roman crossing at Maastrecht to the vague marshes, flat mud islands, dykes and confused shallows whereby it mingles with the Scheldt and with the Rhine and passes to the sea, are quite Dutch, not only in the language spoken upon either side of the river, but in the broadening flats and sluggish waters and in the very sky. For the skies of the Netherlands plain are different from anything else in the rest of Europe. They seem to be lit from beneath and their clouds supply the accident and contrast which the earthly horizon lacks. All this lower stream is full of such wars as the seventeenth century fought to withstand Louis XIV. The duke of Marlborough owed his title to the clearing of the Lower Meuse—rolling up the French garrisons as far as Liege in 1702.

Between these two people, wealthy sections, the upper and the lower, the broad seaward reaches and the inland meadow streams, the Meuse by a curious accident experiences a fate not promised by its origin and hardly remembered at its end. It runs through gorges more bold, and in parts more deserted, than those of any western river. The trench which it thus occupies is the more memorable to those who have followed it, from the breadth, the depth and the silence of the stream that flows through it between the very steep walls of wood and rock upon either side. These are 500, 600, 700 feet above the stream, and in places 1,000 feet, but they give an impression of far greater height from the uniformity of their coloring and wooded cloak, from their sharpness of fall, and from the way in which they run parallel, supporting each the effects of the other upon either side of the dead, flat floor of water between. This accident which the Meuse suffers, this exceptional landscape coming after the easy pastures of Lorraine, coming before the great sea-flats of the Netherlands, makes the course of the Meuse comparable to the life of some man whose youth and manhood were merely prosperous, whose old age was spacious and at ease, but who fell by some fate in a few yards of middle life upon surprising adventures. And this gorge, though less mixed with the history of war than what lies above and below it, has fortress at its gates and in its midst corresponds to history of war.

All these three sections, then, correspond to something in the history of war. The wars to protect the Netherlands against the ambition of the French concerned the Dutch Meuse; to possess Maastrecht, ultimately to possess Liege, was the object of the Dutch and of the attention of the French.

WORK OF SKILL AND DARING

Japanese Whalers Constantly Risk Lives in the Pursuit of Most Dangerous Quarry.

Many of the Japanese whalers are most expert and daring men. After a whale has been cornered, harpooned and is slowly giving out from exhaustion the nimble expert of the whaling crew must prove his mettle.

The skilled Jap, after jumping upon the animal's back and cutting two gashes in the head, one on each side, through which a rope must be run, and tied, cannot always perform his work in one trial. Often the animal makes a deep dive. But the little Jap must hold fast to his quarry and dive also, trusting to the fates that his own air supply in his lungs will last as long as that of the whale's.

The Jap is safer from being drowned than from being crushed by the infuriated animal's tail. If the little Jap lets go it usually means his death—so he hangs on to the diving quarry. Frequently these whalers lose their lives from drowning, but the members of their crew look upon this misfortune with something of a fatalistic regard.

But the main business in hand is the capture of the whale. As the fight progresses and the maddened, frightened mammal grows weaker and, finally, is dying, the boat crews row closer to the body and pray for the ease of his departing spirit. Members of the crew will call out the words, "Joraku! Joraku! Joraku!" and on the third day after the mammal has been hauled ashore a service is held and prayers offered for the animal's future contentment of spirit.

As soon as the animal has been towed to the shore line he is cut up, the Japs are making huge excavations and penetrating inside the animal's body as though entering a mine shaft or gallery, and eventually making their exit, all covered with blood. It is a gruesome sight, but is looked upon purely as a matter of course among the Jap whalers.

Distractions of War.

Among the distractions of war it's plain that there's got to be a bit of brushing up in the knowledge of geography and history on the part of the parent if he would maintain his high seat of omniscience in the sight of his inquiring offspring.

"Papa, what are the Balkans?" inquired a little chap who had been poring over his papers.

"High hills, my son, high hills."

"They're mountains, aren't they?"

"Why—ah—yes. I believe they are," answered papa, who has a somewhat vague notion of that distant rampart.

"The paper says Austria is going to take them," pursued the persistent Willie. "What are they going to do with them?"

Here papa has to cast about in his mind for a moment.

"Oh, well," he equivocates, "I guess that's just figurative language. I don't suppose they'll really try to move them, you know."

"But, papa, the paper says—"

"Tut! tut! Never mind what it says—and say, don't you think it's about time you were going to bed?"

Battle of Lake Champlain.

One hundred years ago the Americans defeated the British in the battle of Lake Champlain, the last big naval engagement of the war of 1812. In the scale of military importance to the outcome of the war, this defeat and capture of the British squadron by Commodore Macdonough more than offset the British raid on Washington. With Macdonough's success command of the lake passed to the Americans, and the invasion of New York state by Sir George Prevost's army was necessarily abandoned. That was the most formidable army the British brought into the field in the whole course of the war. General Macomb with a mixed force of regulars and Vermont militia had held the British in check on land while Commodore Macdonough was defeating their fleet on the lake. Prevost dared not continue the campaign after his flank was exposed to the American fleet, and quietly returned to Canada. The result of the battle of Lake Champlain was to expedite the program of the peace negotiations at Ghent.

Knew Too Much.

"They say that it pays to be an all-around linguist," said a man who had just put his feet on American soil after a lively and trifle too interesting European experience; "but I'm not so sure about that. When I was a youth I acquired a pretty fair smattering of four languages, and when they had me on the anxious seat in Germany, instead of sticking to good old English, I foolishly began blating a mixture of German, French and Italian, and it took a half dozen influential Americans to keep them from doing things to me as a spy."

The Male of the Species.

Patience—I see some farmers in Germany use roosters for hatching eggs and raising the chicks. They take better care of the chicks than hens do, even fighting hawks to protect them, and running with them much longer.

Patience—Perhaps the hens have the vote over there.

Automobile Trick.

Bill—What's Gill doing now?
Jill—Studying forestry, I guess.
"What makes you think so?"
"Well, I saw him in his automobile, today, and he was trying to climb a tree!"

IRMA INTERFERES

What Happened When a Young Wife Decided to Go on the Stage.

By MOLLY McMASTER.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

In his heart John Craig longed for the day when the footlights would cease to be an attraction for his wife. He was too big and too broad in his love for her to demand that she leave the stage and live a quiet, domestic life at his side. He had fallen in love with her as a star, wooed and won her as such and now as wife and mother Sybel Craig still shone, a resplendent star in the theatrical firmament.

John Junior was a scant three months old when his mother began rehearsal for her new play. It had been a shock to Craig. He had somehow counted on the arrival of John Junior as a barrier to Sybel's prolonged stage career, but she had laughingly told him that she could act the better now that she had a son to be proud of her.

"You would grow frightfully tired of me, anyway," she added, "if I was about the house all evening."

"I grow tired of not having you, dear," Craig had told her, and was not quite aware of the extent of his weariness. He only knew that his evenings alone in the house while his wife was playing to crowded theaters were beginning to bore him.

John Junior was four months old when the new nurse arrived. She, Irma Newton, was lovely to look upon, beautiful as to character and endowed with womanly charm that entered the appreciation of John Junior, his mother and his father. She was one of those fortunate women who understand all human wants and woes and administer according to needs.

John Junior loved her instinctively. Sybel loved her because she possessed all the domestic and sterling virtues that Sybel herself lacked. And John Craig? But he did not know that she loved her. He only knew that evenings of complete boredom were a thing of the past and that his wife's career was no longer so severe a thorn prick in his happiness.

Had Sybel loved her husband in a more unselfish way she would have seen that Irma's position in the household was nothing but temptation hung in the path of two persons. But Sybel felt secure in her husband's love, and it did not for a second occur to her that he would turn his affections in another direction.

Craig, however, was only human. He had married because he wanted a home and a wife to tread the path of life beside him. He had regretted that love had come to him across the footlights, but she would love him more than her audience and applause. The time seemed long in coming. In the meantime Irma Newton entered the Craig household and discontent turned slowly into a most delightful feeling of peace.

When Irma had been in the house six weeks Craig knew that his contentment would vanish if she were to leave. He knew also that his wife's career was seldom in his mind and that his evenings were not marred by her absence. Neither did the fact that Irma was bending over John Junior, when it should have been Sybel, annoy him. In fact Craig found himself appreciating the light on golden hair and finding it more lovely than on black. Sybel's hair was raven black. Also he knew that he was beginning to study Irma's eyes for an expression he wanted to see there.

The situation was so completely harmonious for all concerned that it was not until the serpent was already in the grass beneath their feet that Irma awoke to the full significance of it. She had been sitting beside the fire with John Junior in her arms when Craig had come quietly into the room. He had not spoken, but his eyes had revealed the whole truth even as if his lips had spoken it. Irma knew then that the serpent had stirred. She wondered how long the serpent had been there and how deeply Craig's happiness was affected. She was more grieved than stunned when the truth dawned on her. Irma spent a night in grave thought. She knew that Craig could not long remain silent and she shrank from the scene that must assuredly follow. She recoiled from the knowledge that she had robbed another woman of her husband's love, innocent though her own action in the matter had been.

"There must be some way out of it," she told herself over and over again. "John Craig is far too fine a man to wreck his matrimonial craft on the rocks, and his wife is too thoughtless to put out a beacon light for him. I wonder—I wonder how I can save him." Irma felt that Sybel Craig was more to blame than her husband, and that he would have remained faithful in his love had she made the very slightest attempt to hold him.

"She must make that attempt," Irma told herself. "I shall tell her exactly how matters stand."

It was a brave decision to come to, but Irma was no coward. Besides she realized that should Sybel Craig display the same pride in her personal life as she did in her public life she would strive to maintain her position as John Craig's wife. She would not, as a deserted woman, see herself as a deserted woman. Sybel was having her 11 o'clock cup of tea when Irma knocked at her door. It was not an unusual visit, so that Mrs. Craig was not surprised. They were wont to talk things over at that hour of the morning.

"Mrs. Craig," began Irma without preamble, "your husband imagines himself in love with me, and I want you to help me to prevent him telling me so."

Sybel went a shade pale. She was not, however, theatrical in her private life and her answer was unexpectedly calm.

"Why do you say he imagines himself in love with you?"

"Because he is not really—he only thinks so. He and I have been thrown together continually and—he is a man essentially fond of feminine companionship. He has not had that from you. It is most natural, then, that his nature should respond to the presence of any woman sensitive to his personality."

Sybel Craig gazed in a more or less less vacant way at Irma. Perhaps for the first time in her life she was looking at a situation from another person's point of view.

"You are not so selfish as you are thoughtless," Irma went on as if following out her own thoughts. "Your husband loves you and wants you at his side and you have never stopped to realize that you have never considered his desires—only your own. In this life we really should try to make others happy rather than ourselves—don't you think so?" Irma asked the question in a perfectly impersonal way. She was trying desperately to restrain the atmosphere of unemotional reasoning. She had scenes of any kind and felt a pang for Sybel beyond that which she had known because Mrs. Craig had accepted the situation calmly.

"I think," Sybel said, "that I have been vaguely conscious of all this. My husband is very dear to me, could never love any other woman than him. Perhaps had he been content with me and dependent upon me, and been more than happy, but my duty has never been plain to me, and I have not been able to see it for myself." Her head was forward on her arms, but she did not weep; she was only trying to get out the picture of John Junior's father being happy with another woman.

"Your understanding," said Irma softly. "Could he not see your play from tonight, so that you may stay at home and watch your husband's art of loving, and never over again? I will stay with you for a time, so that he will never suspect this little chat we have had. After that, if you like, I will leave you to your happiness."

Irma arose and slipped quickly from the room. She realized that Sybel would want time to think. It would not be an easy matter to give up stardom for domestic life, yet Irma felt that Sybel would not hesitate.

"John," Sybel asked in a voice that strove to keep the fear from showing, "would you consider me fanciful if I chose to quit the stage from tonight on and just stay at home to make you and John Junior happy?"

She did not realize until she saw the glad light in his eyes how fearful she had been of his answer.

DE MAUPASSANT ON WAR

Great French Writer Waxed Eloquent in Condemning Abominations of Armed Conflict.

When I but consider the word war I feel a shock, as if one spoke to me of witchcraft, inquisition, some dead or distant thing, abominable, monstrous, unnatural.

When we hear of cannibals we smile with pride and proclaim our superiority over these savages.

What are savages, real savages—those who fight to eat the victims or those who fight to kill, merely to kill?

These youthful soldiers of the line speeding along yonder are destined to death, just as the flocks of sheep driven along the roads by a butcher. They are destined to fall on a plain, their heads cleft by a stroke from a sword or their breasts pierced by bullets. And these are young men who could work, produce, be useful. Their fathers are old and poor, their mothers, who during 20 years have loved and worshipped them, as mothers can worship, will learn in six months or perhaps a year that the son, the child, the big child, brought up with so much trouble, with so much money, with so much love, was thrown into a hole, like a dead dog, after his body, riddled by a bullet, had been trampled and crushed into pulp by the charge of cavalry. Why have they killed her boy, her noble boy, her only hope, her pride, her life?

She cannot tell. Yes, why?—Guy De Maupassant.

The Limit.

"When we were married, Henry, you said you would tell me everything I asked you about."

"Maybe I did, my dear, but how in the dickens was I to know that you would ever ask me what men talk about in smoking cars?"

Deceived by Similarity.

"Oh, look what a fine war map in this illustration."

"No, dear, that is not a war map."

"Then what is it?"

"A phrenological chart of the human brain."

ARRANGE FOR WINTER

TASK SHOULD BE PERFORMED WHILE WEATHER IS WARM.

Each Hive Should Be Examined to Ascertain If Required Stores Are on Hand—There is Nothing Better Than Sealed Honey.

(By F. G. HERMAN.)

If there is one item above another having great importance in the wintering problem, it is the securing of the winter stores near and about the cluster of bees in time for them to settle down into that quiescent state so conducive to good wintering, prior to the middle of October, in the more northern localities.

To arrange these stores properly and seal them, requires warm weather hence all will see the fallacy of putting off caring for them until cold weather arrives. To be sure that all have the desired amount of stores there is only one certain way to do, and that is to open the hives and take out each frame.

If, after going over a hive and weighing each comb, I find that there is 25 pounds of actual stores, I call that hive or colony all right for winter. If less it must be fed the deficiency; if more, it can spare some to help another colony which is lacking in the amount. In this way the whole apiary should be gone over.

Colonies left on the summer stand require anywhere from 20 to 30 pounds of good food for successful wintering. A little in excess of this will do no harm, but on the contrary will stimulate the colony in building up faster in the following spring.

If one has on hand some sealed combs of honey, a few of them can be distributed among the light colonies, but in the absence of these it will be necessary to feed liquid honey or a sirup made of sugar and water.

Do not think of using anything but the best granulated sugar. When bees can fly all the time, you can safely feed them anything. But when they cannot fly, there is nothing better than sealed honey. When you cannot have that use a sirup of granulated sugar.

If the feeding can be attended to while the weather is still warm, the sirup may not be quite so thick, say about 2 pounds of sugar to one pint of water, which will make 3 pounds of sirup.

If the feeding is deferred until cool weather has set in, the sirup will, of necessity, have to be a somewhat thicker consistency, for the bees will not be able to evaporate the superfluous water out of it.

In making the sugar-sirup be careful not to burn it while boiling. In fact it need not be boiled at all; just pour the boiling water over the sugar and stir until thoroughly dissolved; when cool it is ready to give to the bees.

It is claimed by some beekeepers that if a few tablespoonfuls of extracted honey are added to the sugar sirup it will prevent it granulating in the comb, but there is little danger of this anyway. If there are weak lots just unite two or more together, removing the least valuable queen.

The bees of two lots may be united peaceably by sprinkling them thinly with sugar sirup flavored with peppermint, and then placing the frames with adhering bees alternately in a fresh hive. The stronger the colony and the bees the less is the honey consumed.

This appears strange, but it is quite true; a small lot of bees in a hive containing several combs are restless, with the consequence that they consume honey to raise the temperature lowered by the cool air surrounding them.

The food supply may be ample owing to a particularly favorable season after the supers have been removed, but even if feeding has to be resorted to, very little time will be needed to perform this part of the work.

In order to obtain young bees for wintering, a supply of sugar, given at the close of the honey flow, will probably be all that is necessary to continue breeding up to the middle of September, when whatever further supply is needed to make the colony safe for winter can be given in the form of sirup.

Burn All Old Canes.

As soon as the old canes of blackberries and raspberries are through fruiting, cut them out and burn them, thus destroying many insects and fungus pests. The young canes need the room.

Get All The Cream Why Lose Dairy Profits?

Suppose there was a hole in your pocket that lost 5 to 20 cents every day. Imagine how quickly you would stop that loss.

Unless you get all the cream, your dairy has the same kind of a loss. For every 20 pounds of butter you sell, you may be losing from one to four pounds. That means that for every dollar you now get, you should be getting a dollar five to a dollar twenty cents.

You can stop every possibility of such a loss by using a

Great Western

It gathers all the cream because it follows Nature's laws. It delivers the cream from the top and milk from the bottom. It's the only separator we know of that will successfully skim cold milk.

In addition to the saving you make in the increased amount of cream and butter, you have a separator that is easier to run and easier to care for.

An exclusive feature of the Great Western is that it is equipped throughout with imported ball bearings. This makes it light running and, consequently, adds to the life of the machine. Years of service prove it the one separator that doesn't wear out.

A simple chain drive, few working parts, and superior construction, make the Great Western easy to care for. It's easy to clean. That's why it's supreme in giving sanitary service.

It's a pleasure for us to show this high class separator. Come and let us demonstrate it to you. It's your interest. Let us show you how to stop the profit leaks in your dairy.

How Cubans Celebrate Christmas.

CUBANS celebrate Christmas, but not in the same manner that Americans do. Santa Claus is unknown in Havana. There are no chimneys by which he could enter houses, and there is no snow on which his sleigh can glide. So the little Cubans do not bang up their stockings in expectation of gifts.

The day of the kings comes to celebrate the visit of the three wise men—Melchior and Gaspar—to the infant Jesus with their offerings of gold, frankincense and myrrh. This is the annual love gift day, when the Cubans give their children and dear ones beautiful presents in our bountiful Christmas manner.

In Cuba you don't ask a child, "What do you want Santa Claus to bring you?" but, "What are the wise men of the east going to give you?"

Instead of our Christmas day dinner, the Cubans have a great family reunion, the Christmas eve supper, called the "cena de noche buena," or "supper of the good night." The long table is graced by three and four generations of the large families in gay attire.

The Christmas eve supper is the great yearly family feast in which the elder generation gives a blessing to the young, someone reads that of the old patriarchs. The long festal board is spread in the great dining room, the high ceiling and walls of which are cut out with fine carvings and decorations. The table is also adorned with Cuba's many fruits, fragrant flowers, tall paraffin colored candles and a monstrous cornucopia filled with the delicious Cuban sweets. No great Christmas turkey is seen, but instead a plump, juicy, garly bedecked roast pig is the table's centerpiece.

A famous accompanying dish is the great pyramid of boiled white rice and black beans, or "Moros y Cristianos," as the Cubans dub it in remembrance of the wars between the Moors and Christians in old Spain. This delicacy is much relished, and many are the ancestral jests made in its praise. The choicest vintages of Spain are served in abundance, and the air is fragrant with tobacco smoke.

The Woodman of the World of the Genesee camp will initiate a class of candidates on December 23, 1914, and a good old fashioned rally is promised.

School Board Meeting

The school board met in regular session Monday evening, and after the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, the following bills were presented and ordered paid:

- Pitney Co. $3.75
- F. E. Dicus .75
- Central Scientific Co. 26.64
- Jos. Hasfurther 7.20
- Pollock Bros. 1.20
- W. W. F. Co. 79.70

After some discussion it was decided that the school would close for the holiday season Wednesday, December 23, and open again January 4, 1915, giving 11 days vacation.

Miss Anna May Schlosser was granted leave of absence beginning Friday, Dec. 18, in order that she may return to her home at Mayville, North Dakota, at an earlier date on account of her father's serious illness.

H. H. Manderfeld recently purchased a fine Holstein bull from the University herd which will be used in bringing his present herd to a higher standard. Mr. Manderfeld is one of the progressive farmers that believes in better stock on the farm.

Quite a number from Genesee attended the "Dokos" ceremonial at Lewiston Wednesday night, among them being John Wardrobe, who tried to show the rest of them the art of riding the goat. A good time is reported.

HE POSES IN THE ALPS.

The "Dear Old Shepherd" Who Does It For a Consideration.
Nearly every adventurer upon the Alps nowadays carries a camera. It is a sign of the times. People have become obsessed with the importance of realities, and the camera is the only possible agent to enable you to show realities to your friends. It is not so much use to tell them about some strange sight or of some curious conformation of nature you may have met in your climb. You must show it to them.

A feature of the Alps today is the number of worthies who earn their bread by means of the camera. There is an old man at Grindelwald, for instance, who makes quite a comfortable competency by standing in front of his camera those visitors laden with cameras are coming up the side of the mountain and blowing upon a tremendous horn.

"How very quaint!" exclaims the unsuspecting tourist. "The dear old shepherd is calling home the cows." The dear old shepherd, however, is a man of sound business principles. He doesn't drag his antiquated instrument about his house for the fun of the thing. Neither does he perform upon it for the benefit of his flock and herds, but he owns none. But he will tell you frankly, when you ask him to stand "quite still," that he will very willingly pose in whatever manner you like, but you must first pay him a couple of francs for his trouble.

That old man is probably the best known character in the Grisons and the hero of many local tales—Wilde World Magazine.

BUTT AND HIS BANKNOTES.
Isaac Was a Great Orator, but Was Careless With Money.
Some amusing anecdotes are told of Isaac Butt, the famous Irish orator, in "The Life of Old Dublin," by Mr. James Collins. The author recalls the fact that Butt was very careless in regard to money and repeats a reminiscence which he heard from the late Judge Adams:

"Four years ago Isaac Butt was a man of splendid genius, but, as all the world knew, careless to the last degree in money matters. I was in Youghal when the election petition was tried there, and Butt was counsel for Mr. Westwell. At the close of the trial, Mr. Butt was handed his check, running to several hundred pounds. The man went to get it went over to one of the banks and cashed it. Isaac Butt was standing at the house of a Youghal gentleman, and in the morning he put his hand in his pocket and found the money was gone. He almost never forgot the humiliation that followed. Consternation, suspicion, bedlam swept through the house, and in the middle of it all, just as the police were being summoned, the young son of the house turned up with the missing banknotes.

THE RULES OF CIVILIZED WARFARE

The rules of war are as sharply defined as clearly formulated and as generally recognized as the rules of football, baseball, cricket, or the prize ring. The only important difference is that in the game of war there is no umpire or referee to enforce the rules, and consequently the rules may be, often are, violated," says the January Popular Mechanics in an illustrated article.

"In the beginning of things and down to very recent times indeed, there were no restrictions, definite or implied, upon the rights of a commanding general or the powers of his army. They might pillage and burn and destroy as, and when, they pleased. No man, woman or child owing allegiance to the enemy had any rights which a hostile force was even morally bound to respect. Leave them neither root nor branch," was the universal rule of war. As mankind reached a higher stage of civilization war gradually became more humane—or rather less barbarous. Acts that had always been recognized not only as the right but almost as the duty of armies in the field came century by century to be regarded as at least sportsmanlike. It was not until the Civil War in America, however, that any nation undertook to formulate, codify and publish a set of rules for the guidance of those who play the game of war. In 1864 the United States army, a year later an International conference was held at Geneva, Switzerland, and the conventions signed there by all the great powers, relating to the care of the sick and wounded were the first internationally formulated rules of war. Several other conferences followed this one, but the formal regulations respecting the laws and customs of war on land, which are in force today between the warring nations of Europe, were drawn up and agreed upon at the first and second Hague conferences, held in 1899 and 1907."

The article gives a summary of these regulations which serves to make the situation abroad much clearer to the average person. In concluding it states: "With a few unimportant exceptions every one of the nations involved in the European conflict has solemnly pledged itself to observe these rules. When the war is over, should the victorious nation or nations be able to establish conclusive proof that the other side in its operations violated any of these fundamental rules, it may mete out punishment for such offenses almost as it pleases. But as there is no international tribunal to which a vanquished nation can appeal for justice. A victory won by violating the rules of war is still a victory—there is no referee with power to award the decision on a foul."

WAKE UP, IT'S CHRISTMAS MORNING!

LIVESTOCK SHOW ENDS

Most Successful Ever Held—Many Fine Horses and Other Stock—Local Men Win Prizes

One of the most successful livestock shows ever held in the Northwest came to a close at Lewiston Saturday night, when the Northwest Livestock Show for the year 1914 ended.

Taking into consideration the fact that the show had been postponed on account of the foot and mouth disease, it was by far the most successful show that has ever been held, for had it not been for the dread disease, there would not have been room for more exhibitors. However, every one who attended would have been the wiser had it not been universally known that the disease had been in existence.

Coming down to our own exhibitors, Genesee should feel justly proud of the prizes won by local firms, and undoubtedly does, for there are few communities that can point with greater pride to the accomplishments of individual firms than Genesee.

Follett & Schooler received first on Percheron suckling stallion colt. Also first and champion of the Percheron Society of America in competition with one and three-quarter year-olds, for which they received a gold medal for the best Percheron stallion under three years of age, bred and owned by exhibitor.

First on two-year-old Shire filly in class of six; also junior champion and reserve grand champion on same.

First on Percheron stallion and three mares owned by exhibitor.

Second on suckling Shire filly.

Second on four-year-old Percheron mare and over—in class of 20 from all parts of the country competing.

Third on Shire mare, three years old and over—in class of 16 competing.

It must be remembered that the firm of Follett & Schooler made only eight entries it will readily be seen that they captured more than their share of prizes upon the stock show.

Christmas Services at Churches

The children of the Congregational church had a Christmas tree and a mixed program of songs and recitations. There was a treat for each member of the Sunday school. The exercises were given Christmas eve and were under the direction of Misses Pauline Steltz and Ruth Martinson.

The Christian church observed what is known as a "White Christmas" by the rendition of a musical and the giving of white gifts or silver offerings for the disabled ministers of that organization. Mrs. H. F. Barstow had charge of the Christmas pageant.

The German Lutheran church held its Christmas tree celebration Christmas eve at 7 o'clock. A Christmas tree was a feature of the evening's entertainment with a treat for each member of the Sunday school classes. The program was a mixed one of songs, recitations and dialogues.

The Hampton and Driscoll ranch also bought a registered Shorthorn bull at the Northwest Livestock show which they have put on their ranch for the improvement of their herd.

Death of William Fitz

On Wednesday of last week A. J. Fitz was called to Orofino by the serious illness of his brother, William Fitz who was taken from a train at that point seriously ill. A. J. Fitz left immediately for that point, but arrived too late to see his brother alive he having died before his arrival from an ulcerated tooth and neuralgia.

Decceased had been a resident of the Pierce mining district for about 20 years and was buried at Orofino.

Decceased is survived by four brothers, A. J. Fitz of Genesee, Frank Fitz of Pierce, Idaho, and Amos and Lorang Fitz of Corinth, Maine.

Ice Harvest Completed

The finest ice ever harvested in the Genesee country has just been stored in the ice houses for next summer's use. The task was finished last Saturday night. The ice is from seven to eight inches in thickness, as clear as crystal and as hard as flint. Absence of late rains, no snow and the continued cold weather have combined in making ice of the finest quality. Smolt & Son have filled both of their ice houses with a combined capacity of 100 tons.

Edwards & Son have up about 40 tons. Rader Brothers have filled their ice house and have between 40 and 50 tons stored.

The Genesee H. S. basketball team played against the Pullman H. S. team at Pullman, last Friday evening, and were defeated by a score of 32 to 19. This is the first defeat the boys have met with so far this season.

The team was in charge of Prof. Robert King.

AS IT SHOULD BE

School Building Should Be Social Center For All Classes—Get Together

In the school house in Belleville, Wis., a few evenings ago upon motion of the Catholic priest, the Methodist minister was elected president of the community's social center for the coming winter.

Then three basket ball teams were formed, including the priest, the minister, the blacksmith, the editor, a farmer, the keeper of the village restaurant, a dentist, a garage owner, the banker, the saloon-keeper, a hardware merchant and a house painter.

They differed in religion, in politics, in income, in social status about as widely as men can differ. But in the common school building, in the free democracy of the social center, they agreed to lay aside their differences for the novel purpose of discovering how much good fellowship there was in meeting together, now and then, as equals, as brothers.

In the democracy of play, in the democracy of frank, fair discussion on public questions they are finding out, these differing men of Belleville, that, as human beings, they're amazingly alike, once you get below the surface.

And out of this agreeable discovery will come, for Belleville, more tolerance, more kindness of feeling, more give and take than it had ever known before. Even when they shall differ again as, of course, they often will—it won't be with as much bitterness, as much bigotry, as much meanness as of yore.

It's a wonderful solvent, is brotherhood.

Help For Robbing Postoffice

Two Indian boys, Joseph White and Samuel Jackson, are in the toils of the law accused of robbing the postoffice at Spaulding. The cash drawer was robbed of $25 last Friday afternoon during the absence of the postmaster and the young Indians are accused of the act.

Two nice carriage robes were stolen from a rig belonging to Nick Kries on Tuesday night between 7 and 8 o'clock. The horses were hitched to the rack near the Driscoll hardware store. Other complaints of this kind have been reported and something should be done to put a stop to such petty thefts. The horses had been turned loose and were caught near the Meyer & Flomer implement store.

Basket Social at Ingle School

The basket social held at the Ingle school Tuesday night was a great success by those present. The program was very well rendered. Santa Claus being the main feature. The proceeds taken in from the sale of baskets and candy was $57, which will go towards an instrument for the school.

IMPORTANT TO STIR IN CANS DURING COOLING

The milk in the top of the can just above the water level in the cooling vat cools more slowly than the milk that is below that level, according to experiments by the Dairy Division. The warmer milk in the top of the can does not circulate naturally with the cold milk at the bottom. The cold milk being heavier than the warm will remain at the bottom of the can, while the warmer and therefore lighter portion will remain at the top, and practically no circulation will take place. The transfer of heat in this case is very slow; moreover, the milk around the sides of the can cools more quickly than that in the center of the can. It therefore is important to stir the milk while cooling.

In experiments made with cans where the top of the milk was above the water level, it was found that the milk above that level remains from 5 to 6 degrees warmer than the portion below the level. Bacteria consequently will develop at a higher rate in the top of the milk, and when later the milk is mixed, the souring of the whole can will be hastened both by reducing the temperature of the whole and also by the increased number of bacteria in the warmer portion.

In the experiments all the cans were cooled by the same method. The milk in some of the cans was stirred every 5 minutes while that in others was not. The water in the cooling tank was 62.6 degrees Fahrenheit. The milk that was stirred cooled from nearly 90 degrees to slightly above 60 degrees in 3 hours. The unstirred milk did not cool to similar temperature for 4 hours and 15 minutes. Meanwhile the unstirred milk all the milk above the water level in the running water was 5 to 6 degrees warmer. The comparatively rapid decrease in temperature when the milk was thoroughly stirred at intervals of 15 minutes demonstrates the advantage of agitating the milk while cooling.

The advantage of stirring is emphasized by the fact that at the time the milk was stirred the temperature of the room was over 6 degrees warmer than was the case when the unstirred milk was put into the running water. The time taken to cool milk in either case, however, is too great for good results, and the test served best to demonstrate the necessity of employing some form of milk cooler suitable for farm use, and more efficient than running well water.

Where ice is plentiful and may be had at nominal cost, it is easy to reduce the temperature of the milk to 40 degrees Fahrenheit. This may be done by running the milk or cream over some form of cooler around which cracked ice, or a mixture of ice and salt, is placed, or through which ice water is circulated.

Where the milk is placed in cans and set merely in cold water, or even in a tank filled with ice water, the cooling goes on very slowly, especially if the cans are large.

Grade Programs

Most of the grades observed Christmas in a manner appropriate to the Christmas season. The first primary under Miss Waterman and the second and third grades under Miss Costello, combined and had a Christmas tree in the basement. A short program of singing and speaking was rendered. Miss Schlosser's pupils with Miss Gladys Larabee in charge went to the basement and enjoyed the first grader's Christmas tree and an interchange of small Christmas remembrances.

The sixth grade under Miss Baxter's direction prepared a gift box for the children's orphan home at Lewiston. The box was a very suitable Christmas offering being filled with dolls, toys, books and clothing. The seventh and eighth grades under Miss Doty also contributed a number of things for the gift box.

The upper grades did not observe Christmas being engaged in the regular monthly examination work.

W. I. Patrick returned last week from a hunting trip in the Big Island country. He was one of the few fortunate hunters, he having secured the limit, two deer.

The Genesee merchants have enjoyed a good Christmas trade, for which they were well prepared, having large stocks of holiday goods for shoppers to choose from.

Siege Warfare in Belgium Where Every Small Advance Results in Heavy Loss—Allies' Fleet Guns Play Havoc with Germans.

London, Dec. 20.—The offensive operations of the allies in the west are being carried out under conditions of siege warfare and are being stubbornly opposed by the Germans, who, in their entrenchments and surrounded by wire entanglements, make a defense of even a few yards a costly matter for the attacking forces.

In Flanders the little ground has been gained at considerable cost, despite the fact that along the coast the allies have the assistance of warships which continually bombard the German positions. The advance has been more marked from the Belgian border south to the River Oise, where the ground is not so wet as are the flooded regions of Flanders.

Along the Aisne and in the Champagne district the French artillery, which now is probably stronger than the Germans, has been busy keeping the Germans on the move, but in the Argonne region it is the Germans who are on the offensive and their claim to have made a slight advance.

Crawling 270 feet through a 34-inch tunnel, the fire-bombing of the Milwaukee railway, where the fill of 100 feet had slid over and closed it, Charles Albright, 20 years of age, made himself a hero Saturday by saving the life of Ben Ross, who had entered the pipe to place a charge of dynamite to help locate the end of the pipe that it might be "mined out." Ross was overcome by gas and had been in the pipe for five hours when rescued. Albright cut the hole in his elbows with his knees entirely to the bone, and when Ross was dragged free of the tunnel it was found the 26-foot drop had been made by the flesh from his skull.

Old-timers declare Albright's feat is the bravest ever accomplished in Montana. Ross will live.

MEN, you chew tobacco for the satisfaction and comfort you get from it. "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew does satisfy. Gives you the taste, the substance of rich, sappy, mellow tobacco. Seasoned and sweetened just enough.

That's why "Right-Cut" users tell others about it. You'll like it better than the old kind.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Of Course—Why Not?

"Will good times ever return?" inquired a pessimist in speculating on his Christmas expenditures.

Of course they will! Why not? Here's the why of the will:

1. There is just as much money in the country now as there ever was.

2. The farmers have just harvested one of the biggest crops in history and are selling at good prices.

3. Federal reserve banks have been opened and millions of dollars of new money will be placed at the disposal of the banks of the country.

4. The banks in turn will have plenty of money to loan to big manufacturing and other industries for operating capital.

5. These concerns in turn will start the wheels of commerce to revolving and millions of unemployed men and women will return to work.

6. Foreign governments are placing heavy orders for all kinds of supplies needed in prosecuting their war.

7. Other orders for American made goods are pouring in from all parts of the world.

8. The financial situation has clarified, banks are opening up their vaults, and great manufacturing industries are preparing to open again on an extensive scale, many of them even now calling in employees who were laid off many weeks ago.

Yes, you can dig down and spend that Christmas money without any fear of where the next dollar is coming from.

It is on the way—and hitting the high places.

Personal Tax Roll

There is in Latah county $747,584 of personal property according to the tax rolls, owned by individuals who have no assessable real property in the county. Of these work horses alone total a valuation of $59,900, and merchandise stocks amount to $173,605.

There is included in this total however $2200 of agricultural land and $3425 in residence lots which do not properly belong in the personal property total. They appear in the list however owing to the fact that they failed to get on the real property assessment roll and it became necessary to include them in this list in order not to lose their tax value to the county.

Milk cows owned by renters show a value of $18,285, the average valuation per cow being $37.00.

Bank stock, which is separately assessable property, and which may or may not be considered properly a part of this total, is included however, the amount being $245,750.

Of the total amount named, there is exempt according to law $57,920.—Idaho Post.

At the Opera House

Manager Fred G. Helm will give a public Christmas tree at the opera house Christmas night, following a moving picture show. There will be something for each child in attendance.

The Dixie Jubilee singers were the attraction offered by the opera house management last Friday evening. The program was a splendid one consisting of campmeeting hymns, old plantation melodies, a number of late songs, a selection from the light opera Il Travatore, etc. The program was nicely balanced and the numbers received hearty encores to which the members of the company responded quite generously.

Owing to the cold the audience was not so large as this high class attraction really deserved but those present very much appreciated this high class attraction.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a number of years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Death of Pioneer

Mrs. Mary Smith died at her home in Lewiston Tuesday, death being caused by old age and its infirmities. The remains were brought to Genesee, Thursday morning and the funeral services which were held in the Christian church, at 11 o'clock were conducted by Rev. H. F. Barstow. Interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Mrs. Smith was one of the pioneers of the Genesee country, she with her four sons having settled on a ranch four miles southeast of Genesee, at an early date. She was one of the splendid women of the early times and counted her friends by the score.

The family left here a number of years ago and bought a ranch, a part of which was later platted and is now a part of the town of Vollmer.

State Educational Board Meeting

At a recent meeting of the state educational board at Boise the school situation was carefully gone over and recommendations for school legislation and the maintenance budget for the six educational institutions prepared. The amount asked for will be about the same as appropriated two years ago, or $711,982. By a unanimous vote of the board it was decided to abandon the state normal school at Albion. If the legislature follows the board's advice the total maintenance asked will be decreased at least $60,000.

The board asked for and was given a conference with Governor-elect Moses Alexander, at which the needs of the educational institutions were carefully gone over to the satisfaction of the board. Mr. Alexander said that while he was anxious to economize on all sides, still he wished to be generous to the state's educational institutions.

Down at Cleveland, Ohio, where they are trying to collect from him, he is telling them that his home is in New York. It will be interesting to hear from the New York end.

As noted elsewhere, Nordby Brothers purchased at Lewiston from Follett & Schooler of this city a two-year-old Shire filly that captured in keen competition at the Northwest Livestock show first prize in her class, junior championship in her breed, and was also made reserve champion. This fine animal has been placed on the Genesee Stock Farm as a foundation for future fine animals.
