The general market situation was not changed materially during the week. Marketings of United States wheat continued of only moderate volume but receipts at Winnipeg were rather liberal, totaling 5,243 cars. Southern Hemisphere shipments were of only moderate volume, totaling a little over 2 000,000 bushels from Argentina and slightly over four million bushels from Australia. Milling restrictions were again modified in France, where mills are now allowed to use 45 per cent of foreign wheat. In Italy the foreign wheat quota was increasedd to 75 per cent of bread wheat and to 95 per cent of durum in northern and central areas and to 95 per cent of break wheat and 90 per cent of durum in southern sections of the country. The prices of native wheat in Europe were slightly lower in Hamburg and Milan, but higher at Paris. Native milling wheat was quoted May 27 at Hamburg at $1.08, at Milan at $1.68 and at Paris at $1.83. African durum was quoted at Marseilles at $1.64½ and Italian durum at Naples at $1.82. Australian wheat for June shipment sold at Liverpool during the week at 65 3-8c and No. 2 Manitoba at Vancouver at London at 62 3-4c per bushel.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific Coast markets were about unchanged to slightly lower. Wheat prospects in Washington and Oregon continued good in the Spring wheat districts where moisture was plentiful, but some weed damage was reported in Winter wheat areas. Marketings of old wheat continued light, receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia

IDAHO'S FIRST FINANCIAL SUPERVISOR NAMED IN 1905

Glenn Balch, writing his twenty-first article on taxation in Idaho, under direction of the state chamber of commerce says:

In 1905 Idaho state legislators first decided that governmental supervision of the financial activities of the public was needed. The public was too trustful, too easily duped; it needed protection.

The legislature of that year authorized the employment of a state bank examiner at a salary of $2400 a year and appropriated an additional $2200 to pay his traveling expenses and the expenses of his office. Fifteen pages of the 1905 session report are devoted to outlining his duties and establishing banking regulations.

Examiner's Duty.

"It shall be the duty of the bank commissioner," the report states, "when he shall deem it necessary and at least once a year, without previous notice, to visit and make a complete report and examination of each bank falling into the provisions of this act."

This was the beginning of a mass of regulations designed to protect the depositing public from the pitfalls of careless and indifferent banking. That such a service is meritorious and needed is evidenced by the losses depositors have suffered through failures.

Growth Characteristic

The growth of the department of finance is characteristic of governmental branches. Its appropriations show increases as follows: 1907, $9,000; 1909, $13,400; 1911, $24,800; 1913, $24,800; 1915, $24,950; 1917, $26,995; 1919, $68,545; 1921, $53,434; 1923, $62,581; 1925, $54,700; 1927, $62,625; and 1929, $71,060. The 1931 appropriation for the banks and banking division and the blue sky branch totalled $68,195.

Thus we find that a department created 17 years ago and given an initial appropriation of only $6000 is now costing Idaho taxpayers approximately $70,000 each biennium, which should be enlightening, concerning the increased cost of government.

Many Duties Added.

However, on investigation we find that the department of today is far more complex and elaborate a governmental branch than the old one-man bank commission established in 1905. The succeeding legislatures have forced it upon it many new duties and have enacted many additional regulations for it to enforce.

The banks and banking division now supervises the activities of more than 85 banks operating in Idaho under a state charter. These banks had on December 31 deposits belonging to Idaho citizens of more than 38 million dollars, a sum of money well worth protecting. Likewise the duty of liquidating suspended banks falls upon this department.

Blue Sky Bureau

The blue-sky bureau, so called because it seeks to protect investors from smooth-tongued promoters who have nothing but "blue sky" to sell, have activities of the various building and loan associations, brokerage firms, investment companies, collection agencies, etc.

For instance, in 1931, 21 applications for permits to sell securities within the state were denied because "in the judgment of this department they were not of the class and character that would insure the investor a reasonable chance for return of his money." There are those who maintain that this department has saved Idaho investors millions of dollars.

Revenue Earned.

The department has the virtue of earning as well as spending money. In 1929 and 1930, examination and charter fees collected by the banks and banking division totalled $24,801,-23, which went into the general fund. The blue sky collections totalled $10,-575.63 for the same period. Totalling these figures, we find that the two divisions are more than half self-sustaining, reducing their actual cost to the taxpayers to about $25,000 per biennium.

The personnel of the department consists of one commissioner of finance, one director of blue sky, a custodian of securities, a liquidating agent, four bank examiners, a secretary and a stenographer.

Parents of Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Currin are the parents of a baby girl, born Thursday, May 26. She has been named Mary Adeline.

LEGION MEMORIAL SERVICE.

John Eikum, commander of the local post of the American Legion, delivered the Memorial Day address at the City Park Monday. He paid tribute to the departed service men of all wars, stressing the sacredness and importance of Memorial Day, and rend the program of the Legion relative to the occasion. Commander Eikum's address, besides being timely and interesting, was well delivered and enjoyed by those assembled. Assisiting were Fred Hove, chaplain, the band, directed by Fr. Carey, the audience singing "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner," and a firing squad from the Legion ranks, Fr. Carey sounding taps at the close of the program.

Following the program at the park, the ex-service men went to the four cemeteries to decorate the graves of all departed veterans.

Continuing in the win column Genesee took Troy Sunday 20 to 4 after the visitors scored two runs in the second inning, presenting what looked like a ball club the equal to that which Genesee has placed in the field this season, a club composed entirely of local talent. Genesee held Troy in the opening inning, Troy blanking the locals in the same inning. Troy's big inning was the second when two men were hit by pitched balls and a third was placed on the paths by a walk, Shepherd cracking a single to score Wright and Williams. Troy's second run came in the fifth when Watts singled and went to third after Eichner reached first on an error, Watts scoring on a passed ball. Thompson, Troy third sacker was walked in the ninth and was advanced by Shepherd who hit safely, Thompson scoring on Camerons' roller to first.

Genesee scored two runs in the second frame, Emmett going to first on an error, advancing on C. Gray's safe blow; Weber forced Gray, and while Putnam was at bat Weber stole second; Geltz went to first an error, Emmett scoring on the throw, and as it went wild Weber crossed the plate.

In the third inning Geo. Blume made one hard for Troy's shortstop to handle, reaching first; Al Olsen doubled, scoring Blume, and Olsen taking third on a passed ball, scored on Emmett's outfield fly. In the fourth inning Weber walked, stole second; Geltz hit safely; Les Gray bunted and on a wild throw to first Weber scored. Geo. Blume on a hitting spree, sent one to the fence to score Geltz and Gray, Blume scoring on Olsen's single. In the sixth inning, Les Gray was safe by virtue of an error, stole second and scored on Blume's double to the fence; Olsen walked; Ed Blume hit, scoring Geo. Blume and Olsen, C. Gray was safe at first when Eichner made a bad peg to first, Blume scoring the fourth run in that inning. In the seventh Les Gray walked, pilfered an extra base and also third to score on Geo. Blume's fourth hit of the game; Ed Blume walked; Emmett hit to score G. Blume; C. Gray hit to score E. Blume and Emmett

REV. A. F. WOLFF RESIGNS AS PASTOR OF ST. JOHN'S

Rev. A. F. Wolff tendered his resignation Sunday as pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, effective June 26, to accept a call from Carthage, Ill., home of Carthage College, a Lutheran endowed school. Carthage is a city of about 5,000 population. Rev. and Mrs. Wolff came to Genesee 24 years ago from Mott, N. D., where the former was pastor of the German Lutheran church, serving prior to that at Bridgewater, S. D. Rev. Wolff is a graduate of the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis, and of the Lutheran Seminary at St. Paul. His home was at Mapleton, Minn., and that of Mrs. Wolff's, St. Paul, where they will visit during the early part of July before going to Carthage.

Rev. and Mrs. Wolff came to Genesee July 20, 1908, and have made this their home continuously, during which time the former was instrumental in the building of the present Lutheran church structure, which replaced a smaller frame building. Rev. Wolff personally supervised the building and much of the work, especially the decorating and interior finishing is his work. The two daughters, Misses Ruth, a graduate of the University of Idaho, and now an instructor in the New York Institute of Music and Art, and Verona, who will graduate June 6 from the University of Idaho, will reside in New York City, as the younger daughter will go there to study music.

A call was sent from the congregation of St. John's Lutheran church Tuesday to Rev. A. Klickman of Tolucа, Ill., and an answer will probably be returned by Sunday.

RURAL LETTER CARRIERS HELD CONVENTION MAY 29

Mr. and Mrs. Al Mayer attended the Rural Letters Carriers' convention at Kamiah, Sunday, May 29. This was a district meeting of the state organization. Twenty-six carriers and their families were present at the sessions held at the Odd Fellows hall, and undoubtedly there would have been double that number present had it not rained during the convention day.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayer have been active in the association, Mrs. Mayer having held all the offices in the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Mr. Mayer has been the state president and secretary of the district organization for several years.

T. R. Dowdy, Moscow, was reelected president; L. M. Carr, Lewiston, vice present; Secretary and treasurer, C. W. Passmore, Moscow. The delegate to the state convention in Moscow, July 4 and 5 is E. W. Ingils of Craigmont.

Parents of Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Futter announce the arrival of a baby girl, born Sunday, May 29, at the Gritman hospital, Moscow. They have named the baby May Emily.

Pleasures are Earned!

Start Saving Now

Recreation and rest can be truly enjoyed only after they have been earned, thru work, thru saving, or thru investments. Youth fights the inevitable in this, but age knows it is true.

To be able to "go off on trips" and enjoy life in later years it is necessary to build while young, and to build on the solid foundation of thrift. Your work weeks now should be profit weeks, a spending of a little less than you make. These saved dollars go to work immediately for you and your recreation and rest in future years.

Let us explain our saving plan

First Bank of Genesee

An Old Cow
saved from the stock-yards

SHE HAD been an extra good Guernsey in her day, but her milk record in her twelfth year clearly indicated that she was falling off. For she produced only 5415 pounds of milk, or $69.53 profit above her keep.

The first months of the next year indicated that she was still slipping . . . that she was on the down grade . . . headed for the yards. Then, as an experiment, Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic was added to her ration. She picked up enough to produce 5592 pounds of milk, earning $75.72 above the cost of her feed.

An old cow reclaimed! And the part that Dr. Hess Stock Tonic played in this particular case is only indicative of its value in young herds. With all the necessary minerals, with its conditioning qualities to promote good health, Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic makes its big showing on the record sheets of cows in their prime.

Two cents per cow per day will add Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic to your dairy ration . . . dollars to your monthly milk check. See your local Dr. Hess dealer and get at least a 90-day supply to begin with. Figure 18 pounds for each cow.

A Conditioner and Mineral Supplement

*All milk sold as Grade "A" at $3.50 per cwt.

FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1932.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

W. W. Gray and Frank Grieser returned Friday from Lewiston where they attended the republican state convention and reported that Idaho's eight delegates to the national convention will support Theodore Roosevelt for president.

Because of a misunderstanding in the 7th inning, when the score in the ball game stood 2 to 0 in favor of the Genesee team last Sunday, the Uniontown baseball team walked off the field. They contested Mr. Vanouck's decision in calling a Uniontown man out at third.

Mabel Leona Johnson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Johnson, and Arthur D. Hillman were united in marriage at Colfax, Wash., Monday.

Thirty Years Ago.

Conrad Steltz bought from Fred Jones, a piece of ground east of town, known as the old race track site, containing 71 acres, a residence, a barn and other improvements. The purchase price was $4300.

The matter of street paving now rests with the city council. They can complete the work or abandon it at their pleasure and the outcome is watched with interest.

A pretty wedding occurred Wednesday, June 4 at 8:30 at the Catholic church when Miss Thresasia Herman and Mr. Martin Hasfurther were united in matrimony by Rev. Fr. Keyzer.

Baseball Benefit Dances.

The dance, sponsored by the baseball club Monday evening was enjoyed by as large a number of dancers as was expected owing to the number of various entertainments during the past week and was a success financially. The orchestra known as the "Blue Jays," composed of Lowell Isaksen, Elmer Krier, Harry Hanson, John Luedke, Maurice Krier and Howard Schooler, met with the approval of dancers and a large number of spectators, and will probably play for a number of dances before the Fourth of July to raise funds to provide for a display of fireworks, should plans materialize for a celebration here. The members of the orchestra were all dressed alike, wearing white, blue-striped overalls. Comment following the dance was to the effect that there now exisits little reason for employing an out-of-town orchestra when Genesee has such a good orchestra in prospect.

Legion Auxiliary Meets June 10.

At the regular business meeting of the Legion Auxiliary last Friday, members decided to meet once a month during June, July and August, the meeting in June to be on the 10th.

Gretchen Rissemer's poster, "Buy a Poppy to Help a Veteran Help Himself," was decided on as the best poster submitted by pupils from the seventh and eighth grades.

Mrs. Harold Haymond, Mrs. Anton Kambridge and Miss Ethel Johnson served a delicious luncheon at the close of the afternoon.

AN APPRECIATION.

I wish to thank the citizenry of Latah County for their vote of confidence by again nominating me for the office of sheriff.

Charlie Summerfield,
Sheriff, Latah County, Idaho.

WHEAT MARKET UNSETTLED AT CLOSE OF WEEK MAY 27

River terminals totaling only 282 cars, or only about one-sixth as many as were received during the corresponding period last year. Demand was dull and almost entirely from domestic flour mills. No export business was reported, since Oriental markets for both wheat and flour were being supplied by cheaper Australian wheat.

Indian Wheat Estimate Cut

The Indian wheat crop estimate has been revised downward and the outturn is now placed at 340,928,000 bushels, against 347,275,000 bushels, the final estimate last year, according to the Market News Service of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The preliminary forecast issued in April indicated a crop of around 347,648,000 bushels, or slightly above last season's harvest.

Samples of new crop Indian wheat received at Liverpool were reported of good quality. Comments on the quality from merchants and millers were quite favorable. The samples were of wheat produced on the borders of the Punjab and United Provinces. The grain was more of the Delhi type wheat, having a longer berry than the white Karachi. The samples received lacked the usual 5 per cent of red kernels. The improved quality of the crop this season reflects the use of better seed wheat, which has been receiving considerable attention during recent years.

Official estimates of utilization of wheat during the past crop year are not available, but trade estimate a disappearance of around 375,000,000 bushels, part of which represented old crop wheat, since this quantity is greater than the estimated crop outturn last season. The usual normal consumption of wheat in India is placed at 320,000,000 to 340,000,000 bushels. The larger utilization last season is attributed mostly to the low world price levels, which were unfavorable to wheat exports. Maintenance of the Indian tariff duty of 39 1-8c per bushel restricted imports of foreign wheat and flour, particularly Australian, during the crop year, and resulted in supplying a larger proportion of domestic demand from native wheat.

Pacific white wheat, which is a competitor in world markets with Indian and Australian white wheats has not recently been quoted in English markets, as domestic prices for Pacific white wheats have been above an export basis. During the first two weeks of May, however, small lots totaling around 37,500 bushels of Pacific white wheat were sold to the United Kingdom. Cheap ocean freight space was reported to have been the deciding factor in the consumption of this transaction.

Guests of Rebekahs.

Following the regular business session of Rebekahs Wednesday evening a social hour was enjoyed, and refreshments were served. Guests of the members were Miss Frances Pfoff, Miss Villa Leeper, Miss Bernadette Weber, Miss Hope Michelsen and Mrs. E. Spiker.

The Emmett Index makes the judge ask: "So you want a divorce from your husband because he makes you wash his back when he comes home each evening. Do you think that is sufficient grounds for divorce?"

Wife: "But, judge, when he came last evening his back was already clean."

STERN INDICTMENT.

Keynotes are yet to be sounded. Political speeches so far have been mild, and though the nominating election is over, the real campaign is still vaguely in the future.

Yet Byron Defenbach, fatally dark figure in the horoscope of C. Ben Ross, has already uttered what will be, inevitably, a ruling indictment against the latter's administration.

On May 5, at Rexburg Defenbach declared for a bi-partisan game commission, to end a most glaring political crime of the Ross regime—depletion of a fund by reckless extravagance. At Weiser Defenbach backed the executive and his policy against a hard stone wall, and then (to mix the metaphor) bluntly trumped Ross' ace, his highway fraud stand.

Recalling that Ross was elected in 1930, when the present depression was well defined and severely felt, on promises to cut the mounting expense of state government, Defenbach said:

"No sooner was the election over than the leaders of the successful party met in convention in Boise. There is nothing in the record of their deliberations to show that they had any conception of the gravity of the tax situation. Their entire time was spent, not in reducing the amount of patronage, but in distributing it where it would do them the most good politically. They do not yet seem to have awakened to the fact that what success brought them was not a pie, but a problem."

Then he quoted from a recent interview of a "democratic leader," whom he did not name, but because it had been widely published it was easily recognized as a statement by Governor C. Ben Ross himself. It was that he (Ross) had known of some of the crimes in the highway department at least three years ago, while bemoaning in the same breath that some of these were now outlawed by the statute of limitations.

"That seems to me," concluded Defenbach, "about as inconsistent a pair of statements as I have ever seen side by side. When we add the fact that the governor vetoed an act of the legislature for an audit of the highway department funds, thereby delaying the investigation another year, it would seem to require a lot of explanation. It should be the purpose of the republican campaign to insist that some of these vague statements be made clear to the taxpayers of Idaho."

W. T. Marineau, publisher of the Elk River News, will represent Clearwater county in the state senate. He was unopposed at the primary election. He has served previously as representative of his county.

Uniontown 3 - Genesee 16

Memorial Day Genesee romped and played throughout nine long innings with Uniontown, scoring sixteen easy runs to three for the neighboring Washingtonians, the latter only placing five safe blows to 13 for the Genesee club which stole bases at will and scored at every opportunity. Errors were costly to Uniontown as they were to Troy the day previous. Players were switched around and every substitute was given a trial as in the Troy game. Worried somewhat as to pitching strength Genesee had nothing to fear with the superb fielding. Genesee made but two errors against Uniontown, one a wide throw to first and an overthrow at second. Weber, according to the score sheet was the heavy man at bat in hits recorded, but E. Blume was the longest hitter as in the Troy game.

Hattrup, first man up for Uniontown cracked a sharp single between short and third, scoring on Ray Jutte's double in the first inning. Walt-Jutte and Meyers combined an error and a hit for a run in the fifth and in the eighth, with C. Gray pitching, Geo. Hattrup scored on an error and a hit, but E. Blume took Ray Jutte's grounder behind second, touched the bag to retire Juerringer, then tossed to G. Blume at first to blast any further damage by Ray Jutte.

Genesee scored four runs in the opening inning on two hits and three errors. The locals pushed over three more in the third on four hits. In the fifth six scores were rushed across by virtue of an error, two walks and four hits, one a double by Olsen. In the sixth three more runs were marked down on four hits, one a double by E. Blume.

SEAGULLS EAT HOPPERS.

Pocatello—Seagulls, which turned back the grasshopper pest that threatened the Mormon pioneers' crops the year after their arrival in the Great Salt Lake valley in 1848 Wednesday came to the aid of farmers battling a grosshopper horde in the Tyhee section between Pocatello and Blackfoot. They arrived in increasing numbers from the American Falls reservoir and immediately fell upon the insects.

Nature also lent her assistance with cold rains and lowering temperatures, which quieted the movements of the grasshoppers. A return of warm weather is expected to revive them and also increase their numbers.

Farmers who lands are affected joined forces with officials of Bannock and Bingham counties and the Fort Hall Indian reservation and more than 200 men were stretched along a 20 mile front, contesting the advance of the winged army.

Senator John Thomas telegraphed from Washington Wednesday that $500 had been made available by the government to fight the hoppers, and Bingham county commissioners appropriated $200 to buy poison bait.

Something About Fences

Section 1959 of the Idaho Compiled Statutes provides that unless other arrangements are made, adjoining land owners must construct and keep in repair that half of the line fence between them which is to the land owner's left when he is standing on his own land facing the other.

This is the opinion of Abe Goff, prosecuting attorney, Latah county, relative to a question raised here last week about fences.

Marvin Hickman Hurries to Pierce.

Marvin Hickman, on arriving home late Monday night, was notified to report at Pierce, Idaho, Monday evening. Delay in transmission of the message which stated that a packtrain was leaving Pierce early Tuesday morning for service in the U. S. Forest work, caused him to take hurried measures to arrive in Pierce in time to accept the position. He left shortly after midnight with Walter Kleweno who took him directly to the place mentioned.

Dewey Wardrobe and Dave Hickman have already gone into the timber in the employ of the federal government on the same positions which they have occupied for several years.

Mrs. John Berger left Saturday for Seattle to visit her daughter, Mrs. Statoe, and returning she will visit another daughter, Mrs. A. C. Gay at Spokane. Mrs. Berger expects to be gone a month.

Mrs. Lewis Michelsen moved Tuesday into the home owned by Henry Craft.

THE GENESEE NEWS

VOL. XLIII — GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1932 — NO. 51

FOURTH OF JULY WILL BE CELEBRATED IN GENESEE

Members of the city council voted unanimously to sanction the plan of a Fourth of July celebration in Genesee, to be sponsored by the baseball organization.

Present plans have been made in accordance with the wishes of many people in the Genesee community, and include a program of sports for the children something like that presented here for the Bicentennial celebration, more elaborate however, with provisions being made for a number of interesting and amusing events for the older folks. Besides races of various kinds, there will be contests with prizes for the winners, to be donated by business houses locally.

Fireworks in Evening

The first of a series of three dances will be given Friday evening at the high school gymnasium to provide funds for a fireworks display the evening of the Fourth. Music for the dances is being furnished by what is now known as the Hometown Harmony Boys, an orchestra which has met with popular approval. Admission to the dances will be 50 cents.

Good Game for Fourth

Having assembled what is considered the best local ball club in years the management is searching for a real contender for the Fourth. Uniontown will probably receive the invitation to play ball here as that club will be materially strengthened by players returning home from universities. There will be no increase in admission prices, as it is planned to make a home celebration as inexpensive as possible and yet provide a good time for everyone.

Dance on the Fourth

Beginning immediately after the fireworks there will be the usual Fourth of July dance with the lowest possible admission price, music to be furnished by the local orchestra, and there is sufficient reason to believe that everyone will enjoy this affair.

The program committee in formulating its plans wants all the time possible during the day of the Fourth for entertainment, and it will stress, as has already been mentioned, sports for everyone, permitting the opportunity for the entire community to join in a real old-time celebration.

Miss Hampton Receives Diploma.

Miss Genevieve Hampton went to Spokane Saturday and Thursday of this week received her diploma as one of the graduates of Spokane University. She left immediately for Athena, Ore., to join her sister, Mrs. E. Johnson on a trip to California.

Children Picnic at Moscow.

Sunday, June 5, was Children's Day and although the weather was unfavorable, it being cold, there were about 70 youngsters who journeyed to Moscow park and enjoyed a picnic. The children enjoyed the picnic despite the cold.

Wm. Hordeman Seriously Ill.

Doctors, who were in consultation Thursday consider the physical condition of Wm. Hordemann, 84, to be critical. Possessing unusual strength, the patient is, however, suffering the loss of some faculties.

Barney Meyer Suffers Fire Loss.

Fire Sunday destroyed the Tekoa Lunch, Tekoa, Wash., owned and operated by Barney Meyer, formerly of Genesee. Fire started in the roof of the Shamrock cafe, adjoining the Tekoa Lunch and besides destroying the two cafes water did considerable damage to a tailor shop. Of the three business places suffering fire losses, Mr. Meyer was the only one who carried insurance.

MR. AND MRS. FICKENS ON VACATION IN MINNESOTA

Saturday noon Mr. and Mrs. Gus Fickens left by automobile for Boise, going from there to Pocatello, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Denver, Colo.; Kansas City, Mo.; Omaha, Nebr.; Elmore, Iowa, and then to Blue Earth, Minnesota, where they will visit Mr. Fickens parents, whom he has not seen for fourteen years. It has been 31 years since he visited his home at Blue Earth. His parents who are now at the age of 80 years, visited in Genesee fourteen years ago.

Mr. Moersch, the father of Mrs. Fickens, who has been living here with Mr. and Mrs. Fickens, left Saturday to be with his daughter, Mrs. Louise Potsch, at Lewiston, during the time the vacationists are away.

Henry Halverson will be in charge of the Fickens shop during the month of June, or until Mr. and Mrs. Gus Fickens return.

CROPS SHOW EFFECT OF LATE SPRING IN PALOUSE

Fall wheat and barley crops are beginning to show better color since the arrival of warmer weather and some sunlight, but the grain is not covering the ground as in other years. Growth has been retarded by the cold and frosty late spring, and local estimates are that the wheat harvest will not be up to normal. There is no evidence of failure, something unknown here, but yields will not run as high. Spring seeding has been retarded by rains and it is only during the last few days that those growing potatoes could begin to plant. The soil has abundant moisture for this time of the season, but where ranchers are plowing they are compelled in many instances to plow around the wet spots.

Peas which were planted early are now covering the ground, but in this crop one can also see the effects of the backward spring. Warmer weather, which now seems to be the reward of patient waiting will change the prospects for crops.

Farmers are beginning to prepare for cutting their hay crop, which in most cases is better than the average for the past few years.

Evening Bridge Club.

Mesdames Glen Sampson and W. M. Herman entertained the Evening Bridge club Monday evening at the former's home. Dinner was served at two bridge tables, each decorated with a bouquet of roses. At bridge Mrs. Harold Haymond won high score and Mrs. Frank Hoorman, second high.

IDAHO GOVERNMENTAL COSTS DUE TO AMERICAN STANDARD

The machinery of state government finances is ponderous and complicated, a direct product of the American penchant for regulating and standardizing everything, says Glenn Balch who writes "Ttax Topics" for the Idaho state chamber of commerce. Every law, no matter hay seemingly innocuous, when once on the statutes, is accompanied by a responsibility—that of enforcement. Our public officials frequently find themselves hedged into narrow and vexing ruts of action by impenetrable walsl of legal thorns.

This minute and inflexible regulation of official activity not only serves to stifle possible beneficial originality on the part of incumbents, but at times undoubtedly works to the financial disadvantage of the state.

Many Funds

The 1929-30 report of the state auditor outlines the operations of 56 regular funds, 52 revolving funds and 19 suspense funds, making a total of some 127 different channels through which public moneys must be legally conducted in the course of carrying on the state's business.

Revolving funds are created by the state board of examiners to relieve temporary financial embarrassment of state officials, departments, boards and institutions who find themselves without money for necessary operations. These funds, which generally have some source of revenue other than taxes, are established by appropriations from the state general fund, except in cases where the board, institution or department has an interest or special fund available.

Suspense Funds.

Suspense funds are provided for the safekeeping, pending final disposition or distribution, of any moneys received in trust by any state officer, department, board or institution. The law provides that money may be withdrawn from a suspense fund only under rules and regulations promulgated by the department of finance.

The complicated aspect of all this becomes increasingly apparent when one learns that each of the various funds is encased in a legal straightjacket of legislative enactments. Each fund has its legal source or sources of revenue and each fund may be used for only certain legally defined purposes. No deviation, however desirable, from this is legally possible without legislative action. Indeed, some funds are so heavily burdened with red tape as to make their operation a highly technical and tedious affair.

Endowment Funds

The school and college endowment funds, as well as those of the charitable institutions and the penitentiary, are derived from the "sales of federal land grants and timber." These are "irreducible" funds, meaning that only the earnings and no part of the principal may be legally expended. The proceeds of the various sales, as they accrue, are invested under the direction of the department of public investments and the earnings in interest, rentals and so forth are made available for the maintenance and operation of the institutions endowed.

Supervision of the various endowment funds is a tremendous and highly responsible task. It involves the handling of huge sums of money annually, the hair-line segregation between earnings and principals, the making of many legally regulated investments and the equitable distribution of the interest and rental earnings.

Operations.

Some idea of the size of the endowment funds operations is had when one learns that the earnings of the public school endowment fund for the 1929-30 biennium were considerably more than two and a quarter million dollars. Cash receipts from the university endowment fund for the same period were $202,354.99; the school of science fund earned $80,428.72 and the agricultural college endowment fund earnings totalled $117,528.81.

Other endowment fund earnings for the biennium were: Charitable institutions, $2737,412.23; insane asylum, $62,019.87; normal schools (divided equally between Lewiston and Albion Normals), $146,156.62; North Idaho Sanitarium, $36,226.59, and penitentiary $113,838.59.

GROUND RULES LIMIT SCORE IN KENDRICK-GENESEE GAME

Winning 5 to 0, Genesee was handicapped somewhat by the ground rules on the Kendrick grounds Sunday. Lefty Emmett coming up in the last of the third with the bases loaded, drove a long fly into right field, but was held to two bases, as was Les Gray who was on first when Emmett hit. Danielson was also held to two bases when Les Gray hit to right field beyond the reach of the fielder. Kendrick was unable to hit for more than one base during the nine-inning fray, garnering but five scattered hits over the entire route.

Genesee and Kendrick played better baseball than was expected for the cold weather which was dished out, but in the last two innings Genesee started a clown act after attaining what looked like a comfortable lead, 5 to 0. Players switched around and provided an exciting minute when Nebelsieck caught Flaig flat-footed on an attempted steal to second. The ball was thrown to first base, then to second and in the exchange of tosses, Skinny Weber came up to second from third and tagged the runner, Gray running the man down.

Sunday's game was the fifth consecutive win in as many starts for the local club and there appears no danger of losing to any of the clubs which the team will meet on the present schedule.

First inning—L. Gray singled, took second on a steal; Geo. Blume flew out to the pitcher; Emmett was safe on an error by the catcher; Ed Blume was out, pitcher to first; Weber fanned. Kendrick: Flaig flew out to third; Blevins went to first on an error at short; Brocke flew out to second; Blum fanned.

Second inning— C. Gray was hit by a pitched ball but was out going into second; Nebelsieck, out, catcher to first; Putnam, safe on an error at first; Geltz flew out to first. Kendrick: Gruel, Foster and Chas. Davis went out in the air to left field, short and center, respectively.

Third inning— L. Gray, out, second to first; G. Blume hit for two bases, the limit on Kendrick grounds; Emmett was out, second to first; Ed. Blume hit for two bases, scoring G. Blume; Weber hit to score Ed Blume and came home to score while C. Gray was at bat, Gray going out, third to first. Kendrick: Dammarell and Carl Davis were victims of Putnam on strikeouts and Flaig flew out to short.

Fourth inning—Nebelsieck's infield fly was bobbled at short; Putnam hit; Geltz flew out to right field, advancing Nebelsieck; Les Gray went to first on an error loading the bases; Emmett put one in the right field rocks to score Nebelsieck and Putnam; Ed Blume was out, third to first. Kendrick: Blevins flew out to third; Brocke, out, third to first; Blum hit but died at first as Putnam threw out Gruel at first.

Fifth inning—Weber out, pitcher to first; C. Gray flew out to third; Nebelsieck was given a free trip to first; Putnam flew out to third. Kendrick: Foster hit safely but was forced at second by Chas. Davis; Dammarell flew out to third and Putnam took care of Carl Davis.

Sixth inning—Geltz flew out to first; L. Gray did the same and Geo. Blume swung at three. Kendrick: Flaig and Blevins rolled to the pitcher who tossed them out at the initial bag; Brocke hit but stopped at second when Blum flew out to short.

Seventh inning—Emmett was out, second to first; E. Blume walked; Weber flew out to right field and C. Gray was out, short to first. Kendrick: Danielson relieved Putnam on the mound for Genesee by throwing Gruel out at first; Foster took advantage of an error; Chas. Davis hit; Dammarell looked at three of Danielson's slants and Holgarth, replacing Carl Davis, flew out to the catcher.

Eighth inning—Nebelsieck flew out to right field; Danielson hit; Geltz flew out to the pitcher; L. Gray hit onto the rocks for two bases, and G. Blume retired the side on a fly to short. Kendrick: Flaig went to first on an error at second; Blevens fanned after Flaig was run down between first and second; Brocke hit safely but stopped at second when Blum flew out to center.

Ninth inning—Emmett fanned; Ed Blume was safe at first, stole second but was out going to third; Weber hit and C. Gray was out, short to first. Kendrick: Gruel out, pitcher to Gas Thieves Busy.

About five gallons of gasoline were stolen from the Ford coupe belonging to Miss Bernadine Hasfurther Tuesday night. The car was parked in front of the Joe Hasfurther residence and during the night Mrs. Hasfurther heard a car drive up, but thought it stopped at a neighboring residence. Wednesday morning the cover to the gasoline tank was open and the cap was off. It is thought the gasoline was siphoned from the tank.

ALICE WINEGARDNER ROLLS ALONG ON OMNIBUS COLLEGE

Genesee is represented on the annual Omnibus college educational expedition by Miss Alice Winegardner. The expedition departed from its headquarters in Wichita, Kansas on May 29.

The Omnibus college is popularly known throughout the United States and Canada as "America's College on Wheels," and is often spoken of as a "Cousin to the University Afloat."

Twice each summer this unique institution rolls out upon a 6,000 mile expedition, which lasts seven weeks throughout the east. Through twenty-five states and two Canadian Provinces, the Omnibus College makes its way. It travels in a great circle. From Wichita, it rolls toward the Gulf of Mexico, through the south, then to the north, through the east, into Canada and finally speeds westward along the Great Lakes and back home.

FARMER ON BOTTJER PLACE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

A car containing two men, Mark Cole, who farms the Mrs. Margaret Bottjer place between Unitontown and Moscow, and son, Lawrence, and two women crashed through the guard rail of the state highway bridge at Delaney, Wash., 21 miles west of Pomeray, Tuesday morning, and dropped 40 feet to the rocky bottom of the draw, resulting in the severe injury to all its occupants.

Mark Cole, about 55, and his son were bound for Walla Walla, and had picked up the two women, Mrs. Hugh Malone and Mrs. Earl Green, both of Pomeroy, who were walking along the highway with the intention of getting a ride to Walla Walla, where they had planned to visit friends.

The accident occurred when the car, traveling at high speed, failed to make the turn at the bridge, as the driver had intended. When the brakes wer applied the vehicle skidded sideways into the right guard rail, which gave way.

The patients were hurried by other motorists to the Pomeroy hospital where medical attention was given. Mark Cole seemingly is hurt the most seriously but until he regains consciousness his injuries can not be definitely determined.

Lawrence Cole suffered severe contusions on the face, head and back. The women both complain of back and head injuries. Mrs. Green also has several ribs broken. The car was demolished.

GRAIN MARKETS WEAKER ON PROSPECT OF NEW CROP

New Crop Prospects.

Prospects for the domestic winter wheat crop were not materially improved by recent rains, since harvesting is already under way in Texas, and Oklahoma, and the crop is beginning to ripen in southern Kansas. The first car of the season was shipped from Oklahoma to Wichita, Kansas, June 2. Private estimates June 1, placed the winter wheat crop about 700,000,000 bushels below the May 1 official forecast. Spring wheat, on the other hand, continued to make good progress during the week, with private trade estimates forecasting a crop of around 250,000 bushels, or nearly 150,000,000 bushels above last season's short harvest.

Canadian spring wheat also made favorable progress and ranged from two to six inches high at the close of May in the Prairie Provinces, according to the Manitoba Free Press. The moisture condition was 87 per cent or normal in Manitoba, 82 per cent in Saskatchewan and 101 per cent in Alberta, according to reports. The grasshopper situation is serious in Manitoba and soil drifting has been widespread in Saskatchewan. General rains are needed to offset the relatively low moisture reserves and to promote growth.

European Crop Conditions

Winter wheat prospects in European countries have improved with recent good growing weather. Conditions in the United Kingdom and the Scandinavian countries are satisfactory, although somewhat backward. Recent rains in Germany have benefited crops and conditions are now reported good. Dry weather, which threatened damage to crops in Austria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia, has been relieved by good general rains. Harvesting has begun in Greece and will soon begin in the southern portions of Spain, Italy and France. Prospects in France are officially reported to be much above average and materially better than a year ago. French acreage is placed at 13,256,000 acres, as against 12,496,00 acres last season.

The continued dull demand for North American wheat was an additional weakening influence in the general market situation during the week. Total North American clearances from seaboard ports, from August through May, were only about 274,000,000 bushels this season, compared with approximately 297,000,000 bushels a year ago. Supplies remaining for export and carryover, however, in the principal exporting countries outside of Europe at the first of June, including bonded grain in North America, were approximately 30,000,000 less than at the corresponding date last season, with increased stocks in North America more than offset by smaller stocks in Argentine and Australia. Supplies of native wheat in deficit areas are reported to be very low, but takings are still restricted by governmental regulations.

A FRIENDLY CHALLENGE TO THE PUBLICISTS OF IDAHO

From the Boise Valley Herald, Middleton, Idaho, a publication taking a decided interest in the formation of the Liberty Party, formed May 24, is taken the following which is self-explanatory in its heading.

The Liberty Party of Idaho expects the press of the state to publish the following tabulated facts of America's depression history, and to rationalize on the causes that are at the roots of these facts and to answer the question of whether we are in a depression such as we have had in the past or are we in a bog such as marks the end of a historic period. Surely it is not too much for the common citizens of Idaho to expect the editors and ministers and other publicists of the state to take public cognizance of conditions as they are and to deal soberly and frankly with them, to the very best of their ability. This tabulation is from as careful and conservative and able statisticians as the country affords and is entitled to be given wide publicity and sober consideration:

From records that have been kept of the average price levels throughout the past 50 years of our national history, Prof. Persons, economic expert of the City of New York and former professor of economics of Harvard University, in his bok, "Forecasting Business Cycles." These are the lowest points reached in the years as indicated:

In 1878 the lowest point was 80 per cent of normal; 1884, 82 per cent of normal; 1893, 78 per cent of normal; 1894, 74 per cent of normal; 1896, 77 per cent of normal; 1908, 81 per cent of normal; 1914, 82 per cent of normal, and 1932, 63 per cent of normal, that is the lowest point for the mentioned years. (The last year's figures are not from Prof. Person's book but from the latest we have seen from Roger Babson and applied for the week ending May 20).

Whether other publicists agree with the Liberty Party's analysis or not, we of the Liberty Party (and all other fair minded citizens, also) insist that the seriousness of present conditions require good-faith treatment and rationalization on the part of everyone who has the good of our country at heart. The Liberty Party contends that the underlying cause of this bog that America is in, is the strangle hold of the vicious debt-making, poverty-breeding economic and fiscal system that has been insidiously fastened upon the nation. If this viewpoint is incorrect or if it is unjust let those who are able to do so, point out its error. Surely it is not amiss to submit this system to a searching analysis and a public exposure of its faults.

The Liberty Party of Idaho is concentrating the minds of the people in an analytical and questioning way to the end that the nature and the fruits of this system will be understood by the electorate. Maybe the Liberty Party is unduly rash in calling this present debt making system the greatest instrument of extortion, the world has ever known but that is what it calls it and it points to the present disintegrating symptoms of civilization as exhibit A, in support of its arraignment.

The Liberty Party admonishes ministers and editors to inform themselves and rish making their information and their opinions public and to prove their good faith by a fair public presentation of the presentations made by the accredited publicists of the Liberty party and by its platform.

The Liberty Party of Idaho calls upon the citizens of Idaho to press upon the editors of the state the civic need to rationalize a justification for the distribution of some 90 carloads of charity wheat in Canyon county (the boasted premier agricultural county of the nation) at a time when overproduction of wheat was allegedly holding the price to a ruinously low level.

The Liberty Party of Idaho is not equivocating, it is not mincing words; it points to conditions that are as clear as the sun of a July noon day and it calls upon the victims here in Idaho to demand that the press and preachers of the state cease evading their civic responsibility and risk their opinions, as to the remedial qualites of old party nostrums, in the open arena of public discussion.

The Liberty Party of Idaho taunts and derides the sham and pretense and smug composure of old-party editors and preachers; it incites popular nonconformity to monetary traditions, and a hearty disdain for reverred financial wisdom, and it stimulates constructive mental action on social and civic questions.

The Liberty Party of Idaho is not any harsher than truth; it is not uncivil; it is simply open and candid and it does insist that signs multiply with every passing day that the end of a historic period has been reached and that unless we can pioneer in the realm of new civic frontiers that civilization cannot be saved. Idaho editors and preachers, the people can be brought to demand that you risk your opinion, what have you to say?

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Wednesday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Larrabee, when their daughter, Olive, became the bride of Mr. Howard Brune. Olive Larrabee has the distinction of being the first girl born in Genesee. The groom has made Genesee his home the past three years, purchasing the interest of Chas. Powers in the Genesee News of which publication he is owner and editor.

The impressive ceremony uniting in holy bonds of matrimony John Broemmeling and Miss Katherine Anna Kries, was solemnized Tuesday at St. Mary's Catholic church. Following the church ceremony a big banquet was served at the Kries home and Tuesday night a dance was given in the Genesee opera house, attended by 150 friends. Mr. and Mrs. Broemmeling left Wednesday on a wedding trip to Alberta, Canada.

Information to friends brings the news of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Burr on Thursday, May 30, at their home in Winston, Montana.

The senior commencement exercises were held at Elliot hall Thursday night. Following are the graduates and their subjects: Salutatory, Arthur Morgan; class history, Fay Pickering; Oration, "Self Reliance," Anna Tonning; oration, "Progress of Humanity," Myrtle Day; oration, "Trial of School Life," Mabel Reed; oration, "Economy of Time," Maggie Bottjer; oration, "Find a Way to Make One," Lulu Brennan; class prophecy, Maudd Summers; valedictory, Carroll Conant.

Lewis Jain, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jain, informed us that Mrs. Springer had swiped a boy down in the canyon and left the same at his home Saturday afternoon. Papa Jain confirms the report.

POLITICAL TINKLINGS.

Republicans at Boise and Democrats at Weiser must decide today, even if they consume all day and night doing it, what their declarations of policy for the 1932 campaign will be. Lofty, scholarly and assured as these declarations will be when finally formulated, they will be the fruit of toil and worry and the Lord only knows what dreadful embarrassment.

For no matter how much the G. O. P. offers, the Bourbon voters may ask, "Why didn't you think of that when you held the reins back there years ago?"

And however loudly the democrats boast of the present state administration, its critics will say, "Ah, but you promised to turn the rascals out, and behold, you have been more reckless and extravagant than ever."

* * * *

Under the primary law, the convention elects a state chairman, then a state committee, and then allows the committee to choose its own vice chairman. And for once the candidates have something to say about the platform planks—even if they prove splintery afterward.

* * * *

Not until the Great Document is written, and the delegates to the national convention are chosen and sent on their way, can the state committee retire as council of war and do the heavy planning on the strategies and munitions for the campaign. How much fight will be left in said committee by that time nobody knows.

FOR A FULL FOURTH

A FULL Fourth of July means a day full of patriotic fervor and fun, and also a stomach full of the good food which this glorious country, which celebrates on that day its Declaration of Independence, produces in such abundant quantities. We'll leave the firecrackers, fireworks and fiery speeches to you. Make as much noise, and make the Eagle scream as loud as the spirit moves you. But we have some suggestions about the food which is to fill your stomach which should prove of interest to many housewives.

The weather is apt to be hot, so the food must not be heavy. But the day is apt to be hectic, so it must be filling. In the following suggested menu and recipes we have attempted to solve that dual problem in a way that will make this day dietetically as well as historically memorable. Incidentally, these are tested recipes which will "declare freedom" from anxiety concerning the culinary perfection of your Fourth-of-July foods.

Chicken and Vegetable Sandwiches
Cheese and Fig Sandwiches
Deviled Eggs Potato Chips
Watermelon Pickles
Melba Mold
Cocoanut Kisses
Small Iced Cakes
Fruit Nectar Coffee

Recipes for Menu

Chicken and Vegetable Sandwiches: Cut up one 6-ounce can chicken, add one 8-ounce can peas, one-fourth cup chopped celery and one-fourth cup chopped pimiento. Moisten well with mayonnaise. Spread on buttered bread, cover with lettuce leaf and top with second slice of buttered bread. Makes twelve whole slice sandwiches which may be cut as desired.

Cheese and Fig Sandwiches: Slice nut bread thin, butter and spread with mashed cream cheese. Cover with canned figs which have been drained and sliced. Top with nut bread and cut as desired.

Melba Mold: Bring one-third cup sugar and one-third cup milk to boiling. Pour slowly over two slightly beaten egg yolks and cook over hot water until thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Add one cup of beaten cream and two tablespoons of sherry flavoring. Drain one No. 3 can of halved peaches and pack one on top of the other in center of a tall cooky can or a small coffee can, not too large around. Fill around the peaches with the cream mixture, cover and pack in ice and salt for four hours. Unmold onto a platter and slice. Serves eight.

Fruit Nectar: Boil one-third cup sugar and one-fourth cup water two minutes, then cool. Add juice from two lemons, two oranges, seven-eighths cup peach syrup (all from the can used for the Mold) and one cup of any other fruit juice. Chill. Just before serving add two pint bottles ginger ale and serve over ice. Serves six tall or twelve cup-sized glasses.*

They will be joined at Athena, Ore., on Thursday by Miss Genevieve Hampton who will accompany them to California, Miss Phoff, who came with them to Genesee, also returned to California.

MRS. KERN ENJOYING VISIT.

Mrs. Amand Kern, who is visiting in Detroit with her daughter, Mrs. George Mathay, and family, at 20011 Coventry, is enjoying her visit very much. In a recent letter she writes of her trip into Canada with the Mathay family, enclosing a view of the "Fleetway" Tunnel, automobile subway from Detroit, Mich., to Windsor, Canada, and a picture of a 36½ inch Great Northern pike, taken at the opening of the fishing season from the Huron River. Snakes also are mentioned by Mrs. Kern, as being plentiful near Point Tilly where they went fishing. Mrs. Kern advises that the snakes seen were "real", one of five which they killed, measuring 5½ feet in length. The sixth snake, the largest encountered the day mentioned got away, but it nearly frightened the party into hysterics, when it was noticed lying near one of the little girls.

Mrs. Kern allows nothing to escape her attention. While in Chicago she particularly noticed the large number of cars and trucks, stating one truck was of such size as to have room for eight automobiles, a double-deck affair.

The unemployment problem is Detroit is acute as everywhere else, but Mrs. Kern remarks that Mr. Mathay is fortunate in retaining his position through this time of stress.

Mrs. Kern, while enjoying her visit and the sights in Michigan, Canada, Chicago and other places, requests the News to mail her additional copies of the high school '32 class poems that she may forward them to her son in Los Angeles. The letter was written the day before Decoration Day, and Mrs. Kern intimated that it would be a privilege to be home for that day. She sends best wishes to her many friends here.

PLATFORM CONVENTIONS ON AT BOISE AND WEISER

Latah county delegations to the state republican and democratic conventions were decided on last Friday at Moscow, when the two parties held county conventions. E. C. Collins was selected county chairman of the republican party to succeed Bob West, and he will be accompanied by the candidates for the offices of state senator and representatives, Burton C. Rowe, Thomas A. Feeney and Alfred S. Anderson. The democrats in their local convention named Glenn Sanders as county chairman, and others qualified to hold seats in the state convention are W. L. Korter, candidate for state senator and Fred Hove and Wm. Smith, candidates for state representatives. G. P. Mix was also named as a delegate to the state convention. It is understood the five men will go to Weiser together to attend the convention. The republicans are meeting at Boise.

R. E. Emmett was the Genesee delegate to the republican county convention, and Ed Smolt was the democratic precinct committeeman. Both parties held their sessions at the court house, the republicans in the court room and the democrats in the commissioners' room.

Altar Society.

Members of St. Mary's Altar Society met with Mrs. E. E. Miller as hostess at her home Tuesday afternoon and in the course of their business session, decided to hold a cooked food sale, Saturday, July 2 at the Genesee Supply company store.

Following the business session refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting June 21, will be with Mrs. Henry Lorang.

Linger Longer Club.

The last meeting until Fall of the Linger Longer club was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Lew Jain Wednesday. A pick-up picnic lunch was served to members and their children. Mrs. Guy Wicks was a guest.

Legion Auxiliary.

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet this afternoon, Friday, when a short program for Flag Day will be presented.

BALL CLUB TO UNIONTOWN.

Sunday's baseball game is one that looks doubtful as the club is going to Uniontown. The neighboring town's club, it is understood has been undergoing changes in its lineup by the return home of players who have been playing on university ball clubs. Hi Jacobs, graduating from the University of Idaho, will undoubtedly wear a Uniontown uniform Sunday, and reports are being heard that Dave Keuhl will be behind the bat.

Genesee will play its regular team Sunday when they meet Uniontown at Uniontown.

MOST SOBERLY DO WE LOOK AT LIBERTY PARTY

The Boise Valley Herald, Middleton, Idaho, challenges newspapers of our state to soberly and frankly deal with present-day conditions as they exist. See "A Friendly Challenge * * * * " in another column.

Sincerely, Mr. Herald Man, we are sober—"soberer" than we ever expected to become as we consider the various candidates for office on the national tickets. Dryden said "There was not a sober person to be had; all was tempestuous and blustering." Pope said, "There shallow draughts intoxicate the brain; and drinking largely, sobers us again." Pardon the comma placed after "largely" for emphasis and pardon us for our sobriety. But in passing don't attempt to persuade us that any political party will pull us from the depths of depression. Those who heard the roar of "Liberty" motors overhead during their recent sojourn in France, look askance at the name "Liberty." We remember well the nickel we put in "Liberty" gum machines; we have eaten "Liberty" salad, and have seen youngsters beset with "Liberty" measles. "Liberty" bonds were not what we expected of them.

Our only comment to offer at the present is that we want to get away from this depression as soon as possible and we don't want to be bothered by any more political parties than are absolutely necessary. We do not feel that any attempt through politics will be of any material assistance, and with that in mind, allowing for all the benefits which may be derived from the Liberty Party, we cannot attempt at this time to assist in confusing the elecorate.

LIBERTY PARTY PLATFORM.

The Boise Valley News, publishes for editorial comment the following taken from the Caldwell News Tribune. We herewith publish it again:

Sponsors of the Liberty Party announce that they expect their party to be on the ballot in all states, but just how much of a ripple the movement will create on the political sea remains to be determined.

To those of us who incline to political conservatism the national platform of the Liberty party is definitely hair-raising in its proposals. It would repeal all present banking laws, giving the government exclusive banking privileges, declare a moratorium for five years on all bonds, mortgages and interest-bearing debts and have federal, state and municipal governments take over all public utilities. Then it proceeds to demand demonetization of gold and urge the printing of "sufficient money to put all idle labor at work."

Were it not that we—members of the republican and democratic parties alike—have made such a muss of things in the conduct of national affairs over a period of years we would, with characteristic assurance, declare the Liberty party platform to be wholly absurd. But under existing conditions, with millions of good citizens in this land of plenty without the necessities of life, one hesitates to venture any more critical opinion of the third-party platform than to hint, in a modest whisper, that it may be as impractical and economically asinine as we, republicans and democrats, have demonstrated ourselves to be.

But in at least one respect we find ourself in harmony with the Liberty party platform. It is right, dead right, in its claim that, as applied to the masses, there is a shortage of money. That point has ceased to be debatable since we just dug into our pockets and found two keys, a jackknife and thirty-four cents. And the Liberty party's suggestion that the power for our nation to crawl out of its difficulties is to print an abundance of paper money is tempting, indeed. Fact is, we hereby make application for the job of official printer of paper currency. For the service we ask no other reward than that our printers may have the privilege of running off a few extra twenty-dollar bills for themselves each Saturday afternoon, and of course, hand us a few as our rakeoff for use of the machinery.

MR. AND MRS. TUPKER HOME FROM TRIP TO NEBRASKA

Rather tired from a long day's automobile trip, Three Forks, Mont., to Genesee, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tupker, accompanied by their son, Dr. Eugene Tukper, arrived home late Tuesday night from Omaha, Nebr., where they went to attend the graduation exercises at Creighton Medical University. Dr. Tupker was one of the graduates and will enter St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, about July 1 as interne before beginning practice of medicine and surgery. He will remain in Genesee until he goes to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Tupker left Genesee May 25 and arrived in Omaha May 29, going by way of Boise, Pocatelo and over the Lincoln highway to Omaha. They left the day following commencement at Creighton University, June 3, retracing their route to Ogalalla, Nebr., where they turned to the northwest, going through Scottsbluff, Nebr.; Torrington, Casper and Cody, Wyo., and from there went into Yellowstone Park to Old Faithful, returning to Thumb Camp and completing the circuit to Mammoth, leaving the park there for Gardiner, Mont. They continued the day's trip which started at Cody, stopping at Three Forks where they stopped over night driving home in one day from their last stop.

Idaho has lost none of its attractiveness for Mr. and Mrs. Tupker by their visit to Nebraska, although they enjoyed the trip and saw some nice country. On their return heavy rains were encountered almost every day, six inches of rain falling in about four hours near Columbus on their first day out from Omaha. Water flooded the highways and great care was exercised in driving their car as the water in some places was above the running boards. A number of cars were stopped in the flood waters by the motors being short circuited.

Crops in Nebraska are not as far advanced as in Idaho. Corn was barely showing above the ground and small grain showed the effects of a late, cold spring.

Highways are not crowded with tourists this spring, Mr. Tupker said. One could drive for miles on the Lincoln highway in Wyoming without meeting or passing a car, and while it was expected that they would see many hitch-hikers, there were but few traveling the highways.

At Omaha the return of grasshoppers this season was reported, and much concern is felt for crops in that state.

Mr. and Mrs. Tupker kept a record of the number of miles traveled going and coming. It is 1750 miles from Genesee to Omaha, going thru southern Idaho, and 1860 miles by way of Spokane, Mullan, the Yellowstone Park and crossing the state of Wyoming diagonally.

An Old Cow

saved from the stock-yards

SHE HAD been an extra good Guernsey in her day, but her milk record in her twelfth year clearly indicated that she was falling off. For she produced only 5415 pounds of milk, or $69.53 profit above her keep.

The first months of the next year indicated that she was still slipping . . . that she was on the down grade . . . headed for the yards. Then, as an experiment, Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic was added to her ration. She picked up enough to produce 5592 pounds of milk, earning $75.72 above the cost of her feed.

An old cow reclaimed! And the part that Dr. Hess Stock Tonic played in this particular case is only indicative of its value in young herds. With all the necessary minerals, with its conditioning qualities to promote good health, Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic makes its big showing on the record sheets of cows in their prime.

Two cents per cow per day will add Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic to your dairy ration . . . dollars to your monthly milk check. See your local Dr. Hess dealer and get at least a 90-day supply to begin with. Figure 18 pounds for each cow.

Plan to Celebrate the Fourth at Genesee

CHEAP SOURCE OF FEEDS FOR DAIRY

Good Pasture and Liberal Supply of Legume.

Good pasture and a plentiful supply of legume hay are the two cheapest sources of dairy feeds, especially when these are economically produced.

"Records kept on four herds of 123 cows in Guilford and Forsyth counties show the average monthly feed cost a cow during the six non-pasture months to be $12.21," says John A. Arey, dairy extension specialist at the North Carolina state college. "During the six pasture months, this average feed cost for each cow was only $5.02. The difference of $7.19 was a saving due to pasture."

But, Mr. Arey also says more milk was produced during the pasture season than during the non-pasture season. The value of the extra milk was $1.11 a cow per month. The total increase in the income from the 123 cows during the pasture season was $8,724. This money, says the dairyman, represents the savings in the feed bill made possible by the use of pasture together with the small increase in income from the extra milk produced.

The area grazed by each cow according to the records was approximately one and one-fourth acres. The sensonal return per acre, therefore, was $44 reckoning the milk sold at 30 cents a gallon.

Mr. Arey says the United States bureau of dairying has conducted certain tests showing that milk may be produced economically on pasture and good roughage alone. The roughage used in the tests, however, was good alfalfa hay and corn silage. An average production of 13,050.6 pounds of milk and 461.8 pounds of butter fat was secured from the ten cows used. Many North Carolina dairymen will be skeptical of these results, Mr. Arey says, because grain is fed liberally in this state and hay very sparingly because so little is grown. The absence of pasture and home-grown legume hay is a handicap to successful dairy farming in North Carolina, Mr. Arey believes.

Dairy Calves Will Wear Muzzles to Avoid Scours

Piecing between meals is taboo for the calves in the Cornell university dairy herd. There, the young calf is muzzled for the first three or four weeks and it eats only at the regular feeding time, reports Charles H. Crawford of the New York State College of Agriculture.

Colon bacteria, which causes most cases of calf scours, are present in dust, hay, straw, and grain. The muzzles prevent the calf from munching these coarse materials, in which danger may seem insignificant, and which sometimes start stomach pains or other slight irritation. Such an irritation, aggravated by material hard to digest, together with the millions of bacteria, works to cause calf scours, he explains.

Since adopting the muzzling method three years ago, little difficulty has been experienced with calf scours. A large breeding establishment in New York state at that time was losing most of the calves with scours and related complications. After adopting muzzles they have lost but few calves.

Where little or no trouble is experienced, Mr. Crawford says, such a strict system of management is unwarranted. But where valuable stock is grown, and diseases make losses, the system deserves a trial and it is good economy to observe every detail. A strict sanitation program outlined by Dr. D. H. Udall of the New State College of Veterinary Medicine is available on request to the department of animal husbandy at Cornell university.

Timely Suggestion for Obtaining Quality Milk

Bulletin 107 of the agricultural extension service of the Ohio State university very thoroughly discusses the subject of producing good milk. The outline suggested for washing and sterilizing milk utensils is briefly listed below:

1. Rinse with clean, cold water immediately after the utensil is used. This rinsing removes a large amount of the milk before it dries.
2. Wash in hot water containing a dairy washing powder. Use a brush, and not a cloth.
3. Rinse with clean, hot water.
4. Sterilize with steam, boiling water, or a hypochlorite solution.

Copies of Bulletin 107 may be obtained by writing the Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio.

Uses Own Judgment

In order to determine what price can be paid for a feed and which feed will be the cheapest to buy, the dairyman must appreciate what type of feeds he has on hand and what type of feeds he needs to balance them. Feeds should be purchased not by the price per ton but by the price per pound of the necessary digestible feed elements. Unfortunately the feed store man merely tells us the price per ton or per bushel and the dairyman must use his judgment.

POTATO OUTLOOK.

Potato growers, according to the Outlook Bulletin, prepared May 27 by the United States Dept. of Agriculture for Idaho, Washington and Montana, intend to plant 26,465 acres in 1932, compared to 30,480 acres in 1931. Seventeen hundred reports on intention to plant have been received at Boise for Idaho, and while they are unofficial, they must serve until July 11 when the official report is released.

Despite the lower acreage planned for 1932, the report states that the home garden supplies of potatoes in 1932 will doubtless re duce the outlet for commercial potatoes. The number of unemployed has increased during the past year and these men are being encouraged to grow crops for their own home needs.

The commercial early potato crop now being harvested in the southern states is only about one-half as large as the crop of last year. A reduction of 26 per cent in the commercial acreage planted and one of the worst freezes in years have combined to cut down the production as compared with last year. The group of seven early states, including South Carolina and all states south, is expected to produce a combined commercial crop of 7,495,000 bushels of potatoes, or 40 per cent less than in 1931. The second group, including states as far north as Maryland, has only 73 per cent of the acreage harvested in 1931.

The three states, Idaho, Washington and Montana, will plant 38,577 acres of potatoes in 1932, compared with 44,418 acres grown in 1931.

THE LOW-DOWN FROM BOISE.
(By A. F. Dooley Riddle)

Idzho's Armada.
Ambition says, "Be great!
Make victory complete!
Be pilot of the Shop of State
And Admiral of the Fleet!"

We can't literally hold our breath until these here state platform conventions are had and done, so why not speculate?

It's not only a Depression year but a Primary year. Platform factories are going to feel it.

But do Idaho democrats realize there's a depression? Can they begin to frame a platform to fit it?

Oncet (in 1922, to be exact) the progressive party in Idaho rocked the Gem state with the news that a republican administration had 88- count 'em—88 automobiles.

Today, when everybody's felt poverty's pinch, our democratic administration has 150 gas buggies—no tin Lizzies either. Can you imagine the demo platform denouncing them?

A close friend was kidding Byron Defenbach. "Byron is the state's most famous historian,' he said. "Ross has demonstrated that we can get along without a governor in the capitol. So when Byron's elected we'll just make him head of the historical society.

But Defenbach came right back with, "No, sir! If I'm elected I want to be Admiral of the Fleet."

Of course that's pure envy. Defenbach never rode a mile in a state car and is ready to inveigh at any time against 'em. He just amazedly admires Cowboy Ben and his mileage.

Admiral of the Fleet is he,
Begorry, and he's still at Sea.

F. G. NUTT LEASES TROY NEWS.

Troy News: Beginning with the issue of June 9 the Troy News will be under the management of F. G. Nutt, who will take the paper over under a lease agreement. Mr. Nutt has been connected with the News for the past two years and is therefore familiar with the field which it serves. He should be able to handle the situation in a manner satisfactory to the paper's patrons.

J. C. Peterson, owner of the News, lays aside his editorial duties with profound regret as he began his career as a newspaper man 40 years on the Troy publication. He feels the arrangement with Mr. Nutt is only temporary, as he expects to return as editor when health permits.

Mr. Peterson will remain in the office to take care of the job printing department.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Genesee Highway District will receive bids up until 1:00 p. m. on the 11th day of June, 1932, for the removal of slides on the Pine Grove road, between the Odberg place and the Sams place. The Genesee Highway District reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

For further information inquire of the commissioners of said district or the secretary.

Dated June 2, 1932.

APPROPRIATION FOR ALBION NORMAL SCHOOL RETURNED

The Idaho board of education, in session at Moscow the first of the week decided to turn back to the state general fund the $10,000 appropriated by the last legislature to remodel Miller hall at Albion Normal school. It was planned to convert the hall into a faculty residence, but the project was abandoned because of the necessity for retrenchment.

Budgets of Idaho educational institutions will be prepared on a basis of 18 per cent below appropriations, the board also decided.

Urging Proper License Plates.

Traffic Officer Harry Clark was in Genesee last Thursday afternoon and urged that owners of motor vehicles have such equipment properly licensed and registered. His duty is the enforcement of traffic regulations and registration of motor vehicles, and realizing the economic conditions a word of warning often saves owners the embarrassment of being brought into court. At Gifford recently, I. M. Carter, driving a car without the proper registration was caused to appear before a justice, and on hearing was fined $10.00 and costs which amounted to $4.50. In view of the shortage of funds, the man was relieved of paying the fine, but was compelled to pay costs and in addition purchase the proper license plates.

Peas Play Their Part

TIME: Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter.

CHARACTERS: (In order of their appearance)

Cook.
Can of Peas.
Recipe Book.

Cook: (Glowering at the contents of the shelves): Can you beat it! Another party of overnight guests—a late supper to prepare and a breakfast—and not a fresh green vegetable in the place. I'm through!

Can of Peas: And how about me! I'm green as can be, and as fresh as they come. I'm a recent arrival from the pod and I've never been to a real overnight party in my young life.

Cook: Oh, yeah!

Can of Peas: Yeah. I was born to mingle. I have perfect poise and balance—even on a knife. Every good cook knows I belong—at breakfasts with bacon, at suppers with steak. Look—!

Recipe Book opens slowly. The cook exits exultantly bearing the can of peas and the opened book showing a close-up of this tested recipe:

Pea Waffles with Bacon: Beat two egg yolks well and add one cup of pea pulp pressed from canned peas. Add one cup milk and the following sifted dry ingredients: one and one-fourth cups flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking-powder and one teaspoon salt. Add three tablespoons hot bacon fat, and beat well; then fold in two stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake somewhat longer than the ordinary waffle. Serve with strips of crisp bacon on top, and garnish edges with hot creamed peas.*

KENDRICK HAS NO WORD ON FARM-TO-MARKET ROAD

Kendrick Gazette: No word has been received at Kendrick from the recent survey made up Bear ridge and other places by a state surveyor—neither has there been any further word from Gov. Ross as to whether, or how, a road can be built over the ridge, as promised.

The fact is, Gov. Ross has been so busy looking after his political fences that he hasn't had time to think about farm-to-market roads. Of course we don't suppose we will get any help this year, but it would be rather nice to have a few figures from the surveyor so we would have some idea of whether such a road is feasible on a five-per-cent grade.

The Genesee section has also been all hopped up over farm-to-market roads that Gov. C. Ben Ross has been talking to them about, but whether they have gotten any further than Kendrick has not been learned.

It takes something more than promises to build highways and here's hoping something more substantial than promises will be coming up. It has also been rumored that Byron Defenbach is very much in favor of farm-to-market roads.

UNIONTOWN LIVESTOCK SHOW JUNE 22 THIS YEAR

The Thirteenth Annual Livestock show will be held at Uniontown this year on Wednesday, June 22. Premiums as being arranged by the committee will aggregate approximately the same as last year and cover 66 classes of livestock with purebred and grade horses, purebred beef cattle of all breeds, purebred and grade dairy cattle and purebred and grade sheep being provided for.

The committee members are Dr. D. J. Pritchard, chairman; L. C. Matoon, secretary; P. P. Kinzer, exhibits; W. E. Faerber, parade, and Jos. Tuschhoff, sports and amusements.

The ladies of the community will serve one of their big dinners at the Community building during the noon hour. Arrangements are being made to secure the Genesee ball team to play the Uniontown team as the main entertainment feature of the afternoon. Other entertainment features will be boys' and girls' foot races, a special Shetland pony race for boys and girls and a cash prize will be given the husky lad who succeeds in catching and holding a greased pig.

GENESEE TO HAVE AN OLD TIME CELEBRATION JULY 4

Plans now being completed for the celebration to be sponsored in Genesee July 4 by the baseball organization insure plenty of sports events for everyone, even the ladies have not been overlooked as there are two contests for them. A ladies' nail driving contest will provide an opportunity for the handy lady about the home to show how she can handle a hammer, and in the rolling pin throwing contest, the sponsors of the celebration believes this event will have plenty contestants. The last named event is free for all, and while it will tend to put some fear in the men, no lady is permitted to station her husband on the field as a target. For the younger wives here is an opportunity presented to learn the effectiveness of a rolling pin as a peacemaker about the house. Entering this contest entitles one to a liberal education in the art of rolling pin hurling. Prizes will be offered for these two events, the same as for all other events.

A boys' pony race will bring out the smaller saddle ponies and should make an interesting opening event.

A barrell race for drivers of small cars will be run after the pony race, according to the tentative program.

Cowcreek and Rimrock residents will be invited to enter a tug-of-war with the winners receiving a cash prize. Ten men to a team.

Four 50-yard dashes have been arranged, a race for boys, 6 years and under, one for boys 12 years and under; a girls' race 12 years and under and a girls' race, free for all. An egg race and a girls' potato race are for youngsters of 12 years and under.

The men will enter a three-legged race which is free for all, and there will be the 100-yard dash free for all, also the fat men's race, a sack race and a free-for-all relay race, teams to be selected as the celebrants wish.

At some time during the afternoon program a greased pig will be released which will go to the person or persons who manage to catch it.

There will be a prize for the largest family attending the celebration.

Ball Game After Program

Immediately following the sports program there will be a ball game between Uniontown and Genesee, and as you all know now this will be a far different game as both clubs have won one game apiece and the outcome of the stock show game will only intensify the interest for the Fourth of July game.

Fireworks After Dark

As soon as it becomes dark enough the sponsors of the celebration will set off a fireworks display at the ball park, funds for which are being raised by a series of dances preceding the Fourth. This display of fireworks is much better than will be expected and it is only through an anticipated cooperation from the public that the ball club expects to finance the showing. A dance is being given Saturday evening at the gymnasium and you are urged to attend. You will have a good time and at a very reasonable cost, fifty cents.

After the fireworks at the baseball park the evening of the Fourth, a Carnival dance will begin at the Legion hall with music by the Hometown Harmony Boys who have made a splendid showing at the dances held here recently.

Speaking at City Park

Beginning at 10 a. m. July 4 there will be a program at the City park consisting of community singing, an appropriate lecture and a concert by the combined Genesee-Uniontown bands, after which people may spread their picnic lunches on the grounds at the park which have been so well improved and which are now inviting to picnickers.

Surveyors Again in Kendrick.

Kendrick Gazette: It has begun to look like Governor Ross is going to make good on his promise to aid Kendrick in getting the road question straightened out. At least there have been several surveyors sent here at various times and just now one man has been ordered from Orofine to Kendrick and he has rented Mrs. Stanton's house, saying he expected to remain until fall. Just what this may mean, we are unable to say, as no authentic information has been obtained. But suffice it to say, the road question for this section seems in a fair way to have at least a survey.

UNIONTOWN LIVESTOCK SHOW BEGINS AT 9:30 WEDNESDAY

The annual Uniontown Livestock show will begin Wednesday, June 22 at 9:30 a. m., with a parade of the livestock exhibits, after which the stock will be taken to the grounds for judging which will require the balance of the time before beginning the ball game and other events at the ball park.

At noon dinner will be served by the ladies of the Altar Society.

Chief among the attractions at the park preceding the ball game will be an exhibition by the Ainslee Twins of Moscow, and the release of a well greased pig.

Genesee is sending its band and base ball team to Uniontown for the show, and on the Fourth the Uniontown band will come here, as will the ball club.

There will be dancing in the evening at two places, one for modern music and the other for old-time dancing.

Ted Wagner Has Narrow Escape.

Several years ago the city of Lewiston dug a large well on the farm property belonging to Nick Wagner, south of Genesee, and after the well was almost completely dug, decided to abandon the project. During recent years Mr. Wagner has been gradually filling the abondoned well with worn out machinery and other articles for which there was no further use, and it was while unloading an old stove in the forty-five foot well that Ted Wagner, a son, had a narrow escape. His clothing caught on the stove as it was heaved over the side of the wagon, pulling him into thirty-five feet of water. His presence of mind and ability to swim enabled him to extricate himself, and while there were no serious results Mr. Wagner lost no time in apealing to the city of Lewiston for assistance in filling the abandoned well immediately. The city ordered the work done at once.

WM. HORDEMANN, PIONEER PASSES AWAY AT AGE OF 83

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Catholic church for Wm. Hordemann, who passed away Friday morning at his home here. Rev. Fr. Loeffler, Uniontown, officiated at the Solemn Requiem Mass, and was assisted by Rev. Fr. Herman of Colton, and Rev. Fr. Phillips of Pullman, Rev. Fr. Jordan of Clarkston and Rev. Fr. Kern of Colfax singing the requiem. R. Schase of Spokane, at the pipe organ, played Chopin's Funeral March as the relatives and friends of the deceased entered the church and took their seats.

During the services Prof. Godfried Herbt of Spokane, played the violin solo, "Prelude by Josefy," and was accompanied at the organ by Mr. Schase.

Rev. Fr. Loeffler, in delivering his heartfelt sermon dealt mostly on the life of the deceased and in closing explained the meaning of "Auf Wiedersehen," his parting words to the deceased.

At the close of the services the "Dead March from Saul," by Handel was played by Mr. Schase.

Interment was in the Catholic cemetery with the usual services at the grave. Pallbearers were: A. C. Linehna, Fred Hampton, William Smolt, Martin Hasfurther, John Broemmeling, Sr., and Ernest Becker.

Monday afternoon the body was returned to the home from the mortuary at Moscow and reposed in a room beautifully decorated with a profusion of floral wreaths and cut flowers. On Monday evening many friends of the deceased and students of Mrs. Hordemann gathered at the home when Fr. Loeffler conducted the Rosary service.

The following obituary was prepared by P. C. McCreary of Kendrick, an intimate friend of the deceased and his wife:

"Wm. Hordemann, a resident of the Genesee section since 1873, passed away at his home in Genesee Friday morning, June 10, 1932, after only a few days' illness, at the age of 83 years, six months and 22 days.

"Wm. Hordemann was born in Germany, November 17, 1848, of hardy German stock and had been a robust man practically all his long life. He was a hard worker himself and had no time for anyone who shirked his duties, no matter what they may have been.

"He came to America when a lad of 15 years of age, landing at New York, after having spent two weeks on a side-wheeler crossing the Atlantic ocean. From New York he went to live with a brother in Indiana, where he worked on his farm. He remained there for 10 years, but deciding that the West held more and better opportunities, he left Indiana, heading for Portland, Oregon. After a few days spent in that village—for it was little more than a village at that time—he started for Lewiston. He made his way partly by train and partly by boat up the Columbia river, reaching Walla Walla a short time later, from which place he caught a ride for Lewiston. After a short stay in Lewiston he walked up the hill to what is now Uniontown and secured work on a farm. After working there for a time, he located a homestead in the Thorncreek section, where he resided for many years, later moving to the home at the west edge of Genesee, where he passed away.

"Arriving at Genesee in the Fall of 1873 and having nothing to work with but his bare hands, he and his family endured many hardships during the many years that part of the country was taking shape, such as all pioneers passed through, but in spite of all adversities he made good. When he went to file on his homestead at the Lewiston land office he found that the tract he had selected contained 162 acres and when he went to pay the filing fee, found that he was 50 cents short of the required amount. This worried him considerably and he was about to give up in despair (for he had walked from the Thorncreek section to Lewiston) when he saw an acquaintance across the street and asked him for the loan of the necessary 50 cents to complete the filing. Having secured the necessary amount to complete the records, he went home the happiest man in all Idaho at that time.

"Regardless of the handicaps that overtook the pioneers of that early day, Mr. Hordemann amassed a competence of this world's goods and hoped for a reward in the world to come, which he will undoubtedly receive unstintedly.

IMPROVED UNIONTOWN CLUB WINS GAME FROM GENESEE

Bunching hits in the first, second, sixth and seventh innings, the improved Uniontown base ball club won from Genesee Sunday 15 to 10 on the Uniontown grounds. Genesee, trailing 5 to 15 in the ninth inning, scored five runs, and there were men on bases when the last man fanned. Beginning the game Les Gray singled to left field and scored on E. Blume's drive over the fence but Blume, according to Umpire Dave Keuhl, failed to step on second base, and on appeal from Hattrup, Blume was called out after hitting a home run. The ball was returned to the playing field and relayed to second. Keuhl's decision, while perhaps in accordance with rules, leaves a doubt in that the ball was retrieved from territory outside the ball park, and until an opinion is received from sporting authorities, there is a contention that the ball was put in play improperly and that the runner could not be put out with the ball hit over the fence. Another shortcoming on the part of the umpire was the ball hit by Jacobs, Uniontown, pitcher, which went through a hole in the fence. Jacobs was permitted to score, but the rules state that on such occasions, the hitter is entitled to but two bases. Such decisions contribute to disputes momentarily and offer opportunities for discussion following a game. It is not contended, however, that the two decisions made lost the game for Genesee, but they are and were important factors to be considered.

This was the first game lost this season by the local club, and will increase the interest in the games to be played by the two clubs, one scheduled for June 22 at Uniontown, and the other at Genesee,, July 4.

Carl Fox, Uniontown, left fielder, was the heavy hitter in the game, getting four hits, one a double, in five trips to the plate. L. Gray and Geo. Blume tied for hitting honors for Genesee, Blume, connecting for a home run and two singles and Gray was credited with three singles.

First inning—L. Gray singled to left field, G. Blume flew out to right field as did Olsen; E. Blume hit over the fence to score Gray, but was called out for missing second on his leisurely jaunt around the sacks. N. Busch, first man for Uniontown, was struck out by Putnam; Hattrup hit over third, advanced when O. Fox was walked and went out at third on a force by O. Moneymaker; Ray Jutte hit over center to score Fox and Moneymaker; Carl Fox singled putting R. Jutte on third and Englehart by virtue of an error reached first, Ray Jutte scoring on the bobble; W. Jutte hit for two bases, scoring C. Fox and Englehart; Jacobs flew out to third.

Second inning—Emmett rolled out to first, C. Gray, was out, pitcher to first; Weber hit and went to second on a error at first; Putnam struck out. Uniontown: Busch flew out to third, Hattrup hit; O. Fox was out, catcher to first; O. Moneymaker hit and Ray Jutte went to first on an error, Hattrup scoring; C. Fox hit for two bases to score Moneymaker and R. Jutte; Englehart hit to score Fox ; W. Jutte was fanned by Danielson who relieved Putnam, but not until after Englehart had scored.

Third inning—Geltz famned; Gray was out, short to first; G. Blume hit safely but Olsen flew out to third. Uniontown: Jacobs went out to first unassisted; Busch flew out to center and Hattrup flew out to second.

Fourth inning—G. Blume was hit by a pitched ball; Emmett flew out to left field; C. Gray forced Blume and Weber fanned. Uniontown: O. Fox was out, pitcher to first; Moneymaker was out, second to first; Ray Jutte was given first on an error at third; C. Fox hit but Englehart was out in the air to left field.

Fifth inning—Danielson fanned; Geltz hit for one base but was forced at second by L. Gray; G. Blume was out, catcher to first. Uniontown: W. Jutte fanned; Jacobs hit safely but became a principal in the double killing made when Busch rolled down to third who threw him out at second, Busch being out at first.

Sixth inning—Olsen was out, short to first the same as E. Blume; Emmett reached first on an error to score ahead of C. Gray's home run over the fence; Weber walked and Danielson fanned. Uniontown: Myers replacing Hattrup, fanned; O. Fox hit for two bases and scored on Moneymaker's homer; Ray Jutte was hit by a pitched ball but died on third after C. Fox hit, Englehart was out, Grows Two Crops at Once.

Witnessing the results of sowing wheat on land growing alfalfa, Dr. T. A. Elliot last fall decided to sow an alfalfa field to Jenkins club wheat and the results thus far are all that were expected. The alfalfa has made a good growth and the wheat is now beginning to head. The color of the standing grain is good and a large yield is foreseen. Both crops will be cut and bound at the same time, and the grain and seed separated during threshing operations. According to Dr. Elliot, he is striving for a good straw stack for winter roughage, and it is thought that by mixing the two crops an ideal roughage will be the result.

JACK CASSEN, HAYWARD, CAL., LOW BIDDER ON ROAD OILING

Jack Cassen, Hayward, Calif., was the low bidder on oiling 13 miles of the North and South Highway from the Kasper place, south of Genesee, to Thorncreek, and also was awarded a contract for oiling 20 miles between Winchester and Cottonwood. The bid for the two jobs was $24,490. He will pay his laborers $4 a day and charge $1.50 for board. Bids were opened at Boise, last Friday.

The Triangle company, with a bid of $32,804, was awarded the contract for surfacing with rock 24 miles of the Palouse highway in Benewah and Kootenai counties between Tensed and Mud Bay school. This company will pay $3.20 a day and charge $1.20 for board.

Local men have been at work during the past two weeks cutting back some of the curves on the Genesee road project, preparatory to resurfacing and oiling. The Kuney Construction Co. has a contract for widening and surfacing the thirteen miles of highway in this vicinity, but it is now known when the company will move from Craigmont where it is now surfacing about seven miles. It is expected, however, that the company will be here before June 25.

Notice has been given of the annual meeting Saturday, June 25 of the stockholders in the Farmers Union Producers company at the American Legion hall, beginning at 1:30 p. m.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect two members of the board of directors and to transact such other business as usually comes before the annual meeting.

Check Gas Tax Evasion.

Boise—The first of what may be a series of checking stations to prevent "smuggling" of tax-free gasoline into the state by truck and automobile was established Monday by the department of law enforcement on the highway leading from Ontario, Ore., into Idaho.

Three men will maintain at 24-hour watch to collect taxes on all gasoline brought in by truck or in extra tanks on automobiles, regardless of whether the gas is taxable. Those entitled to refunds for gasoline not used on the highways may apply for refunds to the department.

LONNIE D. ROGERS, PIONEER, SUCCUMBS TO HEART ATTACK

Lonnie D. Rogers was born at Dayton, Wash., October 4, 1875, and at the age of 12 years his parents moved to Uniontown, Wash., where they, with their family lived a short time, later moving to Genesee, Idaho, the family being well and favorably known for a long period. Deceased spent his boyhood days in Genesee, and when of age took up a homestead on which he lived until 1920.

He was one of the pioneers on the Indian reservation and was a member of the group which shook hands with the famous Chief Joseph at Lapwai, following his historical surrender to the federal government.

In 1920 Mr. Rogers moved to Butte, Montana, then to Minneapolis, Minn., where he engaged in the bakery business, and while in Minneapolis he married Miss Bertha Vickingson of Minneapolis, December 24, 1924. He remained in business in the Minnesota city until the Spring of 1930, when he returned to the West and again took up residence on his homestead, content and happy to be "back home" until about a year ago when ill health necessitated his removal to Lewiston and also to Walla Walla, passing away at the latter place Thursday, June 9, at the age of 56 years, eight months and five days, the immediate cause of his death apparently being heart failure.

Deceased had been a faithful member of the Seventh Day Adventist church for the past twenty years and his work in the church music was always appreciated by those who had occasion to hear him.

He is survived by his wife, Bertha M. Rogers; one sister, Mrs. Mannie Sampson of Lapwai; and five brothers, A. L. and P. J. Rogers, Lewiston; O. W. Rogers, Walla Walla; L. C. Rogers, Lapwai, and F. M. Rogers, Ferdinand, and many other relatives who sincerely mourn his demise.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the Seventh Day Adventist church, Lewiston and there were in attendance a large number of friends to pay final tribute, the flowers being many and beautiful. Interment was in the family plot at the Genesee cemetery. Elder R. J. Kegly, Lewiston conducted the services at the church and delivered the sermon, and Elder F. R. Lange led in the services at the cemetery. Mesdames Matthew Cummings and Cliff gave the song service, accompanied by Mrs. Mayme Schermer at the piano.

Pallbearers were: R. C. Glassford, Alex Nelson, Frank Bailey, R. A. Funk, C. W. Cass and Arthur Shellman.

Commission for Ormond Mosman.

Ormond Mosman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mosmon, Genesee, will receive a commission as second lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Corps at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, following completion of a year's training June 29. Ninety five are to be graduated.

Attending 4-H Club Course.

Marion Holben, Ernest Theuerkauff, John Thiessen and Clayton Busch, young boys from the Sheaffer school, are attending the special school for 4-H club members at Moscow this week. Boys will be given instruction in agricultural crops, poultry, livestock, farm mechanics and potato culture. Part of each afternoon will be given over to supervised recreation with entertainment programs in the evenings. They will reside at University dormitories.

Auxiliary Plans Picnic for July 8.

At the regular meeting of the Legion Auxiliary last Friday afternoon an annual picnic was planned for July 8 at the City Park at which the regular monthly meeting will be conducted. Mrs. Anton Kambridge presided at the meeting Friday in the absence of Mrs. Harold Haymond and appointed Mrs. Haymond and Mrs. George Post to solicit for the picnic.

Mrs. T. H. Herman reported that 50 sprays were made to decorate soldiers' graves Memorial Day.

Following the regular meeting Mrs. Kambridge, flag chairman, in observance of Flag Day, June 14, asked the members to sing America. Mrs. Fred Shirrod read a Flag Day message, Mrs. John G. Meyer sang, America the Beautiful. The program was concluded by the singing of "Here We Have Idaho," by members.

Rosenau and Mrs. John G. Meyer on her guest list who were high, second high and low, respectively in scores, and to Mrs. E. D. Pederson, Mrs. J. J. Tupker and Mrs. Fred Nagel for members of the club. This was the last meeting until Fall.

On Trip To Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. John Krier, accompanied by Mrs. D. Finlay, a sister of the formers, of Conrad, Mont., who has been visiting in the Krier home here for a week, left Tuesday morning for Conrad where Mr. and Mrs. Krier will visit for a few days and then go into Canada to visit relatives near Cadogan, Alberta, Canada.

Mr. Trautman Home from Oregon.

Joe Trautman returned last Wednesday from Scappoose, Oregon, near Portland, where he visited his daughter, Mrs. Chas. Graham and family. He accompanied Mr. Graham, who is at present engaged in the fruit commission business. Strawberries was the item that brought Mr. Graham to the Palouse, a product which, this year has been dealt a severe blow by low prices. Berries from the Scappoose district were selling at Portland East Side market last week for 55 cents per crate, U. S. No. 1, and to market this product the growers paid 15 cents for crates, 20c per crate for picking and 10 cents for crating, not to mention transportation, cultivation and so forth. One grower was reported to have grown three tons of berries to the acre this spring, and there are tracts of berries where Mr. Trautman visited that contain 10 acres of strawberries.

Wheat was the first crop grown on this reclaimed tract near Scappoose and this crop has been measured to produce from 90 to 92 bushels per acres. Development of the district has been made during the past five years and recently owners have been striving to develop it into a poultry area. For $4,000 a person is given three acres of land; a home, chicken house, brooder houses and so forth, are constructed to suit the purchaser, and in the transaction is included a sufficient number of baby chicks to produce 1,000 laying pullets this fall. Included also is feed for the birds until Fall and the place is furnished with facilities for lights and water. Dairying is making headway there also and the district is developing into a potato and canning pea growing area. Cucumbers are grown extensively, one person alone planting 500 acres to this crop alone, there being a new pickling works in Scappoose, which was built to handle this product. At the present time the plant has 100 wooden tanks of 5,500 gallons capacity each, and they are practically all filled with pickles made from last year's crop of cucumbers. The market is paralyzed and there is presented a real problem.

Of all the varied crops and industries at Scappoose, poultry is the only one showing any profit at all, and that is because eggs are now selling for 13 cents per dozen at Portland. Difficult to visualize profits in eggs at that price but it is reported as being so.

LELAND BABY IS FATALLY BITTEN BY BIG RATTLER

Stanley Thornton, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton, Leland, died at Kendrick at 10 o'clock Tuesday night from a rattlesnake bite 14 hours before. The boy was near his mother in the family garden when the snake struck him on the finger of the right hand. Hearing the baby scream, the mother rushed to her son's side. The snake coiled again and struck at her but she managed to cut it in two with a hoe. The reptile was a large one with nine rattles and a button.

Rattlers are reported numerous in the rimrock area this year, residents say. One man killed nine recently. The snakes are further out in the fields than usual.—Lewiston Tribune.

Holden's Campaign Expenses High.

According to an Associated Press release from Boise Monday, J. Wesley Holden, Idaho Falls, republican candidate for United States senator, spent $1,519, while W. Orr Chapman, Twin Falls, seeking the same office on the democratic slate, spent $1,503. Both sums include the filing fees of $99 each.

Fat Man Reduces 53 Pounds-Oh Boy!

Don't be stubborn, you big fat men—throw off your fat before your fat throws you into the discard. Do as Mr. S. A. Lanier of Sawtelle, Calif., did—read his letter:

"I have used two reducing belts to no benefit but since using Kruschen Salts each morning in my coffe I have taken off 7 lbs. in a week and eat most anything I like. I weighed 243 lbs. 6 months ago and now I weigh 190 lbs."

Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning — cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—now you know the safe way to lose unsightly fat.

For a trifling sum you can get a jar of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks at the Genesee Drug Co. store or at any drugstore in the world—but be sure and get Kruschen—your health comes first.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN THE IDAHO DIRECT PRIMARY LAW

The primary law has been dissected by its friends and found to be wanting—a lot, says the Boise Pioneer, which also says:

The Idaho Direct Primary League met in Boise and resoluted much. The resolutions recited that: "Many people are disgusted with the working of the present primary law and strongly advocate its amendment to cure its defects in the respects here noted or repeal of the primary act and restoration of the convention system in its entirety."

The league places an unering finger upon most of the faults of the enactment we are at present suffering under and proposes changes to remedy them. It also makes a whole lot of new suggestions—some of them not so good, but we'll let our readers judge: Here are the recommendations:

1. Provide for presidential preference primaries; the election of delegates to the national convention; election of presidential electors; election of national committeemen and women; election of state central committeemen and women, and printing the names of all candidates, including precinct committeemen and justices of the peace and constables on the official ballot.

2. Provide for an effective corrupt practices act prohibiting political activities in the interest of any candidate by state employes, prohibiting the use of state-owned automobiles, and the charging of any expense for campaign purposes to the state on political trips; prohibiting cooercion or undue influence or promise of reward by any candidate or anyone on behalf of a candidate; prohibiting publication of advertisements, cards, pamphlets or circulars on the day of election; prohibiting all solicitation or electioneering on election day; prohibiting the printing or circulation of advertising matter unless it bears the name of the authors and publishers; requiring all charges against any candidate to be served on him at least 15 days before election; prohibiting banking, public utility, surety and indemnity organizations and other public or quasi public utility organizations from contributing to the expenses of any candidate; provide for holding state and county conventions by any independent political party at least 60 days before general election day, instead of on primary day.

"These provisions,' 'the league announced, "have been found very effective in other states in eliminating machine rule and other corrupt practices in politics, which may now be accomplshed with impunity under the present primary and election laws."

Business English.

One of Levinsky's customers was notorious for his slowness in meeting his liabilities. He simply would not pay for goods purchased. In desperation Levinsky sent the following letter: "Sir—Who bought a lot of goods from me and did not pay?—You. But who promised to pay in 60 days?—You. Who didn't pay in six months?—You. Who is a scoundrel, a thief, and a liar?—Yours truly, Levinsky."

JULIAETTA HERE JUNE 19.

A number of fans have been anxiously awaiting the game here with the Juliaetta ball club, which to date, has made as good a showing as Genesee, and which is headed by the big pitcher, Tylden. Genesee had little trouble in hitting Tylden at Troy recently, but the big boy has always worked better with Juliaetta, and if this isn't a good game someone is missing his guess.

DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT.

Fireworks for the Fourth and a good time for dancers are two of the reasons why the Hometown Harmony Boys are playing for a dance here on Saturday night at the opera house. The dance is sponsored by the celebration committee and they are urging everyone to attend and assist in the purchase of a real fireworks display. The admission is only fifty cents and the music is very good.

LAPWAI HERE JULY 3.

Lapwai Indians will be here Sunday, July 3, to meet the local baseball club. The strength of the visiting club is not known, but a good game is expected.

New Taxes Effective June 21.

Balancing of the federal budget is going to throw the consumers' budgets off for a time beginning June 21 when sales taxes will be levied against many of the articles which one must purchase. Gasoline, in addition to the state tax of 5 cents, will be assessed another cent for federal use; tires come in for an extra tax; matches will pay a heavy tax and there's no telling how many other things carries the burden of balancing the budget. Postage rates are to be increased also, effective in July, however, and bank checks will be taxed.

Rain is Beneficial.

Gardens, lawns and crops were benefited by the fine rain which fell Tuesnight and Wednesday. Some grain went down where it was rank, and haying which was to begin this week has been delayed, but the grain crops in general were greatly benefited as the soil had started to bake and moisture was not coming up as usual.

Entertained by Pullman Lodge.

Neighbors of Woodcraft of Pullman invited the Genesee Neighbors to Pullman Tuesday evening when they served a 6:30 dinner, which was followed by a lodge session and theatre party. Twenty-one attended from Genesee: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shirrod, Mrs. Johanna Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Meyer, Mrs. Walter Jain, Mrs. Wood Gash, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rosenau, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vestal, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Isaksen, Miss Irma Dallasego, Mrs. Martin Liberg, Wm. Luders and Henry Koster.

STATE TREASURER EXPECTS CUT IN STATE INTEREST RATE

Boise—A lower rate of interest probably will be paid on the coming $500,000 issue of tax anticipation notes than was paid earlier in the spring for $1,000,000 issue, George G. Barrett, treasurer, predicted Tuesday.

The notes were sold yesterday to begin drawing interest July 1. He estimated the interest would not exceed 4½ per cent compared with 5½ per cent borne by the April issue.

The notes will retire two-thirds of an issue of $750,000 sold last July and Treasurer Barrett hoped to make up the balance from other sources.

The state is perennially one year behind in its business as its tax collections are made in July and December to pay debts incurred the preceding year, making tax anticipation note sales necessary to avoid paying the 6 per cent interest fixed for registered warrants.

Under the present system, state warrants are paid immediately by the treasury from borrowings, the borrowings in turn being retired by taxes which in turn must be replaced by further borrowings.

John Frank Visiting in Genesee.

John Frank of New Elm, Minn., is visiting in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Del DeMers and family. Mr. and Mrs. DeMers met the train at Pullman and was accompanied home by by Mr. Frank, who remained here until Wednesday evening when he left for Monroe, Wash., to look after property there.

Traveling through the Dakotas, Mr. Frnak says these two states and his home state, Minnesota, have the best prospect in years for a good crop, but with prices at the present level sees no relief for the farmers and others in the states mentioned. Citing an instance of low prices, Mr. Frank said that Ben, his son, who formerly lived at Genesee, but now farming near Ulen, Minn., shipped a 400-pound hog to Fargo, N. D., paying the freight of $1.25 in advance, and received by check $1.10, a net loss of 15 cents on one animal.

Blue Bird Club.

The last meeting until Fall of the Blue Bird club was held last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oscar Danielson. Mrs. Hagan of Troy was a guest. Mrs. Danielson served delicious refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

"He was a faithful member of St. Mary's Catholic church at Genesee and had given liberally to that organization, one of the gifts of recent years being a fine pipe organ, which will always stand as a monument to his generosity.

"Mr. Hordemann was a very observant man and rarely ever forgot a date or event. He had made five trips to his native land over a period of several years, the last trip being only some two or three years ago. He had also made a world tour of which he could talk very interestedly.

"During the winter of 1922-23 he made a trip to Germany, where he remained for about three months. While there he met Miss Antoinette Schefflер and persuaded her to come to America with him as he had been alone since December, 1913, when his first wife passed away. After reaching New York he and Miss Scheffler were united in marriage, March, 1923, they coming to Genesee, where they had since made their home.

"Mr. Hordemann is survived by his wife, Antoinette; one son and two daughters by his first wife: John H. of Thorncreek; Mrs. E. E. Miller of Genesee, and Mrs. Elizabeth Schemel of Uniontown, Wash., also a step-son, Charles Warneke. There are 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren."

WHEAT MARKETS LOWER DESPITE CROP PROSPECTS

Domestic wheat markets declined sharply during the week ending June 10, influenced by weakness in Canadian and European markets, a further drop in values of securities and the continued lack of export outlet for United States grain, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The June 1 forecast, showing further deterioration in the domestic winter wheat crop since the first of May, strengthened the market slightly towards the close of the week. Feed grains were mostly lower with wheat, but light receipts held corn prices fairly steady in central and southwestern markets.

With the exception of winter wheat in the U. S. conditions continued generally favorable for both winter and spring wheat crops in the principal producing areas of the northern hemisphere. The condition of winter wheat in the U. S. June 1, was only 64.7 per cent of normal, compared with a ten-year average of 77.2 per cent. The June condition indicated an average yield of 12.7 bushels and a total winter wheat crop of only 410,669,000 bushels, or 48 per cent less than the record crop of 787,465,000 bushels in 1931. Of the indicated production, about 211,000,000 bushels is hard red winter, 152,000,000 bushels soft red winter and about 48,000,000 bushels white winter. The condition of spring wheat June 1 was reported at 84.5 per cent of normal, or about 2 per cent below the ten-year average condition of 86.8 per cent. Cool temperatures during April and May, accompanied by about normal rainfall, were beneficial to the Spring crop and gave a strong, sturdy root system. The condition of durum wheat in the four principal producing states was 84.7 per cent, compared with 72.4 per cent a year ago.

Pacific Coast markets were also sharply lower, with Portland futures at a new low point for the season. Declines at eastern points and continued lack of export outlet, were largely responsible for the weakness in western markets. Lower prices restricted country marketings and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals for the week totaled only 260 cars, compared with 1,186 cars for the corresponding period last year, when growers were delivering wheat prior to the discontinuance of stabilized prices. No export business in either wheat or flour was reported during the week, since local wheat quotations were about 3 cents per bushel over Canadian offerings. Total shipments of northwestern wheat thorugh Puget Sound and Columbia river ports for the season, July through May, this year, totaled slightly over 52,000,000 bushels or about 8,000,000 bushels more than for the corresponding period last year. A large percentage of this wheat went to California.

Harvesting of the new crop was progressing rapidly in the San Joaquin Valley, under generally favorable weather conditions and was expected to start this week in the Sacramento valley.

Canadian wheat prospects improved materially during the week, with warmer weather and good general rains. The condition of the crop at the first of June was officially placed at 96 per cent of the long time average yield, compared with 81 per cent a year ago and 98 per cent two years back. Last season however, the crop deteriorated materially after June 1 from intense heat and damaging winds and the average yield for Canada was the lowest during the past ten years. Eastern and central dry areas of Saskatchewan were greatly benefited by rain during the week and conditions are promising although lack of sub-soil moisture and prospective cut worm and grasshopper injury are causing some apprehension. Alberta received generous additions to already abundant supplies of moisture and the crop is exceptionally well rooted and free from disease. Wheat in Manitoba averaged around six inches in height and the condition was generally favorable, although the grasshopper situation is serious and only aggressive control measures have prevented serious damage.

European crop conditions continued generally favorable, but central and northwestern areas have suffered from cold, wet weather, which has retarded crop development.

UNIONTOWN WINS GAME AT THE LIVESTOCK SHOW

Errors, early in the game played at the Unitown Livestock show Wednesday paved the way for a Uniontown victory, together with a home run by Moneymaker, Uniontown second baseman. Anderson, starting for Genesee, was not effective and gave way in the opening inning to Putnam who also was not in form. Les Gray, playing right field, took up the pitching in the fourth inning and after walking one man, made Jacobs fly out to Blume at short. There were but two runs scored after Gray accepted the duties on the mound. Jacobs went the entire route for Uniontown, and while granting as many hits as the three Genesee pitchers, combined, managed to keep them scattered. Eleven runs netted but four runs for Genesee, while Uniontown came out with nine scored runs.

A large crowd witnessed the game Wednesday afternoon, which started rather late, owing to livestock judging and other events which took place.

Les Gray was the first man up for Genesee and went out to first, unassisted. Wicks hit; G. Blume was hit by a pitched ball. Ed Blume went out to third in the air and Wicks was caught before returning to second. Uniontown started off with Busch, who went out to Wicks in left field on a difficult catch. Hattrup was safe on an error, as was O. Fox. Moneymaker, with two one, crashed one over the fence. C. Fox was walked and later forced by R. Jutte; Englehart was safe on another error. T. Jutte was hit by a pitched ball and Jacobs was out, second to first.

Second inning—Olsen was out in the air to right field. C. Gray fanned and Geltz was out at first, unassisted. Uniontown: Busch went to first on an error, but was caught at second on a force by Hattrup. O. Fox walked and on a double steal Hattrup took third and Fox was safe at second. Moneymaker flew out to right field. C. Fox hit for two bases to score Hattrup and O. Fox. R. Jutte flew out to Wicks.

Third inning—Putnam, taking the place of L. Gray in the field, flew out to left field. Weber grounded out to first. L. Gray went to first on an error and scored later on two successive errors at third. Wicks hit but died on base while G. Blume was out at third in the air. Uniontown: Englehart was out, second to first; T. Jutte was out, third to first and Jacobs swung at three but missed.

Fourth inning—Ed Blume hit but was forced by Olsen, Olsen being safe on a fielder's choice. C. Gray hit to advance Olsen. Geltz flew out to third on a foul ball and Putnam hit to right field, but R. Jutte made a beautiful throw to the plate and caught Olsen. Uniontown: Busch hit; Hattrup fanned. O. Fox hit; Moneymaker connected for a double to score Busch; C. Fox was safe but not until after O. Fox was caught off third by Weber. With two men on R. Jutte's hit filled the bases. Englehart was walked to score Moneymaker; T. Jutte was walked to score C. Fox and Jacobs was out to short in the air.

Ball Over Fence Returnable.

A baseball hit over a ball park enclosure for a home run, is returnable and goes into play through any player or players, which decision was given by an eminent sports authority on the staff of Spalding's Official guide. This will settle the dispute which was occasioned when Ed Blume hit a home run over the Uniontown fence, and was called back because of alleged failure to touch second base. It was contended by local fans that a ball hit over a fence not governed by ground rules, was not returnable to be put in play directly by players.

SHARKEY-SCHMELING FIGHT A KEEN DISAPPOINTMENT

Professional pugilism was dealt a severe blow by the decision given by one of the two judges and the referee, Gunboat Smith, but the decision is is little worse than the exhibition staged by Sharkey and Schmeling at Madison Garden Bowl Tuesday evening. Expecting to listen to a radio broadcast, giving the description of a real battle, local fans began to lose interest early in the fight, and considered Schmeling a successful defender of the world's heavyweight fighting crown. Radio announcers, usually exerting an influence tending to enliven a bout, lost interest and in the closing rounds lagged in their announcements. When the decision was given immediately following the fifteenth round, Genesee fans were not reluctant in voicing their opinion, one of dissatisfaction, though keenly disappointed in the showing of the so-called world championship material.

Rushing homeward at six o'clock, people gathered in small groups on the streets shortly after seven, and not one agreed that Sharkey was entitled to the decision. Charges of an attempt to promote a return match were voiced, and it is here that professional pugilism drifts into that unpopular channel, now held by wrestling, which at one time drew more interest than any of the popular indoor sports.

Twenty-three of the twenty-five Associated Press reporters gave the decision to Schmeling, yet one judge and a referee, put the American sporting sentiment on a lower level than it was expected could be possible, yet it may be that it was all arranged, and the public of several countries are made the goat. The stage was set for a battle worthy of the name of a world's championship match, and now look at the mess that has been stirred up, which, after considering from all angles, is not worthy of further thought by the public. If Schmeling was reluctant to mix it with Sharkey, that should count in a measure for the new world champion, but Sharkey in no manner demonstrated any exceptional ability, and the best that could have been said, was that it was a draw, and because a decision is necessary under existing regulations, award the decision to the defender.

Ball Team to Juliaetta Sunday.

The Genesee ball club goes to Juliaetta Sunday to play a return game with that club. This promises to be a real encounter as Juliaetta won here 5 to 3 in 14 innings last Sunday.

GENESEE CELEBRATION TO BE IN KEEPING WITH TIMES

In planning a Fourth of July celebration for Genesee this year, the sponsors have met with hearty cooperation, as they are planning to have a good time for everyone at a minimum cost. The admission to the ball game will also admit celebrants to all other entertainment with the exception of the dance in the evening. Agreeing on an admission charge of but 25 cents, the sponsors, believe that there will be a sufficient number in attendance to provide a suitable purse to be divided between the contesting ball clubs, Uniontown and Genesee, and also pay for the expenses incurred. Business houses have contributed cash and merchandise prizes for a large number of athletic and other events, and they have been encouraged by the sentiment which has been expressed by the many who are desirous of celebrating at home this year. In the News this week you will find an advertisement in which is listed the program for the day, and it may be that added attractions will be offered. There is no attempt being made to exaggerate and a great deal will depend on the visitors in Genesee as to the success of the celebration. Care has been exercised to provide entertainment for everyone, with perhaps more attention being paid to the welfare of the children. The ladies will have nothing to complain of, for there are two or more events in which they may participate. Fifty pounds of flour goes to the lady who can hurl a rolling pin the farthest, and there is also a second prize. This one event, if provided with a sufficient number of entrants, should be worth the price of admission alone, not to mention the nail-driving contest, and the honor of bringing the largest family to the celebration. Everything will be for fun with the exception of the baseball game. This particular sport has ceased to be a joke between Uniontown and Genesee, and it may be that you will all see a revival of that interesting rivalry that existed during past years.

The barrel race for flivvers or any small car will be an interesting event also, for it takes considerable skill to maneuver a car between the row of barrels placed on the ball grounds. The object is to drive a car between the barrels without knocking them over. The driver finishing in the shortest time wins the prize.

Someone will be supplied with meat for a time if they can catch a greased pig which is to be released during the afternoon of the Fourth on the ball grounds, perhaps during the ball game. The one who catches the pig can take it home. It belongs to him.

Saturday evening there will be a dance at the gymnasium, for which tickets cost but 50 cents, the proceeds to go into a fund with which the sponsors are purchasing a fireworks display for the night of the Fourth. The display has already been ordered and while the dances held recently for the purpose mentioned, have not met with any great success, your support for the last of the series is asked, and will be appreciated.

The city park now affords one of the finest of places to have a picnic dinner, and a place to congregate to visit with your friends and neighbors. The program for the morning is at present incomplete, but there will be an hour's band concert by the combined Uniontown-Genesee band, with community singing.

After the fireworks there will be a big carnival dance, with favors, novelties and noisemakers for all participants. The music will be furnished by the Hometown Harmony Boys, an orchestra which has gone far during recent weeks in pleasing dancers. It must be remembered also that while the music will be modern, there will be a number of quadrilles, circle twosteps, and whatever else the crowd may demand.

Already there are several who have asked for concession rights for the Fourth, and there is every reason to believe that this old-time celebration will be all that is expected.

Rush to Avoid Gas Tax.

The Genesee Supply company was busy until shortly before midnight on Monday making deliveries of gasoline to customers who made purchases before the tax became effective, Tuesday, June 21. Saturday and Monday Francis Uhre delivered 5570 gallons of gasoline.

INDIRECT TAXES CONTRIBUTE MORE THAN DIRECT TAXES

Several of the larger funds created for the purpose of financing the state business are not derived from the ad valorem tax but have special sources of revenue, such as license and inspection fees, fines, confiscations, imposts and so forth. Expenditures from such funds are necessarily limited by the amount of the receipts. In some instances economical officials have been able to build up goodly surpluses, says Glenn Balch in his twenty-fourth article on taxation in Idaho.

Continuing, he says: While these moneys are not raised by direct taxation, they are nevertheless regarded as public funds and their disposition is under the direction of the legislature. It is noteworthy that the aggregate of funds raised by fees, licenses and indirect taxation is considerably larger than the total raised by the direct or ad valorem tax.

Fish and Game Fund

One of the most interesting funds of this type, especially to sportsmen and outdoors enthusiasts is the fish and game fund. It is maintained by receipts from the sale of fish and game licenses and permits, from confiscations, fines and forfeitures, and by proceeds from the sale of property of the department. Not one cent of tax money, in the literal sense, goes into this fund and sportsmen are quick to resent any insinuation that the operation of the department has anything to do with high taxes.

The fish and game fund is used to pay the salaries of the game warden, deputy game wardens, clerks and assistants, hatchery and game farm attendants, as well as the expenses incident to the operation of the department. The fund is also available for importing, propagating and protecting fish, game birds and game animals.

Game Fund Operations

The 1929-1930 state auditor's report gives a good idea of the extent of the game department's financial operations. Cash receipts for the two year period totalled $441,761.92, coming principally from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses. Receipts by transfer totalled $2,389.43, and $58.26 accrued to the fund from cancelled warrants.

Expenditures during this period totalled $435,897.71, including an $8,000 transfer to the game warden's predatory animal fund. Worthless checks resulted in a $16 loss to the department. Final figures show an increase in the department's balance on hand of a little more than $8,000 for the biennium's operations.

Predatory Fund

The predatory animal fund, mentioned above, was created for the purpose of providing the financial wherewithal for the extermination of campaigns against predatory animals, which are heavy destroyers of game birds and animals. The fund receives a sum transferred annually from the fish and game fund and in addition is credited with the proceeds from the sale of furs taken under the provisions of the game laws. Wages of state trappers and hunters and the bounty on coyotes and cougars are paid from this fund.

Another fund that may well be considered at this time is the forest protection fund, which was created in 1925 "for the protection and preservation of the forest resources of the state." This fund receives allotments from the federal government for fire prevention and in addition is reimbursed by private land owners for expenditures in the protection of their property.

Cash Receipts

During the 1929-1930 biennium the cash receipts of the forest protection fund totalled $193,718.30, being the government allotments and the collections from private holders. Fire prevention, suppression and detection expenses for the period amounted to $187,145.07, leaving an operation profit of almost $7,000.

An unpleasant sequel to this however is the disastrous fire season of 1931 which not only burned over hundreds of thousands of acres of timber lands and destroyed valuable improvements, but likewise practically bankrupted the state's forest protection fund. Also the non-payment of taxes and protection assessments by private owners is creating a serious condition of increased responsibility and decreased revenue.

Fishing will not be very good over the Fourth, so you had better plan on celebrating at home.

Exceptionally Large Rattler Killed.

Thirteen rattles and a button were found on the large rattler killed recently by Andy Wardrobe on the lower Wardrobe ranch. The reptile measuring almost three inches in diameter, was killed in the orchard and made his appearance while Mr. Wardrobe was clearing the ground of grass and weeds. The snake, apparenlty unmindful of human intrusion, was moving in the grass, and was mistaken momentarily for a gopher or squirrel, but on second sight, Mr. Wardrobe recognized the venomous snake and severed it with a hoe, his only means of dealing death to the unwelcome visitor. The rattles, numbering thirteen and a button are on display at the News office to verify in part the description of the snake.

Rattle snakes are common this season, but it is believed that the one killed by Mr. Wardrobe was at the time of his death living under an unlucky number.

JOHN DUNBAR, FATHER OF MRS. W. M. HERMAN DIES

Funeral services for John Dunbar, Moscow, father of Mrs. W. M. Herman, Genesee, who passed away Sunday morning, June 19, were held from Short's Chapel, Moscow, Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Purdy of the Methodist church, of which Mr. Dunbar was a member, conducting the services. The Yeoman lodge had charge of the services at the cemetery.

John Dunbar had been a Moscow resident for 40 years, coming from Iowa. He was born at Danville, Ill., but went to Iowa when very young. While visiting his grandparents in Indiana in 1875, he met and married Miss Rachel Durham, and at the time of death they were married 57 years. He would have been 79 years of age had he lived until the coming month of November.

The deceased was a rural mail carrier for 19 years at Moscow and was retired on a pension several years ago. He was a charter member of the Yeoman lodge, Moscow, a highly respected citizen, and was commonly known to his many friends as "Honest John."

Surviving him are his widow, his daughter, Mrs. W. M. Herman; son, Claude Dunbar, Portland; and grandson, Alfred Dunbar, all of whom attended the funeral. Mrs. Walter Melcher of Spokane, a niece; Mrs. Emma McMahon and many friends and relatives from Genesee attended the services. The deceased is also survived by a brother of St. Joseph, Mo., and a sister at Greenleaf, Kans.; a nephew in Spokane and one in Lewiston.

Pallbearers were all employes of the postoffice at Moscow, except Walter Keeney, an old friend of the family. The others were Homer Estes, Sam Hall, John Sudreth, Tom Dowdy and E. H. Kroh.

PRIMARY ABSTRACT OF VOTES SHOWS DEFENBACH LEADER

Byron Defenbach, according to the abstract of votes at the primary election, May 24, leads the field of all candidates in the number of votes received, 43,644. Stewart Campbell, republican candidate for mine inspector, was second with 42,099; Geo. G. Barrett, republican candidate for state treasurer, was third with 42,031 and the fourth was E. G. Gallet, republican candidate for state auditor. The candidate receiving the smallest number of votes was W. F. Alworth, democratic candidate for the nomination as congressman from the Second District, Thomas W. Coffin being the successful democratic candidate with 7,658, and will oppose Addison Smith, republican, who received 27,094 votes.

Rred E. Lukens, republican candidate for reelection as secretary of state, emerged from the primaries with the largest plurality, receiving 33,475 votes, compared with 16,161 for W. W. Deal. Lukens' plurality was 17,314. Senator John Thomas, republican candidate for the United States senate, received the second highest plurality 16,394. Thomas garnered 32,812 votes to 16,418 for Holden.

The abstract also reveals that Byron Defenbach carried 27 of the 44 counties in Idaho, compared to the seventeen which were listed under the name of C. Ben Ross. The counties which Ross may now claim are Adams, Bannock, Bear Lake, Blaine, Camas, Canyon, Elmore, Fremont, Idaho, jefferson, Lewis, Lincoln, Oneida, Owyhee, Payette, Twin Falls and Valley. To Defenbach went the support of the following counties: Ada, Benewah, Bingham, Boise, Bonner, Bonneville, Boundary, Butte, Caribou, Cassia, Clark, Clearwater, Custer, Franklin, Gem, Gooding, Jerome, Kootenai, Latah, Lemhi, Madison, Minidoka, Nex Perce, Power, Shoshone, Teton and Washington.

Ada county polled the largest vote in the recent election, 8,795, with Bannock county second, registering 6,406 voters. Camas county recorded the smallest numbers of voters registering at the polls, only 290 participating in the election.

CARL THIESSEN, SECOND IN JUDGING OF DAIRY CATTLE

University of Idaho—With a registered attendance of 245 boys and girls from northern and southwestern Idaho, the 10th annual 4-H club junior short course, held at the University of Idaho, June 12 to 18, established a new record. Many more clubbers attended parts of the program.

Those attending the courses from Genesee, though living in Nez Perce county, were Carl Thiessen, Clayton Busch, Marion Holben and Ernest Theuerkauff, the first named winning second place in the dairy cattle judging, Norman Sellman of Glenns Ferry, being first.

In the judging contests which marked the close of the course, Adeline Bailon, Bonners Ferry, won the championship in girls' judging; Donald Benedict, Lewiston, won the championship in livestock judging, and Russell Newell, Coeur d'Alene, came out on top in the agronomy contest.

TAX ON ADMISSIONS.

The tax on admissions under the new revenue act is of such widespread interest that the Bureau of Internal Revenue has issued the following statement on the subject.

The law which has been in effect since June 28, 1928, taxes admissions only if the amount paid for admission is in excess of $3.00, while under the new law all amounts paid for admission are subject to tax at the rate of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof, if the admission charge is 41 cents or more. This tax must be collected from the persons who pay the admission charges, and is a tax on admissions not only to theatres, but to any place. Another important change is taxing free or reduced admissions (except bona fide employees, municipal officers on official business and children under 12 years of age) on the basis of the established price. In other words, and subject to the above exceptions, persons admitted free or at reduced rates must pay a tax equivalent to the tax on the established price of admission paid by other persons.

Newspaper reporters, photographers and radio announcers admitted free are not exempt from the tax imposed on free admissions unless they are also bona fide employes of the management of the place.

Under the new law the tickets of admission must show the established price of admission, the tax thereon, and the name of the theatre or place to which they are valid for admission. Tickets of admission sold prior to June 21, 1932, are not taxable under the 1932 act; but the entire amount paid for admission prior to June 21, the effective date of the controlling section of the new law, would be taxable under the 1928 Act if in excess of $3.00.

It is provided that the exemptions afforded certain organizations such as religious, educational or charitable institutions, etc., shall not be allowed in the case of admissions to wrestling matches, prize fights or boxing, sparring or other pugilistic matches or exhibitions. It is also provided that exemption shall not be allowed in the case of admissions to any athletic game or exhibition the proceeds of which inure wholly or partly to the benefit of any college or university, including any academy of the military or naval forces of the United States.

The tax imposed on sales of tickets made by ticket brokers for amounts in excess of the established price is 10 per cent of the excess charged, and this tax, unlike the tax on admissions proper, is to be paid by the person selling the tickets or cards of admission. The provisions of the law imposing this tax on ticket brokers become effective after 5 p. m. on June 6, 1932.

The person collecting tax on admissions must file return and pay the taxes as collected to the Collector of Internal Revenue of the district in which his principal place is business is located on or before the last day of the month following the month in which it was collected.

IDAHO'S GENERAL FUND IS STATE'S CREDIT BUMPER

Of the 127 seperate and individual funds for the handling of state moneys, the general fund is the most interesting and one of the largest.

The general fund is really the state's credit bumper, says Glenn Balch, in his twenty-third article of a series on taxation in Idaho, written under the direction of the state chamber of commerce. When appropriations are desired and money is available from no other source, the old general fund is invariably called upon. If general fund hasn't the money then it is up to general fund to get it—which is not difficult to do as long as the state's credit rating is satisfactory. Most legislative appropriations read "from moneys in the general fund not otherwise appropriated."

The thing that keeps old general fund in a solvent condition is the annual ad valerom tax. It makes up the difference between what general fund has and what general fund should have in order to take care of the legislative appropriations.

Revenue Sources.

Due to the fact that the state levies are made after the appropriations have already been determined, it is a simple matter of arithmetic for the state officials to keep general fund solvent, provided of course that the taxpayers can pay their bills. It sometimes happens that the fund balance is in the "red" or overdrawn, but that, rather than being a serious matter, represents inequalities in the distribution over the biennium of disbursements and receipts.

The general fund, so the auditor's report for 1929-1930 reads, consists of moneys received and not specially appropriated to any other fund. Its principal sources of revenue are the annual ad valerom tax, tax on insurance companies, interest on current funds in state depositaries, license taxes, inheritance taxes, fees of the district courts and various other state departments, license tax on express companies and fees and licenses collected by the director of insurance.

Expenditures

The fund, the report continues, is expended in defraying the general running expenses of the state government, as specified in the various appropriations made by the legislature for those purposes, which means salaries, wages, lights, heat, stationery, traveling expenses and so forth.

The record of operation of the general fund for the biennium of 1929-1930 is interesting. On October 1, 1928, the fund was $808,519.58 overdrawn or in the "red." During the two-year period, however, it recuperated remarkably, receiving $5,916,-914.64 in cash (largely taxes), $81,-870.35 by transfers and $11,083.33 by cancelled warrants.

But total expenditures from the fund were well over six million dollars and we find that at the end of the fiscal period, September 30, 1930, it was back in the "red" again to the extent of $810,106.19.

The small margin of difference between the expenditures from and the receipts of the general fund shows that the state arithmeticians had done their work well and the budget was practically balanced.

It might be well in this connection to point out that state taxes are collectible from the various counties in lump sums rather than from individuals, which relieves that state of worry concerning non-payment of taxes and removes from the budget balancing procedure the disturbing and fluctuating factor of delinquents, as long of course as the various counties are solvent.

The low rate of interest at which the state is able to obtain short time loans to defray running expenses pending the receipt of tax payments from the counties is evidence of Idaho's good standing in the financial world. Many of the counties, however, are at present suffering from tax delinquencies and unless that condition is remedied it will eventually reflect unfavorably upon the state's credit.

GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING JUNE 17

Domestic wheat markets suffered further declines during the week ending June 17, under the influence of the approaching movement of the new winter wheat crop, favorable progress of spring wheat and some slackening in demand for North American grain, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Feed grains held fairly steady, largely because of light offerings. Flax declined further under a continued dull crusher inquiry and favorable growing conditions for the new crop.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific coast markets were also weak and lower, although declines at Portland and Seattle were smaller than in California markets. Futures in Pacific Northwestern markets held comparatively steady but cash markets declined around 2 cents per bushel. Country markets remained very small and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled only 317 cars, compared with 1,067 cars during the corresponding week a year ago. Warmer weather hastened the ripening of winter wheat and was very favorable for rapid growth of the spring crop, which is reported to be heading in some districts. Demand was dull and almost entirely from domestic mills, which were taking only occasional lots. Exporters were practically out of the market because of competition from Canadian and Australian offerings in Oriental and European markets, at prices averaging about 5 cents per bushel below quotations from Northwestern exporters.

The volume of wheat contracted so far this season is reported very small. The bag market has been active, with around one-half of the season's requirements of approximately 22,000,-000 bags, reported sold.

Foreign Wheat Markets

Foreign markets continued quiet, with inquiry for spot wheat relatively light, because of the generally favorable prospects for the new crop and liberal offerings from surplus areas. Buyers for the most part were meeting only current needs, awaiting heavier movement of the new crop. Prices of native wheats declined to $1.68 at Hamburg, to $1.72½ at Paris and to $1.57¼ at Milan. At the close of the market June 17, Argentine Rosafe was quoted at Liverpool at 59¼c and No. 3 Manitoba for June shipment at the same price. Australian wheat afloat was quoted at London at 55c. The French government has rejected the new Commercial Treaty with Canada and Canadian wheat is now subject to the maximum duty rate of $1.60½ per bushel. Russian wheat is also subject to the maximum French duty, but Argentine and U. S. wheats are admitted at the minimum rate of 85¼c per bushel. Rumanian and Yugoslavian wheats are subject to special preferential treatment under the terms of an agreement which became effective May 24.

Crop Conditions.

No important changes ocurred during the week in crop conditions in the Northern Hemisphere. Harvesting of the new domestic wheat crop progressed northward as far as central Kansas. Spring wheat in the U. S. made good progress under favorable weather conditions. Rains provided additional moisture and helped to minimize probable loss from grasshoppers. In the Canadian Prairie Provinces recent rains were fairly well distributed, but northern and southeastern areas of Manitoba report that drought has reduced crop prospects. Grasshoppers and cut worms are numerous and menacing, but still fairly well under control. Crops throughout Alberta promised particularly high yields. Soil moisture is quite satisfactory at present, but June and July rains must be relied on to offset deficiencies resulting from three years of drought.

Crop conditions throughout Europe are for the most part unchanged from those of a week ago, except for confirmation of less favorable prospects in Northern Italy, where shortage of fertilizer has resulted in lower yields. Some local damage from storms and hot winds has been reported in southern Italian provinces. The Russian crop has been benefited by local rains in some areas but weather is still too hot and droughty in southeastern sections and parts of the Don and Volga River Valley. Conditions in the Lower Danubians are only fair. In other parts of Europe conditions are generally favorable, although crops are mostly two to three weeks later than usual.

First Kansas Wheat.

The first new wheat of the season was received at Kansas City from the southwestern part of Kansas, graded sample hard, 58 lb., 17.8 per cent moisture, and only 9.25 per cent protein. This car sold at 42 cents per bushel to a local elevator. This was the earliest movement from Kansas wheat since 1918. Mill and elevator demand was fairly active at Kansas City during the week and daily offerings were readily taken. Shipments to outside mills were of good volume.

Scharnhorst, Glenn Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arlt of Lacrosse, Wash., gathered at the H. T. Smith home Sunday for a picnic dinner in honor of Father's Day.

Miss Hope Michelsen left Friday to visit at Bonners Ferry and with her sister at Missoula, Mont., expecting to be away about ten days.

Lester Olson came Wednesday to spend the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Olson. He has been attending University at Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Henry Flomer and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Flomer were Moscow visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Semmes of Spokane are spending their two weeks vacation in Genesee with Mrs. Semmes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Putnam.

Mrs. Alfred Flomer and son of New York City, came Monday to visit Mrs. Flomer's mother, Mrs. Pauline Gehrke, and other relatives.

PUBLIC OFFICES CANNOT BE GIVEN TO LOWEST BIDDERS

Putting up the office to the lowest bidder has been set upon and squelched by the attorney general of the state, says the Idaho Falls Post-Register. The attorney general says any candidate who offers to serve for less than the salary set by law is criminally liable and disqualified from holding office. It is interesting, refreshing and satisfying to have that opinion and it will put a stop to the hawking of public office and putting up an office to the lowest bidder.

Bonneville county, unfortunately, has experienced something of the kind so it is well that such procedure be stopped. A candidate making such statement dsqualfies himself or hers and in case such candidate should be elected, he would not be permitted to take the oath of office on account of the disqualification. To offer to accept office for less than the legally prescribed salary constitutes a bribe and is a part of the corrupt practice act govrening elections.

Friday Bridge Club.

Mrs. Anna Hanson entertained the Friday Bridge club at the home of Mrs. Walter Emerson last week. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Harry Hanson, high, and Mrs. Fred Shirrod, low. There will be no meeting in two weeks.

Cost Her $4.25 To Reduce 65 Pounds

"Worth It," Miss Bates Says.

If you're young and fat read what Miss Bates of Beech, Iowa, has to say about Kruschen Salts—if you are middle age or old Kruschen shows you the way to lose fat the SAFE way.

"I took one bottle of Kruschen Salts a month for five months. It amounted to $4.25 and I reduced 65 lbs., but it was worth it. Imagine just 22 years old and weighing what I did. I could not enjoy myself as other girls did. I could not get the clothes I wanted. I think it is wonderful the results Kruschen Salts give."

To lose fat the safe, sane way—take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—eat less fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a jar that costs but a small sum lasts 4 weeks. Get it at the Genesee Drug or any drugstore in the world—but be sure for your health's sake to ask for and get Kruschen Salts. It's the little daily dose that does it.

BASEBALL FANS RECEIVED MONEY'S WORTH SUNDAY

Juliaetta, in the all game here last Sunday administered the second defeat of the season to the local club, but it required 14 innings to decide one of the most interesting games this year. The low score 5 to 3, must mean something to the person who did not witness the game, and the box score will testify that both teams presented strong defense. It was, however, a pitchers' duel, Tilden, for Juliaetta, becoming more effective in the closing innings, while Anderson, who had the better of the contest up until the tenth, began to weaken. In the ninth Anderson was the master, requiring only the assistance of the catcher and first sacker in the retirement of three batters.

Tilden was nicked for eight safe hits by Genesee, and Anderson granted but seven hits to Julietta, but three of these came in the final inning, after the long game had begun to tell on him.

Genesee and Juliaetta are each given credit for two earned runs, the others being attributed to errors and overthrows.

Juliaetta led off with Carlson, who with two other valley batsmen, retired, one--two-three. Genesee in its first time at bat, placed G. Blume on first by virtue of a hit, but balls were apparently made to hit in the air Sunday and no runs were scored. The second inning, the third and also the fourth were unproductive of scores, but in the fifth Genesee scored one run when Anderson hit, stole second, and scored while Juliaetta was putting Geltz, L. Gray and Wicks on the bench.

Juliaetta took advantage of an error in the sixth, after R. Miller forced C. Gruell and scored on an error thru third.

Genesee came back in the sixth to score, when G. Blume singled, advanced to third on his brother's stinging single, scoring later on an overthrow at first when C. Gray took his position on the initial sack. E. Blume came home on an error as Anderson was at bat.

Juliaetta, with the score, 3-2, again took advantage of a poor play, Leavitt circling the bases on a line drive which went through the fence in the field between center and right, and from then until the fourteenth stanza,, there was not a time that either club threatened to score, the pitchers being effective, and both clubs playing a tight defensive game, the outfielders on the Genesee club making three nice catches, Emmett taking one on left field foul territory, Geltz going far to his left for a one-handed catch, and Gray backing up to relieve Leavitt of taking a position on the running path.

Surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

A number of friends from Lenville surprised Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Anderson in their new home at 1107 Lynn Avenue, Moscow, Sunday. They went to the home with well filled baskets and an ice cream freezer, the original plan being to go to the park, but owing to inclement weather a delicious picnic dinner was served at the Anderson home and the afternoon was spent at the park.

In appreciation of the work of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson while in the Lenville community, they were presented with an electric egg cooker. Neal Kinyon brought in the gift, beautifully wrapped and said it was "From the Bunch."

Those present were: Mrs. Mary Kinnier, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kinyon and Irene and Verdel, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Taber and Esther, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kinnier and Billy Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kennedy and Donnie, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Peterson and Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schultz and children, James Allen and Sybl; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Peterson and Leona, Wilbert and Grace; Mr. and Mrs. Neal Kinyon and Mildred, George Ellis and Neal Junior; Buster and Billie Whitney and Carl Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have been in Lenville for 3 years, Mrs. Anderson completing a most successful term as teacher in the Lenville school. She has been elected to teach the Mt. Tomer school for the ensuing term. The many friends of the Andersons are sorry to lose them from the community.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Genesee Farmers Union Warehouse company was held at the Nesbit Hall. The election of directors, each to serve three years(resulted in the retention of H. J. Herman and Fred Nagel and the selection of Theo. Schlueter. The board of directors are H. J. Herman, president; Albert Carbuhn, vice president, and James Nesbit, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emmett and baby left Thursday by auto for Nez Perce, Idaho, to visit several days.

Mrs. E. M. Becker left Thursday morning for Dodge City, Minn., called there by the illness of her mother.

Mrs. Fred Nagel was the successful bidder on the range displayed in the Lambert store window, sold under what is known as the silent auction plan.

Gray was out at first unassisted; Wicks hit one over the fence for two bases; G. Blume flew out to short. Uniontown: Busch flew out to left field; Hattrup went out, third to first; O. Fox took first on an error; Moneymaker hit but C. Fox was out, pitcher to first.

Sixth inning—E. Blume hit between short and second, but was out on an attempted steal. Olsen went out to first unassisted and C. Gray flew out to third. Uniontown: R. Jutte went out, third to first; Englehart hit for two bases and scored on a hit by Jacobs after T. Jutte went out, short to first. Busch was out, pitcher to first.

Seventh inning—Geltz was out, third to first; Putnam fanned; Emmett hit but failed to advance farther than second as Les Gray fanned. Uniontown: Hattrup grounded to third for an easy out at first; O. Fox fanned and Moneymaker, swinging a wicked stick, flew out to right field.

Eighth inning—Wicks walked; G. Blume hit a fly to the pitcher who dropped the ball inside fair territory, Blume failing to take first; Wicks returned to the first sack on the play and in the confusion and misinterpretation of rules was granted a life at first, Blume being out. E. Blume fanned and Olsen flew out to left field. Uniontown: C. Fox hit; R. Jutte hit; Englehart forced C. Fox at third. T. Jutte hit a line drive to E. Blume who took it and touched second to retire R. Jutte.

Ninth inning—C. Gray was out, third to first; Geltz got on by an error at short; Putnam hit advancing Geltz and both took an extra base when Jacobs threw to first to hold Putnam on the bag. Emmett hit to score Geltz; Les Gray bunted to relieve the possibility of a force at second; Wicks hit to score Putnam and Emmett, but Wicks was forced at second by Blume.

Nice Shower Wednesday.

Summer officially opened June 21, and it was felt in Genesee as the thermometer went high. Wednesday was also hot, but at about 6:30 in the evening a light shower cooled the air, and at about 8 the same evening a heavier shower fell, not sufficient to do any damage to hay on the ground, but sufficient to lay the dust temporarily.

NEW TAXES WILL BEAR ON AVERAGE AMERICAN FAMILY

In spite of the violent rejection of the proposed general sales tax in both house and senate by those congressmen who pose as friends of the poor people, the new billion-dollar tax ($1,118,500,000, to be exact) has a lot of sales taxes which will bear on the poor as well as the rich. Also, the new three-cent postage; the new tariffs on lumber and oil, and various miscellaneous levies will reach the pockets of the little fellow as well as the big one.

The total to be collected, as estimated, from the manufacturers' sales taxes, or excise taxes is $450,500,000, making it the most lucrative section of the new bill. Among the miscellaneous taxes which will also be far-reaching are those of two cents each on bank checks, and a 10 per cent tax on all admission tickets costing more than 40 cents. Collection of the tax on checks will be handled entirely by the banks.

The new income tax rates, too, reach pretty low—down to an exemption of $1,000 for a single person without dependents and $2,500 for married persons in the same class. At the other end, though, they take quite a bit from big incomes, causing R. H. L. in the Chicago Tribune to speak for that class by observing: "God help the poor—the rich can commit suicide!"

Up They Go!

What the consumer will ultimately have to shoulder under the new sales tax:

Letters—3 cents.
Checks—2 cents.
Amusements—10 per cent on tickets over 40 cents.
Candy—2 per cent.
Chewing gum—2 per cent.
Gasoline—1 cent a gallon.
Lubricating oil—4 cents a gallon.
Autos—passenger, 3 per cent; auto trucks, 2 per cent; parts 2 per cent.
Tires—2¼ cents a pound.
Tubes—4 cents a pound.
Electricity—3 per cent.
Toilet goods—5 to 10 per cent.
Jewelry—10 per cent on articles over $3.00.
Sporting goods—5 per cent.
Firearms—10 per cent.
Matches—Wood, 2 cents per thousand; paper ½ cent per 1,000.

Teglands Return to Genesee.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tegland, who have been living at Tacoma, Wash., for a number of years, have returned to the Genesee community, and will make their home at the first house south of Art Tegland's. They arrived recently and are at home now.

Mr. and Mrs. Tegland are pioneers of this section and homesteaded the place which now belongs to the son, Art, and family. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Tegland welcome them on their return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Mays Return.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Mays returned home Tuesday evening, Mr. Mays having spent a few days visiting old-time friends in southwestern Oregon. Mrs. Mays visited friends in Spokane during the absence of her husband.

Oiling Equipment Due.

Lloyd Reed, foreman with the Kuney Construction which has the resurfacing contract on the highway, said he expected to be moving equipment here the last of this week.

GENESEE TURNS OUT STRONG FOR UNIONTOWN STOCK SHOW

Genesee was pratically deserted Wednesday during the annual Uniontown Stock show, and many of the people in this community dropped their work for a day to attend the show, ball game and the dance later in the evening.

Walker Faerber took a lion's share of prizes for purebred horse exhibits and Joe Wittman scored highest in the grade division. C. A. Grief of Uniontown made a clean sweep of prize money in the Shorthorn cattle division. Herman Nordby, Lewiston, and Clff Lundt, Genesee took most of the prizes in the Hereford cattle division. John Luedke, entering sheep was awarded several prizes in this division.

Those from Genesee winnig awards are: Bartol Weber, second prize for best grade 1932 draft colt. Donald Hermann, best showmanship by boy showing colts at halter. Arwin Nordby, best saddle pony exhibited by boy or girl. Fred Morscheck, third on best Shetland pony exhibited. Cliff Lundt, second for aged Hereford bull; second, for best bull calved in 1931; first for purebred cow; third in 1932 calf class.

Democratic Convention Starts Friday.

The big democratic national convention begins today (Friday) in the same place that the republicans held forth a week ago. This convention will undoubtedly be of more interest than the convention of a week ago, and should provide more excitement than Sharkey and Schmeling.

The democrats are sitting in a more comportable position than the republicans in that the democrats can rectify the mistakes (if any) made by the republicans in the formation of their platform last week. Much speculation, naturally, will result in the selection of a candidate for president, which will also have more bearing on the number of votes polled than what is contained in the platform of either party.

Postage Rates Increase July 6.

Effective July 6, the new postage rates will go into effect. Letters and other first class matter will be 3 cents an ounce or fraction thereof; postal cards, 1 cent each; letters in business reply envelopes, 3 cents per ounce, plus 1 cent additional for each letter; air mail, 8 cents for first ounce and 13 cents for each additional ounce. Where a letter is subject to the 3-cent rate, and does not have enough postage on it, it will be returned to the sender for additional postage. If the sender is not known, the additional postage will be collected from the receiver.

To all other countries, letters 5 cents for first ounce and 3 cents for each additional ounce. Cards 3 cents.

Reelect Warehouse Directors.

M. S. Wilson, J. W. Mosman and A. Carbuhn were reelected as a board of directors for the Genesee Union Warehouse company at its annual meeting of stockholders last Saturday.

Following the meeting of the stockholders of the Warehouse company, stockholders of the North Pacific Grain Growers, Inc., met, and named as delegate to the Spokane meeting, J. W. Mosman, who attended the sessions at Spokane Monday and voted the 252 shares of the local group of stockholders.

Art Linehan, a member of the board of directors of the North Pacific, representing the district comprising Latah county, attended the Spokane meeting. He was elected last year to serve a term of three years.

During the meeting of stockholders of the Genesee Union Warehouse company the "Farmers' Holiday" plan was explained, which is a plan first started in the state of Iowa, to pledge farmers to refrain from selling their products or buying any kind of merchandise for a certain period of time. It is now said that this plan is gaining headway in eight states and if a sufficient number of signers is obtained, the plan will be put into operation in the majority of states interested, on July 1.

"Borah has turned against Hoover" says a newspaper headline—It seems to be a popular turning point for a number of politicians these days.

Large Attendance Expected at Fourth of July Celebration

FULL PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF EVERYONE

NECESSARY TO MAKE CHANGES IN PROGRAM TO ACCOMODATE ALL EVENTS ARRANGED FOR; BRING THE KIDDIES EARLY.

Genesee and sponsors of the celebration here on the Fourth of July are expecting a large attendance, the anticipation being based on the sentiment which has been expressed by the many desiring to observe Indepence Day at home where the children are acquainted and will enjoy the day to the fullest extent, not to mention the grown-ups.

Beginning promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning, the first event on the program will take place, the program as arranged being as follows:

Boys' 50 yard dash, 12 years and under.

Boys' 50 yard dash, 6 years and under.

Girls' 50 yard dash, 12 years and under.

Girls' 50 yard dash, free for all.

Children's egg race, 12 years and under.

Girls' potato race, 12 years and under.

Band Concert at 11 a. m.

The combined Genesee-Uniontown band will give an hour's concert at the City Park which will be followed by the dinner hour, and at which time it is hoped that as many as possible will enjoy the facilities at the park.

Afternoon Program.

At 1:15 the program of sports will be resumed at the ball park in the following order:

Tug of war between teams selected from Cowcreek and Rimrock, ten men to a team.

Ladies' nail driving contest.

Ladies' rolling pin throwing contest.

Men's three legged race, free for all.

Fat men's race.

Sack race, free for all.

Hundred yard dash, free for all.

Relay race, 3 men to a team, free for all.

Baseball Game.

Much interest is being manifested in the ball game to be played between Uniontown and Genesee, as the former club has won two games from Genesee this season, and an effort is being made by the local club to break the winning streak of the visiting club.

Greased Pig

Some time during the ball game, presumably about the seventh inning a greased pig will be released, and the one catching it may take the porker home.

Novelty Auto Race

Owners of small cars will have an opportunity to show their ability as drivers following the ball game. The

ORGANIZE RED CROSS TO CARE FOR LOCAL NEEDY

Miss F. Bernadette Rainsford, San Francisco, field representative for the district comprising Idaho, in the National Red Cross, was in Genesee Monday morning in the interests of the local chapter and its reorganization that the annual roll call may be conducted this Fall, making it possible to retain what funds have accrued in past years and which will be coming in during the next roll call. Where a town or city has funds deposited in the name of the Red Cross it is impossible to make use of these funds unless a roll call is conducted.

At the meeting Monday, Miss Edna Driscoll was named chairman of the Genesee Red Cross chapter; Miss Ruth Martinson, vice chairman; Walter Emerson, treasurer, and Mrs. E. D. Pederson, Vern Beckman and Geo. Post, members of the committee.

The work of the American Red Cross takes its officials into communities only in times of disaster or catastrophe when assistance under their direction is given those affected, and under the precedent established and strictly adhered to, the only funds available for relief locally as that which has been donated in excess of the fifty cents per members dues, and special contributions.

Miss Rainsford stated that approximately $300 were spent in and near Troy by the National Red Cross following the disastrous forest fires and fires originating from forest conflagrations last year.

Following the roll coll this fall all funds remaining in Genesee as heretofore mentioned may be used at the discretion of the officers and committee of the local chapter.

GENESEE DRUG STOCK AND FIXTURES SOLD TO G. CLARK

Grant Clark last Friday purchased the stock, furniture and fixtures of the Genesee Drug company, and after operating the store two days, began moving the stock to his store on Sunday. He is combing the two stocks and is making alterations at his building, and also redecorating the interior.

PRODUCERS' UNION ELECTS.

John Krier and R. E. Nordby were elected directors of the Farmers' Union Producers Union, at the postponed stockholders' meeting held Tuesday evening at the American Legion hall. A. C. Linehan, Henry Koster and John Kluss are the hold-over members of the board of directors, and Walt Jain and Henry Lorang are the retiring board members.

GENESEE EVENS SERIES WITH JULIAETTA, WINNING 10 TO 9

Ten errors were responsible in part for Juliaetta scoring nine runs against Genesee Sunday in the ball game played at Juliaetta, under a torrid sun. The eight hits recorded by Juliaetta came at opportune times to assist in making the score close. Genesee's error were not altogether the fault of the players as it was observed that at times outfielders were perched on the wrong rocky pinnacle to take balls hit in their direction. Anderson, pitching for Genesee, struck out five men, compared to eight for Tilden, the big Juliaetta chucker, two of which were home runs, one by Wicks and one by Olsen, the former scoring two men who were on the path. Olsen's hit was the longest of the game, as he was rounding third base as a Juliaetta outfielder picked up the ball.

Genesee stepped into the lead in the first inning, scoring four runs on five hits, and remained in the lead throughout the struggle, at one time having a three-run margin, which was reduced to two in the eighth and one in the eighth.

This evens the two-game series with Juliaetta, one of two clubs to interfere with a perfect season for the local club this season.

First inning—Les Gray, first man up was out at first, unassisted; Wicks hit for two bases scoring on George Blume's single; Ed Blume fanned; Olsen hit safely to advance G. Blume; C. Gray hit to score Blume and Olsen with a two-base hit; Geltz hit to score Gray and Anderson was out, short to first. Juliaetta: Carlson was given a walk and advanced on C. Gruell's grounder that was mishandled at short, Gruell taking first and while A. Millard was striking out, the two on bases executed a double steal. C. Woody struck out. Leavitt hit to score Carlson and Gruell; Glenn hit to score Leavitt and E. Millard, was out, catcher to first.

Second inning—Weber fanned; Les Gray singled, advancing on Wick's sacrifice, to score on a passed ball after stealing third. G. Blume was out, third to first. Juliaetta: Chet Woody fanned; Tilden singled, advanced on Carlson's hit and scored on Gruell's grounder to second, which was bobbled for the put-out at first, but which was handled to retire Carlson at second; A. Millard was out, short to first.

Third inning—E. Blume fanned; Olsen was out in the air to short and C. Gray grounded out, third to first. Juliaetta: C. Woody fanned; Leavitt was out, pitcher to first on a beautiful play and Glenn flew out to left field.

Fourth inning—Geltz was out in the air to third; Anderson fanned; Weber hit but died on base as Les Gray hit to the pitcher for a put-out at first. Juliaetta: E. Millard went to first on an error, advanced to second when Chet Woody grounded to third for a put-out at first. Tilden grounded to short and went out at first, placing Millard on third. Weber handled Carlson's grounder for the third out at first.

Fifth inning—Wicks hit, took second on an easy steal, and scored on G. Blume's single. G. Blume, who took first on his single, was out stretching his hit to a two-bagger. E. Blume was out, third to first. Olsen hit, but died on base as C. Gray swung at three. Juliaetta: Gruell made one hard to handle at second, going to first; A. Milard was out, third to first after Gruell stole second. C. Woody hit one to center field high in the air, but rocks interfered with the outfielder and the batter took up his position at second, Gruell scoring. Leavitt was out in the air to third. Glenn hit for two bases to score C. Woody. E. Millard was out in the air to the pitcher.

Sixth inning—Geltz rolled down the third base line and reached first before the put-out could be made; Anderson was out, pitcher to first, Geltz taking second on the play. L. Gray went to first on a fielder's choice, a play being made to retire Geltz at third who was safe. Wicks drew back to hit hard to left center for a home run, scoring Geltz and Gray. G. Blume fanned. Juliaetta: Chet Woody was out, third to first; Tilden, was thrown out at first by C. Gray. Carlson hit

WASHINGTON CELEBRATION BEING OBSERVED IN POLAND

Poland, the country which gave to the American Revolution the two heroes, Kosciusko and Pulaski, is celebrating the Two Hundredth Anniversary of George Washington's Birth on a national scale.

So important is this event in Poland that the Polish National Holiday, May 3, was dedicated to the Bicentennial in Warsaw; streets in Warsaw and other cities have been named for George Washington, and the government has issued a commemorative postage stamp in honor of the occasion which features a portrait of George Washington flanked by likenesse of Kosciuszko and Pulaski.

An oak tree was planted and dedicated to George Washington in Paderewski Park in the Polish capital, and a street adjoining the park, expected to be one of Warsaw's most beautiful thoroughfares, was named George Washington Avenue in the ceremonies held on May 3.

The Bicentennial Celebration in Poland is under the direction of a central committee of which Dr. Ignace Moscicki, president of the Polish Republic, is the honorary head, and Joseph Pilsudski, first marshal of the Polish army and a hero of the World war, is an honorary member. The active chairman of the committee is Leopold Kotnowski, president of the Polish-American Society and the affiliated Polish-American chamber of commerce in Warsaw.

A concert ball given by the Polish American Society in the Europe Hotel, Warsaw, officially opened the Bicentennial Celebration in Poland. Attended by government, diplomatic and military officials and prominent Polish and American citizens, the function was an outstandnig event.

A public meeting was also held in the Town Hall in Warsaw under the auspices of the central committee for the Bicentennial celebration in Poland, with Dr. Kotnowski presiding. Those in attendance included President Moscicki, Premier Alexander Pryspor, several ministers and vice ministers, other government and municipal officials, and prominent citizens. The hall, seating more than a thousand, was filled to capacity.

The speakers on this occasion were Wladyslaw Rackiewicz, speaker of the senate; Zygmunt Slominski, mayor of Warsaw, Professor Szymon Askenazy, and Joseph Flack, charge d' affaires of the United States embassy.

Following the program, Mr. Flack held a reception at the embassy which was attended by officials and prominent citizens.

At Gdynia, church services were devoted to the memory of George Washington. There was a military parade and a meeting held in the state commissary building. Adam Bederski, state commissary, addressed the assemblage on the life of George Washington. The principal street of the city was renamed George Washington, and the ceremonies were concluded by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by pupils of the state public school.

Similar commemorative exercises, details of which have not yet reached the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, were also held in Krakow, Lwow, Wilno, Poznan, and Katowice.

A pamphlet entitled "George Washington" has been published by the central committee for the Bicentennial Celebration in Poland, and 25,000 copies already have been printed. The pamphlet is being widely distributed, especially among school children.

These programs and celebrations are being carried out and financed by the Polish people themselves; the U. S. government has not spent one cent on the Bicentennial Celebration in any country abroad. The United States George Washington Bicentennial commission has been officially informed that other ceremonies will be held throughout the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Krier at Cadogan,

A letter was received Tuesday from Mr. and Mrs. John Krier by their family stating that they were at Cadogan, Alberta, Canada, and were enjoying a pleasant visit. Crops were reported in good condition with plenty of rain. Mr. and Mrs. Krier are expected home in two weeks.

RODEO IS ADDED ATTRACTION; CASH PRIZES TO CONTESTANTS

CONTACT WITH LIVE WIRE KILLS EDWARD J. SAMPSON

Edward James Sampson, member of a pioneer family of the Arrow-Spalding section, was electrocuted at 2:15 o'clock Monday afternoon and a younger brother, Beryl Sampson, and Frank Steiner narrowly escaped death at the same time.

Sampson and the two others were moving a hay stacker at the farm of the Sampson brothers, about a mile southwest of Lapwai, and while passing under a wire of the telephone system of the Washington Water Power company, a wire cable of the stacker, which was held by Edward Sampson, contacted the wire. The voltage shot through the youth's body and he died almost instantly.

Upon seeing his brother stricken, Beryl Sampson went to his aid. He tried to wrest Edward from his grip on the wire and in doing so was badly burned. Then Steiner went to the aid of the other and he was shocked and burned, not as much as Beryl Sampson, however, who suffered burns on the hands, arms and back.

Edward Sampson was born near Spalding, October 5, 1912. He attended school at Asotin and later at Lapwai, wher he graduated in 1931.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mamie Sampson, and five brothers and four sisters: Harry Sampson, Arrow; Earl Sampson, Spalding; Willard Sampson, Genesee; Tully Sampson, Beryl Sampson, Verna Sampson, Edith Sampson and Opal Sampson, all living at home; Mrs. Henry Little, Asotin. Edward was the youngest of the children.—Lewiston Tribune.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Brower-Wann chapel in Lewiston, with the Rev. H. E. Willoughby of Yakima, officiating. Music was by Mrs. Charles Clift and Mrs. Matthew Cummings, accompanied by Mrs. Schermerhorn at the organ. Interment was in Normal Hill cemetery, Lewiston. Pallbearers were: Roy Maynard, G. Wilson, Porter Hogoboam, Sam Alexander, Frank Bierman and Wayne Maynard.

Among those attending the funeral from Genesee were: Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Green, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rader, Mr. and Mrs. Art Springer, Lew Jain, Alvin and Sam Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Bartol Weber, Mr. and Mrs. William Heinrichs and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sweeney.

The annual Knights of Columbus picnic was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lorang. A picnic dinner was followed by an afternoon of sports.

SAMS' AND GAMBLE'S STRING OF BUCKING HORSES WILL BE HERE WITH PLENTY STEERS AND BAREBACK MOUNTS.

As was anticipated there is an added attraction in store for those who will celebrate in Genesee Monday, July 4, and it is an attraction that will certainly meet with approval. A rodeo, featuring the Gamble & Sams string of bucking horses, bareback mounts and steers will be run off following the ball game. With this event being scheduled, it has been necessary to make slight changes in the program, whereby a number of the sports events will take place in the morning beginning at 9:30, and concluded before 11 o'clock, when the band concert will start at the city park. At 1:30 the sports events will be resumed at the base ball park, where all the other events with the exception of the dance and concessions will take place.

Montana, the 1200-pound bald face roan mare belonging to Gamble Bros. has never been ridden, and will be remembered as the horse which threw the buckaroo known as "Swede" at the rodeo three years ago, breaking an arm. Another horse, Johnny, a bay gelding has never been ridden. He carries 1300 pound of horse flesh that greatly resents a saddle and rider, and will undoubtedly be one of the final horses along with Blaze, the 1200-pound bay mare which will be here, the property of Cook of Juliaetta. These are three horses that will cause any rider an uneasiness in the saddle, and will decide who wins the first prize for the bucking contest.

Besides the contest for bucking horse riders, there will be a sufficient number of bareback mounts, for which riders will be awarded cash prizes together with prizes for steer riding.

It is planned that the bucking horses will be snubbed and saddled in front of the grandstand, and the bareback riders will be placed on their mounts in chutes which are being constructed for all bareback riding, including the steer riding.

No attempt is being made to stage a large rodeo, but what will be exhibited will be a sufficient test for riders and afford plenty amusement for the small admission charge which will be made in addition to the 25-cent admission to the ball game. The sponsors of the rodeo and celebration believe that 10 cents will be all that will be collected from the adults, the children being admitted free.

Your attention is directed to the celebration advertisement in this issue of the news, announcing the changes which are being made to accommodate the rodeo attraction.

Considerable interest is being man-

DOMESTIC WHEAT MARKETS SUFFER FURTHER DECLINES

Domestic wheat markets suffered further declines during the week ending June 24, influenced by increased marketings of new winter wheat and a continued limited demand, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Corn markets were steady with receipts unusually light. Trade in rye, oats and barley was very dull and prices were not materially changed from a week ago. Flax was slightly lower under a continued dull crusher demand and favorable progress of the new crop.

Pacific coast wheat markets were relatively weaker than eastern points, influenced by good prospects for local wheat and a continued light demand both from domestic mills and exporters. Marketings were very light. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled only 270 cars and were largely of deliveries on previous sales. Demand from domestic mills was confined largely to immediate requirements. Inquiry from exporters was also of small volume and export business for the week was limited to one parcel of 500 tons of white wheat to the United Kingdom. This wheat was reported sold at around 47 cents per bushelfob. The moderate export sales of flour were reported to North China during the previous week, but bids were lower during the current week and no additional sales were made. At the close of the market June 24 soft and western white was selling at 51½ cents and hard winter and western red at 50 cents per bushel.

California wheat markets weakened during the period, under review, largely as a result of increased offerings of new crop grain and the limited outlet for current offerings. Harvesting progressed rapidly in both Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys and yields were reported heavier than was indicated earlier. Growers were not pressing sales but in some areas were selling wheat and holding barley. Mill demand increased slightly with the increase in offerings, but feeding demand continued dull because of the cheapness of barley and the poor purchasing power of the poultry industry.

U. S. Harvesting.

Harvesting of the new winter wheat crop in the United States has advanced well into the Ohio Valley and in western areas to the Missouri river. Cutting was practically completed in Texas but was interrupted by rain in Oklahoma. Harvest has been done principally with binders since fields have been generally too wet for combines. Threshing was under way in southern areas of the hard winter wheat belt and marketings increased sharply during the week, with 3,081 cars received at the principal central and southwestern markets, compared with 2,798 cars arrived at these points during the corresponding week last season. The principal increases were at Fort Worth, Wichita, Hutchinson and Kansas City.

European Harvest.

Harvesting of winter wheat is progressing in Europe, with conditions in most countries average or better. Yields in Italy are generally satisfactory, although some damage has occurred from dry weather to late-sown fields and heads are poorly filled. The outturn in France promised to be materially above that of last year and about equal to domestic requirements, according to trade reports. France has now lowered the quota of foreign wheat to 40 per cent of milling requirements. Spain has a good wheat crop now estimated at 161,000,000 bushels, compared with 134,426,000 bushels produced last season. The German crop is estimated by the trade at around 192,000,000 bushels or about 37,000,000 bushels over last year's production. German farmers were reported selling old crop grain freely. Negotiations for a most favored nation treaty between Germany and Canada, to be concluded within six months, are now in progress.

U. S. Spring Wheat.

Spring wheat in the U. S. continued to make rapid growth under favorable growing weather during the week, but grasshoppers threatened damage in some districts in the northern part of the Red River valley. There were trade reports of rust infestation but it is too early to predict the possibilities of the development of stem rust in the spring wheat region, according to specialists in the Bureau of Plant Industry. Very small amounts were found in South Dakota and southern Minnesota during the third week in June. Damage from rust to winter wheat was relatively slight except in some fields in northern Texas and occasional fields in other states.

Canadian Wheat

The spring wheat crop in the Prairie Provinces of Canada still promises average yields per acre, although insect pests are present in dangerous numbers in some sections and there is absence of reserve moisture over wide areas. Grasshoppers are causing considerable loss in Manitoba and at some point in Saskatchewan. Losses up to 30 per cent have been caused but cut worms in important areas of central and southern Saskatchewan and at some points in Alberta, according to the Manitoba Free Press. About 85 per cent of the crop is in short blade or boot in Manitoba, where development has been unusually rapid. Growth has been slower in Saskatchewan and Alberta and the crop shows a wide range in height with only a small acreage in short blade.

Russian Prospects

Spring wheat seeding has been practically completed in Russia, but the acreage sown to June 15 was reported at only 53,374,000 acres, compared with 61,775,000 acres sown to the corresponding date last year. Crop conditions have been generally favorable, but recent hot, dry weather in the lower Volga region and eastern areas threaten damage.

Barley Markets Quiet.

Foreign barley markets weakened somewhat, with a dull demand for both feeding and malting types. California new crop barley samples have arrived in English markets, but takings continue restricted by the dull inquiry and also by competition from barley from other surplus areas. The influence of the new United Kingdom tariff policy has already become apparent in a somewhat more active interest for barleys produced within the Empire. Crop conditions in Europe are generally favorable, although hot and dry weather was threatening damage in the Russia Volga River areas. World shipments for the week fell off and amounted to only 16,896 tons. The Danubian countries furnished the largest share of the International trade, with clearances of 7,920 tons. North African countries ranked second in importance, with a total of 7,560 tons. Barley afloat on ocean passage was somewhat lower, totaling only 84,936 tons. In terms of American values, prices at London were mostly lower, reflecting the decline in the exchange of the English pound sterling, which was around 4 cents lower for the week. Argentine barley showed a slight gain, and was quoted at 89¼c per hundred. Other foreign barleys were lower, with Canadian No. 3 for shipment from Atlantic ports quoted at 90¾c per 100, Australian Chevalier at $1.16, Karachi at $1.02 3-4, Russian at 82 3-4 and Persian at 76 3-4 per 100.

Domestic barley markets remained quiet with the general situation showing little change from that of a week ago. Offerings of California barley were liberal but demand was very light and trading and movement was considerably under normal for this season of the year. Export inquiry was much less active than usual and growers appeared reluctant to sell at prevailing prices. Harvesting is progressing rapidly under generally favorable conditions in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. Feed barleys at both Los Angeles and San Francisco continued in only moderate request, with most of the offerings being taken to supply immediate requirements. Consumption of barley, however, appears to be increasing, reflecting the substitution for other feed grains and commercial feedstuffs. Local No. 1 feed barley in the Sacramento Valley was netting growers around 40 to 45 cents per 100, at points taking the average freight rate to terminals. Bids on malting barley in these areas were only slightly above those for feed grades. At the close of the market June 23, local barley No. 1 feed, at San Francisco was quoted at 60 cents per 100.

Pacific northwestern barley markets weakened somewhat, with offerings from California and continued quiet demand being felt. No. 2 feed barley at Portland was quoted at 90c per 100, with eastern ordinary No. 2 bulk quoted at $1.01½ and California feed barley at 85c.

Hopes of pea growers and dealers in the Inland Empire for a federal grade before harvesting and sale of the 1932 crop was doomed Monday when a letter was received from J. E. Barr, federal market specialist, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Barr was here last December at the request of growers and dealers who petitioned the department of agriculture for a federal grade on peas. Samples were collected from both growers and dealers of the 1930 and 1931 crops. These were to be examined, classified and information obtained on which grades could be established.

Mr. Barr's letter to growers in this vicinity said that additional study would be needed before the department could set up grades and samples would be needed from future season's crops for that purpose. The department, he intimated, did not desire to set up grades upon samples of only one or two seasons which might not be true reflections of actual conditions and which would have to be changed in a year or so.

Grades are desired to stabilize both the produce, give to peas from this area a standard quality and prestige, and also to stabilize the price within grade limits.—Moscow Star-Mirror.

NOW OR NEVER, SAYS BYRD.

Probably the most scathing denunciation of wasteful governmental expenditure that has yet been uttered by any responsible public man is the impassioned plea presented to the democratic convention by former Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, and published in Collier's Weekly on the eve of the formal opening of the big democratic gathering. "We Americans are facing conditions more terrible than a war of mere leaden bullets," said Byrd. "Our enemy, economic collapse, is gaining strength daily.

"One dollar out of every four we earn goes to the two hundred fifty thousand tax collecting and tax spending agencies in this country. That preposterous machine is geared to spend more than fifteen billions yearly for national and local government that having stumbled and fallen is too top-heavy to rise. Ordinary taxation is insufficient to feed the monster and extraordinary taxation is not collectable. Why not reduce the brute to manageable proportions? To say 'it can't be done' is untrue. It isn't done because of the selfishness and greed of politicians and political machines. Reorganize it. Reorganize them.

"Eighteen million of us are being supported in federal and local offices by the rest of us and such is the power of the political machine that the eighteen million defy us. You who were not so fortunate as to hold political posts when the crash came may demand that this absurdity be revised down to sanity.

"In the lifetime of the present electorate there has been no such crisis, none of such magnitude. We shall win only if our leaders lead courageously.

"The democratic party must not fail to rise above parochialisms and all narrow interests. It is within the party's power now to prove that its fundamental principles are the true tenets of honest democracy.

"I am a democrat and have pride in my party but I cannot expect the nation to support my party if it places hope for victory and spoils above honest zeal for the national welfare in the current emergency."

Drink Yourself Rich.

The Hibbing (Minn.) Tribune, openly but respectfully suggests this slogan for the wets, "Drink yourself rich." Boiled down to three words, continues the Tribune, this slogan is the argument which is being urged in high places for the restoration of intoxicating beer as a legalized drink. Millions of us haven't the price of a meal, but make beer lawful, and we drink so much of it that the tax on it will amount to $2,000,000,000 a year. The budget will be balanced, the government's difficulties will vanish, and prosperity will be upon us again almost in one swallow. In other words, we shall "drink ourselves rich."

The Tribune, in framing the slogan certainly has the wrong slant on legalizing beer for taxation purposes, thought it may be that at Hibbing, Minn., there are few who make and enjoy home brew. At the present time one community will closely approach every other community in the manufacture of a favorite drink, but should the government permit the sale of beer, a person would not be compelled, to avoid waste, drink a full bottle. There are not so many in the United States who really care to drink an entire bottle at one time and in a few minutes, yet we have and always will have a substitute for good brew. It is not the men who haven't the price of a meal that drink beer today. Indeed not. While there are people who have it in their homes, this is no source of alarm—it is the sales in the cities that are corrupting governmental agencies and officials, and making sneaks of those who purchase it on the sly or visit the places that have it for sale, protected while there by police departments and other officials, paid to protect patrons and owners of the speakeasies and various other kinds of clubs. Place a tax on the beer that is being sold by the thirst-satisfying barons, and relieve the government of the cost of enforcing a law that is impossible of enforcement.

May Hard Month on Idaho.

Boise—Death took 298 people from Idaho during May this year, of whom 162 were males and 136 females, it was shown in the monthly report of Miss Retta Martin, recorder of vital statistics. Of these 10 were suicides, five drownings, two from firearms, two from falls, five from automobile accidents, 1 from starvation, one from stabbing and one from homicide.

Burglars Rob Troy Store.

Burglars robbed the Lane store at Troy Sunday night, obtaining $42. Nothing else was taken, according to J. F. Lane, Moscow, the owner. The money, kept in the store for change, had been hidden in a coffee grinder by the manager Saturday night and the thieves ransacked the store before finding the loot. Deputy Sheriff Jordan, who investigated, said he believed the job was done by some one acquainted with the store.

FOOD SALE.

Starting at nine o'clock Saturday morning, July 2, Ladies of St. Marys church will hold a Food Sale at the Food Sale Saturday at the Supply Co. have many good things for picnic lunches.

Idaho Delegates in Parade.

H. H. Rankin, Ashton, sturdy delegate to the democratic convention in Chicago Tuesday, in jubilation over the victory of Senator Walsh, seized the Colorado standard by mistake, but quickly exchanged it for the Idaho sign and joined in the parade which set up a noisy bedlam for several minutes. In his 10-gallon hat, Rankin must have been conspicuous as he led the Gem Staters through the crowded aisles of the convention hall.

Rankin is a man who possesses a lot of vitality and is capable of following or leading anyone in convention antics. It is rather difficult, however, to picture the dignified Mr. Pope joining in the parade.

Sunday School Picnic.

Forty-four pupils of the Congregational Sunday school enjoyed an all-day outing at Moscow City park Friday. The children's wading pool afforded the most interest as it was crowded with youngsters all day. At noon a picnic dinner was spread and each child was given all the ice cream he or she could eat in safety, together with other picnic dishes.

Accompanying and transporting the children to Moscow were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emmett, Mesdames Geo. Post, Mahlon Follett, Harold Haymond, J. A. Churchwell, W. W. Burr, E. D. Pederson, T. H. Herman, Ray Edwards, Groat, Walter Emerson, Walter Kleweno, Vern Beckman and Misses Pauline Steltz and Ruth Martinson.

O. E. S. Gleaners.

Miss Ruth Martinson entertained the O. E. S. Gleaners last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Fred Hampton conducted a program of questions and answers relative to Eastern Star.

Mrs. Walter Emerson was appointed secretary for the balance of the year. At the close of the afternoon Miss Martinson served refreshments.

Mrs. Fred Nagel will be the hostess for the July meeting.

Both Were Ladies.

Hotel accommodations were nil, and she accosted the constable as to a possible boarding house.

That worthy replied, "Well, there hain't any, unless you sleep with the station agent."

"Sir," indignantly exclaimed the young teacher, "I'll have you understand that I'm a lady."

LATAH COUNTY PIONEER BURIED HERE SATURDAY

Funeral services were held at the Short chapel in Moscow Saturday for Mrs. Ida Matilda Pauline Anderson, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Dawson Thursday. The Rev. Roger P. Oliver officiated at the services. Interment was in the Genesee Cemetery, the pallbearers being: Mike Mulalley, Percy Kinnier, Herman Theuerkauff, Wm. Schumaker, A. B. Schumaker and John Dawson.

Mrs. Anderson was born at Helsingborg, Sweden, January 16, 1846 and at the time of death was 86 years, five months and seven days of age. In 1868 she married C. P. Anderson and the same year came to the United States and shortly thereafter to Idaho, homesteading a place in Latah county, near what is now Cornwall. Mr. Anderson passed away 18 years ago while the family was living at Bellingham, Wash. During the past five years Mrs. Anderson made here home near Genesee with her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Dawson.

Deceased is survived by five sons, G. A., A. T., E. W. and O. W. Anderson of Alberta, Canada, and E. H. Anderson of Corfu, Wash.; and two daughters, Mrs. E. L. Dawson and Mrs. G. H. Dawson, both of Genesee; also 23 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Altar Society.

The Altar Society of St. Mary's church were entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Henry Lorang when arrangements were completed for a Food Sale Saturda yat the Supply Co. store. Needlework was also enjoyed. Mrs. Lorang served refreshments at the close of the afternoon. This was the last meeting until Fall.

Blanche Craft Secretary of Ass'n.

At the recent convention in Seattle of the Pacific Northwest Association of Dyers and Cleaners, Miss Blanche Craft was elected secretary. She has been employed in the office of the Ideal Laundry, Spokane, since her graduation from the Northwestern Business College in Spokane three years ago.

Bitten by Rabid Cat.

Gooding Leader: Mrs. Nellie Walker of West Gooding was bitten by a cat June 14, which tests made at Boise of the animal's head showed rabies symptoms. Mrs. Walker was advised to take the serum treatments which she is doing. Her condition is reported satisfactory.

Idaho Falls voters on Tuesday for the second time defeated a seven mills special school levy by a vote of 806 against 715 for the heaviest vote ever cast in a school election there, says the Boise Pioneer. The same proposition was defeated by a 66 majority May 24. The Pocatello Tribune remarks that the voters evidently meant it the first time.

Mrs. Jeanette Mochel and son, Louis, of Rapid City, S. D., visited friends and relatives in Lewiston the first of the week.

Falls 23 Feet Boy Is Unhurt.

The youngster had climbed the tree when a branch broke, pitching him toward the ground. His uncle, W. S. Larkin of Julinetta, reading in the shade of the tree, heard the branch break, jumped up and caught the boy, saving him from possible injury or death.

Announcement

After buying the Genesee Drug Co. stock and combining the two stores it will enable me to buy in larger quantities, and I am going to give my customers the benefit of savings thus effected.

Furthermore, when I get my stock arranged I am going to reduce on Cosmetics of all brands in the store, and will cut the prices on these items to meet any depression.

With the two stocks combined I have a good supply of paper plates, picnic lunch sets, spoons, ice cream plates, etc. Buy here for your Fourth of July picnic requirements.

I will not stock cigarettes or anything not in my line, but will stock candy.

Uniontown Game Scouted.

The playing of Guy Wicks, Genesee left fielder and third baseman, and O. Fox, Uniontown catcher, was closely observed during the baseball game at Uniontown Stock show last Wednesday, and following the game the two players mentioned were offered a trial with Pacific Coast professional ball clubs. The scout who was dispatched to Uniontown, and who witnessed the game, despite his offer, was refused, in that Mr. Wicks is engaged in coaching college amateur athletics and plays ball only for the fun of it, and an opportunity to keep in condition during the summer vacation. Mr. Fox is a student at St. Martin's college, and wishes to maintain his standing as an amateur until he has completed his course at St. Martin's.

News in Error.

In giving the box score of the Genesee-Uniontown ball game at the Stock show, Guy Wicks was not allowed credit for making four hits in as many trips to the plate. He was at bat five times, hit three singles, one double and was walked once, entitling him to a batting average of 1000 per cent.

In the complete list of prize winners at the Uniontown Livestock show the following from Genesee received prizes: Albert Carbuhn won second for the best team of farm chunks, not weighing over 2900. Barthol Weber exhibited the best 1932 colt and second for the best three 1932 colts sired by Leon's Pride.

Arwin Nordby was awarded first prize for the best saddle horse and horsemanship. Billy Edwards with the Joe Tobin Shetland, won first prize for this exhibit and Freddy Morscheck was third in a large field of contestants.

Cliff Lundt won second on his purebred aged Hereford bull; first on the purebred Hereford cow and third on the best Hereford 1932 calf; also second on group of three cows.

In the sheep division John Luedke took second on best purebred 1932 lamb; second on best purebred ram; first on purebred ewe with lamb at foot.

Milwaukee R. R. Co. Taxes in County.

Taxes for the last half of 1931 were paid in Idaho this week by the Milwaukee Railroad Company. Payment is made to the treasurer of each county in which the railroad operates. The amount varies with the road's mileage in the various counties and payment for the full year is made in two installments.

Latah county received $10,6659.86 of the $241,683.27 the Milwaukee road paid to maintain state and county governments, the highways and the schools for the benefit of the residents of the communities. Of this nearly half is allocated to schools and more than one-fifth to roads and bridges.

The earnings of the Milwaukee road in the past 15 years have not been sufficient to permit payment of any return to its stockholders, but in that period it has paid to the states and counties along its lines in taxes almost 127 millions of dollars. In light of increasing default in tax payments from other sources it is significant to note that the railroad's taxes have been paid regularly.

Rev. Beach Preaches at Orofino.

Rev. N. E. Beach went to Orofino last Sunday and preached two sermons at the Christian church there, one at 11:00 a. m. and the other at 7:30 in the evening.

PUBLIC WARNED AGAINST CIVIL SERVICE SCHOOLS

Washington, D. C.—The following statement is made by the U. S. Civil Service commission:

The commission warns the public against paying money for "coaching" courses in preparation for federal civil service examinations.

Schools which sell such courses under present conditions accept money under false pretenses. A purveyor of civil service courses is now under indictment in Iowa for false representation. It is expected that other such cases of prosecution will follow.

Comparatively few appointments are being made in the federal civil service. Vacancies which must be filled are filled by the transfer of those in the service or the reinstatement of those who have been in the service, wherever practicable.

It is seldom necessary to announce an examination. In most cases large registers of eligibles exist as a result of examinations held during the past year. When an examination is announced, the applicants are usually hundreds of times in excess of the need.

Money paid for civil service coaching courses at this time might almost as well be thrown to the four winds.

CITY MARKET ROBBED.

Members of the sheriff's force were called to Genesee early Friday morning to investigate the robbery at the City Market. Thieves, judging from the marks left, attempted at first to remove a pane of glass in a rear window but after finding a portion of the window broken and covered with a board, the person or persons entering the building, gained access by prying off the board and releasing the window lock, which permitted them to go in through an opened window. Evidently in search of money, the thief finding no loot in the form of cash, took about 16 cartons of cigarettes, mostly Lucky Strikes. The person or persons entering the building emptied a potato sack on the floor of one of the rear rooms and carried the cigarettes away in the sack. Nothing, save the cigarettes were missed by Wm. Rader, after he was informed of the building being open. Kenneth Whiteside, who came to Genesee early Friday morning noticed the rear door being open and immediately notified the owner, Mr. Rader.

Cautioned on Dumping Weeds.

Commissioners of Highway District No. 1 have been receiving complaints about people dumping weeds gathered from fields along the highways in their district, and are asking that people who make a practice of dumping waste materials, weeds and rubbish along the highways, refrain from doing so. There is a penalty prescribed for dumping along private and public property, but it is believed that the practice above mentioned will cease without exercising provisions of Idaho statutes.

Must be a great relief to a defeated candidate to reflect that he doesn't have to keep the promises he made during the campaign.—Toledo Blade.

THE SUPPLY MESSENGER

Published in the Interest of the People of Genesee and Community.

Vol. 1. JULY 1, 1932. No. 21

Family Visitor: Where is your doll, dear?

Infant (calmly): Oh, the boy next door has the custody of the doll and I'm awarded three lollipops a week alimony.

Helpful Waiter: What about some tongue sir?

Mr. H. Peck: Had that this morning.

Helpful Waiter: Well, then, how about some cold shoulder, sir?

Mr. H. Peck: I'll get that tonight!

If the family had decided on the seashore, the marriageable daughter looks her best in a bathing suit.

Many a man who has a nicely furnished home is given credit—by the installment house.

Gladys: George proposed nine times before I accepted him.

Helen: To whom?

There was once a cynic who thought he knew everything that was going to happen at a picture show. But he was wrong. One night the theatre caught fire.

Public speaking teaches you to think fast on your feet. So does the glaring cafeteria patron behind you.

A jiffy is the length of time in which it takes to destroy a reputation it took years to build.

We know how it is. As the old man said during the party: "My house is in this neighborhood only half the time—the other half the time the neighborhood is in my house.

Grace: I wonder whether Jack will love me when I'm old.

Stella: You'll know pretty soon now, dearie.

The Altar Society will hold a Food Sale at this store, Saturday, July 2.

IDAHO DELEGATION VOTE FOR REPEAL PROHIBITION

Idaho threw the national democratic convention into some confusion Wednesday night when it became necessary to take a second poll of the delegates on the prohibition plank of the democratic platform. With 23 delegates at Chicago having a voting power of eight in the convention, the first roll of the delegation gave eight votes for resubmission and 15 for repeal of prohibition. Mayor Pope summoned the delegation for a second vote, which resulted in three changing to resubmission and later this number was increased to 12 for resubmission, giving the repealists only 11 votes. The chair ruled that the original list of delegates as chosen at Weiser be permitted to vote, which threw half the vote of the majority of those present against resubmission, five of the 23 were not allowed to vote and one was absent from the floor, presumably Day, who challenged the vote as announced by Chairman Pope of the Idaho delegation.

After the situation was cleared by the convention chairman, Idaho went on record as voting its entire strength in favor of repeal. Day carried the Idaho banner in the parade, resulting after the one-sided poll, although Mr. Pope attempted to keep Idaho's banner out of the parade. Day, however, had his way, and Idaho was recognized among the milling, shouting throng.

The first poll of the Idaho delegation was in itself, a surprise. Those voting for resubmission were: J. P. Pope, Boise; T. A. Walters, Boise; S. O. Tannehill, Lewiston; Lewis Williams, Boise; Elizabeth Krier, Lewiston; Frank Martin, Sr., Boise; Robert Elder, Coeur d'Alene; Compton I. White, Clarks Fork.

Those favoring repeal on the first poll were: J. J. McCue, Boise; J. F. Jenny, Cottonwood; John L. Moore, Blackfoot; Mrs. Alice Cosgrove, Pocatello; W. A. Fife, Pocatello; Harold Toomer, Montpelier; Mrs. Will Simons, Boise; Mrs. Frank E. Johnesse, Boise; H. L. Day, Wallace; H. H. Rankin, Ashton; L. E. Dillingham, Mackay; Mrs. Teresa Graham, Coeur d' Alene; George W. Hunt, Pocatello; Miss Ellen Healy, Coeur d'Alene and J. H. Hawley, Boise.

Mrs. Cosgrove, Mrs. Graham and Miss Healy were the ones who changed their vote, Mrs. Graham changing because she wished to respect the attitude of Governor Ross, for whom she is an alternate. The Idaho delegation personnel at the convention is greatly changed from that selected at Weiser.

Compton I. White, Jr., son of the democratic candidate for congress from this district, is with his father at the convention, and contributed to the entertainment program along with Will Rogers and others. Young White gave a recition and was so favorably received that the convention forced him to respond with an encore.

The Whites are reported to have made the trip to Chicago with a motor truck, the elder Mr. White being an advocate of the use of more silver in our monetary system.

LAPWAI HERE SUNDAY

A ball game has been scheduled for Sunday, July 3 with the Lapwai Indians, the proceeds at the gate to be divided, the winner taking the larger portion, as the two teams will not meet again this year. Lapwai is given credit for having one of the best ball clubs in the valley this year and has won and lost a game from the strong Juliaetta club, which has dealt defeat once to Genesee also. It should be a good game, as most of the fans here know many of the Lapwai players and know that they are in the habit of playing good ball, especially against Genesee.

over the infield and scored on a hit through short by C. Gruell. A. Millard was out, at center.

Seventh inning—E. Blume was out, short to first. Olsen hit deep and sharp to left center and drew up at the plate before the ball was returned to the infield. He hit for the second circuit blow of the game. C. Gray hit safely, stole third and went to third on an error. Geltz fanned. Anderson did likewise. Juliaetta: C. Woody fanned; Leavitt was out, Anderson to first; Glenn took first on an error at third. E. Millard hit safely and Chet Woody's grounder was deflected by Anderson, Glenn scoring on the error. Tilden went out to Geltz in center field.

Eighth inning—Weber was out, Tilden to first. L. Gray was out, short to first and Wicks was out, third to first. Juliaetta: Carlson made one difficult at short and went to first on an error; Gruell hit to score Carlson. Millard was out in the air to Anderson. C. Woody was out, short to first and Leavitt flew out to short.

Ninth inning—G. Blume was out, pitcher to first; E. Blume was safe at first on an error but was forced at second by Olsen who took first on the choice of plays. C. Gray was out, pitcher to first. Juliaetta: Glenn was out in the air to second; E. Millard was out, second to first. Woody hit and went to second when Anderthrew to first. Tilden was out to Anderson in the air.

Buddy Mochel Sings Over KWSC.

Buddy Mochel, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Mochel sang the choruses of five songs over radio station KWSC, Pullman State College, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. His numbers were Jean Anthony's Lucky Hat Song, Let's Go Bye Bye, Who's Your Little Whozit, Springtime in the Rockies and Coming Round the Mountain. Buddy has learned these songs by his attention given them over the radio.

Highway Construction Under Way.

Max Kuney's highway construction crew has moved its equipment to Genesee from Craigmont. The crusher is being set up on the quarry site on the Fred Shirrod ranch, and a loading platform is being constructed at the crushed rock stock pile near the West End Farmers Union elevator. The rock will be pushed onto the platform by a Caterpillar tractor with a "bull-dozer" attachment, and trucks will drive under the platform and receive the crushed rock to be spread on the 13 miles of highway to be resurfaced and later oiled.

Local labor has been employed to cut off corners on the section of highway under improvement and also to make minor fills. The road is being widened about four feet to meet requirement of the federal highway engineering department.

A family reunion was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Jeanette Mochel when her four sons were home for the occasion, Louis Mochel of Rapid City, S. D.; Leonard Mochel and family and Henry Mochel and family of Lewiston and Chester Mochel and family.

ifested in the contest for ladies at the celebration, especially in the rolling pin throwing contest, although practice has revealed no serious mishaps to date. That soothing instrument, known as the rolling pin, should provide an incentive for a thrilling contest and those best qualified in hurling one will receive liberal prizes.

Winners of the tug-o-war, between teams selected from Cowcreek and Rimrock will receive cash awards, sufficient almost to see them through the day's celebration, and it is time for the two sections to begin selection of the men who will do the pulling on the Fourth.

As now planned the greased pig will be released during the ball game and those who wish to enter are expected to be in readiness to grab him when this event is announced.

Most of the events for the younger children will be run in the forenoon while the events for the older ones will take place after dinner.

The fireworks display arrived Monday of this week, and is larger than was expected. The display will begin as soon as it becomes dark, and after the display the big carnival dance begins at the high school opera house. Being an old home town celebration, the music will be modern in a great degree but there will also be music for square dances, circle two steps and so forth, with caps, novelties and noisemakers given each dancer to assist them in thoroughly enjoying a Fourth of July dance.

Concessions are being asked for hot-dog and other sandwich, drinks but hot-dog and other sandwich, drinks and entertainment stands, and the outlook for a glorious celebration is brighter now than at any time since it was decided that Genesee would have a celebration, one that is in keeping with the times, yet affording a sufficient outlet for the outburst of the holiday spirit.

It can more than reasonably be expected that a good time is in store for everyone that attends this celebration. Bring the children and have a good time that will not soon be forgotten.

Genesee Valley Church.

Mrs. Nels Flamoe will entertain the Ladies Aid of the Genesee Valley Lutheran church at her home Thursday, July 7. This will be a Mission meeting.

MR. AND MRS. FICKENS HOME FROM TRIP TO MINNESOTA

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Fickens, who left Genesee June 4 to visit the former's parents at Blue Earth, Minn., arrived home the evening of July 3. Leaving Genesee about noon June 4, they drove to La Grande, Ore., making over-night stops after that at Twin Falls, Idaho, and Green River, Wyo., arriving at Raymer, Colo., where they visited five days with Mr. Ficken's brother, Henry Fickens and wife, who have visited here. Leaving Raymer, accompanied by the brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fickens drove to Kearney, Nebr., and the second day drove to Sioux Falls, S. D., where they stopped to visit another brother, Herman Fickens, after which they drove to Blue Earth, via Mankato.

It was the first visit home for Mr. Fickens in many years and while there he visited for ten days with his parents and friends.

On the return trip the travelers stopped one day at Sioux Falls, and then drove on to Rapid City, S. Dak., spending some time viewing the wonders of the Black Hills country. Leaving Rapid City they went to Buffalo, Wyo., and camped one night on the summit of the Big Horn Mountains above Tensleep, continuing their trip to arrive at Fish Bridge, Yellowstone Park, the next day. While in the park they stopped at the various major points of interest, such as Lake, Thumb, Old Faithful and Mammoth camps, leaving via the northern gateway, through Gardiner, and on to Missoula, via Livingstone, Mont. The last day's journey was from Missoula to Genesee.

Mr. and Mrs. Fickens seem very much pleased to be home in the Palouse country again, and while there are prospects of better crops this year in the middle-west, the people are in dire straits and have experienced times more difficult than we have yet witnessed here. Heavy rains have retarded crop growth in Minnesota and Dakota, and yields of small grain and corn will be below normal. Corn was uneven in the fields and yellow in color, and small grain in sections was short but heading out. Idaho has the best crops of any state visited. Colorado dry land farming around Raymer, was much in need of moisture, and this combined with the effects of a depression made Idaho look better to them than ever. After leaving Missoula, Mont., on the return trip, Mrs. Fickens said she saw a road sign giving the number of miles to Spokane, and it looked so good to her that she believed she could eat it. This was the first trip east for Mrs. Fickens, and she is contented to remain in the Gem state.

Mushlitz Family in Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Mushlitz and daughter, Beverley, of Ventura, Calif., are visiting relatives in Lewiston and at Troy. Mr. Mushlitz, who is vice-principal of the junior high school at Ventura, was formerly superintendent of the Genesee schools. Mr. Mushlitz has a month's leave and Sunday he called at the Robert Emmett home here. Wednesday Mr. Mushlitz, his wife and daughter and mother visited Mr. and Mrs. Emmett.

Juliaetta Wins Lewiston Tourney.

Juliaetta surprised not only the fans gathered at Lewiston for the baseball tournament there on the third and Fourth of July, but surprised everyone interested. The Meloneers won from Lewiston on the first day with Art Tilden pitching and Juliaetta nosed out Clarkston on the second day in the single elimination play-off. Clarkston led during most of the game as Tilden went in for sixth innings in the second game, but had to be relieved by Stuart.

THREE SLIGHTLY INJURED AT CELEBRATION RODEO

Joe Bottendorff of Colton received an injury over his right eye when a bucking horse ran into a crowd of onlookers at the corral, while the rodeo was in progress here on the Fourth of July. Bettendorff was unable to explain just how the accident happened. It was not a serious or painful injury, although the wound was opened deep and was about three inches long. It is presumed that he either fell and was stepped on by some of the other bystanders or he was struck by a stirrup as the bronc crashed into the crowd.

John Hickman came out of the chute on a mean-looking bareback mount and as the horse twisted to unseat his rider Hickman was struck on the right cheek by the horses's head. He was unconscious for a few minutes and Tuesday morning he consulted Dr. Leavitt to ascertain the possibility of a broken jaw. There were no bones broken but the cheek was badly swollen and discolored.

Sam Nye came in contact with the hoofs of the last brone ridden by Fred Hayden of Sprague, Wash., and was rendered unconscious for a few minutes. Considerable concern was given his condition and it was thought that he had been rushed to a doctor, but Nye was taken to an automobile and within a few minutes was apparently himself again.

Former Genesee Boy Stops Here.

Arthur Meschefske, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Meschefske of Stetsonville, Wisc., and two other men, Norby Danen and Reuben Platetter of the same city, stopped in Genesee a short time enroute to Yellowstone National Park, which is included in their long automobile trip from their home, into Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho. They left here Tuesday afternoon to drive to St. Maries and north to intercept Highway No. 10 and go from there to Livingston, Mont., and south into the park. They will then leave via the eastern entrance and swing northeasterly, going through South Dakota and then home.

The Meschefske family about 12 years ago farmed what is known as the Sullivan place near Genesee, and they will undoubtedly be remembered by many here. Arthur met and talked with several of the men on the street while here, all of whom recognized the young man.

Mrs. Joe Brakebill of Portland, came Saturday to visit a week with her mother, Mrs. Woodley and other relatives.

FAVORABLE WEATHER GREETS LARGE CELEBRATION CROWD

Genesee was favored by a large attendance and by fine weather at its Fourth of July celebration. Storms threatened early in the morning, but by 9:30 in the morning, the clouds began clearing, and the sun shone brightly throughtout what was considered an exceptionally interesting and enjoyable celebration. The day was rather full with the rodeo added to an already long list of entertainments, but it is the opinion of most of the people who were here that this part of the porgram more than justified a position on the day's festivities and provided more than two hours of typical western entertainment. Chet Sams and Gus Gamble brought in a part of their herd of wild horses and a number of steers, which were ridden mostly by local men and boys. There were, however, several men from the Big Bend who were at Kennedy Ford Sunday and on hearing of the celebration at Genesee, came here early in the day.

People crowded onto the rodeo grounds and entered into the spirit of the day, all ready to assist in making the rodeo a success, and it was. Men and boys with horses had a big time following the events as they were put on, the bucking horses being saddled in front of the grandstands and the bareback mounts and steers being released from a chute at the corral in the northeast corner of the park. A few minor injuries were received by those participating in the rodeo and a young man was struck by a horse when it broke into a crowd. No serious injuries resulted, however.

Morning Program

The program opened at the ball park at 10 o'clock in the morning with a 50 yard dash for boys of 12 years and under. Richard Sampson won first place; Bob Schooler, second and Jack Magee, third, and were awarded merchandise prizes of 75 cents, 50 cents and 25 cents, respectively.

Arthur Broemmeling won first in the dash for boys of 6 years and under, winning 75 cents in cash; Wallace Egland was second, to win 50 cents and Carrol Steinoff was third and received 25 cents.

Children's egg race: Owing to the large number of contestants for this event it was necessary to run several heats, and in the finals, Bernice Isaksen won first for the girls and Bernadine Jacobs, second. Earl DeMers was first for the boys and Bob Smith was second, the first prize winners receiving a pair of tennis shoes and second prize winners were given 50 cents each.

At 11 o'clock the people turned to the city park where the combined Uniontown-Genesee band, under the direction of Rev. Fr. Carey, presented an hour's program of marcb music.

Afternoon Program

The Rimrockers had little difficulty in pulling the Cowcreekers in the tug of war, taking less than 10 second to drag the Cowcreekers over the line. Cowcreek was outweighed by the ten-men team which pulled for the Rimrockers and to the winning team went the $5.00 in cash.

Ladies' nail driving contest. Four ladeis took their places before a large bridge timber in front of the grandstand and when the signal was given Mrs. Harry Stricker lost no time in driving three large nails in the timber to win first place and $1.50 in merchandise. Mrs. L. C. Hayden was second and won $1.00 in marchandise.

Rolling pin throwing contest: Mrs. Harry Stricker outclassed the field in throwing a rolling pin and won the sack of flour. There were six entries in this event and it brought out a numbers of cheerers for each contestant. Mrs. Earl Bigling of Joel, was second. She was coached in throwing by her husband who pleaded with her to win from Mrs. Stricker, but this was impossible. Mrs. Bigland, won the 20-pound sack of whole wheat flour.

A large and enthusiastic crowd witnessed an exceptionally good ball game here on the Fourth when Genesee came from behind to win the holiday classic, a game that was close throughout and second only to the Juliaetta-Genesee 14-inning game here a few weeks ago. It was a game so much different than the usual holiday game that it has been a source of much favorable comment. Uniontown has now won two games and Genesee has the same number of wins from the neighboring club to its credit. Genesee won the first and last of the four-game series, and it was such a good game that fans have suggested a play-off before the season is brought to a close.

Stub Geltz had two fly balls to handle in his position at centerfield, and one of those was one that brought the large crowd to their feet. With a man on third base Hi Jacobs drove a long hard fly to left center and the man on third took a leisurely jaunt toward the plate never expecting that the ball would be caught, but Geltz went far and wide and made the catch for the put out and returned the ball before Englehart who started for home could return to touch third base and score. Three successive hits, by Geltz, Emmett and Les Gray in the seventh inning also was an exciting period of an exciting game. Four runs were scored in this inning by Genesee, and they came when Uniontown had a two-run lead.

Jacobs went the entire route for Uniontown and Anderson did the same for Genesee, the latter becoming stronger in the last two innings while Jacobs showed signs of slowing up in the seventh and eighth.

First inning: Busch was out, pitcher to first; Hattrup was out, short to first: O. Fox and Moneymaker hit safely but C. Fox flew out to L. Gray. Genesee: Les Gray was out, pitcher to first; Wicks singled, stole second, also third and scored when G. Blume went to first on an error. E Blume hit to advance G. Blume and Olsen made one very hard to handle at short, scoring G. Blume. C. Gray was out at first unassisted and Anderson struck out.

Second inning: R. Jutte was granted a life on first through an error; Englehart hit but W. Jutte was out to short, Jacobs went out, short to first and Busch's grounder was taken by Wicks who threw to first for the put out. Genesee: Geltz was out to Jacobs; Weber, out, pitcher to first, and Gray was out to first, unassisted.

Third inning: Hattrup flew out to C. Gray; O. Fox hit for two bases but remained at the keystone corner while Moneymaker flew out to left field and C. Fox was out, short to first. Genesee: Wicks went to first on an error at short; Geo. Blume drove one hard toward center, Hattrup coming in to make a shoestring catch and relaying the ball to second who threw to first to get Wicks before he could return. E. Blume was out to first, unassisted.

Fourth inning: R. Jutte struck out; Englehart rolled to the pitcher for a put out at first and W. Jutte was out, second to first. Genesee: Olsen was out, pitcher to first. C. Gray fanned, and Anderson flew out to center.

Fifth inning: Jacobs was out, third to first; Busch grounded to Blume who was drawn out of position, Anderson failing to touch the initial sack when the ball was tossed to him. Hattrup went to first when he bunted to advance Busch, Olsen having had difficulties in picking up the ball. O. Fox forced Hattrup. Moneymaker hit to score Busch and the side was retired when C. Fox went out, pitcher to first Genesee: Geltz was out, third to first. Weber, out, pitcher to first. L. Gray went to first on an error and Wicks was out, third to first.

Sixth inning: R. Jutte hit, advanced when Englehart took first on an error. W. Jutte hit to score R. Jutte and with one man on Hi Jacibs pushed hard on a fence ball but Geltz was there after much effort and took the hard chance, holding Englehart at third. Busch flew out to Geltz and Hattrup retired the side when he swung at three. Genesee: Anderson was out, pitcher to first. Geltz hit; Emmett singled sharply sending Geltz to third; L. Gray hit to score Geltz; Wicks took first on a fielder's choice, Emmett scoring on the play; Geo. Blume's grounder went through Moneymaker at second, scoring Gray and Wicks came tearing across the plate also. E. Blume was out, catcher to first; Olsen walked and C. Gray flew out to right field.

Frost Reported Saturday Night.

Archie Harris who has a garden tract south of the railroad tracks, west of the baseball park, reported a light frost Saturday night, and incidently remembered that forty years ago on the Fourth of July the Pine Grove section saw snow. Some vegetation taken from the Harris garden tract showed signs of frost, but no great damage resulted to crops.

SENATOR BORAH ENDORSES RECORD OF JOHN THOMAS

Idaho Falls, Idaho, July 2—Senator William E. Borah has indorsed the record of his republican colleague, Senator John Thomas, and in a letter to M. B. Yeaman, veteran Bonneville county legislator, declared that "if I can be of any service in the matter of his (Thomas') reelection I shall be only too happy to render it."

Because the question of Senator Borah's attitude toward Senator Thomas was often the subject of conversation at various gatherings Mr. Yeaman wrote Senator Borah asking for an expression of his attitude on the subject. His letter to Mr. Yeaman follows in full:

"In reply to the question which you say is being asked as to whether I am interested in my colleague's reelection I desire to say I am very much interested in it. The personal relationship between my colleague and myself is most cordial. No matter arises here of importance that we do not frankly discuss with each other. In addition to that he is a faithful industrious, capable senator. No one could be more vigilant than Senator Thomas in looking after the interests of his state. You can be assured therefore, that if I can be of any service in the matter of his reelection I shall be only too happy to render it. I do not know just when I shall reach Idaho. I have some matters of a personal nature which I must give some attention to but I expect to be in the state before many weeks after the adjournment period."

William E. Borah.

MISS BRENNAN DIES.

Funeral services for Miss Jane Brennan, age 89, were held Tuesday, June 28, at 9 a. m., from St. Joseph's church, Spokane, Rev. Fr. Callanan officiating. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery.

Miss Brennan will be remembered by many in Genesee, as she was one of the early pioneers. She is survived by Lulu M. Brennan, adopted; one sister, Mrs. B. L. Keane, and a nephew, Thomas Keane of Spokane, and other relatives in Colorado. She died following an operation which was performed June 18.

Miss Hanson to Teach at Vancouver.

Miss Alice Hanson returned home from Sioux Falls, S. D., Monday. She purchased a Chevrolet coupe and made the trip to Idaho alone, leaving from Minneapolis, Minn, where she visited friends after the closing of school in Sioux Falls. She has accepted a position to teach in the deaf and mute institution at Vancouver, Wash., this Fall. Miss Hanson has been specializing in this particular work at Sioux Falls.

WHEAT MARKETS QUIET WITH A LAGGING DEMAND

Domestic markets ruled generally steady during the week ending July 1, with favorable prospects for the new Spring wheat crops in both the United States and Canada and continued dull export inquiry for North American grain largely offsetting the low threshing returns and small marketings of the new winter wheat in southwestern areas, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Foreign markets continued quiet with prices registering moderate declines under the influence of dull inquiry for foreign wheat and the generally favorable prospects in important producing areas of Europe and also to some extent by the weakness in Winnipeg following the unusually heavy country marketings. Feed grains were weak, with prices tending downward despite the light offerings. Generally favorable prospects for new feed grain crops continued to be an important weakening factor.

Domestic Wheat Situation.

The domestic wheat situation at the beginning of the new crop year differs materially from that of a year ago. Stocks of old crop grain are still large, but commercial stocks on June 25 were around 36,000,000 bushels under those of a year ago. The winter wheat crop is the smallest since 1925, with private trade estimates as of July 1 averaging 428,000,000 bushels, or around 359,500,000 bushels under the official estimate of last year's crop. Private forecasts of the spring wheat outturn average 274,000,000 bushels, which suggests a total domestic wheat crop of 702,000,000 bushels, or around 190,000,000 under that of a year ago.

Harvesting of the new winter wheat crop has advanced to north central Illinois, with threshing in progress in southern sections. From around one-half to three-fourths of the crop has been harvested in Kansas, but harvesting is not yet general in the northern part of the states. Yields are generally light and indications are that some thin fields will not be cut because of prevailing prices. Harvesting has been practically completed in southern Oklahoma and is well advanced in northern counties. Rains during the week interrupted harvesting operations and lowered the quality of the crop, with receipts at terminals grading lower as a result of high moisture. Weather conditions have favored harvesting in soft winter wheat areas and threshing has advanced into the southern sections of Ohio and Illinois.

Foreign Wheat Conditions.

Foreign wheat markets were quiet with demand only moderately active and prices fluctuating within a narrow range. The more favorable crop outlook in important producing areas of Europe was a weakening factor, although some local storm damage occurred in parts of Italy and France. In northwestern Europe conditions are generally quite favorable although crops are still some what late. Prospects in the countries of the Lower Danube are below those of a year ago and preliminary acreage estimates

GENESEE CELEBRATES GLORIOUS FOURTH

Fourth of July as celebrated in Genesee this year proves beyond a doubt that it was just the kind of a celebration the people wanted. There was plenty for the youngsters to participate in, although toward the middle of the day, the older youngsters seized an opportunity to enjoy themselves, some more than others, perhaps.

It has also been proven that Genesee likes to have the people come to town, and all during the day everyone was more than willing to cooperate in making the day one long to be remembered. Fred Meyer and Ronald Geltz, who this year undertook the task of managing a baseball club, are largely responsible for the success of the celebration, as it was sponsored by the baseball club, the town standing in support and furnishing the cash and merchandise prizes and otherwise guaranteeing the celebration from a financial standpoint. Owing to the depression it was decided at the outset to make the celebration as inexpensive as possible for those attending, and economy was stressed as much as possible, with the exception of having as much fun as possible.

The combined band, composed of members from Uniontown and Genesee contributed much to the success of the day and Sams and Gamble, who received little or nothing for their efforts, brought to town a string of bucking horses and cattle that furnished many a thrill for the crowd.

Not a single complaint has been heard about Genesee's celebration, but there have been innumerable commendatory remarks heard on the streets, which should be an inducement to provide entertainments such as the one just enjoyed, in years to come. It must be remembered also, that it was only through the wholehearted cooperation of the entire community that the celebration was a success.

THIRTEEN RUNS SCORED BY GENESEE TO BEAT LAPWAI

Genesee jumped into the lead in the first inning in the baseball game with Lapwai here Sunday and remained in front throughout the nine innings, with the exception of the second when the Indians tied the score, 3-3. Putnam started off on the mound for Genesee and struck out the two first men and chalked up two more strikeouts in the second, but weakened as the sun went behind the clouds and rain threatened. Bendelle, who had been playing at left field, came in at the opening of the sixth inning and allowed one run. Weber pitched the final inning against the Indians, after the Genesee players made an almost complete shift of positions, and the rain which threatened began to fall.

The game was rather exciting at times when poor base running cost Genesee a run or more. Lapwai contributed to the excitement when Jackson stole second and McCormick ran across the plate after a try was made to catch Jackson.

First inning: Types and George struck out and White, the brilliant catcher of years gone by, was out, second to first. Genesee: L. Gray was out, third to first; Wicks hit; Geo. Blume hit to advance Wicks to third; Blume stole second and both came home on E. Blume's long single. Olsen swung hard at three and C. Gray was out in the air to second.

Second inning: Stuart hit for two bases; McCormick went out, third to first, Wicks holding Stuart on second. Jackson hit, scoring Stuart. Jackson went to second standing up and scored on Lane's blow to the outfield which rooled away from Geltz. Putnam struck out Eneas and Stevens. Genesee: Bendele went out, short to first; Geltz drove one down to Eneas who failed to handle it. Putnam forced Geltz and L. Gray forced Putnam.

Third inning: L. Gray made a nice try for Types' fly to right field, but dropped the ball. George forced Types at second. White flew out to short and Stuart was out, third to first. Genesee: Wicks singled; G. Blume went to first when Types bobbled his ground ball. Both men on bases advanced on an error by the Lapwai catcher. Ed Blume fanned, and Olsen pushed Wicks and G. Blume across with his long two-base hit against the left field board fence. C. Gray was out, second to first.

Fourth inning: McCormick poled one through the right center field fence, but ground rules held him at second. Jackson hit to third base and in an attempt to catch McCormick between second and third a bad throw permitted McCormick to advance. The midget Lapwai second baseman who started the play, took second while Putnam was going to the box and in making a throw to second McCormick crossed the plate just ahead of C. Gray's throw to the rubber. Lane went out to center in the air. Eneas hit and Stevens was out in the air to third. Types flew out to the pitcher. Genesee: Bendele, Geltz and Putnam each went out on fly balls, to the catcher, third and center, respectively.

Fifth inning: Georfie went to first on an error at third. White was out, pitcher to first. Stewart was safe on a fielder's choice when a play was made to get George at second. L. McCormick mixed up matters and two other misplays between the bases netted Lapwai two runs without a hit. Jackson being forced at second for the second out and Eneas was out, third to first. Genesee: L. Gray singled, was advanced by Wicks when he sacrificed to place a man in scoring position. G. Blume's high fly to the pitcher was misjudged, placing two men on bases. Ed Blume crashed a two base hit against the board fence in left field to score Wicks and G. Blume. Olsen hit for his second two-base blow, scoring E. Blume. C. Gray was out in the air to third and Bendele was out, third to first.

Sixth inning: Stevens was out, pitcher to first, Bendelle replacing Putnam on the mound. Types hit and stole second. George went out to C. Gray in the air. White hit sharply and distinctly to right field, but L. Gray took the ball and threw to the place to catch Types. Genesee: Geltz hit; Weber hit; Les Gray and Wicks were out at first unassisted after the two on bases advanced. Geo. Blume hit for two bases to score Geltz and Weber and Ed Blume hit to score G. Blume. Olsen drove a long fly to deep center, but George camped under the ball to take it for the third out.

Seventh inning: Stuart was out to pitcher. McCormick fanned and Jackson flew out to first. Genesee: C. Gray hit safely; Bendelle was walked. Geltz forced Bendelle and took first. Weber went to first on a fielder's choice, C. Gray drawing the play at third. Les Gray hit, to score C. Gray and Geltz. Wicks flew out to center and Weber scored on Geo. Blume's hot grounder through short. E. Blume was out in the air to the pitcher.

Eighth inning: Lane was out to C. Gray at second. Eneas took first on an error at first. Stevens struck out; Types walked. George hit to score Eneas. White hit feebly and was then forced at second by Stuart. Genesee: Olsen was out, pitcher to first; C. Gray flew out to left field; Bendelle walked and Geltz flew out on a long fly to center.

Ninth inning: Weber pitching. McCormick went out, third to first, Bendelle making the throw to Wicks at short. Jackson flew out to C. Gray who had shifted to short. Lane put a finish to the game when Wicks took his fly at first.

Dwight Mayer was given a birthday party last Friday afternoon at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Mayer, celebrating his sixth birthday. Seventeen guests were present and at the close of an afternoon of games, ice cream and cake were served. Beverly Mayer of Troy was an out-of-town guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wallace and Bobby Gene Lorang of Spokane, accompanied by Wm. Craig of Kellogg, came Friday to visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ingle and to celebrate the Fourth here. The three first-named returned to Spokane Monday night, while Mr. Craig will remain for a week, and then go to Lewiston, Lapwai and Kamiah to visit old-time friends.

Emmett Man Knows Hard Times.

"The people are complaining a lot," said one of Emmett's pioneer farmers the other day. "But as a matter of fact they don't know anything about real hard times. I came out here in the early '60's. There was a drouth lasting two years; got so dry I could not spit; didn't write a letter back home for four months because I didn't have the price of a postage stamp; had no lamp and no candles. The only light we had in the shack was made by three or four lightning bugs that I managed to catch in a net and put in a cage I fixed up. The first crop of oats I raised yielded five bushels to the acre—one bushel of oats and four bushels of cheat. For three years the only meat we had was rabbit steak. I ate so much rabbit meat that my body was covered with fur and I could work my ears like a jackrabbit. We managed to get a few chickens and then came the crickets. They ate up everything else there was on the place and then ate the chickens. Then they would sit around and fan themselves with chicken feathers. These people, I tell you, don't know anything about hard times."—Emmett Index.

also showed a marked reduction. Recent hot, dry weather is hastening maturity in the Lower Danube Basin, which may result in considerable light weight grain. Payments of export bounties and other forms of governmental aids in this area have been abolished or have become largely ineffective, and these factors, together with prospective smaller outlets, suggest less competition from Danube wheats in the world markets during the coming year. The Hungarian crop is now estimated at 66,605,000 bushels against 67,057,000 bushels harvested last year.

Spring wheat prospects in all of the principal producing areas of the Northern hemisphere are generally favorable, with the outlook in North America much better than that of a year ago. Conditions of the domestic spring wheat crop, according to trade estimates, indicate an outturn more than twice as large as that of last season. The crop in North Dakota is generally headed and early planted grain is filling well. Reports of grasshopper damage during the week centered mainly in the area in the northern part of the Red River Valley, comprising the southwestern corner of Minnesota, northeastern corner of North Dakota and south central section of Manitoba. Lower temperatures throughout the entire northwest towards the close of the week tended to relieve apprehension concerning grasshopper damage and rust developments. Canadian western grain crops have maintained their favorable condition and liklihood of heavy damage from cut worms is now largely past. Grasshoppers, however, are still a serious menace, particularly in Manitoba. Private trade estimates of the outturn in the Prairie Provinces forecast a crop of around 450,000,000 to 500,000,000 bushels. The Russian seeding is now practically completed, with a reportde area sown up to June 20 showing only a slight gain over that of 10 days earlier, and totaling 53,620,000 acres against 62,-516,000 areas at the corresponding date last year. Conditions are still fairly good, although serious damage is threatened by hot, dry weather in the Lower Volga regions.

GAME AT POTLATCH SUNDAY.

Sunday the Genesee ball club goes to Potlatch to play ball. Potlatch has been going along very well this season, and it may be that fans will have an opportunity of witnessing a real struggle, such as Potlatch and Genesee have had in years past.

Largest Family Undecided.

So far no worthy claim has been presented for the largest family attending the celebration. A large family drove onto the fields here the Fourth and when an attempt was made to ascertain the number of children, Art Springer fled, almost disrobed with Cody Rader joining the dash for freedom. Art resembled in some degree the mother and Cody in his long whiskers had all the earmarks of a father.

Lefty Emmett Loses Pig.

After catching the greased pig at the celebration here July Fourth, Leland Emmett lost him again when, after the events at the ball park, someone released the porker from the crate in which he was placed.

Emmett and two other contestants entered the contest, Leland catching the porker after it ran into a wheat field adjoining the park.

Bernard Luvaas and Paul Dahl, Moscow won the three-legged race and a carton of cigarettes and Ed Blume and Ed Weber took second and were given a roll of snuff.

Fat men's race: Pete Pederson and Louis Scharnhorst won the prizes in the fat men's race, placing first and second, respectively, the first winning a flashlight and the latter five gallons of gasoline.

100 yard dash: Bernard Luvaas won first in the century from a large field of runners and Ralph Broemmeling was second, the former winning $1.50 in cash and the latter $1.00 in cash.

Relay race: The relay team composed of Leander Johnnn, Ralph Broemmeling and Robert Broemmeling, were first in this event and received a cash award of $3.00 for the team. Bernard Luvaas, Leonard Flamoe and Paul Dahl, composed the second place relay team, and won $1.50 in cash.

Pony race: Joe Schooler came in first in the pony race and won the riding bridle. Chet Green was second and won $1.00 in cash and Bob Lorang on the Tobin pony, was third, to win 50 cents in cash.

The fireworks display was shown at the ball park as soon as it became dark, and there were a great many people there with their children to enjoy the display.

People began to assemble at the high school gymnasium at 9 o'clock in the evening following the fireworks display and within a short time the floor was crowded to capacity. Approximately two hundred purchased dance tickets and at an appropriate time carnival novelties were distributed to the merry holiday crowd.

Everyone present at the celebration and there were more than expected, were well pleased with the entire program, not only for the day of entertainment but at the cost of celebrating. The baseball club, which sponsored the celebration, were supported by the business houses and every endeavor was made to give the celebrants a good time without causing them to spend much money. The sponsors of the celebration and those in support were well pleased with the venture and there was sufficient money derived from the small admission fees to pay all expenses and leave a small reserve.

The town of Genesee wishes to thank those who chose to come to Genesee to celebrate and assist in making the celebration such a success. Those who cooperated by entering the various events and assisting in staging the numerous activities are also thanked and it is hoped that everyone enjoyed the day.

COMPTON I. WHITE BELIEVES RANK AND FILE WANT SILVER

The democratic national convention of 1932 has passed into history, says Compton I. White, author of this article. From surface indications and the platform adopted, it might appear that the democratic party as an organization is indifferent or might be opposed to silver money, but at heart the rank and file of the delegates (with a few notable exceptions) representing the great body of the democratic electorate from all sections and from all states are for silver.

There was at the convention here in Chicago under the surface an overwhelming sentiment for the adoption of a constructive financial program that would include the remonetization of silver. This sentiment was not afforded an opportunity for expression. Delegates holding these views, and they were legion, had no way of ascertaining what their fellow delegates from other states were thinking. A small group of influential reactionary leaders supported by cautious, political aspirants and office holders, not to use the word politicians, captured control of the powerful resolutions sub-committee; instituted to conduct hearings and give expression to party sentiment, and closed its doors to advocates of monetary reform that included any plan touching on silver, while its meetings were thrown open to the discussion of minor issues. Much precious time was consumed in listening to the pros and cons of these issues, notably the legalized sale of intoxicating beverages; in some cases by people not qualified to gve a connected discourse on the issue under consideration. However, when it came to drafting a resolution on the vital issue of financial policy, the hearings were confined strictly to the membership of the committee itself, and all attempts to get a hearing by silver advocates outside of the committee members were barred by closed doors. The delegation headed by Governor Dern of Utah was denied admittance.

After getting a cross-section of the views of the eastern and southern delegates and finding such a preponderance of sentiment favorable to silver, there is a feeling among some of the silver advocates that if they could have had a more constructive organization and less of political lubrication within the membership of the committee, the party would have sponsored a stronger financial program in its platform.

However, the triumph of a liberal presidential candidate, who by his own words is known to be "making a thorough study of the entire question of bimetallism and monetary reform," is a source of gratification to most every one.

It is undeniable that the silver advocates by lack of ogranization and led by cautious, political aspirants, have lost a great opportunity to crystalize American sentiment for the only monetary reform that can lift us out of the depression for years to come.

Make no mistake, the sentiment of the democratic party in all states and in all sections is favorable to the rehabilitation of silver, and when this sentiment is given an opportunity for expression, the move will come on as predicted by Mark Sullivan in his news letter of December 10. when he said "It (the silver issue) will overshadow everything else. It will come with the force of either a tide or a cyclone and in either case it will become formidable. The coinage of silver as a political issue can only be forestalled by legislation to increase the quantity of currency through the Federal Reserve Banks."

In the event that such a banking legislation program referred to, is carried out, it will only be an internal measure affecting internal conditions and cannot better foreign markets by affording an outlet for our surplus products. The fact has even begun to penetrate eastern business minds that silver holds the key to the return of business prosperity.

Firemen Called Saturday.

Fire of unknown origin Saturday afternoon occasioned the sounding of the alarm, which took firemen to the rear of the property belonging to Mrs. Hattie Herman, where flames were beginning to break through the roof of a shed. The fire was quickly extinguished with water, no great damage resulting. A brisk wind was blowing from the east, however, and the barn on the Chas. Spurbeck property was threatened.

ELEANOR BROEMELING AND LEO BIEREN ON HONEYMOON

Congratulations will be in order as soon as Leo Bieren and his bride, return to Genesee after their honeymoon, which will be spent at places unknown to friends here.

Tuesday, July 12, Miss Eleanor Broemeling, daughter of John Broemeling, Sr., and Leo Bieren, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Bieren, were married at St. Mary's Catholic church by the Rev. Fr. B. J. Carey. The bride wore a dress of robin-egg flat crepe and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and fern, and the bride's maid, Miss Caroline Heitstuman, wore a salmon pink taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of white carnations and fern. The groom wore a dark blue suit and the best man was Wm. Stricker.

Immediately following the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father, those present being the bride and groom, bride's maid, best man, Rev. Carey, Mrs. Elizabeth Bieren and John Broemeling. They left after breakfast on a short honeymoon, after which they will return to Genesee to make their home.

Rimrock Election Judges Named.

Dr. T. A. Elliot, Nick Wagner, E. M. Becker, A. W. Beachler, Edgar Evans and Robert Roskammer were named as election judges in Rimrock precinct by the Nez Perce county commissioners, in session Tuesday. Prior to this year, judges were appointed only for the general election and served for one election only. The law now is that they shall be appointed at the July meeting of the commissioners and remain in office for two years. In the past, the parties arranged for judges in the primary which was without cost to the taxpayers.

POTLATCH PITCHER HELPS WIN GAME WITH HOME RUN

B. O'Reilly, Potlatch pitcher, can be credited with winning his own ball game last Sunday when he hit a home run in the seventh inning, and holding Genesee scoreless until the ninth inning. O'Reilly's circuit blow came after the batter had taken two swings and three balls were called. No men were on bases.

Genesee was in position to score in the fifth and sixth innings, but McDonald's lucky stab at G. Blume's hit through second, caught Weber between third and home, and Tilden was out at the plate when Benson made a perfect throw from left field on C. Gray's long single. Genesee, in the ninth, had three men on bases with no down after Olsen had hit to score C. Gray; G. Blume drove a hot one down to third and scored Weber, the throw to the plate being wild; Olsen attempted to go in on the error but was caught at home, and G. Blume was caught off first when in the confusion he was forced to return. The result of the rapid exchange of throws resulted in two men being out and with one man on base, Ed Blume had the misfortune of hitting high in the air to third.

Potlatch, in the eighth had secured one run and with the two runs scored by Genesee, the last of the ninth became a most exciting period, as the score was tied, 2-2. In the last of the ninth, Denine, Potlatch utility outfielder, hit through right field and stopped at third. A single by Taylor broke the tie, the score being 3 to 2 in favor of Potlatch.

Art Tilden did a masterful job of pitching for Genesee, striking out 16 men, compared to 10 for the youthful Potlatch moundsman. Errors were about even and each club is credited with eight hits each.

First inning: Olsen struck out; Wicks was hit by a pitched ball; G. Blume was safe on an error at third; E. Blume and Tilden struck out. Potlatch: Taylor struck out; Kinsella hit safely but died at second while B. O'Reilly and Benson fanned.

Second inning: Emmett and Geltz each hit safely; C. Gray was out, pitcher to first; Weber and Olsen struck out. Potlatch: O. O'Reilly struck out; Egan went to first when his grounder took a bad hop at short; R. McDonald flew out to center and G. McDonald struck out.

Third inning: Wicks flew out to the pitcher; G. Blume was out, short to first and Ed Blume fanned. Potlatch: V. O'Reilly was out, third to first; Taylor fanned; Kinsella got a two-bagger and stretched it to three bases but died at third when B. O'Reilly flew out to left field.

Fourth inning: Tilden flew out to center; Emmett fanned and Geltz was out, pitcher to first. Potlatch: Benson struck out; O. O'Reilly flew out to left field; Egan hit for two bases; McDonald went to first on an error at short, and G. McDonald was out, pitcher to first.

Fifth inning: C. Gray fanned; Weber hit sharply over second; Olsen was out pitcher to first, Weber advancing on the play; Wicks was walked and George Blume hit over second base, but Weber was out trying to score. Potlatch: V. O'Reilly struck out; Taylor was out at first, unassisted and Kinsella swung at three.

Seventh inning: Weber struck out; Olsen hit; Wicks flew out to short and G. Blume flew out to second behind first. Potlatch: G. Denine, batting for G. McDonald, fanned, and V. O'Reilly took a long swing at a third strike and lifted it over the left field fence. Taylor and Kinsella both flew out to left field.

Eighth inning: Ed Blume flew out to right field; Tilden hit for two bases; Emmett flew out to left field and Geltz was out, pitcher to first. Potlatch: B. O'Reilly hit safely, went to second on an error; Benson and O. O'Reilly struck out; Egan was safe on an error at first, B. O'Reilly scoring on a bad throw to the plate. R. McDonald struck out.

Ninth inning: C. Gray went to first on an error at first; Weber's grounder was not handled at secoad; Olsen

Government can truly be classed under the heading of "big business." Our state government has the largest payroll in the state, and expends each year more money than any one single business or industrial institution, is the finding of Glenn Balch, writing his 27th article on taxation.

Total disbursements from public funds during the biennium from October 1, 1928, to September 30, 1930, as revealed by the state auditor's report, amounted to $28,583,684.78. If you care for division this is more than 14 million dollars annually, more than one million dollars monthly and about $39,155.73 for every day in the two-year period, including Sundays and holidays.

Warrants Drawn.

Of the disbursements for this biennium the largest item is "warrants drawn" which accounts for state expenditures totalling $22,720,317.63. This amount represents the payments made from all state funds by warrant. Heaviest expenditures under this heading are $8,550,744.92 from the state highway fund, $2,283,020.41 from the public school endowment fund, $1,272,396.92 from the public school fund, $426,862.07 from the fish and game fund and $326,633.97 from national forest reserve accounts.

It seems noteworthy in this regard that the heaviest expenditures are from funds having special sources of revenue and not supported by direct taxation.

Other Disbursements

Other items under the disbursement summary include: Treasury notes redeemed (general fund) $1,-750,000.00; treasury notes redeemed (highway fund) $500,000.00; sight drafts paid on revolving funds, $1,-571,416.06; bonds redeemed (state) $372,500.00; bonds paid (irrigation district) $12,880.00; interest on state bonds, $484,491.85; interest on registered warrants $134,397.87.

Miscellaneous payments by the state treasurer during the two-year period totalled $891,054.26. Interest on treasury notes, both general and highway fund, and interest on state and irrigation district bonds amounted to more than $136,000. Bad checks caused the state a loss of $9,246.86 during the biennium.

Revenue Received

Against these disbursements, we find that the state received in "cash apportioned to funds" for the period in question a grand total of $29,466,-159.99, representing the governmentalrevenue from all sources, including taxes, licenses, fees, sales, fines, confiscations, forfeitures, endowment funds, public funds, trust funds, irrigation district levies and so forth. The receipts were apportioned to the various funds as authorized by law.

The completed figures show that on October 1, 1928, there was a cash balance in the treasury of $2,024,100.-82. Warrants outstanding to this date totalled $1,103,915.34, leaving a cash surplus in all funds of $920,-185.48. This cash surplus at the close of the biennium, on September 30, 1930, was $1,821,575.31. Also during this biennium state bonds to the amount of $372,500.00 were paid and no additional bonds were issued.

Fund Apportionments.

Of the total state revenue for 1929-1930 the sum of $4,606,232.74 was raised by the general state tax, the remainder coming from special sources. A total of $7,854,176.36 was apportioned to the state general fund for the purpose of paying the operating expenses of the state government.

The remainder of the receipts, more than 20 million dollars, was apportioned to the various special, revolving and suspense funds for use in the various governmental functions for which those funds were created.

Christian Church Girls to Give Play.

The intermediate girls' class of the First Christian church are working on a play "Queen Esther, a Savior of Her Race," which they will present for your entertainment Sunday night, July 24.

In addition to this play there will be solos, readings and piano selections. A detailed program will be published next week.

Lee Emmett's Pig Located.

The pig which was released at the Fourth of July celebration and caught by Lee Emmett and later turned loose returned to its former home on the Wm. Mervyn ranch, and Emmett was immediately notified.

POTLATCH HERE SUNDAY.

Three runs will not decide the outcome of the ball game here Sunday, July 17 with Potlatch, say a number of the Genesee ball players, who lost to Potlatch last Sunday, 3-2. Potlatch has a good young chucker in O'Reilly and the two clubs are about on a par as to hitting strength. The local club has played best on its own grounds this year, and having set a precedent of breaking even with the better clubs in this section, means that a good game is in prospect for Sunday, with Genesee winning.

HIGHWAY RESURFACE JOB MAY BE FINISHED JULY 25

The last of the big crushed rock stock pile near the west end Genesee Union Warehouse company elevator disappeared Wednesday afternoon. It has been placed on the approximately 13 miles of highway, beginning at the Mike Kasper place and ending at Thorncreek.

Approximately 8,000 more yards of crushed rock will be spread on the highway during the oiling operations that will follow the application of new crushed rock. The Kuney Construction company expects to complete their contract by July 25, and altho they have until August 1 to vacate for oiling, it may be that oiling operations will begin before July 25, providing the company which has the oiling contract start work on the north end of the project.

The Kuney company has erected its crusher on the Dr. Elliot place along the road, between the crusher installed and operated last fall and winter by the Campbell company, and the Rimrock Highway District rock pit. The crushing plant was nearly ready to receive rock Wednesday noon, and it was expected that a trial run would be made Wednesday evening, with actual operations to begin Thursday morning. The Campbell crusher is now being removed to near St. Johns, Wash., where Mr. Campbell has a contract for furnishing crushed rock.

LEWISTON CHILDREN'S HOME BEQUEATHED $25,000 IN WILL

The Lewiston Children's home was bequeathed approximately $25,000 under the terms of a will of Mrs. Sarah L. Thew, 78, who died at Sandpoint, July 2, according to the Lewiston Morning Tribune. The Shrine hospital for crippled children at Spokane was left a like amount, it was disclosed when the will was opened and offered for probate in Bonner county.

The estate under existing conditions was estimated to be valued at $50,000. The will provided several bequests of $1.00 each and a remembrance of $100 for a sister of the testatrix, who had died since the will was drawn.

Board Bill Rejected.

The state board of examiners last Friday clamped down on state employees seeking to remiburse themselves for living on their own property. First on the list was Emmitt Pfost, who put in a claim for room rent and board on a trip to McCall where he stayed at an inn operated by his wife. The claim was disallowed.

WILL CENTRAL IDAHO SEE ANOTHER BIG GOLD RUSH

Intense interest is being shown throughout northern Idaho following an announcement that what is believed to be the mother lofe of the placer gold in the Bald Mountains, near Orofino, has been found.

James R. Crawford, a veteran placer miner is reported to have uncovered a six-foot ledge of free-milling gold ore, assays of which have shown values of $1,110, $326, $197 and $20 a ton.

For more than 50 years placer gold has been found in Cow, Poorman, McCauley, Snake and Gold creeks, and their tributaries, all of which have their source either side of a high range of hills, of which Bald Mountain, of 5,000-foot elevation, is the highest, but the source of the gold had defied discovery.

While sluicing along the lower slopes of the mountainside, where he had been finding rich ground of coarse rough nuggets, Crawford uncovered the six-foot ledge of free-milling gold ore. It was so rich, and of such a character, that the source of the placer supply has been determined, it is believed.

As the other creeks having their sources along Bald mountain have similar placer conditions, it is believed that similar lode conditions will be found at the heads of those creeks.

Elma Spencer, a new man in the territory, also has just discovered, about a mile from the Crawford find, some gold ore, which may run several hundreds of dollars to the ton, as the gold can be seen, freely sprinkled throughout the ore, with the naked eye.

The surface of Bald mountain is speckled with float that unquestionably comes from ledges in the mountain. Some of them show high values. As these finds have occurred during the last few days, the owners maintaining secrecy until they had perfected ownerships, no opportunity has been given the public, to become advised of the character of the discoveries. Hence, no prospecting has been done as yet, on adjoining lands.

However, it is believed that the strikes are the richest free-milling gold ore ever discovered in the Clearwater territory, and that the region is due for an era of intensive prospecting for lode claims.

850 Carloads of Oil for Idaho Roads.

J. H. Stemmer, director of highways for Idaho, estimates that 850 carloads of oil will be required to complete the summer program of oiling, the largest program the state has mapped out. Each carload contains 10,000 gallons.

Mr. Stemmer, going farther into statistics, said that Idaho built two miles of bridges last year, enough to span the Mississippi at its widest point, and maintained 4,763 miles of highway, enough to span the 3,265 miles from New York to San Francisco and spare 1,500 miles for a spur road out into the Pacific ocean.

It would require a train eight and one-half miles in length to transport the oil required for the summer's oiling program.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mervyn have returned to the Palouse to make their home after being located at Mesa, Arizona, for some time.

While doing the pole vault in the sports at the Clarkston Fourth of July celebration, Harry Schooler had his right foot quite badly bruised. Besides tying for first place in the vaulting, Harry took first in the high hurdles and high jump and second in the broad jump.

Cassius Ouse left for Spokane where he has a run as news agent on the Marcus branch of the Great Northern railway.

The Martinson family, accompanied by Mrs. G. L. Shull and Miss Mary Shull; T. Driscoll and daughters; Mrs. Geo. Olson and Miss Ethel Olson and H. A. Morgan and family, motored to Waha Lake in three autos Thursday to spend a restful Fourth.

Thirty Years Ago.

Following are the prize winners at the Catholic picnic held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lorang, July 2: A cake and ring, won by John Hordemann; calf, donated by X. Henry, won by Nick Kries; turkeys won by Wm. Baumgartner, Gebhard Broemeling and Mr. Robinson; stereoscope, won by Miss Gertrude Kohnen; a horse, donated by John Broemeling, won by Fred Nagel. The shooting gallery gave three prizes. Out of a possible 150 points, distance 25 yards, A. A. Haymond won first place, a revolver, making 141 points; second prize, hunting knife, Peter Johann, 135 points; third prize, A. A. Haymond, meerschaum pipe, 133 points. An interesting feature was a friendly rivalry race between Miss Lulu Brennan, an Irish lassie, and Miss Angela Lorang, a winsome representative of the Germans in a diomond ring contest which resulted in a victory for the Irish. Votes amounting to $105 were cast for the two young ladies.

GENESEE

at Genesee

This is the last game of the season and should be a real one, as Potlatch won from Genesee last Sunday at Potlatch in a close and exciting game.

MRS. MARY HERMAN BUILDING NEW AND MODERN RESIDENCE

Work is now in progress on the construction of a new and modern four-room residence for Mrs. Mary Herman on the lots belonging to her across the street west from the Henry Flomer residence on West Main street. Forms for the full basement and foundation, mensuring 28 by 30 feet are now in place ready to receive the concrete. Forms are also in place for the foundation of the rear porch, 8 by 16 feet, the porch to be glass enclosed. A front porch with massive concrete pillars is also included in the contract, 8 by 14 feet. The house will face the south.

There will be a living and dining room combined, two bedrooms, kitchen and bath, with a full basement, the home to be entirely modern in every respect, with built-in kitchen cabinets, ironing board, buffet, linen closets, two wardrobes and a dumb waiter from the full basement to the kitchen. Interior walls will be celotex covered with wall paper, and the outer walls will be wall paper, celotex, center-splice siding, the studdings, a second layer of inch siding, building paper and lap siding. The floors will be of double construction also.

George Miller has the contract for building, wiring, plumbing, interior and exterior decorating, and the construction of a retaining wall along 75 feet of the lot frontage next to the Main street walk, permitting leveling and landscaping of what will be one of the more attractive corners in Genesee's residential section.

Camp Fire News.

Genesee Valley Church.

The Luther League will meet at the Parish Hall, Sunday evening, July 17. There will be a good program. Everybody is welcome.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the Parish hall, Thursday, July 21. Mrs. Scheele and Mrs. Paula Peterson will be the hostesses.

MR. AND MRS KRIER MAY NOT RETURN BY JULY 15

"I see by the Genesee News that you have my time set to be back home by July 15, but you don't realize what a good time we are having," says John Krier, writing from Cadogan, Alberta, Canada, where he and Mrs. Krier are visiting relatives. "Do not be disappointed if we fail to be home on time. We go out to the lake fishing and when the fish are not in the right mood, I try golf or baseball," he continues, and reading between the lines, John has not been confined to quenching his thirst on warm days with that stuff that they run under bridges.

Crops, according to Mr. Krier, are looking fine in the Cadogan region with plenty of moisture to mature them. Gardens are wonderful and spuds were in full bloom when he wrote on July 8.

In closing Mr. and Mrs. Krier extend best wishes for their home town and their many friends.

PINE GROVE NEWS.

Mrs. Marion Gruell of Lewiston visited Friday with her sister, Mrs. Beckman.

Sunday visitors at the Lambert home were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brazier and Mr. and Mrs. Art Mayer and daughter of Troy.

Miss Genevieve Brazier returned to her home at Longview, Wash., after spending the past week, visiting relatives and friends here.

Lloyd Eckman and sons, Lester and Laurence were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Beckman.

Leo Sorenson visited with George Whitted Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Blain Sams and children spent Monday and Tuesday visiting relatives at Clarkston and Julietta.

Mrs. Leo Miller and Mrs. Sensenbaugh and children spent Friday afternoon at Mrs. Fred Brazier's.

Rev. and Mrs. N. E. Beach visited with Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lambert on Monday of last week.

Glen Brazier, Genevieve Brazier and Earl Miller motored to Spokane Saturday where they visited relatives, returning home Monday.

Mrs. Beckman was a Tuesday afternoon visitor at Mrs. Sams.

Mr. Lambert has not been quite so well the last week. Dr. Berg of Uniontown was out to see him Sunday.

It Was Some Big Egg?

The Troy News states that Melvin Felton recently brought to that office a hen's egg that measured 8 inches inu circumference and weighed 5½ ounces. This is no egg at all, for in the Genesee News files, we find that Alexander Bros. have a hen that laid an egg with circumferences of 11 7-8 and 8 7-8 inches, and at the time the egg was measured, it was certain that hen's egg would be found larger than the one which was exhibited here.

GENESEE CROP PROSPECTS.

Approximately 3,000 acres in the Genesee section this year are planted to peas, mostly Alaskas, and as they are becoming ready for harvest, fields show variable prospects as to yields. The outlook at present is for a somewhat better crop than last year, especially as to quality. Cooler weather this summer than last, has been favorable for the pea crop in the Palouse, and the moisture has been sufficient. Considerable damage is reported, however, to late plantings, cut worms and wire worms taking a heavy toll on the lower lands.

The assurance of crops in the Genesee section this year is the same as in former years, although wheat will not produce in such abundance in 1932 as it has in the past. Cold and wet weather this spring retarded small grain, with the exception of fields lying on the Rimrock where crops are about average. North and east of Genesee the fields are more or less spotted with light stands; heads are shorter and in some instances the heads are not well filled, all of which will tend to reduce the wheat yield here this summer. Spring sown grain is looking good south and west of Genesee, but the stands in other sections are not average.

Scouts To Camp.

Bobby Smith and Jack Magee, members of the Genesee Troop, Boy Scouts, are attending the summer camp for Scouts at Camp Laird, near Grizzly Camp. The camp opened last Sunday and will be open for three weeks, closing July 31. The two boys expect to remain one week.

Accompanying the boys to camp, to witness opening day preparations and to enjoy a picnic at Grizzly were: Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Smith, Mrs. Jim Magee and daughter, Patsy; Dr. and Mrs. N. M. Leavitt, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wicks, Mrs. Kate Vandenburg and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Pederson and sons.

Salmon River Rattlers Big.

Cottonwood Chronicle: Mat Engel came in Saturday from beyond Keuterville where he had been helping put up hay for the previous two weeks on the Frank Enneking river ranch. He was wearing several snake rattles on his hat as decorations and stated that they had killed 30 of the poisonous reptiles there during the past two weeks, and would have been able to kill more had the hay been allowed to stand in the field longer before hauling, as the snakes like to crawl under the shocks. Mat had one rattle on his hat with 27 rattles and button, and another fully as large that had 16 rattles and appeared to have lost about half the string.

Mr. and Mrs. August Theuerkauff and son of Van Nuys, California, visited from Sunday until Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Theuerkauff. The two men are brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foster and son, Gordon, left Thursday morning of last week for Priest River, to be gone about a week.

Mrs. T. H. Elliot and Mrs. Sarah Elliot motored to Moscow Monday evening to attend a joint concert, presented by Edouard Hurlemann, violinist, and Howard Goding, pianist, at the University auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Craft and two children of Missoula, Mont., spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Craft. They were joined at Spokane by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron and little daughter, who visited here with Mr. and Mrs. John Roach and Mrs. Caroline Cameron and other relatives. Harold Craft is employed by the Heinrich Flour Shop in Missoula, and Roy Cameron is still with the Spokane Chronicle, being employed as assistant web-pressman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Mushlitz and daughter, Beverly, of Ventura, Calif., visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emmett and family last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sampson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Summers left Monday for their home at Brewster, Wn. They were called here owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Sampson's mother, Mrs. Minnie Springer, who is much improved at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Beckman and family returned Wednesday evening after spending several days on a trip to Mussel Shell, Bungalow and Pierce City.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Burr and family are moving this week to their farm, known as the Keane place.

Mr. and Mrs. John Luedke entertained for dinner Sunday: Henry Martinson, Herbert Martinson, Misses Esther and Ruth Martinson, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Rinehart and Russell, Mrs. Anna Hanson and Marie Ingle, the latter of Pullman.

Miss Genevieve Brazier of Longview, Wn., is visiting in the Fred Brazier home and calling on friends in Genesee.

Guests of Herbert Martinson at Thorncreek Wednesday evening were mostly members of the Monday club and their families. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Follett and Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Burr, Betty Lou and Homer; Mr. and Mrs. John Luedke, Mrs. Anna Hanson, Miss Marie Ingle, Henry Martinson, Misses Esther and Ruth Martinson, Miss Mary Wardrobe, Russell Rinehart and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Pederson. A delicious pick-up supper was served at 7 o'clock, followed by a social evening.

Mrs. F. A. Smith left Thursday morning by train for Colton where she joined her daughter, Mrs. Martin Druffel for a trip to Spokane. Mrs. Smith expects to return Saturday or Sunday.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL.

St. Mary's church is sponsoring a get-together picnic for the entire community Sunday, July 17, at the Henry Lorang farm. Each family is requested to bring their own dinner or lunch. Ice cream and soft drinks will be served on request.

There will be races and games, and the Lorang museum will be open for inspection to the public.

Everyone in the community is welcome. Remember, next Sunday.

Robert Kuhn First to Combine.

Robert Kuhn is the first farmer in the Genesee section to begin combine harvesting this season. The O. W. Harms machine was moved to the Kuhn ranch Thursday morning, and it was expected that a few rounds would be made during the afternoon. The machine will be operating in a field of barley.

Farmers are anxious to harvest their barley crops as early as possible this season, as there has already been losses by heavy winds which have threshed out considerable of the standing grain in some sections.

Chas. Grieser, Sr., began binding an exceptionally fine crop of barley the middle of this week.

Max Griffith, Moscow, Dies.

Max W. Griffith, 53, prominent attorney of Moscow for 31 years, died suddenly Tuesday night following a heart attack three weeks ago. He was believed on the road to recovery when death came and was making plans to go to Portland for medical treatment and convalence.

He was closely identified with the fraternal and business life of Moscow, a prominent Mason and was commander of Knights Templar of Idaho in 1927. He was past exalted ruled of the Moscow lodge of Elks and a past master of Paradise Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Moscow. He was a member of Scottish rite Masons, the Red Cross of Constantine and of Calam Temple at Lewiston. At the time of his death he was regional executive of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity for the Northwest.

The deceased established the Inland Merchants association in 1905, and four years ago he established the Moscow Retail Merchants Credit association.

OLE FLAMOE DEALT PINOCHLE HAND WHICH NETS HIM 1800

A hand that appears about once in a veteran card player's lifetime, was dealt to Ole Flamoe Tuesday afternoon by Tony Norlie in a three-handed game at the Pastime. Arne Olson was the third player.

The hand mentioned consisted of 1500 in trump, diamonds, and 100 in aces, making a meld of 1600, and in playing the cards, there were three tricks against the hand, which netted the astonished opponents 50 points. Mr. Flamoe's opponents each held a nine-spot of diamonds, but these were taken on the first lead.

This is the third largest pinochle hand possible under local interpretations of the rules. Hands which exeel Mr. Flamoe's would be 1500 trump, 100 aces and double pinochle, or 1500 trump with 1,000 in aces. The hand here recorded is, however, considered sufficient in strength to win almost any single game.

Two Eggs In One.

With eggs selling at around ten cents per dozen, poultry flocks are taking advantage of an opportunity to experiment, as indicated recently when a little red hen at Pocatello laid an egg measuring 7 inches around and 7½ inches long. Upon breaking the freak, a common sized egg was found within. Both eggs contained yolk and white. Mass production such as this will not have a tendency to raise the price of henfruit.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Ford advertising reads: A two-passenger runabout costs $700; the 5-passenger touring car, $800, completely equipped. Tim Sullivan, Moscow.

Timothy J. Keane, 62 years of age, and one of the very early pioneers of the Genesee country, died at the Gritman hospital, in Moscow Saturday. Mr. Keane was born in County Limerick, Ireland, in 1850, and came to America while quite young, settling first at Pittsbrugh, Penn, then coming west in 1873. In 1878 he came to Genesee and was one of the most widely known residents of Latah county, especially among the early settlers, who came to this upper country by way of steamboat through the Lewiston Gateway. He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. D. C. Burr; and three sons, James, Clayton and Ben; and one brother, James, and three sisters at Pittsburgh.

Grant Clark and family moved the fore part of the week into the J. A. Nisbet house on which Mr. Clark has secured a rental lease for five years.

State Gives Up Three Oiling Jobs.

Boise—J. H. Stemmer, state director of highways, announced Saturday that due to the decrease in receipts from the gasoline tax, the bureau of highways has been compelled to give up oiling three stretches of highway.

Jobs not included in the definite plan outlined, but listed as tentative jobs to be done if funds were available, included 28 miles from Bonners Ferry to the Canadian line.

TAXES ONLY ONE OF SEVERAL MEANS OF STATE REVENUE

The more or less popular opinion that the business of state government is financed entirely by taxes collected on real and personal property evaluations is erroneous, says Glenn Balch, writing "Tax Topics" under the direction of the state chamber of commerce. Taxes—now conceded, by the way, to be too high—form only one of several sources of government-al revenue.

While the ad valorem tax forms the basic financial foundation of state administration, the majority of the funds for the many public activities comes from other sources. These sources are license and inspection fees, industrial, inheritance and motor fuels tax; fines, confiscations and forfeitures; tuition, rentals and interest on loans, investments and bank deposits; loans, apportionments and aid from the federal government; sale of produce and livestock from state-owned farms; concessions and permits, and various miscellaneous fees and taxes.

Totals Compared.

Comparison of the totals of governmental revenue from the various sources reveals that the returns to the state from ad valorem taxes amount to about one-fifth of the total state revenue, he other four-fifths coming from sources other than direct taxation.

During the biennium of 1929-1930, the last for which figures are complete, the state received a total of $5,283,737.44 from the various counties, this amount beng the state's share of the ad valorem taxes collected by the county collectors.

Total receipts from all sources during the biennium amounted to $27,870,292.28. Of this amount, $7,854,-176.36 went into the general fund to pay the expenses of running the state government and the remainder was credited to special funds as legally authorized.

Revenue Sources.

One of the largest sources of governmental revenue, other than ad valorem taxes, is the gasoline and auto transportation tax which during 1929-1930 returned $4,872,481.79 to the state, this sum going to the highway fund for the construction and maintenance of roads.

The department of public investments received a total of $4,291,048.18 in insurance, bond, loan and treasury note principals and interests, these returns representing the operations of the endowment and public funds.

From the federal government, cities, highway districts and counties, and from miscellaneous sales and receipts, the state highway department received $2,942,530.74. Sale of treasury notes added $3,587,160.21 to the total amount received by the state during the biennium.

A total of $436,616.77 was received from the federal government for vocational education, vocational rehabilitation, the soldiers home and national forest activities, this in addition to the million and a half dollars granted to the highway department.

Receipts from the counties for various licenses and fees and irrigation district collections amounted to $1,043,059.77 for the biennium. The secretary of state collected $240,617.23 in fees and licenses.

Collections of the bureau of insurance totalled $552,799.26, fees licenses, permits, certificates and premium taxes making up this total. Hunting and fishing licenses brought the game department $445,054.52 during the two-year period, and state insurance premiums amounted to $920,006.55.

Many other items of collection, ranging from the $181.75 collected by the public utilities commission in miscellaneous fees upward, are included in the state list of "receipts from all sources." Many of these items are small, a few—the gasoline tax for instance—are large; but the two-year total, when we sum it up, runs well over 20 million dollars.

With this amount of money at stake it seems that the people of Idaho should be vigilant in the protection of heir sources of governmental revenue other than real and personal property taxes.

REWARD.

A reward will be given to anyone telling of the whereabouts or what happened to the dog "Laddie."

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING JULY 8

Domestic wheat markets strengthened somewhat during the week ending July 8, despite the maintainance of favorable spring wheat prospects and indications of appreciably better outturns than last year in western and southern Europe, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Foreign markets were quiet with trading of limited volume and although prices were somewhat irregular, the market tone held practically steady.

Barley was independently weak, reflecting the slack demand, favorable prospects for new crops in middle western areas and the easy situation in California.

Domestic Conditions

Harvesting and threshing of new domestic winter wheat has again been interrupted by rains and movement to market has been delayed. Early samples of new wheat have shown fairly good quality, although moisture content is high and of more significance as price factors than in other recent years. Protein is apparently averaging somewhat above that of last year, although a definite check is not yet practicable because of this season's late movement. The protein content of 2,074 cars inspected at the Missouri-Kansas state laboratories during the week averaged 11.84 per cent, compared with 11.37 per cent on 5,296 cars for the same week last year.

Domestic spring wheat is developing rapidly, with an early harvest in prospect. Heading is mostly general and cool weather and adequate moisture has favored filling in the southern sections of the belt.

Spring wheat in southeastern South Dakota is apparently out of danger of rust damage. Elsewhere in the spring wheat region there is still only a trace of stem rust in general, although there has been some increase recently and occasional fields have appreciable rust. Western Canadian crops entered the critical month of July with prospects approaching average but with an increasing number of districts reporting inadequate moisture supplies. Although crop developments throughout the Prairie Provnvces was fairly uniform at the first of June, regional differences in moisture reserves, summer rainfall and insect damage have caused the usual increased variability at the first of July. Prospects now range from poor to ideal but with most districts much better than in 1931.

Europeon Condition Favorable.

European crop conditions continue generally favorable, particularly in western and southern Europe. The combined outturn in Germany, France, Spain, Belgium and Holland, is now placed at 657,000,000 bushels, as compared with official estimates of 580,-000,000 bushels for the same countries a year ago. The Italian crop is reported to be below earlier expectations, but has been equal to the harvest of 248,000,000 bushels in 1931. Test weights of early samples of Italian wheat are somewhat lower than last season. Production in the Danubian Basin is placed at 270,431,000 bushels against 282,924,000 bushels last year. Stocks of old wheat in the Lower Danubian countries July 1 were considerably under those of a year ago, amounting to only 2,600,-000 bushels, compared with 7,716,000 bushels a year ago. Conditions in Russia continue somewhat variable but better than last year. Fairly good rains have partially relieved dryness and heat in the Upper and Middle Volga.

Prepare for Harvest

At harvest time especially, you should have a supply of adhesive tape, gauze bandage, antiseptic solutions and other first aid necessities, that will save you time and money, should any accidents occur.

MR. AND MRS. BEN PLEIMAN HOME FROM TRIP TO COAST

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pleiman returned last week from an enjoyable 10-day visit with friends and relatives in western Oregon and Washington.

Leaving here by auto they drove to The Dalles, Ore., and visited over night with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tipton, former Genesee residents, Mr. Tipton now owing the Chevrolet garage and sales agency at The Dalles.

From The Dalles they went to Winlock, Wash., and then to Aberdeen to visit Mr. Pleiman's mother for a few days, returning by way of Puyallup where they visited Mr. and Mrs. John Kimble and saw Joe Gunther, all former Genesee people. Mr. Pleiman was favorably impressed with the Puyallup section, but remarked that the depression was deeply felt there owing to the extremely low price for berries, one of the principal crops there.

At Seattle the Pleimans visited Mr. and Mrs. Gus Frohman, who at one time lived on the Geo. Carbuhn farm and are well known here.

Expecting to stop at Prosser after leaving Seattle on the Fourth Mr. and Mrs. Pleiman changed their minds and drove to Genesee that same day, arriving home late at night. Traveling through the Big Bend section of Washington, Mr. Pleiman said that all the crops which he saw from the highways looked fine and that harvest was under way when he came through last Monday.

THE GENESEE NEWS

PRECINCT BOUNDARIES ARE CHANGED BY COUNTY BOARD

Latah county hereafter will have 24 precincts rather than the 27 as in former years, following action to reduce expenditures by the board of county commissioners. The two Troy precints have been combined into one; the Helmer precinct has been absorbed by the Bovill and Deary precints, and Cornwall precinct lines have been erased, Moscow precincts taking in the Cornwall territory.

Genesee precinct lines have undergone some changes also, preparatory to the coming election, which permits several families to come to Genesee to vote rather than going to Lenville. This change affects those living between the James Magee and Ben Johnson places. Genesee precinct will also lose some families, those living along the Washington line, being permitted to vote in Thorncreek precinct as a matter of convenience and economy for voters.

Justice districts have also been created by the board of commissioners, which is another move toward economy. Prior to their action of last week there would appear on the ballot in the coming election spaces for the election of 48 justices of the peace, but since the creation of justice districts there will be but six justices elected in the county and three constables. This action alone reduces county expense by a saving in the purchase of legal books and supplies.

It will be necessary, however, by the change in precinct boundaries locally, for those who are affected to obtain registration transfers to enable them to vote in November.

An emphatic "no" was the answer given by the board to petitions presented by timber operators and members of the Taxpayers' League, asking for a 50 per cent reduction in values on their respective properties. Such procedure would not only be discriminatory and unfair to other taxpayers, but taxing units simply would not get by on such extensive reductions and could not raise enough taxes to operate schools. It has been intimated that the timber interests and the league will appeal to the state board of equalization at Boise next month.

Livengood-Reed.

Lee Reed was married July 12 at Asotin, Wash., to Miss Lena Livengood of Culdesac. He and his wife are making their home at the Genesee hotel while the Kuney Construction company, with whom Mr. Reed is employed, is completing the highway contract here. The groom is a brother of Lloyd Reed.

Beverly Manring Dislocates Arm.

St. John's Lutheran Church.

There will be services at St. John's Lutheran church in Genesee, Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Schwartz of Lewiston will deliver the sermon.

VISITOR FROM CANADA.

Carl Tiedemann, who moved from Genesee to Port Albernie, B. C., about eight years ago, visited here from Saturday until Tuesday morning with his sister, Mrs. Joe Anderson, and family, going from here to Reubens to visit with his father, S. M. Tiedemann, and sister, Mrs. Jim Skelton, and family.

This is Mr. Tiedemann's first visit to Genesee since leaving here. While living at Port Albernie he became interested in a Chrysler sales agency and garage, and is now the owner of a very good business, which he said had not felt effects of the depression until a few months ago. Located on Vancouver Island, where the principal industries are fishing and lumbering, and with all transportation being by steamship, business connected with these industries have not suffered as others farther inland.

GIRLS' CLASS OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO GIVE PROGRAM

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, a program will be presented for your entertainment at the Christian church. The Intermediate Girls class is presenting the play, "Queen Esther, A Savior of Her Race." It is the story of Esther who became queen, then risked her life to save her people.

The evening's program will be as follows:

Offertory, Margaret Springer.

Reading "The White Silhouette," by Irma Carbuhn.

Solos, "The Prayer Perfect (by Oley Speaks," "In a Monastery Garden (by Albert Ketelbey)" sung by Elvon Hampton.

Benediction.

GENESEE CAMP FIRE GIRLS ENJOY WEEK-END OUTING

Genesee Camp Fire Girls spent last week end at Horse Ranch near Helmer, where they enjoyed themselves learning to swim, hiking and getting a good coat of tan. They were taken to the camp grounds in the truck belonging to E. W. Vanouck, driven by Don Springer and Herbert Steineger, who are engaged in hauling wood from Helmer to Genesee.

The girls who went were: Ruth Vanouck, Eileen Flomer, Hazel Craft, Annabelle Huffman, Gail Sampson, Marjorie Baker, Marjorie Nebelsieck and Mrs. R. Huffman, Mrs. D. Nebelsieck acting as chaperon.

Everyone had an enjoyable outing and they are looking forward to the camping trip for next year.

STATE COOPERATES ON ROAD AND STREET IMPROVEMENTS

Governor C. Ben Ross, while on a trip to northern Idaho, stopped at Genesee Friday morning for breakfast at Smolt's, where he met with members of the Genesee Highway District, Good Roads District No. 3, the committee on farm-to-market roads and those who have been interested in the movement for statewaid. The governor arrived here about 7 o'clock and left at 10 in the morning for Orofino, and from there to Boise. The purpose of his visit here was to further discuss state aid on three projects previously given a preliminary survey by state engineers, and as a result of the conclusion of findings, the governor said state men and equipment would survey, grade and drain the four miles of farm-to-market road four miles north from the Hans Iverson place north of Genesee to the boundary of the Genesee Highway District, to connect with the surfaced road to Troy, work to start about September 1, or as soon thereafter as state equipment could be released from state highways. Agreeing to improvement of this project the governor also said the state would construct the grade from the James Magee place, past the Rosenstein and Roth places to connect with the Lenville road near the Brigham places. Good Roads District No. 3, in which the state will also build some mile and a half of road, will connect with the road in Genesee Highway District and will give those living in the Lenville District an outlet to market. Work on the two last named projects will begin after the completion of the north road.

This work is being done pursuant to a program of farm-to-market road construction under the present administration, the various highway districts agreeing to surface the roads after the state has constructed the grades. There will be approximately four miles in the north improvement and about the same in the combined project connecting Good Roads District No. 3 and Genesee Highway District.

Genesee Streets To Be Oiled.

While here the governor also consented to state aid on resurfacing and oiling Walnut street in Genesee, which is the street on which is located the larger number of business houses, and over which travels a large portion of travel, especially by passenger cars, busses, and auto freights. In the agreement, the state furnishes all labor and equipment, the Genesee Highway District has furnished the rock which is now in windrows on the street, and the town furnishes the oil. Genesee being within the boundaries of the highway district, and the town being responsible for acquiring state aid, and relieving the district of grading four miles of highway, which it was to do in the north end of the district, makes this an ideal time to make the much needed improvement.

In other towns and cities, where state highways traverse streets within municipal limits, the department of public works has made a practice of cooperating in the construction of streets, and also have improved or assisted in improving streets that carry a large portion of the travel. In some instances the state has built 18-foot oiled roads through towns, and it is only when the communities cooperate that the surfacing and oiling extends to curbs.

The present program for oiling streets in Genesee include curb-to-curb surfacing from the Hasfurther corner to the middle of the block at the Herman stores, and 18-foot surfacing and oiling from the Hasfurther corner to the next corner west, the last described block to be paid for by the property owners. It is certain also that an 18-foot oil mat will be laid from the east line of Herman stores to the highway. The block from the Hasfurther corner to Ficken's blacksmith will be used as a premixing station and will thereby become surfaced, and thus forms an improved highway through the principal part of town.

Rock was placed in windrows Tuesday on the streets and Wednesday morning workmen were clearing along curbs and preparing the street for mixing the crushed rock and oil. This will be a hot-mix job, work to be done on the roads, and will start, it is thought, within ten days, or an soon as the equipment arrives to oil the 12-mile section of the North and South highway, from the Kasper farm to Thorncreek.

GRAIN MARKETS LOWER WITH IMPROVED CROP PROSPECTS

Grain markets turned easier during the week ending July 15, with improved prospects reflected in upward revision of crop forecasts and continued slack inquiry for current market offerings, the principal weakening influences, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Domestic wheat markets weakened, with a dull export demand, although a moderately active local milling inquiry was apparent in most markets. Corn showed some independent strength under the more favorable feeding situation, but the favorable crop outlook was a weakening market factor. Rye was easier with wheat, and oats and barley weakened under the influence of the approaching good harvest. Domestic flax markets worked slightly lower in sympathy with other grains and despite the firmness in the situation abroad.

Domestic Crops Improved.

Domestic wheat crop prospects improved during June and the indicated outturn of all wheat July 1, was placed at 736,971,000 bushels, as against 894,204,000 bushels produced last year. Stocks of old wheat remaining on farms July 1 totaled 71,-925,000 bushels against 31,865,000 bushels a year ago. The increase in farm stocks was largely offset by smaller stocks in store at the principal markets, which totaled 168,405,-000 bushels, as against 203,967,000 bushels for the corresponding date last year. Official data are not yet available for merchant mill and country mill and elevator stocks, but trade advices suggest increases in stocks in these positions, although such increases will not be definitely large to offset the reduction in the new crop. Even though domestic supplies for this season should be reduced materially from those of a year ago, they will still be well in excess of the usual domestic requirements. During the last crop season, utilization of wheat within the U. S., including wheat ground for domestic consumption and wheat used on farms where grown, amounted to approximately 738,700,-000 bushels as against 727,807,000 bushels for the preceding year. Mill grindings, exclusive of wheat flour exports, totaled 467,889,000 bushels as against 480,599,000 bushels for the preceding year. Wheat fed on farms growing wheat, exclusive of wheat purchased for feed, reached the record amount of 184,158,000 bushels as compared with 159,142,000 bushels in the preceding year, and was four times as large as the annual average from the six preceding crops. Annual seed requirements of wheat during the period 1924-1931 have been between 79,100,000 and 92,700,000 bushels. Wheat ground at local mills for home use during this period has ranged from 5,800,000 to 8,100,000 bushels.

The Canadian Spring wheat crop has made generally favorable progress during the week and prospects are now considerably better than a year ago. The condition of all wheat as of June 30 was officially reported at 99 per cent of the long time average yield, as against 58 per cent at the corresponding date last year. Recent rains over the West have greatly added to the moisture supply and with few exceptions the moisture condition is fair to good, according to the Manitoba Free Press. An early harvest is indicated in Manitoba and southeastern Saskatchewan, where the wheat is mostly headed, but southern and central Saskatchewan will havest about their normal time, while warm, bright, dry weather is needed in northern Saskatchewan and most of Alberta to hasten maturity of the crop. Heavy stands of grain in these districts are inclined to lodge, with some wheat already coming down, while local hail damage occurred in a few areas. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports a lack of sub-soil moisture over large areas, which will necessitate further rains during the next few weeks for continued favorable crop development.

European crop conditions are still mostly satisfactory, although some deterioration has recently occurred from unusually hot, dry weather. Harvesting in the winter wheat regions of Russia was interrupted by rains, but conditions are reported generally favorable except where severe winter killing occurred. Additional inquiries for space for grain shipments from south Russian ports to the United Kingdom or Continent during August and September were reported during the week.

BOIL WATER FOR DRINKING.

Until further notice everyone in Genesee is ordered by Dr. E. H. Field, city health officer, to boil water for drinking purposes if taken from the city system. Notices were posted Thursday morning, reading that water should be boiled for one hour, at least, during the time the system is being cleaned.

Beginning Thursday morning the supply in the reservoir was turned off and water is now being pumped directly from the wells, and will continue to be pumped until the present difficulties are overcome. The water has not been considered dangerous, but it has developed a disagreeable odor and precautionary measures are being taken, and everyone is urged to comply with the order.

Water users are also requested to use as little water as possible during the present emergency and do not use water for sprinkling. It was estimated Thursday morning that three days would be required to clean the reservoir and make necessary repairs.

The city is doing everything possible now to furnish clean, pure water, but it will require the cooperation of everyone to clear up the situation, by obeying the orders and conforming to the requests.

LEWISTON TO PLAY BALL WITH GENESEE ON JULY 24

Arrangements were completed last Saturday for a ball game here with Lewiston playing Genesee, for what is considered locally to decide base ball supremacy in this part of Central Idaho. Lewiston has been winning a good percentage of games played and Genesee has been doing the same thing. Julianetta won from Lewiston and Clarkston in the tournament at Lewiston on the Fourth, but Genesee has won from Julianetta at Julinetta decisively, and played the same club here to a standstill for thirteen innings, Julinetta winning the extra-inning struggle 8 to 7 in the fourteenth frame.

This is a post-season game as far as Genesee is concerned, while Lewiston will continue to play until the middle of August.

The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, July 24, on the Genesee grounds, which are now in the best of condition for a fast game. Tilden and Anderson will both be on the Genesee twirling staff, both considered outstanding among pitchers in this part of Idaho.

Defacing Mail a Misdemeanor.

A complaint was made Wednesday by a rural mail patron that a letter placed in the box a distance from the home was found defaced. The letter was submitted as evidence.

The following, taken from Postal Rules and Regulations will serve as a warning to those who may have contributed to the misdemeanor mentioned: "Whoever shall willfully or maliciously injure or deface mail deposited in letter boxes or receptables intended for receipt of mail or assist in such offense shall for such offense be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than three years."

Scoring seven runs in the first two innings in the game with Potlatch here last Sunday, Genesee coasted into the ninth inning, winning 8 to 3, after sending V. O'Reilly to the showers after he granted six hits, one a home run by Ed Blume with two on bases and a two-bagger by Wicks with two on. Denune, who took up mound duty for O'Reilly, walked the first man to face him, George Blume, and then made Olsen ground to short for a put-out at first, and E. Blume hit deep to center, but Johnson, who went through the fence and into the creek for Blume's home run, was camped far enough out in center to step up a few steps and take the hard drive. Ed Blume was playing with a badly bruised knee, and as he went to bat a runner was requested should he reach first, but this request was not in order as he trotted around the bases, while Johnson was being helped from the murky waters of Cow Creek. Johnson, it was recalled, was the Potlatch football player, who a few years ago, broke his leg on the Genesee field. Ed Blume was the heavy man with the stick Sunday, getting a homer and a two-bagger, batting in half of the runs scored by the local club. George Blume scored twice, each time on his brother's hit, reaching first on a fielder's choice in the first inning and on a single in the seventh.

Art Tilden, pitching for Genesee, struck out eight Potlatch batters, and granted seven safe blows, two hits being made by Denune, Potlatch relief pitcher, who held Genesee to four scattered hits and one run after he relieved O'Reilly in the second inning with one man out. Wick's hit in the second went across the creek but it hit in the playing field and bounded through the fence. Ground rules held him at second, the same as affected J. Andrews and C. Anderson, who bounced hit balls through the right field fence.

Genesee earned seven of its eight runs scored while Potlatch is not given credit for an earned run, Johnson scoring on a passed ball at second, no one covering the base to take Olsen's throw. Andrew, batting for Mc-Donald in the sixth, scored on an error in left field, and again in the eighth on an error in right field, giving him an extra base, to score on Denune's hit.

Tilden starting off in the first inning fanned the first two men to face him, Taylor and Johnson; Kinsella hit, stole second, went to third on an error, but died on base while Tilden backed up to take J. Andrew's infield fly. Les Gray, first man up for Genesee singled sharply over second, stole third, but was caught returning to the bag, when O. O'Reilly, knocked down Wick's hard hit ball. He was unable to make the play at first, but turned to make the throw to second, getting Gray as he slid into the bag. G. Blume forced Wicks at second, but was given a life at first. Al Olsen hit over short, and then E. Blume pushed one over the fence to score all men. Tilden was out at first, unassisted.

DEVELOPMENT COMPANY TO ADJUST KOOTENAI LOSSES

Some adjustment will be made in the crop losses by flood waters in the Canadian Kootenai valley, according to Meredith Holben who lost his entire crop seeded this spring and last Fall as the company had not completed its dikes according to contract. Adjustments will be made, it is thought, on the number of acres of grain destroyed and the amount of work required to put the ground in condition for seeding.

Practically all of the 26,000 acres reclaimed in the drainage district on the Canadian side was inundated, ruining all crops planted and rendering the land impossible to cultivation for the present season, leaving the settlers without income this year, as indications are that the losses will be made up by an extension of time on payments or by applying the amount of losses ascertained on the purchase price.

Fred Cann, who has contracted for the purchase of 320 acres, had his total acreage ready for sowing, but as waters of the Kootenai river and Boundary Creek began to rise, he hesitated in planting, and as a result was out his time and labor, some seed which was on the ground, a half barrel of gas and some few personal belongings, which were recovered while the waters still covered his lands. A tent, which was set up as temporary living quarters on his place at the extreme southern end of the district, was standing in water, the top barely showing, and with a rowboat, he went out and recovered it, together with a gun, which lay in about twenty feet of water. Gas barrels were floating in the water, and these he towed to higher land. His tractor at the time of the flood, was at the north Holben ranch.

Meredith Holben and Fred Cann, have 320 acres adjoining the international boundary on the Canadian side, and it was near these two places that the dikes first gave way, on May 22, and backed northward over the lands to a ridge which divides the district. During the second week in June water began seeping through the dikes adjoining the Dudley Rogers land in the northwest corner of the district, and by sandbagging and reinforcing the dikes the impending flood waters were held out until the morning of June 15, when the water reached a high mark of 19.4 feet, making it impossible for settlers to hold out for a longer time. Contracts specified that the dikes should be 24 feet high. Landowners in the district, after witnessing an orderly run-off from melted snows in the mountains, earlier in the Spring, were taken unaware by the flood waters, due to heavy rains on the Idaho side of the boundary. The Kootenai river is not a rapid stream, and had it been there is little doubt but that the waters would have receded before the dikes gave away, but as the stream became swollen, water backed up in the slough west of the Rogers place, and flooded the lands to a depth of more than 19 feet along the dikes, and as the waters pushed easterly, the ground under cultivation was covered to varying depths. The land gradully rises toward the east.

Dikes along the Kootenai river were not damaged to any extent by the high waters, all the flood waters coming through breaks in the dikes along Boundary Creek on the south and along the low, swampy lands on the north.

Little, if any, livestock was lost in the disastrous flood, as practically all farming is done by tractors, and these together with other equipment, were removed to higher ground before the dikes finally gave away. On the Holben ranch north of the ridge mentioned, there is a small elevated acreage, on which stand the buildings, anr it was here that several of the settlers brought their equipment, realizing that it was impossible to hold out against the impending flood.

Meredith Holben, who has 800 acres north of the ridge dividing the district, and 320 acres on the extreme southern end of the district, lost 330 acres of spring sown crops and 100 acres of volunteer grain that promised a yield of 35 bushels of wheat per acre. Fred Cann, who has 320 acres adjoining the Holben place in the southern end of the project, had not sown his crop on May 22, but had everything on the ground, except his tractor ready to start seeding. Christensen Bros., farming 729 acres on the north end, lost 400 acres of spring sown grain and some Fall wheat. J. L. and Jerry Rogers, located in the northwest corner of the district, east of the Dudley Rogers place, lost 500 of Spring and Fall wheat; Dudley Rogers, losing approximately the same amount. Lawrence Bishop, farming 560 acres, lost 300 acres of his grain, and several others who farm large acres, lost what grain was sown. There will be no crop harvested in the Kootenai Valley on the Canadian side this season.

The Holben place on the north end of the project, is about three miles from Creston, direct, but about six miles by road. Between his place and nearly to Creston on the west side of the river, the land was covered with water, in fact, the valley was a big lake from one end to another. Creston is located on land between 200 and 300 feet higher than the rest of the land to the east.

Dinner Party.

The country home of Mrs. Mary D. Herman was the scene of a delightful dinner party Sunday. Those present to partake of the sumptuous dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koster and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jenkins and family, Mrs. Mary T. Herman and family of Uniontown, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Herman and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Brubeck and daughter, Marlyn, of Sacramento, Calif.; Dick Scharnhorst, Mrs. Dora Nebelsieck, Mrs. Caroline Schlee of Clarkston, who has been the guest of Mrs. Mary Herman for the past week; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slater of Moscow and Louis Herman. Before the departure of the guests, ice cream and cake were served.

Jack Magee and Bobby Smith were having such a good time at Camp Laird that they were granted a second week with the Boy Scouts.

News That's News.

The Associated Press in a dispatch from Topeka, Kans., gives a real piece of news. One of those awesome-looking machines dentists tell their patients "won't hurt a bit," went on a rampage Tuesday in the office of Dr. J. A. Steinmeyer. The machine grabbed the dentist's necktie, pulled it tightly about his neck, and almost choked him before he succeeded in knocking the motor loose from its connections. If the machine had accidentally hurt a patient it would not be news, but when the machine hurt the dentist it should be considered as news.

Youthful Somnambulist.

Sunday night Elmer arose from his bed on the second floor of his home and while sound asleep walked or jumped from a window. His steps were not heard by his parents but they were startled by hearing something strike the ground with a thud. They investigated and found their son prostrate on the ground with a fractured right hip and a badly bruised face. He was brought to a hospital in Orofino.

Blume at short; B. O'Reilly fanned; O. O'Reilly went to first on Tilden's throw to first and McDonald was out, short to first. Gray singled and stole second; Geltz made one mean to handle at short, taking first; Weber singled, scoring Gray; Les Gray went to first on an error at short, Geltz scoring and Weber going to third; Les Gray leisurely trotted to second to draw a throw which he did, but Weber failed to seize an opportunity to score; Gray was out on the play. Wicks hit through the fence for two bases to score Weber. G. Blume was walked by Denune who relieved O'Reilly, Wicks scoring on a passed ball while Olsen was at bat; Olsen went out, short to first and E. Blume flew out in deep center.

Third inning: Denune fanned; Taylor hit; Johnson hit; Kinsella flew out at third; J. Andrew, the heavy hitting ex-Bovill first sacker, was walked. Egan flew out to short. Tilden was the first man up for Genesee in the third and hit one a mile high to Denune who bounced the ball in his hands and finally clamped down on it before it fell to the ground. Gray and Geltz struck out.

Fourth inning: B. O'Reilly flew out to E. Blume, O. O'Reilly flew out to Geltz and Tilden handled McDonald by breezing three past him in a hurry. Weber for Genesee, fanned; Les Gray hit, took second and went to third on an error behind the bat. Wicks was out, short to first and G. Blume was out on strikes.

Fifth inning: Denune looked bad on three attempts to hit; Taylor was out to center; Johnson was walked, tried for second and scored on a passed ball which went through second untouched and through center. Kinsella was walked; J. Andrew hit and Egan put one in a place behind second hard to handle, but Geltz came in far to take the fly for a put-out. Olsen for Genesee was out, pitcher to first; E. Blume flew out to left field and Tilden did the same to short.

Sixth inning: B. O'Reilly flew out to Wicks; O. O'Reilly was out, second to first; Andrews flew to left field but Wicks took it on the outside of his glove and Andrews went to second. Denune singled to left field, and scored Andrews, the throw to the plate from left field being wide. Taylor struck out. C. Gray and Geltz for Genesee, struck out; Weber went to first after being hit; L. Gray struck out.

Seventh inning: Johnson was unable to hit Tilden's fast ball; Kinsella connected but E. Blume made a nice throw to first and he was out; J. Andrew swung at a third ball he considered a strike, but the ball bounced down his shin and onto his shoe, but was given first base after complaining that he was hit by a pitched ball. Egan, the port-sider and first baseman and usually a dangerous man with the stick, flew out to Gray in right field close to the fence. Wicks led off in the seventh for Genesee but flew out to left field; G. Blume hit safely and took second on Olsen's grounder to third; Olsen was out at first; Ed Blume hit for two bases to score G. Blume and Tilden, anxious for a fence ball, struck out.

Eighth inning: B. O'Reilly was out in the air to short; O. O'Reilly was out at first, unassisted; C. Andrews stopped at second after his hit went through the fence, also going thru Les Gray; Denune hit for two bases to score Andrews and Taylor was out, short to first. C. Gray was out on a three-strike arrangement; Geltz was out on a foul near the catcher and Weber went out, pitcher to first.

Ninth inning: Johnson was out to left field; Kinsela went to first on an error at short; J. Andrew went out at first, unassisted and Egan ended the game by swinging furiously at three.

BARLEY CROP AFFECTED BY HIGH WINDS DURING MONTH

High winds have caused considerable damage to barley crops this season in the Genesee district. Heads have been broken in two and entire heads have been broken off, which with heads shattering, have reduced the yield in most instances. At the J. P. Hermann ranch, eight acres of barley still standing when the wind blew hard a week ago, was almost entirely shattered. Mr. Hermann bound his crop early in an attempt to save most of it. Robert Kuhn, who was the first to begin combining grain in this section this year, last considerable of his barley, especially on the outer edges of the field. After cutting for about a day, he stopped, owing to the straw being green toward the center of his field.

Edgar Evans started combining Monday of this week, and he too, reports a loss, mostly on the outer edges of his barley field.

The Harms machine moved from the Kuhn place to the John Luedke place Thursday, and in a field of barley on the latter ranch, the loss from shattering is but little, as the grain was not as ripe during the period of heavy wind as that on the Rimrock.

The Hermann threshing machine started Thursday, operating in a field on the Ray Trautman place, southeast of Genesee. Barley was being threshed there.

THE GENESEE NEWS

JAMES KEANE, 38, SUCCUMBS TO AILMENT OF THE HEART

Funeral services were conducted in Boise Wednesday for James Keane who passed away Saturday at his home in Boise following a prolonged illness due to a weakened heart, due it is thought, to an exceptionally active athletic career and aggravated by service in the United States army during the World War. The deceased was an exceptionally able basketball, football and baseball player, and was a member of the state championship basketball team developed in the local high school. He was graduated from Genesee high school in 1912 and later completed his course at the University of Idaho where he participated in three major sports, winning letters in each. Soon after graduation he entered the service, and it was only a few hours after touching foreign soil that he was injured in a train wreck, which caused his hearing to become defective and left him with a voice impediment. Returning to the United States following the Armistice and following discharge from the service he coached athletics in the Boise high school and for the past three years has been in the employ of the state of Idaho as superintendent of highway oiling operations. In January of this year, he was granted a six months leave of absence from his duties with the state, and a few days prior to his untimely death, he had returned home from the hospital, apparently on the road to recovery. A communication, written by him on July 21 was received here by his sister, Mrs. D. C. Burr, on July 23, intimated that he was cheerful and entertained no thought of his ailment being fatal. Word was received here the same day, July 23, of his sudden death.

James Keane was the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Keane and was born near Genesee, December 3, 1893, being 38 years, 7 months and 20 days of age at the time of death. He was married December 27, 1921 to Miss Alvilda Renner of Portland, and they have made their home in Boise since. There are no children.

Besides the widow, the deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Keane, Moscow; one sister, Mrs. D. C. Burr, Genesee, and two brothers, Ben Keane of Twin Falls, and Clayton of Wallace, Idaho.

He was a member of B. P. O. E. 249, Moscow, a member of Phi Delta Theta college fraternity and a member of the American Legion at Boise.

Missionary society meets at the home of Mrs. Hannah Swenson, Tuesday, August 2. Leave church at 2 p. m., so everyone be on hand.

We wish to thank those who showed their appreciation for what Miss Carbuhn, Mr. Hampton and the girls done last Sunday evening, by being present.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Troy for Wm. Byers, who died while playing for a dance at Randall Flat near his home.

Harvest Is On.

Wheat harvest began last Friday in the Genesee section, Alexander Brothers being among the first to begin combining this crop. Edgar Evans is also one of the first to get started this year. Barley outturns were disappointing this year, and while it is yet too early to ascertain yields of fields locally, the prospect for a normal crop is unsatisfactory. Indications are that the yield of wheat locally will be from 25 to 30 per cent below normal, accentuated in some degree by this being the odd year when summer-fallow acreage runs higher, and further, there are more peas than usual.

STREET OILING EXPECTED TO START ABOUT AUGUST 5

Resurfacing and oiling of Walnut street, which is virtually a section of the North and South highway, as far as traffic is concerned at least, will begin about August 5, according to word received here this week from state engineers and the contractor who will lay the oil mat over 13 miles of the state highway. Crushed rock is now on Walnut street from the east to the intersection east of the City Park and on the half block running north from the corner on which are located the two banks. The state is doing the work or having it done, and as announced last week, the highway district is furnishing the rock for two and a half blocks on Walnut street, curb to curb, and an eighteen-foot mat from the Herman stores to the highway, with the city furnishing the oil. On the other streets residential and other property owners are contributing the materials or cooperating in the purchase. The half block from the Hasfurther corner to the Fickens blacksmith shop will be used by the state on which to mix materials for maintenance and it may be that a second half block will be required at times on which to park equipment and as a result the half block from the Follet corner south to the highway will receive a light coat of oil.

State cooperation on the two farm-to-market roads, both connecting links, is also assured, according to those who have been working on the projects. This assurance has been given by engineers in whose hands the matter now rests.

Boys Return from Camp.

Bobby Smith and Jack Magee returned Sunday from Camp Laird near Potlatch, having spent two weeks there. Both are enthusiastic for a return trip next year. This camp is conducted each summer for Boy Scouts.

When asked what the boys liked best at camp one said, "Well we had two swell cooks," and the other said, "We had good eats and plenty," sufficient to indicate that the way to a boy's heart still lies through his stomach. Both boys received badges merited by being satisfactory Scouts.

Detail work took up one and a half hours each day, one detail of which was peeling potatoes for the 92 boys enrolled at camp, the number being sufficient to permit each boy to appear for this duty but once during the two weeks. General routine of the day started at 7 o'clock when the boys hung out their bedding, lined up for the salute to the flag and then came breakfast. Detail work followed with the major portion of the day being devoted to hiking, nature study swimming, leather working, various games, with campfire ceremonies each evening. The boys took an overnight hike to Look Out ranger station, camping on Sand Creek and cooking their own breakfasts in the open.

Mr. and Mrs. James Magee and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Smith motored to Grizzly Camp Saturday afternoon, returning Sunday with their sons. They were accompanied on the overnight trip by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wicks and Phyllis and Patsy Magee.

LEWISTON-GENESEE GAME BY NO MEANS ERRORLESS

Twenty-seven Genesee batters took their positions on the path to scoring in the game played here last Sunday, and only seven runs were produced, compared to ten runs for Lewiston, that club putting sixteen men on bases. Errors were costly for Genesee as well as Lewiston, the former making eight and the latter ten. Hits were more evenly divided, however, Lewiston being given credit for eight while Genesee got six, divided between four players, C. Gray and G. Blume getting two each, and Wicks and Tilden, one each, Gray's hit in the last inning being a two-bagger.

Tilden as usual, was effective on the mound, striking out 11 of the Valley sluggers, while Anderson, struck out but three. Tilden walked three men and Anderson none.

Practically every man on the Genesee club had an "off" day, and the same can be said of the Lewiston players, and the umpires likewise. A runner, G. Blume, was safe at home when the catcher dropped the throw made by Bushman, and G. Blume was safe at second on a force when Thomas failed to touch the bag after receiving the toss from Bushman. These two oversights by the umpires were costly to Genesee, and were a part of the hard luck following the club Sunday.

Members of both clubs were frank in admitting that Sunday's exhibition was not all that was expected, and immediately after the game, arrangements were made for another game Sunday, July 31 on the same grounds to permit a better showing. It is a well-known fact that Lewiston and Genesee are capable of playing much better baseball, and while there was no complaint of long endurance from the stands, the players sensed the situation and are coming together again.

Anderson, who it was announced would be on the Genesee lineup last Sunday, chose to pitch for Lewiston and he will, without doubt, be playing in the same position for that club here Sunday. Tilden has been going good for Genesee, and he has said that he will hold down the same position for the coming game.

Obrien, a star of former years in the Inland Empire and playing one of a few games in recent years, led off for Lewiston, reaching first on an error at third and went to second on an error by the catcher, going to third on a similar misplay; Lee was easy for Tilden; Bushman was walked and took second; Ball singled to score Obrien and Bushman; Lawrence was the second victim of Tilden's; Mays hit for two bases to score Ball and Sanford fanned. L. Gray led off for Genesee and reached first in the same manner that Lewiston's lead-off man did, an error at third. Wicks chased Ball back with a long fly which fell from his hands; G. Blume went to first on an error, scoring Gray; Olsen grounded to short but Bushman threw to first, permitting Wicks to score; E. Blume grounded to short and G. Blume, who had taken third, rushed to the plate but was out when the umpire failed to observe the ball being dropped by the catcher. E. Blume was out at first.

Second inning: Tilden fanned Thomas and Anderson, walked Obrien and C. Gray took Lee's fly for a third out. Genesee: C. Gray hit, was then forced by Tilden who was forced by Geltz, who was forced by Weber, three men going out at the keystone corner, first to short, second to short and second to short, respectively.

Third inning: Bushman hit over second but was out when Ball's infield pop fly went untouched. Bushman held to first, the throw being made to second to retire the head man, and Ball as confused as the officials and players, after a few seconds took his position on first. Lawrence hit one that just fell inside the right field fence, scoring Ball who had previously stolen second; Mays connected for his second two-base hit, advancing Lawrence. Sanford fanned. Thomas' fly to right field was not handled, Lawrence and Mays scoring on the error. Anderson flew out to L. Gray in center who had exchanged positions with Geltz.

Genesee: L. Gray flew out to center; Wicks fouled out to Anderson; G. Blume hit but was forced when Olsen grounded to short who tossed to the bag for a put out.

Fourth inning: It was one-two-three in the first of the fourth, Obrien went out, pitcher to first; Lee was out, third to first and Bushman was out, second to first. Genesee: E.

GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING JULY 23

Domestic wheat markets strengthened during the week ending July 23, with hot, dry weather threatening serious damage to American and European Spring wheat crops, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Foreign markets were somewhat irregular with the slack inquiry for current offerings tending to offset reports of crop damage. Barley tended downward with increased arrivals of new crop meeting a dull demand. Flax remained weak and the price declined as hedging pressure increased moderately and crusher demand continued slack.

Foreign Wheat Markets

Foreign wheat markets were generally quiet with relaxation of selling pressure from important exporting areas a strengthening factor in the market situation. Deterioration in Spring wheat crops of North America and to some extent in Russia was an additional steadying influence. The light volume of trading in international markets however, tended to hold in check price advances. The Russian wheat acreage is now reported at 56,339,000 acres as compared with 63,011,00 acres a year ago. A sale of Canadian Manitoba wheat to Russia for shipment from Vancouver to Vladivostok was reported during the week although Russia is now chartering space for shipment of new wheat from Black Sea ports to the United Kingdom and the Continent. Sales of Australian wheat for shipment to Vladivostok was also reported. Germany has suspended operation of the wheat tariff at $1.62 1-8 per bushel on bread wheat during the period August 1 through October 31, under condition that the amounts of domestic wheat or wheat products shall be exported. The German duty on durum wheat has been reduced from $1.62 1-8 to $1.03 3-4 for a contingent of 45 per cent of the quantity of hard wheat ground last year without the requirement of corresponding exports of wheat produced. The new German wheat has recently been offered in Danish markets at around 50 cents per bushel, about one-third of the price of new German wheat at German markets. Some further crop deterioration was reported during the week in western European areas, while local damage from heavy rains was reported in France and Italy. At the close of the week good native milling wheat at Hamburg was quoted at $1.55½ per bushel, at Paris at $1.75 7-8 and new Italian wheat at Milan at $1.34½ per bushel.

Domestic Conditions

Domestic wheat markets developed a considerably firmer tone during the week under the influence of hot, dry weather, which threatened crop damage in Spring wheat producing areas and a slightly firmer situation in the world markets. The widening spread between Liverpool and Chicago futures was regarded as a favorable market factor.

Pacific Coast Markets.

Pacific Coast markets in general followed the markets of the middle west and east and prices moved within a narrow range. Export sales during the week included two half cargoes to Ireland at a reporting price of around 43 cents per bushel. The firm holding tendency of growers in this area was reflected in light terminal receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River points, which totaled only 345 cars compared with 1,082 cars the same week last year.

Cutting of wheat has begun in central Oregon and is now general throughout the Walla Walla district and is beginning in the Palouse district of Washington. Early samples include considerable smutty wheat and low-test weight wheat is reported in sections usually producing high-test weight wheat. Vancouver is reported to have sold small lots of wheat to the United Kingdom during the week.

Moscow Men Tour U. S. in Hearse.

While funeral coach is the modern name for a motor hearse, it mattered little to H. R. Short and Clyde Marsh who recently completed a 28-day tour of the middle west and south. They went by train to Lima, Ohio, and there accepted delivery of the new funeral coach, and then drove to Chicago for the Democratic convention and later to Birmingham, Alabama, to attend the national convention of Elks. They completed their tour, coming through California and Oregon to Moscow.

K. C. Team Wins from Lewiston.

Genesee Knights of Columbus ball club won from the Lewiston K. C. team, 10 to 8, in an exciting 10-inning game last Sunday on the Normal grounds at Lewiston. Frank Broemeling, here on a visit from Cadogan, Canada, was credited with one home run and one three-base hit. Those playing were: Louis Scharnhorst, pitcher; Ray Johann, catcher; Ben Johann, first base; Andrew Grieser, second base; Chas. Esser, third base; Paul Johann, shortstop; Frank Broemeling, right field; Joe Broemeling, center field and Joe Schlueter, left fielfid. Maurice Krier umpired the game.

Among those who accompanied the team to Lewiston were Mrs. Joe Broemeling and family, John Kluss, Pat Weber, John Broemeling and Wilson Esser.

GRAVEL TRUCKS COLLIDE ON ROAD SOUTH OF TOWN

Two of the large International trucks hauling crushed rock for the Kuney Construction company, which has the contract for resurfacing the 13 miles of the North and South highway adjacent to Genesee, collided Wednesday afternoon about 2 o'clock just south of the Ingle ranch, operated by Nels Flamoe. Crushed rock is piled in windrows along the side of the highway and as the two trucks, one loaded with five yards of material and the other empty, attempted to pass the rear wheels locked, and the empty truck, by the impact was spun around on the road and came to a stop with the rear end almost in the ditch and the front end protruding out onto the highway. The loaded truck which was traveling north with its heavy load, stopped almost instantly, upright and well on its side of the road, next to the windrow. Considerably damage resulted to both trucks from the collision, both having the drive shafts torn loose from the front universals, and further damage being done to springs, spring clamps and brackets. One tire was badly damaged on the loaded truck and the outer rim on the left rear wheel of the empty truck was bent. There is without doubt, some damage resulting to the driving and brake mechanisms of both trucks.

Neither driver suffered injury, but it was some time before tools were available to begin the removal of the wrecked trucks from the highway.

ANOTHER GAME SCHEDULED WITH LEWISTON ON SUNDAY

Players on the Lewiston and Genesee clubs who played here last Sunday were more disappointed with the exhibition than the fans, and as a result a second game has been scheduled for Sunday, July 31, on the Genesee grounds, the best in Central Idaho.

Errors of omission and commission in some instances tend to enliven ball games, but the errors last Sunday were so numerous that the clubs, knowing they can play much better baseball, have arranged this second meeting.

CHINA PAYS PROMPTLY FOR INTEREST ON WHEAT SALES

Considerable interest has been manifested in the disposition of the 15 million bushels of wheat sold the Chinese National government by the Grain Stabilization Corporation, the last shipment of which was made on April 18, 1932.

H. W. Collins, vice president in charge of the Pacific Coast division of the Farmers National Grain corporation, is in receipt of a statement made by the Flood Relief Commission of the Chinese National government which indicates that the wheat purchased by the Chinese government has been efficiently handled and distributed largely to the famine stricken areas, and that it has served its humanitarian purpose.

The report shows that 225,000 short tons of wheat and 160,125 short tons of flour were received in Shanghai, approximately 57 per cent of which was transhipped from that point involving expense and labor in sacking and discharging the wheat onto lighters and reloading to river boats.

According to Sir Hope Simpson, executive chairman of the Flood Relief Commission, the relief work in connection with the distribution of this wheat and flour proved 80 per cent successful, which is quite impressive when based on the standards of American Red Cross relief.

Shipments from Shanghai to Yangtze river points consisted of a total of 1,215,675 bags of wheat and 4,041,676 bags of flour. Of the shipments received and handled by the Flood Relief commission, 65,476 short tons were sold of which 27 per cent was in the form of flour and 73 per cent in the form of wheat. According to the commission's statement there was still on hand as of June 11, 1932, 3,003 short tons of flour. The proceeds from these sales of wheat and flour together with private contributions and moneys received by the commission from other sources, were disbursed and accounted for entirely by the Flood Relief commission without interference from any other quarter.

Criticism of this sale to the Chinese National government has been made upon supposition that the obligations would not be paid and that the wheat and flour would go into the regular channels of trade and interfere with the regular movement of northwestern wheat into that territory. The above report indicates that the wheat was used according to the provisions of the contract for famine relief. The sale was of particular interest to the Pacific Northwest as it materially reduced the surplus of wheat in this area and that it has improved the price ratio, as compared with world levels, has not been questioned. According to the terms of sale the wheat was to be paid for in three equal payments, the first coming due on December 31, 1934 and subsequent payments December 31, 1935 and 1936 with interest at 4 per cent. The interest is payable in December and June of each year. According to James C. Stone, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, interest payments of December, 1931 and June 1932, were promptly made.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

The little three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nordby was almost drowned last Thursday when she fell into a well on their place and the timely action of her mother saved her life. Mrs. Nordby had gone to the well to pump some water, the little girl accompanying her. In stepping on the well platform one of the boards broke with the little one and she fell 12 feet into the water below, which was six feet deep. Mrs. Nordby realizing that there was no one to call for help, jumped into the well and got the child out. Just how she got out of the well she does not know, but this she did and after rolling the child about for awhile on the ground, succeeded in getting the water out of its lungs. Neither mother nor child suffered any ill effects from the experience.

DAUGHTER OF MRS. LAWEN MARRIED AT SEATTLE JULY 17

Miss Molly Lawen, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Frank Lawen, formerly of Genesee, and a sister of Mrs. Jack Busch of Uniontown, was united in marriage at Seattle, Sunday, July 17, to Robert Glen McLain, at a very pretty home wedding.

The wedding was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother at which there were about 60 guests. After the reception the bridal couple left for a tour of Yellowstone Park and will visit Salt Lake City and Denver.

The bride attended Genesee high school when a girl, later graduating from the University of Washington. For the past five years she has had charge of the commercial and dramatic art work in the Union high school at Vashon, Wash. Mr. McLain is traffic agent for the Railway Express Agency of Seattle. They will make their home at Seattle.—Uniontown Journal.

Mrs. Lawen's home at Seattle is at 1243 17th North.

COMPLETE REPAIRS AND CLEANING OF RESERVOIR

City water is undoubtedly safe for human consumption since the reservoir has been thoroughly cleaned by draining, scrubbing and washing and by the application of antiseptics, but before Dr. E. H. Field, health officer, will advise the use of water before boiling, a test will have to be made. No sickness in the past three weeks has been attributed to the consumption of city water, and there are many who began using the water without taking precautions as soon as the reservoir supply was turned off and water was pumped directly into the mains. The odor which developed in recent weeks has completely disappeared as far as can be ascertained.

In draining the concrete reservoir no animal life was found, and at the present time the reservoir is being filled.

Necessary repairs have also been made at the reservoir and a drainage valve has been installed near the reservoir which will permit an immediate drainage should there be a recurrence of contamination, unexpected, however, as the system has been serving pure water for many years. The water supply will be closely observed during the coming months and every precaution taken to guard against contamination.

She Reduced 38 Lbs. the Safe Way

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for 4 months and I think they are wonderful. I am 32 years old and 5 ft. 2 in. tall. I was very fat. I weighed 165 lbs. and now I weigh 127 lbs. and feel fine. If I let up taking the Salts one morning I feel lazy and heavy," Mrs. Florence Loftus, Boston.

This is just one of hundreds of letters we get every month—Kruschen not only causes you to lose fat but while you are losing it you gain in health—in vivaciousness—you lose fat where fat is most prominent and at the same time keep stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning naturally.

Any drugstore in the world will sell you a jar of Kruschen for a trifling sum—take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—go light on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets. But for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous. It's the little daily dose that does it.

New stock is arriving every day

I have restocked $665 to replace dead stock and poor sellers this month.

Two reasons for not replacing stock sooner: First—I have to find out what I am short. Second: I have no one to finance me. I pay cash for all the goods I buy. It is better to be a competent business man and pay as you go, than to have the sheriff bid you "good morning."

I am stocked and will carry Morning Glory and Thistle spray. It is a new process, non-poisonous and non-inflammable. It is a calcium chlorate and is compounded so it is non-inflammable or non-poisonous—it is called Calcium Chlorin.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Ira Larkin and son, Perry, visited Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Isaksen.

Supt. and Mrs. E. S. Suenkel and family returned Tuesday evening from a fishing trip at Black Lake, and Clarkia. They also visited Mr. Suenkel's brother and family near St. Maries. They will only be in Genesee for a few days before leaving on another outing, this time, going to the Bungalow.

Leo Edwards injured his back Sunday while moving a ladder preparatory to picking cherries at the Hampton ranch. He has been confined to bed most of this week.

Miss Genevieve Hampton returned Friday from Los Angeles where she spent several weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. Edgar Johnson, and husband.

Ray Galusha of Spokane, spent the week end in Genesee, visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hampton.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlen Follett and daughter, Dorothy, returned Tuesday evening from the Bungalow and nearby points where they picked huckleberries and did some fishing, which is reported good at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Harris, who are spending the summer in Moscow, were in Genesee a few hours Monday enroute to Lewiston. Mr. and Mrs. Harris have rented Mrs. Etter's home and will move here prior to the beginning of school. Mrs. Harris has been reelected to teach in the public schools and Mr. Harris will attend the University of Idaho, driving back and forth each day.

Mrs. Walter Jain left Thursday for Kansas City to attend the Supreme Temple of Pythian Sisters, which will convene the first of August. Mrs. Jain is senior supreme representative of Idaho. She plans to be away about two months, making several interesting side trips going and returning. She will visit with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wicks at Pocatello before returning to Genesee.

Dr. N. M. Leavitt left Monday morning at 3 o'clock for Grangeville, accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Leavitt, who made stage connections to return to their home after visiting their son and family in Genesee for one week. Road construction on the North and South highway made travel rather slow, but despite this, the trip to and returning from Grangeville was made in about six hours. Two hundred and one miles were registered for the trip. Twenty four miles of the highway this side of Grangeville is in excellent condition, having been recently resurfaced and oiled, but from that point to the bottom of the Culdesac grade construction is now under way, with contracts operating about on schedule. The Lewiston hill is also undergoing some repair work at the bottom.

R. S. Sullivan and daughter, Emma Lou, and Guy Woodland of Pullman, spent the week end with Mrs. Sullivan and Miss Pearl Perkins.

Mrs. Chas. Geltz and Verna and Miss Velda Edwards returned Sunday from a week's visit in Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Beckman and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Burr and family and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Pederson and family motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Burr Sunday evening.

Blume was safe on a fly ball to left field but dropped by Obrien; C. Gray was safe when Thomas bobbled his grounder, E. Blume being safe at second; Tilden hit to advance the men on bases; Geltz was safe at first on a grounder to third, who made a bad throw to catch Blume at home. With the bases loaded Weber fanned; L. Gray forced C. Gray at the plate and Wicks flew out to center.

Fifth inning: Ball was out, second to first; Lawrence was out, pitcher to first; May's was safe on an error at third and Tilden fanned Sanford, the third time in as many trips to the plate. Genesee: G. Blume went to first on an error at third; Olsen lined out to Bushman, who caught Blume before he returned to second; E. Blume was out, second to first.

Sixth inning: Thomas was out to first, unassisted; Anderson hit over Wick's head in left field and through the fence, stopping at second; Obrien singled to score Anderson; Lee went to first on an error in center; Bushman's fly was not handled at left field, scoring Obrien, and while Ball was flying out to center and Lawrence was striking out, Lee and Bushman scored. Genesee: C. Gray was out to the pitcher, in the air; Tilden was out, third to first; Geltz went to first on Bushman's overthrow and Weber did the same when Bushman failed to handle his grounder for a play at second to cut of Geltz; L. Gray fanned.

Seventh: Tilden fanned Mays who had been on bases three times, and also struck out Sanford for the fourth time; Thomas was out to first, unassisted. Genesee: Wicks hit; George Blume hit; Olsen went to first on a fielder's choice, forcing G. Blume; E. Blume was safe on a fielder's choice, Wicks scoring; C. Gray forced E. Blume, Olsen scoring on the play; Tilden flew out deep in center.

Eighth inning Anderson's fly was dropped in center; Obrien flew out to left field as did Lee and Bushman flew out to C. Gray. Genesee: Geltz was safe on an error in left field; Weber fanned; Lee Emmeet who replaced L. Gray, forced Geltz and Wicks forced Emmett at second.

Ninth inning: Ball was out to short in the air; Lawrence was out, short to first; Mays was walked and Sanford completed his string of five successive strikeouts. Genesee: G. Blume was safe on an error at first but was forced by Olsen; E. Blume flew out to left field; C. Gray hit for two bases; Tilden hit through short to score Olsen and Gray but died on second as Geltz went out, short to first.

MR. AND MRS. KRIER HOME FROM CANADIAN VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. John Krier and daughter, Evelyn, returned last Wednesday night from a month's visit in Alberta, Canada, with relatives and friends. This is the first trip they have made to Canada since 1910 and found a great change in the farming sections of the Prairie Province. Farms have been improved considerably and roads have been laid out, the main highways being very good while the other roads are yet to be brought up to the standard. Crops are very good around Cadogan, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Steve Broemeling, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Broemeling, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hansman and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Broemeling. Wheat this year, it is believed will yield between 30 and 40 bushels to the acre, summer-fallow lands seem to be showing what looking the best. All crops grown in that part of Canada are spring sown. Potatoes were some earlier than around Genesee this year, and the hay crop is the best in several years. There was no grasshopper damage in the parts of Canada visited by Mr. and Mrs. Krier, but as they were preparing to return to Genesee, they read where a campaign was in progress in some Canadian localities.

Prices for farm products are about the same in Alberta as here. Hogs and cattle are some higher in Idaho and wheat is being quoted at about the same, excepting that in Canada, in Alberta, especially, the government is granting a 5-cent bonus per bushel on wheat sold this year. Manufactured goods of all kinds are much higher in Canada than in the United States, especially articles made from cotton. Gasoline sells at Cadogan at 26 cents per imperial gallon, which measures about 5 quarts to the gallon; oil is 40 cents per quart, with a like difference in measure. The greatest spread in manufactured articles is on matches, however, as the Canadian must pay 15 cents per box which sells here for 5 cents. Tobaccos are also high, if a smoker desires American processed tobacco.

Mr. and Mrs. Krier left here last month, going first to Conrad, Mont., accompanied by a sister of the former, and from there to Sweetgrass, through Lefridge, McLeod, Calgary and Wetaskawin to Cadogan, and returned a different route, coming thru Killam, where they visited with Jake Kinzer and family, Paul Scharbach and family and H. A. Morgan and son, Wesley, for a few hours, continuing on to Banff, in the Canadian National Park, entering Idaho north of Bonners Ferry, after driving through Cranbrook and Kingsgate. They were accompanied home by Frank Broemeling, who, after a few days visit here, will return home to harvest his crop.

Some Statistics.

A barrel of beer in Canada costs $13, it was ascertained by Mr. Krier, which when sold at retail, and that is the only way it is dispensed at Cadogan, at 10 cents per glass, the returns are approximately $19. This product of which he spoke was malted and brewed at Edmonton and possessed all the qualities desired, insufficient in alcoholic content, to be classed as intoxicating, although invigorating and thirst-quenching. He also remarked that he failed to see a drunken man in his trip, but said that most of the Canadians has become so proficient in drinking beer that it was nothing to see a man able to drink ten or more glasses at one sitting. Hard liquor is not available in Cadogan through the licensed beer parlors, but it may be purchased on permit from the larger cities, which makes the prices very unreasonable.

Canadians Like Sports.

Canadians are believers in outdoor sports, it was observed by Mr. Krier. Every community has several baseball teams and under English influence, golf has developed into one of the favorite pastimes. Baseball, similar to our indoor baseball is played by everyone, the women participating in this to a great extent.

Troy Cherry Crop On.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Carlson of near Troy, were in Genesee Wednesday to arrange for sale of cherries. They have for several years sold their big Lambert cherry crop to a firm in Montana, but this year a quarantine has been placed on this fruit in the counties of Latah and Benewah. They have an exceptionally fine orchard which escaped the disastrous forest fire of last summer.

CHAS. F. JAIN, PIONEER OF GENESEE, PASSES AWAY

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Brower-Wann chapel for Charles F. Jain, who passed away at his home in Lewiston, August 1, following an illness of about four years, a weakened heart precipitating a stroke that came Saturday preceding his death. Services were conducted by the Rev. Orval D. Peterson, with Miss Margaret Pritchard and Miss Alma Brown assisting in the song service. Interment was in Normal Hill cemetery, the pallbearers being: H. P. Barnes, J. H. Schaffer, Harry Clay, Dr. J. H. Lewis, N. Stantorf and J. H. Wilson. The services were largely attended by the many friends of the deceased, living in Lewiston, Clarkston, Genesee, and the Pine Grove and Grey Eagle communities.

Charles Farwell Jain was born March 26, 1872 in Boulder county, Colorado, and in 1876 he, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jain, brother, W. F. Jain, and two sisters, came to Oregon by covered wagon, and remained for about a year in Indian Valley, near Elgin, Oregon. In 1878 the family migrated to the Genesee country, and here the family first took up a pre-emption and later homesteaded east of Genesee. The family, one of the earliest in the community, passed through pioneer days and became well known in this section of Idaho.

December 29, 1898, Charles F. Jain and Jessie Miller were united in marriage and to them were born two daughters, Amsel who later became Mrs. A. Burtch, and passed away March 2, 1930; and Olive, who resides at home in Lewiston. The family remained in the Genesee community until 1922 when they moved to Lewiston, after disposing of their farming interests to Mike Reisenauer. They have resided in Lewiston and Clarkston since 1922.

The deceased is survived by his wife, one daughter, Olive; two brothers, W. F. Jain, Genesee, and C. L. Jain of Moscow.

For many years the deceased had been a faithful member and attendant of the Lewiston Christian church, and his circle of friends was an ever-widening one as he progressed in years, this being attested to by the number of friends which gathered to pay final tribute.

Improvements at Union Warehouse.

A new boiler has been installed in the new boiler room at the Genesee Union Warehouse company's west end elevator plant. The boiler, of horizontal type, replaces the old vertical boiler which has been in use for many years and which did not possess steam capacity for handling the grain which is being steam rolled at the company's plant. The boiler room is constructed of reinforced concrete, the work being done by Chet Mochel.

Chris Stelz is also improving the interior of the company's office by kalsomining the walls and ceiling and repainting the woodwork.

Delivers New Ford Truck.

Lyda Southard Gives Up.

Prison walls, once scaled by the "woman bluebeard" will welcome her soon, as she is being returned from Topeka, Kans., in custody of Warden and Mrs. R. E. Thomas of the Idaho penitentiary. She gave up after successfully eluding officials for over a year. She refused to be photographed at Denver. She was serving a ten-year to life inprisonment for murder, having done away with several of her six husbands. She may also be accused of poisoning her last mother-in-law, in whose home she was employed after escaping from prison. She will be tried under Idaho statutes for breaking prison.

GEORGE BLUME LEADS IN LOCAL BATTING AVERAGE

George Blume, who early in the season gained a decided advantage in batting honors as a player on the Genesee base ball club, dropped to third place in the list of players in early July, but in the first game here with Lewiston he gained several points while Wicks and Olsen mid-season leaders, were in a slump. Les Gray, who had dropped into fourth place, hit twice last Sunday to gain second position among the hitters.

Following are the batting averages for the 1932 season, for players who finished the season and were at bat ten times or more. Averages are taken for fifteen games, which does not include the first game of the season played with the Colton club:

Player	AB	H	Pct.
G. Blume	72	24	.333
Les Gray	69	22	.319
G. Wicks	39	12	.307

GAS THIEVES ROB TWO CARS IN GENESEE FRIDAY NIGHT

Sometime between midnight and daylight Saturday morning two cars were robbed of gasoline, one belonging to the city and other belonging to Joe Doyle. A tire and rim were also stolen from the Thos. Herman Chevrolet truck and the garden belonging to Archie Harris, located near the lumber yard, was entered, a number of various kinds of vegetables being taken. The sheriff was notified immediately and they and other sheriffs are on the lookout for a Ford coupe bearing a California license, suspicioned as being the car carrying those who committed the petty acts of thievery.

Births.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knopps are the parents of an eleven-pound boy, born last Thursday, July 28. Mother and baby are at the home of Mrs. Knopps' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hasfurther.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Jutte are the parents of a son, born Friday, July 29. Mrs. Jutte was formerly Miss Susan Albers.

GENESEE WINS CLOSE GAME FROM LEWISTON ON SUNDAY

Genesee, with Art Tilden getting credit for nine strikeouts, won from the Lewiston base ball club here last Sunday, 5 to 4, in a closely contested match, resulting from the poor exhibition of the previous Sunday when both clubs were in poor form. This second meeting, however, was anybody's game until the last of the ninth when Les Gray singled to right field to score Putnam who was running for Tilden, who had singled and was advanced when Geltz grounded to Anderson and reached first on the error. Geltz was also on the scoring path but held up at second after the winning run was scored.

Tilden had much the better of Anderson in pitching, striking out nine men, compared to four for Anderson. The hits were about even, Lewiston making eight off Tilden, two in the first inning, two in the second, and three in the fourth, none in the fifth and sixth, one in the seventh and none in the eighth or ninth. Genesee nicked Anderson for nine hits, well scattered, however, but coming at opportune times to score runners.

Genesee played as near errorless ball as at any time this season, two errors being responsible for runs, one in center field and the other at the plate when Thomas, Lewiston, second baseman stole home in the eighth, to tie the score, 4-4.

Sunday's game will undoubtedly be the last for this season unless a game is scheduled with a ladies' team now barnstorimng the Inland Empire.

First inning: Wright, leading off for Lewiston, fanned; Obrien singled, stole second; Bushman was out on a fly to second; Ball hit to advance Obrien and Lawrence was out on the ground to first. Genesee: L. Gray was out on a ground ball, the play being, Lee to Anderson, the latter taking the throw at the initial bag. Wicks rolled down to third and took first on Lawren's error; G. Blume was safe when Bushman erred with Wicks safe at second; Olsen was out, third to first, Wicks taking third and Blume was safe at second. Wicks scored while E. Blume was at bat, Ball, the Lewiston catcher, failing to hold one of Anderson's offerings. E. Blume fanned.

Second inning: Lee flew out to third; Thomas struck out, Sanford and Anderson both singled, but died on second and first, respectively, as Wright struck out. Genesee: C. Gray hit safely; Emmett drove one down to Bushman at short in the air, Bushman making the throw to first before Gray could return, a double play. Tilden flew out to deep center.

Third inning: Obrien was out, second to first; Bushman hit safely, went to third on Ball's single. Lawrence hit to score Bushman. Lee sacrificed, third to first, to score Ball and Thomas fanned. Genesee: Geltz was safe on an error at third; L. Gray was sacrificed to advance Geltz; Wicks was safe at first when Bushman failed handle his hot grounder at short, Geltz scoring from second. G. Blume was out, pitcher to first and Olsen flew out deep to left field.

Fourth inning: Sanford lined out to Tilden; Anderson swung at three wide and high balls; Wright was safe on an error at short; Obrien was safe on an error at second in the haste to make a double play; Bushman flew out to second. Genesee: E. Blume fanned; C. Gray hit but was forced by Emmett who took first on the fielders' choice; Tilden drove out a smashing single to right field, scoring Emmett after Sanford permitted the ball to roll to the fence; Geltz was out, pitcher to first.

Fifth inning: Ball was out, second to first; Lawrence was thrown out at first from short and Lee was retired in a like manner. Genesee: L. Gray was out, pitcher to first; Wicks flew out to center and G. Blume fanned.

Sixth inning: Thomas flew out to third; Sanford flew out to short and Anderson was a victim the second time of Tilden. Genesee: Olsen was out, short to first; E. Blume was out, third to first and C. Gray was out, third to first.

Seventh inning: Wright was unable to touch Tilden; Obrien hit for two bases; Bushman fanned; Ball sent a long fly to center which was dropped, Obrien scoring on the error; Ball attempted to steal third with Lawrence at bat, but a throw from Olsen to Wicks cut him off as he left the line. Genesee: Emmett sent Obrien back to the fence, getting a two-base hit. Tilden was out, second to first, advancing Emmett; Geltz

Domestic wheat markets strengthened materially during the week ending July 29, influenced by less favorable prospects for Spring wheat, both in the U. S. and Canada, delayed harvests in Europe and some improvement in export demand and relatively light offerings of cash grain, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Feed grains were steady. The advance in wheat and further deterioration of the corn crop in important producing areas as a result of extreme heat and lack of moisture, were the principal strengthening factors.

Harvesting of winter wheat has been practically completed in the U. S. and threshing is well along in most areas. Marketings continued light, with receipts at the principal central and southwestern markets totaling only 32,101 cars since July 1, compared with 62,507 cars for the corresponding period last year. Harvesting of Spring wheat is well along in southern parts of the domestic Spring wheat area and threshing returns show good yields and high quality in northwestern North Dakota. However, dry weather caused considerable damage to Spring wheat during the past two weeks and trade reports indicate a material reduction in the yields and lower quality where moisture reserves were low.

Canadians Harvesting

The Canadian harvest has begun in Manitoba, where the crop is maturing rapidly. Prospects are reported still good in southwestern Alberta and in central northern Saskatchewan. In other areas the crop has been given a definite setback as a result of the recent hot weather and insufficient current rainfall and inadequate subsoil moisture. These less favorable crop prospects, together with some improvement for export inquiry for Canadian grain, strengthened the Winnipeg market and No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at that point July 29 at 58½, which is equivalent to 50 3-4c in U. S. currency.

Pacific Northwest.

Pacific Northwestern markets were relatively firmer than those at eastern points and both cash and future prices were 4 to 5 cents higher than a week ago. Harvesting was reported general over eastern Washington and Oregon, but yields are below earlier expectations, because of recent dry weather. Early samples of Washington wheat indicate an average test weight of a half pound lower than last year. Smut appears to be as prevalent as last season. The first car of new wheat from Montana was received at Spokane during the week and graded No. 2 Dark Hard Winter. The test weight was 58½ lbs, dockage 2 per cent and protein 15.8 percent.

Russian Harvest.

Harvesting in Russia has been interrupted by rains and the acreage harvested to July 15 was under that of a year ago. Chartierings for August and September shipment of new wheat from Black Sea ports has recently increased, but tonnage is under that of the past two years. New Russian wheat was offered in British markets during the week at 55 3-4c for Sept. shipment. This was about 3¼c below quotations on No. 2 Manitoba from Vancouver and nearly 5c below sales of No. 1 hard winter from the Gulf. Quality of the new wheat, however, is uncertain and buyers are hesitating to contract before receipt of samples, according to trade reports although quality is claimed by shippers to be equal to that of last season.

European Harvest.

European harvests generally have been delayed by unfavorable weather. Showers have interfered with harvesting in France but trade estimates indicate an outturn above average. Stocks of old wheat are practically exhausted and prices on new crop grain are advancing. The Italian crop has suffered from recent rains, while harvesting in Spain and northwestern European countries has also been delayed by unfavorable weather. Offerings of new crop German wheat have increased and has been offered in Great Britain at 46 to 53c per bushel.

Handling Peas in Bulk.

The first load of new crop peas was received in Genesee Thursday of this week, and it was the first peas to be marketed in bulk in the Palouse country. They were received at the Mikkelson Warehouse.

Idaho Gets Road Allotment.

Boise—The entire $1,505,912 allotted to Idaho for emergency road construction was secured Wednesday by an agreement between J. H. Stemmer, director of highways and B. J. Finch of Ogden, Utah, representing the federal bureau of public roads.

By the agreement reached Wednesday, Stemmer said Idaho will match the emergency fund with $400,000 of federal aid available from the year's appropriation on a basis which will be 21-79, instead of the expected 50-50 basis.

The state has fixed a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour for unskilled labor and 60 cents for skilled labor, with $1 as the maximum daily charge for board. A minimum of mechanical help is to be used in order to increase the number of men employed.

STATE INSURANCE FUND CREATED IN IDAHO IN 1917

A law making compulsory certain compensation for injured and disabled workmen in the state of Idaho was enacted in 1917, says Glenn Balch who writes for the state chamber of commerce. To enable employers to more readily comply with the provisions of this law the state insurance fund was created.

At present employers may comply with the compensation law in one of three methods: by contract with the state insurance fund, by insuring their workmen with approved insurance companies or by establishing individual liability with approved bonds in the amount prescribed by law.

Operaton of the state insurance fund is simple. Employers pay into the fund premiums at established rates; in return, compensation for injured and disabled workmen is paid from the fund.

Purpose of Fund

The purpose of the fund, as set forth in the creating act, is "insuring employers against liability for compensation under the workmen's compensation law and of assuring to the persons entitled thereto the compensation provided by said law."

The legislature, it is apparent, not only saw fit to pass a law compensating injured employees but likewise set up the machinery for the carrying out of the provisions of that law.

The insurance fund, according to the creating act, "shall consist of all premiums and penalties paid into the fund, or property and securities acquired by and through use of the moneys belonging to the fund and of interest earned upon moneys belonging to the fund and deposited or invested as herein provided."

$20,000 Appropriated

As initial capital, a sum of $20,000 was appropriated to the fund from the state's general fund. A flood of premiums started and in a short time this initial appropriation was not only returned to the state but a sizable surplus likewise accumulated. Since that time the fund has been able to pay all claims and at the same time maintain an assuring surplus.

Biennial appropriations for the administration of the fund are made from it by the legislature. Adminis-

"BACK TO THE LAND" MOVE NOTED BY N. P. RAILWAY CO.

St. Paul, Minn.—Unmistakable evidences of the beginning of a far-reaching "back to the land" movement are discernable along the lines of the Northern Pacific Railway in the northwest and Pacific Northwest, according to John W. Haw, director of the agricultural development department of that railroad, who just has returned from a business trip to the Pacific Coast.

From every population center between Minneapolis-St. Paul and Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, many unemployed persons have moved beyond the cities' boundaries to take up small tracts of land where they become embryonic farmers, with perhaps a cow, a few chickens and a garden. This activity, Mr. Haw said, is a means, in some cases of providing a living, while in others it reduces materially the drain on savings.

"Every 'back to the land' movement began in just the same way," Mr. Haw said. "Many of the unemployed persons thus are learning the fundamentals of farming and a large number of them are beginning to realize that when the current industrial difficulties are behind us, their old jobs will be taken by younger men. They then will make the 'back to the land' idea permanent, although it now begins because of sheer necessity and is regarded as temporary. The history of this movement is that these persons who work a few acres near cities later become farm renters and ultimately farm owners. Surrounding the large cities on our railroad system today are hundreds of these potential farmers of the future."

Mr. Haw said also, that the inquiries from large eastern industrial cities from persons interested in becoming farmers on cheap but productive lands of the northwest and Pacific Northwest are increasing steadily, with some settlement already in progress.

GENESEE STREET OILING TO BE STARTED THIS WEEK

The company which has the contract for oiling the 13 miles of North and South highway, will begin oiling operations on the streets of Genesee August 8, Ed Smolt said Wednesday, following a conversation with District Engineers McCreedy and Pierson. Equipment will perhaps be moved in Saturday or Sunday.

Work will be started on the streets first, to afford a detour for through travel while operations are under way on the highway, and after the streets are finished there will be space available for equipment storage and for a premixing station for maintenance work.

STATE LAND DEPARTMENT CONTROLS ENDOWNMENTS

The process of transforming the federal land grants, which are the basis of our institutional endowments, into funds with an earning power is carried on under the direction of the state land department. Sales are made in accordance with the demand, the legal provisions and as is consistent, in the land commissioner's judgment, with the best interest of the endowments themselves, says Glenn Balch, writing "Tax Topic," for the state chamber of commerce.

Some idea of the size of the biennial sales from the various grants is obtained from the latest report of the state auditor. During the biennium in question the cash receipts of the agricultural college endowment fund amounted to $117,528.81. The charitable institutions fund received $273,412.23.

Cash Receipts.

The cash principal of the insane asylum fund was enlarged during that period by receipts totalling $62,019.87, and the normal school fund received the sum of $146,156.62.

Sales from the penitentiary land grant brought $113,838.59, and returns to the public buildings fund totalled $13,579.36. The public school endowment fund, by far the largest of the federal endowments, was increased by cash receipts totalling $2,284,589.05.

Returns for the two-year period to the school of science endowment amounted to $80,428.72, and the University fund received a total of $202,-99. It should be remembered that these receipts themselves are nonexpendable, but are added to the various endowment fund principals, the earnings of which in interest and rentals are available for the purposes for which the grants were originally given.

Demand Governs Sales.

These figures are not necessarily representative of all biennial land grant sales. During periods of active demand the sales are logically more numerous and the returns correspondingly larger. On the other hand, in periods of stagnation, such as the present, sales undoubtedly decreased materially, a fact which because of unfavorable price conditions, very likely works to the ultimate advantage of the various funds. Desirability is also an important factor in federal grant land sales.

The "irreducible" endowment fund principles are invested under the direction of the department of public investments. The earnings in interest and rentals are used in fulfilling the various purposes of the endowments.

Four classes of security are acceptable under the provisions of the law for endowment fund investments. They are: State bonds and treasury notes; district school bonds; U. S. bonds and treasury notes; and mortgages on farm loans.

Despite these legal precautions, it is an established fact that losses to the endowment fund principals have occurred, generally in connection with loans to individuals on farm property.

The latest auditor's report itemizes the endowment funds investments as follows: State bonds and treasury notes, $1,495,700.00; school district bonds, $7,230,324.66; U. S. bonds and treasury notes, $300,000.00; and farm loans, $2,536,162.45. The grand total is $11,562,187.11.

The report shows that farm loans totalling $7,940.00 were charged off the books as valueless during the biennium. Likewise farm loans representing an aggregate investment of $394,277.99 were foreclosed during the two-year period, the state taking possession of the land put up as collateral. Whether additional losses for the biennium will be sustained depends upon resale value of the land foreclosed upon.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

Estate of LOUIS ANDERSON, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given by the undersigned administrator of the estate of Louis Anderson, deceased, to the creditors of, and all persons having claims against the said deceased, to exhibit them with the necessary vouchers within six months after July 8, 1932, the first publication of this notice, to the said administrator at the law office of Adrian Nelson, Moscow, the same being the place for the transaction of the business of said estate, in Latah County, State of Idaho.

HORSE FALLS IN RESERVOIR AT FRED SHIRROD RANCH

Tom, the 1600-pound black gelding, of a rather curious disposition, belonging to Fred Shirrod fell into the reservoir on the Shirrod ranch sometime Tuesday afternoon, presumably about 4 o'clock, and required considerable assistance in removal. The big fellow was turned into a field with three other horses Tuesday, and when it was time for them to return to the yard, Tom was missing. A few moments previous Mr. Shirrod had noticed the water coming from a faucet looked a bit roily, and his first thought was to ascertain the whereabouts of the missing horse. A trip to the reservoir, located on a hill not far from the house, and close to a fence, showed that Tom had attempted to walk between the reservoir and the fence and he had fallen in. The reservoir is higher than the surrounding ground on three sides but next to the fence it can easily be seen how the horse could have taken a step to one side and tumbled into the water, through the covering which is made of inch board.

The reservoir is supplied by a very cool spring and is usually brim-full during the afternoon hours. The dimensions of the concrete reservoir are 7x7x7 feet and there being no possible chance for the horse to get out unassisted, it remained standing in the water with his nostrils resting on the rim of the tank. Apparently not excited the horse consented to removal of the water with buckets and was fairly calm until attempts were made to remove him with ropes. This proved unavailing, and from the various suggestions made by neighbors who had congregated, it was decided to bail out the water and then place timbers, cordwood and blocks in the reservoir for the horse to step upon. When the animal was thus raised, ropes were passed around his body and the men rolled Tom over onto the earth, unhurt except a few skin abrasions on his front knees and over one eye.

Fred Morscheck, one of the neighbors let himself down into the reservoir to place the timber and for a time he worked from the horses back but the animal became excited momentarily, and Mr. Morscheck found himself the center of a number of anxious hands, extended to help him from the reservoir. Art Tilden, who has been living at the Shirrod ranch while employed at the rock crusher, also took part in the rescue and received a smashed index finger while handling heavy wood blocks.

Wednesday the reservoir was cleared of the wood and cleaned and was ready to receive water again.

Taxes Win Argument.

Tri-weekly train service has been inaugurated on the Milwaukee railroad between St. Maries and Elk River, as the result of a hearing before the Utilities commission. The company based its action on the almost confiscatory taxes against them, which amount to $727.17 per mile of trackage and $131.27 per mile of telegraph lines. Other arguments advanced by the company were discounted materially, the tax issue being sufficient in itself to offset any argument by the Elk River community.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION TO DETERMINE HEIRSHIP.

Notice is hereby given that Maud E. Welker has filed a petition in this court for determining the heirship to certain real property hereinafter described; that it is alleged in said petition that James D. Kunes died on the 13th day of March, 1917, and that at the time of his death, he was a resident of Lewiston, Idaho, and the owner of the following described real property in Latah County, State of Idaho, to-wit:

The Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) of the Northeast Quarter (NE¼); the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of the Northwest Quarter (NW¼) and the North Half (N½) of the Southwest Quarter (SW¼) of Section Seventeen (17) in Township Thirty-eight (38) North of Range One (1), West of the Boise Meridian in Idaho, containing One Hundred and Sixty (160) acres according to Government survey.

That the petitioner, Maud E. Welker, alleges she is the daughter of the said James D. Kunes and Sarah A. Kunes, his surviving widow, now also deceased, and asks that a hearing be held and that this court make and render a decree determining who is the heir of said James D. Kunes, the decree of kinship and the right of descent of the real property above described.

All persons interested in said estate, both creditors and heirs are hereby notified that the court has set Wednesday, the 31st day of August, 1932, at ten o'clock a. m. at the court room of said court at Moscow, Idaho, as the time and place for hearing said petition, when and where any person interested may appear and object thereto.

Dated this 25th day of July, 1932.

L. G. Peterson,
Probate Judge, and ExOfficio Clerk of said Court. 7-10

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Herman, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Krier, suffered a painful accident Wednesday afternoon when he fell out a tree and broke both arms at the wrists. He had climbed into the tree to a get a kite which had caught there, and one of the limbs broke, letitng him fall.

Leon Follett, J. T. Nelson, Will Herman, F. E. Dieus and E. E. Miller spent last Sunday and Monday fishing on the Chatcolet. They made the trip in the Miller auto, covering the distance in 8 hours each way. They returned home with over 300 fine specimens of the finny tribe.

Change in Idaho License Plates.

Idaho's automobile license plates next year will be varied in form from those in use this year, according to E. A. Taylor of the department of law enforcement, who was compiling information to request bids on the 1932 plates.

The licenses, as this year, will bear the distinguishing mark of the county, but instead of having the letter and number in a vertical column at the left, the number will come first, then the letter, uniform with the figures on the plate. Thus an Ada county license will read "1A-1200."

"We've found," said Taylor, "that the county insignia under the present system is hard to distinguish. The new method is the same as that used in New York state; the object being to simplify the plate as far as possible."

He: Hey, there's no swimming allowed here."

She: "Why didn't you tell me before I undressed?"

He: "Well, there's no law against that."

WHY GRAIN IS SACKED.

Cautious sailors, who in the early days insisted that grain from the Pacific Northwest be sacked to prevent its shifting in the ships in the rough voyage around Cape Horn, were partially responsible for the practice of sacking grain there, which is beginning to give way to the bulk handling method, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In those days, before the Panama Canal was in use, grain from the Pacific Northwest was usually shipped around South America. Bulk grain often spoiled from the wide changes of temperature. Flat cars were more common than ordinary freight cars, and grain in sacks could be shipped on them. Insurance companies were unwilling to insure grain shipped in bulk, and so the sacking method came into general use.

Another Snake Story.

Kendrick Gazette, July 29: There shouldn't be any particular reason why so many snakes seem to be haunting our little city (the most of the inhabitants are reasonably temperate). But this story has a moral to it—for snakes, at any rate—for the one about which this story is concerned met a sudden and ignominious death.

It happened Wednesday morning that when Mrs. Wade Keene went to go out her back kitchen door she pushed open the screen—and lo, and behold, a large snake, about three feet in length, dropped down on the back of her neck. It wasn't a rattler, but it was just as cold and squirmy as any snake and brought forth the usual cry of horror from Mrs. Keene. But right there was where Mr. Snake made a mistake for after the fright was over Mrs. Keene grabbed two brooms and proceeded the shorten Mr. Snake's life "right now." She held the reptile down with one broom and swept his life out with another.

TAX 'EM — TAX 'EM!

Tax the farmer, tax his fowl,
Tax the dog and tax his howl,
Tax the hen and tax her egg,
Let the bloomin' mudsill beg.
Tax his pig and tax his squeal,
Tax his boots, run down at the heel;
Tax his plow, and tax his clothes,
Tax his rags that wipe his nose;
Tax his house and tax his bed,
Tax the bald spot on his head;
Tax the ox, and tax the ass,
Tax his "Henry," tax his gas;
Tax the road that he must pass,
And make his travel o'er the grass.
Tax his cow, and tax his calf,
Tax him if he dares to laugh;
He is but a common man,
So tax the cuss just all you can,
Tax the lab'rer, but be discreet,
Tax him for walking on the street,
Tax his bread, tax his meat,
Tax the shoes clear off the feet.
Tax the pay roll, tax the sale,
Tax all his hard-earned paper kale;
Tax his pipe and tax his smoke,
Teach him government is no joke.
Tax the coffins, tax the shrouds,
Tax the souls beyond the clouds,
Tax all business, tax the shops,
Tax the income, tax the stocks;
Tax the living, tax the dead,
Tax the unborn, before they're fed.

Tax the water, tax the air,
Tax the sunlight, if you dare.
Tax them all and tax them well,
And do your best to make life he—l.

Moth-Tox

KILLS MOTHS, LARVAE AND EGGS

Moth-Tox was especially selected for our trade because it does kill the larvae and eggs of the Moth. It is harmless to people when used as directed. Moth-Tox will not stain and its ingredients are 100 per cent active. It is fragrant, having a decided advantage over Moth balls, Napthaline, etc., in that it leaves no disagreeable odor.

fanned; Gray singled to score Emmett but was forced at second when Wicks grounded to Bushman.

Eighth inning: Lawrence flew out to short; Lee was fanned; Thomas was safe on an error at second, stole second and advanced to third while Sanford was taking first on an error at short. Anderson at bat, and as Olsen returned the ball to the pitcher, Thomas came sliding into the plate; the throw was made to catch him but it was dropped, Thomas being safe and the score tied. Anderson fouled out to Olsen. Genesee: G. Blume was out, second to first; Olsen was safe on an error at third. E. Blume went to first on a hit, but Olsen overstepped second and was put out on the throw in; C. Gray hit safely but in stretching his hit drew the play between first and second, E. Blume trying to make home was thrown out, third to the plate.

Ninth inning: Wright was out, short to first; Obrien was a similar vicitim; Bushman was walked and Ball was out in right field in the air. Genesee: Emmett fanned; Tilden hit for one base, Putnam taking his place as a runner; Geltz was safe on an error, advancing Putnam; Les Gray hit to right field for a single, but Sanford failed to handle the ball on the grass and Putnam scored for Tilden, ending the game, and breaking the 4 to 4 tie.

Cash receipts of the fund during the last biennium totalled $1,339,254.69. An initial balance of $10,768.22 and receipts by transfer of $2,007.15 made a total of $1,352,029.96.

Disbursements

Disbursements for the two-year period were as follows: Administration, $83,074.64; compensation awards, $749,970.37; and purchase of investments, $472,327.29. The disbursement total was $1,305,372.30.

Administration expenses are itemized as follows: Salaries and wages, $60,589.85; other expenses, $3,209.80; services other than personal, $9,397.67; supplies, $3,150.70; equipment, $4,543.69; and rents, contributions and fixed charges, $2,182.93.

Operations report of the fund investments shows that at the beginning of the biennium $1,039,492.10 was invested in the following securities: Liberty bonds, state treasury notes, school district bonds, highway district bonds, city and village bonds, irrigation district bonds, county bonds, mortgage notes, county warrants, school district warrants, highway district warrants, irrigation district warrants and city and village warrants.

Investments Increased.

During the two year period the investment principal paid totalled $315,981.45 and interest collected amounted to $113,913.17. New investments totalling $478,890.39 were made. The invested balance at the close of the biennium was $1,202,401.04.

Heaviest investments at that time were: City and village bonds, $580,055.00; county bonds, $239,832.67; and highway district bonds, $219,300.00. The sum of $55,915.78 was invested in mortgages, presumably on real property.

While the insurance fund is government controlled, it should be remembered, when considering taxation, that no tax moneys go either to the fund or its administration. The fund is, however, supported by the state's industries and its efficient and economical operation is therefore a matter of importance to every citizen.

THE GENESEE NEWS

VOL. XLIV — GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1932 — NO. 8

REPAIRS CONTEMPLATED AT WATER SUPPLY RESERVOIR

Water in the city reservoir is being closely watched for contamination of any sort and as soon as the harvest season is over and the fire hazard is reduced, repairs will be made to insure a pure water storage plant. With the roof removed as it has been for the past several months algae forms readily and causes a discoloration of the water. With the water supply shielded from the sun and insects, the reservoir has caused little or no trouble during the past twenty-seven years which has been an important factor in determining that Genesee's city reservoir will be covered with a new roof and a new screen around the sides. Before constructing the new roof it is planned to pour new two-inch walls reinforced concrete, to avoid the loss of water resulting from breaks in the old reservoir which has served so many years. Rather than support the roof with timbers as in the past, steel pillars have been considered and will, unodoubtedly, serve as the roof support.

Looking over water rates in the various communities in the Inland Empire, Genesee has the lowest assured rate of any studied. Kendrick recently lowered its rate to a minimum charge of $1.50 for the first 3,000 gallons, compared to a charge of $1.00 at Genesee for the first 1,000 gallons. Kendrick will charge 30 cents per thousand for the second 3,000 gallons; 20 cents for the next 5,000 gallons, and over 11,000 gallons the rate will be 10 cents per 1,000. At Genesee, with the minimum of $1.00 for the first thousand gallons, the rate for the next 4,000 gallons is 25 cents per 1,000; 20 cents per thousand for the next 5,000 gallons and for each 1,000 gallons in excess of 10,000 gallons, the rate is 5 cents per thousand. Genesee's rate has been stable for years, while at Kendrick, the board says the action of reducing water rates may be rescinded at any time, providing the returns do not meet necessary expenditures.

GENESEE BALL CLUB MAY ENTER SPOKANE TOURNEY

A baseball tournament open to all clubs in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and Montana will be held at Natatorium Park, Spokane, September 3, 4 and 5. The prizes for the tournament will be 50 per cent of the gross gate receipts to be divided among the first three clubs as follows: 50 per cent to club winning first place; 30 per cent to club winning second; 20 per cent to the third and a smaller percentage for the fourth.

All entries are to be filed with G. M. Ferris, president of the Idaho Washington league, Spokane, before Sunday, August 21, announces the Spokane chamber of commerce bulletin.

The Genesee club which has lost but five of the 16 games played this season for an average of .6875, has been giving some consideration to entering the tournament. Genesee has won from Lewiston, Potlatch, Uniontown, two games; Lapwai, Juliaetta, Kendrick, two games; Troy, two games; and Colton, and has lost one game to Lewiston, one to Potlatch, one to Juliaetta and two to Uniontown.

Attend C. E. Picnic at Pullman.

The following attended the Whitman-Latah Christian Endeavor picnic at Pullman, Sunday afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Aherin, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Simons, Irma Carbuhn, Violet Heppner, Annabelle Huffman, Genevieve Hampton, Mrs. Floyd Pinkerton, Elvon Hampton, Wayne Hampton, B. J. Pleiman, Raleigh Hampton, Danny Aherin. All reported a good time.

The purpose of the picnic was a get-together for members of the organization to conduct an executive session.

MIKKELSON CO. HANDLING PEAS IN BULK AT GENESEE

According to Clyde Manring, manager of the Mikkelson Grain company, Genesee is the first town in the Inland Empire, handling peas in bulk, made possible by a secretly operated elevator discharge mechanism, the product of Henry Morscheck, now in the employ of the Mikkelson company. Peas are received in bulk the same as grain, and are elevated in exactly the same manner as grain, the damage by cracking usually resulting in the discharge of the peas from the elevator. By the mechanism installed by Mr. Morscheck, which will be kept secret until a patent is secured, there is no resulting cracking of the peas, and here lies the secret of bulk handling of dried peas.

The pea crops of Colin Wilson and Christenson Brothers are the two first crops threshed in this locality, and they are being handled in bulk.

Prices of peas are advancing almost every day, due in part, to the crop failure in the east central states and due in some measure to the increasing natural demand.

Handling of green peas in the pod had been in progress during the past week in the New Meadows, Idaho section, a crop recently introduced to central Idaho. The crop there is raised largely by the San Diego Fruit & Produce company which has a market practically all the year around for green peas.

This crop around New Meadows also means new business for the P. & I. N. railroad, a company operating between New Meadows and Weiser.

KUNEY CONSTRUCTION CO. MOVING TO COLTON, WASH.

Employees of the Kuney Construction company are now prospecting a quarry site in the town limits of Colton, Wash., preparatory to setting up their rock crushing outfit to furnish material for the relocated highway from Colton to the Idaho state line at the top of Lewiston hill. The company which has the contract for grading and surfacing the project is reported behind schedule. The Kuney company has a contract for crushing approximately 25,000 yards of rock. This is the company which recently completed crushing rock on the Dr. Elliot place for the Genesee section of the North and South highway, and which also opened a sand pit near Paradise mountain to furnish sand for the highway. They also crushed sand at their plant for a few miles on the south end of the local project.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING AUGUST 5

Domestic wheat markets were some firmer at the close of the week ending August 5, under the strengthening influence of advancing security markets, delayed harvests in Europe, uncertainty as to final outturns of the American spring wheat crop, and relatively light marketings of new crop grain, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Flax advanced slightly despite a quiet crusher demand.

U. S. Crop Prospects

Crop prospects remain a dominant factor in the general wheat market situation. Winter wheat outturns in the U. S. are now fairly definitely known, but the outcome of the spring wheat crop is still uncertain. Private estimates as of August 1, forecast a crop of spring wheat in the U. S. of around 275,000,000 bushels, or about 30,000,000 less than the July official forecast. Such an outturn if realized would be about 170,000,000 bushels more than last season's harvest. Private estimates place the Canadian wheat crop this season at around 450,000,000 bushels or about 150,000,000 bushels larger than the 1931 crop. The Canadian crop suffered materially from hot, dry weather during July and rain is still urgently needed in many sections. Wheat harvesting will soon be general in the Prairie Provinces and threshing and combining have already begun.

European Prospects

In Europe crops in the Lower Danubian countries have suffered severe damage and latest advices indicate an outturn of only 257,203,000 bushels against 367,834,000 bushels produced last year. Heaviest reductions have occurred in Rumania and Yugoslavia, although countries in the Danube Basin show losses. Harvesting in Russia has been delayed and the area harvested to July 25 was placed at about 39,000,000 acres as against about 72,000,000 acres to that date a year ago. Conditions of the winter wheat crop in areas near Black Sea ports are reported to be fairly good. In the spring wheat areas, which normally produce around two-thirds of the total Russian crop, prospects have been materially lowered by recent hot, dry weather.

Harvests have been relatively abundant in the important deficit areas of western Europe and milling regulations in these areas have been tightened. The Italian harvest is now placed at 252,978,000 bushels against 248,101,000 last year. Milling regulations for bread wheat now require utilization of 95 per cent native wheat in milling mixtures. Trade estimates indicate a French crop of around 290,000,000 bushels or 20,000,000 bushels over the 1931 crop. The French milling quota for native wheat has been raised to 97 per cent. Germany, with a record harvest of 183,500,000 bushels, has extended the milling quota of 97 per cent for native wheat to August 15, but permits millers using grain imported in exchange for wheat exports to use up to 30 per cent of foreign wheat. Spain has a harvest of 161,700,000 bushels, or about 27,000,000 bushels more than last season.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific coast markets were relatively firmer than eastern points, reflecting light offerings and some improvement in local demand. Export bids remained below working basis and no export sales were reported. Harvesting of the new crop has become general in Washington, where yields are somewhat below earlier expectations. High protein is indicated but the test weight is light with early samples grading No. 2 or 3 on that factor.

Barley Markets

Foreign barley markets continued quiet, with trading of liminted volume. The Moracecon barley crop is now placed at 894,000 tons, as compared with 1,407,000 tons last year. The shortage mentioned, however, is largely offset by heavier crops in Tunis and Algeria. The outturn in Tunis is approximately double that of a year ago and the quality is reported fairly good. Demand for malting barley in English markets remained dull and sales comprised principally California barley.

California barley markets were irregular, although quoted prices at the end of the week are practically unchanged from those of a week ago. The steadiness in the market undertone was partially the result of the firmness in security markets and in some other grains, particularly wheat.

IDAHO UTILITIES COMMISSION REDUCES HANDLING CHARGES

Grain handling charges in Idaho, north of the Clearwater River, have been reduced from $1.00 per ton to 75 cents, by action of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, a copy of their order No. 1421 reading as follows:

"That, thereafter, and on the 13th day of July, 1932, this Commission, on its own motion, issued Order No. 1417 in the above entitled matter, and by said order ordered a rehearing, and set said rehearing at 10 o'clock a. m., July 20, 1932, in the District Court room in the Latah county courthouse, at Moscow, Idaho.

"After due notice given hearing was held in the district court room in the Latah county court house, at Moscow, Idaho, at 10 o'clock a. m., July 20, 1932, and at said hearing oral and documentary evidence was submitted.

"Hearings have not been held on said last mentioned order in other portions of the state, and this Commission is of the opinion that on account of the early harvesting of grain in that portion of the state north of the Clearwater River a decision should be rendered immediately.

In this order the Commission is of the opinion that it should confine its jurisdiction to the warehousemen's premises.

Upon consideration of all the evidence admitted at said hearing, the economic condition now exisiting, the volume of business in that part of the state, the financial condition of the grain growers and the market price of grain that the rates fixed in said Order No. 1397 are in excess of what the rates should be under the present existing economic conditions.

"Therefore, this Commission finds, that just and reasonable temporary rates under present conditions for the handling and storage of grain in the warehouses in Idaho, are, as follows:

"Handling and storage: 75 cents per ton handling charge. Free storage 30 days, after which will be added storage charges at the rate of ½ cent per hundred pounds per month, or fraction part thereof. Such charges include handling into and in warehouse or elevator and delivery on platform, and where delivery is in bulk through chute into cars, trucks or other means of transportation.

"Cleaning bulk grain: 5 cents per hundred for 'scalping' i. e., one operation over receiving separator or some other similar machine.

"Cleaning sacked grain: 10 cents per hundred for 'scalping' i. e., one operation over receiving separator or some other similar machine.

"The above rates do not include insurance of any kind, and when the grain is insured the cost of insurance may be added to the above rates.

"It is further ordered, that the above and foregoing rates will be in effect on and after the 8th day of August, 1932."

J. M. Thompson, J. D. Rigney and M. Reese Hattabaugh, are commissioners.

Build Two Large Trailers.

F. W. Loncosty and Bruce Wardrobe completed the construction of a large machine shop in the form of a trailer for the Kuney Construction company. The shop is of wooden construction, mounted on two solid tire truck wheels at the rear.

Workmen are also nearing completion of a large steel trailer, made of mammoth steel I-beams or girders and reinforced and braced with many small I-beams and T-irons. This trailer will have a carrying capacity of more than 20 tons with one axle in the rear, carrying six large tired wheels, and can be increased to a capacity of 50 tons by attaching tandem wheels at the rear and, supporting the front end on another set of tandem wheels in front. All joints are electric welded according to plans and specifications drawn up by Lloyd Reed, foreman for the Kuney Construction company. Bids were asked for the construction of this trailer from machine companies in large northwest cities, but it is certain that a big saving is being made by having the work done under the supervision of Mr. Reed.

Weiner Roast Saturday Night.

Members of the class wishing to attend are requested to meet at the church promptly at 5:30 Saturday afternoon.

Candidate's Manager Chicken Thief.

Uniontown Journal: John F. McKay, socialist candidate for governor, spoke on the street in Uniontown last Sunday evening before a small audience, using as his subject, "What is Wrong With America?"

McKay's campaign manager, a man by the name of McKee, was not along, and the following day an article in the Spokesman Review stated that McKee had been arrested in that city for stealing chickens.

PRECINCT BOUNDARY LINES ARE CHANGED FOR GENESEE

Genesee precinct boundary lines have been changed by the board of county commissioners, making it more convenient for voters to reach the polls at election time. Thorncreek precinct will include a part of the territory formerly embraced by the Genesee precinct boundaries, and Lenville loses a part of its territory which will now be a part of the Genesee precinct.

The new boundaries of this precinct are described as follows: Commencing at a point where the Little Potlatch creek crosses the south boundary line of Latah county, thence up Little Potlatch creek to its intersection with the north line of Section 35, Township 38 North Range 4, W. B. M., thence west to the northwest corner of Section 34, said township and range, thence north 1 mile, thence west 2 miles, thence north 2 miles, thence west 1 mile, thence north 1 mile, thence west 2 miles, thence south 4 miles, thence west 2 miles, thence south 1 mile, thence west one-half mile, thence south 1 mile, thence west to the state line between Idaho and Washington, thence south 2 miles, thence east 13 miles to the place of beginning.

If electors have registered in either precinct and are affected by the change it will be necessary for them to receive a transfer of registration before they can vote. Mrs. Lester Hayden is the registrar for Genesee precinct.

LANDE CAR HIT BY GRAVEL TRUCK THURSDAY NIGHT

S. G. Kinner, Wilbur, owner of a fleet of five International trucks which has been employed in hauling crushed rock on the North and South highway, made a cash settlement for the damages incurred when one of the trucks hit the Buick sedon belonging to Nels Lande. While damages are in excess of the $60.00 paid by Mr. Kinner, an agreement was reached for this sum as neither party carried property damage insurance, and they both wished to avoid costs which might be further incurred by court action.

Mr. and Mrs. Lande were returning to their home from Genesee and had driven the car as far to the right of the road as possible, and were driving slowly at the time of passing. The car also carried a third passenger, an employee at the Lande ranch. None of the occupants were injured, although the left fenders were badly damaged, the running board demolished, both axles sprung and damage was done to the two left wheels.

COOL WEATHER RETARDS OILING OPERATIONS HERE

Cool weather Wednesday slowed up oiling operations on the streets of Genesee, after work had begun early in the morning. Two "sixty" caterpillars were pulling two heavy graders all day Wednesday, turning the crushed rock, sand and oil over and over, after the oil had been applied. The oil being used here is between 60 and 70 per cent asphalt, cut back with a 27 per cent fuel oil, and was applied at a temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit. Work of mixing would have been expedited had the temperature remained higher as on the days preceding operations.

Five cars of the oil were received here Tuesday afternoon, which were due Monday, the delay causing the contractors to put off work one day. Fifteen cars will be required to complete the 13 miles of North and South highway to be oiled this summer between the Casper place on the south and Thorncreek on the north.

It required but a short time Wednesday morning to apply the oil mixture, and immediately after the large tank truck began spraying oil on the northern end of the project. The oil and crushed rock surfacing will be slightly in excess of two inches in depth when completed, and while the mat is not as deep as applied in other sections of the state, it is expected that the completed job will be satisfactory owing to the quality of materials being used, especially on the streets in town.

Rain Wednesday night further delayed mixing on the streets, but it was expected that the job would be completed in town by Friday afternoon, and two weeks would see the end of highway work in this locality.

State overseers on the job advised that motor vehicle drivers park in the center of the main street being oiled and to drive along the curbs to pack the mixed materials.

Owing to the expense incurred in meeting state requirements some of the side street improvements are being curtailed for the present at least.

GOLDENDALE, WASH. GIVEN LOWER RAIL FREIGHT RATE

Portland—In an attempt to meet prices of competing truck and barge lines, the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroad Monday published a new grain rate tariff of 12½c per hundred on grain carried from Goldendale, Wn. to Portland, as against 18½c rate previously effective.

This rate has been established, the road said, notwithstanding the general freight rate hearing on the same situation now before the interstate commerce commission examiners at Seattle.

The railroad said the new tariff is the answer to the plea of wheat growing farmers along the Columbia for rate relief they would have to have before the crop could profitably be harvested.

The truck-barge rate on the Columbia of 18½c from Goldendale to Portland will be allowed to stand, truck line operators indicated Monday, in spite of the railroad price cut.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION TO DETERMINE HEIRSHIP.

Notice is hereby given that Maud E. Welker has filed a petition in this court for determining the heirship to certain real property hereinafter described; that it is alleged in said petition that James D. Kunes died on the 13th day of March, 1917, and that at the time of his death, he was a resident of Lewiston, Idaho, and the owner of the following described real property in Latah County, State of Idaho, to-wit:

The Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) of the Northeast Quarter (NE¼); the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of the Northwest Quarter (NW¼) and the North Half (N½) of the Southwest Quarter (SW¼) of Section Seventeen (17) in Township Thirty-eight (38) North of Range One (1), West of the Boise Meridian in Idaho, containing One Hundred and Sixty (160) acres according to Government survey.

That the petitioner, Maud E. Welker, alleges she is the daughter of the said James D. Kunes and Sarah A. Kunes, his surviving widow, now also deceased, and asks that a hearing be held and that this court make and render a decree determining who is the heir of said James D. Kunes, the decree of kinship and the right of descent of the real property above described.

All persons interested in said estate, both creditors and heirs are hereby notified that the court has set Wednesday, the 31st day of August, 1932, at ten o'clock a. m. at the court room of said court at Moscow, Idaho, as the time and place for hearing said petition, when and where any person interested may appear and object thereto.

Dated this 25th day of July, 1932.

L. G. Peterson,
Probate Judge, and ExOfficio Clerk of said Court. 7-10

PONDER OVER THIS.

If a counterfeit bill could do this, what would a few real ones do? "On blue Monday morning, the preacher was bewailing his wrong the day before and the treasurer had not given him enough to pay "the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker." With bowed head and aching heart, he walked down Main street when he noticed by the side of the road an object that looked like a tobacco wrapper. He ventured to pick it up and to his great surprise, found that it was a $10 bill, as the story is told in the Elk River News, taken from one of its exchanges.

Was he stimulated? I'll say he was; the whole world had changed. Fearing that someone might claim the bill the minister wrote down the name of the bank and the number of the bill. He went down to the corner store and ordered $10 worth of groceries and Mr. Osgood almost fainted, but when he saw the bill he revived.

Mr. Osgood went down to Bill Ayres and ordered two loads of wood, at $5 a load, and Bill said: "Why the two loads?" He showed him the $10 and when he saw it he began singing "There's a Rainbow 'Round My Shoulder." Bill went over to Mower & Strong's and said to Stuart, "I want that electric percolator you said that I could have for $10." For a moment Stuart did not know what to do, but when he saw the bill he went into ecstasy.

Stuart went to Harry Wilsox and said, "Harry, I will give you $10 for that chair in the window marked at $10.58." When Harry saw the bill he called his clerk to look at it, saying: "That means a gold crown for me." So he went to Dr. Fullerton and got his crown. The doctor was so excited that he rushed down to Meyer's store and bought a new pair of shoes.

Mr. Meyers carried the bill over to Ty Baker's and got a lawn mower. Ty rushed it over to the electric light company and they to Harry Harris and thus it went; to Cabot's, Maxham's, McCue's, Skinners drug store, and so on.

It got going so fast that at 5 o'clock it had purchased more than $500 worth of merchandise, had stimulated business so that merchants were singing, "Pack Up Your Troubles in the Old Kit Bag and Smile, Smile, Smile."

At 6 o'clock that night, Farmer John called his hired man and said, "Sam, I haven't paid you a cent since Noah built his boat, but here is a $10 bill."

When Sam saw it he began to jump up and down and sing, "It Ain't Goin' to Rain No Mo'." At 8 o'clock Sam was in the Methodist parsonage, tying a knot with his tongue that he could not untie with his teeth. He felt so happy when he kissed the bride that he handed the preacher a $10 bill, saying, "Take it, parson, I've got all I want now."

Can you realize how the preacher felt when he recognized the same $10 bill he had sent out in the morning. Before retiring he read all of President Hoover's speech at the dedication of the Harding memorial, in which he advocated the stimulation of business by having faith in our might resources.

In the morning the preacher took the bill down to the local bank to deposit, but the cashier was startled and said: "Where did you get that bill? It is counterfeit and we have been warned to collect it and report to the government."

The sun went out and all I could see was stars, I, was the minister, circulating a counterfeit bill. I must make this right at once, but whom have I wronged? I am out my $10; no, I am not. I have $10 worth of groceries. Mr. Osgood is no loser, he has $10 worth of wood. It must be Bill that is out; no, he has the coffee pot; Stuart has the chair, Harry has the crown; Dr. Fullerton has the pair of shoes, Mr. Meyers the lawn mower, and so on.

Oh, I see it now, it must be the fellow who got married is out. But I can't undo that for that must stand for all time. He isn't out either, he has a perfectly good wife for $10. He hasn't any kick coming.

Who is the loser? Nobody; the truth is, everybody is $10 ahead of the game and everybody is happy. Why disturb them?

Enterains at Bridge.

In honor of Mrs. John Luedke's birthday anniversary, Mrs. N. M. Leavitt entertained two tables of bridge last Friday afternoon at the close of which she served refreshments and many gifts were presented Mrs. Luedke. At bridge Mrs. Virgil Cherrington received high score prize and Mrs. Harry Hanson, low. Guests enjoying the afternoon were: Mesdames John Luedke, Harry Hanson, Fred Meyer, Guy Wicks, Margaret McCoy, Miss Bernadine Hasfurther; Mrs. Cecil Morris of Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Virgil Cherington, Moscow.

Missionary Society

The Christian Church Missionary society was entertained at their recent meeting by Mrs. Hannah Swenson, with Mrs. Frank Qualey, assistant hostess. There were 15 members and 13 visitors present. The theme of the lesson for the afternoon was: "Enlarging of Mind and Heart," and a dramatization of a book was presented to give members a further insight into missionary work. Following the business meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses during the social hour.

Surprise for Mercedes Smolt.

Friday evening of last week a number of girl friends of Mercedes Smolt pleasantly surprised her at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Smolt. The day being her birthday, she was presented with many gifts. The evening was enjoyed by playing games and later refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Those present were: Mercedes Smolt, Evelyn Krier, Marjorie Nebelsieck, Helen Kries, Ruth Alice Vanouck, Dorothy Baumgartner, Aileen Flomer, Marie Springer, Kathryn Baumgartner, Hazel Craft, Annabelle Huffman, Vivian Olson, Mrs. Wm. Smolt and Nadine Smolt.

Campfire Girls Kill Rattler.

Kendrick Gazette: In a round-about way news filtered through to us that the other day when a number of Camp Fire Girls were returning to town from a hike, they found a small rattle snake which they proceeded to dispatch. His snakeship tried awfully hard, it was said, to make its getaway through the grass, but the girls were too quick for it and ended its career pronto.

After the deed had been done, the girls wanted the rattles, but were at a loss to get them off the snake. Finally they happened to think of a small razor blade they carry with them to use for mutilation purposes in case of snake bite, and proceeded to amputate the rattles. It wasn't a hard job to count them, it was said, but they were real rattles just he same.

L. C. Hayden reported Monday afternoon the presence of a dead rattlesnake in the road near the rock crusher, west of town, in Highway District No. 1. Mr. Hayden, because of partial deafness, did not stop to examine the snake, which he thought dead, for fear that another snake might be near, and he would not be able to hear its warning. The snake, as nearly as Mr. Hayden could say, had about six rattles, and was of the opinion that it came from among the rocks at the quarry.

Reduced 30 Pounds Never Felt Better

Safe Way to Lose Fat

Take the case of Miss Madelone Crowley, for instance, who lives in Little Rock, Ark. Just read her letter:

"I have used Kruschen Salts for one year—when I started I weighed 140 pounds—now I weigh 110 pounds and never felt better in my life."

That's the big reason a host of men and women take Kruschen to lose weight—as the fat goes you gain in health—skin clears—eyes grow bright—activity replaces indolence.

Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a jar of Kruschen that costs but a trifle last 4 weeks—get it at drug-stores anywhere in the world—but for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts.

Joe Bielenberg Returns.

Joe Bielenberg returned Sunday from St. Joseph's hospital, Lewiston, where he underwent treatment for a week due to a stomach ailment which affected his heart. While assisting in harvesting operations at the Clearwater ranch the last week in July he was suddenly stricken and was taken to Lewiston for examination, returning home for a few days when it again became necessary for him to consult a physician, who kept him under observation and treatment, permitting him to return home providing he does no heavy work for several weeks.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

Mrs. Herman Nebelsieck this week, as an investment, purchased the A. Scroggin residence. The consideration was $1800.

John Trautman, for a consideration of $16,000, is taking over the 357-acre farm of A. Scroggin, located 4 miles east of Genesee.

Mrs. Wm. Smolt left yesterday for Seattle to be away a month. She will put in some time in the wholesale houses and before returning purchase her fall and winter stock of millinery.

For the first time in the history of Genesee, all bars of the city are dispensing beer, manufactured by the Genesee brewery, which is proof positive that a very satisfactory article is being manufactured by Mr. Rech.

Trouble is brewing in Moscow. The city council has passed an ordinance which raises the saloon license to $1200. It is claimed the saloon men will fight the new ordinance on the grounds that the present council members were not legally elected, the registration books not being opened at the required time.

HARVEST ON IN EARNEST.

Combines are now working in every direction from Genesee, and several stationery outfits have started or will be starting before the end of this week, threshing peas.

Crops are somewhat spotted this year, both peas and wheat, and outturns of both are in many instances below normal. The cold wet spring did not permit small grain to stool as in former years, and the heavy rains packed the soil in grain fields more than usual. Erosion of soil has also contributed to decreased yields of grain and peas. While the quality this year is average or better, there are samples showing indications of "burned" grain, traceable to a few days of hot weather.

Rain Wednesday night held up harvesting Thursday, some machines entering fields after dinner, while some are holding off until Friday morning or later because of grain being unripe.

Donate to Children's Home.

The Idaho Children's Home Finder, quarterly publication of the two Idaho Children's Homes, in its July number, carried the following:

"One of the most outstanding gifts that we received this quarter is a box of boys' new clothing. The Blue Bird Club of Genesee have been making dresses for our girls each spring but this year it was decided to replenish the boys' wardrobe. Overalls, shirts, underclothing, socks and everything that goes to complete a boys' wardrobe was to be found in the box. The boys were delighted with this donation and feel now that some interest is being shown in the boys as well as the girls. The Blue Bird club is just a small group but they have been very generous with their donations to the Lewiston Home."

SAVE FIFTY CENT OF PEAS BY COMBINE HARVESTING

University of Idaho—Most of the seed and field peas grown in the Palouse country this year will be harvested with combines at a 50 per cent saving over the old stationary method, says E. N. Humphrey of the University of Idaho department of agricultural engineering.

Peas can be harvested by the direct combining method at a cost of 24 cents per bushel, as against 53 cents for stationary threshing. Loss by shattering is reduced to a minimum, as low as 132 pounds per acre. Shatter loss often reaches 800 pounds per acre with stationary threshers. A third advantage of the combining method is the better chance to control the pea weevil by early harvesting, and burning of vines and refuse on the ground.

When combines were first used for harvesting peas, the machines were pulled around the field and shocks pitched into it—a combination combine and stationary method of harvesting. Cutter bar and vine lifter attachments have been developed that make it possible to harvest peas direct. Five of these attachments which have been tried and approved by the agricultural engineering department are Advance-Rumely, Gano, Hagedorn Bros, Hume-Love and Tate.

The attachments make it possible to operate the sickle close to the ground. Reels are adjusted to the lowered cutter bars. A grain saver reel which withdraws its tines from the vines has been found to reduce losses by shattering.

All combines used for harvesting peas are slowed down, both clyinder and air blast speed. Most of the concave teeth are also removed to prevent undue cracking of peas.

IDAHO DUCK SEASON OPENS OCTOBER 16—TWO MONTHS

Waterfowl hunters are to have a two-months open shooting season this Fall and Winter, according to amendments to the Migratory Bird Treaty Act Regulations, approvide by President Hoover. A curtailed season of only thirty days obtained last Fall, owing to the shortage of ducks because of drought and drainage in the breeding grounds in the north central states and Canada. Conditions in the breeding grounds are reported improved this Summer.

Bag limits remain at 15, except that the bag shall contain not more than ten birds in the aggregate of canvasbacks, redheads, greates and lesser scaups, ringnecks, blue wing, greenwing and cinnamon teal, gadwells and shovellers. These species are in need of greater protection than the common ducks such as mallard, black duck, pintail and others, according to the Biological Survey.

The season was also opened on eider ducks with a daily bag limit of five, a part of the 15 maximum limit. The season, however, was closed on ruddy ducks and buffleheads as these varieties are too scarce to permit shooting.

The opening and closing dates of the two months season vary in different sections of the country. These dates were fixed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture after consultation with state game departments and the Migratory Bird Advisory Board.

October 16 is the opening of the season in Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

Russia Behind in Harvesting.

Press dispatches Thursday stated that Russia's wheat harvest is only half harvested with but three more weeks of the usual season left. That country is having trouble making collections from its peasants, the plan materializing only to the extent of 45.5 per cent of anticipations.

A short wheat crop is also reported in the U. S., said to be 171,417,000 bushels less than last year and 14,284,000 bushels less than estimated a month ago.

Redecorating at Clark Store.

R. Hayden has about completed redecorating the interior of Clark's drug store, having repainted all the shelving and kalsomined the walls, giving the store a very pleasing appearance.

To Officially Notify Hoover.

Between 6 and 7 this evening (Thursday) the official notification ceremonies will be heard over Spokane stations, the program being sponsored by the republican national committee.

DR. SIMMONS AT UNIONTOWN.

Dr. Charles Simmons, Eye-sight Specialist of Lewiston, will be at the Midway Hotel, Uniontown, Saturday, August 13th, from nine until five. A good many Genesee people consult the doctor during his visits to Uniontown rather than make the trip to his Lewiston office over Schiffer's Store. ad

GREY EAGLE NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schooler and Joe Schooler motored to Lewiston last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schooler and family went to Pullman Sunday to visit with relatives and friends. Edith Dye returned home with them to visit a few days.

PUBLIC CREDIT SOURCE OF GOVERNMENTAL FUNDS

A favorite source long standing of governmental funds is loans on public credit, says Glenn Balch, writing his 31st article on taxation, under the direction of Idaho's state chamber of commerce. The written certificates of debt are commonly known as bonds; the debts which they represent are known as bonded indebtedness.

Bonds issued by a corporation generally constitute a lien or mortgage upon the corporation's property. Government bonds do not carry such a lien, their value being based upon the soundness of public credit and governmental integrity. As evidence of such value, it might be noted that government bonds have long been considered choice investments.

Issuance Regulated.

Issuance of bonds by subsidiary governing units in Idaho is regulated by state law to protect the people against temporary periods of unwarranted enthusiasm. It is a moral obligation of the state to protect public credit against abuse.

The bonding method of raising governmental finances has been of tremendous value in the development of this state. To it we are indebted for our good roads, our paved highways and our excellent public buildings. Without bonding, such improvements would have been seriously delayed, in some instances for many years.

Place to Stop.

On the other hand, there is undoubtedly a place, as several Idaho communities have good cause to know where the continued issuance of bonds ceases to be good business. When bonded indebtedness becomes so heavy that interest and liquidation is a galling burden upon the taxpayers' shoulders, it seems evident that a halt should be called.

Idaho resorted early to government bonds as a method of producing public funds. In 1865, after some four years of rather difficult navigation upon the sea of government finances, the territorial legislature, spurred into action by the seeming impossibility of collecting sufficeitn taxes from the shifty, hard-fifisted population to defray running expenses, decided to bond the territorial indebtedness. The bonds were issued to run over a period of ten years and the interest was 12 per cent, the high rate being a significant comment on the commonwealth's credit rating at that time.

State Assumes Debt

This initial venture was apparently taken care of satisfactorily, however, for we find that in 1891, at time territorial days terminated and statehood started, the territory had managed to accumulate a bonded indebtedness of about $150,000, which was assumed by the state and had a physical representation in several miles of dirt road and a few modest but needed public buildings.

Nor did the state forswear the practice; on the contrary, it was embraced wholeheartedly and bonded debt grew so rapidly that it was indeed fortunate that the state's taxable wealth mounted by leaps and bounds.

However, the situation has been saved, whether fortuitously or not, and Idaho's bonded indebtedness is now well in hand.

Bonded Debt Totals

The state's outstanding bonded indebtedness on June 20, 1932, was $3,878,800, a very encouraging figure —and, by the way, considerable less than it has been—when compared with a taxable wealth of 428 (1931) million dollars. Interest rates range from 3 3-4 to 4 3-4 per cent, which is also significant.

Highway bonds, of the second, third and fourth issues, make up the larger portion of our present bonded debt, totalling $1,608,300. Capitol building and capitol building refund bonds total $955,000. Educational improvement, state institution improvement and state institution improvement refund bonds amount to $853,000. State Hospital construction bonds amounting to $250,000 are outstanding. The Lava Hot Springs improvement total is $105,000. General and state highway refunding bonds compose the remainder, $107,500.

Looking at the other side of the picture, we find that in exchange for this bonded indebtedness we have an excellent hard-surfaced and improved highway system extending into every part of the state, a praise-worthy state capitol building and a number of well-established well-housed state institutions which are indispensable to our social and educational welfare.

U. of I. Housing Conditions Good.

University of Idaho—Housing conditions for women students who live in University of Idaho residence halls are the best in the United States, according to a recent national survey made by Columbia university.

The investigation covered housing conditions for women students in the larger institutions throughout the country, and the report of this investigation indicates the University of Idaho easily at the top of those that provide desirable living quarters for women.

University officials recently made a study of the cost of board and room in residence halls operated by more than 50 institutions. Of those investigated, University of Idaho halls were shown to have the most economical rates of all, exceeded in some instances by as much as $250 per year.

THE GENESEE NEWS

GOVERNOR SHALL CERTIFY NEEDS FOR R. F. C. MONEY

Counties, municipalities and other governmental subdivisions wishing to secure emergency relief funds from the three hundred million dollars made available by congress through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation must present data showing the actual need of relief over and above all other funds, according to a bulletin sent from Washington.

The bulletin emphasizes that the emergency funds shall not be used in lieu of regular relief moneys but only as a last resort in case funds from other sources are inadequate. "The governor of the state," the bulletin reads, "shall certify the necessity and that moneys from other sources are inadequatte to meet relief needs."

Since the funds become an obligation against the county or municipality borrowing, a legal doubt as to whether a loan can be requested without being approved at an election (similar to a bond election) has been raised. Requested by Governor Ross for an opinion, Fred Babcock, attorney general, advised that such an election is necessary to the legality of the transaction.

Data which will be requested from municipalities or political subdivisions asking loans will include estimate or total amount needed, estimate of total amount available for regular sources (governmental funds, private contributions and national agency relief), expenditures for relief during each calendar month of 1932 to date of application and from what source, number of families and non-family persons receiving relief during each calendar month of 1931, and a statement of any emergency action taken since January 1, 1931, to provide additional relief funds.

Political subdivisions desiring to take advantage of the emergency relief fund provisions should contact the governor's office for detailed information as to the preparation of their applications.

Waiting for Invitation.

The Genesee baseball club has not as yet received a formal invitation to enter the Spokane baseball tournament, although those in charge have asked for a list of local players and a brief record of each. Should the invitation be forthcoming, it is possible that Genesee will accept, and to defray expenses, stage a dance and another ball game. Competition, according to Fred Meyer, is not considered too stiff for the local aggregation, and believes that his proteges will finish in the money should they enter the tournament.

Improve Street.

Chas. Geltz has completed the fill west of the cross street between the Emmett and Field residences, made necessary by the earth being washed away. A drainage pipe was laid before the fill was completed, and it is now possible to drive a car or wagon over the crossing without shaking the vehicle to pieces or causing a wagon to lose a part of its load.

Democrats Meet at Moscow.

Practically every precinct was represented at a meeting of democratic committeemen at the Elks Temple in Moscow Monday evening, to further plans for a county campaign organization, and to contact the department of public works relative to construction of farm-to-market roads in Latah county. Arrangements were made to send G. P. Mix to Boise to urge immediate construction as possible of the roads contemplated in the Genesee and Kendrick sections.

Those attending the meeting from Genesee were: Ed Smolt, Geo. Morscheck, J. J. Berg and Les Gray.

F. G. DENSOW CASHIER OF FIRST BANK OF GENESEE

F. G. Densow, for six years cashier of the First National Bank at Grangeville, Idaho, succeeds F. A. Smith as cashier of the First Bank of Genesee. He took charge of the bank here Monday morning and Tuesday moved his family, a wife and two small children from Grangeville to Genesee where they are now occupying the home belonging to Mrs. M. Whalen.

It has been necessary to reduce the number of employees in the banks operated by the Vollmer interests, and for no other reason is Mr. Smith being relieved as cashier of the local institution. At Grangeville, the number of employees have been reduced from four to two, and Mr. Densow having been with the First National Banks at Lewiston and Grangeville for seven years has four years seniority. Mr. Smith, it is understood, will remain with the First Bank for thirty days.

LATAH COUNTY FARM LAND VALUATION IS INCREASED

Latah county, despite efforts in an attempt to persuade the state board of equalization to reduce farm land values, received a five per cent increase. Boundary county received a 10 per cent reduction but Benewah received a raise of 10 per cent. Lincoln county, in the irrigated section of Idaho, received an increase of 10 per cent and Twin Falls, Bonneville and Jefferson were increased five per cent. Teton county received a reduction of 10 per cent in the value of dry farm lands and Bonneville dry farm lands were increased 10 per cent.

Timber land, on the other hand, was reduced in value, Benewah county's land under this classification being reduced five per cent, while Elmore and Shoshone counties' timber land was reduced 10 per cent. Shoshone received another favor in that its burnt land was reduced 20 per cent, the same cut given all agricultural lands last year.

Trade Wheat for Round-Up Tickets.

Pendleton, Ore., releases the news dispatch that any rancher with a sack of wheat may see the first two days of the Pendleton roundup. Henry Collins, president of the western epic, announced Monday that the board had decided to exchange seats for wheat. The offer is not being limited to Umatilla county ranchers. All comers with wheat may stay.

DRASTIC STEPS TAKEN TO ELEVATE PRICE OF WHEAT

Genesee farmers, in the midst of harvest operations gathered on short notice at the American Legion hall Tuesday evening and in wrathful indignation due to prevailing low prices for wheat, decided to hold a mass meeting here Saturday evening for growers in the southern portion of the Inland Empire to join in the movement instituted by the National Farmers' Holiday association to hold wheat, the local commodity from market until they receive a price sufficient to cover cost of production plus a fair profit. The price aimed at is $1.00 per bushel coast price, which will net growers here and at other points in this territory approximately 80 cents per bushel.

The Genesee local of the National Farmers Union took steps sixty days ago to join in the Holiday movement and fired by the action of Iowa farmers this week, the committee appointed swept into action and will within the next two days personally contact as many communities as possible, inviting wheat growers to join in the "strike" for higher prices.

The meeting Tuesday evening was attended not only by members of the Farmers Union, but by independents who, wholeheartedly, intend to stick together until conditions are better, it being impossible to continue operations under present prices, confiscatory to say the lesst.

Caught in the rush of harvest operations, there were farmers present who had dropped their work of preparing machinery for Wednesday's activity, some of whom were returning after 10 o'clock Tuesday evening to complete this task, and incensed by the continued production of grain at a loss, a determination to carry out the Holiday plan was plainly evident.

With wheat the principal commodity marketed in the Inland Empire, production with holdover amounting to 1,000,000 bushels at the Genesee point alone, little or no difficulty is anticipated in the movement to hold wheat until a reasonable price, consistent with expenses, is reached.

Added impetus will be given the movement by the dispatch of several automobiles carrying notice of the meeting here Saturday evening. The cars will travel in various directions with an invitation for everyone interested to attend the meeting.

From Heppner, Ore., comes word by Alfred Moore, a farmer of that region, that a large percentage of farmers in that district have agreed not to market their wheat until the price reaches the equivalent of $1 a bushel delivered. This announcement was made in the Lewiston Morning Tribune Wednesday, which paper also carried the public announcement of the action taken at Genesee, and which appeared in a number of morning dailies throughout the Pacific Northwest. Mr. Moore of Heppner said, "We will hold our wheat until such time as the price reaches a point where we can realize the cost of production and a fair margin of profit, probably about 70 cents a bushel. The risk of flooding the market and thus reducing the price will be eliminated by an agreement that no individual farmer is to sell more than 15 per cent of his total crop in any given month."

Strikes, similar to the one started at Sioux City, Ia., have spread to 11 mid-west states, it is reported from Des Moines, Ia., and more states are begging for information relative to the institution of movements in numerous other states. Genesee is the first major wheat producing section in Idaho to get behind the movement.

From Des Moines, Ia., comes news that a farmers' strike, born a week ago in mild protest against low prices for farm products, Monday had effected an increasingly tightening blockade of the Sioux City terminal. Picketing, boycott and threats were invoked by the farmers in northwest Iowa to advance the strike which would withhold produce from markets until assured that production costs plus a fair profit is realized by the growers. Sioux City stockyards, a major mart, on Monday received 3,500 animals as compared to 6,500 a week ago and 8,500 on the corresponding date last year.

Hundreds of farm men and women barricaded roads to prevent produce-laden trucks from entering that city and a crisis there was considered to be close at hand.

Bismarck, N. D., simultaneously announced a strike aimed at raising the price of wheat to $1. Montana,

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY WEEK ENDING AUGUST 12

Domestic grain markets were very unsettled during the week ending August 12. Prices fluctuated rather sharply, but at the close of the period most of the gains made early in the week had been offset by later declines, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Advances in cotton and security markets, further damage to North American spring wheat by drought and heat, and reduced offerings of southern hemisphere grain, were the principal strengthening factors in the wheat market. These were largely offset by continued European lack of inquiry for American wheat and the official estimate of a larger domestic spring wheat outturn than was generally expected in trade circles. Corn was stronger with wheat, but declined towards the close of the period, under heavy country offerings. Oats prices remained higher than a week ago. Barley markets were barely steady at the close of the period. Flax was firmer and prices advanced 1 to 2 cents per bushels with prospects of reduced yields.

Crop Estimates

A domestic wheat crop about 172,000,000 bushels smaller than last season was indicated by the August 1 estimate, which placed the 1932 crop at 722,687,000 bushels. Of this total, 244,831,,000 bushels is hard red winter, 146,653,000 bushels soft red winter, 191,913,000 bushels hard red spring, other than durum; 52,175,000 bushels durum, and 87,115,000 bushels winter and spring white wheats. The winter wheat outturn is only a little over half that of last season, while the spring wheat harvest is nearly three times that of 1931.

No estimate is yet available of the Canadian Spring wheat crop, but the condition at the end of July was officially estimated at 88 per cent of the long time average and the acreage was placed at 27,099,000 acres, or nearly a million acres over the area harvested in 1931. The fall wheat crop in Canada was placed at 14,365,000 bushels. Weather in the Prairie Provinces since the first of August has continued hot and dry, and further deterioriation has taken place in southern Saskatchewan and parts of Alberta. Harvesting is general in Manitoba and wheat is half cut in the earliest districts.

Estimates and forecast of production in 23 continental European countries, which last year represented 97 per cent of the European crop, exclusive of Russia, give a total production this season of 1,406,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,403,000,000 bushels harvested in the same countries last year. Stem rust has spread rapidly in the Danube Basin and a large part of the crop is reported to be of unusually poor quality. Production in the surplus areas of Europe is only about two-thirds as large as last season, but the crops in normally deficient areas are well above the 1931 harvest.

Russian Crop

No estimate is yet available for the Russian wheat crop, but winter wheat prospects have been reduced by excessive heat in North Caucasus and parts of the Urkaine. Trade reports indicate also that yields of spring wheat will probably be below average. Harvesting has been delayed and the July procurings were only about 45 per cent of the plan. Trade reports of the Russian exportable surplus this season range from 36,000,000 to 56,000,000 bushels. This compares with 70,500,000 bushels exported last year, and about 96,000,000 bushels two years ago.

Of about equal significance with crop outturns are remaining stocks of old wheat. World wheat stocks on August 1 were somewhat under those of a year ago, with an increase in the U. S. more than offset by smaller stocks in other areas. The carryover of old wheat in the U. S. July 1, 1932 reached a new high record of 302,668,000 bushels, and was about 44,000,000 bushels larger thtan July 1 a year ago. Stocks of wheat remaining in Canada at the close of July totaled 130,949,000 bushels compared with a revised figure of 134,079,000 bushels a year ago. In addition to the domestic stocks in the U. S. and Canada there were 15,364,000 bushels of Canadian grain in store in the U. S. and 4,707,000 bushels of U. S. grain in store in Canada at the first of August. Southern hemisphere stocks are apparently considerably under those Uses for Old Autos.

The United States department of commerce discovers that American-made automobiles know no boneyard abroad. The bones, transmuted, blossom in new forms. Revivified motors make Chinese sampans scud. Gasoline tanks gather refuse in Peru. The cushion stuffing from a costly car erams the mattress of a poor peasant in France. Tired tires act as boat buffers at European wharves, put shoes on the Rumanian workers, suspenders on the no longer baggy-trousered Turk. Plenty of inner tubes wear out in the sausage-stuffing districts of Italy—but folks who dote on salami will resent all implications.

GENESEE BUSINESS SECTION BENEFITED BY OIL STREETS

The Genesee business section is much improved in appearance and usefulness by the new oiled surface which was completed last Friday afternoon. Stores and other places of business have been benefited by the improvement, considered by some to be to the best in forty years, as owners are not required to constantly dust articles on display in their places of business. Dust, especially during the summer season has been a problem here as in most towns where streets are not paved or oiled, and the relief has been well worth the expenditure, shared by the state of Idaho, the highway district and the town, the state furnishing the labor of applying oil, mixing and laying, the highway district the rock and sand and the town the oil, with most of the business houses and residents benefited sharing in the expense to the town.

An error in computing the amount of materials required on the street between the two banks, leaves portions along that street unfinished, but it is understood that additional materials will be acquired to complete the improvement there. The street from the Follett Mercantile store to the highway on the south did not receive an oil coat, but this improvement is also under consideration.

Drivers of trucks and cars, also welcome the improvement as it has been next to impossible to keep the street in perfect repair owing to the amount of traffic.

ST. JOSEPH'S SCHOOL WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER FIFTH

Patrons and directors of St. Joseph's school were somewhat in doubt as to its continuance in all eight grades for the coming term, but their problem was solved by the visit here this week of the Rt. Rev. Bishop Kelly of Boise, who met with the directors and told them of plans outlined through the cooperation of the Sisters who will be instructors.

The meeting was held Wednesday evening at the parish house, at which were present Bishop Kelley, Fr. Bradley of Cottonwood, Henry Belongeay of Spokane and several others who are visiting Fr. Carey. The directors decided to open school September 5 and if conditions warrant they will continue throughout the full nine-months term.

TAX DELINQUENCIES CAUSE OF INCREASED TAX BURDEN

In any period of financial stringency, the matter of tax delinquencies becomes acutely important. Collections are difficult and non-payments mean deficits; deficits in turn mean increased tax burden, says Glen Balch, writing his thirty-second article on "Tax Topics" for the Idaho state chamber of commerce. The heavier the delinquencies the heavier the taxes and the heavier the taxes the heavier the delinquencies—a vicious circle. The keeping of its records as free of delinquencies as possible is a moral precaution every government should take.

Our state government is not directly affected by tax delinquencies. Each county is required to pay its proportional share of the state assessment, regardless of whether it is able to collect the state levy on all the property on its rolls. In other words, the country treasury absorbs the delinquent state taxes.

System Has Merit

This arrangement is ideal for the state and has operated satitsfactorily in Idaho. The system's chief merits lie in the fact that only one set of delinquency records must be kept and in the accuracy with which the state levy can be computed.

Tax delinquencies are not always the result of inability to pay. Sometime discrimination, either real or fancied, causes rebellious refusal to pay; sometime owners deliberately let property become delinquent for various reasons, such as decreased value, decreased desirability, etc.

Taxes constitute a first lien and after the redemption period has expired the county may foreclose upon the property in question and take title. The property may then be sold to satisfy the tax judgment against it.

Theoretically, the county is well protected. In actual operation, however, several weaknesses in the law are evidenced and the county sometimes finds itself holding—in plain terms—the bag, not only for its own taxes but for those of the state as well.

Since the redemption period extends three years from the date of the first delinquency, it becomes apparent that, by the time the county can take legal title to the property, a total of four years' taxes, with penalty and interest, will have accumulated, and it is sometimes found, when sale is attempted, that the market value of the property is less than the indebtedness against it.

Delinquent Records

State house records show that delinquent taxes in 1924 amounted to $7,748,912.23. In 1926 the total had been reduced to $6,519,694.15, and two years later, in 1928, it was slightly higher, $6,575,357.73, to be exact. At the close of 1930 the delinquent tax total was $6,206,729.95.

The significance of these figures increases when one remembers that the 1930 delinquency was approximately one million dollars more than the total ad valorem tax which the counties paid to the state during the entire biennium.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION TO DETERMINE HEIRSHIP.

Notice is hereby given that Maud E. Welker has filed a petition in this court for determining the heirship to certain real property hereinafter described; that it is alleged in said petition that James D. Kunes died on the 13th day of March, 1917, and that at the time of his death, he was a resident of Lewiston, Idaho, and the owner of the following described real property in Latah County, State of Idaho, to-wit:

The Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) of the Northeast Quarter (NE¼); the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of the Northwest Quarter (NW¼) and the North Half (N½) of the Southwest Quarter (SW¼) of Section Seventeen (17) in Township Thirty-eight (38) North of Range One (1) West of the Boise Meridian in Idaho, containing One Hundred and Sixty (160) acres according to Government survey.

That the petitioner, Maud E. Welker, alleges she is the daughter of the said James D. Kunes and Sarah A. Kunes, his surviving widow, now also deceased, and asks that a hearing be held and that this court make and render a decree determining who is the heir of said James D. Kunes, the decree of kinship and the right of descent of the real property above described.

All persons interested in said estate, both creditors and heirs are hereby notified that the court has set Wednesday, the 31st day of August, 1932, at ten o'clock a. m. at the court room of said court at Moscow, Idaho, as the time and place for hearing said petition, when and where any person interested may appear and object thereto.

Dated this 25th day of July, 1932.

L. G. Peterson,
Probate Judge, and ExOfficio Clerk of said Court.

I LIKE THE DEPRESSION.

(By Henry Ansley)

I like the depression. No more prosperity for me.

I have had more fun since the depression started than I ever had in my life; I had forgotten how to live, what it meant to have real friends, what it was like to eat common, every-day food. Fact is, I was getting just a little high hat.

Three years ago, only one man of the News-Globe, (Amarillo, Texas) could be out of town at a time and he had to leave at the last minute and get back as soon as possible. Many times I have driven 100 miles to a banquet, sat through three hours of bunk in order to make a 5-minute speech, then drive the 100 miles back to be ready for work the next morning.

Nowadays, as many News-Globe employees as are invited make those trips and we stay as long as we want to. The whole outfit could leave the office now and it wouldn't make any difference.

I like the depression. I have time to visit my friends, to make new ones. Two years ago when I went to a neighboring town, I always stayed at the hotel. Now I go home with my friends, stay all night and enjoy home cooking. I have even spent the week end with some of the boys who have been kind enough to invite me.

It's great to drop into store and feel that you can spend an hour or two or three or a half day just visiting and not feel that you are wasting valuable time. I like the depression!

I am getting acquainted with my neighbors. In the last six months I have become acquainted with folks who have been living next door to me for three years. I am following the Biblical admonition, "Love your neighbors." One of my neighbors has one of the best-looking wives I have even seen. She is a dandy. I am getting acquainted with my neighbors and learning to love them.

Three years ago I ordered my clothes from a merchant tailor—two and three suits at a time. All my clothes were good ones. I was always dressed up. But now, I haven't bought a suit in two years. I am mighty proud of my Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes. When I dress up, I am dressed up and I don't mean maybe. I like the depression.

Three years ago I was so busy and my wife was so busy that we didn't see much of each other, consequently we sort of lost interest in each other. I never went home to lunch. About twice a week I went home for dinner—at 6:30 o'clock. I never had time to go anywhere with her. If I did go on a party, I could never locate her, since there was always a "blonde" or a "red-head" available I didn't much worry about it.

My wife belonged to all the clubs in town. She even joined the young mothers' club. We don't have any children, but she was studying—and between playing bridge and going to clubs, she was never at home.

We got stuck up and hifalutin. We even took down the old family bed and bought a set of twin beds—on the installment plan.

When I would come home at night, if my wife was at home, she would already be in her bed and I would crawl in mine. If I came in first, it was vice versa.

We like the depression. We have come down off the pedestal and are really living at my house now. The twin beds are stored in the garage and the old family affair is being used. We are enjoying life. Instead of taking the hot water bottle to bed these cold nights, she sticks her heels in my back just like she did before Hoover was elected.

I haven't been out on a party in 18 months. I have lost my book of telephone numbers. My wife has dropped all the clubs. I believe we are falling in love all over again. I am pretty well satisfied with my wife. Think I will keep her, at least until she is forty and then if I feel like I do now, I may trade her for two twenties.

I am feeling better since the depression. I take more exercise. I walk to town and a lot of folks who used to drive Cadillacs are walking with me. I like the depression.

My digestion is better. I haven't been to see a doctor in a year. I can eat anything I want to.

I am getting real, honest-to-goodness food. Three years ago we had filet mignon once a week, now we have round steak and flour gravy. Then, we had roast breast of guinea hen, now we are glad to get sow-bosom with the buttons on it.

I like the depression. My salary has been cut to where I can't afford to buy lettuce and spinach and parsley and we can't afford to have sandwiches and frozen desserts and all that damfoolishness which has killed more good men than the World War.

I like the depression. Three years ago, I never had time to go to church. I played golf all day Sunday and besides I was so darned smart that there wasn't a preacher in west Texas who could tell me anything. Now I am going to church regularly, never miss a Sunday. And if this depression keeps on, I will be going to prayer meeting before long.

I like the depression!

VISTORS HERE FROM EAST.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henning, W. C. Heuser and Mrs. Greer, all of Dunkirk, New York, visited a week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nagel, leaving Tuesday morning for St. Maries and then on to Yellowstone National Park. Eight days driving time were required to make the trip west, the first for either member of the party. Mr. Heuser, Mrs. Greer and Mrs. Henning are cousins of Mr. Nagel, and have been visited by Mr. and Mrs. Nagel several times while they were in the east.

Having lived in New York state for many years, the party was surprised by the large corn fields of Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, as they spread over the level stretches, but when they reached the Palouse with its rolling hills, producing crops regularly, they were almost astonished, wondering how farmers managed to haul the large combine harvesters and keep them upright. Soon after their arrival here they were taken to fields where combines were at work, drawn both by horse power and by tractors, and as they were leaving were convinced that such harvesting operations were possible. Yields, this year, while not normal, are beyond anything they have ever witnessed. The weather was exceptionally nice while here, and the absence of electrical disturbances was most noticeable. Traveling over the Lincoln Highway most of the distance, the party encountered no such grades as those at Whitebird, Culdesac and Lewiston, and it was a thrill for them as they witnessed autos traveling at fairly high speds around the curves.

Mr. Henning is the managed of the Dunkirk Macaroni and Vermicelli factory, both he and Mr. Heuser being part owners of the establishment, which consumes about forty barrels of flour per day, when the plant is in full operation.

Business conditions are on the upgrade in the east, both men stated, evidenced in their city by the return of employees to various manufacturing plants and an increased demand for the product of their own factory.

St. John's Lutheran Church.

There will be services at St. John's Lutheran church Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, the Rev. M. Schwartz of Lewiston, delivering the sermon.

Hear of Father's Death.

Mrs. Olive Brune, son, Stanley, and daughter, Betty Jane, of Sacramento, Calif.; Mrs. Jake Hopp of Harrington, Wash., and Mrs. Gladys Smalley of St. Maries, Idaho, arrived in Genesee Monday evening and spent Tuesday and Wednesday morning visiting former friends. Mrs. Smalley had been visiting her father, J. S. Larrabee in California, and was accompanied to Harrington by her sister, Mrs. Brune and children. Upon their arrival at Harrington they received word of the death of their father, who passed away on August 9. He was 83 years of age and had been in a hospital since June 15. He was a pioneer of Genesee, living in the first house constructed in the new part of town. His daughter, Olive, was the first girl born in Genesee.

South Dakota, Minnesota, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Kansas, Texas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma are among the eleven states joining the Holiday movement, with E. E. Kennedy, secretary of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America, leading the Illinois state organization it the protest against low prices.

Tilden Robbed of Perfect Day at Bat.

Tilden, according to the Elk River News, was robbed of a perfect day at bat. He was credited with one two-bagger and two singles, and had it not been for Spence, former Elk River outfielder, playing with St. Maries, Tilden's two long fly balls would have gone for safe hits. Tilden pitched for Bovill against St. Maries and struck out 15 men, winning 12 to 7.

Lewiston bobbled in their game Tuesday afternoon with the barn-storming S. K. S. L. girls' team and lost 11 to 7. The girls used five men players for the battery, shortstop and outfield positions. Anderson pitched five innings of the game for Lewiston.

George Miller, living 4 miles east of Troy lost his 20-gallon still to federal prohobition agents and is in the county jail in default of $500 bonds. He wil be tried at the fall court term.

at the corresponding date last year, with exportable stocks as of August 1 placed at 76,619,000 bushels or about 28,000,000 bushels less than a year ago. Argentine stocks are about 9,000,000 bushels less and Australian stocks about 19,000,000 bushels less than a year ago. Data on stocks of old wheat in other areas are incomplete, but from such information as is available it appears that supplies of old wheat in European exporting areas and remaining exportable stocks in India and North Africa at the first of August totaled around 36,000 bushels as against 110,000,000 bushels in these positions a year ago.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific Coast wheat markets were firmer than those at eastern points, with continued light sales by growers the principal strengthening factor. Receipts at Pacific Northwestern terminals totaled only 795 cars for the week, compared with 1,030 cars for the corresponding week last year. Harvesting and threshing of winter wheat is well advanced and some spring grain was cut during the week. Demand from local domestic mills was fairly active and exporters were taking fair amounts, although prevailing prices were above export bids. Exports of wheat and flour from Columbia river and Puget Sound terminals during July were the lightest for that month since 1925 and totaled only 1,639,000 bushels.

California wheat markets advanced along with northern and eastern points but influenced also by light offerings of local wheat. Prices at San Francisco advanced 10 to 15 cents per 100 and at the close of the week were 25 to 30 cents above the season's low point, reached early in July. Mill demand was fairly active and feeders at both San Francisco and interior central California points were taking fair amounts. Mills were reported covering their requirements for milling mixtures in northern markets and feeders were also purchasing northern wheat at the close of the week, according to trade reports. At the close of the week hard white wheat sacked was quoted at San Francisco at $1.20 to $1.22½ and No. 1 soft white at $1.10.

Domestic Markets

Domestic cash wheat markets were unsettled during the week by the sharp fluctuations in futures. At the close of the period, however, winter wheats were mostly slightly higher than a week earlier. Marketings of winter wheat fell off with receipts at the principal central and southwestern markets, totaling only 4,166 cars. Export demand was lacking but mill inquiry was fairly active and current offerings were readily taken at most points. The quality continued unusually high with the protein of the week's inspections at Kansas City averaging 12.89 per cent.

Intermountain Wheat

Intermountain wheat markets were firmer although demand at Denver was light with local mills reported well stocked. Some Colorado wheat was moving to eastern points. At the close of the market August 12 No. 1 hard winter, 13 per cent protein, was quoted at 34 cents fob easctern Colorado points. Buyers in Utah and southern Idaho advanced quotations under the influence of higher prices at eastern markets. Harvesting made rapid progress throughout that area with yields reported above average and quality excellent. Most of the grain was going into storage in country warehouses and on farms. No. 2 soft white wheat was quoted at 29 to 31 cents, No. 2 dark hard winter at 34 to 36 cents and No. 2 hard red at 30 to 32 cents at daho common points, based on a 50 cent freight rate to California.

Barley Market Steady

Domestic barley markets maintained a steady tone during the week ending August 12, influenced by a good feeding demand and lack of selling pressure from growers, particularly in western areas.

The August 1 estimate placed the 1932 California barley crop at 947,952 tons, the largest harvest since 1914. This outturn, together with a carryover June 1 of 71,294 tons, gives a total supply of 1,019,246 tons, compared with only 490,706 tons last season and 878,972 tons two years ago. The crop for the entire United States is estimated at 7,267,000 tons compared with 4,756,000 tons produced last season. The increase this season was principally in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Montana, where the outturn was more than twice that of las season and totalled about 2,728,000 tons. Moderate increases occurred in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas. Despite the greatly increased production in California this season, marketings since the first of June apparently have been materially smaller than last year, since receipts at San Francisco to August 11 totalled only 39,171 tons, compared with 75,609 tons last year, and at Los Angeles 18,393 tons this season compared with 10,640 tons a year ago. Bay regior stocks at the first of August were less than half of those a year ago and totalled 34,747 tons.

California barley markets were steady to slightly firmer during the past week, with the strtength principally in feed grades, which continued in good demand largely because of the cheapness of barley compared with ohtre feed grains this season. Movement to terminals was of only moderate volume but shipments from producing areas directly to interior consuming sections were reported heavy. No. 1 feed barley was bringing about 45 cents per hundred at Sacramento Valley points and 50 cents per 100 at San Jonquin Valley points. Export demand at San Francisco was limited with little interest shown by United Kingdom buyers. Clearances during the week of fair volume, but were reported to be practically all on old orders. Boat space remained ample at $4.00 per long ton to London and $4.00 to $4.25 per ton to Hull. A few hundred tons of feed barley were sold to the Pacific Northwest at around 75 cents per 100 delivered, on a boat rate from San Francisco at 12½c per 100 pounds.

Pacific Northwest Barley

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were very inactive with offerings and receipts negligible. Local feed barley sacked was quoted nominally at Portland at 80 cents per 100 and white barley at Seattle at 85 cents per hundred. Very little barley was being offered at Denver where receipts were principally of Kansas barley. This barley was quoted at 33 to 35 3-8 cents fob Kansas shipping points.

Best malting barley was quoted at Chicago at 64½ to 79 cents per 100.

Increased barley markets were a bit firmer although demand for malting barley at London was reported very dull. English crop is not yet ready for market but weather during the week was favorable for harvesting and a good crop is in prospect. Reports from Czechoslovakia indicate a crop about equal to last year, but hte quality will average lower since three-fourths of the crop was stained by late rains. Restrictions in imports of corn limit the amount of Czechoslovakian barley that may be exported this season. Arvals of California barley at London during the week totalled 616 tons. At the close of the market August 11, California Superior to No. 1 Standard Brewing was offered at 88½ cents, Bay Brewing on sample at 83 3-8 to $1.42 and Superior to No. 1 Standard Mariout at 90 cents. First samples of Czechoslovakian barley were offered at $1.55 and good medium samples at Iraq at 93 per 100 pounds.

Corn Markets

Corn markets were barely steady during the week. The cheapness of feed barley, together with abundant supplies of this grain, restricted demand for corn on the Pacific coast and takings by western feeders decreased. Corn for rail shipment to California was being oqered more freely at slightly reduced prices while quotations on water shipments were advanced slightly. Shipments of corn from New Orleans destined for the Pacific Coast totaled 20,022 tons during July, according to trade reports, and fairly large quantities were reported purchased at St. Louis during the week. At the close of the market August 11 No. 2 yellow corn for water shipment was quoted at $1.02 at Los Angeles, at 92¼ cents delivered dock San Francisco and 93 3-4c delivered docks Portland and Seattle. Corn for all-rail shipment was offered at $1.09 as Los Angeles, $1.08½ at San Francisco and central California points at $1.06¼ delivered Portland and Seattle, in bulk. Prices of corn held about unchanged at central western markets, with No. 2 yellow quoted August 11 at St. Louis at 58½c and at Kansas City at 58 to 58 7-8c per 100.

Dry weather during July caused considerable deterioriation in central western corn producing areas and the crop was estimated August 1 for the entire U. S. at 2,810,000,000 bushels. This is 176,000,000 bushels below the July 1 estimate, but 257,000,000 bushels over last season's harvest.

There was practically no change in the oats markets situation during the week in the central west but California markets were firmer. The August 1 estimate indicated a crop of 1,125,000,000 bushels or around 100,000,000 bushels more than was produced in 1931. The crop in California is nearly twice as large as a year ago and totals 34,384 tons, according to the August 1 estimate.

Dentist Without License Jailed.

M. R. Douglas, 60, was arrested at Elk City recently, according to the Grangeville Free Press, for allegedly practicing dentistry without a license. He was brought to Grangeville by Sheriff Walter Altman and fined $50 and costs in justice court.

Douglas did not pay the fine and was lodged in the county jail. He said he would appeal from the judgement. Douglas said he was licensed in Oregon.

Mr. E. G. Gallett, state aduitor and student of governmental revenue, believes that our present law, which forces the county to carry delinquent property three years before it can acquire a deed and enforce its lien, is responsible to a large degree for our heavy delinquencies. Under this law, a penalty of two per cent is added to the taxes on the date of delinquency and the entire amount draws interest at ten per cent until paid.

Laws Compared

Under those regulations, when property became delinquent, it could be sold within a comparatively short time and any person, by paying the taxes, penalty and interest, could acquire a tax sale certificate title to it. The rate of interest under the old law was high enough to attract bids from investors and the result was that the county got its money. The property owner was protected in that he could redeem the property by payment of taxes, penalty, interest and costs within two years from the date of sale, the money being used to reimburse the holder of the tax sale certificate.

"If this law had been retained upon our statutes," the auditor says in his latest report, "It is safe to say that 75 per cent of the delinquent taxes that now litter the records of the county offices would have disappeared."

Maybe Borah "does not choose to run."

VOL. XLIV GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 26, 1932 NO. 10

GENESEE HIGHWAY OILING COMPLETE BY END OF WEEK

Oiling of the 13-mile stretch of North and South Highway, from the Kasper place, south of Genesee, to Thorncreek, on the north, will be completed by the end of the week, said officials of the company Tuesday afternoon. Work has been delayed some by a shortage of oil, as more of this material is required than was estimated, owing, it is said, to the condition of the rock laid north of Genesee, where the dirt content runs higher. The construction of roads at this time of year has held up wheat truckers, but not as much as was expected, for the company having the contract has given considerable attention to getting in the clear to permit traffic to pass.

Word was received here the first of the week that a heavy roller would be dispatched to this section to pack the oil mat, and while here it will be used to hasten the impaction of the oil mat on Walnut street.

As soon as the oiling company is relieved here, equipment and crew will be moved to a point near Moscow and then go on to Potlatch where there is three miles of construction to be oiled.

E. A. Jensen, superintendent of operations, in the employ of the Central States Contracting company, successful bidders on the improvement, said Thursday that there would be a few odds and ends to take care of, but expected to be off the highway Monday at least. Mr. Jensen, a former resident of Idaho, but now of California said his company was looking forward to obtaining contracts in the state of Montana. His company has employed all Idaho labor with the exception of the two men who unload the oil and spread it, and he remarked that he was very well satisfied with the crew he now has. Mr. Jensen has been very helpful in solving problems which have arisen locally in oiling streets, and believes that everyone will be more than pleased with the local improvements as well as those on the highway.

THINKS BETTER FARM PRICES WOULD BRING PROSPERITY

Cottonwood Chronicle: U. S. Senator John Thomas, of Gooding, was in Cottonwood for some time Monday on his way back to the southern part of the state, from a trip north. He came up to Grangeville last Friday where he spent several hours and later drove to Lewiston and other points north, returning here Monday. As is his custom, the senator was meeting with citizens in all walks of life and getting views on present economic conditions and possible solutions for the depression. He expressed the view that the stabilization of the price of wheat and cotton would do more to re-establish prosperity in this country than any other one thing and that little can be done to secure a return of prosperity until the agricultural class is put on a profitable basis and the laboring class goes back to work.

New suits for men will have broader shoulders—and don't a man need them these days?

MRS. PHIPPS RECOVERING.

The many friends of Mrs. Laura Phipps were pleased to learn that she is recovering from a serious illness at the Deaconess hospital in Wenatchee, Wash. She was taken suddenly ill with pleurisy and pneumonia at the home of her son, Harry Phipps, in Wenatchee and was immediately taken to the hospital.

Mrs. W. W. Burr received word last Saturday of the illness of her mother, and the family left immediately for Wenatchee, arriving there at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. When they left the patient was safely on the road to recovery and in good spirits.

PAUL CANN PASSES AWAY AT ATASCADERO, CALIF.

A telegram was receivd by Mrs. Carl Osmundson Monday morning, telling of the death of her father, Paul L. Cann, at his home at Atascadero, Calif. Mr. Cann was an early pioneer in Genesee, coming here from Canada when a young man. Canada was his native country and he received his education and spent his youth there. The deceased was about 70 years of age.

Mr. Cann leaves his widow, living at Atascadero; three sons, Alfred, of Post Falls, Idaho; Walter of Farmington, Wash., and Fred, of Genesee, and one daughter, Mrs. Carl Osmundson. An older brother, Sidney Cann, resides at Oakland, Calif., and a sister lives in Alberta, Canada. There is also a stepson, living in California.

Mr. Cann was married July 4, 1893 to Miss Emma Roderick, who passed away December 1, 1914, and is buried in the Genesee cemetery. In 1925 he married Mrs. Mina DeBow and they lived in Moscow while Mr. Cann's youngest son was attending the University of Idaho. From there they moved to California about three years ago.

Mr. Cann was an active member in the Methodist and Congregational churches here and was a member of the Oddfellows Lodge at Moscow.

His death came as a shock to the family here as Mr. Cann and wife were expecting to visit here this summer. Funeral arrangements were not complete at last word other than interment would be in California.

Waiting for Word.

Fred Meyer, manager of the Genesee base ball club is anxiously awaiting word from Geo. Ferris, president of the Wash-Ida league, who is in charge of tournament arrangements. In the meantime Mr. Meyer is planning a game here for Sunday with Lewiston, to be played should an invitation be extended to enter the Spokane tournament. Funds thus derived will be used to defray expenses of entering the local club, and should the game be played the admision charge will perhaps be raised about ten cents per head, but there will be seen under Genesee colors, such players in addition to our own as Tony Eichner, Fox and Jacobs of Uniontown, and perhaps one or two more.

O. C. COLLINS OF PULLMAN FAVORS FARMERS' HOLIDAY

Oscar Collins of Pullman was the outstanding leader and speaker in the farmers' plan to hold their wheat for a price that will net them at least some profit. Mr. Collins, a member of the board of directors of the North Pacific Grain Growers and a wheat grower, living near Pullman, was strongly supported by Taber LaFollett, also of Pullman, both interested in cooperative movements. After the purpose of the meeting was disclosed by temporary chairman Fred Hove and Wm. Mervyn, the former later being made permanent local chairman. Mr. LaFollett declared that such movements as the holiday plan would necessarily have to possess fundamentals which appealed to the farmer and which would give them something on which to base their fight for higher prices.

Mr. Collins, well versed in farm management and grain selling, stated that he knew of banks and mortgage companies that were behind the movement to hold for higher prices that they might realize more on signed obligations in their favor. Grain consigned, is available to millers, said Mr. Collins and while not in accordance with wishes of the farmer, he urged that growers withold their grain from shipment, at least, until the South American and Australian crops begin to flood the markets. He said that bankers expected better prices. Every group has made known its demands through strikes, said Mr. Collins, and while labor salaries are low, they cannot expect to receive decent salaries until the farmer is able to pay, referring not only to farm labor, but other lines of industry. Reasonable profit to the farmer is the basis of the United States economic structure, Mr. Collins said, and before agriculture is replaced on a paying basis every other industry will be compelled to take lower prices.

Frank Slater of Moscow, was called upon, and opened with the remarks that "we owe it to ourselves; we owe it to our neighbors, and we owe it to our nation, to hold for higher prices, that the present depression might be relieved. Every cent of profit given the farmer is a benefit to the nation."

A. H. Oversmith, Moscow, was invited to take the floor, and stated that at the present time no big prices could be expeced, but he would be glad to sign up to hold his crop for sixty days.

Henry Lorang, Genesee, pleaded with the large number of farmers in attendance to hold their wheat in an effort to obtain better prices that more money could be applied on their outstanding debts, and again put the farmer on a purchasing basis, which would relieve the number of men in the jungles from ekeing out a daily existence from door to door and from refuse barrels, as it is said they are doing in some centers. Farmers are willing to begin buying again, especially machinery, lumber and labor, said Mr. Lorang.

Following the remarks by farmers gathered together from Pulman, Colfax, Uniontown, Moscow, Troy and Genesee, Chas. Schooler moved that Genesee farmers organize to hold their wheat until it reached a price of 75 cents per bushel at Genesee, or for a period of 60 days. The motion was quickly seconded, and agreements were hurriedly drawn and were signed by a large number of local farmers following the meeting.

When an effort was made to determine the number who would hold, the chairman asked all those favorable to the move to stand. The majority of farmers present arose signified their intentions. As there were a number from out of town, they too stood, and before leaving asked for sample agreements to present in the several communities represented.

Before the meeting was adjourned several men were named to carry the agreements to grain growers in the Genesee section and other communities represented. Prior to the meeting and for several days after, inquiries by mail and telegram were received, various communities other than those represented, asking for information and a course to pursue in holding grain from market.

GENESEE PUBLIC SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 5

Monday, September 5, has been definitely set as the opening date for Genesee public schools, Supt. E. S. Suenkel announced Monday.

Of importance to patrons of the public schools are the following announcements: To enter the first grade a child must be either six years of age or to become six years of age before the first month of school has elapsed. There are no changes in the text books for the grades. The high school course of study has been slightly revised so as to make it more practical and helpful to the students. Under last year's plan we had "Under last year's plan," said Supt. Suenkel, "we had eight 45-minute class periods with a general study room. This year we will have six 60-minute periods, each period being divided into a recitation and supervised study period. Under the new plan each teacher will supervise the study period for each of her classes. This will not eliminate the necessity for home study, but it will be a great help for those pupils who are having difficulty with certain subjects in that they will be able to get help in getting a good start in the preparation of their next lesson. Then too, this new procedure will do away with many of the problems of the large study hall.

"The content of the course of study will be practically the same. One major change is being made in typing. Heretofore it has been a junior-senior subject; we are changing it to freshman-sophomore subject this coming year.

"The change cannot be entirely completed in one year, due to a lack of typewriters, and it would not be good business to buy additional machines as we will not have sufficient need for them after the change is made. The object of the change is to enable those students who want to learn typing to secure this ability and then be able to use it during the remainder of their high school days.

"In the sciences, chemistry will be offered the seniors. We are teaching chemistry instead of physics this year because a number of the senior girls are planning to become nurses and chemistry will be far more helpful to these students than physics.

"For the junior-senior students who need to make additional credits we are offering a course in a combination of history, civics, economics and sociology, the new course being entitled 'American Problems.' This is a two-semester course in which a student may earn two credits as well as getting an insight into some of the big problems that America must attempt to solve.

"As you no doubt have observed," said Supt. Suenkel, "our object in making these changes is to fit the school program into the needs of the student body and the community."

Text books for the coming year will be the same as last year.

The entire teaching staff of last year is returning, and present indications are that the enrollment will be about the same for the coming year.

A number of inquiries have been made regarding the possibility of a seven months' school term, and in answer to this, Mr. Suenkel says, "We have been very economical in the maintenance of the school the past year; we adjusted our budget for the coming year with a view of maintaining a nine-months' school and at the present time we have no indications to the contrary. Next week I shall deal more at length with the financial and educational status of our school in comparison with other Idaho schools."

Should any patron or students have any questions or problems with which we can help, feel free to call upon the superintendent who will be at his office every day until the beginning of school, were the words of Supt. Suenkel.

W. A. INGLE ILL.

W. A. Ingle is seriously ill at his home in Genesee, with doctors in attention, and his children, Mrs. Willows, Mrs. Hubbard and Thos. Ingle at his bedside. Chas. Ingle of Pullman was here Sunday and another daughter is expected today.

The illness, of several days' duration has been telling on Mr. Ingle's strength and until recently he would not be content to rest in his bed. He has greeted all visitors and while it has been difficult for him to converse he would not be denied this privilege.

REV. E. M. HEGGE CONDUCTS SERVICE AT VALLEY CHURCH

Rev. E. M. Hegge, Tacoma, pastor of the Central Lutheran church, and former pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran and Genesee Valley Lutheran churches, occupied the pulpits in the two last named Sunday morning, conducting an informal service at the Valley church at 9:30 and at 11 in Moscow.

Rev. Hegge, following the baptismal service for the newly born children in the W. O. Borgen, John Eikum and George Erickson homes, appealed to the congregation to employ the services of a pastor, and keep open the Genesee Valley Lutheran church, the second oldest Norwegian Lutheran church in the Pacific Northwest, instituted 84 years ago. He also told of the Christian churches as being outstanding examples of institutions weathering the depression, citing the example of his charge at Tacoma, which has entered upon an expansion program involving the expenditure of $35,000.

Rev. Hegge expressed his appreciation of the letters received in numbers, complimenting him on the broadcast of Sunday sermons over radio station KVI, and announced another broadcast of "Twilight Reveries" on Monday and Thursday evenings from a Seattle station, and invited his friends in the Genesee Valley to request song numbers, which would be gladly given a place on their twice-a-week program.

Rev. and Mrs. Hegge and daughter, Betty, and Mrs. Tony Johnson, a friend, have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nordby and family, leaving Wednesday morning for their home in Tacoma.

Snake Story Disqualified.

L. C. Hayden can present witnesses that a rattle snake was seen on the highway near the John Weber ranch, west of Genesee, but it was dead, and had been placed there by members of the Weber combine crew which had completed the harvest on the Clearwater ranch and were moving to the Weber fields. The snake was found on the rim, promptly killed, and then placed in the road convenient for a few to see.

Mr. Hayden, who is a very busy man these days, took a few minutes recently to do a little weather prophesting, and although usually reasonably accurate, missed his calculations. According to his calculations Genesee was to have had rain on or before Sunday. It did not rain.

FARM-MARKET ROAD TO TAP KENDRICK-DEARY REGIONS

A farm-to-market highway, constructed by the state, will be graded this summer and fall from Arrow on the Lewis-Clark highway to Deary, according to announcement made on August 20, by Norris Walker in the Lewiston Tribune. Mr. Walker, one of a committee of four, conferred with state highway officials at Boise last week, regarding the designation.

Thorwald Nelson, A. K. Carlson and Lieut. Governor G. P. Mix were the others who discussed the project with J. H. Stemmer, director of highways, and Governor C. Ben Ross.

The route to be followed will be largely along present grades where they exist. Tributary to the Lewis-Clark highway, the new road will probably bring a large influx of traffic from the farming territory of the region to Lewiston, Walker said. Graveling will not be done until next year. From Arrow to Kendrick is about 12 miles, four miles of which is in good condition. This link is the portion passing through Kendrick and Juliaetta. From Kendrick to Deary will be heavy construction. Three ridges loom in this territory to be crossed and construction of this route has long been a problem to local road enthusiasts because of the expense involved. It is 30 miles from Arrow to Deary.

Engineer Dave Jones has had a crew of four men in the Kendrick-Deary country making surveys of the system.

According to Walker, the construction of the route will start shortly, by hand labor and local men wherever possible. Engineer J. J. McCreedy, district supervisor at Lewiston, Saturday had not received any information relative to the project from headquarters at Boise.

The Arrow end of the highway, already located, passes through what was formerly the Clearwater highway district but which has since been taken over by Nez Perce county. The road from Kendrick to Arrow is rough and in need of reconditioning. What part the county will take in this work has not been discussed by the Nez Perce commissioners, altho the proposition has been submitted to them.

Walker said that Kendrick has long been a booster for good roads in northern Idaho but "has not been able to bring about recognition of the region as worthy of a farm-to-market road into the ridges."

Flour and Cloth for County.

Moscow—Four hundred sacks of Red Cross flour will be ready within the week for distribution to needy families of Latah county, a three months' quota for the chapter.

A requisition has gone forward from Moscow for 3,000 yards of cloth for distribution here from a federal grant to the Red Cross of 500,000 bales of cotton to be made up into ginghams, prints, shirting, flannels, muslins and other cloths. Recent dispatches say that two towns, Moscow and Cascade, Idaho, will receive an allotments of cloth.

ST. MATTHEWS ADVERTISING CLUB DOES LARGE BUSINESS

Something for almost nothing to every person who would join St. Matthews Advertising club, proved to be pretty costly to several patrons of the smooth-tongued salesman who drove his truck into Genesee last Saturday evening and proceeded to take as much money as possible away from his joiners, and give as little in return as could be expected. Claiming to be the representative of several national and international manufacturers, the stranger at first gave away several articles and then the money started rolling his way. As one of the members of the club said, "I have to pay for all my experiences, but that one cost me a little more than I thought it would." He has several trinkets in his possession, but with times as they are at present, he would gladly return them to the charitable so-called Mr. Matthews at a sacrifice.

Local merchants would have a hard time trying to convince purchasers that boxes with their contents undisplayed were worth as much as six dollars, but the rattling Matthews even had them say they were satisfied to buy empty boxes.

There is no depression for the Saturday night visitor and it was plainly evident that he is reaping a fortune as he admitted.

GRAIN HANDLING CHARGES LOWER AT PRAIRIE POINTS

Warehouses located in northern Idaho, south of the Clearwater river, were notified last week that the Public Utilities Commission had ordered a reduction of grain handling charges from $1.25 per ton to 75 cents per ton, to become effective August 19.

Grain handling charges at some points on the Prairie have been $1.25 per ton, compared to $1.00 per ton in Genesee.

HARVEST SEASON ADVANCED IN THE PALOUSE TERRITORY

A number of combines have completed their run for this season and have been placed in storage, while others, mostly operating north and west of Genesee are still running.

Combine operations this year are not as rushing as in former years, as the weather has been ideal and the crop is not as heavy as usual, permitting easier operation of machines and fewer delays for repairs.

There are more fields harvested this year with binders than last year, presumably to provide straw stacks for winter use and to relieve the demand on combines.

The harvest rush apparently had no peak this summer, as fields were slow in ripening, the Rimrock section coming early as usual and the season advancing northward more evenly than in former years.

High yields of former years are not forthcoming this season, although the quality is up to standard and very few samples are showing signs of smut, due perhaps to the predominance of the recently introduced Albit variety. Some samples are rather discouraging in smut showings, but they are in the minority.

Peas have proven the best paying crop in the Palouse this year, due it is said to a shortage in the midwest and eastern states. Prices have been averaging around 2½ cents per pound in the dirt for green peas and higher prices for white peas.

Woodcraft Invited to Picnic.

Sunnyside Circle, Neighbors of Woodcraft, Clarkston, have invited the Genesee Circle members and families to a picnic at Beach View Park, Clarkston on Sunday, September 4. Members here are requested to bring a basket dinner and coffee will be served to all by Sunnyside Circle.

HAIL AND LIGHTNING CAUSE DAMAGE NEAR GRANGEVILLE

A hail storm that broke over Camas prairie Tuesday night, starting at 9 o'clock devastated 2,000 acres of spring wheat as it swept a giant swath three miles wide and 15 miles long.

Had the storm struck a week earlier it would have destroyed between 30,000 and 40,000 acres of fall and spring wheat, with many times the damage incurred. Most of the fall grain had been harvested.

Buildings were damaged greatly by the storm, roofs torn off or punctured by the stones, and windows shattered.

Near Winona the barn and sheds on the Dave Yates farm were burned after being struck by bolts of lightning. Heavy hail damage to buildings was done in the Denver section. The storm began near Cottonwood at 7 o'clock p. m.

According to Eimers & Graham, insurance firm, not more than 20 per cent of the farmers carried insurance on their crop. Due to the low price of grain and the depressed condition of the market, many farmers in the belt had refrained from the added expense of insurance.

"Within the memory of pioneers it had never been known to hail so extensively at night. The storm was intense and general. Heavy rain fell in spots and it was not known until the next day how great was the loss. Growers had feared that at the worst their harvesting operations would be set back a few days. The farmers awoke and investigated to find that there would be no harvest in the path of the hail storm.

Although gloom was general over the prairie the day following the storm, many were recounting their luck at having harvested in advance of the hail. The most conservative said that 30,000 acres of grain would have been lost a week ago had the storm come earlier.

Luther League to Lewiston.

Several members of the Genesee Luther league climbed into the bulk tank of Ernest Reisemer's new truck last Friday evening and journeyed to Lewiston to meet with the Luther league of that city. The entertainment opened with a short business session followed by a musical program, after which games were played. At a late hour refreshments were served.

Reports are that the atmosphere in a bulk tank is rather chilly at 1 o'clock in the mornig, however, a delightful time was had by all who attended.

Those who made the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reisemer and daughter, Gretchen; Marjorie and Cecil Nebelsieck, Violet and Floyd Heppner, Eileen Flomer, Hazel Craft, Rose Jutte, Ednah Rosenau, Howard Blume and Albert Nagel.

NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH AT PIERCE IS BUILT OF LOGS

Father Carey, who returned last Wednesday evening from Pierce City after attending dedication services at the new Catholic church there, said the structure, conceived by Father J. B. Kunkel of the Pierce parish, was unique, in that it is built entirely of selected cedar logs, with a cedar shake-shingle roof, supported by hewn logs, ,the interior being well finished, in simple, but beautiful lines. The ceiling and walls are made of celetex, painted to enhance the beauty of the interior and to make it comfortable during the winter as well as the summer. The logs, personally selected by Fr. Kunkel are so arranged that they will conform to the foundation should frost or rains affect it, without bringing strain on the interior. Fr. Kunkel worked with the laborers from start to finish in building the church.

There were present at the dedication services at Pierce City Wednesday the Rt. Rev. Edward J. Kelly, bishop of Boise; Father Carey, Father Jentges of Nezperce and Father Albert of Cottonwood, and many other visitors from Headquarters, Weippe and Orofino.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY WEEK ENDING AUGUST 19

Domestic grain markets remained unsettled during the week ending August 19, but weakness predominated toward the close of the period, with prices mostly below a week ago, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. A continued dull demand featured the markets for both bread and feed grains. Receipts of wheat wer erelatively light, but with the lack of an export outlet, offerings were easily sufficient for current trade requirements. A continued slack inquiry for feed grains weakened the corn, oats and barley markets, despite only moderate offerings.

Flax was independently firm under the influence of unfavorable prospects for late-sown fields and a fair crusher demand for current offerings of seed.

Wheat

No outstanding changes occurred in the general wheat market situation during the week. Preliminary estimates of Northern Hemisphere wheat crops indicate outturns about equal to last season. World wheat stocks, which have held at high levels since the abnormally large accumulations in 1929, have been reduced and at the first of August this season showed below those of a year ago. The second North American stocks appear to be more than offset by reductions in other areas, particularly in Continental Europe, where supplies are reported at a minimum.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific Coast wheat markets were weak, but price declines were less marked than at eastern points. Threshing became general over eastern Washington during the week with yields below earlier expectations but quality about equal to average. Marketings remained relatively light, with receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaling only 764 cars, compared with 1,201 cars for the corresponding week last year. In addition to the car receipts, over 27,000 bushels of wheat were received at Portland by river boat and nearly 17,000 bushels by truck. Demand was fairly active from local mills but inquiry for export grades was rather dull. No export sales of either wheat or flour were reported during the week since local prices were several cents above current export bids.

Spring Crop Harvest

Harvesting of spring wheat in the United States is practically completed except in Montana and is well under way in Canada. Weather during the week was almost ideal for harvesting in that country but a further decline in yield prospects occurred as a result of dry weather and high temperatures. Trade estimates now place the Canadian outturn at around 425,000,000 bushels. Harvesting in Russia, continued backward with only a little over half of the harvesting plan completed at the 10th of August. Serious rust damage was reported in Czechoslovakia and along the German-Polish border as far north as East Prussia. Harvesting made good progress during the week in Germany and most of France and the yield in Central Europe is generally above that of last season, according to late estimate reports.

Foreign Wheat Markets.

Foreign wheat markets have been more unsettled than domestic markets. Heavy marketings of new wheat in Germany and France have lowered price of native wheat more than 20 cents per bushel in those countries since the first of August. On August 19, good native milling wheat was quoted at Hamburg at $1.39 compared with $1.57 August 5. Native wheat was quoted in Paris at $1.22 compared with $1.41 on August 5. Italian prices strengthened slightly during the first three weeks in August, with native milling wheat quoted Aug. 19 at Genoa at $1.38, compared with $1.34 on August 5. African durum wheat was quoted at Marseilles, France, August 19 at $1.15 compared with $1.27 August 5. Wheat for September delivery was quoted at Buenos Aires August 18 at 62½ cents, compared with 57 cents at the first of the month. The decline in prices of native wheat at Continental European markets was reflected in part at London and Liverpool. At the former market, German wheat was offered August 19 at 51 cents per bushel, while Argentine Rosafe was quoted at 58 cents and Australian at 58 5-8 cents. No shipments were reported from Russia or Black Sea ports and offerings of Russian wheat weer reported withdrawn during the week. North American shipments are now comprising more than three-fourths of the world's total, but these shipments are principally of Canadian wheat.

Domestic Cash Markets

Domestic cash wheat markets were firmer than futures, reflecting the relatively light marketings. Receipts at seven southwestern markets totaled only 3,197 cars, or only about half the receipts a year ago.

Soft winter wheat was in good demand and cash premiums were advanced sufficient to offset most of the decline in futures. Scattered buying by country and local mills kept the cash market firm at St. Louis, where No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at 52¼ cents per bushel. An active milling inquiry from Kentucky, Tennessee and The Virginias was a strengthening influence at Cincinnati, where elevator stocks were being liberally drawn upon to supply current trade requirements. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted in that market at 54½ to 55½ cents per bushel.

Barley Markets

California barley markets were slightly easier durnig the week under a continued lack of export inquiry for malting types and a limited industrial demand for feed barley. Bids from English buyers for malting types at San Francisco were about equal to current prices of feed grades in that market. As a result, only a few small parcels were sold for export during the week. Export clearances were of fair volume, but were principally on earlier sales to Antwerp. Boat space continued adequate, but was becoming of smaller volume because of heavy movement of canned goods and dried fruit. Rates were unchanged at $4.00 per long ton to London. Consumption of feed barley remained very heavy in Central California.

VOL. XLIV GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1932 NO. 11

William Andrew Ingle, who first touched Idaho Territory 58 years ago, passed away at his home in Genesee Friday, August 26, after a few days' serious illness, due to his advanced age and precipitated by stomach disorders. Knowing well his physical condition the deceased was unwilling to enter a hospital and as he had recovered from several similar attacks in recent months, the counsel of doctors and relatives was of no avail as the sturdy pioneer refused treatment which may have prolonged life for a time. Shortly before his death, not more than a week, Mr. Ingle was down town visiting with friends and it was not until the day preceding his death that visitors at his home could not be received. He enjoyed conversation and although at times it was painful for him to talk he asked that old-time friends be admitted.

William Andrew Ingle was born in Benton County, Arkansas, May 25, 1856, and at the time of death was 76 years, three months and one day of age. He was the son of James and Nancy Brantley Ingle, and was married April 29, 1874 to Malinda P. Boding, to which union there were born ten children, six of whom survive: Charles S. of Pullman, Wash.; Thomas E. of Genesee; Bonnie E. of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Maude Willows of Lewiston, Idaho; Mrs. Minnie Hubbard of Rockford, Wash., and Mrs. Ida Edwards of Portland, Ore., all of whom were at home at the time of their father's death, except Bonnie. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. M. S. Baker of Portland, Ore., ten grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Following the death of Mr. Ingle's first wife August 22, 1905, Mr. Ingle married Mrs. Cora Hardcastle of Fort Worth, Texas in 1907. She passed April 2, this year.

The deceased was well acquainted with pioneer days in Idaho, having made the trip west by covered wagon in 1874, living two years in Walla Walla, Wash., and Boise, Idaho, returning to Arkansas to remain for seven years when the lure of the west occasioned a second trip in a covered wagon in 1883, when he came to what is now Genesee, Idaho. Soon after arriving here he engaged in farming, two years later purchasing the place he owned at time of death. The place is located about a mile and a half south of Genesee and was the family home for 41 years, Mr. Ingle retiring eight years ago, moving to his home in town.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Christian church of which he has been a member since 1900. Rev. N. E. Beach conducted the services, assisted in the song service by Alvon and Wayne Hampton and Mrs. Floyd Pinkerton, accompanied by Miss Genevieve Hampton at the piano. Interment was in the City Cemetery with the following as pallbearers: John Vandenburg, Matt Kambitsch, John Cunningham, Nels Flamoe, Fred Hampton and D. Scharnhorst.

Mr. Ingle was a man held in high esteem numbering as his friends all who had the opportunity to know him, and friends gathered from many parts of the Palouse to pay their last respects.

Bushurs Buy Alber Property.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bushur moved into the home formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Stucker, after purchasing the property from Mrs. Susan Alber Jutte this week. Besides the house there are two large lots. Mr. and Mrs. Stucker have moved to the residence across the street from the Robert Erickson home.

IMPORTED BASEBALL FEUD FOR SPOKANE TOURNAMENT

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 25.—An imported baseball feud—imported from the southern section of the Inland Empire, is due to be settled in Spokane this week-end.

That's because the Lewiston and Genesee baseball clubs have both been entered in the annual Inland Empire baseball tournamnt, next Saturday, Sunday and Monday at Natatorium Park, home grounds of the Idaho-Washington league, sponsoring the championship.

Both the Genesee and Lewiston clubs make their bow on Sunday to the hundreds of fans who are certain to be on hand, and each club meets a Spokane team. The first game, at 2 p. m. brings Genesee against this year's pennant winners of the Idaho-Washington league, while Lewiston meets the Spokane Buicks, winners of the annual evening baseball tournament in the second game. Offhand, we'd say that Genesee's assignment is the tougher of the two, for Sad Slim Smith's team has played first class, "heads up" baseball all season, as they had to, to beat out such teams as the Wallace Miners, the Spokane Boosters and Coeur d'Alene. However, Lewiston's job won't be easy either, for they are meeting a club composed largely of Idaho-Washington league players and managed by the redoubtable Mentor Dahlen, chiefly famed as quarterback for the W. S. C. Cougars.

However, Genesee and Lewiston, both winning, will meet again Monday, Labor Day, in the second semi-final at 2 p. m., and that's a game that local fans, as well as Idahoans, are looking forward to, although both Smith's and the Buicks have plenty of followers in this city.

IDAHO STATE TAX LEVY FOR 1932 SET AT 5.952 MILLS

Boise, Idaho—The state tax levy was computed by the state auditor Tuesday as being below last year's because of funds raised by the kilowatt and income taxes.

It is higher, however, than for the year 1930 when the levy was set at 5.9 mills before the two means of revenue existed.

The ad valorem tax, general interest and sinking fund, public buildings expense and fixed rates for two highway bond issues totaled 5.952 mills, compared with 6.426 last year.

This levy will raise $2,426,478, compared with $2,813,002 last year. The levy was figured on a valuation of $407,630,000, which is approximately $20,000,000 below last year's figure.

The clerk's notice of the annual school election will be found on another page of this newspaper. "Last week, I promised to deal more at length with the financial condition of our school," said Supt. E. S. Suenkel; "and am doing so in the belief that it will prove both valuable and interesting to our patrons."

The following selection is quoted an an opening to the remarks of Mr. Suenkel: "If it takes a fifty thousand dollar. man to guide a client; develop a coal mine; put a corporation on its feet—what is the teacher worth, who takes that boy of yours, guides him, develops him, puts him on his feet and makes a man of him?"

It is becoming commonly accepted that schools have been developed to the point where they are considered 'big business.' In the state of Idaho there are 1405 school districts. At the present time there are more school board members than there are teachers in Idaho, due to the large number of one-room schools, 748, of which Latah county has 75. These districts have invested $24,106,672 in property and the total operating costs of these 1405 districts were $11,650,814 in 1929-30. In 1930-31 this cost of operation was reduced approximately $1,000,000 and all. indications point toward a larger reduction in 1931-32. The data of course is not yet available.

"It seems like a lot of money being spent on education, yet when we compare Idaho costs to the nation we find that educational costs in Idaho are nearly 40 per cent lower than the national average. And, compared to the educational costs of the states of Washington, Oregon, Montana, Utah and Nevada, our costs are the lowest.

"Idaho has 190 high schools accredited by the State Department of Education. Their enrollments range from 17 to 1410. The state department divides these into six groups according to enrollment, Genesee high school being placed in the third group in which are schools with from 50 to 150 enrollment. Our high school enrollment in 1930-31 was 91; in 1931-32 it was 79; this year it will be about 80 and next year it will again increase to over 90.

"The per capita cost for maintaining Idaho high schools ranges from $73.00 to $360.00, the average cost being $124.00 for the state; the average cost for group III. schools being $121.32, and a consoling feature is that the average per capita cost for Genesee high school at $106.28 is considerably lower than either of the other two classes.

"The average school of group III. has a building value of $235 per pupil; ours is $200. The value of educational apparatus in this group is $26.25 per pupil; ours is $36.00.

"The district assessed valuation per pupil for the group has an average of $3671; our assessed valuation per pupil is $3980.

"In millage levies in group III. the rate varies from 8½ to 30½ mills; ours last year was 17 mills, while next year it will be 15½ mills.

"When it comes to district debt Genesee is still more fortunate, with only $33.00 debt per pupil while the average in the group is $112 per pupil. Genesee has no warrant indebtedness and only $4,000 remains of its bonded debt. This gives us almost a debt-free district.

"Since we have accepted the proposition that our schools are a business; we have concluded to run them in a business-like manner. So for the coming year we have considered carefully the various sources from which we derive revenues; the sums to be obtained from each and have prepared our budget for the coming year's expenses so that our expenditures shall not exceed our receipts. And barring an unforseen emergency, our school will still be on a cash basis at the end of the next school year.

"In closing the old and opening the new school year, let me say to the patrons that we have greatly appreciated the loyalty and cooperation accorded us and that we look forward to the new school year with an added zeal for the progress and welfare of our student body and toward this end we earnestly solicit your continued cooperation."

The public schools will reopen on Monday, September 5.

Wondering how folks make it these times, we are informed that people become so badly bent, it requires no effort to make both ends meet.

Breaking even on the number of hits, 13 each, Genesee, through its errors, lost the game last Sunday, 13 to 5. Lewiston, trailing 4 to 2, opened the fifth inning seemingly content to remain in second position. Tilden struck out Sanford and Jack Lee, but then came three successive hits and two errors to score four runs. Tilden struck out Red Lee to retire the side. Again in the sixth Lewiston was swinging directly at Tilden's offerings and another four runs were scored, Frost relieving Tilden after three of the men had crossed the plate. From then on, through the remaining three and two-thirds innings Frost held Lewiston to three runs.

Genesee, early in the game, overcame a two run lead held by Lewiston, scoring four runs in the second on a two-base hit by E. Blume, a single by C. Gray a hit by Frost and a home run by Tilden after Blume had scored on Gray's hit.

Adverse weather conditions kept down the attendance at the game, as the wind swept across the diamond and seldom was every portion of the field clear. Bushman enveloped in a cloud of dust failed to see C. Gray's left field fly and time after time fielding was effected by the high wind and dust. After the third inning the sun went behind clouds and as it became cooler players lost their early game enthusiasm. Fans, however, remained for the last man to go out, and to witness the playing of the two clubs which will represent their respective towns in the Spokane tournament.

First inning: Jack Lee led off for Lewiston by striking out; Bowman was safe at first on an error by Tilden; Lawrence flew out to second; Bushman singled to score Bowman who was on second; Stewart was safe on an error at short, scoring Bushman; Red Lee was walked and Anderson fanned. Genesee: Eichner hit safely; L. Gray grounded to Sanford who threw to second, Thomas completing a double play, getting L. Gray at first; G. Blume was out, pitcher to first.

Second inning: Thomas for Lewiston was safe on an error by the pitcher; Tilden fanned Sanford and did likewise to Jack Lee and Bowman. Genesee: E. Blume hit for two bases; Olsen sacrificed; C. Gray hit to left field to score Blume; O. Fox flew out to first: Frost singled and Tilden dropped over the fence to score C. Gray, Frost and himself. Eichner was out, third to first.

Third inning: Lawrence was one of Tilden's 11 strikeout victims; Bushgrounded out to first and Stewart was out, third to first. Genesee: L. Gray was out, third to first; G. Blume flew out to right field and E. Blume flew out to short.

Fourth inning: Red Lee fanned Anderson flew out to center and Thomas fanned. Genesee: Olsen was out, pitcher to first; C. Gray flew out to left field; Fox singled; Frost hit safely and advanced Fox; Tilden grounded to short, the play for the put out being made on the force at third.

Fifth inning: Sanford fanned; Jack Lee fanned; Bowman singled and stole second; Lawrence singled but an error in center Bowman scored and Lawrence drew up at second; Bushman singled to score Lawrence; Bushman stole second; Stewart was safe on an error by the pitcher, advancing Bushman; with two men out, Fox made the throw to second, but in the dust storm it was not taken, Bushman scoring, also Stewart on the pass ball at second. Red Lee fanned. Genesee: Eichner singled; L. Gray struck out; G. Blume flew out to short and E. Blume swung at three.

Sixth inning: Anderson connected for a home run; Thomas singled; Sanford hit for two bases scoring Thomas, and came home when Frost was relieving Tilden on the mound; Jack Lee hit for two bases; Bowman flew out to first; Lawrence hit to score Lee; Bushman and Stewart struck out. Genesee: Olsen fanned, C. Gray did the same and Fox flew out to first.

Seventh inning: Red Lee fanned; Anderson was safe on an error at second; Thomas and Sanford fanned. Genesee: Frost singled, went to second on a pass ball; Geltz, replacing Tilden in the batting order, went to first on an infield hit; Eichner flew out in foul territory to third; Frost was caught off second and Jacobs, replacing L. Gray flew out to first.

Eighth inning: Jack Lee fanned;

WINTER HITS IDAHO.

Six inches of snow was found at Adams camp near Grangeville Tuesday morning, says the Lewiston Tribune. Motorists on the North and South highway found a blanket of white near Whitebird, and foresters reported snow on nearly every mountain top. There was six inches of snow at Florence and on Webb ridge snow covered the ground. The mercury slid to 40 degrees at Grangeville.

Rain fell in and around Genesee Monday night, the Thorncreek section getting the heaviest downpour. What combining remained to be done Tuesday was delayed, but threshing operations were held up for only a half day. Hail fell lightly in some spots in the Palouse, but no damage was reported. Light frosts are reported on the lower lands, however.

STATE GRANTS $11,000 FOR FARM-TO-MARKET ROAD

"Mr. Edwin Smolt
Genesee, Idaho.

"Dear Sir:

"Reference to your letter of August 23rd, regarding farm-to-market road in Genesee district, authority has been granted for the expenditure of approximately $11,000.00 by the State on Project No. 1, between Genesee and Little Potlatch creek.

"I presume harvesting is about completed in this section now so that work can be carried on by local people. It is my plan to do this work by day labor with some competent man as superintendent, working under the direction of one of our engineers.

"I hope to be able to do something toward getting this work started early next week. Will call you before hand so you can get the commissioners together and we can go over the work together.

"Yours very truly,
"J. J. McCreedy,
"District Engineer.

EIGHT BARRELS OF RED CROSS FLOUR FOR GENESEE SECTION

At the Latah Red Cross board meeting at Moscow Tuesday, distribution of 100 barrels of Red Cross flour was determined, eight barrels being apportioned for Genesee. Kendrick and Juliaetta will receive 10 barrels; Potlatch, 20; Bovill, 10; Troy, 10; Viola, 2, and Moscow, 40. A record of each sack of flour issued will be made by the local Red Cross chapters for information to the national headquarters.

A shipment of cloth from the National Red Cross was also received, and includes outing flannel, shirtings, birdseye, ginghams and prints. Wherever possible families will be allowed to make their own garments, otherwise women's organizations will be asked to sew for the needy.

GENESEE GETS INVITATION TO SPOKANE TOURNAMENT

Late Thursday night Fred Meyer received an invitation from George Ferris to enter the Spokane baseball tournament and it was promptly accepted. Close upon the invitation came the information that Genesee drew as its opponent for Sunday, September 4, the Sad Slim Smith club of the Idaho-Washington league, the games to begin at 2 p. m.

September 3, the opening day of the three-day tournament, Everett, Wash., meets Wenatchee at 2 o'clock and the same afternoon the Spokane Boosters meet Coeur d'Alene. Lewiston drew Spokane Buicks for the second game on September 4, following the Genesee game.

September 5 at noon the winner of the Everett-Wenatchee game vs. winner of Boosters-Coeur d'Alene; at 2 p. m. winner Smith-Genesee vs. winner first game vs. winner Buicks-Lewiston; 4 p. m. winner first game vs. winner second game for title.

Statistics relative to the averages of the Smith and Genesee clubs will be interesting at this time, and it will be noted that Genesee finished its longest season in years, 15 games, with a team batting average of .270, compared to .235 for the Spokane Smith club, which played 23 games. Smith has two batters registering an average of over .333, the highest for Genesee, but the former has seven batting less than .197, giving Genesee a more even distribution of batting strength.

Gossleman, leading pitcher for the Smith club, according to statistics compiled, has played in 14 games this season, striking out 74 men or an average of 5.3 men per game. Tilden, who has been playing with Genesee and who will, undoubtedly, start the game in Spokane Sunday, has struck out 53 batters in the five games he has played here, an average of 10.6 men per game. In other games played this season, Tilden has kept up this average, in one game striking out 16 men. He has been able also to maintain a batting average of .235 ten points better than Gossleman.

Waste balls thrown to Tilden have usually been accounted for as hits, and with his size, he alone will merit attention from the Spokane battery.

Smith will have one dangerous man on his lineup and maybe two. Ike Peterson is a .419 hitter and Hawkins has a mark of .383.

Spiesman, another Smith pitcher, has played in 13 games and recorded 54 strikeouts, walking 23, compared to 21 for Gossleman. During the entire season, Tilden has walked but few men, less than an average of one man per game.

AUCTION SALE AT WAHL FARM.

An auction sale of personal property is scheduled at the Mrs. Mary Wahl ranch today, Friday) beginning at 10 a. m. The terms have been changed, owing to the times, to a cash sale.

Ed Wahl, who is having the sale, is quitting the farm, expecting to locate where he can keep his two younger children in school. He is undecided at present where he will locate.

Burr Family In Unsual Accident.

Traffic was heavy on Highway No. 97, north of Wenatchee last week while the W. W. Burr family was in that state, called there by the serious illness of Mrs. Laura Phipps at Wenatchee, and the many cars and trucks presented no trouble in passing until a large truck began to separate, the left outside dual tire leaving the hub and rolling in a zig-zag course down the road. The truck was passed successfully, but in attempting to miss the "runaway" tire, the Burr car was manuevered to avoid a head-on collision but it struck the left rear fender and wheel, throwing the car into a ditch on the right side of the road, springing the front axle and shaking up the occupants. Mrs. Harry Phipps and mother, Mrs. Mike Sullivan, and Mr. and Mrs. Burr and son, Homer. No one was injured as the car remained upright.

The owner of the truck, after traveling a few miles noticed the loss of a tire and retraced his course to find his inflated tire and rim lying close of the Burr car which had by that time been pulled onto the road by a highway truck. The tire was a 36x6 heavy type, and was undamaged. The truck owner paid all damages. Both car and truck were traveling at a fair rate of speed.

AUTHOR OF "I LIKE THE DEPRESSION" LOSES LIFE

W. S. C. PROFESSORS AGAINST THE FARM HOLIDAY PLAN

A large number of farmers, professors, business men and others assembled at the Washington hotel in Pullman last Saturday evening to discuss the movement of holding wheat from market until the price reached 75 cents per bushel locally or for a period of 60 days. The plan was explained by wheat growers from Genesee, and while there were a numbers of farmers in favor of the plan, professors from Washington State College argued that the plan would be feasible but were unable to visualize a sign-up of sufficient number to realize the desired effects. Arguments were heard from both sides, which, despite the remarks of the college men, resulted in the passing of a resolution by standing vote to support the movement. Tabor LaFollette was the outstanding speaker for witholding wheat from market.

Those attending the meeting from Genesee were: Fred Hove, W. H. Mervyn, Henry Lorang, Colin Wilson and E. D. Pederson.

REDUCE WORKING HOURS OF STATE HIGHWAY EMPLOYEES

Effective August 15, all employees of the state highway department and those employed on federal aid projects, inclusive of those employed by contractors have been limited to 8 hours work per day, six days per week, unless emergencies arise demanding overtime labors. The order was received last week.

The purpose of reducing the number of working hours and eliminating overtime as far as possible, is to give employment to a greater number of men, it is presumed.

The order, according to officials in the employment of the Department of Public Works, was issued directly by Governor C. Ben Ross.

Sun's Eclipse Visible Here.

The solar eclipse became visible to people in the Genesee vicinity at 10:32 a. m. Tuesday and many watched the crescent spot as it moved counter-clockwise around the sun. Clouds, however obstructed the view shortly after the noon hour and it was impossible to determine when the moon, in its titled orbit ceased to obstruct the sun's rays.

The eclipse as witnessed locally appeared to be about one-third.

Contrary to belief that an eclipse of the sun is a forerunner of evil and disaster, the prediction of earthquakes and other terestrial disturbances were incorrect. Apparently the eclipse chased all the bull market operators to cover, leaving the price of wheat to the bears, as a decline was noticeble. It is the contention now that a total solar eclipse, if of sufficient duration, would be welcome, as it might induce the bears to hibernate until the depression passes. Observers are of the opinion that those attempting to rescue the world from its present plight, are merely groping in the dark, to say the least.

Men Were Men In The Olden Days.

Wood Gash, formerly of Lawrenceburg, Kentucky, ran across the following interesting item in the paper published at his home town. He is personally acquainted with the son of the man who transferred his half of the man sold. Herewith is reprinted the item:

"Reminiscent of the old slave selling days, a bill of sale for a negro, reads as follows: 'I have this day sold to C. N. Kavanaugh, my undivided half of the negro man, Jeff, and I hereby convey to him all the interest I have in said negro, for which he is to pay me three hundred dollars on the first day of March, 1857. Signed—Thos. A. Kavanaugh'."

Three hundred dollars for the undivided half of the negro man, Jeff, has caused Mr. Gash to wonder which part belonged to the seller and which to the buyer. This question, however, is unanswered, but at the present time there are about 10,000,000 men who would gladly accept $600 for themselves in entirety.

The bill of sale was found by a grandson of T. A. Kavanaugh while rummaging around in a trunk of old papers, and doubting the legality of the bill he studied the bill further, learning that the half was undivided.

Fish Near Clarkia.

Fishermen have secrets which they will not divulge even on cross examination, but it was learned that the E. S. Suenkel and Geo. Post families and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tupker spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday near Clarkia on a fishing trip. Supt. Suenkel did not hesitate to say that he was successful in his attempts Sunday, but what the ordinary man can't understand is, why the Waltonians in almost every instance keep secret something relative to their trips. This time it seems that the trio found a very good fishing hole and want to keep it to themselves. They have, apparently found a place where nice fish are to be caught.

As the bear season opens in Latah county next week, Supt. Suenkel is looking around for a gun sufficiently large to enable him to bring home the bruin which he saw near Clarkia last Sunday.

DOMESTIC WHEAT MARKETS ARE INDEPENDENTLY FIRM

Domestic wheat markets were for the most part steady during the week ending August 26, despite declines at Winnipeg and weakness in European markets, states the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Reduced offerings of winter wheat, a fairly active milling inquiry for both winter and spring grain and some advances in securities were strengthening influences which offset the weaker situation in foreign markets caused by increased marketings of Canadian wheat, liberal offerings of native wheat in Europe and generally favorable prospects for the southern hemisphere crop on materially increased acreage in both Argentina and Australia. Oats and barley were unsettled. Flax held steady under an active crusher demand despite increased receipts.

Harvest Nearing Completion

Harvesting of the domestic spring wheat crop is now practically completed, but marketings remained relatively small with growers slow sellers at prevailing low prices. The quality is generally good with protein averaging higher than last season. Cutting of spring wheat was practically completed in Manitoba, 40 to 60 per cent accomplished in Saskatchewan and 30 to 45 per cent finished in Alberta, according to the Manitoba Free Press. Threshing was about 60 per cent completed in Manitoba, 15 to 30 per cent in Saskatchewan and 10 to 20 per cent in Alberta. Conditions for the completion of the European harvests are favorable and indicate a harvest about equal to earlier expectations. The quality of the French crop is reported good, and early offerings of new German wheat also show excellent quality. Some rust damage has occurred to Italian wheat and offerings of new Rumanian wheat are reported of very low quality with test weights ranging from 55 to 55½ pounds. Early offerings of Russian wheat are reported to be equal in quality to those of last season. Prospects for the new southern hemisphere crops are becoming more prominent in the world supply situation. The 1932 Argentine acreage is placed at 19,250,000 acres as compared with 17,295,000 acres a year ago. The Australian acreage has also been increased, with early unofficial advices indicating an increase of 1,000,000 acres over that of last season which is placed at 13,990,000 acres. The condition of the growing crop was generally favorable in Argentine, western and southern Australia and Victoria. The condition in New South Wales is less favorable as a result of deficient moisture. The crops in both New South Wales and Victoria have deteriorated recently as a result of dryness.

World Wheat Prices

World wheat markets were not greatly changed during the week, with liberal offerings of new crop supplies in deficit European areas and larger visible stocks in North America offsetting the light offerings from European surplus areas and smaller shipments from the southern hemisphere. Canadian wheat is being offered freely and Canada is supplying the bulk of world shipments. Southern hemisphere shipments during the week totaled 2,041,000 bushels. The first shipment of Russian wheat, totaling 144,000 bushels was reported during the week and comprised the entire Black Sea movement, since there were no exports from Balkan and Danubian countries. Continental European markets were quiet, with prices unchanged. Prices at Liverpool showed some changes, with German wheat reported sold at the close of the week at 50 7-8c compared with 51c a week ago. No. 2 Manitoba wheat was quoted at 57c, compared with almost 59c last week; Argentine Rosafe at 56 3-4c compared with 58c last week. No quotations were available on Russian or U. S. grain.

Domestic Markets Firmer

Domestic cash wheat markets were firmer with futures and were influenced also by relatively light offerings. Marketings of winter wheats were only a little over one-third as large as a year ago with receipts at the principal central and southwestern markets totaling only 2,312 cars. These small receipts reflect the smaller crop this season, the holding tendency on the part of growers and increased farm activity with fall seeding preparations. Fall seeding of about 39,805,000 acres of winter wheat are indicated by farmers' reports of their planting intentions. This is a decrease of about 360,000 acres from the 1931 seedings. Mill demand for winter wheat was sufficiently active to readily absorb daily arrivals.

Soft winter wheat was relatively firmer than hard winter, with a steady inquiry from local and outside mills prevailing. Offerings were light since growers were not selling freely at prevailing prices. Elevator stocks were being drawn upon at the latter market to supply demand from Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee mills.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific coast markets developed a weaker tone despite the advance at eastern points. The Portland market declined ½ to 3-4c, reflecting principally th lack of export oulets for northwestern wheat. Harvesting was nearing completion in Washington and Oregon and much spring wheat had been harvested at the close of the week. Marktings remained relatively light as a result of the holding tendency on the part of growers. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled 1,042 cars, compared with 1,212 cars a year ago. In addition to the current week's carlot receipts, 19,000 bushels arrived by truck and 16,000 bushels by boat. Domestic markets furnished the principal outlet since no export business was done, either in wheat or flour. Canadian and Australian wheat was being sold in the Orient at prices below quotations on U. S. wheat. A cargo of Canadian wheat was reported to Shanghai from Vancouver during the week and som export business was also worked to the United Kingdom.

California Markets

California wheat markets declined around 2½c per 100, reflecting the light demand ,together with a slightly increased selling pressure from northern and intermountain areas. Offerings of California wheat remained light with growers generally asking 5 to 10c above current terminal bids. Bay Region mills were filling most requirements with northern wheat at relatively lower prices than those at which local wheat was being offered. Flour business was reported about normal and mills were purchasing sufficient wheat to cover current requirements. Feed demand however, was slow with dealers and industries mostly using wheat purchased several weeks ago or substituting cheaper feed barley. At the close of the market August 26 Local No. 1 hard white wheat was quoted at San Francisco at $1.12½ to $1.15 and No. 1 soft white at $1.10 to $1.12½ per 100.

Bowman hit safely as did Lawrence and Bushman, the latter scoring Bowman; Stewart and Red Lee fanned. Genesee: G. Blume fanned; E. Blume came through with his second two-base hit and scored on Olsen's two-base hit which looked like a homer; C. Gray singled but Olsen was out when Bushman made the throw to the plate; Fox flew out to center.

Ninth inning: Anderson connected for his second circuit clout; Thomas went to first when Fox dropped a third strike; Sanford fanned; Jack Lee fanned; Bowman sent one thru short to score Thomas; Bowman was out trying to steal second. Genesee: Frost, Geltz and Eichner fanned.

Home runs, Anderson 2, Tilden 1; two base hits, E. Blume 2, Jack Lee 1, Olsen 1, Sanford 1;, struck out by Tilden, 11 in 5 innings, by Frost 10 in four innings, by Sanford 8 in 9 innings; double plays, Sanford to Thomas to R. Lee.

Jack Lee always considered a sure hitter in years past, struck out five times in six trips; Red Lee fanned four times and was given a walk and Sanford struck out four times and hit once. Not one player on the Genesee club struck out more than one time in the game and one man, Fox, hit the ball in each trip. This game, after reading the box score, the strikeouts recorded and the number of hits made by the Genesee club, is one for the book. The solution locally why Genesee did not win is that the home club was getting ready for the tournament and was desirous of ridding its system of all the errors and bad plays.

FRED BAUMGARTNER GIVEN SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCY

Fred Baumgartner, who has been farming his father's place south and west of Genesee for the past two years, was recently asked to apply for the position as superintendent of the Whitebird, Idaho, public school where he taught the year prior to farming the Baumgartner ranch. He made application and was elected to the position of superintendent. School will start at Whitebird, September 12 and continue for a full nine-months term.

He and his wife and son, Glen left Wednesday morning for Whitebird to make arrangements for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Baumgartner have been living in Clarkston for two but will move to their ranch here Saturday of this week.

A Depression Story.

In 1929, before the crash, a man had a $280,000 loan at a bank, to cover which he deposited stock, worth at the market price then existing, $400,000. When the stock market went into a tailspin the bank sold him out, getting $330,000 for the stock, and leaving the man with his debt paid and a $50,000 credit in the bank.

Then, a little later, the bank collapsed. In a short time it was reorganized, and in the shrinkage that was involved the man's credit dwindled to $30,000. Thereupon he drew out $30,000, and bought back all of the securities he had held originally. So now he holds the same stock that he held in 1929, he has wiped out a $280,000 loan and he has $6,000 in cash. Has he gained or lost in the depression?

THE GENESEE NEWS

VOL. XLIV GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1932 NO. 12

COMPARISON OF TAX LEVIES GIVES MATERIAL FOR STUDY

A comparison of the tax levies for various purposes in Idaho county seat towns from the years 1913 and 1930 discloses some highly interesting information that should be valuable in assisting the general public to a more comprehensive picture of the taxation problems now confronting us, says Glen Balch, writing his 35th article on "Tax Topics" for the Idaho state chamber of commerce.

The highest total ad valorem tax in 1930, per each $1,000 of assessed valuation, was levied in Dubois, Clark County, the amount being $96.70. It is noteworthy that of this total, $67.90 was levied for city purposes. Since Clark county had not been created in 1913, no figures for Dubois are available for that year.

High Totals

Other high totals for 1930 were: Challis, Custer county, $85.50; Arco, Butte county, $81.80; Caldwell, Canyon county, $79.80; St. Anthony, Fremont county, $78.45; St. Maries, Benewah county, $77.20; Sandpoint, Bonner county, $77.07; and Emmett, Gem county, $76.20.

Lowest of the per $1,000 valuation totals was $33.60, levied in Idaho City, Boise county, which has no independent school district.

Highest total tax increase for the 17-year period was in Challis, Custer county, where the levy mounted from $33.00 to $85.50, a net increase of $52.50. Other high net increases were: Caldwell, Canyon county, $42.30; Preston, Franklin county, $42; Sandpoint, Bonner county, $40.07; Council, Adams county, $39.05; Pocatello, Bannock county, $38.37, and Blackfoot, Bingham county, $38.20.

It should be noted that in two county seat towns, Nez Perce, Lewis county, and Rupert, Minidoka county, taxes actually decreased during the period. The decrease in Nez Perce was frm $46.00 to $39.80; in Rupert, from $57.00 to $54.50.

School Taxes

The highest increase in school taxes occurred in Sandpoint, Bonner county, where the school levy had a net gain of $24.50 during the 17 years. In the Cassia county seat, (Albion in 1913 and Burley in 1930) the net gain was $21; the third highest net gain was in Challis, Custer county, where the increase was $20. The smallest net school tax increase for the period occurred in Nez Perce, Lewis county where the levy per $1,000 valuation mounted from $15 to $18—a net of only $3.00.

School taxes increased in every county seat town in the state during the 17-year period with the exception of Idaho City, Boise county, which has no independent school district and consequently had no special school taxes for either of the two compared years.

City Taxes Grow

The largest net gain in city taxes for the 17-year period was in Challis, Custer county. The increase was $29.00. Other heavy city tax increases were: Orofino, Clearwater county, $21.00; Preston, Franklin county, $18.50; and Grangeville, Idaho county, $18.00.

The highest levy for city purposes per $1,000 valuation in 1930 was $67.90, levied in Dubois, Clark county.

During this period when taxes of all kinds were increasing on every side, three Idaho county seat towns managed to lower their city levies. The city tax in Nez Perce, Lewis county, decreased from $21.50 to $5.00; in Rupert, Minidoka county, from $31 to $13.50; and in Idaho Falls, Bonneville county, the decrease was from $19.00 to $16.50.

County Taxes.

County taxes increased during the period in every county with the exception of Challis, where the levy dropped from $17.30 to $17.00 per $1,00 valuation. The heaviest increase was $17.00 in Oneida county, whose residents paid a county tax of $26.00 in 1930. Other heavy net increases in county taxes were: Coeur d'Alene, Kootenai county, $12.92; Nez Perce, Lewis county, $12.60; and St. Anthony, Fremont county, $11.89. Butte had the highest county levy in the state in 1930, $27.40 per $1,000 valuation. The lowest county tax in 1930 was $7.80 in Lewis county.

The state levy increased in every county without exception during the 17-year period. Largest net increases per $1,000 valuation were: Cassia county, $4.25; Blaine county, $4.10; Blaine county, $4.10; Power county, $4.00; Bonner county, $3.92, and Custer county, $3.80. Highest state tax in 1930 was $7.00, the levy in Benewah county. The lowest state tax for the same year was $4.00, the amount required of property holders in Owyhee county.

Another Good Pinochle Hand.

Tony Norlie, veteran pinochle fan and player, found himself to be the possessor of a real pinochle hand at the Pastime last week. While playing with Ernest Peterson and Ronald Geltz he was dealth all the spades in a deck, netting him a meld of 1520. This hand, while not exceeding the hand recently dealt to Ole Flamoe, is rather unusual as there were twelve trump compared to 10 which Mr. Flamoe held, which consisted of 1500 in trump and 100 in aces. The hand was not played to determine its strength.

It may also be recalled that Ernest Peterson a short time ago, held 1500 in trumps.

GENESEE EXCHANGE BANK CLOSES DOORS VOLUNTARILY

Directors of the Genesee Exchange Bank at a meeting Tuesday evening decided to close the doors of that institution and Wednesday moring telegraphed the state banking department of its action, further business to be suspended until the arrival of an official from the Department of Finance. The closing of the bank was voluntary.

In determining their action the directors said the institution was unable to realize on their loans under existing conditions, and that the closing of the American Bank of Spokane had greatly depleted its cash reserve. The American Bank was the Spokane correspondent and when it closed there was approximately $32,000 held by it belonging to the local institution.

Incorporated August 14, 1897, the Genesee Exchange Bank, was operating as a state bank under Charter No. 5. At the close of business, June 30, this year, the bank listed total deposits of $281,422.46; capital stock, $25,000; surplus, $12,500; reserve and undivided profits, $25,318.65; bills payable, $42,340.55; loans and discounts, $255,885.97, and cash on hand, $17,613.70 including also that due from banks.

There was no information available from directors and officials other than above mentioned, as they are awaiting further action by the Department of Finance.

L. C. Collins, state bank examiner for the northern district, arrived late Wednesday evening from Spirit Lake, and took charge of the bank, and Thursday morning began an examination to determine the condition of the bank. Information as to whether the bank would be reopened or pass into liquidation was not available.

KORTER WILL CONTINUE RACE FOR SENATORSHIP

Dame Rumor, inspired by the political tinklings from the prolific pen of Cato the Censor, special writer for the Boise Statesman, is sincerely on the wrong track, when news began to circulate that Lieut. Governor G. P. Mix would succeed W. L. Korter as the democratic candidate for state senator from Latah county. Mr. Korter, in company with Glen Sanders, democratic county chairman, was in Genesee Wednesday afternoon, and upon being questioned as to his further candidacy for the legislature, emphatically denied that he had withdrawn. "I am in the race until the ballots are counted at least," said the candidate. This statement was corroborated by the county chairman, who stated further that it was not the Lieut. Governor's intention of entering the race, which should make it almost unanimous, both the elected candidate and Mr. Mix having no reasons for following the suggestions from Cato.

Cato the Censor has been fairly accurate in his political predictions regarding both parties in the past, and once his writings are read, people have almost arrived at the conclusion that he knows what is going on behind the scenes. However, Mr. Korter will continue as the democratic candidate for state senator, despite the predictions of Mr. Cato, whoever he may be.

GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING SEPT. 2

Domestic grain markets strengthened during the week ending September 2, influenced by relatively light offerings of wheat and advances in cotton and security markets, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Unfavorable weather for harvesting and threshing in Canada, relatively light shipments from Russia and the southern hemisphere and the firmness at Liverpool were further strengthening influences in wheat. Oats and barley held unchanged. Flax was independently firm as a result of further damage to late-sown fields and an improved crusher demand.

North Hemisphere Harvest

Wheat harvesting is nearing completion in the northern hemisphere. Threshing returns from domestic spring wheat areas indicated smaller outturn than earlier estimates and trade reports at the first of September placed the total crop about 15,000,000 bushels below the August estimate. Harvesting in Canada was interrupted by rain. Most of the wheat has been cut in Manitoba and Saskatchewan but a considerable portion of the crop remains to be harvested in Alberta. Harvesting and threshing is reported to be progressing slowly in Russia.

An outstanding feature in the general wheat market situation this season is the slack European import inquiry for wheat, reflecting the larger supplies in importing areas. World shipments during August were unusually small and totaled only a little over 29,000,000, the smallest August world clearance since 1915. North American shipments during August comprised about 64½ per cent of the world movement as against 40.3 per cent last year, but amounted to only 18,874,000 bushels compared with 23,650,000 bushels in 1931. The southern hemisphere supplied 27.2 per cent of the world's shipments compared to 22 per last season. Argentine shipments during August amounted to 3,085,000 bushels compared with 5,327,000 bushels a year earlier, while Australian clearances totaled only 4,870,000 bushels against 7,567,000 bushels a year ago. Only a very small quantity of wheat moved from Black Sea ports during August, whereas last year August shipments amounted to 18,444,00 bushels, including 17,130,000 bushels of Russian wheat.

Pacific coast markets were steady, but prices failed to follow the advance at eastern points. Harvesting was practically completed in Washington and Oregon but marketings continued very light. Receipts at terminals were largely deliveries on earlier contracts or shipments to terminals for storage. Receipts at Columbia River and Puget Sound terminals totaled 935 cars for the week, or about three-fourths of the number received during the corresponding week last year. In addition to the week last year. In addition to the week's receipts, 20,000 bushels were received at Portland by boat and about 15,000 bushels by truck. The quality of this season's wheat is well below a year ago, with only 21.4 per cent of the August receipts at Portland grading No. 1, compared with 40 per cent last season. Demand was of fair volume but was almost entirely from domestic mills. No export sales of wheat were reported since local prices were still well above the quotations on Canadian and Australian wheat in both the Orient and United Kingdom markets.

California wheat markets held fairly steady with prices mostly unchanged. Trading was of limited volume at both San Francisco and Los Angeles, reflecting the slow demand from mills and industrial buyers. The low prices of feed barley, together with smaller poutry flocks, have reduced the demand for feed wheat this season. This has been reflected in a lighter market movement. Receipts at San Francisco June through August totaled 14,246 tons, compared with 31,147 tons a year ago. Of the August receipts at San Francisco only 3,900 tons were from Washington and Oregon whereas 16,555 tons of northern wheat were received during August last season. Mills were supplying their needs from northern wheat but interior buyers were taking the local or intermountain grain. No. 2 soft wheat from Utah and Idaho was quoted September 2 at $1.07 to $1.10 per 100 in bulk, delivered interior feeding centers. Local wheat was quoted at $1.00 for No. 1 hard of soft white at Sacramento valley points.

HIGH SCHOOL INTRAMURAL PROGRAM BEING ARRANGED

Now that school has reopened there will be a series of contests in the high school between the classes, with the idea in view of putting the highest honors for athletics, scholastic and dramatic ability to the credit of the respective classes. This program will include fall activities of horseshoes, touchpass, football and basketball free throw. During the winter there will be football and volleyball contests, and a one-act play will probably be presented by each class at some time. In the spring the sports will include baseball and track with playground baseball likely for the girls.

The object of this program is to extend good, wholesome sports to many not on school teams and to, in part make up for what appears to be a limited amount of interscholastic sports due to expenses of maintaining teams.

The winners of first position in each event will earn 100 points for their class; the second place wins 75 points, third place 50 points and fourth 25 points. At the close of each nine weeks or two-week period the total points will determine the winning class for that period and will give them the right to display their banner for the next period. At the close of the year the winning class will be awarded by having their names engraved upon a panel to be left in the award cabniet.

The student athletic managers will manage the events under the auspices of the faculty and at the close of each event the managerial committee will vote the best sports and their class will receive an extra 10 points for sportsmanship. Two evenings a week, from 3 to 3:45 will be devoted to this plan.

Football Prospects.

With regular practices just starting it is uncertain as to the football strength the high school will have this season. The team is going to be snappy and fast but light. Experience in a signal barker is lacking and a man to fill the fullback hole left by the graduation of George Blume is the main worry. The team will have to resort to fast open running and passing plays, it seems. If the team can cut down enough front wall men to get the fast backs into the open the ball is bound to advance, and we are counting on speed to win our ball games, Caoch Parks said.

Many of the schools are not having football this year due to the depression and games are going to be hard to obtain.

As the lineup stands we have but one home game the coach said. Pomeroy will be here on October 21 with a possibility of Potlatch and Orofino.

Some new but inexperienced, although fast and determined men are turning out and the older men have put on weight. Leonard Flamoe, G. Smylie, Cliff Herman, Wayne Roach, Ralph and Robert Broemmeling, Bertie Wishard, Ted Wagner, Chas. Hasfurther and John Klemm are experienced men from which much is being expected. The new men will round into shape soon, it is expected.

Seventh and Eighth Grades.

New pupils who have enrolled in the seventh and eighth grades are: Nadene Smolt, Rachael Broemmeling, Evelyn Broemmeling, Evelyn Taber and Ruth Willows.

New High School Students

New students who have enrolled in high school are: Maxine Chapman, Jim Willows, Dale Gilson and Della Maynard.

BYRON DEFENBACH TO SPEAK AT COZY THEATRE MONDAY

While plans are not as yet complete for the visit here Monday of Byron Defenbach, republican candidate for governor Idaho, it has been definitely decided that he will speak at the Cozy theatre at 8:30 Monday evening.

Mr. Defenbach has started on his campaign and is making speeches in several other towns in central Idaho and the Panhandle while on his present trip. The candidate is well known in this community, having lived in Lewiston for a number of years before becoming state treasurer when he changed his residence temporarily to Boise.

It is not known who will accompany the candidate when he visits in Genesee Monday. He is a forceful and interesting speaker and everyone is invited to attend.

City Council Meets.

At the regular meeting of the City Council Monday evening it was decided to begin as soon as possible on the construction of a new lining for the water reservoir, committees having been appointed to ascertain the costs, the proper thickness of the concrete walls and the proper mixtures and amount of reinforcement required.

The council after allowing current bills also met to fix the levy for the coming fiscal year. The number of mills levied remains the same, but a substantial reduction has been made in the valuations.

SENATOR BORAH ENDORSES SENATOR THOMAS OF IDAHO

In a recent speech at Grangeville, recently before a chamber of commerce meeting, Senator William E. Borah, set the minds of people at rest on the point whether or not he would speak for Senator John Thomas in the forthcoming election, by making a very strong speech for the junior senator. He said:

"I do not believe that in my time in the United States senate that any man has come to the senate who in such a short time has been so successful in winning the confidence and respect of his colleagues as Senator John Thomas of Idaho. He achieved the most unusual thing in being chosen to membership on the powerful finance committee when ordinarily four or five years elapse before any senator may hope to reach such a distinction. He was chosen for this responsible position because he immediately won the confidence of his colleagues by his ability and his keen grasp of the affairs of his state and nation. He has maintained that standard.

"I am greatly pleased to serve with Senator Thomas because I have absolute confidence in his ability and integrity. It is a comfort also to work with him because I know that he has a close contact and knowledge of the state's affairs and I know that the state's interests are being carefully looked after and I can devote my time to other matters.

"I am greatly interested in the re-election of my colleague and I wish to assure the people of the state of Idaho that if and when Senator Thomas is returned to the senate that during the next six years he will achieve such a distinction and place in that body that even the democrats will be glad they voted for him."

Senator Borah made no other speech except the one in favor of Senator Thomas.

OPTIMISTIC AS TO FUTURE OF SEED PEA INDUSTRY

Spokane.—Joe Zeb, manager of the Moscow Seed company has purchased for $29,000 the seed pea crop grown on 785 acres by William Boyd, Pullman. This is said to be the largest cash seed pea deal closed in that district with one grower in the last three years.

The cost of growing the peas is reported to be $8,000, leaving a profit of $21,000 on the crop. Mr. Boyd farms 1500 to 1600 acres and rotates wheat and peas instead of letting the land lie fallow.

Mr. Zeb said, "Harvesting of the pea crop of the Inland Empire will be completed next week. The yield has been fairly satisfactory. I would say 90 per cent of last year, but the quality is exceptional and the crop has been harvested without any losses. The demand for peas is much better than last year and the commercial varieties used for splitting are commanding $2.25 per 100 pounds, while last spring the price was around $1.25. I think that about everybody who grew peas did well this year and most of them made money. I am more optimistic as to the future of the pea-growing business than ever before."

No Masonic Grand Lodge.

Owing to the closing of the First National Bank at Boise Masonic grand lodge will not be held in Moscow this year. Funds with which to pay mileage and per diem expenses of delegates have been tied up temporarily, and by the decision of the grand master, Percy Jones, of Blackfoot, Idaho, and the trustees, it was decided to hold sessions in Boise, to transact business with the various lodges paying expenses of delegates.

Masonic grand lodge was to have been held in Moscow three days, beginning September 12.

BOOSTERS WIN SPOKANE BASEBALL TOURNAMENT

Winners of first, second, third and fourth places in the Spokane tournament were: Boosters, Smith's, Lewiston and Buicks, respectively, Genesee and Coeur d'Alene being eliminated.

Playing in the second game of the tournament, Genesee was matched against Sad Slim Smith's Washington-Idaho league entry, and although the score was very much one-sided, 16 to 3, the local club scored two earned runs and Smith's four, the other 12 Smith scores being accounted for in errors. Disbanding shortly after the Fourth of July, the Genesee club showed a decided lack of practice and coordination, not to mention the lack of experience and knowledge of playing on a grass infield. The Genesee entry, however, played some good baseball in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth innings. Tilden started off by striking out the first two batsmen to face him and Fox threw out the third man on an attempted steal. In the second inning he allowed two hits, struck out the third man and following a third hit errors became numerous, resulting in five runs. The third inning was even worse, three hits combining with errors and a walk for six more runs. The ninth inning rally started after two men were out, errors again being responsible for the runs scored.

Genesee did not look so bad in their turn in the second inning after E. Blume went to first on an error to score on C. Gray's double. Eller connected also for a two-bagger to score Gray. Fox drove one down to second but the ball was taken before it touched the grounder and Eller was out as he came in on the play.

Stage fright in the opening innings too, was a determining factor in favor of the Smith club. Two Genesee players were unable to make the trip which necessitated a change at the third base position, E. Blume being given this assignment, later being changed to the shortstop position. He had considerable difficulty in playing ground balls off the grass and as with several other players there was an apparent bewilderment when they took their positions on the field. Olsen, playing right field, had a bad day and Fox had his difficulties behind the bat; Magnuson tried to knock Percy Obrien's left hand off and the hard hitters on the Smith club made several balls hard to handle, 13 errors in all, contributing to Genesee's downfall.

Sunday's attendance at Natatorium park was not large, but it was impartial, doing a lot of razzing, however on the misplays.

Genesee was given the privileges of a visiting club and took the field after a too brief warming up. Had the players taken advantage of practice in the morning before the game they perhaps would have become better acquainted with the grounds. Then too, it was not known until the last minute where the men could be placed.

First inning: Tilden fanned Skadden and Peterson, Magnuson was safe on E. Blume's error at third, but on an attempted steal Fox threw to Eller, getting Magnuson at second. Genesee: Olsen was out, third to first; Obrien hit but G. Blume and Frost struck out.

Second inning: Hawkins hit for two bases, Woods duplicating the feat to score Hawkins; Buckley was struck out; Guter singled to score Buckley; Miller was safe on an error by E. Blume; Spiesman was safe on an error by G. Blume; Skadden was safe on an error by Eller, Guter and Miller scoring; Peterson was walked and Magnuson hit to score Spiesman; Hawkins flew out to Obrien in center. Genesee: E. Blume was safe on an error at third; C. Gray hit for two bases to score Blume and Eller connected for two bases also to score Gray; Fox hit into a double that looked like another score, the play being in the air second to third. Tilden struck out.

Third inning: Woods hit for two bases; Buckley was safe on an error at short; Guter's fly ball was dropped by Olson, Woods scoring; Buckley came in on an error by Fox; Miller was walked and Spiesman hit to score Guter; Skadden was out, Blume to first; Peterson hit to score Miller and Spiesman; Magnuson struck at three of Tilden's fast balls; Hawkins was safe on an error at first; Peterson scoring on the misplay; Woods was walked and Buckley forced Woods, Eller to Gray. Genesee: Olsen and Obrien fanned and G. Blume was out, short to first.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1932.

GENESEE VALLEY NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Skelton and son, Jimmie, and S. M. Tiedemann, all of Reubens, spent Sunday at the Joe Anderson home. Mrs. Gotsch, who has been staying at Anderson's this summer, went as far as Spokane with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Flamoe visited Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eikum.

Mrs. Annie Danielson and Clarence motored to Pullman Sunday and visited at the Charlie Ingle home.

The following left last week for their respective schools where they will tach the coming term: Ella Hove went to Fairview, Mont., to teach in the high school; Sylvia Johnson went to Orofino; Helen Flamoe will teach near Deary and Myrtle Larson will teach at East Cove, near Potlatch.

Mrs. Tegland and Rodney and Connie moved to Moscow this week where the children will attend school this winter. Connie will resume her studies at the University and Rodney enters high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Flamoe motored to Lewiston Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Danielson and Einar Johnson spent Sunday afternoon in Lewiston.

Mrs. R. E. Nordby spent several days in Spokane this week visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. John Bech and children, Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Loyd, all of Spokane, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Lande Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lange and Margery Davidson returned from Spokane Tuesday after spending the week end there.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Borgen and family visited Sunday at H. Isaksen's.

Visitors at Flamoe's Friday afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. John Eikum and family, Evelyn Flamoe, Mrs. Oscar Danielson, Mrs. R. E. Nordby, Mrs. B. Baumgartner and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson of Troy.

American Legion Nominates.

At the meetig of the local post of American Legion nominations were made for the coming election at the next meeting. Nominations were as follows: Post commander, Dale Lamphier, Wilson Archibald and W. H. Mervyn; post adjutant, John Dauherty and Dale Lamphier; first vice commander, O. V. Johnson; second vice commander, T. H. Herman; finance officer, Vern Beckman; chaplain, Fred Hove; sergeant-at-arms, Mahlon Pollett.

Action was also taken to begin repairs to the roof, and a number of men will report at the hall Sunday morning to lower the north end of the roof and on following days another detail will work on soldering the seams where leaks have developed.

Error on Warehouse Rates

In their announcement of two weeks ago the Public Utilities commission stated that the handling charges for grain should be 75 cents per ton. However, the commission notified the local warehouses in the Craigmont territory that this was an error and that the charge would remain at $1.00 per ton. They cut the figure this year from $1.26 to $1.00.—Craigmont Register.

Lester Olson to California.

Lester Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Olson, left Friday for Cashmere, Washington, to visit friends until Tuesday morning, when he accompanied a Mr. Lee to Los Angeles, where he will attend the University of California Los Angeles, and live with his grandmother, Mrs. Hovland.

He attended the university the semester which closed last spring, and came home for the summer months.

FORMER GENESEE PIONEER PASSES AWAY AT LEWISTON

C. A. Christenson, 84, a pioneer of the Genesee community and of later year a resident of Moscow, Idaho, passed away Monday morning at the White hospital in Lewiston, after a lingering illness due to advanced age.

The deceased is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Johanna Christenson of Genesee and an uncle of Mrs. Fred Shirrod.

Mr. Christenson was born in April, 1848, in Norway and when a boy of six he came with his parents to the United States. In the winter of 1884 Mr. and Mrs. Christenson moved to Moscow where they resided for many years before moving to Palouse and later to Clarkston. Mrs. Christenson died about four years ago.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Short chapel with interment in Moscow cemetery.

Attending the funeral from Genesee were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shirrod, Mrs. Johanna Christenson; from Lewiston, Mrs. Rose White and Mr. and Mrs. A. Langdon. Mr. and Mrs. Emil Miller of Harrison, Idaho, motored to Moscow for the services and are now visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shirrod.

CONSOLIDATE TWO WEEKLY NEZ PERCE COUNTY PAPERS

J. W. Curtis and sons, Marshall and Carroll, who recently purchased the Lewiston Banner, have changed the name of that publication to the Lewiston News, and they are now publishing the only weekly newspaper in Nez Perce county, having also purchased the Culdesac Enterprise of J. C. Bulen. Mr. and Mrs. Bulen have published the Culdesac Enterprise for more than 20 years.

Under new management, the Lewiston paper will have a special department devoted to news and advertising of Culdesac and community.

Mr. Bulen has seen many years as a printer and publisher, and it is due to impaired health that he and his wife are retiring from the arduous work of publishing a newspaper.

W. T. MARINEAU TO PUBLISH NEWSPAPER AT PIERCE CITY

Pierce City, scene of early gold mining activities, is again reviving and will have a newspaper, to be published by W. T. Marineau of Elk River. The date of the first publication has not been definitely announced as equipment must be moved to Pierce. The new publication will be housed in the hotel building, and will serve the Pierce City and Weippe sections. Mr. Marineau will also continue the publication of the Elk River News.

View the Pacific Fleet.

Uniontown Journal: Mrs. C. D. Carlson and sons, Jack and Clifford, accompanied by the Misses Eva and Ethel Qunley, returned the first of last week from Seattle where they attended the ceremonies staged yearly when the Pacific coast fleet makes its visit to the coast metropolis. The occasion proved an enjoyable one for all and especially to Mrs. Carlson and the boys who enjoyed a visit with Edgar Carlson who is now on board the U. S. S. Nevada. The visitors, under Edgar's guidance, had the pleasure of making a thorough inspection of the big warship.

Auxiliary Notice.

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held Friday afternoon, September 9 with Mrs. O. V. Johnson, Mrs. John Liberg and Mrs. Martin Liberg as hostesses.

One of 12 Babies Die.

Boise.—Within the first year, death takes one of every 12 babies born in Idaho, a report by Miss Retta Martin, state director of vital statistics, says.

The report covered the first six months of this year during which there were 4,775 live births, of which 293 died within the first year, and 116 wer born dead.

Of those dying, eight succumbed to infectious diseases, 44 to respiratory diseases, 43 to malformations, 71 from premature birth and seven from injuries at birth.

Deaths under one year were within one of the same period of 1931, which was 292. The number of births in 1931 was 5,143, ,and in 1930 it was 5,049.

Will Driscoll of Wallula, Ore., son of Mike Driscoll, formerly of Genesee, visited in the Cunningham home over the week end.

J. H. BROEMMELING NEW MEMBER SCHOOL BOARD

There was no contest this year for membership on the school board, only two names being filed for the vacancies caused by the expiration of the three-year terms of Walter Emerson and D. W. Aherin. The names filed for election were those of J. H. Broemmeling and Walter Emerson. The total vote cast was 32, three of which were cast for persons other than those appearing on the ballot.

Officials for election were: R. E. Emmett, Mrs. L. C. Hayden and Mrs. Ernest Reisemer.

Large Crowd at Wahl Sale.

Fine weather was an inducement for many people to attend the public sale at the Mary Wahl ranch last Friday when Ed Wahl disposed of his personal property, preparatory to moving to some town where his children may attend school.

Prices for machinery and the numerous tools, etc., found on a farm, brought fair to good prices, but livestock prices were low. The top price for milk cows was around $35.00 a head. Calves were the best sellers of the day, the few offered bringing a top of $14. Horses, while showing age, brought $32 a head as top.

JOBLESS IN EDMONTON GOING BACK TO LAND

Edmonton, Alta.—Edmonton is the first of the Alberta cities to take action under the new land settlement plan whereby selected families will be taken off ordinary city relief and placed on farms. Already 33 applications under the "back to the land" plan have been referred to the provincial committee by the Edmonton officials. In each case the head of these families receiving relief are men who hold land and, with assistance, will remove to these farms, and will settle down there.

It was decided that assistance would only be given to married men with families who had practical farming experience and who have homesteads or other lands on which they could take up residence immediately. Under this land settlement scheme the total grant to each family will be $600, of which $500 is the maximum for the first year, holding back $100 for sustenance purposes in the second year. Of this amount the federal, provincial and municipal governments will each pay one-third.—Christian Science Monitor.

Rev. Beach Performs Ceremony.

J. S. Hogue, 81, and Mrs. Claudia Judd, 66, of Orofino, were married at the Christian church in Clarkston recently in the presence of Rev. A. B. Kern and Mrs. Hattie C. Beach, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. N. E. Beach of Genesee, pastor of the Christian churches at Lewiston and Genesee.

The bride and groom are both pioneers of the Orofino secion, Mr. Hogue's residence dating back to early reservation days when he operated a small Indian trading store near Alsahka, later purchasing land in the Gilbert country for farming purposes. He also conducted a real estate and insurance business in Orofino. Mrs. Judd was a former resident of the Fraser section where her husband, before his death several years ago, was farming.

Mr. Hogue had celebrated his golden wedding anniversary a few years ago with his first wife, who died about two years ago.—Orofino Tribune.

Fourth inning: Guter hit for three bases and then Frost relieved Tilden, walking Miller; Spiesman flew out to Gray; Skadden's fly to right field was not handled, Guter scoring, Olsen making the throw to second to catch Skadden; Peterson was safe on an error in right field and Magnuson was out, Gray to E. Blume at first. Genesee: Frost flew out to third; E. Blume was thrown out at first; C. Gray hit, took second on a wild pitch and in attempting to score on Eller's single, was caught at the plate, the throw being made from left field.

Fifth inning: Eller took Hawkin's fly ball; Woods was out, Eller to first and Buckley went out in the same manner. Genesee: Fox was out, second to first; Emmett, who replaced Tilden in the batting order, was safe on an error at short; Olsen hit for two bases; Obrien flew out to second and G. Blume fanned.

Sixth inning: Obrien, who was assigned to third, took Guter's stinging grounder to throw him out at first; Miller was out, Eller to first; Spiesman sent a long fly to the fence, and stopped at second when Emmett took the ball as it bounced off the top of the wooden enclosure; Skadden was struck out by Frost. Genesee: Frost fouled out to the catcher; Geltz, who replaced E. Blume in the lineup, was safe at first when the ball went thru Peterson untouched; Gray was safe as he forced Geltz at second and Eller hit into a double play.

Seventh inning: Geltz took Peterson's outfield fly; Magnuson was safe on an error by Obrien; Hawkins was out, catcher to first and Woods struck out, Magnuson attempting to steal home on the pitch, but he too was caught at the plate. Genesee: Fox flew out to third; Emmett flew out to left field and Olsen flew out to short.

Eighth inning: Buckley was out, Eller to G. Blume; Guter was out, C. Gray to Blume and Miller flew out to Eller at short. Genesee: Percy Obrien sent Woods back for a long fly and he took it; G. Blume singled but was forced by Frost; Geltz flew out to second.

Ninth inning: Spiesman hit to left field and advanced to third on Skadden's single to right field; Peterson struck out; Magnuson grounded to Gray who threw nicely to the plate to head off Spiesman; Hawkins singled to score Skadden; Woods was safe at second on an error in right field, Magnuson and Hawkins scoring; Buckley hit safely to score Woods but in stretching his hit Buckley was out between first and second, the play being, G. Blume to Frost. Genesee: C. Gray hit for the third time, advanced on a balk and scored on Eller's two-base hit; Fox hit but Eller failed to touch third base, Emmett was out, pitcher to first.

Lose to Buicks

Owing to two clubs dropping out of the tournament, it was necessary for the two losing clubs Sunday to play Monday to decide the winner of fourth place. Lewiston played an exceptionally good game Sunday, winning from the Buick entry, which paired Buick with Genesee, the former winning 19 to 0.

Play at Coeur dAlene

As soon as the game was finished Monday afternoon, the Genesee aggregation went to Coeur d'Alene to meet the Independents of that city, but again the Genesee club was turned back 12 to 5.

Wm. Gray Ill.

Wm. Gray was taken ill late last week with what was thought to be influenza and as his condition became serious, it is thought that he suffered a heart stroke. A nurse has been in attention, and doctor's reports are that he is resting easier. His condition was serious Saturday night.

No. 1 hard white was quoted at San Francisco at $1.12 to $1.15 and No. 1 soft white at $1.10 to $1.12. No. 2 soft white from Washington and Oregon was quoted at $1.05 to $1.07 and No. 1 B. B. bluestem hard white at $1.15 to $1.17.

World Wheat Markets

Lack of selling pressure from exporting areas was a strengthening influence in world wheat markets during the week. Canadian wheat was offered freely but offerings from Argentina and Russia were light. Marketings of new crop wheat were also reported quite liberal in Germany and France. Prices of native wheat in Paris declined about 6 cents per bushel, while wheat at Hamburg advanced about 1 cent per bushel and at Genoa about 6 cents per bushel.

Canadian wheat at Winnipeg advanced about a half cent per bushel under the influence of smaller country marketings and No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted in that market September 2 at 54 7-8 cents which is equivalent to 49 1-8 cents in U. S. currency. No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Vancouver at 56¼c or 50 3-8c in American currency.

Barley Markets

Domestic barley markets were quiet during the week ending September 1, but prices were steady to some higher under the influence of a firm holding tendency among growers. The foreign barley markets continued dull, although British inquiry for California barley was slightly more active.

California barley markets continued quiet. Prices at San Francisco were steady although demand was dull for both malting and feeding grades. Offerings from interior points were light and local consumption of feeding grades continued heavy with extensive substitution for other feed grains and feedstuffs. Prices for feeding grades at interior points were relatively higher than at terminals. Dealers and industries in the Bay Region and Petaluma area were mostly working on stocks accumulated earlier in the season. Export inquiry was very light and sales during the week were limited to a few small lots including a small tonnage of Superior to Standard Malting types at prices practically the same as for local No. 1 feed barley.

CALL FOR BIDS.

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Commissioners of Highway District No. 1, Genesee, Idaho on or before September 30, 1932, by the clerk, or commissioners, for the construction of:

Two concrete bridges, No. 1 to be constructed in the Thorncreek section and No. 2 to be constructed on what is known as the Kluss road, both in Highway District No. 1, Latah County, Idaho.

Specifications are on file with the clerk or may be obtained from the commissioners, I. E. Snow, William Schlueter, O. M. Anderson.

Bids to be opened October 1, 1932 at 2 o'clock p. m., at the office of the clerk, Genesee, Idaho.

Soft Soap and Shoe Strings.

Word comes from Tyre C. Taylor, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, that soap wrapped in red, white and blue wrappers will be sold throughout the United States for 10 cents a bar to swell the democratic treasury funds. Now republican leaders are asking, "Is this more soft-soap from the democrats?" while drys declare it is about as near as either major party will come to bringing back the "bar." On each bar of soap will be found the words, "Democratic soap—let's clean up America." Will it work the republicans up into soft lather, or—will the republicans retaliate with sales of red, white and blue shoe strings labeled: "Republican shoe strings—better tie up with us?" At any rate the big show is on and who knows but that while we are absorbed in and mesmerized with the antics of the star performers that long lost prodigal "Prosperity" will come sneaking home without even inquiring about a fatted calf—let alone a jackass or an elephant.—Pathfinder.

BURGAN'S TO WITHDRAW ITS STORE FROM GENESEE SOON

Elmer Helm, manager of Burgan's Store No. 27, said Thursday afternoon that the company had decided to withdraw its store from Genesee, and would move the stock to other stores of the system.

Loyalty to home-owned stores has undoubtedly been the reason for the reduced earnings of the Burgan store and incidently its removal.

Long Distance.

Albert D. Lasker's pet story of the week is about the colored maid in the home of a friend who answered an imperative ring of the telephone.

"Yas'm," her mistress heard her say. And a second time:

"Yas'm." Then she added:

"It sho is," and hung up.

The telephone rang again immediately and the girl made identically the same replies, then disconnected.

"What kind of a conversation was that, Lucy?" she asked. "What did they want?"

"Well, they asked if this was the Blank house and I said yas'm, and then they asked if Mrs. Blank was home and I told 'em yas,' 'the girl answered. "Then they said, 'Long distance from Washington,' and I said 'it sho was'."—Chicago News.

THE GENESEE NEWS

SECOND FARM-TO-MARKET ROAD REPORT FAVORABLE

Authoritative information was received by telephone from Lewiston Wednesday morning by Ed Smolt that Farm-to-Market Road Project No. 3 has been approved and a survey will be made immediately. This project is a four-mile stretch beginning near the Iverson ranch north of Genesee and connecting with the Troy road.

Project No. 1 comprising approximately one and three-quarters miles in the Genesee Highway district, beginning near the James Magee ranch and connecting with the Lenville road, has already been approved and the survey is about complete. This project also includes a stretch of about two and a half miles in Good Roads district No. 3, for which funds in the amount of $11,500 have been allocated by the Department of Public Works, and designated as a Farm-to-Market Road, the same as the more northern project. It is understood that approximately $5,000 has been asked to construct Project No. 3.

Boise, Sept. 13.—Governor C. Ben Ross was advised by telephone from Washington, D. C., today that Idaho could expect no more than the $300,000 already allotted for unemployment relief before January 1. Pierce Williams, representative of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, advised the governor that this money could be used only on necessary projects. Governor Ross replied that local units receiving the money would be required to match it on at least a 50-50 basis.

The above Boise dispatch, according to information at hand Wednesday does not, however, apply to the local farm-to-market projects, as the funds to be used for construction in this vicinity would be forthcoming from savings made in state highway

"Project No. 3 has been approved and the work will be done," are the words emanating from Boise Wednesday, Mr. Smolt said Wednesday.

Preparatory to beginning work on the two local projects, the matter of employment is becoming a perplexing problem as there are so many who have made applications, both for labor and team hire. The suggestion has been made locally that the federal plan of employment be followed out on the two contemplated projects, which would place the employment of men on a non-partisan basis. While tentative plans can only be related at the present, each worker will be limited to 30 hours each week. The wage scale is also indefinite and will necessarily have to be outlined and defined when the work is actually started.

COMBINE FLAX FOR FIRST TIME IN PALOUSE SECTION

Flax is a crop that can be easily combined in the Palouse country, as evidenced by the threshing operations the past two weeks by Herbert Martinson north of Genesee, and Peter Isaksen, east of town. Some trouble was anticipated in the two machines not being tight enough to successfully handle flax without loss. No difficulty was experienced however, and the machines did a very good job. Some flax went over into the straw, noticeable on close examination, but this is a problem that also confronts the stationery machine operator when the crop is threshed while the weather remained warm. Sieves, screens and cylinders were altered of course, but the machines otherwise were operated the same as for combining wheat. The sack sewers perhaps experienced more difficulty than any of the combine crews, as they found flax an elusive grain to handle. Plenty of time was permitted the sewers as the yield of flax rarely exceeds fifteen bushels per acre wherever grown. No returns on the two fields have been announced but it is reasonably certain that the average will be close to 12 bushels to the acre.

This commodity is usually in demand on the coast only in the spring when the few crushers are operating. Wm. Gray also had a field of flax which he successfully combined.

Services at Congregational Church.

Rev. F. William Westwood, who recently accepted the pastorate of the Congregational church at Lewiston, will deliver a sermon at the Congregational church in Genesee Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The topic of his sermon will be "The Testimony of Steven." This is the second visit to the Genesee church by Rev. Westwood, and a good attendance is expected Sunday evening.

MAINE GOES DEMOCRATIC.

Jubilation reigned in democratic circles Tuesday on the day of the Maine election, and on Wednesday when election returns from that state confirmed the results. The democrats in a normally republican state, elected a governor and two members of congress. Republican forces, however, predict that Hoover will carry that state in November. James A. Farley, democratic national chairman, at New York made a different prediction nevertheless, saying, "As Maine goes, so goes the ball game."

COMPLETE EXAMINATION OF EXCHANGE BANK THIS WEEK

L. C. Collins, state bank examiner, in charge at the present of the Genesee Exhange Bank, expects to complete his examination and record of assets and liabilities of the closed institution by Saturday of this week. Following the examination and presentation of records to the state banking department, Mr. Collins will turn the affairs over to a liquidator appointed by the department. In the meantime there is some talk of reorganization, but this will not be definitely decided until the condition of the Exhange Bank is determined.

Otto F. Algier, Spokane, representative of the Reconstruction Finance corporation was at the bank Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to meet with those who had borrowed money from the Exchange Bank, and whose paper is now in the hands of the Finance corporation. He will return Saturday, it was announced to meet the few who failed to see him while here the first three days of this week.

FRESHMAN REGISTRATION WEEK AT U. OF I. SEPT. 19

University of Idaho—With the announcement of the program for registration and freshman week, September 19 to 24, all arrangements have been completed for the opening of the 1932-33 college year at the University of Idaho. Opening of the university this year marks the 40th anniversary of the institution and appropriate ceremonies are being planned for October 12, the date the first students registered in 1892.

The enrollment outlook for the university is very favorable, the number of permits to register filed up to the end of the first week of the month being only slightly under the number for the same period last year. President M. G. Neale believes that the university will open with a registration practically equal to that of a year ago.

Faculty turn-over has been the lowest this year in the history of the university and the staff for the coming year will be virtually the same as that of last year. No major posts were affected by resignations. In filling vacancies the university adopted the policy of filling only the positions absolutely essential to the efficient conduct of the institution.

Many old students already are back on the campus. The southern Idaho student special, leaving Pocatello Saturday mornig, September 17, and arriving at Moscow the following morning, is expected to bring between 100 and 200 students from that part of the state.

Monday and Tuesday, September 18 and 19, will be devoted to registering new students. The first freshman assembly will be held Monday afternoon, at which time the new students will be given pointers on university life. During the first two days freshmen will take English and psychology tests and confer with faculty members of the various divisions. Two additional freshmen assemblies will be held Wednesday. The annual freshman-faculty reception is scheduled for Wednesday evening.

Old students register September 20 and 21. All university classes begin Thursday, September 22. The first general assembly will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Genesee Valley Church.

There will be services Supday at 9:30. Rev. Swenson of Moscow will bring the message.

Sunday school at 10:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the Parish hall, Thursday, September 22. Mrs. Annie Danielson will be hostess.

Clarence Doyle To Teach.

Clarence Doyle, a graduate of the University of Idaho, last spring, has been elected to teach in the high school at Garden Valley, Idaho. He left Tuesday to accept the position.

HIGH SCHOOL ENROLLMENT SHOWS INCREASE OF THREE

At the opening of the second week of school an increase of three is noted in high school enrollment, and a decided increase in the number of students registering for orchestra work under the supervision of Mrs. Arvilla Harris. Those already engaged in orchestra practice are: Violins, Gretchen Reisemer, Emma Vanouck, Thomas Sanford, Alfred Isaksen, Floyd Hove, Beverly Manring, Barbara Huffman, Beuletta Nordby and Margaret Springer; clarinets, Don Springer and Ralph Broemmeling; trombones, Robert Broemmeling, Floyd Heppner and Harold Suenkel; piano, Kathryn Baumgartner; trumpets, Arvin Nordby, Teddy Wagner and Paul Osmundson; saxophone, Glenn Mayer; baritone, Grant Loncosty; cello, Betty Lou Burr; bass, Ray Burquist. There are several who have recently acquired new instruments and will soon join the others.

Grade School News

In Miss Dwyer's room the number of pupils has increased from 27 to 33. In the grades taught by Miss Rondeau the number of pupils show a decrease, there being 15 this year, compared to 23 last year. A decrease is also noted in the grades taught by Miss Nelson. She is teaching 12 this term, compared to 17 last year. In Mrs. Harris' room there has been a decided increase, 27 this year as against 17 last year.

First Grade.

Everyone seems to have had a pleasant vacation and are now ready for work. Our poster study this week has the following motto, "Be prompt to class." We made teddy bear clocks today, which shows the hour we assemble to our room every morning.

We have also learned a poem:

Early to bed,
Early to rise

Healthy, wealthy and wise.

This was correlated with our clock study.

FOUR CHILDREN ARE TAKEN TO THE HOME AT LEWISTON

Rudolph E. Nordby, chairman of the board of county commissioners, and Mrs. Nordby and daughters accompanied four children to the Lewiston Children's Home Tuesday evening. The children, all boys range in age from 6 to 13, two from Moscow and two from Potlatch. Only the mother of the two Moscow boys is living, the father having died. There are two other children in this family which the mother will endeavor to keep herself. In the Potlatch family the mother is dead, and the father, unemployed for a long time, requested, as did the mother from Moscow, that the children be given the advantages offered at the children's home.

Mr. Nordby related the incident of placing the children in the home as pathetic for two of the boys dreaded leaving what was called home. Conditions at the Home are excellent Mr. Nordby said and the boys will be well taken care of until such a time as they can be placed in private homes. The children enter the Lewiston Home Finding institution on a special quarterly payment plan. There are now ten Latah county children at Lewiston, and the institution is supported largely by contributions from individuals and societies in northern Idaho.

HARVESTED BEAN CROP IS DAMAGED BY HIGH WINDS

High winds of Friday and Saturday were eclipsed by the blow that came Sunday, severely damaging the bean crops on the Isaac Isaksen and James Cameron ranches east of Genesee. At the Isaksen place 150 acres of beans were mostly cut Saturday night, a large portion was already in shocks and some remained in windrows, with a few acres remaining uncut. The greatest damage by wind was to the crop already in the shock. They were rolled and tumbled about the ground with considerable loss by shelling, and an additional loss will be suffered when they are picked up for threshing. Beans in windrows were not damaged to any extent, but each time they are moved a loss results.

It will be remembered that last year a high wind from the north swept a considerable portion of the Isaksen crop into an adjacent canyon. It will also be remembered that the crop was of two colors, red and white beans, and when the crop was salvaged the recovery was a perplexing problem of sorting.

CANADIAN WHEAT SALES WEAKENS DOMESTIC PRICE

Domestic wheat markets lost most of their earlier gains during the week ending September 9, influenced by a weakness in Canadian markets as a result of heavy country marketings, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Sharply lower cotton prices towards the close of the week and some recession in security markets were also weakening factors. Prospects of an early harvest, with a continued dull demand for current offerings, lowered corn prices at most points. Flax held steady under fairly active crusher buying and further reductions in estimates of the crop.

North American Crop All In.

With wheat harvesting practically completed in the northern hemisphere prospective wheat supplies for the current season are now more definitely known. World wheat supplies this season appear about as large as those of a year ago. The smaller world stocks of old wheat and the decrease in crop outturns in the U. S., Russia, the Lower Danubian countries, North Africa and Asiatic countries, are largely offset by important increases in Canada and the deficit countries of Europe, together with prospective larger crops in the southern hemisphere countries where acreages have been increased and prospects are better than a year ago. In addition to the available wheat supplies, large rye crops of good quality have been harvested in northern and western Europe, where rye is an important bread grain. Good corn crops are in prospect in southern Europe and in the countries of the Lower Danube where corn is an important human food and largely offsets the wheat shortage in these areas.

North American wheat supplies are slightly larger than last season. Larger supplies in Canada where official estimates place the crop at 467,000,000 bushels as against 304 million bushels last season, more than counterbalancing the reduction of around 136,000,000 bushels in the U. S. supplies. The September 1 estimate placed the U. S. crop at 715,000,000 bushels compared with 894,000,000 bushels in 1931, with a decrease of 347,000,000 bushels in winter wheat only about half offset by an increase of around 170,000,000 bushels in spring wheat.

European Crop Increases

The European wheat crop is larger than last season and generally of good quality in most important producing areas. Estimates and forecasts of production in 25 European countries which last year produced 99 per cent of the European crop, exclusive of Russia, indicate an outturn of 1,480,000,000 bushels compared with 1,431,000,000 bushels last season. It is significant that harvests of practically every country of western and southern Europe are larger than those of a year ago. The quality of the crops in these countries are generally good with injury to the Italian crop much less serious than earlier reports indicated.

Wheat crops in the Lower Danubian countries are aroung 110,000,000 bushels under those of last season with only about 30,000,000 bushels available for export, according to the U. S. Agricultural commissioner. Harvesting in this area was completed about the middle of August but threshing was delayed by rains and marketings did not begin until about the first of September. The quality of this year's crop is generally low with a large percentage unfit for milling. High grade wheat was harvested in a number of small sections but such wheat represents a relatively small proportion of the crop and will probably be used mostly for seeder export.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific coast markets were also weak and lower, reflecting the lack of export outlet and limited domestic demand for the local wheat. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals were of moderate volume, totaling 837 cars for the week but consisted principally of consignment for storage or deliveries on earlier contracts.

VAUDEVILLE AT COZY.

Sunday night five big time vaudeville acts will presented. The advertisement on another page says the talent is direct from the Fox theatre at Spokane, comprising artists from the Orpheum and Fanchon & Marco circuits. There will also be a movie, with John Mack Brown in "Flames."

Births.

Mr. and Mrs. John Luedke announce the arrival of a daughter, born Saturday, September 10, at the St. Ignatius Hospital in Colfax. The baby weighed six pounds and thirteen ounces, and has been named Ann Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hasfurther are the parents of a son, born Sunday, September 11, weighing nine and a half pounds. Mother and baby are at the home of Mrs. Harry Shilling in Lewiston.

COTTONWOOD STATE BANK FAILS TO OPEN MONDAY

Failure of the Cottonwood State Bank became known here Monday when a state bank examiner assisting in the affairs at the Genesee Exchange Bank, was called to Cottonwood by the state banking department.

According to the Lewiston Tribune the Cottonwood State Bank, an independent institution, organized in 1907 and capitalized at $25,000, did not open for business Monday. M. M. Belknap of Lewiston, president, in a statement, said he believed all depositors would be paid 100 cents on each dollar. He blamed severe hail losses two years ago in and around Greencreek and low prices paid farmers since, for the action taken following a meeting of the board of directors Sunday.

The bank's deposits totaled $104,000 compared to a peak of $350,000 several years ago. Resources at time of closing were $164,000 with loans and discounts totaling $121,000 and investments in bonds and warrants totaling $24,000.

Other officers of the bank are: Barney Stubbers, vice president; A. C. Chace, cashier; George Kerwin, assistant cashier, and Francis G. Nuxall, fifth member of the board of directors.

"The step of closing the bank was deemed advisable to protect the depositors," said Belknap. "Reserves had been depleted and farmers were unable to meet obligations. Two years ago hail storms devastated vast areas of grain in and around Greencreek where much of the business of the bank was concentrated. These losses to farmers and the low price of grain since figured in the closing."

GENESEE SCHOOL DISTRICT LEVY LOWER FOR THIS YEAR

The tax levy of Independent School District No. 2, Genesee, has been reduced to 15½ mills for the coming year, decided at a meeting of the board of trustees recently. Last year the levy was 17 mills and the year before an extra mill was levied for the gymnasium. The reduction therefore has been reduced one and a half mills from the preceding year.

In reviewing the levies of the various Latah county schools, it has been noted that increases were made in some cases, surprising however, but there are some almost doubled.

The levy for highway purposes in the Genesee Highway district has not been changed. It remains at 12 mills, below the average levy for districts in the county.

Decreased valuations have also forced the city levy to remain the same, 20 mills, members of all boards locally anticipating an increase in the amount of delinquent taxes.

JAMES P. POPE, CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR COMING

Word was received in Genesee Wednesday that James P. Pope, democratic candidate for United States senator, would speak in Genesee at the Cozy theatre on the evening of Wednesday, September 21. It is not known how many out-of-town candidates will be present, but a large number are expected from Moscow. W. M. Morgan, candidate for the supreme court in Idaho, who has been accompanying Pope, will speak in Troy September 21.

Mr. Pope, who is mayor of Boise, it will be remembered, spoke at Genesee prior to the primary election last spring.

Attends Stonebraker Services.

W. W. Burr attended the funeral services Tuesday afternoon at the Brower-Wann mortuary for Allan Stonebraker, a pioneer of central Idaho and Chamberlain Basin. The two men had been friends for many years.

The body was brought from Chamberlain Basin to Salmon river, and then on to Lewiston by airplane.

DEFENBACH SAYS DEMOCRATS PASSED UP AN OPPORTUNITY

The candidate, who is making his first swing over the state this year, has been traveling alone, but was accompanied here from Kendrick by B. C. Rowe, Moscow, republican candidate for state senator. After being introduced by R. E. Emmett, an oldtime friend, Mr. Defenbach said that he was in Genesee with his own car, gas and oil, but had a selfish motive in that he was gathering votes for himself and incidently aiming to strengthen the position of all republican candidates in the state and county. He also remarked that he would not be back very soon even though he be elected, intimating that the governor's place was in the state house. Serious throughout most of his talk, Mr. Defenbach at times injected some humor, and by the latter method insisted that people refrain from deciding on their choice for governor by looks alone. He said he did not like to take undue advantage of his opponent.

Mr. Defenbach is a strong believer in the coinage of silver as well as candidates who favor this method of providing a sufficient amount of money with which to conduct the business of the world. He was, however, very much opposed to the printing of paper money. "Once a week or oftener," said the candidate, "we hear of bank failures; 14 in the Boise Valley have been unable to open their doors. People of a community must be loyal to home folks." "Get together and pull out the bank that has closed in your home town; do it by cooperation," was the plea of the candidate for governor. Mr. Defenbach also said that Genesee, comparatively speaking, was not hard hit, as he dwelt for some time on the effects of the depression in the east. Southern Idaho is far worse off than the northern part, and he felt that it was time for a northern Idaho man to occupy the governor's chair in the statehouse. He was very candid in his remarks relative to state institutions as he talked of the desire in southern Idaho to curtail institutions for the benefit of those in that part of the state, leaving no doubt that he favored the retention of all state educational facilities north of the Salmon river.

Comparing the total vote cast for gubernatorial candidates in the primary, Mr. Defenbach recalled the fact that he received 3500 more votes than C. Ben Ross, and from records available he was certain of election, relating that he was unable to find an instance where the successful primary candidate was defeated at the general election.

The income and kilowatt taxes, products of the last legislature should be substitute means of obtaining revenue for the state, but they have been additional taxes said the candidate.

"Latah county is the best governed county in Idaho," said Mr. Defenbach, giving as a basis for his statement the records of each county which have been carefully studied over a long period of years. Thirtieth in area, Latah county is seventh in taxable wealth, and until recently a leader in having the smallest amount of delinquent taxes. Shortly after Idaho became a state there were nine counties organized. In later years, the five counties north of Salmon river were doubled, and the four counties south of the river were multiplied by eight with two extra, giving the southern territory 34 counties compared to 10 in the north.

Mr. Defenbach dealt for a few minutes on his unsuccessful attempt to receive the republican nomination for governor two years ago, censoring the politicians for not recognizing the natural and acquired qualifications of men for various offices. Politicians, he said, paid little heed to the qualifications of those seeking office.

As treasurer of the state of Idaho, the candidate for governor was able to give some statistics, chief among them being the $1,000,000 yet due on the capitol building, and the $175,000 asked for more land on which to expand the state house building. In asking the legislature to refrain from making a purchase of more land, Mr. Defenbach quoted himself as being opposed to the move. In the matter of a new library building for the University of Idaho, Mr. Defenbach suggested that the legislators favor-

LEGALITY QUESTIONED IN TAX REDUCTION PROPOSAL

Boise—A row over whether legal restrictions should be waved aside to permit a reduction in the state tax levy blossomed out Monday in a meeting of the state board of equalization and concluded without a change in the levy.

It followed a proposal of Governor Ross that savings he expected to show for the present biennium in the cost of state government be applied immediately in reducing the levy that was formally fixed by the board at its adjournment in August.

"It is my opinion that the people of Idaho are entitled to the benefit of the savings we have effected," the governor said, "and the levy should be cut to conform. I should like to see the levy cut by $368,469, which is what I estimated we can easily turn back out of appropriations to my departments."

To this statement, Auditor E. G. Gallet objected on the grounds that the levy was made during the regular meeting of the board of the state levy certified to them. Moreover, he declared the state board had no legal right to vary the procedure directed by the legislature.

He added that Governor Ross "had the advantage of $120,000 saved from the Baldridge administration's appropriations," and he declared that "your successor, whether it is yourself or someone else, is entitled under the law to figure on these savings of which you speak in preparing his budget."

The governor described this as a "mere technicality," and said "I'll let you boys go out and explain it on the stump."

He estimated the total savings at $488,469 and said the reduction he asked would allow for carrying over into the next administration a credit of $120,000, the same as he had received.

Auxiliary Elects.

At the regular meeting of the Legion Auxiliary last Friday afternoon the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. E. D. Pederson; vice president, Mrs. J. G. Meyer; second vice president, Mrs. John Liberg; secretary, Mrs. Frank Hoorman; treasurer, Mrs. Colin Wilson, and historian, Mrs. Fred Shirrod.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Martin Liberg, Mrs. O. V. Johnson and Mrs. John Liberg served refreshments of strawberry shortcake and coffee.

REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING ON BONUS ARMY ACTIVITIES

Attorney General Mitchell in his report to President Hoover, made at an opportune time to reach the national convention of the American Legion, assembled in Portland this week, presumably as a means to vindicate the chief executive, was disqualified even before Brig. Gen. Pelham Glassford made public a statement contrary to that of Mitchell who asserted that the bonus marchers were composed largely of communists and ex-convicts. Glassford, who was undoubtedly in a more favorable position to ascertain the number of undesirables in the bonus forces, also stated that he did not request the assistance of federal troops to control the army of men who invaded Washington, asking for immediate payment of their adjusted service insurance certificates.

While there are many who did not approve of the march on Washington it is now conceded that the forcible eviction of ex-service men is a blotch upon the record of the chief executive and any attempt at vindication will act merely as a stimulant to arouse the ire of ex-service men not controlled by virtue of holding governmental positions or persuaded in their opinions by political promises.

Mitchell's statement that the bonus army probably brought to Washington "the largest aggregation of criminals ever assembled in the city at one time," to which Glassford replied that there was less crime during either June or July than during the month of August after the veterans had been evicted. "Communists and radicals were relatively few," said Glassford, "and their attempts to incite disorder were completely frustrated by the veterans' military force working in conjunction with city police forces."

After a perusal of the daily news dispatches, readers are left to decide for themselves which statements are nearest the truth. Time magazine recently quoted General Hines as saying that but a small percentage of bonus marches were undesirables, and the Mitchell statements could be predicted as forthcoming several weeks ago.

Appearing merely as lobbyists in the national capitol, the veterans may not have presented themselves as the well dressed, moneyed lobbyst he should have been, but should the scene be reacted the veteran lobbyists will be more shabbier than ever before.

HEAD WRITERS DIFFER ON F. ROOSEVELT GREETINGS

The Spokesman-Review and The Lewiston Morning Tribune Wednesday morning clearly defined their respective stands on the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt. The former publication carried the following heading: "No Crowds Meet Roosevelt Train; Few Folks at Depot, They Show Little Enthusiasm;" while the latter headed its dispatch: "Cheer Roosevelt; Crowds Gather at Every Train Stopping Place."

Cheers followed the candidates answer to the question, "How about beer," replying, "It's coming, have no fear."

RESOLUTION OF CITY EXPENSE AND TAX LEVY FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1932-1933.

WHEREAS, The probable amount of money necessary for all purposes to be raised by the City of Genesee, Idaho, for its maintenance and expenses, for which appropriation is to be made, for the Fiscal year beginning May 1st, 1932, and ending May 1st, 1933, is by Funds as follows:

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

A son was born Monday at the Gritman hospital in Moscow to Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dicus.

Mrs. John Meyer returned last week from her trip to Germany. Mrs. Meyer reports that her entire trip was one of pleasure, barring the loss of a trunk for a considerable time, the same having been delayed in transit. Enroute home Mrs. Meyer visited a few days at Henderson, Minn., with Rev. and Mrs. G. S. Eyrich, former Genesee residents.

Mrs. Ouse, sister of Mrs. Fred Nagel, who has been spending the summer here, returned to Spokane Sunday.

Jacob Rosenstein left Sunday of this week for Boise to represent the local lodge of Masons at the annual grand lodge session held this week.

At the democratic love feast held at Boise Wednesday, William J. Bryan was the guest of honor.

Suffers Broken Arm.

Mrs. Anna Kries, aged 76, had the misfortune Wednesday morning to fall and break her arm above the wrist. Her arm was also badly sprained and her cheek bruised in the fall. She accidentally stumbled over a small stool. After being attended by a doctor she was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Broemmeling.

Attend Services at Lewiston.

Mrs. Sophia Roskammer and children, Emma, Robert and George, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heppner and children, Violet, Floyd and Leo, and Mrs. Geo. Anderson and children motored to Lewiston Sunday morning to attend church services there. Following the services they were joined by Miss Rachael Sampson, Stanley Shirrod, Harry Werner and Rev. and Mrs. Schwartz and children and all enjoyed a delightful picnic dinner at the park. Late in the afternoon all enjoyed the watermelons which were provided.

Interment was in Normal Hill cemetery, Lewiston, with the Masonic lodge in charge of commitment.

$500,000 DUE STATE IN TAXES MUST BE PAID BY COUNTIES

Attorney General Fred J. Babcock has advised State Auditor E. G. Gallet that counties must pay state taxes out of whatever money is in the hands of the county treasurer on the second Monday in July, and they cannot legally side-step this obligation by paying other indebtedness at a prior date. This opinion will guide the state auditor in collecting $500,000 in taxes due from 32 of the 44 Idaho counties.

Latah county was one of the first in Idaho to pay its state tax.

EYEING BANK EXAMINATIONS WITH VIEW TO REOPENING

Boise—Rapid progress is being made in the examinations of the First National Bank of Idaho chain which closed recently and a definite report concerning their conditions is expected soon, Senator John Thomas, who is maintaining close contact with the situation, said here Tuesday.

Although no official information has as yet been divulged, it is generally believed that the closed banks are in fair financial conditions. Senators Thomas and Borah, who requested Reconstruction Finance corporation officials to look into the matter, are hopeful that some method can be devised whereby the institution may be reopened.

Senator Thomas also requested the corporation officials to examine the assets of the Boise City National bank, which closed on August 1 while here with the view of determining what relief may be extended to depositors of that institution.

There will be a dance at the Legion hall, Thursday, September 22.

AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION SEEK LOWER GAS TAX

Boise—The Idaho State Automobile association will ask the next legislature for a 1 cent per gallon reduction in the state gas tax, R. G. Cole, secretary and manager, announced last Saturday.

Lowering the tax 1 cent from its present 5 cent level—6 cents including the federal tax—will save Idaho motorists $500,000 a year, he said.

He declared the gasoline tax was "an example of the unreasonable abuse of a good thing." As a tax, he said it started out at 2 cents in 1923 but had since been steadily incresed until Idaho is in the highest bracket among the states levying the tax.

DEFENBACH SAYS DEMOCRATS PASSED UP AN OPPORTUNITY

ing it take the bonds necessary for such an improvement to Latah county and sell them, being certain that the citizens here would not favor such an expenditure under existing circumstances. This move on his part was sound he said, but unpopular and he then asked his listeners if they preferred a governor that would be popular or one that was sound in his judgment. Economy is particularly unpopular with the rank and file of politicians he stated further. "I won't play politics, and that is the reason I was defeated for the nomination at the convention at Idaho Falls two years ago," said Mr. Defenbach.

Being an accountant, statistics to Mr. Defenbach mean a lot, and in his attack on the cabinet form of government, he said Idaho's present government was lifted bodily from the state of Illinois, a state with 14 times the population and 14 times the wealth; 42 times better able to support the numberless departments, commissions and bureaus, useful only to serve the politicians as a powerful machine, the chief executive being able to name the army of state employees. With a population approximately the same as Seattle, Idaho is bearing the burden of supporting a governmental organization suited to a state like Illinois, with one city alone having a population several times larger than that of our own state. He charged his own party with supporting the cabinet and then turned toward the democratic party and stated that they had passed up a wonderful opportunity to lessen the cost of governmental activities by abandoning our present form of government and making substantial reductions in the tax burden at a time when it would be more than welcome. In 1926 Latah county required a tax of $1.33 on each $100 of valuation to conduct the general expenses, at that time considered low when compared with other subdivisions of the state. $14,000 in 1926 was required for relief and care of poor. In 1931 Latah county dropped its levy for general purposes to 96 cents on each $100 in valuation, yet the relief work mounted to $22,000. "Debts incurred by highway districts, schools and municipal governments have been responsible for the increasing levies within Idaho counties, said Mr. Defenbach, and our state government has increased its levy with the county lowering its levy. In 1926 the state required 45 cents of each $100 to conduct its business, but in 1931 this levy has mounted to 65 cents. This tax burden is perhaps not felt as keenly in Latah county as in other sections of Idaho, the speaker remarked, stating that he knew of instances where schools will be conducted for only four months, and further, that teachers are known to be working merely for their board.

"Everyone is retrenching but the state government," said the speaker. One hundred and fifteen students who had planned to enter the University this Fall are being kept at home. Taxes are going delinquent, and Latah county, with $28,310 delinquent in 1926, showed $73,951 in 1931 and this year it is $80,791. "The low prices are not so bad," said Mr. Defenbach, "it is high taxes and cost of operation that constitutes the burden." "I will use my influence and urge others to employ their prestige to forestall foreclosures in the state of Idaho."

Again Mr. Defenbach dwelt on expenditures, saying that the state is now buying one passenger car every week; $100,000 has been spent for gas and oil in passenger cars alone, not to mention that consumed by trucks and tractors. State cars are so numerous that it is dangerous for employees to be on the highways, and in order to relieve the traffic congestion, the state has purchased an airplane and five motorboats, one of which recently took fire and burned, and it was uninsured."

In compiling data for campaign purposes two years ago, the candidate credited his opponents with showing that every state office had shown increases with the exception of his own office, that of state treasurer. His office was operated at a cost of $5,000 less than when operated by others in recent years.

"If I am elected governor, and I will be," said Mr. Defenbach, "you will find me entering my office at the state office in Boise at 9 o'clock in the morning instead of stepping into a $3,000 Studebaker as my opponent is now doing, and starting out for Pocatello."

Appearing at Genesee under the auspices of the republican county central committee, Mr. Defenbach said in closing that he had a deep sense of the obligation he owes to the state in which he lives and that what he is he owes to Idaho. "I owe the people of our state; they do not owe me anything," Mr. Defenbach concluded.

Mr. Defenbach, following his talk, was presenetd with a questionnaire which will be answered by letter and printed in the Genesee News. The questions asked were relative to a refund to highway districts of a portion of the gas tax; competition between buses and stages and the railroad companies, and third, the position of the candidate on the passage of the Swank-Thomas farm marketing proposal.

REQUESTS BEING MADE FOR R. F. C. ALLOTMENT TO IDAHO

Jefferson county has requested $20,000 of the $300,000 alloted to Idaho by the federal government through the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and Pocatello, Boise, Caldwell, and Nampa quickly followed suit. A considerable portion of the allotted funds, $75,000 goes toward the construction of the bridge over Pend Oreille lake, near Sandpoint. The governor stated however, that this project would not receive its share in a lump sum, to be given out rather as construction demanded it.

Carbiou county, in southeastern Idaho, where unemployment is acute by the closing of phosphate mines and a crop failure, will also receive an early division of the funds.

Spending of the $300,000 for unemployment relief will begin immediately said Governor Ross on Monday, after a check for $150,000 was received from a representative of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Assurance was also given that the remainder would be paid by November 1.

M. A. Rosentein Here on Business.

M. A. Rosenstein of Spokane, was in Genesee Sunday attending to business in connection with the Rosenstein holdings. While here he said that business very slow in all the places he had been recently. He also said that his father, J. Rosenstein one of Genesee's early pioneer merchants, was enjoying good health at his home in California.

THE GENESEE NEWS

WILLIAM W. GRAY IS LAID AT REST BESIDE BROTHERS

William W. Gray, born at Salt Lake City, February 14, 1854, of Utah pioneers, died at Genesee on September 15, at the age of 78 years, seven months and one day, after acquiring the distinction of being one of Latah county's pioneers in the Genesee community, having homesteaded east of here in 1879 on a place near that which his brother, Robert homesteaded. About thirty years ago the deceased retired from actual farming and took up his residence in Genesee, going to California and Arizona to spend the winter months.

Mr. Gray resided in Salt Lake City until he was nine years of age when he moved with his parents to Alpine County, California, later moving to Carson City, Nevada where the family made its home until 1877. The following year he came to the Genesee country where he remained for a short time, leaving here for Walla Walla, Wn., only to return to take up his homestead. While a young man Mr. Gray, wishing to visit the scenes of boyhood, made a trip to Carson City, traveling to and from on horseback.

The deceased was a charter member of original Star Lodge No. 35, Knights of Pythias, and also a charter member of the newer Pythian organization, Star Lodge No. 5. He became affiliated with this order on November 13, 1888, closely approaching 44 years as a member. He was also a member of Omar Al Kayami Temple, D. O. K. K. No. 124, Lewiston.

Mr. Gray has always been of a quiet and retiring disposition, mindful of those in need, appreciative of favors, and always maintaining a dignity that drew admiration, yet a friendliness for everyone that was reciprocated. He attended the Congregational church and was devout in his obedience to his Maker, worthy of all that is deserved by a true Christian.

The deceased was taken ill August 30, following a day spent in repairing fences and destroying weeds on his place adjoining Genesee, and Sept. 2 he was stricken with apoplexy, being under the constant observation of a trained nurse and a doctor until his death.

Shortly before his illness he was down town every day and about a week before being confined to his bed had the privilege of dining at the Wardrobe home in company with members of that family, members of the Eliza Gray family, and with a niece, Mrs. Tom Burke, and family of Florence and Coolidge, Arizona, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Armstrong of Lewiston, and Mrs. Elva Belle Grant of Seattle.

Surviving are 30 nephews and nieces, members of the Robert Gray family, numbering 10; twelve sons and daughters of the Andrew Wardrobe family, a brother of the deceased, and eight children of a sister of the deceased, Mrs. Henry Powers of Sublett, who also survives.

Funeral services were conducted at the Congregational church, the Rev. O. S. Barnum of Potlatch, former pastor of the church and an intimate friend of the deceased, with a male quartet composed of Alvon Hampton, F. A. Smith, Wayne Hampton and Colin Wilson assisting in the services accompanied by Miss Genevieve Hampton at the piano. Alvon Hampton also sang a vocal solo. Pallbearers were selected from members of the Knights of Pythias who attended the church ceremony in a body and conducted the services of commitment at the City Cemetery, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Barnum.

GEORGE POST ELECTED TO LEAD AMERICAN LEGION

George Post, past commander and several times adjutant of Bielenberg-Schooler Post, American Legion, was elected commander of the local ex-service men's organization Wednesday evening. Mr. Post has been closely identified with Legion activities since the organization was formed in Genesee and has been active on committees at all times.

Other officers elected and to be installed at the next meeting, October 5, were: George Anderson. first vice commander; T. H. Herman, second vice commander; Dale Lanphier, adjutant; V. A. Beckman, finance officer; John Daugherty, sergeant-at-arms and Fred Hove, chaplain.

Flomer Heifer Takes a Dip.

A Jersey heifer on the Henry Flomer ranch was removed from a well on the place, into which she fell Tuesday evening. She was removed by Carl Flomer who left town with a chain derrick, that was supported by a tripod, made of timbers. A heavy rope was placed about the cow's neck and gradually raised until she could be rolled out on the ground. The well was about 10 feet deep, and almost full of water, but as the cow fell she wedged against the pipe and her head remained well above the level of the water.

While no one saw the bovine drop into her bath, it is presumed she was crowded onto the pump-platform by some of the other cows in the herd, and toppled in when planking gave away. She suffered no ill effects, evidenced by her ability to resume feeding Wednesday morning.

REV. AND MRS. KLICKMANN ARRIVE FROM TOLUCA, ILL.

Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Klickmann arrived in Genesee by automobile September 15 from Toluca, Illinois, leaving there September 1, making the trip by easy stages, and enjoying a visit to Yellowstone National Park. They are now at home at the St. John's Lutheran parsonage.

Rev. Klickmann was called by St. John's church last spring shortly before Rev. Wolff left for the state of Illinois to accept a charge. For the past three years the new pastor at St. John's had the church at Toluca, the home town of Mrs. Klickmann, and prior to that had a charge at Tonica, Ill. He is a native of Ohio having been born near Toledo, acquiring his education for the ministry at Woodville Academy where he spent a year; three years at the Waverly, Iowa, pro-seminary training school, and three years at Wartburg Theological Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa. Mrs. Klickmann was a student at Illinois Wesleyan college and is an accomplished musician. She will preside at the pipe organ in St. John's and will, probably, will take additional work in music at the University of Idaho.

They were accompanied as far as Shelton, Nebr., by two aunts of Mrs. Klickmann. This is the first trip west of the Rockies for Mr. and Mrs. Klickmann and they, as all others, have greatly enjoyed the scenic wonders on the route over which they have traveled.

ROOSEVELT DELAYED IN SPOKANE APPOINTMENT

Hundreds gathered at the Great Northern station at Spokane, Monday evening, said the Spokesman-Review, expecting to greet Franklin Roosevelt, democratic candidate for president. His train did not arrive at 10 o'clock as scheduled, due to blocking of the Northern Pacific tracks east of Missoula, Mont. Derailment of an eastbound Northern Pacific train caused three hours' delay. Reports were circulated in Spokane that nominee's train had been wrecked, and many called the Review to inquire. Mr. Roosevelt's train was not involved in any wreck, however, but had to wait three hours until track was built around derailed cars of the eastbound train.

STUDENTS TO U. OF I.

Misses Eloise Emmett and Marie Rosenau, Wayne and Elvon Hampton, Lowell, Isaksen, Erling Lande, and Herbert and Erich Steinegar have left for Moscow to attend the University of Idaho. F. K. Harris of Genesee is also attending the University, and Wendell Smith is resuming his studies at W. S. C.

Other Genesee young people at the University of Idaho are Mary Schlueter, Jack Hayden, Tom Wahl and Ronald Wahl.

COUNTY POLITICAL PARTIES PREPARING FOR CAMPAIGN

Candidates for public office on both major political party tickets, and precinct committeemen gathered in Moscow Tuesday, not together, however, but on the same day to organize for the coming campaign. The democratic supporters assembled at the Elks Club in the afternoon and also in the evening, enjoying dinner in the dining room at the club, while the republican representatives gathered for an evening session, preceded by a dinner at the Moscow Hotel, being the guests of Hon. Burton L. French.

At the republican meeting there were present besides the various candidates and committeemen, Mrs. H. W. Clouchek, Twin Falls, republican national committeewoman for Idaho, who is organizing or assisting in the organization of northern Idaho preparatory to the republican campaign; and Mrs. Simonson, woman chairman of the county committee. E. C. Collins, county chairman, presided at the meeting and was assisted in the introduction of speakers by J. A. Harsh of Deary, Mrs. Clouchek and Congressman French being the outstanding speakers of the evening, practically each precinct, however, joining in general discussion relative to campaign plans. Attending the meeting from Genesee were: R. E. Nordby, R. E. Emmett, Walter Jain and E. D. Pederson.

As a result of the democratic meeting, that party announces the opening of county headquarters in the Hall building on Main Street, Moscow, and an active group of campaign workers already organized. Attending the democratic meeting from Genesee were: Edwin Smolt, J. J. Berg and George Morscheck, who announce the selection of R. J. Zell as the democratic candidate for justice of peace, and Henry Halverson as the candidate for constable in the Genesee section of the Second Commissioner District.

The republicans named the following as candidates for justices of the peace and constables: E. B. Flasher, Bovill and Roy Nolan, Potlatch, justices, and Victor Morris, Potlatch, constable, in the First District. W. G. Barge, Moscow, and R. E. Emmett, Genesee, were named as justices in the Second District, with Geo. Anderson, Genesee, constable. In the Third District, J. C. Peterson, Troy, and N. E. Walker, Kendrick, were named as justices, with Miles Pierce, Juliaetta, as constable. The complete list of justices and constables was not available for the democratic party.

Present at the organization meeting at the Elks Club, were Sam Tannehill, national committeeman, and Fred Erb, Lewiston, and Compton I. White, Clarks Fork, the democratic candidate for congress, who will oppose Congressman French in the coming election.

Pursuing a course of economy the present board of county commissioners, with legal authority, have reduced the number of justices of the peace from 54 to 6, and the number of constables from 27 to 3. Latah county for many years has had 27 election precincts, permitting the election of two justices and a constable for each, but with many not qualifying after election and the increased cost of supplies, there will be but two justices and one constable for each commissioner's district, and it is possible also to so divide the districts that the officers named can be located at appropriate geographical points, giving each of the six principal towns a justice. It is also anticipated that with a fewer number of justices they will be more active.

Prior to the recodification of Idaho statutes, the volumes cost the county $11.00 each, but today the cost is $47.50 for each justice, and should Latah county be required to purchase 48 sets of supplies the cost would run into a considerable sum. It will also be remembered that the number of precincts in the past year have been reduced from 27 to 24 for Latah county, making a reduction in the number of clerks and judges of election.

For the reason above explained it was necessary for both parties to assemble to name the candidates for the offices of justice and constable, with the two county central committees, in executive session, filling the vacancies and effecting a redistribution of justice court facilities in accordance with the action of the board of county commissioners.

Congregational Church.

Rev. F. William Westwood will conduct services Sunday evening at the Congregational church at 7:30 o'clock.

MAYOR JAMES P. POPE, BOISE, ASKS NEW POLITICAL DEAL

(By J. L. Gilmore)

Mayor James P. Pope, Boise, democratic nominee for the United States senate, told his audience at Genesee Wednesday night that the time has come for a new deal politically. He criticised the republican administration for its unfulfilled promises; censured Senator John Thomas for his record in opposing measures that would have been of benefit to the common people; advocated a federal law guaranteeing bank deposits, and asserted that if he is elected junior senator from Idaho he will do everything in his power to turn the government back into the hands of the American people.

Mayor Pope was introduced by Edwin Smolt after several speakers had been heard on issues of the day. Lieutenant Governor Mix, defending the record of Governor Ross, advised voters to elect such men to office, both executive and legislative, as would assist the governor to carry out his program. He said further that the same principle should apply towards Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic nominee for the presidency, and declared that Idaho should elect Mayor Pope to the senate since he is in complete harmony with the Roosevelt program for the rehabilitation of the nation.

Other democratic speakers were R. W. Olmstead of the Ross-Roosevelt club of the University of Idaho; L. W. Schimke of Moscow, nominee for prosecuting attorney; W. L. Korter, Moscow, nominee for state senator; Fred Hove, Genesee, nominee for representative to the state legislature; Glen Sanders, Moscow, chairman of the county central committee; Judge George E. Erb, Lewiston, chairman of the Nez Perce county committee; Fred Erb, Lewiston; Sam Tannehill, national committeeman, and Miss Retta Martin, Boise, candidate for superintendent of public instruction.

While the Pope rally was going on in Genesee another meeting was being held at Troy where Judge William M. Morgan, Boise, formerly of Moscow, candidate for the state supreme court, delivered the principle address. Judge Morgan visited in Genesee on Thursday morning.

Before the meeting at Genesee was called to order leading democrats of the district entertained Mayor Pope and Miss Martin at dinner in Smolt's restaurant. At the same time plans were formed for a Ross-Roosevelt club. Mayor Pope spoke briefly, giving some information of sentiment in north Idaho as a result of his speaking tour which began a week ago. He said that everything pointed to a democratic victory this fall.

At the principle meeting in the Cozy theatre approximately 200 were present. Mayor Pope said in part:

"The condition that we as a nation are facing today is too well known for me to go into details. Four years ago the leaders of the republican party made certain promises, telling you that if Mr. Hoover was elected the country would have a continuance of prosperity. Now I am not criticising the rank and file of the republican party. After all, we are just folks; good neighbors, perhaps, and good friends. I do not believe that I could point out in this audience which of you are republicans and which are democrats. But once in four years we begin to think about politics, and we find that our neighbor is of one political faith, maybe opposite of ours; and that this man is a republican and this man is a democrat.

"But as citizens we have but one thing in view, to obtain for ourselves and for our children the best that we may in government. So I appeal to you here, that I have no quarrel with the rank and file. I hold, however, to the principle that I have a right to criticise a public servant, and to find out whether or not he has been faithful to the trust that has been imposed in him.

"Four years ago, you may remember, the republican leaders had an issue on one single question; that was the question of prosperity. Mr. Hoover, Mr. Curtis, Mr. Hughes and others told us that it was necessary to keep the republican party in power if we were to have a continuance of prosperity. You may recall a little coin that was used as an advertisement by the republicans. It resembled gold, but it was really made of brass. On one side was the inscription, 'Good for four more years of prosperity.' And on the other were the words, 'Hoover lucky pocket piece.'

Hurt in Fall from Truck.

John, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lorang was ill at the home of his parents Wednesday, following injuries and bruises sustained when he jumped from the rear end of a Ford truck, driven by one of the Kambitsch brothers. The youngster with his two brothers was tendered a ride, but insisted on sitting in the rear of the truck body with his legs dangling over, rather than take a seat with the driver who urged him to do so. When about a hundred yards from the entrance to the Lorang ranch entrance John told his brothers he was going to jump off, which he proceeded to do, backwards. The truck was traveling slowly when the boy jumped and fell backward, bruising the back of his head and back. He complained of a severe headache Wednesday, following the accident, which occurred after the closing of school.

COW CREEK BEING DEEPENED TO AVOID HIGHWAY DAMAGE

Cowcreek, the only local water outlet to the Pacific, is being made deeper to accommodate drainage of the Genesee Valley and Blaine district, and to protect the newly surfaced North and South highway from flood waters, such as were experienced last spring and during the cloudburst and hail storm early in the summer. Cowcreek, in the early days is remembered as being much deeper than in more recent years, having filled up with silt washed into the stream by rains and melting snow.

While the creek is usually dry during summers, it drains a considerable territory and has been unable to carry the waters without overflowing. The highway has been affected by high waters between the Tom Anderson and Sam Lange ranches for a number of years, and has resulted in the state highway department securing permission to deepen the bed of the creek. The channel is also being changed somewhat by having several of the bends straightened out, and obstructions, such as brush and trees will be removed.

A large gasoline motored shovel is being operated now and will work as far south as the bridge near the Aurora school and as far north as the Lange ranch.

WORK STARTED MONDAY ON FARM-TO-MARKET ROAD NO. 1

Actual moving of dirt began Monday noon on Farm-to-Market Road Project No. 1, beginning north of the Jim Magee ranch. Fourteen men were working Wednesday, when it was learned that a temporary lay-off might result owing to differences over securing rights-of-way on the Roth farm. According to information available the first survey made by engineers was favorable to Mr Roth and that he would gladly consent to a road through his property. On making the last survey, it is stated that in order to obtain a five per cent grade it has been necessary to change the route further east and cut more into one of the Roth fields and thereby complicate cultivating and harvesting operations by making a rather steep incline. Conflicting rumors are being heard, however, and an attempt is now being made for the road to follow the original survey. While it may not afford a five per cent grade but not in excess of eight per cent, the statement has been made that loaded trucks are compelled to change gears once or twice anyway on a five per cent grade and an increase of three per cent for a short distance would not be noticeable compared with the usefulness of the project in its entirety.

Little doubt exists that present disagreements cannot be overcome, and it is expected that work will not be delayed. As it appears now, Mr. Roth will gladly consent to a right-of-way as outlined in the first place, but objects to making his field difficult to farm, and the state department has always contended that roads should not be built on more than a five per cent grade. Deviation from this regulation is, it is presumed a matter to be settled by the highway department.

CARD OF THANKS.

Relatives of the late William W. Gray wish, in this manner, to extend their profound thanks for the many favors, the flowers and acts of kindness bestowed upon the deceased during his illness and for the assistance offered during their bereavement and at the funeral services.—The Gray, Wardrobe and Powers Families.

MASS MEETING OF WHEAT GROWERS SATURDAY NIGHT

Grain producers in the Genesee section have been notified directly of a mass meeting to be held at the American Legion hall, Saturday evening, to consider the proposed sale of 25,000,000 bushels of wheat to China. This meeting is sponsored locally by the Genesee Union Warehouse company, extending invitations for every grain grower to attend. This meeting is the outcome of the meeting held in Spokane Monday, attended by delegates from the four northwest states and is one of 61 or more meetings scheduled for this week.

Delegates from Genesee attending the assembly to discuss the China wheat sale were: J. W. Mosman, M. S. Wilson, Fred Hove, A. Carbuhn and Frank Hoorman. A. C. Linehan, director of the North Pacific Regional body for northern Idaho, was also at the meeting, attending both the mass meeting and an executive meeting of the board.

Representatives from Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana at the Spokane meeting adopted resolutions calling on the Reconstruction Finance corporation to finance the sale of 25,000,000 bushels of wheat to China, agreeing to a plan whereby farmers will assure the delivery of that quantity of wheat in case the Reconstruction Finance corporation finances the deal, which is probable in that the marketing organization was given to understand that securities of the Chinese government would be put up to cover the advance, and also that the securities were good.

A. R. Shumway of Milton, Ore., pictured a drab future for the wheat growers in the event of failure of a Chinese sale, and believed bankers would be forced to compel the growers to sell their grain, with resultant distress to all.

Text of Resolutions

From the resolutions adopted are taken the following: "That in the opinion of the wheat producers such a sale of wheat is the only solution of our marketing problem in the Pacific Northwest at this time; that the surplus of the wheat of the 1932 crop amounts to approximately 50,000,000 bushels. That in the present condition of the export market it is not possible to sell this surplus at this time at a price that anywhere near approximtaes the cost of production.

"That the proposed sale to China will move a large percentage of our surplus wheat to the market and greatly relieve our marketing problems; that it is our understanding that the Reconstruction Finance corporation was authorized by congress to provide funds for the marketing of surplus grain and other agricultural commodities to foreign governments where it could not be sold for cash.

"That there is no better opportunity offered to serve producers and all other interests of the Pacific Northwest than in the consummation of the proposed sale to the Chinese national government."

As all grain producers are asked to attend, the meeting will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening.

CERTIFIED BANK CLAIMS USED IN LIEU OF MONEY

Students planning to enter the University of Idaho, or returning to resume studies, and who are handicapped by having funds tied up in closed banks, are not defeated in their purpose, owing to a ruling that certified claims against a closed bank will be accepted at the University, at the dormitories on the campus and for registration and other fees incident to going to the University. This ruling, first apearing in daily papers

A report has also been circulated that certain student body fees would be cancelled, but so far this has not been confirmed as the students themselves arrange their own program and that matter cannot be decided until the various students groups meet for consideration of this problem.

Locally, students who may have had funds in the Exchange Bank, will be able to obtain claim certificates soon after a liquidator is appointed and he takes over the business.

Build New Sidewalk.

One hundred and forty feet of new concrete sidewalk has been constructed along the east side of the St. John Lutheran church property, work being done by men of the congregation.

A new concrete cross walk has also been constructed across the alley north of the property, 40 feet, the work being done by Chet Mochel.

COYOTE CLUB REVIVED BY DEVOTEES OF THE SPORT

It looks like a bad year for the coyotes reported to be infesting canyon lands adjacent to the Genesee farming district, with the reorganization of the Coyote Club, which is yet without a leader. Bob Emmett, however, has stepped into the lead in qualifying trials last Sunday, when he, with E. S. Suenkel and Glen Sampson, bagged a coyote in the canyon north of the Hampton-Driscoll ranch, southeast of Genesee. The animal was first spotted approaching a band of sheep on the property mentioned. Several shots were taken by Suenkel and Sampson, who chose to traverse the upper reaches, Emmett, versed in the pursuit of coyotes, took up a position in the canyon, out of sight from the two other hunters. Emmett shot the animal twice, and the first assurance of a kill came to the other two when he presented evidence of his marksmanship in the form of the dead animal.

For years Cody Rader, now of Troy, held the distinction of club leader, but it is only fair to say that Emmett is far in the lead for the honor so long held by Cody. He is also a veteran member of the organization, as is Sampson. Suenkel is a comparatively new member, having made several trips, unsuccessful, however. Sampson, it is believed, secretely covets Emmett in his success, for he casually dropped the remark that he was almost certain he wounded the animal killed Sunday before Emmett brought him down. This assertion bore no fruit, as Suenkel was quick to deny that Sampson had come close to molesting a hair of the coyote.

Reception for Pastor and Wife.

Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Klickmann, who arrived in Genesee last Thursday, were tendered a reception at St. John's Lutheran church Tuesday evening. The affair was a surprise and in the form of a pound social. The large crowd attending enjoyed visiting and games during the evening before refreshments were served.

O. E. S. Gleaners.

The O. E. S. Gleaners were pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. James Archibald. The afternoon was spent in needlework, followed by refreshments.

The October meeting will be with Mrs. Frank Willoughby.

HOW JOHN SMITH PREPARED TO OBEY THE VOLSTEAD ACT

I had twelve bottles of whisky in my cellar and my wife made me empty the contents of each and every one down the sink, so I proceeded to do as my wife desired and withdrew the cork from the first bottle, poured the contents down the sink except for one glass which I drank.

I then withdrew the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I extracted the cork from the third bottle, emptied the good old booze down the bottle, except a glass which I devoured.

I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, then threw the rest down the sink.

I pulled the sink out of the next cork and poured the bottle down my neck.

I pulled the next bottle out of my throat and poured the cork down the sink, all but the sink which I drank.

I pulled the next cork from my throat and poured the sink down the bottle and drank the cork.

Well, I had them all emptied and steadied the house with one hand and counted the bottles, which were 24, so counted them again when they came around again and I had 74, and as the house came around I counted them and finally I had all the houses and the bottles counted and I proceeded to wash the bottles, but couldn't get the brush in the bottles so I turned them inside out and wiped them all, and we went upstairs and told my other half all about what I did, oh boy! I've got the wifest little nice in the world.—Wall Street Journal.

Carey was a resident of Orofino a few years ago and Mr. Neyens formerly resided on a ranch at Rainey Meadows which he still owns but is renting. Mr. Neyens makes an annual visit to the ranch.—Orofino Tribune.

Shot Birds from Highway.

Kamiah Progress: J. A. Tavelich was arrested Sunday by Jess Robertson, chief deputy game warden, for shooting at game birds from an automobile on the highway. Robinson, and other, were working at the fish hatchery, when he saw Tavelich stop his car and without getting out, raise his gun and fire at some grouse. When he got out to get the birds, the game warden overtook him and placed him under arrest. It was disclosed also that Tavelich was hunting without a license, but he was charged only with the first named offense and fined $25 in the probate court at Grangeville. His rifle was confiscated and turned over to the state game department.

High School Mixer

The high school mixer was held Friday, September 16, at the gymnasium. Various games were enjoyed by all, including basketball for boys and the girls. A few of the boys were given roller skates which they put on and proceeded to try to play basketball. Other games, such as "Two Deep," "Last Couple Out" and "Three Deep" were also played. After the games a delicious luncheon of cool-ade and doubhnuts was served. Everyone reported a good time and were very grateful to the seniors.

We have another new student in school. She is Alice Green.

The first regular meeting of Boy Scouts will be held Tuesday evening at the high school at 8 o'clock.

Fifth and Sixth Grades

During vacation time some of the boys and girls worked on summer projects. Most of the pupils showed that the makers spent considerable time on planning and making the project. Dorothy Follett and Cicily Ann Herman won the prizes for the best pressed flower booklets and Loren Kambitsch won the prize for the best bird house.

In fifth grade arithmetic the girls and boys had a race. The group which finished first and had the most problems correctly solved won. The girls won by a few seconds.

The sixth grade dramatized the story, "The Family Dog." First we read it as a reading lesson then the class as a whole thought it would be fun to act it out. For a language lesson the parts for each character was planned and written. The pupils and the parts they played were: Jeremy Cole, Laverne Edwards; Helen Cole, Helen Edwards; Mary Cole, Bonnie Hayden; the jam pot, Barbara Huffman; Hamlet, Glenn Osmundson; Mr. Jellybrand, Homer Burr; Mrs. Cole, Mona Myers and Aunt Emmy, Ethel Dresher.

First and Second Grades

The first and second grades organized a citizenship club. Thomas Wilson is their president, Betty Louise Koster is their vice president and Tommy Edwards, sergeant-at-arms. The children insisted that we needed the last named because there might be some talking and it would be necessary to have order. The club has adopted the following code: 1. I will be polite; 2, I will not interrupt when people are talking; 3, I will obey the silent bell; 4, I will walk in the hall.

Miss Hampton Honored.

Miss Genevieve Hampton was given a miscellaneous bridal shower by Miss Bertha Nelson last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Densow. The evening was spent in hemming towels, writing recipes and giving advice to the bride-to-be. Many lovely gifts for Miss Hampton were hidden about the rooms and she was asked to find them Decorations of the home were in colors of lavender and yellow, and these colors were carried out in the two-course luncheon, served at the close of the evening. Besides the hostess and Miss Hampton there were present: Miss Nora Rondeau, Mrs. Arvilla Harris, Miss Thelma Melgard, Miss Helen Dwyer, Miss Cecelia Dwyer, Miss Ruth Anderson, Mrs. Roy Hansson, Mrs. Glen Sampson, Mrs. Margaret McCoy, Mrs. N. M. Leavitt, Mrs. Fred Hampton, Mrs. D. C. Burr, Mrs. F. G. Densow and Miss Violet Heppner.

Lost 20 lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weight 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

"The issue was clearly one of prosperity. Now what has happened? In the words of President Hoover himself in his acceptance speech, his great apology; he declares that not since the aftermath of the Civil war has the nation faced such a grave crisis.

"While the prices of your produce has been going down, wheat to 35 cents a bushel, the cost of federal government has been going up. It has gone up 65 per cent within the last few years. The common man is overburdened with taxes, and yet the government is being operated at great expense. Do you realize that since the sun rose this morning until it set this afternoon $46,000,000 has been spent in operative costs of government? And hundreds of people are losing their homes every day, unable to meet their taxes.

"I wish to draw your attention to the position of my opponent in this senatorial race. The record will show that on nearly every important bill in the senate he has voted contrary to Senator Borah. Consequently on many of the vital measures of interest to this date, Idaho did not have a vote; for the vote of Senator Thomas nullified that of Senator Borah."

In conclusion Mayor Pope pointed out that it would be necessary to have men in the senate and in the house who would act in accord with Governor Roosevelt's plans.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY CLOSES A SUCCESSFUL YEAR

At the last meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Harold Haymond, president, thanked her various officers and committee chairmen who helped make the past year a successful one.

Miss Ethel Johnson, unit activities chairman, who had always been an ardent worker in the Auxiliary, was prompt in her reports to the Idaho Auxiliare, official publication of the organization, and supervised and assisted in all the activities of the year, among them being , Christmas party, a party for War Mothers, a supper served at the St. Patricks dance and the junior-senior banquet.

Mrs. Vern Beckman, rehabilitation chairman, kept the members busy sewing for the Veterans' Hospital at Boise with the result that 30 pounds of cut and sewed carpet rags were sent there during the year; thirty-nine tray cloths, 19 laundry bags, three bed jackets and one sweater were also among the shipments. Two of the bed jackets and the sweater were made by War Mothers, Mrs. August Johnson, Mrs. Wm. Emerson and Mrs. Henry Hanson, with Mrs. Walter Jain donating the yarn for the sweater. Beside these, tally and score cards for 12 tables were sent. In November of last year Mrs. Beckman met with several Auxiliary members at the Martinson home to sew for a needy family and clothing donated by members was given the Associated charities. A basket of food was given and several visits were made to a needy family during the year.

Mrs. Mahlon Follett supervised the sale of Veteran poppies, which were sold in Genesee by the Boy Scouts. Over 250 of the poppies were sold.

Mrs. Walter Emerson prepared the Unit Constitution and By-Laws which were accepted by the Auxiliary.

Fifty sprays of flowers were made for decorating soldiers' graves on Memorial day, with Mrs. T. H. Herman in charge.

Membership was 42 the past year. Mrs. Harry Schooler, membership chairman, conducted a contest with the Legion for members, resulting in the Auxiliary serving a chili feed to the Legion members, winners of the contest.

Mrs. Fred Hove, financial chairman, kept a neat balance on hand during the year.

The other officers and chairmen acting on different committees, helped also to make the Auxiliary's year a most successful one.

Heard Here and There.

Even under existing conditions people of Genesee have not lost their sense of humor. Such wisecracking statements, with no evil intent, have caused laughs in recent days:

As the democratic delegation was leaving for Moscow Tuesday, a man said, "The republican depression has not been so tough, but how in the heck ani I going to stand a democratic panic.

Another, a believer in the strength of F. T. Roosevelt, remarked that the democratic nominee and his cause was gaining such momentum on the western trip, that mountains shook and trains shivered and derailed themselves on the approach of the fast traveling special Roosevelt train.

Congregational Aid.

The Congregational Ladies Aid will be entertained next Wednesday, Sept. 28 by Mrs. Al Mayer at her home. Everyone is urged to come.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING SEPT. 16

Domestic wheat markets declined with foreign markets during the week ending September 16 under the influence of increased offerings of Canadian grain and sharply larger Russian exports, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Declines in security markets was a further weakening factor in the domestic wheat situation, but this was largely offset by more active export inquiry for U. S. wheat as price spread between domestic and European market would indicate.

Canadian Wheat

Developments in Canada appeared to dominate the general wheat market situation during the week under review. Canadian growers are reported marketing heavy from this season's relatively large crop and the pressure of these offerings was a weakening influence at Winnipeg and Vancouver, where prices declined 3 to 4 cents per bushel. Canadian market receipts totaled 11,533 cars for the week, according to trade reports. Canadian wheat is of good quality this season with protein tests of the Dominion Grain Research Laboratories showing an average protein for the various grades ranging from 13.7 per cent to 14.6 per cent on Manitoba samples and 14.7 to 15.8 per cent on Saskatchewan samples. tA the close of the market Sept. 16 No. 1 Manitoba Northern was quoted at Winnipeg at 45½ cents in U. S. Currency and at Vancouver at 45 3-8 cents per bushel. No. 2 Manitoba for Stptember shipment sold at Manchester, England at 57¼c and No. 3 Manitoba at Liverpool at 56 3-8c.

Russian Shipments

Shipments of over 2,000,000 bushels of Russian wheat, bringing the season total to about 3,340,000 bushels were another weakening influence in the current wheat situation. Last season, however, Russia had exported over 33,500,000 bushels to this date. Shipments from other Black Sea countries were negligible and southern hemisphere exports were not large. Argentine shipments totaled 634,000 bushels and Australian shipments 1,750,000 bushels. Argentine Rosafe for October shipment was quoted at Liverpool September 16 at 58 7-8c and Western Australian wheat afloat at 61 7-8c per bushel. Continental European markets were rather unsettled with price declines reported on native wheat in Germany and France and advances in Italian markets. Native milling wheat was quoted at Hamburg, September 16 at $1.39 3-4, at Paris at $1.21 and at Genoa at $1.49¼. German wheat was being offered CIF England at 56c per bushel. Exportation of German wheat has made import certificates rather plentiful and this has improved German demand for foreign wheat, principally Manitobas. Purchases of two cargoes of U. S. wheat from Gulf ports by Greece was reported during the week. At the close of the market Sept. 16 exporters were bidding 54½c for No. 1 hard winter and 55 1-2 for No. 1 dark hard winter at Gulf ports.

Progressive Club.

The Progressive club held its first meeting of the year with Misses Esther and Ruth Martinson when members enjoyed a no-hostess luncheon. During the afternoon letters were written to members who are away, Mrs. Laura Phipps at Wenatchee, Mrs. Ruth Perkins at Long Beach, and Mrs. John Luedke at Colfax. Mrs. F. S. Casebolt of Yakima, a former member of Progressives, was a guest.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. W. Burr.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Spurbeck of Dayton, Wash., came Sunday to spend a few days with their daughter, Mrs. Joe Doyle and family.

VOL. XLIV GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1932 NO. 15

WHEAT GROWERS CONSIDER SALE OF WHEAT TO CHINA

Genesee wheat growers have signed up approximately one-eighth of their crop for the Chinese sale following the mass meeting which was held at the Legion hall last Saturday evening, largely attended by cooperative and independent growers. It was expected that growers would sign up one-fourth of their crop for the proposed sale. Resolutions were also signed to be presented the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which organization is expected to finance a credit sale of 25,000,000 bushels of wheat.

M. S. Wilson explained the purpose of the meeting Saturday evening, and others who talked on the plan of sale were A. Carbuhn, A. C. Linehan, Fred Hove and Frank Hoorman, who said that the proposed deal was similar to the one made last year with China whereby a large portion of the wheat surplus in the northwest was disposed of, bringing the price of wheat in the Pacific Northwest higher than the price at Chicago. Should the Reconstruction Finance corporation decide to finances the sale, it is anticipated that similar benefits will result.

The agreements which growers were privileged to sign were assignments and agreements to deliver certain amounts of wheat to the local cooperative, subject to liens and mortgages, and giving the local authority to sell all or any part of the assigned wheat between October 1, 1932 and May 1, 1933, and to return to the grower the net proceeds on or before May 31, 1933. Two settlements were offered growers, (1) the price which would represent the average of all sales made to China over the period described, or (2) the market price of wheat on the date of the agreement was entered into. The plan as explained would be in the form of a pool, to be disposed of to China as occasion demanded.

The agreement is conditional upon the Farmers National Grain corporation or the agency completing the sale of any substantial amount of wheat from the Pacific Northwest, and in event the sale is not made, the agreement is null and void.

CRAWFORD MOORE BANKS IN S. IDAHO WILL REOPEN

Boise.—A plan for reopening the First National Bank of Idaho and its nine affiliated banks in southern Idaho and eastern Oregon, assuring depositors 100 cents on the dollar, was drawn up Monday by a committee of leading business men in cooperation with representatives of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Date of reopening was not announced, but it was stated all the affiliated banks would reopen with the First National.

The plan calls for regulated withdrawal and removal of all frozen assets by a subscription of $600,000 worth of capital of the bank.

Half of the stock was already subscribed, the committee announcement said, and the remainder will be offered to business men and investors of Boise.

All depositors with less than $200 may withdraw all or any part of their deposits immediately upon reopening of the bank under the plan outlined. Depositors with larger amounts may withdraw 25 per cent on reopening, another 25 per cent on or before July 1, 1933, 25 per cent on or before January 1, 1934, and 25 per cent on or before November 1, 1934. The deposits will draw 3 per cent interest from the time of reopening.

HON. BURTON L. FRENCH WILL SPEAK IN GENESEE

Hon. Burton L. French, representing Idaho in congress, and the republican candidate to succeed himself to that office, will speak in Genesee, Friday evening, October 14, at the Cozy theatre, according to an announcement Tuesday.

Congressman French in undoubtedly the leading speaker who will appear on either political party campaign program, and while it is not as yet known what his chosen subject will be, it is presumed that he will deal with national issues.

Having represented northern Idaho for many years and knowing many of the local voters personally, the attendance at the Cozy theatre on the evening of October 14, will be the largest to assemble here during the campaign.

Advertise With Cabbage.

Rogers Bros., growers of cabbage, turnips, rutabagas, carrots and other produce, hit on a novel idea of advertising last Spring. Prior to cultivating a field of turnips, on a side hill facing the north, they marked off a plot and formed the words, "Rogers Bros." with cabbage plants set out to form letters 6 feet by 12 feet. Two hundred and sixty-seven plants were required to make the letters, which at the present, with the plants at maturity and the turnip tops as a border, form a sign which is plainly visible for a considerable distance. The contrast in the shades of green of the two vegetables also gives a pleasing effect. The brothers have received favorable comment on their idea and have been benefited by the results of advertising.

UNEMPLOYED TO EXCHANGE LABOR FOR FARM PRODUCE

Members of the board of directors of the Farmers Union Producers have each received a letter from Noel B. Martin, Lewiston, explaining a proposal for exchange of farm produce for labor. A copy of the letter follows:

"I am writing you on behalf of a group of unemployed persons of Lewiston and Clarkston. Briefly, the group is made up of individuals whose means of livlihood have been swept away by the depression. They are not people who have heretofore been the recipients of charity nor are they now asking for charity. Each member of the group has placed his services and time at the disposal of an executive committee and will go and work when and where assigned by the committee. The returns from their labor will go to the group and not to the individuals, and the same will be distributed during the winter by the executive committee among the group.

"It is the desire of the committee to make contact with the growers of potatoes, wheat, cabbage, vegetables, fruit, etc., who can utilize the labor and time of these men and give the group in return of their produce in such quantities as the grower feels will be adequate and fair.

"I am writing you because I know that potatoes are grown in considerable quantities in your section and I trust that it will be possible to place sufficient of these individuals with the growers to enable the group to supply its needs for potatoes during the coming winter.

"I would appreciate it if you would let me know if you or anyone among your acquaintances could utilize labor in this manner. The executive committee will leave it to the grower's sense of fairness to give what would be a reasonable return for the labor.

"I would appreciate it if you would write me promptly, because I want to make my contacts and get the men distributed to supply the varied needs for the coming winter."

DISABLED VETERANS NAME OCT. 22 FORGET-ME-NOT DAY

Boise. — Announcement has been made by Elvin Dulaney, commander of the Idaho headquarters of Disabled Veterans of the World War that the annual Forget-Me-Not day of the organization will be held in this state on Saturday, October 22.

State officials have endorsed this drive, among them being Governor C. Ben Ross and State Commissioner of Education W. C. Vincent. Mr. Vincent have circularized high schools of the state, requesting their cooperation in this state-wide drive.

The funds collected as a result of the sale of these flowers are used entirely for rehabilitation purposes, the local and national rehabilitation officers assisting veterans of the World war in establishing that their disabilities are the direct result of World War service. This service handled 72,047 cases during the last year.

First Altar Society Meeting.

Members of the Altar Society of St. Mary's church met the first time since the summer vacation Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Otto Kretschmer. An exceptionally large number of members were present during the afternoon and made plans for the annual bazaar which this year will be held on Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 22.

Mrs. Kretschmer was assisted in serving a delicious luncheon by Mrs. Gus Fickens.

MOTOR CARS INCREASE THE COST OF STATE GOVERNMENT

That decade of years lying between 1910 and 1920, which encompassed the rapid development of the motor car from a luxury to a necessity and the most gigantic armed clash in the history of the world, was a period during which government costs have mounted with shocking rapidity, says Glen Balch, writing "Tax Topic," under the direction of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

Of Idaho's forty years of statehood those ten years are by far the worst offenders in the matter of governmental cost increases.

The legislature of 1909 appropriated for the biennial expenses of the state a total of $1,450,690. Ten years later, in 1919, the appropriations for the biennial expenses of state government amounted to $5,181,320,18, a net increase of 257 per cent. In comparison, state government costs during the succeeding decade, from 1920 to 1930, increased only 12 per cent, or from $5,181,320.18 to $5,845,213.51.

Roots Deep

These figures indicate that the tax troubles with which we are at present afflicted are by no means of recent origin but have their roots back in those days when war and a false condition of prosperity blinded us to actual financial values.

During the decade beginning with 1910 costs of every function of our general government mounted rapidly. The appropriation for general government purposes increased from $437,550 to $761,015.15. Protection of persons and property costs mounted from $97,540 to $325,232.07. Our government activities in development and conservation of natural resources, which required an outlay of $53,600 in 1910, received $824,633 ten years later.

Charity Costs Up

Charities and correction costs increased from $336,500 to $941,309 during the ten year period. Education costs mounted from $326,700 to $1,347,267.77, or slightly more than one million dollars in the ten years. Miscellaneous expenses increased from $39,000.00 to $359,626.53, and requirements for administration of the endowment funds jumped from $104,000 to $327,136.66.

During the succeeding ten years, from 1920 to 1930, the various legislatures seemed to have generally regained their financial equilibriums and expenses of most of the governmental functions were either maintained at the previous levels or in some instances were actually decreased. Most noteworthy decreases were the cost of development and conservation of natural resources, which declined from $824,633 to $371,629.88, and miscellaneous expenses, which were reduced from $359,626.53 to $135,988.23.

School Costs Grow.

Costs of education and charities and correction, however, moved on steadily upward during the second decade at a rate about the same as that of the ten-year period from 1910 to 1920. Charities and correction costs, expended for the penitentiary, industrial school, asylums and eleemosynary purposes, increased from $941,309 to $1,220,567.72, or about $280,000.

Educational costs, for the university, the southern branch and the two normal schools, mounted to $1,347,267.77 in 1920 to $2,402,977.30 in 1930, an increase of slightly more than a million dollars. During the 20-year period from 1910 to 1930, the biennial contributions from state funds for educational purposes increased more than two million dollars.

Recapitulation of these figures shows that of the $5,845,213.51 spent by the state government through appropriations during the biennium of 1929-1930, more than $3,600,000 went for charity, correction and educational purposes. Eight hundred thousand dollars was expended for general government purposes and the remainder, about $2,400,000, was used for the other seven governmental functions—protection of persons and property, development and conservation of natural resources, health and sanitation, highway administration, recreation, administration of endowments and miscellaneous.

Missionary Society.

Missionary society meets at the home of Mrs. Wm. Heinrich Tuesday, October 4. Mrs. Dick Green will be assistant hostess, with Mrs. Stout and Mrs. H. F. Smith, leaders.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING SEPT. 23

Domestic wheat markets strengthened slightly during the week ending September 23, influenced by lighter offerings of cash grain and fairly steady foreign markets, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Flax was lightly lower, but the light offerings were readily taken by crushers. Oats and barley were steady on lighter receipts.

World wheat markets held fairly steady despite heavy Canadian marketings and liberal offerings of native wheat from record harvests in several European importing countries. About 112,000,000 bushels, or an amount equal to about 28 per cent of this season's wheat crop, were marketed in Canada from August 1 to September 21, according to trade estimates. The grain is moving rapidly into export channels, however, at fairly steady prices.

Russian shipments decreased sharply during the week and totaled only 952,000 bushels. Deliveries of Russian grain by growers have been very small, with only about one-fourth of the yearly plan procured by the middle of September. Southern hemisphere oerings were not burdensome, with Argentine exports for the week reported at 1,245,000 bushels, and Australian exports at 2,538,000 bushels.

Pacific Coast wheat markets were steady to higher. Marketings in the states of Wahington and Oregon remained of only moderate volume and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled 868 cars, or about 50 cars less than for the corresponding week last year. In addition to the carlot receipts, about 8000 bushels were received at Portland by truck and 9000 bushels by river boat. No new foreign business was reported either at Portland or Seattle, since both Canadian and Australian exporters were underselling U. S. exporters in the Orient and Europe. Three more cargoes of Canadian wheat were reported sold to Shanghai at Vancouver, at prices well below quotations at Portland. Domestic mills were fairly active buyers and a moderate inquiry also prevailed from California mills and feeders.

Offerings of native wheat were quite liberal in France and prices at Paris declined about 5 cents a bushel. German and Italian markets were about steady despite abundant local supplies. European wheat generally is lower in moisture than last season and is harder and of better quality and gluten content. Western Germany, Silesia, central Czzechoslovakia and the Danubian countries wheat is of heavier test weight than last year but eeast of this region much of the wheat is very light in weight because of rust damage.

MR. AND MRS. G. H. ROSENAU MOTORING TO CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rosenau left Thursday morning for Santa Ana, California where they will visit their daughters, Mrs. Alfrieda Schwartz, and Mrs. Ben Dumeress, and a number of friends. This is the fourth trip made to California by Mr. and Mrs. Rosenau. They plan to return to Genesee about April 15 next year.

From Genesee they went to Lewiston and from there to Pendleton the first day. Continuing what is planned as a five-day motor trip, they will travel over the Columbia highway to Biggs, Oregon, and take the cut-off through Bend to Klamath Falls.

While they are away, their son, Walter will be assisted at the ranch by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ranchy of Coulee City, Wash.

MRS. GEHRKE PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. Pauline Gehrke passed away shortly after 1 o'clock Thursday morning, following a stroke Tuesday night.

Funral arrangements made following notification of relatives include short services at the home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon followed by a service at St. John's Lutheran church.

ERVIN FLOMER INJURED.

Ervin Flomer, an employee of the Max Kuney Construction company, operating near Colton, Wash., received injuries to his side and back and suffered cuts about the face when a towing cable on the baggily broke. Mr. Flomer was working on the platform of the crusher and was rendered unconscious for a few minutes. He was rushed to a doctor, and may be able to resume work Monday.

First Issue of Pierce-Weippe News.

Number 1, Volume I. the first issue of the Pierce-Weipee News has made its appearance. The new publication is the product of the News Publishing Company, W. T. Marineau, Elk River, manager, and H. R. Bailey, Pierce, editor. The office of the new Clearwater county weekly is in the Pierce hotel building. The newspaper is five 13-em columns wide and 18 inches deep, four pages, and is well printed and edited. It's purpose, according to Mr. Marineau is to assist in the growth of the two communities and is not for political interests. Mr. Marineau is the republican candidate for state senator from Clearwater county.

CONSTRUCTION OF PROJECT NO 3 ASSURED BY GOVERNOR

Assurance that Farm-to-Market Highway Project No. 3 would be undertaken this Fall, was given Tuesday by Governor C. Ben Ross, in a telegram to Edwin Smolt. The telegram read as follows: "Work on project three, Genesee District, will commence within 30 days. Engineers at work now.—C. Ben Ross."

The project mentioned is the four miles in the northern portion of the Genesee Highway District.

Project No. 1, now becoming well known, as the section lying between the Jim Magee ranch and the Lenville district boundary and approximately three miles in the Lenville district, is now under construction, with about twenty men employed. Work is being done entirely by men and horses and it is estimated that Project No. 1 will require about sixty days' labor. About 50 men have applied for work, and they are being routed in shifts of 32 hours each, that every man unemployed may have an opportunity to participate in the work. Wages have been set at 45c per hour for all, with the exception of the foreman, Joe Tobin, who is in the employ of the state.

Differences arising over obtaining a right-of-way have been ironed out, Mr. Roth, who owns a ranch over which the survey was made, consenting to granting a right-of-way without cost to the highway district.

GENESEE LOSES OPENING FOOTBALL GAME 33 TO 6

(By Coach Paul Parks)

The opening of the Genesee high school's football season was not too successful from the score standpoint as Clarkston took the long end of a 33-6 count last Friday at Clarkston.

The Clarkston boys scored in the first six minutes, but never crossed Genesee's goal line again in that half. In the third quarter, with passes and end runs the pigskin was laid on the Clarkston two-yard line, by a twenty-five yard run, Robert Broemmeling taking the ball. Smylie bucked the line for the remaining two yards. The attempted goal was missed. That quarter ended 14 to 6.

In the final quarter, with the Genesee boys in not too good condition and Clarkston's team made up of reserves, who were fresh, they piled up nineteen points. Two fumbles by Genesee that were recovered by Clarkston, aided in the scoring.

The line showed much need of practice and drill in blocking and tackling practice also requires more practice. This would be expected of an early season game, however, yet many excellent displays of football were evident. Genesee high has plenty of speed in the backfield, with the two Brommeling brothers on the ball. B. Wishard and Aherin showed up well at ends, considering Aherin has never played before. Klemm, Roach and Herman spilled many plays from the tackle positions, although bucking heavier men. Flamoe and Blume worked the center position. Smylie and Wagner together with the Broemmeling brothers, composed Genesee's "pany" backfield. With conscientious training and conditioning all the teams that capture the long ends of scores from now on will be displaying a very good brand of football.

Play Lapwai Saturday

The high school football team will journey to Culdesac this Saturday, October 1, to meet the Lapwai team in a football game that the Culdesac people are sponsoring in connection with their Corn Festival. Lapwai defeated Lewiston last week, 13-7, so this game will be one of Genesee's hardest.

Orofino Here October 5

Wednesday, October 5, local fans will have an opportunity of seeing the locals display their wares on the athletic field when Orofino invades Genesee territory. The Wednesday date was set, due to the fact that Orofino has no school Thursday and Friday during teachers' institute at Lewiston.

This game promises to afford a good demonstration of fast football as both teams are light and fast.

October 14 Conference Opening

October 14 is the opening date of the Valley Conference when Potlatch comes to Genesee.

October 21 sees another big game for the locals. The Pomeroy high school team will come to Genesee on that date with a heavier aggregation than the local representation. Last year Pomeroy defeated Genesee, 8 to 0 on the Pomeroy field. This is a home game and should find the boys at the peak.

We are holding expenses at a minimum this year. We are attempting to produce teams in both football and basketball at a low price of $2.00 a ticket for the season, including admission to both football and basketball. The same price holds good for both students and adults.

We are also attempting to make it possible for all people in and around Genesee to witness these athletic events and hope that by your support you will make it possible for us to continue our athletic program.

Don't forget the three home games: Orofino, Wednesday, October 5; Potlatch, Friday, October 14, and Pomeroy, Friday, October 21.

F. A. SMITH NOW IN CHARGE GENESEE EXCHANGE BANK

F. A. Smith, former cashier of the First Bank of Genesee, received the appointment Friday as liquidator of the Genesee Exchange Bank, and has qualified and furnished bond to the commisioner of finance, Ben Diefendorf, who made the appointment. Mr. Smith was placed in charge Wednesday following the arrival here of Ben Wheeler, Boise, state bank examiner.

At an early date, presumably October 6, a notice will be published, an official notification to depositors to file their claims with the liquidator. Ninety days' time will be allowed for filing of these claims.

"He therefore answered, whether he is a sinner, I know not: One thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see." Jn. 9. 25.

More sharply defined limits between a former state and a present cannot be imagined than those that characterized the life of the blind man whose eyes were opened by Jesus at the pool of Siloam. He had reason to say, "Whereas I was blind, now I see." An entirely new world had been opened to his view. He had certainly heard descriptions of surrounding objects from his parents and others, and he had formed his own conceptions of them; but when his eyes were opened and he saw all things, how different they must have seemed from what he had imagined them to be. With regard to the opening of our spiritual eyes, how blessed it is to be able to confess with the blind man, "I was blind, now I see." There are indeed more than enough of persons who know exactly how everything ought to be, but who themselves have never experienced the thorough change that takes place in conversion. There are also a number of doubtful conversions where no decided change is discernible; while still others of peculiar spiritual character speak of a conversion that took place at such and such a time in the past, but who at the present time give no clear evidence that they are the children of God. John's ninth chapter gives some of the distinguishing marks of a real conversion. The friends and neighbors bear testimony to the change that has taken place in the man. The conversion of a man must be considered doubtful if it does not make itself evident to his nearest associates. Furthermore, we notice the confession of the man himself, which may be summed up thus: What has taken place has been done by the Lord, to Him alone belongs all the glory. In relating the story of their conversion, many men, in order to gain honor for themselves, dwell particularly on how everything has taken place. This is not as it should be; to Jesus alone belongs the Glory. Besides these distinguishing marks, we find also the bitter antagonism of the world and a growing knowledge of the Lord Jesus. At first the man knew only that his benefactor was "called Jesus"; afterwards he said He was "a prophet," and that He was "of God"; and finally He fell down and worshipped the Lord as "the Son of God." Is this also your confession: "One thing I know, that whereas I was blind, now I see!"

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO WILL OBSERVE 40th ANNIVERSARY

University of Idaho—October 12 is a red-letter day in the history of the University of Idaho. It marks the fortieth anniversary of the opening of the institution.

The school which its founders envisioned as the foundation of a great university, opened in the partially completed wing of the old administration building, without books, desks or equipment of any kind. About 40 students, all of preparatory school standing, appeared for classwork the first day. Registration was on an architect's table, the only piece of furniture in the building. Several in that first student body could hardly write their names.

The fortieth anniversary ceremonies will be featured by the return of John E. Ostrander, first faculty member at the university, who held the professorship in civil engineering and mechanic arts. The staff of the university at the opening consisted of President F. B. Gault, now deceased, and Professor Ostrander. The latter is now head of the mathematics department at Massachusetts State college.

The University of Idaho was officially created by act of the Fifteenth Territorial Legislature, approved on January 30, 1889, which makes the University of Idaho actually older than the state itself. Considerable time was consumed in providing a physical plant and actual registration did not start until October 3, 1892, with classwork commencing nine days later. The unfinished building which housed the infant University of Idaho stood in the midst of a plowed field.

According to records, Dr. Jesse L. Raines, a member of the class of 1901, was the first to enroll. Dr. Raines now is a practicing physician in Seattle. The first graduating class in 1896, was four in number, exactly 400 less than the class of 1932, the largest in the history of the university. U. S. Senator W. E. Borah, then a rising young lawyer, delivered the first commencement address. Three living members of the this first class have been invited to attend the anniversary celebration and to be guests of honor on the occasion. Dr. C. L. Kirtley, physician at Challis; A. P. Adair, Long Island, New York, building contractor; and Mrs. Wilson Johnson (Florence M. Corbett), Portland, Ore., are the living member of the first class. Mrs. S. Roberts (Stella M. Allen) is deceased.

Hard times accompanied the panic of 1893, adding to Idaho's crop failure woes. Despite the difficulties of this first depression in the university grew. The outbreak of the Spanish-American war drew 39 volunteers from the small student body, more in proportion to enrollment than any university in the United States. An imposing statue near the center of the campus commemorates the memories of two who never returned.

Dark days followed the burning of the old administration building, on March 30, 1906. Fire broke out at night and only gaunt, smoking walls were standing the following morning. Students and faculty were bewildered ad somewhat hopeless, but an unfailing optimism prevailed and classes were carried on everywhere in town where vacant rooms could be found. Great was the rejoicing when Governor F. R. Gooding wired that the university building would be replaced immediately. The campus literally went wild with joy. The new administration building was completed in 1908 and is known today as one of the most attractive college edifices in the west. Idaho's campus, too, is famed for its beauty.

Growth of the University of Idaho during the 40 years of its existence has been slow but steady. By 1900 the collegiate enrollment had reached 100; 26 years ago it had reached 200; 21 years ago it had reached 300; 16 years ago it was 500; and 12 years ago it passed the 1000 mark. Eight years ago enrollment exceeded 1500. Last year the enrollment on the campus during the regular university year was 1948. This record of growth is astonishing when it is considered that prior to the World War the University had an enrollment of only about 500. The last student body at the university was four times that of 1916-17. Counting all extension, short course, and summer session students, the university had 1007 students in 1915-16. By 1920-1925 the total number had reached 2,000, and last year was 2560.

From the days 40 years ago, when 40 students opened the first textbooks in the University of Idaho until the close of the 1931-32 college year last June, more than 12,500 persons have been students at the University of Idaho in the regular college courses. Approximately one-third of this number, 4,000 completed the work for the university degree. Scores of students whose names are found in university records of the past 40 years now are holding prominent posts in public and industrial circles throughout the world.

Popcorn On The Ear.

Uniontown people will soon be eating popcorn on the ear. According to the Unitontown Journal a freak ear of popcorn brought to the Journal office last week by Matt Schumaker would lead anyone not familiar with the ideal climate of the Uniontown country to believe that this section experiences some real torrid weather. The ear of corn, which is well filled out with kernels, has about half of the seeds already nicely popped, although they still adhere to the cob. Matt says he cannot account for the peculiarity other than it might be a self-popping variety.

C. A. Kramer Transferred.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kramer, who have made their home in Seattle the last three years, arrived in Genesee last Wednesday for a short visit before going to their new location at South Santa Maria, Mich.

Mr. Kramer has been chief engineer on a government boat near Seattle, and has been transferred to a similar position on the Great Lakes. Mrs. Kramer's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hanson. They are making the trip east by auto.

Attend Funeral of Grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Beckman attended funeral services at Asotin Monday for the late J. M. Rimel, the former's grandfather. Returning, Mr. and Mrs. Beckman were accompanied by Mrs. Rimel who will make an extended visit in Genesee.

Mr. Rimel, who came west from Missouri in 1889 and homesteaded a tract in Wallowa county, Ore., near Flora, and who went to Asotin to live in 1903, died at his home at 8:15 o'clock Saturday night. He was among the best known citizens of Asotin county.

Born at Hagestown, Md., June 29, 1847, he moved with his parents to West Virginia, later living in Indiana and Missouri. He was married to Miss Polly Singleton July 16, 1868.

He is survived by a widow, a son and two daughters, P. G. Rimel and Mrs. A. C. Beckman, both of Asotin, and Mrs. G. W. Johnson of Flora; also 15 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Grade School News

The fifth grade language class has been studying verbs and the correct way to use them in sentences. Monday we had a contest between the boys and girls. The boys won with a score of 9 to 3.

Lucille Currin enrolled in the sixth grade Monday.

The sixth graders have read the story, "The King of the Golden Rule." The pupils made illustrations for each part. The best were posted on the bulletin board. Some of the pupils whose drawings were posted were: Bonnie Hayden, Glenn Osmundson, Dorothy Follett, William Foster and Donald Emerson.

This month the pupils in our room are studying the poem "September." Friday, during art period, we will draw a picture to illustrate one of the stanzas.

Plenty Sauerkraut in One Head.

A lot of sauerkraut could be made from the cabbage that has been grown on the farm of W. G. Geltz of Alderwood Manor, near Seattle, Wash. The huge head tips the scales at 31½ pounds, and is of the Copenhagen Market variety and was grown without irrigation, Mr. Geltz states. Mr. Geltz is a former resident of Genesee, a brother of Chas. Geltz.

Defenbach Goes to Southern Idaho.

In his proposal to reduce taxes in Idaho to the extent of 25 per cent he states that this can be done with discontinuance of the cabinet form of government and by the consolidation of several appointive offices with those of elective offices, and the complete abandonment of the department of public welfare. He further stated that this reduction could be accomplished without the people realizing it as far as services are concerned.

POLITICS BASIS FOR TAXATION.

Boise Pioneer: An editorial in the Caldwell News-Tribune points quite a moral in regard to the way the annual levy is fixed by the county authorities. It seems that Canyon county is delinquent on the states taxes. But read what Editor Michaelson has to say about it:

"For the first time in many years, Canyon county is delinquent on the taxes that must be paid the state. This county still owes $31,046 of a total assessment made by the state against this county of $151,046.

"There is no evading the state tax. It must be paid by the counties whether the tax levy raises it or not. The final day of reckoning may be postponed. It cannot be evaded.

"Canyon county commissioners last Septemtber made a state levy of 60 cents per $100 valuation to pay state taxes. The year before it was 50 cents. Valuations declined during the interim and a 60 cent levy wasn't enough to raise what Canyon county must pay the state. Mr. Gallet, the state auditor, says that 65 cents was required and that even this levy wouldn't have been enough unless all of the taxes due in December and June were paid.

"What happened in Canyon county is simply this: Canyon county commissioners didn't make the state levy high enough to pay a bill that they knew had to be paid. They played politics when they should have had the courage to run the county on a business basis. For, in this instance, not one single thing is to be gained by failure to levy enough for that purpose. The state tax has to be paid. If there isn't enough money in the state tax fund for that purpose, it must come from any other county fund where there is enough cash to pay it.

"In the past The News-Tribune has had something to say about the politics of the county tax situation. Here is a concrete example of political eggs that hatched and came home to roost.

"What Canyon county most sorely needs is a board of county commissioners who have the courage to manage the county on a business, instead of a political basis."

The meat of the matter is contained in the last paragraph. Canyon isn't the only county. It's merely in this case the "awful example." Boards of county commissioners seem to think that they just must either cut the preceding levy or ,at any rate, must not increase it.

Canyon is one of the most prosperous agricultural counties in the state. It has a smaller percentage of farmers suffering seriously from the economic situation than has any other county in the state in proportion to its farming population. But the situation complained of is typical of many counties, although with less excuse. As Mike says—what we need is taxing authorities who will manage the several units on a business basis instead of on a political basis.

Gain Physical Vigor — Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle with Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast — cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts four weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so glorious energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world. ad

DRIVE FORD CAR 33,301 MILES IN 31 DAYS ON DESERT ROUTE

Eddie Pullen and his crew drove a new Ford V-8 33,301 miles in thirty-three days, four hours, thirty-five minutes, the equivalent of three years normal driving in one month. The run was made near Rosamond, California, in the heart of the Mojave Desert, between June 6 and July 9.

Other interesting statistics connected with the trial run are: The car averaged 41.8 miles an hour throughout the entire distance. It made 19.64 miles to the gallon of gasoline and consumed only 1½ pints of oil to a thousand miles. The first set of tires averaged 27,625 miles with some mileage left at time of replacement. The car was driven at the rate of a thousand miles a day for the entire distance, one and a thirtl times round the world, and the desert temperature soared to 110, 112 and even 114 degrees. While three regular drivers covered the major portion of the mileage, more than 150 interested spectators piloted the car for nearly five thousand miles.

THE GENESEE NEWS

VOL. XLIV — GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1932 — NO. 16

ADVENTURE IN PERILOUS TRIP DOWN SNAKE RIVER

Rather than abandon a new 16 foot open row boat, constructed especially by John Rainey of Pullman for Clay Rinehart, Ernest Kraut, Otis Price and Jack Vandenburg, for the purpose of reaching mining claims down Snake river from Homestead, Oregon, Harold Thomas of Kendrick and Jack Vandenburg of Genesee, brought the boat safely to Lewiston Friday evening after spending six days navigating the treacherous waters and rapids of Snake river for a distance of 123 miles.

The boat is constructed of spruce and oak, is 16 feet in length and 56 inches wide, has a round bottom and will take about 18 inches of water.

Thomas and Vandenburg, left Genesee, September 19 with the boat, loaded on a truck and trailer, and on the following day put the boat into the Snake river about six miles downstream from Homestead where they left the truck at Red Ledge Mines. Little or difficulty was experienced in reaching the site of the mining claims, but after spending two days at the properties, it was impossible to row and line the boat back to the base of their operations. Having a fair supply of provisions, the two young men, rather than leave the boat and walk back to Red Ledge, after some deliberation, chose to pilot the craft to Lewiston and return later for the truck and trailer. Boats have been known to make the trip from Homestead to Lewiston under the guidance of experienced hands, but this is the first time a small craft has been successful in an attempt to make the voyage. It is also the first boat of any kind to make the trip in the last two years, Mr. Vandenburg said, and it will be some time before it is attempted again by him.

Once started on the perilous trip down Snake river it was impossible to return and save the boat, as the party soon entered the famous Box Canyon, some 30 miles in length, with precipitous walls reaching thousands of feet above water level. It is the wildest section of the west, said Vandenburg; fewer people live in the section than elsewhere in the States, and there being no trees on the canyon walls, the section is desolate in appearance, with its almost endless reaches of rocks and brush. Deer are plentiful along Snake river as far as Grand Ronde, and the two men saw a number of mink, coon and otter and several mountain sheep. Ducks were everywhere along the river, even in the canyon and two sturgeon were seen in the waters, one of which it was thought would measure six feet, it being the smaller of the two. The river is the boundary line of the states of Idaho and Oregon, and where it was possible to look out on the country large herds of cattle were seen on the Idaho side and thousands of sheep were grazing on the Oregon side.

Ranchers with whom the two men came in contact during their trip from Homestead to Lewiston apparently failed to recognize the effects of the depression, said Vandenburg. Their requirements are few, and when they need groceries or clothing they take in a steer or two or several sheep and return to their simple life on the range and canyon sections.

Taking with them only provisions sufficient to last a few days, the men did only their assesment work, but are of the belief that in a not too far distant time rapids in the river will be removed to permit passage by boat from Lewiston to Homestead. At the present time it is impossible to reach the mining claims by packing in either by boat or horse and carry supplies enough to last any reasonable length of time. Engineers were making a survey of the river with possibilities of opening the river to traffic, Vandenburg said, but the outcome will not be known for some time.

Finding it impossible to return up Snake river once the trip was started the two men experienced plenty of difficulties, thrills and danger. Lacking experience in Snake river navigation the adventurers encountered rapids from 50 feet to 100 yards in length, with white caps rising 6 feet and more in the air, treating the boat and its occupants roughtly. A distance above Johnson's Bar, the boat became uncontrollable and in turning crosswise to the current partially capsized and soaked the supplies, and also dumped part of them into the waters. After bringing the craft from the surging rapids, the men again

Returns to Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Scharnhorst, who have been making their home in Clarkston for the past twenty years, have returned to the Genesee community and are living on their farm west of town. Mr. Scharnhorst, one of the pioneers of this section, has been a frequent visitor to Genesee, and at several times has expressed the thought that he might return and actively engage in farming his own place. He is indeed welcomed back to this community.

Frank Fuchs has been farming the place for several years.

SERVICES FOR MRS. PAULINE GEHRKE HELD LAST SUNDAY

The many friends of Mrs. Pauline Gehrke and family were grieved to learn of her death last Thursday morning, following a stroke of apoplexy Tuesday, September 27, which affected her entire left side. Hopes of recovery were held, but the end came September 29 at 1:19 a. m. with no apparent suffering as she passed to her reward.

Pauline Augusta Erdmann Gehrke was born in Westpreusen, Germany, February 19, 1862, and was baptized on March 9 of the same year and confirmed May 25, 1876, a member throughout life of the Lutheran church. She lived in Westpreusen until she was eighteen when she came to the United States and became the wife of John E. Gehrke on July 28, 1880, at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. This union was blessed with thirteen children who are as follows: Mrs. C. S. Montee, Spokane, Wash.; Edward L. Gehrke, Lewiston; Mrs. Dick Nebelsieck, Hugo A. Gehrke, Mrs. John Flomer, George W. Gehrke, John P. Gehrke, Walter H. Gehrke, all of Genesee; Mrs. R. M. Gibbs, Uniontown, Wash.; Mrs. Lee Bradley, Portland, Ore. and Mrs. Alfred Flomer, New York City; also Mrs. Evangeline Haggerty and Ellen Pauline Gehrke, who with Mr. Gehrke, preceded their mother in death.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Gehrke made their home at Blue Earth, Minn., until 1901, when they moved to the West, settling on a ranch near Genesee. After Mr. Gehrkes' death in 1912, Mrs. Gehrke made her home at Lewiston, Spokane and Genesee until her death. She was at that time 70 years, seven months and 10 days of age.

Besides her children, she also leaves to mourn her passing five sisters, Mrs. Emil Rosenau, Blue Earth, Minnesota; Mrs. William Dietert, Ellsworth, Wisconsin; Mrs. Fred Rafeld, Green Bay, Wisconsin; Mrs. Charlie Walters and Mrs. Herman Eisbrenner, both of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. She also leaves 30 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the home and at the St. Johns' Lutheran church, with interment in St. Johns' cemetery. Services were conducted by the Rev. A. H. Klickmann, patsor of St. John's The body rested in the church amidst a profusion of beautiful flowers.

Assisting in the service was the St. John's choir composed of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Tabor, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Meyer, Mrs. Fred Meyer, Mrs. Ernest Reisemer, Paul Dinson and Carl Flomer, accompanied at the pipe organ by Mrs. A. H. Klickmann. Mrs. Reisemer and Mr. Tabor also sang a duet, "The Old Rugged Cross," by special request.

MR. AND MRS. H. T. SMITH MOVE TO NEZ PERCE COUNTY

H. T. Smith, who for a number of years has been farming the Mel Smith place northeast of Genesee, moved Thursday to the former Mel Smith ranch, 8 miles east of Lewiston. He has purchased the 600-acre tract and is now sowing his fall crop of wheat. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Smith regret their leaving the Genesee community, but wish them success in their new home. Before leaving Mr. Smith said he would be very busy this fall with his farm work and the construction of a new dwelling.

Otto Schwenne, who has been farming in the Uniontown section for a term of years, has taken a lease with an option to purchase the place vacated by Mr. Smith. He has been moving his livestock, equipment and household goods to Genesee this week. Mr. Schwenne has a family.

MR. AND MRS R. F. LAMBERT MOVING TO DEER PARK, WN.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lambert of Deer Park, Wash., were in Genesee the first of this week and left Wednesday, accompanied by the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lambert, who will make their home at Deer Park. A modern home has been acquired by the son for the elder Mr. and Mrs. Lambert, and while they were reluctant to leave the old homestead, it is expected they will soon become acquainted in their new surroundings and enjoy the later days of life with its modern conveniences and relief from a rather strenuous ranch life. The entire community, and especially those intisately acquainted with the real early pioneers will regret their removal, but will not deny them wishes for contentment and good health in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lambert came to the Pine Grove community in the year 1878 from California. They were then recently married and became one of the early homesteaders. The claim upon which they settled and which has been their home continuously for 54 years has been free of encumbrance during the entire time and the patent issued by the government was taken from a safety deposit box Tuesday afternoon when it was noted that on it appeared no notations of lien of any sort, nor has there been any delinquent taxes assessed against the old homestead. Mr. Lambert proved up on the claim in 1884, taking six years time as was the privilege then. Reviewing their three-quarters of a century of life in California and Idaho, the son told of the early days in Pine Grove when its residents were compelled to mraket their produce in Lewiston, making the trip back and forth in four days, and of the yearly trip made by the entire family as the vacation. Seven children were born to Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lambert, four of whom are now living.

Because of recent ill health the elder Mr. Lambert is holding a public auction at his farm seven miles east of Genesee or 1 mile north of the Pine Grove school on the Potlatch road. He has selected Wednesday, October 12 at the date when he will dispose of his livestock, farm machinery and some household goods. The place is now partially under lease by Frank Jones, but the remainder on which is located the home and buildings, and 20 acres of hay, orchard and garden land,. together with approximately 45 acres of pasture will be rented to a suitable person on the day of sale.

BUY ALL CHINA WHEAT FROM PACIFIC NORTHWEST

All of the wheat it is proposed to sell to the Chinese national government will be purchased in the northwest, Henry W. Collins, vice president of Farmers National Grain corporation, in charge of coast operations, said Tuesday upon his return to Portland from a conference in Chicago.

Mr. Collins would not venture a prediction as to when an announcement of the sale might be expected, although he was encouraged to believe it was not far away.

At the same time A. C. Adams, treasurer and manager of North Pacific Grain Growers, announced the date for closing the pool as Wednesday, October 12. He assured Mr. Collins of sufficient wheat to complete early deliveries in the event the sale is made. It is expected that the pool will contribute, on every delivery to China, only that proportion which the total pool bears to the total China sale.

Birthday Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koster and family, who motored to Moscow for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Koster a week ago Sunday, were surprised by the arrival of a number of Genesee friends who wished to help Mr. Koster celebrate his birthday anniversary. Congratulations were also extended to little Miss Inge Dinson, who birthday occurred on the same day. A go-hostess dinner was served at noon. Making the trip to Moscow from Genesee were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dinson and Inge, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pleiman and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vanouck and daughters.

Blue Bird Club.

The Blue Bird club will be entertained next Tuesday, October 11, by Mrs. Henry Morscheck.

GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING OCT. 1

Domestic wheat markets reflected the weakness in the foreign situation during the last week in September and prices of most classes declined slightly, compared with a week ago. Continued heavy offerings of Canadian wheat, a light European demand as a result of record crops in important deficit countries, fairly large shipments from Russia and the generally favorable progress of the southern hemisphere crops, were the principal weakening influences. Feed grains were dull on a continued slow demand. Flax remained independently firm.

No Foreign Demand

The reduced European demand for foreign wheat remains the outstanding feature in the general wheat market situation. World shipments during August and September were only a little over one-half as large as for the corresponding period during the past two seasons and reflect the unusually large crops in Germany, Italy, France and Spain. Canada is at present furnishing the bulk of the world's exports and the pressure of Canadian offerings has been principally responsible for recent declines.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific coast markets remained quiet but futures at Portland did not follow fluctuations at Chicago. The Sept. delivery closed at Portland on Sept. 30 at 1 1-8c higher than a week ago while the December-May deliveries were ½ to 1c lower. Strength in the Sept. delivery reflected the tight cash situation. Country marketings continued relatively light, receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaling only 616 cars for the week compared with 1,148 cars for the corresponding week last year. In addition to the car receipts 9,000 bushels were received at Portland by river boat and 5,600 by auto truck. Domestic mills provided the principal outlet since no new export business was reported. Local prices continued above Canadian and Australian offerings both in the Orient and Europe. Three cargoes of Canadian wheat was reported sold at Vancouver to Shanghai during the week, with some business each day to the United Kingdom.

European Markets

European markets for native wheat held about unchanged but prices for foreign wheats at Liverpool were slightly lower. French millers were reported to be buying cautiously with compulsory flour extraction lowered to 66 per cent and are required to use 37 per cent native wheat in milling mixtures. German mills in the interior districts are reported to be fairly well supplied with domestic wheat but seaboard mills were moderate buyers of Canadian grain. Takings of foreign wheat however, are limited, since not more than 30 per cent may be used in milling mixtures. Italian wheat crop is now officially placed at 276,000,000 bushels or about 16,000,000 bushels over the preceding high record of 260,000,000 bushels produced in 1929. The natural weight of the wheat is reported lower than a year ago. Italian mills are required to use 95 per cent of native wheat in milling mixtures. British millers are reported using heavy percentages of Manitobas. At the close of the week German milling wheat was quoted at Hamburg at $1.40, French wheat at Paris at $1.19 and Italian wheat at Milan at $1.50 per bushel. No. 1 Manitoba Northern for October shipment from Vancouver sol dat London at 56c and Australian afloat at 61½c per bushel. No. 2 Manitoba Spring from Atlantic ports was quoted at Liverpool at 56 3-4c, and Argentine Rosafe at 58¼c per bushel. Argentine exports for the week totaled 769,000 bushels, Australian exports 1,402,000 bushels and Russian shipments from Black Sea ports 1,912,000 bushels.

MISS HOPE MICHELSEN AND MR. JACK McNEIL MARRIED

Miss Hope Michelsen, daughter of Mrs. Marie Michelsen and Mr. Jack McNeil of Bonners Ferry, Idaho, were married Friday at Colfax, Wash., by the Methodist minister of that place.

The bride is a graduate of the Genesee high school and after taking teacher's training became a successful teacher in the schools at Craigmont, Copeland and Gooding, Idaho. It was while teaching at Copeland, near Bonners Ferry, that she met Mr. McNeil.

They will make their home on a farm near Bonners Ferry.

Unusual Card Hands.

Unusual hands dealt players at a table of bridge last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Hanson, would have netted each bidder a grand slam. Mrs. Frank Hoorman held 9 clubs with 100 honors and 4 hearts with 2 honors; her partner, Mrs. Fred Shirrod, held 9 hearts with 3 honors and 4 clubs. Their opponents, Mrs. Wood Gash, held 9 diamonds with 80 honors and 4 spades with 3 honors; and Mrs. John G. Meyer, held 9 spades with 2 honors and 4 diamonds with 1 honor.

Mrs. Fred Shirrod was the successful bidder for 7 hearts, making a grand slam and 50 in honors.

MISS AILEEN ZELL BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. ERNEST KRAUT

At an informal wedding, to which only immediate friends and relatives were invited, Miss Aileen Zell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Zell, and Mr. Ernest Kraut, son of Mr. Chas. Kraut, were married at St. Mary's church at high noon, Wednesday. The marriage ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Fr. B. J. Carey.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, beautifully played on the pipe organ by Mrs. Antoinette Hordemann. The ushers, Harold Zell, a brother of the bride, and Elmer Kraut, brother of the groom, entered first, followed by Miss Fern Robertson, maid of honor. The bride entered on the arm of her father and was met at the altar by the groom, attended by his brother, Lawrence Kraut.

The bride was attractively gowned in a suit of russet red travel crepe with hat and accessories in brown. She wore a beautiful shoulder bouquet of bronze roses and bridal pearls and carried a white lace handkerchief, an heirloom of Mrs. Zell's family. The maid of honor was attired in a gown of russet red with hat to match. Her corsage contained bronze roses and little chrysanthemums.

Immediately following the ceremony they retired from the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, driving thence to the home of the bride's parents, where an informal reception was held. The home was attractively decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers. After the reception the bridal couple left for a honeymoon trip through the southern part of Idaho. On their return they will be at home in Genesee.

Out-of-town guests present at the ceremony and reception were: Mrs. Frank Zell, Spokane, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Almer Wilson, Spokane, uncle and aunt; Miss Theresa Kraut, Spokane, sister of the groom; Miss Elizabeth Kern, aunt of the groom; Harold Zell, Spokane, and Miss Ruby Trochmann, Rosalia, Wn. Other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kraut, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Rinehart and Russell; Miss Mary Mulalley, Miss Esther Clark, Mrs. Grant Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGarvey and Frank Wilson.

SAM WHEATCRAFT INJURED WHEN TEAM RUNS AWAY

Sam Wheatcraft of Dent, Idaho, who has been employed on the O. V. Johnson ranch, narrowely escaped fatal injuries last Thursday noon when he was thrown under a disc. Severe wounds were received on his head and face and his body was bruised where it came in contact with the blades.

Mr. Wheatcraft was just completing a half day's work and was hitching the team of several horses when a line broke, frightening one of the younger horses. The man attempted, it is presumed, to quiet the animals by going to their heads, but they turned sharply and threw him under the machine. Mr. Wheatcraft, witnesses said, was able to rise to his feet when the team made a circle of the field and stopped before him. He was holding the team when Fred Hove came to his assistance, who, with Mr. Johnson's help, took him to the Johnson home where first aid was administered and a doctor summoned. Mr. Wheatcraft was then taken to a Moscow hospital where a number of stitches were taken to close the wounds.

At latest reports the man was recovering satisfactorily and would be returned to the Johnson home and remain for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Johnson and children and Albert Peterson motored to Dent, Idaho, last Saturday and were accompanied home by Mrs. Sam Wheatcraft who will remain at the Johnson home for some time.

SHERMAN WAHL SUCCUMBS TO MALIGNANT AFFLICTION

Suffering from an internal cancer during recent years, Sherman Leon Wahl passed away at his home east of Genesee, Monday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock, at the age of 62 years, seven months and 28 days. Born at Petaluma, Calif., February 5, 1870, the deceased moved to Oregon in 1873 and resided in the Willamette Valley before coming to the Genesee section in 1880. He has since been a resident in this locality, with the exception of the time he attended school in Lewiston.

Mr. Wahl was married to Mary C. McFarland in 1907, to whom were born three children, Kellis, now 23 years of age; Tom, 21, and Elsie 19. Besides the children and the surviving widow there are three sisters, Mrs. C. C. Varce, Medford, Ore., Mrs. A. B. Maxwell, Johnston, Wn., and Mrs. W. R. Ketchum, Phoenix, Ariz.; four brothers, George Wahl, Genesee; Ed Wahl, who recently moved to the state of Iowa; Matt Wahl and Phillip Wahl, and the aged mother, Mrs. Mary C. Wahl, who lives with her sons at Medford.

Mr. Wahl has for years been a prominent land owner in Latah county with holdings located east of Genesee, and it has been said that he was the largest individual taxpayer for farm land in the county.

Mr. Wahl's health had been failing in health for the past several years and recently consulted leading medical specialists in Portland, but they gave him no encouragement of recovery. His death takes from the community a person well and favorably known over a great part of the Inland Empire.

Funeral services were conducted at the home Wednesday afternoon with interment in the Genesee cemetery, the Rev. Clifford M. Drury of Moscow, conducting, assisted by a ladies' quartet, Mrs. W. W. Burr, Miss Esther Martinson, Mrs. Eugene O'Conner and Mrs. Art Springer, with Mrs. W. M. Herman, accompanying. The Pallbearers were: Gus Gamble, John Krier, Pete Isaksen, Will Gray, J. P. Hermann and James Cameron.

IDAHO RAIL RIGHTS-OF-WAY LINED WITH FRUIT TREES

Eastern newspapers have picked up the story emanating from Moscow, Idaho, relative to fruit trees growing along railroad rights-of-way. The story follows:

The tourist who tosses apple cores and peach stones into the streets is a nuisance, but if he casts them by the roadside, he may be a public benefactor. Fruit-munching passengers on the train between Juliaetta and Troy and road travelers between Genesee and Juliaetta, at least, have proved anything but a nuisance.

The railroad right-of-way, winding through the Big Potlatch and Bear Creek valleys, is lined with fruit trees which have germinated from seeds and pits thrown from the train by passengers who had been munching fruit. In the spring, beautiful blossoms on peach, cherry, apple, pear and plum trees scent the air. In the summer these domestic fruits ripen in the company of lofty pines and tamaracks, firs, and hemlocks, in the heart of the forest.

Along the Juliaetta-Genesee road the same types of domestic fruit trees, untrained and unattended, have grown beautiful despite their accidental beginning. They grew from pits and cores thrown away by ranchers, salesmen and stage passengers in the days before the automobile was introduced.

The soil and climate in the Snake and Clearwater river canyons, and in the canyons tributary, are favorable for fruit growing and account for the growth of the domestic trees from the east-off pits. Juliaetta, like Lewiston, Kennewick and Pasco, is noted for its raising of early peaches, cherries, plums, canteloupes and watermelons.

Casper Steinmiller Dies.

Casper Steinmiller, 79, who lived at the Ed Wahl home in recent years, died Monday at the Latah county home where he has been living for about 30 days. Little is known of his relatives, except that he has a nephew living at Milliken, Colo.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning in Genesee.

ESSENTIAL STATE FUNCTIONS INCREASE GOVERNMENT COST

Every government has certain primary functions which are essential to the welfare of its citizens and the conduct of society and business, says Glenn Balch. Of recent years our state government has been delving into activities which, although in some instances worthy, are apart from these essential functions and we are prone to cite this as the cause of increased expenses. The records however, reveal that there have been material increases in the cost of those functions which we describe as essential and it shall be the purpose of this article to compare these increases for the years of 1913 and 1930.

In considering these figures it is only fair that the reader keep in mind the fact that the 17-year period in question encompassed the World war and its chaotic political and economic aftermaths. There is no just comparison between the years from 1913 to 1930 and any other period of like length in our history.

Essential Functions

For the purposes of this article those functions of government that might be termed essential are divided into five classifications: General government, protection to persons and property, conservation and development of natural resources, health and sanitation, charities, hospitals and corrections; and education.

Looking first at aggregate figures, we find that in 1913 the total annual cost of these five functions of government was $731,080.35. Seventeen years later this annual outlay had grown to $2,670,320.00, an increase roughly of two million dollars that eventually finds its way into the taxpayer's bill.

General Government

During the period in question the cost of general government, which includes the executive offices, supreme and district courts and their appendages, increased from $181,-939.39 to $400,180.00. We find that in the latter year, 1930, the budget bureau, purchasing agent and the bureau of public accounts were among those added. Capitol maintenance, which cost $50,000 in 1930, also comes under this classification.

In protecting persons and property the state government in 1913 expended a total of $54,264.95. During the subsequent 17 years this task became, presumably, so difficult and complicated that in 1930, the sum of $227,644.00 was required, an increase of more than 400 per cent. Under this division is the national guard, banking ,blue sky, insurance, mine inspector, public utilities commission and timber fire protection.

Resources and Health

The cost of conservation and development of natural resources during the 17-year period was practically doubled, mounting from $83,904.28 in 1913 to $160,854.00 in 1930. Under this classification comes the department of agriculture and reclamation, the bureau of mines and geology and reforestation, the latter two of which were added during the period and cost in 1930 a total of $26,300. The remainder of the increase is represented in a generla broadening of the functions of the agriculture and reclamation departments.

Health and sanitation in 1913 was the charge of a state board of health for which the sum of $8,674.20 was appropriated. During the 17 years this board was replaced by the public welfare department with an appropriation of $32,750 for administration and $7700 for venereal disease control, child hygiene and the board of eugenics, total cost in 1930 being $40,450.

Charities and Schools

Charities, hospitals and corrections cost $114,862.56 in 1913, the state then supporting or contributing to fifive institutions, the penitentiary, the two asylums, the state colony at Nampa and the children's home find and aid. Seventeen years later the annual appropriations for these same fifive institutions totaled $414,045.00.

Coming now to education, we find that this function of government is also well represented in the increase in taxpayers' bills which occurred between the years of 1913 and 1930.

The Congregational Ladies Aid will be entertained Wednesday afternoon, October 12, by Mrs. Elmer Vanouck. A good attendance is requested as a quilt is to be tied and a business meeting held.

lost control, and away it went down Snake river, disappearing around a bend in the river, about 200 yards from where the first real difficulty was experienced. A rancher, who had assisted them in recovering the boat the first time, noticed the boat in an eddy around the bend, and it was again recovered. By this time, the boatsmen were all wet, the bedding was soaked as were the supplies and equipment. Two days time was consumed in drying out the water-soaked materials before the river journey could be continued. The supply of flour had become so much batter, the sugar was in one large lump, but the potatoes and bacon were not damaged, which afforded the mariners a menu of pancakes, coffee and bacon for the two days of dehydration and the two additional required to reach Lewiston. After leaving the scene of their greatest difficulties above Johnson Bar, the trip was uneventful, sending the boat downstream at the rate of approximately 45 miles a day. Long days they were, however, said Vandenburg, as they were up at sunup and kept at their task until it became too dark to navigate.

The fastest time was made the last half day, when they left Grand Ronde at noon and arrived in Lewiston at 6:30 that evening.

Besides abounding in wild game and bird life the Snake river canyon, according to Vandenburg, possesses unusual scenery, with its towering rock walls, the swiftness of the stream and the innumerable rapids, some of which were almost terrifying, especially to a novice. A number of pictures were taken of the canyon scenery, but in the difficulties above Johnson Bar, the films became water soaked and were ruined. Water this year in the Snake is at a higher level than in former years, and at times the boat was almost perpendicular in negotiating the rapids, such as it was accomplished.

The trial trip, while successful, will not be repeated, it is understood, at least until the experiences of the trip just completed are forgotten.

They will return to Red Ledge Mines near Homestead soon to bring back the truck and trailer.

American Legion.

Officers elected at the last meeting of the American Legion in September were duly installed by District Commander Howard of Craigmont at the meeting of the Legion Wednesday evening. Mr. Howard also told of the conventions at Pocatello and Portland and explained the stand the Legion has taken on the bonus and repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Emil Nelson, also of Craigmont, told of the national convention. He is a veteran of the late war who suffered severe injuries in action. John Eikum, past commander thanked the members for their cooperation during his administration and a round of applause greeted him at the conclusion of his remarks. Several others were also called on to speak, responding graciously. Dr. Field told of the proposal to relieve veterans of hospitalization and admonished them to make an attempt to prevent the move.

ATTEMPT TO BURGLARIZE SAFE IS UNSUCCESSFUL

An attempt to open the unlocked safe at the Genesee Supply company store Monday night was unsuccessful, although considerable damage was done by breaking off one of the handles, twisting and bending the dial by the insertion of a small bar or other pry, and by sawing one the upper hinge bolts.

The safe is always left unlocked and all one would have to do is turn the two handles, the robbers, amateurs no doubt, were not aware of this, and proceeded to tear the big safe apart, piece by piece. The robbers either possessed no knowledge of their vocation or were rushed, as is evidenced by their destruction of vital parts of the safe. Finger prints were numerous on the enameled surface, as well as on a new hack saw and frame which they took from stock to saw the hinge bolt.

A few pocket knives and some long range ammunition were taken from store stocks, but otherwise the loss was small to the company.

Entrance was gained, it is presumed, through a basement door permitting the night-time operators to gain admittance into the machine shop and to the storage space over the main store and office from where they opened a skylight window and let themselves into the store proper.

BURTON L. FRENCH COMING TO GENESEE FRIDAY NIGHT

The Hon. Burton L. French, member of the house of representatives, congressman for years from the northern Idaho district, will make an address at the Cozy theatre Friday evening, October 14, beginning at 8 o'clock. Congressman French, prominent in Idaho politics for a long period, and a member of the national appropriations committee, will undoubtedly deal with national questions relative to the mounting costs of government and explain where the huge sums of money are being expended.

Mr. French is a forceful speaker, well acquainted with any topic he may select. Everyone is invited to attend.

Of Interest to Hunters.

Orofino Tribune: The Mud Creek road on the Selway and Clearwater National Forests and the road from Musselshell to the Weitas Ranger Station on the Clearwater Forest will be closed to all wheeled traffic, effective October 1.

Forest officials stated that this action was necessary in order to protect the roads from serious damage as they are narrow with grades as high as 20 per cent, and if used in wet weather are not only dangerous to the traveler but block up the drains and start washing that results in serious damage to the road beds.

Supervisor Myrick stated that the roads into the Bungalow Ranger Station would, however, be left open to the public and that travel by pack and saddle horses over the closed roads would be permissible. This will therefore still give the hunter an opportunity to go on his hunting trip as in former years.

COYOTE CAUGHT IN FENCE.

Ole Johnson and Tobin brought a full-grown coyote to Genesee Wednesday morning, which was taken captive by the former who roped him from a horse he was riding. The animal was also caught by a hind leg in a fence through which it attempted to pass. After bringing the coyote to Genesee alive, it was taken to the Sampson barber shop and displayed for a short time, after which it was taken out behind the Supply company and disposed of, young Joe Tobin becoming the possessor of the pelt.

The animal was captured on the fence line between the Tobin and former Tiedemann ranches.

ORMOND MOSMAN ASSISTS IN ESTABLISHING RECORD

University of Idaho.—Flying ability of three Idaho men established a national record this year at Kelly Field, Texas, Uncle Sam's West Point of the air.

Only 71 men out of an original beginning class of 250 received their second lieutenant's "wings" this year, two-thirds having been eliminated or "washed out" during the two-year training course. Idaho was the only state with a 100 per cent record of cadets completing the course. Two of the Gem staters are Idaho graduates, Ormond Mosman, Genesee; and Reynold Nelson, Moscow. Both are now stationed at Brooks Field, Texas. The third man, Glen Clarke, of Burley, attended a Utah school.

Several of the young officers were detailed to assist the Red Cross in the recent Rio Grande river flood. Flying over the flooded areas, they located stranded families who were later picked up in boats, and they also dropped warnings to others to move on. Notes, tied to red streamers, were written in Spanish and English for the benefit of the Mexican population in the valley. They were in constant communication with the Red Cross relief headquarters over radio, using a commercial wave length. Every set, pratically, was tuned in on the unusual emergency broadcast that lasted four days.

E. O. McAllister in Genesee.

E. O. McAllister, for several years a resident of Genesee, coming here from the Big Bend country, was in Genesee Tuesday looking after his property, located north of the Martinson home. Mr. McAllister has been away from Genesee about six years, first moving into Montana, and then into the Methow valley in Okanogan county, Washington, where he has acquired a 70-acre ranch. Thirty acres of the tract are under irrigation, the system being owned privately by Mr. McAllister and one of his neighbors.

Fruit and dairying are the principal industries in Methow valley, butterfat, owing to competition, bringing coast prices at the pick-up stations along the highways.

Mr. McAllister, besides being able to rent his place to Lloyd Esser, has been enjoying the privilege of visiting many old-time acquaintances.

GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING OCT. 8

Domestic grain markets weakened under a continued light demand during the first week in October, and at the close prices of most grains were well below a week earlier. Continued heavy marketings of Canadian wheat and a reduced demand from Europe, with increased offerings of new crop grain from Argentina, together with lower securities, were the principal weakening influences in the wheat market and prices declined sharply.

Continued light demand from European importing areas and heavy marketings of Canadian grain were the outstanding features of the world wheat situation during the week. The light European takings of foreign wheat this season are reflected in reduced world shipments, which since August 1 have totaled only about 85,200,000 bushels compared with 141,750,000 bushels for the corresponding period last season. Northwestern shipments during this period were slightly smaller than last year, totaling 52,042,000 bushels as against 53,712,000 bushels, but comprised a much larger part of the total, amounting to approximately 61 per cent of this season's world's shipments as against 38½ per cent in 1931. Argentine shipments during August and September totaled only about 7,000,-000 bushels as against 12,400,000 bushels a year earlier. Australian currencies amounted to only 12,000,000 bushels compared with approximately 17,000,000 last season. Shipments from all other areas, including Russia and the Danubian countries, totaled only a little over 14,000,000 bushels compared with nearly 58,000,000 bushels last season. Of the Northwestern shipments the bulk has been of Canadian wheat and reflect the unusually heavy Canadian marketings this season, which totaled around 150,000,000 bushels during August and September, compared with about 62,-700,000 bushels during the same period last year.

Pacific coast markets weakened with the decline at other points but were relatively stronger than eastern and central western markets. Marketings remained below normal and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals during the week totaled only 677 cars compared with 918 for the corresponding week last year. In addition to the car receipts, 7,000 were received at Portland by boat and 3,000 by truck. Demand was dull and almost entirely from domestic mills since local wheat prices were still above an export basis and the foreign outlet for flour was also limited.

Receipts of Montana wheat at Spokane were smaller than for the previous week, reflecting the holding tendency on the part of Montana shippers and a reduced demand from coast millers for choice milling wheat.

The Continental European markets were weak and lower with buyers generally meeting only current needs and reluctant to accumulate stocks for future requirements. Prices in France declined to the lowest point of the season with milling wheat quoted at Paris at $1.11 per bushel, a decline of about 30 cents per bushel since the beginning of the season. Prices in Germany were also lower with native wheat quoted at Hamburg at $1.37. Italian markets were steady and trade reports indicate import requirements of between 25,-000,000 and 30,000,000 bushels. Quotations on foreign wheat at Liverpool were also lower with No. 2 Manitoba quoted at 55 5-8c, Argentine Rosafe at 57 1-8c and Western Australian at 58¼c per bushel.

Southern hemisphere wheat crops are reported generally favorable. The Argentine acreage was placed at 19,-744,000 acres of which about 618,000 acres have been lost from locut attacks, leaving about 19,126,000 acres for harvest or 1,831,000 over last year's seeded acreage. Good rains late in September and early October materially improved the condition of the crop. Prospects are generally favorable in Australia with unofficial estimates indicating an outturn not greatly different from last season when 189,000,000 bushels were produced.

Winter wheat seeding is well under way in the U. S. with from 50 to 60 per cent sown in central and eastern Kansas and about 50 per cent in Oklahoma. Dry weather has delayed fall plowing and seeding in much of the Great Plains, the middle Atlantic states and the western Lake region. Rain is seriously needed for germination in the Pacific northwestern area weher considerable seeding in dust has been done. Winter seedings in European countries outside of Russia, are making fairly rapid progress although dry weather is hindering operations in some areas, particularly in eatsern central Europe. Russia seedings of all grains on September 25 totaled only 59,000 acres as against 69,000 acres for the corresponding date a year ago. Trade reports indicate that relatively large acreages are being seeded and fertilized in many European countries, under the stimulus of high tariffs and other protective measures.

HIGHWAY PROJECT NO. 3 IS NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Approximately one mile of Farm-to-Market Highway Project No. 3, is now complete or will be complete by the end of the week, that is, the grading and draining. Preliminary work was begun last Friday, and on Monday the grade was under construction. Project No. 3 begins at the Hans Iverson place, north of Genesee, and ends at the north boundary of Genesee Highway District, the last property owner on the north end of the project being John Randall, who is in charge of construction for the state. There are 4.3 miles of highway construction on this project, with the work being done by teams and fresnos and also by a tractor and grader.

Work on Project No. 1 is progressing rapidly, although some difficulty is being experienced by springs breaking out along the grade, necessitating the use of a tractor and grader to handle the wet dirt. Little or no rock has been encountered thus far on Project No. 1, but within a few days time, dynamite will be required to blast out a roadway at several points. There has been considerable brush and a number of trees to be removed along the new road, which however, closely follows the old road to Lenville, with the exception of the change in the right-of-way at the Roth farm.

FRED MEYER IN CHARGE GENESEE SERVICE STATION

A deal was made Wednesday morning whereby Fred Meyer assumed management and lease of the Genesee Service station, formerly operated by John Daugherty. Mr. Meyer has purchased the stock of accessories and supplies, and will lease the business as Mr. Daughtery has in the past. The station will continue as a Texaco distributor.

Ill health has caused Mr. Daugherty to release his position here, and will seek relief in the mountains for a time, and then if his physical condition does not improve, will enter the Veterans' hospital at Boise.

Mr. Meyer took possession Thursday morning.

Observe Columbus Day.

The Knights of Columbus and their families observed Columbus Day on Wednesday evening when a banquet was served at the Knights of Columbus hall. The banquet was followed by dancing, with music furnished by Mrs. Eugene O'Conner, Rev. Fr. Carey, John Broemmeling, Steve Johann and Ralph Broemmeling. About 70 persons attended.

Return from Hunting Trip.

Walt and Lew Jain returned home Sunday afternoon from a hunting and fishing trip to Washington Creek, out from Pierce City. While many elk and deer tracks were seen the two men were unable to get within sight of big game, and fishing was no good at all. Ben and Don Jain and Jess McMahon remained in the woods, hoping to bring out game when they return. The woods were very dry and noisy while the first two named were on their trip, but as they were leaving rain and snow began to fall.

Home from Hospital.

Miss Elizabeth Baumgartner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Baumgartner, who has been in a Moscow hospital for nine days, returned to her home last Saturday.

ATTEND ROSS MEETINGS.

Ed Smolt, J. J. Berg and George Morscheck went to Moscow Wednesday morning to meet with the democratic central committee and at noon attended the chamber of commerce dinner at which Governor C. Ben Ross was a guest. About 2::15 they joined the caravan which escorted the governor to Culdesac where he addressed a large audience at 4 o'clock. The party then went to Lewiston and in the evening were among the crowd that heard Ross make a second address before a crowd estimated at 1100 people. This meeting was at the Temple theatre.

MEET WITH GOVERNOR TO DISCUSS RELIEF PLANS

Representatives from a number of communities in Latah county met with Governor C. Ben Ross at the Moscow hotel Wednesday at 11 a. m. to discuss plans for relief during the coming months, and to learn the procedure in applying for funds designated for the emergency by the federal government under supervision of the governor. Idaho has received $150,000 of its allotment of $300,000 for emergency relief, and the disposition of these funds will be made through organizations in each of the 44 counties. The meeting, called by the board of county commissioners, had as its representative, Walter Emerson from Genesee, who said on his return here, that a second meeting is called for Saturday, October 15 to further become acquainted with the needs of the various communities.

The emergency funds canont be used to purchase materials and supplies of any sort as they are intended to be used to pay for labor of various sorts to be supplied by the several towns and communities, and which will become available as soon as information is placed in the hands of the governor. Each community, pursuant to instructions, must ascertain the number of persons who will need employment during the winter, and with this information, funds will be alloted to counties in proportion with needs from other counties.

Loncosty Building Bridges.

F. W. Loncosty was the successful bidder for construction of two concrete bridges in Highway District No. 1, one near the Oscar Anderson farm and the other on the Kluss road. The bridges are each 22 by 16 feet with a depth of 7 feet; abutments are 24 inches at the bottom, tapering to 12 inches at the top; the decks are one foot thick, all construction being of steel reinforced concrete. Concrete curbings one foot wide and two feet high are mounted with railings of 2-inch galvanized iron pipe. In the construction of the bridge near the Anderson farm, where the creek intersects the highway at an angle, it has been necessary to build wings of various lengths, measuring all the way from 4 feet to 9 feet, while on the other structure, wings are all 4 feet long.

Bruce Wardrobe, Robert Emmett, Henry Halverson and Lester Craft comprise the force, with Frank Scharback, inspector in charge, for the highway district.

POTLATCH HIGH HERE FRIDAY FOR FIRST CONFERENCE GAME

The Genesee high school football team will attempt to push the pigskin over the Potlatch goal for a start toward the conference championship, when they meet the Potlatch boys here Friday afternoon. Potlatch has a good eleven this year, playing Troy a 6-7 game last week, being on the losing end, however, which will only be an inducement to make up for that loss while here.

Genesee won from this team at Potlatch last year in the last half of a hard fought game, in which game, it will be remembered, the opposing quarterback overtook one of our backfield aces when apparently away for a touchdown, and that means the Potlatch signal-barker is some traveler himself.

The Orofino contest disposed of by a win, showed up some very good material that assures spectators of a closely matched game here Friday.

Vincent Unable to Visit

While at the teachers' convention at Lewiston Thursday and Friday of last week, arrangements were made to have Commissioner W. D. Vincent visit our school and tell the patrons of our district about the school problems in the state of Idaho. Owing to urgent business with the state board of education on Monday, it was impossible for him to keep his appointment with us. This has been our second attempt to bring Mr. Vincent to Genesee. We wanted him to meet with school patrons because, next to Mr. Soulen, our high school inspector, Commissioner Vincent is the best informed individual on school problems and needs of the state of Idaho.

First Open House

The first open house of the season will be held Thursday, October 20. A short program will be presented after which the parents will meet the teachers in their respective rooms. The program will be as follows: Two readings by the dramatics class; musical number by some members of the orchestra and a song and a play by the primary grades.

Seventh and Eighth Grades

The pupils in the eighth grade have been having an arithmetic race. The boys won by a score of 4 to 3. The eighth graders are now also taking achievement tests.

The eighth grade students had a party in the high school lunch room Friday evening. Games were enjoyed by all, after which a lunch of cider, doughnuts, cookies and sandwiches was served.

Turkeys for Thanksgiving.

Colin Wilson will have a brood of turkeys hatch in time for Thanksgiving if he permits a turkey hen to hatch her setting of eggs which he located this week. The hen has been diligently at work preparing for her coming young turkeys, rather late, however, but making a brave attempt to combat the depression, with two hatchings a year. Mr. Wilson, who has observed turkeys, both domestic and the wild varieties, remarked that this was the first time he had witnessed a hen preparing to set in the month of October.

Trade In Your Worn Tires for Safe Gripping Non-Skid Firestone Tires

LIBERAL trade-in allowance—now—on all Firestone High Speed and Heavy Duty Tires!

Why take a chance on worn, smooth, uncertain tires when you can buy Firestone non-skid safe, proven tires at lowest prices.

Firestone Tires are designed to grip the road. The non-skid tread is thick, tough and gives 25% longer non-skid safety.

Glen Schultz only last month set a new world's record in climbing Pike's Peak, in 16 min. 47 sec. His top speed was 78 miles per hour—negotiating many hair-raising turns where a skid or a tire failure meant death.

It's that kind of stamina that makes Firestone Tires safe and economical for you.

That's why race drivers use Firestone Tires. They won't risk their lives on any other make.

No tire in the world has the Firestone endurance. That is because Gum-Dipping, the patented Firestone process, transforms the cotton cords into tough, sinewy units. It means that the liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, assuring protection against internal heat. Two Extra Gum-Dipped Cord Plies under the Tread, give 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body.

Don't buy cheap tires that are only made to sell. Don't risk your life on wet, slippery pavements these October days—Use the same precaution race drivers use. Trade in your old tires—We will give you a liberal allowance on Firestone Tires—the safest tires in the world.

The Firestone tread is designed with angles and projections to give the maximum traction and non-skid. Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires hold all world records on road and track for Safety—Speed—Mileage and Endurance.

DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND.

Since Major James P. Pope made his campign talk here, the question has been asked: "How can Mr. Pope condemn Senator Thomas, when Mr. Pope, himself, cannot vote as will Senator Borah?". This question has lead to discussion all over Idaho where Mr. Pope has carried his campaign, and R. P. Parry, republican state central committee chairman, says, "Mayor Pope is following the precedent which many democrats have established during the last twenty years by trying to ride into office on Senator Borah's 'coat tail'." "He is declaring in his speeches that Senator Thomas should not be returned to the senate because he has occasionally voted opposite to Senator Borah, and in order to be elected he is pledging himself to vote with Senator Borah so that Idaho will have two outstanding votes on all things.

Continuing, Mr. Parry says: "Yes, siree, he will be a 'yes man' or he will be Senator Borah's shadow or apparently he will promise anything if he can just be elected. We are all proud of the distinguished Senator Borah. I consider him the greatest international statesman of his time, but knowing him as I do I do not think that he has much respect for a 'yes man.' He is not a 'yes man' himself and likes men to be men and stand for what they believe to be right; especially is this quality demanded in the United States if this nation is to survive.

"However, Mr. Pope's statement is extremely ridiculous and rings insincere, for just before leaving Boise he announced to the world that he would differ with Senator Borah on one of the greatest issues before the people. He said he would support the bonus, which everybody knows Senator Borah is against.

"Also Mr. Pope stands for the repeal of the 18th amendment, a policy which is entirely against Borah's life work; likewise Mr. Pope has for years denounced Senator Borah's determined stand against the League of Nations. Mr. Pope knows that he will not cast the democratic platform aside to vote 'yes' when Senator Borah votes 'yes' for if he does he knows the democrats will cast him aside.

"Now then, Mr. Pope, if you are sincere in your desire to vote with Senator Borah and you do not want to annul his vote why don't you start now and vote with Senator Borah for the reelection of Senator Thomas, as Senator Borah has requested the people of Idaho to do?"

Constitutional Amendments

Shall Article XVIII of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended by inserting a new section therein to be known as Section 4A so as to provide that counties of the State of Idaho as they now exist, or may hereafter be created or exist, may be consolidated in such manner as shall be prescribed by law; Provided, no county may be consolidated with another county, except upon approval of a two-thirds majority vote in each county, of the qualified electors thereof voting upon the question, and that the limitations and provisions of Sections 2, 3 and 4 of said Article XVIII of the Constitution shall have no application to the question of consolidating counties.

Shall the State Board of Equalization be abolished by amending the Constitution of the State of Idaho by deleting from Section 12 of Article VII of the Constitution, the words:

"STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION. There shall be a state board of equalization, consisting of the governor, secretary of state, attorney general, state auditor, and state treasurer, whose duties shall be prescribed by law."

and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"There shall be a state tax commission of a membership not exceeding three in number, the duties of which shall be to equalize the valuation of all taxable property of the state, and having powers to supervise all assessments and their equalization. Said tax commission shall be non-partisan in character, and its members appointed by the state executive, the membership and other powers and duties of which shall be prescribed by law."

Shall Section 20 of Article 1 of the Constitution of Idaho be amended to provide that the Legislature may restrict the voters at irrigation district elections to land owners? With one vote only, to each land owner.

Shall Article VII, Section 4 of the Constitution of Idaho be so amended as to exempt from taxation only the property of public bodies and corporations held in a governmental and not a proprietary capacity?

Shall Article VII of the Constitution of Idaho be amended by adding thereto Section 17, giving the Legislature authority to impose taxes on incomes, or according to or measured by incomes from all sources, and on sales, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and to provide for reasonable exemptions, and which taxes may be imposed for the purpose of providing revenue for the State, and for counties, cities, towns or other municipal corporations therein, with the provision that no excise or privilege tax measured by income shall exceed six per cent of the net income and no tax on income shall exceed six per cent of the net income, and the aggregate of all taxes on and measured by income shall not exceed ten per cent of the net income?

WHICH ELECTION SHALL BE OPEN AT EIGHT O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING AND WILL CONTINUE UNTIL SEVEN O'CLOCK IN THE EVENING OF THE SAME DAY.

This Woman Lost 45 Lbs. of Fat

"Dear Sirs: For 3 months I've been using your salts and am very much pleased with results. I've lost 45 lbs., 6 inches in hips and bust measure. I've taken 3 bottles—one lasting 5 weeks. I had often tried to reduce by dieting but never could keep it up, but by cutting down and taking Kruschen I've had splendid results. I highly recommend it to my friends." —Mrs. Carl Wilson, Manton, Mich.

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning. To hasten results go light on fatty meats, potatoes, cream and pastries—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at any drugstore in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. adv

Auxiliary to Conduct Song Contest.

A song contest to acquire some original unit songs was launched by the music chairman of the Legion Auxiliary at the last meeting. Each member is asked to write the words of one or more songs to be set to any music she prefers. A prize will be awarded by Mrs. Fred Hove, music chairman, for the one selected as a unit song.

Entertainment of the War Mothers and wives of veterans was a feature of Friday's meeting. A short program, consisting of a reading by Mrs. Fred Shirrod; solos, "Mother MaCree" and "A Mother's Croon," by Mrs. W. W. Burr, was followed by a short account given by Mrs. Walter Jain of her recent trip to Kansas City. She especially mentioned the Memorial, dedicated to the World war veterans of Missouri and showed the picture to members and guests. The program concluded with the singing of America. Luncheon was served at tables decorated with autumn flowers and leaves.

The next meeting will be on October 21.

Sampson Unequal to Occasion.

Glen Sampson was offered the opportunity, as a member of the coyote club, to bring up his average for the season when, on Wednesday, Ole Johnson and Joe Tobin delivered a five coyote to his door to be disposed of. Glen, who has in years past gained the distinction of being an able hunter was rather taken back at the sight of the animal at his very doorstep, although he has made a practice of permitting fellow hunters while in the canyons to drive coyotes toward him while he rested at a vantage point. Buck fever, in evidence, while the coyote was tied to the barber pole, prevented Glen being given the honor of shooting the animal, John G. Meyer, with a steadier hand, was assigned the duty.

Blue Bird Club.

Mrs. Henry Morscheck was hostess Tuesday afternoon to the Blue Bird club at her home. A social afternoon was followed by refreshments. Mrs. Anton Kambridge was a guest. The next meeting will be held in three weeks at the home of Mrs. W. C. Jenkins.

A PESSIMIST'S TALE OF WOE.

Elwood Landt, farming one of the Rosenstein places found the following in a newspaper coming to his home:

"Man is of few days and full of trouble. He laboreth all the days of his youth to pay for a gasoline chariot, and when at last the task is finished, Lo, the thing is junk and he needeth another. He planteth grain in the earth and tilleth it diligently, he and his servants and his asses, and when the harvest is gathered into the barns he oweth the landlord eight dollars and forty cents more than the crop is worth. He borroweth money from the lenders to buy pork and syrup and gasoline and the interest eateth up what he hath. He begets sons and educateth them to smoke cigarettes and wear a white collar, and Lo, they have soft hands and neither labor in the fields nor anywhere under the sun. The children of his loins are ornery and one of them becometh a lawyer and another stitcketh up a filling station and maketh whoopee with the substance.

The wife of his bosom necketh with a stranger and when he rebukes her, Lo! she shooteth him in the finale. He goeth forth in the morning on the road that leadeth to the city and a jitney smiteth him so that his ribs project through his epidemis. He drinketh a drink of whoopee juice to forget his liver. All the days of his life he findeth no parking place and is tormented by traffic cops from his going forth until he cometh back. An enemy stealeth his car; physicians remove his inner parts and his teeth and his bank roll; his daughters showeth their legs to strangers, his arteries hardeneth in the evening of his life and his heart busteth trying to keep the pace.

Sorrow and bill collectors followeth him all the days of his life, and when he is gathered to his fathers, the neighbors sayeth: "How much did he leave?" Lo! He hath left it all. And his widow rejoiceth in a new coupe and maketh eyes at a young sheik that slicketh his hair and playeth a nifty game of bridge. Woe is man! From the day of his birth to the time when earth knoweth him no more he laboreth for bread and catcheth the devil. Dust he was in the beginning and his name is mud.

LAST HOME GAME OF SEASON WITH POMERY HERE FRIDAY

Pomeroy high school pigskin tossers will meet our local team in the final home game of the season here, Friday, in what is predicted to be one of the hardest fought games of the season. The visiting team has made a good showing for itself by playing Clarkston at 13-0 game and held the Lewiston team to six points.

The Pomeroy team has a heavier line than Genesee but that has been true of other teams which Genesee has met. The lack of size is no great disadvantage if made up in fight, as evidenced in the two last games. The visitors has a fullback who is a human battering ram and will require hard tackling to check.

Genesee's team has been clicking better in the past two games than at the start of the season. Robert Broemeling has turned in stellar performances and is a consistent ground gainer and a dual threat man, due to his passing ability. Smylie is a triple threat by virtue of his kicking, passing and hitting the line. Ralph Broemeling is hard to stop when once under way and together with Wagner have featured highly in breaking up opponents play. The line is breaking thru consistently, practically everyone accounting for a man caught behind the line of scrimmage in the Potlatch game.

The people of Genesee who want to see a good football game should not be disappointed with out last contest of the season on the home field when we meet Pomeroy Friday at 2:30. Genesee is out to revenge their school for an 8-0 defeat at Pomeroy last year.

Fight Card Planned

The fall high school smoker is being arranged to take place at the gymnasium, Saturday night, November 19. It is planned to have an interesting and varied program that will meet the demands of any true fight fan, man or woman. The detailed arrangements will be published later. Local talent will start working out the week of November 6.

There is plenty of good material in Genesee and near-by towns to give you two hours' of thrills.

H. S. Hallowe'en Dance.

Friday evening, October 28, the first high school sponsored dance will be given at the gymnasium. This dance will feature confetti, caps and horns in line with the Hallowe'en spirt. A collegiate orchestra from the University of Idaho will supply the rhythm. Set this date aside for a real good time.

Open House

Thursday night, October 20, the first open house of the school year will be held. At this time we will be fortunate in having Dr. Gordon F. Cadish, dean of the school of business administration of W. S. C. as the speaker. The subject of his address will be, "What I Saw and Heard in Europe This Summer." After his address the parents will have an opportunity to visit the teachers in their respective rooms. All parents, patrons and friends who are interested in the school are urged to attend the open house.

Thursday afternoon will be a busy time at our high school. During the fourth period Dr. Cadish will speak to the class in American Problems. During the fifth hour he will visit the commercial department. At 3:00 he will speak to the high school assembly and at 4:00 he will speak to the teachers on "Public Education in Russia."

Idaho's Annual Homecoming.

University of Idaho.—Preparations for entertaining several thousand alumni, parents and visitors at Idaho's annual Homecoming celebration, October 22, have set the campus humming with activity this week. Feature attraction of the day will be the Idaho and Oregon football game, which will mark the first appearance of an Oregon eleven in Moscow in nearly a decade.

Following the bonfire rally Friday evening, alumni and visitors will be entertained at an informal mixer dance. Tons of material are being gathered for the bonfire by the freshmen. The principal event for alumni and former students will be the alumni dance, scheduled for Saturday evening at the Memorial gymnasium.

A special train will be operated to Moscow from the Coeur d'Alene region Saturday, bringing to the campus football fans and eight high school bands. Several caravans of cars from southern Idaho are expected to make the trip north.

Lou Burger Home from Hospital.

Lou Burger, who has been at the Veterans' Hospital, Boise, for six weeks, returned to Genesee Wednesday of last week, and is feeling some relieved. Witnessing the treatment accorded veterans at the hospital, Mr. Burger praises the Veterans' Bureau in the work they are doing.

Art Potsch, who has also been at the Veterans' Hospital in Boise for several weeks, remains for further treatment. According to Mr. Burger, Mr. Potsch has not been reacting to treatment as was expected, and at times suffers from nervousness.

GENESEE BOYS WINNERS IN LEWISTON STOCK SHOW

Boys living in the Genesee section who exhibited calves, hogs and sheep in the Lewiston livestock show last week-end, returned home with a full share of awards. Judging of livestock in the show was done by Prof. Julius E. Nordby of the University of Idaho college of agriculture.

In the 4-H club livestock judging contest, Rex Dixon of near Genesee, was third with a score of 195 out of a possible 300 points. Others from this locality who placed in the contest were: Carl Thiessen, Joseph Thiessen, Ernest Theuerkauff, John Thiessen, Raymond Holbein, Melvin Holbein in the order named. Carl Thiessen, by virtue of three of the first winners declining, received a free trip to the Portland International Livestock Exposition.

Raymond Holbein won first on a pen of four fat pigs. Rex Dixon, Carl Thiessen, John Thiessen, Joseph Thiessen and Clayton Busch also were among the winners in this division, with the last named winning a trip to Portland on his ability as a showman of hogs.

Melvin Holbein won first on individual fat pig, and Rex Dixon, Clayton Busch and Joseph Thiessen received awards in this division.

All awards to the boys were made in the 4-H club department.

BIRD SEASON LIMITED TO THREE DAYS EACH WEEK

Latah county will be open for Chinese and Hungarian pheasant shooting but three days of each week during the season which opens November 1 and closes November 20. This ruling made last year, is effective for this year also, said Deputy Game Warden Walt Driscoll. It corresponds also to the open season in Nez Perce county. The open days during the season are Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Thirty-six Chinese pheasants liberated two miles south of Moscow on the game preserve were banded, said the game warden, who said it was done with an intention of learning how far the birds migrated, and should you bag one of these banded birds, you are requested to send the band to Walter Driscoll, Troy, Idaho. There is no penalty for killing the birds, as they were banded merely for the purpose mentioned. Altogether 648 pheasants have been planted in Latah county, 400 of them by the Izaak Walton league of Moscow and the remainder by the game department. Two hundred of these have been liberated around Genesee.

Game is plentiful this year, according to Driscoll, but one should use discretion in killing more birds than one can reasonably use. The bag limit remains the same, four Chinese or 8 Hungarians in one day.

Breaks Two Ribs.

Archie Harris, who was completing his seventh day of work on the farm-to-market road known as Project No. 1, as unable to accept his turn on the revolving labor program established on the two road projects. He was driving a four-horse fresno team October 5 when he fell or was thrown against the fresno and suffered body bruises and two fractured ribs on the left side. It will be some time before he will be able to return to work.

Notice to Rimrock Voters.

Those who wish to register for the coming election, Nov. 8, in Rimrock precinct, are hereby notified that I will have the books in Genesee every Saturday evening until registration closes. Sat., Nov. 5 is the last day to register.—A. W. Beachler. ad

VIRGIL POST AND ED MILLER FORCED AT POINT OF GUN

Walter Harris, alias James Dawson, is now in the state penitentiary starting a sentence of from 10 to 20 years for holding up Chester Parks, Lewiston, an employee of the Checkered Taxi Co., and then stealing the automobile driven by him after setting him afoot on the Lewiston hill highway, four miles from the Clearwater bridge. Harris entered the Taxi office and hired Parks to drive him to north Lewiston, but when they reached there Harris shoved a revolver into Harris' ribs, telling him to hand over what money he had. The robber secured $2.70 and a wrist watch. After relieving Parks, Harris drove the taxi to Genesee and fearing a shortage of gas, left the car at the rear of the Henry Halverson residence and walked to the Corner Billiard hall and then registered for a room at the Genesee hotel.

Holds Up Post and Miller

Returning to the street, Harris who registered as Dawson, struck up a conversation with Virgil Post and Ed Miller who were sitting in the Ford sedan belonging to George Post, which had been loaned to his brother for the evening. Jack Vandenburg had been operating the Corner business for the day and when Harris had gone upstairs to register, Vandenburg took the day's receipts to the owners. Harris continued his conversation while Post and Miller waited for Vandenburg who was going to ride home with them. Harris questioned the boys as to the distance to Moscow and the size of the town, offering them $100 each to take him to Spokane. Before Vandenburg returned to the street, however, Harris drew a 32-calibre revolver from somewhere about his person and told them to take him to Moscow after they informed him it was impossible for them to take him to Spokane. Miller, at this point made an effort to get out of the car, but Harris, with the gun in his hand, forced him into the back seat and taking a seat beside him, pushed the gun into Post's back and told him to head out for Moscow. Arriving at a point north of the R. E. Nordby place Harris told his driver to stop, but on seeing houses located near the road, told Post to continue and to use plenty of speed. At the slight hill near the Art Hove place Harris surveyed the country to the north and seeing no houses, ordered Post and Miller out of the car while he drove on at a furious speed.

As Harris drove away Post noted the license number and being familiar with the country, hurried, with Miller, to the Hove home and then telephoned Charley Summerfield, the sheriff, of what had happened, giving the license number, make of car and a description of Harris. The boys in their haste, forgot to give Art Hove their names when they awakened him, but once he learned their identity, he permitted them to enter and then brought Post and Miller to Genesee, but not until they had learned by telephone communication that Vandenburg was still alive. They had suspicioned that Harris had killed him as Harris remarked that it would be no trouble for him to dispose of his fellow passengers for the night, being that he had already killed one person. He used this statement merely as a threat, however.

Word had gone out from Lewiston to the various officials in adjoining counties and states, and Deputy Sheriff Jordan and two Moscow police had blockaded the North and South highway at the bridge near the Moscow airport. Several cars had been examined and passed through the barricade, before Harris stopped before the car placed across the road, arriving at the bridge at the same time that Summerfield came to a stop at the other side. Jordan, in uniform, halted the car and requested Harris to leave the stolen car, which request was complied with, but not until after Harris had seen the riot guns held by the Moscow police. He remarked after his capture, that he would have shot it out with Jordan had he not seen the county's sub-machine gun covering him.

Harris gave a fictitious name and said the car belonged to some party other than its rightful owner, but Summerfield opened his license book and showed Harris that the owner of the car was, George Post, Genesee. Harris then turned gentleman, and very graciously accompanied the sheriff's force to the county jail for examination, and was then brought to Genesee where he was given into

Displaying a chart showing the United States population, national debt, appropriations and expenditures during the years 1891, 1913 and 1931, Congressman Burton L. French very clearly demonstrated why the cost of our national government has left all reasonable bounds by demands made upon it during and following the war, and further enlarged by demands for emergency relief.

Mr. French appeared in Genesee Friday evening of last week at the Cozy theatre and was introduced by Robert E. Emmett as the candidate to succeed himself as United States representative from this district, and as one of the outstanding congressmen over a period of years' service. Mr. Emmett also introduced other republican candidates as follows: B. C. Rowe, candidate for state senator from Latah county to succeed himself; Alfred Anderson and Thos. Feeney, for representatives from Latah county; E. W. Travis, county commissioner, First district; R. E. Nordby, Second district; Mrs. Leola King, candidate for county treasurer; L. G. Peterson for probate judge; Ellen Peterson, for superintendent of schools; Walter Q. Taylor, for assessor, and J. S. Heckathorn, state committeeman; Ed Collins, county chairman and Mrs. Simonson, chairman of the county republican committee for women.

Mr. French recalled that 34 years ago he addressed a Genesee audience, at that time emerging from a depression which was confined, however, to the United States alone, while the present one is world-wide. Mr. French also recalled many familiar names of days past, and in paying tribute to the memory of those deceased, was thankful for the support given him from this section of Latah county in election years during his long term of public office.

The United States has been judged by its spending, said Mr. French. In 1891 a billion dollars supplied the federal government for a biennium; in 1913 we had a billion dollar nation by virtue of the fact that we spent a billion dollars a year; but in 1931 the expenditures, owing to a world war and a growing demand for public services, our nation was spending a billion dollars every 86 days, and our governments, national, state, county and municipal was spending a billion dollars every 26 days. Everyone pays federal taxes, the speaker said, and by use of the chart, showed where the money was being expended, for payment of debts contracted during the war, for civil expenditures, for highways, and for pensions, hospitalization and care of veterans of various wars, showing also the sums being spent for emergency relief, and federal projects petitioned for by the citizenry of the nation.

Congressman French asked a fair consideration in the matter of placing blame for the present depression, defending the present administration, and leaving his audience to decide under what administration the nation was started on its path to enormous expenditures. "We are paying the penalty of war; we cannot destroy innumerable lives, destroy property ruthlessly and lay waste wealth, and then expect to arise the next morning feeling good. Hoover is not to blame for conditions brought out by activities during and following the war; he is not responsible for conditions throughout the entire world," he said.

Following the Civil war, the nation was in the throes of a depression, but it was short lived because the rest of the world was not implicated. All nations were drawn in the late conflict and they are impoverished, unable to buy our produce, he stated further.

"Cut appropriations to the bone," admonished the congressman. "Reduce the army and navy and bring the world nations on friendly terms by international agreement in the disposal of armed forces, is the contention of Mr. French.

Comparing imports of foreign produce, grain, meats and other commodities under the administration of the two major parties, Mr. French used as an example the favorable position of pea growers at the present time with a tariff restricting the importation of foreign peas, stating that had there been no tariff the product of cheap labor would be on the market in this country ruining the price of the commodity mentioned. Were there no tariff on peas, the speaker said it would be possible for foreign countries to lay their product in New York

Off to the Wilds for Winter.

John Daugherty, Otis Price and Walter Strom left Tuesday by truck for Cascade, Idaho, and then into the sparsely inhabited section across the Snake river from Homestead, Oregon. They will remain on the Idaho side of the river, however, with the possible exception of a few trips to Homestead for supplies. Planning to remain throughout the winter, the truck was loaded with two tents and equipment for hunting, trapping and prospecting. The section of Idaho to which they are going has mild winters and the men believe they can pass away the next few months with considerable pleasure and little or no worries incident to the depression. It is said that game abounds in the wooded areas and trapping may bring them in a few dollars.

POTLATCH FALLS BEFORE GENESEE H. S. ONSLAUGHT

Genesee high turned in another win last Friday against the Potlatch high school football team, scoring 13 points to none for the visitors. Genesee elected to receive after taking up defense of the west goal, but failed to penetrate Potlatch territory in the opening minutes of play. Following the exchange of punts, both teams seemed so evenly matched that a small score would undoubtedly be the final outcome. Genesee's line was in on every play as was the backfield. The locals intercepted four Potlatch forward passes and stopped more plays behind the line of scrimmage than usual in any football game. Potlatch chose at almost every opportunity to send its back through the line when close to the sidelines rather than go out of bounds, and they were fairly successful until their intentions were recognized.

Ralph Broemeling pulled a thriller when he caught a pass knocked down by Bob Broemeling as it was settling into the arms of a Potlatch player, and again on a double lateral pass the younger Broemeling carried the ball deep into Potlatch territory. G. Smylie accounted for the first touchdown on four line plays after Wishard caught a pass within the fifteen yard line. Smylie, with two yards to go on the fourth down dove for a hole off tackle and went over. He failed to convert. Bob Broemeling accounted for the second touchdown on an end run of about ten yards, conversion coming with an unexpected forward pass.

Spectators were loud in their praise of the showing made by the boys last Friday, the tackling was better than usual, every man having an opportunity of grabbing ball carriers.

Potlatch drove to within five yards of the Genesee goal in the second half but the locals backed up the line and held, running the ball out to the ten yard line after taking the ball and then punting out of danger.

FORMER HIGH SCHOOL STARS TO MEET MOSCOW COMETS

Sunday is being looked forward to by those interested in football, and also by those who will want to see an unusual gridiron struggle. Sunday afternoon at 2:30 the Moscow Comets will take the field against the Genesee high school alumni team, and what a scrap this is going to be, considered by many to be the football classic of the Palouse, excepting of course, the clash between the University of Idaho and Oregon on MacLean Field, Moscow, Friday.

The game in prospect is becoming a topic of much conversation, more so in fact, than was anticipated, as the alumni turn out each evening for practice with the high school team.

Admission to the game will be 25 cents and 10 cents, with a large portion of the receipts to be given to the high school.

WALT KLEWENO SEVERELY HURT IN TRACTOR ACCIDENT

Injuries sustained by Walter Kleweno Monday when he became entangled in a tractor-driven potato digger, had not been determined on Wednesday, awaiting the findings of X-ray examination.

Mr. Kleweno went to the Henry Flomer ranch early Monday morning where he had a field of potatoes ready for harvest, and after digging two rows, at about 6 o'clock, he went to the digger to clear the machinery of vines accumulated. The digger is pulled by a tractor, and operated with a power take-off at the rear of the tractor, through a shaft and square tumbling rod. He left the machine in gear and while clearing the obstructing vines, the leather coat worn by Mr. Kleweno caught in the tumbling-box or universal and as it revolved he was swiftly drawn into the machine, the shaft twisting his clothing tighter with each revolution, until by sheer strength the injured man pulled himself free, not however, until the heavy leather coat and two shirts worn by him were torn to shreds and the man's body from the waist up was severely bruised and lacerated. Injuries sustained were more severe on the left side, his face being cut, his left breast badly bruised, his arm and shoulder wrenched, several ribs broken and possible internal injuries.

Alone in the field at the time of the accident and dazed by the injuries, Mr. Kleweno is at a loss to explain just what happened, but he remembers walking almost a mile to the Flomer farm residence and there receiving some first aid before being taken to his home in Genesee. Several times he staggered off the road in his dazed condition, and almost fainted when a wound under his left eye was treated at the Flomer home.

With the tractor running at operating speed while he was cleaning the digger, it is possible that the accident would have been fatal, had the shaft been turning away from him. As it was the shaft was turning toward him making the pressure downward as it wound into his clothing. Had the shaft turned otherwise, he would have been carried off his feet, helpless to extricate himself. With his right arm partially free he was able to protect himself some as he was thrown against the levers and frame of the digger.

It has been next to impossible to rest since the accident, as he contracted a cold after his clothing was torn from his body and while he walked to the Flomer home. This ailment, together with injuries about his chest have made him most uncomfortable.

GENESEE PRECINCT LINES CHANGED FOR ELECTION

Registration books will close Saturday, November 5, and those who were not registered for the last primary election or the general election preceding it, are required to register now before voting at the general election November 8. No one will wish to be deprived of the privilege. If you have changed residence from one precinct to another or have been placed in another precinct by reason of a change in precinct boundaries it will be necessary to receive a transfer, available at the registrar's in the precinct where you now reside.

Mrs. L. C. Hayden who lives across the street from the Farmers Union Producers potato warehouse in Genesee is the registrar for this precinct.

The recent change in Genesee precinct boundaries will be noted. The boundary description in full follows:

Commencing at a point where the Little Potlatch creek crosses the south boundary line of Latah county, thence up Little Potlatch creek to its intersection with the north line of Secion 35, Township 38 North, Range 4, W. B. M., thence west to the northwest corner of Section 34, said township and range, thence north 1 mile, thence west 2 miles, thence north 2 miles, thence west 1 mile, thence north 1 mile, thence west 2 miles, thence south 4 miles, thence west 2 miles, thence south 1 mile, thence west one-half mile, thence south 1 mile, thence west to the state line between Idaho and Washington, thence south 2 miles, thence east 13 miles to the place of beginning.

Mrs. Geo. Carbuhn, Mrs. Harold Carbuhn, son Donnie, and Miss Irma Carbuhn spent Sunday as guests in the Henry Rache home in Moscow.

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS IN IDAHO TOTALS $53,421,536.00

A recent article of this series by Glenn Balch, on "Tax Topics," dealing with the bonded indebtedness of the state of Idaho, revealed that in so far as the state itself is concerned the situation is well in hand. The amount of state bonded indebtedness is now $3,878,000, reduced to that amount form $5,165,000 since January 1, 1930.

However, considering all of the political subdivisions of the state, we find that the bonded debt picture is not so bright. It seems as if various city, school and highway district governing boards permitted their zeal for public improvements to override their business judgment.

Total Debt Figures

In 1913 the total bonded indebtedness of the state and all of its political subdivisions was $14,186,632.00. During the next 17 years, to 1930, this bonded debt total grew by leaps and bounds to $53,421,635, a net increase of 276 per cent.

These figures become more impressive when it is learned that during the 17 years in question the total assessed valuation of the state increased only 13 per cent, or from $427,553,609 to $486,604,365. In 1913 the total bonded indebtedness was 3.3 per cent of the total valuation; in 1930 it was 11 per cent.

To bring the comparison as nearly as is possible up to the present, it now appears that the 1932 valuation will be in the neighborhood of 400 million dollars or about 25 millions less than in 1913, while there will be but little reduction below the 1930 figure in the total bonded indebtedness.

Interest Heavy.

A still further but exceedingly enlightening comparison is that of the yearly interest payments with the taxes levied for state purposes. Interest payments in 1930, based on an average rate of 5½ per cent, are estimated to have totalled $2,938,184. The levy for state administration during that year was $2,862,422. In other words, the annual interest charges on our bonded indebtedness is greater than the total state ad valorem tax.

When one considers that a sinking fund of 5 per cent must be put aside annually for the retirement of the bonds, it becomes obvious that the bonded indebtedness which the taxpayers of Idaho have voted upon themselves now requires approximately five and a half million dollars each year for liquidation purposes.

Certainly no thinking citizen can fail to see the relation between this heavy bonded debt and our current high taxes.

Many Highway Bonds

Keeping in mind that the 17-year period under discussion was featured by wide-spread and gigantic public highway building programs, it is not surprising that highway districts were the worst offenders in bonded debt increasing. The actual figures however are somewhat shocking. The percentage increase was 3,143 per cent—and that is not a typographical error. The actual increase in highway bonds was from $302,650 to $9,827,800.

The increase in county bonded debt was the next largest in point of percentage. County commissioners boosted, with the consent of the voters, their bonded obligations from $2,254,248 to $7,385,870, or 28 per cent, during the 17 years of governmental affluence and public optimism.

City and village administrations, and the voters responded by authorizing a bonded debt increase for educational purposes of 125 per cent—or from $4,884,488 to $10,987,290.

Also during the comparison period two new subdivisions capable of raising money by issuing bonds came into being. They were irrigation and drainage districts, and their comparative infancy did not keep them from adding to the bonded debt total an amount only slightly less than nine million dollars.

In closing, it might be well to observe that one does not have to delve very deeply into the current governamental revenue muddle to realize that a large portion of our current tax grief has been accumulating thru the years in the form of bonded indebtedness.

STATE CHAMBER COMMERCE HAS ENLIGHTENING FIGURES

Some highly significant and enlightening figures regarding taxation in the state of Idaho have been assembled by the state chamber in a table which compares in actual dollars and cents the ad valerom tax levies per $1,000 valuation in the various county seat towns for the years of 1913 and 1930, says Glen Balch, in "Tax Topics," written for the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

In this table the taxpayers' entire bill is computed, regardless of the purpose of the various levies, thus giving a definite figure of the actual amount of money, exclusive of indirect taxes, that the individual contributes in support of the various political subdivisions and governmental functions.

The table goes still further and compares the levies for specific purposes. For purposes of the comparison, taxes are divided into five classes: State, county, city and village, school and highway.

Various Purposes.

The state tax is for the purpose of defraying expenses of the state administration. The county levy is used for county purposes, including support of county offices and the different county activities. The city and village tax, levied on property within the city limits, is expended for municipal purposes. The school tax maintains the public schools. Taxes for highway districts were levied in only two counties in 1913 and in eight counties in 1930, and for this reason taxes of this character have a minor part in the comparison.

Figures used throughout the comparison are the taxes levied on property with an assessed valuation of $1,000.00.

Five Boards

Perhaps it is well to point out, in the beginning, the fact that the taxes paid by our county seat property owners are levied upon hem by five different and independent governing boards, the state board of equalization, the county commissioners, the city administration, the independent school district board and the highway district board. Each of these boards are authorized, within limits defined by law, to draw upon the taxpayers' purse as they see fit. The basis of their requests, under the present system, is their respective needs rather than the public's ability to pay.

Because of this system, the increase in taxes cannot properly be laid at the door of any single class of our governing bodies; but must be regarded as the joint responsibility of them all. Especially is this so when one learns that there was a heavy increase in each of the five principal classes of taxes during the 17-year period from 1913 to 1930. The drive on the taxpayers' purse has come from five different directions.

State Levy

In considering these increases in detail, let us first take up the state levy. In 1913 the county average levy for state purposes on each $1000 of property was $2.54. In 1930 this average had increased to $5.94. The net increase for the 17 years was $3.40 per $1000 valuation.

Considering county taxes next, we find that in 1913 the average county levy was $9.67. This tax had increased in 1930 to $15.92, showing a net average increase of $5.62.

At the beginning of the period under discussion city property owners in the county seats paid to the municipal governing bodies an average tax of $12.73 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation. Seventeen years later the average annual payment was $22.19, an increase of $9.46.

School Taxes

Coming now to school levies, we find that the 1913 average school tax per $1,000 valuation in county seats was $7.56. In 1930, this item on the taxpayers' bill had mounted to $18.53, making a net gain of $10.97.

Summing up these figures we find that the average county seat taxes per $1,000 in 1913 was $32.50; in 1930 it was $61.95. The increase is $29.45, or about 90 per cent.

It is interesting to note in this connection the actual increase in the total amount of taxes paid during the 17-year period. In 1913 the people of Idaho paid in ad valorem taxes for all governmental purposes a total of slightly more than eight million dollars. By 1930 this total had grown to more than 21 million dolairs, an increase of about 260 per cent.

Injured in Pump Jack.

Kenneth, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jenkins was painfully injured last Friday when he stuck his fingers in a pump jack operating on the farm. The little fellow was alone at the well and after he received the injuries, rushed to the house, climbing a fence on his way there. The flesh was severed to the bone on the index and middle fingers of the right hand, suffering also the loss of two fingernails. He was immediately taken to a doctor. Mrs. Jenkins said he was beginning to use his hand six days after the accident as he played about the house.

UNEMPLOYED ARE TRADING LABOR FOR FARM PRODUCE

About twenty-five men from Lewiston and Clarkston have alternated in groups, coming to the Genesee section to pick-up potatoes, trading their labor at five cents per sack for produce of the farm. Where the grower has only potatoes as a crop, the men, mostly who have families, and unemployed accept potatoes in payment for their labor on the basis of local prices for this commodity.

The personnel of these groups change from time to time, and have been living in the Burr property across the street from the News office.

Tuesday it was announced that these men would do any kind of work and take in return any produce that was offered, such as potatoes, carrots, beets, cabbage or meat. The produce received from these labors is placed in a community storage, and used as needed by the families. Each man's returns are recorded, and during the coming winter he will be allowed to draw on the stored produce in proportion to the amount of produce he has accounted for.

DODGE CAR BELONGING TO TOM FOSTER IS WRECKED

A hit-and-run driver is responsible for wrecking the Dodge touring car, belonging to Tom Foster, according to Ambrose and Gordon Foster, who were driving the car to the Jess Bowers place Saturday morning between 7 and 8 o'clock. They were going out to pick up potatoes, and as they were hugging the inside of the curve adjacent to the Nagel flat, south of Genesee, a car traveling at a high rate of speed and hogging the road, crowded them into the ditch, the car turning over and completely wrecking the body and top. The boys were pinned under the car and were unable to get the offending driver's license number. They escaped without injury.

Rebekah Parties.

During Mrs. Geo. Mochel's stay in Genesee, she was honor guest at a luncheon given by members of the Rebekah lodge at the home of Mrs. Vern Beckman. Mrs. Mochel is one of the oldest members of the lodge and still retains her membership here. She was given a handkerchief shower.

Friday evening of last week, Miss Gertrude Sampson of Craigmont, a member of the Genesee Rebekahs, was given a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sampson by members. A 6:30 pick-up supper was served, followed by a social evening. Miss Sampson was presented with a gift by her sister members.

JOHN W. CONDIE, PRESTON, UP FOR SUPERINTENDENT

John W. Condie, superintendent of schools at Preston will be the democratic candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, substituting for Miss Retta Martin who was killed in an automobile accident last Saturday morning north of Pocatello about four miles. T. A. Walters, democratic state chairman made the announcement Tuesday, October 18 to the various county auditors throughout the state. Whether certificates of notification will be received by all counties is doubtful as in a number of instances printers have been supplied with copy for the ballots which must be available for absentee balloting Monday.

Riding in a car with Commissioner of Education W. D. Vincent and Mrs. Vincent, Miss Martin and the fourth passenger, C. E. Bocock of the Albion State Normal, were killed when they were thrown from the car when it struck a concrete guard along a bridge over an irrigation canal. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent were injured, but are recovering.

The death of Miss Martin and Mr. Bocock is a distinct loss to the educational system of Idaho. Miss Martin was in Genesee recently when on her campaign for the position of state superintendent. She spoke briefly at the meeting here one evening, and made many friends in the north.

Absentee Ballots.

Monday, Oct. 24 is the first day to receive absentee ballots, which signifies that election is drawing near. It is also well to check up your registration to see that you are properly accounted for. No one will want to miss out on this election, no matter what your politics are. Turn out and vote; conditions demand that you exercise your citizenship rights. If you are going away apply to the county auditor for an absentee voter's ballot, available from October 24 to November 7, inclusive.

Saturday, October 22 at 9 a. m. we will start our confirmation instruction. Bring your Bible history and catechism, paper and pencil.

After the service Sunday morning the quarterly meeting of the congregation will take place and we expect to see every member present. Church work is your work as much as it is the pastor's work. Perhaps we can express ourselves best by quoting Edgar A. Guest's poem, "The Layman."

The church is all that lifts us
From the coarse and selfish mob.
But the church that is to prosper,
Needs the layman on the job.
Now a layman has his business
And a layman has his joys,
But he also has the raising
Of his little girls and boys,
And I wonder how he'd like it
If there were no churches here,
And he'd have to raise his children
In a godless atmosphere?
The minister can't do it
Single handed and alone
For the laymen of the country
Are the church's cornerstone.
When you see a church that's empty
Though its doors are opened wide,
It's not the church that's dying
It's the laymen that have died.
For it's not by song or sermon
That the church's work is done;
It's the laymen of the country
Who for God must carry on.

Return With Elk.

Don Jain and Jess McMahon returned Saturday with a fine elk, after being in the woods almost two weeks. They went into the Washington creek section shortly after the opening of the season, but the woods were very dry and hunting was done at a handicap. Later however, with rains and some snow they were able to come within range of big game.

TIME TO CHECK CAR.

"The wise motorist will see that he is not caught unprepared by a sudden cold snap," said Mr. Meyer of the Genesee Supply Co. "Fall weather is changeable and on a trip you may come back thru sleet and snow, and then is when you need non-skid on your tires."

Tires are so low in price now that it is impractical to risk life and property trying to run out the last mile. Based on the present selling price, the last thousand miles in a 4.75-19 tire is worth only 43 cents. When you drive with smooth tires you are then gambling 43 cents against your life and your family's. You may only need safe tires for one second of your life, but if that second comes while you are traveling 60 miles an hour—85 feet per second—safe tires mean life itself. Ab Jenkins drove a Firestone-equipped Pierce-Arrow car 2710 miles in 24 hours over a circular 10-mile course on the salt beds near Salt Lake City, an average speed of 112.94 miles per hour, breaking all existing world records.

Fall should be the time for a general check-up of the car. The battery soon will be called upon to turn over a motor stiff from cold, and lights will be burning for longer hours. The general charging rate should be advanced and the battery inspected to make sure there are no weak cells that might fail when you need them. Spark plugs also need adjusting for hard winter starting, and radiator hose connections should be inspected so that you will not waste anti-freeze solution or alcohol, which is assurance from winter driving.

BRING HOME PLENTY BIG GAME

Cliff Lundt and N. E. Beach returned Friday of last week from a big game hunting trip in the Weitas Butte section. They each brought out an elk and a deer apiece, as did Harry Beach of Winchester and Chas. Williams of Lewiston, the other members of the party. The men left here October 2 and had six days of hunting. Elk and deer are plentiful in the Weitas Butte section again this year the hunters said, but they became very wild after the first few days of hunting. The first named men have always been able to get their game, and this fall is no exception.

They took a few head of horses from their farms here and trucked them to Winchester where other horses from the Harry Beach ranch were included in the necessary number to enter the woods. Assembling the 12 head of horses near Winchester, the party drove them to Weipee, a distance of 52 miles in one day, from 4 in the morning until 5 o'clock in the evening, and then went as far as Musselshell where they loaded the animals with their hunting equipment which was taken that far by truck.

SPECIAL OCTOBER CLEARANCE

TRADE-IN SALE on Firestone NON-SKID TIRES

FISCAL year closes October 31, and we are offering unusual bargains during the month of October.

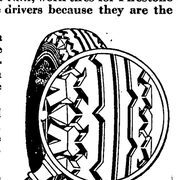
October and November are the dangerous months of the year for driving. Trade in your thin, worn tires for Firestone non-skid tires, used by race drivers because they are the safest tires in the world.

Glen Schultz recently set a new world's record for the Pikes Peak climb, where hair-pin turns were made at high speeds and where a skid or tire failure meant death.

All world's records on road and track, for safety, speed, mileage and endurance are held by Firestone Gum-Dipped Non-Skid tires.

Come in today and exchange your smooth, thin, worn tires for the safest and best tires you can buy.

They cost you no more — besides, in this October Clearance Sale we will give you a liberal allowance on your old tires in exchange for these safe non-skid Firestone tires.



The Firestone tread is designed with angles and projections to give the maximum traction and non-skid. The brakes can stop the wheels, but the tires must stop the car.

STATE CHAMBER EXPLAINS STATE ENDOWMENT FUNDS

Endowment funds are at present a controversial subject which the state chamber has no desire to aggrivate, says, Glenn Balch, writing his 28th article an "Taxation," but because of the keen interest and general lack of knowledge which the public has in the matter a short survey of our endowments, as contained in the latest report of the state auditor, is herewith presented.

When Idaho entered upon her career of statehood, some 40 years ago, she was the recipient of numerous paternal gifts from the federal government in the form of land grants with the understanding that these gifts were to be used for specifically indicated purposes of education, charity, public buildings and care of unfortunates.

Funds Unexpendable.

The principals of the various endowments are, in theory at least, nonexpendable; only the earnings may be used, and these only for the designated purposes of the respective funds.

Control of the endowments is vested in the state land department and the department of public investments. It is the function of the firs department to look after the grants, make land and timber sales and collect payments. These payments constitute a part of the unexpendable principals but may be invested under certain legal provisions in order that earnings in the form of interest and rentals may be had. The handling of these investments is the function of the second state department.

It might be appropriately stated here that while theoretically the endowment principals are "irreducible" they are subject to the same price fluctuations as other property and it logically follows that their values rise and fall with the times. No remedy for this condition has as yet been devised.

Federal land grants to the state totalled 3,631,778 acres. The parcels are scattered all over the state, at least two being in every township. Some are rich timber and agricultural lands, some have only a moderate value for grazing purposes; and still others are located in those areas of sage and lava for which little value, if any, has ever been discovered.

Because of this and because of the ever fluctuating values, it is virtually impossible to compute with any degree of success the dollar-and-cents value of the federal grants. They are commonly spoken of as worth "millions" and they are—but as yet nobody can say just haw many millions.

We do have, however, some definite figures that throw light upon the endowment values. Of the total acreage, 836,686.77 acres have been sold, bringing an aggregate price of $14,178,553.08. Timber sales have netted an additional four and a half millions. Computation on this basis would indicate a rough value of our endowments at more than 70 million dollars, but if the more desirable lands have been disposed of first, as is likely, the value of the remainder may fall far short of comparing on a per acre basis with that already sold, all of which makes our best figures nothing more than a guess.

The largest federal land grant was to our public schools. It contained 2,963,698 acres, 559,490 of which have been sold for more than nine and a half million dollars. The next largest grant, 150,000 acres, was for charitable institutions. Sale of 60,000 acres of this grant netted more than one million dollars.

The normal schools and the school of science (a part of the university) received grants of 100,000 acres each. Sale of 46,387 acres of the normal school lands has returned $747,110.66; while the 24,894 acres of the school of science land sold brought $335, 598.35.

The University land grant contained 96,080 acres; 43,472 of which have been sold for $642,426.48. Of the 90,000 acre grant to the agricultural college, sale of 45,775 acres has returned $868,993.63.

Grants of 50,000 acres each were made for the insane asylums (one grant) and the penitentiary. Asylum land totalling 18,524 acres has been sold for $335,213.47 and 15,635 acres of the penitentiary grant brought a total of $191,065.80.

The smallest grant of all, 32,000 acres, was for public buildings. Receipts from the 22,279 acres disposed of total $331,542.41. Of the total federal grants, 2,795,091 acres still remain in possession of the state.

Can't Keep 'Em Down.

Neither drought, low prices nor lack of ready money nor all three of them have discouraged the stout-hearted farmers of Nebraska. Their county fairs and rural festivals are being held as in the full years. Even the clouds of insects that ravaged their fields last year seem to have had a silver lining, for their community gatherings are enlivened by contests to see who can bring in the largest grasshoppers. How in the world can a people like that be kept down.—Christian Science Monitor.

Constitutional Amendments

Shall Article XVIII of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended by inserting a new section therein to be known as Section 4A so as to provide that counties of the State of Idaho as they now exist, or may hereafter be created or exist, may be consolidated in such manner as shall be prescribed by law; Provided, no county may be consolidated with another county, except upon approval of a two-thirds majority vote in each county, of the qualified electors thereof voting upon the question, and that the limitations and provisions of Sections 2, 3 and 4 of said Article XVIII of the Constitution shall have no application to the question of consolidating counties.

Shall the State Board of Equalization be abolished by amending the Constitution of the State of Idaho by deleting from Section 12 of Article VII of the Constitution, the words:

"STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION. There shall be a state board of equalization, consisting of the governor, secretary of state, attorney general, state auditor, and state treasurer, whose duties shall be prescribed by law."

and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"There shall be a state tax commission of a membership not exceeding three in number, the duties of which shall be to equalize the valuation of all taxable property of the state, and having powers to supervise all assessments and their equalization. Said tax commission shall be non-partisan in character, and its members appointed by the state executive, the membership and other powers and duties of which shall be prescribed by law."

Shall Section 20 of Article 1 of the Constitution of Idaho be amended to provide that the Legislature may restrict the voters at irrigation district elections to land owners? With one vote only, to each land owner.

Shall Article VII, Section 4 of the Constitution of Idaho be so amended as to exempt from taxation only the property of public bodies and corporations held in a governmental and not a proprietary capacity?

Shall Article VII of the Constitution of Idaho be amended by adding thereto Section 17, giving the Legislature authority to impose taxes on incomes, or according to or measured by incomes from all sources, and on sales, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and to provide for reasonable exemptions, and which taxes may be imposed for the purpose of providing revenue for the State, and for counties, cities, towns or other municipal corporations therein, with the provision that no excise or privilege tax measured by income shall exceed six per cent of the net income and no tax on income shall exceed six per cent of the net income, and the aggregate of all taxes on and measured by income shall not exceed ten per cent of the net income?

Which Election shall be open at Eight o'clock in the Morning and will continue until Seven o'clock in the Evening of the same day.

with everything paid at a lower cost than Idaho farmers could ship their product to the Atlantic coast, not to mention the costs of growing and harvesting. He also explained the benefits derived by Idaho producers of butter and eggs when they were sold under tariff protection and the competition they faced when these products were marketed on a very low tariff. The doctrine of protective tariff is sound, said Mr. French, especially to Idaho because of its distance from market. With no tariff the more densely populated centers along the coasts could purchase their requirements from foreign countries at a lower price than farmers of the interior could raise it for, let alone transport it to market.

"Conditions are deplorable in Europe, China and South America,' said Mr. French, "Europe with its every conceivable form of government, has found no solution for present day problems, China, beset by war and South America has its ever changing governments. Spain has had its revolution, Italy has its Mussoloni, Russia with soviet rulers, and central Europe with its vast armies taking the men from the field and trades, leaving the women to do the work." "Hoover is not the first president of the United States to be maligned," the speaker stated, reiterating the remarks of Mr. Emmett, who introduced the speaker. It has been the fate of every chief executive in office in times like we are passing through, said Mr. French.

At this juncture, when Mr. French was denying the accusations hurled at the president, Ed Peterson stated that while in California he had heard that there was a sign on Hoover's farm reading, "Orientals Only Need Apply," to which the speaker answered that it was untrue, that the president had no land in California at the present time although at one time owned a part interest in a California farm. Mr. Peterson asked several questions, which were ably answered by Mr. French. He then remarked that immigration reports substantiates the fact that people are constantly gathering at United States ports for admission, a condition that exists in no other country, and that this is evidence that the United States is still the most desirable country in which to live. W. H. Mervyn questioned Mr. French on employment in Italy, Mr. Mervyn saying that he had read in a newspaper favorable to the present administration that Italy had no unemployed. Having visited Italy during the past year, the speaker quickly countered with the statement that most of the men in south and central Europe were today bearing arms with nations in constant fear of another nation encroaching upon its territory. Mr. Peterson then asked if the board of trade had any effect on the price of wheat and if the board could not be dispensed with, to which Mr. French answered, it could with farm cooperatives supplanting the board in service. If these cooperatives could control all wheat they could then demand their price, but if held, say for 90 cents per bushel, foreign countries with no tariff restricting, could dump their grain on the U. S. market and thereby drive the price down. Consumers would buy where they could at the lowest price.

J. J. Berg then asked how Congressman French voted on the McNary-Haugen bill, and he said he supported it but was opposed to the debenture, going into detail to explain the features of the former measure. Mr. French seemed thoroughly conversant with this topic, and said that under the McNary-Haugen act wheat would be grown where it could be grown best, with marginal lands out of the picture. If a man raised 8,000 bushels of wheat he could sell 6,000 on a domestic market and then take script for the remaining 2,000 bushels or use it on the farm as feed, the 2,000 bushels of the farmer's being considered as the quantity that would enter channels of trade as the surplus. In this way the grower would be assured of a good price for wheat sold in the United States. Under the debenture, with an assured price, every grower in the country would supplant all other crops and thereby after the first year pile up such a surplus that the markets could in no way absorb it. Mr. Berg also asked a second question relative to the stand taken by Mr. French on the anti-injunction bill, a senate measure, however, but one very familiar to the speaker. This question resulted in Mr. French giving an example in favor of the anti-injunction bill, although he said both sides had merit.

Another question was asked: "Do you believe we need a large standing army?" Mr. French said, "My God no!" Then Edwin Smolt asked the question, "Why don't they," referring to the action of congress. This question was answered during the speaker's address, in which he repeatedly stated that with other countries heavily armed, the militaristic supporters would not favor disarmament in the United States. Rumania, a small country, has 1,300,000 men under arms; Italy has two to three million and France has 2,100,000 men in service, said the speaker.

Mr. French, it could readily be seen, rather enjoyed having the questions propounded, although it required considerable more time than he had expected to take for his address.

the custody of Nez Perce county officials. He waived preliminary hearing, but at trial pleaded guilty and received his sentence Tuesday.

The only reason Harris could give for the holdups was, "I have not had a square meal in two years." He was fingerprinted and with his description his record is being looked up at central investigating offices.

Harris is short in stature, stock built and has a dark complexion. He is about 30 years of age, and further described as being of a dangerous type, in that he could pursue the activities of a gunman and a gentleman with equal ease. He was well dressed and had a very pleasing appearance the boys said, until he drew the gun.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING OCT. 14

Domestic grain markets strengthened slightly towards the close of the week ending October 14, with advances in securities and cotton, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Reduced pressure from Canadian markets and delayed seeding in parts of the domestic winter wheat area because of dryness, were further strengthening influences in the wheat markets. Oats markets remained featureless. Barley turned stronger late in the week and flax held firm under a steady demand from crushers.

Wheat production estimates for practically all the Northern hemisphere, outside of Russia and China, gave a total outturn this season of 2,146,000,000 bushels as against 3,104,000,000 bushels for the same countries in 1931. The North American total, including the United States, Canada and Mexico, is placed at 1,118,000,000 or about 27,000,000 bushels less than last year. The North African harvest is slightly above that of last season while the outturn in the Asiatic countries is a little smaller than that of a year ago. The most important increases in wheat production this season are in the importing countries of Europe. These more than offset the smaller harvests in the countries of the Lower Danube. This has resulted in the largest total European harvest, outside of Russia, during post-war years. Production in the countries now reported is placed at 1,510,000,000 bushels or 77,000,000 bushels more than a year ago. The large European crop is the result of a larger acreage and also of better than average yields.

Entertained Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dawson had as dinner guests Sunday, Mrs. C. W. Hickman and daughters and Mrs. Mary Kinnier of Moscow; Mr. and Mrs. James Magee and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lew Jain, Mrs. Isabelle Magee, Mrs. Kate Vandenburg, Will Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Swenson and baby, and Mr. and Mrs. D. EXCHANGE BANK CREDITORS NOTIFIED TO FILE CLAIMS

"All persons having claims against the Genesee Exchange Bank * * are hereby notified to present such claims on or before the first day of February, 1933," reads the official notice of the commissioner of finance, in whose hands the bank has been placed for liquidation, with F. A. Smith as agent for the commissioner, having offices at the Exchange Bank.

Each creditor's claim must be subscribed and sworn to before some officer authorized to administer oaths, and claims must be filed, either with the commissioner of finance or his authorized agent. The necessary forms for presenting claims are now available at the bank in Genesee, and they carry full instructions to the person making claim.

According to law the order of payment of the debts of a bank liquidated by the commissioner shall be as follows:

1. The expense of liquidation, including compensation of agents, employees and attorneys.

2. All funds held by bank in trust.

3. Debts due depositors, holders of cashier's checks, certified checks, drafts on corresponding banks, including protest fees, paid by them on valid checks or drafts presented after closing of the bank, pro rated. All deposit balances of other banks, the United States, state of Idaho, every county, district, municipality, or public corporation of this state, whether secured or unsecured, or whether deposited in violation of law or otherwise, are included within the terms of subdivision 3 and take the same priority as debts due any other depositor. Provided, however, that this does not apply to any deposit made by the state or any county thereof, city, town or district of this state prior to the 28th day of February, 1921.

4. All contractual liabilities, pro rated.

5. Interest on all the foregoing classes of claims, without regard to the priority of the principal is computed at 7 per cent.

6. Unliquidated claims for damages and the like.

Deposits of any person, firm or corporation in a bank which is in the possession of the commissioner, may be offset against any indebtedness, (subject to the conditions above) except assessments on stock, due to such bank from such person, firm or corporation. All dividends when declared in favor of any creditor of the bank may be applied, in the discretion of the commissioner, in satisfaction of the indebtedness, if any, due the bank from such creditor.

It is also provided that claims against a bank in liquidation may be assigned in whole, but a partial assignment shall not be valid against the commissioner, nor recognized by the commissioner or his agent.. Such assignment shall be made by filing written notice, signed by the original claimant. No assigned claim, however, may be offset against obligations due to the bank.

SENATOR DONALD CALLAHAN TO SPEAK AT COZY THEATRE

State Senator Donald A. Callahan of Wallace, member of the upper house in the state legislature for several terms, representing Shoshone county, will speak at the Cozy theatre Friday evening, October 28, and will begin his address at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Callahan is well known in Genesee as he is over all of northern Idaho, and during the past year has gained a wider acquaintance because of his membership on the chamber of commerce tax studying commission.

Senator Callahan has been making addresses almost daily during the past two weeks in the interests of the republican ticket, and has had large crowds wherever he has spoken. Besides dealing with live political issues of the day, he will touch some on the workings of the last Idaho legislature, and it is assured that his address will be interesting.

Everyone is invited, and remember the hour, 8 o'clock, Friday evening at the Cozy theatre.

Appointed Members Bankers' Council.

F. G. Densow, cashier of the First Bank of Genesee, was recently appointed a member of the executive council of the Idaho Bankers' association. This council is made up of seven members, consisting of seven bankers. Ordinarily they meet three times a year.

Opens Trading Post.

Located in the room north of the First Bank is a new business which opened this week, known as the Genesee Trading Post, conceived and operated by Jack Vandenburg, who says that he willing to arrange trades for your surplus livestock, machinery or whatever it may be. With the Trading Post the operator tries to locate the person who is either in the market for some certain item, or who may have an article which he will trade.

Your articles and stock are listed and as contacts are made for trading or selling, the owner of the goods are notified.

Genesee high school were scored on twice in the first half of the football game here last Friday afternoon for a total 13 points by the fast and heavier Pomeroy school eleven, which recently played Clarkston a close game. In the last half Pomeroy was unable to score, and it was during this period that Genesee went into Pomeroy territory.

Genesee's line was simply unable to hold its heavier and faster opponents during the first half, which left the backs hurried on passes and kicks, the latter especially, as Genesee gained but little on their punts.

Coming back onto the field in the last half, trailing 13 to 0, Genesee made several nice gains with Bob Broemmeling packing the ball, and in the last quarter, the local high gridsters opened a barrage of forward passes that took them from their own five-yard stripe down to the Pomeroy 25-yard line. None of the nine passes completed were long but they completely baffled the visiting eleven. Pomeroy attempted but few passes during the entire game, being content to hammer away at the line and drive off tackle, sweeping the ends occasionally for nice gains.

This was the last home high school game of the season and the number of spectators was considerably larger than at the other games.

REGISTER FOR ELECTION IF NOT ALREADY LISTED

Remember! If you did not vote at the last general election or have moved from one precinct to another, or if your precinct boundary has been changed, hurry up and register, for we are informed that the coming general election, November 8, is to be one of the most important in the history of the United States, and there should not be a mother's son or daughter whose name remains not checked by the election clerks after the votes are counted. Certainly everyone wants to vote this year, many republican, many democratic, some liberty, a few communistic, and a scattering few, independent, but whatever is your preference, vote, and vote early, as the largest vote in the history of the United States is expected to be recorded the second Tuesday in November.

If you have changed precincts you may receive a certificate of transfer, but it's best to hustle as election is approaching rapidly.

Genesee Precinct Changed.

A few changes have been made in the Genesee precinct boundaries, and were made to accommodate a greater number of people at less expense to them. Following is our description of the Genesee precinct: Begin at the southeast corner of section 13 in township 37 N. where the Little Potlatch creek enters Latah county on the Mary C. Wahl farm, follow the creek north and west to where it enters the former north Frizzell eighty; then go west about 2 miles to the northwest corner of section 34, formerly the O. U. Niles place; then north one mile, then two miles west, then two miles north, then one mile north to the former Andrew Olson ranch, then two miles west to within a half mile of the Blaine church or to the northwest corner of section 11 in township 38 N. R. 5 W.; then due south four miles to the northeast corner of the Jim Nelson place, then west two miles, then south one mile, then west a half mile, then south one mile on the half section line, then west to the state line, then two miles south and then along the south county line to the place of beginning.

If you are in doubt as to which precinct you live, you are invited to call at the News office.

PEOPLE RESPONSIBLE IN PART FOR SIZE OF THEIR TAX BILLS

The opinion of those who have studied the question is that the Idaho tax structure may be attacked on three fundamental points, says Glenn Balch, writing "Tax Topics" for the Idaho state chamber of commerce, who gives as these fundamental points: (1) that taxes are too high, (2) that the tax burden upon real property is unjust, and (3) that our system of equalization is faulty.

On the first score practically every taxpayer in the entire state will unhesitatingly agree. There is no question about it; taxes are too high, they are an unjust burden against the property on which they are paid. Never in the history of this state has the realization that taxes are too high been so keen as at the present time, and never in the history of this state has the demand for reduced taxes been so unrelenting.

However, on digging back into tax history we find that in the final analysis the people themselves are largely responsible for the size of their tax bills. They vote bonds, ask for and demand public improvements and insist upon widespread government activities—all of which cost money. The people themselves, by judiciously exercising their privilege of the ballot, can to a large extent, control the size of their taxes. And unless they indicate an interest in the matter it is hardly fair to expect others to.

Burden Unjust.

The second assertion, that the tax burden on real property is unjust, doubtless contains considerable truth. The tax system of this state is founded upon the real property theory; indeed when it originated there was very little property other than real. So the system was built to reach real property; it did, and still does.

However, there is at present much and valuable property other than real estate, including stocks, bonds, bank deposits, business assets and so forth, all of which are of the profit-earning variety. A large portion of the nation's wealth is now in this form, intangible, but nevertheless earning a profit dollar as round and hard as that in the laborer's Saturday night pay envelope. But still our unwieldly tax system forces practically the entire cost of government upon real property.

The third fault, as charged, of our tax system goes deep into the complicated mechanics of assessment. It is alleged that there are many and flagrant inequalities of assessment, that similar properties of similar value pay widely varying taxes. Not only that, but it is likewise charged that there is gross discrimination between urban and rural property assessments.

Assessments Unequal.

A report made to the state board of equalization in 1930 revealed that the average assessment of farm land was about 44.4 per cent of its value while city business property paid taxes on only 34.94 per cent of its value. Another illustration cited is that of a farm being taxed on only 25 per cent of its value while another farm in the same county was listed upon the rolls at 62 per cent of its value. Farms on the opposite sides of a road are said to pay widely varying taxes because of the fact that the road marked a county boundary and the assessments were made by different assessors.

In its study of the Idaho tax situation the state chamber is taking these three charges into consideration and has already been instrumental in reducing taxes by urging reductions in local budgets. The state chamber is likewise considering methods of reaching intangible property and forcing it to carry, along with real holdings, its fair share of governmental costs. Also, in the task of formulating a legislative program that is now being carried on, the state chamber has enlisted the assistance of the most competent tax students in Idaho for the task of finding a solution to the equalization problem.

COMPTON I. WHITE COMING.

Compton I. White, Clarks Fork, democratic nominee for United States congressman, according to an announcement, will be in Genesee on Thursday, November 3, and will speak on the evening of that day at the Cozy theatre.

Mr. White appeared before an audience in Genesee in the primary campaign. He is making his campaign on the silver issue.

GENESEE ALUMNI-MOSCOW COMETS PLAY A TIE GAME

Those who failed to witness the football game played here last Sunday afternoon missed one of the most interesting games in several seasons, and those who expected to see a rough and tumble game were keenly disappointed as the Genesee Alumni and Moscow Comets played an exceptionally clean game, there being only one penalty for use of hands or unnecessary roughness, this penalty coming when the Comet's right tackle forgot and used his hands on Emmett, Genesee's right end at that particular time.

Despite having not had the advantage of practice and time for conditioning, the players on both elevens suffered little from exertion. Substitutions were numerous for Genesee, with its bevy of players actually, at this time attempting to make a showing for a berth on the eleven which will continue to play during the season. Injuries, naturally resulted, minor in most instances, with the exception of those suffered by Gus Miller who received treatment for an injured shoulder and arm.

With the ends and backs always having the opportunity to display their wares more advantageously, it can be truthfully said, the Genesee Alumni will have no difficulty in selecting a first-string line that possesses plenty of beef, speed and football knowledge. Chet Qualey at center, played the entire game, and made but one poor pass; Skinny Weber simply drew the attention of everyone on the sidelines with his tackling, reception of passes and speed in getting down under punts. It was Weber who blocked the Comet's punt in the fourth quarter and then fell on the ball for a touchdown. Weedy Esser was there also and smothered the downed ball. George Blume played his usual position as fullback, backing up the line and carrying the ball through the line; E. Blume was in there in half, flipping the ball, with Bob Kane doing the same; Miller was in at quarter and carried the ball a number of times; Chet Mochel pulled on his moleskins for the first time in several years and tried several plunges through the line. Hallman went in at a half, alternating with Lee Johann and Tom Dresher. Rinehart substituted for Miller at quarter. Lawrence Kraut and Esser alternated at right tackle, changing also to other line positions. At the right guard position, Mulalley was in during most of the game, being substituted, however, at various times by Lloyd Qualey and Springer. Lester Ingle at left guard, gave way at two times to Dewey Dresher and Lawrence Kraut, but played a lot of football during the four quarters. Doc Springer went in at the left tackle position, sharing the task there with Klemm. Emmett was in at left end, being substituted by Bertrand and by Howard Schooler.

E. Blume received a nice long pass in the second quarter, but the Comets defied a further advance beyond their 15-yard line. On a fumble Weber recovered from the Comets, and after tryng two plays, Miller kicked from his own 30-yard line, down the sideline about seven feet in, to the Comet's two-yard line where the ball was downed by Weber. Red Jacoby, freshman coach at the U. of I., and captain of the Comets, dropped back on three occasions to pass, each attempt being in vain. He then punted with Bob Kane signaling for a fair catch on the Comet's 20-yard line. He was tackled, and a penalty resulted, but the half ended before the ball went into play the second time.

In the third quarter, the Comets worked the ball to within Genesee's ten-yard line, and with a substitution of players in the Genesee line, Jacoby went off for a touchdown. He failed to convert.

In the fourth quarter Kane threw a long pass to Weber, who was away for a touchdown, had not Jacoby been following the play. Weber was downed on the 35-yard line of the Comets and on the next play, a lineman in the Genesee eleven, was in the way of a pass, the ball going to the Comets. Genesee held for three downs, forcing th Comets to kick, and Weber was in like a flash to block the kick, falling on the ball behind the Comet's line. Conversion failed, and shortly after the game ended, 6 to 6.

Feed Beans to Sheep.

John Platt, who is feeding a band of sheep north of Genesee this fall remarked Wednesday that he has never seen so many sheep as are in the Palouse country this season, but there is a scarcity of young animals, the lack of them noticeable in almost every drove.

Since the Palouse has developed the seed pea industry and sheepmen have learned that sheep eat them, there is a demand for the harvested fields.

Mr. Platt also remarked that it may be possible for sheepmen to assist in cutting down the surplus of beans in the country at the present time, as it has also been learned that sheep eat dried beans and like them.

TAX ANTICIPATION NOTES FOR SALE BY THE STATE

Boise, Idaho.—Sale of $225,000 in state general fund tax anticipation notes is being advertised by the state treasury to meet obligations of the state for the balance of the year. Bids on the notes will be opened on November, and they will run for ten months.

The announcement was accompanied by a statement of the condition of the treasury showing total bank balances of $1,579,058 and cash items and investments by the treasurer of $195,133, a total of $1,774,191.

Of this, $1,461,620 was in special funds, $38,659 in the general fund and $273,915 in reserve for outstanding special fund warrants.

The general fund debt was given as $2,011,642 ,including such items as general fund treasury notes outstanding, $1,500,000; interest on these notes $70,833; notes to be issued November 1, $225,000 (interest not determined); general fund warrants outstanding, $215,809. Offsetting this was a general fund cash balance of $38,656 and a balance in the general fund treasury redemption of $2,182, bringing the net debt of the general fund on October 19, to $1,970,804.

GENESEE COUNCIL MEETS TO START WORK ON RESERVOIR

In a special meeting Monday evening the city council issued orders for work to start on the remodeling of Genesee's reservoir, the work to be done under contract by F. W. Loncosty. If weather permits the 4-inch lining, re-inforced, will be constructed this fall, while work will start immediately on the construction of the abutments on the four sides, which will be three feet deep with an eight-inch face, permitting the water level to be raised in the reservoir three feet. When the lining is completed the face of each wall will be 12 inches. This work is being done according to plans obtained from City Engineer Hughes of Lewiston.

Miss Bottjer, Treasurer.

Miss Maggie Bottjer, who was appointed city treasurer, following the resignation of Alfred Olsen, furnished surety bond, and subsequently the appointment was approved.

Relief Committee

Walter Emerson, member of the council, was appointed a committee of one, according to the plan laid down by Governor Ross, to gather a community relief organization for the disposition of federal emergency fund allotments for Genesee. He will soon contact the various organizations in Genesee, who will, in turn, estimate the amount required for the coming winter.

Extra Hallowe'en Police

While no property damage is expected this year on Hallowe'en from local pranksters, the council decided to appoint special police for the night, acting on the suggestion of owners of property, who can not afford to replace or rebuild and repair damages, under the conditions as they now exist.

THOMAS WOULD EXTEND AMORTIZATION PERIOD

Gooding, Idaho.—"If the farms are to be saved for and owned by the farmers of America they must have lower rates of interest," said Senator John Thomas, at his home early this week where he is convalescing from typhoid. "Under the present conditions, with the high rate of interest the farmer has to pay and the low price of farm commodities, it is impossible for the farmer to meet his real estate mortgage obligations and interest payments.

"Last winter I spent a great deal of time and thought to the preparation of a bill for the purpose of amending the present Farm Loan Act so that interest rates could be reduced and the payments on mortgages could be lessened, to make it possible for the farmer to refinance his farm mortgage at a lower rate of interest.

"As a result of that study I introduced a bill, known as Senate Bill No. 4968. The outstanding provisions of my bill provide for an extension of the amortization from 35 to 50 years, and provides for making them governmental obligations which will automatically reduce the interest rate to 3 per cent on farm mortgages. The bill is with the committee on banking where hearings will be held as soon as congress convenes.

"The bill also provides that in addition to the reduction of the rate of interest the payments of the first three years shall be added to the mortgage principal which makes practically a three year moratorium on farm mortgages. The bill further provides for an amendment to the Federal Land Bank Act, making it possible for any farm loan to be rewritten whether it is a farm loan made by the Federal Land Bank, a joint land bank or a private enterprise; it will not make any difference who holds the mortgages, the farmer will be able to re-write his loan.

"The loan will be re-written on a basis that the present low valuation will not make it impossible for the farmer to refinance. The idea of the measure has for its purpose the permitting of every farmer in America to hold onto his farm by being able to refinance it at a low rate of interest. To give him a three year moratorium in which time he can reestablish himself, and adjust his affairs until farm produce prices increase.

"I saw that this farm mortgage issue would be a vital one long before many national leaders recognized it and I did not wait until now for the remedy; I commenced my work in the last congress by introducing a bill which I consider will solve the farm mortgage problem. In this bill I have the hearty support of Senator Borah and congressmen, who, at all times, have been a unit in working for the things vital to our state.

GEORGE ERB TO SPEAK AT INGLE SCHOOL SATURDAY

Judge George Erb of Lewiston, will make a public address at the Ingle school house Saturday evening, October 29, and will discuss the constitutional amendments upon which the electorate will be called upon to vote at the coming general election. There are five amendments to the Idaho constitution to be voted upon, dealing with county consolidation, doing away with the state board of equalization and substituting therefor a tax commission; a proposal to change the constitution so that voters at irrigation district elections will be restricted to land owners, with one vote only to each land owner; amending the constitution that churches, fraternal orders and the like may be taxed, and amending the constitution further, giving the legislature authority to impose taxes on incomes, sales, privileges and occupations, to provide revenue for the state, and for counties, towns or other municipal corporations therein.

Mr. Erb's address should be a very interesting one as he will undoubtedly explain the various amendments that everyone can understand them. As a rule the amendments on the ballot are so worded that a person to intelligently vote thereon must take considerable time at the polls.

Walter Kleweno Better.

Walter Kleweno, who suffered injuries in a tractor-driven potato digger last week has been able to be up and about this week, but it will be some time before he can resume work.

FARMERS

Stop - Look and Listen

The only profit made by the farmers in Latah County this year is on the marketing of Peas. The Democratic Party proposes to destroy the only source of revenue by which the farmers can survive. Examine the record as contained in the table below:

UNDERWOOD TARIFF BILL OF 1913

Dried Peas.....16 2-3c per 100 lbs.

REPUBLICAN TARIFF OF 1920

Whole Peas .....$1.00 per 100 lbs.
Split Peas .....$1.25 per 100 lbs.

IMPORTATIONS

From July, 1928 to June, 1929:

Whole, Dry Peas .....15,889,318 pounds
Split Peas .....2,711,210 pounds

TOTAL.....18,600,528 pounds

From July, 1929 to June, 1930:

Whole, Dry Peas .....20,674,403 pounds
Split Peas .....13,964,557 pounds

TOTAL.....34,638,960 pounds

UNDER HAWLEY-SMOOT TARIFF BILL

Tariff on Dried Peas .....$1.75 per 100 lbs.
Tariff on Split Peas .....$2.50 per 100 lbs.

IMPORTATIONS

From June, 1930 to July, 1931:

Whole, Dry Peas .....7,687,927 pounds
Split Peas .....203,358 pounds

TOTAL.....7,891,285 pounds

From July, 1931, to June, 1932:

Whole, Dry Peas .....8,519,467 pounds
Split Peas .....1,210,924 pounds

TOTAL.....9,730,391 pounds

PRESENT QUOTATIONS ON IMPORTED PEAS
F. O. B. New York

Tariff of $1.75 Paid

On Dried Peas .....$3.25 to $3.90 per 100
On Whole Green Peas.....$4.00 to $4.40 per 100

Eliminate the tariff from dried peas and foreign peas would now be quoted in New York as follows:

Whole Yellow .....$1.40 to $1.50 per 100
Whole Green .....$2.25 to $2.40 per 100

The freight rate from the Inland Empire to New York is 90c per hundred. Without a tariff our peas would be practically worthless in the Inland Empire as our market, to a large extent, depends upon the eastern section of the country.

But it will be argued by the opposition that the Democratic Party will not reduce the tariff on peas. Every Democratic administration has practically removed the tariff from everything produced on the farm. They will do so again. Labor is interested in the welfare of the farmer for the reason that agriculture employs more unskilled labor than all other industries combined. Give the farmer a profit and he will employ more labor.

A vote for Hoover for President, Thomas for United States Senator, and French for Congressman, means a stable and profitable price for peas. If the opposing candidates on the Democratic ticket are in sympathy with the pea industry, let the two candidates against Senator Thomas and Representative French produce, over their own signatures, a statement that they will vote against any tariff bill which proposes to reduce the tariff on this most important agricultural industry in Latah County.

A SCHOOL TEACHER'S VERSION OF THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM

A long-suffering school teacher in the rural schools of Jones county, Wyoming, who did not receive any pay for several months, has written a parody on the Twenty-Third Psalm. The psalm in full follows:

"School teaching is my occupation: I am in want.

"It maketh me to lie down without supper; it leadeth me beside empty tables.

"It increaseth my debts; it leadeth me from the paths of society for the lack of clothes.

"Yea, though I walk throdgh life barefooted, I will fear no evil for maybe my friends will feed me.

"Thou prepareth a reduction in my salary before me in the presence of my creditors; thou failed to anoint my head with a hat; my expenses runneth over.

"And if I do not get a pay day, misery and poverty will follow me all the days of my life and I will live on credit forever."—Exchange.

GOVERNMENTAL REVENUE AFFECTED BY VALUATIONS

In 1925 Idaho's total assessed wealth amounted to $453,405,250. During the succeeding five years it increased to $482,790,644, an average growth of approximately six millions annually. During 1930, however, the assessed valuation slumped to $428,-018,004, a decrease of some 54 million dollars.

Coming so unexpectedly and in such a sizeable amount, the natural result of this decrease was a monkey wrench in the machinery of governmental revenue. We are now engaged in the laborious and tedious process of getting it out.

What Happened

Since this decrease in taxable wealth is one of the foremost causes of our current tax troubles, it might be well to look into the matter and determine, if possible, just what happened. For purposes of comparison, the state's taxable wealth is segregated into six groups: agriculture, mining, timber, business property, resident property and utilities.

Considering first agriculture, which includes all farm, grazing and waste lands, livestock and farm machinery, we find that during the adverse year of 1930 the value, for tax purposes, of this class of property slumped from $207,589,668 to $169,563,745, or $38,025,923.

Twenty-one millions dollars of this decrease was in irrigated farm values; five millions in grazing land values; three millions in dry farm assessments, better than three millions in sheep and goats, and about three and a half millions in other forms of livestock.

Mine Profits Slump

Mining property valuations decreased from $11,013,749 to $7,745,565 during the year. The heaviest part of this decrease was in net profits on mine operations, which are a basis for taxing ore values under the Idaho law. Net profits decreased from $7,822,-631 in 1930 to $4,432,475 in 1931, which, it may be taken for granted, was through no desire on the part of the owners.

The decrease in the taxable wealth of the lumbering industry during the year amounted to approximately five million dollars. About four million of this increase is found to be in timber, cut-over and burned-over lands, a considerable proportion of which was doubtless permitted to revert to the counties.

Town Property Down

Business property, largely from sympathy with real estate, decreased in taxable value during the year from $69,503,171 to $65,877,698, or $3,625,-473. Residence property decreased from $49,171,882 to $42,354,445, or a net of $6,817,437. Of the net decrease in residence values, about three million dollars was in household goods and jewelry, which means that citizens either sold, failed to declare or the assessors failed to assess considerable personal property and effects.

Coming now the sixth class, utilities, we are surprised to learn that while the taxable values of all other forms of property in the state were declining the valuation of the utilities—railroads, light and power companies and telephone and telegraph companies—not only held their own but actually increased.

That the upholding of the utility values was more because of the difficulty of getting the reduction machinery under way than any desire on the part of the owners is indicated by the fact that utility representatives made requests for heavy reductions before the state board of equalization at its recent meeting.

Reducing the foregoing figures to percentages, we have the following decreases during 1930 in taxable property values: agriculture, 13.5 per cent; mining, 29 per cent; lumbering, 16 per cent; business property, 5 per cent; residence property, 15 per cent; and utilities, increased 1.7 per cent.

That there is no provision for counterbalancing sharp fluctuations in the state's taxable wealth, which throw our governing units into such financial confusion, is doubtless one of the weaknesses of our present system of raising governmental revenue.

RESEARCH PROJECT TO TEST GERMINATION OF FIELD PEAS

University of Idaho.—A research project to establish a standard and reliable basis for determining percentage germination of field peas has been instituted in the University of Idaho college of agriculture.

This undertaking, of major importance to the pea growing industry of northern Idaho, was made possible through a fellowship offered by Willis S. Crites, representing the Crites-Moscow Growers association and the Sioux City, Iowa, Seed company. The fellowship is $300 a year for a period of two years. The offer was accepted and the project approved by the board of regents at its October 12 meeting.

The work of this project will be carried on by an advanced senior in agronomy, Gerald M. Whitney of Norwood, Idaho, announces Dean E. J. Iddings of the college of agriculture. Whitney will work under the supervision of Prof. H. W. Hulbert, head of the agronomy department. After two years of work he will receive his master's degree in the college of agriculture. Whitney has a good record as a student in agriculture at the university and has had a particular interest in the seed work.

LIBERTY PARTY RELEASES FIGURES ON STATE COSTS

For the past few weeks the electorate of Idaho has been confronted with a maze of figures relative to costs of state government, and now comes the Liberty party with another set of figures to further confuse or enlighten, as the case may be. The Liberty party in its news release is not interested in the candidacy of anyone running on either of the old party tickets.

M. L. Alsup, Caldwell, is the state chairman of the Liberty party, and has nothing good to say for either old party.

Canyon county, the home of Gov. C. Ben Ross, is apparently the stronghold of the Liberty party, with Meridian in Ada county having an early start in the organization of the new party. Ada county is conceded to be a stronghold for Defenbach.

While the Liberty party in Idaho is perhaps composed both of former democrats and republicans, it would appear from the sidelines that the vote given the Liberty party will detract more from the democratic party's vote than the republican. Barzilla Clark, who was first named to head the Liberty ticket in the state, was also the choice of Bonneville county democrats to oppose Ross in the primary. Mr. Clark, mayor of Idaho Falls, is not too friendly toward the killowatt tax, as his home town has a municipally-owned power and light plant. Orr Chapman of Twin Falls is attempting to make things unpleasant for Ross, which makes one wonder if Clark and Chapman will swing into the Liberty party or jump into the republican column.

FORMER GENESEE RESIDENT PASSES AWAY AT YAKIMA

Mrs. Lydia E. Harris, 56, died at 1:30 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, October 13 in the home of a daughter in Yakima. She was born in Germany, coming to the United States 51 years ago, and had lived in Yakima 26 years. Mrs. Harris lived at Genesee for 15 years before moving to Yakima.

She was a member of Yakima chapter, Order of Eastern Star, the First Christian church and the Keystone class. The family includes the widower, Arthur Harris; two sons, Alfred G. and Paul B. Harris of Yakima; seven daughters, Mrs. Ruth H. Breece, Mrs. Elma E. Fairbanks, Mrs. Leatha B. Lewin, Mrs. Esther E. Scott, Mrs. Bernadine C. Clair, Miss Virginia V. Harris and Miss Margaret L. Harris, all of Yakima; a brother, Paul Pinkert of Artonville, Minn.; and three sisters, Mrs. G. A. Dochow of Yakima, Mrs. Jacob Steltz of Corona, S. D., and Mrs. Peter Steltz of Puyallap.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, October 17 in the Shaw & Webb chapel, with the Rev. W. A. Moore of Sumner conducting, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Fournier. Members of the Order of Eastern Star participated in the services also. Pallbearers were: Fred Sandin, W. D. Vredenburgh, H. F. Hansen, J. Carey, George Scott and I. D. Lewis.

JONES-DUNNING.

Miss Luzena Mildred Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Jones of the Lenville community, and Mr. Donald Dunning, whose parents live at Silcott, Wash., were married Saturday afternoon at the Christian Advent parsonage by the Rev. L. G. Dix, at Clarkston, Wash.

Mr. Dunning has been employed at the Odberg Brothers ranches for six years, and his bride attended Genesee high school.

The young couple rather surprised the Lenville, Pine Grove and Genesee communities when they announced their marriage on their return to Genesee. The many friends of the newlyweds lost no time in planning and executing an interesting charivari. It took some time to locate Mr. and Mrs. Dunning Monday evening, but they were finally extended congratulations at the Odberg home.

HUNTERS CAN'T SHOOT ON FIRST DAY OF OPEN SEASON

Hunters, eager to take the field for Chinese and Hungarian pheasants must wait until the second day of the open season which will be November 2, according to Walter Driscoll, deputy game warden. On the back of each license it is so stated that the season will be open from November 1 to November 20, but owing to a ruling by the game department, supported by petitions, birds can be taken only on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays of each week during the season, November 1 to November 20. November 1 comes on Tuesday this year and is automatically closed for shooting pheasants in Latah county. Nez Perce county has the same ruling.

Lost 20 lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weight 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — it's the SAFE, harmless was to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a triffle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

IDAHO HAS EVERYTHING TO LOSE; LITTLE TO GAIN

Idaho, by virtue of returning its senators and representatives to congress for several terms each, has placed itself in an enviable position among the states of the Union by having Borah for chairman of the foreign relations committee; Thomas as a member of the finance committee, and French on the appropriations committee. Has not Idaho always, since these men were placed in important committees, obtained its satisfactory share of appropriations so necessary to a young state. Is it reasonable to assume that by replacing Thomas and French with new men, that they could, if elected, become in their first term a member of any important committee? If Idaho, with its vast acreage of federal land can afford to pass up appropriations, which, by the way, also include the present emergency relief funds, then one obstacle is removed from the race which White and Pope are running. If Idaho, with its meager representation of only two members in the house of representatives, believes it can compete with states having a much larger representation, in obtaining appropriations through the efforts of new congressmen, there is a possibility that new men could serve as well as the old men. It takes seniority in either branch of congress to secure for its members a position on any of the important committees.

Idaho has asked for and received enormous sums for irrigation; Idaho has asked for and received appropriations to develop its highway system; Idaho has asked for and received appropriations due it for maintaining and developing its forest reserves, and with a move now on foot to develop the waterway from Lewiston to The Dalles, Ore., to permit river transportation, can one reasonably expect White and Pope to have the weight in their first term that French and Thomas have?

It is rather selfish for Idahoans perhaps, to take this attitude, but the Gem state is an infant in age, with a population of approximately 450,000 people, striving to take its place among the states, one of which has 45 representatives compared to two for Idaho; another state has 34; another has 27; another has 24; another has 21 and so on down the list of states, with only four states having a smaller representation than Idaho; and these states have been fortunate also in receiving appropriations, but only through keeping its representatives in congress until they attain years of seniority which automatically prepares them for positions on important committees. It may be remembered also that the past house of representatives was composed of a like number of democrats and republicans, which further proves that seniority is a determing factor in our representatives and senators having attained enviable positions on committees of vast importance to Idaho.

Whether or not Idaho's present senators and representatives were republicans or democrats, our state can ill afford to permit partisan politics to interfere with its progress.

Will Rogers will experience some difficulty in making people believe, after this election, that all he knows he reads in the newspapers. One political campaign of the present brand, waged through the columns of daily newspapers and by radio only tends to place the electorate on an unsure footing. A person, inclined to be partisan may not be affected by the charges and counter charges hurled from both major political camps, but the non-partisan, who conscientiously wishes to vote for the best interests of his nation, state and county, is swerved from one belief to another —and how sure are the spellbinders of both major parties that their eloquent addresses are not disgusting a great number of voters.

H. C. HALLEY DIES IN ILLINOIS.

According to the Lewiston Tribune H. C. (Clay) Halley, an employee of the First Bank of Genesee, about ten years ago, and later with the First National Bank of Lewiston, passed away Monday night at the Edward Hines Jr. hospital at Hines, Ill., where he had been since August 1. He was suffering from a lung ailment.

Mr. Halley was active in Legion affairs and Boy Scout work while in Genesee, and while at Lewiston became a charter member of its drum and bugle corps, being instrumental in its organization. Active in Legion work there until he went to Illinois, he was post finance officer and acting adjutant of the Lewiston post.

Mr. Halley was mustered into service in the World war on May 22, 1917 at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., as a private in a cavalry troop, and was mustered out September 17, 1919 with the rank of sergeant-major. He was stationed along the Mexican border.

Born at Marshall, Mo., August 13, 1896, the deceased was slightly more than 36 years of age. He is survived by a widow and three children, Lois, Joyce and Phyllis; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Halley of Bantry, N. D.; one brother and four sisters, all living in North Dakota.

Mrs. Halley, who accompanied her husband east for treatment, is returning to Lewiston with the body. Funeral services will be held at the Brower-Wann chapel Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. E. F. Harold officiating. The American Legion and the Masonic lodge, of which he was a member, will participate in the rites.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

A daughter put in her appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Burr Tuesday. Papa Dan wears his honors very becomingly.

H. H. Manderfeld purchased Theodore Lorang's farm, located a mile and a half from town, lying north of the N. P. tracks. About 70 acres are contained in the piece of land.

Thursday evening of last week one of Henry Martinson's teams became frightened near the Conant residence and made an exciting run down the hill. Mr. Martinson and the driver, Oscar Selland, were thrown from the wagon with considerable force but escaped serious injury.

Mrs. Sarah Elliot and son, Thomas, left Wednesday of this week for Kansas City, Mo., to spend the winter.

Matt Tonning and Miss Clara Green were married Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Tonning in Moscow.

The auction sale held by Pat Mullaley was well attended and good prices were realized on everything offered for sale. Among the principal bidders at the sale was Mrs. Mary Thornton whose purchases amounted to $700. A horse which she bid in for $191.00, and a colt at $64.00, she later sold at an advance of $45.00.

Dance Saturday Night.

CHURCH MEETING.

An event of outstanding importance in the religious world will be the Reformation rally to be held at the Lewiston State Normal auditorium, Lewiston, Idaho, October 30th. Lutheran churchmen from Genesee, Moscow, Pullman, Colfax, Cameron, Gifford, Nez Perce, Clarkston and Lewiston will gather to celebrate the 415th anniversary of the Reformation. A very large number from the Genesee Lutheran church as well as Rev. and Mrs. Klickman will motor down for this event. Prof. J. P. Pflueger of Pacific Lutheran College, Parkland, Wash., will speak at 10:30 a. m., and Rev. Wm. Siegel of Grace church, Spokane, will address the gathering at 2:45 in the afternoon. Prof. Geo. Neupert, conductor of the Normal school orchestra, will give a half hour's concert and a mixed octette will provide vocal numbers and lead the congregational singing. The general public is heartily invited to attend both services. —Rev. Wm. J. Schwartz.

FATHER OF MRS. CRAFT DIES.

Mrs. Henry Craft left Wednesday morning for Spokane, called there by the death of her father, George P. Stiles, age 84, who passed away on Tuesday. The deceased was former custodian of the Lewis and Clark high school and had resided in Spokane for 38 years. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, A. O. U. W., and Oriental Lodge No. 74, F. & A. M. Besides Mrs. Craft he is survived by five other daughters, one son and his widow.

Stauffers Whiskers Need Trimming.

Now that G. R. (Happy) Stauffer has no hopes of Alfalfa Bill Murray being elected president, he states that he will not trim his whiskers and hair until Roosevelt is seated in the chair of the chief executive. If Roosevelt is elected Stauffer will wait until the inauguration day before he removes the brush. Stauffer says he has been ashamed to face conditions such as they are and has been hiding out behind a profuse growth of beard for three years. He will be remembered by many here, who thought at times that he might be an under-cover agent in federal employ.

W. D. Riddle in Accident.

W. D. Riddle, superintendent of the Creston, Wash., public schools, and former head of the local schools, escaped with slight injuries when the brakes on his car locked while going down a steep grade. He was accompanied by two men on a hunting trip, and the car in which they were riding, turned over once, landing right-side up. None of the men were seriously injured but the car was badly damaged.

Christian Church.

Sunday school at 10 a. m.

Preaching and communion at 11 a. m. The Rev. Dr. Wells of Moscow, affiliated with religious education at the University of Idaho, will conduct the services.

Missionary society meets at the Aherin home with Mrs. Ruby Aherin as hostess. Mrs. Pleiman and Mrs. Wishard are the leaders. This meeting will be Tuesday, November 1, at 2 o'clock.

HALF OR MORE OF IDAHO'S WEALTH IS NOT TAXED

The best evidence, perhaps, of one of the most serious of the shortcomings of Idaho's current revenue law is found in the great disparity in the wealth of the state as estimated by the census bureau and the wealth of the state as shown on the tax rolls, reports Glenn Balch, writing tax articles for the state chamber of commerce.

The figures bring this conclusion home with shocking clarity. Idaho's actual wealth, as estimated from figures and information obtained during the taking of the 1929 census, is (or perhaps it is more accurate to say was) $1,818,000,000, or one billion eight hundred and eighteen million dollars.

Keeping that sum in mind, let us glance at the tax rolls. These show that the total assessed wealth of the state in 1930, only a few months after the taking of the census, was $482,-791,000, or four hundred eighty-two million seven hundred ninety-one thousand dollars. This total, by the way, is now around the 400 million mark.

Startling Fact

The startling fact made apparent by the above figures, presuming that the census estimate is approximately correct, is that half or more of the property in Idaho is not contributing to the upkeep of government.

We arrive at this deduction by assuming that the property on the rolls is assessed at half or 50 per cent of its value, which is customary. Then the actual value of this property is more than $900,000,000. Substracting this amount from the census estimate of $1,818,000,000, we have about $900,-000,000 left. If the property thus represented were on the tax rolls at 50 per cent of its value, then the total assessed wealth of Idaho would be about 900 million dollars, an amount which would enable the reduction of the present tax levy of 50 per cent or more.

A considerable amount of this Idaho property which does not show on the tax rolls comes under the exemption classification, which includes fraternal, religious and public owned properties of various kinds—and a lot more, that is not legally exempted from taxation is not found by the assessors if we can place any faith in census takers' figures.

Let us consider some specific items. The census value of Idaho land of all types is $417,249,572; the tax roll value is $181,876,903 (all figures for 1930). Other comparisions are as follows: cattle, census value, $32,362,-214; tax roll value, $10,531,078. Horses and mules, census value, $10,459,-451; tax roll value, $3,691,341. Sheep and goats, census value, $24,373,174; tax roll value, $9,205,590. Hogs, census value, $2,968,412; tax roll value, $440,183. Farm implements, census value, $39,748,803; tax roll value $1,479,857.

This discrepancy is not only noticeable in values but likewise extends to actual numbers. For instance: the census-takers found 622,170 head of cattle in the state while the assessors could find only 385,552 head. The census shows that Idaho had 213,329 horses and mules and the tax rolls show only 120,861. According to the census there were 3,305,317 sheep and goats, but of this number all but 1,542,755 eluded the assessors.

While the figures are not complete, a similar condition is indicated in merchandise assessments. The census shows merchandise stocks on hand at the close of 1929 in Boise with a value of $3,090,833, and the tax rolls show all the merchandise in Ada county in 1930 to have had a value of only $2,-427,737. Census figures for Pocatello reveal merchandise valued at $1,928,-524, while the Bannock county tax rolls show only $1,136,569 in stocks for the entire county.

The inevitable conclusion from these figures is that our present revenue laws have many loopholes thru which property may and does escape taxation.

"For by grace have ye been saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God; not of works, that no man should glory." Eph. 2 . 8 . 9.

Do I know, as I ought, what the grace of God is? Would that I could know it rightly, for it would save me many a mistake, defeat and sorrow. I know that grace means far more than the word implies when thoughtlessly spoken by the worldly-minded. Grace is God's power to save. But, oh, that I could behold God's grace revealed in its purity and apart from all human additions and falsifications! Oh, for a vision clear and undimmed to see God's grace aright! Paul's great life work was to keep the doctrine of grace free from everything that might obscure it. He gladly gave up his life in the cause of the pure gospel—a glorious life and a blessed death. Man's work and God's grace must be kept apart. "If it is my grace, it is no more of works; otherwise grace is no more grace." (Rom. 11 . 6.). If there were a man with the magnanimity of Abraham, the fidelity of Samuel, the purity of Joseph, who, with all these noble qualities, would not fall down before the Lord and plead for mercy, he would, nevertheless, be farther from God's kingdom than he who with all the sins of a Manassen comes before God and asks forgiveness. Boastfulness is spiritual leprosy from which our heavenly High Priest must pronounce us cleansed, before He can bestow His grace upon us. Everything implies in the words "of ourselves" must be separated from God's grace, otherwise grace is not grace. Hence, I must realize that my good intentions, my desires and longings, my struggles and plans, my change of mind, do not in the least merit, or prepare me for God's grace. No,, it is grace that prepares the way for all things. Grace is not of yourselves, but of the Lord. Salvation is the gift of God. To procure this gift, I was not able to do even so much as the beggar, who steps inside the rich man's door to wait for the promised alms. I was unable even to enter the house, but the Lord, like the good Samaritan, had to seek me in strange paths, take me up and care for me. And not until received by grace could I whisper the first words of gratitude. By grace, through faith, this is the Alpha and Omega of salvation. In our first taste of God's grace we acquired this blessed knowledge, and all we need to know of the alphatbet of salvation is simply this: by grace, through faith. May my faith never be put to any other use than as a receptacle for grace; but may I always be ready, with the hand of faith outstretched, to receive whenever the Lord will give.

Senator Borah takes up Thomas Fight

With all the Vigor and Force of Old

At Shelley, speaking to 2,000 people, Senator Borah said:

"As you know Senator Thomas has been taken out of the campaign on account of illness. I do not suppose he will be sufficiently recovered to take any part in the campaign, so, therefore, I am taking up the fight for him.

HE HAS COMPLETE CONFIDENCE IN SENATOR THOMAS

Speaking at Rexburg Senator Borah said:

"Certainly Senator Thomas stands with me on the League of Nations question. If he did not, I would not support him. Let it be understood that I have never spoken in behalf of any candidate in whom I did not have complete confidence and faith."

SENATOR THOMAS VOTED FOR DEBENTURE

Senator Borah says:

"It has been said in the campaign that Senator Thomas voted against the Debenture. The facts are that Senator Thomas came to the support of and voted for the Debenture.

ECONOMY, EXPANDING CURRENCY AND THE BONUS

Senator Borah said:

"We both (Senator Thomas and myself) stood for a cut of 20% on salaries of Senators, while the bill that was passed only reduced them 10%.

Senator Borah says further:

"Senator Thomas assisted me in every possible way in my fight to expand the currency. He voted and supported the amendment which I offered and which was passed."

WILL STOP FORECLOSURES

Speaking of farm foreclosures, Senator Borah says:

"The government should stop all these foreclosures until something can be done about it. Senator Thomas has a bill pending before Congress to take care of this matter."

Senator Borah further says:

"Anyone who wants to go to congress to levy a two and one-half billion dollar bonus on the already burdened backs of the taxpayers ought to be called upon by the people. So long as the people are losing their homes and the farmers are unable to pay their taxes there should be no question on this issue."

SENATOR THOMAS VOTED TO PUT POWER TAX ON POWER COMPANIES

At Rexburg on October 20, speaking to 3500 people in the Mormon Tabernacle where he had been escorted by two brass bands and an old-fashioned torch-light parade, Senator Borah said:

"What I wish to say to you regarding Senator Thomas will be supported by the Congressional Record and whatever faults the Congressional Record may have it always speaks the truth as to what took place. I do not contend there is any wilful misrepresentation but there has been a misunderstanding as to his vote on the tax bill regarding the tax on electrical power. The facts are, and the Record discloses, that every time the issue was raised as to who should pay the tax Senator Thomas voted that it should be paid by the power companies and not by the consumers."

Out of a total of 96 senators there are 65 lawyers in the United States Senate. There are only eight farmers and stockmen and John Thomas is one of the eight. Idaho cannot afford to reduce agriculture's representation to only seven.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING OCT. 21

Domestic wheat markets held generally steady during the week ending October 21, influenced by smaller receipts and a fairly active mill demand, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The Pacific coast markets were lower, reflecting the lack of an export outlet, but central western markets were steady to slightly higher for most classes of wheat. Corn declined to new lows for the season under the influence of increased receipts and a continued dull market demand. Rye, oats and barley held about unchanged. Flax was also about unchanged with the offerings smaller and meeting with a steady crusher demand.

There were no important changes in the general wheat market situation during the week. Fall seeding was still delayed by dry soil in the Western Great Plains area. Winter wheat was benefited by heavy rains in the Atlantic states and by improved moisture conditions in the Pacific Northwest. Moisture was ample and the crop was up to good stands in the Ohio Valley and in Eastern Kansas and Nebraska. Winter seedings appear to be making good progress in the principal European countries, except in the Balkans, where recent rains were insufficient to relieve the drought. Russian seedings of winter grains to October 10 were placed at 75,000,000 acres, which is about average for that date.

The large supplies of native wheat available in the principal European importing countries this season narrowed the demand for foreign grain and limit it mostly to high grade, strong wheats. German wheats this season have unusually good quality, having a higher percentage of protein and much better gluten quality than usual. Native wheats in some areas are reported almost equal to hard red winters and hard red spring grains, whereas they are normally very soft and weak in gluten. The French wheats are soft and starchy, but the best quality compares very favorably with the soft red winters of Ohio and Pennsylvania. Test weights range from 56 to 60½ lbs. per bushel, with an average for the whole country of around 59 per Winchester bushel. The quality of the Italian crop is only fair, but the Italian millers show less preference for strong wheat than do millers of western Europe. U. S. hard winters, Pacific coast white wheats, northern hemisphere or Russian wheats are suitable for the Italian trade. Dutch and Belgium wheats are beter than those of last season, with higher test weight, less dockage and harder, dryer kernels.

Rust damage in the countries of Central Europe lowered the quality of wheat and resulted in considerable light weight wheat. In Poland test weights ranged from 46 to 60 pounds and averaged around 57 pounds. Only about 13 per cent of the Czechoslovakian wheat is reported to be of good milling quality, but samples produced in the western part of the country tested 60 to 60½ lbs. per Winchester bushel. Austrian wheats are more glutenous than most other western European varieties and are fairly comparable with U. S. hard winters or Argentine wheats.

Canadian wheats are of good quality this season with an analysis of early samples indicating a high protein content. In Manitoba the content is somewhat lower than last season but higher than in 1930 and 1931.

DR. CADISH TALKS TO LARGE AUDIENCE AT OPEN HOUSE

Thursday evening of last week the high school assembly was crowded with friends, teachers and students to hear Dr. Cadish, who has recently returned from a European trip. His talk was most interesting, telling of conditions in Russia under its soviet regime. Besides not having a sufficiency to eat are given their shoes and clothing as they need them in some instances, while in other cases, people are required to go without shoes of leather, protecting their feet while at toil with coverings made from woven grasses.

Dr. Cadish remarked that the educational system was almost beyond comprehension to the average person; children of the age of those in the United States who are now in the fourth and fifth grades, are taught at their tender ages, to deal with world problems, political issues, and subjects which one would naturally think they were incapable of understanding. They employ mostly propaganda in their teaching, in their moving pictures shows and in their community gatherings, said Dr. Cadish, attempting to give their people the impression that the rest of the world is in much worse condition than Russia.

Selling enormous quantities of wheat and coal, the Russian government, is practically starving a part of the country's population, selling their products to obtain foreign money with which to purchase machinery that soviet Russia will become a leading nation industrially.

Russia, with its large army, necessary until conditions become settled, is everywhere in evidence, the towns are crowded with soldiers, every train has as passengers a large percentage of soldiers, who are well feed and well clothed. Certain classes of workmen and women are also better fed and better clothed than the farmer class. Those engaged in industrial activities in Russia today are the cream of the nation, Dr. Cadish stated.

Russians today are intent on obtaining foreign money. Their own circulating medium is inflated ten or more times than normal, and at the government stores one can buy only with stabilized foreign money, that the government can make exchange for machinery without a heavy sacrifice in exchange.

Dr. Cadish also told of conditions in Germany, and in answering a question, said Hitler had about reached his zenith, that he controlled a large percentage of the German vote.

Unemployment in Germany is more acute than in the United States, the speaker said, while in Russia practically everyone is working, but in return get nothing more than a living. If one receives a fair income it is taken away in taxes. If a person in Russia wants to buy two articles of any one kind, the first will be sold to him at a fair price, but the second item of the same kind is held at a high price, the contention being that a person has no use for two items exactly alike.

High School Dance.

To celebrate the coming of the witches and goblins the high school has arranged for a Halolwe'en carnival dance, to be held at the gymnasium Saturday night, October 29. The Blue Mountaineer orchestra from W. S. C. has been obtained and comes with fine recommendations. Many people of Genesee are acquainted with them as they have played for several dances in Uniontown recently. Sheriff Anderson, on his big bass violin and harmony singers are special attractions.

Horns, rattlers, etc., are being provided to add to the Halowe'en spirit.

The football team goes to Troy for the second conference tilt of the season Friday. This game is expected to be one of the hardest of the season, due to the fact that it is played away from home and Troy has defeated Potlatch, showing that they possess strength. They also held Lapwai to a 6-point score, obtained after a fumbled punt, which gave Lapwai the ball on the Troy two-yard line.

Teddy Wagner injured his shoulder in the last game but will likely be in shape by Friday.

Two years ago Troy and Genesee played a 0-0 tie. Last year Troy won from Genesee for the conference title and this year Genesee is hoping to take revenge.

School News.

Three readings will be given before the assembly Thursday afternoon during the last hour. The classes will be represented by certain pupils. Marie Springer will represent the sophomores with a reading, "Maggie McCarthy Goes On a Diet;" the junior class will be represented by Gail Sampson who will give "The Leap-Year-Leap," and Marie Kluss will represent the freshman class with "Tomboy."

Girls Playing Horseshoes

The girls who are eligible have now begun to test their skill at pitching horseshoes. There are quite a number who are eligible so it will be quite a while before we can have the tournament.

Seeds Grow After 30 Years.

Every now and then a yarn is circulated about plant seeds alleged to have been found in Egyptian tombs with ancient mummies, and to have sprouted on being put into the ground —such tales are pure fiction.

Archie Harris brings in a clipping in which it is stated the department of agriculture began 30 years ago a series of experiments at the Arlington farm, across the Potomac from Washington to determine the endurance of vitality in seeds. Many sets of seeds of different kinds were buried in pots of soil then and subsequently at three different depths — 8 inches, 22 inches and 42 inches. At intervals the pots have been dug up, and the seeds planted to see if they would sprout.

Recently, seeds thus buried thirty years ago were dug up and planted. Among them were those of the wild morning glory, which sprouted within two days after they were taken from the "burial plot." The quickness with which the seeds of morning glory and other wild plants germinated was deemed astonishing. Within eight days 15 more species were starting to grow.

Among the seeds that sprouted after thirty years of burial there were only three of them domesticated plants—clover, tobacco and celery. In all there were 35 kinds that grew, but the others were all wild plants or weeds. The greater vitality shown by weed seeds is not thought surprising, because weeds must have more vitality than domestic plants in order to survive.

Domesticated crop plants have shown, in the experiments, to have poor resistance to burial. Seeds of barley, wheat, corn, buckwheat, flax, cotton and oats were all buried at the same time the weed seeds were, but none of them sprouted. These seeds, however, will live several years if kept dry.

The experiments here described, begun in 1902 to determine how long seeds, especially those of weeds would remain alive in the soil, have plainly shown that farmers cannot hope to kill weed seds by plowing them under.

WIDE VARIATION IN SCHOOL COSTS IN STATE OF IDAHO

An intensive survey of the operation of Idaho's common school districts, made for the educational committee of the state chamber's tax committee, reveals some startling variations in costs, unit-costs, student-load and teacher-strength of the various districts.

These variations are such that, as pointed out in the report, "it is difficult to believe that the districts are in the same state, operating under the same statutes and providing what is presumed to be a uniform system of education."

The report indicts our present district system of common school education in that "it does not permit equal educational opportunity to the pupils or equal justice to the taxpayers," says Glenn Balch, writing "Tax Topics" for the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

Wide Variations

Because of the wide variations in operative costs in districts of similar size and operating under similar conditions, the conclusion is drawn that at least one of the difficulties under which the common schools are operating is a lack of competent organization and management.

To drive this conclusion more forcibly home, a number of the variations referred to will be pointed out.

In one-teacher schools having a daily average attendance of 10 students or less, the low cost for the school year of 1930-1931 was $746 and the high cost $2,670.12, each school being operated for nine months. The variation in similar schools with 20 to 35 pupils was from $1,097.31 to $5,431.13, or a difference roughly of $4,400 in costs to the respective taxpayers.

Costs Vary

The variation in two-teacher schools ranged from $1,431.44 to $7,032.42; in three-teacher schools from $2,898.34 to $9,336.67; in four-teacher schools from $3,501.04 to $10,205.94; and in five-teacher schools the low cost was $7,463.39, and the high cost $12,578.49.

Equally wide variations is noted in the costs of combined grade and high schools. For instance, for schools with enrollments of 2,000 to 4,327 the costs varied from $173,976 to $430,-312.00.

One particular case is cited where in the difference in enrollment was only five pupils while the variation in expenditures amounted to $109,000.

This wide variation in school expenditures is equally apparent in individual items. Considering for instance teachers' salaries, we find one one-teacher school pays its instructor $550 while a second school, of similar size and conducted for the same length of time, provides $1800 as the annual salary. Variations of from $300 to $600 in the salaries of teachers in schools of similar size are common.

Pre-Teacher Expenses

The variations in "other expenses" per teacher are also startling. One school with an enrollment of 99 pupils managed to get along on $11 per teacher over and above salaries, while a second school, with 93 pupils, required $1195 "other expenses" per teacher for the year, or more than 10 times as much as the first.

One district expended $664 per teacher to provide a place of instruction and educational supplies for 144 pupils while another district made the same provisions for 4322 pupils at a cost of only $629 per teacher.

The average number of students per teacher, or student-load, in the state varies from 11.7 in Clark county to 29.8 in Canyon county.

The logical conclusion to be drawn from these many and wide variations in school costs is that some districts are undoubtedly paying too much for common school education while others are paying too little. The happy medium, if it could be determined, would probably prove the cure of a good many, if not most, of the state's educational ills.

NO DAMAGE ON HALLOWE'EN.

Property owners in and around Genesee report that no damage was done on Hallowe'en, for which they are indeed grateful, as under existing conditions it would be next to impossible for some to repair the damage, had any occurred.

Extra police wer employed for the night, and they too, report that no one was in the mood of observing Hallowe'en as in some years which have passed.

PLAY AT LAPWAI FRIDAY.

Injuries will be felt in the Genesee high school lineup when the game is played at Lapwai today (Friday.) John Klemm, linesman may be out with torn knee ligaments, suffered in the Troy game, and it is doubtful if Ted Wagner can take his position in the backfield. Lapwai has one of the strong teams in central Idaho this year, having defeated Lewiston in an early season game.

ELECTION POLLS OPEN AT EIGHT, CLOSE AT SEVEN

Tuesday, November 8, general election day, is rapidly approaching, which should be an interesting date for every adult in the United States to remember. If you have not already registered, hurry and do it on or before Saturday evening, November 5. If you voted at the last general election two years ago, you need not register, unless you have moved from one precinct to another. ..If you registered for the primary election, May 24, this year, you need not register for your names are already on the books. If you are in doubt as to eligibility to vote, get in touch with the registrar of the precinct in which you now reside. Mrs. L. C. Hayden is registrar for Genesee precinct; Mrs. Mary Nutt is registrar for Juliaetta precinct; Jesse Oylear for Lenville; Elizabeth Jensen for Thornereek, and Gus Beachler for Rimrock precinct.

It is your duty to vote, and your are urged to take all precautions to make you eligible.

If you have registered in a precinct other than that in which you now reside, obtain a transfer.

And further, if you are going to be away from home on election day, write or see the county auditor where it is possible to obtain an absent voter's ballot. ..November 7 is the last day to receive a ballot for absent voting.

Election polls will open at 8 a. m., and close at 7 p. m., November 8.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

When you ask for an election ballot next Tuesday you will be handed a large white ballot and a smaller one, the former containing the names of presidential electors of four parties, Republican, Democratic, Liberty and Communist, and also the names of all nominees for the various state, county and precinct offices. If you desire to vote a ticket straight make a cross (X) in the large circle at the top of the party ticket for which you wish to vote. If you wish to vote for candidates on several parties do not make a mark in the large circle, simply make the cross in the circle at the right of the name of the person for whom you desire to vote. Many ballots at each election are thrown out because a person does not mark his or her ballot correctly. If you wish to write in a name of a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, scratch out the other names for that particular office and write the name in the last column, provided for this purpose.

When you find yourself with two ballots, the second one, yellow in color, contains the five amendments to the state constitution, none of which, however, should be left unnoticed. The first relates to consolidation of counties. The second would change the constitution that a state tax commission would be substituted for the present state board of equalization. The third amendment deals with irrigation district elections, and locally has no following. The fourth would place on the tax rolls all property such as churches, fraternal orders and all property held in a proprietary capacity. The fifth amendment would give the legislature authority to impose taxes on incomes, or according to or measured by incomes from all sources, and on sales, privileges and occupations, which taxes would provide revenue for the state, counties, cities, towns or other municipal corporations.

Democratic Meetings.

Interesting and well attended meetings have been held during the past week at the Ingle and Thornereek school houses, both meetings being democratic rallies, in which a number of speakers have taken the floor. The various candidates have been present at the meetings.

ALUMNI BATTLES MOSCOW COMETS TO SCORELESS TIE

Receiving the kick-off in the football game at Moscow last Sunday the Genesee Alumni ran the ball back to about the 40-yard line and then on the first play Weber remained out on a "sleeper" and took a long pass from Kane to gain another 35 yards, but here their opponents, the Moscow Comets, with their backs scattered before the 20-yard line, braced themselves for the attack and took the ball on downs, kicking almost immediately into Genesee territory. Battling back and forth between each other team's 20-yard lines, Lee Johann, in the last few minutes of the second quarter, was away for a touchdown, running wide and fast around his own left end, but was brought down in the mud on the Comets' 25-yard line. Forward passes found every man covered, with no opportunity for the ball being gathered in by a Genesee end or back.

At the opening of the second half, Genesee kicked to the Comets, a nice long end-over-end kick that fell on the 20-yard line, then hounded to the ten where it was picked up by Luvass, Comet half, who carried it to his own 25-yard line where he was brought down by G. Blume. The Comets elected to kick on the first down to Lee Johann in the safety position. The ball took a bad bound, and before he could get up he was swarmed under by the Comet ends. Attempting an end run, a Genesee back, apparently away for a nice gain, lost his footing and went down on one knee. Had he been playing under the old rules he had a clear field, as it was one time when the Genesee team was blocking effectually. On the next play Kane dropped back to pass but punted instead, giving the Comets the ball on their own 22-yard line. Driskill dropped back for what looked like a pass, but he too, chose to kick and in the exchange Genesee Alumni was the gainer by about ten yards. Rinehart substituting for L. Johann, made two nice sweeps around his right end and Genesee had the ball in its possession as the whistle blew for the quarter.

Weber on an end-around-end play, gained 10 yards, Rinehart fumbled but picked up the ball and then made a nice gain; Blume hammered at the line and it looked like Genesee was going to make a determined effort to score, but on the wet ground it was almost impossible for the backs to get started. Genesee, however, made three first downs in succession, but gave up possession when it looked possible to kick over the Comets' safety man who was playing up. Kane got away a nice long spiral which held up until both ends were waiting for the ball, but here the Comets got a break as both teams were offside. Kane was rushed on the next kick and booted the ball but half the distance of his first punt.

Unrelenting, the Genesee line broke through to nail Comet carriers for two losses, but a forward pass permitted the Moscow men to advance to midfield. On the first play in a new series of downs, ,Ben Johann was in to nail one carrier; Kraut and Esser smeared another man with the ball, and again the Comets resorted to passing bringing the ball to within inches of a first down. Lloyd Qualey went in at right tackle, and with a line play directed at his position, he came through by slipping under the Moscow forward wall and grabbed the quarterback by one foot before he had crossed the line of scrimmage.

Genesee took the ball on downs on the south sideline and rather than carry it out of bounds, a half raced around right end, but was downed before gaining more than five yards. Thus ended an evenly matched game, with players trying almost every kind of football.

Immediately following the game, Jack Vandenburg, manager of the Alumni scheduled a game with the Comets for Armistice day at Genesee. It will be remembered that these two teams have battled each other in two tie games this season, the first 6-6 at Genesee and last Sunday, 0-0.

Rally on Eve of Election.

Monday evening, preceding general election, there will be a democratic rally at the Cozy theatre in Genesee with George Erb and Fred Erb as the principal speakers. The two men are from Lewiston and have been taking an active part in the democratic campaign in this section of Idaho.

GENESEE-TROY FOOTBALL GAME BECOMES THRILLER

With no scoring in the first three quarters of the football game played at Troy last Friday between teams of the Genesee and Troy high schools, a fourth period turned into a thriller with two touchdowns by Troy and one by Genesee. With 23 seconds to go Genesee received the kickoff and on the next play Bob Broemeling was out in the open for Genesee's second touchdown with one one man in his way, the Troy quarterback, who made the tackle on Troy's 11-yard line.

Scoring 12 points to 7 for Genesee, Troy failed in both attempts at conversion by trying to carry the ball. Despite the final score Genesee was in Troy territory during most of the game, threatening three times in the first half to score. They advanced the ball once to Troy's 3-yard line, once to the six-yard line and once to the 11-yard line, losing the ball on downs in the first instance by inches.

Troy scored its first touchdown on line plays after taking the ball down the field on a lateral pass, R. Broemeling making the tackle on Genesee's 2-yard line. It required four downs, however to push the ball across from the 2-yard line.

Receiving the kickoff, Genesee carried the ball to the 30-yard line, then taking to the air lost ten yards on three incompleted passes before punting. Troy's quarterback wriggled to within 25 yards of the Genesee goal in returning the punt and then sidestepped, stiff-armed and jolted his way on the next play for a touchdown.

Genesee then received and brought the ball out to the 30-yard stripe, and on the next play Broemeling went out on a sleeper with Wishard going straight down the field to catch Smylie's pass on the 50-yard line, evading every tackler but one who brought him down on the 6 yard line, from which point R. Broemeling slanted off an end for the touchdown. Smylie passed to Wishard to account for the extra point.

Coach Parks was well pleased with the playing in this game, but stated that injuries to Wagner was felt on defense. It was a thrilling game to watch with its long runs and tackling ball carriers when apparently away for touchdowns.

NOVEMBER 1 PAY DAY FOR EMPLOYEES ON HIGHWAY

November 1 was a red-letter day for some 70 men either employed on the construction of farm-to-market highways in the vicinity of Genesee or for men furnishing horses and other equipment. Seventy some warrants were received in Genesee to meet the payroll, coming from the state of Idaho.

Work was held up for several days this week owing to rains, but with the sun coming out Thursday, it is expected that work will be resumed Friday, today.

Joe Tobin, foreman on Propect No. 1, left Wednesday for Spokane to obtain a compressor outfit that the rock work might be started as soon as possible that men can work even though it does rain. There is not very much rock work to be done, but it will require more time and perhaps more men can be employed at one time.

John Randall in charge of operations on the north Project No. 3, was also held up by rains, but work there can be resumed also after a few hours or a day at least of dry weather.

R. L. Edwards in Hospital.

R. L. Edwards accompanied R. E. Nordby to Potlatch Tuesday morning, the former entering the hospital there for an examination and possible operation. Should the latter be necessary it will be undertaken Sunday. Mr. Edwards has been in ill health for several years, and for the past three weeks has been confined to his home in Genesee. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Warren also went to Potlatch with Mr. Edwards. They returned home Tuesday afternoon.

Genesee Valley Church.

The Luther League will meet at the Parish hall Sunday evening, November 6.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the Parish hall Thursday, November 10. The ladies are requested to bring their thank offerings to this meeting. There will be a pick-up lunch.

Mrs. John Dunbar of Moscow is spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Herman.

BIRDS REPORTED PLENTIFUL.

Wednesday, the first open day of the present phensant hunting season, found plenty of hunters in the field, who reported plenty of birds in most instances, although there were some who failed to get their bag limit and some who failed to even return with enough for one meal.

Wednesday morning was very wet with rain falling at intervals, yet hunters, eager to peer over the sights were in almost every field. Hunters were not permitted to shoot on the first day of November as hunting is limited to three days a week in Latah and Nez Perce counties. The open days are Sundays, Wednesday and Fridays. The last day of the season, November 20, comes on Sunday.

CANDIDATES FROM GENESEE ARE DESERVING OF SUPPORT

Genesee is proud to have two candidates on the general election ballot this fall, proud especially because both are above reproach, men who have proven trustworthy in every manner. They are R. E. Nordby and Fred Hove, both farmers, with lifelong residence in Latah county. They cannot be classed as politicians for they are and will continue to be interested in the welfare of the people as a whole. Party lines will not interfere with the duty they owe to the county and state, and many voters, who likewise believe in fairness and justice, will leave their respective party columns to vote for these two men, for people have so expressed themselves.

Mr. Nordby is the republican nominee for county commissioner from the Second district to succeed himself. At present he is chairman of the board of county commissioners, having established a record that is recognized by everyone in the county. He withstood and was elected to his present office in the campaign of two years ago when false rumors were broadcast, a review of which is unnecessary as Mr. Nordby's record has been vindicated.

Mr. Hove filed for the nomination of state representative at the request of a number of his friends, and if elected will be serving his first term. He is fully capable of representing the people of Latah county in the state legislature. He has no ulterior motive prompting his candidacy, save that he will gladly represent the people of this section of Idaho to the best of his ability. Mr. Hove has for a number of years been active in the Farmers Union organizations, has served as Legion commander and is well acquainted with parliamentary procedure. Like Mr. Nordby, he will not stoop to petty things, but will at all times be looking out for the best interests of his county and state.

LEGION PROTESTS ACTION OF THE ECONOMY LEAGUE

At the American Legion meeting Wednesday evening a committee was appointed to draw up resolutions in protest to the action of the so-called Economy League which has already taken a stand against the payment of ex-service men's adjusted compensation, referred to by too many as the "soldiers' bonus." And, it was not so much the objection of the Economy League to the payment of the bonus that irritates the veterans as it is the objection of the League to payment of disability and other claims incident to hospitalization of former service men.

Armistice Day Program.

Plans were made at the meeting Wednesday evening for Armistice day, and on the program at present are listed three features, the dinner at 6:30 for all former service men and their families and members of the Auxiliary and families. During the afternoon there will be a football game between the Genesee Alumni and Moscow Comts, teams which to date, have played two tie games, one scoreless and the other 6 to 6. This game in itself promises to be the battle of the decade on the local gridiron, and unless the Comets round up too many college players, Genesee should break the tie.

Dance in the Evening.

In the evening of Armistice Day there will be a big public dance, with the admission price for each couple amounting to only fifty cents.

Following the meeting Dale Lanphere and Walt Mays served lunch.

SEN. CALLAHAN UPHOLDS HOOVER ADMINISTRATION

Senator Donald A. Callahan, Shoshone county legislator, appeared before an audience at the Cozy theatre last Friday evening urging voters to perform their citizenship rights on election day, admonishing them also to be considerate and not permit resentment unduly acquired to interfere in the discharge of their duties at the polls. Faced with obligations contracted in good times and confronted with the problem of low prices for products with which to pay this bonded and personal debt, the Senator recalled the hard times of 1893 and said that our debts in that period were not so large and that the United States was thrown into a depression such as never before experienced because 600,000,000 people of other nations had preceded us. Recently the British pound sterling has sunk to $3.25 our money, the former value being $4.87, and if the American dollar was cheapened likewise, it would be worth but 66 and two-third cents today.

The struggle in 1893 was beset by industrial strife and riots, while in 1932 the depression of three years has seen no great industrial strikes, no fall of United States securities, which the speaker stated was due to a mutual understanding between labor and business, accomplished under the leadership of Hoover who he classed as a business leader and not a political leader. "Thank God," we have experienced no industrial strife and riots," said Mr. Callahan. The president has urged federal allotments for the construction of highways and for emergency relief, but one cannot expect a government to exert magic in raising prices, or to combat the rule of supply and demand. The world still has confidence in the United States for it has maintained its credit, said the speaker; the dollar has been kept at par while we are experiencing our difficulties incident to many debts, bonded and otherwise.

Senator Callahan stated he would be pleased to learn the meaning of the democratic competitive tariff as contained in the party's platform. He also said that after Roosevelt had visited New Mexico and Colorado he gave out the statement that he would not be in favor of reducing the tariff on cattle and sugar, thereby having nothing better to offer than the republican nominee for president.

"You can't restore prosperity by building postoffices, by making printing press money, but you can destroy the nation's credit by the inflation of its money," said Mr. Callahan.

Second guessing has become a favorite pastime, according to the speaker; those looking on can always direct the business than by those in active effort, and the senator likened the critics of the present administration to spectators at football and baseball games, who always knew a better player to substitute than the coach, or knew just what pinch hitter to send in when the one the manager sent in failed to deliver.

"The nation is sound, there is too much debt, but we ourselves are to blame and not the president,," said Mr. Callahan.

Senator Callahan turned from a discussion of national affairs to those of the state to defend himself as a legislator, who, in part, has been blamed for the huge appriations of the last biennium. As chairman of the appriations committee of the last session, Mr. Callahan said that appropriations were $56,000 in excess of the budget, when it was expected that it could be lowered a million dollars. When the appropriations were made, Mr. Callahan stated it was not the intention of the legislature to handicap the governor, and because he did not choose to ask for a reduction in the budget, the legislators were excusable as they left for their respective homes immediately after the special session, called by the governor. Time after time, the speaker insisted that the governor had plenty of time in which to veto the appropriations or make recommendations for lower appropriations, and as a member of the board of examiners the governor failed to have them reduced. Mr. Callahan was very serious in his defense of the legislature and stated that he was unable to understand why the governor almost two years later begged for a lower levy when the appropriations for the biennium had already been made.

Something New

SALMON is one of the most popular fish in the world, and such vast quantities of it are eaten annually that everyone supposed they knew all about it. But a certain food packer has taken the hint from a can of "Fruit for Salad," and now offers a specially selected and prepared "Salmon for Salad." The salmon are skinned and the bones removed and then diced and packed into inside enameled cans, lined with pure parchment paper, to give the contents the greatest possible protection. Only the choicest portions of the best of salmon are used for this popular food product in a new form. The cubes are only slightly caked together and are easily broken apart. It is most attractive—no waste—and possesses an excellent flavor.

Individual Steaks, Too

Just as special cuts are used for this new "Salmon for Salad," the best possible parts of the fish are used for the new "Individual Salmon Steaks," now being put up by this salmon packer in oval quarter pound cans. For just as there are certain cuts of meat which are particularly suitable and desirable for certain uses, so there are portions of each salmon, according to this packer, that are superior to other parts.

FOR WHOM SHALL I VOTE?

That a heavy moral responsibility attaches to the privilege of suffrage in democracies all will agree. The choosing of candidates worthy of support involves numerous considerations, that is, if one is to be guided by the highest sense of duty. In this determination the welfare of the entire community should be the first and highest purpose. Who among the several candidates will best subserve the public interest, is the question which every honest voter, every citizen worthy of the right of suffrage, must face and answer.

How shall this determination be made? Through careful study of the issues at stake, knowledge of the reputation, character and experience of the several candidates and a careful survey of the conditions surrounding the election. These are fundamentals in all elections and in every free country.

With very conscientious citizen the condition sometimes arises that, having made full investigation of issues and candidates, there is still uncertainty as to the course to pursue. One may still be in grave doubt. In such cases something has been overlooked—the part that prayer may play in the determination of a righteous course. The skeptic may question the relation of prayer to the solution of political problems, but there are outstanding examples of successful resort to prayer for the settlement of questions of great import. The eleven disciples, faced by the necessity of selecting a successor to Judas, sought divine guidance. This story is told in the Book of Acts in the Bible and the outcome was successful, for Matthias, one of the two candidates, was selected.

In proposing to the Constitutional Convention which established the fundamental law of the United States, so sound and just that with a few amendments it has stood as a guiding light to the Republic for nearly a century and a half, that the sessions each morning should be opened by prayer, the wise and practical Benjamin Franklin said, "The longer I live, the more convincing proofs I see that God governs in the affairs of men. I firmly believe that 'except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it'."

Sessions of many parliamentary bodies are regularly opened by prayer. Divine Principle is always available to aid in the solution of all problems. It is an interesting fact that the last four presidents of the United States, each in his own terms, has declared that the greatest need of the people is to make larger use of the spiritual forces. To be sure, no one of them has defined these forces or made clear how they may be invoked. These problems have wisely been left to individual determination. That there are such forces and that they may be brought to bear upon human affairs is the important fact.

And where is there greater need for divine guidance than—as in the United States today—in the selection by popular suffrage of the government for one hundred and twenty millions of people? Much is at stake and all means should be brought to bear to insure a righteous government. The poet well said,

"The crowning fact, the kingliest act
Of Freedom, is the freeman's vote.

But to deserve this characterization the freeman or freewoman must be willing to submerge self-interest in the welfare of the whole.—From the Christian Science Monitor.

A CORRECTION.

In reporting the address of the Hon. Burton L. French, who appeared in Genesee October 14 a wrong inference was drawn from his statements, which Mr. French asks to be modiefied.

What he said was that Roumania, Italy, France and other nations are heavily armed; that if the United States had a standing in proportion to populations that the above nations have, the United States would have a standing army of:

1,300,000 men upon the basis of the Roumanian army; of between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 men upon the basis of the Italian army; and

2,1000,000 men upon the basis of the army of France.

"These three countries being so much smaller than the United States do not have the standing armies in the figures that I am just using, but relatively large standing armies upon the basis of populations."

We are indeed glad to make this correction, knowing that Mr. French is always alert that nothing which he might say would be used to misrepresent.

FORD TO HAVE RETAIL STORES.

Detroit, Mich.—Establishment in Buffalo, N. Y., of the first of a group of its own retail sales and service stations was announced recently by Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company. Definite decision has not yet been made as to locations for other stores in the group.

Marketing information gained in the operation of the new retail stores will be put at the disposal of the entire Ford dealer organization. In this way, it is expected that sales and service activities of Ford dealers will be intensified greatly and the public benefited materially.

In each city where such a retail store is established, the new marketing organization not only will provide more adequate Ford dealer representation but also augment the Ford service facilities available to the public. The new plan is not designed to interfere in any way with the activities of present Ford dealers.

With general business conditions in mind, the Ford company in order to maintain its dealer organization and, particularly, its service organization at the desired high level, set about at once to organize its own sales and service stations to supplement but not to replace present dealer representation in the larger cities where such action was deemed necessary.

The new stores will be operated in accordance with Ford policies and will be in charge of managers selected because of their training and long experience in retail automobile marketing.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY
FOR WEEK ENDING OCT. 28

Domestic wheat markets were lower during the week ending October 28, and futures at Chicago reached the lowest point in the history of that market, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The weakness in foreign exchange, sharp declines at Winnipeg where buying support was lacking, improved prospects in the southern hemisphere and increased moisture in domestic winter wheat areas, were principally responsible for the weak wheat situation. Cash wheat did not follow the full decline in futures, since offerings were of only moderate volume and milling inquiry was fairly active. Oats and barley markets were dull and without special features. Flax declined with wheat.

World Conditions

Declines of about 10 cents in the English pound sterling, in terms of U. S. Currency, and of about 2 cents in the Canadian dollar were an unsettling factor in the general wheat situation during the week and tended to check European buying of foreign wheat. The slower export inquiry was reflected particularly in Canadian markets, where lack of buying support forced prices at Winnipeg to new record lows for that market. An additional weakening influence in the general situation was improved crop prospects in the southern hemisphere. General rains were very beneficial in Argentina and new crop conditions were reported generally favorable in Australia, where harvesting is expected to begin in some districts early in November. Good rains in the domestic winter wheat belt were particularly beneficial in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma and put soil in good condition where planting had been delayed by dryness. In sections where seeding had already been accomplished the additional moisture favored germination and growth. The good rains relieved the drought in many sections of Russia and seedings of winter grains at the middle of October totaled approximately 79,000,000 acres compared with about 82,000,000 acres for the corresponding period last season.

World Shipments.

World shipments remained relatively small, with Argentine exports for the week totaling only 557,000 bushels, and Black Sea shipments only 352,000 bushels, including 280,000 bushels from Russia. Australian shipments were of fair volume and totaled 1,429,000 bushels. The small world shipments reflect the bountiful harvests in deficit areas, where high tariffs and other trade barriers impose additional restrictions on imports. Few changes have occurred in the tariff and trade regulations since the beginning of the past crop season although a part of the Ottawa agreement, which provides for preferential treatment of commodities exchanged by Great Britain and other parts of the British Empire, has become effective.

Domestic Markets

Domestic cash wheat markets were mostly lower but did not follow the full decline in futures. Marketings continued relatively light while domestic milling inquiry was of moderate volume. Some export business in dark hard winters were reported to Greece and export bids at the close of the week were around 7 to 8 cents over the Chicago December future price and at the close of the week were equivilent to 53 to 54 cents delivered Gulf ports. Receipts at the principal central and southwestern winter wheat markets totaled 1,583 cars compared with 4,491 cars for the corresponding week last year. Millers, shippers and elevator operators were in the market for supplies at Kansas City and buying was sufficiently active to absorb current arrivals at steady premiums.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific Coast wheat markets were also weak and lower although declines were less than at Eastern points. Country marketings in Washington and Oregon were extremely light and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled only 484 cars compared with 638 cars for the corresponding week last year. A considerable proportion of the terminal receipts represented consignments for storage which were not offered in the cash market. Demand was dull, reflecting the limited outlet to domestic buyers and a continued lack of export sales. Domestic mills were taking relatively light amounts and demand for feed wheat from local and California buyers was of only moderate volume.

The Vancouver market declined with Winnipeg but considerable quantities of wheat were reported sold for export to the United Kingdom. Approximately 9,000,000 bushels of wheat have been booked for November loading from Vancouver, according to trade reports.

California Conditions

There was little change in the California wheat situation but weakness in outside markets was reflected in slightly lower prices both at San Francisco and Los Angeles. Offerings of local wheat were relatively small and the timid amounts being marketed were going almost entirely to feeders at interior points where shipments from outside of the state were at freight disadvantage. Mills and industries were obtaining supplies principally from Washington and Oregon since offerings from the Intermountain states were mostly above a trading basis. Mills and industries at Los Angeles were drawing heavily upon supplies previously purchased and were showing little interest in current offerings, which were mostly of local and northwestern wheat.

Heavy weight dark hard winters was being taken by exporters. The bulk of the shipments from the Omaha market was to the Red Cross for distribution in various sections of the country.

Attend Funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jain, Mrs. James Magee and Don Jain attended the funeral services of Mr. Jain's cousin, Mrs. John Coggins, held at the Merchant chapel in Clarkston Tuesday afternoon. The decensed resided at Meridian, Idaho, and was the wife of Dr. John Coggins of that place. She leaves besides her husband, two children. Interment was in Normal Hill Cemetery, Lewiston, where Mrs. Coggin's father, mother and brother are buried.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haymond, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Post, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Beckman, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Follett and Mrs. E. D. Pederson attended the American Legion and Auxiliary conventions in Lewiston Saturday evening. A banquet at the Lewis and Clark hotel was followed by separate meetings of the organizations. Mrs. Dorothy Brookhart of Pocatello, state president of the Auxiliary was present as were a few of the other state officers.

A. K. Carlson, hardware dealer of Kendrick, and democratic nominee for assessor of Latah county, was in Genesee Monday in the interests of his election.

The Hasfurther hardware store building is now being used as a salesroom for used stoves and radios as well as other supplies, and with the windows decorated, the display is more pleasing than the empty look which the building has had for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Churchwell who purchased the Chas. Klever house some time ago, have improved its appearance. The foundation has been repaired and reinforced, and the outside of the house has been covered with shingles as siding. A small porch has been built at the rear, and the property in general has been considerably improved. Mr. Churchwell is doing the work.

Dr. and Mrs. N. M. Leavitt, Miss Thelma Melgard and Wm. Lyle motored to Peck, Idaho, Sunday where they were guests of Mr. Lyle's parents. Saturday evening they were the guests of Mr. Melgard at his cabin five miles from Moscow.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson were visitors in Lewiston last Thursday and in the evening were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dockstader.

Mrs. Mary Kane Welch, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Burr and Mrs. Laura Phipps to Genesee last week from Spokane. Mrs. Welch was in Genesee eight years ago and then just for a short visit. She has taught school in and near Genesee, as did Mr. Welch a number of years ago. She also conducted a millinery shop in Genesee for nine years.

Mrs. Vern Beckman accompanied by Miss Fern Erickson and Miss Helen Winegardner motored to Lewiston last Friday where they attended the funeral services for H. C. Halley.

James H. Blane of near Potlatch, democratic candidate for the office of county commissioner from the First district was greeting friends in Genesee Wednesday and also to interest people in his reelection.

The bob-tailed shepherd so often seen at the News office took it upon himself to completely wreck the display of political candidates' placards, using no discrimination whatever in his attempt to ruin the nice looking window cards. First he attacked the candidates of one party and then turned with equal wrath on the other cards. Having been locked in over night he proceeded to take his spite out on the candidates, thinking they were repsonsible for his plight.

Mrs. Harry Schooler and Mrs. Kate Vandenburg accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tobin to Spokane Wednesday.

Mrs. E. F. Kempf and son, Frank, and Mr. Pierre of Sandpoint, arrived in Genesee early Wednesday morning. The men took advantage of the open season for birds and spent the day hunting. They expect to return to Genesee Sunday when Mrs. Kempf will return to Sandpoint with them after visiting the few days with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Bottjer.

Elmer Travis of near Potlatch, candidate on the republican ticket for county commissioner from the First district, was in Genesee Thursday in the interests of his election.

Mrs. T. A. Elliot was a guest in the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Miller in Moscow last Wednesday evening. She accompanied Mrs. Miller to the new home of Dr. and Mrs. Gritman where they heard Enoch Arden, read by John Cushman, Mrs. Clark playing the accompaniment.

Ray Edwards and Bob Emmett went to Spokane Wednesday, returning on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Densow of Pullman, Wash., were guests Sunday of the former's brother, F. G. Densow, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson have constructed a rock retaining wall at the rear of their home which greatly enhances the beauty of the place. The large trees have also been trimmed.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Potsch and son, Wade, left last Wednesday for their home at Los Angeles after a visit here with Mrs. Potsch's mother, Mrs. Hannah Swenson. Mrs. Swenson's two sons, James and Juel left for their respective homes at Couer d' Alene and Seattle on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Doxtater of Lewiston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson Wednesday.

Markie Springer, Ben Johann, Pete Kries and Paul and Pete Johann left by truck Thursday morning for the upper Clearwater region in search of big game.

Ernest Peterson was in Troy Friday on business and while there learned of the death of an old-time friend, Ivar Grossel, who passed away on the Thursday before. The deceased had left his work and shortly after reaching home became faint and died within a few minutes from heart trouble. The deceased will also be remembered by many here as he at one time operated a threshing outfit in the Genesee section.

Linger Longer Party.

The first evening party for the season given by members of the Linger Longer club was Monday evening at the home of Mrs. T. H. Herman. Husbands of members were guests, also Mrs. W. M. Herman. Following a no-hostess dinner cards were played with high score honors going to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Edwards and consolation to Mrs. W. M. Herman and Bus Herman.

I HELP YOU—YOU HELP ME.

If all of us who can will begin buying the things we need, we will hasten the return of normal business. You and I are both interested in that.

What I buy depends upon what I earn. As an employee my purchasing power is determined by the volume of business done by my employer, for which I am partially responsible.

Our respective business activities, therefore, if conducted on a basis of —you help me—I help you—can contribute to ending this depression.

If we are inclined to patronize the mail order houses, who give no better guarantee on their products, and who but take the money from local circulation to centralized points in the east, we are only placing an extra burden on ourselves, and as the employee says to his employer—you help me—I help you, each community in the United States can help itself, and thereby contribute to ending this depression.

Christian Church.

Rev. N. E. Beach, Pastor.

Sunday school at 10 sharp.

Preaching and communion at 11 a. m. Topic for morning service will be brought by Dr. Wells of the Bible School of Moscow. His subject will be: "If Christ Came to Genesee."

After the morning service Rev. Beach will conduct baptismal service.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock practice for the Christmas play for all those who have received parts, who are expected to be present and have the parts learned. High school and intermediate classes.

From 6 to 7 there will be a social hour. From 7 to 8 Dr. Wells will bring a message, "Battle at Midnight."

Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a board meeting in the basement of church. All board members urged to be present Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Like Million Like Minute.

"'Tis a story that Finnegan died, and when he greeted St. Peter he said, 'It's a fine job you've had here for a long time.' 'Well, Finnegan,' said St. Peter, 'here we count a million years as a minute and a million dollars as a cent.' 'Ah!' said Finnegan, 'I'm needing cash. Lend me a cent.' 'Sure,' said St. Peter, 'just wait a minute."

PRECINCT BOUNDARIES.

Interest, apparently, is running high in the coming election if the number of registrations is a means of measuring, and the voters' desire to learn of their precinct location has any bearing. There has been a number of people call at the Genesee News to consult maps and descriptions of the various precincts. Some were correct as to their location, while others, in doubt, have learned their proper registration place and polling place.

Again we wish to give the boundaries of Genesee Highway district, which also affects Thorncreek and Lenville precincts. Some time ago, by petition, a part of Genesee precinct was given to Thornereek, and a part of the Thorncreek precinct in the northern part was added to Genesee precinct. Here is the new Genesee pricinct boundaries: Commencing at a point where the Little Potlatch creek crosses the south boundray of Latah county, thence up Little Potlatch creek to its intersection with the north line of Section 35, Township 38 North, Range 4, W. B. M., thence west to the northwest corner of Section 34, said township and range, thence north 1 mile, thence west 2 miles, thence north 2 miles, thence west 1 mile, thence north 1 mile, thence west 2 miles, thence south 4 miles, thence west 2 miles, thence south 1 mile, thence west one-half mile, thence south 1 mile, thence west to the state line between Idaho and Washington, thence south 2 miles and thence east 13 miles to the place of beginning.

Mr. L. C. Hayden is registrar for the Genesee precinct and the office of W. W. Burr will be the polling place.

The school house in District No. 26 has been designated as the polling place in Lenville precinct, and Jesse Oylear is the registrar.

In Thorncreek precinct, Mrs. Elizabeth Jensen is registrar and the polling place is at the Thorn Creek school house.

Ingle school will, as in years past be the polling place in Rimrock precinct, Nez Perce county. Gus Beechler is the registrar and announces that he will have his books in Genesee Saturday night, November 5, to permit those who have not registered in Rimrock precinct to do so.

It is the intention of most everyone today to see that as many people vote as possible, and the extra effort being made in the closing days of the registration period have brought many names to the registrars books which perhaps would not have otherwise been accounted for.

Remember, registration closes Saturday, November 5, with election coming on the Tuesday following, November 8.

Genesee Normal Students.

Enrolled from Genesee at the Lewiston Normal this year are five young people from Genesee, Boyd Erickson, Edna Alber, Bernice Gibbs, Edna Jutte and Mildred Peterson. The first named is athletic manager of the Associated Student Body, vice president of Spalding Hall and a member of the Normal football squad.

HOW MODERN WOMEN LOSE POUNDS OF FAT SWIFTLY---SAFELY

Gain Physical Vigor — Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle with Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast — cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts four weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so glorious energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world. ad

Captain Arthur Ward of Lewiston, managing director of the Western Inland Waterways Corporation, was in Genesee recently interesting people in development of the Snake river for navigation.

Senator John Thomas occupies a key position in the U. S. Senate relative to these two programs. His chairmanship on the Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation, his membership on the Finance Committee, his membership on the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, as well as on Mines and Mining, makes Senator Thomas a strong factor in every question of the development of the Inland Empire. He is leading the fight for the "open river" policy for the Snake and Columbia and his successful fight for better protection of the industries of the northwest makes it highly imperative that his services be coninued in the U. S. Senate.

E. C. COLLINS ISSUES BRIEF STATEMENT ON NOMINEES

E. C. Collins, republican county chairman, has received so many inquiries about the individual county candidates that he yesterday gave out the following statement:

"Never in my experience in politics has the republican party presented so strong a list of candidates to the voters of this county. Too often in the heat of a hard-fought national campaign the importance of the county ticket may be overlooked. The officers you elect in the county represent that part of the government which is most directly in contact with the average citizen. For the benefit of the voters I am pleased to make the following short comments with reference to the local republican candidates."

Burton C. Rowe

State senator—Burton C. Rowe combines legislative experience with a thorough knowledge of Latah county's needs.

Alfred S. Anderson

Representative—Alfred S. Anderson is a veteran of five legislative sessions and we need his sound judgment.

Representative—Thomas A. Feeney is one of the state's prominent ex-service men with a personal acquaintance in every community in the state. Don't forget, you vote for two representatives.

Elmer E. Travis

County Commissioner, First District—Elmer E. Travis is a successful farmer and long identified with matters of public interest.

Rudolph E. Nordby

County Commissioner, Second District—Rudolph E. Nordby, the present chairman of the board with a record for careful management and good judgment.

John L. Woody

County Commissioner, Third District—John L. Woody, a veteran public servant whom the voters continually insist on returning to public office.

Abe Goff

Prosecuting Attorney—Abe, Goff, an experienced prosecutor who has made Latah county the outstanding county in the state for conviction of law violators and combined this with the lowest criminal trial cost in the history of the county.

Charlie Summerfield

Sheriff—Charlie Summerfield, the best sheriff in the state and the man who has made the professional crook give this section a wide berth. Nominated on both tickets in the primary and is without opposition in the general electon.

Leola R. King

Treasurer—Leola R. King, who is efficiently operating a million dollar volume of business with a minimum of expense.

L. G. Peterson

Probate Judge—L. G. Peterson, an experienced judge whose office records are complete in every detail.

Ellen Peterson

Superintendent of Public Instruction—Ellen Peterson. Latah county has ten more school districts than any county in the state yet Miss Peterson's office has been run without full time assistance and at cheaper per pupil cost than any other county.

Walter Q. Taylor

Assessor—Walter Q. Taylor, our assessor whose efforts at accurate equalization of property values has brought noteworthy results.

H. R. Short

Coroner—H. R. Short, now in office and owner and operator of the county's largest undertaking establishment.

Harvey J. Smith

Surveyor—Harvey J. Smith, present county surveyor and without opposition for re-election. adv.

ment by the republican party, Senator Callahan said his party would begin with House Bill No. 1, which had to do with the salaries and expenses of the legislature.

Here J. J. Berg asked the question: "Would you cut the legislators' pay?" "Yes," said Callahan, "25 per cent." Berg then said, "You would stop a poor man from attending the legislature." "No, I would not," answered Callahan who stated further that he could attend the sessions and save money, and then others joined in to differ on the possibility of a man being able to support his family and himself on the pay of an Idaho legislator.

Mr. Callahan then read a newspaper clipping signed by a Mr. Tannehill of Lewiston relative to Byron Defenbach saying that if he were elected no new roads would be built. In the clipping, Mr. Tannehill took exception to Defenbach's statements by saying that the Lolo Pass road would never be built if Defenbach were elected, to which Mr. Callahan explained that such a highway as was wanted by Lewiston would be a federal project and to be paid for in full by the federal government as it would pass over government-owned land.

Mr. Callahan explained the manner in which funds were kept by the state treasury, stating also that Idaho was unable to operate on a cash basis. With the state treasury showing a balance of nearly $2,000,000 Mr. Callahan said this sum represented the various funds such as endowment funds, various university, irrigation district, fish and game, in all about 100 separate funds, which could not be spent to pay runnig expenses of the state. "There is not enough money in the general fund to pay the outstanding warrants," said the speaker, who further stated that it was necessary within the past month to issue $225,000 in tax anticipation notes to run the state government until the end of the year.

Mr. Callahan closed by referring to the newspaper clipping in which reference was made to Idaho suffering for want of good roads and by the tieing up of state automobiles which would make the officials ride bicycles. Mr. Callahan approved of this by saying, "the taxpayers don't care if state employees do ride bicycles; they don't care of they walk; why they don't care if they never see them; and would be pleased if they were not even on the payroll."

Mark Means, Lewiston, one time mayor of Genesee, accompanied Mr. Callahan to Genesee and before the Senator was introduced by R. E. Emmett, he took time to say that he was a candidate for the state legislature, and that he introduced the measures while in the Idaho legislature which eliminated the full responsibility of main highway taxes from falling on farm lands adjacent to such roads, and relieved cities and counties from building bridges over rivers between states.

"IF" KIPLING HAD WRITTEN IT LIKE THIS!

"If you can see what some folk call 'depression'
As nothing but a spin of Fortune's wheel;
If you can keep your poise and self-possession
No matter what you think or how you feel;
If you can view a stupid situation
All cluttered up with 'ifs' and 'aws' and 'buts'
And take it at its proper valuation—
A challenge to your common sense and 'guts';
If you can rise above the mess and muddle,
If you can glimpse a rainbow thru the clouds
When Doubt and Dread and fear are in a huddle
And hope is being measured for a shroud;
If you can keep a saving sense of humor
For stories that are slightly inexact
If you can disregard Report and Rumor,
And not accept a statement as a fact;
If you can spread the gospel of successes,
If you can stir the spirit that instills
The latent life in lathes and looms and presses
And life the stream above a thousand mills;
If, briefly you can spend an extra dollar;
If you can pry the Sacred roll apart
And buy another shirt or shoe or collar
And act as if it didn't break your heart;
If you have faith in those with whom you labor,
And trust in those with whom you made a trade;
If you believe in friend and next door neighbor
And heed examples pioneers have made;

If you expect the sun to rise tomorrow;
If you are sure that somewhere skies are blue—
Wake up and pack away the futile sorrow
For better days are largely up to YOU!"

GENESEE GOES DEMOCRATIC WITH FRED HOVE HIGH MAN

As the nation went, so did Genesee on election day, recording the largest vote in its history since the consolidation of the two precincts, and gave Fred Hove, democratic candidate for state representative, the largest vote of any on either ticket, 469. C. Ben Ross, candidate for governor, was second high with 429 votes.

Of the 695 voters registered in Genesee precinct, 543 appeared at the polls, inclement weather being responsible in part for there not being even a larger vote than was recorded.

When the polls opened promptly at 8 o'clock, Robert Beachler, constable, was the first person to vote, followed in order by Mrs. V. A. Beckman. D. W. Aherin was the last person to vote at the Genesee polls, and there were but two persons who failed to arrive before 7 o'clock p. m., the closing hour.

Early election returns from the east began to arrive in Genesee at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, all of which signified that Roosevelt was receiving a large majority of the popular vote, and an hour before the polls closed, it was known here that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was to be the next president of the United States.

Eight persons presumably intended to cast their vote for the socialist nominee for president, but only four of the ballots could be counted as the voters failed to mark a cross in the circles at the right of the names appearing on the stickers which were used.

A large majority of Genesee voters were voting straight democratic, and this was responsible for R. E. Nordby's usual large majority being cut to a mere 38 majority.

The vote in Genese was as follows:

Congressman, First district: Burton L. French, 126; Compton I. White, 403.

Governor: Byron Defenbach, 106; C. Ben Ross, 429.

Lieutenant governor: C. A. Bottolfsen, 115; George E. Hill, 394.

Justices of supreme court, two to be elected: T. Bailey Lee, 117; Bertram S. Varian, 114; Edwin M. Holden, 392; William M. Morgan, 398.

Secretary of state: Fred E. Lukens, 153; Franklin Girard, 369.

State auditor: E. G. Gallet, 123; Harry C. Parsons, 383.

Attorney general: Fred J. Babcock, 138; Bert H. Miller, 372.

State treasurer: Geo. G. Barrett, 127; Myrtle P. Enking, 378.

State superintendent of public instruction: Myrtle R. Davis, 124; John W. Condie, 387.

State mine inspector: Stewart Campbell, 125; W. H. Simons, 377.

State senator: Burton C. Rowe, 114; W. L. Korter, 393.

State representatives, two elected: Alfred S. Anderson, 83; Thomas A. Feeney, 88; Fred Hove, 469; William Smith, 415.

County commissioner, First district: Elmer W. Travis, 122; James H. Blane, 376.

County commissioner, Second district: R. E. Nordby, 287; I. E. Snow, 249.

County commissioner, Third district: John L. Woody, 118; Walter Driscoll, 400.

Prosecuting attorney: Abe Goff, 166; L. Weldon Schimke, 343.

Sheriff: Charlie Summerfield, 246, unopposed.

County treasurer: Leola R. King, 156; Gladys H. Olson, 356.

Probate judge: L. G. Peterson, 173; Oakey Hall, 335.

County superintendent of public instruction: Ellen Peterson, 162; David Ross, 351.

County assessor: Walter Q. Taylor, 180; A. K. Carlson, 339.

For coroner: H. R. Short, 195; C. A. Meyer, 316.

Surveyor: Harvey J. Smith, 183; unopposed.

For justice of the peace, two to be elected: W. G. Barge Moscow, 145; Robert Emmett, 187; L. E. Jackson, Moscow, 325; R. J. Zell, 329.

For constable, George Anderson, 219; Henry Halverson, 297.

Play Practice.

Those having parts for the pageant, "Pilgrims of the Night," are requested to meet at the Christian church promptly at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

Stores will be closed to observe the Fourteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice and to permit employees to see the football game.

FIRST AMENDMENT ONLY ONE TO CARRY LOCALLY

The Genesee electorate, while not casting a heavy vote on constitutional amendments definitely remind the incoming legislature that they are in favor of county consolidation, as they voted 327 to 70 in favor of it. This amendment, however, will be difficult in operation, as it contains the provision that counties consolidating must have a two-thirds majority of the voters at an election for this purpose before the merger can be realized.

Genesee voted no, 193 to 141, to retain the state board of equalization and not substitute therefor a state tax commission. This measure, also is of no avail in the coming biennium as all state officers will be democrats, and will undoubtedly act in harmony with the governor, probably more than if they were appointed.

Northern Idaho is not vitally interested in the amendment to restrict voters at irrigation district elections to land owners, with 1 vote to each land owner, but Genesee precinct voted no on this proposal, 167 to 105.

Amendment No. 4, relative to taxing all property held in a proprietary capacity, was defeated 206 to 105, and it is difficult to understand why there were 105 who voted in favor of this amendment. If the churches, fraternal orders, veterans' organizations, private schools and such were placed on the tax rolls and be compelled to pay in proportion to other property, it would mean the closing of a number of schools, churches and buildings owned by fraternal orders. Of course there is argument for both sides, but when it is realized that many organizations are merely able to continue under conditions at their best, it is little wonder that the proposal was defeated.

People of Genesee precinct are also opposed to further imposition of taxes to increase the burden imposed, and a means of placing more revenue in the hands of government for quick disposal. This measure, one of five, is the most difficult to understand, and perhaps would have received a different vote had it been understood.

SISTER OF MRS. CUNNINGHAM PASSES AWAY AT CLARKSTON

Mrs. Nellie Dunn, 86, sister of Mrs. Mary Cunningham, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Kennedy, 924 8th St., Clarkston, Wash., Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

The deceased was a pioneer of the Moscow region, having homesteaded on Driscoll Ridge 55 years ago, and moved to Clarkston three years ago.

Rosary service was held Wednesday morning at Clarkston for the deceased, and the body was then taken to Moscow for interment, with services at the Catholic church.

Mrs. Mary Cunninghan and sons, Jack and Will, and Harold Haymond, Mrs. Kate Vandenburg and Mr. and Mrs. James Magee attended the services at Moscow Thursday.

Surviving are two sons and three daughters, Joe Dunn, Portland; Criss Dunn, Spokane; Mrs. William Kennedy, Clarkston; Mrs. Albert Neely, Moscow; Mrs. William Valentine, Spokane; a sister, Mrs. Mary Cunningham, and three brothers, Jack and Joe Driscoll, Moscow, and Frank Driscoll, Spokane. There are also 12 grandchildren.

moved to Clarkston three years, and was active in community affairs until late years.

HIGH SCHOOL SMOKER TO BE HELD AT GYM NOV. 19

The arrangements are being definitely made for a fall tumbling, fight and wrestling card, to be given in the high school gym on Saturday night, November 19.

The Ainsles Twins will be back with us to perform. People say they are even better than last year. They have added several new thrills to the already good list of acrobatic stunts.

Ardie Driskill is scheduled to fight Beryl "Red" Barr of Colfax in a four 2-minute round final. Ardie has won favor with Genesee fans in his complete mastery of his two opponents in the ring last spring. He has a good list of knockouts to his credit but has been on the shelf for some time due to breaking his fist in a Spokane fight last summer.

Barr and Driskill have met twice before, the decision going to Driskill once and to Barr once. They both were anxious for the match, so watch the fireworks.

The semi-final promises to be a fight worth honorable mention. Harold Whitcomb gave the fans plenty to talk about in the hard-fisted manner in which he met "Red" Driskill in the semi-final bout last spring. This year we are fortunate in getting him matched with "Farmer" Ellis, a 170 pound fighter with several fights to his credit. Ellis is the more experienced of the two but the upper-cuts Whitcomb has wrapped up in his left and his weaving, ducking, alert style of fighting will likely make him a favorite among the Genesee fans.

Billy Edwards, weight 92 pounds, is meeting a 90-pounder from Moscow, and is backed by Genesee fans to uphold the pugilistic art for the local "kid" weight title. The Moscow lad comes with the reputation of possessing all the earmarks of a miniature Jack Dempsey, due to the way in which he can use his feint, weave and then throw blows.

The local boys are not yet definitely arranged as they will appear but are working out every night and plenty of material is available.

Cliff Wishard may also participate.

EMMETT AND ANDERSON JUSTICE AND CONSTABLE

As a means of saving money for the county the present board of county commissioners changed the number of justices from 48 to 6, placing the number at 6 to be divided two each to the three commissioner districts. Constables were reduced from 24 to 3, with one each in each commissioner district.

Unofficial returns for District No. 2 gave Robert Emmett, Genesee, 1470 votes and W. G. Barge, Moscow, 1412, both republicans. L. E. Jackson, Moscow, democratic, received 1207 votes, and R. J. Zell, Genesee, democratic, 1106.

George Anderson, Genesee, republican, received 1464 votes for constable, and Henry Halverson, also of Genesee, democratic, received 1096

GENESEE ALUMNI MEETING MOSCOW COMETS ON NOV. 11

With no armistice in mind, the Genesee Alumni football team is going to meet the Moscow Comets here on the afternoon of November 11, as a part of the entertainment for an Armistice Day celebration. At a late minute it was announced that, due perhaps to inclement weather, it has been arranged to permit people to drive their cars within view of the playing field, that the ladies and children can witness the game without leaving the cars.

Emerging from two combats with the Comets, once with a 6-6 tie and again with a scoreless tie, the Alumni are going to break this deadlock, one way or the other. They are expected to win, but should they lose you can rest assured that the game will be all the more interesting, as it takes keen competition for the locals "alumns" actually unwind and show their wares. Football games are decided to a great extent by the breaks, so you should avail yourselves of the opportunity of seeing a rushing forward wall, with ends that are in on every play, and a backfield that can resort to a passing attack with reckless abandon, should the occasion demand.

ARMISTICE DAY WILL BE OBSERVED IN GENESEE

Genesee will observe the fourteenth anniversary of the Armistice on November 11, with the schools presenting a program at 10:30 in the morning, to be followed at 11 o'clock by a one-minute silence and sounding of taps in memory of those who sacrificed their lives in the late war.

Children of St. Joseph's school are to be present at the program Friday morning at the high school assembly at 10:30.

Beginning at 2:30 in the afternoon the Genesee Alumni football team will meet the Moscow Comets on the local gridiron. These two teams have played two tie games this fall, and there is in prospect an interesting battle for Armistice Day.

At about 6:30 ex-service men and members of the Legion Auxiliary will set down to a banquet, after which there will be a public dance, to which everyone is invited.

ST. MARY'S BAZAAR PLANS COMPLETED FOR NOV. 22

Plans are now complete for the annual bazaar sponsored by St. Mary's Catholic church. As usual it will be held in the American Legion hall, beginning in the morning and concluding with a dance in the late evening or early morning. The date has been set for Tuesday, November 22, permitting people to purchase a portion of their Thanksgiving dinner and to enjoy a carnival of fun and amusement.

Dinner will be served at noon and supper in the evening. Prices have been lower for the two meals, announced the committee but the quality has been maintained.

Entertainment at St. Joseph's.

Pupils of St. Joseph's school will present an entertainment, November 18, at 8 o'clock p. m., to which everyone is invited. The program is as follows:

"Dr. Brown's Specific," dialogue.

"Princess Rosy Cheeks," a health play.

"Just Plain Dot," dialogue.

"A Day and a Night," comedy in two acts.

"Two Scared Coons," a minstrel play.

"The Child's Night Prayer," tableaux.

RIMROCK PRECINCT GOES DECIDEDLY DEMOCRATIC

Voters in Rimrock precinct supported the entire democratic ticket with one lone exception, when they left the democratic column to name Forest E. Leeper as state representative in place of Joel Jenifer, and only one vote was lacking to throw Jesse Hoffman, republican, into a tie with E. C. Hendershott, democrat. Leeper in Rimrock precinct, gathered 83 votes to 59 for Jenifer, and Hendershott received 61 to 60 for Jesse Hoffman. Rimrock precinct's vote on county commissioners was close in only one instance, Fred Emery, republican, coming within three votes of tieing Henry Heitfeld, democrat, in the First district. Emery received 66 votes compared to 69 for Heitfelt.

One hundred and ninety voters were registered in Rimrock precinct this year, and of this number 144 appeared at the polls, dividing themselves, 144 for Roosevelt to 26 for Hoover. The liberty party presidential candidate received but two votes and one person voted for the socialist nominee.

The vote was as follows in Rimrock precinct:

President: Roosevelt: 114; Hoover, 26.

United States senator: James Pope, 102; John Thomas, 35.

For governor: C. Ben Ross, 115; Byron Defenbach, 29.

Lieutenant governor: George Hill, 106; C. A. Bottolfsen, 27.

Justices of supreme court, two to be elected: Edwin M. Holden, 108; William Morgan, 113; T. Bailey Lee, 27; Bertram S. Varian, 21.

County superintendent: Nellie Buckles, 108; May W. Fodrea, 34.

County assessor: J. L. Armstrong, 103; Geo. H. Ruddell, 37.

Coroner: J. P. Shaughnessy, 85; E. M. Brower, 49.

Surveyor, E. G. Wagner, 106; William F. Hughes, 28.

Justices of the peace, two to be elected: Geo. E. Erb, 119; C. P. Hinkle, 84; B. Costello, 16; Leo. McCarty, 46.

Constable: Eugene Gasser, 82; G. A. Stookey, 50.

Armistice Banquet Plans.

Plans were completed last Friday at the regular meeting of the Legion Auxiliary for the Armistice Day banquet. All Auxiliary members and their families and Legion members and families are invited to attend.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL TO BEGIN ON ARMISTICE DAY

John N. Zydeman, a national representative of the Red Cross, visited Genesee Tuesday, November 8 in the interest of the annual roll call, which begins Armistice Day, November 11 and continues until Thanksgiving day. Rev. Clifford Drury of Moscow, chairman of the American Red Cross for Latah county, was here with Mr. Zydeman.

"This year, one of the big tasks given the Red Cross, is that of distributing flour and cotton to every part of the United States. Congress appropriated 85,000,000 bushels of wheat, turned it over to the Red Cross to be ground into flour, with instructions that we were to distribute it to the very needy families, wherever they might be found," said Mr. Zydeman.

"In addition, congress also appropriated 500,000 bales of raw cotton, which we were to have woven into cotton cloth and likewise distributed to all corners of the United States.

"Latah county has received 3,000 yards of cotton goods, and this is being made up into garments and given to those who need. Four hundred and twenty-five barrels of flour have either been received or is on the way, and throughout the county wherever there are very needy families, this flour is being distributed. The value of the flour and cotton for Latah county alone amounts to some $2,000. All of this material comes to each chapter in the country, freight prepaid, the entire expense of handling this work being taken care of by National Headquarters. This expense, by the spring of 1933, it is estimated will be about $475,000, all paid by national headquarters.

It is interesting to note that during the past year, from June 1931 to June 1932, there were 62 disasters in the United States, in every one of which the Red Cross gave the necessary relief. The amount expended for this work was almost $4,000,000. The Red Cross is obligated to give relief in time of disaster, because in the charter granted by congress to our organization in 1905, one of our duties is specifically stated to be that of giving relief to disaster sufferers. This the Red Cross is well able to do as we hame many trained disaster workers.

"The Red Cross has 3600 chapters and 16,000 branches in every part of the country, and is well able to function intelligently in time of disaster, having representatives in the farthest corner of the land. It is for this reason also that we were chosen to distribute the flour and cotton.

"In addition to this work, Red Cross has a very extensive peacetime program. We already have 566,000 graduates of our first-aid course, and about 410,000 graduates of the life-saving course. It is estimated that at least 5,000 lives are saved annually through the knowledge obtained by these people who have taken the courses under competent teachers.

Two thousand, two hundred and seventy-five of our 3600 chapters are now giving relief because of the unemployment situation. Never before since the World War period has the need for Red Cross been so vital as now. Then we faced a world crisis; now we face a peace-time crisis fully as serious. To carry on our work we must always have the loyal support of the people, ofr our organization is a voluntary agency, and every cent of money expended, is given by the people voluntarily. This year there are many who canont join the organization because of unemployment. We are therefore looking to those more fortunate, those who have some means, to rejoin the Red Cross during the Roll Call, thus assisting the less fortunate. The quota for Idaho this year is 15,400 members, only 3.5 per cent of the population. Won't you help to make this quota possible?"

GENESEE NEWS WILL PRINT STATE LEGION PROGEEDINGS

"In accordance with our call for bids, the bid received from the Genesee News being low, you have been awarded the contract for printing the 1932 Convention Proceedings," says a letter from Lester F. Albert, department adjutant.

The contract is awarded in accordance with a bid made on October 7, according to specifications. The transcript is being forwarded under separte cover, the letter also states.

ELECTION AN ECLIPSE NOT A LANDSLIDE

Tuesday's general election in almost every quarter can be truthfully classed as a landslide and also a total eclipse. Every republican candidate for state office was defeated, buried under an avalanche of democratic votes, the like of which has never before been witnessed.

Public opinion and sentiment have placed the democratic party in power, in county, state and nation, and there is no need to say that the opportunity to serve lies unobstructed. There should not be a person in the United States who wishes to witness a continuation of the present depression. President-elect Roosevelt will go into office next March with a democratic senate and house, and in most instances will be backed up with state governments of the same constituency, further assisted by the counties and the numberless appointive positions. There should be no legislation meeting with resistance from a party in the minority, such as the republican party now possesses, and the results obtained from legislation passed after the coming short session of congress can be claimed by the democratic party only. It is not reasonable to assume that one party can have all the best candidates, but it is reasonable to assume that with harmony, such as is promised by the almost complete election of democratic nominees, legislation will not dangle in committees as long as has been the custom in the past years. The president-elect is assured of the whole-hearted support of his followers which naturally lends encouragement, not to mention an implicit trust which has been placed in him by others, who expressed themselves in favor of a united congress. The way is clear for routing the depression, and it may be that foreign nations are waiting for the United States to become united under one party. How often have you gone into a store or visited a farm to make a purchase when there were two or more people who had a say in the price of the thing you wished to buy? One party of the firm would quote you one price, another a different price, either lower or higher, but before you completed the deal you brought the different parties together to agree on the price, especially if it was a major purchase. It may be, as stated that foreign nations, acting as individuals, want to know with whom they are dealing, that the ultimate consummation would be perfectly agreeable to everyone concerned. It is not to be construed that it had to be the democratic party with whom other nations wish to deal, for there is little difference in our two major parties. Some principles vary, but they are governed to a great extent by existing conditions and by the opinion of the citizens.

No two administrations have been alike, whether democratic or republican; each four years finds the United States confronted with different problems. There have been good times and hard times under administrations of both parties; there has been congresses divided and some running favorable to the president, but never before has there been a time when a president is ready to assume office with a more favorable congress and other governmental bodies.

No one expects the United States or any nation to jump out of the depression over night, but the sooner we feel ourselves again on a basis of security, the sooner our country will be pleased. There has been too many grouches, there has been too many going around without a smile; there has been too many ready to criticise and refuse a helping hand. It is not natural for the average American to be selfish, but the war made of us a nation eager to accumulate property and wealth for ourselves and families. Both parties can share the blame alike; they cannot excuse themselves and accuse the other. It has been said that it was wise to elect enough of one party to watch the other. This method in recent years has failed; they are too busy watching the other fellow to really accomplish the purpose of their office. We now have unity in the party coming into power, the members of which are unhampered in any way. With apologies to Mrs. Winchell's boy, Walter, we say "Okay America."

THE CITY DAILY VS. THE COUNTRY WEEKLY

(By John Cusano, Pocatello)
Junior in Journalism, U. of I.

Some people believe that the city newspaper is rapidly displacing the weekly as a conveyor of news to the small town and that the weekly paper will disappear.

Such a belief is erroneous. Although many people in small towns read the city paper every day, the majority of them are also readers of the home weekly. The city paper brings the foreign, national and state news in which the inhabitants of the small town are naturallay interested. It certainly does not and will not have space to print al lthe news in which the country reader is particularly interested. The weekly carries the news of the community, and the doings of its citizens.

The pages of the weekly are full of local news stories. Personals, stories of local people, farm news of the vicinity, home life of neighbors, information concerning local events, marriages and deaths in the communities, news stories about municipal affairs and government, local feature stories, and many other types of local stories, are what the small town reader is interested in. Naturally he turns to the weekly to supply this information, and it does.

The city paper may try to supply this information to a certain extent, but it can't devote much space to this news because it has many readers in other parts of the country and city which are not in the least interested in this kind of news. It has too many types of readers to satisfy; the country weekly has only to satisfy its local readers. The weekly is a part of the community, like the post office, the bank, or the city hall, and the city paper is an agency from the outside.

Nearly all business houses must advertise. By advertising in the columns of the local weekly, the firm can reach all the prospective shoppers of the town and its immediate vicinity at a very moderate cost. What good would it do the firm to advertise in the city paper? Not a particle, because the majority of its readers live in the city where they can easily satisfy their wants without going out of town, or bothering to see what the small town merchant has to offer. After all, the advertiser chooses the paper in which his ads will bring the best results.

The country weekly belongs in the small town, just as the city paper belongs in the city, as far as local news stories and local advertising is concerned.

School Notes.

The primary room pupils have been working on a Pilgrim's project. Last week they finished the pilgrim sandtable. This week they finished the Pilgrim frieze.

Miss Thomas, the school nurse, visited our room Monday. She talked to us and took our weight and measured our height. Out of our room of twelve, five are average, four above average and three below average in weight. She said those who were below average need a great deal of rest, milk and proper food.

The results of the election in the first and second grades were, republicans, three and democrats, nine.

Neighbors Elect.

At the regular meeting of Neighbors of Woodcraft last Monday evening the following officers were elected: Ethel Schooler, guardian neighbor; Kate Baumgartner, adviser; Bella Isaksen, past guardian neighbor; Emma Shirrod, magician; Lela Jain, clerk: Roy Emerson, banker; Giesla Meyer, attendant; Wm. Luders, inner sentinel; Fred Shirrod, outer sentinel; Henry Koster, Wm. Rosenau, Maggie Bottjer, managers; Della Rosenau, captain of guards; Gladys Harms, flag bearer; Aurinda Gash, correspondent. Mrs. Bella Isaksen was recommended as installing officer. Lunch following the meeting, was served by Mrs. Johanna Christensen, who also played high for the evening in the series of card parties sponsored by the Neighbors.

Entertain at Cards.

Mesdames E. H. Field and Wood Gash pleasantly entertained at cards last Thursday afternoon at the former's home. Seven tables were at play, both pinochle and bridge being enjoyed. At bridge Mrs James Magee won high score and Mrs. Jean Edgar second high. At pinochle Mrs. J. Churchwell played high and Mrs. John G. Meyer, second high. The attractive prizes were hand made.

Monday Bridge Club.

Mrs. Frank Hoorman entertained the Monday Evening Bridge club this week. High score prize was won by Mrs. E. D. Pederson and the consolation by Mrs. J. J. Tupker. Guests were Mrs. Anna Hanson, Mrs. W. W. Burr and Mrs. Tupker.

Don't forget the Armistice dance at the Legion hall or the football game in the afternoon. Drive your car to the game.

LATAH COUNTY GIVES ROSS AND ROOSEVELT MAJORITY

Franklin D. Roosevelt was given a majority of votes in Latah county in the general election with the five Moscow precincts going into the Hoover column, with Kendrick giving Roosevelt 125 compared to 113 for Hoover. The vote in Palouse precinct was also close, Roosevelt nosing out Hoover by four votes, but the county as a whole gave the new president 3,460 as against 3,084, according to unofficial returns.

John Thomas and Burton French both carried the county but lost out in the state. French carried 12 of the 24 precincts in Latah county and Thomas carried 11, both he and French going into a tie with their opponents in one precinct each.

C. Ben Ross, for governor, lost but two precincts in the entire county and polled 4,008 votes to 2,791 for his republican opponent, Byron Defenbach.

Charlie Summerfield, unopposed, polled the largest vote in the county, while Ross polled the largest vote where there was a contest.

Fred Hove made a bid for the largest individual vote in any one precinct when Genesee gave him 469.

Rudolph E. Nordby was sacrificed in the battle of ballots, I. E. Snow of Moscow winning 3,384 to 3,256 in the unofficial total county vote. Mr. Nordby carried the Genesee precinct by only 38 votes as a result of the great number of straight democratic ballots which were cast. He fared much better in the Moscow and Juliaetta precincts.

Abe Goff had a close race with L. W. Schimke for prosecuting attorney, but emerged the victor, 3,379 to 3,156.

Leola R. King, treasurer, was at one time trailing her democratic opponent, G. H. Olson, but came thru in the finals with 3,489 to 3,212 for Miss Olson.

L. G. Peterson, probate judge, held a good lead throughout most of the returns, but at times was in doubt.

Walter Taylor, assessor, jumped into the lead early, then lost it, but recovered and came out ahead of A. K. Carlson, 3,773 to 2,899.

H. R. Short, for coroner, was never in danger, and he was also a victor, receiving 3,760 to 2,740 for C. A. Meyer.

The vote in the county was as follows:

President: Hoover, 3,084; Roosevelt 3,460.

U. S. senator: John Thomas, 3,612; James Pope, 3,047.

U. S. Representative: Burton L. French, 3,899; C. I. White, 3,157.

Governor: Byron Defenbach, 2,791; C. B. Ross, 4,008.

Justices supreme court: T. Bailey Lee, 3,101; Edwin M. Holden, 3,430; Bertram S. Varian, 2,829; William Morgan, 3,767.

Attorney general: F. J. Babcock, 3,318; B. H. Miller, 3,138.

State treasurer: Geo. G. Barrett, 3,159; M. P. Enking 3,140.

Superintendent: Myrtle R. Davis, 2,682; J. W. Condie, 3,687.

Mine inspector: Stewart Campbell, 3,229; W. H. Simons, 3,100.

State senator: B. C. Rowe, 2,937; W. L. Korter, 3,605.

State representatives: A. S. Anderson, 3,057; T. A. Feeney, 2,942; Fred Hove, 3,349; Wm. Smith, 3 648.

Commissioner, Third district: J. L. Woody, 2,784; Walter Driscoll, 3,857.

Sheriff: Chas. Summerfield 4,424, unopposed.

Assessor: Walter Q. Taylor: 3,773; A. K. Carlson, 2,899.

Coroner: H. R. Short, 3,760; C. A. Meyer, 2,740.

Surveyor: H. J. Smith, unopposed.

Latah county as a whole polled one of the largest votes in its history.

Altar Society.

The Altar Society was entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. John Kambitsch, when plans were further completed for the bazaar to be held the Tuesday before Thanksgiving day.

TO THE VOTERS OF LATAH COUNTY

I want to express my sincere appreciation to the voters of Latah county for the splendid majority they gave me in the recent election. I trust that I shall merit your continued confidence and approval.

L. G. Peterson, Probate Judge.

Unique Sunday Program.

Dr. Carl Wells, who is the instructor in the Institute of Religious Education at the University of Idaho, has been preaching at the Christian church on the last three Sundays. Unusual interest and enthusiasm have been shown by those in attendance. Accompanying Dr. Wells is John King, student at the University of Idaho, who conducts the song service and is in charge of the young people's work.

Next Sunday Dr. Wells has a unique program planned for both the young people and adults. Young people's fellowship meeting will be held between six and seven in the evening. Those attending are asked to bring pictures of their babyhood and childhood. These pictures will be flashed upon the screen for the entertainment of those present.

Dr. Wells will use as his subject, "Religious Education in Our Universities." He will illustrate his message by screen slides, thus showing the progress of religious education at universities. Instrumental and vocal numbers will be presented at this evening service by students from the University of Idaho.

You are cordially invited to attend these services.

Friday Bridge Club.

The Friday Bridge club was entertained Friday evening by Mrs. W. W. Burr. Mrs. N. M. Leavitt won the high score award and Mrs. Jean Edgar, the consolation.

HOW ONE WOMAN LOST 10 LBS. IN A WEEK

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY — take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast, go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat, and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health. ad

IDAHO GOES DEMOCRATIC EVERY COUNTY FOR ROSS

Governor C. Ben Ross carried every county in Idaho and was elected with 79,066 votes to 47,531 for Defenbach, and polled an even larger number of votes than did Roosevelt. Jas. P. Pope, democratic nominee for U. S. senator drew away at the beginning from his republican opponent and present senator, and won by a vote of 69,551 to 54,350. Burton L. French, veteran congressman from the northern district was defeated by Compton I. White, 32,751 to 25,265. Addison T. Smith of the southern congressional district was also defeated, Mayor Coffin of Pocatello winning the seat by 35,285 to 30,096, providing the closest race for national representative or senator, and left Senator William E. Borah as the only republican office holder from the state of Idaho.

The state legislature will be practically solid democratic, Donald Callahan being one of the very few to be returned.

Unofficial returns are as follows with the democratic nominee the first named in each instance:

President: Roosevelt, 76,055; Hoover, 50,765.

Senator: Jas. Pope, 69,551; Thomas, 54,350.

Representative, First district: C. I. White, 32,751; Burton French, 25,265.

Representative, Second district: T. C. Coffin, 35,285; Addison T. Smith, 30,096.

Secretary of state: Franklin Girard, 61,677; Fred E. Lukens, 43,195.

Supreme court, two to be elected: Wm. Morgan, 66,436; E. M. Holden, 66,165; Bertram Varfian, 53,796; T. Bailey Lee, 44,549.

Auditor: Harry Parsons, 65,430; E. G. Gallet, 45,026.

Attorney general: Bert Miller, 62,-767; Fred J. Babcock, 45,190.

Superintendent of public instruction: John W. Condie, 68,443; Mrs. Myrtle R. Davis, 46,897.

Mine inspector: W. H. Simons, 46,-815; Stewart Campbell, 44,643.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING NOV. 4

Domestic wheat futures declined to new record low levels during the week ending November 4, influenced principally by weakness in foreign markets and the lack of an export inquiry for the U. S. surplus, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Unfavorable reports on crop conditions in western areas of the winter wheat belt, together with some strengthening in securities and in foreign grain markets, brought about a slight advance in wheat prices toward the close of the wweek. Cash grain, particularly winter wheat, did not follow the full decline in futures. Corn and other feed grains weakened, influenced by the lower wheat prices, but demand rmained fairly active and cash grains held generally steady. Rye fluctuated with wheat and reached the lowest point in the history of domestic markets. Flax declined under a slow crusher demand for current offerings.

World Markets.

The continued limited takings of foreign wheat by European importing countries and the pressure of new crop offerings from the Southern Hemisphere were the principal weakening factors in the general wheat situation during the week. Maintenance of tariff and milling regulations continues to restrict purchases of foreign wheat in Germany, Italy, France and other European countries. The tariff preference given Dominion wheat by the United Kingdom has tended to limit the English purchases to Canadian and Australian grain. Action by the German government on the establishment of import contingents for agricultural products has been postponed as a result of unfavorable reaction to the policy of Italy, Netherlands, the Scandinavian and other countries, but tariff and milling regulations are being continued. The French cooperatives are storing wheat under a governmental subsidy and up to October 11 had contracted for storage for about 6,000,000 bushels. The British Parliament has placed a levy on flour equivalent at present currency values to 31½c per barrel. The funds obtained from this levy are to be used to maintain a fixed price on domestic wheat, equal at the current rate of exchange to 88 1-8c per bushel in United States currency.

Prices of native wheat held generally steady or were slightly advanced in most European countries. At the close of the market November 4 good milling wheat was quoted at Hamburg at $1.32 1-8, at Paris at $1.16 and at Genoa at $1.15 7-8 per bushel. Prices of foreign wheats did not share in the strength of native grain, under pressure of heavy offerings from Canada and of new crop grain from the Southern Hemisphere. Argentine shippers were offering new wheat freely for January-February shipment at 47½c CIF English markets, while Australian shippers were offering new wheat at around 52 3-8c on the same terms. No. 3 Manitoba for November shipment from Vancouver was quoted at Liverpool at 50 7-8c and No. 2 Manitoba from Atlantic ports at 52¾c.

LAPWAI HIGH IS WINNER OF THE VALLEY CHAMPIONSHIP

Lapwai high school team decisively captured the Valley Conference football championship for the year by taking the Genesee into camp by a 54-0 score. An intercepted pass in the early part of the game went for a touchdown and a sleeper pass play shortly afterward accounted for a second score, and then the rest seemed easy.

Genesee was badly crippled by the loss of some of their dependables and the crippled team was no match for the Galloping Redskins. The local boys, however, went into the second half and held the Indians to only two touchdowns. One of the scores came just as the final gun sounded.

Genesee placed the ball on Lapwai's 15-yard line once in the third quarter but were unable to score.

R. F. LAMBERT, PIONEER, BURIED HERE TUESDAY

Funeral services were held at the Genesee Christian church Tuesday afternoon for R. F. Lambert, who died at Deer Park, Wash., Sunday, November 13, after an illness of more than a year's duration, during which time he was almost constantly under a doctor's care. The immediate cause of death was given as arteriosclerosis.

Services were conducted by the Rev. N. E. Beach, pastor of the Christian church, a quartet, composed of Mrs. W. W. Burr, Mrs. Arthur Sprniger, Mrs. Eugene O'Conner and Mrs. Fred Hampton, accompanied by Mrs. Don Jain, assisting in the service. Mrs. Burr and Mrs. O'Conner also sang a duet.

Interment was in the City Cemetery in the family plot, beside the remains of two sons, Ellis and Everett, the former passing away in 1921 and the latter in 1886. Pallbearers were: A. Butzien, Leo Miller, Frank Jones, Ernest Peterson, B. Brigham and Roy Sweet.

Members of the family from out-of-town attending the services were: F. E. Lambert, Deer Park, Wash., eldest son of the deceased; Mrs. Chris Miller, Coeur d'Alene, daughter of the deceased, and her son, Earl Miller; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson and family of Spokane, Mrs. Johnson's two daughters, Bernice and Dorothy being grandchildren of the deceased.

Born at Healdsburg, Calif., August 6, 1856, Mr. Lambert at the time of passing, was 76 years, three months and seven years of age, 54 years of which had been lived in what is now the Pine Grove community, near Genesee. He was married at Healdsburg in the Spring of 1878, and in the Fall of the same year, he and his wife came to Idaho, and very shortly thereafter, within a few days, homesteaded on the Little Potlatch, which place became the family home for so many years. The year 1878 was the year following the Indian uprising and while early settlers always felt apprehensive, no further trouble with the Indians was experienced. On what was then the Alfred Brigham homestead, Mr. Lambert assisted in the construction of a fort, which for years remained a reminder of the early day difficulties. Across the Lambert ranch the Indians traveled for many years and they have left marks of the trail which are to this day visible. The trail was about a quarter of a mile from the Lambert cabin, and members of the family remember how the Indians traveled to the mountains, yet never offered to disturb the Lambert family. On one occasion, however, one of the Indians left the traveling group and walked into the cabin, and without words went to the fireplace where he took a burning ember and lit his pipe, after ter which he left the cabin and joined his group, never saying a word. This incident has always been remembered by the family as meaning friendship between the first Americans and the Lambert family.

Mr. Lambert has always been a highly respected citizen of the community and he and Mrs. Lambert with their family had many friends, a number of whom date their acquaintance back more than 50 years. The deceased took great pride in meeting his obligations, and shortly before he left for Deer Park, the document issued by the government which gave him title to his homestead was unmarked with liens of any sort through the great span of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert lived the life of early Latah county pioneers, made the long trips to Lewiston with their produce and battled the elements which gave the early settlers many hardships. They were active in all community activities, and when the Pine Grove community came into existence they were instrumental in making it a center of interest.

Surviving are, the widow who is living in Deer Park, Wash., where she and Mr. Lambert moved on October 6 this year; F. E. Lambert, the eldest son, Deer Park; Harry Lambert, Malta, Idaho; Orb Lambert, Oroville, Wn., and Mrs. Chris Miller of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Two sons preceded their father in death.

In their declining years Mr. and Mrs. Lambert continued to live on the old homestead, and it was only recently that they were persuaded by their son to move to Deer Park where a modern home was prepared for them, and where they could receive medical attention on short notice.

One of the requests made by Mr. Lambert as death drew near was that his livestock be well taken care of,

Lowest Price in 280 Years.

On October 29 when wheat at Chicago fell to a new low at 43 7-8 cents a bushel, statisticians digging into history of organized marketing went back to the reign of King Edward I of England, in the year 1652 to find where wheat had sold at as low price. They found the lowest price at which wheat had ever sold was in the year 1286 and 1287 when it sold in Edinburgh, Scotland, for 9 cents a bushel. —Cooperative Comment.

GENESEE MEN WITNESS WALLA WALLA TRAGEDY

Robert Emmett, F. W. Loncosty and Clyde Manring, who were in Walla Walla Friday and Saturday of last week were practically eye witnesses to a tragedy, in which Leonard Holmes, 45, was fatally injured at about 8:30 Friday evening. He died the following morning without regaining consciousness. A fast moving automobile, driven by a Mr. Doud, struck Holmes as he was crossing the street to the corner on which is located the Brier building. He was thrown clear of the automobile and fell on the pavement. The Genesee men were just preparing to cross the street when they heard the impact and the noise made by the car as its wheels slid along the street for a distance of approximately 50 feet. Going to the man's side they heard him groan, but he was unable to speak. He was then removed to the sidewalk to await the arrival of an ambulance.

Being the first to reach the injured man, Messrs. Emmett, Loncosty and Manring were questioned Tuesday afternoon by the prosecuting attorney of Walla Walla county, Wash., who was accompanied to Genesee by the Walla Walla county sheriff, Sheriff Dent of Nez Perce county, Idaho, and a reporter.

It is understood that no charges have been preferred against the driver of the automobile.

MONROE JOHNSON BURNED TO DEATH NEAR TEAKEN

Monroe Johnson, who was 83 years of age September 9, last, and a pioneer resident of the Lenville community, was burned to death in the Grover Grosslose cabin near Teaken, Nez Perce county on Monday. Mr. Johnson, in his advanced age was quite feeble and partially blind, and had been living with Mr. Grosslose for some time. Mr. Grosslose and a young man were cutting wood a distance from the cabin when they saw smoke issuing from the log cabin and they rushed to the fire, Mr. Grosslose falling exhausted, however, before he could return to his home. The younger man was unable to enter the cabin owing to the raging fire within, but opened a window and saw the aged man lying on the floor. When the window was broken the draft defeated his attempts to save the body, as flames then spread everywhere.

The deceased was one of the early Lenville pioneers, coming to Latah county prior to 1880. Mrs. Johnson passed away about a year ago. Fred Johnson, a son, is living on the old homestead in Lenville; Mrs. Walter Clark, living on the ridge; Mrs. Geo. Dygert of Clarkston and the wife of the late Columbus Clark are daughters of the deceased.

The son left Thursday morning for Teaken to take possession of the remains, which were virtually cremated. Following the fire they were gathered up and placed in a two-gallon container.

Mr. Grosslose is a former resident of Juliaetta.

LARGE EAGLE KILLED BY HARDING JONES TUESDAY

A large gray eagle, one of two which has been responsible for heavy losses to farmers west and northwest of Genesee, by carrying off poultry, was killed Tuesday morning by Harding Jones, just as the huge bird was swooping away with a large hen. The bird was killed with a shotgun.

The eagle, while almost black, yet called a grey eagle, is now on display in a window at the Genesee Supply company store, and measures 91 inches from tip to tip. Its large talons are clutching two small pumpkins, which stretches the bird to its full size.

Several farmers have remarked that they have often seen two of the large birds, but have never been close enough to get a shot at either.

BARLEY MARKETS LEAD IN GRAIN PRICE RECOVERIES

Domestic barley markets strengthened during the week ending November 10, influenced by a more active inquiry from brewers and malsters and only moderate offerings, according to the Weekly Barley Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Corn and oats were firmer at most markets, largely as a result of lighter receipts, since demand continued of only moderate volume.

California Barley

California barley markets remained quiet but a firmer undertone developed during the week as growers continued a holding policy. Feeding demand remained dull and export inquiry was of only moderate volume and principally for medium malting types. Low prices, which were netting growers in the Sacramento Valley around 35 to 40c per 100, restricted country marketings. Increased competition from relatively cheap Milo and Egyptian corn was a weakening influence in the market for feed barley. Ocean freight was plentiful with distressed space quoted as low as $2.70 per long ton to London.

English Markets

English barley markets remained dull but prices strengthened slightly as a result of relatively light offerings. Other foreign barleys were not competing actively with California barley at London, but decreased beer production, partly as a result of heavy taxes, has reduced demand for brewing barley in English markets.

Wheat Market Summary.

Pacific coast markets strengthened under the influence of higher prices at Eastern points and light marketings of local grains. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled only 356 cars during the week. Growers continued to sell slowly at prevailing low prices. A sale of a cargo of wheat to Ireland, the first export business of consequence for several weeks, was an outstanding feature in the Portland market. No sales were reported to the Orient however, since Canadian grain was being offered more cheaply in that area. Local mills took moderate amounts of high protein milling wheat and sales to California were also of fair volume, although the season's total remained well under a year ago.

Estimates Revised

Further revisions in estimates of production in Northern Hemisphere countries and trade forecasts of outturns in Argentine and Australia, now indicate a world wheat crop, outside of Russia and China, about 50,-000,000 bushels larger than last season. The Canadian estimate was revised downward Nov. 1 to 431,000,000 bushels, a reduction of about 35,000,-000 bushels from the September forecast. This gives a total North American wheat crop of 1,162,000,000 bushels, or about 63,000,000 bushels less than in 1931. Total supplies in North America as of August 1, however, were only about 17,000,000 bushels less than last season because of the large carryover of old crop grain. Assuming about the same domestic utilization as last season during August, September and October, North American wheat stocks at the first of November were between 15 and 20 million bushels smaller than a year ago, since exports during the three months period were about the same as last year, but with a greater proportion of Canadian grain.

No important changes have been made in the estimates of European production and a total outturn outside of Russia, about 75,000,000 bushels above last year is indicated.

Unusually large harvests in important deficit countries of southern and western Europe more than offset the smaller crops in surplus areas in the Danube Basin. The large supplies in Europe are reflected in greatly reduced imports this season. Wheat and flour arrivals in European ports since the first of August have been only about two-thirds as large as last season. High tariffs and restriction of milling of foreign wheat have also tended to curtail imports.

A southern hemisphere harvest about 40,000,000 bushels larger than in 1931 is in prospect, according to trade estimates, which places the Argentine crop at 257,000,000 bushels and Australian production at around 200,000,000 bushels. Last year Argentine produced 226,000,000 and Australia 190,000,000 bushels. Stocks of old wheat in the southern hemisphere are nearly 30,000,000 bushels less than a year ago.

DRISKILL AND WHITCOMB ON H. S. SMOKER PROGRAM

There promises to be some tough battles on the fight program coming up this Saturday night at the high school gymnasium. The program consists of five matches between local boys, two between Genesee and Moscow men, one between Whitcomb of Lewiston and Ellis of Moscow, and the final bringing together Red Barr of Colfax and Ardie Driskill of Moscow.

In addition to the above there will be a tumbling act by the two Ainslee girls, twins. Those who saw them last year know of their ability and they have added several new acrobatic stunts to their already good repertoire.

The local matches, with Ralph Broemeling and Lee Johann starting the evening off, promise to be fast and furious. Bert Wishard engages Robert Broemeling and Russ Rinehart takes on Rich Harris, all of the 140-pound class, able to throw leather at a tremendous rate. These bouts will be close and to determine a winner in advance would be next to impossible.

The cowboy fight will bring back memories of the old days, although forty-fours are barred.

Billy Edwards meets a Moscow lad who comes with a considerable reputation as a fighter. He weighs 92 pounds and knows how to handle his "dukes," but so does Billy. Watch these youngsters go.

Cliff Wishard has been conceded the best of local talent this far at his weight, and his opponent for the evening, Louie Johnson of Moscow, is a lad with considerable experience. Local fans, however, are placing their money on Wishard in this bout. Cliff is fast and can drive with both fists.

Harold Whitcomb, who put up a beautiful fight in last spring's semi-final to obtain a decision over "Red" Driskill is to be with us again to battle another fighter from Moscow, "Farmer Ellis." They are both in the 170-lb class, and a battle that is a battle may be expected. Most of you have seen Whitcomb in action, and know his style and power, but in Ellis you hardly know what to expect. He carries his right or left out in front and continually keeps jabbing at his opponent's face, with considerable more jolt than is looked for, or that is the opinion of his sparring partners. He has a long reach, a hard right, but what defense he will put again the Lewiston man is a question to be answered Saturday night.

The final sees our old reliable, Ardie Driskill behind the leather again. He has won much admiration in his hard-fisted, cutting style, which has accounted for a knock-out and a technical knockout of two opponents in his two perforannes here. He will undoubtedly have the support of the crowd when he meets "Red" Barr of Colfax.

Driskill and Barr have met before, each winning once on decisions. They are squaring up their records Saturday night, and the people know that a man who can stand up against the dynamite in Ardie's fists to win from him once, must have some mule-kick of his own stored away. "Red" comes with a good record, having won last week in a Colfax smoker.

The proceeds of this entertainment go to the high school athletic fund for the support of the basketball team during the coming season.

The first bout will begin at 8 o'clock. The band will help you keep your nerves steady and your enthusiasm at the right pitch.

ANNUAL BAZAAR AND DANCE TO BE HELD NOVEMBER 22

The annual bazaar, sponsored by St. Mary's Parish, will be held at the Legion hall, Tuesday, November 22. Dinner and supper prices have been reduced this year, and the dance admission price has been cut in half. As large a crowd as ever is expected however, as this always turns out to be one of the big events of the year.

The usual attractions will be provided for the entertainment of everyone, and plans are being made to accommodate as many as ever.

Proceeds of the bazaar and dance are used to help defray expenses of St. Joseph's school.

Dinner will be served beginning at 11:30 a. m. and continue until everyone is fed. Supper will be at 6 o'clock, with a midnight lunch while the dance is in progress.

Join the Red Cross before Nov. 24

THANKSGIVING THANKS.

For all the hands that wrought for us,
For all the minds that thought for us,
For all the men who looked ahead
And saw us living in their stead;
For kindly hands that sow for us
And shining fields that grow for us,
For all the thoughtfulness of toil
And all the benisons of soil,
We thank Thee God—and may we live
To dream and hope, to work and give,
With eyes beyond and hearts to bless
A world of so much loveliness.

GENESEE ALUMNI BREAKS TIE WITH MOSCOW COMETS

There were not many who braved the stormy weather on Armistice Day to witness the football game played between the Moscow Comets and Genesee Alumni. Snow covered the field early in the day, which was melted by the rain which fell before noon, making the west half of the playing field a sea of mud.

Genesee received, defending the west goal, and while the ball was fairly dry and somewhere near its regulation weight, the kickoff was returned to the 25-yard line. A play around Genesee's right end failed to gain as the carrier slipped when he started to cut in. One more play was made to carry the ball out of bounds before it was kicked into Comet territory. The Comet receiver was stopped in his tracks, and on the third down they elected to kick, but the ball was then covered by mud, and Genesee started east from their own 40-yard line, see-sawing back and forth in mid-field until the end of the quarter. With the ball in Comet territory in the opening of the second quarter Genesee made a first down, and then a pass was flipped to Weber who went through a broken field for the first counter of the game. The try-for point failed.

Neither team threatened during the remainder of the second period, but in the third quarter Genesee kicked to the Comet's one-yard line, where the ball was downed by Emmett. Red Driskill for the Comets, dropped back to punt, but he was swarmed under by Weber and Emmett. Driskill recovered but here was two more points for Genesee, on a safety. Taking the ball out to the 20-yard stripe, the Comets kicked to Genesee, but the gun sounded before many plays could be executed. Changing positions on the field for the last quarter, Callahan, Comet half, staged a series of runs that put Genesee on the defensive, but he was stopped when he entered Genesee territory.

Many forward passes were tried by both teams but few were completed, not more than two at the most, one of which accounted for a touchdown. It was impossible on the heavy field for the halfs to get away, and it was only on plays through the line that Genesee could gain.

The Comets on arriving secured the services of Flamoe, high school center and tackle, who with Callahan, were outstanding stars for the Moscow aggregation. Genesee outplayed the Comets in every period except the last, with every man seemingly enjoying the muddy fracas. Injuries were few and of no consequence, with one exception, that being when Ed Blume crashed into the head linesman's box marker. Blume struck the box with his forehead and received a painful bruise.

Weather will probably not permit additional games being played this fall. Genesee has constantly been getting better, and though they had no opportunity to show their wares Armistice Day, they provided a fine afternoon's entertainment, and displayed their superiority in breaking the existing two tie-score games with an 8 to 0 win.

ARGUE FEE EQUALIZATION FOR GEM STATE SCHOOLS

While considering the state's education problems as they pertain to taxation, it might be well to bring up the matter of an equalization fee and scrutinize it in the light of the findings of the survey recently completed by the state chamber of commerce, says Glenn Balch, who is writing the series of articles on taxation for the chamber.

As regularly as the legislature convenes the proposal of a state-wide equalization fee is brought up and urged upon the lawmakers by well-meaning sponsors as the logical answer to most of education's financial ills.

In theory the equalization fee would correct a condition which its proponents believe to exist between counties—a wide discrepancy in the per-student taxable wealth. Children in a county which because of some geographical or other reason has a per-student taxable wealth higher than the per-student valuation in a second county are, those favoring the equalization fee argue, receiving an undue advantage.

Would Equalize

In other words the proponents are of the opinion that the per-student wealth should be equalized over the entire state by a special fee which would in some manner take from the wealthier counties and give to the poorer ones.

This theory is to some extent borne out by the findings of the survey. In Clark county the assessed valuation per student is $10,908. In Jefferson county, to quote the other extreme, this per-student wealth is $2,077. To put it differently there is five times as much taxable property to pay the expenses of a Clark county child as of a Jefferson county pupil, which, advocates of the equalization fee hold, is a poorly adjusted situation.

Ratio 1 to 134

Carrying this comparison still farther and using the five high counties in contrast to the five low counties, we find that the ratio of taxable wealth per student is 1 to 4.

These findings would seem to bear out the contention of the equalization fee sponsors—but dwindle into insignificance when we begin to consider the conditions within the respective counties.

To make this clearer, let us illustrate. One district in Ada county has a per-student wealth of $1,667; another district in the same county has a per-student wealth of $79,912. The high and low per-student values in Blaine county districts are $94,803 and $3,287, or a ratio of 1 to 28.8.

Ratio 1 to 134

The greatest variation in these values is in Bonner county, where the low district per student value is $1454 and the high figure $85,457. The ratio of inequality between districts in this county is 1 to 134, which is much more startling and much more disproportionate than the 1 to 4 ratio of inequality between counties.

Comparing the average low per-student values of all the counties with the average high figures, we find that the average ratio of inequality between districts in the same county is 1 to 19.

These figures, therefore, show unquestionably that the greatest inequality in taxable wealth for educational purposes lies not between counties but between districts within the same county.

Per-Teacher Wealth

Using the per-teacher unit instead of per-student as a method of comparing the financial resources of the various districts within the same county we find the variations greater but the average over the state less disproportionate.

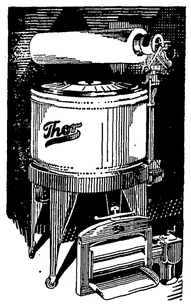
In Adams county, to illustrate, one district has an assessed value per teacher of $4,406 while another district in the same county has a per-teacher wealth of $833,557. The ratio of inequality here is 1 to 189. The smallest ratios of inequality figured on this basis are in Teton and Clark counties, where the comparisons are as 1 to 4. The average for the entire state is 1 to 10.

JOIN THE RED CROSS.

Only a few days remain to join the Red Cross roll call, until Thanksgiving day to be exact. Your dollar for membership will be needed this winter. In a few days you will be met by a committee from the local organization, which has been given the assignment of raising Genesee's quota for 1932.

With Thor prices now the lowest in their history, thrifty housewives by the thousands are turning to a better, easier washday with the Thor washer and ironer.

With Thor your wash is ready for the line in less than two short hours. Ironing that formerly took you eight hours and more by hand is out of the way in another two short hours.



$5.00 You need pay only $5 down on your Thor....the balance a little each month

You will never be satisfied with less than Thor. Nor, we venture, will you ever save more than by buying now at the new low prices.

NOT MUCH POMP AT THAT FIRST THANKSGIVING DAY

On every Thanksgiving with its hustle, happy family gatherings and subsequent chatterings, there comes a lull in the activities of the day. Conversation lags. Thoughts turn back to previous Thanksgivings.

Let us turn our thoughts back farther than our own experiences. Back indeed to the first Thanksgiving in American and there watch the preparation of this first feast, so different from our own. It will give us a close feeling of kinship with these predecessors of ours, these early American homemakers. And it will bring a deeper appreciation of the day, Helen Robertson writes, in the Detroit Free Press.

First Thanksgiving Feast

The picture of that first Thanksgiving feast celebrated in Plymouth on the thirteenth day of December, 1621, is a striking one. Imagine the blockhouse standing out stark and alone in the great wilderness. Its rough walls, crude furniture and huge fireplaces—the Thanksgiving table of long narrow boards, perhaps not more than three feet wide, supported at either end by trestles.

If this first Thanksgiving feast was served in dishes, they were made of square blocks of wood about ten to twelve inches square and three to four inches deep, hollowed down into a sort of bowl. Nor was there one of these trenchers, for so they were called, for each person. Usually two children or a man and wife ate from one trencher. Forks were almost unknown, in fact the first fork was introduced by Governor Winthrop in Boston twelve years later. There were spoons, however, and drinking cups and "noggins" which were a sort of mug with a handle. These were passed from hand to hand and from lip to lip around the board.

No Holiday for Women

The first Thanksgiving celebration lasted several days rather than just one. It was a time of recreation and games—for the men at least. One cannot imagine four women and the few young girls having much time for recreation when they must prepare the food for 121 men, 91 of whom were Indians with an unbounded capacity for gorging. And this for several days!

Doubtless the deer and great turkeys were roasted in the open, the remainder of the feast being cooked in huge pots and kettles of copper hanging from the "lug pole" in the center of the fire place which occupied the greater part of one side of the room.

After this first Thanksgiving, many followed, several being celebrated in one year. We of today wonder at their courage to hold Thanksgiving feasts when there seems to have been so little to be thankful for.

In the mind of the Puritan, Christmas and its celebration was nothing short of idolatry. This was the day to be spent in religious service. But Thanksgiving was the day of family reunion and feasting.

Eighteenth Century Thanks.

The next Thanksgiving celebrations of which we read are those which required days and even weeks of preparation. We read the description of one table, which surely must have groaned under its weight of deliciousness.

"On one end of the table was the big ronst turkey and on the other a goose and two pigeon pastries. There was abundance of vegetables." Besides these there were huge chines of roast pork and venison.

And still the same letter bemoans the fact that they were unable to have roast beef because of the scarcity due to the war! The letter finishes with this paragraph:

"Our mince pies were good, though we had to use dried cherries instead of raisins and venison instead of beef. The pumpkin pies, apple tarts and big Indian puddings lacked for nothing save appetite by the time we got around to them." Do you wonder?

Setting Day Aside.

The celebration of a certain day for Thanksgiving was not universal until 1864 when President Lincoln issued a proclamation appointing the fourth Thursday in November with a view of having a day kept thereafter annually without interruption. The president's assination the next year almost caused a suspension of his own rule until President Johnson appointed the last Thursday in November.

Nevertheless it is "ye oyster stewed," "turkie," corn and pumpkin which was served in the Pilgrim days that still play the leading roles in our Thanksgiving menus of today. And just as in those early days, it is still a day of family gatherings and feasting. So while the Thanksgiving celebration conform with the dictates of our day there still remain shades and shadows of the past which enrich it and make it the happier.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED.

Armistice Day in Genesee this year as far as weather was concerned, was almost identical with that prevailing on the same day fourteen years ago in France, or along that portion of the front held by the American army. The sun failed to shine, there was some snow in wind sheltered spots, and the temperature was about the same. Rumors that an armistice was to be declared were flying about several days before its actual occurrence, and at 11 o'clock it became definitely known that such had been accomplished. Members of the American Expedition in France were anxiously awaiting word. The phrase, "Heaven, Hell or Hoboken by Christmas," had been coined, and with cessation of hostilities on the eleventh day of the eleventh month at eleven o'clock, came an outburst of enthusiasm.

This Armistice day in Genesee, was observed more quietly than the first, however, but there was much good feeling generally at that. The public school and pupils from St. Joseph's school assembled at the high school Friday morning at 10:30 and presented a 30-minute program, followed by a minute of silence and taps. Schoot was then dismissed for the day.

At 2:30 a football game was played between the Genesee Alumni and the Moscow Comets, the former winning an exciting battle, 8 to 0.

In the evening, members of the Legion Auxiliary, their families and ex-service men were banqueted at the Legion hall. A program was given here, with vocal solos by Mrs. W. W. Burr and several solo tap dancing numbers by "Sailor" Miller, husband of the former Lucille Wishard. He has been engaged in vaudeville and rodeo clowning for a number of years and presented an interesting program for the assemblage. Colin Wilson furnished music for the dance numbers. Miller began his enlistment in the navy at the age of 15 years.

George Post, Legion commander, acted as toastmaster at the banquet and following the blessing by Fr. B. J. Carey, the program was given and several guests were introduced. The banquet was served by several high school girls.

Later, the floor was cleared for a public dance which was well attended, music being furnished by the Kinyon orchestra.

This Woman Lost 45 Lbs. of Fat

"Dear Sirs: For 3 months I've been using your salts and am very much pleased with results. I've lost 45 lbs., 6 inches in hips and bust measure. I've taken 3 bottles—one lasting 5 weeks. I had often tried to reduce by dieting but never could keep it up, but by cutting down and taking Kruschen I've had splendid results. I highly recommend it to my friends." —Mrs. Carl Wilson, Manton, Mich.

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning. To hasten results go light on fatty meats, potatoes, cream and pastries—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at any drugstore in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. adv

Surprised on Birthday.

Miss Eileen Flomer was honored last Wednesday evening when a group of young people surprised her on her birthday. The evening was spent in playing games after which a delicious pick-up luncheon was served. Eileen was presented with gifts in remembrance of the day. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Flomer and Eileen there were present, Hazel Craft, Gail Sampson, Mercedes Smolt, Marjorie Nebelsieck, Helen Winegardner, Fern Erickson, Howard Blume, Donald Springer, Arwin Nordby, Ralph Broemeling, Bernard Grieser, Cecil Nebelsieck and Wayne Roach.

Blue Bird Club.

Miss Henry Hanson was hostess to the Blue Bird club Tuesday afternoon. Following the usual business meeting and social hour with refreshments, they adjourned to meet with Mrs. Albert Peterson in two weeks. Guests included Mrs. Nels Flamoe, Miss Evelyn Flamoe, Mrs. Marie Michelsen, Mrs. Roy Hanson, Mrs. Harry Hanson, Mrs. W. R. Hickman and Mrs. Ted Johann.

Tuesday Card Club.

The Tuesday Card club was entertained this week by Mrs. E. D. Pederson when five tables were at play. High score honors went to Mrs. Anna Hanson and consolation to Mrs. T. H. Herman. Mrs. John Luedke will entertain next.

Entertainment by St. Joseph's.

Pupils of St. Joseph's school will present an entertainment, November 18, at 8 o'clock at the high school gymnasium, to which everyone is invited. There will be a small admission charge. The program is as follows:

"Dr. Brown's Specific," dialogue.
"Princess Rosy Cheeks," a health play.
"Just Plain Dot," dialogue.
"A Day and a Night," comedy in two acts.
"Two Scared Coons," a minstrel play.
"The Child's Night Prayer," tableaux.

Miners Out for Armistice Day.

John Daugherty and Otis Price were in Genesee over Armistice Day and to secure more equipment for their winter's sojourn into the Snake river canyon country above Asotin. When the two men and John Strom left her recently for Homestead, Ore., they changed their minds and went up river from Asotin, where they have been prospecting for gold along the river's shores. A small quantity of gold has been secured by panning, and it is believed that before spring they will be equipped to handle river sands in larger quantities and from it extract more of the precious metal. It has not been found in paying amounts as yet.

Discussion leads to the argument that the 18th Amendment cannot be repealed. Now comes the statement that it need not be repealed, simply add another amendment to nullify the 18 Amendment.

Farm Work Stopped.

Continued rains and snow for the past ten days have put a quietus on further plowing or any late seeding that might have been contemplated. That is the opinion of Genesee farmers at least, and they don't expect to witness enough fair weather to permit them again entering their fields this fall. Snow which fell Tuesday disappeared Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

W. M. Chandler, a pioneer of the Lewiston region, said in the Tribune Tuesday that he expected another winter such as 1906. "That was a winter I'll never forget. Rain, rain, rain, my, how it poured—but we had no snow until January. Creeks and rivers overflowed under the heavy run-off, and there actually was a heavier flow than during the usual spring floods."

Prospectors Return.

Clay Rinehart and Cecil Gray returned to Genesee Tuesday night from Slate Creek, 35 miles northwest of Winthrop, and 19 miles south of the Canadian border where they have been prospecting for gold since October 21. They drove a car as far as Winthrop and then went in afoot.

They were successful in locating a few particles of gold, but were handicapped in work when high water drove them from the creek shores.

Most of their prospecting was done in the vicinity of the Azurite Mining company location, and on returning were compelled to follow the caterpillars of the company which broke a track through three feet of snow. The company uses the tractors to haul ore, each load, about one a day averaging $650 worth of treated ore.

The coming session can well be called the "lame-duck" session as many of the republicans will be hobbling back to Washington for the last time for two years at least.

The entertainment will be held in the high school assembly and the admission charge will be 10 cents for grade pupils and 15 cents for high school students. Adults are welcome to hear the Hawaiian string quartet.

Armistice Day Program

Armistice Day was observed in a very fitting manner by the pupils of the public school and by pupils of St. Joseph's school. A short program was presented at 10:30 o'clock, opening with a song by St. Joseph's school pupils, and following this the primary pupils sang two songs.

A play in pantomime combination was presented by the seventh and eighth grades. Evelyn Tabor took the part of the grandmother and explained the events incident to the World war to her grandchildren, Nadine Smolt, Bayne Hickman and Richard Sampson, the two latter who had been wishing for war. As she explained scenes of the war, she would open a door and there were scenes in actual life. Those taking part in the pantomime were: Bill Edwards, the American, and James Dresher, the Indian, smoking a peace pipe. Ruth Willows imitated the old fashioned girl; Bob Smith, the soldier; Genevieve Harris, the Salvation Army lass; Margaret Springer, the Red Cross nurse and Ernest Craft, the disabled soldier; and Margaret Springer and Rachael Broemeling, Red Cross nurses. The last scene was "Home Sweet Home," with Betty Lou Burr as the mother and Neya Erickson and Jerome Bershaw, her children.

At 11 o'clock everyone was silent and bowed their head in silent prayer while Rev. B. J. Carey sounded taps on his cornet.

Following the program school was dismissed for the day.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

(By Edwin Markham)

Dedicated to Franklin D. Roosevelt, after hearing his lofty and noble appeal for the Forgotten Man.
Edwin Markham

NOT on our golden fortunes builded high—
Not on our boasts that soar into the sky—
Not upon these is resting in this hour
The fate of the future; but upon the power
Of him who is forgotten—yes, on him
Rest all our hopes reaching from rim to rim.
In him we see all of earth's toiling bands,
With crooked backs, scarred faces, shattered hands.

HE seeks no office and he asks no praise
For all the patient labor of his days.
He is the one supporting the huge weight:
He is the one guarding the country's gate.
He bears the burdens on these earthly ways:
We pile the debts, he is the one who pays.
He is the one who holds the solid power
To steady nations in their trembling hour.
Behold him as he silently goes by.
For it is at his word that nations die.

SHATTERED with loss and lack,
He is the man who holds upon his back
The continent and all its mighty loads—
This toiler who makes possible the roads
On which the gilded thousands travel free—
Makes possible our feasts, our roaring boards,
Our pomps, our easy days, our golden hoards.
He gives stability to nations: he Makes possible our nation, sea to sea.
His strength makes possible our college walls—
Makes possible our legislative halls—
Makes possible our churches soaring high
With spires, the fingers pointing to the sky.

SHALL then this man go hungry, here in lands
Blest by his honor, builded by his hands?
Do something for him: let him never be Forgotten: let him have his daily bread:
He who has fed us, let him now be fed.
Let us remember all his tragic lot—,
Remember, or else be ourselves forgot!

ALL honor to the one that in this hour
Cries to the world as from a lighted tower—
Cries for the Man Forgotten. Honor the one
Who asks for him a glad place in the sun.
He is a voice for the voiceless. Now, indeed,
We have a tongue that cries the mortal need.

A REAL THANKSGIVING

THAT we have much cause for thankfulness this year is demonstrated by one point outside the realm of politics which President Hoover made in his acceptance speech last August.

"I should like to digress for one moment," he said, "for an observation on the past three years which should exhilarate the faith of all Americans—that is the profound growth of the sense of social responsibility which this depression has demonstrated . . . Despite hardships, the devotion of our men and women to those in distress is demonstrated by the national averages of infant mortality, general mortality, and sickness, which are less today than in times of prosperity."

There's something real to be thankful for—that in spite of depression and unemployment the national health has improved—and a reason why we should celebrate a real Thanksgiving this year! The President's brief digression was no claim for any political party, but a hearty acknowledgment to you and me, to the men and women of all political parties, that the sense of responsibility for the welfare of our neighbor is not dead in this glorious land. That is something not only to be thankful for, but to feel a personal pride in, too. So let's have a real Thanksgiving celebration this year, and eat to the point of repletion, for once in a way. There will be Thanksgiving dinners for everyone, if we know our American public, but the one we are going to suggest is for the average American family which is celebrating this Day of Thankfulness this year.

Make It Simple

Have a big dinner, by all means, but make it simple and inexpensive in order to have more to share with those for whom such dinners are an event, and to live up personally to the President's words of praise. It can be just as merry and appetizing as in other years, but keep in mind the matter of expense. Here's the sort of menu that we would suggest:

Tomato Bouillon with Okra
Bread Sticks
Roast Turkey or Chicken with Sage Stuffing
Browned Sweet Potato Balls
Asparagus Hollandaise
Thanksgiving Ice
Dressed Mixed Salad Greens
Cranberry and Raisin Pie
Nuts Coffee Pulled Mints

If you keep your Thanksgiving dinner as simple as this, you'll have both plenty to eat and the further pleasure of having also plenty to share. Don't forget that there are many families which may have to do without Thanksgiving dinners if those who have more don't remember them. Here are the recipes for two of the dishes on this menu which you may not know how to make:

The Recipes

Tomato Bouillon with Okra: Combine the contents of a 12½ ounce can tomato juice with one can of bouillon, and the liquor from a one-pound can of asparagus, reserving the tips to be used in the asparagus Hollandaise. Add one cup water, the contents of a 2-ounce can of okra, thinly sliced, salt and pepper to taste, and a few drops of lemon juice. Heat thoroughly and serve in cups. Serves eight.

Thanksgiving Ice: Press the apricots from a No. 2 can through a sieve, and add one cup orange juice and four tablespoons lemon juice. Boil one-half cup sugar, three-fourths cup water and two tablespoons corn syrup for three or four minutes, and then dissolve in it two teaspoons gelatin soaked in four tablespoons cold water. Cool, add the fruit juices, and freeze in refrigerator trays, stirring often, or in a rotary freezer. Serve with the turkey or chicken. Serves eight.

DR. LEAVITT WILL ACT AS RED CROSS CHAIRMAN

Dr. N. M. Leavitt consented Thursday morning to act as chairman of the local Red Cross and to accept the membership dues for 1932. Genesee has already secured its first allotment of flour and cloth, but there are always other items of expense to each local chapter, and there need be some money on hand to meet these emergencies. Genesee has always met its quota in past years, and while there may be some dissatisfaction in the administration within the National organization, this community cannot afford to miss the roll call.

RIVER CARRIER DESIGNED TO CARRY RIVER FREIGHT

Captain Arthur Ward, managing director of Western Inland Waterways corporation was in Genesee last week and while here displayed a completed design for a cargo carrier with a capacity of 450 tons, and would be ideal for river traffic contemplated between Lewiston and the lower Columbia river ports. On his first visit to Genesee Captain Ward was creating interest in river traffic. The Lewiston Tribune gives this description of the proposed craft:

The boat would operate on draft of 4.5 feet for 450 tons and approximately 250 tons for each additional foot of draft up to 7.5 feet, which is the maximum. At 7.5 feet draft the boat would carry 1,200 tons, the equivalent to 30 carloads of wheat.

"The engines will drive this boat about 14 miles per hour in slack water," Ward said. "It is estimated that it will require 38 hours for the run from Portland to Lewiston and about 20 hours for the return trip. It is also estimated that this boat will be able to handle at least one barge during high water periods.

"While the design of this proposed carrier represents radical departure from any type boat which has operated on our western waterways in the past, it is along lines which have been successfully used in the east for years. The general design might properly be credited to the 'cotton carrier' of the rivers of the southeast. On the other hand, it embodies many of the features of the self-propelled barge Tuscaloosa which successfully operated as a sugar carrier out of New Orleans. .

"This proposed carrier is designed to operate efficiently in both shallow and deep water. The hull, which is constructed of steel throughout, has a maximum length of 235 feet and has a moulded beam of 35 feet with heavy guards extending one foot wider on each side for protection. The superstructure, which is of wood construction, features a roomy engine room well aft with ample quarters for a double crew on the deck above.

"Fully three-quarters of the deck, fore and aft, is devoted to cargo space and is covered with a cargo house 12 feet in height, with ample doors and hatches to receive and discharge cargo rapidly. Besides the covered space on deck for general cargo, there are tanks below deck with a combined capacity of 200,000 gallons for gasoline or other liquid cargo. Forward of the cargo house is a cargo elevator with a life of 36 feet. This feature permits handling general cargo at a very low cost and obviates the necessity of installing expensive machinery as small river ports.

"The boat is driven by twin engines, 400 h. p. each, directly connected to twin screws operating in individual tunnels. A special feature designed to protect the propellors in shallow water in the installation of wrought iron shoes directly under each propellor, amply strong to support the entire load in case the stern is grounded."

PRICE TREND UPWARD.

Prices of farm products on local markets turned upward during the week, with butterfat and eggs leading. Advances however slight, are noticeable at this time. Butterfat which dropped to the almost unbelievable low of 16 cents per pound, recovered four cents in the last seven days, and now stands at 20 cents. Eggs gained a cent per dozen for standards, which is now 28 cents.

Hogs gained 30 cents per hundred. Barley felt the upward surge, gaining 75 cents per hundred, but oats remained the same at $12.25. Wheat, which had sunk to 26c per bushel for No. 1 white sacked elevated to 31 cents for the same quality. Red wheat, however, was the most in demand, judging from the local prices quoted.

THURSDAY A HOLIDAY.

Thursday, Nov. 24, is Thanksgiving Day. We will print the News Wednesday, a day earlier than usual and will appreciate having advertising and news copy as early in the week as possible.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS TO VOTE ON CONSOLIDATION JAN. 22

School district No. 51, Culdesac, and Joint district No. 16, a part of which lies in Lewis and part in Nez Perce county, will hold elections on January 22 to determine the sentiment on consolidation. Nez Perce county commissioners have set the date, and there has been no protest as to the time of election. Both districts have presented petitions. District No. 16 has an area of 11 square miles with 68 children and an assessed valuation of $80,694. In the Culdesac district, according to the Lewiston Tribune, there is an area of 16 square miles, assessed valuation $569,672, with 246 children of school age. There are no outstanding bonds.

At a previous attempt to carry consolidation, Slickpoo's vote (district No. 16) was tied with the result that the commissioners were powerless to act. Culdesac carried by an overwhelming vote, but the law holds that the commissioners cannot act unless there is a majority in favor in both districts.

PROPOSED MORATORIUM LAW IN NORTH DAKOTA

The voters of North Dakota voted at the general election on November 8, upon an initiative measure for the enactment of a moratorium law to relieve mortgagors and others who have contracted obligations running against their land from foreclosures and dispossession of the property for a period of three years' time.

The proposed law provides that the debtor shall pay the taxes and one per cent interest, failing to do so the mortgagee can foreclose under the regular process provided by law. The law also applies to the holder of personal property. They can take advantage of the moratorium by the payment of one per cent interest annually on mortgages. It also protects the home owners who have had to mortgage their furniture. It operates against the foreclosure of delinquent tax certificates.

The moratorium is supposed to end when the depression ends and the ability to pay is once more possible.

Forestry Students Burn Wood.

University of Idaho—Forestry students at the University of Idaho wouldn't make a fuel dealer rich if his living depended on selling them coal. They believe in burning native Idaho wood.

Eight men students who batch, and several who are married, recently solved their winter fuel problem in a most ingenious and satisfactory manner. From Potlatch Forests, Inc., they obtained permission to cut wood on company land near Bovill, 35 miles east of Moscow.

The owner of a truck and a gasoline drag saw outfit also figured in their scheme. Using his drag saw the students cut up many cords of fine seasoned wood from tall tamarack snags a short distance from the highway. The truck owner has delivered enough wood to Moscow to last all the students in the enterprise until June. For his share he has enough of the wood to keep his home fires burning well into the summer.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL ON MONDAY HAS 27 NAMES

At a meeting of the officers of the local Red Cross chapter Monday afternoon, it was reported that 27 had answered the 1933 roll call. Mrs. W. M. Herman and Mrs. Elmer Vanouck canvassed the business district Saturday and those who were not seen are urged to hand their membership dues, $1.00, to Dr. N. M. Leavitt, Red Cross chairman, that Genesee's quota of 50 can be fulfilled.

Meetings will be held the first Tuesday evening of each month and any member of the Red Cross enrolled is welcome to attend. Many have expressed their willingness to join at a later date, but the roll call as reported Monday is as follows:

Mrs. W. M. Herman, $1.00; Mahlon Follett, $1.00; Miss Edna Driscoll, $1.00; T. Driscoll, $1.00; Walter Mays, $1.00; J. A. Luedke, $1.00; Ruth Martinson, $1.00; Wm. Cunningham, $1.00; Jack Cunningham, $1.00; William Burr, $1.00; Dr. T. A. Elliot, $1.00; Frank Hoorman, $1.00; Glen Taber, $1.00; John G. Meyer, $1.00; V. Sampson, $1.00; Maggie Bottjer, $1.00; William Rader, $1.00; Edith Alexander, $1.00; Mrs. V. A. Beckman, $1.00; V. A. Beckmna, $1.00; J. W. Emerson, $1.00; Mrs. J. W. Emerson, $1.00; Mrs. E. D. Pederson, $1.00; E. D. Pederson, $1.00; F. A. Smith, $1.00; Geo. Post, $1.00; Dr. N. M. Leavitt, $1.00.

Genesee has received its first allotment of flour from the National Red Cross, which is in charge of Walter Emerson, and it is thought that every needy family will be cared for as far as flour goes this winter. Mrs. E. D. Pederson was appointed to take charge of cloth materials supplied the local chapter, and this will be for distribution during the coming months.

G. P. MIG, MOSCOW, URGES SIMPSON FOR CABINET POST

G. P. Mix, lieutenant-governor of Idaho, and one of four presidential electors, is urging President-elect F. D. Roosevelt to name John A. Simpson of Oklahoma, president of the National Farmers Union as member of the president's cabinet March 4, as secretary of agriculture. Simpson has been a leading figure in the cooperative movements for farmers in recent years, and his name is well known through his numerous radio broadcasts in recent months dealing with matters of interest to farmers.

The letter which Mr. Mix has written to Franklin D. Roosevelt follows:

"The people of the northwest deeply interested as they are in agriculture, are much concerned as to your appointment of a secretary of agriculture. They realize that a man in this position, with an understanding of the farmers' problems and backed with a determination to put into effect constructive legislation as advocated in many of your speeches, will bring about a better price for our products. The relief which we want and must have, depends upon that one thing.

"The name of John A. Simpson of Oklahoma City, Okla., is often suggested, and his appointment would give new hope and confidence to the farmers, I believe, all over the United States. His talks which have been broadcast generally prove him to be one who understands our problems and would be in full accord with the industry which he is appointed to represent.

"I feel that agriculture has sunk to this low depth of despair through the refusal of the administration to accept the advice and counsel of farmers themselves. The present secretary of agriculture seemed to be without understanding and without sympathy for the industry which he was representing.

"During this campaign, in filling speaking dates over this state I have heard the name of John A. Simpson often mentioned with the hope that you might appoint him as your secretary of agriculture."

Sunday School Parties.

Last Friday afternoon, from 2 until four o'clock Mrs. Robert Emmett, superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school, and Miss Pauline Steltz entertained the cradle roll members and beginners at the church basement. Games were followed by refreshments.

At seven o'clock that evening Mrs. Emmett, Mrs. Vern Beckman, Mrs. N. M. Leavitt and Miss Ruth Martinson, teachers in the primary and junior departments, entertained their classes. Games and refreshments were enjoyed.

THANKSGIVING PRAYER.

Help us to find a cross somewhere
Now at Thanksgivingtide
Where we may nail the sinful things
That in our lives abide.

Help us to see the brighter day
Through wild November rain
When buds of promise nod and sway
In every sun-kissed lane.

Give us that upward onward sweep
Of those old Pilgrims brave
To know that good will come at last
In spite of wind and wave.

Plant in our hearts the seeds, dear Lord
On this Thanksgiving day
Of thine own wondrous deathless love
That shall not pass away.

MRS. JOHN VANDENBURG PASSES AWAY WEDNESDAY

The many friends of Mrs. John Vandenburg will be grieved to learn of her death, which occurred some time after 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. The son, Jack, during his mother's recent illness slept on a cot near her bedside and shortly before 4 o'clock when Mr. Vandenburg came into the room, the deceased told her husband and son that she was feeling better than at any time during the night, and then went off to sleep and it is presumed that death came as she slept for there was no exertion or anything that would cause the son to believe that she was in distress.

A doctor was summoned from Moscow Tuesday afternoon and after an examination he was of the opinion that she was in no danger. Death can undoubtedly be attributed to a heart ailment accompanied by a stroke.

Tentative funeral arrangements are that services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Congregational church. The body is now resting at Short's Funeral Parlors in Moscow.

It was impossible to communicate with Harry Vandenburg Wednesday at Seattle as he is employed on a boat operating between north coast points and Alaska, and the boat had just left for the trip north. Dick Vandenburg will receive his message and should arrive home late Friday or Saturday morning.

RETURNS FROM ANNUAL BAZAAR ARE GRATIFYING

Despite the lower prices prevailing for everything sold during the annual St. Mary's bazaar held Tuesday at the Legion hall, the net proceeds were more than were anticipated at this particular time. The gross naturally did not amount to nearly as much as in former years, but the number attending was about the same, and the enthusiasm and pleasure would compare favorably with years past.

One hundred and forty-three persons bought tickets for the dance in the evening and the floor was crowded until the music ceased at 1 o'clock.

Noticeable among the crowds attending was the number of people from out of town, many of whom came for dinner and remained throughout the day and evening.

Miss Edna Driscoll was the recipient of the set of dishes, Mrs. Harry Condell, Moscow, feather pillows; Mrs. Ben Jain, a quilt; Mrs. H. Manderfelt, sofa pillow; Miss Regina Yockum, Lapwai, luncheon set; Mrs. Mary Cunningham, pillow cases; John Cunningham, dressed pig; Miss Florence Bielenberg, dressed sheep; Mrs. A. C. Linehan, lunch cloth; Mrs. Otto Kretschmer, doilies; Frank Scharbach, Thorncreek, silk quilt; Mrs. J. G. McGuire, Thornton, Wash., buffet set, and Otto Kretschmer was seen taking home a crib quilt.

FARMERS UNION NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the Farmers Union Local No. 4, at the Legion Hall, Genesee, on Saturday, December 3, for the purpose of electing delegates to the annual Union State Convention, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

All Union members are urged to be present at the meeting which will start at 1.30 o'clock.

DRISKILL WINS BOUT WITH BARR AT SCHOOL SMOKER

Ardie Driskill, popular amateur lightweight fighter of Moscow, and a favorite with fans locally, won his 3-round battle with Beryl Barr of Colfax at the high school smoker Saturday night in the Genesee gymnasium. Each of the two men on the final match have scored wins over the other in previous bouts, Driskill winning on a decision and Barr on a knockout. The decision Saturday night went to Driskill on a knockout although the bell sounded as the referee was concluding his count. Barr, himself said that he would have been unable to continue, and stated further that Driskill was the better man. Driskill also made a statement an hour after the bout that Barr was undoubtedly the better man when he was knocked out by Barr last year and that the decision he won from Barr, from his judgment, could have been awarded either way. Both of the young men have now won by knockouts, and the manner in which they accomplished their purposes have met with approval of spectators. Saturday night's scrap was a real one; Barr rather outshone Driskill in the first round, and the second was no more than a draw, with both losing the effectiveness of their punches on a smooth canvass when they feet seemed to slip. Driskill was on no more than an even basis with Barr in the third, but he apparently possessed more stamina and came through in the closing seconds of the last round with a right to the chin which dropped Barr for a count of nine when the bell sounded. It would have been a rather difficult task for the judges to award the decision had not Driskill definitely decided the match himself.

Driskill is still a big favorite with Genesee fans but he will now have to share some popularity with the game "red-headed" Colfax man. He was fully as willing to mix it as Driskill and probably is a bit the faster of the two, but lacks the stamina of the Moscow fighter. Both are the kind fans will go a long ways to see in action, and they are so even that the first one to connect will be the winner.

Suenkel-Emerson

Doug Suenkel and Billy Emerson, weights 70 and 71, respectively, opened the evening's fight card with an exciting go. Emerson ducked dozens of Suenkel's left swings, in the meantime standing toe to toe with his opponent. Emerson missed with one of his power blows and followed it to the canvas, but was on his feet immediately. Both enjoyed mixing it freely and are likely comers in the fistic art.

Johann-Broemmeling

Ralph Broemmeling took the defensive in his engagement with Lee Johann and there were few blows of consequence during their two-round event. Johann, forced to take the offensive was handicapped by the short lightning-like punches that Broemeling showered on him when he came in close. The decision went to Broemeling.

Magee-Suenkel

Jack Magee and Harold Suenkel, "skeeter" weights stayed with each other through two rounds, neither able to do much damage to the other. They were held back to some extent by the weight of gloves fastened onto their hands. They came out for a decision but the best the judges and referee could give was a draw.

Wishard-Broemeling

Bob Broemeling, demonstrated as did his older brother, that he was capable of taking care of himself, but was also reluctant to take the offensive. Bob is fully as fast with his hands as his brother too. Wishard, rode out most of the blows aimed at his head. These two boys, mixed it on occasions, and there could be nothing given by the judges except a draw. Wishard found himself in much the same position as Lee Johann. It was difficult for him to come in for a blow or more as he was showered with what seemed to be a dozen mitts coming from all directions. Wishard, however, looks like a coming scrapper if he can be pitted against a boy that will take the offensive.

Miller-Smylie

Ed Miller and George Smylie provided an interesting 2-round bout, although they were scheduled to appear at a late date. A draw was the decision of the judges, after the two had put up a rather hard scrap, both landing some very good blows. The match was too short to determine a winner.

GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING NOV. 18

Domestic grain markets were mostly lower at the close of the week ending November 18, influenced by larger offerings of corn and wheat and a continued dull demand for practically all grains, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The unsettled situation in foreign currencies, improved prospects for southern hemisphere wheat and a light inquiry from importing areas, were weakening influences in the wheat market, which more than offset unfavorable conditions caused by continued dryness in western portions of the domestic winter wheat belt.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific coast markets were independently firm, principally as a result of continued light country marketings. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled only 555 cars compared with 857 for the corresponding week last year. Growers continued to sell only when necessary to obtain funds and this has resulted in larger stocks than usual at country elevators but smaller supplies in commercial channels. Milling demand was fairly active at Portland and Seattle and cash prices were reported around one cent higher than a week ago. No export sales were reported and sales to California were of only moderate volume. Shipments from Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals July through October have totaled only a little over 10,000,000 bushels compared with nearly 23,000,000 bushels for the corresponding period last season.

Foreign Wheat Markets

Foreign wheat markets were somewhat unsettled but were generally weaker than a week ago. German markets were slightly lower with little export inquiry in evidence and imports of foreign wheat small. Native grain sold at Hamburg at the close of the week at $1.31. French markets were about 3 cents lower with milling wheat quoted at Paris at $1.02. Italian markets were about 2 cents higher with milling grades quoted at Genoa at $1.58. Prices were advancing in Rumania owing to scarcity of local wheat and it was expected by the trade that the import duty would be reduced, since import requirments are estimated at around 10,000,000 bushels. The acreage seeded to new wheat in Russia is reported to be around 3,000,000 acres under a year ago with seeding hindered by continued dryness. Russian shipments for the week totaled 856,000 bushels. Beneficial showers were received in Argentina and trade estimates now place the 1933 exportable surplus, including carryover, at around 184,000,000 bushels. Shipments for the week totaled 821,000 bushels. Australian shipments remained fairly heavy totaling 1,314,000 bushels. Harvesting is in progress in early districts. Seven more cargoes of wheat were reported sold to China. At the close of the market November 18, new Argentine wheat for Jan.-Feb. shipment was quoted at Liverpool at 49 1-3 cents; Australian wheat at 50 1-2 cents and No. 2 Manitoba from Vancouver at 51 3-8 cents per bushel. Canadian markets declined around 1 cent during the week, with No. 1 Manitoba Northern at Winnipeg quoted at 46 which is equivalent in U. S. money to 40 5-8 cents. No. 1 Manitoba Northern was quoted at Vancouver at 49 5-8c, or 43 1-8 cents in U. S. money.

An unusually disturbing element in the world wheat situation at the present time is the depreciated currencies of many foreign countries. Because of the low values of most foreign countries in terms of U. S. money, United States wheat costs European and Oriental buyers materially more than wheat from Canada, Australia, Argentina, or other exporting areas where money values are below par.

At the first of August, 1931, the English pound sterling was worth about $4.86 in United States money and would buy at that time about 11 3-4 bushels of No. 2 hard winter wheat at Kansas City. On November 17, this year the pound sterling was worth about $3.28 in United States money and would buy at current prices only about 7 1-8 bushels of No. 1 hard winter wheat at Kansas City. Canadian exporters have an advantage over United States exporters as a result of these lower currency values. The English pound at present

Mail Xmas Packages Early.

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore to assure delivery of their Christmas presents, cards and letters by Christmas Day the public should Shop and Mail Early. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings and letters to relatives and friends at least a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to the distance. This will not only make it certain that they are received before Christmas day, but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employees and enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their families.

ALLEN SATHER MARRIED TO MISS ALICE WEGNER

Miss Alice Wegner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Wegner of Rockland, Idaho, and Mr. Allen Sather, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sather of Moscow, were married at American Falls, Idaho, Friday, November 18, by the Rev. Otto F. Keller, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church. Attending the ceremony were the bride's parents and her sister, Miss Emma Lou Wegner, and brother, Fred Wegner.

Southwick, Idaho has been the home of the Wegner family and continues to be for some members of the family with others living at Kendrick. The parents of the bride moved to Rockland about four years ago.

Mrs. Sather is a graduate of the Lewiston Normal and has taught school in Latah and Nez Perce counties during the past five years. Last year she had the Aurora school, north of Genesee.

The young couple will be at home on the Sather ranch north of Genesee, which Allen has been farming for five years.

Arriving home Monday, the young couple were charivaried the same evening by a large group of friends who took possession of the home and after being treated cleared a floor for dancing with several persons assisting in furnishing the music. Those who did not dance gathered around tables and played cards, with the self-invited guests doing just about as they pleased until 1:30 Tuesday morning.

THAMES WILLIAMSON HAS NEW NOVEL OFF THE PRESS

Thames Williamson, who grew up in Genesee, and later attended the Lewis & Clark high school in Spokane, has a new novel off the press of Harcourt Brace & Co., New York. The title of the novel is "Sad Indian," and is winning praise from the critics.

Williamson has had unusual success in literature as all his novels have won high critical praise. His book, "Hunky," was a Book-of-the-Month club selection. "Sad Indian" has much in common with it.

A reviewer in Commonweal, a New York weekly, has this to say of "Sad Indian":

"Reduced to its essentials, the story of Juan, the sad Indian, is that of character degradation through drink. Juan realistically struggles against the demon pulque, but his eventual salvation and return to the land is manipulated for him by the author.

"With Mr. Williamson, whose hero of 'Hunky' strongly resembles his Indian, plot is not the thing. He is interested in a character, elementary, stubborn in belief and practice, stolid and naturally selfish, adopting concessionary means for greater desired ends. In that he succeeds admirably and scores again with his recreation of the life of a Mexican interior town.

Noble Buys Land on Salmon River.

Cottonwood Chronicle: Word has been received that Charles Noble, Sr., and son, Charles, Jr., have bought 2,964 acres of land on the breaks of Salmon river near Cottonwood. They are planning on going into the cattle and sheep business. Mr. Noble is a Moscow man. His son is attending the university of Idaho.

The land above mentioned lies across the Salmon river and comprises part of the former Platt & McMahon holdings, some of which fell into the hands of the federal land bank at Spokane and the rest to Fred K. Bressler of Genesee. Just which tract was purchased by the Nobles and at what price we have thus far been unable to learn.

IDAHO EDUCATION SYSTEM ON PAR WITH MOST STATES

Both the quality and quantity of the educational opportunity provided by the Idaho common school system for the pupils of this state are, as revealed by the recently completed school survey, agreeably surprising, says Glenn Balch, writing "Tax Topics," for the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

Idaho children, the report shows, have an excellent chance to become learned in the fundamentals of the three R's, to say nothing of the widespread opportunity for additional knowledge offered by the advanced elementary and high schools. No citizen of this state need be ashamed of our educational system as it is doubtless on a par with, or better than that of most states in the Union.

101,000 Students

The survey dispells the opinion that possibly might have been held by some that educational opportunity is either seriously limited or hampered in any part of the state.

During the school year of 1930-1931, a total of 101,000 children attended the 1303 school districts that functioned in Idaho.

Of this total of districts, 189 offered both grade and high school instruction. The number of students attending these 189 districts was 69,743, or approximately 69 per cent of the state's student enrollment.

Grade Schools

There are 625 districts in the state offering grade school work for a period of nine months annually. A total of 20,889 of Idaho's 101,000 pupils, or almost 21 per cent, were in attendance in this class of schools.

Combining these two totals, we find that 89 per cent of the school children in Idaho, or practically 90,000, have the advantage of nine months instruction each year. From these figures, we may presume that this large group is amply provided for in the matter of educational opportunity.

Turning our attention now to the remaining 10 per cent, the survey reveals that 437 of the 1303 school districts provide grade school instruction for an annual period of eight months. Students attending this class of schools total 9,957, or nine-tenths of the remaining 10 per cent in question.

Opportunity Good

We therefore have left less than one per cent of the state's 101,000 school children to attend seven, six and five-months schools. It is noteworthy in this regard that the average daily attendance of the five schools in the state offering less than seven months schooling was only 23.

Summing up these figures, we find that 69,743 students were, during the school year of 1930-1931, in schools offering both grade and high school instruction for a period of nine months in practically every instance. An additional 20,889 children were in nine-months grade schools; 9,957 were in eight-months grade schools, 550 had seven months of grade school instruction; and 23 had less than seven months schooling.

FORMER GENESEE RESIDENT DIES AT COLLEGE PLACE, WN.

Orion W. Rogers, 62, formerly a resident of the Genesee section, but who has been living in the Walla Walla valley for some time, died at his home near the village of College Place, Wash., November 12. Mr. Rogers was apparently in good health up until within two days of his death at which time he suffered a heart attack from which he failed to recover.

He was born January 1, 1870 at Brownsville, Oregon. The family moved to Dayton, Wash., when he was a small boy at which place his father, William D. Rogers took up a homestead. Later the family moved to the Genesee section where Mr. Rogers lived until his marriage, December 25, 1901 to Electa Case of Des Moines, Iowa. They moved to Seattle and Mr. Rogers engaged in dairying until 1912, when they went to Harney county, Oregon. In 1918 he moved to Walla Walla valley where his family has resided since that time.

He is survived by his wife and 8 children: Arthur W. Rogers of Gardena, Wash.; Clarence, Marcella, Robert, Harold and Helen of Walla Walla, and Sidney and Victor who are students at Washington State college. He also leaves four brothers and one sister: Mannie Sampson of Lapwai; Fred Rogers of Ferdinand; L. C. Rogers, Lapwai; and Lee and Pearl Rogers of Lewiston.

Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery, Walla Walla.

VETERANS PROTECTIVE ASSN. ASK PUBLICATION OF LETTER

The following letter from the Veterans' Protective Association at Moscow, Idaho, asks that the following letter be given publication, after it had been ignored by large daily newspapers, who had previously carried news releases of the National Economy League:

"A series of articles has recently appeared in newspapers attacking the bonus, pensions and the rank and file of ex-service men, written by supposedly noted people. But there are several pertinent facts in regard to the authors on these articles, which the public should know, that newspapers have failed to give.

"Why was it not mentioned in the introduction of Archibald Roosevelt that probably the first penny he ever had was from the 'public trough,' the 'pork barrel' you are so fond of talking about. That his brother, T. R. Jr. (One-Shot Teddy—God save the mark) now has his hands in the U. S. treasury up to his elbows on a job won for him by these same ex-service men now so vigorously slandered. Why not mention, also, that his mother, with a private fortune of some $800,000, gets a pension of $5,000 per year?

Then, too, you fail to mention that Admiral Sims (a Canadian by birth and nature gets an annual salary of $13,000 and an allowance for expenses; that at the age of 60 he can retire and still draw three-fourths pay, or $9,750 a year as long as he lives. But does the admiral say anything about cutting off his retirement pay?

"Do most people know or have you mentioned the fact that the navy's Doc Cook, Rear Admiral Byrd, gets $6,000 a year, not to speak of motion picture rights, proceeds from lectures and other things? If he advances to no higher rank in the navy, at the age of 60 he can retire on $4,500 a year.

So, all through the list of high-ranking officers, from Gen. Pershing at $13,500 a year, other generals at $8,000 and $6,000, colonels at $3,500, majors at $3,000—all retiring at 60 on three-fourths pay. What do they care for the poor devils who did the actual work? They never lost a meal nor slept for days in the mud and slime of louse-infected rat holes, called trenches—at $30 per month. They never waded the swamps of the Philippines and lay half dead with tropical dystentary on a diet of tomatoes and canned 'willie', 'slum' at $15.60 per month in 1898-1901.

"Tell the younger generation about the McKinley-Alger 'embalmed beef,' explain to them Colonel Roosevelt's 'round robin' in Cuba. A Sunday supplement story, illustrated, on the death camp at Chicamauga, where thousands of deaths from typhoid fever shocked the country and forced governors of states to compel the government to return the state troops to their homes, would interest.

"Tell how, in '98, U. S. soldiers faced an enemy, who were armed with modern, high-powered rifles, using smokeless powder, with the obsolete Springfield and black powder cartridges which made a smoke-screen as heavy as some of the office holders at Washington, D. C., are using to cover the debacle where ex-service men were shot down in cold blood, on executive order.

"Tell the story of how Helen Gould Shepard was so shocked and disgusted with the pitifully inadequate hospitals in the Philippines that she spent $100,000 of her own money for hospital equipment for the soldiers of this opulent country of Mark Hanna. Tell the real stories of these wars—explain, if you dare, why they are not found in the emasculated histories used in our public schools. Tell both sides of the story."

St. Joseph School Entertainment.

The entertainment presented by pupils of St. Joseph's school last Friday evening at the high school gymnasium was well attended and very capably presented. The pupils seemingly enjoyed the parts given them, and took pleasure in presenting several clever acts and short plays. A Child's Night Prayer, in tableaux, was the closing number.

Importing Purebred Cattle.

Ten carloads of cattle arrived during the second week of November at Winchester. They came from the Rosebush Ranch at Amasa, Mich., and were consigned to the Oxbow Ranch company. These new purebred Herefords have been added to the already large stock of beef animals which will range on the Salmon river this winter.

Played on '99 Princeton Team.

The article in which the illustration appears is entitled, "Were They Such Giants Then," treating on the comparisons of the game as played today with that of 1898-'99 and 1900.

Reading the article it is recalled that in early days, the players went through 90 minutes rather than the 60 minutes of today, and that they were permitted to pile up, use the flying wedge and mass plays, in which it was permissable to throw the ball carrier over the opposing line or push him through the line ahead of them.

FARM-TO-MARKET HIGHWAY WORK NOW FOR RELIEF ONLY

Work has been resumed on Farm-to-Market Highway Project No. 1 since it was decided to start moving the rock which is encountered in construction, and men are now receiving 25 cents per hour, compared to the former wage of 45 cents per hour. It is expected that work will last well into the winter and will be a means of unemployment relief.

Practically all the straight dirt work has been done on the road mentioned and the work remaining will be done mostly by hand after rocky portions have been blown. Wheelbarrows will now be used to move the dirt and rock which is only a short distance, mostly all of it being merely moved across the road.

On Project No. 3, the north four miles, work is well along and only a few days of fair weather are required to complete the grading and draining of this section.

SERVICES AT JULIAETTA FOR MONROE JOHNSON

A funeral service was conducted at Juliaetta Sunday, November 20 at 11 o'clock at the United Brethren church by Rev. Calvert.

Monroe Johnson was burned to death in the Grover Grosclose cabin near Teakin, November 11, and the remains were brought to Juliaetta for interment.

The deceased was born near Nashville, Tennessee, September 9, 1849. On November 13, 1869 he was married to Susie Ross in the state of Arkansas, and they crossed the plains to California in 1875, then up to Oregon in 1877 and in 1884 moved to Idaho and settled in the Fix Ridge section, where he resided almost continuously until the time of his death.

He leaves one brother, F. D. Johnson in Arkansas, and one sister, Lucinda at Leese, Washington. His wife preceded him in death by one year.

A son, Fred Johnson, lives in the Lenville community; a daughter, Mrs. Walter Clark, lives on Fix Ridge and another daughter, Mrs. George Dygert, resides in Clarkston, Wn. Mrs. Columbus Clark, decensed, was also a daughter of the deceased.

Hunters Successful.

James Archibald, Joe Doyle, Bud Putnam and Jack Gehrke returned Sunday evening from a four day's big game hunting trip into the Priest Lake country. Each man was successful, bringing back a nice buck. The one shot by Gehrke, when dressed, tipped the scales at 185 pounds; Joe Doyle and Jim Archibald brought in animals that dressed 160 pounds each and Putnam selected one weighing 90 pounds, dressed.

The hunters report the deer plentiful, although due to lack of snow, they had to go high into the hills to get their game.

No More Cabbage at Rogers Bros.

Rogers Brothers have disposed of all the cabbage raised by them this year by using the Genesee News as an advertising medium. They have sold 30 tons of sauer-kraut material. They also raised 40 tons of carrots, 60 tons of rutabagas and 200 sacks of turnips. These vegetables are also selling fast. Prices are the lowest in years.

"Unless you pay up pretty soon," wrote the blackmailer, "the gang will be instructed to kidnap your wife."

"I have no money," came the reply, "but I am interested in your proposition."

prices and Exchange rates will buy 7 bushels and 36 pounds of No. 1 Manitoba Northern wheat at Vancouver but only 7 bushels and 12 pounds of No. 1 soft white at Portland.

In addition to the advantage offered by the lower Exchange values, Canadian shippers are now favored with a duty preference in the United Kingdom over United States exporters. The British duty on non-Empire wheat under the Ottawa Agreement Act, became effective Nove. 17. This duty is to remain in force five years but may be removed if Empire producers are unable or unwilling to offer wheat in the United Kingdom at prices not exceeding world prices and in quantities sufficien to supply requirements of United Kingdom consumers. At the current rate of Exchange, the British wheat duty now amounts to 4 1-8 cents per bushel in United States money.

Cowboy Battles

Wayne Roach and Leonard Flamoe, the first duet in the cowboy battle, provided plenty of excitement. A pole mounted on legs about six feet long was brought into the ring, with the combatants taking their places astride. Roach swung too far to hit Flamoe with his padded fist and lost his balance, and was then beaten off the pole by Flamoe, who received credit for the first round. Roach was winner of the second round, when he belted Flamoe from his perch and then hammered away at his feet as they were clinched around the pole. Flamoe then came back to take the third round when he placed Roach in a precarious position. Roach held on with hands and feet for a considerable time and was about to gain an upright position when Flamoe turned him upside down again, and then proceeded to whale away at his clinched feet.

Ted Wagner and Billy Thiessen composed the second duet, the former winning the two first rounds after Thiessen lost his equilibrium and hung onto the pole with hands and feet. Wagner belted him with both hands until he forced his opponent to drop to the canvas.

Ainslee Twins Tumble

The Ainslee Twins, age 9 years, are always favorites in Genesee and this year the applause which greeted them was evidence that they added numbers were well received. The way the two young girls are coming along assures them as headliners in the next few years.

Edwards-Gee

Billy Edwards successfully defended himself in his 2-round go with the midget "Battling" Gee of Moscow, the latter a coming "champ" if there ever was one. Both of these youngsters, whose weights were identical, 92 pounds, put up the best scrap of the evening with the possible exception of the final. They are both experienced and have plenty of punch. Edwards had a little more reach, but the battling Moscow midget seemed not to mind this. Both came in to fight at the bell and there was not a minute of stalling on the part of either. If there are two youngsters more likely to develop into good box fighters we would like to see them. The decision was a draw.

Rinehart-Harris

Russ Rinehart won the decision over Rich Harris in their two-round exhibition. Harris gave Rinehart about a ten-pound advantage, and would have faired fairly well had he been able to keep Rinehart at a distance. As it turned out, Rinehart bore in and had Harris in a bad way as the bell sounded for the end of the bout. Harris was off his feet twice during the second round but came back as game as he did when they both went to work in the opening round.

Wishard-Tate

Cliff Wishard, scheduled to meet Lonnie Johnson of Moscow, had as a substitute opponent a young man by the name of Tate. This match ended in a draw, with Tate able to take all Wishard had to give for the short period they were boxing. Wishard, with two additional rounds, perhaps would have laid the Tate boy on the canvas, as he uncorked a few almost devastating blows just before the bell sounded at the finish. At the beginning both were content to feel each other out, but they put up a good fight, which resulted in a draw.

Evans-Asman.

Jimmy Evans, Lewiston, and "One-Round" Asman, Moscow, put on an exhibition in the semi-finals when it was learned that Harold Whitcomb was ill at his home in Lewiston and unable to meet "Farmer" Ellis of Moscow. Some of the spectators were led to the belief that the substitutes failed to put up a good scrap, but it must be remembered that the two men were not of the same weights, Asman weighing about 20 pounds more than Evans. Most of their fighting was done in clinches, and fans were unable to get much kick out of this infighting. Asman faked a knockout in the closing seconds of the third round which further disgusted the spectators. After the smoker, Asman, the heavier man, showed one badly bruised eye, which was evidence that they were not clowning altogether as some would believe. Asman went to the floor three times, twice for a count of nine and on the third dive he remained down until Referee Vandenburg finished his ten-count. Evans is an exceptionally good man at his weight and it is said that "One-Round" has met and disposed of some very good men in his class.

Ardie Driskill and Beryl "Red" Barr provided the thriller of the evening, and set a mark for others to shoot at in providing real fighting ability.

The outstanding bouts were those participated in by Billy Edwards vs. "Battling" Gee and the final between Driskill and Barr.

There was one rabid fan in the audience who kept up a continual chatter, and who took keen delight in the bouts where the boxers were inclined to really fight. He not only chattered but he shouted at the top of his voice in the final, as he was an ardent supporter of the fighting Barr.

Besides the outspoken fan from Colfax the fight card drew a large number of fans from other towns, and the net returns from the entertainment netted the high school athletic association better than $70.

PROGRAM FOR OPEN HOUSE THURSDAY, DECEMBER FIRST

Following is the program for open house at the public school Thursday evening, December 1:

Eileen Flomer will read a monolog called, "A Leap Year Leap." Marie Springer will also give a monolog, entitled, "Maggie McCarthy Goes on a Diet." Miss Melgard will read a one-act play by Sir Phillip Barrie, entitled "The Twelve-Pound Look," which it is said abounds with the subtle humor typical of its well-known author.

To Present Plays

The class in public speaking is beginning work on two one-act plays to be given at the time of the Christmas program at the high school. The students taking part in "The Killer's Reward," are Glenn Harris, Ormond Hickman, Rodney Tegland and Kenneth Aherin. The setting of this play is in the untamed north where outlaws hide to evade the law.

Those in the cast of "Renting Jimmy," a humorous farce of college life are: Evelyn Krier, Gretchen Reisenauer, Emma Lou Vanouck, Alice Green, Helen Krier, Eileen Flomer, Annabelle Huffman and Jim Willows.

High School News.

The Associated Student Body wishes to express its appreciation to the participants and the patrons for their support of the high school smoker.

The second open house will be held December 1 at the high school, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Anderson and Miss Melgard will spend the holidays at their home in Moscow.

Mr. Parks will spend the holidays at his home in Culdesac.

FOLLETT SALE TO CONTINUE.

The store-wide sale which began last Friday at the Follett Mercantile Store will continue for several more days it was announced Tuesday, that people will have ample time to supply a number of their winter needs while prices are at their lowest.

FUERAL SERVICES ARE HELD FOR MRS. JOHN VANDENBURG

Many friends gathered at the Congregational church Saturday afternoon to pay final tribute to a friend of many years, Mrs. John Vandenburg, who passed away at the family home Wednesday morning, November 23, death being caused by a heart attack. The deceased had felt ill from the effects of a cold several days prior to her passing, and a doctor, summoned Tuesday, was of the opinion that she was on the way to recovery. Slight pains were experienced in her chest and shoulders Tuesday and on retiring Tuesday evening, she was carefully observed. A short time before 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, the son, Jack, who was sleeping in the same room, consulted with her at which time she said that she was feeling much better and believed that she would rest easily during the following hours. She turned over once between the hours of 4 and 7 Wednesday morning, but when the son and husband went to her bedside, she had passed away as she slept.

Mrs. Vandenburg, her husband and family came to Genesee March 8, 1902 and have lived here continuously except for three years when they lived on and farmed the Ben Borgen place, now the home of Ben Johnson, in the Blaine section. Active in community affairs during all her life until recent years, the deceased was a member of the Congregational choir and for 20 years had been a loyal and esteemed member of the Pythian Sisters.

Death was unexpected after the encouragement given by constant improvement of her health and a favorable reaction to medical attention, and relatives were not summoned until the end came suddenly. A telegram to the son, Harry, at Seattle, could not be delivered as he had left just a half hour prior to dispatch on a boat bound for Alaska, on which he is employed. R. L. Vandenburg, another son, living at Victor, Mont., was notified and he left immediately for Genesee, arriving here Friday.

Lutie Kenzie Vandenburg was born in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, Aug. 18, 1861, and lived there with her parents until she was ten years of age when the family moved to Orion, Illinois, where she grew to womanhood. December 16, 1883 she was united in marriage to John Vandenburg, to whom were born five children, Charles Emery, Harry Christopher, Richard Leonard, John Roy, and a daughter who died in infancy. The eldest son preceded his mother in death, Sept. 23, 1928.

The young couple made their home in Illinois until Dec. 1885, when they moved to Frontier County, Nebraska, where they lived until the spring of 1902 when they moved to Genesee, making this community their home for more than 30 years. At the time of passing she was 71 years, three months and five days of age. On December 16, this year, Mr. and Mrs. Vandenburg would have been married 49 years.

She leaves to mourn her death, her husband and three sons, H. C. Vandenburg of Seattle; R. L. Vandenburg of Victor, Mont., and J. R. Vandenburg of Genesee; also two sisters: Mrs. Alice Ayers and Mrs. Levi Mealman, both of Orion, Illinois.

Services were conducted from the Congregational church last Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with the Rev. N. E. Beach, pastor of the Genesee Christian church officiating, assisted by a choir composed of Mrs. E. H. Field, Mrs. W. W. Burr, Mrs. Vern Beckman, Mrs. Robert Emmett, Maurice Krier, Glen Tabor, Alvon Hampton and Colin Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. W. M. Herman, singing "Abide With Me," and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Alvon Hampton sang as a solo, "The Old Rugged Cross."

Following the sermon the Pythian Sisters held a short ceremonial, which was concluded when Mrs. W. W. Burr sung a Pythian Sister chant.

Interment was in the City Cemetery with Matt Kambitsch, Fred Hampton, Fred Nagel, Walter Jain, John Cunningham and Arthur Tegland acting as pallbearers.

Services at Congregational Church.

Rev. F. William Westwood, pastor of the Congregational church at Lewiston, will be in Genesee Sunday evening, December 4, and will conduct services beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

A student from Washington State College will conduct services at the church, beginning at 11 a. m. Everyone is invited and urged to attend these services.

Services for John Kane.

Funeral rites for John Kane were held at St. Stanislaus church at 9 a. m. Tuesday morning in Lewiston, the Rev. Father Conrad Brusten officiating. Interment was in the St. Mary's cemetery, Genesee. Pallbearers were: Eugene Baldeck, M. Tigges, A. VanDyke, Lem Kline, J. McCullough, all of Lewiston, and Edgar Evans of Genesee.—Lewiston Tribune.

GOVERNOR CONSIDERING ADVISABILITY SALES TAX

Boise.—With mounting tax delinquencies making it apparent that real property, under existing conditions, is unable to bear its crushing tax load, the tax committee of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce is giving serious consideration to a sales tax plan for Idaho.

The executive committee of the state-wide tax investigation, headed by R. E. Shepherd, president of the state chamber, conferred with Governor C. Ben Ross in Boise last week on this subject. The governor said he was highly interested in the findings of the investigation and declared himself anxious to consider a legislative program based on these findings.

Although the governor said he was opposed to a sales tax except under extraordinary conditions, he was seriously considering the advisability of such a tax "because we have reached the point where real estate must be given some definite relief."

The tax committee is agreed some new source of revenue must be found, and for this reason will study the sales tax, although there is a difference of opinion whether it is a fair system.

"The committee recognizes the farmers' income is inadequate to permit payment of taxes," said L. F. Parsons, secretary of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, "and the amount of delinquency in January will be greater than any previous time. Government warrants are being issued at the rate of two and a half to three million dollars a month in Idaho. Some method of meeting these warrants needs to be made available to keep the taxing units on a solvent basis.

"The amount of taxes next January will be insufficient to meet outstanding warrants issued in anticipation of this tax payment."

The committee is investigating the Mississippi sales tax plan, in operation for six months, which apparently is proving satisfactory in that state.

In addition to the sales tax discussion, the executive committee and several members of subcommittees considered proposed legislative changes which would give more economical and more efficient government. Among subjects considered, in this discussion, were the educational system, the ad valorem tax, the gasoline tax, automotive transportation, income tax, consolidation of county offices, and suggested amendments to the district highway laws.

FARMERS UNION TO NAME CONVENTION DELEGATES

Genesee Farmers Union Local No. 4 will meet Saturday afternoon, December 3 at the American Legion hall. The meeting is called for 1:30 for the purpose of electing delegates to the state Farmers Union convention and to transact such other business as may legally come before the assembly.

John A. Simpson, national president of the Farmers Union, who has been mentioned as a likely candidate for the incoming president's cabinet, as secretary of agriculture, will perhaps be mentioned at the meeting Saturday, to ascertain the attitude of local farmers on the appointment of Simpson.

GENESEE VALLEY CHURCH.

The Ladies' Aid will have their annual supper and sale at the Parish hall this Friday evening, December 2. They will start serving at seven o'clock. Charges will be 25 cents and 15 cents.

There will be no Luther League meeting Sunday evening, December 4.

The congregation will hold its annual meeting at the church Tuesday, December 6.

Congregational Ladies Aid.

The Congregational Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. George Follett Wednesday, December 7. A good attendance is urged.

BROTHER OF MRS. THATCHER PASSES AWAY AT PORTLAND

Captain Harry C. Baughman, veteran master and pilot of steamers operating on the Snake and Columbia rivers, and piloting craft on the Yukon river in Alaska for 17 years, pioneer of Lewiston and member of a family famed in river annals of the northwest since the middle of the last century, died at the home of a son in Portland Tuesday morning, November 23, after a lingering illness.

The deceased is a brother of Mrs. Harry Thatcher, Moscow, formerly of Genesee.

Captain Baughman's last run was in 1918 on the steamer Lewiston, commanded by Captain John E. Akins. The next year he was forced into retirement by ill health. His life on the river reads like a romance, says the Lewiston Morning Tribune, from which this article is taken.

Born at Oregon City, Ore., in 1868, he came to Lewiston with his parents in 1879 and was schooled here. In his early teens he showed an inclination to adhere to the traditions of the family and started to work on boats commanded by his father, advancing gradually until he was placed in charge of craft, and at the age of 25 found himself in command of the ill-fated Annie Faxon.

Survived Explosion.

He was one of the few survivors of the Faxon explosion on Aug. 14, 1893. Going down the river a few miles below Lewiston the boiler of the steamer exploded, wrecking the vessel and killing eight people. Captain Baughman was injured. Captain John E. Akins and Sage Akins of Lewiston are among the remaining survivors. (Note: Sage Akins is the father of Mrs. Walter Emerson of Genesee.)

He was master of the steamer Imnaha, built at Lewiston in 1903 for service to the mines at the mouth of Imnaha creek in Oregon, 53 miles above Lewiston. The Imnaha was in service on the up-river run for about a year. On her last trip while lining over Mountain Sheep rapids, the cable became fouled in the Imnaha's wheel and she drifted back over the rapids. Striking the shore, the crew was able to get off in safety, but the boat was a total loss.

The following year the Mountain Gem was built at Lewiston to replace the Imnaha. Capt. Baughman was her first master. The late Capt. W. P. Gray succeeded him in command, the boat being later withdrawn from the upper Snake river and put in service on the lower river runs between Lewiston and Celilo.

Went to Yukon

On account of his ability as a navigator, Captain Baughman was employed as pilot by an English boating syndicate in 1900 to handle steamers operating on the Yukin river. This service lasted for 17 years. The rigors of the north made inroads on his health and as the result of exposure he contracted a stomach ailment that resulted in his long illness and death.

While navigating the Yukon he was several times involved in harrowing experiences. On one of these he was at the wheel of a boat carrying a cargo of dynamite for use in the mines. This exploded, demolishing the steamer, but Captain Baughman escaped with a few minor injuries.

In 1915 he was caught in a blizzard on Lake LeBarge, Alaska, and spent two days and nights on the ice with his crew and a dog team.

Lived in Clarkston

After quitting the river Captain Baughman lived until two years ago at Clarkston, then moving with his family to Portland with the hope that the change would benefit him.

He is survived by a widow, two daughters and two sons, Mrs. M. F. Ward of Lewiston, who was at the bedside when death came; Barbara Baughman; Harry C. Baughman, Jr., and Max Baughman of Portland; and a sister, Mrs. Harry Thatcher of Moscow, wife of the auditor of Latah county. Kenneth Baughman, son of Mrs. Leo McCarty of Lewiston, and Mrs. Ward are the last descendants of the Baughman family living in Lewiston. He is the son of the late Ralph Baughman, brother of the man who died yesterday.

The body was brought to Lewiston for interment in the family plot in Normal Hill Cemetery.

Masons Visit Genesee Lodge.

Thirteen Moscow and Lewiston Masons accompanied Dr. C. F. Magee to Genesee Tuesday night when he made his official visit as district deputy grand master.

GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING NOV. 25

Domestic grain markets were weak and lower during the week ending November 25, and wheat futures at Chicago declined to new record lows. Further declines in values of foreign currencies as a result of uncertainty concerning foreign debt settlements, increased offerings of wheat from the Southern Hemisphere, weakness in security markets and a continued dull demand for U. S. wheat, were the principal weakening influences in the wheat market, accerding to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Feed grains weakened with wheat, but a continued dull inquiry from feeders and industrial buyers and a lack of an export outlet, also contributed to the decline. Flax declined around 3 cents per bushel, influenced by lower wheat markets and a dull demand from crushers.

World Conditions

A drop in the value of the British pound to about $3.22, U. S. money, the lowest point since 1920, was an unsettled influence in the general wheat situation during the week. Generally favorable progress of the new crop in both Argentina and Australia and heavier current shipments from these countries, were further depressing influences. Earlier marketings of new Australian wheat show excellent quality and indicate a crop of around 210,000,000 bushels, according to trade estimates. Harvesting in under way in Argentina, but reports indicate that yields in early sections may be disappointing. Shippers were not pressing sales but farmers were releasing supplies of old wheat. Argentine shipments for the week totaled 1,031,000 bushels and Australian shipments 1,213,000 bushels. Black Sea shipments amounting to 592,000 bushels, all Russian wheat. Russian seeding is practically completed, with about 80 per cent of the plan accomplished to November 15, when sowings totaled 90,431,000 acres. Seeding has been finished in France and the acreage is estimated by the trade to be equal to last year.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific coast markets were slightly weaker, reflecting declines at eastern points. Cash prices held fairly steady at Portland, and were practically unchanged from a week ago. Country marketings continued light, with receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaling only 480 cars compared with 830 cars for the corresponding week last year. Export demand was still lacking and domestic mills were the principal buyers. Fair amounts of both milling and feed wheat were taken by California buyers.

California Markets

California wheat markets were barely steady, reflecting principally declines in outside markets. Trading at San Francisco was limited with mills working largely on earlier purchases and feed dealers and industries mostly using supplies previously accumulated. Trading in local wheat was extremely light, since growers were continuing a holding policy and were asking prices above quotations on northern wheat. Current offerings at San Francisco were principally from Washington and Oregon.

Foreign Wheat Prices

Prices of native wheat in Europe were not greatly changed compared with a week ago. The French market was slightly firmer and native wheat was quoted November 25 at Paris at $1.14. German markets were slightly weaker but prices were about unchanged with native wheat at Hamburg at $1.32. Belgian markets were quiet while Italian markets were slightly lower with native milling wheat quoted at Genoa at $1.57. The prices of foreign wheat at Liverpool were lower on Argentine and Australian shipments but about unchanged on Canadian offerings.

Barley Markets

The domestic barley market weakened somewhat and current offerings were easily sufficient for market requirements. The San Francisco market was quiet with prices unchanged to 2 1-2 cents lower compared with a wek ago. The weakness was attributed mainly to a less active demand for both feeding and malting types. Receipts continued only moderate with growers displaying a firm holding tendency and producers reluctant to sell at prevailing low prices and also influenced to some extent by the unfavorable seeding conditions. Export inquiry was less active with only moderate sales reported.

OPEN HOUSE TONIGHT.

Open house at the Genesee public schools tonight (Thursday) will be one of the most interesting of the year, it is announced, and all parents and those intersted in the school are urgently requested to be present. The program, while interesting, will not last long, as the opportunity at open house gatherings is always afforded to meet with the teachers in their respective rooms following the program.

This is the second open house of the year and it wil begin promptly at eight o'clock.

VOTERS OF IDAHO FAVOR COUNTY CONSOLIDATION

A constitutional amendment submitted to the voters of Idaho at the last general election, permitting the consolidation of counties, was one of two amendments which met with favor in the Gem State. The other amendment which passed was the one limiting voters in irrigation district elections to land owners only, with one vote for each land owner.

The vote on county consolidation was 81,136 to 36,614, and the vote on the other amendment to pass was 61,806 to 44,723.

The amendment to abolish the state board of equalization was defeated, but since election it makes little difference whether or not the amendment passed, that is for the next two years. The amendment proposed to permit the chief executive to name a tax commission, which undoubtedly would be of the same party as the governor. As it now stands, the board of equalization will be entirely democratic as all members composing the board are of that party.

The amendment to permit taxing of public property held in a proprietary capacity was refused by the electorate, although at one time during the cavass of the votes the amendment was receiving more votes in favor than against.

The fifth amendment proposing to change the income tax law and permitting occupational and privilege taxes for the benefit of state, counties, cities, towns and districts was refused by Idaho voters.

The amendments were put before the voters by a two-thirds majority of the 1931 legislature but a majority of the voters voting upon them accepts or rejects them.

While the amendment permitting county consolidations has been accepted in Idaho, it is doubtful if there will be any county mergers. A two-thirds majority in each county in a consolidation is required, which would be difficult to obtain, especially in northern Idaho.

LUTHER LEAGUE CONVENTION.

A large delegation of young folks from northern Idaho and eastern Washington will meet to attend the Luther League convention at Our Savior's Lutheran church of Moscow Saturday and Sunday, December 3 and 4.

According to an announcement by the Rev. Arthur L. Swenson, pastor of Our Savior's church, this convention will be one of the outstanding meetings of young folks for the season.

The opening session will be held Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock and three sessions will be held Sunday, at 11:00, 3:00 and 7:30 o'clock. The Genesee Valley League has elected delegates, and undoubtedly many from Genesee will attend.

Dr. O. A. Tingelstad, president of Pacific Lutheran college at Parkland will be the principal speaker at the convention. Many pastors will also be at the convention as well as a number of prominent local and visiting musicians, to take part in the sessions.

Linger Longer Party.

Mrs. Harry Schooler entertained the Linger Longer club Wednesday evening. A pick-up supper was served followed by bridge played at three tables. Scores indicated the choice in prizes brought by those present, the one having high score taking her choice first. Mrs. Kate Vandenburg, Mrs. W. M. Herman and Mrs. E. D. Pederson were guests.

Tuesday Card Club.

The Tuesday Card club was entertained this week by Mrs. John Luedke. High score honors were won by Mrs. James Magee and the consolation of Mrs. J. J. Tupker. Mrs. Johanna Christensen will entertain next at her home in town.

MRS. LAVONA LAMBERT, 74, FOLLOWS HUSBAND IN DEATH

The grim reaper visited the Lambert home twice within as many weeks, and took to life's reward, on November 27, Mrs. Lavona Lambert, the widow of the late R. F. Lambert, who passed away in Deer Park, Wash., November 13. Both died at their new home which was acquired for them by thier son, R. E. Lambert, that they might be near to receive medical attention, so necessary in Lambert has been ill for more than a year, the direct cause of death was Bright's disease.

Both Mrs. Lambert and her husband were pioneers of the Pine Grove community, natives of the state of California, and traveling life's rugged path, their lives have closely paralelled one another. Vigorous and active in younger years, interested in the better things of life they both reached the ultimate end at approximately the same time, suffering too from illness incident to advancing years.

Mrs. Lambert and her husband were truly pioneers in this part of Idaho, coming here a few months after their marriage at Healdsburg, California to wrest a home from what was then a new country. They have experienced hard times and they have enjoyed the pleasures of labor in good times, and while the many friends and relatives may mourn their departure, their reward will be that of the faithful.

Lavona Lambert was born at Healdsburg, California, July 7, 1858, and in passing away November 27, she had reached the age of 74 years, four months and 20 days. Married in the Spring of 1878 and coming to Latah county to make her home with her husband the same Fall, the deceased was a pioneer of the Pine Grove community 54 years ago. She had made her home almost continuously on the homestead, which they took up, shortly after arriving here more than a half century ago, and it was her privilege to enjoy the friendship of everyone with whom she became acquainted. She moved, with her husband, to Deer Park, only a few months ago.

Services were held at the Christian church, of which she was a member for years, Wednesday afternoon, with the Rev. N. E. Beach officiating, and a quartet composed of Mrs. Arthur Springer, Mrs. Fred Hampton, Mrs. Eugene O'Conner and Mrs. W. W. Burr, accompanied by Mrs. Don Jain, assisted in the service.

Interment was in the City Cemetery beside her husband and son, with A. Butzien, Leo Miller, Frank Jones, Ernest Peterson, B. Brigham and Roy Sweet as pallbearers.

The deceased is survived by three sons, F. E. Lambert, Deer Park, Wn.; Harry Lambert, Malta, Idaho and O. G. Lambert, Oroville, Wash.; and a daughter, Mrs. Chris Miller of Couer d'Alene, all of whom were here for the funeral with the exception of O. G. Lambert. Others here for the services were Miss Zilda Lambert, student at W. S. C., and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lambert; Mr. and Mrs. Art Mayer, Troy, Mrs. Mayer being a daughter of F. E. Lambert; Mrs. Tom Johnson and daughter, Bernice, Spokane, the former the wife of the deceased son, and Earl Miller, son of Mrs. Chris Miller, Coeur d'Alene.

McDOWELL-ZELL.

Miss Margaret McDowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDowell, prominent residents of Kendrick, and Allen F. Zell of St. Regis, Mont., formerly owning a motion picture theatre at Kendrick, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Zell of Genesee, were quietly married at Clarkston last Friday at the home of the Rev. David H. Brown. The announcement of the marriage came as a surprise to the many friends of the young couple, both at Kendrick and Genesee. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flaig, the latter a sister of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Zell were present at the ceremony.

After the wedding the bridal party went to the Bollinger hotel at Lewiston for dimner. The young couple then left for Spokane and after a few days visit will go to St. Regts where the groom is employed by an uncle, who lives in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Zell, a native of Kendrick, is a graduate of the Kendrick high school. For four years she has been assistant cashier at the Farmers Bank.

THE GENESEE NEWS

VOL. XLIV GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1932 NO. 25

PUBLIC SCHOOL TO CONDUCT SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS

This year the school has been asked to sell Christmas Seals. We shall endeavor to fulfill our obligation to the Anti-Tuberculosis League in such a manner as will cause the least inconvenience to our patrons. You can assist us in this by purchasing as many seals as you desire from the first sales person calling on you. The sales person will make but one call. Should you desire more seals later, simply call 96, and the seals will be delivered to you.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League is conducting a campaign against tuberculosis in the schools of Latah county. The service of Dr. Koentz has been offered to the Genesee schools should we desire to join in this undertaking. Both the board and your superintendent feel that this work is important and that our patrons should take advantage of this opportunity. The decision rests entirely with the parents. A questionnaire has been sent home with each child, and if enough parents fill out and sign the questionnaire requesting the tests be given their child or children, Dr. Koentz will come to Genesee and make the tests. If a sufficient number of parents do not signify their desire for the tests the matter will be dropped. Kindly let us know immediately your wish in this matter not later than Friday, December 9.

Two New Students

Two new students have enrolled in high school during the past week. Wilson Esser enrolled last Wednesday and Bernard Grieser entered on Monday.

Second Open House

The second open house was held on Thursday night, December 1. There was a good attendance in spite of the unfavorable weather. A program was presented by members of the dramatic class and Miss Melgard. Eilgen Flomer gave a monologue entitled, "A Leap Year Leap," and Marie Springer gave a reading entitled, "Maggie McCarthy Goes on a Diet." Miss Melgard read a one-act play, which was called, "The One Pound Look."

School Not Affected by Illness

Our school has been very fortunate in that the number of students absent from classes is much less than that of neighboring schools. Some of the schools near here have had to discontinue their work because of the number absent with influenza.

Join Red Cross 100 Per Cent.

The superintendent of the public school is happy to announce that the teachers have a 100 per cent enrollment in the American Red Cross.

To Present Plays.

Friday, Dec. 9, the members of the Speech class, under the direction of Miss Melgard, will present a two-act play before the assembly. The play is entitled "Renting Jimmie." The scene is a living room in a girls' dormitory and the time is in the Fall of the year. The cast is as follows: Carol, Evelyn Krier; Jimmie, Carol's sweetheart, Jim Willows; Madge, Alice Green; Leila, Kathryn Baumgartner; Evelyn, Annabelle Huffman; Katherine, Helen Kries; Mildred, Kathleen Busch; Georgiana, Emma Vanouck, and Jeanne, Gretchen Reismer.

Sell Hearts for Benefit.

The fifth and sixth grades have been selling "Hearts" for the Children's Home at Lewiston. The sales netted $12.46. We consider that a very favorable return for this year. Last year the sale netted $24.17.

First Basketball Game.

The first basketball game of the season is to be played Friday on the Genesee floor, when they meet the Uniontown team. Genesee's outfit is fast this year but are much handicapped in size. The new fellows are fast and show signs of improving the Genesee prospects materially.

The starting lineup has not been announced as yet. It may be that the parochial school of Uniontown will play the Genesee second team.

Hoover May Head Harvard.

Washington, D. C.—President Herbert Hoover's name was advanced on Monday for the presidency of Harvard university.

His name was suggested by Chester D. Pugsley of Peekskill, N. Y., in a letter to Henry L. Shattuck, treasurer of Harvard, on the basis that Mr. Hoover is an honorary alumnus of the institution. Shattuck replied that the suggestion would be submitted to the college corporation.

Abbott Lawrence Lowell recently resigned the presidency of Harvard.

COWCREEKERS' BALL.

Friday, December 23 is the date set for the annual Cowcreekers Ball, one of the looked-for events of the year. At a meeting of the Legion Wednesday evening, the committee to handle the affair was named, and is composed of George Anderson, Clarence Danielson and Fred Hove.

This dance always brings out a large crowd of young and old folks and is being held earlier in the season because in recent years inclement weather has interfered to some extent with everyone's attendance.

Tickets are only 50 cents, and the added feature as usual will be the lunch. Reserve the evening of December 23 for a good time at the Cowcreekers ball.

FLAMOE AND BROEMMELING ON MYTHICAL FIRST ELEVENS

Central Idaho high school football coaches have named first and second all-star mythical high school elevens for the season just closed. According to the Lewiston Tribune, Flamoe and Ralph Broemmeling were placed on the first string and Wishard and Klemm were given berths on the second eleven.

With some of the finest talent in years from which to choose, the selections were almost unanimous. Lewiston and Moscow high school players were not considered as they are Class A schools. The following all-star selections were made for Class B schools::

First Team

Ends — Donnally, Lapwai, Boyd, Nezperce.

Tackles—Flamoe, Genesee; Hibbs, Lapwai.

Guards—Roberts, Lapwai; Lackey, Orofino.

Center—Watson, Lapwai.

Halfbacks—McCormack, Lapwai, R. Halfbacks — McCormack, Lapwai; Ralph Broemmeling, Genesee.

Fullback—Bryant, Orofino.

Second Team

Ends—Wishard, Genesee; Jacobs, Nezperce.

Tackles—Gamble, Orofino; Klemm, Genesee.

Guard—Fitting, Kooskia; Johnson, Orofino.

Center—Olson, Nezperce.

Quarterback—Sorenson, Lapwai.

Halfbacks—Dryer, Lapwai; Crooks, Kooskia.

Fullback—Krous, Potlatch.

The seeming necessity in the opinion of the coaches for keeping the first team backfield together was all that prevented Dryer of Lapwai from making the first eleven. Being somewhat smaller than the others was a handicap to him and he got as many votes as the most popular lineman. Aggressive all season, he would undoubtedly make the thirteenth man for the first eleven, if such a man were elected.

Lapwai dominated the first eleven largely because of the respect in which the Indians were held this year by all rivals.

Fitting of Kooskia and Johnson of Orofino were made guards although they ordinarly play tackle.

Bob Broemmeling Comes Close

Robert Broemmeling, Genesee, a brother of Ralph of the first string, was among the "almosts." He is considered one of the finest and most shifty ball packers in the district.

GENESEE SUPPLY COMPANY INTO HANDS OF A RECEIVER

Unable to meet demands from its creditors the Genesee Supply company has voluntarily placed itself in the hands of a temporary receiver, the Spokane Merchants Association, that each creditor will have its account pro-rated with every other creditor.

Customers of the company, owing to the low prices of farm commodities have been unable to meet their obligations to the company, which if they were fully paid, would allow the operators of the company to meet obligations to their creditors.

By placing themselves in a temporary receivership, the company expects that collections within a reasonable time will permit them to take back the business. In the meantime, the Merchants association will continue to operate the business as before, with the exception that in most instances purchases will be for cash. There are also a few exceptions to this rule, where credit terms can be satisfactorily arranged. John G. Meyer has been retained as manager, and business will go on interrupted.

CHRISTMAS SEALS FINANCE TUBERCULOSIS ERADICATION

For fifteen years the Idaho Anti-Tuberculosis association has been working to prevent tuberculosis in the state. Hundreds of prominent men and women, doctors, teachers, ministers, nurses and children are participating by volunteering their services in the advancement of this great cause. The campaign is financed entirely by the funds derived from the sale of penny Christmas seals. Ninety-five per cent of the money raised is expended in Idaho—five per cent going to the nation-wide campaign and the research work being conducted in the great laboratories of the nation to find a cure or preventitive for tuberculosis. This research work alone would seem to be a sufficient incentive to everyone to buy the little seals which finance this campaign, and which protect the health of every man, woman and child in Idaho.

Despite the reduction of the death rate to one-third what it was twenty-five years ago, tuberculosis is still the most wide-spread and dangerous of all preventable diseases. Tuberculosis strikes mercilessly at the lives of the young and strong, in the years of their greatest promise. In Idaho, as elsewhere, tuberculosis is still the chief cause of death betwen the ages of 15 and 45. Among young women who die between 15 and 30, one out of every three dies of tuberculosis—a human sacrifice to ignorance and indifference.

Tuberculosis takes its heaviest toll when times are hardest. Great as are the tragedies of hunger, cold, and unemployment, there is no tragedy greater than that of tuberculosis. Long after depression is over tuberculosis will continue to make orphans, cripple little children and blast the hopes and dreams of youth. We stand appalled at the sight of hungry and unemployed humanity, and we should in this land of plenty, but every year 10 per cent of our population suffers from this dread disease, which is the greatest known cause of poverty and dependency.

Remember, when you make your contribution for the Christmas Seals this year of unemployment, that the deaths from tuberculosis in the next few years are for you to determine. Whether they increase or decrease, depends on you. Surely no thinking citizen will mail a letter or package in December, without the life-giving, life-saving seal.

KLUSS AND HOVE DELEGATES TO STATE UNION MEETING

John Kluss and Fred Hove were named as delegates to represent the Genesee Farmers Union local at the state convention of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America which is being held in Spokane. The sessions opened Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, and those in attendance from Genesee are the two delegates named; Frank Hoorman, vice president of the Idaho-Washington state organization, and Joe Knapps, member of the board of directors, the latter going to Spokane Tuesday to be present at a meeting of the board on Wednesday. A. C. Linehan and Wm. Mosman were chosen as alternates to the convention.

Besides naming delegates at the local meeting Saturday afternoon at the Legion hall, some discussion was heard on the "allotment plan," and resolutions adopted dealt with supporting and urging the appointment of John A. Simpson, national president of the Farmers Union as secretary of agriculture, and a proposal to change the date of the state convention to have it occur prior to the general elections.

FORMER GENESEE RESIDENT DIES AT SOUTHWICK, IDAHO

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in Moscow at the Short Chapel for Clarence Lee Tuttle, who has been living at Southwick, Idaho. The Rev. N. E. Beach, pastor of Genesee Christian officiated at the services and Mrs. John Eldridge and Miss Iris McCoy, both of Moscow, sang two hymns. They were accompanied by Miss Ethel Bailey of Moscow.

The deceased was a former resident of Genesee, at one time being manager of a grain warehouse here, and the family lived on the place now occupied by Sam Stucker.

Henry Oelberg, Wm. Gray, Ben Pleiman, Fred Brunier and Leo Miller, all of Genesee, and Louis Otness of Moscow were the pallbearers. Interment was in Moscow Cemetery.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING DEC. 2

Domestic wheat markets strengthened materially toward the close of the week ending December 2, following extreme weakness earlier in the period, when future prices declined to new low levels under the influence of a sharp break in English currency and uncertainty concerning foreign debt settlements, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Further deterioration in domestic winter wheat, particularly in western Kansas and Nebraska, and less favorable prospects in Argentina were principally responsible for the firmness towards the close of the week. Barley markets held about steady, with flax steady to slightly higher.

Crop Prospects a Factor

New crop prospects were an important factor in the wheat market during the week. Large areas in Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado were particularly in need of moisture and the crop deteriorated during the week in many sections. The condition of winter wheat in the Western third of Kansas was reported at only 36 per cent of normal, with some counties as low as 15 per cent. An average condition of 65 per cent is reported for Central Kansas. In Europe, dry weather prevailed in many parts of the Balkans, and germination is irregular. Seeding made satisfactory progress in Germany and about the same acreage as last season has been seeded in France. Russian seedings at the close of November were about 5,000,000 acres smaller than last season, with the largest decrease in winter wheat areas. A condition of drought continues in southern sections of the country. Rains were beneficial to new wheat in northern African countries, but more moisture is needed to insure satisfactory germination. Moisture in reported insufficient in the Indian Punjab. Rains were received in Argentine wheat regions but were mostly too late to be helpful to the crop and irregular yields are reported in the Western, Southern and North Central areas. Present indications are for a smaller crop than was expected earlier in the season.

The disturbed situation in the wheat market this season is reflected in the smallest world movement in recent years. World shipments of wheat, including flour, during the ofur months' period, August through November, totaled around 195,000,000 bushels compared with 275,000,000 bushels for the corresponding period last year. The bulk of these shipments, as is usual in the Fall months, was from North America. U. S. and Canadian overseas shipments during the period totaled about 127,000,000 bushels as against 125,000,000 bushels last Fall. Argentine exports since the first of August have totaled around 14,000,000 bushels, compared with 26,000,000 bushels last season and Australian shipments about 29,000,000 bushels as against 32 million bushels through November last year. The short wheat crop in the Danubian countries is reflected in very light exports, which have totaled less than 2,000,000 bushels, whereas last season, from August 1 through November over 25,000,000 bushels were exported. An export bounty, which is not now effective, stimulated shipments last year. Russian shipments this Fall have been about one-fifth as large as last season and have totaled slightly less than 13,000,000 bushels.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific Coast markets were rather irregular. At Portland futures prices declined about 1 cent and cash about a half cent during the week, while in California prices ranged unchanged to slightly higher. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals remained relatively small and totaled 502 cars, a considerable portion of which went into storage. No export business was reported since local values remain above foreign quotations. Domestic millers took moderate amounts at Portland, principally of high protein wheat, while feed manufacturers took occasional cars of feed grades. The quality of this season's crop in the Pacific Northwest is below that of a year ago. Of the November inspections only 17.7 per cent graded No. 1 compared with 29.7 per cent last November. 37.9 per cent graded No. 2 and 21.5 per cent No. 3 this season. Smut is less prevalent this year, however, and only 36.8 per cent graded

GASOLINE PRICES DROP.

Oil companies were slow in granting local gasoline dealers a drop in prices of the commodity, but it finally came on November 30. Prices prevailing now are from two to three and a half cents a gallon lower. Red or ethyl is now selling at 23½c per gallon and white is now 20½c, both showing a reduction of 3½c. Blue of third-structure gas is selling locally at 17½c, a drop of two cents per gallon.

HOUSE TURNS DOWN REPEAL OF EIGTHEENTH AMENDMENT

"Beer by Christmas" was given a setback when congress convened this week at the national capitol. The lower house, under the domination of Speaker Garner, vice-president-elect, voted on the opening day on a direct repeal of the eighteenth amendment, the resolution presented losing by six votes, 272 to 144. A two-thirds majority being required for adoption of the resolution by the house, only six votes were needed to push through a measure to legalize the manufacture of beer.

Altogether 168 democrats, 103 republicans, and 1 farmer-labor voted for the measure; 44 democrats and 100 republicans voted against it. Eleven of the democrats opposing are "lame ducks" while 70 are republicans, a total of 81.

The swiftness of action tended to frustrate some of the representatives, no doubt, and with debate limited to 40 minutes and that only to speakers of special preference, who were in favor of the resolution, had some effect on the members of the house and caused them to vote against the measure. The resolution to bring a constitutional amendment before the house for repeal without permitting changes and curtailing the length of debate is said to be the first action of its kind in history of government in the United States. Had the subject been given some discussion, it is reasonable to believe that the difference of six votes could have been wiped out and the resolution would have been on its way to the senate for further action.

Ruling with an iron hand, Speaker Garner flatly denied a hearing for a similar resolution emanating from a source other than that of the democratic party. He said, "I shall not give a vote on any other resolution except the democratic resolution. Either you are going to pass democratic repeal or nothing." Meanwhile, he added that a plan to pass a bear bill by Christmas is being carried out.

French and Smith of Idaho voted against the adoption of the resolution as did Hawley of Oregon, and Summers, Johnson and Hadley of Washington. Hill and Horr of Washington voted for repeal.

Senator Borah, a dry leader in the senate was quoted as saying that a straight repeal resolution such as that presented in the house could not pass the senate.

The text of the Garner resolution follows:

"Joint resolution proposing amendment to the constitution to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

"Resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled (two-thirds of each house concurring therein), that the following article is proposed as an amendment to the constitution, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the constitution when ratified by conventions in three-fourths of the several states.

"Section 1. The eighteenth article of amendment is hereby repealed.

"Section 2. This article shall be inoperate unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by conventions in three-fourths of the several states within seven years from the date of its submission to the states by the congress."

No Prescription Liquor for Cheney.

On and after Thursday of this week, Washington (state) may have its prescription liquor, but not the city of Cheney. The reason why Cheney druggists will be denied the so-called privilege is that the college towns of Washington are governed by a law passed in 1903 preventing the sale or disposal of liquor within 2,000 feet of any normal school, agricultural college, reform school, etc., maintained by the state. This law applies not only to drink emporiums but also to drug stores dispensing liquor on doctor's prescription.

DOMESTIC ALLOTMENT PLAN NOW UNDER CONSIDERATION

Certain that the voluntary domestic allotment plan will come before the short session of congress, those of whom it is expected to assist, are giving considerable attention and study to the matter. The plan is said to have the backing of President-elect Roosevelt, and it is believed that the democrats will push it forward to have it passed.

President Harriman of the U. S. chamber of commerce has come out for the plan, and Roosevelt is considered to have committed himself to it in his Boston speech, according to the Commercial Review.

Briefly, the plan is to make the tariff effective. It is being drawn up around five major surplus commodities, wheat, corn, hogs, rice and cotton.

In wheat the plan would work as follows: The tariff on wheat is 42 cents per bushel. For every barrel of flour ground by the mills in the United States for domestic sale, there would be a tax of approximately $2 a barrel. The millers when selling to their domestic consumers, would add the tax, remitting to the government. The government then would remit to the grower, seventy-five per cent of the tax.

It is estimated that 75 per cent of the wheat production of the country is for domestic purposes. The grower raising 10,000 bushels of wheat would then receive 42 cents a bushel on three fourths of his crop, plus the the market price.

The plan would not effect the sale and movement of wheat. An exporter would buy and sell on the world market and the miller would do the same, remitting only on his domestic sales to the government, who would distribute to the farmers. In return for this 42 cents a bushel, the farmer would agree not to increase his average of the past five years and would receive the 75 per cent return only on the average bushel production of the last ten years. The plan would be voluntary.

All expenses of collection and remission to the farmers would be deducted from the 42 cents a bushel, and the load would not be on the taxpayers of the country. It is presumed that two cents on every bushel would amply provide for administration.

There is some objection to the proposal in that cooperatives would benefit by contacts made, but on the other hand, some of the leading millers and wheat exporters of the country are strongly in favor of the plan. It is pointed out that the plight of the farmer is desperate that something will have to be done. That in starting with such a large group, setting them on their feet, would be a God-send to the entire country. That it would tend to bring back agriculture, and thus revive business. A beginning must be had some place, they say, and with a large group revived, it would stimulate business over the entire country.

It would start the movement of wheat into export channels, almost dead at the present time, and it would thus revive banking, railroads, shipping and commerce in general.

COLD WAVE HITS NORTHERN IDAHO; 13 BELOW REPORTED

Temperatures over northern Idaho began to drop Monday and Tuesday morning a light snow was on the ground. By evening four inches had fallen, which remained undisturbed on the ground until Wednesday night and early Thursday morning when the wind began to shift it around, but not enough in and around Genesee to block automobile travel.

Tuesday evening the thermometer showed about 3 degrees above, but Wednesday evening the mercury fell to 3 below, and at midnight it has been reported that the thermometer went as low as 13 below. Most places, however, reported about 6 below, and in some instances observers report only 3 below. A number of water pipes in homes were frozen nevertheless, and the number of frozen radiators have been numerous. Wednesday morning saw any number of cars awaiting at garages to be thawed out.

Neighbors of Woodcraft.

Following the regular meeting of Neighbors of Woodcraft Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shirrod served refreshments. In the series of card games being played Mrs. W. J. Baumgartner was high for the ladies and Wm. Luders, high for the men.

Lost 20 lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weight 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

TWIN FALLS BANK OPENED FOR BUSINESS DEC. FIRST

Twin Falls News: After a period of approximately two months, during which active business was suspended under the terms of a city ordinance providing for a moratorium or "holiday," the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Company re-opened for business at 10 o'clock Dec. 1.

The bank's capital consists of 1,000 shares of a par value of $100 each, the stock being held by about 500 persons, a majority of whom are depositors. All deposits of less than $200 are subject to check without restruction of any kind. Depositors with a balance of more than $200 have very largely become stockholders, surrendering for the purchase of the stock amounts ranging from 50 per cent to 100 per cent of their deposits. In addition to the capital so secured, new capital in the form of notes and cash has been obtained from many who were not depositors or in addition to stock subscriptions based up deposits.

The re-opening plan has the endorsement of the state bank commissioner and the approval of both the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Federal Reserve bank and the resources of the institution are ample to meet every possible demand by depositors.

KEEPS RECORD OF TAXES FOR FORTY-FOUR YEARS

Mrs. Margaret Bottjer, in looking back over tax receipts for a period of forty-four years, located some interesting information on the amount of taxes paid on the Bottjer farm in the Thorncreek section, now farmed by a Mr. Cole. In the year 1888 the Bottjer family acquired 265 acres of land on which taxes in the amount of $38.16 were levied. The following year the property was added to until they had 425 acres on which the taxes were $68.66. The following table compiled by Mrs. Bottjer is self explanatory:

In the year 1920 the Bottjer farm was sold and for three years the purchaser paid the taxes, or until the land again returned to possession of the Bottjer family.

Referring to the above table it will be noted that the taxes on the farm of 265 acres was slightlety more than ten times as high in 1927 as it was when the land was first acquired. The tax in 1888 was $38.16 and at the period of highest levies it was $384.83.

City Taxes Equally High

Taxes on city property have also increased in the same proportion as farm property. Glancing over a record of taxes paid on property in Genesee it is noted that in the early days the taxes on a certain piece of city property was assessed for $1.94 while following the late war the same property was assessed at the rate of $23.16.

Former Colton Woman Meets Death.

Nellie Maynard Boyles, formerly of Colton, Wn., was burned to death at Pullman. The coroner's jury found no foul play clue, but decided she had been cleaning clothing with gasoline which exploded and set fire to the house. The remains were identified by her former husband and his father, John Boyles. Her father was also able to identify the body.

smutty this November, compared to 48.3 per cent a year ago. At the close of the market December 2, Bluestem hard white was quoted at Portland at 54 cents, soft white, western red, hard winter and northern spring at 44 cents; western white at 43 and 12 per cent dark hard winter at 52 1-2 cents, sacked, basis No. 1. No. 1 dark northtrn, 16 per cent protein, from Montana was quoted at 58 cents per bushel in bulk.

Canada Larger Shipper

The outstanding feature of the Northern Hemisphere shipments this season is the increase in Canadian and the decrease in U. S. exports. Last season the U. S. sent overseas about 5,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour from August 1 through November and Canada about 60,000,000 bushels. This year Canada has shipped around 105,000,000 bushels and the U. S. only a little over 20,000,000 bushels. Over half of this came from Atlantic ports and shipments from the Gulf ports and the Pacific Coast have been unusually small. Less than one-fifth as much wheat and flour as last season moved from Gulf ports and only about one-third as much from the Pacific coast. A year ago over 3,000,000 bushels of Durum wheat were shipped from August 1 through November from Duluth to Canadian ports, while this season less than 300,000 bushels has moved to Canadian ports.

Domestic Barley Markets

Domestic barley markets weakened slightly with more liberal offerings meeting a continued moderate demand. The market at San Francisco was quiet with prices unchanged to 2 and a half cents per 100 lower than a week ago.

Arrivals at San Francisco for the period June through November totaled 110,000 tons as compared with 134,000 tons for the corresponding period a year ago. The undertone of San Francisco markets was irregular, reflecting the weakness in outside markets, lower security prices and the eratic movement of the British pound sterling values. Only a few scattered sales to the United Kingdom comprising principally medium malting types were reported. Fairly heavy clearances during the week were mostly applied on old sales. Recent advances in dairy and poultry products and poor pasture conditions were considered factors in price changes. More rain is needed throughout central California to start new green feed growth and to put the soil in good condition for seeding. At the close of the market December 1 choice malting barley at San Francisco was quoted at 80 cents to $1.00.

Foreign Barley Markets

Foreign barley markets were largely dominated by the disturbed financial and political situation and fluctuating values of currency. Demand for malting barley at London was very dull, and business in California barley was restricted by the depreciation of the pound sterling. Sales comprised principally English types. A trial shipment of malting barley from Canada was reported. London arrivals during the week included 682 tons of California barley, 326 tons of Canadian, 20 tons of Czechoslovakian and 5 tons from other countries. Superior No. 1 Standard Brewing barley was offered at London, December 1 at 83 to 85 1-2 cents with general purpose samples as high as $1.06 7-8, fancy specialties bringing $1.31 7-8 per 100.

THE GENESEE NEWS

EXCHANGE CREDITORS FORM A PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

Forty-three depositors had signed the agreement as formulated by the Depositors' Protective Association of the Genesee Exchange Bank on Wednesday, and undoubtedly the number of signers would have been larger had the weather been such during the past week to permit the instrument of organization to be circulated among the depositors.

The association, as contemplated, has been endorsed by the state banking department, with a 5-man committee composed of A. Carbuhn, Ed Erickson, Wm. Heinrichs, and John Krier, all of Genesee, and A. Kaline, Winchester, the latter a heavy depositor in the closed Exchange Bank. The first meeting of depositors was rather informal, a sort of a "feeler" to determine the attitude of creditors, and from this meeting there has evolved the Protective Association, and having gained recognition by the state banking department, it is permitted access to records of the closed bank, and will work together with the receiver in liquidation procedure.

The purposes of the association are numerous, and include disclosure of information as to the condition of assets that interests of creditors may be guarded; that the association may appoint committees for any and all purposes necessary for the interest of the members hereof, even to the investigation of the manner in which the bank has been conducted in the past and during settlement and liquidation. The association may be authorized, through itself or through an accountant, agents and attorneys to conduct investigations.

When signing up as a member of the Protective Association each and everyone agrees to a pro-rated assessment incurred by litigation or investigation, and in this clause of the articles, it is provided that some member or members may be appointed to act as the holder and distributor of such funds, for collection and disbursement. Payment of money from assessments, however, will be made only after claims have been allowed by the association.

To become a member of the Association all that is required is the signature as a depositor.

It is also provided in the articles of organization that a majority of the amount owing to the members present at any meeting of the Association, voting upon any question shall govern in the deliberations at its meetings, and that a majority of any committee which may be appointed shall govern the deliberations of the meetings thereof.

Meeting of All Depositors

When it was first proposed to form a creditors' association, such parties as were known to be depositors were hastily called together, and with a majority of the amount on deposit in the bank represented, a committee was named that sanction of the state banking department be obtained at an early time.

Having perfected a working organization the active committee or directors are desirous of holding a meeting of all depositors or creditors of the Exchange Bank, and have set the date for Tuesday, December 20, at the American Legion hall. Attendance at the meeting will be limited to creditors of the bank only.

OLSON AND WISHARD TO BOX AT MOSCOW ATHLETIC CLUB

According to Matchmaker Vernon Driskill of the Moscow Athletic club, Ken Olson, Genesee, will meet Glen Craig of the University of Idaho at the former Natatorium building in Moscow Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Olson will weigh in at approximately 155 pounds. He has been seen in action in local fight programs, and while lacking experience there is no other way to gain headway in the fistic art unless one is willing to make a beginning.

Cliff Wishard, at about 140 pounds, takes on Red Wyatt, W.S.C., in one of the preliminaries to the the main events. Wishard has also appeared in matches before local audiences, and while he has never had to extend himself, there is ample reason to believe that he will, at least, break even with the W. S. C. scrapper.

Matchmaker Driskill said the newly arranged natatorium building will seat 500 persons.

Chas. Schooler on Jury Duty.

Chas. Schooler left Sunday night for Moscow to be present Monday morning when a jury was empaneled to sit on the case of the State of Idaho vs. Harry Orr, charged with robbery and assault on T. D. Matthews on the night of September 24. Orr is also charged with resisting an officer.

Chas. Schooler was the only one called for jury duty from Genesee.

Other cases other than civil coming before the court will be State of Idaho vs. Assman on a charge of destroying an instrument, and the state of Idaho vs. J. Nail, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor.

BILLS TO AID IRRIGATION PRESENTED IN CONGRESS

Three bills have been introduced in congress, one by Representative Burton L. French (Idaho), one by Senator Bratton (N. M.), and one by Representative Chavez (N. M.), aimed to be beneficial to settlers on reclamation projects in western states.

The bill introduced by French is to authorize the secretary of interior to rehabilitate the Big Lost River irrigation project in Custer and Butte counties in Idaho. For a few years settlers went into the Lost River country and proceeded to make farm homes and lands out of rich desert dry lands. A dam was built at Mackay, Idaho, and in some measure the irrigation project was successful, but when rain and snowfall were inadequate to fill the dam, the settlers were defeated in their purpose to wrest homes from the sage brush desert. The settlers were further disappointed when the dam failed to hold stored water. Underlying the entire Lost River country is a deep strata of porous lava rock or basalt, and much of the water was lost in irrigation in the same manner as it disappears in the two Lost Rivers, so called because the streams completely disappear at normal periods. The water thus lost by seepage is said to be the water which tumbles from the rocks at the Thousand Springs ranch.

A number of families still remain on the Lost River irrigation project, trying to make a living, but there are a much greater number who have given up in despair, and it is doubtful, very doubtful in fact, if the Lost River country can be further reclaimed and serve as a place for more settlers to make their home.

Suspend Repayment Costs.

Farmers on irrigated land, like other farmers, expect nothing from the government which they do not have to repay, but it being impossible for irrigators to repay to the government costs of construction reclamation projects, Senator Bratton of New Mexico, introduces a bill to suspend these repayment cost charges for the years 1931 to 1934, inclusive. Farmers living on government-financed reclamation propects will be unlikely to pay under exisiting conditions, but the bill would serve to ease their already troubled minds of one obligation for the time being.

Representative Chavez, also of New Mexico, has introduced a bill for extending a moratorium on payments to the government for construction charges assessed residents on federal irrigation and reclamation projects.

Suspend Assessment Work.

Senator Borah proposes in a resolution to suspend for a year, beginning July 1, last year, the law requiring $100 worth of work or improvements annually on mining claims. With the great number of mining claims in Idaho, this measure if adopted, would relieve much distress in Idaho.

Senator Gore, Oklahoma, would like to see the passage of his bill to authorize payment of farm loan mortgages with bonds issued by the mortgage banks after a mortgage has been in effect five years.

Grazing Lease Bill

Congressman French introduced a second bill, proposing that the secretary of interior be permitted to make agreements with the state of Idaho and private owners of land whereby public lands outside of national forests in a restricted area might be leased to stockmen for grazing and range development for periods of not more than ten years.

Congregational Church Services.

Rev. F. William Westwood, pastor of the Congregational church at Lewiston, was unable to come to Genesee last Sunday evening, but according to a letter Rev. Westwood will be at the local Congregational church Sunday evening, Dec. 18, and will deliver a sermon at 7:30 o'clock.

UNION CONVENTION URGES ABOLITION EXTENSION DEPT.

Abolition of the extension departments of the state colleges of Washington and Idaho and a discontinuance of county agents until such time as the financial condition of farmers justified these things, was in a resolution presented at the state convention of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America, which met in Spokane last week. The resolution was adopted.

Delegates to the convention represented North Idaho and Eastern Washington. Delegates from Genesee were Fred Hove and John Kluss. Frank Hoorman, vice president of the state organization last year, and Joe Knapps, member of the board of directors, both of Genesee, were also at the meetings.

Favor Swank-Thomas Bill

The convention also adopted a resolution favoring the Swank-Thomas marketing bill, now pending in congress, which provides that the farmer be paid the cost of production for the portion of his crops consumed in the United States, the price to be determined by the government. The surplus of all crops is to be sold on the world markets.

Use Gas Tax on Local Roads

Among a number of resolutions was one relating to Idaho alone, which asks that 2 cents of every 5 cents collected for gas tax be remitted to the various counties to assist in reducing other taxes and help pay off bonded indebtedness.

Other Resolutions

By a resolution, the Union went on record as not favoring any further cancellation or reduction of foreign debts, but asked a moratorium on all public and private debts at a low rate of interest.

Opposition was voiced "to the militaristic trend of teaching in the public schools," suggesting the advantages of teaching the advantages of peace and the horrors of war. The convention also demanded by resolution that wealth be conscripted the same as man power in future wars.

Another resolution recommended exemption from taxation of improvements on homesteads in city and country.

The passage of initiative and referendum laws was urged for the state of Idaho.

Endorse Simpson for Ag. Secretary

John A. Simpson of Oklahoma, the president of the national Farmers Union organization was indorsed for secretary of agriculture, urging President-elect Roosevelt to make the appointment.

Urge Free Silver

Idaho and Washington farmers in convention indorsed the Wheeler bill now pending in the senate, providing for the free coinage of silver, and also indorsed the Frazier bill in congress which provides for the refinancing by the federal land bank of farm mortgages at a nominal rate of interest, the whole to be retired at the rate of 3 per cent per annum.

By resolution it was recommended that federal and state budgets be balanced by the reduction of governmental expenses rather than through the imposition of new taxes.

The convention passed a resolution asking that a committee be appointed to confer with other farm organizations for the adoption of the percentage basis as against the present flat rate basis for determining the discount on test weights of grain, and asked further that a lower rate of discount be granted on grain mixtures.

Hoorman and Kluss Officers

President—Jesse Vetter Coeur d'Alene.

Vice-president, Frank Hoorman of Genesee.

Executive board—E. J. Franz, Rosalia; O. E. Allman, Coeur d'Alene, and John Kluss, Genesee.

Delegate to national convention—Carl A. Grief, Uniontown.

Local to Meet Wednesday.

Returning from the convention, the delegates from the Genesee local will undoubtedly have many things of interest to report, which they will have an opportunity to do at a meeting called for Wednesday afternoon, December 17. This is the date set for annual election of officers, and promises to be one of the most interesting sessions of the local in recent years.

GENESEE WINS OPENING BASKETBALL GAME 37 TO 25

Uniontown could very easily be picked the winner in the basketball game played here last Friday evening, with Genesee high as the Washington team's opponent. The Genesee guards permitted Jutte, Uniontown, get behind them for about four baskets in a row during the first half, but in the second period Flamoe and Springer worked much better. This was the first games for the two men.

The starting lineup was Smylie and Bob Broemeling at forewards, Blume at center, and the guards mentioned. Substitutions were, Willows for Flamoe, Wishard for Springer and Berquist for Willows.

After trailing during the first half the Genesee quintet, light, but fast, stepped into the lead and with the determination and scrap shown in the second period, the boys know what is required to offset their size in a dash for conference honors.

Composed almost entirely of new players, the team looked good for so early in the season. Flamoe and Don Springer hit their stride in the second period; Jim Willows is a good ball handler, with plenty of fight, and Berquist, a rangy center or guard will likely give a good account of himself as the season advances.

Looking forward to the first conference tilt with Southwick the boys are practicing diligently, and to get a further insight into the game, they are returning the game to Uniontown this Friday.

Smylie and Bob Broemeling were high point men for the Genesee quintet last Friday evening, with 13 and 12 goals, respectively. Howard Blume, playing center, looks like a good pivot man as he was there with his customary good floor work and efficient blocking.

Second Teams Wins.

The second team also won, their victim being the second team from Uniontown. The score was 25 to 24, with the deciding score coming just before the final whistle. Ted Wagner was the leading scorer for the seconds.

School Calendar

Dec. 19, 7:30 p. m.—Mrs. Herman's recital at the high school.

Dec. 23, 3:00 p. m., Speech Class Play.

Dec. 23, 3:30 p. m., Dismissal for Christmas holidays. School will begin again Monday, January 2.

Inter-Class Games.

Friday, December 9, the girls of the various classes in school held a basketball game. This was a good game with the seniors and freshmen playing the sophomores and juniors, the latter two classes winning, 11 to 7. Helen Thiessen was the outstanding player for the juniors and sophomores and Verona Rosenau for the opposite side. The girls played a good game and they promise to put up some good competition against neighboring town school teams.

High School Pep Band.

A high school pep band has been organized under the direction of Mr. Harris. They will meet twice a week at 8:30 in the morning. Those who are taking part in it are: Floyd Hove, saxophone; Tom Herman, bass drum; Robert Broemmeling, trombone; Arwin Nordby, cornet; Ray Berquist, bass horn; Thomas Sanford, snare drum; Harold Suenkel, trombone; Glenn Mayer, saxophone; Ted Wagner, cornet; Don Springer, clarinet; Grant Loncosty, baritone; Paul Osmundson, cornet; Ralph Broemmeling, clarinet, and Floyd Heppner, trombone.

No Christmas Program.

The school believes that Christmas is a church holiday and since we have ample church organizations to celebrate it fittingly, the school will refrain from giving a Christmas program this year. Nevertheless the week will be a busy one.

Dec. 20 at 3:00 p. m. Mrs. Hordemann will present her pupils in a recital.

The Sheriff's Reward.

December 23, members of the class in speech will present a one-act play before the assembly, "The Sheriff's Reward," a melodrama of the northern woods; murderers, sheriffs, and of course, a beautiful girl, all brought together on Christmas eve. The students taking part in the play are: Glenna Harris, Ormond Hickman, Dan Aherin and Rodney Tegland.

Genesee Valley Church.

There will be practice for the Christmas program at the church Saturday at 1 o'clock.

The Luther League will meet at the Parish hall Sunday evening, Dec. 18.

Harold Haymond Appointed Carrier.

Harold "Cap" Haymond, who took the civil service examination at Moscow recently for supplementary rural letter carrier, and passed with a mark of approximately 98 per cent, was appointed carrier during the period from December 16 to March 15. The route he will serve will be the territory formerly known as route three, 30.2 miles in length.

MISS GENEVIEVE HAMPTON BRIDE OF ROY L. GALUSHA

Miss Genevieve Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hampton, Genesee became the bride of Mr. Roy L. Galusha, son of Mrs. S. Galusha of Bremerton, Wash., Wednesday, December 7, the wedding being solemnized by the Rev. Glenn Mell, pastor of Jefferson St. Christian church, Spokane at the home of the pastor, and was witnessed by Mrs. Oliver Woodley, Genesee, a sister of the bride, and by Mrs. Glenn Mell, wife of the pastor.

The wedding is a happy culmination of college friendship, both young people having graduated from Spokane University in June of this year. The bride has attended the university four and a half years and the bridegroom attended four years. Both were graduated with B. A. degrees in Liberal Arts. Mrs. Galusha was a member of the Girls' Pep Club, a musical and school promotional organization for young ladies, and was also a member of Periclean Literary society. Mr. Galusha was a member of the "S" Club, men's athletic organization and of Fleur deLis, French conversational club.

Following the wedding the young couple remained in Spokane until Friday when they came to Genesee to visit until Wednesday of this week, leaving then for Athena, Oregon, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pinkerton, the latter a sister of the bride. After a short visit there they will go to Bremerton, Wash., where Mr. Galusha will take up his duties in the display advertising department of the Bremerton Star, a daily newspaper just being started in Bremerton, a branch of the Seattle Star, owned and operated by the Scripps-Howard Co. For two years Mr. Galusha was employed on the Valley, Wash. Herald, and also on the Bremerton Searchlight a daily newspaper. Mr. and Mrs. Galusha will make their home in Bremerton.

LEGION POST TO SPONSOR OLD-TIME GET-TOGETHER

For old-time sake, the local American Legion post is going to have a real get-together meeting, Wednesday evening, December 21. Every member of the post is expected to bring some ex-service man who is not a member, and it has been announced that each member is shirking in his assignment if he appears without a buddy, to enjoy the festivities of the evening, all of which, however, will tend to promote the program of the Legion, and extend its benefits to the ex-service man whether he is a member of the Legion or not. It may be that some ex-service men feel they are not entitled to these benefits unless enrolled as members, but this not being the case, the meeting December 21 affords an opportunity to explain the program of the Legion and to also explain the status of the ex-service man today.

Several of the old-timers, who hover around the Post club rooms at each meeting are endeavoring to work up a program that will be of interest to all who may attend, and there should not be a single former "doughboy", "gob" or "leatherneck" absent if he is living in the Genesee community.

Remember, it's 14 years since the struggle ended; you are all 14 years older, and this is an ideal time to get together and talk over old times.

UNLUCKY NUMBER OF G. O. P. LEGISLATORS IN 1933 SESSION

Idaho will be represented by an unlucky number of republican legislators in the coming 1933 session of the state legislature. Thirteen members of the law-making body will be republicans, nine in the senate and four in house. With one senator to each county this means only nine counties will be represented by republicans while 35 counties will be represented by democrats in the upper house. In the lower house the percentage of republican representatives will be even less, only four out of 63 being republicans.

RELIEF FUNDS AVAILABLE TO THOSE NOW IN NEED

The initial request for relief was received Wednesday and it was for fuel. There will be no cash available for those in need, but through the Red Cross and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, it is believed that every bona-fide request will be granted for relief this winter. Flour, beans and cloth materials are now available through the Red Cross, and where there are able bodied men in a household requiring assistance, labor will be furnished through the cooperation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the city government. Labor will be provided for men and young men at the rate of 25 cents per hour, but there is no money to be turned over to the person who works. He and his family are given credit for fuel, clothing, food, and groceries at the stores and fuel company. The statements for articles purchased are then presented to the county treasurer of the Finance Corporation, who in turn reimburses the dealer for merchandise sold. Milk will be furnished wherever required, but by order of the county organization, purchases for milk must also be made at a store, as the administrators of the funds are working without pay, and it is desirable to keep the number of statements to a minimum.

Genesee was alloted $50 for the month of November, and a requisition has been made for $325 for the present month and for January and February. This community is handicapped to a great extent by not being able to match funds available from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Each of the taxing units have its money in a closed bank, and it will not be until after February 1 that any money can be expected as available through liquidation.

Troy went far over the top in Red Cross enrollment and thereby receive an extra credit with the Finance corporation. Besides this a number of men are working on highways, and for this relief granted an equal amount of money is credited to the Troy community by the corporation. Such work is impossible here at the present time as there are no funds available, for the time being at least.

Each family, under provisions of the Reconstruction Finance corporation relief, is limited to $20 per month, but this can be in addition to relief from the Red Cross.

It is presumed that the Legion will soon donate its hall, heat and light for a charity dance, and on this depends greatly the amount of credit that will be given by the Finance corporation. If $100 are realized from this event, then the community is entitled to $100 from the source mentioned. The returns from a charity dance, to be exempt from federal tax, must revert directly to an organized charity organization, and cannot be handed to an organization formed especially for one occasion.

Dr. N. M. Leavitt is chairman of the Genesee Red Cross chapter and working with him are: Ruth Martinson, vice chairman; Geo. Post, V. A. Beckman and Mrs. E. D. Pederson, investigating committee, with Walter Emerson, secretary and treasurer, and it is safe to say that every requirement for bona-fide assistance will be attended to.

Genesee community has been favored during the Fall and early Winter with two state-aid road projects, and while those in charge of the various relief measures, one of which is now road construction, are desirous of supplying everyone in need, some conservation must be practiced to make certain that relief funds will cover the period of emergency.

For the present Walter Emerson has consented to take care of the demands on Reconstruction Finance Corporation labor assignments, and by notifying any member of the Red Cross committee, it is certain that your requirements will be placed before the proper officials.

To Attend Tax Conference.

A delegation from Genesee, representing the Farmers Union local will go to Moscow Saturday afternoon, December 17 to attend a tax conference sponsored by the Moscow Grange. The nature of the meeting was not known here Thursday, but the delegation is attending by invitation and will report at the Farmers Union meeting to be held here Wednesday afternoon, December 21.

Arne Olson has agreed to take the job as floor manager for the coming Cowereekers' Ball, December 23.

Surprise Birthday Party.

Hazel Craft was pleasantly surprised at the home of her parents Wednesday evening when a group of girls gathered to help her celebrate her birthday anniversary. Games were played during the evening after which a waffle supper was served, provided and prepared by the self-invited guests. Those present were: Eileen Flomer, Ruth Alice Vanouck, Marjorie Nebelsieck, Fern Erickson, Gail Sampson, Dorothy Baumgartner, Helen Winegardner and Hazel Craft. Mrs. John Flomer was also a guest. Miss Craft was also presented with a nice gift by the girls.

Evening Bridge Club.

Mrs. Glen Sampson was hostess to the Monday Evening Bridge club this week. At cards Mrs. E. D. Pederson played high and Mrs. Frank Hoorman low. Guests were Mrs. F. G. Densow and Miss Bertha Nelson. At the close of the evening Mrs. Sampson served ice cream and cake.

O. E. S. Gleaners will be entertained by Mrs. E. H. Field Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 20.

Don't forget American Legion Auxiliary this afternoon (Friday). Plan to attend as this will probably be the last meeting until after the holidays.

Putting Up Ice.

Below zero weather during the past week has permitted the cutting of ice earlier this year than usual. The ice taken from Krier's pond measured about ten inches Thursday of this week and is being cut and hauled to the Smolt and Pastime storage houses.

Temperatures as low as 20 were recorded locally since the cold snap hit north Idaho. Friday night of last week was the coldest, and for the two nights following the mercury remained around 6 degrees below. Tuesday witnessed a moderation and the coldest since then was about 6 above.

Christian Church.

Morning worship: Bible school at 9:45. Duet, "Whispering Hope," by Annabell Huffman and Marie Springer.

Lord's Supper at 11 a. m.

Solo, Mr. John King.

Sermon, Dr. Carl Wells.

Evening worship: Song service at 7 o'clock. Normal school male quartet. Sermon, "A Castaway," by Miss Irma Carbuhn.

The young people will have a fellowship between 6 and 7 o'clock. During this hour John King will lead a discussion on some questions vital to modern youth.

The final practice for the pageant, "Pilgrims of the Night," will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Christian church will present its Christmas program Friday night, December 23.

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the Genesee Local Union No. 4 at the Legion hall Wednesday, Dec. 21 at 1:30 p. m. There will be election of officers for the coming year, report of the state convention delegates, and other important matters to consider.

26 H. F. Koster, Secretary.

Sermon text: "What Sayest Thou of Thyself?—I am the Voice of One Crying in the Wilderness." John 1; 22-23.

You are always welcome at St. John's.

"Murmur not, brethren, one against another, that ye be not judged; behold, the judge standeth before the doors. Take, brethren, for an example of suffering and of patience, the prophet who spake in the name of the Lord. James 5; 9, 10.

"The word 'murmur' as used in our text signifies an accusation laid against them, just as surely as the bitter tongue or the arm lifted to strike a blow is a weapon. This weapon is all the more dangerous, since the brother rarely has an opportunity to defend himself against it; and the accusation is the more harmful, since the charge is seldom made when the accused brother is present to hear it. But the Lord God is quick to discern even the unspoken desire of the heart. He heard the heart of Moses uttering its anguish by the Red Sea, and He gave ear to the prayer of Daniel as it arose from his heart in the lion's den. Must He not then perceive the evil desires in the hearts of the wicked against the brethren? 'Behold, the judge standeth before the doors.' 'Because of the sighing of the needy, now I arise, saith the Lord, I will set him in the safety he panteth for.' (Ps. 12-5). Thus He comes as a helper. He comes also, on the other hand, when brother murmurs against brother; but this time as a judge. My friend would you murmur against your brother, if you realized that the Lord as a judge was standing before the door of your dwelling? Why does brother murmur against brother? Envy is often the cause. Thus in the time of James, many of the poor among the believers who were scattered abroad envied the the condition of their brethren who were in possession of worldly means. Murmuring of the same sort is heard in our own day also.

T. Driscoll left Wednesday for California to spend the remainder of the winter.

John Vandenburg has received an invitation to go to Seattle to visit his son, Harry, and wife. He will leave December 22 to take advantage of low excursion rates.

Prize Dairy Herd Burned.

Olympia, Wash.—A fire that took the lives of 30 head of prize dairy cattle and one team of horses destroyed the Martin Shei dairy barn early on the morning of Nov. 29. The old barn, on the farm about 20 miles south of this city, was one of the landmarks of the county, and was built 65 years ago.

The property and stock were valued at $10,000, and the loss is partly covered by insurance.

Shei said he had been bothered by prowlers lately, and when awakened by the barking of his dog on the night of the fire, believed the thieves were on his property again. The building was a mass of flames when he first saw it. Neighbors hastened to the scene, but were unable to stem the blaze. Three cows were saved, all that remain of the farm's producing herd. Approximately 60 tons of hay were lost also.

Shei said he intends to rebuild immediately, but only the buildings necessary to care for his remaining livestock.

Martin Shei is a former resident of the Genesee community and is well known locally.

Blue Bird Club.

At the last meeting of the Blue Bird club Mrs. Albert Peterson entertained. Members enjoyed a social afternoon, followed by refreshments.

Celebrate Two Birthdays.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson was the scene of a delightful birthday dinner last Thursday evening, given in honor of George Anderson and Miss Emma Roskammer, who celebrate their birthdays on the same day. Those present at the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and family, Mrs. Sophie Roskammer, Robert, George and Emma Roskammer, Floyd and Violet Heppner, Stanley Shirrod and Ernest.

Following the dinner Miss Roskammer was pleasantly surprised when a number of her friends arrived to wish her many happy returns of the day. Among the after dinner callers were: Cecil and Marjorie Nebelsieck, Mildred and Verona Rosenau, Mrs. Ernest Riesemer and Gretchen, Mrs. Francis Uhre, Bernice Nordby and Eileen Flomer. Games were played during the evening and at a late hour lunch was served.

GRAIN MARKET REVIEW FOR WEEK ENDING DECEMBER 9

Domestic wheat markets strengthened slightly during the week ending December 9, influenced principally by the poor prospects for winter wheat, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Below zero weather with lack of snow covering over a good portion of the winter wheat belt and in the Pacific Northwest, threatened further damage to the crop, the condition of which at the first of December was the poorest on record for the date, according to private trade estimates. The influence of strength of the unfavorable crop prospects, however, was largely offset by weakness in the general market situation and slow world-wide demand for surplus wheat in the principal exporting countries. Feed grain continued weak and futures and prices on both corn and oats reached new records during the week. Flax was barely steady under a continued dull crusher demand.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific Coast markets were barely steady. Export demand was still lacking and inquiry from domestic buyers was of only moderate volume. Growers continued to market slowly and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled only 480 cars during the week, compared with 625 cars for the corresponding week last year. Wheat and flour shipments from these terminals during November were only about half as large as last season and totaled 2,642,000 bushels, bringing the season's total to 12,825,000 bushels, compared with 28,466,000 bushels for the corresponding period last year. The smaller shipments this season reflect the smaller takings by California and reduced export movement to the Orient.

Marketing Factors

General wheat situation remained weak despite the poor condition of the domestic winter wheat crop. Increased Canadian marketings and pressure of new crop offerings from the Southern Hemisphere, together with a continued slow European demand, were the principal weakening factors. Canadian markets declined about 1 cent during the week. No. 1 Manitoba Northern was quoted Dec. 9 at Winnipeg at 44c per bushel, the equivalent to 37 5-8c U. S. currency. The same grade sold at Vancouver at 47 7-8c or 41c U. S. money. Sales of about 250,000 bushels to Greece were reported at Vancouver, but total Canadian exports during the week were placed by the trade at around 10,000,000 bushels, mainly to Greece, Italy and France, also to Germany.

European Markets

European wheat markets were barely steady. Italian markets advanced slightly although wheat supplies in Italy are considered nearly sufficient for home requirements. Germany was reported to be importing wheat for reshipment to Czechoslovakia where the grain syndicate is permitting imports of wheat and wheat flour, December through February, with certain restrictions. These include compensating exports of Czechoslovakian products and purchases of domestic grian to twice the amount of imports. Germany wheat declined about 4c during the week and was quoted at Hamburg at $1.28 1-2 on December 8. The French market at Paris was $1.13 1-8 or about a cent lower than last week.

French millers are now required to use 99 per cent native wheat. The French government has proposed a credit of about $12,000,000 for crop financing. Greece has recently ordered utilization of 17 per cent of native wheat in milling mixtures. English farmers were delivering wheat freely to qualify for the first deficiency payment on the guaranteed prices. This payment is expected before Dec. 31.

South Hemisphere Harvest

Harvesting in the Southern Hemisphere countries is now well advanced and yields are generally reported satisfactory in quantity and quality. Locust damage and abandonment of acreage make it exceedingly difficult to estimate the Argentine oututrn but trade advices indicate a crop of around 257,000,000 bushels, as compared with 226,000,000 bushels produced last year. Poor quality is reported in some sections. Trade estimates of the Australian crop are being revised upward and the outturn is now placed at 210,000,000 bushels against 190,000,000 bushels produced a year ago.

Australian shippers were pressing sales and over 100 ships are reported already chartered for new crop shipments with chartering particularly heavy to the Orient.

MARION MONROE MAYER STRICKEN BY PNEUMONIA

Funeral services were conducted in Genesee Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Congregational church for the late Marion Monroe Mayer, who passed away at Kellogg, Idaho, Sunday, December 18. Rev. James N. Pendleton, Brewster, Wash., former pastor of the Congregational church at Genesee, an intimate friend and advisor of young people during his residence here, was called to officiate at the services. Mrs. Art. Springer, Mrs. V. A. Beckman, Mrs. W. W. Burr and Mrs. E. H. Field and Glenn Taber and R. K. Harris, accompanied by Mrs. W. M. Herman furnished the music.

Interment was in the Genesee Cemetery, with the local Woodmen of the World Camp assisting in the service at the grave. Pallbearers were: Alfred Hasfurther, Orville Putnam, Harold Hallman, Fred Dicus, LeRoy Harris and George Erickson, all classmates of the deceased during the time he was in high school.

Many friends of the bereaved family gathered at the church to pay final tribute, a number of whom were the school mates of the deceased. There were also a number of friends present from out of town, who attended the services and viewed the body as it rested in the church amidst a profusion of beautiful flowers.

Marion Monroe Mayer was born in Mora, Minnesota, January 7, 1907, and came to Idaho with his parents at the age of two years. He graduated from Genesee high school May, 1925, having attended school here for 12 years. The deceased was active in Boy Scout work and served as patrol leader under Scoutmaster Rev. Jas. N. Pendleton, and who during his sermon stressed the fine qualities of the young man who had passed to his reward. While in high school Marion took an active part in athletics, particularly in football and basketball and was an officer of the high school "G" club.

As a member of the Federated church of Genesee, he took an active part in Young People's Christian Endeavor work, serving as an officer in the Whitman-Latah Christian Endeavor Union.

Marion Mayer was married Sept. 29, 1923 to Miss Beryl Iona Mosher of Kooskia, Idaho, and immediately thereafter the young couple went to Kellogg to make their home. After an illness contracted at the Bunker Hill Smelter Mr. and Mrs. Mayer returned to Genesee where their son, Marion Dwight was born, June 27, 1926. After making Genesee their home for a short time they moved to Lewiston where the deceased was employed at the Alexander Department store and later by the Continental Oil Co. On October, 1928, the family returned to Kellogg where the deceased again entered the employment of the Bunker Hill company, and it was while thus engaged that he contracted pneumonia and passed away after being rushed to a hospital Dec. 12. Hopes were held for his recovery but he failed to respond to treatment after his six-day illness.

Marion was a kind and loving husband and father, devoted to his family and a sincere friend. He leaves to mourn his untimely passing, his widow and young son, Marion Dwight; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Mayer; four brothers, Art of Troy; Orland of Boise; Wade of Lewiston and Glenn of Genesee, and one sister, Miss Inez of Boise.

Relatives of the deceased from out-of-town were: Mr. and Mrs. Art Mayer, Troy; Mr. and Mrs. Orland Mayer of Boise; Mr. and Mrs. Wade Mayer; Lewiston; Miss Inez Mayer, Boise; and relatives of the widow in bereavement present were: Mrs. Mosher, her mother; Wm. Mosher, both of Kooskia; Mrs. Amy Boller and daughter of Kellogg, the former a sister; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Brutzman, Mrs. C. J. Hopkins and Mrs. Henry Weberling, all of Lewiston; Herbert Weberling, Oakland, Calif., and Carl Tillery, Kellogg.

Masons Install.

At a joint installation service with the Eastern Stars, Unity Lodge No. 32, A. F. & A. M. seated the following officers for the ensuing year: Dr. N. M. Leavitt, W. M.; E. D. Pedersen, S. W.; W. M. Herman, J. W.; Forrest Durbin, secretary; R. E. Emmett, treasurer; Mahlon Follett, marshall; Fred Shirrod, S. D.; John A. Luedke, J. D.; Clay Rinehart, chapfain; Fred Nagel, tyler; Nels Lande, S. S., and Harding Jones, J. S.

Deliver Mail Late at Night.

Mrs. Alexander, Miss Pearl Perkins and the rural carriers, George Post, Harold Haymond and Leo Edwards, the later substituting for Al Mayer, worked until after ten o'clock Tuesday night sorting the mail that patrons of the office might have their Christmas and other mail as soon as was possible when it became known that the engine on the local train became disabled between Moscow and Hallman and had to wait until a second locomotive was dispatched from Spokane to bring the train into Genesee. The office was packed from about 9 o'clock when Chas. Geltz brought up the mail until even the packages were distributed. A late train during the Christmas rush tends to increase a desire to receive holiday mail. The service was appreciated, to say the least, as the regular closing time is 6 p. m.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR DEPUTY GAME WARDEN

Since Frank "Cougar" Jones of Genesee has consented to be a candidate for the position of deputy game warden for Latah county, after insistence of a large number of sportsmen, the field is now divided four ways, with Sam Owings and Charles Bowers of Moscow, and Edward Solberg of Troy, as the other three.

If this applicant for this position were to take an examination on the propagation and care of wild game and to actually demonstrate that he knew the habits of game, Frank Jones would win "hands down," with no questions asked. He not only takes an active interest in the preservation of game, such as feeding and observing regulations, but he is widely known as a hunter of quite some repute. He has given liberally of his time in promoting the interests of the Izaak Walton League, and his company is often requested when the pursuit of big game and cougar is the object. Living close to the Latah county game reserve, located in the southern end of the county, he has observed for a number of years the requirements necessary for the propagation of wild bird life.

When the herd of elk was purchased for Latah county, it was Frank Jones who canvassed the southern end of the county and obtained its allotted share of funds.

A large number of sportsmen in Idaho assert that the game department should be non-political. It is not, however, and in order to put it on a satisfactory basis for those concerned it should at least be administered by one who is interested in wild game preservation, the propagation of fish and the strict compliance with regulations, and if Idaho cannot have a state game warden of this type, it can at least have a deputy possessing the desired qualities.

For the position of deputy game warden for the Latah county division, Frank Jones should receive considerable attention and support.

PALOUSE RESIDENTS ARISE TO SEE HEAVY SNOWFALL

A heavy snow fell generally over the Palouse country Sunday night, measuring better than 12 inches in and around Genesee where the most precipitation is recorded. East of Genesee there was probably more snow than in town, and to the north and west the snowfall was about the same. Wind accompanied the snow from the Art Tegland place north on the North and South highway, but owing to higher temperatures than which have prevailed during recent week the snow drifted but little.

Those who have traveled over the Palouse since Sunday report the Genesee section as having the heaviest fall of snow, with Uniontown and the Potlatch sections receiving the smallest amount.

A light rain fell early Monday morning, and as a result the snow was heavy to move, both from sidewalks and from the highway.

Plow Paths for Children.

Early Monday morning two snow plows were kept busy making paths through the snow for children to travel to school. Ed Vanouck and Chas. Geltz were employed to make paths and there was some voluntary clearing done throughout the day. It is the objective of the town to plow out the streets traveled by children in going to and returng from the schools.

Ole Flamoe last week assumed management of the Midway Pastime hall in Lewiston, located east of the Majestic theatre.

KEN OLSON GETS DRAW IN SCRAP WITH U. I. FIGHTER

Ken Olson, Genesee, in meeting Glen Craig, University of Idaho scrapper was given a draw, the match being a three-round encounter as a preliminary to the main events on the Moscow Athletic club smoker held at the old Natatorium building in Moscow. Olson, who showed in a ring for the third time was given a good hand throughout the three rounds, and had the edge in the first round but failed to press opportunities when he should. Craig, a game youngster from the University came back in the second to even up affairs and both came out in the third for a decision but honors were even.

Wishard Steps Into One

Cliff Wishard, Genesee, in his three-round match with Red Wyatt, W. S. C. fighter, took one on the chin in the opening round and while in a reclining position, took the full count before he was able to rise. Meeting at the sound of the gong, the promoter of the smoker said he was certain that he had made a good match in Wishard and Wyatt, but further stated that Wishard used little precaution and stepped too close to a hay-maker that Wyatt had started when Wishard was coming up from a weaving crouch. The blow was aimed nowhere in particular but found Cliff's chin and the chirping began. Almost immediately after the final count Wishard was on his feet, a bit groggy. He suffered no ill results, however.

Stores to Close Monday.

COWCREEKERS DANCE.

You can't afford to remain away from the Cowcreekers' Ball tonight (Friday). Everyone enjoys a good time and here's the opportunity to sidetrack "old man gloom" for the time being at least, and it is hoped that the effects will be such that good nature will prevail for sime time afterward.

Dance and lunch tickets combined will sell for 50 cents. This will include the eats for any couple entering on the same ticket, but owing to the low admission, unescorted ladies and young men will be required to pay a small lunch fee.

Old-time and modern dance music will be provided by the "Cowcreeker" orchestra.

GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING DEC. 16

Grain markets were dull and mostly lower during the week ending Dec. 16, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Increased offerings of new wheat from the Southern Hemisphere weakened the Liverpool market, reduced demand for Canadian grain and resulted in a sharp decline in wheat prices at Winnipeg. This weakness in foreign wheat markets was principally responsible for the weaker domestic situation and more than offset the strengthening influence of unfavorable prospects for the new winter wheat crop. Feed grains remained weak. Flax was steady, receipts being very light and trading of small volume.

Pacific Coast Markets

Pacific coast markets remained weak. Prices held fairly steady at San Francisco and Los Angeles while Northern worked lower. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled 422 cars for the week compared with 522 cars for the corresponding period last year. Most of these shipments were deliveries on former sales or consignments for terminal storage and spot offerings were not large. No export business was reported but prices were nearer an export basis than for some time. Australian and Canadian wheats are still being offered more cheaply than Pacific Northwestern wheat in the Orient and in Europe. Domestic mills took moderate amounts of high protein and soft white wheats and feed manufacturers also bought occasional cars, but total domestic demand was of small volume. Moderate shipments of flour to the Philippine Islands and to the Atlantic Coast ports were being made by local mills but inquiry for wheat from California buyers was less active.

1932 Grain Production

A final check-up on 1932 grain production in the United States by the Department of Agriculture shows a sharply smaller wheat crop compared with last season but the largest crop of feed grains since 1920. Rye production is well above last year but the flax crop is only a little above the small 1931 harvest. Decreased seedings, especially in the north central states, and lower than average yields, resulted in a winter wheat crop of only 462,000,000 bushels compared to 787,000,000 bushels last season and a five-year average, 1924-1928, of 549,000,000 bushels. The crop of spring wheat on the other hand, was more than double the 1931 harvest as a result of an increased acreage and better than average yields and totaled approximately 225,000,000 bushels not including the durum. Durum production was also very much above the 1931 harvest, with a total oututrn in the four principal producing states of forty million bushels. Of this season's total wheat crop of 726,831,000 bushels, 264,933,000 bushels in hard red winter; 147,742,000 bushels, soft red winter; 187,562,000 bushels hard red spring; 40,813,000 bushels, durum, and 85,781,000 bushels white wheat. While the 1932 crop was the smallest since 1925, recorded stocks of old wheat totaling nearly 263,000,000 were carried over from last season, making a total supply of 1,089,000,000 bushels. This is about 130,000,000 bushels less than last season's record supply.

Foreign Production Higher

Foreign wheat production is larger than last year. Estimates for 41 countries which last year produced about 75 per cent of the world's crop, outside of Russia and China, totaled 2,979,416,000 bushels, compared with 2,808,262,000 bushels in the same countries last season. The principal increase for any one country is in Canada wher this year's crop is officially

EXCHANGE BANK CREDITORS MEET IN GENESEE TUESDAY

About forty creditors of the Exchange Bank met at the Legion hall Tuesday afternoon and after hearing the reading of minutes of previous meetings and learning the purpose of the formation of a creditors' association, the number of signers was brought to 61.

Members of the committee appointed to keep in contact with liquidation procedure of the closed bank are: William Heinrichs, president, who presided at the meeting; A. Carbuhn, secretary, and Ed Erickson, A. Kaline, and John Krier. Mr. Carbuhn read minutes of the various meetings held since it became the desire of creditors to form an organization, and also read the articles of organization.

Threatening weather and a rather indefinite hour set for the meeting perhaps kept the attendance down at the meeting Tuesday. As the News went to press last week, the committee decided to hold the meeting, but in placing the information before the people, the News failed to mention the hour. Thus the committee was rather discouraged by the small number of depositors attending, after it was intimated that several wanted to know the purposes and intent of a creditors' association. Another meeting will be called in the near future, it is presumed. The committee, it must be remembered, is acting without remuneration, but having further support given them, they will proceed to carry out the wishes of the depositors.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP GOES TO FORMER GENESEE BOY

Eugene Sunderlin, Missoula, Mont., is one of four to win a Rhodes scholarship in a competitive examination recently held in Spokane, representative of the states of Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Montana.

The successful candidate, Eugene Sunderlin, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Sunderlin, former residents of Genesee. The father was superintendent of the public schools here between the years of 1917 and 1920.

The other winners were: J. B. Knapp, Portland; Rex B. Pontius, Lewiston, and Don E. Sturman, Lynden, Wash.

The winners will enter Oxford next autumn, assured of a stipend of 400 English pounds annually for three years of advanced study.

After winning competitive examinations in their home states the 12 district contestants faced an examining board of five men for one and a half days of grilling in Spokane. Requirements of Oxford are stringent and one has to possess a good college education to qualify.

OUR GREETING TO YOU.

No matter how little many of us will feel like saying this year, "A Merry Christmas" to everyone we meet, we must still remember that the world has seen many a less joyful Christmas than this will be. There will be no blood-stained fields of battle in Europe this Christmastide. The good people still far outnumber the bad. For every crime there have been a thousand kindnesses. Some at least of our sorrows have blessings in disguise.

Hard as the times have been for our own and other lands, we might have faced even darker days than those through whose anxious hours we have passed. Never have the most of us had such an opportunity to share with those less fortunate than ourselves the necessities of life, and it is now and always has been and eternally will be more blessed to give than to receive.

In spite of all our personal losses, our own sad plight, who of us cannot gladden the heart of some little child, or by word or deed make the Christmas a happier one for some other fellow mortal than it otherwise might be.

Well, to each of our readers we say, "Here's wishing you each a Christmas with at least a silver lining to every cloud whose shadow may fall across your path that day."

Farmers Union Elects.

Fred Hove was elected president at the Farmers Union meeting Wednesday afternoon to succeed himself as were John Kluss and H. F. Koster, vice president and secretary, respectively. The executive board is now composed of Wm. Mosman, Ed Erickson and a new member, Wm. Borgen,

COMPARATIVELY FEW HELP PAY COSTS OF OUR SCHOOLS

Who pays our schools costs? That question is raised in the report of the recent survey conducted under the direction of the Educational Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, says Glenn Balch, writing "Tax Topics". The thoughtless answer to the above is: the public. While literally true, this answer leads to erroneous conclusions. Many persons, being non-property owners, pay no school taxes directly whatever; many others, having but little property, pay only a small percentage of the school taxes; and a third group, composed of comparatively few but large property owners, pay the lion's share of the common school costs.

To bring out this condition more clearly, a survey was conducted of 14 different school districts in the state. It was found that 92.6 per cent of the taxpayers pay only 32.94 per cent of the taxes, leaving the remaining 67.1 per cent of the costs to be paid by only 7.4 per cent of the contributors.

Who Pays Bonds?

Popular opinion has long been that school bonds and similar indebtedness are paid by the persons who vote them. The State Chamber survey proves that such is not necessarily the case.

Two-thirds of the taxpayers in a district, sufficient to vote bond indebtedness upon the district, may pay only 11.98 per cent of the taxes, leaving the other 88 per cent to be taken care of by persons who may have cast their ballots against the proposed bonds.

The same rule is applicable to the election of trustees and school management. Persons who pay less than 12 per cent of the taxes may control the district, overwhelming the few who pay the lion's share of the costs by sheer weight of numbers.

Fairness Questioned

The fairness of this system is questioned. Non-property owners and small property holders are the parents of most of the children for whom education must be provided. They are interested primarily in the quality of this education, and since the financial obligation involved to them personally is small they are inclined to look with favor upon all conveniences and facilities proposed, whether essential and in keeping with the financial ability of the district or not.

As an illustration, one district in Idaho provides transportation for its children at a cost of $7.74 per child. The average taxes per property owner paying less than $100 in that district is $7.04, which means that the average property-owning parents pays less in school taxes than the actual cost of getting his child to and from school. A few large taxpayers pay the rest.

In the matter of school taxes it is noteworthy that there is a wide variation between districts in average payments of those paying $100.00 or less, ranging from $7.04 in McCammon to $42.90 in Moscow.

Average Payment $19.80

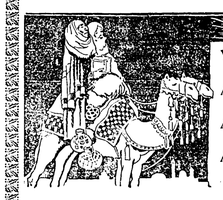
Immediately the question arises as to why, presuming educational opportunity to be uniform and both schools to be abiding by the state regulations regarding common school operation, a parent taxpayer in Moscow is forced to pay six times as much for educational purposes as one in McCammon?

Statistics brought out by the survey show that 92.6 per cent of all the taxpayers pay an average of only $19.80 annually in school taxes. On this basis, it will be seen that the average parent taxpayer in the state of Idaho in the 92.6 per cent classification pays about one-fifth of the average expenditures made in behalf of his child. The other four-fifths are paid by that small group of heavy taxpayers coming with the 7.4 per cent.

Two interesting and contrary to the general opinion facts are indicated by these figures: First, that the people who vote the bonds and control the school districts are not necessarily the people who pay the bills; and second, that the parents who send their children to school pay, on the average, only a small portion of the actual cost of educating their offspring.

When we're recalling on Christmas day
Your patrons and friends of our store,
We shall be sending a thought your way
And wishing you joys by the score!

F. W. Loncosty



We wish you a Christmas that's merry and gay,
And a New Year of promise before you;
A measure of wealth, abundance of health,
And the star of peace hovering o'er you.

Gus Fickens

ST. NICHOLAS DAY

ST. NICHOLAS day is December 6. It is a children's festival in Holland, Belgium and parts of Germany, and serves as a preliminary to Christmas. It is on the night of the 5th that St. Nicholas comes with gifts. Christmas day is observed as a holy day rather than as a holiday.

Uncle Sam Now Leading Germany in Toy Field

GERMAN toys no longer flood the world markets at Christmas time as they did before the war.

Germany's world monopoly in the manufacture of toys has been definitely broken, statistics showing that she now produces only one-third of the world's entire supply. The United States has taken Germany's place as the greatest maker of toys, with Japan as a formidable competitor.

One of the reasons for the huge drop in Germany's production is seen in the high tariff walls which have been erected against foreign competition by those countries which made themselves independent of Germany during the war by creating their own toy industries. Another is believed to be Germany's slowness to adapt her type of toys to the continually changing market demands.

Why Children Are Good

Joke makers would have us think that the children are very good just now so that they may get more and finer presents. A keener observer would note that they are good because they are busy planning and making the little gifts they will give to others.—Collier's Weekly.

Giant Christmas Tree

England's biggest Christmas tree was that at the Crystal palace in 1878. It was 120 feet high and built up from 1,500 small trees fixed to a central stem. From this tree hung 250,000 presents, flags and bonbons.

Perpetual Calendar Useful

If you get a perpetual calendar for Christmas, preserve it carefully. It will be fine to pass on to somebody twelve months hence.

Christmas Seals

As usual, it is expected that Dora this year will think that Christmas seals are fur coats.

FINDS FALL PLANTING OF POTATOES DOES WELL

Cottonwood Chronicle: Rufe Gentry was in town Tuesday from his home west of Keuterville and informed the Chronicle that sod plowing was the best up there he had ever seen it. He intends planting potatoes soon for next summer's crop and said he had been following this plan for a couple of years and finds it works better than spring planting, his crop this fall being the best he has harvested in years. He says it does not harm the potatoes to lay in the ground over winter and that way they get a start of two or three weeks over the spring planting, and make a better crop. Peas and lettuce have also been found to do well from fall planting where they have a good covering of snow during the winter.

TREE DECORATIONS

THE old fashion of decorating Christmas trees with strings of popcorn appeals to the children of ten, more than the glass balls and trinkets commonly used.

Children enjoy helping pop the corn and stringing it. Cranberries at equal distances along the strings of popcorn are attractive. Apples hanging from the tree shine brightly if they have been washed and polished with a dry cloth or a little olive oil. Tin foil cut into thin strips hanging from the tree will sparkle in any light.

If candles are used, be exceedingly careful of fire. Evergreen trees blaze up instantly and furiously if they catch fire, which they do very easily.

Christmas Pudding Was the Victim of a Holdup

THERE may be more Christmas puddings than there were in the past, but there are certainly no bigger ones, writes of columnist in the Manchester Guardian. In 1718 James Austen, inventor of "Persian Pink Powder," planned an advertisement by inviting his customers to share a gigantic Christmas pudding weighing 1,000 pounds. This, after boiling for 14 days at the Red Lion Inn, Southwark, was placed in a cart to be conveyed, to the accompaniment of a band playing strange instruments, to the Swan tavern, Fish Street Hill, where the fa vored guests were assembled. The company, however, waited in vain, for scarcely had the pudding started on its journe, before it was held up by a mob, attacked with knives and choppers, and distributed to many not bidden to the feast.

Another huge pudding resulted from a sporting offer of an old-time Islington innkeeper to make and distribute to the poor of the neighborhood a Christmas pudding the weight of any one of his customers. He reckoned without Daniel Lambert, the heaviest man on record, who was induced by a regular patron to drop in one morning. Daniel turned the scale at 700 pounds, but the inkeeper kept to his word and produced a pudding of equal weight.

Mr. and Mrs. Grieser in Chicago.

Mrs. A. Alexander has received word from her daughter, Mrs. Jack Grieser, that she and her husband are now located in Chicago. Mr. Grieser has been sent to Chicago by the Bell Telephone Co. of New York, with whom he is associated, and will supervise the erection and installation of the company's exhibit at the World's fair in 1933. It is understood that the plans for this display were drawn by Mr. Grieser and will require four months to complete the erection. The Bell company's exhibit will cost about $80,000. Part of the display includes the installation of teletype writers, Deal office display, switch boards, carrier telegraph and speech inverter.

Mr. and Mrs. Grieser had the misfortune of having their baggage stolen soon after their arrival in Chicago. They had entered a building to look over an apartment and during an absence of ten minutes from their car, their suitcases were stolen. Both bags were gifts from the parents of the young couple and were highly prized besides containing a great many of Mr. and Mrs. Grieser's belongings.

Gleaners' Christmas Party.

O. E. S. Gleaners were delightfully entertained at a so-called "white elephant" Christmas party Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. E. H. Field at her home. Following the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Nels Lande, president, Mrs. James Archibald displayed a covered basket from which streamers extended bearing numbers. Everyone present chose a streamer at the end of which was a "white elephant" gift. A two-course luncheon was served by Mrs. Field at a long table, gaily decorated with holly, lighted candles in red and green holders and centered with a small Christmas tree. On each place card was written some verse pertaining to the names of those present and indicated their places at the table. Miss Clarissa McElroy of Clarkston was a guest.

Auxiliary Will Not Meet Until Jan. 13

At the American Legion Auxiliary meeting last Friday afternoon it was decided to hold the next meeting on Jan. 13 as the next regular meeting date falls during the holiday period.

At the December 2 meeting it was voted to make a wool quilt to be sold some time after the first of the year. Last Friday the quilt was finished and is now on display, to the surprise of many members. Mrs. Laura Phipps and Mrs. Henry Hanson made the quilt top and tied the wool boat. With the assistance of Mrs. Ben Pleiman, Mrs. George Follett, Misses Ruth and Esther Martinson and Mrs. W. W. Burr the quilt was tied and on display in record time. The work was done at the home of Mrs. Henry Hanson.

It was unanimously decided to help the Legion serve lunch for the dance this evening (Friday).

Miss Ethel Johnson served refreshments following the meeting.

Neighbor's Christmas Party.

The Neighbors of Woodcraft held their annual Christmas party Monday evening for members and their families. The evening was pent at cards and a program was presented by the children. MRS. EDWIN LONDON.

Mrs. Edwin London, nationally known in welfare work, and a former resident of Genesee, died at Seattle Saturday night of heart disease, superinduced by pneumonia, according to the Lewiston Tribune.

Mrs. London was born in Indiana about 60 years ago and came to Idaho in the early 90's with her uncle, William P. Kettenbach, Sr., and was soon joined by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. David Johnson. Dr. Johnson practiced in Genesee for a number of years, and it was while here that Mrs. London met and married her husband who was then a member of the mercantile firm of London & Gaffney. Mr. London was a native of London, England.

During her residence at Seattle, Mrs. London was prominent in business and social affairs and interested herself in Y. W. C. A. work. She was instrumental in placing working girls in colleges and universities for several weeks each year in order that they could have a better grasp on affairs best suited to equip themselves for successful careers in business.

Since Mr. London's death several years ago, Mrs. London carried on his business. She is survived by a son, Daniel London, manager of the Edmond Meany hotel at Seattle, and three daughters, Mrs. Burns Lindsay and Mrs. Lowell Wakefield, both of Seattle, and Mrs. Mary MacKenzie, living in the east.

CARD OF THANKS.

Please accept our sincere thanks and appreciation for the many acts of thoughtful kindness, for the beautiful flowers and for the assistance so graciously tendered for the funeral services held for our beloved husband, father, son and brother. We wish also to express our thanks to those who were responsible for clearing the snow-covered road to the cemetery.

Good Job for Lukens.

Kamiah Progress: Fred Lukens, Idaho's secretary of state, who is to retire in January, is said to be an aspirant for the presidency of the Albion state normal. The Cottonwood Chronicle thinks this would be quite a comedown from his present position, but we fail to see it in that light. Presidency of a normal school is an honored position and calls for much more ability and training than does the state job Lukens has filled so satisfactorily for eight or ten years. Before he went into politics he was in educational work at one time being superintendent of the Grangeville schools. He is the author of a text book on Idaho civics, and holds a high place in educational activities in the state. Educational training and executive ability are the chief requirements for a college president, and Lukens has both.

STATE CHAMBER SURVEY DISCLOSES SCHOOL COSTS

Glenn Balch, author of "Tax Topics," written for the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, says the recent survey of the Idaho common school system of education conducted by the educational committee of the state chamber has brought to light a number of facts, some heretofore unsuspected and others already indicated but all of which must be given due consideration in any intelligent attempt to improve our schools and solve the burdensome problem of school taxes.

With the intention of placing these facts squarely before the public, an attempt will be made to summarize them in this article.

Perhaps the most startling revelation of the survey is the astounding range of variation in school costs between the districts. Average district expenditures per teacher range from $552 to $2,115 for the year; per student from $84 to $159. Differences in costs of schools of similar size vary as much as 500 per cent in some instances. Expenditurts per teacher, excluding salaries, range from $111 to $1195 in schools with approximately the same attendance.

Student-Load Varies

Wide variations are also found in student-load or the number of students per teacher, which ranges from 11.7 in Clark county to 29.8 in Canyon county. Comparing the educational expenses of these two counties, the report shows that the combined county and average district levies on an assessed wealth of $10,900 per student in Clark county amounted to 22.1 mills, while the same levies on an assessed value per student of $3,492 in Canyon county totaled 19 mills.

In other words, the Canyon county levies raise $66.35 per student while the Clark county taxes amount to $241.06 per student, which is an indication of the wide range in funds available for educational purposes.

The report shows conclusively that, on a per student basis, the larger schools are the more economical. The per student expenditure of schools with 1,000 or more pupils is $78; while schools with 30 to 40 pupils spend $160 per pupils for the same degree of education.

School Period Uniform

Idaho's school children, the survey shows, are fairly uniformly provided for in so far as the period of instruction is concerned. Approximately 69 per cent of them are in attendance at schools providing nine months of both grade and high school instruction. An additional 20 per cent has the advantage of nine months grade schools and less than one per cent are in schools offering less than seven months instruction annually.

The survey does indicate, however, that there is a wide difference in the instructional service provided in the various districts as well as in conveniences and advantages, such as transportation, athletic fields, gymnasiums and so forth.

Taxes Paid by Few

Another disclosure of the survey is that the major portion of the school taxes are paid not by the average taxpayer nor by the average parents, but by a relatively few large property holders.

The heavy payers of school taxes are the utilities and big business establishments rather than the small property owners who are finding their obligations to the government so burdensome at present.

The cause of the variations in Idaho school costs and in the degrees and conveniences of education in the common schools must be largely attributed to local control. The patrons and taxpayers of the various districts must, under the present system, assume either the blame or the credit, as the case may be, for the conditions in their respective schools. If, on the other hand, the entire system is to be standardized and a common educational objective established and maintained, then some centralized authority and supervision is essential.

Christmas Goose Now Is Close Rival of Turkey

IN CONNECTION with Christmas festivities the goose is a close rival of the turkey as the "piece de resistance" at the dinner table. Indeed, some epicures prefer the goose. There are half a dozen varieties of geese, the principal being the Embden, the African, the Toulouse, and the Chinese. All of these are excellent eating but for general purposes, especially breeding for market, the honors are shared pretty evenly by the Toulouse and the Embden.

The Toulouse are natives of France, deriving their name from the town of Toulouse. The present-day Toulouse is larger and finer than the French breed of this name and is the product of English breeders. The Earl of Derby first imported Toulouse from southern France about 1840; the breed undoubtedly dates back to the old, original "gray goose." The desired weights for Toulouse geese are: adult gander, 26 pounds; young gander, 20 pounds; adult goose, 20 pounds; young goose, 16 pounds. The best specimens have a deep, full breast, rather flat back and long body. This breed, in addition to its size and massiveness, is distinguished by a dewlap under the throat and a pronounced keel.

Embden geese are natives of Germany. In an early day, the city of Embden was the central market for the geese of a very large district; hence the name of the breed.—Wisconsin Agriculturist.

"It Is More Blessed to Give Than to Receive"

SOME people will tell you that the true spirit of Christmas has been lost these days in a welter of exchanging presents. They will say the holiday has been commercialized. While there may be a vestige of fact in this view of the modern Christmas, dispel the thought that this is the whole of it, or even an important part. In so far as it exists, it is a grave mistake. But nine-tenths of the giving is done without thought of getting. It is done to increase some one else's pleasure. If in reality the joy of the giver exceeds that of the recipient of the gift, that is incidental and inevitable. Christ himself said:

"It is more blessed to give than to receive."—Boston Traveler.

VIC MEYERS

It might have been worse, says the Clarkston Herald, quoting the Yakima Daily Republic. Vic Meyers, democratic lieutenant governor-elect, might have been governor-elect.

Some weeks ago he went down to the auditor of King county to file for the democratic nomination for the executive place. He found that he didn't have enough money to pay the filing fee, so he asked if there wasn't some office he could run for that would come within his means.

They told him he could file for lieutenant governor for $20—which was the size of his pile.

"All right," he said: "I'll take it. How do you spell 'lieutenant'?"

They told him that and he turned in the formal notice with the cash, but forgot to ask them how to spell "governor," and so he ran for "lieutenant govner."

Earned His Money.

Young VanRensselear Van Toodles, fresh from graduation at an eastern university, applied to a western ranch owner for a job. He got the job. It was tending sheep.

On one of his monthly tours of his property, the ranch owner called on Van Toodles and inquired how everything had been going.

"Pretty well, sir," said the youth. "I had the sheep in every night, but I'll tell you that the lambs gave me quite a chase."

"The lambs?" inquired the boss. "Why, I didn't have any stock less than one year old."

The lad said nothing, but led him to the corral and pointed.

Inside were two hundred and thirty eight jack rabbits.

No Law Against It.

Flapper: "Why didn't you tell me before I undressed?"

Constable: "Well, there ain't no law against undressin'."—Idaho Pioneer.

A negro boy was sitting on the curb eating a large piece of watermelon, when a passerby remarked:

"Son, you have too much melon there, haven't you?"

"No suh," the little darky responded quickly, "just not enough naggah,'

Putting the Here in Hereafter.

Satan was really having a hell of a time. Things weren't going at all well in the local districts and he was running for election. The most unruly resident was a usually well mannered little man, who went beserk on occasions and refused to obey any of the regulations.

Finally Satan approached the recent arrival.

"See here," he said, "can't you behave yourself? Who do you think you are, anyway? Do you think you own this joint?"

"Sure," said the little guy. "Didn't my wife give it to me just before I left?"—Legion Monthly.

"Daughter, your hair is all messed up. Did that young man kiss you against your will?"

"He thinks he did, mother."

Legion Jamboree.

Twelve new members were signed up in the American Legion for 1933 at the good-time meeting Wednesday evening which was the best-attended meeting in recent years. After the business meeting music was furnished by a quartet composed of Colin Wilson, Dick Green, Clyde Manring and Harry Hanson, who played "Wrangler" tunes. They were encored and encored until they could play no more, and everyone apparently had a real jolly time. Lunch was served by a committee composed of John Liberg and V. A. Beckman. Dr. Field, a Legion member stressed the need of ex-service men retaining the facilities of hospitalization, and told of the rather selfish methods of special interests in attempting to deprive former service men of hospitilization.

WHEAT MARKET SUMMARY FOR WEEK ENDING DEC. 17

placed at 431,200,000 bushels against 304,144,000 bushels in 1931. European production is about 4 per cent larger than the 1931 harvest and estimates for 25 countries total 1,495,333,000 bushels. A sharp reduction in outturns in surplus areas was more than offset by larger harvests in Germany, Italy and France. The North African wheat crop is about 6 per cent larger than last year but estimates for five Asiatic countries show a decrease of 9 per cent. No official estimates are available for Russia, either for this year or last but trade reports and reduced shipments indicate smallest supply this season.

South Hemisphere Crop Big

Present prospects are for larger harvests in the southern hemisphere this year. The first official estimate places the Argentine crop now being harvested at 231,483,000 bushels compared with 219,698,000 bushels last season. The Australian crop is estimated by trade agencies at 210,000,000 bushels or at about 10,000,000 bushels above last year.

World Supply Smaller.

World wheat supplies outside of Russia and China, this season, appear to be 35,000,000 to 45,000,000 bushels smaller than last year when supplies of old wheat carried over from last season are taken into account. The world's crop is slightly smaller while stocks of old wheat were below last season, practically everywhere except in the Unittd States.

Barley Crop Large

The 1932 barley crop is the third largest ever produced, being exceeded only by the 1930 crop and the record 1928 crop, says the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The California crop is the largest of recent years with production placed at 941,976 tons, around three times the crop of 330,624 tons produced in 1931. The carryover June 1 was estimated at 71,294 tons as against 169,082 tons last year, bringing the total supply for the current season to 1,013,270 tons as against 499,706 tons a year ago.

Inquiry for malting types was only moderate while export demand was slightly more active although still under normal. Inquiry from the United Kingdom was limited as a result of the usual holiday dullness, lessened beer consumption and competition of English malting barleys.

Trading in feeding barley continued fairly heavy, particularly in interior feeding sections where pasture and range conditions showed further deterioration on account of prolonged drought. Inquiry was mostly for small amounts for immediate requirements with low purchasing power and lack of credit limiting factors. Dealers and industries were still mostly working on stocks accumulated earlier in the season or purchasing only for nearby needs. Growers were still displaying a strong holding tendency and were generally selling only when forced to meet pressing financial obligations.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE SHORN OF ITS POWERS

Voting by proxy was dealt a blow at a meeting of the Latah County Democratic committee at Moscow last Saturday afternoon when the Genesee delegation and its committeeman, Ed Smolt, attacked this method of procedure in making recommendations for the political appointive jobs which will be open in January. The committee as a whole was also shorn of its powers in the matter of bringing pressure to bear on the chief executive in placing the various jobs.

The meeting was held at the Elks Temple and there were present seventeen of the precinct committeemen, the others being represented by proxies, which tended to place the balance of power in the hands of the central committee with Glen Sanders as its chairman. Stripped bodily of its powers, the only action of the committee as a whole was the recommendation of John A. Simpson of Oklahoma as secretary of agriculture in the Roosevelt cabinet.

When it was announced that proxies were held to be voted on matters coming before the meeting, the Genesee democratic committeeman was on his feet, and from all reports, the proxy voting was killed dead, and as a result the central committee has no unified organization with which to dole out the political plums. S. Owings of Moscow made a motion that the committee as an organization endorse no candidate for an appointive position and with its second, carried by a vote of committeemen present.

Attending the meeting from Genesee besides Ed Smolt were J. J. Berg and George Morscheck.

ATTENTION.

Rader's City Market and the Follett Mercantile stores will close at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening, beginning Dec. 31, until further notice.

New Member for Union.

Harry C. Johnson of the Blaine section became a new member of the Genesee Farmers Union Wednesday at the annual meeting. Besides initiating the new member and electing officers, delegates who attended the state convention made their report.

H. F. Koster, Fred Hove, M. S. Wilson and Dr. T. A. Elliott who represented the local Union at Moscow last Saturday afternoon will report at the next meeting, the date of which will be announced.

VOL. XLIV GENESEE, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1932 NO. 28

WIDE VARIATIONS IN SCHOOL COSTS THROUGHOUT IDAHO

One of the most interesting revelations (especially to the taxpayers who foot the bill) of the recent survey conducted by the Educational Committee of the State Chamber of the Idaho school system is the astoundingly wide variations in school costs. It is, as the report points out, difficult at times to believe that the schools are within the same state, operating under the same statutes and having similar standards of education, says Glenn Balch, writing "Tax Topics," under the direction of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

Even though remembering that Idaho is a state of much geographical variation and that the school system must of necessity reach into the most isolated sections, it is difficult to reconcile these wide differences in costs and one cannot but wonder if they do not reflect to a considerable extent the efficiency or lack of efficiency in the human element of management.

Costs Compared.

To bring this point home more clearly, let us use actual figures to illustrate the variations referred to. One school offering both grade and high school instruction and having an average daily attendance of 57 pupils operated for the year of 1930-1931 at a cost of $7,521, ard the operating expenses of a second school, of the same class and having exactly the same average daily attendance, was $12,980.

In other words, it cost the second district $5,459 more, or $95.77 more per pupils, to provide educational opportunity for 57 children than it did the first district. It does not seem possible that geographical conditions alone can account for this wide variation in expenditures.

$64 More Per Pupil.

Turning out attention now to medium sized schools, from 300 to 500 pupils, we find equally startling differences in operating costs. To quote the extremes, one school with 490 students operated for the school year in question at an expense of $31,392, while the expenditures of a similar district, with an average daily attendance of 484 pupils, reached a total of $62,407, or almost twice as much.

Reducing these figures, we find that it cost the second district $65 more per pupils than it did the first for the year's operations.

Similar discrepancies are likewise found among the larger schools in the state. Considering now the largest class, those having from 2,000 to 4,500 students, we find a striking contrast in the Boise district, with an average daily attendance of 4322 students, had an operating cost for the year of $321,371; and the expenditures of a second district, with a student total of 4,327, amounted to $430,312.

$26 Difference

From this it is apparent that the first district educated its children at a per-student cost of slightly more than $74 while the cost to the second district was approximately $100 per child, leaving a per-student difference in the operating expenditures of the two districts of $26.

From this it is apparent that the first district educated its children at a per-student cost of slightly more than $74 while the cost to the second district was approximately $100 per child, leaving a per-student difference in the operating expenditures of the two districts of $26.

These comparisons bring out two distinct indications that should have consideration in any intelligent revision of our current school laws; one is that the larger schools are the more economimically operated on the per-student basis and the second is that the per-student cost variations are lower in the larger schools.

Small Schools Needed

In view of these figures, it would seem that fewer and larger schools would solve most of our educational problems but due to the qbove-mentioned geography of the state and the fewness of its inhabitants in many sections there is an unavoidable necessity for numerous small schools, as is evidenced by the fact that more than 900 of our 1303 districts are one and two-teacher schools.

While consolidation would doubtless reduce the financial troubles connected with our public school system, there is likewise a limit beyond which it would seriously impair that highly prized public value which we call educational opportunity.

Another conclusion that must be drawn from the survey is that many school districts are spending more money than is necessary while others are probably scrimping to the point of depriving their students of worthy conveniences and advantages. Somewhere between these extremes of costs there must be a happy medium where the taxpayer receives full value for his educational dollar and the students are provided with sound adequate schooling.

Orofino Bridge Player Fined.

Bridge is rapidly becoming one of the most dangerous games played today. People have been killed and friendships have ceased to exist over troubles developing in the pastime of bridge. It was not uncommon to learn of occasional shooting and knifing escapades during a old-time poker session, but we are alarmed at what is happening over the bridge table of today.

Jack Mason, insurance agent was arrested recently at Orofino, according to the Clearwater Tribune for knifing Gene Marquette in a fight at a bridge party. He pleaded guilty to simple assault before Justice John W. Scott and was fined $100 and costs, which he paid. He was sentenced to three months in the county jail and this sentence was suspended on the understanding that Mason leave the state. Mason came west from Alabama.

THUNDER AND LIGHTNING OCCURS DECEMBER 26-27

At 10:30 Tuesday morning lightning flashed across the clouded sky and thunder roared, an occurence of which was also experienced in the Lewiston Valley on the day previous, the light and noise of which was also seen and heard on the Rimrock.

Sleet, which almost turned to hail, driven by a stiff south wind accompanied the freakish December blast, but as the storm progressed the wind abated and snow began falling. This continued but a short time, however, and then the sun shone brightly.

Following the unusual early December sub-zero weather, heavy snows fell last week, Christmas eve being ushered in with a heavy downfall. On Christmas night it snowed again but Monday rain fell intermittently and tended to pack the snow. At noon noon when the Lewiston "banana belt" was being treated to its sleet, thunder and lightning storm, the Genesee region experienced a sharp sleet and wind storm which sent people skeltering to shelter.

According to the Lewiston Tribune, it was the first time in 32 years said Weather Observer W. W. Thomas that thunder and lightning occured locally in December, although infrequently the records for November and January list such occurences. Thomas further said that the thunder was caused by a rising barometric condition locally and a lowering condition of the same nature in the Canadian northwest, a conflict of the two being responsible for the unusual occurence.

The flashes of lightning were plainly visible in Genesee Tuesday and the thunder was audible to everyone unless engaged in some work wherein the noise was too great.

MRS. KERN SENDS GREETINGS.

"Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to Old Friends in Genesee," is the holiday greeting to the many acquaintances of Mrs. A. Kern, who is now living with her daughter, Mrs. George Mathay and family at 20011 Coventry, Detroit, Mich.

In a letter Mrs. Kern reflected that it had been a year since she last wrote to the Genesee News to mail her subscription and said that time flies most swiftly. Continuing she writes: "Last winter we had hardly any snow and when the men went hunting the men hurried home to prevent game meat from spoiling. Roads are poor this year and in one hunting party the car turned over and one man killed. This year they had to shovel snow to get out of the woods for about 8 miles. One man, 82 years of age, has hunted each season for the past 45 years, and again this year he was out in the cold and snow.

"George and the family went to Lake St. Clair, and of course I went along but remained in the car to look after the baby. There was some fun going and coming, however.

"Now I will send some real news. On Sunday, December 4, George took me in the country and for the first time I saw a pie-plant hothouse. It looked like a row of root houses. We also saw some tumble weeds. George said it was the first he saw since coming to Detroit."

WHAT OF THE SCHOOLS? ASKS STATE COMMISSIONER

Here's Idaho, a brand new Gem state monthly publication, with Arthur F. Riddle as editor and Buren C. Reeder, manager, made its initial appearance in north Idaho the day following Christmas, and contains some very interesting material. Governor C. Ben Ross contributed his greetings and concluded with the thought that "I am sure Here's Idaho will have a place and serve a useful end."

One of the most interesting articles of the first number is written by W. D. Vincent, state commissioner of education, and is as follows:

"The schools of Idaho are at the cross roads. There is need of a careful study, and a drastic reorganization in order to meet the present economic situation. The school trustees are no longer able to find a sound financial policy under existing laws. There will be many shortened terms, teachers' salaries have been cut below a living wage, some are teaching for mere room and board during the school months. The depression has laid a heavy hand upon the schools of the state.

"The one element is our population that is not depressed is the school child. This is as it should be. Childhood comes to each person but once, and it is all too brief to permit cares, or even sorrows, to weigh heavily upon the mind of youth. True, there are children in our schools this year who are poorly clothed, and who are short on the child luxuries of life, but in our state where the harvest has been abundant, it is safe to say that every child has plenty to eat.

"One hundred twenty thousand youth have enrolled in the 1513 schools of our state. Twenty-three schools did not open this year, but the children have been cared for in adjoining districts in all cases except three, and even in these the parents have, for the most part, moved out in order to give a school opportunity to the children. Of this vast army of children, 91,000 are enrolled in the elementary schools, and 29,000 in the high schools of the state.

"The tax burden for education is a heavy one. When we think that one-third of our population is in school, it means that the other two-thirds must support them. Of this two-thirds whose duty it is to support the non-productive one-third, we may assume that 50 per cent are men and the other half women, hence it is easy to see that in fact each man in our state is at least theoretically responsible for the support of one child in school. If this were literally true, the burden would not be too heavy, but there are so many inequalities as to this support that men cry out in desperation at the burden imposed. May we look briefly at just a few of these unequal burdens:

"First: The per capita cost of educating a child in one district in our state runs as high as $367 per year, whereas the cost for a better type of education in another district is but $43. The average cost for the elementary education in our state is $54 and for high school $105.

"Second: A citizen owning property in one school district which amounts to $225 in valuation is called upon to support one child in school while his neighbor in another district must own $94,000 worth of property before he is called upon to pay taxes sufficient to support one child in school.

"Third: One district will vote one mill of special tax and have plenty of money to conduct its school, another is taxed 40 mills for school purposes and still finds itself unable to avoid a deficit.

"Fourth: One school is poorly equipped, inadequately housed, badly crowded and cheaply taught, giving mengre fundamentals of education, while the next school but a few miles from the same highway is a model of efficiency, offering a first class educational opportunity to eeah child in an environment of good citizenship.

"Fifth: One school district in Idaho is made of five 40-acre tracts, another has an area of more than 2500 square miles.

"We might go on at great length in this development of contrasts. Enough has been given to demonstrate the vast inequalities exisiting in our present school setup. It is interesting to note briefly how these conditions came about.

Idaho as a territory was one school district for administrative and taxing purposes. The first state legislature turned the whole school problem over to the counties and these in turn Relief for Legislators.

Checking over the list of legislators in King county, Washington, of which Seattle is the principal city, it was learned that 11 of the newly-elected lawmakers have been at a loss to realize a trip to Olympia because of unemployment. Being unable to finance the trip to the state capital democratic leaders voluntarily created a revolving fund of $250 to be loaned to legislators which they will repay when they began drawing their warrants for services at $5.00 a day.

Through another agency a house was obtained in Olympia where the eleven men will live, dormitory style, and will be provided with two meals a date. The cost of sleeping and eating during the session will be $28 a month for each of the eleven men.

FORMER U. OF I. STUDENT SELLS CATTLE TO CUBAN

University of Idaho.—Sugar and revolutions aren't the only interests of Cuba, testifies R. E. Everly, a University of Idaho graduate, who is manager of the famous Carnation Milk farms near Seattle. Everly recently sold a carload of purebred Holsteins to a Cuban dairyman who turned out to be none other than General Gerarda Machado, president of the island republic.

The cattle are now on the high seas bound for Havana, in charge of another Idaho graduate, J. A. McIlhattan, recommended by F. W. Atkeson, head of the department, at Everly's request. McIlhattan received his master's degree last year. This fall he covered the western fair circuit with a herd of brown Swiss cattle, his winnings including several championships and the coveted breeders' banner at the Pacific International at Portland.

When McIlhattan arrived in New York with his carload of prize cattle, a huge crane lifted the whole car aboard the steamship "Seatrain," the fastest freighter afloat. This new boat carries 100 freight cars, locked in rows of four abreast on three decks. When the "Seatrain" docks at Havana, the cars will be lifted out on Cuban tracks and hauled to their destinations.

Everly, after his graduation from the college of agriculture in 1924, was a district extension agent in northern Idaho, and for several years the western field representative for the Holstein-Fresian Association of America. Today, as manager of the Carnation farms, he is one of the best known dairy cattle men in the west.

ROAD WORK HELD UP DURING REORGANIZATION OF FORCES

According to Ed Smolt work on State Aid Project No. 1 is being held up temporarily during the time the state highway department and its force of engineers is being reorganized for the ensuing biennium. Work has continued on Project No. 1 during the cold weather and during the period of snowy weather which followed. It is almost certain, however, according to information available, that work will be resumed soon after the first of the year.

Wednesday evening, a delegation from Genesee met with the newly elected state senator and representatives asking them to urge the state highway department to take steps to hasten further construction of the project mentioned.

Work of building the grade on Project No. 1 is well toward completion, approximately two-thirds of it being finished before the order came this week to stop work. Project No. 3 in the northern section of the Genesee Highway District is completed with the exception of about a half mile and this will wait until spring as it is all dirt work.

DANCE AT LEGION HALL.

In the midst of a good time a number of dancers at the Cowcreekers' Ball approached the Legion dance committee and requested that a second dance be staged Friday night, December 30, an event to witness the closing of the old year.

Tickets will be 50 cents per couple, and it may be proper to say that the Legion needs the money derived form dances to help defray expenses of waterproofing the roof of the large hall.

Genesee Valley Ladies Aid.

The Geicsee Valley Ladies Aid will meet at the Parish hall Thursday afternoon, January 5.

FORMER GENESEE MAN HEAD ALASKAN MINING PROJECT

George T. McMahon of Pullman, a former Genesee man, son of Mrs. Emma McMahon of Spokane, was elected president of the Peters Creek Placer company, with extensive placer holdings in Alaska.

Mr. McMahan was already serving as president of the Alaska Exploration & Mining Co., a concern which held its meeting in conjjunction with that the Peters Creek company recently in Lewiston.

The Alaskan Exploration and Mining company was organized recently to develop the well-known Hammerschmidt placer claims, eight miles above the Peters Creek property. Both properties are in the Yentna district, reached by tractor from Talkeetna, on the Alaska railroad. The federal government is now building a road thru Peters Creek canyon, which will enable the new company to truck into the Hammerschmidt camp from the present end of the road, eliminating a roundabout haul.

Otis Ross, a graduate of the University of Idaho, is engineer in charge of the Peters Creek project; John Phillips of Lewiston is secretary and Senator W. L. Korter of Moscow is treasurer.

According to information, Peters Creek Placer company has just completed three miles of ditch. With a limited water supply, under 250-feet head, and with only one giant in operation, a clean-up of $30,000 in gold was made before the season closed. Next spring three field giants and one tailing giant will be in use, and production in a commercial scale and a profit is expected.

Chris Hammerschmidt has been mining his claims by hand for about 30 years, and while his reticence gave the purchasers of the property very little information about past production, well informed residents of the district say that he must have taken out at least $75,000 merely by letting the water trickle over the edge of his pit. This estimate is based on the yardage moved and the impression that the ground he selected ran about $1 a yard in gold.

The new company expects to employ about 12 men in the spring. The working season is about five months, from June 1 to November 1, but before operations start with the giants it will be necessary to truck in supplies and equipment and construct a camp.

Freighting is by caterpillar from Talkeetna, the cost being about $5 a ton. In the old dog-team days it cost nearly $500 a ton to get supplies into the upper Peters Creek area, about the canyon. The caterpillar has a 16-inch tread and is equipped with 30-inch grousers to pull it through the snow.

FARMERS INVITED TO HEAR DISCUSSION ON TAXATION

Farmers of the Genesee section, whether they are members of the Farmers Union Educational and Cooperative Union or not, are invited to attend a meeting of farmers at the American Legion hall Wednesday afternoon, January 4, at 1:30 o'clock to participate in a frank and free discussion of taxation. It is planned to adopt a county program for tax reduction to be presented to state and county officials.

This meeting is planned and sponsored by the Genesee Local of Farmers Union.

FOR THE NEW YEAR.

Best wishes from the Genesee News for the coming year.

"Give us grace and strength to persevere. Give us courage, and gaiety, and the quiet of mind. Spare to us our friends and soften to us our enemies. Bless us, if it may be in all our innocent endeavors. If it may not, give us the strength to encounter that which is to come, that we may be brave in peril, constant in tribulation, temperate in wrath, and in all changes of fortune, and down to the gates of death, loyal and loving to one another."—R.L.S.

"GOOD" BOYS DIE.

(By Evelyn McMillan)

Senior in Journalism, U. of I.

Little Russian Pavel is dead. His small brother Fedor is dead, too. They died because they had tried to be "good" boys.

Pavel was 13 years old. Fedor was just seven. They lived in a little Soviet village in the Sverdlovsk Province in the Ural mountains. Pavel's father was head of the village. When the men from the great Soviet government in Leningrad came to the village to collect grain, Pavel's father helped them.

Pavel and Fedor knew about the great Soviet government because they had heard about it ever since they were born. A primer they studied in school told what it was trying to do with its Five-Year Plan. Father told them stories about it at night, and the men who came to the village after grain told stories too. Pavel and Fedor knew that it was the most wonderful government in the world, and they worshiped it.

They knew that if they were "good" boys they must be loyal to the Soviet government. Russian children do not hear much about God, so Pavel and Fedor did not worry about Him. But they knew they must be loyal to the government even before they were loyal to their own father and mother. Pavel and Fedor wanted to be "good." So when the men from Leningrad came to collect the grain last year Pavel and Fedor told them that father was hiding some of the grain.

The men took father away. Fedor was too little to know why, and he cried. But Pavel understood, even though he cried too. He understood, also, why one of his cousins got some other boys to throw stones at him in the street one day. The stones left Pavel bruised and sore, but he did not care. He was sure that the great Soviet government must be proud of him. But he watched over Fedor carefully. He did not want Fedor to be hurt.

But Pavel became frightened too on the day last September when the men and boys from the village gathered about Fedor and him in the woods—too frightened to understand. The men shouted and scowled. Pavel stood and looked at them while little Fedor clung to him and cried. The men wore long knives in their belts. One of them seized his knife and cut Pavel across the face. Then Pavel cried too.

But it was all over. The men cut Pavel and Fedor again and again with their knives until the boys were dead. Then the men buried them there in the woods. Pavel and Fedor had been "good" communist boys, so they were killed.

The great Soviet government has revenged Pavel and Fedor. One woman and three men have been sentenced to "the supreme measure of social defense." They will be shot. Pavel and Fedor will become an example. All Russian children will hear about them, so that they too may learn how to be "good."

Yes, Pavel and Fedor, good little Soviets, are avenged. But who is there to take revenge upon the great government that taught them to be so "good" that they were killed?

Grangeville School Soaked.

Students of the Grangeville public schools were treated to a short vacation recently as a result of a lot of cold weather causing some broken and frozen water pipes, according to the Grangeville Free Press. Shortly before school had taken up a week ago Thursday a steam pipe bursted which caused a drain on the boiler, and in an effort to prevent further damage the fires were drawn. With the temperature below zero Friday night and practically no fire in the building, the fire hose line on the upper floor gave way and a two-inch stream of water, under pressure, was turned loose in the building for more than an hour. Damage was done to the walls, seats, floors and to the books in the seventh grade room. The gymnasium was found to have more than six inches of water and the floor was floating. School, however, was resumed Monday and the building is again in good shape except for the loss of considerable plaster.

NO WONDER WE'RE POOR.

Hold your breath now and try to comprehend the figure—over thirty-four and a half billion dollars, as the cost of prohibition during the past 12 years, says F. G. Burroughs in the Boise Pioneer, quoting statistics from a survey made by The Crusaders.

Here are the items contributing to the cost of prohibition:

Appropriations by states for enforcement (8 years), $5,585,850.

Assessed value of property seized, $186,867,322.

Cost of keeping violators in jail, $128,000,000.

Cost of prosecuting violators of the prohibition laws, $111,103,870.

Coast guard enforcement expenditures, $152,503,464.

Customs enforcement expenditures, $93,232,220.

Cost to state, municipal and local governments for prohibition criminal cases, $2,922,622,980.

Loss in rentals for padlocked property, $303,615,000.

Loss in federal liquor revenue for 12 years, $11,988,000,000.

Loss in liquor revenue to counties, states and cities, $6,540,620,000.

Loss to consumer in what was termed excessive liquor bill, bootleg profits, protection, etc., $12,000,000,000.

All of which makes a grand total of $34,565,109,246.00.

It isn't too much for the United States to pay, either, were the results in any way definite or commensurate. But it's a lot of money for a failure—and reasonable political economists and reasonable people not blinded by fanaticism either way concede that prohibition as she prohibits has been a failure.

It was a "noble experiment," all right, but an experiment nevertheless, and a costly one. If we had that thirty-four billion odd right now there would not be any need to "balance the budget." But that's all water gone down stream. The money is gone and it remains now to acknowledge that a mistake was made, that the experiment was a costly failure and do the next best thing.

Under proper safeguards as to the rights of the states, the amendment should be and will be amended. If congressional fanatics of the wet persuasion get the chance to frame the measure, it is doomed to defeat. Naked repeal is doomed to defeat. Garner learned that when he tried on the first day of the session to cram such a resolution down the throats of his conferees, and the nation itself will be found no different.

Coming back to Col. Reeve's survey, he found that naked congressional appropriations during the period mentioned had amounted to 133 millions and that over 2500 people had been killed in efforts at enforcement.

All of which brings us back to the reflection that the amendment has not failed for lack of efforts to enforce it. It wasn't just in the cards, that's all. Americans are a freedom-loving people who don't like to be made good by law.

Large Crowd at Cowcreekers' Ball.

A large crowd attended the annual Cowcreekers' Ball at the American Legion hall last Friday evening. Ed Vanouck, ticket salesman, reported over 100 admissions. Furnishing the music for the occasion were Neil Kinyon and daughter, Dick Green and George Wilson, with Arne Olson in charge as floor manager.

During the dance it was announced that there would be a dance on Friday, December 30 at the Legion hall with music by the same orchestra.

Representative Hove to Boise.

The presence of all state senators and representatives is required at Boise, Monday morning, January 2, which actually means that legislators will all endeavor to be in the capital city Sunday night.

Fred Hove, Genesee, one of two Latah county representatives, has not decided how he will make the trip as yet, although he has the choice of going with Senator W. L. Korter by automobile or take the train. He plans to be in Boise Sunday evening.

Big Game in North.

Forest and game department officials reported a check of 437 big game hunters in the Lochsa district and 1052 in the Selway forest this season. Unfavorable conditions by reason of rain and snow hampered hunting in the former, and in both there was noted a considerable decrease in the deer population, believed due to the unusual ravages of the severe winter of 1931-32. Nearly 450 elk were taken. A shorter season on deer next year is advocated by many to allow herds to build up again.—Here's Idaho.

An old-fashioned girl who believes in safety first is the one who takes the cigarette out of her mouth before pulling her nightgown over her head.

OPTIMISM BRINGS FORTH NEW MAGAZINE FOR IDAHO

To give Idaho "a new hope, a new idea, a new mark to shoot at and a weapon to shoot with,' is the avowed purpose of an optimistic group known as the Heres Idaho Company, announced at Boise this week.

More literally, the announcement was to the effect that a statewide monthly magazine, to be called "Heres Idaho," will be launched, the first number coming off the press on or about December 20.

Asserting independence of all partisan, factional, sectional and commercial alignments, the sponsors of the magazine declare they will "give the Gem state what it long has lacked for true unity, in appreciation of common wealth, common need and common aspiration. We shall simply delve into the fabulous storehouse of natural grandeur, historical romance and potential industrial miracles that is Idaho, and share them with our fortunate fellow inhabitants."

A salutatory by Governor C. Ben Ross and a brief, pointed statement of the tax reform problem as worked out for the coming legislature by special committees of the state chamber of commerce, will feature the initial number.

The editor of the magazine will be A. F. (Dooley) Riddle, veteran newspaper man of Boise. Contributing editors will be Byron Defenbach and Victor Shawe, the state's most celebrated authors, and an editorial board will include C. F. Koelsch, judge of the Third judicial district; Guy L. Mains, supervisor of the Boise National Forest; W. T. Lockwood, manager of the Boise Chamber of Commerce; B. W. Oppenheim and Donald S. Whitehead, Idaho scholars and former legislators.

WHAT OF THE SCHOOLS? ASKS STATE COMMISSIONER

passed it on to local school districts. Since these early days the state has never reassumed any responsibility for elementary and secondary education, and until very recent years the county has contributed nothing to shcool support.

"Thus it has come about that we have our present local districts with all of these startling inequalities. In the meantime, nearly all of the other states in the Union have recognized the fact that education is a state responsibility and moved forward along that line. Governor Al Smith of New York added a total of $29,000,000 annually of state money to the support of schools in New York. Delaware, as a state, is now one district for the administration and support of her schools. Other states like Oklahoma and North Carolina, have provided special state taxes to the school funds. Idaho still clings to the local district as the taxing and administrative unit.

"What are the suggested remedies for conditions that confront us? How may we give every child an adequate educational opportunity and at the same time more equitably distribute the burden? Many have attempted to answer these questions. May I but summarize the suggestions that have been offered all of which have been put into successful operation in other states:

"1. Consolidation of schools whenever such will bring about economy and better educational opportunity.

"2. A state equalization fund, scientifically distributed, so as to assist the districts, when and only when such districts have conformed to standards set up as to area, number of pupils served, assessed valuation and local levy.

"3. A county-wide tax sufficient to support a minimum program in each standard district.

"4. A strict budget system with legal restrictions on excessive expenditures.

"5. Higher certification requirements, longer tenure of teacher service, and more adequate supervision.

"As I have said, these are the most important suggestions that have been proposed to remedy the present school dilemma. It is evident to anyone who will study the school situation in Idaho even casually that something must be done if our schools are to exist. May we not all push aside our prejudices, our selfishness, and our local pride long enough to look the facts in the face, and do a statesmanlike job of school legislation during this winter's legislative session?"

FORD LEADS COMPETITORS IN SALE OF AUTOMOBILES

For the fourth consecutive month since volume deliveries of the new Ford V-8 began, Ford led all competitors in September in sales of passenger cars, commercial cars and trucks, J. W. Emerson, local dealer announced today.

In these four months, Ford passenger car sales were 39.93 per cent greater than those of its nearest competitor, while Ford commercial sales were 27.40 in excess of sales of that competitor.

Ford's total of passenger car sales for the four-month period was 150,831 units which compared with 107,788 for its nearest competitor, while Ford commercial car and truck sales totaled 25,632 units as against 20,120 for that competitor.

For the year to date, despite the fact that Ford was virtually out of the market for five of the nine months Ford sales of all units, both passenger and commercial totaled 263,580 as against 340,627 for its nearest competitor.

In September, Ford sales of all units totaled 32,440, or 33.5 per cent of all makes as compared with 26,965 or 27.8 per cent, for its nearest competitor. Total sales of all makes were 96,943.
