LANE FOLK

JIM BALCH,
FOOD AND BEVERAGE SUPERVISOR,
BOISE

When the head coach at Boise State University recruited a junior college football player from Huntington Beach, he promised Jim Balch he'd fall in love with the Northwest. In return, Jim promised his coach a National Championship. As history will attest, Jim has never left the Northwest. Today, he's the head coach of our Boise Food and Beverage Department, which tackles the job of servicing hundreds of flights a week.

Jim and his staff make sure your Starbucks coffee is freshly brewed, your white wine is perfectly chilled, and your snack is always fresh.

As long as people like Jim are a part of our team, everybody wins.

from the director welcome

Dear Friends,

To know Lionel Hampton and to talk with him most every day over the past 17 years was an incredible honor and a great experience for me. He continually expressed his love and concern for the students and music directors who have been so dedicated to teaching and learning this music, jazz.

I spoke to Hamp just two days before his passing. He said, "Doc, when it's time, be ready to carry the torch." All those who knew Hamp and all of us who have been touched by his music, will help me carry the very bright torch of jazz to future generations. This Festival is dedicated to Hamp's memory, to the gifts he gave us all, and to his eternal influence on jazz.

This is our 36th year – with many more to come. Please accept our gratitude for your support of this true American art form and this event, the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. I know that the future of jazz is in good hands with our collective efforts to learn, preserve, perform and celebrate this powerful music. Through his music, Hamp's spirit and inspiration will live forever.

Warmly,

Dr. Lynn J. Skinner
Executive Director
Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival

from the president welcome

It is a special privilege to welcome you to one of the University of Idaho's greatest traditions—the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. Not only will you meet some of the brightest stars in jazz today but also those destined to be stars tomorrow. This year will be especially meaningful as we pay tribute to the great Lionel Hampton.

The Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival is the only event of its kind in the world. Now in its 36th year, the Festival has provided the opportunity for elementary, junior high school, high school, and college students to visit the University of Idaho to share four extraordinary days with legendary jazz greats.

We are committed to continuing Lionel Hampton's legacy and his passion for learning and teaching, as we embrace America's jazz tradition. And we will carry on his commitment to encourage and develop the talents of student vocalists and instrumentalists of all ages.

Jazz is alive and well at the University of Idaho! Please enjoy your time with us.

Robert A. Hoover
President
University of Idaho

from the provost welcome

Welcome to the University of Idaho and the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival.

As you expand your musical knowledge this week, we invite you to meet and learn from the world's greatest jazz musicians. The Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival is an example of the University of Idaho's commitment to providing the finest education, one that is enriched by special guests and artists, visiting professors, and our own talented faculty. As students, you have the unique opportunity of not only displaying your talents, but also enhancing your skills through workshops conducted by our distinguished artists and critics.

As you begin to make plans for college, we invite you to consider the University of Idaho. As a UI student, you will have the opportunity to continue your musical studies and enjoyment under the direction of our superb musical faculty. That offer is yours whether you plan to obtain a music degree, or simply wish to enrich your overall education by including an occasional music course.

I wish each of you success as you compete and learn this week, and hope you enjoy your experience at the University of Idaho.

Why is the Black Book Paradise/Valley's most used phone directory?

The 2002-03 edition of the Black Book is the only directory that covers ALL of Paradise/Valley. Features such as local area maps, a restaurant menu guide and full color display ads in the yellow pages have resulted in an impressive 97.1% usage rate. Combined with lower advertising rates our advertisers get more for their advertising dollar. Locally owned and operated our employees work and live in the Inland Northwest. As a result, the revenue produced by our company is put back into the local economy.

A TRIBUTE TO LIONEL HAMPTON

MAC 1008

Performing songs closely associated with Lionel Hampton, Terry Gibbs captures the spirit and vibrancy of his hero and mentor, lovingly known as "Gates". Gibbs also offers new songs, which he wrote in Hampton's memory. Fans of Gibbs will be excited to hear him on vocals for the first time in more than 50 years (three times!), and perform a new song playing the piano as he would a vibraphone -with just two fingers- a rare technique, perfected by Hampton.

INTERNATIONAL JAZZ COLLECTIONS

The International Jazz Collections of the Lionel Hampton Center is pleased to present chances to explore the world of jazz history and the riches of its holdings during the 2003 Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. Join us for special exhibits on jazz greats, lectures by visiting jazz historians from the Smithsonian Institution, the Library of Congress, Tulane University, the Brubeck Institute, and the Armstrong Archives, open houses and events, and much more. The door to the rich past of jazz is opening up to you. Come in and enjoy a unique piece of our cultural heritage.

Established in 1992 with the donation of the historical materials of jazz legend Lionel Hampton, the International Jazz Collections of the Lionel Hampton Center at the University of Idaho has grown to be one of the significant jazz archives in the world. Now housing the complete collections of jazz critic Leonard Feather, trombonist Al Grey and trumpeter Conte Candoli, as well as pieces from the collections of vocalists Joe Williams and Ella Fitzgerald, trumpeters Dizzy Gillespie and Doc Cheatham, pianist Jane Jarvis, publisher and collector Neil McCaffrey, and band leader Stan Kenton, the Collections are a growing repository dedicated to the preservation, promotion and study of one of the world's great art forms.

The Collections currently house over 500 scores, 10,000 recordings (including the Carl M. Perricone and Bernie Strassberg collections), 45 cubic feet of letters and papers, 5,000 photographs, 17 instruments and numerous personal items of historical significance including over 35 years of materials and recordings associated with the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. Through the Collections' educational programs and partnerships with the Jazz Festival and other cultural institutions, the archive will be made accessible and available for study and enjoyment by students, jazz and music enthusiasts, musicians and scholars world-wide.

VCA desks for the real world

The ML consoles embody our mission to make previously exclusive technologies affordable to people on a real world budget. These mixers have changed the rules for VCA desks, forever raising the pro audio industry's price / performance expectations.

→ ML3000

→ ML4000

→ ML5000

ML3000 / ML4000 / ML5000 features:

- 8 VCA Groups / Giving you control of any number of channels from a single fader, including control of all post fade sends
- Front-of-house / Monitors / Group / Aux mode switches let you use the MLs as full function front-of-house mixers or full function monitor consoles
- LCRplus Panning / Paired blend and pan controls on channels and groups allow you to position signals across the C and LR busses

Advanced Mic Preamp / The ML pre-amp uses a new custom made potentiometer and in addition to achieving the lowest possible noise and THD figures, we've eliminated inter-modulation distortion - something that makes many other products sound harsh

Sound Music Publications

The best in vocal jazz!

Our philosophy – it's a little different: we trust you. What does that mean? When you buy a chart, we'll send you the master copy to photocopy as often as you'd like, for as long as you'd like.

Our product – we offer the best in vocal jazz music. How can we make that claim? It's simple: we have the nation's best writers and arrangers, and they are committed to meeting your musical needs.

Our ordering process – you have several options. You can place your order using our easy and secure online shopping system on our website. Or, give us a call, email, or fax. We're here to help make this process as easy and as enjoyable as possible for you.

Remembering HAMP (1908 - 2002)

In the days following the death of Lionel Hampton, many journalists offered retrospectives to the undisputed King of the Vibraphone and genius of jazz. They recounted well his musical accomplishments, his recordings, and the awards and recognition he received. They cited his association with the greats in the world of jazz, his role as worldwide ambassador of jazz and goodwill, and his involvement in many philanthropic endeavors. They discussed how his indomitable spirit, musical brilliance and love for jazz came to break racial barriers, change the nature of music, launch careers and spread the power of jazz across continents. But it may have been missed how Hamp's passion for education and love for friends introduced jazz to whole new generations, changed a University, and elevated an emerging festival.

Chris Gulhaugen was a trombonist in Hampton's New York Big Band. He was also a graduate of the School of Music at the University of Idaho. That association helps in understanding how Hamp first came to the University's Jazz Festival in 1984. As always Hamp played up a storm, blowing the audience out of their seats. When it was over, Hamp commented, "You had more kids at this concert than I have seen in years. I've been playing all over the world, and I'm really concerned that the kids aren't coming out. But you're doing something here." He started suggesting other jazz artists who should be at the Festival, saying, "Man, they got to see this."

He introduced us to the best: Ray Brown, Milt Hinton, Dizzy Gillespie, Gerry Mulligan, Ernestine Anderson, Betty Carter, Jon Faddis, Wynton Marsalis, Branford Marsalis, Carmen McRae, Benny Golson, Art Farmer, Al Grey, Conte Candoli, Terrance Blanchard, Freddie Hubbard, Cedar Walton and the many, many great artists joining us this year and in past years. His inspiration guided the Festival's growth. The student competitions now attract thousands of students. The artists' workshops add an essential element to learning about jazz and life. The Jazz in the Schools program introduces world-class jazz to students throughout the area. He took an active role in developing scholarships for the University's School of Music, named in honor of Hamp in 1987. This year is the opening of the International Jazz Collections, an amazing archive of jazz history. The School of Music is expanding its jazz curricula. And soon will come the construction of the Lionel Hampton Center's education and performance facility. During this special celebration of the life and jazz of Lionel Hampton – in the middle of Idaho, in the middle of February – look around at what Hamp's vision has inspired.

Hamp attended every Festival since that appearance in 1984. It was his favorite time of year and he made sure to be at the Festival in 2002. Sadly, it was to be his last public performance. He will be missed, but his presence will be felt now and in the future. The University of Idaho – through its many programs, through your participation here today, through the music of jazz – is honored by the privilege and challenge of furthering Hamp's legacy of love, education and inspiration.

Remembering RAY

(1926 - 2002)

When one thinks of the bass, one immediately thinks of Ray Brown, the master of the instrument. When one thinks of someone who shared his talent graciously and without reservation, one thinks of Ray Brown. And when one thinks of a dedicated jazz educator, mentor and leader, one thinks of Ray Brown. The list of his musical accomplishments is exceeded only by the list of those whose careers he helped to launch and enhance.

And with his death in July of 2002, the world lost one of its finest, the jazz world lost perhaps its greatest and the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival lost another great friend. Few people gave more to this Festival, and to the education and encouragement of students and emerging artists than Ray. For many years, Ray's trio was the "house trio", accompanying virtually all of the artists each night – and helping the student winners in their concerts. He pushed for expansion of the artist workshops and made sure he led by example – offering several workshops each year.

His talent was not just musical, it was also in how he talked to people, connected on human terms and provided his honest, and sometimes blunt opinion. He said what he thought and meant what he said. It was this honesty that made Ray's words and music so special. He taught a lot of students about music. He taught a lot of people about life.

RAWLS Lou Rawls

As a singer, Lou Rawls remains one of the greats. His unique, instantly recognizable voice graces many albums as his concerts continue to sell out around the world. Rawls first exposure to music was in a church choir when he was seven years old, but he was most influenced by Chicago's Regal Theater where he went to see the great black entertainers of the day, including Billy Eckstine, Arthur Prysock and Joe Williams. Rawls joined The Pilgrim Travelers, a touring gospel group, which was the experience that laid the foundation for his style and ability to relate to an audience. His big break came in 1959 when he was performing at Pandora's Box Coffee Shop in Los Angeles. A producer with Capitol Records asked if he wanted to make a record. The stunned singer did an audition tape and soon signed a contract. He began to enjoy a loyal and growing following. "But I knew nothing about the business," he admits. "I was in transition from gospel music, and I had a lot of trial and error in learning. I was lucky to hook up with good people." With each new album or set of concert dates there is a fresh enthusiasm that seems to come directly from his soul. Rawls continues to perform hundreds of concert dates each year. "And I'm always ready," he says. "When I'm on the road I click into my 'show business attitude' and gear myself up for the evening." Although vocalist/performer/philanthropist and Grammy Award-winner Lou Rawls knows the taste of success very well, he is always looking for the next challenge.

TERRY Clark Terry

As a trumpet and flugelhorn player, Clark Terry is instantly recognizable, something which can be said of relatively few musicians in the whole history of music. Clark began his musical career on a coiled-up length of water hose, and being fascinated by the trumpet at an early age, he decided to play in his high school band. During the years that followed, as his ability developed in local bands, there was one encounter he never forgot. A youngster came up to him at a dance and began asking questions about playing the horn. Preoccupied with other matters, Clark did not pay much attention, but the kid was not discouraged and went on to make a distinguished career for himself. It was Miles Davis, and though he and Clark have often laughed about the incident, Miles always credits Clark with being a source of inspiration. In November of 1951, Clark became a member of Duke Ellington's orchestra where he was a featured soloist for eight years. "Everything previous was like elementary school," Clark claims. With this band, on tour and on record, he became internationally famous.

JONES Hank Jones

Jazz pianist-composer, Hank Jones, was born in Pontiac Michigan in 1918. He played with local bands in Michigan, Ohio and New York only 13 years later. When he was 25, he moved to New York City to play with trumpeter Hot Lips Page's combo, and it was with this group that Jones made the first of what would amount to thousands of recordings, as a soloist, an accompanist, and a group member. Jones's versatility has kept him in constant demand as an accompanist and as an ensemble member throughout his career. He has played with Coleman Hawkins, Andy Kirk, Billy Eckstine, Artie Shaw, Johnny Hodge, and Benny Goodman, among others. As an accompanist Jones had a five-year association with Ella Fitzgerald. As a 15-year member of the CBS Orchestra, the range of his work was even further extended, as Jones performed with the vocalists Patti Page, Julie Andrews, Andy Williams, Barbara Streisand, Harry Belafonte, and many more. Even Broadway has felt the touch of Jones' versatile musicianship. For over three years, he was conductor and pianist for the musical "Ain't Misbehavin'."

Freddy Cole

Lionel Fredrick Cole was born on October 15, 1931, the youngest of five children. His three elder brothers, Eddie, Ike, and Nat were all musicians. "I started playing the piano at 5 or 6," Freddy remembers. "Music was all around me." In the Chicago home of his youth, visitors included Duke Ellington, Count Basie, and Lionel Hampton. He also credits Billy Eckstine as a major influence. After a possible career with the NFL was shelved due to a hand injury, he began playing and singing in Chicago clubs as a teenager. Although he was ready to hit the road at age 18, his mother intervened and he continued his education at the Roosevelt Institute of Chicago. It was after Freddy moved to New York in 1951 that he began to successfully lay the groundwork for a career that continues to flourish today. Freddy Cole, vocals; Curtis Boyd, drums; Gerald Byrd, guitar; Zachary Pride, bass

Paquito D'Rivera

Born in Havana on June 4th, 1948, Paquito was a child prodigy who began his musical studies at the age of five under the tutelage of his father, Tito. At the age of six, he was already performing in public, and at the age of seven he became the youngest artist to endorse a musical instrument when he signed on with Selmer. In the early 70's, Paquito among others formed the group "Irakere", whose explosive mixture of jazz, rock, classical, and traditional Cuban music had certainly never been heard before. Irakere's performance at the Newport/New York festivals and the Montreux festival, caused a real sensation. They made history as the first post-Castro Cuban musicians to record for an American label. In May of 1980, while on tour in Spain, D'Rivera sought asylum with the American Embassy, and left his homeland forever. Since arriving in the United States, Paquito has seen his career explode and performed with such renowned artists as Carmen McRae, McCoy Tyner, Toots Thielemans and Dizzy Gillespie.

Roy Hargrove

Roy Hargrove displayed a magical musical aptitude from an early age. Playing music through elementary and junior high school, Hargrove got his break when he met the man that would galvanize his dreams of a professional career, Wynton Marsalis. When Marsalis heard Hargrove play at Dallas Arts Magnet High School he was so impressed he invited the youngster to sit in with his band during the group's engagement at Fort Worth's Caravan of Dreams. The elder musician arranged special studies for the teenager and enlisted the assistance of manager and producer Larry Clothier, who arranged musical trips for Hargrove to Europe, Japan, and New York. By the time he graduated from high school in 1988, Hargrove had sailed through the rites of passage right to the top of the jazz community. He earned a scholarship from Downbeat magazine to attend Berklee School of Music and in the winter of 1989 he moved to New York and enrolled in the program. Roy Hargrove, trumpet; Dwayne Bruno, bass; Willie Jones III, drums; Eric Lewis, piano; Justin Robinson, saxophone.

the artists

Bucky Pizzarelli

John "Bucky" Pizzarelli was born in Paterson, New Jersey where he learned to play the guitar from his uncle and a man by the name of Peter Domenick. His career spans from 1943 with the Vaughn Monroe Orchestra, to the White House Concerts with Benny Goodman, Frank Sinatra, and Claude "Fiddler" Williams. He was a staff musician with NBC and ABC, Skitch Henderson, Doc Severinson and Mitch Miller. He has appeared at Carnegie Hall with George Barnes and Les Paul, and performed at the Boston Pops in duet with Stephane Grappelli. Apart from playing in jazz festivals around the world, he served on the faculty of William Paterson University from 1971 to 1988. He has recently appeared on the soundtrack of Woody Allen's movie "Sweet and Lowdown".

Slide Hampton

Slide Hampton was born near Pittsburgh in 1932, but spent most of his childhood in Indianapolis. His father, a musician, teacher and artist, led a family band in which Slide participated. It was this training, along with his exposure to and the influence of other Indianapolis musicians such as J.J. Johnson and Wes Montgomery, which enabled him to begin his own professional career at the age of twenty. For the next several years, Slide gained invaluable experience working in the bands of Art Blakey, Dizzy Gillespie and Barry Harris. He was also developing his skills as a composer and arranger and was able to contribute to the repertoires of many of these groups. Slide regularly performs with his own quartet in jazz clubs and appears as guest arranger and soloist at concerts and major festivals. He directs music clinics at many universities throughout the United States, rehearses and conducts student bands, and appears as guest soloists. He also lectures on the history of jazz and the significance of Afro-American music in our society. Currently, Slide is engaged in a long-term effort to develop and expand the musical literature and the technical possibilities for the trombone. His skills as a soloist, ensemble player, teacher, composer, arranger and conductor are much regarded by serious, professional musicians and members of the jazz community.

John Clayton

Double bassist John Clayton has gained prominence as performer, composer, and arranger in both the jazz and classical fields. After studying bass under the esteemed Ray Brown, John was bassist for the television series "The Mancini Generation" and then began a two year association with Count Basie and his orchestra as a player, while developing his compositional and arranging skills. John relocated to Los Angeles in 1984 following five years as principal bassist with the Amsterdam Philharmonic Orchestra. He currently conducts, composes, and co-leads the Clayton-Hamilton Jazz Orchestra, receiving a 1991 Grammy nomination for his composition "Brush This" from "Groove Shop" (Capri), their debut recording. Enthusiastic popular and critical acclaim for "Heart and Soul" (Capri), the Orchestra's second release, continues to enhance John's sterling reputation as a multifaceted jazzman.

Kenny Barron

Kenny Barron's unmatched ability to mesmerize audiences with his elegant playing, sensitive melodies and infectious rhythms is what inspired The Los Angeles Times to name him "one of the top jazz pianists in the world" and Jazz Weekly to call him "The most lyrical piano player of our time." Kenny was born in 1943 and while a teenager, started playing professionally with Mel Melvin's orchestra. This local band also featured Barron's brother Bill, the late tenor saxophonist. Dizzy Gillespie hired Barron in 1962 without even hearing him play a note. It was in Dizzy's band where Kenny developed an appreciation for Latin and Caribbean rhythms. After five years with Dizzy, Barron played with Freddie Hubbard, Stanley Turrentine, Milt Jackson, and Buddy Rich. By 1973 Kenny joined the faculty at Rutgers University as professor of music. He held this tenure until 2000, mentoring many of today's young talents including David Sanchez, Terence Blanchard and Regina Bell. In 1974 Kenny recorded his first album as a leader for the Muse label, entitled "Sunset To Dawn." This was to be the first in over 40 recordings. Throughout the 80's, Barron collaborated with the great tenor saxophonist Stan Getz, touring with his quartet and recording several legendary albums. Kenny Barron's own recordings for Verve have earned him nine Grammy nominations, and Barron consistently wins the jazz critics and readers polls, including Downbeat, JazzTimes and Jazziz magazines. He has been named Best Pianist by the Jazz Journalists Association every year for the past four years and was as a finalist in the prestigious 2001 Jazz Par International Jazz Award.

Jeff Hamilton

Originality is what versatile drummer Jeff Hamilton brings to the groups he performs with and is one of the reasons why he is constantly in demand, whether he is recording or performing. Born in Richmond, Indiana, Jeff grew up listening to his parent's big band records and at the age of eight began playing drums along with Oscar Peterson records. He attended Indiana University and later studied with John von Ohlen. Jeff was influenced by Gene Krupa, Buddy Rich, Mel Lewis, "Philly" Joe Jones and Shelly Manne. In 1974, he got his first big break playing with the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra. He then joined Lionel Hampton's Band until 1975 when he, along with John Clayton, became members of the Monty Alexander Trio. He attained a childhood goal in 1977 when he joined Woody Herman and the Thundering Herd, with whom he made several recordings. In 1988, Jeff began his association with the Ray Brown Trio until 1995 when he left to concentrate on his own trio. In addition to many recordings with Ray Brown, Jeff has made over 150 recordings with artists such as Natalie Cole, Rosemary Clooney, Barbara Streisand, Mel Torme, Benny Carter, George Shearing, Milt Jackson, Gene Harris, Diana Krall and many more.

Lewis Nash

Born in Phoenix, Arizona, Lewis developed an early interest in music and began playing the drums at age 10. At 18 he was performing with local jazz groups and by the time he was 21 he was the "first call" drummer in the Phoenix area. In 1981 he moved to New York and joined the trio of jazz vocalist Betty Carter, whom he recorded with on several albums. Outside of his many touring and recording accomplishments, thanks to the sponsorship of Sonor Drums, Sabian Cymbals and Regal Tip Drumsticks, Lewis has become a sought after jazz educator. His lectures, clinics, and workshops at conservatories, music schools, colleges, elementary and high schools and community centers throughout the country are as much in demand as his bandstand and studio work. Lewis Nash: Rhythm is indeed his business.

Russell Malone

Born November 8, 1963, in Albany, Georgia, guitarist Russell Malone's first exposure to music was in the church, when guitar was incorporated into the music. Russell found himself fascinated by it, and by the time he was five, his mother had bought him a toy guitar and he began imitating the church musicians. At the age of ten, Russell developed an interest in blues and country, but after seeing Benny Goodman perform on television, it was jazz that Russell ultimately chose to play. He became a self-taught player, influenced by such guitarists as B.B. King, Wes Montgomery and George Benson. As Leonard Feather wrote, "Malone is destined to make a powerful mark in the evolution of jazz guitar." Russell has recorded and toured with vocalist/pianist Diana Krall through her Grammy nominated albums, All For You.

George Mraz

A native of the Czech Republic, George Mraz was born in 1944. He began his musical studies on violin at age seven and started playing jazz in high school on alto saxophone. He attended the Prague Conservatory in 1961 studying bass violin and graduating in 1966. During that time he was performing with the top jazz groups in Prague. After finishing his studies George went to Munich and played clubs and concerts throughout Germany and Middle Europe. In 1968 Mraz came to Boston on a scholarship to the Berklee School of Music and played at Lennie's on the Turnpike and the Jazz Workshop with such artists as Clark Terry, Herbie Hancock, Joe Williams and Carmen McRae. In the winter of 1969, George got a call from Dizzy Gillespie to join his group in New York. After a few weeks with Gillespie, George went on the road with Oscar Peterson for about two years. After that he worked with the Tad Jones/Mel Lewis Orchestra for the next six years. In the late seventies, George worked with Stan Getz, New York Jazz Quartet, Zoot Sims, Bill Evans, John Abercrombie and for over 10 years with Tommy Flanagan. Recently, George has been working with Joe Henderson, Hank Jones, Grand Slam, McCoy Tyner, Directions in Music and doing his own projects. Mraz has recorded with Oscar Peterson, McCoy Tyner, Hank Jones, Charles Mingus, Lionel Hampton, Woody Herman, Dizzy Gillespie, Grover Washington Jr., Art Farmer, Carmen McRae, and many others.

David Fathead Newman

David Newman was born on February 24, 1933 and grew up in Dallas. After leaving high school, he found gigs in local bands and began studying near Dallas, on a scholarship from his church. After two years of college, David decided to go on the road full time with Buster Smith. On tour, David met Ray Charles, who was working as a sideman with another group. They immediately bonded, both musically and as friends. Ray soon started his own band and called on David to be a part of his group. Newman began a ten-year association with the Ray Charles band, starting as a baritone saxophonist and becoming the band's star tenor soloist. In the 80's, David began touring regularly with his own band both in the States and internationally. He recorded some more for Atlantic in the mid 80's and did a live recording "Fire, Live At The Village Vanguard" featuring Stanley Turrentine and Hank Crawford as guest artists. In 1990 David was nominated for a Grammy for "Bluesiana Triangle," a collaboration with Dr. John and Art Blakey.

Ethel Ennis

Ethel Ennis has been called the “cultural treasure” of her native Baltimore – and with a good reason. Ennis was born in the depths of the depression on the third floor of a Baltimore rowhouse, and began playing piano and singing while still a student in high school. Public recognition came when she was a teenager, and by the time she was 22, she had made her first national recording on the old Jubilee label. The record is still re-issued from time to time. International acclaim came to Ennis in 1958, when she first toured northern Europe and performed at the Brussels World Fair with the all star Benny Goodman band. She quickly became the most celebrated jazz-oriented singer from Baltimore since Billie Holiday. During the 1960’s Ennis made a number of recordings for RCA, and crossed the US and Europe on dozens of tours. During the 1970’s, Ennis participated in the Baltimore urban renaissance with frequent downtown concerts. She became widely known for contributing her singing talent to a diverse assortment of charitable and cultural events.

Benny Powell

Trombonist Benny Powell is one of the most versatile and imaginative artists on the contemporary music scene. He combines innumerable experiences which firmly root him in the jazz tradition, with a driving creativity, to expand the horizons of modern music. Strongly dedicated to keeping the jazz tradition alive, Powell devotes much of his time to education endeavors. Powell first established himself on the national music scene during a 12 year tenure with the Count Basie Orchestra. Benny Powell has proved himself an incredibly prolific and inventive trombonist throughout his career, which began, appropriately, in New Orleans, the legendary “birthplace of jazz.”

Benny Green

Paying homage to one’s mentors and predecessors is an established rite of passage among jazz artists. Rising above one’s influences to make a unique statement of individual artistry is the next step in a journey that few players are able to traverse. Not so for Benny Green, the piano virtuoso who has long since stepped out on his own after having graduated from Art Blakey’s Jazz Messengers training ground. He has been dazzling listeners and earning international respect for over two decades and several records as a leader. Like his playing, Benny casts a unique perspective on his choice of repertoire on his first solo piano album, Green’s Blues. “After playing in the bands of two of the strongest bassists ever, bassist Ray Brown and Art Blakey, I have longed to take on the challenges to swing on my own in the pure medium of solo piano - without the safety net of a powerful rhythm section to propel the music.” He is possessed of a confidence and poise that comes from years of studying the masters like “Fats” Waller, Art Tatum, Erroll Garner and Bud Powell. But it’s Benny’s ability to take a tune and make it his own that has elevated him from student to master. Take Duke Ellington’s “It Don’t Mean a Thing” for instance and listen to the way in which Green maintains such a keen sense of melody, harmony and rhythm, all the while adding some very playful, personal touches.

the artists

Bill Watrous

A jazz trombonist who is among the best on his instrument, Bill Watrous has played with Quincy Jones, Woody Herman and Count Basie and was a member of the group "Ten Wheel Drive". He has recorded with many top name artists, including Frank Sinatra, Quincy Jones, Ella Fitzgerald, Peggy Lee and Ray Charles, to name only a few. Bill was a staff musician for CBS and a member of the bands for the Dick Cavett and Merv Griffin Shows. He has been named number one jazz trombonist for seven consecutive years in Down Beat's Reader's Poll and won the magazine's Critics Awards twice. Bill is an active performer and has recorded nine albums - his second was nominated for a Grammy.

Pete Candoli

Within the music world, Pete Candoli is regarded as one of the most precise and eloquent interpreters of jazz. Although Pete is best known for the jazz trumpet, his music background and experience is as varied as it could be. He is easily expert at classical music and pop. He has conducted music seminars and concerts at a number of universities and colleges when he is not playing in a concert, nightclub, or jazz festival around the world. Pete has recorded albums and singles with a number of others, including Igor Stravinsky, Frank Sinatra, and Quincy Jones. He has composed, conducted, and arranged music for Judy Garland, Ella Fitzgerald, Peggy Lee, and many others.

Terry Gibbs

Terry Gibbs began his career at the age of 12 after winning Major Bowes Amateur Hour Contest. He spent many years as a drummer and percussionist playing gigs until his affinity for bebop motivated him to turn down a scholarship to Julliard as a timpanist and return to the vibes. After six decades of inspirational vibe playing, Gibbs is recognized as one of the best ever to grace the genre of bop. In 1950, he formed his own band where he won acclaim as "#1 Vibraphonist in the World" in both Downbeat and Metro-nome polls from 1950 to 1955. Gibbs also played a role in breaking down the sex barrier in music, using pianists Terry Pollard, who he often featured in vibe duos, and Alice McLeod. Settling in Los Angeles in 1957, he formed his big band known as "The Dream Band." Comprised of Mel Lewis, Joe Maini, Frank Rosolino, Conte Candoli and Richie Kamuca, they were named "Best Band in the World" in the Downbeat 1962 Critic's Poll. He later served as music director/composer for the ABC TV show, Operation Entertainment and for Steve Allen, building a substantial ASCAP rating. With 65 albums to his credit, winner of three major jazz polls and creator of 300+ compositions, Gibbs has left an indelible mark in the world of vibes. Terry Gibbs is a Yamaha Performing Artist/Clinician.

Appearance of Terry Gibbs sponsored by Mack Avenue Records

Claudio Roditi

Integrating post-bop elements and Brazilian rhythmic concepts into his palette with ease, Claudio Roditi plays with power and lyricism. This versatility keeps the trumpeter/flugelhornist in demand as a leader, a studio musician and a sideman. Born in 1946 in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Roditi began his musical studies when he was just five years old. By the time he was twelve, he had already become a serious jazz listener. Eight years later, he was named a finalist in the International Jazz Competition in Vienna, and the following year, he moved to Mexico City where he was active on the contemporary music scene. Moving still closer to New York, Roditi relocated to Boston in 1970 and studied at Berklee College of Music. Later he joined the faculty of the School of Contemporary Music and rounded out his schedule with club and concert performances. In 1976, Roditi finally made the move to the jazz mecca of the world, New York City. Upon arriving, Roditi performed and/or recorded with Joe Henderson, Charlie Rouse, Herbie Mann, Tito Puente, Paquito D'Rivera, and McCoy Tyner, among others. Beginning in 1989, Roditi traveled for several years as a member of Dizzy Gillespie's United Nation Orchestra, and more recently, he has performed with the Dizzy Gillespie Alumni All-Star Big Band. Roditi's solo work on Symphonic Bossa Nova with Ettore Stratta and the Royal Philharmonic earned him a Grammy nomination in 1995. Currently a resident of New Jersey, he leads his own band and tours worldwide with several leading jazz groups.

Monty Alexander

Monty Alexander was born and raised in Kingston, Jamaica. While still a teenager, he had the opportunity to enjoy the performances of Louis Armstrong and Nat "King" Cole at the Carib theater in Jamaica. His style of playing was deeply affected by their joyful gospel of jazz. In the summer of 1963, Monty played in Las Vegas, Nevada with Art Mooney's orchestra. He was observed by Jilly Rizzo and his friend, Frank Sinatra. Jilly hired him to work in his club "Jilly's" in New York City. It was at Jilly's that he met Milt Jackson, who hired him to work with him. Soon thereafter, he began an association with bassist Ray Brown which lasted for many years. He also performed with other giants in jazz, including Dizzy Gillespie, Clark Terry, and Sonny Rollins. Since 1964, Monty has recorded and played on movie sound tracks and albums with Quincy Jones, Clint Eastwood on the film, "Bird", and Natalie Cole in a tribute to her father Nat "King" Cole. Monty Alexander is now performing in a variety of contexts: as a soloist, in a trio format, with orchestras and big bands, and a return to his roots with the unique jazz reggae sounds.

Ernie Andrews

Ernie Andrews has a raw vitality that communicates instantly. He exudes a "reach 'em by preachin'" energy, influenced by his gospel roots. He was discovered by songwriter Joe Greene in 1947, when he won an amateur show at the Lincoln Theatre in Los Angeles. Greene was so impressed that he immediately took Andrews into the studio to record. With a 300,000 seller hit, "Soothe Me" with "Wrap It Up And Put It Away" on the flip side, Ernie Andrews became a singer to be reckoned with. Early influences included Ella Fitzgerald, Billy Eckstine, Al Hibbler, Johnny Mercer, Jimmy Rushing and "Big" Joe Turner. Several years ago Andrews returned to the scene of his prime — to the Gaity Club across from the Lincoln Theatre — as his life was being profiled in an award-winning documentary, "Ernie Andrews' Blues on Central Avenue," directed by Lois Shelton. In 1989, he recorded with Gene Harris and the Philip Morris Superband, "Live at Town Hall NYC" for Concord, and subsequently toured with the band. Engagements followed with Ray Brown at the Blue Note. In 1993, 1994 and 1996, he performed at club venues all over the world, including Europe, Asia, Australia, and throughout the United States, Canada and South America. With his special strut, unique mannerisms and a performance that portrays the gamut of emotional experience, he consistently moves audiences to standing ovations.

Dee Daniels

Dee Daniels offers the jazz aficionado an ultimate treat – jazz served up with full-bodied silky tones which soar to the height and capture the depth of her four octave range. Daniels' style was born in her stepfather's church choir in Oakland, California, honed through the R&B era and brought to full fruition during a five-year stay in Europe. During her stay, she had many wonderful opportunities to perform with 'Living Legends' as well as the 'Young Lions' of Jazz such as Toots Theilemans, Johnny Griffin, and Monty Alexander. Two of Dee's personal highlights were singing the Blues with the divine Sarah Vaughan in Holland, and Gospel with the great Joe Williams in Germany. Dee has performed in West Africa, Egypt, Australia, Hong Kong and Japan, as well as throughout Europe and North America. Dee has cultivated a diverse career which has seen her on the theater stage in the musical comedy, "Wang Dang Doodle" to television. She has also established herself as a jazz vocalist in demand by symphony orchestras across the country for symphonic pops programs. A respected clinician, Dee sincerely believes in sharing her knowledge and experience with young singers/musicians. In 2001, she established the "Dee Daniels Jazz Vocal scholarship" at the Capilano College in North Vancouver, BC.

Lembit Saarsalu

Born in 1948, Lembit became interested in jazz as a result of the international Tallin Jazz Festival held in 1967. Determined to become a tenor saxophone player, he independently mastered the playing of the instrument. He finished Tallin music school as a clarinet player in the class of the veteran Estonian jazzman Alexander Ryabor. His jazz quartet made a successful debut during the Tbilisi jazz festival in 1978 and soon thereafter, the first "giant" was recorded. One side of the recording represented Estonian national dances and songs. For Saarsalu, the Estonian national and professional musical tradition has always remained an inspirational environment, although his ears are open to the whole world of music. He performed in Hungary, Bulgaria, and Cuba, bringing back with him impressions of musical traditions of different nations. In 1984 he met Leonid and performed on the international jazz festival in Prague. The following year they performed together at the Denets Jazz Festival and shortly thereafter in the Berlin Festival of "Jazz-Stage" with great success. The duo released their first recording which highlights their relationship with the national traditions, with jazz standards and with their own compositions.

Leonid Vintskevich

Born in 1949 in the town of Kursk, Leonid has played the piano since the age of seven. As a twenty-year-old student of the piano at the Kazan conservatory, he was able to hear the radio broadcast direct of Herman Lykhanov (horn, flute-horn) and Igor Brilya (piano). This performance made a strong and serious impression on him, influencing the conceptions of his own compositions of jazz music. He first turned to the classical style of jazz, then later became interested in studying new, avant-garde jazz. The second strong impression on this style was the folk choir of the Belgrade village of Fostchevatovo, in which he heard the harmony of Stravinsky's music. After finishing the conservatory, he taught at Kursk musical school. There, he established a stage jazz section and in 1976, he formed a professional jazz ensemble. Leonid later formed a duo with saxophone player Vladimir Konovalchev, which was highly successful. Then Leonid met Lembit. Both found in each other mutual interests and feelings. The duo form of musical improvisation exhibits a strong artistic expression, especially when each musician is tuned to the other and, remaining still himself, is absorbed in his partner.

Roberta Gambarini

Born in Torino, Italy from a family where jazz was very much appreciated and loved, she started listening to this music as a child. She began singing and performing at the age of 17 in jazz clubs around Northern Italy. In 1984 she took third place in a national jazz radio-TV competition, leading to performance opportunities at jazz festivals throughout Italy as well as recordings, the first of which featured pianist Mike Melillo. Some of the venues included Pompeii International Jazz Festival, Int. Jazz Meeting at the Lido in Venice (1985), National festivals in Forlì, Bologna, Bari, Milan, Siena Jazz (1986/87), Ancona Jazz (1988), Umbria Jazz at Teatro Morlacchi in Perugia, "Musicus Concentus" in Florence (1989), festival at the national Swiss radio in Lugano (1990), "Jazz in Verona" (1993), Int. Festival of Cardiff, Wales (1994), Bergamo Jazz (1995), Valtellina Jazz (1997), Pescara (1997). She has been leading her own groups and collaborated with many Italian musicians. In 1997 she worked with French Hammond organ player Emmanuel Bex touring jazz clubs throughout Italy. She has been performing in Jazz broadcasts on the national radio and TV channels and recorded since 1986 both under her own name and as a guest. In 1998 she came to the United States with a scholarship from the New England Conservatory in Boston. In October of the same year she took third place at the Thelonious Monk International Vocal Competition in Washington, D.C. Shortly after she moved to New York City, where she started performing at numerous venues around the U.S and abroad.

Igor Butman

Saxophonist Igor Butman's first jazz teacher was the Voice of America. Each night between 11:15 and midnight, what was often more static than jazz floated over the Iron Curtain by short-wave radio. To say that Igor Butman is the best jazz musician in Russia, is not enough. "Butman is a musician with a God-given talent," wrote Russia's leading newspaper. He emigrated to the United States in 1987 to pursue his dream of becoming a world-class jazz musician, and became a student of performance and composition at Berklee College of Music in Boston. Butman's group was one of only four officially recognized jazz bands in Moscow and repeatedly placed first in the Soviet Critics' Poll. While in Russia, he played with touring American musicians including Grover Washington, Jr., who took him under his wing, as well as Dave Brubeck, and Chick Corea. Since his emigration, Butman's career has moved straight ahead as a featured soloist with the Billy Taylor Quartet, the Walter Davis Jr. Quartet, the Monty Alexander Quintet, and actor/musician Michael Moriarty's Quintet. Butman has performed at almost every major jazz festival, such as the JVC Jazz Festival in New York, the Boston Globe Festival, the Montreal Jazz Festival, and several appearances at the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival.

Five Play

A spirited new quintet has arrived in the music world. It's a group steeped in the history of jazz but infused with the progressive harmonies of today. Like the Benny Goodman Quartet, Artie Shaw's Gramercy Five, Bob Crosby and the Bob Cats, Tommy Dorsey and the Clam Bake Seven and Woody Herman's Woodchoppers, Five Play was also derived from a larger aggregation. The critically acclaimed jazz orchestra Sherrie Maricle and Diva has selected five of its "all stars" to carry small group jazz into the next century. Although the group is based in New York City, Sherrie Maricle (drums) is the group's only American, the remaining musicians create a miniature "United Nations" of jazz: Karolina Strassmayer hails from Austria, Anat Cohen from Israel, Chihiro Yamanaka from Japan and Nikki Parrott from Australia. This unique blend of cultures has helped create the fresh, exciting sound of Five Play. The group's repertoire is primarily contemporary, hard driving style. Five Play's premiere recording, "On the Brink" (Arbors Records) was voted #1 by Nat Hentoff in the 1999 Jazz Times year in Review issue. Sherrie Maricle drums; Karolina Strassmayer flute; Anat Cohen sax; Chihiro Yamanaka piano; Nikki Parrott bass

Evelyn White

Pianist, vocalist, performer! Evelyn began playing the piano at the age of 3 and soon thereafter found herself accompanying her parents and various church choirs in her hometown of Clarksville, Tennessee. She entered college at the age of 16 and received a B.A. degree with a major in piano performance and a minor in voice from Austin Peay State University. In 1998, she was the recipient of the school's Outstanding Alumna Award. Evelyn's talent extends across various musical genres: from early church playing to the classical training of her university days; from musical director of various Broadway revue shows for Musicana Enterprises to pianist/vocalist for American & Hawaii Cruise Line; and from classroom as a teacher to the stage as a performer. Evelyn is comfortable wherever the music takes her. During the summers of 1998 and 1999, Evelyn toured Russia as the guest of the Russian Ministry of Cultural Affairs. Evelyn resides in Atlanta, Georgia, where she performs at various venues in the Atlanta area and teaches at a performing arts high school.

Lance Bryant

Saxophonist, vocalist, composer and arranger, Lance Bryant received his formal music education at Berklee College of Music in Boston, MA. The 1990s began a decade-long relationship with the Lionel Hampton Orchestra. In 1993, Lance became the Orchestra's Musical Director and Principal Arranger — a role in which he served for seven years. Every February for the last eleven years, Lance has spent a week at the University of Idaho for the school's celebrated annual jazz festival. Over the years his involvement in the festival as grown from performer to arranger to jazz clinician. In 2000, Lance was selected as an on-stage musician for the Broadway production of Swing! which received six Tony nominations and the self-titled cast album received a Grammy nomination for best musical recording. Lance enjoys making his own musical contribution to today's swing scene with his own popular band, Lance Bryant and the Smoovetones. The culmination of his experience — his musical journey — has given birth to his debut recording project entitled Psalm. Recorded in March 2001, his new work as a solo artist is set for release in 2002.

Kuni Mikami

Kuni Mikami was born and raised in Japan and studied classical piano from ages six to 15. In high school, he heard Dave Brubeck's rendition of "Take Five" with Paul Desmond and became inspired to become a jazz pianist. He came to New York in 1975 to pursue his career by attending jam sessions and enrolling in a Jazz Mobile Workshop, where he met jazz masters Barry Harris, Norman Simmons, Frank Foster, Jimmy Heath and Billy Taylor. Since then, Mikami has traveled and performed mainstream jazz the world over in both clubs and festivals. In 1991, Lionel Hampton invited Kuni to perform in his band. In addition to Hamp, Kuni has backed Illinois Jacquet, Dakota Staton, Melba Joyce, and played piano for the Duke Ellington orchestra. Kuni is also a jazz critic for Japan's OCS News, has written two jazz piano instruction books and has been an off-Broadway musical director. In 2001, his CD "Echoes" and "Close to You" were released. His website is www.kunimikami.com.

Christian Fabian

Christian Fabian was born in Sweden and raised in Germany. He studied for four years at the Maastricht Conservatory with the principle bass player from the Concertgebouw Symphony Orchestra in the Netherlands. During this time he was performing a wide variety of music in different bands in Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, Austria and Hungary. After receiving a scholarship from the Berklee College of Music, Christian decided to continue his career in the USA. Soon after his arrival, Christian received numerous awards from the College and was nominated for the All-American Scholar Collegiate Award from the United States Achievement Academy. Since his arrival in the USA, touring opportunities led him to Florida, Georgia, Idaho, California, Mexico, Turkey and Japan. In 1999 he returned to students his knowledge of music by becoming an Artist in Residence at the University of Massachusetts in Boston. Christian has performed with such jazz notables as Gary Burton, George Garzone, John LaPorta, Richard Evans, Joe Hunt, Jane Jarvis, Makoto Ozone, Phil Wilson, Billy Pierce, Phil Grenadiere, Hal Crook, Bobby Hebb and Casey Scheurell. Christian has recently relocated to New York where he can be found playing with Lionel Hampton's Big Band.

Wally "Gator" Watson

Wally "Gator" Watson, clinician and drummer, has been a member of the Lionel Hampton Big Band for more than 12 years. In between Hampton tours, he also plays with the Duke Ellington Orchestra, and R&B legend, Wilson Pickett. Wally, who is also the executive director of 'Educational Enrichment through Musical & Cultural Diversity', a non profit organization, is also conducting motivational seminars and drum clinics in schools around the country. Born Wesley Watson, Wally is the son of the late jazz drummer Wesley B. Landers, former drummer for Dinah Washington, Sonny Stitt, Jimmy Luncerford, and many others. Having entered the professional entertainment field at age 15, Gator is presently celebrating his 36th year in the business.

Man Sound

Man Sound celebrates the versatility of the human voice. The members of this a cappella sextet hail from Kiev, Ukraine where they got their beginnings in 1994 from the idea of composer and arranger Volodymyr Mikhnovetsky. Man Sound has successfully toured the Ukraine, Russia, many European countries and the United States. They have performed numerous times at the Russian Jazz Voices Festival and the Jazz Province Festival (where they were heard by Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival executive director Lynn J. Skinner in 1998), and Festival Jazz en Artois (France). Following a personal invitation from Lionel Hampton, they attended the Moscow, Idaho festival for the first time in 2000, returning in 2002 and scheduled again to appear in 2003. During the summer of 2001, Man Sound performed in Branson, Missouri as part of the Zhivago Show, earning a Best Vocal Group nomination from Branson's All American Entertainment Awards. Dating back to 1997, they have worked collaboratively with several prominent Russian jazz musicians, most notably saxophonist Alexey Kozlov and the group Kvadro, led by Vyacheslav Gorsky, resulting in many opportunities to perform in Russia. In July 2002, Man Sound won first place in the jazz category at Vokal.Total, an international competition for jazz and pop ensembles held in Graz, Austria. Man Sound opens every show with traditional Christmas hymns and carols, in remembrance of the many years of Soviet prohibition against the public performance of such music.

John Stowell

John Stowell began his successful career with guitar lessons from guitarist Linc Chamberlind, and from John Mehegan, pianist and respected jazz educator at the Julliard School of Music and Yale University. Several years later he met noted bassist David Friesen in New York, and launched a critically acclaimed touring and recording association that lasted 7 years, including 6 albums, and performances in Europe, Canada, the US, and Australia. During that time, John moved to Oregon. John Stowell is an in-demand teacher and clinician of jazz guitar. He has taught at the country's most prestigious schools of music, and frequently invited to present "Artist in Residence" series.

Jim Martinez

Pianist Jim Martinez began his musical career at the age of four. In a short amount of time, he has amassed a list of musical accomplishments encompassing nearly all styles of music. His first major professional gig was with legendary jazz trombonist, Sy Zentner. Jim has since performed or recorded with notables like Lionel Hampton, Russell Malone, Jeff Hamilton, Ethel Ennis, Claudio Roditi, the Nelson Riddle Orchestra, Carla Cook, Benny Golson, and Ed Thigpen, the first drummer for the Oscar Peterson Trio. Jim has performed with the Sacramento Symphony and toured as a featured guest with the U.S. Air Force Jazz Band. Martinez is the National Concert Artist and Product Specialist for Kurzweil Music, a division of Young Chang Pianos, one of the largest piano manufacturers in the world. In his spare time, Jim also designs web sites, mostly for the music world (edthigpen.com, debiselby.com, FantasyStudios.com, etc). Jim is the owner of Invisible Touch Music Software, which arranges and records MIDI files (music on floppy disks) for all digital and acoustic player-pianos. Founded in 1989, he recently completed a three year agreement giving exclusive international distribution rights to Warner Brothers Publications. ITMS is online at: www.itmssoft.com. Jim's five recordings, including a tribute to jazz pianists Oscar Peterson & 'Fats' Waller, are available through his own music label, Invisible Touch Music and can be found online at: www.jimmartinez.com.

Eldar Djangirov

Eldar Djangirov was born January 28, 1987, in Kyrgyzstan (former Soviet Union). At the age of 5 1/2, he began watching his father, Emil Djangirov, play the family's piano, and was able to repeat, note-for-note, what his father played. Emil and Eldar played jazz, but there were few opportunities for Eldar, a budding jazz genius, to further his studies because jazz had been banned for years in the Soviet Republics. Eldar was discovered when he played at the Novosibirsk (Russia) Jazz Festival in 1997. A jazz expert from New York, Charles McWhorter, heard him play and obtained a scholarship for him to attend a summer camp at the prestigious Interlochen Center for the Arts in Michigan. Eldar's mother, Tatiana Sokolova, a teacher of music literature, knew that Kansas City was famous for jazz. So, the family sold their piano, car, and garage, then moved to Kansas City.

Virginia Wicks - publicist

Virginia's career as a publicist began the day Nat Cole said he wanted to record a song she'd written. She met the star and his manager, who suggested she might enjoy doing record promotion for Nat and his other clients. Knowing nothing of the field, but thrilled with the prospect of representing Nat Cole, Wicks opened a small one room office, and her career in public relations began. In the many years that followed, she represented hundreds of clients including: Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw, Ella Fitzgerald, Ray Brown, Rock Hudson, Eartha Kitt, Jayne Mansfield, Marilyn Monroe, Mel Torme, Peggy Lee, Stan Kenton, Dizzy Gillespie, Harry Belafonte, Jean Pierre Aumont, Grace Kelly, The Hi Lo's, Art Tatum, George Shearing, Charlie Parker, Charlie Barnet, Dorothy Dandridge, The Modern Jazz Quartet, Julie London, Salvador Dali, Josh White, Diahann Carroll, jazz critic and author Leonard Feather, Oscar Peterson, Norman Granz and "Jazz at the Philharmonic," Verve Records. Currently, Virginia represents the annual Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival, James Moody, Annie Ross, Jon Hendricks, and Jean Bach's documentary films, "A Great Day in Harlem" and "The Spitball Story," Bobby Short, Sherrie Maricle and the Diva Jazz Bands, Mack Avenue Records, Eldar Djangirov and many others. For special publicity information regarding the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival, please contact Virginia Wicks and Associates, 2737 Edwin Place, Los Angeles, CA 90046; Phone: (323) 822-9977 Fax: (323) 822-9966.

Chip Deffaa - jazz critic

Chip Deffaa is the ASCAP-Deems Taylor Award-winning jazz critic of the New York Post and a regular contributor to Entertainment Weekly. He has written about music for magazines worldwide, including England's Crescendo, Canada's Coda, Japan's Swing Journal, and America's Down Beat, Living Blues, and Jazz Times. He also contributed to the landmark New Grove Dictionary of Jazz. At Princeton University, Deffaa was a student of distinguished Ferris Professor of Journalism, Irving Dilliard. He is a trustee of The Princeton Tiger magazine today. In addition, Deffaa has been a radio host, and, in partnership with his sister, Deborah, a cable television producer. He is the author of such books about jazz (all of which are currently in print) as Voices of the Jazz Age (published in the United States by the University of Illinois Press and in Great Britain by the Bayou Press), which was a finalist for the Excellence in Recorded Sound Research Award of the American Association for Recorded Sound Collections; and Swing Legacy, Traditionalists and Revivalists in Jazz, and In the Mainstream, (published in the United States and Great Britain by the Scarecrow Press). His specialty is preserving the oral histories of veteran jazz artists.

Philip Elwood - music critic

After 37 years on the job, Philip Elwood -- "The Dean of Bay Area Jazz Critics" -- was retired from the staff of the San Francisco Examiner/Chronicle. The Chronicle abruptly eliminated the position of Jazz, Blues and Folk-music critic. "Another ominous sign that the role of jazz on the contemporary music scene is deemed insignificant to the square corporate overseers of the print media," Elwood later wrote in his weekly JazzWest.com column. For 45 years, concurrent with his journalism career, he was jazz program producer for Pacifica Radio's KPFA in Berkeley, and continues to be a regular participant in radio and TV programs in the San Francisco area and on national PBS broadcasts. Elwood was on the first Monterey Jazz Festival advisory board, 1958-60, and played a comparable role in the founding of the jazz festivals in Concord (Calif.) and San Francisco. He graduated from the University of California, Berkeley in Geography and completed his post-graduate work in History at Stanford. Along with his jazz activities, Elwood for four decades continued his academic career primarily as a professor of American history and music history in the Bay Area's Peralta Colleges. He has taught and lectured in the field of jazz, blues and popular music on a dozen college campuses across the country. His life-long enthusiasm for vernacular American music came from his boyhood passion for radio music and junkshop record-collecting; he studied classical piano and took drum lessons for many years. He is a member of the Jazz Journalists Association and the Association of Recorded Sound Collections. He and his Brooklyn-born wife live in Berkeley -- four children, six grandchildren.

jazz festival staff

executive director

Dr. Lynn J. Skinner, Executive Director of the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival, is well known throughout the United States and Canada as a concert band and jazz judge and clinician. During the 27 years that Dr. Skinner has directed the festival, he has guided its development from a regional band competition into an event of major significance in the music world. Dr. Skinner has involved over 150 corporations in the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. As a composer, Dr. Skinner has written several compositions for band as well as some 150 jazz ballads, four of which he has performed with the Lionel Hampton New York Big Band. The first CD of his music was released in Russia in 2001. During the festival he produces the six major concerts. He arranges for all artists to conduct clinics and workshops, a major aspect of the festival. He also works with the judges to improve the instructional or didactic component of the festival and works with all office staff to ensure that the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival is a positive experience for all.

A Home for Jazz

The Lionel Hampton Center will realize Lionel Hampton's dream for a home for jazz at the University of Idaho.

As conceived by internationally recognized architect Cesar Pelli, the Lionel Hampton Center's Education and Performance facility will unite UI's jazz education efforts under one harmonious roof.

Education

The building will house the International Jazz Collections and offices for the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. The growing Lionel Hampton School of Music will benefit from additional classroom and rehearsal areas.

Performance

An 800-seat performance hall will be the primary venue for School of Music student ensembles and recitals, faculty performances and guest artists, and will be available for use by other UI departments and community performing arts groups.

Let the music play on...

Help honor Lionel Hampton's legacy at the University of Idaho. Add your voice to the chorus of supporters.
