

ENDORSEMENTS FOR U of I ROOF CAMPAIGN

I strongly endorse the drive to roof the stadium. It would provide a spacious, all-weather facility for non-athletic as well as athletic functions and in the process it would convert an expensive facility with very limited usefulness into one with a tremendous wide range of uses. The need for such a large, all-weather facility is evident to anyone who has spent a winter or spring in Moscow. The entire University community should benefit. Not only would it accomodate large crowds for athletic and other events (such as commencement); it would also make possible year-round athletic participation for a very large number of students.

Elmer K. Raunio
Dean, College of Letters and Science

The drive to complete the all-purpose, all weather stadium by roofing the facility is one of the most beneficial undertakings of the university. In addition to the great, obvious benefits for the university athletic program (both intercollegiate and intramural) there is almost a limitless number of uses which would be made of such a facility. I cannot think of another facility on the campus, perhaps with the exception of the Student Union, which would have such a potential use for all students, as well as alums, faculty and citizens of Idaho. I strongly endorse this drive and pledge my support for completion of this facility.

John H. Ehrenreich
Dean, College of Forestry

The completion, by placement of a roof over present University of Idaho stadium facility would truly make this originally planned multi-purpose vision a reality. It would be a tremendous asset to the University of Idaho. There can be little doubt as to the support of the students in this total program. The monies to finance construction to this point, plus the $3.4 million yet available, have all come from student fees. It is our hope that alumni, faculty and friends of the University will now join students with their financial support to make this last obstacle one of little consequence. The student body has many obligations that must be covered by fees, and we must insure soundness of all obligations being carried on at the institution simultaneously. I join my fellow students at the University of Idaho in seeking your support for this project. We know you will support us and enable us all to succeed.

Dirk Kempthorne
President, Associated Students U of I