Dear ~~Sir~~ Ben:

For sometime Governor Andrus has wanted to thank personally the various news organizations across Idaho which, under sometimes difficult circumstances, admirably performed their job during the recent Teton Dam disaster. With several minor exceptions, I know the Governor thinks news personnel responded to the disaster with sensitivity and compassion befitting the magnitude of the disaster and yet went about performing their job of informing the public in a responsible manner.

Over the past several months he has been able to thank some personally and over the next year or so will hopefully be able to thank others personally. In the meantime, the Governor, while in the process of singling out state and county personnel for Certificates of Recognition, felt that certain TV and radio stations and certain weekly and daily newspapers were also most deserving of Certificates of Recognition for the responsible and responsive manner in which they performed.

On behalf of Governor Andrus and with his best wishes, it is my pleasure to forward the enclosed certificate on to you.

Sincerely,

Chris
