The human race is going through the greatest storm it has ever known. Yet the tree of Truth stands unshaken. Religious creeds, dogmas, and traditions can never reveal the Power of God to anyone, for that Power exists in you just as long as you live. Nothing can change that fact. It has been the habit of men and women to look two or three thousand years in the past for their inspiration; but now, since the advent of the "PSYCHIANA" Movement, they are looking within themselves and are finding the source of the Power of God.
