"PSYCHIANA"

Shackled to life's poverty
And bred without sagacity,
I felt with hopeless certainty
There was no open road for me.

With hanging head life's road I trod,
But whispered I, "Oh, spare thy rod!"
Then words I heard in clarity odd,
"BELIEVE IN THE POWER OF THE LIVING GOD."

With widened eyes I went to seek
The jewels of life of which you speak,
For I no longer was the meek
But saw ahead life's worthy peak.

A home have I and husband dear,
A baby son I cradle near;
My heart shall have no pending fear--
My life of love is stationed here.

The worldly fears I know are fraud,
My eyes are open, my mind is broad;
And whisper I in truth not odd,
"I BELIEVE IN THE POWER OF THE LIVING GOD."
