Dear Frank:

Came out of the cave. Fine day. Lots of sunshine.
Feeling good. Looked around and decided the world was not so hot.
Talk about war etc., I put on my prophetic glasses and started looking around.

It would seem as if Russia is going to attack Turkey one of these days and draw other nations in. Yugoslavia is already responding to Russian tactics. Shot down our airmen etc., All this is not peace. They are crying for it, but it is not in the offing. Something is wrong.

Russia pushes Turkey which falls into Greece
Greece splatters and trouble follows

Everyone is worrying about money. Why? Money has no value. It is just a something that everyone wants and they dont know why they want it. Guess they think they can use it.

Round dollars.
to coin

No square ones. Idea; get Congress
$ $ means less trouble

Turkey in Greece = Single

Religion: Something that people believe, but very few live up to.

Love: A selfish idea of possession based on acquisition eh? sure.

Fear: Worry about something that never happens.

Worry: Thinking about possible calamity without any foundation for it.

Success: Taking it away from the other fellow legally without going to jail.

S.E. C. A Bait line for the Big Fellow to draw in the small fish with the assistance of the B.B.B.

Sugar: Something that is scarce, but things are sweet without it. Use Sacharine. It is just as good.

Fly; Buzzing creature that lights here and there and disturbs one.

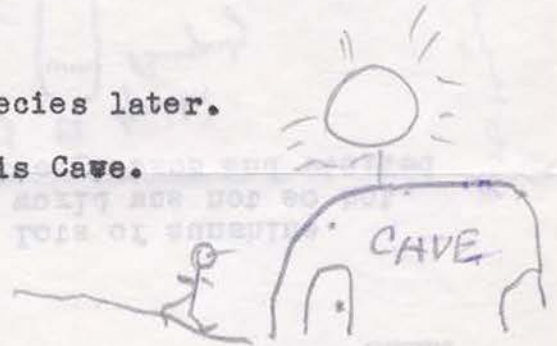

OINTMENT: That which you rub on and if it is thick enough it entangles the fly.

Vinegar: A Sour substance that makes one frown.

HONEY ; The Bees winter food which humans eat up and let the bee starve.

Will make more prophecies later.

Hermit retiring to his Cave.
