Dear Brother

Thank you for your letter, I received your letter dated June 29 on July 1. I was very sorry to hear about your internment for the duration, but was relieved to learn that you were still in good health. Since it is so hot there and because you are not used to the heat, we are worried about you.

So please take very good care of yourself. For the past three or four days the weather was unusually hot and it was about 107° in our room, but fortunately no one was overcome by the heat. Your letter from that camp was the first to reach us in this camp, so I showed it to many of the others. I also gave your address to Mrs. Okiyama because they are living on the same ave. as we are.

Do you know wheather it would be all right to send you letters
