Dear Steve and Mary:

This is a follow up on my two encounters with Mary Hayden the week of August 1 when I was in the Big Horn Crags with two other adults and eight Boy Scouts. We were all very interested in the archeological survey you were making. I would be very interested in receiving a copy of your report on the archeological reconnaissance and other materials you have on cultural resources of the area. My Scouts will be getting together this fall to show our slides and reflect on the trip; any additional information on historical use of the area by indigenous people and others would be of interest to all of us.

In addition, such information would be valuable to me, and colleagues in the Wilderness Research Center of the university. For your information, I'm enclosing a copy of our monograph on the history and research at the Taylor Ranch Wilderness Field Station.

Sincerely,

John C. Hendee
Dean
